Results Of Survey On Meisel Field Ready Next Week

Football Field Takes Precedence Over Repairs To Track

Repairs to Meisel Field are expected to be undertaken shortly by the Regional Board of Education and the Union County Park Commission, according to a report by Lewis F. Fredericks, administrative assistant to Dr. Warren M. Davis, Regional Superintendent, given at the Regional Board meeting at Berkeley Heights Tuesday night.

Fredericks said that he had met with two members of the Park Commission at the field early this month to determine what repairs would best serve the needs of the board and the Park Commission.

He said that the Park Commission is presently a topographical survey and drawing at the field so that the board can estimate the amount of fill and topsoil required.

The survey results have been promised for early next week, Fredericks' report said.

Football Field First

Plans for repair of the football field, used for 24 years by Jonathan Dayton High School, are to take precedence over planned repairs to the track, he emphasized.

Fredericks reported that track repairs would be postponed for another year. He said that the Park Commission had provided curbing for placement along the inside edge of the track and had presented pre-lab curb drawings to the board.

Curbing for the outside edge of the track, he said, will not be available until spring. He said it was suggested that track repairs be postponed except for the inside curbing.

Fredericks reported that the board plans to raise the level of Meisel Ave. Field and confine it to a "waffle back" similar to the field at Clark and Berkeley Heights.

The improvements which will follow would be in part to an agreement between the Jonathan Dayton and the Park Commission, which will be made at the Tuesday meeting of the Park Commission. The meeting was postponed until next Tuesday, according to Dr. Davis.

Talks began Aug. 20.

Negotiations on the fate of Meisel Field were begun at the Aug. 20 meeting of the Park Commission, when it received a letter from the Regional Board, through the Springfield Township Committee, requesting a meeting with the commission to discuss the field.

Municipal officials, the Regional Board and the Township Committee, general superintendent and secretary of the commission met the following week. The commission was then notified of the desire of the Regional Board to "continue use of Meisel Field facility for certain school activities, as it has done for over 24 years."

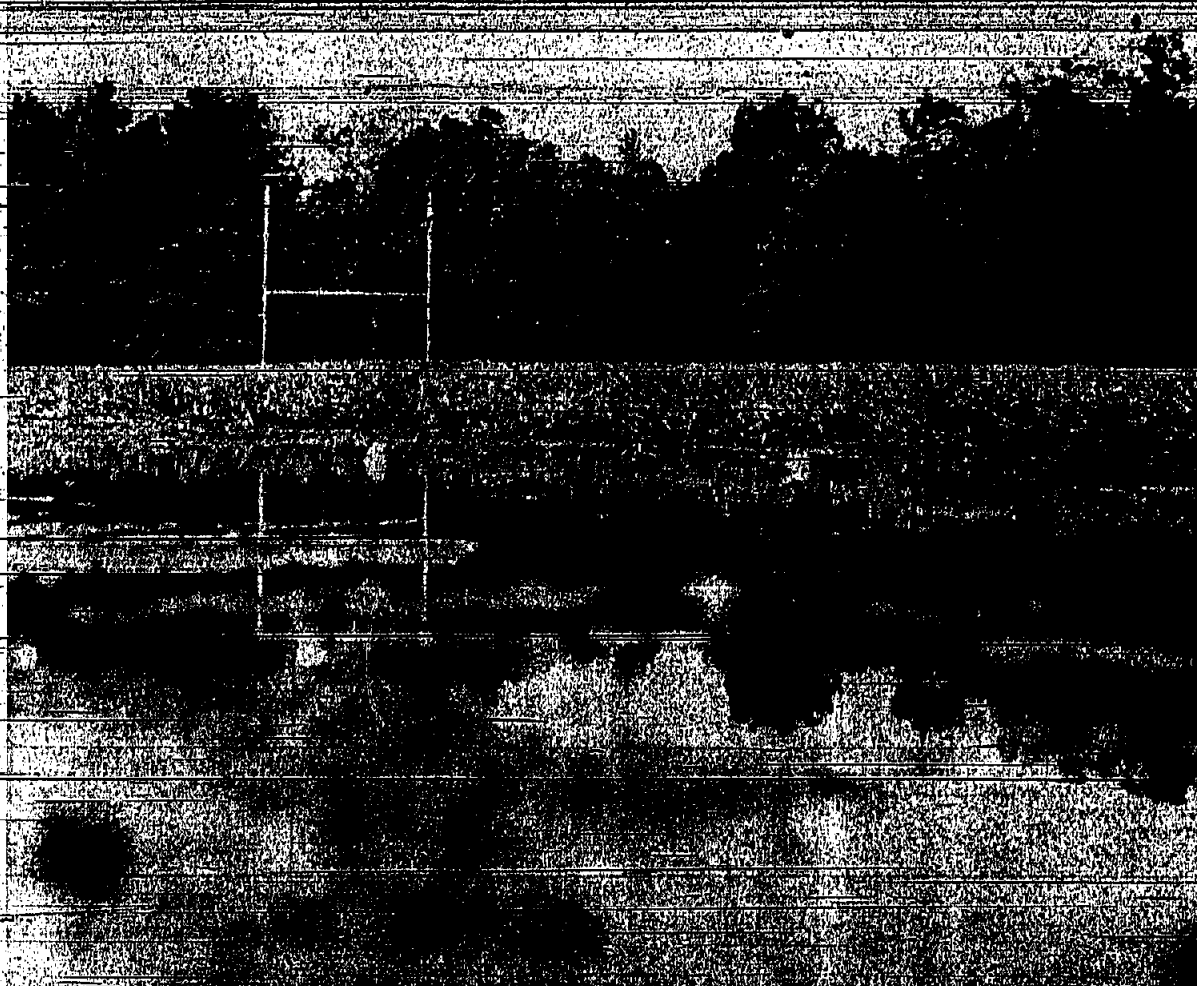

but no wise to ask for exclusive use of the facility.

COLLEGE YOUTH FINED $30 - ALONG WITH A THESIS!

A 22-year-old, Vailsburg student "majoring" in sociology at Seton Hall University in South Orange was ordered to write a thesis Tuesday night under rules of the honor system. He also was fined $30.

The student, Richard E. Rober of 340 Mount Vernon pl., Vailsburg, was unable to tell Springfield Magistrate Thomas A. Argyris in Municipal Court why he pulled loose a sign from in front of 811 Morris ave. He admitted to having a few drinks.

The magistrate imposed the honor system conduct and told the student he must contribute a paper on sociology within one month explaining what he did and why.

THE LONG HURDLE would seem to be indicated as a new event for the Jonathan Dayton High School track team. This "hurdle" was formed at the Meisel Ave. Field under track after this week's heavy rainfall. Lack of absorption indicates work to be done on drainage at the field. Decision on the revamp of the field is to be reached following meeting of the County Park Commission next Tuesday. Tentative repair plans for this year do not include improvement of the track. Pupil Load Down In Elementaries; Gaudineer Rises

While the overall enrollment in the Springfield Public Schools is almost 100 below that for the same period last year, Gaudineer School enrollment jumped from 714 pupils to 740 for the current semester, according to School Superintendent Benjamin F. Nowawanger.

In considering the superintendent's report Tuesday night, board members commented that all classes in Gaudineer were reaching the 30-pupil mark and some have already exceeded it. Total enrollment for the four elementary schools also has risen, as the school was reported at 3,127 as of Sept. 10, Nowawanger said.

In other business, Richard Weidner, board member, asked that the board request installation of sidewalks on Meisel ave. to facilitate walking to school. He said he had noticed that the sidewalks were not installed along the intersection of Meisel, Riverside and Linden aves.

It was explained that at the last meeting of the Springfield School Board and the Township Committee it was decided to change the pattern of youngsters walking to and from Gaudineer School. Board member Joseph Bender said that the decision was to eliminate crossing of youngsters at the intersection of Meisel, Riverside and Linden aves.

He said that the youngsters were to be directed to the new route, which he said is only one-tenth of a mile longer than that which leads to the three-way intersection. The new crossing was discussed on Page 3.

New TB Tests Start Soon For 4 Grades

Use of a new tuberculosis diagnostic test will begin in the Springfield public schools in late October, it was announced this week by Dr. Robert S. Milligan, township health officer.

Dr. Milligan said all children in grades 1, 5, 9 and 12 will receive the Stensette Test, previously the Mantoux test was given to the students. It will take three years to complete the testing of all the students in the school, with the same grades receiving the test next fall and the year after that.

The testing program, sponsored by the State Department of Education, will be held during the last two weeks of October, according to School Superintendent Benjamin F. Nowawanger.

Dr. Milligan said the Stensette test is accurate and is performed much faster. He said the child sees no needle as in the Mantoux test.

a multiple puncture stick enters the superficial layer of the skin on pressure. The reaction is read 48 to 72 hours later.

Dr. Milligan said all positive reactors will receive chest x-rays to determine whether the tuberculosis lesion is active or inactive.

According to Dr. Milligan students at St. James School will also be tested.

In discussing the other testing methods, Dr. Milligan said that in the Mantoux test, an x-ray following is necessary and that the Volmeter Patch test is less reliable and accurate.

In another health matter, the health officer said that the community-wide smallpox vaccination program is scheduled to get under way in February and that specific details will be announced at a later date.

Treated At Hospital After Auto Collision

John Rawlins Jr., 46, of 301 Morris ave., Springfield, was treated at Overlook Hospital in Summit after his car was in collision with one driven by Robert Peters, 30, of 547 Elmwood ave., Springfield, at Mountain and Tooker aves. police reported.

Police said the Rawlins car, traveling southbound on Mountain ave., struck the Peters car in the rear.

Hearing Tuesday At 8 P.M. On Gaudineer Referendum

The public will have a chance to be heard on the $850,000 referendum for the addition to the Gaudineer School at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the cafeteria of the school. Those interested may tour the building after the meeting. Brochures describing the proposed addition were mailed last week to a list of 4,800 by the Springfield Board of Education and were in the hands of registered voters last Thursday.

Board of Education Vice President John Gaudin, who is also coordinator of the project, said the board felt that the brochures should be in the hands of the public at least a week prior to the public hearing so they may be studied and the information digested before the hearing.

The proposal will be up for voter decision on Oct. 14. Voting places will be in the Caldwell, Gaudineer and Walton Schools from 8 to 9 p.m. on that date.

Asked to be approved will be monies to add 10 classrooms, an all-purpose room with stage to double as an auditorium and boys' gym, boys' locker room, school offices, a conference room and an instrument music room. The cafeteria would be expanded to allow more room at the lunch counter, and the girls' locker rooms would be enlarged.

The overall plans would add 34,000 square feet to the existing building and would include an elevator for handicapped children estimated to cost approximately $200,000, Gaudin said.

The School Board says that falling of the referendum would force the schools into double sessions, and has pointed out that Gaudineer, with an actual capacity of 625 students, is now operating with 729. The Board maintains that the need at Gaudineer by 1967 will be for the accommodation of some 900 pupils, counting those who will come from the "contingent" addition of those moving into the district.

If the referendum is approved the school is expected to be ready to accept its first class in September, 1968. This, it was pointed out, would eliminate the present six floating classes in the school and end the "several classrooms now being conducted simultaneously in the cafeteria area."

Gaudin advised at Tuesday's board meeting that preliminary plans had received the approval of the State Department of Education. The State made suggestions as to the layout of the school room, and the library and the cafeteria, questioning relating to certain cells and entrances in some rooms.

Gaudin said that an change would be made prior to the referendum and that final plans were not sent for approval until after a referendum was held.

Cost Estimate

The brochure estimates the cost of the addition to the Gaudineer School at 48 cents per $1,000 of assessed valuation. This means that the owner of a home valued at $15,000 would pay $7.50 during the "peak year" of 1965. Cost to homeowners in the $20,000 and $25,000 categories would be $9.00 and $12.00, respectively, the board says.

The cost to the taxpayer would be $1,000,000, it was pointed out.

PLANNED 100 UNITS Variance Denied For Rt. 22 Motel

The Board of Adjustment Tuesday night denied a variance application for the building of a $900,000 motel on Rt. 22. The application was denied because there was no special reason why it should be granted in a general industry zone, according to Robert C. Miller, board chairman.

The 100-unit motel was to have been operated by Holiday Inn, which runs a chain of motels. The motel would have been erected on approximately three acres of an 18-acre tract owned by the Lawrence Construction Co.

The two-story building of a contemporary architecture would be next to the Springfield Steak House, Edward Bowser, architect of the building, said the Steak House had agreed to allow motel patrons to enter the motel area through its property.

A lounge and coffee shop was also to be part of the motel which was to be of brick exterior and completely fireproof, according to Bowser. Plans called for a parking area for 180 cars.

Bowser said that Holiday Inn had taken a survey of the area and concluded that there was a need for another motel because of the growth of industry in the vicinity.

The land is currently zoned for general industry and Lawrence Construction asked for a special exception zone for the motel.

The variance was denied because it was not in the zoning ordinance. Miller said the variance was denied because it was not in the zoning ordinance.

OK Of Variance For Restaurant

The Zoning Board of Adjustment Tuesday night voted to recommend the granting of a variance to Panoske Kitchen, a proposed restaurant on Morris ave. After the hearing on the variance, the board recommended that the variance be granted.

The variance was granted because the restaurant would be a use permitted in the zoning ordinance. The board also recommended that the variance be granted because the restaurant would be a use permitted in the zoning ordinance.

The board also recommended that the variance be granted because the restaurant would be a use permitted in the zoning ordinance.

Bonadies Plan Abstain Again On Zoning Revision

When the Review Committee for Planning and Design of Buildings comes up for public hearing and final action last Tuesday, Bonadies Committee members plan to abstain again from voting on the amendment to the Zoning Ordinance on grounds that "this particular ordinance as set up does not go far enough." He said that if a committee is set up it should be a strong committee. He said that the provisions set forth in the amendment should be incorporated into a "hook-like" ordinance and should provide for penalties if the provisions are not carried out.

Bonadies said that he presented the fact that the Township Committee had submitted to the new Zoning Ordinance. He explained that he felt that the name "Architectural Board of Review" was the name by which the original proposal was put forth by the Township Committee, "at least gave builders some idea of what the committee's aims are."

Bonadies said that what he termed "subversion" in the professional architectural group's terms, undermines the concept that a "community knows best how it wants to govern itself."

If the amendment is passed Tuesday, the committee will be composed of three members of the Planning Board and two other township residents.

Mayor Falkin, who is chairman of the committee, is expected to be present at the hearing.

Town Bodies Ready Defense In Elks Suit

The Township Committee, Planning Board and Board of Adjustment will defend themselves against a suit brought in superior court by five residents of the Old Coach rd. area who are protesting a special exemption granted to the Springfield Order of Elks for maintenance of a clubhouse on Old Coach rd.

All the municipal boards were served Friday by Union County Sheriff Ralph Orsiccio. Attorney for the Elks Lodge, William Anneser said Tuesday that in his knowledge the Elks were named in the suit had not been served.

The Township Committee at its meeting next Tuesday is expected to name an attorney to defend the township, according to Township Attorney William Cawley.

Cawley said he did not know whether he would be asked to defend the action because of his membership in the Elks.

The Board of Adjustment Tuesday night drafted a letter to the Township Committee asking that the committee appoint an attorney to defend the board, according to Robert C. Miller, board chairman.

According to Donald Rotwein, chairman of the Planning Board, the matter has been turned over to Plan Board Attorney David Znav. All parties have 20 days to file a motion to vacate the suit.

The suit filed in Trenton by Don Divoni, a Newark attorney representing Mr. and Mrs. William Cawley.

Mrs. Keller adds, "Given those enthusiastic Swin Club members' interest in their reading, it is not surprising that the boys and girls who were awarded Certificates of Merit are listed by schools as follows: Gaudinier - Nancy La Sota, Laurie Feldman, Carla Lilien, Steven Reichman, Paul Dolshun, Sharon Neman, Barbara Schaffer, Kahl Yaege, Susan Schaffer, Susan Marrier, Nancy Millers, Nancy Ann Deano, Lorraine Cicconi, Maxine Younman, Karen Belliveau, Bonnie Baldwin, and Sherman, Robert Vaughan and Donna Fingerhut.

Police Chief Warns Motorists: Watch Out For School Buses

Police Chief William Selander has issued a reminder to motorists concerning safety precautions that must be observed during the school season.

15 Motorists Draw Fines For Speeding

Fifteen motorists were fined in Springfield Municipal Court Monday night by Magistrate Thomas A. Argyris for speeding.

The police chief was particularly concerned about the safety precautions that must be taken regarding school buses. He pointed out that children in the street who cannot think for themselves and must rely on the vigilance of the motorist...

The chief urged motorists to familiarize themselves with school bus laws, if they haven't already done so.

The regulations of the state Department of Law and Public Safety concerning school buses state that when a bus is stopped for picking up or discharging children on highways having roadways not divided by an island, each approaching or following the bus must stop at least 10 feet from it and remain stopped until children have reached a place of safety.

On highways having multiple roadways separated by safety islands, vehicles overtaking a school bus must reduce speed to not more than 10 miles per hour.

Whenever a school bus is stopped at the curb to receive or discharge children directly from or to a school which is located on the same side of the street, drivers will be permitted to pass the bus, but at a speed not to exceed 10 miles per hour.

Violations of these regulations may lead to heavy fines and license revocations.

Urges Residents To Take Part In Free Eye Exams

Township Health Officer Dr. Robert H. Milligan yesterday urged residents to take part in the free eye screening program being offered next week at three hospitals in the area.

The free service will be offered next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at Overlook Hospital in Summit from 2 to 3 p.m., Monday and Thursday at St. Elizabeth Hospital in Elizabeth.

Dr. Milligan said the examinations are offered to every person over 35 years of age not already under a physician's care for eye condition.

He added that the names of those persons who should receive additional examination and possible treatment are referred to the Eye Health Service of the State Commission for the Blind for disposition.

"A service of this kind," Dr. Milligan said, "is of great value. It would result in the saving of the sight of several persons through the detection and treatment of eye diseases."

The free eye screening program is sponsored by the Special Committee on Conservation of Vision of the N. J. Medical Society.

Rabbi Dresner Case To Be Heard Oct. 15 By Supreme Court

Final argument before the United States Supreme Court on the case of "Dresner vs. Talahassee" will be held on Oct. 15.

Rabbi Israel S. Dresner of Temple Shalom, Summit, is appealing the conviction on charges of unlawful assembly of eight ministers and two rabbis in Talahassee Court after their arrest in Talahassee, Fla., in June.

The rabbi said that he had received notice Friday from his lawyers, Tobias Simon and Edward Dickson, both of Miami, that the hearing date had been set.

He said he was informed that a period of six months might elapse before a decision on the matter might be reached.

The eight members of the clergy were arrested, convicted and fined on Oct. 10, 1962, on appeal of the case. Their arrests came after a Freedom Ride into the City of Talahassee.

The case was subsequently appealed through the higher courts of the State of Florida.

The board also approved purchase of $477.50 for the equipment. It also approved purchase of from 250 to 300 plastic raincoats for the bands, drum majorettes, etc. in all three high schools operated by the board at a cost of $2.25 per coat.

Elks Variance

(Continued from Page 1) Hans Gural of Old Coach rd., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bender of Baltusrol rd., Summit and Mrs. Harriet Wisner of Summit, who also owns a home in Old Coach rd., seeks a superior court review of testimony leading up to the July 23 approval of the special exemption use by the Township Committee.

Among other things, according to Cavley, the suit charges that the Board of Adjustment failed to give proper notice to interested parties and failed to make adequate findings of fact.

The Board of Adjustment has been charged with failure to publish notice of a July 2 hearing in which action was approved for recommendation to the Township Committee. The plaintiffs also maintain that recommendations did not include provisions for widening Old Coach rd., a parking layout or plans for fencing.

They also charge that the building's present septic tank is not adequate for the lodges 165 members and question whether inclusion of a club bar as an accessory use of the building is legal under the present zoning ordinance.

Plaintiffs maintain that the Planning and Zoning Boards acted improperly in recommending the special exemption use and that the Township Committee should not have approved it.

Youth Fined $40 As Disorderly

A 10-year-old Springfield youth was fined $40 in Municipal Court for disorderly conduct, including obscene language and was directed by Springfield Magistrate Thomas A. Argyris to appear at regular court sessions every Monday night for a month to observe the dispensation of law.

The youth, Margaret Shaw of 45 South St., pleaded guilty. He was charged with taking a car that belongs to Kenneth Bradley of Summit without the owner's consent.

Another 10-year-old youth, Benjamin Carlin of East Orange, was banished from the Garden of Eden on Rt. 22 for 10 days for disorderly conduct, including obscene language and was fined $40. He also was fined $40 for obscene language and disorderly conduct.

The court cleared the youth of a charge of reckless driving on the private property of the out-of-town establishment.

Set Daily Pick Up Of Dayton Trash

Residents in the neighborhood of the Jonathan Dayton High School in Springfield will be able to breathe easier through action initiated by the Regional Planning Board of Education.

Contracted with a garbage disposal problem that, according to Superintendent of Schools Dr. Walter M. Davis Jr., "constitutes a continuing hazard to the health and safety of our neighborhood," the board voted to contract with the Highway Division of the Westfield Township to pick up trash daily.

Dr. Davis explained that since the school has been limited to one garbage and trash pick-up per week, it became necessary to store many cans outside during the week, and to put 30 cans at a time out on the sidewalk to stink overnight. The company will charge $25 per month, with 16 in line with that paid at the other two schools in the district, Dr. Davis said.

Nerve Deafness Finally Explained

CHICAGO, SEPT. 19—For the first time anywhere, a booklet about the nation's No. 1 cause of hearing distress—nerve deafness—is being offered to the public free.

Until today little has been written about this painless, invisible condition which handicaps and isolates millions of persons of all ages. In a free booklet offered today by Bellone Hearing Service of 8 So. Broad St., Elizabeth, the facts about the cause of nerve deafness are explained.

How does nerve deafness interfere with hearing? What symptoms first warn you of this condition? Will surgery help, will a hearing aid help? Will anything help?

The booklet offered now to the public free of charge by Bellone Hearing Service explains why persons may hear but yet don't understand. Can this condition be corrected? Is there any help for the hearing distress—nerve deafness?

"The Inside Story of Nerve Deafness," Bellone's remarkable free booklet, tells you what you can do to end this embarrassing condition.

If you live in the neighborhood of 8 So. Broad St., Elizabeth, come in for your free copy. Or write to Bellone Hearing Service, Phone EL 3-7000.

LEADER PROFILE

THOMAS A. ARGYRIS

Springfield Magistrate Thomas A. Argyris is a man who smiles a lot but confesses an addiction to the brooding melancholy of Russian authors.

His favorite book is "Crime and Punishment" by Fyodor Dostoevsky.

He was born in Greece near the city of Delphi, where oracles once prophesied amidst the Hellenic splendor of the ancients.

With these facts in mind, it seemed logical to ask the magistrate what judgment he would have pronounced upon Socrates and Raskolnikov had that widely-removed pair of doom-fated philosophers appeared before his court.

Socrates, ancient gadfly of the social order who was sentenced to drink hemlock because he questioned the wisdom of the city fathers, would be acquitted, because "he encouraged people to think."

"Young people particularly must be encouraged to think," Argyris said. "They must be taught and made to think. That's why Socrates went from olive tree to olive tree teaching and asking questions—so that people would begin to think."

Argyris is particularly concerned with the welfare of young people, and he will draw the subject of youth into conversation whenever he can.

"In order to think, they must read," he adds. "Read, read, read."

The judge himself is an avid reader. In fact, he majored in English at college and would like to write some day—not a legal treatise but "something more human."

He would like to write fiction, he said. Asked whether his stories would have a moral, he replied: "With my background, the answer is, of course."

Raskolnikov would receive from Argyris a different judgment. Dostoevsky's brooding murderer would have been given "a very stiff sentence." Not a death sentence, Argyris says, but a "severe one nevertheless because of its deterrent value."

He feels that the real value of punishment is its deterrent effect on others who might otherwise commit similar crimes.

AS THE MILD-MANNERED magistrate sits in his judicial robes in Springfield Municipal Court Monday nights and during frequent afternoon sessions, his voice is soft, and his words are chosen to impose a moral tone upon the proceedings.

There is something of the teacher about him and something of the pastor as well.

He instructed the flock which sat before his judicial pupil on the opening court session of the fall term last week—the purpose of law enforcement: it is not for revenue, he said, but for the safety of the citizens and rehabilitation of the offender.

A lawyer who maintains private practice at his home at 49 Eldelston dr., Argyris was appointed Springfield magistrate by the Township Committee in January, 1960.

The court here has original jurisdiction over anything which happens within the township boundaries, he explained. Indelible offenses—arson, assault and battery, robbery, murder, rape and arson, for example—are referred to the Grand Jury after preliminary hearings here.

Municipal Court is concerned primarily with traffic cases. Laundry criminal cases are heard in the afternoon so that they do not prolong the normally crowded evening session, and cases involving young people of early driving age are held in closed session to protect the privacy of the youthful offenders. Cases which protect the public are also held behind closed doors.

That there are the many cases which are settled during private conferences with the judge and Court Clerk Eugene Donnelly and never come to court at all, Judge Argyris encourages people to settle their differences out of court whenever possible. Rites involving out of marital and neighborhood disputes seldom heard, he said, once court action has stiffened the hostility of the litigants.

"LET ME TELL YOU MY AIM," he said. "My aim is to help youth."

The needs of youth, he insisted, were more important than his own biographical details.

"Do you want to ask questions," he asked, "or shall I just talk?"

What would he like to talk about? He would like to talk about youth. There could be no doubt about his concern with this subject.

"Most offenders—both traffic and criminal," he said, "are youthful offenders. We should be concerned with prevention."

Francis Hopkinson — Lawyer, Artist, Musician, Poet, Patriot

and not as they applied to England and France. He began writing political satires in 1774 and by 1776 was in full swing as a revolutionary writer, especially at the time of the American Revolution.

Senator Case Reports

Last week the Senate Rules Committee by almost unanimous vote reported favorably a resolution to establish a Joint Committee on Organization of Congress.

The House has a rule of omniscience, but the Senate does not. A second resolution would permit standing committees to continue in session until the completion of the Senate's reporting hour.

Congress has long power and prestige because of what it does, not what it doesn't do. And the Senate Rules Committee action is a necessary first step toward helping Congress be equal to the tasks which are before us.

Report From Trenton

by State Senator Nelson F. Stamler (R-N.J.)

This is Constitution Week. On Sept. 17, 1787, our then distant country adopted its first document of principles which permitted it, and helped it, to grow into the world's most vigorous democracy.

The states who felt that the Constitution did not offer enough concrete guarantees against the erosion of individual and state rights.

How could the Founding Fathers, working in a cauldron of conflicting sectional interests so shortly after the lengthy and bloody Revolutionary War, have fashioned such a simple and enduring document?

From the very start the Constitution was a living document whose relevance depended on an alert and participating electorate.

The voters and the appropriate state were seen as an authorized check against a centralized federal authority which understood it could never be utilized beyond production and control.

The Constitution will not waver or be as long as we don't attempt to destroy it by the neglect of its responsibilities.

The organization and operation of each House of the Congress is under the jurisdiction of the Committee on Organization of Congress.

The Constitution should be revered by all of us, this week.

FRANCIS HOPKINSON of Bordenstown from a portrait owned by the Pennsylvania Historical Society.

When he published a volume, "Seven Songs" in 1788, it was said to be the first book of music published by an American composer. His last work, "Miscellaneous Essays and Occasional Writings," was published a year after his death.

Antique Shops With Individual Flavor

It readily explains the history of his various pieces of merchandise with a casually precise enunciation which enhances the character of the shop's offhand elegance.

MRS. RUTH HARRISON has been in business at 302 Morris Ave. for close to three years and has worked as an antique dealer for 25 years.

Nothing comes into the shop unless it is something that is not elsewhere. Mrs. Harrison's husband, Louis, was a salesman for General Foods, but in his business travels he would never regard the time of the antique's sale to particularly loved old books and his collection of them was so vast that the overflow had to be stored under the beds.

JOHN MENDELSON'S shop, 222 Maple Ave., is one of those buildings marked for demolition by the State Highway Department to make way for the construction of Rt. 78.

The building is particularly suitable for antique purposes, in that it is old and steeped in that priceless intangibility known as atmosphere.

WANTS NEW LAW Last week Peter Motzenbecker, son of a Newark policeman, was fined $205.00 for driving on the revoked list. This was his 24th motor vehicle violation and he is only 21 years old.

THE LENNARDS, 401 Morris Ave., also began as collectors. They have been in the antique business for 17 years—five of them at their present address.

They specialize in antique jewelry and decorative accessories. There is nothing casual about this shop. The most well-heeled of clients could find nothing amiss in the fastidiousness of its interior—even to the meticulous grooming of Mrs. Lennard.

COMMENTARY ON BIRMINGHAM

'Shame Of All Of Us -- America's Shame'

BY BILL DELANEY

We said it couldn't happen here. We thought that America was different from Germany, when unspesakable atrocities were committed against Jews, Poles, Czechs and others. Our governmental system would forbid it, and our people wouldn't tolerate it, we said.

That was when President John F. Kennedy was elected and other in Algeria with all the barbarity that has ever known. We said it couldn't happen here, but it's happening.

It's happening in Alabama, U. S. A. It's being done by Americans and against Americans under the protection of a "law" that would read "Nigger stay in your place, or else... This is a law that every black boy and girl has learned at the same time he or she learned what the word "nigger" meant.

West Point, Merchant Marine Examinations Slated By Sen. Case

Senator Clifford P. Case (R-N.J.) today announced plans to hold a Civil Service examination on Nov. 8, to assist him in selecting his nominees for the classes entering the United States Military and Merchant Marine Academies in 1964. There will be no vacancies available to Senator Case at the Naval and Air Force Academies in 1964. This examination is open to legal residents of the State of New Jersey. All persons desiring to take the examination should write Senator Case at Room 403, Senate Office Building, Washington 25, D. C., no later than Oct. 1.

Candidates for the U. S. Military and Merchant Marine Academies should be at least 17 years of age and must not have reached their 22nd birthday by July 1 of the calendar year in which they will enter one of the academies.

Senator Case plans to use the "Congressional Competitive" method to fill the one vacancy at the Military Academy in 1964; that is, four candidates will be designated for this vacancy. Their candidates will then compete for such vacancy with the order of merit being determined by the Academic Board of the Military Academy.

The State of New Jersey is allocated ten vacancies for the class entering the Merchant Marine Academy in 1964. Ten young men will be authorized by Senator Case as eligible to compete for the vacancies existing at this Academy.

Senator Case will furnish further information concerning the scope and the time and place of the examination to all applicants.

Tests Suspended By Draft Board

The Selective Service College qualifications "Test" used since 1957 in help local draft boards decide student deferment status has been suspended. The test will be offered for the first time school year.

The suspension of the test, usually given in April, was announced by Colonel Donald A. MacFarland, State Director of Selective Service, New Jersey.

The decision to suspend the test was reached by Director of Selective Service, Lt. General Lewis B. Hershey because of the small number of students who applied for the test in recent years, the State Director said.

The college deferment on the test was made a part of the student's official Selective Service local board file. The score was weighed by the local board along with other information in deciding whether to defer a student.

The testing program was instituted in 1951 after a study and report by a committee of educational leaders on the deferment of students.

Use Missile Site For Child Care, McDonough Asks

A plan to give selected children increased facilities and attention and at the same time "save a significant amount of money for New Jersey children" was advanced this week by Freeholder Peter J. McDonough of Plainfield. Based on an inspection of the abandoned missile facilities at Summit, McDonough suggested that portions of the area be used to care for children now awaiting attention.

The facilities consist of a low section now being converted for a civilian defense and disaster control headquarters and an upper section of dormitory, dining and administrative buildings previously used as living quarters for base officer and enlisted personnel.

"This latter area," McDonough said, "is composed of grassland and trees and sturdy buildings — an ideal environment for the treatment of the sick youngsters. The site could be easily adapted to care for the 200 Union County children presently awaiting admittance to our overcrowded state institutions." He stressed the fact that the area is centrally located — no more than ten miles from downtown Summit and extremely close to Runnels Hospital, the county hospital.

McDonough suggested that the State cannot care for adequately.

Sees Bond Issue As Aid To N.J. Colleges

Approval of Governor Hughes' $250 million bond issue would be a tremendous aid to the state's higher institutions of learning, General Assembly candidate Vincent J. Bonadies told the Union Democratic Club Monday night.

Speaking at the First State Bank of Union, the former mayor of Springfield noted that although New Jersey "has some of the finest colleges in the country," there aren't enough to accommodate the increasing flood of college applicants, who are forced to attend out-of-state colleges.

Bonadies said the Governor's bond issue would meet the needs of the state's higher educational system. He said although there are approximately 200 two-year community colleges in the United States, only one, Trenton Junior College, is located in New Jersey. Union Junior College in Cranford is privately supported.

Bonadies further stated that more New Jersey students are graduating from high school each year and an increasing rate want to go to college — 37.8 per cent last year.

He said colleges in the state are already filled beyond capacity and that the number of New Jersey young people seeking a full-time undergraduate education in 1970 will be more than twice the number of students enrolled in New Jersey colleges today.

Concert Rescheduled

The 50-piece Union County Symphony Orchestra, which was originally scheduled to perform last Tuesday at the RML in Washington Park, has been rescheduled to play next Tuesday at the same location. The inclement weather of the past Tuesday caused the postponement.

Two Passengers Injured In Crash

Two auto passengers were injured in a two-car right-angle collision last Thursday night at Manor dr. and Village rd. in Union, police reported.

One of the injured, Daniel J. Pyne, 19, of Chatham, was treated at Memorial General Hospital, Union, for cuts of the head, left eye and cheek, police said. The other, Mrs. Phyllis Jacobs, 38, of 27 Labyrinth Hills circle, Springfield, complained of pain in the back, but said she would see her own doctor.

According to police, Mrs. Jacobs was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Harold, 49, while the Chatham youth was riding in a car driven by Donald K. Sulzman, also 19, of Short Hills.

The Jacobs car, traveling northeast on Manor st., was struck on the side by the Sulzman car, traveling northwest on Village rd., police said, and then struck again on the front as it spun around.

Government Agrees To Land Sale Delay

Freeholder Mary C. Kanane said yesterday that the Federal government has agreed to delay the sale of a 6.20 acre tract in Berkeley Heights which formerly was used as a Nike base.

Mrs. Kanane, who is running for re-election, said the government announced it would extend the time required to submit a plan for the use of the property, until Nov. 1.

She noted that the Union County Park Commission and the Union County Regional School District both have indicated interest in securing the tract.

New Jersey's Sportsmen Begin To Hit The Indian Summer Trail

Fishermen, golfers, football and racing fans will soon begin to hit the Indian summer trails of the Garden State, according to officials of the state department of Conservation and Economic Development.

Fishing, a year around sport in New Jersey, reaches its peak activity during the fall months when crisp air, and long days are shared along the shore from Sandy Hook to Cape May. Assuredly Park's striped bass tournament continues through Dec. 31, as do the contests held by Lawrence and Trenton. Many anglers head for the state's inland waters through Dec. 31. Atlantic City, Ocean City and Tuckerton through November, and the Long Beach Island striped bass derby through Dec. 31 and continues through Feb. 7.

The golfers will be searching in tournaments at Mike Laundry, Monday and at Wildwood, Tuesday through Oct. 1.

The racetracks at Atlantic City, the City Race Course continues through Oct. 1 and is followed by the fall season at Garden State Park beginning Oct. 1 and continuing through Nov. 6.

Later in the season, football, which was unimpressive in New Jersey, gets back in the sports headlines as Rutgers meets UConn and the quadrennial meeting at East Orange and Montclair State. Rutgers faces Delaware Valley at Montclair. The bigger schools begin next Saturday with the traditional Rutgers-Princeton game at Princeton. Princeton tackles Pennsylvania at Palmer Stadium on Oct. 12 and faces Colgate there on Oct. 19, while Rutgers will battle the English at New Brunswick. Cornell and Princeton range at Princeton on Oct. 26.

Soccer has been adopted with some enthusiasm in New Jersey, and the current season's kick-off will be Sept. 28, when Fairleigh-Dickinson meets Westchester State College at Teaneck. The Oct. 2 schedule has Montclair meeting St. Peter's at Montclair; Drew vs. New Paltz at Madison; Glassboro vs. Monmouth at Glassboro. Glassboro meets Rutgers at New Brunswick and Montclair meets Seton Hall at South Orange on Oct. 6.

Regional's Soccer Team Opens Against Jefferson

The Dayton Regional High School soccer team will start the ball rolling Friday afternoon when they meet Jefferson in an away game, regional coach John Paltz, who admits that this year's squad is better than last year's, was still reluctant to make any predictions about the outcome of the opening day match.

"Jefferson is always a strong team and I will not comment on the final score," he said.

Paltz, who has put the Dayton booters through a few intrasquad scrimmages, has kept the boys working on fundamentals. "This is where we were weak last year. This season the boys will know the game when they walk out onto the field," the coach commented.

The coach says he's satisfied with the work of the players thus far, and believes that the greatest asset the Bulldogs will have this year is depth.

The team, which has excellent balance, according to the mentor will depend a lot on defense. Paltz acknowledged that although he has been stressing defense throughout the practice sessions, there are more than a few boys who will hold their own in the scoring column.

The team will miss Dave McMillan for the first two weeks of the season. McMillan, who is

He will take the guard position for Missouri Valley when they face the Junior College of Japan.

The question that naturally came up was, "since most of the boys had defensive experience, why do you consider the defense a weak point?" Palmer went on to say that the returns are close, a fine job, but they are concentrated mainly in the backfield and the end slots. "It is at the tackle positions where we are weak," he said.

"In the latest scrimmish, the boys allowed only one pass to be completed, and that was a mistake on a split end play," the mentor stated. Believing he has a good pass defense, and could possibly contain the opposition from moving around the ends, Palmer is looking for "more aggressive tackles."

He'd like to keep the sophomore class intact, and play them as the junior varsity, but "I am going to take a good long look at the group before the season begins and if I find anyone that can hit and hit hard, I will have to bring him up to the varsity," Palmer stated.

The coach says that he may have expected a little too much from the boys in the beginning, but he is sure that they will come up to expectations by the end of the year. "They are a good group of boys, smart, hustlers and they have the right attitude," Palmer continued.

"Some of the boys have adjusted very well to their new school, roles and they have made it possible for us to be somewhat of an offensive threat," the coach continued. Frank Monticello and Drew Westman have looked good in the pre-season games and Palmer is depending on these boys to monitor most of the running attack. "Our passing has been poor so far. We don't really have a man in our attack who can throw the ball. The only thing which might help in balancing our attack is to bring Monticello back from the long-term injury. Frank is going to do the heavy lifting in the mentor said. He has an impressive beginning of the practice season, but it will be a while before he is able to shoulder the passing load, according to Palmer. "We must also work on pass protection. Westman and Monticello are a couple of good blocking backs and they will be a help to the quarterback, but once again, that line must be bolstered," the coach stated.

"In the pre-season games we have been moving the ball well on offense, but our defense is in need of experience, actual game experience," said Palmer. "The beginning of practice saw Palmer planning a club which would rely heavily on the defensive prowess of the team. He claimed that a good deal of the Bulldogs scores would come as

MARION LADEWIG "rather odd-ball position"

By MARION LADEWIG Brunwick Advisory Star

In the interest of accuracy, I don't throw a big hook. I find I get a little more speed with a comparatively straight ball than I do with a pronounced hook. The ball must come in those pins to the 5, or King pin, for consistency.

To bring the ball into the pocket at the right angle, I set myself well on the right side of the approach before beginning a four-step delivery.

I wind up in a rather odd-ball position. I'm much farther to the right than most bowlers. To the 1-2 pocket, and through

Sports Spotlight

World Series time is closing in quickly and pitchers are running as the Dodgers and Cardinals hope to win a victory over the New York Yankees.

Old hands at this sort of thing, the Yankees, always logical and businesslike, realize that more ink can be used if Dodger rooters are watching from Chavez Ravine's 56,000 seats than if 30,000 fans buy their way into the stadium.

The Bronx Bombers, career men at playing in the Series, will bring super stars, second team regulars, and a slick fielding, highly versatile and much confused third baseman through the remainder of the regular season.

The case in point is: Should Yankee Cleve Boyer look to the back or for brother Ken? The which takes place when the two opposing lines meet, and more and more we are becoming aware of the value of good defensive play.

But what about those block-in-backs who make the long gains possible by taking out the secondary? The blocking of the backfield is one of the most vital weapons in protecting the passer, and also allowing the receiver to move with the ball once a pass is completed.

It does not take long for a professional to rid himself of the football as it does for the high school quarterback to spot a receiver, cock his arm and then pass the ball. The high school player also does not have the advantage of a line that can ward off the defense for any duration of time. This leaves a great deal of protection up to the backfield "men" and "movers" who find a good passing team you will find some good "blocking backs."

A high team which works the majority of its plays to the outside is dependent on the ability of the backfield to pay the way. Scorers are heralded and speed is considered by some the greatest asset a back can have. But it takes 11 men doing 11 different jobs to make a winning ball team. So next time you're watching a football game, watch the backfield do their jobs. You will see it entails a lot more than carrying the football.

Garden State Slaters Industrial Bowlers

A four-man industrial bowling league will get under way Wednesday at 4 p.m. at Garden State Bowl. The league is particularly designed for brewers, bakers, milkmen and others who are through working early in the afternoon.

The league will operate on an 80 per cent handicap basis. Details of registration are available at the Garden State office.

Time To Register For Grid Contest

Registration is now on for local boys aged seven to 11 to test their football skills against thousands of other youngsters throughout the country in the annual "Fun, Fun and Kick" contest. Deadline for entering the contest is Oct. 11.

Boys may register any day but Sunday at Brown Ford, Inc., 2637 Morris Ave., co-sponsor of the local contest with the Union Midlet Football team. Every boy who enters will receive a prize. New York Giant football game, and the state winner will receive a trip to Washington.

The annual business in the United States based on the hunting of waterfowl is estimated to be about $100,000,000, according to the Book of Knowledge. In a recent open season in the United States, over 2,000,000 hunters shot about 20,000,000 ducks and geese.

Professional football and some of the college teams around the country play a pretty wide open type of football. The threat of the forward pass dominates the gridiron today. That being the case, the average football fan is likely to overlook the work of the offensive lineman. And, playing under a still larger shadow than the forward wall are the blocking backs.

It is only natural for the fan to keep his eye on the pilekin from the time of the center snap until the play is completed. This means that all eyes are focused on the quarterback "from the beginning of a play until he hands the ball off, leaves it or winds up eating it. ASK AMY... by Amy Adams

Dear Amy: Our neighbor is continually borrowing from us and we can't put a stop to it. In the past we have spent more than 20 dollars supplying her with odd things, and she has even gone as far as borrowing word from us just in the past, but lately she just comes back and back for more and more. Just what can we do?

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Mad: There is no one more annoying than a borrowing neighbor who doesn't know when to stop. Make up your mind once and for all to get rid of the (let by consistently saying "No" (and don't weaken) or she'll put the bite on you again.

Dear Amy: I'm engaged to a man 24 years old. We have no problems except one: his mother and mine. His mother will have nothing to do with me. I've seen her twice in the past four years that I've been going with Steve. (which isn't his real name). She can't get used to me because I'm taking away her son. This doesn't bother him. He says he'll marry whether she likes it or not. My mother refuses me her permission because I'll be marrying out of my religion.

Amy, I want to marry this man more than anything. He plans to be married next summer. I'll be almost 31. Is there any way I can change my mother's mind? We have gotten into so many fights. She likes Steve very much, but can't see me marrying into the Catholic Church. I'm not changing my religion, but I don't want to raise our children his way. He is a first church goer. I'm not. Can you please help me?

Doris (which isn't my real name)
Dear Doris:
Family and religious opposition can be pretty rough for a young couple who wish to marry. Newly-weds have enough problems to face with out serious ones such as yours. Many marriages end up on the rocks due to the problems you will have to cope with. If the same took many are successful. I urge you both to visit a marriage counselor for professional advice. You both need to know what you are letting yourselves in for if your marriage becomes a reality and if it is to be a happy one.

Dear Amy: I am fairly well liked on my street and I decided to start a club with my girlfriends. I had entered a contest, and with the help of these friends, I won five dollars. My friends said that some of the money belonged to the club and I put the whole five dollars in the treasury. They were decided to put on a show, I sold quite a few tickets. Again the money went into the treasury. One of the girls started to boss the rest of us around and look over the club. When I tried to over-rule her, she had me thrown out of the club and I didn't get any of my money back. I'm only 12 and I would like to know what can I do? Lonely

Dear Lonely: All these unpleasant things could have been avoided if you had been an adult sponsor in the club to oversee the activities and the girls' behavior. These kinds of clubs are never very rewarding or successful without an adult to see that everything runs smoothly. Elect a man and get back into the swing of things.

Dear Amy: I have a three-ring circus going on in my house. My children and I are in confusion. On Saturdays when the children are home from school, it's dangerous with cars pulling in and out of her driveway. She also has money for every-thing including a Cadillac and for these things and would rather eat my money honestly. If I work for someone, I must pay every penny of my income tax, while she knows it and what these basement beauticians pay. I agree with your answer, Amy, that "Tax Weary" should report her neighbor anything else is un-American. I think the Internal Revenue Bureau should get after these people who are cheating. Thank you, "Tax Weary" for writing your letter and have had this on my mind a long time and feel exactly as you do.

A Real American

Dear Amy: I'm 28 years old and have been dating for about ten years. My parents are quite concerned about my not being single. I just can't seem to find the right man. Perhaps I feel that the men I've met are not good enough for me. What am I supposed to do? My mother is the only one who comes along just to satisfy my parents' Still A Miss.

Dear Miss: You must satisfy yourself. The girl who thinks no man is good enough for her may be right, but she is more often left!

Dear Amy: In your honest opinion do you see anything wrong in a woman wanting to have her ears pierced? I've been wanting to have mine pierced for years. And now that it's all the rage, I want to avoid more so. But my husband, the old fuddy-duddy, won't let me.

Every time I bring it up, he shuts me up. I would have it done without his OK, but I couldn't take the fireworks. He's got some temper! Any suggestions?

All Ears!

Dear Ears: I don't know what all the fuss is about. If it means that much to you, go ahead and have them pierced. They're your ears! And if your husband is like most, he'll never notice these pinholes unless you tell him.

Dear Amy: This letter is written in answer to a letter recently in your column and signed "Tax Weary." I wholeheartedly agree with "Tax Weary's" letter as we have a similar problem.

We have a woman running a beauty shop for over five years in her basement. I do not know whether she is registered with the State Board or not, however; I do know a beauty shop is not allowed in a zoned residential neighborhood. It must be zoned commercial for a business. We also, as does "Tax Weary," have

State To Paint Yellow Lines On Highways

The New Jersey Highway Department last week began adding reflective yellow lines to the long list of safety features incorporated in its 1960-mi. State Highway System.

The lines will be limited to passing or crossing traffic lanes where the yellow lines are also used in portions of interchange areas.

The outer edge white lines on all its highways, a New Jersey law saving thousands of dollars' worth of paint, are not considered a "barrier" line. Neither are the broken (skip) lines located between traffic lanes of the same direction and in the center of some two-lane highways.

These lines will remain white.

According to a Highway Department spokesman, replacement of all existing white "barrier" lines with yellow has been recommended as a nationwide practice by the American Association of State Highway Officials in the interest of both safety and standardization.

The Department spokesman said the replacement program in New Jersey would be carried out as part of its continuing traffic line maintenance program and that the entire job—about 1,180 miles of "barrier" lines—should be completed within one year.

Until recently, New Jersey law did not permit use of yellow painted traffic lines. New legislation, now a part of New Jersey's highway program, required to permit the practice.

The line-painting change marks another step in the Department's continuing program to make New Jersey highways safer for a volume of traffic which is one of the highest in the nation. Vehicle miles traveled on New Jersey highways is expected to hit the 20 billion this year, double to 40 billion by 1983 and to double to 120 billion by 2000.

Other projects in the safety program have brought about the construction of more than 104 miles of concrete interchanges along that, where built, have virtually eliminated head-on collisions on colliding "creep" lanes, which are extra lanes built between highways when construction is under way to allow moving vehicles at 35 mph.

More than 200 highway bridges have been reconstructed at intersections and crossing points to give left and "U" turn traffic safe means of execution without holding up traffic. Another safety feature, interchanges, have been constructed at 200 locations to eliminate cross-traffic danger and delay.

Additional safety measures which have been affected on those sections of the highway system where truck traffic is particularly heavy.

Start Of School Reminder Issued By Safety Council

The New Jersey State Safety Council this week reminded drivers and parents that approximately 800,000 of the state and a third million youngsters returning to school this month will be from 5 to 14 years old—the age group that ranks second in pedestrian deaths in New Jersey and exceeded only by the age group 70 years and older.

Chief cause of the child pedestrian deaths and injuries, the Council pointed out, is the lack of importance given to crossing in mid-block, attempting to cross a roadway from between parked cars, and playing in roadways.

The toll of 28 pedestrian deaths and 8,701 injuries of youngsters in the 5-14 years age group on the state's streets last year calls for "precautions by drivers, the Council emphasized, particularly when children are on the way to and from school, and also for extra reminders of traffic dangers by parents.

The Council also called attention to need for observance of school bus regulations by drivers. When school buses are required daily to transport about 25 per cent of the one and a third million pupils to and from school, this calls for strict observance of school bus regulations, the Council reminded drivers.

ALL ABOUT BABIES

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

WHAT'S IN A NAME

By ELSDON C. SMITH
Author, "Name Your Baby"
Chilton Publishing Co.

Is the naming of a child's name important? Should you include careful consideration of the meaning of a name when choosing one for the new arrival?

The overwhelming majority of our common names are of Latin, Greek, Hebrew or Teutonic derivation. All of these names have a definite meaning, though for people who know what these are, the meanings are pleasant, some are rather general and a few are questionable. Is the child likely to give any attention to the meaning of his name and be influenced by it through life? That the child may be affected by his name is indicated by the emphasis placed on suitable Christian names by the Catholic Church.

If a child has a name with an unpleasant or questionable meaning, it is better to change it early in life. Children are wont to do, these things. The Hebrew name "Eli" means "An inspiring name".

Many names have just "favorable" meanings because of their pleasant sound. Some names suggest unpleasantness because they tend to bring to mind a word which is not inspiring. For example, "Doris" means "sweet" and makes some people think of the word "dull" with which some people of the attitude "Doris" is associated.

Most of our popular given names today do not have meanings which would make them inappropriate. The Teutonic names, for example, consist usually of two elements with little or no relation between them, and tend to emphasize warlike terms. For example, William, which has the dual meaning "resolute" and "helmet", and Robert, which means "fame" and "bright".

Hebrew names have a religious connotation and often relate to God. Elizabeth which means "God of God". The Latin and Greek names

DANCE CENTRE NOW OPEN IN NEW LOCATION

The Dance Centre, under the direction of Miss Cathy Mazickien, started its dance season this week. The studio, formerly located at 1186 Clinton ave., is now at 1054 Clinton ave., Irvington Center.

For the past three years Miss Mazickien has been in full charge of all activities at the studio. She currently is studying at the Ballet Repertory in New York City, as she has done for the past four years. She attended "Dance Caravan" in New York each summer to bring new material to the school. Eugene "Laird" Louis, of the Showense Studios instructs her in modern jazz.

In addition to managing her own studio, Miss Mazickien is teaching many phases of dance at Our Lady of the Valley H.S. ballet at the Hartshorn School in Short Hills and will be conducting Slim and Trim Exercises in the Millburn High Artful School this fall. She has done choreography work, not only for studio performances, but in the field of musicals for theater groups.

"Miss Cathy" as her pupils know her, has been an Irvington resident most of her life.

Musical Group Slates Rehearsal

Two members of the group are Robert G. Brown of 288 Hudson st. and Mrs. Rose Feldman 709 Suburban rd.

For information, contact Albert Paul at ESsex 3-0305 or Mrs. Mary Louise Dagnall, at ORange 5-0772.

ALLOWANCE OR SPENDING MONEY

"Hey Dad, I need some money!" That's a familiar cry, particularly now that the youngsters are back in school. This is a good time to take a look at the money your children receive. Do they get an allowance or is it just spending money, if the children receive money just to spend on pleasures, it is not the same as an allowance to teach them about money.

To be effective in teaching values and money management, an allowance must be received regularly. The amount of money the child receives includes some of the child's necessary expenses as well as some money over and above the necessities to spend for pleasures.

A good way to decide on the amount of the allowance is to figure out what is spent on the child. Money is spent for such items as clothes, lunches, bus fare, insurance, and club dues. This money will be spent on

SHOW HIM TO BROADCASTING

On The Air And In Classroom,
Ron Learns To Be Disc Jockey

BY BILL PFEFFER
What does today's young man do when he sets his sights on becoming a disc jockey? He goes to school and leaves the business, naturally.
That's what Ron Barry, otherwise known as Ronald B. Klugman of 334 Ashwood rd. in Springfield, is doing. He's going to Emerson College in Boston, Mass., which awards a Bachelor of Science in Broadcasting. He'll receive his degree in 1965.

RONALD B. KLUGMAN

While some people might think that a young man already in being unable to meet the commercial demands with such a course of study at Emerson, the curriculum also includes a fair measure of study in the arts, sciences, history, humanities and language.

The more specialized study includes courses in such fields as "Principles of Public Relations," "News Reporting," "Standards of Criticism in the Mass Media," "Photojournalism" and news, feature, continuity and editorial writing.

An education in broadcasting is a natural for a youth like Ron, now 19 years old, who has been flitting with show business since he was a youngster hanging around his father's theater district agency in Newark. Ron is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Klugman.

THE YOUNG MAN returned to Boston last week for his sophomore year of study with plenty of enthusiasm for what he's going about, and with with plenty of material for use on his own programs over the college radio station.

During the summer he taped interviews with show people with whom he has become acquainted for his own "Proud To Call A Friend" program. Students at Emerson will hear them this fall.

The personalities include Zacherley, the well-known TV show host who reduces horror to the ridiculous, station WPXI disc jockey Clay Cole, Paul of the "Paul and Paula" team and a new rock 'n' roll singer, Brad Cammillo. He also has a show called "Ron Barry's Rock 'n' Roll Classics."

Ron takes particular pleasure in his friendship with John Zacherley. He has been a fan of his since 1959 when young Zacherley started on a Philadelphia station with his popular ghoul routine. Later, Zacherley transferred to New York and toured in the area, including a theater in Newark, where Ron met him.

Ron who at the time was a student at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, took his cue from Zacherley and created his own "Vladimir" personality patterned after Zacherley. Costumed and made up in a similar manner, he has been successful in his own right in the recording business. He played teen-age record hops, dances and club dates in an effort to compete with the more established and gruesome visual effects.

The boy's efforts in this Vladimir kick culminated in the recording of a 45 rpm disc on Mel-Par labels called the "Vladimir Twist." He had the help of a local teen-age instrumental group, but the record never had quite the success other "monster" record makers were enjoying at the time.

IN HIS PURSUIT of horror type entertainment, Ron has compiled a library of "Frankenstein," "Dracula" and other films of the type, along with comedy films made by Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy, Abbott and Costello and Allen Funt of the "Candid Camera" fame.

Enterprising young man that he is, Ron has spliced these 16 millimeter sound films together into three 1,600-foot reels that he plans to offer on a rental basis to organizations and party-throws at schools.

Slapstick comedy is Ron's main bent, and he takes particular delight in his friendship with veteran comic Stan Laurel, with whom he has enjoyed a pen-pal relationship for some time now.

He has two full scrap books of published literature and pictures of Stan Laurel. Interspersed on the pages are letters dated about two weeks apart to Ron from Stan, who is now 73 years old and who seems to enjoy the correspondence as much as the boy.

though the two have never met, Ron hopes some day to go to California and see his idol in person.

The youth, who is not all play, has gone back to school ready for another year of grind. After that, he is determined to get his first job on some radio station in New Jersey next summer as an announcer and/or disc jockey. You just might be hearing from him.

vention more than punishment. The Juvenile Committee here in Springfield serves an extremely valuable function in helping teenagers who are in trouble or about to be in trouble. And the Recreation Department is very important, he said. They do a good job. The schools do a good job too.

"Most violations here are by out-of-town people," he added. "Springfield is generally well-behaved." He pointed out that the volume of court cases is increased by the presence of Rt. 22 and drive-ins.

The 50-year-old judge came to this country in 1918 when he was five years old. His father had an importing business, and the family had shuttled between the United States and Greece since 1900.

Settled in Newark, young Argyris attended Central High School and St. Nicholas Church School and St. Nicholas, where his wife, the former Maria Dakis, was the minister's daughter. The judge and Mrs. Argyris both speak fluent Greek.

He attended Rutgers University in New Brunswick, where he was an A.B. degree in commerce, because although he had already set his mind on a law degree, he felt that a thorough grounding in one's own language is basic to any profession.

Argyris spent and well-earned money in many American cities, his country, besides, he likes to put and write.

His high school his time on the George Washington Bicentennial prize for the best original play in the state on a Revolutionary War theme. He was active in high school and college dramatics and with church shows.

In 1930 he was graduated from Rutgers Law School. He has passed bar examinations in the District of Columbia and New Jersey.

During World War II Argyris served as a sergeant with U. S. combat intelligence. He participated in the D-Day invasion and saw active duty in Ireland, France, Belgium, Germany and Czechoslovakia.

He was associate counsel for the Prudential Insurance Co. of Newark, where he started as a law clerk after college graduation, until 1961, when he established private practice.

Argyris and his wife have lived in Springfield for 16 years, and Mrs. Argyris, a graduate of New Jersey College for Women with a degree in biology, is president of the Florence Gaudineer School PTA.

The couple has four sons: Archie, 30, a private with the U.S. Military Police in Heidelberg, Germany; George, 18, a junior at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School; Tom, 13, eighth-grader at Florence Gaud-neer School, and Phillip, 9, fourth-grader at Raymond Chisolm School.

Judge Argyris shows every sign of being a man who loves his work and its many opportunities for human contact.

Occasionally there is a wedding. Last week he heard the marriage vows of the former Evelyn G. Moore, 128 Tooker Ave. in Springfield and Daniel J. Jakubowski of Plains, Pa.

Next Monday he will talk to students from a Jonathan Dayton driver education class. They will visit the Police Department also and attend court session.

"I wish all young people would attend a court session," he said, "as observers, not participants."

He couldn't help it. He was talking about youth again.
