TWO SECTIONS

Interim principal named

By Joan M. Devlin
Staff Writer

At a special Mountainside Board of Education meeting Monday night, Walter Rusak was named interim principal at Deerfield School, effective immediately.

Former Principal Priscilla Church, left on Friday.

Board President Peter Goggi made the announcement, adding that Gerard Schaller, chief school administrator, had interviewed Rusak, who comes to the district highly qualified.

"He was in the Irvington school system over 30 years, beginning as a social studies teacher," said Goggi. "He became administrative assistant in the Irvington school system, and then principal of elementary schools, K through eight, then served as principal of the middle school."

He was then elevated to the position of assistant superintendent of the Irvington school system, added Goggi.

Last year, Rusak served as interim principal of the Ryerson Middle School in Ringwood. He will receive a stipend of $450 per day, effective immediately.

"Mr. Rusak is an extremely professional, experienced administrator, who will be an asset to the Mountainside School District during this period of time -- throughout this school year," Schaller said.

To fill the gap left by Church, Schaller said he went to the New Jersey Principals' Supervisors' Association for help. "They have a list of active, retired individuals who want to serve as either interim assistant principals, principals, or supervisors," said Schaller, who was very happy with the selection.

Rusak is married, lives in Bridgewater, and has three children. The Board of Education voted unanimously to accept Rusak as interim principal of Deerfield School.

Hope debate business

By Rick Klittich
Staff Writer

With one of the longer running issues surrounding the Springfield community and marketplaces being a concern for economic development, candidates for the Township Committee put their thoughts and ideas up for sale as to how more business could be generated throughout the township.

"One of the things that I've done in the past is obtained federal grants," said Roy Hirschfeld, a Democrat running for re-election to the committee. "We've already enhanced the sidewalks, walk avenues with wider walkways, new curbing, along with trees to make things just look better."

Hirschfeld has served on the Township Committee since 1994 and is running with Democrat Kenneth Fagenbaum, a former member of the Board of Education.

Hirschfeld also served on the Block Grant Committee two years ago, where through the Community Development Block Grant, more than $150,000 was obtained in federal funding over a two-year span.

"Since then, we've also helped pass a code ordinance allowing and encouraging restaurants to open up and put chairs outside," said Hirschfeld. "People would have to apply for a license to do this," he said, "but it would help encourage business nonetheless."

Victor Rajoppi, a Republican challenger to the Democrats, shared some of his views.

Rajoppi owns a Tilly's Cafe on Mountain Avenue in Springfield and feels that a reason for successful shopping centers is that they function as a centerpiece of attraction.

"If you look in places like Westfield, with the Gap and Foot Locker, you'll notice that the shopping centers have anchor stores. Here in Springfield, we don't really have any type of store like that."

Rajoppi noted that maybe a subcommittee could be formed to get businesses together and help commercialize the town more.

"People think of Route 22 when they're in this area," said Rajoppi. "That takes away from our center."

Hirschfeld commented on a Special Improvement District, which some neighboring towns have instituted. It would tax merchants but promote uniformity and "street scenes" that could help Springfield generate business.

"We could also consider being stricter with owners," said Hirschfeld, noting that forcing them to keep up with the maintenance of their property would be a good idea.

Rajoppi, who has lived in Springfield since he was 3, feels that renovations could be the answer.

"Maybe there aren't enough renovations," he said, "and possibly the Chamber of Commerce can help us get some fresh blood inside and we can center around something."

"I've also tried contacting the county and local chamber to try and entice new business here," Hirschfeld said, "and we've tried to solicit businesses through the Chamber of Commerce, such as Blimpie's in Springfield."

Hirschfeld also contributed to getting two parking lots renovated in the business area of Morris Avenue, paving them and removing parking meters from one lot.

"It wouldn't be a bad idea to lower the speed limit to around 25 mph, either," said Hirschfeld, who felt that the business area is dangerous for pedestrians crossing.

Both Fagenbaum and Harold Poltrock, a second Republican candidate running for the Township Committee, could not be reached by presstime.

Interim superintendent likely to be appointed

By Rick Klittich
Staff Writer

While senior field representative Carole Larsen continues her work for the New Jersey School Boards Association in finding the right superintendent for Springfield, the Board of Education is about to take the first step in replacing current Superintendent Walter Mahler, whose last day is Oct. 22.

The board is expected to appoint an interim superintendent tonight at Jonathan Dayton High School at 8 p.m.

While the decision is not yet final, as approval by the board is still forthcoming, the interim superintendent is expected to be Tom Butler, who, according to Mahler, has worked as an interim superintendent in other school systems for the past 15 years.

Butler would officially begin at the district Nov. 1. Details of his contract were not released as of presstime because he has yet to be officially accepted by the board as the interim superintendent.

According to School Business Administrator Matt Clarke, six candidates interviewed for the position.

"They were each given one interview," Clarke said, "and from there, we checked their references and background, and the board is deciding who the best person to go forward and take Dr. Mahler's place is."

Clarke noted that all six candidates were retired superintendents.

"Four were currently on a job, already doing interim work," he said, noting that their terms were ending by mid-October, though "one was doing consultation work, and another was doing interim work, state work, and consulting work."

When Mahler leaves Oct. 22, Assistant Superintendent Judy Zimmerman is expected to take over until November.

According to Clarke, Zimmerman took over for the time period before Mahler was appointed superintendent two years ago.

With the deadline of accepted applications passing Friday, the search for a new permanent superintendent of Springfield schools is currently on track and following the original timeline.

According to Larsen, the district's educational consultant, she's received about 50 inquiries and is currently working on narrowing them to present them to the board.

Interviewing for the new superintendent will begin Oct. 27.

Larsen had called the interest in the position "high" and, according to the calendar, projects the starting date for the new head of schools to be Feb. 3. While his appointment is still pending as of presstime, Butler would be expected to fulfill a contract that will last until the appointment of a new superintendent in February.

As pool continues to age, repairs are in the works

By Rick Klittich
Staff Writer

With the Springfield Municipal Pool reaching the age of 40 this past summer, it's become clear that if the pool isn't going to look or feel over-the-hill, repairs are necessary.

The pool's piping, which runs from the pool itself to the pumping station, is more than 30 years old, and leaks have been found in both the ground and drainage area.

"It's basically from old age and corrosion," said Township Committeeman Roy Hirschfeld, who is also pushing to approve the exterior appearance of the pool. "We're going to need to dig up the pipes in the grass, replace them, and drill up a section of the pool itself where the drain is."

Hirschfeld, a Democrat running for re-election this year, is also hoping to add a mushroom-shaped fountain to the smaller pool located off to the right of the main pool.

"People aren't going to be able to see any of the changes being made," Hirschfeld said in regard to the new piping. "So I think this fountain would make a great addition to the smaller pool."

The town hired M. Disko Associates to take on the project, which is going to cost approximately $127,000. The Kenilworth-based engineering company has been around since 1969 and handles municipal engineering contracts for several neighboring towns.

The money is coming from a bond for pool utilities, and will cover engineering expenses, including general labor and cement work.

According to Director of Recreation Michael Tennaro, the covering of the small pool will also be replaced.

"We had a rubberized surface that didn't hold up too well with all the traffic of everybody being in there," said Tennaro, "so we're going to go back to a cement, non-slip surface that will hopefully be better."

"The covering just kind of floated," said Hirschfeld. "It was coming loose and detaching, so we'll need to replace that."

According to Hirschfeld, the engineering company will take a camera into the drain and filter pipes to see how extensive the damage is, using PVC piping to replace the main pipe, which has 30 years behind it.

"That's a major concern as far as the main pool goes," said Hirschfeld.

While M. Disko Associates has advised that the project begin as soon as possible, Hirschfeld expects that it will be a few more weeks before construction begins.

"They'll probably present the plans to the town on Oct. 14," he said, "and then we'll take it from there."

Tennaro noted that there still has to be a bid on the project, and that decisions can be made from there based on allotted funds.

"The engineering company told us that we need to get this done before the frost and cold weather," said Hirschfeld. "Significant damage could occur if we don't get this done, so we expect it to be completed by November."

The fountain that Hirschfeld is proposing would cost around $4,000 to install. Other minor repairs include fixing the bathrooms and the filter-house area.

Although the pool is aging, repairs have been limited, with the past five years including only basic renovations.

"We've made renovations to the kitchen area and locker rooms," Hirschfeld said, "including making the bathrooms handicap accessible and putting in new lights."

Hirschfeld also explained that this didn't cause any problems over the summer for residents using the pool.

"It's more of a preventive measure than anything," said Hirschfeld. "We know that this is a problem that can only get worse, so we want to make sure we get this done without having to shut down the pool entirely."

"We've done repairs in the past to things that were breaking down," said Tennaro. "This is just another step in that process. We don't want to have to close down the pool for maintenance."

'Cop trot' keeps memory of Capt. Todd Turner alive

By Rick Klittich
Staff Writer

The fourth annual "Cop Trot" will be Saturday in Mountainside in memory of Capt. Todd B. Turner, who was killed in a car accident when he was hit by a motorist who allegedly ran a stop sign Aug. 15.

The 5K run/walk will start at 9:30 a.m. at Deerfield School on Central Avenue, with its path extending from Cherry Hill Road to Birch Hill Road, circling around and eventually ending right near its beginning.

The race helps raise funds for the Mountainside Police Athletic League, asking for entry fees for those who sign up for the race. Adults contribute $15, children $10, and, for an entire family, the cost is $50. Those who sign up on the day of the race are charged an extra $5.

"I'd say we've helped raise around $15,000 in past years," said Capt. Richard Osieja, who helped organize the fund-raiser. "It's been a success in the past and we expect no different this year."

The registration fee includes a T-shirt, which will also honor Turner, along with computerized scoring results for each individual who participates. The T-shirts will also list the names of 22 sponsors on the back. Sponsors' donations can range from a "Running Rookie's" $25, to a "Chief's Corporate Donor's" $300.

Sponsors include Union Paving, Westfield Pest Control, Sevell's Auto Body, Statewide Armored Systems, Maxwell Furniture, Thomas Lincoln-Mercury and Valley National Bank.

Trophies will be awarded for first, second and third place in each age group, including cash prizes for the best male and female overall. The age groups consist of ages 7-8, 9-11, 12-14, 15-19 and then up from there by decades, until age 60 and older. The race will also feature pot luck 6th prizes, mile markers, and complimentary pre- and post-race refreshments.

"Last year we had about 170 participants running in the race," Osieja said. "Overall, between spectators and volunteers who help set everything up, we probably have about 250 people on site for the event."

The event also features a new division this year: Tot Trot, for children 6 years old and younger, starting at 8:30 a.m.

Corinne Moore, an administrative assistant at the Police Department, also helped coordinate the event which she's been part of since it began.

"We sent out sponsor letters, registration forms, fliers, and wrapped gifts," Moore said. "We hope for this one to turn out as successfully as the others, especially because it's in memory of Todd Turner."

According to Moore, the race's festivities usually last until around noon, giving people a chance to settle down or go home before attending Community Day, a carnival-like event beginning at 2 p.m. at Borough Hall.

Use registry wisely

A sex offender registry is not punishment for criminals; it is protection for children in every community and a tool for parents who need to know whether their children can play freely outdoors without being preyed on by a predatory next door neighbor.

Last week, the New Jersey State Police began listing the names and home addresses of registered sex offenders across the state on its Web site, providing for the first time, unfettered access to anyone who wants to know if a convicted sex offender lives in their neighborhood.

Despite serious arguments — such as privacy of offenders — raised by opponents, a U.S. Court of Appeals last month overturned a U.S. District court judge's decision that the registry violates privacy rights. Essentially, the court ruled that the protection of citizens outweighs any sex offender's privacy rights.

We support the court's decision, and urge parents to take the time to visit the Web site, www.njsp.org. In Springfield and Mountainside, there are no individuals registered on the site as sex offenders. But it is important to remember that the site does not list those sex offenders who have committed crimes and have not been caught.

In addition to its usefulness to parents, checking this type of information is vital for some employers. It would be critical to know if a teacher, child care provider, or a school bus driver is a registered sexual offender. Moreover, sex offender registries provide law enforcement agencies with an additional tool to help them investigate unsolved sex crimes or other violations, such as burglary, kidnapping, or murder, when sexual assault occurs as part of the offense.

Certainly, there's the concern that some offenders, most of whom have served time in jail, could be harassed and intimidated in the community. That too is a crime, and we support the state's penalties — and even stiffer ones in other states — for those who misuse the information. It is a crime to use registry information to commit a criminal offense. Anyone who is charged with such an offense faces three to five years in jail and a fine of up to $15,000.

So log on, but use the information wisely.

Who cares about the law?

California has become known far and wide for its gubernatorial recall election. New Jersey has become known far and wide for its last-minute switches in general elections. For the second year in a row, Democrats have replaced a candidate they thought was in trouble weeks after the deadline had passed. Last year, it was Robert Torricelli, who dropped his bid for re-election to the U.S. Senate as his poll numbers plummeted. The party replaced him on the ballot with former Sen. Frank Lautenberg and the state Democrats picked up the tab for reprinting the ballots. This year, it is state Sen. Joseph Suliga who is no longer seeking re-election after a number of embarrassing stories have arisen.

In the case of Suliga, at least there is a health problem; the freshman senator has admitted to and sought help for an alcohol problem. But while Torricelli only suffered from poor poll numbers, Suliga's problem with alcohol seems to have existed long before last month; it just never became an issue for an election. Now that it has, it seems to have changed a Senate seat the party didn't have to worry about losing to one where they at least have to spend more resources to ensure a victory. And only now is the party all for Suliga seeking help.

Only a half-dozen competitive races coupled with a 20-20 split in the state Senate, we'll guess, had more impact on Suliga being pressured to drop out than his alcohol problem. Democrats, already down to a slimmer majority in the Assembly than just two years ago when they took control, didn't want to risk losing a seat when there was no room for error. It's another example that the two major political parties place retaining power ahead of most any other concerns. You know, things that affect you, the taxpayer, like property taxes and auto insurance.

Last year's outrageous state Supreme Court decision to allow Democrats to replace Torricelli set the precedent that many feared. Once there was even a hint that Suliga might be dropping out last month, already there was talk of a replacement candidate; not whether it would be allowed. Superior Court Judge Edward Beglin ruled Friday that it was okay for the Democrats to disregard the law and replace Suliga.

Fall has always been referred to as the "silly season," but it's getting sillier every year when the people who make the laws are allowed to disregard them. Just as Torricelli should have remained on the ballot last year, Suliga should have remained on the ballot this year.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Enact stricter contract for next supt.

I read your editorial in the Sept. 25 issue of the Echo Leader which questioned the loyalty of Superintendent of Schools Walter Mahler. Many residents are asking the same question.

How could the Springfield Board of Education allow him to leave without any penalties since he broke his five-year contract in July after serving less than two years? He should at least have to pay the $5,000 that it will cost to find a new superintendent and also the salary of a caretaker, when the board employed to be in charge of the search.

It was interesting to note that the Bridgewater-Raritan School System to which he is going is only giving him a three-year contract. When he first came to Springfield, I told him that I thought he should have been offered a three-year contract, and he replied that if they had offered that short contract, he would not have taken it.

Now, he has decided to leave Springfield with a large unfinished school construction project with a burden on taxpayers. Did he not think of the school staff and the residents of Springfield as he pursued his new job paying $20,000 more over his present $143,000 salary, plus lucrative perks. The $143,000 figure was random Jan. 11, 2003, but it might be higher as of today's date.

Now, a perplexed school board has to replace him and pick up the pieces of his excessive building project. I asked the architect for some explanations, and he said that Mahler was in complete control of this project, and any questions would have to be directed to him. Will this mean more taxpayers' monies for costly change orders and overruns?

I just returned from an extended vacation trip. I turned to the Community Calendar pointed in the Echo Leader to find when the next Board of Education meeting would be held, and could find no listing. I believe, based on what they are supposed to publish the times and dates of their meetings in the local newspaper. Has the board been meeting illegally, and should the past August and September meetings be voided? Should the referendum be held again?

If I should be able to find the date and time of the next Board of Education meeting, I will attend it and ask that no interim person be hired since a new search will have to be started again, and that only a two- or three-year contract be offered to a new superintendent. I will also suggest that the new superintendent have a well-founded knowledge of education and related topics; also have a strong knowledge of architecture, drawings and construction work.

How about some answers from the Springfield Board of Education members as to how they allowed a superintendent to resign, leaving such a huge unfinished school construction program? More intelligent and stricter contracts must be made in the future for the well-being of Springfield.

I read with interest the recent Echo Leader article "Quality Studies Need for Ice Bank." Sept. 18. The article mentioned that teams from Clark, Cranford, Summit and Westfield are the existing Waterworks rink for home ice, while other teams from Berkeley Heights and Springfield can only "periodically" use the facility for practice because "they don't have as many time slots as they would like." It explained how a more costly, $17.5 million to determine

Guidelines established for Nov. 4 election

In fairness to all Township Committee candidates and to provide the best service to our readers, this newspaper has established guidelines and a schedule for coverage of the Nov. 4 General Election.

Under the guidelines, this newspaper is committed to specific elements of coverage. We will give background information about all known candidates, including stories on basic positions taken by each, and we will write news stories on the issues raised during the campaign.

We also will list important political events such as candidates' rights and fund-raising in news stories. We will aim to simulate discussion of the issues during election campaigns through independent research and investigative stories.

If appropriate, editorial endorsements will be made.

Our guidelines reflect the reader service objectives of this newspaper in Township Committee elections. However, we will review our guidelines from time to time and revise them if necessary, to benefit our readers.

Following is the schedule we will adhere to in the Nov. 4 General Election:

Letters to the editor: Political letters, and those of endorsement, will be accepted up to and including the issue of Oct. 23 for candidates' letters may be printed or appear as excerpts at the editor's discretion.

Endorsement letters containing more than 250 words will be edited for length, regardless of how many candidates they endorse. Letters without telephone numbers will not be considered for publication.

Candidate's Corner: Candidates running for the Township Committee will be given the opportunity to speak to the readers on these pages as they present their backdrops, platforms and goals. Their columns will appear Oct. 23.

Our endorsements: Endorsement editorials will appear Oct. 30.

Staff-written round-up stories: A final look of the candidates, their platforms and goals, etc., will appear Oct. 30.

Election results: Complete election result coverage will be in the Nov. 6 edition.

A plea for McGreevey to take charge

Editor's note: The following letter was addressed and sent to Gov. James McGreevey.

Opposition to the growth of the State of New Jersey is not limited to the Hudson Valley Railroads but has spread beyond only those whose homes abut the right-of-way. The larger public has become informed of the project, its history, its implications for the physical and social environment, its failure to illuminate its finances and what we have reason to believe is its misrepresentation of the true nature of the traffic to be expected.

The negative impact on the community is now understood by commercial establishments, places of worship, schools and housing complexes and by those who are simply appalled that so much of the taxpayer's monies is being poured into what's destined, by design, to fail. The plan has no provision for, nor is there any prospect of, any economic gain to the community.

Accompanying this note are excerpts from government regulations and other documents whose requirements have been avoided or contradicted by the actions of the sponsoring agencies. You will note that many of them relate to environmental issues. The last two are examples of the egregious ways the municipalities have been misled by the Union County Freeholders.

Based on the full range of documents made public, the evidence is clear that it had the contractual privilege to stop the project. I committed itself, by regulation, to yielding to the wishes of the municipalities and ignored the repeated objections of the municipalities. It is permitting the project to proceed.

As a response to the increasing numbers of politically disaffected taxpayers and voters throughout the many municipalities represented in our signed petition, we believe it would be appropriate for your office to take the lead in demanding that the issues we raise are openly and fully addressed by the responsible agencies.

We should take it as a sign of your commitment to the electorate if you would be good enough to acknowledge that this has received your personal attention.

This is access that every parent should have

Imagine having your innocence stripped away, your safety violated and your sense of self-esteem destroyed. This is what happens to children who are sexually molested. Often, the trauma of the incident lingers into the child's adult years, affecting their future relationships with others, particularly in regards to their feelings toward sex, love and intimacy.

When a child is sexually assaulted, he or she may fear intimacy and close relationships with others. They have difficulty moving into healthy relationships, and often become suicidal, as the horrific memories of their trauma continue to weigh heavily on their minds.

When a child is sexually assaulted, their rights to have a life free of fear are stripped away. It takes many, many years for them to gain back a healthy sense of self, the feeling that they can live a free, happy life. Above all else, the rights of the victims of abuse need to be held in higher regard than those of their abusers.

EDUCATION

Arboretum educates children about nature

Reeves-Reed Arboretum has educated children about nature since 1974. In the fall and spring, nine classes a week, ranging from kindergarten through fourth grade, arrive at the 12.5-acre conservancy in Summit to learn about plants and animals.

Second-, third- and fourth-graders might learn about arboretum animals by role-playing in a who-eats-whom game about food chains and food webs. They learn about the advantages of adaptation and camouflage in the wildlife habitat, and they search for signs of animal life in the arboretum's woodlands.

While on the field trip, they might encounter wildlife living on the arboretum such as a turkey vulture and chucks, or even tench earthworms.

Kindergartners, first- and second-graders may play nature detectives,

Dayton boys' soccer shows positive signs vs. Roselle

By Jeff Wolfrum Staff Writer

ROSELLE - Even though the Dayton High School boys' soccer team lost a 3-2 decision to Roselle Tuesday afternoon at Wilday Middle School, head coach Felix Fabiano was encouraged by the play of his squad.

"The guys hustled and did a very good job, especially in the second half," Fabiano said. "We've got some players that have never played a varsity game, but I see some positive signs."

With the loss, Dayton's record dropped to 4-2. "I was very surprised we started out 4-0," Fabiano said. "However, our schedule has gotten much tougher."

Dayton's next three scheduled games include Manville, Brearley and Roselle Park.

The Bulldogs struck first in the contest as Demetri Tereshchuk tallied for a goal after receiving a cross from Frederic Vilaso to make it 1-0.

"Demetri is our big scorer," Fabiano said. "If you give him a little space, he's going to put the ball in the net. Frederic is more of an assist guy, who does a lot of good passing."

Where Dayton has been vulnerable is in its backfield, with the loss of three-year starter Luis Soto forcing Fabiano to search around his defense.

Luis broke his foot and will probably be out for the season," Fabiano said.

said. "I have had to rearrange some things the past two days."

Roselle took advantage of the newly-formed Bulldog defensive alignment by pushing the ball up and getting some pressure in front of Dayton goalkeeper Dave Sauerhoff.

Just 10 minutes in, Sauerhoff made a stop on a blast from the right corner by Cesar Atejos.

Less than a minute later, Sauerhoff made a diving save on a direct kick from 10 yards out on a shot by Bryan Alvarez.

Roselle finally broke through, however, when Nana Asare received a cross from Juan Laverde and tucked a five-footer into the left corner to tie it at 1-1.

With 20 minutes left before halftime, Dayton had consecutive corner kick opportunities, but came away empty as the ball was cleared both times.

Less than five minutes later, the Bulldogs had another good chance, but Matt Sauerhoff's blast from 20 yards out hooked wide left.

"We had some opportunities in the first half," Fabiano said. "We just didn't capitalize on them."

With six minutes left before intermission, Roselle was awarded a penalty kick.

Laverde took the shot and scored as he ripped a low liner that reached the left corner of the goal, just out of the reach of Sauerhoff.

"It was a questionable call on the penalty," Fabiano said. "The referee said one of my defenders fell on the ball and tried to hug it."

Roselle made it 3-1 six minutes into the second half when Asare crossed to Ihoama Onwanali, who ripped a left-footed shot into the upper right corner.

"Dave Sauerhoff is only a freshman, but he's played well," Fabiano said. "There was nothing he could've done on the third goal because the player was only three yards away."

Sauerhoff finished with 14 saves. At the 50-minute mark, Dayton had a two-on-one break when Vilaso gained control at midfield and had Wojtek Kowaleski trailing on the left wing. Vilaso crossed to Kowaleski, but the senior forward's shot sailed wide left.

Just three minutes later, Tereshchuk blasted a 25-yard direct kick that Roselle goalkeeper Anthony Tiora made a leaping save on.

With nine minutes remaining, however, Tereshchuk wouldn't be denied as he ripped an indirect kick from 10 yards out into the right corner to make it 3-2.

Dayton had multiple chances in the closing minutes, but came away empty.

"It was a very good game," Fabiano said. "I enjoyed it even though we lost."

The remainder of Dayton's roster includes Alex Chicoma, Adam Shon, John Denning, Mike Tice, Boris Piotrowski, Kalif Mahomud, Edwin Ocampo, Marco Panella, Dan Shabat, Warren Victor and Adam Moss.

Farbstein, Francis fabulous for Roadrunners in victory

Soccer is alive and kicking in the town of Springfield. The Roadrunners 8-and-under team achieved its second win of the season on the Madison Twisters 3-0 Sunday.

Drew Farbstein scored two goals and William Francis tallied for his first of the season in the victory. The defensive play of Vinny Nagy and Peter Kravariotis kept the Twisters off the scoreboard.

Also playing well for the Roadrunners were Ben Roth, Michael Bornstein, Tommy Walsh, Ryan Fitzpatrick, Reese Petersen, DeYoung Don and Tyler Citrin.

The Roadrunners' next scheduled game is Oct. 19 at Rockaway. The U-9 Emeralds lost to the Pompton Lakes Rising Stars 4-1 Sunday. Cara Bibbo scored the lone Springfield goal on an assist from Rachel Lauletta and Casey Sheehy.

Playing well on offense were: Dierdre McElroy, Jaclyn Nardone, Meghan Finnegan, Sabrina Bibbo, Carlin Curry and Amanda Greenburg. Strong defense was played by Jessica Condon, Kate Condon, Lauletta and Sheehy. Jessica Condon and Cara Bibbo split the goalkeeping duties.

This past weekend, the 10-and-under Tornados improved their record to 4-1 with victories over the Hanover Metrostars 3-1 and the Long Valley Jaguars 5-0.

Last Saturday against the Metrostars, Zack Holzezer, Michael Disko and John Balboni each scored a goal, while Andrew Homishludt an assist. Sunday against the Jaguars, Holzezer netted four goals, while Balboni added one. Disko also chipped in with an assist.

The team played strong defensively in both games, with goalkeepers Brandon Moss, Peter Vablonksi and Matt Lynga combining for the shutout against Long Valley.

The Stingers 10-and-under team made several outstanding plays in its 2-0 home victory against Parsippany on Sunday. The Stingers improved to 4-0-1 with the triumph Sergio Annunziata and Nico Izzi netted the game's only goals. Playing well in the field were Brian Difore, Noss Konecki, Ryan Cutino, Zach Corey, Tyler Schaefer, Aaron Sauerhoff, Kevin Bido, Bailey Rudolph and goalkeeper Jake Rudolph. The first of the Stingers' five remaining scheduled games is Sunday at North Caldwell.

The Power U-11 girls' soccer team, which is the first U-11 girls' traveling team from the town, remained unbeaten with two shutout wins last weekend. The Power defeated Chatham United 2-0 Saturday and the Vernon Hut Shots 7-0 the next day to improve to 4-0-1. The Power has given up only one goal the entire season thus far.

Scoring the goals in the victories were Jenna Russo, Alexa Williams, Malory DeMunio, Jackie Loeschelle and Anna Liss. Excellent play from the midfield and forward positions was provided by Remy Schneider, Rebecca Frank, Jessica Gonzalez and Hailey Smith. Defensively, the Power received standout performances from fullbacks Angela Berardinelli, Rachel Wener, Kelsey Ricci and Gabrielle Pysniak, who shut down all attacks by their opponents.

Captain and center midfielder Emily Stein controlled both games from her position. left-footed shot from inside the penalty area was corralled by Caporaso.

The Johnson goalkeeper finished with 11 saves. In the sudden death extra session, GL had the first good chance to score a minute in. Sacco blasted a corner kick that Connor Donohue controlled. However, his shot sailed high over the net.

A minute later, Johnson took advantage of its one opportunity as Brian Michalczuk converted an assist from Matt Glackin to win the game. With the loss, GL's record dropped 2-4-1.

Earlier in the contest, GL was buoyed by the fine play of goalkeeper Jon Moss. The Mountaineer resident finished the game with 10 saves. The first of those saves came five minutes in as Dave Pinho ripped a low liner from 10 feet out that Moss deflected and then covered up.

GL's first good scoring chance came 10 minutes later when Donohue hit the right post off a nice cross from Golomb. Johnson managed to break the deadlock at the 28:24 mark when Pinho scored an unassisted goal to make the score 1-0.

The Highlanders had an excellent chance to knot things up with five minutes left before intermission when Caporaso came out of net. Golomb tried to gather the ball in from eight yards out, but he couldn't as the ball was cleared.

After the no-call on the hand ball, Johnson gained control at midfield as Gaspar ripped a 35-footer that Moss made a leaping grab on. The strong play of Moss and the spark provided by Somma helped lift the Highlanders to a strong second half performance.

NOTES: GL and Johnson played to a 1-1 tie in Berkeley Heights back on Sept. 19.

GL, Dayton girls' soccer net 4th wins

The Governor Livingston High School girls' soccer team jumped over the 500 mark with big wins over Mountain Valley Conference foes last week.

GL entered Tuesday afternoon's scheduled game at Immaculata with a 4-2 record.

The Highlanders downed Rahway 6-1 in Rahway on Sept. 30 and then blanked Johnson 5-0 at home last Thursday in Berkeley Heights.

The day before, Dayton posted a 1-0 home win over North Plainfield as goalkeeper Sara Steinman made three saves for her fourth shutout so far this season.

DeAngelis scored the game's only goal, booting in a loose ball after Cristian Zavocki had a shot go off the North Plainfield goalie.

GL field hockey sought first victory. The Governor Livingston High School field hockey team was scheduled to host Roselle Park Tuesday afternoon, still searching for its first victory of the season.

The Highlanders fell at home to Ridge 2-0 last Friday as goalkeepers Samantha Pingor and Alyse Hubert combined for 21 saves. Pingor stopped 14 shots and Hubert seven.

Hubert and Pingor also excelled in goal in GL's 2-0 home loss to Cranford last Thursday. Hubert and Pingor combined to make 16 saves in the setback.

GL has come close to winning, with one-goal defeats to Roselle Park and North Plainfield. GL lost 3-2 at Roselle Park in overtime in its season-opener back on Sept. 19. The Highlanders lost 3-2 at home to North Plainfield on Sept. 26.

GL boys' soccer team was looking for 2nd half spark

The Governor Livingston High School boys' soccer team was looking for a spark in the second half after playing a tough first 40 minutes against Johnson last Thursday.

Even though it dropped a 2-1 overtime decision to its Mountain Valley Conference rival, GL received that charge from head coach Bruno Somma.

Minutes before intermission, an apparent handball on the Crusaders wasn't called.

That got the ire of Somma, who kept up the argument with officials up to and during halftime.

With the score 1-0 in favor of the Crusaders to start the second half, the Highlanders immediately took control of the ball and steadily moved it down field.

After a throw-in from the right side, GL's Mike Carmody beat Johnson goalkeeper Vince Caporaso to the ball before crossing to Mountaineer resident Chase Golomb, who neatly tucked an eight-footer into the right corner for a goal.

Just eight minutes later, GL was knocking on the door again. Brandon Elliot blasted a corner kick which Joe Murphy got a hold of and his shot looped over the net.

With 20 minutes left in regulation, Golomb crossed to Carmody, who ripped a shot that Caporaso made a leaping deflection on.

A minute later, Danny Stern deked a Crusader defender and blasted a shot that Caporaso saved at the left post. Caporaso also came up big moments later as he made a sliding save on a point-blank shot drilled by Chris Sacco.

The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society's Fifth Avenue Light the Night Walk will take place weekends until Oct. 19. Light the Night is the society's nationwide evening walk to celebrate and commemorate lives touched by cancer.

Participants carry flickering red and white balloons along a 1- to 3-mile route in their communities, creating a breathtaking sight and spirit of fellowship among all who carry them. Cancer survivors hold white balloons, and all other participants carry red balloons. In northern New Jersey, 10 walks will take place, including Oct. 19, at Kean University in Union.

Artists making a difference are celebrated this month

By Bill VanSant Associate Editor What does it take to make a difference in the lives of others? When you're talking about two individuals dealing one-on-one, it could be a kind word, a helpful gesture, support in a time of need.

It takes dedication, commitment, vision, and a generosity of spirit that isn't limited to personal acquaintances. And when that difference is made through the arts, the accomplishment is even more laudable.

Do the person's endeavors stimulate economic growth in the community? Not every criterion had to be met in making the selections. The individuals selected represent a cross-section of artistic disciplines, as well as a cross-section of contributions to the community.

In celebration of National Arts and Humanities Month, we honor individuals in Union and Essex counties who, through their work in the arts, are making a difference in the lives of their respective communities.

Editor's note: In next week's edition, we will spotlight more Artists Making a Difference in their communities.

Artists Making a Difference. Lawrence Cappello, Margareta Paslaru, Mark Spina, Judy Wikitsch, Liz Zazzi.

Mixing of media and art forms offers rewards. Executive director Lawrence Cappello, originally a Rahway native, moved back to the city after living in other parts of the country for almost 20 years.

Diversification enables Paslaru to unite people. Margareta Paslaru, M.S. Producer, resides in Summit, N.J. "When we are young, we struggle to make a name for ourselves. Becoming mature, we must use that name in helping others."

Margareta Paslaru, left, shows her Telly Award to Alice Kolater, president of TV36 in Summit, the station for which Paslaru was honored.

David Roth will open Summit's 'Saturdays'

Second Saturdays Coffee House—the only venue for live music in Summit—will present pop/soul sensation David Roth at its first concert event this season.

The concert will take place Saturday in the Fellowship Hall of the Summit Unitarian Church at 4 Walden Ave., corner of Springfield Avenue, in Summit. Doors will open at 7:30 p.m. and the concert begins at 8 p.m. Admission is $12 and all net proceeds from this concert will be donated to the Keith Knost Special Needs Trust.

David Roth blends a dash of Dan Fogelberg, a pinch of David Letterman, a whosh of Will Rogers, and a touch of James Taylor-meets-Jerry Seinfeld in his highly original, sometimes hilarious and always thought-provoking, award-winning music. Recognized as an exceptional, charismatic performer, Roth has gained national attention for his unique song, moving stories and creative guitar artistry.

Since emerging as New York's "Kerouac" in 1987, Roth has been a two-time national anthem singer for the NBA's Michael Jordan era Bulls. He has often been cited for his entertaining stage presence and is a vocal singer and subject matter. In 1996, Roth was the headline act at New York's Falcon Ridge Folk Festival's "Most Wanted" showcase. In addition to singing "Earth" at the 40th anniversary of the United Nations in New York, Roth's "Rising in Love" was performed at the 100th anniversary of Carnegie Hall. "Mama Garcia" and "Sine Gold Medals" both appear in the international best-selling "Chicken Soup for the Soul" books by Jack Canfield and Mark Victor Hansen. Canfield says "David's music will reach you to the very depths of your soul. He'll make you laugh and cry, inspire you to rise and fly."

More information on Roth can be found at www.davidrothmusic.com.

Second Saturdays Coffee House takes place on the second Saturdays of each month, September through June. It is a series within a series. "80's concert" stage singers who are professional and touring but just yet nationally known. Three concert series are planned for this season: David Roth kicks off the season Saturday, the rock duo Daring and Wodley share the stage with folk duo Martha's Double on Oct. 10, and award-winning singer-songwriter Joan Prasad-Rao will close out the concert season April 10. All other months are reserved for "open mic."

All proceeds from Second Saturdays Coffee House will be donated to the Keith Knost Special Needs Trust. Knost is a former Summit resident who survived an automobile accident three years ago and is left paralyzed from the chest down.

Award-winning singer-songwriter David Roth will kick off the 2003-04 Second Saturdays Coffee House series in Summit on Saturday.

Liberty Hall picks pumpkins

There is a hidden treasure to be discovered in Union, across from Keam University. Liberty Hall Museum, a 23-acre National Historic site, which first opened to the public in May 2000, offers New Jersey families an opportunity to travel back in time.

Built in 1772 by New Jersey's first governor, William Livingston, this ancestral home was lived in by seven generations of his family until 1995. Referred to as a "house of history," a trip through Liberty Hall traces the growth and struggles of the nation from its earliest days right through the final days of the 20th century.

On the weekend of Oct. 25 and 26, a Pumpkin Patch family event will take place on the grounds of the historic mansion. Families can celebrate in a safe, family-friendly way. Highlights include pumpkin carving, scarecrow making, hayrides, and pony rides.

Integrated into the fun and games will be a focus on the rich history of the property that was continuously occupied from 1772-1995 and a large working farm until the mid-1950s.

Open for public tours, April to December, Wednesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Sundays from noon to 4 p.m., Liberty Hall can be reached at 1003 Morris Ave., directly across from Keam University. The phone number is 908-527-6000 and the Web site can be found at www.libertyhall.org.

Sun Tavern satisfies tastes

By Bill VanSant, Associate Editor

Whether it's burgers and beers with the boys or a family night out for pizza and pop, the Sun Tavern in Mountainside is the place to head. Conveniently located on the westbound side of Route 22, the Sun Tavern is a comfortable, family-friendly inn featuring a wealth of hearty fare, most notably a menu that boasts 18 different styles of pizza and a list of 24 extra toppings with which one can choose.

My dining companion and I started our meal with a half-rack of baby back ribs and a new menu item, the breaded and fried crab claws, accompanied by a Sam Adams and a Sierra Nevada, two of the more than half-dozen beers on tap. The ribs were perfectly cooked and accented by a delicious sauce, just spicy enough without being too hot or overpowering the succulence of the meat. The crab claws were equally tasty, with the meat chopped and mixed in a dough, which was then deep fried. Dipped in the sweet chili sauce accompanying the dish, this appetizer was a delightful change of pace from the usual mozzarella sticks and potato skins.

For our main course, we bypassed the regular menu and opted for choices from among the specials. My companion selected the T-bone steak, which he described as having excellent texture. "The flavor's what you would expect a good steak to have," he said. My choice was the broiled swordfish with a creamy ginger basil sauce, which perfectly complemented the moist flavor of the fish. Both meals were accompanied by a more-than-generous serving of sauteed vegetables which could have made a meal on their own.

While my companion was too stuffed for dessert, I selected a slice of the Health Bar Crunch ice cream pie, one of six such treats. Also featured on the dessert menu are sorbets, turrone, cheesecake and a popular brownie sundae.

The perfect destination for a relaxed good time with good food, the Sun Tavern is sure to satisfy every taste that visits.

The Sun Tavern is located at 1072 Route 22 west in Mountainside, with other locations in Union, Fanwood/Scotch Plains and Edison. The Mountainside restaurant can be reached at 908-233-1138.

County to travel through 'Four Centuries'

Over the course of one weekend, you can travel through 400 years of Union County's... and America's past as 22 historic sites open their doors during 'Four Centuries in a Weekend: A Journey Through Union County History.'

The annual free Heritage Festival will take place Oct. 18 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Oct. 19 from noon to 5 p.m. 'Union County proudly welcomes the many returning and first-time visitors to these historically significant house museums and sites,' said Deborah P. Scanlon, chairwoman of the Heritage Festival Board of Advisors.

Visitors may pick any or all of the five separate historic theme expeditions as a way to enjoy the sites of the Heritage Festival. Sightseers can select their favorite time period on the past and visit examples of it at their own pace.

'Grouping the sites into five historic themes that describe major changes in what is now Union County from colonial times until the early 1920s enhances the visitor's learning experiences as they learn and appreciate the rich history of the County,' said Bruce Alder, Executive Director, Bureau for the Cultural and Heritage Programs, Advisory Board.

Participants can select a cluster of sites to visit or mix and match from all 22 locations. The thematic clusters include the grand homes of the Early Artists; the settings for the dramatic Revolutionary Warline years; modest examples of hard-farm life; the successful undertakings of commerce and industry; and the grandeur and comfort of the Victorian Revivals and Suburbs.

Showcased during 'Four Centuries in a Weekend' are Lafayette and Farmstead and the Decretal Village of Felicity, a colonial park in Berkeley Heights. Dr. William Ransom Weaver's Museum in Clark, Cranford, Phillips House in Cranford, Belcher-Ogden Mansion and Boywood Hall State Historic Site in Elizabeth, Evergreen Cemetery and Woodcraft House in Union, New Mission in Hillside, Deacon Andrew Herford House in Mountaintop, the Salt Box Museum in New Providence, Drake House in Plainfield, Merchants and Drivers Tavern in Rahway, Abraham Clark House in Roselle, Roselle Park Museum in Roselle Park, Osborn Cannonball House in Scotch Plains, the Cannon Ball House in Springfield, Carter House, The Reeves-Red, Armstrong and Tom Maples in Summit, Caldwell Parsonage and Liberty Hall Museum in Union Township, and Miller-Corn House in Westfield. Artists Making a Difference

Cultivating new playwrights is a vital endeavor

By Bill VanSant
Associate Editor
Name: Mark Spina
Title: Artistic Director
The Theater Project, Union County College, Cranford
Resides: Essex Falls
Age: Undisclosed

Mark Spina, artistic director of The Theater Project at Union County College, reviews a script during the company's recent production of "Pierodactyls."

Every season, theaters are faced with the dilemma of selecting their plays.

However, while some theaters rely heavily on the classics and tried-and-true chestnuts, some theaters take chances on new titles or plays that aren't often produced.

Avoid then there are the theaters that go way out on the limb and present new works, giving audiences and playwrights alike the chance to experience something for the first time.

Mark Spina, the founder and artistic director of The Theater Project at Union County College, has taken this last concept one step further: In addition to its regular season of plays, the Project sponsors several initiatives that cultivate a new generation of playwrights, both young and not-so-young.

Last year, the Project sponsored its first competition for young playwrights in Union County schools. An initiative made possible by local playwright and author Bill Mesce.

"His sense was that unless we get people involved earlier, this is just going to be a dying art form," Spina said. "So he made a very generous donation to The Theater Project and he made it again this year so we can continue to do the work. So it's really this endowment that's made it possible for us to do the Young Playwrights Competition."

Local high school students submit scripts for review by the committee, and the honorees receive script-hand performances by professional actors, as well as a savings bond.

"It's not second competition this year," Spina said. "It's a new competition so it will take more time to get to the point of five years between one in this county known as the Project has heard of it."

It was very rewarding for us, he said, of last year's competition, and we hope it was encouraging for them to go on with their work."

The national one of last year's competition took place in March at the New Jersey State Theater in Newark. Spina and Mesce have also launched a Playwriting Workshop where adult playwrights can learn the craft of writing a play script.

Spina said that while the theater must be cultivated, and Spina's goal is to make the theater project a thriving one, it's not just about the art, but also about the community.

Waxstein, whose husband was late artist Tony Pierno, serves the community as the assistant director of Recreation and Cultural Affairs. A position she combines with her post as the director of the Pierno Gallery in the Baird Center to reach out into the community with art, music, education, puppets, and theater.

However, Waxstein goes above and beyond her official job description and has developed cultural outreach into the community.

Although Waxstein herself did not initiate all of the offerings to be found in and around the Baird, she serves as a driving force in promoting such events as Grants of Jazz, the Penny Puppet Theater, the many classes and classes of the Pierno Gallery, Arts in the Park, and such center companies as the Young Hudson Shakespeare Company, the Baird Theater, and the Baird's newest resident, Dreams at the Repertory Theater.

Waxstein, an original member of the Artists' Network, began her association with the Baird Center and the Community's Recreation Department as a teacher of art. This eventually translated to her helping to launch what was then the gallery of South Orange as a volunteer arts approach, nearly 20 years ago. And thus, in turn, led to her position with the Baird, a job she's held for five years.

Under her guidance, or with her participation, several programs have undergone considerable growth. The "Grants of Jazz," which was first presented this weekend at the

Healthy Living

Healthy teeth result from following tips

By Dr. Navin Bogg
Keep your family smiling. A smile is by the most eye-catching feature of a face. Good oral health and a nice smile can make you look and feel better and improve your self-confidence.

You and your family can have healthy teeth and gums for a lifetime. If you follow some of these guidelines:

Brushing and flossing: Brush at least twice a day using a soft toothbrush and fluoride toothpaste. Flossing daily is important to remove the plaque between the teeth that brushing may have missed.

Fluoride is your friend: Fluoride is the best cavity fighter for the whole family. The enamel, which is the outer protective layer of the tooth, is attacked every day by acid produced in the dental plaque. This can weaken the tooth and cause decay.

The best source of fluoride is drinking water. You can check with your water supply company if your drinking water has fluoride. It is especially important during the growth and development of a child. If the water doesn't have enough fluoride, you can get a prescription from your dentist for your children.

Snacking: Frequent snacking is the biggest enemy of your teeth. The more often you eat, the more acid your mouth produces. Healthy snacks like fruit, vegetables, cheese, yogurt, etc. are better snacks than cookies, candy and the like.

The dental check-up: Regular visits with the dentist are important. Start your regular check-ups at age 2. The dentist will educate you on how to maintain good oral health and prevent oral disease.

With the current advances there are many choices to improve your oral health and your smile and hence increase your self-confidence. For more information, contact your dentist.

TREATMENT FOR WHIPLASH

If you've had the unfortunate experience of whiplash, you should seek treatment immediately to avoid any dangerous consequences. The most common victim of whiplash is someone who's been in an automobile accident. The toll to the head is caused by collision and the effort to control it can have painful results. Other accidents can also cause whiplash, even stepping out of a car and turning an awkward cause a jolt to the head when you try to prevent yourself from falling.

The affected area is centered in the seven vertebrae in your neck. Assisted by muscles and ligaments that support your head and help control its movements—the whiplash motion may cause the vertebrae to pull-out of alignment, putting unusual pressure on the nerves attached to them. Along with the pain, there are other alarming symptoms, such as headaches, dizziness, nausea, and depression. Treatment to put the vertebrae in proper alignment may relieve the pressure causing these distressing symptoms.

Dr. Donald Antonelli, a chiropractor, is the creator of better health from the whiplash. Dr. Donald Antonelli, Chiropractor, Antonelli Family Chiropractic Center, 2515 Morris Ave., Union, NJ 07088, 908-684-7333.

Senior Care offers options for the elderly

Senior Care Activities Center offers caregivers of elderly individuals a structured, entertaining and safe environment with interesting social activities and companionship.

The center has three bright activity rooms and a caring staff, including two registered nurses and a social worker. There is a daily schedule of activities including creative crafts, exercising, table games, sing-alongs, outings, music parties for special occasions, reminiscing and, of course, bingo. Special activities are offered for individuals with dementia. Hot midday meals and nutritious snacks are served and door-to-door transportation is provided at no extra charge.

Senior Care also assists caregivers by providing a complimentary caregivers support group the first Monday of the month from 7 to 9 p.m. at the center. The next meetings will be Nov. 3 and Dec. 1 and all caregivers are invited to attend.

If you are caring for someone who should not be left alone during the day, feels lonely, isolated, depressed, or has moderate memory loss, why not enroll them in Senior Care and Activities Center? Not only will they have companionship and care throughout the day, but you, the caregiver, will be giving yourself the gift of peace of mind knowing your loved one is in a safe and stimulating environment while you work or take a much needed break from the stress of caregiving.

Located in Montclair at 46 Park St., Senior Care recently celebrated its 25th year of offering complete adult day care services for residents of Essex and Passaic counties. For more information or to arrange a tour of the center, call Fran Morais at Senior Care at 973-781-4440.

'Old' is new when bringing radio plays to the area's stages

By Bill VanSant
Associate Editor

Name: Liz Zazi
Title: Actress, director, educator, script adapter
Resides: Glen Ridge
Age: Undisclosed

When considering a career in acting, education is a key element. The aspiring thespian must learn the history of the art form and the tools of the craft.

However, it's equally important to educate an audience, to train faithful theatergoers that not all plays look the same.

Liz Zazi knows this very well. Zazi, a professional actress, also spends a fair amount of time educating, as a teacher, theater classes, as well as serving as the script adapter and director of radio plays on stage.

Zazi's work in this area has graced the stages of several of New Jersey's small professional theaters, starting at 12 Miles West Theater Company in Montclair, and continuing at the What Exit! Theater Company in Maplewood and the Theater Project at Union County College.

Drawing on the scripts of the Tux Radio Theater, most adapted from then-contemporary films, Zazi has crafted numerous "time machines," taking audiences back to the 1940s and into a radio studio, where period-costumed actors perform, script in hand, at a bank of microphones while a sound person creates all the necessary effects nearby.

Zazi finds excitement in broadening the scope of what theaters present and what audiences witness.

"In theater, you have to continually intrigue in a tiny space," she said, pointing out that such enchantment must be created without changing devices that mislead-going audiences have come to expect.

However, the stage has been competing with the screen since John Ford, and many plays even have a certain cinematic quality to them.

Playwrights being sought for Project's script development

There are still a few openings for the monthly playwright's workshop at The Theater Project, Union County College's professional theater company.

The workshop meets once a month in addition to a monthly script-in-hand public performance discussion of one of the plays in development. Organizers are particularly interested in writers who can contribute to the process of the other participating playwrights.

Playwrights interested in developing their work through readings and critiques by actors, directors and other writers should submit synopsis, self-addressed stamped envelopes with a cover letter including a brief summary of writing background to: Mark Spina, The Theater Project, Union County College, 1033 Springfield Ave., Cranford, 07016

"Can 21 communities come up with a plan to take care of these things as well as county parks?" she said. Renna said county government should not be eliminated but should be reigned in.

"There's a lot of services the county provides which municipalities can't," he said. Renna said there are lots of things in county government that could be taken over by municipalities through shared services.

"We could pass off certain functions the county does to municipalities," said Renna. As an example of shared services, Kline pointed to the Scotch Plains-Fanwood Board of Education.

"We're at the forefront of shared services and I'd like to see it at the county as well," said Kline. Hayes said New Jersey residents are being overgoverned and there should be a study conducted to determine which level of government is responsible.

"If we get rid of county government how many people would even realize it," said Hayes. "Some out-of-town people wouldn't even tell you what a freeholder does, so that tells you how effective county government is."

Some elected officials in the county's western region have said that county police are not a necessity. Instead of the county having an officer patrol a park, the municipality could have an extra police officer in its department who could patrol the park.

"I don't think it's a valuable use of a local officer's time," said Mirabella. "You take care of the neighborhood and we'll take care of the parks." Scanlon, a Union resident, is seeking her third term on the freeholder board, along with her two running mates.

Holmes, a Rahway resident, is a former police officer and owner of a security business. Mirabella, a Fanwood resident, is chairman of the county's Open Space, Recreation and Historic Preservation Trust, Fund Advisory Board and the Sept. 11 Memorial Committee.

Renna, a Cranford resident, works in the public information office at the county's Ramello's Specialized Hospital on Berkeley Heights. Binemer is a Westfield resident. This is his first time running for public office.

Today's drugs are much more dangerous. "It's dangerous," said Motoswo. "Nowadays there's a lot of mixture of drugs. Studies say that marijuana is a gateway drug." Gateway drugs, she said, lead to more serious drug abuse.

Democrat challenge judge's ruling in 22nd District race

Democratic attorney Angelo Genova suggested Begley's decision to allow Frank D'Amico, a Roselle council candidate who requested to withdraw from a local council race two years ago for family and employment reasons, after the 45-day deadline, was not different from replacing Senator with Salgia.

"I think the decision was very fair because voters would be deprived of a choice if the substitution had not been permitted," said Genova. "If Mr. Matusz was hoping the judge would not permit a substitution on the ballot, then he was looking for a coronation, not an election victory."

"We think that a very bad precedent was set last year that will continue to have repercussions in elections in New Jersey," said Matusz.

Matusz said that some of the wording in last year's ruling indicated that the Supreme Court thought that particular cases was an isolated incident and not likely to be repeated again.

"Here we are again later and it's occurred again and it will likely continue indefinitely as long as candidates find themselves with flawed candidates that are in jeopardy of losing," said Matusz.

North Jersey Tribune Staff Writer, David J. Pappalardo, is the author of this report.
