Police initiate chase

By Steven Reilly

Staff Writer

Police officers from Mountainside, Union and Hillside were involved in a high-speed chase that began in Mountainside and raced through Union before ending in a crash near the Hillsdale border.

Police arrested the male driver and the female passenger after their vehicle crashed and rolled over at the interchange of Erdahl Street and Route 22.

The chase began around noon on Friday along Route 22 east in Mountainside when Borough Police Officer Jeffrey Stinner stopped the blue Chevrolet Beretta on motor vehicle violations. The suspect fled from Stinner as he approached the vehicle and Stinner initiated the pursuit. The suspect allegedly rammed several other vehicles on Route 22 in an attempt to elude the officers.

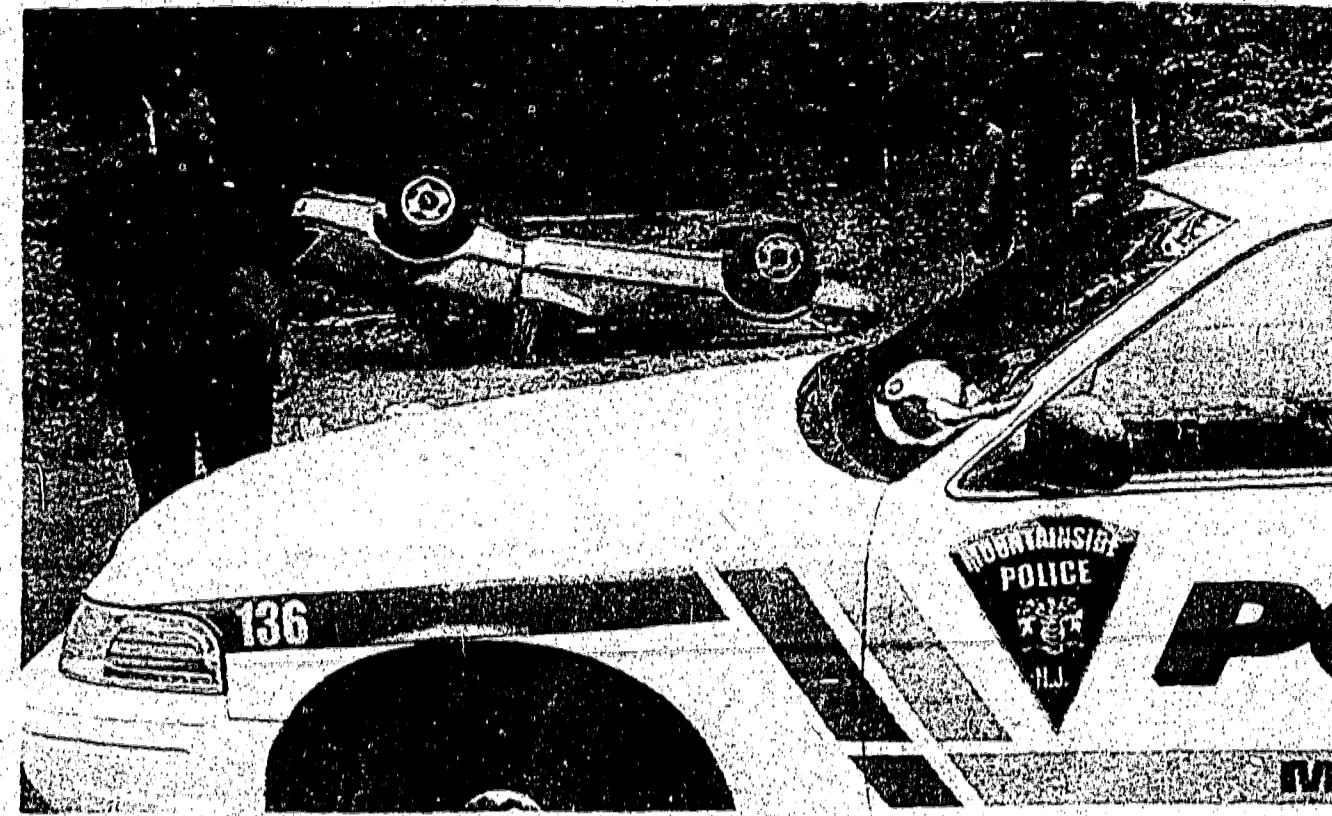

Mountainside cruisers pursued the vehicle into Union where township officers joined the chase. The two departments made several attempts to stop the vehicle before the suspects crossed over the border into Hillside.

Hillside police officers were ready to join the chase when the driver allegedly lost control of the vehicle and flipped several times.

Both the male driver and the female passenger were transported to University Hospital in Newark where they were treated for their injuries and released into police custody.

Union police arrested the female passenger, identified as Angie Ward of Newark, and charged her with possession of a controlled dangerous substance. The male driver was identified as William K. Dawkins, 28, also of Newark, who was arrested by Mountainside police.

District adopts state policy on bullying

By Marc Lightdale

Walter Mahler, superintendent of schools for the Springfield district, gave a report about sexual harassment at the Springfield Board of Education's meeting Monday.

During the meeting, there was a motion introduced and approved regarding equal education opportunity harassment.

According to Mahler, every school district in the state has to revise its policy to meet the requirements from a law that was passed this year and get it to the county superintendent's office by Sept. 1.

The state Department of Education gave detailed requirements, rationale, and model policy language.

Mahler said rather than throw the Springfield district's existing policy away, he attempted to integrate the outline from the previous harassment policy combined with the newly formed language given by the state Department of Education.

"I took the same outline that we had in existing opportunity, and made sure the state Department of Education language was included," said Mahler. "In most cases, it was cut and pasted; the exact wording."

The Equal Education Opportunity Harassment policy begins with the board prohibiting acts of harassment, intimidation, or bullying.

The policy is defined as such that harassment, intimidation, or bullying means any gesture or written, verbal or physical act that takes place on school property, at any school-sponsored function that is motivated by a perceived characteristic, effectively harms a student or damages their property, and has the effect of intimidating or demeaning any student group.

The physical harassment includes hitting, poking, punching, and tripping and intimidation may be manifested through peer pressure, name calling, teasing, verbal challenges, threats, verbal attacks, belittlement, social exclusion, and spreading malicious rumors.

Sexual harassment includes unwelcome leering, sexual slurs, unwanted graphic comments, sexual jokes, sexual rumors, unwelcome touching, intentional limiting of a sexual nature of pupil's access to educational tools, unwanted sexual conduct, cornering or blocking of a sexual nature, or displaying sexually suggestive objects.

At one point, the policy states that a chief school administrator shall ensure that students and their parents and/or guardians are provided the rules of the district regarding student conduct.

In other business, another law implemented was the requirement having a public meeting and report on school violence. The number of incidents of violence, vandalism, or substance abuse is to be recorded.

This information was supposed to be filed electronically.

Street collapses at intersection

By Steven Reilly

and Marc Lightdale

Monday morning rush hour commuters found themselves in even more traffic along westbound Morris Avenue due to a sewer line break at the intersection of Maple Avenue in Springfield.

The break caused part of the roadway to cave and shut the road to traffic at the busy interchange, scrambling repair crews to the site.

Springfield Assistant Engineer Sam Mardini said it all started with a sewer backup on Maple Avenue, which began July 16.

The Springfield Engineering Department tried to clear the line of debris and by using video camera technology found two areas where the sewer main was broken.

The sewer line broke at the lateral connection of 24 and 26 Maple Ave. Mardini said they had to get a contractor because it was an emergency job to dig up the road and fix the sewer main.

By Friday morning, a three-foot wide, 40-foot long section of Maple Avenue heading toward Union caved

Workers responded to the road after police and state officials closed it to southbound traffic. Crews worked 12-hour shifts over the next few days to restore traffic to the roadway.

The three-lane, one-way road carried traffic from Morris Avenue to interchanges for Springfield Avenue and Main Street in Millburn.

Polye detoured traffic to Morris Avenue while crews dug out the debris from the collapse and prepared to install a new, plastic sewer line.

Crews at the scene noted that raw sewage mixed with a high level of ground water causing the cave-in and the subsequent stench in the area.

By Monday afternoon, crews had excavated all of the debris from the 10-foot deep trench and were dumping stone gravel over the new sewer line.

Traffic was allowed to start flowing from Morris Avenue to Main Street by the evening rush on Monday night. Crews expected to have a layer of asphalt on the road later that night.

The road was closed for four hours on Friday from 6:30 to 11 p.m. and Monday from noon to 4 p.m. It was open fully after the trench was closed for the weekend.

Because some of the dirt washed into the sewer line, which is typical of sewer breaks, according to Mardini, there were some voids under the pavement, which led to concern about the stability of the road. The type of soil coming down was all sand, he said.

"We wanted to protect the motorists until the critical area was completed," Mardini said. "We had a contractor, it was an emergency road."

South Orange Construction came in to repair the line.

Workers try to repair a sewer line break at the Morris and Springfield avenues intersection in Springfield Monday. The unexpected break caused part of the roadway to cave, shutting down the road to traffic.

Contract disawaits a decision

By Marc Lightdale
Staff Writer

A new contract for police and fire personnel in Springfield is still unresolved as both sides await a mediator's decision. Police and fire have been without a new contract since Dec. 31, 2000.

Township Administrator Richard Sheola said the briefs have been filed by the township, which is currently waiting for the reception of the documents by the two unions — Firemen's Mutual Benevolent Association Local 57 and the PBA Local 76.

It's up to the arbitrator to make a decision, according to Sheola, who said that he does not have an estimate of when that could be completed and could not discuss the different positions at this time.

Township Committeeman Steven Goldstein said the police and fire departments are in arbitration and that it takes up to 18 months for the process to be completed.

"All the submissions have been made, and it's awaiting a decision," said Goldstein.

Committeeman Sy Mulfiman said the fire and police will not discuss the issue because it is in mediation. The issue has been going on for three years, and Mulfiman pointed out that the police had fired their attorney. At this point, the issue is up to the mediator, he said.

Among the central issues are the use of a 24-hour shift by the fire and police departments. A 24-hour shift for firefighters would be followed by 72 hours off.

As of January 2001, the arrangement involved two 40-hour days followed by one day off and two 14-hour nights.

Firefighters objected to this schedule in 2001 because the lack of adequate staff relegated the Fire Department workers to remain on recall during their one day off.

PBA officials could not be reached for comment by press time Tuesday. In previous interviews, union officials said the department needed 24 patrol officers working at one time but only had five supervisors and 21 patrolmen. The union also has been trying to get a different schedule implemented, one that would have officers work four days, followed by four days off. Each of the four days in a row would consist of shifts of 10 hours and 45 minutes.

Township struck by power outages again

By Marc Lightdale
Staff Writer

There were 44 calls from residents without power in the vicinity of Eat Hills Road on July 17. Other roads affected included Highland Avenue, Michigan Avenue, Stockton Road, Persimmon, Ashwood Avenue, Greenhill Road, Malvern and Little Brook Road.

Committeeman Steven Goldstein said Springfield does get power outages fairly frequently, but speculated that the town had received rolling blackouts.

A rolling blackout takes place when a power company purposely blacks out for a couple of minutes if they're getting overwhelmed.

"It was a relatively small outage, the cause was an animal that got into the transformer or fuse and caused a fault in the electricity," Feyl said.

A second call took place on July 18 with the cause of the power outage unknown. The second call had a fuse interrupter that takes place in order to make sure that the electricity is protected.

"We have fuses throughout the system so that the least amount of damage is done," Feyl said.

A fuse protects the infrastructure, Feyl said, adding that without fuse protectors, the company would run the risk of having large areas without power for small reasons.

Fuse protection serves to isolate the fault or problem. In this particular situation, the source could have been a mechanical problem or a falling tree or an animal could have caused the Squirrels, trees and the forces of mother nature, such as high winds and summer lighting, have often been pointed out as the causes for outages, according to Feyl.

JCP&L services nine counties in Northern New Jersey, but only a small portion of Union County. In addition to serving all of Springfield, the company serves Summit, New Providence, Berkeley Heights, and a small portion of Mountainside.

Committee hopes to prevent geese from frequenting pool

By Marc Lightdale
Staff Writer

The Township of Springfield has been looking at a way to stem the problem of geese landing on water at the Municipal Pool and leaving goose droppings, but no easy answers have been found to this burgeoning problem.

As a result, $9,000 in a capital improvement ordinance that earmarked for a pool cover will go back into the general fund, Committeeman S.S. Mullman said at Tuesday's Township Committee meeting.

The capital improvement ordinance was approved by a 4-0 vote of the committee.

Mullman said the $9,000 originally was going to be used for a pool cover in order to discourage geese from landing on the pool.

"Just about every other pool has to go through this process," said Sheila.

Actions have been taken in the past to control geese, Sheila said. There have been streamers put up around the pool, but the cover cost a lot of money and did not appear to do the job.

"Nobody has figured out a way to control the geese in large bodies of water like this," Sheila said.

Committeewoman Clara Harelik, in response to the question from Liss, said the pool is properly chlorinated and is properly tested for problems.

Maxine Liss, a Springfield resident, asked why the township appropriated the fund for the pool, over and under the change in the policy thinking of the recreation director and pool management who determined that the geese would not do away with the lingering goose problem.

EDUCATION

Boating safety course

The Union County College Division of Economic Development and Continuing Education is once again offering the New Jersey Boating Safety Certification on its Cranford campus, 1033 Springfield Ave.

The course is required for those who are 16 years old and older who wish to operate personal watercrafts and for those 13 years or older to operate power boats.

The course will cover the following topics: boat handling, rules of the road, safety regulations, necessary equipment and legal responsibilities.

Upon successful completion a state approved for issuing a New Jersey Boating Safety Certificate will be issued. The certification is NASHA V approved.

The certification program will be held throughout the summer with sessions beginning on Mondays and Aug. 4.

For more information on boating safety or any other programs offered by the Division of Economic Development and Continuing Education call 908-760-2000.

Vo-Tech school offers culinary arts program

The award-winning culinary arts program at Union County Vocational Technical Schools can improve your skills in the kitchen or prepare you for a new career as a chef.

Registration for the fall semester is open now to all Union County residents for the culinary arts program, which begins Sept. 1 at the school's campus in Scotch Plains.

The culinary arts class will meet five days a week, Mondays through Fridays, from 2 to 5 p.m. Students complete the course in one year.

The culinary arts program offers premier food service education, introducing students to a variety of food preparation techniques, from cooking principles to gourmet foods, demonstrations, and live models in clinical service.

Students will learn how to conduct hair analysis, the physical and chemical effects of shampoos and rinses, the use of hair and scalp conditioning treatments, the art of finger waving, setting and styling of hair with sculpting gels, and the use of thermal iron.

Courses available for students this spring include A/C, heating and refrigeration technology, auto collision, carpentry construction, cosmetology, culinary arts, electro-mechanical technology, maintenance mechanics and telecommunications.

Additionally, training will cover shaping hair with scissors and razors, duck-service styling with blow dryers and curling irons, application of temporary and permanent wigs, and a variety of other beauty techniques that are critical to achieving success in this field.

The culinary arts program can pursue careers as chefs, sous chefs, banquet cooks, prep cooks, line cooks or first cooks. Many graduates continue their education, pursue bachelors degree in culinary arts at four year college or vocational schools.

Culinary aid is available to qualified students and job placement services and apprenticeships are available to all graduates.

For more information on the culinary arts course, call the admissions office at 908-889-5288, ext. 1301 or ext. 341.

Cosmetology course

Union County Vocational Technical Schools will offer a full-time young cosmetology course this fall for students interested in entering the field.

Registration for the fall semester is open now to all Union County residents for the cosmetology program, which begins Sept. 1 at the school's campus in Scotch Plains.

Classes meet daily, Mondays through Friday, from 8 a.m. to 2:50 p.m. The only exceptions are the culinary arts and cosmetology programs, both of which meet Monday through Friday, from 2 to 8 p.m., and are offered on a full-time basis. Students who enter the program in September will complete the program in June.

The adult education program includes occupational and technical training that prepares students for employment in their field of study. All of the courses combine hands-on training with state-of-the-art technology.

Courses available for students this spring include A/C, heating and refrigeration technology, auto collision, carpentry construction, cosmetology, culinary arts, electro-mechanical technology, maintenance mechanics and telecommunications.

The Career Decision Clinic will benefit individuals who are preparing to re-enter the job market, those currently employed, but interested in exploring a job change, and high school students in their senior year who have not yet decided if they want to go to college or pursue a career.

Interests, skills, values and personal goals are explored during the counseling sessions. Each participant is given an individualized assessment program to further evaluate interests and personality characteristics as they relate to career choices.

At the conclusion of the counseling sessions, participants receive a personalized Plan of Action, which includes a summary of the sessions and serves as a guideline for determining career goals.

The cosmetology program allows students to complete the required 1,000 hours needed to take the required State Board of Cosmetology licensing exam. The cosmetology program prepares students to enter the hospitality industry as an assistant, sous chef, banquet cook, garde manger, prep cook.

The maintenance mechanics program offers training in plumbing, basic electricity, carpentry, glazing and glass cutting, locksmithing and general repairs.

Financial aid is available to students who qualify and free job placement assistance is available to graduates.

For more information on these programs and application forms, call the admissions office at 908-889-5288, ext. 1301 or ext. 341.

Career Decision Clinic

The Career Decision Clinic sponsored by Counseling Career Services at Union County College is making its service available to residents of Union County. This program is designed to provide career counseling and the resources necessary for participants to make effective career decisions. The clinic is located on the college's Cranford campus, 1033 Springfield Ave. There is a $15 fee for the program.

The Career Decision Clinic will benefit individuals who are preparing to re-enter the job market, those currently employed, but interested in exploring a job change, and high school students in their senior year who have not yet decided if they want to go to college or pursue a career.

NJPAC continues to draw crowds to 'Sounds of the City' series

The sounds and rhythms of Afro-Brazilian beats, Latin jazz, hip hop, R&B, neo-soul, Haitian roots, Fado, jazz and other ethnic beats will fill the New Jersey Performing Arts Center's Theater Square this summer, now that Absolut Sounds of the City 2003, NJPAC's acclaimed free outdoor music series, kicked off June 5.

Every Thursday evening through Aug. 21 from 5 to 9 p.m., top groups and individuals will entertain the after-work crowd and local residents who made NJPAC "the place to be on Thursdays" when Sounds of the City was introduced four summers ago. There will be no performance July 3. The presenting sponsor of Absolut Sounds of the City is Absolut. The series is co-sponsored by Michelob Light, the National Endowment of the Arts, City National Bank, the city of Newark, the New Jersey State Council on the Arts and NJBIZ. Absolut

Sounds of the City is co-hosted by the Newark Downtown District and is made possible in part by the Newark Arts Council.

Featured on WNBC-TV and WAHC-TV, Absolut Sounds of the City brings together thousands of people from different ethnic groups and communities who live and work in Newark as well as from beyond the city's limits. Created in October 1998, this free after-work music series was the brainchild of a group of Newark residents, access and involvement for local artists and audiences. "We wanted to extend the great success of the New Jersey Performing Arts Center beyond its front doors," said Elisabeth Ssenyiova, NJPAC's producer of Absolut Sounds of the City.

A great number of Absolut Sounds of the City 2003 artists are New Jersey-based performers. Towns represented include Newark, Teaneck, West Orange, Upper Montclair, Kendall Park, Belleville, Cedar Grove, Jersey City, Hoboken and South Orange. Several are from New York and as far away as Los Angeles and Chicago.

For information, call 888-466-5727 or visit the NJPAC Web site at www.njpac.org.

Absolut Sounds of the City 2003***

- Today: The Fringe Edwards Group featuring Vida Key, Newark, jazz, and Susheela Raman, Indian contemporary
- July 31: The Beldi Brothers' Quintet, Maplewood, jazz, bebop and hard bop, Candela Soul, Afro-Cuban rhythms with rock instrumentation, and George Gee and the Jump Jivers, swing jazz and big band
- Aug. 7: Sill and The Truth, gospel-contemporary, and Michelle, Haitian roots

NEWS CLIPS

Visitors to Arboretum will see 'stars' Friday night

This evening, evening will feature special appearances by famous stars, said Michael Gitter Weisser.

The director of Children's Education at Reeves Reed Arboretum in Summit mentioned Pavarotti, Archduke and Spika among the stars that would appear at the Arboretum's Moonlight Madness festival on Friday night in the sky is clear.

An information station around the Arboretum, families can learn about nocturnal reptiles and insects, glow-in-the-dark bats, wind and sounds and more about the night. Hand-on activities will invite children to experience it as a nocturnal animal.

Moonlight Madness begins at 6:30 p.m. Friday at Reeves Reed Arboretum, 165 Hobart Ave. in Summit. Because the Arboretum is a historic estate listed on the National Register and the New Jersey Register of Historic Places, picnicking is not normally permitted. Moonlight picnicking is allowed from 6 to 7:30 p.m. said Weisser. For those who don't feel like packing a picnic, a safe-to-eat outdoor treat is well.

At 7:30, the presentations will begin and the activity stations will open up. At 9, the evening will wrap up with a story-telling session on the Arboretum's lawn.

Pre-registration is requested for Moonlight Madness. The fee for the program is $20 per family. To register or for more information, call 908-235-5715.

Reeves Reed Arboretum is a suburban conservancy dedicated to environmental and horticultural education for children and adults, and to the enjoyment of nature through the protection, care and preservation of its historic country estate.
