Things change sometimes

The weather-worn plaques hanging across each other inside the entrance at the new Runnells Hospital in Berkeley Heights speak to a different time. They honor the dedication of the Bonnie Burn Sanatorium in 1916 and the expansion in 1928 to deal with citizens ravaged by tuberculosis.

Things change sometimes for the better, but not always. Last week, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention in Atlanta said TB dropped 7 percent last year continuing an eight-year downward trend. New Jersey ranks 13 in the country for reported cases of tuberculosis. In raw numbers, we went from a relatively low 571 statewide to an even lower 565 incidents.

Left Out

By Frank Capece

For some perspective, in 1916, Union County alone housed 160 patients with TB. By the end of World War II, mainly through the use of streptomycin, the mortality rate started a rapid decline. But health officials warn that a rise in foreign immigration from countries where fighting the disease is not a priority could drive the numbers up. Nurses privately believe the numbers in our poorest urban areas may actually be higher than the reports indicate.

When Congress cut off funding to fight the disease in the 1970s, there was actually an increase as new drug-resistant strains appeared. It's the reason health groups are targeting that section of the population most at risk.

Not all our battles from the past generations are ending. Lester Sargent, chief warrant officer for Union County Sheriff Ralph Froelich, never met the country's chief economist Alan Greenspan. They might find that they both have a special hand on the pulse of the economy. In Elizabeth every Wednesday, Sargent administers the foreclosures for unpaid mortgage payments on homes.

The process is really a draw back to the time of the Depression. For the soft-spoken, gentlemanly Sargent it is not a pleasant job. Before the 2 p.m. bidding begins, the representatives of the banks and speculators hover outside the lunch room meeting office used for the proceedings. They have already studied and visited the outside of the properties, know the value and the unpaid assessments. They look for bargains.

With their genesis in the Depression years, the law on foreclosures offers a great deal of protection to the homeowners, even the delinquent ones.

Sargent has seen the pattern before. The owner falls behind on the mortgage payments as economic times worsen and those that are

Democrats will review federal statute

Party dissidents file Hatch Act complaint

By Mark Hrywna and Michelle Runge

Union County Democrats will examine whether Freeholder Daniel Sullivan is violating a federal statute in his bid for re-election since he is executive director of the Elizabeth Development Corporation, an agency that receives federal funding.

The Hatch Act, enacted in 1940 and amended in 1993, prohibits people whose salaries are paid through federal funds, or those who direct federal funds, to run for office in partisan elections. The Office of Special Counsel only investigates potential violations of the Hatch Act if a complaint has been filed.

Union County Democratic Chairman Charlotte DeFilippo said attorneys will examine the statute "to make sure Dan is not in conflict." She hopes to have an answer from attorneys within a week. "When we know, everyone will know."

"I'm not sure that there is any conflict," she said, as Sullivan has a Board of Directors at the EDC.

As executive director, Sullivan oversees the EDC on a day-to-day basis. In addition to running Elizabeth's Urban Enterprise Zone, the nonprofit EDC coordinates federal funds including Community Development Block Grants.

Sullivan first was appointed to the freeholder board in 1993 to complete a one-year term before being elected in 1995 and re-elected in 1998. He was a data processing manager at AT&T before becoming executive director at the EDC in 1999.

Jane McFarland, director of Congressional and Public Affairs for the Office of Special Counsel, said her office does not confirm nor deny whether a complaint has been filed. Certain state and local employees are exempt from the Hatch Act, she said.

When a complaint is investigated, McFarland said the time span for an investigation often depends on the cooperation of the employing agency.

DeFilippo believes the issue of the Hatch Act was raised by dissidents within the party in Elizabeth — Democrats for Change — who are "conveniently very comfortable" with the Republican party.

Rafael Fajardo, an Elizabeth Board of Education member who challenged incumbent Mayor J. Christian Bollwage last year, said he sent a letter Friday to McFarland, as well as Union County Prosecutor Thomas Manahan and U.S. Attorney Gen. John Ashcroft calling for an investigation.

"It is reprehensible that someone like Dan Sullivan who was given the job would so cavalierly dismiss a federal law," said Fajardo, who is campaign manager for a freeholder slate that challenged Sullivan and incumbents Mary Ruotolo and Lewis Mingo Jr. in Tuesday's primary.

"This is a blatant violation of the Hatch Act and we intend to provide documentation which will result in his resignation. I would be interested to know how someone could plead ignorance about the law."

Sullivan did not return phone calls seeking comment by presstime.

Union County Republican Chairman Ron Frigerio Monday said the GOP will wait until at least the primary two days ago to do anything, if necessary. Simply because the law is not enforced without a complaint being filed, Frigerio said, is not in the spirit of the law. "We will deal with it if they don't. If they don't review it themselves, and if it violates the law, we'll be forced to act."

"As a Republican Party, we consider the Hatch Act very seriously." He said two candidates came forward to run for local offices recently but "we wouldn't even consider it because they violated the act."

"The law is the law and you have to abide by it," said Elizabeth City Councilman Robert Jaspán, also a leader of Democrats for Change. "Clearly, Dan Sullivan is in violation and his salary is derived from federal funding. His direct responsibility is to Elizabeth residents, not the people who put him in a position of power. It's likely they will pull a lateral shift and put him in another position."

Jaspán said Sullivan should withdraw from the freeholder race since the law is clear that you cannot run for office when you have federal fund financing your position. The councilman ran for Assembly in Tuesday's primary on the Democrats for Change line.

Improvements to be bonded

By Mark Hrywna Regional Editor

Nearly $16 million to be issued in bonds will go for the purposes of intersection, traffic signal and road improvements, with all but $2.5 million coming from state and federal sources. The Board of Chosen Freeholders is expected to give final approval on a $15.9-million bond ordinance during its regular meeting tonight at Trilside Nature and Science Center in Mountainside. The ordinance includes a down payment of $132,950 on more than $2.5 million of county debt and $13.3 million from state and federal grants.

"It's not going to have any significant impact on debt," county Finance Director Lawrence Caroselli said, since nearly the entire ordinance comes from state and federal funds. The county generally pays off about $13 million to $15 million of debt annually. About $6 million to $7 million already has been paid off in 2001 with another $5 million to $6 million expected by the end of the year, he added.

The largest item in the bond ordinance is $7.5 million for the replacement of bridges and reconstruction of culverts, with $6 million of the total coming from state grants. The county will authorize the remaining $1.4 million in debt. The county also will authorize debt in the amount of $560,000 for architectural and engineering work in conjunction with various road, bridge and building projects.

State grants will fund $2 million for "corridor system management program improvements" at various intersections along the Morris Avenue corridor in Summit; $1.1 million of the proposed $1.7 million for various traffic signal and intersection improvements; and $2.9 million for resurfacing various roads, including handicap ramp construction at various locations.

Ho-hum, primary offers very few surprises

By Mark Hrywna Regional Editor

The only surprise in Tuesday's election may have been the outcome of the Republican gubernatorial primary. Other than that, incumbents and other party-backed candidates easily earned nominations.

Incumbent freeholder Democrats Daniel Sullivan of Elizabeth, Mary Ruotolo of Westfield and Lewis Mingo Jr. easily turned away a challenge from the Democrats for Change ticket of Becky McHugh of Linden and Elizabeth residents Armando DaSilva and George O'Grady. With 435 of 437 districts reporting in Union County, Ruotolo led the way with 13,126 votes, 27 percent; followed by Sullivan with 12,964, 27 percent; Mingo, 12,471, 26 percent; O'Grady, 3,326, 7 percent; McHugh, 3,190, 7 percent, and DaSilva, 3,176, 7 percent.

As for Republicans, the organization-endorsed candidates — Roselle Park Councilman Ricky Badillo, Paul Marques of Elizabeth and Andrew MacDonald of Fanwood — defeated a line of GOP candidates — Robert Schundler of Westfield, Barbara Timko of Scotch Plains and former Springfield mayor Jeffrey Katz — assembled to protect Jersey City Mayor Bret Schundler's ballot position in the gubernatorial race.

Badillo was the leading vote-getter in the GOP primary with 9,329, 22 percent, followed by MacDonald, 9,295, 22 percent; Marques, 8,759, 21 percent; the mayor's brother, Robert Schundler, 5,454, 13 percent; Timko, 5,165, 12 percent, and Katz, 4,754, 11 percent.

A Westfield native, Schundler surprised many by easily beating Bob Franks for the Republican nomination for governor and fared well in Union County considering it is Franks' territory.

Franks, a resident of Berkeley Heights and a former congressman and assemblyman from Union County, carried the county but not by too wide a margin. He received 9,633 votes, 56 percent, to Schundler's 7,490, 44 percent. Franks entered the GOP race less than three months ago after Acting Gov. Donald DiFrancesco of Scotch Plains dropped out.

Voter turnout was approximately 55 percent statewide while in Union County it was closer to 30 percent with more than 37,000 voters going to the polls. There are approximately 95,000 registered Democrats in the county versus approximately 45,000 Republicans.

In the State Senate and Assembly races, party-endorsed candidates easily won if they were contested at all in Union County.

In the 20th District, incumbent State Sen. Raymond Lesniak easily defeated Stanley Moskal and Assemblyman Neil Cohen of Roselle and Union Democratic Chairman Joseph Cryan crushed Elizabeth school board member Jim Ford and Elizabeth Councilman Robert Jaspán for the Democratic Assembly nomination. The only other contested race in Union County was for the 22nd District State Senate Republican nomination, where former Olympian Milt Campbell of Plainfield beat Richard Hunt of Linden.

New law will change kids' passport procedure

Union County Clerk Joanne Rajoppi announced that a new federal law, effective Monday, will change the procedure for applying for a child's passport, recommending both parents appear in person at her office.

"This new federal law strongly recommends that both parents appear before a passport agent and jointly sign the application. If only one parent is available for signing, he or she must have valid identification and either a letter from the absent parent or legal documents establishing custodial authority of the child," Rajoppi said.

"These new regulations are to provide additional protection for the children, and will be strictly enforced."

"As a working parent I am aware of the confusion and annoyance this new law may cause," Rajoppi said. "It's clear that the law was enacted to protect children against the increasingly common occurrence of non-custodial kidnapping and from that perspective it is beneficial in protecting our children and families."

"I urge any parent with questions or concerns to contact my office for additional information regarding approved documentation which can be used in the process." The Elizabeth office is open at 7:30 a.m. Monday through Friday to accommodate working parents and the Westfield office will remain open to 7 p.m. on Thursdays.

The Elizabeth office, located at the Union County Courthouse, also is open Monday through Friday from 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The Westfield office, located at 300 North Ave.,

East, is open 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and until 7 p.m. on Thursdays.

UCLSA installs officers

On May 30, the Union County Legal Secretaries Association, the association for legal professionals, sponsored its annual installation of officers banquet at L'Affaire restaurant in Mountainside.

Installed was Susie Mack of Kenilworth, president; Helena Goworek of Elizabeth, vice president; Christine Peoples of Rahway, recording secretary; Diane Hahn of Roselle, treasurer, and Judith C. Reed of Elizabeth, governor. UCLSA awarded its annual Helen D. Hansen Memorial Scholarship to Victoria Leprete of Roselle Park. Scholarships are awarded each year on both the county and state level to individuals pursuing a career within the legal field.

At the installation, the UCLSA 2001 Award of Excellence plaque, in memory of Bernice Harris, was presented to longtime member Maryrose F. Sawicki, by last year's recipient, Helena Goworek. Sawicki is a legal secretary with the law firm of Fitzpatrick, Reilly, Supple & Gaul in New Providence. The plaque is awarded to a member whose professional and personal accomplishments, along with service to the association, best exemplify Harris's lifelong commitment to the legal profession.

UCLSA is a nonpartisan, nonprofit organization of legal professionals that is part of a tri-level association. It is affiliated with NJALS, the association for legal professionals, and NALS, the association for legal professionals.

Hotline luncheon June 28

Lynne Crystal of the Lynne Crystal Company will be the guest speaker at the June 28 Hotline Chamber meeting at noon, B.G. Fields, Springfield Avenue in Westfield.

Crystal has trained, coached, and developed thousands of executives. She has designed, conducted and trained trainers for an unlimited number of management development programs and saved countless careers. Her clients range from the professional to the executive suites of Fortune 500 companies. She is affiliated with the National Speakers Association, the Board Member Institute of New Jersey, the American Society for Training & Development and has been an adjunct professor at the New School Graduate School of Management.

The Hotline Chamber is a partnership between the Union County and Westfield chambers of commerce. It was established to provide a variety of resources for home-based businesses to help them achieve success.

Home-based business owners are invited to attend the Hotline Chamber luncheon meetings. The fee for the meeting is $15 and includes a full lunch. Advance reservations are required.

Anyone interested in joining Hotline or in making reservations for the luncheon meeting can call Susan Jacobson of the Union County Chamber at (908) 352-0900.

Boys & Girls Club starts SMART Moves program

In response to the changing needs of the young people it serves, the Boys & Girls Club of Union County conducted its peer-leader training of the award-winning prevention program SMART Moves at its Union Club.

Developed by the Boys & Girls clubs of America, SMART Moves is one of the few national prevention programs currently addressing the problems of alcohol and other drug use and teen pregnancy in one comprehensive curriculum. Unlike other programs, SMART Moves confronts young people in a positive way, equipping them with basic life skills, problem-solving and decision-making abilities and communications skills, all designed to boost self-confidence and self-esteem.

Christine Kotula, director of education and prevention, said the Boys & Girls Clubs of Union County has successfully implemented the SMART Moves Program in the Union, Elizabeth and Roselle school units with a total number of participants of 317 youth. Past participants have shown an average of a 27 percent increase in acquired knowledge and skills in alcohol, tobacco and other drug resistance, how to initiate peaceful conflict resolution, and how to be a positive peer leader.

Specific to the training, Allena Manatee a teen club member, said, "I particularly loved the activities. We were asked what we see when we leave our door and it was amazing to see how everyone's background influenced how you see things." Kotula added that "breaking down perceptions will improve everyone's communication."

For more information or how to get involved in the SMART Moves program, call Kotula at (908) 687-2697, Ext. 19.

Pools open for business

The Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders has announced that the county's two outdoor swimming facilities in Linden and Rahway are now open for the public's enjoyment.

Both pools, John Russell Wheeler Pool, off West Stimpson Avenue and Route 1 in Linden, and the Walter E. Ulrich Memorial Pool in Rahway River Park, off St. Georges Avenue in Rahway, feature full-size and children's pools. A variety of swimming lessons is offered at the Ulrich pool.

Wheeler Pool swim times on Monday, Wednesdays and Fridays will be from 1 to 8 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday hours are 1 to 6 p.m. at Wheeler. Ulrich Pool's hours will be 1 to 8 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays. Hours on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays are 1 to 6 p.m. at Ulrich.

On weekends and holidays, both pools will be open from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Daily admission fees are $4 for adult county residents; $8 for out-of-county adults. Discounted rates are available for youths — 17 years and under — and seniors — 62 and over. Ten- and 30-visit discount cards are also on sale. Identification will be required before admission or the out-of-county rate will be charged. No one under the age of 12 will be admitted without an adult.

Patrons should be aware that temporary daily closings might occur at either pool due to a statewide shortage of qualified lifeguards. The County of Union has made an exhaustive recruiting effort in this regard, but shortages may occur, especially in August, when college students return to school. If closings are unavoidable, revised pool schedules will be posted in advance.

Patrons are advised that the capacity of both pools is set according to safety regulations. Admission to either pool will be controlled by the pool manager. Once a pool has reached its capacity, no further admissions will be allowed on that day.

For more information, call either Ulrich Pool at (732) 381-4045 or Wheeler Pool at (908) 862-0977. Ulrich and Wheeler pools are fully accessible facilities.

Foreclosure pattern the same

But the image of the nasty banker throwing the family out in the street is unfair. Foreclosures are so complex with notice requirements that it can take as much as six years. At any point up until Sargent closes his proceeding, the homeowner can come up with the cash and redeem.

Another point that should be considered. For the more than 92 percent who pay their taxes and mortgage payments in a timely manner, the nonpayers get a free ride at our expense.

Urban mayors who have used foreclosure on abandoned properties do so to make properties again productive. Maybe an example of something that shouldn't change.

ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT

Nadler to bring his 'mishmash' back to The Manor

By Bea Smith
Staff Writer

Mark Nadler is a man of many talents, and whatever he does in the entertainment field — sing, dance, play the piano, coach, make people laugh — his versatility shines through.

Nadler, who will appear July 12 at Le Dome at The Manor in West Orange, has, by his own admission, been "compared to Chico Marx and Victor Borge, with a little bit of Peter Allen thrown in." He said, during a recent chat, that he hadn't decided on a title for his Manor show until now. "I'm calling it 'Flipping the Dome.' " "Actually," Nadler laughed, "the show is just a mishmash of fun, comedy, and a couple of serious pieces. What I do in my cabaret shows most often is just simply throw a party. And I consider myself the entertainment at the party."

Nadler, the co-star of "American Rhapsody," has frequently entertained at the top nightclubs and cabarets in Manhattan and Los Angeles — his "Mark Nadler and Co." ran for two years at the Cinegrill in Los Angeles. For his efforts, he has won five cabaret and bistro awards. "I'm a pianist, singer and tap dancer, and I do all three at the same time," he mused.

The entertainer had been seen at Le

Dome last year when he accompanied K.T. Sullivan at the piano. "The Manor," he exclaimed. "Wow! If I didn't get paid anything, I'd still take the job just to go to the buffet. I didn't need to eat for a year after that."

Of the many performers for whom Nadler had provided musical arrangements, musical direction and vocal coaching, one of the outstanding moments in his life was arranging and coaching Glenn Close with her rendition of "Bye Bye Blackbird" in the film "Maxie."

"This was in the 1980s," he recalled. "I was very young, in my early 20s. I was vocal coach and created her musical arrangement for her song in the movie. She was extremely nice. I was very impressed with her ability to keep me at arm's length. It takes a certain talent to make a person to feel that he was important without having to be your permanent friend. I was also impressed as a coach. She did not take my age into consideration. She made me think I was the most established music director. Her skills were extraordinary. I would make a suggestion, and she was able to perfect that suggestion. She was letter perfect the first time. It was like putting clothes on a pretty doll. Do you know the amount of skills it takes for someone to do that in a first suggestion?"

The comedian in Nadler suddenly turned full scale. "Conversely," he said, "I also played for Jennifer Flowers. I'm mad about her. She really is a great performer. This was at the height of the scandal. I was working at Maxim's in New York, and Jennifer and a guy from 'The Current Officer,' a TV show, came in and sat down. I said to the maitre d', 'We've got to buy this woman as many drinks as we can. We'll have a whopper of a week, and we'll get a lot of publicity.'

"The maitre d', a Frenchman, who had never seen an American newspaper, said, 'Who's Jennifer Flowers?' So, I explained to him that she was front page news that particular day in every major periodical in the world, and because I told him in French, he believed me. We plied her with liquor. After the third drink, I went over to her and innocently said, 'Miss Flowers,' in English, of course. 'I'm so admiring of the courage it has taken you to come forward with your story.' I really laid it on thick. 'And I know you're a country singer.' And I said, 'Would you please do us the honor of gracing us with a song?'

"She was up there so fast, chomping at the bit. She sang five songs. Among them — and I'm not kidding — were 'The Lady Is a Tramp,' 'What I Did For Love,' and 'He's Just My Bill.' And apropos to the interview that Hillary had given that week on '60 Minutes,' she closed with 'Stand by Your Man.' Isn't that neat?" Nadler laughed so hard that his two dogs, Banjo and Admiral Boom, barked hysterically.

Did he plan to include his great impersonations of Carol Channing, Bette Davis and Tallulah Bankhead in his program at The Manor?

"No," Nadler said, "the impersonations are not included in my mishmash of fun and comedy and music. And," he added, "a few serious pieces."

County seeks award nominations

Is there a building in your town that has been lovingly restored? Has your downtown been revitalized through the continuing use or reuse of traditional buildings? Has a local individual or program contributed to the understanding or promotion of Union County history through historic preservation programs?

In order to recognize successful efforts in historic preservation, the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders is accepting nominations for the 14th annual Historic Preservation Commendations program.

"The Historic Preservation Commendations illustrate how Union County's historic buildings foster a sense of place and connection with the past," said Freeholder Mary P. Ruotolo, liaison to the Cultural and Heritage Programs Advisory Board. "In addition, our historic buildings help keep our downtowns alive and stimulate economic benefits. These awards recognize the valuable contributions of individuals, organizations and local governments throughout Union County."

Nominations for the awards must be submitted by Monday, July 2. Application forms are available from the Union County Division of Cultural and Heritage Affairs, 633 Pearl St., Elizabeth, 07202. For information, call (908) 558-2550 or dial 711 for New Jersey Relay Service.

Commendations are awarded in six categories which include Building Preservation and Restoration, Continuing Use, Adaptive Use and Structure, Object or Site Preservation, Leadership, and Preservation Education," said County Manager Michael Lapolla. "Since the inception of the program, awards have been given to more than 100 preservation projects, groups, and individuals in 17 Union County municipalities."

The annual historic preservation awards are sponsored by the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders, the Division of Cultural and Heritage Affairs, the Department of Economic Development, and the Cultural and Heritage Programs Advisory Board. Each year nominations are solicited from the public. Although the nominated projects must be in Union County, it is not necessary to reside in the county to propose a candidate.

The Historic Sites Committee of the Cultural and Heritage Program Advisory Board reviews the nominations and makes recommendations for commendations to the Board of Chosen Freeholders. Chaired by Advisory Board member Nancy Piwowar of Plainfield, it is comprised of professionals and lay people in historic preservation and related fields.

The commendations are bestowed at a public ceremony each year.

Noted artists to critique seniors' work

Three prominent artists — Bonnie Maranz, Russell A. Murray, and Jose Rodeiro — will critique and judge the 2001 Union County Senior Citizens Art Contest and Exhibit at the NUI/Elizabethtown Gas Company, Liberty Hall Center, in Union.

Maranz is the public relations and gallery coordinator of the New Jersey Center for Visual Arts in Summit. She has a master's degree in fine art from Montclair State University. Her artwork was exhibited recently at Trenton State Museum, the Monmouth Museum and at NJCVA, where she teaches painting and drawing. Maranz also conducted workshops in Bermuda, the Tuscany region of Italy, and on Cape Cod in Massachusetts.

Murray is a 2001 recipient of a New Jersey State Council on the Arts Fellowship. He is represented by Iandor Gallery in Newark and his work is in the permanent collections at the Morris Museum in Morristown, the James E. Lewis Museum in Baltimore and the African-American Museum in Cleveland. Murray is also well known as a curator of exhibits and a former member of the Acquisition Committee of the New Jersey State Museum.

Rodeiro is a painter and professor at New Jersey City University. He received fellowships from the National Endowment for the Arts, the Fulbright Program, and the Institute for International Education. He was commissioned to paint several murals in Florida, including a grand mural at City Hall in Tampa. Rodeiro was an artist-in-residence in Florida and Maryland and he has fostered Latino art by organizing scores of exhibitions.

The Senior Citizens Art Exhibit, which runs through Aug. 19, debuted with a reception June 2 at the NUI/Elizabethtown Gas Company, Liberty Hall Center, 1085 Morris Ave., Union. The exhibit is open Monday through Saturday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The site is wheelchair-accessible and other services are available on request.

"In this annual show, Union County's senior artists prove that creativity and talent has no age limit," said Freeholder Vice Chairman Lewis Mingo Jr., liaison to the Union County Advisory Council on Aging. "Their artwork is outstanding and it deserves to be enjoyed and honored."

Eligibility for the show is limited to Union County seniors, 60 years old and older, both professionals and non-professionals. First-place winners will represent Union County at the 35th annual New Jersey Senior Citizens Arts Competition in September.

The 2001 Union County Senior Citizens Art Contest and Exhibit is sponsored by the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders; the Department of Economic Development, Division of Cultural and Heritage Affairs; the Department of Human Services, Division on Aging; and the NUI/Elizabethtown Gas Company. Funding has been made possible in part by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts/Department of State.

For more information or to attend the reception, call the Division of Cultural and Heritage Affairs at (908) 558-2550 weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Relay services users should call 711 during business hours.

Bridgeway artwork is still on exhibit

Nineteen visual artists from the Bridgeway Creative Arts Unit have work on exhibit until July 9 in the Union County Freeholders Gallery, located on the sixth floor of the County Administration Building, Elizabeth Plaza at Rahway Avenue, in downtown Elizabeth. The gallery is open to the public weekdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

"The Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders is pleased to sponsor this exhibition of paintings and drawings," said Freeholder Mary Ruotolo, liaison to the Cultural and Heritage Programs Advisory Board. "A Union County Arts Grant has allowed Bridgeway to expand opportunities for those wishing to explore their creative talents and learn the benefits of becoming involved in the arts."

Bridgeway provides rehabilitation services to adults who have serious mental illness to help them live as independently as possible in the community. Art instructors in the Creative Arts teach classes and help students to express themselves and understand the diversity of people and their abilities.

The artworks on display in the "Art Odyssey 2001" exhibition at the Freeholders Gallery are some of the results of this important project. For more information about Bridgeway and its rehabilitative services, write to Bridgeway, 615 N. Broad St., Elizabeth, 07208, or telephone (908) 355-7886.

Funding for Bridgeway's fine art instruction program has been made possible in part by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts/Department of State, through a grant administered by the Union County Division of Cultural and Heritage Affairs.

The Union County Division of Cultural and Heritage Affairs coordinates monthly exhibitions held in the Freeholders Gallery. Student works to be displayed at Swain

A summer showcase of 37 multi-media works by 17 young artists from the 2001 duCret School of Art Student Show will be on view July 7 to 31 at Swain Galleries in Plainfield.

Subjects range from landscapes, still lifes, portraits to interpretations of time and beauty in media that include oils, pastels, watercolors, stained glass, colored pencil, pen and ink, charcoal, silverpoint, collage, mixed media, acrylics and sculpture.

"Always inventive and never stale, the work of young artists is a pleasure for its unpredictability," stated proprietor Ann Swain. "I look forward to this show every year and I think it's important for people to see it."

The duCret School of Art, headquartered in a Stamford White mansion in Plainfield, is the oldest private art school in the state. The duCret exhibit opens at Swain's with a reception July 7 from 5 to 7 p.m. and continues Tuesdays to Fridays, 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., and Saturdays to 4 p.m. at the Swain Galleries, 703 Wauchung Ave., Plainfield. For information, call (908) 756-1707.

Kean show is 'must see' theater

At the core of Stop Kiss, Diana Son's compelling and insightful play on stage at Kean University, is an act of horrific violence committed against two women, a crime which is kissed off with the label of "gay bashing." The story begs the question: Are these women lovers or merely friends exploring the gray areas of their relationship? To its credit, the script never completely answers the question, leaving it — like so many of life's issues — in the realm of the un-

Margaret Catov and E. Teresa Choate deliver stirring performances in 'Stop Kiss,' Diana Son's compelling study of a relationship's evolution, on stage Friday and Saturday at Kean University in Union.

swerable. "Love," the play contends, cannot be pimed down to any one definition.

Produced by Kean's Gay Pride Theater as part of the university's Arts Incubator Project and Theater Series, "Stop Kiss" is almost seamless in its ability to captivate its audience and draw them into the growing friendship between New Yorker Callie and recent midwestern-transplant Sara.

Director Philip Sprayberry's touch is deft in handling the slow evolution of the central characters and their relationship, as is his approach to the script's humor. Also, his execution play's 23 out-of-sequence scenes give the piece a flavor and feel akin to those of a movie. Much credit is due Sprayberry and set designer Karen Lee Hart who brilliantly transform the intimate Zella-Fry Theater into the play's seven different locations.

Kean professor E. Teresa Choate displays an energy and focus which bring Callie to vibrant life. Her transformation from initially expecting to dislike Sara to ultimately asking her beaten friend to "choose" her is nuanced and subtle, with a rich depth of character and resonance.

Worthy of equal praise is Margaret Catov, who plays Sara with a charm and exuberance that leaps off the stage. Her "country mouse" sparkle plays beautifully off Choate's assimilated Callie. Their scenes crackle with a natural pacing and almost Mamet-esque banter. From start to finish, these two actresses create characters and a relationship that are completely believable and effective. These are truly exquisite performances.

The supporting roles are handled with varying degrees of aplomb. While Cliff Crawford's Detective Cole and Diane Rodriguez' Nurse fit in relatively seamlessly with Choate and Catov, Voltaire Balderrama, Lou Gomez and Anamaria LLanos — as George, Peter and Mrs. Winsley — do not fare quite so well, lacking a little in terms of believability. Crawford's scenes with Choate have a gritty urgency and edge that make them almost breathless.

In technical terms, the blackouts between scenes could have been shorter, especially with the darkly moody music covering costume changes. With the changes tightened, the almost-perfect pace will have its final polish. Anamaria LLanos' lighting design is quite effective and delineates the various playing areas in a natural, subtle way. Her use of patterns and shadows is haunting and evocative.

"Stop Kiss" is powerful and thought-provoking, tender and touching — and not without its share of laughs. This is must-see theater of the highest order.

"Stop Kiss" is on stage at Kean University Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. For information, see the "Theater" listing in the Stepping Out calendar on Page B13.

This play contains adult themes and language, references to extreme violence, and brief nudity, and is not suitable for children.

UCAC prepares to welcome annual visitor

The Union County Arts Center welcomes Missoula Children's Theater back for the sixth straight year, July 9 to 21.

Sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Rahway, Missoula Children's Theater offers a unique experience for area children to participate in the production of a live performance. This year, MCT is offering two weeks of learning fun and performance. For more information, call the Union County Arts Center at (732) 499-8226.

The first week runs July 9 to 14 featuring "Red Riding Hood," with performances July 13 at 1 p.m. and July 14 at 3 p.m. The second week features "Treasure Island" and runs July 16 to 21 with performances July 20 at 1 p.m. and July 21 at 3 p.m. A placement workshop is held, casting 50 to 60 local students to perform in the productions, and the productions are rehearsed throughout the week, ending the week with two public performances.

Both productions require a placement workshop to cast pre-registered students in the play and are held on the Monday morning of each week. The placement workshop is about spirit, attitude and participation rather than talent. Nothing should be prepared for this workshop.

The cost of this program is $125 per child, per week. For families registering more than one child from the same immediate family, the cost is $115 per child. The Missoula Children's Theater program is appropriate for children in kindergarten through 12th grade. Pre-registration is recommended. Missoula Children's Theater is based in Missoula, Mont. It is the nation's largest touring children's theater and has been touring extensively for 29 years. In more than 800 communities, as far away as Japan, a duo of Tour Actor/Directors arrive in towns with everything it takes to put on a play, resulting in a unique learning experience.

For more information or for registration materials, call the Union County Arts Center at (732) 499-8226.

Union County Arts Center is a regional performing arts venue. The wide array of offerings includes theater, music, film, dance and headliner entertainment. The Westfield Symphony Orchestra performs regularly at the arts center under its designation as resident orchestra of this vaudeville-era theater, claimed by many to be the most beautiful theater in the state.

As a non-profit organization, the arts center is supported in part by the New Jersey State Council on the Arts/Department of State, a Partner Agency of the National Endowment of the Arts. Other funding has been provided by The Merck Company Foundation and Comcast, which sponsors the Family Fun Series. The following organizations and institutions are also contributors to the Union County Arts Center: The Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders, The City of Rahway, The Rahway Savings Institution, Liberty Bank, Schering-Plough Foundation and NUI/Elizabethtown Gas.

Plainfield readies for 38th annual art festival

When the Plainfield Festival of Art Committee began planning for the 2001 Art Festival, to be held July 14, the perennial question of how to announce the event emerged.

Well known Plainfield artist Indira Bailey, an art teacher at Essex County Vocational Technical School and a member of the committee, suggested this might be an exciting project for her class to undertake. The result was the selection of 15-year-old Newark native Richard Hill's colorful poster to announce the 2001 Art Festival. A 10th-grader, Hill is studying advertising and design at Essex County VoT-ech. "I plan to attend art school after graduating and I want to be an urban clothes designer," he said. The poster has received rave reviews from observers with its vibrant background colors and elegant male figure announcing the Art Festival. The public will have a chance to meet Hill at the festival.

Bailey, who has designed posters for the Art Festival for the past two years and is an award-winning participant in the Art Festival, said, "I am very excited about the advertising and design program. This is its first year. I look forward to bigger and better projects for the students that will enhance their creativity."

The Festival of Art Committee of the Central Jersey Chamber of Commerce will host the 38th annual Outdoor Festival of Art July 14, with a rain date of July 15, in Library Park at West Eighth Street and Park Avenue in Plainfield. The festival, held in the Van Wyck Brooks Historic District, runs from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Prizes totaling $3,745 will be awarded to artists and crafters in the following professional and non-professional categories: oils and acrylics, watercolors, pastels, sculptures, prints, drawings, photography and crafts. There is a separate student category and two merit awards will be given in that category. In addition, there is a special $150 "Norman Webb Landscape in Watercolor" award given in memory of the artist Norman Webb.

The Festival of Art will again feature the "Children's Gallery" where children younger than 18 years old may display at least two of their artistic creations. The artwork is not judged, but it gives children an opportunity to show their creative talents. In addition, children are encouraged to bring their art supplies and demonstrate their talents during the festival in the area where the "Children's Gallery" is set up. This year, the Art Festival Committee has increased the age for participation in the "Children's Gallery" from 12 years to 28 years to encourage more teen artists in the community to participate.

Artists, crafters and youth are encouraged to preregister for the show. The entry fee is $40 for professional artists and crafters; $30 for non-professional artists and crafters; $5 for students younger than 18 years old for judging; and free to children participating in the Children's Gallery. For more information or to request an entry card, call the Central Jersey Chamber at (908) 754-7250 or Nellie Dixon at (908) 756-7612. Participants may also register the day of the festival, but the late registration fee is $10.

Classes, workshops for kids and adults are offered all summer

The New Jersey Center for the Visual Arts, 68 Elm St., Summit, will be offering extensive classes and workshops for adults, teens and children this summer season. Summer classes will continue through July 21.

A sampling of the variety of workshops which are offered include:

Nationally-recognized photographer Howard Nathenson will be conducting a Still Life Photography workshop, Saturday and June 23. The workshop will focus on creating still life compositions, a traditional genre for painters.

Basha Mon, who recently received a New Jersey State Commission sculpture grant, will be teaching Marks & Bush Strokes — Surface and Texture, July 14 and 21.

Church Miley will instruct a workshop entitled "Pochoir-Art of the Stencil" June 30. The workshop will include basic and intermediate techniques of stenciling. Pochoir is used to create those fabulous Chinese and French wallpapers as well as Japanese fabrics.

Classes for adults will feature: Landscapes in Watercolor, with instructor Elizabeth Horowitz. The six-week course will cover all the basis including painting techniques, composition, color and light. For those who would like to try their hand at ceramics, Pottery Potentials with instructor Bill Kaplan affords an excellent opportunity. Explore hand-building, coiling, texture and throwing.

Elisa Kessler Caporale will instruct students in Beginning/Intermediate Basketry. Four basic basketry beginnings will be taught from cut materials. Kits are not necessary. Corporate's works are widely shown and collected.

NJCVA also offers a wide range of children and teen classes. Partners in Art, for example, is for children 3 to 5 years of age. This is a chance for children to create in collaboration with parents or other adults. For complete schedule including descriptions, times and fees, call the center for information and/or a catalog, (908) 273-9121.

Founded in 1933 by a dedicated group of local artists, NJCVA has evolved into a major regional art center. It has a full-scale art school taught by award winning faculty. There are two interior galleries and an outdoor exhibition space/sculpture garden.

Your abilities can earn extra income. Advertise them with a classified ad by calling 1-800-564-8911.

Registration is underway for Union Music School

The Union Music School announces mail registration for its 46th annual summer session, slated from June 26 through July 27, 9 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. daily, at Kawameeh Middle School in Union, which is easily accessible via Chestnut Street or Morris Avenue to Colonial Avenue, to Golf Terrace, to the school. Before and after care also are available daily for a nominal charge. Tuition is $310 per child with family discounts.

There are many new courses in 2001 for students in grades Pre-K through 12. They include: How to Write Tunes, Stories of Composers and Their Lives, Study the Opera, Interpreting Music Through Art, Chamber Music, Art With the Artists, Creative Printing, Greeting Card Design, Wood Sculpture and Design, Contemporary Pop Dance, Story Book Writing, Math and Art Connection, Creative Illustrated Advertising, and Literature and Drama Circles. Also, the musicals under consideration are "Sleeping Beauty" or "Alice in Wonderland" for grades three to seven, and "Gypsy" or "The Music Man" for grades eight to 12. Final selection will depend on enrollment.

To receive a brochure with complete information via mail, provide name and mailing address. Union Music School can be reached via mail at P.O. Box 3566, Union, 07083-1895; by phone at (908) 851-6470; by fax (908) 687-73323; or by e-mail, which organizers recommend, at unionmusicsschool@hotmail.com.

Towns plan fun, fireworks for the Fourth of July

Cranford

A fireworks display will highlight the annual Fourth of July celebration, which will include canoe races, a one-mile fun run and a four-mile run, a bike decorating contest and field games for the whole family, plus vendors in the park. The festivities will begin at 8 a.m. with canoe races at the Cranford Canoe Club.

The Jaycees will conduct their annual Firecracker Run with a one-mile Fun Run at 9 a.m. and four-mile run at 9:30 a.m. at Nomahegan Park. Registration is open until race time. There will be a bike decoration contest at Nomahegan Park at 2 p.m.

Fun games for all ages will begin at 2:30 p.m. There will be food vendors in the park as well as face painting and balloon art from 2 to 10 p.m.

Fireworks will begin at 9 p.m. Limited parking will be available at Union County College. Rain date for fireworks only will be July 5. For more information, call Recreation and Parks at (908) 709-7283.

Kenilworth

The second annual fireworks celebration will be Sunday at the David Brearley and Harding School athletic field complex at 6 p.m. with food and entertainment and conclude with a fireworks display getting underway at approximately 9 p.m. Rain date for the event will be July 8. For information, call the borough clerk at (908) 276-9090.

Mountainside

The Mountainside Police Athletic League will be giving away free ice cream to children prior to fireworks at dusk at Our Lady of Lourdes Church on Central Avenue.

Roselle Park

The centennial homecoming and fireworks celebration on Wednesday will open with festivities at 4 p.m. at the Green Acres complex on West Webster Avenue. A live band will perform from 4 to 8:30 p.m. and for the children, pony rides and a moon-bounce game will take place from 6:15 to 8:15 p.m.

Everyone is invited to bring their own picnic baskets, blankets and chairs but there will be no open fires or alcoholic beverages permitted. Food and beverages also will be available for purchase throughout the evening.

Park graduates of all years are invited to meet under the "Welcome Homecomers" sign and leave their names in a huge book that will be preserved in the next time capsule. Name labels will be distributed to the first 1,000 signers as an ice-breaker.

Contests will start at 4:30 p.m. Golden Centennial Commemorative medals will be awarded as prizes to winners. Participants are asked to register before Wednesday at Roselle Park's Veterans Library, the designated Centennial headquarters.

To conclude the celebration, a 100-year anniversary fireworks display will begin at 9:15 p.m. The rain date for the event will be July 5 starting at 6 p.m.

For information on the events, call (908) 245-5422 and for information on the fireworks, call (908) 245-0666.

Springfield

Several new attractions have been added to make this year's July 4th celebration in Springfield the most exciting ever. In addition to the fireworks, other attractions include pony rides, clowns, a dunk tank, petting zoo and trackless train ride. Entertainment also includes bands and comedy acts. The fun starts at 4 p.m. on Wednesday at Meisel Avenue Field. Fireworks start at dusk.

Admission includes all rides and entertainment as well as a hamburger or chicken sandwich and drink. Adult tickets are $5 and children $3. There will be many prizes and a giant 50/50 raffle.

For information, call the Springfield Chamber of Commerce at (908) 352-0900.

Summit

Daytime events will begin Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. at Upper Field of Soldiers' Memorial Field, off Ashland Road, with the traditional flag-raising ceremony, followed by the children's decorated bicycle parade; mechanical and giant inflatable rides and carnival games; music from the Summit Stompers Dixieland All-Stars; a performance by the cast of Kaleidoscope Theatre's Summer production of "Free to Be You and Me," and food. The daytime fun will end at 1:30 p.m. to allow time for the fireworks technicians to set up for the evening's fireworks display.

(Vauxhall Section) UNION
PROGRESSES WITH UNION!

The Samuels Family started in business in 1932 when Jacob Samuels opened a used car lot at 2901 Springfield Ave., in the Vauxhall section of Union. As his 3 sons - Phil, Ervin & Marty grew older, they joined the family business and helped it grow into one of N.J.'s largest. All went well until World War II when business conditions forced them to close. At this point "POP" Samuels retired. The 3 boys re-opened the business in 1946 and in 1951 added a new car showroom and automotive service facility. An auto body and paint shop (the largest in Union) was added in 1952. The Samuels boys became the largest Studebaker-Packard Sales & Service Showroom on the Eastern seaboard. When Studebaker ceased production in 1964, the boys continued their service, body shop business and used car operation and opened the present BUY-WISE AUTO PARTS.

The firm is presently run by Ervin Samuels, Robert Samuels, Matt Plano, Ed Oles, Mike Sapia, Vivian Samuels, Doris Mitchell, Ryan Samuels, Shirley Samuels, Matthew Plano Jr., Rockeim Beverly, William Botorros, Ramiro Torres and assisted by Norman Montgomery, Joseph Minocci, Jim Morris, Joseph Urban, Julius Lewter, Curtis Cresch, Carlo Margotta, Theron Edgehill, Robert Jackson, Yasin Mohammed, Nelson Diaz, Marvin Levine, Frank Martin, Carlos Cabrera, Dina Clickner and Ivan Gonzalez. Eligha Hodges, Ricky Pearl, William Buckland, Kenya Hunt, Darryl Luckett, Anthony Pavia, Vida Armatz, Brenda Berry, Dave Alter, Dwayne Bradley, Joseph Faris, Chisum Bernard, Maria Covino, Jerome Davis, John Davis Jr., Jeffery Foster, Jean Howard, Rocco LaFerrara, Michael Lane, Luis Mendoza, Ricardo Miller, Kevin Perez, Samuel Ramey, Gerard Sapia, Darrel Stone, Darryl Thomas, Carlos Torres, Wladia Valladares, Donald Wigleker, Brenda White, Norman Davis, who have matured with the constant growth of the firm and are a part of the great future that has made Buy-Wise Auto Parts known by the phrase "It's automotive... most likely we have it!" We have N.J.'s largest inventory of name brand parts on 5 acres of facilities to serve you with 60 employees.

MARCH OF TIME '01

Recipes help cooks say, 'Three cheers for the red, white & blue'

By Pat Stein
Copley News Service

Show your true colors — red, white and blue, of course — with a Fourth of July fete that has sparkle and culinary fireworks of its own. And demonstrate your independence with a revolutionary dish or two.

Since the Fourth of July is all about picnics, parades and pyrotechnics, pull out all the stops and make it a real celebration with decorations and music to suit the holiday. Add flair to the fare by featuring ingredients in red, white and blue hues.

A watermelon cut in half lengthwise to reveal its rosy interior makes a nifty centerpiece when studded with miniature American flags that can be purchased at party stores. Or dress up the table with a floral arrangement of red and white carnations accented with sprigs of blue salvia, blue lavender, delphiniums or blue fuchsia. Tie a festive bouquet of red, white and blue balloons to the mailbox or entryway to mark the party site.

School supply stores are excellent sources of pictures of presidents that you can use for decorating, and you might even consider sending invitations featuring an image of Uncle Sam and the words, "We Want You! (to come to a Fourth of July party)."

Plan your party for late afternoon so guests will have plenty of time to get to viewing sites for local fireworks displays.

Get guests in step with the spirit of the occasion by playing John Philip Sousa marches and other patriotic tunes, or put a different spin on the event with absolutely American swing and big-band music from the 1940s. Or make a tape of tunes such as the Beach Boys' "Surfer USA," "America" from "West Side Story" and Chuck Berry's "Back in the U.S.A."

As for the food, go for strawberries, blueberries, tomatoes, red onions, roasted red bell peppers and pimentos. Add a few red chilies for color and sizzle. Use Peruvian blue and red skin spuds in your favorite potato salad recipe. Blue-veined cheeses such as Roquefort, Gorgonzola and Stilton make toothsome fillings for red, white and blue cherry tomato appetizers.

If you're serving buffet style, have fun with the spread by writing the names of dishes on miniature paper American flags wrapped around a toothpick — available ready-made in party stores — and stick the toothpick in a small red apple. You might even try inventing special names for traditional dishes, such as Red, White and Blue Potato Salad.

Desserts featuring strawberries, blueberries, cherries and either whipped cream or vanilla ice cream lend themselves well to the red, white and blue menu theme. Decorate a whipped cream frosted cake with strawberries and blueberries or make a colorful red, white and blue parfait with strawberries, blueberries and whipped cream. Cherry-blueberry pie topped with a dollop of vanilla ice cream or whipped cream makes a sweet ending to the feast.

Red, white and blue garlic roasted potatoes

3 pounds potatoes (a mixture of Peruvian blue, red-skinned and white-skinned potatoes) with skins on

1/4 cup good olive oil
1 1/2 teaspoons kosher salt
1 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper

2 tablespoons minced garlic (6 cloves)
2 tablespoons minced parsley
Yields 8 servings.

Preheat oven to 400 F.
Scrub potatoes and cut in half or quarters and place in a bowl with olive oil, salt, pepper and garlic. Toss until potatoes are well-coated.

Dump potatoes on a baking sheet and spread out into 1 layer, roast in oven for at least 1 hour, or until browned and crisp. Flip twice during cooking to ensure even browning.

Remove potatoes from oven, toss with minced parsley and put on a serving platter.

Roasted cherry tomatoes
4 pints cherry tomatoes
Extra virgin olive oil
Kosher salt
Freshly ground black pepper
20 fresh basil leaves, cut into chiffonade

Yields 8 servings.
Preheat oven to 400 F.
Toss tomatoes lightly in about 1/4 cup olive oil. Spread tomatoes on baking sheet and sprinkle generously with kosher salt and pepper. Roast for 15 to 20 minutes, until tomatoes are soft.

Transfer to serving platter and serve hot or at room temperature.
From Ina Garten's "Barefoot Contessa Parties!" book.

This dish is an American invention with a bit of its own fireworks.

Cajun-style redfish
2 cups unsalted butter
1/2 cup fresh lemon juice
2 tablespoons dried thyme
2 tablespoons dried basil
1 1/2 tablespoons coarsely ground black pepper
2 teaspoons red pepper flakes

Salt, to taste
6 red snapper or redfish (ocean perch) filets (about 1/4 to 1/2 pound each, skinned)

Chopped fresh parsley and lemon wedges for garnish
Yields 6 servings.

Melt butter in medium-size saucepan. Stir in lemon juice, thyme, basil, black pepper, red pepper and salt to taste. Simmer over low heat for 10 minutes. Remove from heat and pour into shallow dish.

Dip both sides of each fish fillet into butter mixture to coat thoroughly. Place filets on a plate, cover with plastic wrap and refrigerate for at least 1 hour. (The success of the blackening technique depends on having well-chilled fish and a very hot skillet. Be prepared for smoke.)

Heat a large cast-iron skillet over high heat until a drop of water sizzles in the pan. Place 2 fish filets in the pan and cook 1 to 2 minutes on each side to blacken. Repeat with remaining filets.

When all filets are cooked, add any remaining butter mixture to pan and scrape up browned bits stuck to pan. Spoon over fish filets and garnish with parsley. Serve with lemon wedges.

From the "Silver Palate Good-times" cookbook.

Strawberries and stripes parfait
6 cups whole strawberries
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 cup water
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 package (10 1/2 ounces) frozen butter poundcake, defrosted
1 (8-ounce) container frozen extra-creamy whipped topping, defrosted
1 package (1/2 pint) fresh blueberries

1/2 cup shredded coconut, toasted
Optional garnishes: additional whole strawberries and mint sprigs
Yields 8 servings.

In blender or food processor, puree 2 cups of strawberries, sugar, water and lemon juice until smooth. Remove to saucepan and bring to a boil. Cook 3 to 5 minutes or until color darkens, stirring constantly.

Pour sauce into medium bowl and allow to cool completely.

Meanwhile, cut poundcake into 1/2-inch cubes. Cut remaining strawberries in half. Add to cooled sauce to coat.

In each of 8 parfait or tall-stemmed glasses, layer 2 tablespoons strawberry mixture, 1/2 cup poundcake, 2 tablespoons additional strawberry mixture, 2 tablespoons whipped topping, 1/4 cup of remaining strawberry mixture and 2 more tablespoons whipped topping. Top each glass with 2 tablespoons blueberries; 2 tablespoons whipped topping and 2 tablespoons strawberry mixture. Finish with 2 tablespoons whipped topping and sprinkling of coconut.

Garnish with whole strawberries and mint if desired.

Sandra's blueberry-cherry pie
2 1/2 cups frozen pitted sour cherries
2 1/2 cups fresh or frozen blueberries

3/4 tablespoons cornstarch
1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon almond extract
2 (9-inch) pastry dough crusts (frozen, refrigerated or homemade)

Yields 8 servings.
Preheat oven to 400 F.

Combine frozen sour cherries, blueberries, cornstarch, sugar, lemon juice and almond extract and let stand until defrosted.

Put pie crust in bottom of 9-inch pie pan. Add filling. Cut second crust in 1/4-inch strips for lattice top. Cover pie with lattice strips. Seal edge, crimp and trim. Sprinkle with granulated sugar (about 1 tablespoon).

Bake at 400 F for approximately 30 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 F and bake for an additional 30 minutes. Pie crust should be golden brown and should not appear to be doughy. Filling will be bubbly.

Let cool before serving — about 2 hours — topped with vanilla ice cream.

Red, white and blue fruit salad
1 pint strawberries, stemmed and halved
2 cups fresh blueberries, sliced white Babcock peaches, plums or apples

1 teaspoon finely chopped fresh mint OR 1/4 teaspoon dried mint
1/4 teaspoon honey
1/2 cup light sour cream
Lettuce leaves
Yields 4 servings.

To make strawberry dressing, puree about 1/2 cup of strawberries in blender. Reserve remaining strawberries.

In a bowl, stir strawberry puree, mint, honey and sour cream to blend. To assemble salad, line individual salad plates with lettuce. Arrange reserved strawberries and other fruits (cut peaches, plums or apples into bite-size wedges) on lettuce. Top with strawberry dressing.

Events are planned county-wide

Beginning at 7:30 p.m., the New Jersey Intergenerational Orchestra, under the baton of founder Lorraine Marks, will perform with accompaniment by jazz pianist Rio Clemente and a special appearance by "Ben Franklin!" Fireworks will begin as soon as it is dark. Both events are free to the public, who are requested to "come early and bring blankets or lawn chairs."

Ashland Road, in the area of Memorial Field, will be closed to traffic at 6 p.m. for safety reasons. Plan to arrive early to avoid traffic congestion around the field.

If the weather is questionable, call the Fourth of July Hotline at 277-2300 for the latest information.

In case of inclement weather, the concert will be at 7:30 p.m. in the Summit Middle School auditorium. The fireworks display will take place the next clear night.

Union
The Recreation Department will sponsor its annual Independence Day Celebration on Wednesday at Bieruempfel Park located on Winslow Avenue and Vauxhall Road from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. with kiddie rides, pony rides and helium balloons.

A band concert will begin at 7:30 p.m. The music will be performed by the Municipal Band under the direction of John Bunnell. Immediately following the concert will be a fireworks display.

Strawberries and Stripes Parfait is an elegant and patriotic dessert to make for Fourth of July celebrations.

Healthy Living

Eastern medical philosophies gain ground in U.S.

Acupuncture and Chinese medicine have been a primary health care system in China for more than 2,000 years.

It is a rapidly growing field of medicine on the United States, especially over the last 30 years. It's a complete and comprehensive medical system that has emerged through empirical study and observation of the dynamics of our body's life force energy, or "Qi" — chee.

When this energy flows through the body without obstruction, it carries nourishment — blood, oxygen, food — to the cells, as well as eliminating cellular toxins. This proper flow of Qi will manifest in a healthy and balanced state of wellness.

Acupuncture and Chinese medicine are used to strengthen the body's natural defense system which serves to prevent disease, control pain and increase both the ability to function and heal itself from acute and chronic illness.

The strategy of the practitioner is to balance all aspects of an individual's mind, body and spirit.

Acupuncture works by inserting hair-thin needles into specific "points" on the body. These points are grouped along specific pathways or "meridians," that network throughout the body. Acupuncture adjusts the flow of energy throughout these meridians, restoring health and alleviating pain.

Research has indicated that acupuncture affects the central and peripheral nervous system by releasing hormones that facilitate the healing response. Other responses have been observed in blood sugar, cholesterol and triglyceride levels. Improved functioning of gastrointestinal and endocrine system activity has also been well documented. Finally, acupuncture improves circulation and allows the body to heal itself more quickly and more completely.

In my experience, Acupuncture and Chinese medicine are the best means of stimulating a person's immune system and self-healing abilities. Acupuncture is highly effective in treating chronic conditions in which no other system has been successful.

Long-term use of medications, vitamins and supplements suppress the immune system and the body's ability to self-heal. Often, they are just suppressing symptoms, instead of using these symptoms as a signal to change diet, mental thought processes, social behavior and sleep patterns. Relying on external means for increasing and maintaining health is not the best way to optimize health and longevity. According to eastern philosophies, patients must look inside themselves for true holistic healing. The body can self-heal with a little encouragement. Acupuncture and Chinese medicine seek to bring about this process of internal self-healing by awakening the healer within.

Safety advice is offered for 'The Fourth'

The Fourth of July is about more than barbecues and a day off from work. It's about celebrating America — and celebrating safely.

Dr. Janet Neigel, as well as eye doctors across America, encourage families to attend local public fireworks displays in place of using fireworks at home this Fourth of July. Thousands of eye injuries occur each Fourth of July from accidents with fireworks. Eye injuries caused by fireworks are often severe and can cause permanent damage. Approximately 12,000 people are treated each year in emergency rooms due to fireworks-related injuries. Did you know that the single most dangerous type of firework is the small, explosive "bottle rocket"? Bottle rockets are the most dangerous because they fly erratically.

Approximately 2,400 eye injuries that occur are caused by consumer fireworks. About one third of these injuries result in permanent eye damage, and one fourth in permanent vision loss or blindness. Almost one in 20 victims lose all useful vision, or require the removal of the eye. If you decide to set off fireworks on your own instead of attending a local public display, which is presented by highly skilled professionals, be sure to follow these important safety tips.

- Be safe.
- Never allow children to play with or ignite fireworks, even sparklers.
- Be sure other people are out of range before lighting fireworks.
- Read and follow all warnings and instructions carefully.
- Keep a bucket of water handy in case of malfunction or fire.
- Always wear safety goggles when lighting fireworks to protect your eyes from flying sparks.

The National Fireworks Eye Safety Campaign is sponsored by the American Academy of Ophthalmology, the National Association of Fire Marshalls, and the American College of Emergency Physicians. Attending public fireworks display on the Fourth of July is a safe way to honor the tradition of independence, shared values, and hopes for a healthy future.

Renovate yoga center is ready for mind-body work

The newly renovated and expanded studio of Nicole's Yoga Center, located at 94 North Ave. in Garwood, will have an open house on the following days: July 9 and 16 from 4 to 7 p.m., July 12 from 2 to 5 p.m., July 14 from 1 to 4 p.m., or anytime by appointment for a free trial class.

Nicole's Yoga Center is an educational center founded on the principles of the pure Yoga Science, it was established in 1988 by Nicole Mode. The center is open all year around and offers 22 classes with daily morning and evening programs for beginners and advanced. Should a student miss a class, there are many opportunities to make it up during the same session. The center offers four types of yoga: Hatha Yoga with the objective of transforming the human body to make it a worthy vehicle for self-realization; Asthanga Yoga consists of eight practices including breath control, posture, concentration, meditation, moral observance, and self-discipline; Kriya Yoga is the union between the male and female creative principles; Kundalini Yoga is the final realization of the self.

Mode's method of studying yoga is orderly and progressive. The postures are adjusted to meet the physical conditions and needs of each student.

The center offers classes for heart and back activities, breathing, weight reduction, Yoga for Children and Teacher training program. All classes end with guided meditation. Nicole's Yoga Book Forum's first meeting will be held July 25 at 8:30 p.m. All are welcome.

REMOVING A TICK

If you see a tick on your child, remove it as soon as possible. If a tick is attached to the skin for more than 24 hours, the risk of infection increases. Using tweezers, grasp the tick firmly at its head or mouth, close to the child's skin. Pull firmly until the tick lets go of the skin. Do not squeeze on the tweezers so hard that you crush the tick, as this may leave the head and the mouth piece still attached to the skin. If you fail to get the entire tick with the tweezers, use a sterile needle to remove the rest, as you would with a splinter. After removal, swab the child's skin with alcohol at the bite site.

If your child has been playing in high grass, fields, or woods, it's important to check him/her very carefully for ticks. If you notice a rash shaped like a bull's eye target, you should seek immediate medical attention for your child. This information is brought to you by NEW JERSEY HEALTH CARE SERVICES. To schedule a consultation at our Pediatric practice located at 2760 Morris Avenue, suite 2A in Union, please call 908-687-3300.

P.S. We have a limited supply of Tick Removing kit for free distribution on a first come first serve basis. Please call the office at 301 in the morning to register for your kit.

Muhlenberg Medical Center cuts ribbon on state-of-the-art facility

Muhlenberg Regional Medical Center in Plainfield recently celebrated the grand opening of its newly renovated Kenyon House, which will house the institution's state-of-the-art Hemodialysis Unit and Adult Day Health Program. Attended by local dignitaries, physicians, patients of both programs and hospital board members and staff, the celebration included a tour of the building, which is located on the Muhlenberg Regional Medical Center campus at the corner of Park Avenue and Randolph Road.

"It is a great honor that we are able to combine the rich tradition of our Hemodialysis Program and Adult Day Health Program with that of the Kenyon Housed," stated John Kopicki, senior vice president of Clinical Services for Muhlenberg Regional Medical Center. "By relocating these programs to the Kenyon House, they are easily accessible in an outpatient setting to all members of the surrounding communities."

For more than 20 years, the Hemodialysis Unit at Muhlenberg has helped people with kidney problems lead normal lives. During hemodialysis, blood is mechanically pumped through an artificial kidney machine where it is filtered and then returned to the body.

"The Hemodialysis Unit staff takes a team approach to care, with physicians, nurses, dieticians and social workers joining together in treatment planning and administration," noted Jeffrey Feldman M.D., director of the Hemodialysis Unit at Muhlenberg Regional Medical Center. "Now one of the most technically advanced Hemodialysis Units in the area is housed in a beautiful, modern facility."

The Hemodialysis Unit will occupy the second floor of Kenyon House and incorporate 20 hemodialysis machines, along with nursing stations, a staff lounge and administrative offices.

Located on the ground floor of the renovated facility will be the Adult Day Health Program, which provides care, support, companionship and counseling for elderly and handicapped adults who require supervision during daytime hours. As an alternative to placement in a nursing home, the program enables participants to live at home evenings and weekends while receiving individualized care for their medical, nursing, social, rehabilitative and personal needs Monday through Friday.

"We now have a spacious, modern facility designed specifically for senior health," explained Judy Bartlett, director of the Adult Day Health Center. "Moving the program to the Kenyon House is a wonderful opportunity to expand the program and enhance our services. Adult Day Health is an increasingly used long-term care service and a critical part of the continuum of care offered at Muhlenberg."

The Kenyon House "vision" began in 1964, when a nursing shortage prompted the medical center to build an on-campus dormitory to recruit and house nurses. The Muhlenberg Auxiliary pledged $200,000 toward the Graduate Nurses' Residence and was honored with the task of naming the building. Members chose the name of their first Auxiliary President from 1881, Elizabeth Elvira Kenyon. Kenyon House was completed in 1966 and was used as a nurses' residence until plans to convert the building were first proposed in the early 1990s.

"The hardest part was enlightening the community about the project, but once people heard the plans, they were very generous with their donations," noted John G. Nolan Jr., senior vice president of the Muhlenberg Foundation. "Without the support of the community, our many benefactors and Muhlenberg's Auxiliary, this facility would have never been possible."

For more information on the programs offered at Kenyon House, call (908) 668-2328 for the Adult Health Program and (908) 668-2465 for the Hemodialysis Unit.

Folic acid can aid pregnancy

Are you thinking about having a baby? It's never too early to prepare for a healthy pregnancy.

Recent studies show that women who take folic acid before pregnancy and during the first part of a pregnancy can reduce the risk of certain birth defects affecting the brain and spinal cord by 50 percent. Since the brain and spinal cord may begin developing within the first month of pregnancy, often before a woman knows she is pregnant, it is important to take folic acid before you become pregnant.

The U.S. Public Health Service recommends that all women of child-bearing age should consume 4 milligrams of folic acid a day. You can eat foods that contain folic acid, like asparagus; drink orange juice; or you can take a vitamin supplement.

Planned Parenthood of Greater Northern New Jersey offers vitamin supplements containing folic acid at its health centers. For more information about PPNJ's services, call the Elizabeth Center, 208 Commerce Pl., at (908) 351-5384, or the Plainfield Center, 123 Park Ave., at (908) 756-3736.

SAGE offers discount for Spend-A-Day

Attending adult day care will be easier and more affordable than ever thanks to a new program introduced by SAGE, a non-profit eldercare organization committed to promoting independent living for older adults.

Many older adults and their families would like to use adult day services but are overwhelmed by the preparations needed to get ready to go in the morning and by the assistance needed upon returning. Beginning July 1, new participants at Spend-A-Day, SAGE's Adult Day Health Center in Berkeley Heights, will be eligible for an introductory offer of discounts for the use of adult day care when combined with the use of a home health aide from SAGE's Home Care division.

When taking advantage of this discount, a participant will receive a morning visit from a certified home health aide who will assist with grooming, dressing, eating and other preparations to attend the day center. After a full day of activities and a hot lunch at Spend-A-Day, the participant will be met at home by a home health aide who can assist with dinner, bathing and other end-of-day preparations.

"Our discount offer is one more way that SAGE and Spend-A-Day are meeting their goal of keeping older adults at home and independent for as long as possible," says Tish Isack, director of Spend-A-Day. "By offering some at-home assistance combined with a day of mentally and physically stimulating activities in a health-monitored setting, our seniors and their families can be assured that their loved one can spend a fun and meaningful day with peers in a safe environment."

Participating clients will receive two hours of home care assistance before and after attending Spend-A-Day at a 20-percent reduction in fees for both services. This introductory offer is available to all new clients and extends from July 1 through Dec. 31, 2001. In order to be eligible, new participants must complete the application procedure, including medical forms, by Dec. 31. Current SAGE clients may be eligible for subsidy assistance and can request an Income Eligibility form.

"SAGE is committed to easy access to its programs through coordination of services. We are responding to a need that has been expressed by caregivers and older adults who live alone, for support before and after a day at Spend-A-Day, in order to be able to make the best use of the service," explains Jacqueline Vogelmann, executive director of SAGE.

Home Health Aide services will be subject to the availability of aides. If an aide is not immediately available, the discount will still apply for adult day services.

SAGE is a private, not-for-profit organization located in Summit that provides solutions for older adults and their caregivers in Union, Essex, Morris and Somerset counties. SAGE offers 10 programs, including Spend-A-Day Adult Day Health Center, Home Care, Meals-on-Wheels and InfoCare, an information and referral service. For information about Spend-A-Day and the introductory discount, call Isack at (908) 464-8217. For information about Home Health Aides and other SAGE services, call (908) 273-5550.

Best Kept Beauty Secret

FDA approves a cellulite therapy

By Tatiana Radushkina
Cottage cheese thighs, dimples and moon skin are cute names for a not so cute problem - cellulite.

Cellulite will affect 90 percent of all women, and it is not related to diet, weight or exercise. Cellulite is caused by the body's natural aging process, and progressively worsens with age. The fat content of the body increases with age as the skin elasticity decreases. These two processes cause cellulite. The extra fat that accumulates with age pushes out on the weakened skin and forms pockets. It's these pockets that give cellulite its characteristic appearance.

Women have been battling cellulite since the beginning of time. Lotions, diets, exercise and practically everything else under the sun has been used to battle with no help. Now, the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has finally tested and approved a therapy to reduce cellulite. The therapy is called endermologie. Endermologie is painless, safe, relaxing, and even healthy for the body.

Recently the FDA approved endermologie for body contouring. The FDA found that when endermologie tightens the skin around the muscle and fat of the body, it not only gives a smoother appearance, but also reduced inches around the hips, thighs and stomach regions.

Most clients are skeptical when they start, but after a few sessions they start to see changes and are very pleased. Our clients have a chance to relax and enjoy a deep massage with the added benefits of cellulite reduction and body contouring.

Endermologie is not a miracle cure for cellulite, but it does work. An endermologie client can expect to have 20 treatments to reach a maximum improvement. Most women love coming for their sessions. The cost of the 20 treatment package can range from $1,500 to $2,500. The Cellulite Reduction Center of Westfield has been performing this service for the past 2 years. We have, with the permission of our clients, compiled a before and after portfolio that demonstrates the results, which speak for themselves.

Many of our clients choose to keep their endermologie treatments a secret from friends, family and even their husbands. Endermologie does not cause any scarring or need any recovery time, so no one has to know what you are doing, just enjoy the compliments.

Tatiana Radushkina is a certified technician at Cellulite Reduction Center, 224 E. Broad St. Westfield, NJ 908-301-0900. Call for FREE demo.

The Wound Healing Center at Trinitas Hospital

After being diagnosed with diabetes in 1969, I know to watch for infections. But I didn't realize how quickly a lesion the size of a pin could turn into a life-threatening situation. I had already lost a bone in my foot. And, virtually overnight, I developed an infection that turned into gangrene and cellulitis. I couldn't even get out of a wheelchair. I was told I would have to lose two toes.

Then a physician at the Wound Healing Center encouraged me to begin treatment. The results were nothing short of a miracle. My husband and I took our first vacation in seven years. And I can even run around after my grandchildren. I really owe them my life.

Come to the Wound Healing Center at Trinitas Hospital. Our specially-trained staff offers a variety of specialized treatments and individualized therapies. For more information or to schedule an appointment call 908-994-5480.

Cranford's 'Little House' is topic of recently published book

The Cranford Historical Society recently published a book about the history of its museum, The Crane-Phillips House.

Titled "The Little House: The History of the Crane-Phillips House Museum," the book details the story of the little Victorian cottage and the people who once live there. It also talks about the early history of the locale and other people who have a tie to the National Historic Site.

The story begins with early local history and then talks about the Crane family, the first settlers to move west of the Rahway River in the area that is today Cranford. But the main characters are the second owners of the property, the Phillips family. Henry and Cecelia Phillips lived in the house throughout the late 19th into the early 20th centuries, from 1867 until Henry's death in 1922. It was during this time that Cranford transformed from a rural community to a Victorian town and then a modern suburban community. Henry Phillips was an inventor who patented the early forerunner to the modern kitchen range hood. His wealthy brother, Dr. Charles H. Phillips, was the inventor of Phillips Milk of Magnesia.

The book also talks about Andrew Jackson Downing, widely considered the first American architect. He was a major proponent of the cottage style of architecture and the first to think of designing for the common man. The Crane-Phillips house is built after his architectural style.

The publishing of "The Little House" was made possible by a HEART — History, Education, Arts, Reaching Thousands — Grant from the Union County Board of Freeholders. The book is based on many years of research by two longtime society members, Don and Loretta Widdows, historic research experts and professional genealogists, and was written by Stephen W. Price, co-chairman of the Crane-Phillips House Museum.

Springfield Avenue, Cranford; the Miller Cory House Museum, Westfield, and the Crane-Phillips House Museum.

The Crane-Phillips House Museum was named an "American Treasure" in 1999 by The White House Millennium Council and the National Trust for Historic Preservation.

The Crane-Phillips House Living Museum is open Sundays from 2 to 4 p.m., September through June. The museum is located at 124 Union Ave. North in Cranford. Contact the Cranford Historical Society at (908) 276-0082 for additional information.

Oldest Antique Center in New Jersey
West Front St., & Bride Ave.
Red Bank
732-842-4336

For those people interested in antiques, it can be argued that there is no better place on earth to be than central New Jersey. We are conveniently located in such a way that many of the county's largest antique centers are all within an easy morning's drive. One such location is the beautiful town of Red Bank, New Jersey. In this idyllic water front community you will find countless shops, restaurants and cafe's to relax in and explore. The main draw, however, remains to be the abundance of truly special antique shops both large and small. This is a treasure hunter's paradise.

The centerpiece of the Red Bank antique market is aptly named "The Antique Center of Red Bank". Housed in what seems to be an enormous two story red barn, this continues to be the focal point of much attention for day-trippers visiting the area. In business now for over 40 years, this is the place to be if you want that certain something that's not to be found in any strip malls. In fact, you would have to go to garage sales from sun up to sun down for the next twenty years before you could begin to have the same sort of selection that they have here.

Can't find what your looking for? The long time owner, Guy Johnson, can usually be found behind the counter and he is happy to assist any and all people in need. His ability and knowledge of the current antique market is amazing and when the place isn't too busy, you will find him laughing and chatting away with his customers. It is obvious that he really enjoys his job. In fact, his success has also given him two more antique markets that are both just right across the street.

While many people have gone through a phase of antique hunting in online auction sites, nothing will ever replace the joy and satisfaction of holding a treasured antique or collectible in your hands. The thriving antique markets of Red Bank are proof of this. Try spending an afternoon here, but remember to bring some extra money because you will surely find something that you can't live without, even if you plan on "just looking".

Kenny Sack

Sack, Keller to appear at Starbucks of Union

Singer/songwriters Kenny Sack and Amy Marie Keller of Roselle Park will be warming hearts and making feet tap with their blend of original and familiar pop/rock/folk songs Saturday at 3 p.m. at Starbucks, 2698 Route 22, Union. For information, call (908) 687-4888.

Starbucks features high-quality whole bean coffees; fresh, rich-brewed, Italian style espresso beverages; a variety of pastries and confections; and coffee-related accessories. Admission is free and the show is appropriate for all ages.

"It's wonderful for Amy and I to entertain audiences who enjoy original music," says Sack, whose songs take audiences on journeys of a wandering soul through woods and seas of hope, thought and sorrow. His heart-felt guitar rhythms and lush pianoscapes invite listeners to join his travels on a highway of song. With a voice and songwriting style that has been compared to Billy Joel and Jackson Browne, Sack is currently majoring in music education at New York University.

Keller's original folk music has been described as "mystical and haunting, depicting nuance in ways that evoke thoughts of timeless truths and philosophical matters." She is currently a Ph.D. student in Information Science at Rutgers University. For more information about upcoming events, send e-mail to KennySongwriter@hotmail.com.

NJ Workshop for the Arts reaches out to community

The New Jersey Workshop of the Arts has invited students attending Plainfield public schools currently in grades 3 to 8 to enroll in the Plainfield Summer Music Workshop 2001.

An outreach program of the NJWA, the Plainfield Summer Music Workshop will be held at Hubbard Middle School and will run from through July 27. It is a tuition-free enrichment and training program offered to 100 elementary and middle school students. Its purpose is to further develop students' music skills during the summer and continue to nurture their artistic potential.

The workshop is made possible in part by a grant from the Frank and Lydia Bergen Foundation, the New Jersey State Council on the Arts, a 2001 HEART Grant from the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders and funding from the Plainfield Board of Education.

Daily group instruction is given on violin, cello, flute, clarinet, alto saxophone, trumpet, trombone, snare drum and guitar. Children also play in an ensemble — band/orchestra, choir — and all students receive classes in theory, voice and piano as well. The faculty is comprised of experienced music educators who are also professional musicians. Classes are customized to students' abilities. Lesson plans are linked to the New Jersey Core Curriculum Content Standards, and the program culminates in a final recital in which families and the community-at-large are welcome.

"We are especially indebted to the support of Plainfield superintendent Larry Leveritt, the Plainfield Board of Education and the teaching staff of the Plainfield schools. The community support is fantastic. It is the extra spark which helps the children want to succeed," said Schlosberg. To enroll your child, call (908) 281-2530 or (908) 202-2312.

Schlosberg's vision for the Plainfield Summer Music Workshop is to eventually expand the program so that each year will include an additional art form such as dance, drama, fine arts and creative writing. "Research continually shows the positive connection between the arts and academic success," stated director Theodore Schlosberg.

Additional divisions of the New Jersey Workshop for the Arts include The Westfield Summer Workshop, The Music Studio, Kids 'n' Arts, Tots 'n' Arts, the Drawing Workshop, the Fencing Club, the Westfield Art Gallery, the Alphon Workshop and the Summer Concert Band. For more information about these programs, call (908) 789-9696.

Ushers get free show tickets at TheatreFest

TheatreFest, the professional equity theater in residence program at Montclair State University, is offering free tickets to those patrons who help usher for TheatreFest productions. Take advantage of this unique opportunity to see five different productions, at no cost, for a $200 saving.

TheatreFest kicked off the Main Stage summer season with "Debbie Reynolds in Concert" last weekend, followed by world-renowned impersonator Rich Little in "The Presidents." The Next Stage series including the Off-Broadway hit "As Bees in Honey Drown" is from today through July 8, "Noon Day Sun" is from July 12 to 22, the winner of the TheatreFest Regional Playwriting Contest, and a reading of a world premiere musical "The Third Person" July 26 to 29.

To reserve an usher spot, call the house manager, Candy O'Connor at 655-7598.

Attorneys for Plaintiff (2000-1839)

NOTICE TO ABSENT DEFENDANT
Superior Court of New Jersey
Chancery Division
Union County
Docket No. F-10229-01
STATE OF NEW JERSEY TO:

Tabitha Stokes

YOU ARE HEREBY SUMMONED and required to appear before WILLIAM M.E. POWERS, JR., CHARTERED, Attorney for Plaintiff, whose address is 737 Stokes Road, P.O. Box 1088, Medford, N.J. 08065, an Answer to the Complaint (and Amendment to Complaint, if any) filed in a Civil Action in which Firstar Bank, NA is plaintiff and Tabitha Stokes, et al., are Defendants, pending in the Superior Court of New Jersey, within thirty-five (35) days after June 28, 2001 exclusive of such date. If you fail to do so, judgment by default may be rendered against you for the relief demanded in the Complaint. You must file your Answer and Proof of Service in duplicate with the Clerk of the Superior Court at the Richard J. Hughes Justice Complex, CN 871, 6th Floor, North Wing, Trenton, New Jersey, 08646, in accordance with the rules of civil practice and procedure. A $100.00 filing fee payable to the Clerk of the Superior Court and a completed Case Information Statement must accompany your answer or motion.

The action has been instituted for the purpose of foreclosing a mortgage dated 05/02/1998, made by Robert G. Minott and Taurys S. Minott to First U.S. Mortgage Corp. and duly assigned to plaintiff, Firstar Bank, NA, and certain real estate located at 1408 East Front Street, Plainfield, NJ.

YOU, Tabitha Stokes, are made a defendant because you are a lien holder in the above matter and so have an interest in the property being foreclosed. An individual who is unable to obtain an attorney may communicate with the New Jersey State Bar Association by calling toll free 800-782-8316 (within New Jersey) or 609-594-1101 (from out of state). You may also communicate with a Lawyer Referral Service, or if you cannot afford to pay an attorney you may call the Legal Services Office. The phone numbers for the county in which this action is pending are: Legal Services (808) 354-4340, Lawyer Referral (808) 353-4716.

of your cards on the table and come clean.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): A lapse in judgment creates complications between you and a sibling or peer. Think ahead and be prepared to compromise.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21): Pay attention to fiscal news. Analyze your financial status and discover ways you can improve your saving and investment plans.

CANCER (June 22-July 22): Focus is key. Make sure that you are putting your time and energy into the people and things that reflect and support your lifestyle.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Remain calm, cool and collected when face-to-face with conflict or embroiled in a major controversy. With patience, the truth comes to light.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Friends are ready and willing to come to your rescue in a moment of doubt or uncertainty. Don't hesitate to admit your problem and ask for help.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23): Convert tears into inspiration. Concentrate on your professional work and duties and don't let a personal problem throw you off track.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21): An honest confession soothes your soul and sets you free emotionally. Tell the truth and avoid losing any more sleep.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Play it smart and protect your finances from sudden and unexpected losses. Choose a slow and steady road to prosperity.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): It would be wise to bypass a head-on confrontation with a partner or mate. Allow tempers to flair and cool down before stepping on the scene.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Let moderation be your key word during exercise this week. In an attempt to get in shape too quickly you could do more harm than good.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Social activities tend to be financially draining. Stay away from speculative ventures and keep frivolous spending to a minimum.

If your birthday is this week, relationships are highlighted during the coming year. Confront an issue or question that has been standing between you and a loved one. Compromise if necessary and be willing to bury the hatchet. An opportunity in creative communications is just what you've been looking for. Speak your mind and you'll find your ideas are well valued and openly accepted.

Also born this week: Thurgood Marshall, Tom Cruise, Gina Lollobrigida, P.T. Barnum, Tia and Tamara Mowry, Pierre Cardin, John D. Rockefeller.

Kaleidoscope kids explore potential

Kaleidoscope Theater for Youth is presenting "Free To Be ... You And Me" from the book conceived by Marlo Thomas and Friends. The production is directed by Dave Maulbeck with musical direction by Paul Tukey and choreography by James Gomez.

Thomas conceived a children's book that, instead of telling boys and girls who they should be, would open them to possibilities of what they could be. She gathered many of her supremely talented friends from various worlds of the arts and the remarkable result is highly regarded as a modern classic of children's literature. Life enhancing themes are imaginatively blended with music and humor to expand children's personal horizons, enabling them to invent their own futures without limitations, while dispelling some old constraints and worn out conventions. There is something for the free spirit in every adult and for the wise soul in every child.

This production of "Free To Be ... You And Me" features the talents of Summit's Ann Porter, Joanna Maulbeck, Erin Mahon, Julia Sam, Tom Bell, Gregg Bakalar, Tim Lynch, Emily Balzano and Emily Pistell.

The play also features Chatham's Kathleen Simon and Arielle Hixson, Madison's Colin Lee, Verona's Man Wojtal and Short Hills' Ali Rappaport. "Free To Be ... You And Me" will be performed at The Summit Playhouse, 10 New England Ave., Summit.

Performances are scheduled for July 20, 27 and 28 at 7:30 p.m. and July 21, 22 and 29 at 2 p.m. Tickets for all seats are $8. For tickets, call (908) 273-2192. Additional information about the production and the Summit Playhouse Association can be found on the web site at www.summitplayhouse.org.

Professor to lecture on Dante classic

Louis Markos, a professor at Houston Baptist University, will present a two-session lecture on Dante's "Divine Comedy" July 7 and 8 at 2 p.m. at Mountainside Borough Hall, Route 22 East and New Providence Road, Mountainside.

Sponsored by the Cultural Committee of Holy Trinity Greek Orthodox Church, Westfield, the lecture is free and open to the public and refreshments will be served.

• July 7, Part I, "The Music of the Spheres: Dante's Pre-Copernican Universe." "The Divine Comedy" will begin with a perspective of the universe radically different than our own. With earth as its center, Dante and his contemporaries conceived of a perfectly ordered cosmos of beauty, balance and harmony. They beheld the heavens with meaning and purpose, not cold and dead, but moving in sympathy with our terrestrial and spiritual lives.

• July 8, Part 2, "Hell by the Numbers: Journey through Dante's Inferno." This lecture will concentrate on a level-by-level tour of Hell. Detailing the sins and their punishments will explain why Dante ranked the sins the way he did and how this epic offers insight into what might be called the psychology of sin.

Markos, a native of New Jersey, has published extensively and is a lecturer for The Teaching Company. He is listed in "Who's Who Among America's Teachers." He earned a Ph.D. in English with a minor in classics, an M.A. in English from the University of Michigan, and a B.A. summa cum laude, from Colgate University.

Kids' summer art classes are offered by duCret

The duCret School of Art in Plainfield has announced the schedule for its annual Summer Workshops for children and teens. Classes are available from mid through late July. Week 1 runs from July 16 through July 20, while week 2 is from July 23 through July 27.

Ages 6 through 10 will be discovering new ways of visual expression including projects such as Puppetry, Drawing From Nature, Clay Sculpture, and Paper Crafts in five classes that are two hours each.

Ages 11 through 15 will consist of five separate three-hour classes including sessions on Watercolor, Painting

With Pastels, Drawing Heads and Portraits, Drawing and an Animation Flip Book. Each unit will be taught by professional artists/teachers, and will promote creativity and develop artistic skills.

The duCret School of Art, the oldest private art school in New Jersey, is located at 1030 Central Ave. in Plainfield and is situated on an eight-acre campus in a historic residential area in Plainfield. To obtain information, you may call the duCret School at (908) 757-7171, or fax to (908) 757-2626.

PEOPLE IN THE NEWS

Rafferty receives award

Linda Rafferty of Summit received an Excellence Award at the annual awards ceremony held by Burgdorff Realtors ERA at the Birchwood Manor in Parsippany.

A three-time recipient of the Excellence Award, Rafferty has been associated with Burgdorff ERA for 15 years. She had been a marketing coordinator at the Burgdorff corporate headquarters until recently when she joined the Summit office.

Rafferty has spearheaded many local service projects and, due to her involvement with the community, had received the Jean T. Burgdorff Humanitarian Award. She is an active member of the Summit Women's Club, St. Teresa's Parish, and serves on the executive board of the Oak Knoll Mothers' Auxiliary as an officer handling editorial and public relations duties.

Rafferty resides in Summit with her husband, Richard, and daughter Meghan, who is a junior at Oak Knoll.

Burghoffer is aboard

Daniel Burghoffer has joined the Union office of Weichert Realtors as a sales associate.

Prior to joining Weichert, Burghoffer worked as a computer consultant. He lives in Edison and enjoys sports, computers, music and art.

For real estate transactions, call Burghoffer at Weichert's Union office, (908) 687-4800, located at 1307 Stuyvesant Ave.

Gwaldis earns honors

Kathleen Gwaldis of the Union office of Weichert Realtors earned a regional award in the category of resale revenue units.

Gwaldis is a member of the 2000 New Jersey Million Dollar Club at the gold level. In addition, she is a member of Weichert's 2000 Million Dollar Sales and Marketed Clubs and Weichert's President's Club.

The region is comprised of 13 offices throughout Essex, Morris and Union counties.

For real estate transactions, call Gwaldis at Weichert's Union office, (908) 687-4800, located at 1307 Stuyvesant Ave.

Barber is top agent

Gina Suriano-Barber, a broker/sales associate with Burgdorff Realtors ERA's Westfield office, has been named Listing Agent of the Month for April with five units listed and dollars amounting to more than $1.6 million.

Suriano-Barber is a member of the New Jersey Association of Realtors' Million Dollar Sales Club from 1989-2000; awarded the Silver Achievement 1996-2000; the Bronze Achievement 1989 through 1995; the President Club from 1995 through 1998 and the Distinguished Sales Club in 1998.

Suriano-Barber is a lifelong Scotch Plains resident with more than 12 years of experience selling residential homes in Union County. She has extensive knowledge of the marketing area, specializing in Westfield, Scotch Plains and Fanwood.

Judith A. Sagan, vice president and manager of Burgdorff ERA's Westfield office, added, "It is obvious that hard work and dedication to her clients' needs have resulted in high production in yet another fabulous month for Gina. She is a great asset to our office and a role model for all agents. We are very proud of Gina and congratulate her in her many outstanding accomplishments."

Smith joins RE/MAX

Jack Smith has joined the network of topnotch professionals at RE/MAX Properties Unlimited in Summit. He is a sales associate, specializing in the listing and sale of residential and luxury properties in Union, Essex and Morris counties.

A resident of New Providence, Smith worked as a mortgage banker for two decades. Prior to joining RE/MAX, he was affiliated with Weichert.

"I noticed the tremendous growth RE/MAX was experiencing as an international company and I wanted to be a part of the success. Here at RE/MAX, associates not only have a very firm grasp of the current trends in real estate, but they also have access to the best technological resources," said Smith.

The company's website, www.remax-newjersey.com, gives visitors the opportunity to preview a home for sale as they take a "grand tour" that displays numerous interior and exterior photographs of the house. Clients can also search for sales associates and examine mortgage options from the privacy of their personal computers.

When he's not working, Smith enjoys horticulture and travel.

Smith can be reached by calling RE/MAX Properties Unlimited in Summit at (908) 522-9444.

Three honored

Three sales associates at the Union office of Weichert Realtors have been honored for their accomplishments in April.

Kathy Gwaldis led the office in listings, revenue units, dollar volume, and listings sold during April. Gwaldis is a member of the 2000 New Jersey Million Dollar Club at the gold level. In addition, she is a member of Weichert's 2000 Million Dollar Sales and Marketed Clubs and Weichert's 2000 President's Club.

Eddie and Juliet Haniff led the office in sales throughout April. Juliet is a member of the 2000 New Jersey Million Dollar Club at the bronze level and Weichert's 2000 Million Dollar Sales Club.

For real estate transactions, call Weichert's office, (908) 687-4800, located at 1307 Stuyvesant Ave.

Angelo hits the mark

Elizabeth Angelo of Prudential New Jersey Properties has been named Top Producer of the Year of its Summit office.

"Elizabeth is an outstanding individual who consistently strives to achieve her goals while delivering exceptional service to each of her clients," said Karen Hedges, manager of the Prudential New Jersey Properties Summit office. "We are proud to have her on our team."

A resident of Summit, Angelo joined the Prudential New Jersey Properties' Summit office in 1988. She is an accredited buyer representative and a relocation counselor.

2001 QX4 maintains Infiniti's reputation for innovation

Since the introduction of the original Q45 10 years ago — and the concept for the Infiniti Division itself — Infiniti has been known for innovation.

The 2001 Infiniti QX4 luxury sport utility vehicle, already one of the most innovative designs in class with its advanced All-Mode 4WD system and rigid MonoFrame construction, takes a major leap forward with the introduction of an all-new 240-horsepower 3.5-liter DOHC 24-valve aluminum V6.

The new engine, designated the VQ35DE, is an evolution of the 227-horsepower 3.0-liter VQ30DE V6 found in the 2000 Infiniti I30 sedan. The VQ series design has been named one of Ward's Auto World's "10 Best Engines" for the past six years.

"Like our Q45 and I30 performance luxury sedans, we felt that in order to stay ahead of other luxury SUVs, the QX4 needed to be the undisputed leader in both performance and luxury," said Tom Orbe, vice president and general manager, Infiniti Division. "We've come up with an engine that not only beats the power of the other V6s on the market but a number of V8s as well — without the typical V8 penalties of added weight and increased fuel consumption."

This new second generation VQ design continues with the characteristics of the first, but with a larger displacement, greatly increased horsepower and torque, and improved responsiveness, performance, quietness, thermal efficiency and fuel efficiency.

The new engine is rated at 240 horsepower at 6,000 rpm and 265 ft-lbs of torque at 3,200 rpm. All QX4s, both 2-wheel and 4-wheel drive, are equipped with a standard 4-speed electronically controlled automatic transmission.

Engine concept

Though based on the I30 engine, the new QX4 V6 was created specifically for use in a sport utility vehicle application — meeting user demands for more low-end torque, pulling power and cargo hauling capabilities. Towing capacity is rated at 5,000 pounds. The improvement in engine performance can be attributed not only to the increased displacement but also to the combination of the I30 variable intake system with a new valve timing control system.

The engine's new Nissan Continuous Valve Timing Control System improves torque by nine percent at 2,000 rpm and an additional three percent at 3,200 rpm by improving volumetric efficiency through maximizing timing control relative to engine speed and intake manifold length.

Manifold "length" is maximized through utilization of Nissan Variable Intake System, which utilizes an internal valve to vary intake length relative to engine speed for enhanced horsepower and torque. For example, torque is improved approximately 11 percent at low engine speeds with the NVIS in operation.

Engine responsiveness and quietness targets were achieved through a reduction of internal component weight and a reduction of friction. A new piston design reduces both weight and friction through use of a long list of modifications, including reduced skirt length, reduction of pin offset, reduction of skirt rigidity and use of a tapered pin boss.

The piston itself is now one of the lightest in the world for its size and the engine's connecting rods are fastened by bolts only to further reduce reciprocating weight. Overall quietness of the engine has been improved through the reduction of inertia mass and reduced friction of reciprocating parts.

Use of the long reach spark plugs allows improvement of cooling performance through expansion of the water jacket around the plugs. Consequently, knock resistance has also been improved — allowing ignition timing to be advanced. The new engine also utilizes double-tipped platinum spark plugs with 100,000-mile service intervals. Exhaust port shape has been modified to reduce exhaust gas flow resistance, also improving knock resistance and enhancing thermal efficiency.

Use of an aluminum block helps reduce overall engine weight by about 35 pounds. Fuel efficiency is expected to be within the same range as the previous generation QX4, despite the increase in performance.

In addition, more than 100 noise, vibration and harshness countermeasures have been initiated to maintain QX4's high level of refinement and luxury. Front liquid-filled and rear double-cushion engine mounts further reduce vibration.

A new automatic transmission has been adopted to handle the engine's increased torque. The automatic features Nissan's New Duetto — New Development Unity Engine Transmission Total Engineering — control system for seamless shifting and reduced hunting for gears on long uphill grades.

All 2001 QX4s also feature power-assisted brakes with standard Anti-lock Braking System and vented front discs, and power rack-and-pinion steering.

All-Mode 4WD System

All 4-wheel drive QX4s come equipped with an advanced All-Mode 4WD system derived from the advanced Attessa E-TS all-wheel drive system used in the high-performance Nissan Skyline GT-R sports coupe, rather than the truck-based 4WD systems found in most luxury SUVs.

The heart of the All-Mode 4WD mechanical system is a wet multi-plate clutch in the center differential. Managed by an advanced computerized electronic control unit, the multi-plate clutch precisely and instantly distributes the right amount of torque, as conditions warrant, to the front and rear axles.

The unit gathers information from front and rear driveshaft sensors to determine wheel slippage, a throttle position sensor, an engine rpm sensor, a transfer unit lever selector and the ABS control unit. As much as 50 percent of available torque, infinitely adjustable, can be sent to the front wheels on demand — resulting in optimal traction with improved fuel economy and enhanced cornering capability.

Rigid MonoFrame Construction

While the majority of current sport utility vehicles have evolved from truck platforms, the QX4 was conceived as a true luxury vehicle — yet one that can tackle the toughest off-road terrain in comfort and style. Every 2001 QX4 is built using innovative MonoFrame construction, which draws from both unibody automotive design and body-on-frame truck design to produce a hybrid that combines the best of both worlds. The result is a stable platform with reduced noise and vibration, improved ride and handling and improved body fit.

The MonoFrame body design also reduces weight and improves space efficiency while being considerably more resistant to torsional and bending stresses than conventional body-on-frame luxury SUV designs.

"The new QX4 combines luxury sedan comfort with all the rugged looks and capabilities of an authentic sport utility vehicle," said Orbe. "The addition of the powerful new V6 further separates the QX4 from the performance wanna-be SUVs into a class all by itself."

Design elements go a long way with Dodge Stratus sedan

By Mark Maynard
Copley News Service

Horsepower, sharp styling and a little more soundproofing go a long way in the freshly redesigned Dodge Stratus sedan.

The Stratus is in the mainstream of family sedans, and it comes with a long list of standard equipment is difficult to ignore. Not that most shoppers will want to because the exterior styling is one more asset for the plus-column.

It looks sort of like a downsized Intrepid, the next step up on the Dodge line, but even then it is different from anything else being offered.

The 4-cylinder test car has the determination of a V-6 sedan but for a sticker of $19,010, which included the $475 destination charge, a power driver's seat for $380 and side air bags for $350.

Included in the base price of $18,375 is a 4-speed automatic transmission, air conditioning, remote locking, power windows/locks/mirrors and carpeted floor mats.

For those who must have the 200 hp 2.7-liter V-6, it can be added for $800.

As the dutiful grocery-getter and the basic family car, most users will be able to get along quite nicely with the 150 hp 2.4-liter 4, the same engine used in the PT Cruiser and elsewhere.

Moving up to the top line, the ES model adds a 200-hp V-6 16-inch wheels and access to a range of options not offered for the SE.

The 4-cylinder car is no slough in features or feistiness, though.

For two days I drove around thinking the test car had the V-6 engine. The power is that noticeable and usable.

The engine has been smoothed and quieted, though it still gets a little wild when you stomp on the accelerator for merging power. Hold tight when the engine goes for a double downshift because the torque sprays out like an elephant sneeze hurtling the car forward with a slug of torque steer at the wheel.

A slight calibration of shift points might ease the abruptness of hard acceleration. The 4-speed auto shifter is an impressive freebie, but it also might need some refining. Downshifts to second gear were sometimes rough, which set off little alarm bells for future problems. A 5-speed manual may be offered next year.

Also peculiar in the test car was a rhythmic rub-scrape sound coming from the front end, perhaps a sticking brake caliper; it was only audible with the driver's window open while driving slowly.

In basic form, the driving experience is enjoyable and ergonomic but not sporty. Visibility is uncompromised for the driver, and the various switches, controls and cup holders are positioned with attention to comfort.

An argument for paying the extra $2,600 for the Stratus ES is access gained to the optional AutoStick shifter and firmer suspension. The test car liked to go fast, but cornering brought out squeals of alarm from the Goodyear Eagle tires.

Noises, vibration and harshness were among the top complaints from owners of the previous generation Stratus. This time around, the engineers tried to address the noise issue with front and side glass, full wheel-well coverings to cut down road noise and foam baffling in various places in the body to further shut out tire and road harshness.

In shopping for a midsize car, 80 percent of shoppers consider safety a major consideration, for which the Stratus was given structural strengthening, 3-point belts at all seats and pretensioning for the front belts.

It also features three-threshold air bag deployment, which is computer selected depending on vehicle speed at impact and whether the seat occupant is belted.

The test car's basic gray interior was rental-car durable but lacking in back-seat storage — except for two cup holders — or a center armrest. There's a bonanza of leg room in the back seat.

A useful standard feature is the split folding seat-back, which increases vehicle utility; it's not such a problem when visiting Home Depot or Costco to bring home ladders, brooms and shelving. It all fits a little easier.

Liccardi Ford sponsors free child ID program

Liccardi Ford in Watchung hosted a child ID program called "Commitment to Kids" on the afternoon of June 16.

At this time, a New Jersey State police officer was on hand to fingerprint and photograph children and present parents with a book containing this information. Liccardi Ford, a family-owned and -operated dealership in the area for more than 60 years, is proud to be a host of this very important program.

"Community involvement especially when it concerns our children, is the most important contribution one can give as a local business owner," said Jeff Liccardi, executive officer of Liccardi Ford. "This program is especially relevant to me, being a father of three small children."

Parents also received a kit that day which advised them to keep updated records of their child's physical description along with updated photographs every six months. Ford Motor Co. instituted this program in May in conjunction with the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children, a center created by Congress in 1984 which works with the FBI, the Justice Department and Law Enforcement agencies. This program will be supported by public service announcements made by actress Jamie Lee Curtis urging parents to take advantage of the program available through Ford dealers nationwide.

For more information, contact Kathleen Gasparri at Liccardi Ford in Watchung at (908) 561-7500, ext. 238.

'If it ain't broke, don't fix it'

By Jon Woods and Gary Nugent

Well, the weather's has warmed up, so we're starting to need our car's air conditioning again. And we're again getting bombarded with ads for air conditioning service. But how can you tell if your car's air conditioning needs servicing? It's very simple — if it gets cool like it's supposed to, then it's fine and there's no service needed.

I think this bears repeating. If your car's air conditioning system seems fine to you — in other words, it cools the air like it's supposed to — then leave it alone. In fact, when you mess with a car's Freon when there's nothing wrong, there's a good chance that you'll actually create a problem that wasn't there to begin with.

Think of it this way. If your refrigerator at home is working just fine, do you still have someone come out to "service" it? I hope not. Now it is true that you should routinely inspect the condition of the belts and hoses and maybe scrape the dead bugs out of the radiator, but this can usually be done as part of a routine oil change and at little or no extra cost.

Now for the flip side. If your car's air conditioning system is not getting cold like it's supposed to, then there's something wrong and it needs to be diagnosed by a professional. The problems can be as simple as a blown fuse or busted vacuum hose or as severe as a blown compressor, which can get pretty expensive to fix. All the more reason to not waste your money on one of these "routine" a/c services. Your car's air conditioning system could even be low on Freon. If it is low, then it has a leak, and I don't recommend just "topping it off." Why? Because it will just leak out again and you'll have to have it filled up again and Freon is not cheap.

Now sometimes you can have a very slow leak, one that takes a month or two to leak out enough Freon to where the system no longer gets cold. In these cases your technician may suggest "topping" the system off and adding dye to the system to help in pinpointing the leak at a later date. If the leak can't be found, then sometimes this is the only course available.

Jon Woods and Gary Nugent are certified master mechanics who host an auto talk show on station KSDO in San Diego and can be reached through their web site at www.signonsandiego.com/marketplace/autocenter.
