Ready for turkey day

By Rick Klittich Staff Writer

Colder mornings and darker nights mean winter is quickly approaching, but during the transitional period of color-changing leaves and additional brisk winds, the more obvious observation is that the holiday season is falling upon us.

For some, Thanksgiving means spending time with family and friends. For others, it means feasting on food cooked by grandparents. As for Mrs. Cladek's kindergarten class at Edward V. Walton School in Springfield, it means all of the above, and then some.

"I'm thankful for presents," said Brian Schramm, whose birthday falls just before the holiday. He also looks forward to eating turkey on Thanksgiving, as well.

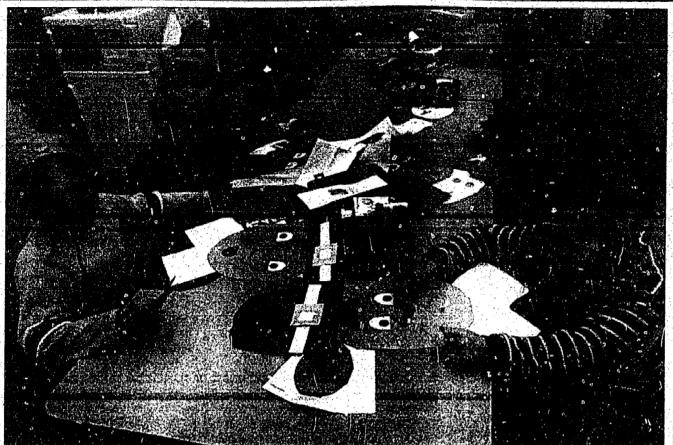

Giovanni Delmauro wasn't sure what he was doing for the holiday, but he was thankful for the same thing Brian was looking forward to: turkeys.

Sarah Adler, who will be going to her aunt's house for Thanksgiving, was thankful for a different reason altogether.

"I'm thankful for the wishing star," she said, explaining that it takes wishes from people. Recently, Sarah explained that she had seen about 100 wishing stars near her home and was thankful that they could be given out to others, as well.

Ahmad El-Daly, who also wasn't sure what he was doing Thursday. was certain about what he was thankful for.

"My bike," he said, "because it has a motor and it goes very fast." On Monday, the 5-year-olds were busy making their turkey books, filled with turkey facts and decorations. They had already made pilgrims, Native Americans and head dresses, and were eager to continue in their craftwork.

Several students emphasized ocean life as one of the things they are thankful for.

"I'm thankful for sharks," said Will Hodic, who didn't know where he would be on Thanksgiving.

Sam Sekyi-Williams, however, was thankful for more than just

"I'm thankful for three things,"

he said. "God, sharks and babies."

Although at first, sharks seemed to be the most popular sea creature during turkey day, several students countered with a counterpart that they are thankful for.

Greg Wolz and Michael Zacieracha, who are both going to their grandparents' houses, said that they are thankful for dolphins.

Other students, such as Molly Barnett and Rochelle Shvartsman, joined Schramm in thoughts of being thankful for presents, even if their birthdays are far away.

Some students were happy to

"I'm thankful for God," Hannah Williams said, adding that she'll be visiting her grandparents' house. Franklin Sun, however, was those closest to them. Whether they're thankful for sharks or dolphins, the holiday spirit has definitely gotten to them.

Grant gives gre rec opportuniti

By Rick Klittich Staff Writer

Springfield and Mountainside were recently awarded thousands of dollars in grants they applied for months ago, just a fraction of the nearly $1 million recently awarded to Union County municipalities through the Kids Recreation Trust Fund.

In Springfield, the funding from the $42,500 grant will go toward several improvements and alterations in various areas, including the installation of a fence at Chisolm Park, where the softball field is considered unsafe to those using the playground areas in the outfield.

Sy Mullman said that keeping upto-date with recreation equipment and improvements cannot be overlooked.

"It's extremely important," Mullman said of the grant money. "Every penny we can get, we try to get." Mullman added that the town's fields are always an issue during elections. and that with 10 fields, even $40,000 doesn't go too far.

The township will be matching the grant, however, also looking to install dugouts at Ruby Park to provide shelter and a more realistic baseball field atmosphere. Funding is also in place for a grass infield that would improve the condition of the land and alleviate maintenance of an already large field.

The Chisolm Community Center will also be provided equipment for quality programming for teenagers in town, and a wall structure will provide a quiet room for reading, music and youth group meetings.

Mayor Clara Harelik said that obtaining grant money is always a priority of the township, and that the money awarded will certainly improve recreation in the township.

The grant money is also going to be used to pay for services necessary to make improvements.

In Mountainside, a grant totalling more than $50,000 will also be matched on the local front; as the borough has four specific improvements in mind. A total of $30,000 is allocated to go toward an overlay paving of the existing tennis courts at Deerfield. School, which are more than three decades old and have major cracking throughout them. The money will be matched by the borough.

The Little League field at Deerfield will also be aligned in order to create new spacing for another field already in place at the school. According to Recreation Director Susan Winans, the realignment of the field will allow the other field to be in use during the evenings, when the sun would currently affect the sight of the players. Roughly $17,500 is being matched by the Little League organization for these improvements.

A space between Deerfield and Our Lady of Lourdes Church that recently had a public restroom installed will also become home to two batting cages, one for softball and one for baseball. The borough property's addition will cost about $15,000, to be matched on the local front.

The Police Athletic League will also contribute to the approximate $4,800 grant that will go toward two pitching machines that are to be placed in the batting cages. That money is also being used to add facemasks to 75 softball helmets, a required safety regulation.

"These grant programs have been fantastic," said Winans, noting the added safety the funds add for fields and equipment.

District hopes football goals stay within sight when co-op ends

Amid last summer's thoughts that the Springfield and Kenilworth co-op sports proprideful reason for many residents to gather and cheer each Saturday will not become a future impossibility.

According to Board of Education President Irwin Sablosky, certain athletic directors that compete in Springfield and Kenilworth's Mountain Valley Conference felt that the higher number of athletes involved could give those participating in a co-op program an advantage. While their initial thought was to vote the schools out of the conference before

A letter was recently sent to the NJSIAA that included an exit strategy, Sablosky said. Hopefully, Sablosky said, the district could begin to seriously start to look at a resurrection for Springfield football in the spring.

This would help the team develop and progress, Sablosky noted.

Sablosky hopes to move quickly and hear back from the NJSIAA by January. The exit plan, he says, should hold up.

'Sportscaster' plays w

By Rick Klittich Staff Writer

Seventeen-year-old Jonathan Dayton High School senior Zach Links has known what he's wanted to be when he grew up since he was much younger. Last year, he began taking every step he could in that direction.

"Ever since I can remember, I always wanted to be a sportscaster," said Links. "Last year, I heard about the Independent Study program and I pitched the idea."

When Links' idea to interview sports show and news personalities at the high school's television studio was approved, he wasted no time in contacting prospective interviewees.

Links said he contacted candidates through e-mail and explained his study, which, this year, has become his senior Gifted and Talented project.

The life-long New Jersey Nets fan explained to the candidates that all proceeds would go toward the Healing Heart Foundation in memory of two friends, David Nehmer and Jordan Fish, Springfield residents who died of Leukemia in their early teens. Proceeds would also go to various projects in memory of his late principal, Dennis McCarthy.

Links sent a letter to local businesses soliciting donations to have their names appear on the show's Taking two or three weeks to prepare for each show, Links said that most of the time was spent booking the guests. Outside of that, the research he did in order to compose questions certainly couldn't be considered work, he said.

"I do tons of research," he said, "and try to find anything I can about them. I try to ask them something different, something they wouldn't expect."

Jonathan Dayton High School senior Zach Links, right, is on the fast track to his dream job of interviewing sports show and news personalities at the high school's television studio for his senior Gifted and Talented project. Here he is with New Jersey Nets voice Ian Eagle.

Links did seven shows last year, including interviews with Nets playby-play voice Ian Eagle, Star-Ledger sports writer Brad Parks and New York Knicks legend Willis Reed. The independent producer even got ESPN's Tony Reali to join him in the

"He was a great guy," said Links, adding that he's glad he got his own show on the network.

Links will start his show again, titled "15 Minutes of Shame," again this December. The guest list is as expansive and prominent as ever. Besides Nets President Rod Thom and ESPN "Dream Job" Producer Carol Silver, Links expects ESPN personality and "Sportscenter" anchor Stuart Scott to join him in early December.

"He's very motivated and very excited about his work," said Barbara Trueger, head of the Gifted and Talented program at the high school. "He's an inspiration for those who have an idea for any career and want to pursue it."

Links said that most of his offers receive a positive response.

"I really feel lucky to get them on the show," he said.

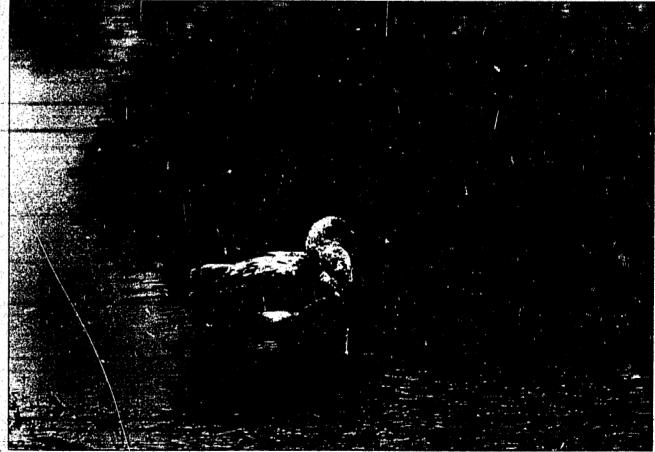

Links said that the best part is getting to know those he interviews for who they really are. "I get to know them outside the forum of what I already know them as," he said.

"I get to know them as people, as opposed to sports figures."

"What's beautiful is that he has taken this independent project and parlayed it into the Gifted and Talented project," Trueger said. "He just keeps raising his own bar."

While he doesn't know what college he'll be attending after this year, Links said they'll have to offer a chance for television or radio time, because he's ready.

A fresh start

In life, timing is everything. That couldn't be more true for Dick Codey these days. A longtime fixture in the state Legislature, Codey last week succeeded James McGreevey as chief executive of the state of New Jersey. Now acting governor for the next 14 months, Codey will remain president of the state Senate.

A state senator for more than two decades, Codey has worked outside the spotlight for many years, known virtually only in Essex County. The Democrat from West Orange served as co-president of the state Senate in 2002 before becoming the sole president of the upper house. Still, statewide, he remained a virtual unknown. That no longer-

The governorship of the state of New Jersey is one of themost powerful offices in the nation. Codev has much to do in his new position — first and foremost is to restore the public's faith in state government. Oh, and there's that projected $4 billion budget deficit next year.

While one man cannot change the cynical view of government these days, at the top of the to-do list for the new governor is ethics reform. Codev's predecessor did little more than lip service on the subject. In a state where many practices and appointments would raise eyebrows and spark the public's outrage elsewhere, reform is sorely needed.

Codey appears to be the right man, in the right place, at the right time. The Garden State badly needs principled leadership amid the ruins of the previous administration. Where McGreevey often was described as the typical politician driven by power and overriding ambition, Codey is known as a sincere and genuine public servant. That's one reason why many are hopeful that Codey is the right man, in the right place, at the right time for New Jersey. Regardless of whether he runs for governor next year, there's still plenty of time to embark on an agenda to clean the dirt from the walls of our State House.

Time of Thanksgiving

With summer long gone and winter fast approaching, we enter into the part of the year that has become known as the "holiday season." While December has Hanukkah, Christmas and New Year's Eve for us to look forward to, the season actually starts at the end of November with Thanksgiving. Often viewed as a four-day weekend, this is when stores begin their holiday sales events and shoppers flock to the markets to find the perfect gifts before they're all sold. However, before you get lost in the throes of commercialism and mass marketing, let's not forget the holiday we are celebrating, Thanksgiving is a time to literally "give thanks" to God for what we've been provided. The first Thanksgiving took place in 1621 when, after a hard and devastating first year in the New World, the Pilgrims reaped the bounty of a plentiful harvest and celebrated their first fall festival with neighboring Native Americans. They were thankful for the new world and the religious and social freedoms it provided them. This first Thanksgiving was also a time when differing cultures — the Pilgrims and Native Americans — came together in peace and harmony to share with one another their customs and ways of life.

The custom of celebrating Thanksgiving in the autumn after the harvest — a celebration dating back to the Greeks, Romans, Hebrews, Chinese and Egyptians — continued in America and, in 1817, New York adopted Thanksgiving as an annual holiday. In 1863, President Abraham Lincoln appointed a national day as Thanksgiving, usually designated as the fourth Thursday in November.

While the origins of a successful harvest have been reduced largely to ceremony, the holiday of Thanksgiving is still celebrated with enthusiasm and joy. The "bountiful harvest" has been replaced by success and good fortune for our family and friends; indeed, for our entire nation. But the bravery of these first European settlers in America and nation on which their efforts was built still ring true.

Most important is the sense of brotherhood and community that first Thanksgiving taught. In the melting pot that is today's United States, it's important to remember those first steps toward a larger culture and to continue trying to imitate them. Only by being open-minded can we hope to continue to bridge the differences of race and creed toward a better world. We wish all of our readers and advertisers a happy Thanksgiving.

"The most effective means of ensuring the government's accountability to the people is an aggressive, free, challenging, untrusting press."

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

That's right, we're the good guys

I am writing in response to Sylvia Zisman's recent letter to the editor. Ms. Zisman talks of the shift in voting patterns in New Jersey as if they took a huge leftward turn, but nothing could be further from the truth. New Jersey went to Al Gore by 16 percentage points in 2000, this year the president lost by 7 percent-

The fact that a councilman in Scotch Plains or the mayor of Springfield supports a peace campaign for nuclear disarmament is meaningless, especially when it is sponsored by the United Nations. Do these people believe that we unilaterally disarm? As long as our enemies possess these weapons, we need to have them as well.

A nuclear weapons free world is desirable by all, but it is not realistic. I for one don't trust Iran, Syria, China and North Korea to give up their weapons or their programs peacefully. Thanks to President Bush's aggressive fight against terrorists, at least one nation saw the light and gave up their weapons program. Libya knew this president meant business.

As for Ms. Zisman's wish that a Department of Peace become part of the cabinet, I submit that it already exists by the name of the Department of Defense. God knows Americans have been keeping the peace and standing up for the litthe guy since the birth of our nation. We are the United States, we are the greatest nation on Earth. In short, we are the good guys,

Dodgeball author speaks

Dodneball is everywhere these days. The sport's restirgence has spawned a video game, a cable television show and a major motion picture. Now there's a humorous middle-grade: children's novel that takes aim at dodgeball . "The Stupendous Dodgeball Fiasco" by former Springfield resident Janice Repka, Published by Dutton Children's Books in 2004. the new book has already garnered national attention and its popularity is Illustrated by award-vinning artist Glin Dibley, "The Stupendous Dodgeball Fiasco" uses the same fun style as his picture book "Don't I augh at Me" by Steven Seskin and Allen Shamblin. A Reading Rambow book, "The Stupendons Dodgeball Fiasco" has been named a Junior Library Guild Selec-

The main character is 11-year-old Phillip Stanislaw, who might be the only kid in the world who wants to run away from the circus. His dad is a clown and his mom is the Fat Lady, but all Phillip wants is to be normal. He finally gets the chance to live in a regular town. But Hardingtown is hardly normal at's the unofficial Dodgeball Capital of the World. Instead of dodging cream pies thrown by clowns. Phillip is ducking screamers thrown by Junior Dodgeball Champion and school bully, B.B. Tyson. He takes the bully to court to pay for his busted glasses - and winds up battling the entire town. Repka is a lawyer and currently resides in south central Pennsylvania

SPORTS

The Governor Livingston High School football team, sparked by the play of quarterback Andrew Trivella (No. 6) and lineman Adam Foti (No. 57), posted its first winning season since 1997 and won its first playoff game since 1989. The Highlanders (6-4) will finish at New Providence tomorrow morning at 11.

HIGHLANDERS FOOTBALL

NORTH CALDWELL - Although Governor Livingston came up short against defending champion West Essex, the Highlanders can hold their heads high after representing Berkeley Heights and all of Union County well despite falling to the Knights 33-7 in last Saturday's North Jersey, Section 2, Group 2 semifinals.

GL has clinched a winning season, its first since finishing 6-3 in 1997, and two weekends ago blanked visiting Morris Hills 28-0 to win its first playoff game since 1989 and only second overall.

GL, which fell at West Essex 23-18 in the 2002 quarterfinals, rebounded nicely from a 4-6 record of a year ago and should be applauded for coming within 48 minutes of playing for a state championship.

The Highlanders (6-4) are scheduled to play at New Providence (9-1) tomorrow morning at 11 in their annual Thanksgiving game. This will be the third straight year the two Mountain Valley Conference teams are play-

The game could be moved to Saturday because New Providence, winners of the MVC's Valley Division, reached the Central Jersey, Group 1 final against Florence. GL's last win on Thanksgiving was a 21-0 victory at Hillside in 1995, which clinched a 5-4 winning season that year. GL shouldn't feel too bad about not being able to stop the likes of running backs Larry Caprio, Joe Droz and David Caporizzo. After all, West Essex is 10-1 for a good reason. The Knights finished second to Mendham in the Hills Division of the Iron Hills Conference, falling at home to the Minutemen 7-0 on Nov. 6.

Mendham will play neighborhood rival West Morris in the North Group 3 final. West Essex will face neighborhood rival Caldwell in the North 2, Group 2 final.

Caldwell has a daunting task against the Knights. Since 2001, West Essex is now 10-1 in the North 2, Group 2 playoffs. Its only loss was to Johnson in the 2002 final. West Essex defeated Orange in the 2001 final and Rutherford in the 2003 title game

West Essex also won North 2, Group 3 in 1974 and North 2, Group 4 in 1980 and is the only football school in the state to win three different sectional championships.

West Essex has won four championships in football since the playoff era began in 1974, while GL is still after its first. GL reached the North 2, Group 2 final in 1989 after winning its first playoff game.

"We want to be like them," first-year GL head coach Terry Hanratty, said. "We want to be able to someday say that we're going for our third championship in four years.'

NORTH CALDWELL - Sometimes when you get certain playoff matchups it's proven beyond the shadow of a doubt that one of the teams simply does not belong.

That was not the case last Saturday at Travis Field. Although the Governor Livingston High School football team was eliminated from the North Jersey, Section 2, Group 2 playoffs by West Essex by a 33-7 score, the Highlanders were more than respectable in defeat.

West Essex used its size advantage with three backs doing most of the Still, there was a moment in the third quarter when GL caught the attention of the Knights. The Highlanders scored on a five-yard run by senior Chris Bergeski and an extra point kick by Sean Carmody to close to within 19-7. GL then tried an onsides kick that, for a moment, looked like the Highlanders might recover.

West Essex was able to corral the ball and then went on a touchdown drive to put the game out of reach. The Highlanders were sparked in the semifinal by the stellar play of standouts Andrew Trivella, Bergeski, Brian Arrigoni and Andrew Egan. They came to play and performed admirably against a team that is now in the section's championship game for the fourth consecutive season. "Our No. I goal was to win the state championship," Bergeski said

"We left it all out on the field and didn't quit." West Essex, sparked by the running of Larry Caprio, Joe Droz and David Caporizzo, scored in each quarter. Caprio rushed for a game-high 155 yards and scored one touchdown, Droz rushed for 151 yards and three scores and Caporizzo gained 79 and scored once. Arrigoni led all receivers with four catches for 51 yards. "When we were down 13-0 at the half I felt that we were able to do some things against their defense, but we couldn't make enough big plays," first-year GL head coach Terry Hanratty said. GL, which fell to 6-4, will close a

Both Dayton High School varsity soccer teams proved to be highly-compet tive this year as members of the Mountain Valley Conference. Both also did well to qualify for their Central Jersey, Group 1 playoffs.

All in all, it was a pretty good season for both squads The boys' finished 8-7-2 after going 1-1 in the sectional playoffs. Dayton, the 10th seed, ousted seventh-seeded Florence 1-0 in the first round on Nov. 2. Fred Vilasco scored the game's only goal off an assist from Ben Shabat some six minutes into the match. Standout goalkeeper David Sauerhoff made seven saves to post his fifth shutout of the season.

Dayton was eliminated in the quarterfinals at second-seeded Bound Brook by 1.3-0 score on Nov. 5. Sauerhoff was steady again, this time coming up with 12

Dayton, the fifth seed, also reached the quarterfinals last year, falling at fourth-seeded Metuchen, The Bulldogs finished 8-6 in 2003.

Bound Brook ended up winning the section this year by blanking Metuchen 1-0 in the championship match on Nov. 12 in Metuchen. Dayton began the season with a 3-1 home win over North Plainfield. In a win on Oct. 1. Assists went to Alex Chicoma and Kaliff Mohamad. After tying Governor Livingston 1-1 in Berkeley Heights on Oct. 5, Dayton defeated Manville 2-0 in Manville two days later. David Sauerhoff made eight saves for his second shutout.

Matt Sauerhoff scored and Dave Sauerhoff made six saves in a 6-0 home win over Johnson Oct. 12. Sauerhoff made nine saves in a 3-0 loss at GL in a firstround Union County Tournament game on Oct. 16. Dayton rebounded to beat visiting Oratory Prep 2-1 in overtime on Oct. 18.

A goal by Vilasco, his second of the game, off a feed from Marco Pannella three minutes into the second overtime ended it.

Tereschuk and Vilasco scored in a 4-0 win at Dayton on Oct. 26, Tereschuk had two goals in a 2-2 tie against Roselle Catholic on Oct. 28. The girls', who last year reached the section semis en route to a 13-5 finish snuck into the section this year as the sixth and final seed.

Dayton was defeated at third-seeded South River 4-0 in the quarterfinals on New Providence, the fourth seed, won at second-seeded Florence 2-0 in the championship game played on Nov. 11. The Bulldogs opened their season with a 3-1 win at North Plainfield. Senior Cristin Zavocki, who will attend Lafayette College on a women's basketball scholarship, scored two goals and assisted on a goal by Alexia Moriello. Zavocki scored four goals and Samantha Kennedy one in a 5-0 win against

The Highlanders enjoyed one of their finest seasons ever, finishing with an impressive 19-4 mark.

GL, which captured its second straight North Jersey, Section 2, Group 2 championship and then reached the Group 2 title match, also ended up winning the Mountain Valley Conference-Mountain Division crown.

GL won the Mountain Division with only one loss in the division to Roselle Park by a 3-2 score in Roselle Park back on Oct. 8. Roselle Park, which had the division lead until the end of the season, finished with three division losses after losing back-to-back-to-back matches to GL 3-2 in Berkeley Heights on Oct. 26, to Oak Knoll 3-2 at home on Oct. 28 and to Johnson 3-2 in Clark on Nov. 1.

Roselle Park, which had a 13-4 record as of No. 2, previously defeated Johnson 3-2 at home on Sept. 21 and Oak Knoll 3-1 in Summit on Oct. 5. This was Roselle Park's first year in the Mountain Division after the Panthers had won the Valley Division title many times in the past, including last year. The MVC was realigned once again this season after the conference had a third division - the Sky Division - the past two seasons. GL defeated Hanover Park 4-1, Chatham 4-1 and Summit 4-1 to win North

Located in the heart of the fighting during the Battle of Springfield on June 23, 1780, the house was hit by an American cannon ball which lodged in the wall and gave the house the name by which it has been known for many years. For those people interested in antiques, it can be argued that there is no petter place on earth to be than central New Jersey, conveniently located in such a way that many of the county's largest antique centers are all within an easy morning's drive. One such location is the beautiful town of Red Bank, New Jersey. In this idyllic water front community you will find countless shops, restaurants and cafe's to relax in and explore. The main draw, however, remains to be the abundance of truly special antique shops both large and small. This is a treasure hunter's paradise.

The centerpiece of the Red Bank antique market is aptly named "The Antique Center of Red Bank". Housed in what seems to be an enormous two story red barn, this continues to be the focal point of much attention for day-trippers visiting the area. In business now for over 36 years, this is the place to be if you want that certain something that's not to be found in any strip malls. In fact, you would have to go to garage sales from sun up to sun down for the next twenty years before you could begin to have the same sort of selection that they have here.

Can't find what you're looking for? The long time owner, Guy Johnson, can usually be found behind the counter and he is happy to assist any and all people in need. His ability and knowledge of the current antique market is amazing. It is obvious that he really enjoys his job. In fact, his success has also given him two more antique markets that are both just right across the street.

While many people, have gone through a phase of antique hunting in online auction sites, nothing will ever replace the joy and satisfaction of holding a treasured antique or collectible in your hands. The thriving antique markets of Red Bank are proof of this. We highly recommend spending an afternoon here, but remember to bring some extra money because you will surely find something that you can't live without, even if you plan on "just lookino".
