Passionate crowd drawn to gun forum

By Ted Ritter
Correspondent

"Perhaps no question produces more passion." That's how former Gov. Tom Kean summed up last Thursday night's forum on gun violence in Scotch Plains. Kean, who served as moderator, made the observation shortly before opening the forum up to public comments.

About 100 people attended the forum, subtitled "Who is Calling the Shots? A Society Armed" at the Will Jewish Community Campus. The main sponsors were the Jewish Federation of New Jersey's Jewish Community Relations Council and B'nai B'rith Center for Public Policy.

The director of the latter, Larry Lerner, began the evening with a rhetorical question: "Is gun violence a social problem that needs a specific solution, or can it be solved by strict adherence to laws?"

The two main speakers at the forum each represented the two opposing sides in the ongoing debate about whether gun control is an enlightened idea.

The audience seemed to be evenly split on the issue, sometimes interrupting the speakers to try to voice opinions.

Brian Miller spoke as executive director of Ceasefire New Jersey, and Nancy Ross appeared as a spokesperson for the Association of New Jersey Rifle and Pistol Clubs.

Before starting the questions period, Kean said gun control is "a subject we're going to be hearing so much more about, and rightly so" this election year and beyond.

"All candidates at all levels will be asked to address it; probably even forced to address it," Kean said.

The first question Kean posed to both speakers asked whether the government places too many restrictions on a person's right to defend him or herself with a gun.

Ross suggested that it is the government's right to protect the 2nd Amendment of the U.S. Constitution, which spells out the right to bear arms.

Ross also suggested that gun laws have nothing to do with fighting the criminal use of guns.

"None of us support gun violence, but no trigger locks or other gimmicks are going to prevent a Columbine," Ross theorized, referring to last year's massacre at a Colorado high school at the hands of two heavily-armed students.

On the other side, Miller suggested that there should be a balance between gun control and the right to bear arms.

"The cost to society of gun violence is the thing that weighs the most," Miller said, arguing that the need for guns is far outweighed by the psychological, emotional, and financial toll brought about by gun violence.

The evening's other questions asked both sides to weigh the pros and cons of waiting periods for gun buyers, requiring a gun registry for each weapon sold, and whether handguns should be manufactured so only the registered owner can fire them.

For each of these questions, Ross adamantly stated that such regulations would be minimally effective, would harm "the shooting sport," and would amount to a "gun ban."

"Firearms have an enormous value in society," Ross said, "and law-abiding citizens in New Jersey are very safety conscious. Guns are an important means of self defense."

Miller, on the other hand, pointed to "homicides" in current legislation, and said those loopholes allow certain gun buyers and criminals to get around the law.

"Gun licenses and registration would curb the black market, and would be a simple way to stop gun trafficking, which devastates our state," Miller said, noting that most guns used by criminals in New Jersey were purchased in other states with less strict gun laws.

On the question of whether so-called "smart gun" technology should be required of handguns, allowing them to be fired only if the registered owner pulls the trigger, Miller and Ross, again, agreed to disagree.

Miller said smart guns could significantly improve gun safety, especially with regard to children and accidental See PANEL, Page B2

UCC graduates 750 Grads urged to continue education

By Dave Goldberg
Staff Writer

Urging graduates to keep an open mind, welcome new opportunities, serve the community and always continue pursuing education, Union County College President Thomas Brown presided over his 10th commencement ceremony at the college May 24.

Union County College, the oldest county college in the state, had 750 students graduate from more than 60 different disciplines during its 60th annual commencement ceremonies in Cranford.

"It has been a wonderful and productive decade for the college and for me," Brown said. "As I celebrate the end of my 10th year as president, I look back over the many people and organizations who have been a part of this success. Among these are our faculty and staff and, of course, the students who bring vitality to our campuses and for whom we exist."

The many families of the graduating students were greeted by the chair of the Union College Board of Trustees, Victor Richel, who welcomed both the graduates and their families.

"Today is a great day in each of our lives. This is a day when hard work pays off. Here at Union County College students have had an opportunity to learn of different cultures allowing them to broaden their horizons. Make a commitment to give back and make the time to make a difference. You are inheriting Union County, the state of New Jersey, and the United States."

"This is only the beginning of your journey to an exciting future," Brown said. Brown took the occasion to make a presentation recognizing the 15 members of the Union County Legislative Delegation to Trenton for their unflinching support of legislative initiatives important to Union County College and for their See COLLEGE, Page B2

Prosecutor warns of increased use of Ecstasy among teens

By Dave Goldberg
Staff Writer

Federal law enforcement officers joined Union County Prosecutor Thomas Manahan in issuing a warning that the designer drug Ecstasy has hit the streets of the county in large numbers.

It was confirmed May 23 that more than 1,000 tablets which were taken from a Cranford man were in fact methylenedioxymethamphetamine, or Ecstasy. Recent law enforcement sweeps had led to arrests and seizures of MDMA in Somerset, Middlesex, Monmouth and Morris counties. National seizures are said to be up 750 percent.

The seizure in Cranford was made during a motor vehicle stop in Cranford on May 5. There were approximately 1,000 MDMA "hits" found. Even though the investigation into the source of the drugs is continuing, Manahan wanted to release the information to help alert the public and school authorities.

A second case that ties to Union County was part of a five-month joint operation with the Drug Enforcement Agency and Middlesex County authorities, led to charges filed against Eric Godfrey, 25, of Riverside Drive, Cranford. The joint operation, dubbed "XTC," led to a raid at a nightclub in Sayreville where officers found the crowded dance floor littered with hits of Ecstasy, ketamine, LSD and other drugs.

Manahan is looking for law enforcement to take the penalty of usage and possession of Ecstasy more seriously. Currently it is only considered a third-degree crime for the trafficking of Ecstasy, which is only imprisonment for five years. He is hoping to move the crime to second degree, which would mean an imprisonment for 10 years.

Manahan believes parents and adolescents are not aware of the dangers of Ecstasy. According to Manahan, parents usually assume rare parties are safer for their children because these "underground" parties are non-alcoholic. However, raves are usually the place where the largest abundance of Ecstasy can be found. The rave promoters, aware of the dehydration problems associated with the drug, often charge $8 or $9 for a bottle of water, according to authorities.

Tony Seneca, the special agent in charge of the DEA office in Newark said this drug, which is a hybrid of the hallucinogen mescaline and the stimulant amphetamine, is showing up more and more each week. Seneca and Manahan said officials are worried about the drug with proms and graduations in full swing along with the official start of the summer holiday season on the way.

Ecstasy is a powerful stimulant and mood changer that speeds up an individual's body system and alters a person's perception of the world. It can make a person feel both uplifted and relaxed while feeling very happy. The drug can also give them an overwhelming urge to dance.

Usually within about 20 minutes to an hour, an individual's heart might race and their mouth might go dry. The effects of the drug are strongest during the first two hours.

The synthetic drug Ecstasy, which has been used increasingly among college students and young adults in recent years, also is being used at relatively high levels by America's high school students, according to a study done by the National Institute on Drug Abuse. Usage of Ecstasy or MDMA sharply rose in the 1990s among college students and young adults.

"I have been deeply troubled by a recent report forwarded to me that has included a reference to one of our area schools as 'Ecstasy High' and I will get the message out that are not going to tolerate it one bit," said Manahan.

There are some major health hazards that can come about with continued use of Ecstasy. The chemical structure of the drug is similar to other synthetic drugs, which are known to cause brain damage.

Many of the risks found in Ecstasy are also found in the use of cocaine and amphetamines. One of these risks is psychological difficulties which include confusion, depression, sleep problems, drug craving, severe anxiety and paranoia.

There also are physical symptoms such as muscle tension, involuntary teeth clenching, nausea, blurred vision, rapid eye movement, faintness and chills or sweating. There can be increases in heart rate and blood pressure, which can be a special risk for people with circulatory or heart disease.

The drug can cause brain damage. Through advanced brain imaging techniques, the NIDA discovered that Ecstasy harms neurons that release serotonin. This is a brain-chemical thought to play an important role in regulating memory and other functions. The NIDA also found that heavy users of Ecstasy have memory problems for at least two weeks after they stopped using the drugs.

Ecstasy can be fatal if it is used for an extended period of time. The NIDA has reported cases of death at raves related to Ecstasy use. The combination of hot, crowded conditions at rave parties usually found at raves can lead to dehydration, hyperthermia, and heart or kidney failure.

One of the most frequent fatalities of Ecstasy is heart stroke, which is impossible to cure. The greatest risk for a heart stroke is a person who has a fairly low level of the enzyme in the liver that breaks down Ecstasy, which could also lead to a traumatic effect on the body's muscle tissue. The muscles become weak and broken up.

Seneca said usage of the drug can be noticed by frequent usage of various types of products. Some of these products could include bottle caps, blow pops, chewing gum, lollipops, candy packs, aspirin containers, pacifiers, butterfly wings and tiger balm. These items are used because another side effect of Ecstasy is the constant grinding of the teeth and jaw clenching.

Other ways to be aware if an adolescent is using Ecstasy is to look for changes in mood or personality and if the individual constantly carries around a water bottle or is thirsty. Water is not an antidote to Ecstasy, it just combats the dehydrating effects. In some rare cases, excessive water consumption can cause acute water intoxication. Body temperatures from the drug have been recorded to as high as 108 degrees.

Primary field will narrow Tuesday

By Mark Brynna
Regional Editor

Although no surprises are expected at the county level in Tuesday's Primary, there will be a crowded ballot on both the Republican and Democratic sides.

Voters will be selecting major party candidates for freeholder, county clerk, Congress, U.S. Senate and president, in addition to delegates for the national conventions.

Incumbent Democratic freeholders Alexander Mirabella of Roselle Park, Chester Holmes of Rahway and Deborah Scanlon face a challenge from Steven Madonna of New Providence, Pat Fallon of Roselle Park and Becky McHugh of Linden. County Clerk Joanne Rajopoff of Union Falls Stanley Mookal of Elizabeth.

The incumbents are running on the Regular Democratic Organization line with Senate candidate Jon Cortine of Summit. The challengers have formed a line with Senate candidate and former Gov. Jim Florio, who teamed up with Maryanne Connelly in the 7th Congressional District as well as the challengers in the Elizabeth mayoral and council primary.

The Republican primary is even more crowded as Congressional and Senate candidates formed their own lines to garner better ballot positioning.

This Regular Organization Republicans has Al Dill of Summit and Wally Shackelford — both of whom ran last year — running with Esther Guzman-Malcolm of Roselle for freeholder and Eric Urbano of Scotch Plains for county clerk. U.S. Rep. Bob Franks of Berkeley Heights, running for Senate, earned the organization's line, along with Assemblyman Joel Weingarten of Millburn, a candidate in the 7th District.

Essex County Executive James Treffinger — who is running against U.S. Rep. Robert Franks, State Sen. William Gormley of Margate and Murray Sabrin — created a line called Conservative Republicans. Running for freeholder on that line are Mercedes Fernandez of Cranford, and James Petrecca and Craig Clawson, both of Union, with Leslie Pleasant Jr. of Hillside running for county clerk.

Michael Ferguson of Warren, a candidate in the 7th Congressional District which includes most of Union County, formed a line, Union Republican Party, which features Christopher Dean of Cranford for county clerk and Alice Dean of Cranford, Elizabeth LaRosa of Westfield and William Milligan of Summit for freeholder.

In an interesting twist, Gormley and Thomas Kean Jr. — one of four candidates in the 7th District — were placed on a line with presidential candidate George W. Bush, whose campaign had been trying to avoid running on a line with anyone in New Jersey. The move may take votes away from Franks within his home county, or at least force him to concentrate more efforts here than originally expected.

Ross said she would support the development of smart gun technology, but argued that there's no proof that such guns work yet.

Ross also claimed that some previous tests of smart guns have revealed safety and reliability concerns.

In summing up their positions, Miller made a comparison. "We have a different system for handguns than any other product manufactured and sold in society," he said. "Why shouldn't we require guns to be as safe as possible?"

Ross, on the other hand, argued that

Singer's love of material shines at pub

By Bill Van Sant
Associate Editor

The background music can make or break a visit to the local eatery or pub. When the music complements the ambience and food, it is indescribable. When it doesn't... well, that, too, is often indescribable.

However, once in a while, the music becomes the main attraction: the reason that patrons show up in the first place, despite the excellent food, the well-stocked bar and the comfortable, friendly surroundings.

Anyone who stops by Flynn's Irish Pub and Steakhouse on Main Street in Rahway on a Wednesday night will find an excellent example of this phenomenon in the form of guitarist-singer Markus Matloz of Elizabeth, who appears with sideman Joe Braverman on six Wednesdays at 10 p.m. The wonderful food, bar and atmosphere there seven days a week — but on Wednesdays, magic happens.

Having picked Flynn's as a good place to take a new acquaintance for a recent mid-week drink, this reviewer and his wife — as well as our friend — were accompanied by the musician's and sheer excellence of Matloz's performance. The evening we had planned was soon replaced by our total enjoyment of this marvelous artist, making for a thoroughly and unexpectedly entertaining night out. While Matloz is more than capable of holding an audience's attention with his powerhouse performance alone, it is perhaps the diversity of his material which makes the evening the musical roller coaster it is. Most of the music Matloz and Braverman perform is gathered from the classic rock library, but with songs as varied as The Beatles, Cat Stevens, The Doors, Jimi Hendrix, The Traveling Wilburys, Jimmy Buffet, The Who and so many more.

The evening we visited Flynn's, we were treated to such tunes as Van Morrison's "Brown-Eyed Girl," "Love Her Madly," "Message in a Bottle," "Wild World," Credence Clearwater Revival's "Have You Ever Seen the Rain?" and "Blackbird," among many others, too numerous to cite individually. With each of these songs, Matloz not only maintained the "feel" of the originals we've grown to love, but made each one "his own," investing not only his own personal talent and incredible style, but his abundant love of the material. When an artist of such talent — in any performance medium — so obviously respects and enjoys the material he's presenting, the result can only be electric. Even with an acoustic guitar!

Matloz's artistry as a guitarist is evident, especially when recreating the work of such legends as Hendrix. His expressive singing voice is a fascinating combination of the gritty acoustic rock singer and the folk troubador of the '60s, and is reminiscent of Eddie Kovalevsky of Live, with shades of such famed vocalists as Neil Young. Whether singing of love or rejection, he is able to affect your head and heart as well as make you tap your feet and bob in your chair. You'll probably even find yourself singing along, if only in your memories of when these songs were new and we were all a little younger.

The work done by Braverman — known affectionately by regulars as "the Sax" — adds texture and richness to each number, making the songs sound as if they're performed by more than two musicians. As a pair, Matloz and Braverman play off each other beautifully, each bringing just the right nuance to each song.

Perhaps the greatest testament to Matloz and Braverman's magic at the microphone was the small crowd in attendance when we were at Flynn's. There are those performers whose energy and focus tend to wane when playing to a small audience; or, worse yet, their attempts to compensate result in an undisciplined performance. Not so with Matloz and Braverman. Sitting there, listening to these two talented men, makes it clear that the show would have been as galvanizing and thoroughly entertaining had the room been completely empty. It's evident that these two love both the performance and the material they present; that we can enjoy it too makes it that much more exciting.

When any talented artist plies their craft for the love of it, you're bound to love it just as much as they do. A visit to Flynn's some Wednesday night soon is all it will take to prove this point.

Markus Matloz and Joe Braverman appear every Wednesday at 10 p.m. at Flynn's Irish Pub and Steakhouse, 1482 Main St. in Rahway. For information, call Flynn's at (732) 381-4700 or see the "Variety" listing in the Stepping Out calendar on Page B6.

Music fans with hearty appetites may want to arrive early and enjoy a robust meal from the traditional steakhouse menu. That, too, makes for an all-star performance.

Barbara Fasano

A broad mix of tunes is up songbird's alley

By Ben Smith
Staff Writer

Perhaps the reason why the versatile, award-winning Barbara Fasano is so popular as a singer may be because she has experienced so much of life in the theater throughout the world. All of that, blended with an exposure to a mixture of the music of her childhood with the music of today, and a talent for leaving the stories that go with the songs, enables Fasano to reach the heart of her audiences.

Fasano will debut her new show, "In the Heat of the Night," next Thursday, June 8, in Le Dome, the Nightclub Under the Stars, at the Manor in West Orange.

"I'm really looking forward to this engagement — to appearing at the Manor," she said during a recent chat. "A lot of my friends have told me that it is a fabulous venue, and it has a great reputation."

Fasano's material is a mixture of Kurt Weill, Noel Coward, Amanda McBroom and James Taylor, and it was this variety for which she was awarded with the 1999 Back Stage Bistro Award for the Outstanding Recording of "The Girls of Summer," an album singled out by the Village Voice as "worthy of Grammy consideration." She also won the Outstanding Vocalist Award; Fasano has been applauded in New York's Town Hall, The Supper Club, Sardi's, the Rose Tatroo in West Hollywood, and was featured with Margaret Whiting at the Russian Tea Room in the revue, "My Ideal," which is nominated for a MAC Award.

Born in Long Island, N.Y., Fasano graduated from Hofstra University, where she majored in theater. "I was an actress and traveled all over the country with shows," Fasano said. "I played in San Francisco and Denver, Colorado and I even did a lot of Broadway stuff in Australia. Coming to Australia was a personal thing. After two and a half years working as an actress, I did some commercials, taught some acting and then I worked in the music industry as a producer for the Australian Record Industry Awards. For the first two years, I put a show together for what has now become the Grammy Awards. It was very prestigious," she said.

"Elton John was master of ceremonies. It was great to be in Australia. Then I went to live in Los Angeles. I worked on a television sitcom — I was in development for NBC. That was when I started to sing in cabaret shows. Actually, I was doing both. I was living in California, where I met a friend who had come down to hear me sing in West Hollywood. I did a couple of numbers. About a year ago, I decided to come back to New York, and I went to a Cabaret Symposium in Connecticut, and met all kinds of wonderful people — Margaret Whiting and Sylvia Sims, just before she died."

Fasano admitted "that symposium did more for me, and I decided to do club work. Last year, I devoted my life to music. I pretty much decided that was what I wanted to do — to sing. I love doing it," she declared, "because I have a lot to say, and I say it with music. Most of my attentions are focused on stories. I love songs that tell a story. For me, it's all about the lyrics. And because of my acting background, telling a story in song is a real moment in time."

"It's important to me to experience emotion through song and to include songs that are from my generation and my parents' generation. My music ranges from Irving Berlin to Bruce Springsteen. You see, I explained, "I grew up with my father's love of music, and my brother and sister, who used to play their records. So, it was a mix of things, and I especially loved old lyrics with a beautiful melody. I really feel confident putting a Springsteen song, "Thunder Road," next to Berlin's "Isn't This a Lovely Day?" I think it's important to keep expanding their songs."

Fasano reiterated that "I'm really looking forward to appearing at the Manor and to debut a new show, 'In the Heat of the Night.' Some of my numbers are the kind that pretty much keep you up pacing the floor until 4 o'clock in the morning," she smiled. "Just you and the dark — and what it's all about — you and the dark trying to sort it out." The songbird smiled. "It's pretty much what the show is all about."

Paper Mill readies 'Pippin' for 'new millennium'

Paper Mill Playhouse audiences will be the first to see a major reconceived production of the longest-running 1970s musical hit "Pippin," the musical which cut composer Stephen Schwartz on the Broadway map.

This reconceived production features a book by Roger O. Hirson and a score by Academy Award-winning composer-lyricist Stephen Schwartz, whose work includes "The Prince of Egypt," "Frodo's Tale" and "Broadway: The Raggs," "Godspell," "The Magic Show," and "Children of Eden." Directed by Robert Johnson, with new choreography by Rob Ashford and musical direction by Danny Kossarin, "Pippin" opens June 16 for a limited seven-week run through Sunday, July 23.

"Pippin" is an irreverent, funny, hip and sexy tale about a young man's search for the secret of true happiness and fulfillment.

"Pippin" stars Broadway, television and "U-571" film actor Jack Noseworthy in the title role. The beloved Broadway and television comedienne, Charlotte Rae, is featured as Berthe, Pippin's grandmother, who gets to sing the show-stopping "No Time at All," and Broadway's Jim Newman — "Steel Pier" — is the Leading Player. Sara Gettler, recently featured in "Tenderloin" at City Center's "Encore!" is Francesca Pippin's stepmother. Ed Dixon of "The Inman Connection" and "The Scarlet Pimpernel" is Charlemagne, Pippin's father, and Natacia A. Diaz, who appeared in Broadway's "The Capeman," "Bright Lights/Big City" and "Carousel," is Catherine.

Joni Michelle, Clifton Oliver, Juan Quintanilla and Wendy Waring.

The "Pippin" design team includes Michael Anania, set; Kirk Bookman, lights; Gregg Barnes, costumes; noted fashion designer, Gene Meyer, opening night costumes. David B. Smith, sound, and Charles Reynolds Illusion Associates, magical consultants.

"When 'Pippin' opened in 1972, it was a musical that reflected the angst and sounds of the 1970s," said Johnson, before a recent rehearsal. "Although it's a father-son tale set in the 8th century, we are giving it a contemporary spin. This isn't a revival, but a major reconceived production, with exciting all-new choreography by Rob Ashford. We've been fortunate to have Stephen Schwartz and Roger O. Hirson on hand to make revisions. They're hoping, as we are, that this will be the 'Pippin' of the new millennium."

Choreographer Ashford's credits include "Tenderloin" for this season's "Encore!" at City Center, "True History and Real Adventures" at the Vineyard Theater, the film, "Love Walked In," and last season's "Up, Up and Away — The Music of Jimmy Webb" at the Paper Mill. Ashford has been Kathleen Marshall's associate choreographer for "Kiss Me Kate," "Ring Around the Moon," "Saturday Night," "Babes in Arms," and the workshops of "The Sevens" and "Time and Again." He also was the assistant choreographer for "Parade" at Lincoln Center. This fall, Ashford will choreograph the new Broadway musical, "Thoroughly Modern Millie."

Noseworthy, in the title role of Pippin, is one of the finest and most versatile young actors of his generation. He is currently featured in the blockbuster film, "U-571," as Wenz. Upcoming feature films include the John Waters-directed "Ceil B. Denmedez" opposite Melanie Griffith and "Unconditional Love" opposite

Rupert Everett, Kathy Bates and Dan Aykroyd. In addition, he is known for his starring role in MTV's "Dead at 21." Noseworthy has appeared on Broadway in "A Chorus Line" and "Jerome Robbins' Broadway," and the national tour of "Cats."

Rae, who plays Berthe, is well known as Mrs. Garrett on television's "The Facts of Life," which won an Emmy nomination. She originated the role of Mrs. Peabody in the legendary production of "Thoroughly Modern Opera" and sang on the original cast album. Rae also was the original "Mummy Yokum" in Broadway's "Li'l Abner." Other New York credits include Tony Award-nominated performances in "Morning, Noon and Night" and "Pickwick." In recent performances, she appeared as Winnie in Samuel Beckett's "Happy Days," "The Solid Gold Callie," "Into the Woods," "Come Back Little Sheba" and "O Girls 70" with the York Theater Company.

Newman, who plays The Leading Man, has appeared on Broadway in "Minnelli on Minnelli," "Steel Pier," "Sunset Boulevard," "The Who's Tommy," and "On A Clear Day You Can See Forever" at City Center. "Encore!" He appeared as Henry in the Kander and Ebb premiere of "Over and Over" at the Signature Theater and received a Drama League Award for the West Coast premiere of "Cole." He starred as Jack Jago in the national tour of "Big" and in "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat" with Donny Osmond.

Schwartz's musical compositions for the theater include "Godspell," "The Magic Show," "The Baker's Wife," "Working," "Rags" and "Children of Eden." He is the recipient of three Academy Awards for the animated features "Pocahontas," "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" and "The Prince of Egypt." Schwartz recently wrote music and lyrics for "Ghetto"

for ABC-TV's "The Wonderful World of Disney." For more information contact

Hirson writes for the theater, television and motion pictures. His Broadway credits include the books for "Pippin" and "Walking Happy."

Winner of five Tony awards, "Pippin" opened at Broadway's Imperial Theater Oct. 23, 1972. Produced by Stuart Ostrow and directed and choreographed by Bob Fosse, "Pippin" starred Ben Vereen, John Rubenstein, Jill Clayburgh and Irene Ryan. "Pippin" was the first Broadway show to use television advertising with great success and became one of the longest-running musicals of the 1970s with 1,944 performances.

The reconceived Paper Mill Playhouse production of "Pippin" features the book by Hirson, and score by Schwartz, with new orchestrations by David Sigal and musical dance arrangements by David Chase.

Performances of "Pippin" will be presented Wednesday through Saturday evenings at 8 p.m., Sunday evenings at 7:30 p.m., Thursday and Sunday matinees at 2 p.m., and Saturday matinees at 2:30 p.m.

Barbershoppers live up senior meeting

The Winfield Senior Club held their annual May party at the James P. Buckle Center in Winfield Park Township May 7. Sixty members enjoyed the singing of the "Happy Medium Quartet" from the Rahway Valley Jerseyans Chapter, of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America Inc.

The Jerseyans meet in the Roosevelt School Auditorium, 811 St. Georges Ave., between Stanton Street and West Lake Avenue in Rahway, every Monday evening at 7:30 p.m.

"Men of all ages are invited to sing the good old songs," said Bob Stalknecht, president of the Rahway Valley Chapter.

The Rahway Valley Chapter's funding has been made possible in part by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts/Department of State, through a grant administered by the Union Office of Cultural and Heritage Affairs.

Touring exhibit stops at Union County College

The current exhibit in the Tommaso Galleries in the MacKay Library on the Cranford campus of Union County College is the 18th Annual Metro Show.

This exhibit, sponsored by City Without Walls, an urban gallery of new art and artists located in Newark, is an open juried show that had 490 entries this year, of which 79 were chosen. Artists of all levels of experience are able to participate, from those with extensive exhibition experience to those that are quite new to participating in a professional venue. This is in alignment with the gallery's mission of educating the public about high-quality work that can be found among artists who do not yet have for-profit gallery representation — which is the gallery's definition of an "emerging" artist.

Each year, the show is judged by three professional artists. This year's show was judged by local curators Alejandro Anegón, of the Jersey City Museum; Carl Haziwood, co-founder of Newark's other alternative art gallery, Allora; A Center for Contemporary Art; and Judy Wukitch, the director of the municipally-supported Gallery of South Orange.

The art in the show is a composite of digital prints and straight paintings, but most predominantly of pieces that are mixes of two or more media. For example, one piece is a composite of small silk-screened panels that combine acrylics and news photos; another piece combines photography with painting; and a final example is a sculpture.

Finally, each year the Metro Show travels to venues throughout the region, to museums and libraries, and to places where this challenging work can be available to people who may have few opportunities to visit art exhibitions or to those who might not yet have developed an interest in doing so. The title of the exhibition stems from the original method of carrying the work from place to place by public transportation.

The Tommaso Gallery is located in the Kenneth Campbell MacKay Library at Union County College, 1033 Springfield Ave., Cranford. The gallery hours are Monday through Thursday from 1 to 4 p.m., Tuesday and Thursday from 6 to 9 p.m., and Saturday from 1 to 4 p.m. For more information call (908) 709-7155.

To place a classified ad call 1-800-564-8911 by 3 p.m. Tuesday.

Spring brings diversity in the arts

Some short but very big takes on creativity and its rewards this month:

The April 2000 National Geographic has a beautifully photographed article of one of my favorite NAFTA projects, the conservation effort in the San Pedro Arizona river basin, including an even more lyrical text by novelist Barbara Kingsolver. This in a month, too, when Ken Burns' mighty television special about Elizabeth Kady Stanton and Susan B. Anthony, "Not for Ourselves Alone," won the highly coveted Newsweek Award and "The Soprano" outdid itself for drama and old-fashioned character insight in the penultimate program, where Tony's sister shoots her boyfriend in a moment of self-defense rage only the Mafia could justify, proving that our popular expressions of art and culture do have something quite enthralling to say to us.

The superb performance by movie actor Christopher Walken in the Broadway musical of James Joyce's "The Dead" was so surprising in its breadth and delicacy. Always cast as the villain, Mr. Walken was given the range in the musical book to move between the storyteller and the Dubliner who absorbs his wife's story of youthful romance, with another man. The knowledge that James Joyce was told this story of a sexual liaison by his wife, Nora, added to the rich fabric of this unfolding Irish classic. The recent closing of this musical is frankly too bad for a Broadway often lacking in musical subtlety.

The New Zealand director Jane Campion reached, for me, a nadir and a zenith in her creativity this month with the loser of a film "Holy Smoke" — how could a film with Cate Blanchett turn out so bad? — and a real winner which I saw on video, "Angel at My Table" about the reclusive author Jane Frame and her battle against a society which mistakenly judges her mentally ill. The brilliant new French film, "East-West," delivers the truth-telling wallop, too, of the cruelty of social mores, in this case the vicious Stalin regime on European expatriates who start out as well-meaning but duped sympathizers.

South African writer J.D. Coetzee makes a great case for the narrative in the art of the novel in "Disgrace," about current-day South Africa. Saul Bellow took the novel to new heights by embracing a rough and tumble treatment of America's intellectuals. John Updike in the "Rabbit" quartet of novels framed the larger acquisitive American society, as did Richard Ford at the century's end in "The Sportsman" and "Independence Day." Philip Roth in "American Pastoral" and Jesse Carol Oliver in "We Were Mulvaney's" took a close look at our affluent but very flawed culture, flawed particularly by the violence we live with. Within this understanding, Booker Award-winner J.D. Coetzee has flawlessly found the post-Mandela South Africa to be in serious trouble, but not without hope.

Kids can spend their summer on stage at Union County Arts Center

The Union County Arts Center in Railway has announced the Missoula Children's Theater will be visiting Union County for the fifth year straight starting July 10.

Paper Mill pours out wine event

Back by popular demand, Paper Mill Playhouse will host another wine tasting with honored invitees to include Paper Mill stars Christine Neill, Brandon Jovanovich, Eddie Braeken and John Davidson, along with Executive Producer Angelo Del Rossi and Associate Producer Roy Miller. The event will take place Sunday from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. at the theater's own, F.M. Kirby Carriage House, right across the plaza on Brookside Drive in Millburn.

Wine specialist Jeffrey Sappara of Fedway Associates Inc. of New Jersey will conduct the tasting, which will feature a new breed of delectable California stars, as well as an accompaniment of scrumptious cheeses. Following the tasting, guests will be invited to see a technical rehearsal of Paper Mill's upcoming production of the musical Broadway by hip Pippin starring Jack Noseworthy, star of the blockbuster film, "U-571." Noseworthy is joined on stage by costars Charlotte Rae from TV's "The Facts of Life" and Broadway's Jim Newman, as the Leading Player.

Select bottles of the featured wines as well as some surprise vintages will be included in fund-raising events during the evening, as well.

The cost of the evening is $35 per person. All proceeds benefit the Paper Mill Playhouse Guild. For further information, call Bonnie Guyre at (973) 379-3036, ext. 2946.

Missoula Children's Theater, the nation's largest touring children's theater, has been touring extensively for 28 years. Based in Missoula, Montana, MCT will visit more than 800 communities, as far away as Japan, with 24 teams of four actor-directors.

A tour team arrives in a given town with a set, lights, costumes, props and makeup — everything it takes to put on a play except the cast. The team conducts an audition workshop to cast 50 to 60 local students to perform in the production. The show is rehearsed throughout the week and two public performances are presented on Friday and Saturday. All MCT shows are original adaptations of classic children's stories and fairy tales that audiences and actors know and love.

Also, there are three enrichment workshops included in the residency and presented by the tour actor-directors. Creativity, social skills, goal achievement, communication skills and self-esteem are all characteristics that are attained through the participation in this unique, educational project. MCT's mission is the development of life skills in children through participation in the performing arts.

This year, the program has been expanded to include more opportunities for more children. This is the fifth year that the Union County Arts Center has welcomed MCT to Railway and is thrilled to announce that we have increased their stay to two weeks. Each week works independently from the other and offers different productions at the end of their respective weeks.

The first week runs July 10 to 15, and has scheduled performances of "Cinderella" for July 14 at 1 p.m. and July 15 at 3 p.m.

The second week runs July 17 to 22, and has scheduled performances of "Sleeping Beauty" July 21 at 1 p.m. and July 22 at 3 p.m.

Both productions require a placement workshop to cast pre-registered students in the play and are conducted the Monday morning of each respective week. The placement workshop gives MCT participants an opportunity to put their "best foot forward" and is more about spirit, attitude and participation than talent. Nothing is to be prepared for this workshop.

As a further addition to the cast, MCT will ask two students per week to serve as assistant directors, technical assistants to the tour actor-director. All registration rules apply to the assistant-director positions, including involvement in the placement workshop. Since there is limited availability for this position, all registrants interested in being an assistant director should be willing to perform as well.

The cost of the program is $110 per child per week, but discounts are offered for early registrants and families registering more than one child. If you register by June 15, you may receive $10 off the registration fee. Also, if a parent is registering more than one child, they may receive a discount of 10 percent. There will be $120 registration fee for participants registering the day of the placement workshop. This program is appropriate for students in kindergarten through 12th grade. Pre-registration is requested and advisable.

For more information or for registration materials, call the Union County Arts Center at (732) 499-8226.

Wagner 'explores' nature at Trapp Gallery

"Terra — An Exploration" is the title of the photography exhibit by Ross Wagner, on display at the Jacob Trapp Gallery of Summit's Unionan Church Community House through June 30.

Wagner describes this exhibit as being "geofoms and biofoms, real and imagined."

In these black-and-white studies of land and its flora and fauna, nothing is quite as it seems. Familiar becomes foreign; foreign becomes exotic. Branches are figures dancing through a brambled forest; tidal pools suggest primitive biofoms, recalling a time when life struggled from the sea to inhabit land.

In other images, stones become celestial objects and otherwise ordinary scenes are transmuted into a shadowy and eerie world.

Applications sought for grants

The Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders invites local non-profit organizations, individual artists and scholars to apply for funding from the Union County HEART — History, Education, Arts Reaching Thousands — Grant Program.

The Freeholders Board, recognizing the importance of culture and the arts, established the HEART Grant Program in 1998. This innovative program supports projects related to history, the arts and the humanities, and demonstrates a commitment to the organizations and artists of Union County.

"The response to the HEART Grant Program is exciting," said Freeholder Chairman Daniel Sullivan. "The recipients are a wonderful mix of visual artists, composers of orchestral music, cultural organizations and civic groups."

"The services provided by these artists and organizations directly benefit the residents of our county and increase appreciation for the arts, our history, and the humanities," said Freeholder Mary P. Ruotolo, liaison to the Union County Culture and Heritage Programs Advisory Board. "These cultural arts are vital part of community life, economic development and cultural tourism in Union County."

The HEART Grant Program has five different submission dates throughout the year. Applications are reviewed bimonthly.

To request a HEART Grant application and guidelines, contact the Union County Division of Cultural and Heritage Affairs, 633 Pearl St., Elizabeth, 07032. The division can be reached by telephone at (908) 558-2550; relay users dial (800) 852-7899.

HANDMADE CRAFTS, like this stained glass box by West Milford artisan John Best, will be among the works for viewing and purchase at the Spring Fine Art and Craft Show at Nomahegan Park in Cranford this weekend. For information, see the 'Crafts' listing on this page, or call (908) 874-5247.

Freeholders invite residents to 'connect'

The Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders has announced the Union County Calendar of Events, "Cultural Connections," is available on the county's website.

"The Cultural Connections calendar is an instant link to the county's broad range of arts, musical, educational and historical programs," said Freeholder Mary P. Ruotolo, Culture and Heritage Programs Advisory Board. "It lists not only highlights our talented county organizations and individuals, but also makes it easy to plan ahead so you don't miss any special events."

Union County is rich in culture, history and arts activities. The calendar reflects this representation with a wide variety of events from concerts to lectures, from children's programs to theatrical performances and dance.

The Union County Museum and Historical Sites schedule contains regular operating hours and special program information. Also available on the web page is the Cultural Connections Information Form, which can be printed out, completed and mailed in by any individual or group that wishes to include events in the calendar.

To access the Union County website, simply type in www.unionnj.org. When the homepage is downloaded, notice the department listing on the left side of the page. Click on "County Manager," then "Economic Development" and finally "Division of Cultural and Heritage Affairs," where options will be found to access the Museum listings, Current Calendar or the Information Form.

For more information on the Calendar of Events or other services of the Division of Cultural and Heritage Affairs, call (908) 558-2550; or send e-mail to scoc@unioncounty.org; or write to the Union County Division of Cultural and Heritage Affairs, 633 Pearl St., Elizabeth, NJ 07020.

HOROSCOPE

For June 5 to June 11

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Your brain is energized. Allow creative ideas to flow, and apply yourself mentally to solving a difficult problem surrounding a friend.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Finances are on the upswing. You will be pleasantly surprised by an unexpected raise or money paid to you from an old debt.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21): Change is in the air today. Exercise some degree of self-control as you seek to moderate your behavior and deal with new personal choices.

CANCER (June 22-July 22): Pay attention to your subconscious or messages found in your dreams. Charitable activities are greatly appreciated and extremely rewarding.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Although you may have the help and support of friends and associates, it's best to step out on your own and establish your own independence.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You get to call the shots and show off your many talents at work this week. Step up to the plate with confidence and hit a home run.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23): Re-examine your attitude toward love and romance. Educational pursuits are important now. Study something that really grabs your interest.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22): A major transformation is unfolding but very necessary. Go along with the flow in an emotional situation, and grow and heal from the situation.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21): Close personal relationships are subject to sudden spots and starts or ups and downs. Hold on tight, be a sport, and go along for the ride.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Make building your personal resources or saving your number one priority. Roll up your sleeves, and put your nose to the earnings grindstone.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): You can avoid a fluster on the jobfront. Give your family or children the attention they need without them first having to create a crisis.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Positive emotional developments are likely. Get in touch with your feelings and express your thoughts, desires, dreams and goals with loved ones.

If your birthday is this week, rebellious forces abound during the coming year. Assent yourself in unique and challenging situations. Use independent thinking and creative ideas to establish yourself as a major player in the world of business and finance. Sudden romantic attraction is also a part of the scenario.

Approach new partnerships with caution, but don't let this take away from the excitement and joy of it. Learn to live fully in each and every moment.

Also born this week: Frank Lloyd Wright, Dean Martin, Judy Garland, Gene Wilder, Joe Montana, Elizabeth Hurley, Johnny Depp and Anna Kournikova.

Scharl cited by Prudential New Jersey

Prudential New Jersey Realty President William O. Kehler Jr. has named Rose Wurgas Scharl as the company's Westfield office's Sales Associate of the Year.

Scharl earned Sales Associate of the Month honors at her office five times in 1999 — in March, May, June, July and August. She has also earned Silver Level membership in NJAR's Million Dollar Sales Club and was named to Prudential's President's Circle, the top 4 percent of the entire International Prudential Network. She attributes her success to hard work, thorough knowledge of the market, and consistent marketing.

"Rose's constant use of technology has been a significant asset in this year's brisk market," said her manager, Bernadette Houston. "With many homes selling very quickly, often after multiple offers, a good agent has to act immediately. To do that, the agent must have extremely current information. Rose is constantly on the computer, getting updates on new listings, using our Know The Neighborhood technology, and e-mailing clients on a variety of subjects. She takes her notebook computer and portable printer with her just about everywhere, so she can fax, draw up and print contracts wherever she is with a client."

"Technology gives me the information I need to meet my clients' individual needs," Scharl said. "Whether I'm matching buyers to sellers or looking for some unusual home features for a unique family, the computer helps me to streamline the process. When I list a home for sale, I have my digital camera so I can e-mail a photo of that house directly to our advertising agency and to clients who will want to see it. And now Prudential New Jersey Realty has an alliance with bamboo.com to provide virtual tours of our listings on our web site at www.PrudentialNJ.com. I can e-mail not only my digital photos but also the virtual tours to prospective buyers. My pager, cell phone, and computer management software ensure that I'm always in touch with my clients. All these conveniences enable me to focus more effectively on my clients and give them truly professional service."

Scharl said she feels at home in Prudential New Jersey Realty's Westfield office. "It's one of the most technologically advanced real estate offices in the state," she said. "Each sales associate has notebook computers and our office is filled with work stations where we can plug in to make presentations to clients, call the multiple listing service for homes to show, and conduct other work. This company gives us extraordinary support."

For more information about technology such as virtual tours, or for current market trends in Essex or Union counties or other communities, contact Scharl at (908) 232-5664, or e-mail her at rose.scharl@PrudentialNewJersey.com.
