GOP Controlling All Five Seats On Governing Body

Bonadies Run Ahead Of Ticket In Town, Loses County Vote

William F. Koonz, Republican candidate for Township Committee, swept to victory over his opponent Alex Blackman by a 1,779 margin Tuesday, giving the GOP complete control of the town's governing body.

As early election results began to trickle into the office of the township clerk in the Municipal Building, Koonz appeared headed for an easy victory.

When the final vote was tallied, he had gained 4,032 votes in his opponent's 2,253 and had carried all but three of the townships' 13 election districts.

Blackman took the eighth, 10th and 11th election districts, usually strongly Democratic, but failed to hold the normally Democratic 12th district, where Koonz edged him by 19 votes.

Also defeated in the township were Public Questions 1 and 2. The bond issue for construction of institutions was defeated by a vote of 1,896 to 3,912 and the bond issue for highway construction was defeated by a 1,854 to 1,943 vote.

Although the 13th district's votes were not tabulated, the unofficial figure lists 6,400 of the township's 8,398 registered voters as having cast ballots.

Bonadies Defeated

While former Springfield mayor and present Township Committeeman Vincent J. Bonadies, Democratic candidate for State Assembly, ran ahead of all the candidates on the Democratic ticket in Springfield, he picked up all republican candidates seeking the same post. His vote in the township was 2,057. He was defeated in his bid for state office as all Democratic candidates, with the exception of Assemblyman Mildred Hughes, fell in the Republican sweep.

The flipping of votes by two Democratic and Republican candidates in the township was a surprise.

Koonz Lauds Voters' Faith In Township's Government

"I view my election by such a large margin as a tribute to the township's faith in its government," Koonz said in a statement Tuesday.

"I feel that this really paid off," he said, "and it gave me an opportunity to get to know the needs of the people."

Koonz said he wanted to thank Blackman for conducting a gentlemanly campaign. He said he hoped the days of the "rough" campaign were over for the township.

'We Went Down With Bond Issue'

Blackman Blames State Issue For Democratic Fall

As district tallies were read at Democratic Headquarters, 246 Mountain Ave., murmurs of "shocking" and "astounding" and "it's going two to none" filtered through the group of some 50 hushed Democrats. There were also mutters of "wait till next time."

Quietly they stood munching their pizzas and drinking their sodas, studying the results as they were read off by Democratic County Committeeman Alan Kemper, 2475 Morris Ave.

"We went down with the bond issue," said Democratic candidate Alex Blackman. "The voters have expressed their feelings. And I only had five weeks to prepare this campaign." He was unanimously chosen Springfield candidate by the County Committee Sept. 23. After Louis Coltham pulled out of the race.

Township Committeeman Vincent J. Bonadies, candidate for State Assembly, criticized the bond issue before leaving for the Elizabeth Center, headquarters for the Democratic county candidates that night.

"I pulled higher than any other Democratic candidate in Springfield," Bonadies said.

"I'm pulled on a larger local vote," another said.

At about 9 p.m., Blackman addressed the group. "The voters have made their decision," he said, "and it's the largest turnout in our history in Springfield. The key issue has been the bond issue, and the Democrats have fallen with it."

"I'm proud of this campaign," he said, "and I want to thank all of my workers. I campaigned under hard conditions with less than six weeks to complete."

Thivierges Afghanistan-Bound Taking Tots Halfway Around World

By ERWIN FALKENHEIM

The Arthur Thivierges of 22 Lewis St. isn't really going to China as one of those small children seem to think—but almost. The Springfield family is on the way to the city of Kabul in Afghanistan.

Thivierges, 34, and his wife Mary Lou say they have always had a desire to do "some traveling." Well, their wish has come true—and the end of the trip is half a world away.

Thivierges works for the U. S. State Department. In fact, he just started working for the government and Afghanistan is his first assignment. His job is to supply advisor for the Agency for International Development.

"We're part of the State Department that administers the foreign aid program," Thivierges says. This includes primarily roads, schools and dams.

As for his job, he will be to go that the materials for the various aid projects are ordered and are used for the project they are intended.

"I can't wait to go," says Mrs. Thivierges. "I'm a spy."

WHAT ABOUT THE youngsters—Justin, 6, Julie, 5, and Ann, 4?

"They are pretty excited about going to see the camel. They think we're going to China or something," says their mother.

Residents of Springfield for the past three years, the Thivierges are finishing some last minute packing before beginning their great adventure to Asia next Friday.

"We'll be gone two years," Thivierges said. "The family will leave from New York by plane. We will fly to Rome, spend a short holiday there and then continue by plane to Karachi, Pakistan. I'll work there and in Dacca (in Pakistan) also) for the Agency and then we'll drive to Kabul through the Khyber pass."

In his offhand manner about the entire trip, Thivierges notes that before the family stops, they will have covered approximately 12,000 miles—as the camels like, that is.

Nov. 18 Deadline For Final Papers On Nike Acreage

The U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare has given the Regional Board of Education until Nov. 18 to file final papers for acquisition of the former Nike site, in the Watchung Reservation, it was learned this week.

Dr. Warren M. Davis, superintendent of the Regional High School District, met in New York last Wednesday with members of the federal agency to make final arrangements for the site, as the federal agency knows, Dr. Davis said, the district is alone in filing a request for the property.

High on the list of projects to be undertaken if the land is acquired, Dr. Davis has said, is construction of a direct line educational station into the district's high schools.

Charles Updike of the State Department of Education and Health mentioned Brookfield Hills has examined the existing buildings on the site, Dr. Davis said, to determine possible use for educational purposes. The report, presently incomplete, will be presented with the application.

In addition to the television transmitter, expansion of Gov. Livingston High School has been considered as a possible use for the 6.50 acre tract, How-

Speaker Compares Electric, Gas Heat

A comparison of heating advantages, by gas or electricity, was given by Arthur Becker, utility executive, before the Millburn-Springfield Kiwanis Club last Thursday. Whereas the peak loads of electric consumption used to be in winter months, he said, the increasing use of air conditioning in homes and other places has reversed the picture. In order to meet this demand, power companies have found it necessary to install additional generating plants that are not used at all during the winter, he said. The cost of electricity has been decreasing, which in turn has created a greater market for installation of electric heating in new building construction, according to the speaker.

He further said that, since gas can be stored, unlike electricity, it is still the more economical means of heating, particularly inasmuch as added insulation is required to make electric heat feasible. Becker said the cost of electricity would have to reach a level of approximately one cent per kilowatt hour before electricity would come into general use for heating purposes in the East, thus bringing it more in line with the Federal Government-operated Tennessee Valley Authority area of the South, where 80 per cent of heating is electric.

Joseph Kiley of Union, lieutenant-governor-elect for the N.J. District of Kiwanis, also spoke. President Walter Uffelman announced the following slate of officers for 1964: President, Roy Serruto; first and second vice-presidents, respectively, Milton Egert and Dr. Sanford Weizer; treasurer, Carl Dannemann; board of directors, Jack Walsh and Milton Gottlieb.

Industrial Group Planning Dinner For Next Month

Civic leaders and Springfield industrialists will soon have an opportunity to meet and discuss items of mutual interests, it was announced this week.

Owners of industries in Springfield have been invited to an informal dinner on Dec. 11 to meet the members of the Springfield Industrial Committee. The affair will be held at the Mountside Inn on Rt. 22 in Mountside, the committee announced this week.

The industrialists will also meet fellow businessmen and civic leaders including Mayor Arthur M. Falkin and other Township Committeemen, the announcement said. "The men who own and manage industries in the community will be able to talk man to man to the people directly concerned with traffic, area protection, community relations, street maintenance and the many other things that contribute to this industrially progressive township," the committee said.

The dinner is one of a series of special events the committee said, to attract new industry to Springfield "while assuring those already here that their best interests are constantly being considered." People outside the community have also been invited to attend.

Reservations can be made through Willard Jayne, dinner chairman of Jayne's Motor Freight, EL 4-3529. Seymour Cohen is chairman of the local Industrial Committee.

ESCAPES BAD INJURY

Tot Tumbles From Dad's Auto

A 2½-year-old Cranford lad sustained a broken leg but miraculously escaped more serious injury last Thursday night when he tumbled from his father's car on Rt. 22 in Springfield during the evening rush hours. The child, Michael Elkow Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Elkow Sr., was reported in good condition Monday at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Elizabeth, which confirmed a fracture of a leg. Springfield police said he suffered abrasions. He was scheduled to be sent home from the hospital Tuesday.

Several cars narrowly missed striking the child as he lay between the inside and middle lanes of the highway, according to police. The Elkow car was traveling about 30 miles per hour when the boy opened the left rear door and fell out, while his parents sat in the front seat, police said. The father said he halted the car immediately and ran back through a drizzle to stop traffic on the wet pavement.

Magistrate Jails 18-Year-Old To Await County Jury Action

John P. Hitzelmann, 18, of 110 Linden ave., Springfield, was held for action of a Union County grand jury in Burlington Municipal Court Monday night on a charge of possession of a stolen good.

Magistrate Thomas A. Arzuffa continued the trial $3,000 bail. He was returned to the county jail. The magistrate also set Dec. 3 as a hearing date on a disorderly person charge. Police in Burlington said they have obtained facts at least three other criminal cases which resulted on the south as a result of an alleged Oct. 24 crime spree.

In addition, John Fitzsimmons faces three on five counts of burglary, entering and leaving a home in 2½ months ago. He has pleaded innocent to the charges in county court. The twin brother, Joseph, who was not implicated in either of the alleged crime sprees, was also scheduled to appear in Springfield Court Monday night on charges of assault on a police officer and disorderly conduct. The case was postponed until Nov. 25 however. The brothers have the same address. Joseph is free in $750 bail.

The man, Carl Mericks, 23, of East Orange, told police he would see his own doctor. He was a passenger in a car driven by Jack H. Charlton, 66, also of East Orange.

Charlton told police he was driving south on Melrose ave. attempting to pass another car when the bus struck. Police said the car struck a parked car owned by Norman Hurr of 70 Melrose, an out of control car that struck a parked car and turned over onto its roof. The driver escaped injury.

Early Americana At Historic House -- And In Middle Of Rahway River!

There is a monument on Washington ave. commemorating the Battle of Springfield, placed there in 1955 by the Springfield Historical Society. A plaque on a boulder in the Rahway River just below and visible from the monument marks one of the stones which is thought to have helped support a bridge which straddled the river at the time of the battle.

"You have to take off your shoes and socks and wade in the river to read the plaque," said Howard Wiseman, president of the Springfield Historical Society. "People have complained of this, saying that plaques are meant to be read. This one is where it is primarily to keep bulldozers away from the boulder in case future development should require that the river be diverted or channeled underground. If this happens, we hope the rock will be given to us."

Wiseman, a graduate of Williams and Mary College, where he majored in history, is employed as assistant director of the New Jersey Historical Society, which maintains headquarters at 230 Broadway in Newark.

Big Crowds Will Hear Loud, Clear When New Sound System Finished

Overflow crowds, usually present at Township Committee budget hearings, will have front row seats this year as the new sound system currently being installed in the committee meeting room also includes a speaker in the hall.

Installation of the system, which includes nine microphones and a recording device was begun this week. It is expected to be completed within two weeks.

C. H. Winans Co. of Roselle has been awarded a contract by the Springfield Board of Education for paving of the parking area at the Sandmeter School.

The bid of $654 was lowest of seven submitted. Award of the contract took place at a special meeting of the Board of Education last Tuesday. Work, expected to be started as soon as the contract is drawn, will be completed by the end of the month, the school board said.

Named To Dean's List

Barry Marder of 74 Kew dr., Springfield, was one of 15 Union County residents named to the Dean's List for academic excellence at Stevens Institute of Technology. It was announced this week.

explained, for Springfield covered a much larger area than it does now, therefore the Historical Society's 300 members are from numerous surrounding communities, such as Short Hills, Millburn, Livingston, Chatham, and Maplewood.

Dead Child's Dad Sues Springfield

Suit has been brought against Springfield and a township truck driver by the father of a five-year-old girl who was crushed to death under the wheels of a township dump truck May 28.

William E. Huntley of 14 Joanne way, Springfield, has brought suit in Union County court against the township and the truck driver, John Silberman, 20, of 271 Mountain ave., Springfield. Huntley is acting as administrator of the estate of his late daughter, Kathleen.

The child, riding a bicycle, was crushed under the truck in Colonial ter., Springfield. She died about 30 minutes later in Overlook Hospital, Summit.

Charging the defendants with negligence Huntley is asking damages for his daughter's injuries and death and for his expenses. He is suing in behalf of himself, his wife and a son, William J. Huntley, Albert L. Simpson of Union is the plaintiff's attorney.

The group is to preserve the Cannonball House and anything which pertains to the history of the area.

Active members meet four times a year at the Cannonball House, 128 Morris ave. The next meeting will be Tuesday at 8 p.m., and it is open to the public. The speaker, Mrs. Elizabeth Sayre, a member from Livingston, will discuss the 56 singers of the Declaration of Independence.

COLONIAL ROCKABYE - Dressed in old-fashioned attire.

Janet Werner, 6, places an antique doll in a wicker rocker at the Cannonball House, 128 Morris ave., Springfield, while brother Richard, 10, holds a flintlock rifle. The items are the property of the Springfield Historical Society, which holds open house at the pre-Revolutionary War building every Sunday from 3 to 5 p.m. The children live at 36 So. Maple ave., Springfield.

The group also publishes a bulletin at irregular intervals, and in 1955 they put out an illustrated 16-page pamphlet on the Battle of Springfield, which can still be purchased for a dollar.

"If historians of the American Revolution had come from this area instead of New England, the Battle of Springfield might have played a more prominent role in our history books," says Donald Palmer, curator for the Historical Society.

The society can be purchased at the Cannonball House Sundays from 3 to 5 p.m., when the pre-Revolutionary War building is open to the public. Miss Phoebe Briggs, librarian for the society, is usually on hand at that time to show the building and help people who come to life there to look up their genealogy. She is an expert on genealogy, and the Cannonball House maintains a library of historical and old lineage books. (See profile of Miss Briggs.)

After the Historical Society took possession, a great deal of restoration work has been accomplished. A modern veranda was removed from the front, and a front door with hand-made pine trimes and old glass representative of the period, has been installed. The floor in the library was repaired with old boards ripped from the floor in the attic and bookshelves built.

INSIDE THE BUILDING is a museum of early Americana. There is a set of 18th century English china in a corner cabinet from the early 1800s, a simple drop leaf table and a horse hair covered rocker.

In the library there is a "Salem" map of New Jersey, printed in 1797, which is the only one in unique in collections of early Americana. Salem was official cartographer for a British harbor. There is also a photograph of a letter written by George Washington from his Springfield headquarters mid-dated 1790. The original is the property of Howard Casperson, past president of the society.

A curly maple grandfather's clock on the stairs proves that it is an antique in its appearance. With the turn to Standard time, Wiseman had to stop the clock and walk at the Cannonball House for an hour before starting again. Old clocks are not geared for Daylight Saving Time and cannot be turned back.

Display cases exhibit such items as a pewter tea set, flintlock pistol, hand-made nails, butter paddle, iron tea kettle, foot warmer, apple parer and Revolutionary and Civil War gear.

Elks Can Now Plan New Clubhouse Site

Springfield Lodge of Elks has had the deposit paid for property on Old Coach rd., sought a Superior Court review of Township Board plan for obtaining another site for a clubhouse, it was learned this week.

Township Attorney James M. Cawley, an Elks member, told the Board that the deposit had been returned by the owners, and that the return of the deposit will permit the club to seek another site.

The Elks abandoned plans to operate a clubhouse on Old Coach rd. following a taxpayer suit against the club; the Township Planning Board, Board of Adjustment and Township Committee.

Decision not to answer a complaint filed in Trenton in September by the property owners, was made early last month on grounds that the club did not wish to incur the ill will of residents.

The suit brought by Mr. and Mrs. William Gural of Old Coach rd., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bender of Baltusrol rd. and Mrs. Harriet Wister of Summit, who

LEADER PROFILE

MISS PHOEBE BRIGGS

"It's so much fun," said diminutive, gray-haired Miss Phoebe Briggs, sitting partly on a chair in the parlor of the Cannonball House. "It's like being a detective."

She is an expert on genealogy, and people come to her Sunday afternoons between 3 and 5 p.m., when the Cannonball House is open, in search of lost ancestors.

There is a library of historical and genealogical books, and Miss Briggs, who was director of the Springfield Public Library during the 1940s, is its librarian. The library was set up in 1955 when the Springfield Historical Society was organized and acquired title to the Cannonball House.

At that time the Westfield Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution gave them 750 lineage and old record books, and the society started to obtain a few books of its own. Among the more outstanding volumes in the collection are a set of New Jersey Archives, compiled by the New Jersey Historical Society, and a first edition, dated 1844, of Barber and Howe's "Historical Collections of New Jersey."

Have you been in Springfield long? she was asked. "Well, yes," she answered with a twinkle in her eye. "My ancestors settled here in 1717. They were the Stiles' and the Mulford's on my mother's side, and they came from Long Island."

"My mother said that when Jeremiah and Jonathan Mulford were 12 and 14 years old they shouldered muskets and fought in the battle of Springfield. They were ploughboys. That is, they took care of the fields because their father was in George Washington's army." She paused to ask sweetly if this was of interest, tilting her small head with its navy blue hat perched smartly upon it.

"Jeremiah," she said, encouraged to proceed, "was commissioner of appeals at Springfield's first town meeting in 1794. You see, it's written here." She rose and walked to the hall where she pointed out a document marking the occasion which was framed and hung on the wall.

"JEREMIAH'S SON WAS my great grandfather Mulford, and he owned the house at 493 Morris ave. where I spent much of my childhood. It was later bought by the Meekers, and now it's for sale."

"My grandfather, George Mulford, was a justice of the peace, and he used to hold trials in the living room of that house. Mother said that she and my aunt would sit on the stairs and listen. I can remember traveling with him in a horse and buggy along Morris ave. to the Elizabeth Court House. He stopped to give his horse a drink of water in the Rahway River."

"Both my grandfather and great grandfather were members of the Springfield Township Committee."

Miss Briggs went to school in the old Springfield Academy, located on what is now known as Academy Green, just off Main st. between the library and the Methodist Church. It was destroyed by fire in 1901.

The following year the James Fordwell School was built, and Miss Briggs attended high school there. Her father, V. Walton was principal, she said, and his sister, Miss Grace Winton who died recently was the first music teacher in the Springfield school.

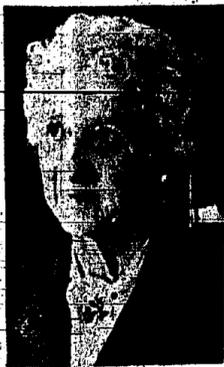

Another thing Miss Briggs remembers in paying this little back among the years, along Rocky Brook, which runs from Reynolds' Pond on the southwest of Morris ave. The developer who built homes there named it Spring Brook. "They didn't know it was really Rocky Brook," she said.

Miss Briggs' interest in genealogy stems from a search of her own family tree which she began in 1942 and hasn't finished yet. The project began when her nephew, who is now U. S. Coast Guard Commander Earl S. Childers, stationed at North Carolina, asked her to write out some of the family records for him.

She began her search in the New York Public Library, where her father's family tree is listed from 1821 to 1926. "I came home so happy with what I had found," she said. "The librarians showed her how to look up material, and then she proceeded on her own. The Briggs family was from Brooklyn, where she was born before her parents moved to Springfield to join her mother's people and they, too, settled here before the Revolution."

"IT WASN'T ENOUGH to find records," she said. "I had to prove them," so I traveled to cemeteries and took pictures of the tombstones of my ancestors." New Jersey Archives and old Bible records provided more clues, which she carefully recorded in notebooks.

How many notebooks do you have? she asked. (Continued on Page 20)

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Letters to the Editor must be submitted no later than Monday of the week they are to appear. They should not exceed 300 words in length. All letters must be signed. OUT OF CONTEXT Last week's Springfield Leader has an excellent and lengthy article on the front page, regarding the meeting of the Springfield Fair Housing Unit.

Unfortunately, there are a few errors, which are minor, but there is one major misquote which is completely out of context with everything I said.

Your reporter stated that Mrs. Gloria Sherman said, "I'm free for a Negro to buy a house anywhere he can afford, but just anywhere that will not be next door to me."

The correct facts are that I stated I would welcome a Negro family moving next door to me. Your reporter obviously wasn't listening as well as the reporter from the other local paper here in town which quoted me correctly as saying that before moving to Springfield, I had previously lived in a mixed neighborhood in Orange, N. J. for 10 years and that I would welcome the opportunity again.

Since a retraction by the newspaper cannot completely erase the misstatement, I therefore suggest for the future, more careful reporting and much better proof reading.

MRS. MARTIN SHERMAN 28 South Derby rd.

Editor's note: Citation of the word "and" in typewriting and proof reading caused the error in which Mrs. Sherman's original copy of the article involved stated "I'm free for a Negro to buy a house anywhere he can afford, but just anywhere that will not be next door to me." Mrs. Sherman's original copy of the article and the misstatement caused Mrs. Sherman's.

MOST UNFORTUNATE I read with interest your account of the meeting of the Fair Housing Committee held in Springfield last week. It is most unfortunate that remarks credited to Mrs. Gloria Sherman were inaccurately quoted, leaving the reader with a most unfavorable impression of Mrs. Sherman's attitude. Since I was present at the meeting and heard her statement, I sincerely trust that you will print a prompt correction.

MRS. SHERMAN HOROWITZ 176 Hillside ave.

OPPOSITE TRUE In your report on the meeting of the Springfield Fair Housing Committee there is a most grievous error. According to your reporter, Mrs. Martin Sherman had raised her voice in favor of bigotry when exactly the opposite is true. I was present at the meeting and remember well Mrs. Sherman's plea for human rights — her speech was pure and simple and to the point with no room for possible misinterpretation.

Careless reporting, slipshod editing, Freudian slip, mechanical error, human error — whatever the reason, the error went to print and I strongly feel that an explanation-apology be printed on this front page for all to see. A formal retraction lost somewhere in the middle pages may soothe the legal conscience of a newspaper, however we all know that this not adequate to soothe those wounded by the error.

MRS. DAN GREENFIELD 28 Maple ave.

Dr. Solomon Andrews - First Man To Make A Controlled Flight

Outside the windows of the Perth Amboy Presbyterian Church an eagle soared lazily on the wind currents, rising and falling in slow circles with a grace far more understandable than the weighty world being pronounced by Rev. Josiah Andrews. Accordingly, on a morning in 1832 which he remembered for ever, 17-year-old Solomon Andrews ignored his father's preaching.

Forty years later Solomon Andrews would write of that eagle-watching: "Suddenly I caught as with an electric shock the key to the whole system of aerial flight. From that moment my aim of life was fixed."

"It must be," he exclaimed, "a balloon, folly, he exclaimed, rather than the whims of the wind. Solomon Andrews succeeded; in 1832 he became the first man ever to make a controlled flight.

As he watched the eagle, Andrews already was a skilled watch-maker, and six years later, at the age of 23, he became a physician. Two generations in Perth Amboy depended on him to deliver babies, to fight yellow fever, and to relieve the injuries of death.

He also admitted full civic responsibilities. He served for years as president of the local board of health, dispensed justice of the peace, made laws as an alderman, sat in the mayor's chair for three terms and during President Tyler's administration was collector of the Port of Perth Amboy.

SUCH THINGS as new babies and even problems never kept Dr. Andrews from tinkering, and Professor Joseph Henry, secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, eventually called him "one of the most ingenious and successful inventors in this country."

Andrews invented a machine that enabled only nine men to make 500 two-gallon kegs daily. He made and patented a sewing machine, forging presses, valentines, gas lamps, the first successful oil range, a system of converting oil into gas by the use of its own flame, and cephalopod locks. The locks won Dr. Andrews his first celebrity.

Verdicts of Dr. Andrews' trials of his "inflexible" lock vary, but in 1832 he placed $1,000 in a chest, sealed it with his lock and chained it to a lamp post at the corner of Broad and Wall st., New York. Anyone who wanted the $1,000 could break the lock and help himself — but for all the seekers there were no pickers.

Later Dr. Andrews perfected an unbreakable lock for mailboxes and in 1842 signed a contract with the U. S. Post Office to supply all needs, a contract that he held for 30 years.

Always, nevertheless, that eagle flew through Dr. Andrews' dreams. He tried in the early 1830's to interest balloons in his understanding of flight, but they ignored him and continued to float over Long Island, east of the New York Times. "The fair sex in their altitudes became pillars of the fashionable equality, while the gentlemen equally absent-minded played at base with the hoops and various other pandemoniums of the paragon-milliner's frames. It was nearly impossible to find a person who was not intently watching its movements."

Neither the "Aeron" nor Dr. Andrews ever went aloft again. Financial panic overtook the country, and a nation in love with terra firma needed an airship (then as much as it needed seven league boots. Others would take up the flying. It was building much of the great, which rightly belongs to Dr. Andrews of Perth Amboy.

Life didn't cheat the doctor, however. He soared with the birds, and shortly before his death, in 1872, he wrote that he could answer to his satisfaction the question: "Who knoweth the way of an eagle in the air?"

Afghanistan

(Continued from Page 1) for sure the population of the country, but it has been estimated at between eight and 10 million.

"It's tough to figure the population because it's made up of an many different tribes, the bulk of the people are nomads who travel the year around by caravan."

THE COUNTRY has a large, unpopulated plateau, and it is, the one country in the world where you are in constant competition with the Indians. We and the Indians are both trying to improve the land for the country and the country needs both.

"The children will continue their schooling at what is called the International School, with youngsters from 21 different nations."

Thivierge estimates there are about 800 Americans living in Kabul. "But they don't live in what you think of as an 'American colony' within the city. My family will settle down in a home among the native population," he comments.

Language will be no real problem, says Thivierge. "The people we will be dealing with speak English. Anyway there are so many different dialects, it's hard to master them all," he said.

No problem with clothes either, except for the fact that Mom is preparing to take a two-year supply with her. "The climate is much the same as here — cold in the winter and hot in the summer," says Thivierge.

The Thivierges are natives of Michigan. Before joining the State Department, Thivierge worked for Parker Kalon, a division of General American Transportation in Cliff-ton, and a production planning manager. Thivierge worked several years for the State Department, traveling in the Middle East and throughout Europe.

"I'm willing to do it again after the Afghanistan assignment. Maybe we'll meet modern-day Nomads," muses Mrs. Thivierge.

Senator Williams Reports

By Sen. Harrison A. Williams

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Mail coming into my office on all kinds of questions, but the problems that make me anxious are those of immigration cases.

I'm not sure at home who will write. They usually have good reasons for their cases. For many years a national investigation policy looking in immigration, health, and common sense.

It is a policy that keeps numbers of families apart for years in different nations. It forces worthy, would-be citizens to languish in some low-cost nations while other quotas go unmet. And it's a system that has hurt our national reputation because it is weighted in favor of immigrants from northern Europe at the expense of those from southern and eastern Europe and other parts of the world.

Understandably, this system has come under attack and attempts to correct it are under way once again in this session of Congress.

It seems to me that the campaign for this reform would become a priority goal of many Americans if they had to read the mail that reaches legislators' office every day from people whose lives have been made miserable by our present policy.

What is in that mail? Here are a few case studies taken from letters in my files:

"There is the case in my office right now of the young woman in Hungary whose family wants her to join them in New Jersey. A job is promised to her here, and she is on the quota list with a priority date of November 17, 1953. The board-rending fact, however, is that consular officers are considering only those who applied before March 1, 1951. The Hungarian quota is over subscribed.

Her case is hopeless for years to come because the quota for Hungary is exhausted. She's the victim of an unfair and unrealistic policy, and her family waits for her with growing despair and desperation.

Falkin To Award Optimist Trophies To Town Youth

Mayor Arthur M. Falkin will present trophies to youngsters chosen by the Optimist Club to sit with the Township Committee at its meeting on Tuesday. The youngsters will be selected by the club to serve as town officials for a day in honor of waiting period of indeterminate duration.

Another family took legal steps to adopt a boy, a relative of theirs. His mother and father are both in the hospital, and the boy's father will be with them, but he cannot enter unless he meets the legal definition of adoption under our immigration policy. In order to be adopted, he must live with his adopting parents for two years. He cannot come, so he cannot qualify. I have encountered many frustrating cases; this is one of the worst.

A 20-year-old man in Poland wants to join his brother in Elizabeth, N. J. He has been registered for immigration since July 1950. All we can now do is that he must anticipate "considerable" further delay.

Legislation is now the only way to solve these and other problems. The American Immigration and Citizenship Conference and its affiliates are fighting a hard battle to help those caught in the present system.

One of those affiliates in New Jersey is the non-profit International Institute of Jersey, which has worked on some cases for 20 years or more and has been able to reunite some of the families separated by the Jewish Counseling and Service Agency in Newark. It has been of special help to applicants from low-cost nations. One of the latest persons to enter the nation is a Jewish-Egyptian doctor now at work in a northern New Jersey hospital.

Even if private groups and legislators have some success in individual cases, however, the inequities of the present system make it impossible even to help for justice to all.

Our key target, therefore, is the National Origins Quota. This was established 30 years ago and is based on the 1920 population of the United States. It now permits the entry of 156,700 immigrants to enter the United States each year on unjust and discriminatory basis.

The quota system would have been altered in a revision bill I considered in March. President Kennedy had since submitted a bill that would alter and reduce the quota system, within five years.

Each of these proposals would have direct results in very human terms. Special accounts would be taken on the need to reunite families. The skills of the immigrant would also be given special consideration.

We should never forget that our nation became great because other peoples gave us their energy, their talents, and their hope. We should restore that hope by correcting the mistake we made when we established the quota system in 1924.

GOP Victory

(Continued from Page 1) expressed fears, prior to the election that the bond issue would be defeated, and that they would be pulled down with it. The campaign late because of the withdrawal of Louis Clapham, and he had begun campaigning late and that this might have been a factor in his defeat. He has said in the past that he would fight for a change of government in the township (one of his major campaign issues) whether or not he sat as a member of the committee.

Koontz, who will take his seat on Jan. 1, was born in the township, attended its schools, and was graduated from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School.

A business administration graduate of Seton Hall University, he is sales manager for Doggott-Elson Co., Springfield. He is a member of the board of directors of the Lions Club and the Chamber of Commerce, and has served as a member of the Municipal Swim Pool Committee.

His only previous interest in active politics was as campaign manager for present Township Committee member Philip De Vecchio.

Met Public A diligent campaigner, Koontz placed great importance during his efforts to seek office on meeting the public. His aggressive door-to-door campaign secured 17-9 in Morris.

Major emphasis during the Koontz campaign was placed on the candidates' family and training in business. He has said that the "overwhelming consideration of a modern suburban community" is the relationship between the tax dollar and the value received by the taxpayer.

The business training and experience he has said, would make him a valuable member of the Township Committee.

During his campaign Koontz expressed interest that representation by members of the Springfield Industrial Committee at industrial fairs would be a strong point in bringing industry into the township and has suggested that land alongside the proposed Rt. 7B be used for light industry or businesses.

A participant in recreational activities, Koontz has suggested the upgrading of recreational lands and the creation of evening recreational facilities for teen-agers.

He has said he will represent all the people in the township government by being responsive to the interests.

The new Township Committee is headed by the former Marinette-Delrick. They live at 110 Ballouville way with their three children, Patricia Ann, 3, William F. Jr., 4, and Barbara Jane, 2.

Deadline (Continued from Page 1) ever, Dr. Davis said, regardless of any expansion, the land could be put to immediate use for athletic and physical educational purposes.

When the Board of Preadolescents voted last month to drop consideration of the land as a site for possible erection of a facility for retarded children, the Regional Board, according to Dr. Davis, became the only agency interested in the land.

Location and height of the land, Dr. Davis pointed out, would make it ideal for use as a direct line television transmitter into the district's three schools in Springfield, Berkeley Heights and Clark and the proposed additional school in Kenilworth.

The Regional Board at its October meeting voted not to contribute $500 asked of school districts to take part in the project of New Jersey Educational Television Corporation's UHF Channel 74.

A UN STORY

Once Upon A Time There Was A Little School...

Several local high schools in this area have an interest in Upper Volta... did you know that? Oh, you don't even really know about Upper Volta? Oh, well, contrary to some vague suspicion, Upper Volta is a real country and not a fictional one such as Lower Slobovia. When last seen it was lying in the bulge section of North-west Africa at approximately zero degrees longitude and 12 degrees north latitude, with Ghana, Togo, Dahomey, Niger, Mali and Ivory Coast all around it. It is about the size of Florida and is a full-fledged member of the United Nations. And THERE, believe it or not, is where the local schools, specifically Irvington High, Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, Roselle Park High School and Union High School have an interest. Surprising isn't it? But the story is this: There has been a drive through the UNESCO agency at the UN (United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization) in 181 New Jersey high schools and approximately 120 Junior Highs to raise money for a little girls' school in the town of Garango in Upper Volta, and the above mentioned schools have been contributing participants. Each school raised from $10 to $25, with some schools contributing more than once, and the grand total sent to the ever-grateful little school in Upper Volta came to $4,184.04. Nice, eye?

IT ALL HAPPENED once upon a time last year this way: In June the Executive Secretary of the New Jersey Association of High School Councils, Mrs. Charles Marden and two high school girls, Claudia Morgan of Henry Hudson Regional High in Atlantic Highlands and Catherine Palancher of Villa Victoria Academy in Trenton visited UNESCO Liaison Office at the UN. They represented the High School Council organization, and they came to ask UNESCO if there was any worthwhile project which would welcome a donation from New Jersey children. The answer was an enthusiastic "yes". Through the Gift Coupon Plan which UNESCO sponsors, they choose to help a new school for girls in the heart of the African bush, the Garango School for Girls in Upper Volta.

UNESCO suggested several possibilities for raising money, one of which was to plan a "UN evening" to coincide as nearly as possible with United Nations Day (Thurs., Oct. 24), or for another, the selling of subscriptions to the "UNESCO Courier".

Claudia and Catherine set around the UNESCO suggestions but one of the most popular activities for the Junior High group in particular turned out to be the "Ugly Man Contest." The boys in the eighth grade dressed up in costumes and disguised their faces in an ugly way. Then they were photographed. Snow-guns were then mounted on a bulletin board with numbers. The students voted as to who was the "ugliest" and paid 25 cents to guess the name of the participants. The students getting the most right won prizes and the proceeds went into the fund, which went to Upper Volta this year.

THE UNESCO GIFT Coupon Plan is designed to provide the means through which individuals and organizations can contribute to the ongoing program of the UN and UNESCO in under-developed areas. For groups wishing to participate in the plan a selection of a project must be made from the UNESCO Catalog of Gift Projects, funds then may be raised through the sale of UNESCO gift stamps, or by another preferred method, and UNESCO Gift Coupons purchased to be sent to the chosen project. An initial contact of a letter by the donor to the Project, is generally made, advising 1 — that Gift Coupons are being sent, 2 — the items for which they are to be used, and 3 — some information about the donor group and its members. Information for doing this can be obtained from the UNESCO Gift Coupon Office, United Nations, New York, 17.

The results of the Garango gift story are best told in two letters received from the Director of the girls' school and from one of the pupils:

LETTER FROM NOOJA ZARR

"We are little African girls from the bush, but now we have a great place of living in having wonderful friends very far away. Thanks to your school, we will soon be the prettiest in all the countryside. We now have treasures and beautiful things to help us learn."

"Our teacher told us that it was you who had spoiled us. She told us that you gave all your cake money and your fruit money to help us. That would be hard for us to do. Here at school there are little girls who come without having eaten anything in two days. But now we are very happy because the school can give us something to eat, and we have beautiful books, a globe and a scale, and even a volley ball game!"

"We thank you all for these beautiful things. We invite you to come and see us at Garango. Our teachers salute you! All the children salute you!"

"I am one of the biggest. I am 11 years old, and my name is Nooja Zarr."

PART OF A letter from Neella Lajale, Director of the Girls' School

"I am writing so that you can see what our girls are doing. Our little school in the bush, which you have adopted with such generosity, is now entering its fourth year. It is growing, changing, full of life. Its little world awakens, blossoms, asserts itself. It is a beautiful school. Outside, of course, it looks like the other neighborhood schools of the bush, but nevertheless, it stands out — we are proud of that — because of its atmosphere... an atmosphere of youth, dynamism, modernity. A love for research and cooperation, where we take care to adapt to the situation. Perhaps the greatest privilege is to have solicited your interest and your generosity. That perhaps explains why our classes are more useful and active. We don't speak yet of success. But we already notice a difference. We don't shout victory! but we live in hope, and already we see signs of promise. We say this quite without pride, but with joy and gratitude, because it is your work at the same time as ours that has allowed us to increase our usefulness. You have multiplied our strength and our tools. Certainly, necessity is the mother of invention. Africa is full of people who can make something of nothing. But even with a fertile imagination, one quickly dries up in a temperature of 105 degrees in the shade. The first year we invented everything, built everything with our own hands, to open the first class. But the difficulties we encountered would have rapidly worn us out if you had not come to the rescue. No doubt, we could have kept the school going, since we have brought to it all of our own resources. But thanks to you, we have been able to make of it something even more... something which will have a much wider influence. The school is already a stimulus for our nearest neighbors, and a real discovery to the young African teachers who have come in to help us."

A "MILK-BREAK" for pupils at the primary school for girls in Garango, Upper Volta, Africa. Some of the students suffer from malnutrition, and to combat this, the school authorities have arranged a twice-daily distribution of UNICEF milk and an American-developed vitamin-protein powder. The school itself, founded by an international women's movement, is assisted by the UNESCO Gift Coupon Scheme project, under which several local high schools have made contributions. (UNESCO/P.A. Piffet Photo)

What will your girls do for Garango? I have tried to give you a small idea. But you know perfectly well that to give with so much generosity, in gifts of the heart, the essential is often invisible.

The truest results are not the most-obvious ones. Thank you, dear friends, for having held out your hands with such confidence in such a humble undertaking. We're trying to do something beautiful, with it, something that will do you, as its godparents, credit and honor.

POETRY CORNER:

Let Me Bend With The Wind

I would not take by guile or by another's weakness
I would not stand, defiant, with the untamed eye.
Now let me bend and, bending, create the curve of beauty.

When the urgent winds grow less insistent
I shall stand erect.
But there will be no challenge in my heart.

No challenge, late, just peace that comes to those Creating beauty by curve and bending.
Bending, not to Master, but to love.

by Your Rutgers Garden Reporter ZOVYA AGAIN

Rutgers is a well-managed specialist in lawn care.

That's the big, broad answer to gardeners and golfers who often write, particularly at lawn mowing season, to find out how College of Agriculture men rate this "special" kind of lawn grass. Dr. Henry W. Indyk, extension turf management specialist who is making a career of keeping the Garden State green, has been pointed out that Zoysia is no cure-all for lawn problems. People usually remember it because of its attractive appearance during its peak growth in mid-summer.

He says it's effective where you want a green lawn in summer and don't care how brown it gets in spring and fall.

SUITED TO SHORE

"Zoysia is particularly well suited for planting on the sandy, droughty soils of South Jersey, particularly in the Shore area," Dr. Indyk says.

"In other parts of the state it can be used to advantage around swimming pools where tolerance of grass to chlorine may be a problem."

This may be an answer that the shore or pool home owners can use to make a decision.

They can make up their minds when they know that Zoysia frequently takes two or three years to cover an area. It's established with vegetative plugs or "plugs" rather than with seed.

It doesn't start to turn green until mid-May and browns off after the first hard frost.

It has trouble growing in shady places.

And it may thrive where you don't want it to—in flower beds and gardens.

Again going back to general advice, Dr. Indyk maintains that if you don't have a situation where Zoysia does especially well, you'll be happier with a Kentucky bluegrass-red fescue lawn.

Tips On Preparing News Releases

The following "Tips On Submitting News Releases" is published for the mutual benefit of publishers, chairmen and this newspaper. It should be especially useful for newly appointed public chairmen or individuals who submit news releases to newspapers. The article should be read and used for future use by interested readers.

A "news release" is just what the words imply — news, released to a newspaper. The writer of a news release, usually the publicity or public relations chairman of a group, simplifies the job for himself and the paper by preparing a "model news story" about the subject or event he wants to publicize. The publicity chairman can't expect it to appear exactly as written, of course, but a properly prepared release should be used "as is."

Your news release, therefore, should "sound" like a news story and not like the secretary's minutes of a club meeting. This isn't as tricky as it sounds. It's mostly a matter of putting the most important things first in your story (the five W's of journalism — more about that later) and avoiding the use of flowery, personalized descriptions (editorializing, we call it).

You don't have to take a course in journalism to write a good release; anyone who ever learned to write a business letter can learn to write a news release. Let's begin with lesson one, the FORM of a "news release."

1. Release must be TYPE-WRITTEN. If you can't type yours, have it typed for you. The reason for this is the need for accuracy. Newspapers don't want to risk misspelling people's names in print, which is likely if the names are submitted in handwritten script or even in bold block printing. We'd much prefer a sloppy typing job to even the prettiest display of penmanship. Some papers won't accept any handwritten release, and no paper will accept them regularly from the same source.

2. Use a plain sheet of paper, not letterhead, stationery cluttered up with a lot of printings. Type on one side of the paper only. Double space, leave plenty of room at the top, sides and bottom for editing by the newspaper staff. DO NOT WRITE IN CAPITAL LETTERS LIKE THIS. The newspaper doesn't print stories in all capital letters so why submit them that way?

IDENTIFY YOURSELF

Type your name, the name and address of your organization, and the phone numbers at which you can be reached in the upper left hand corner of the sheet. Be sure to include both home and business phones so that the newspaper can reach you if it has any questions.

YOUR STORY

Put the most important facts in the first paragraph, and lesser facts in later paragraphs, in order of their importance. A release should be written so that later paragraphs may be chopped off if necessary. A title, perhaps, but typed and trim guide for importance in the "Five W's of Journalism" — What, When, Where, Who and Why (or How). All five W's should be answered in the first paragraph, though not necessarily in any particular order. Here are some examples:

Dr. James Smith, child psychologist at Newark State College, (WHO) will discuss I. Q. testing (WHAT) next Thursday at 8 p.m. (WHEN) in Hamilton School (WHERE) as members of the PTA assemble for their first meeting of the new term (WHY).

In itself, that paragraph is a complete story. The reader knows all he needs to know if he wants to attend. If the publicity chairman wishes, however, he or she may add other paragraphs giving more details.

The second paragraph might offer more information about Dr. Smith:

A member of the Newark State faculty for 10 years, Dr. Smith has also served as a testing consultant in the Cranford school system. He is the author of several professional articles on testing procedures.

NAME YOUR ORGANIZATION

What is it? You may know that N. O. M. A. means National Office Machine Association, but we don't and neither will our readers. Use the full title in your release. Don't identify troops, branches and units by numbers or the name of its founder. Call your group the Springfield branch (Irvington, Vaux hall, Essex, New Jersey or whatever) branch of the National Fish Fanciers Association — not Unit No. 29487, or Jerome S. Smith Memorial chapter.

NOTHING BUT THE FACTS

You've probably concluded that our fictional Dr. Smith is an "expert" in his field, though nowhere in the release did it say he was. His accomplishments, which are FACTS, speak for themselves. Your release should, too.

Leave the fancy description and personal opinions out of your release. Never say a meeting was "interesting." Tell what the topic was and let the reader decide for himself. Don't say that a singer was "in good voice;" report instead that she was applauded for five minutes and called for ten encores. The hall was not "beautifully decorated" but rather decorated in shades of violet and lavender.

ALL THE FACTS

Your release should not send the newspaper staff scurrying for the phone or the city directory to get the information you forgot to include. Give some details. Make sure that names and addresses are accurate and complete.

FULL NAMES

Use full names in the case of a woman, always identify her as Miss or Mrs. You may use either the first names or TWO initials, never one (John Smith or J. Smith, but NEVER J. Smith).

AGE

It isn't necessary to give a person's age unless it's vital to the story. If John Smith is honored as your oldest member, naturally you should mention that he's 88 years old. When writing about children, always mention their age, and possibly the grade they are in.

ADVANCE STORIES

You can eliminate most of your deadline problems by doing ADVANCE stories, appearing in the paper before the event occurs. If the election is on a Monday night, what do you do?

Do you know who is going to win? We're not referring to a good guess, of course, but the sort of election where the slate of officers is selected by a nominating committee and the "election" is a formality.

If you KNOW what's going to happen, write your release as if it already did and put this sort of note at the top: Editor: This meeting will take place Monday night, November 13.

Of course, if anything happens and the expected fails to happen YOU MUST PHONE.

QUOTES AND OPINIONS

The only place for opinions is inside quotation marks. Your release should not say that a new branch library is needed, but rather that Mrs. John Smith, president of the James Caldwell School PTA, said that "A branch library serving the western section is a definite necessity."

DEADLINES

The deadline for organizational publicity is the Friday preceding the issue in which your release arrives later than that, very likely it will be thrown out or pushed aside until next week.

POINTS TO PONDER

1. The newspaper WANTS your publicity.
2. The newspaper is the final judge of the material it accepts, and rejects and the fashion in which the material will appear.
3. Keep your eyes open for "real" news. You can succeed yourself (and your group) to an editor by letting him know what's going on, even if it doesn't concern your group. If you know of somebody or something that would make a good feature story, let the editor know about it.
4. The newspaper staff will be very happy to talk with you about publicity plans or problems of your group. Weekly journalists have more time for you on Thursday and Friday than any other time in the week. Check by phone, first, please.

THE NEWSPAPER IMMEDIATELY

News is local when it happens here. Involves local people or groups or when it especially concerns the readers. If John Featherworth of Pararrytown, N. Y. is elected president of your group and Jacob Faranahy, who lives in town, is appointed to the executive committee, your story is about Pararrytown, not Featherworth or Faranahy's neighbors, are about him, but who ever heard of Featherworth. If you identify your group as conducting a two-week clothing drive in Northhampton, New Jersey your story to the local paper should be that the week-long campaign in town will be held Monday to Friday. The readers want to know when they should have THEIR discards ready. If the local paper wants to know, for example, how the local March of Dimes campaign is going, but isn't much interested in the results of a national telethon, it wants biographical backgrounds of the local volunteers, not the national campaign chairman. It wants to know what the charity does for local people, not the millions here (USA) and abroad.

Who is Responsible For Religious Education?

Much correspondence has been received through the years concerning the responsibility for religious education in our twentieth century society. The President of Regents in the Empire State and released time for education within the classroom in Illinois were products of Supreme Court decision. What is a reasonable attitude in these matters?

Dear Dr. Knudsen: "We have had prayer at the opening of school each day in the comluted to Church and State today?"

"Why do we have so much concern for our children beginning their day of study with prayer and so little concern for others beginning their work day with prayer? If prayer must be offered at the school bell rings, why not pray in the factory as the whistle blows? Why not develop a program in which employees and employees begin each work period with the saying of the Lord's Prayer or free prayer? Is prayer, silence and meditation more important for children than adults?"

The responsibility for individual prayer is the responsibility of the family. It has been advocated: "The family that prays together stays together." In family devotion each morning, the school child, the house wife, the business man and the industrial worker have opportunity to begin the day with thanksgiving, adoration and praise. To delegate this responsibility to organizations, institutions and industrial situations is to minimize both its effectiveness and worth.

Dear Dr. Knudsen: "I am a student at college and work the day way through school. Our community has a released time program in which the school buildings are rented by the churches for a dollar a year, one hour each week, and a church is paying me to teach one of the classes. The curriculum is prescribed by the Council of Churches and is definitely not in line with what I believe. Shall I continue to teach the curriculum? Shall I substitute the curriculum with materials which are consistent with what I believe? I need the money but I have a guilty conscience in teaching what which I do not believe."

If you are employed by a church or educational group, the church or group has the right and responsibility to select the curriculum; the employee has the obligation of sustaining the curriculum used. If you cannot conscientiously teach the material prescribed, you have no right to continue in the program which involves or not. Each person has a right to individual faith but a person does not have the right to exercise individual faith in an employer-employee situation when the contracted responsibility involves the presentation of spiritual truth in an organized framework of theological persuasion.

Assemblywoman Hughes Lone Democrat To Escape GOP County Sweep

Stamler Rolls To Victory By 15,993 In Senate Race

Republicans in Union County had a clean sweep in Tuesday's election, except for one woman from Union Township, Mrs. Mildred H. Hughes, who won reelection to her seat on the General Assembly as a Democrat with 84,692 votes. She has served three terms.

Her vote was topped by four successful Republican candidates running for the Assembly, but she nosed out Republican Henry P. Westover of Mountainside, who had only 83,000 votes. The county will therefore send four Republicans to the Assembly, while the Democrats will have only the one seat.

State Senator Nelson F. Stamler of Union, a Republican, won a smashing victory over his Democratic rival, James M. Mc-

Chowan of Elizabeth by a vote of 84,613 to 78,820. He thus gains a four-year term in the wake of his victory of last year for a one-year term to fill an unexpired term.

Another woman from Union, Republican Mary C. Kanane, unseated the incumbent Democratic county surrogate, Eugene Kirk of Elizabeth by a large majority, 88,418 to 80,740.

It was a field day for the Republicans in the race for three County Board of Freeholders seats. The voters returned Freeholders Edward H. Tiller of Garwood and Harry V. Osborne Jr. of Cranford to the county governing body with 85,535 and 84,806 votes, respectively.

Republican candidate Walter E. Dirich, a Rahway City Councilman for nine years, gained a slight lead over Osborne with 84,931 votes.

The nearest any Democrat came was 82,086 votes garnered by Walter J. Mitchell of Roselle, who nonetheless could console himself with reelection to the Borough Council of his home community, in which he has served for nine years. He ran for both offices.

Another Democratic official running for two offices, Borough Council President George G. Coody Jr., was less fortunate. With 78,194 votes, he was less successful than any other Republican or Democrat candidate running for seats on the General Assembly. He also lost his bid for reelection to the Borough Council.

Another Democratic candidate from this area competing for the Assembly was Springfield Township Committeeman and former mayor Vincent J. Bonadies, with 78,194 votes.

The other unsuccessful Democrats running for General Assembly and their vote counts were as follows: Joseph J. Higgins of Elizabeth, 82,539; and incumbent Jerome Krueger, 80,634.

The four successful Republicans elected to the General Assembly were Assistant County Prosecutor Nicholas S. LaCorte of Cranford, 88,071; Freeholder Peter J. McDonough of Plainfield 88,082; Francis X. McDermott of Westfield, 86,752; and Loree "Pip" Collins of Summit, 85,050.

In the only other county or state race, Joseph F. Durkin of Elizabeth, a Republican, beat out Democratic incumbent James J. Delaney of Scotch Plains in

DAY

Lots of folks kid-me about being a farmer, but I don't mind. Fact is, I'm mighty proud of it. Being born on a New Jersey farm gives me a heap of advantages, I figure. You don't grow up tending orchards without learning how to recognize which fruit will ripen to sweet perfection. You don't raise prize 4-H steers without getting a sixth sense about which meat will be tender and flavorful at the same time. I guess I was practically born knowing what makes for quality in food. This knowledge has never left me. And all of this knowledge goes toward making sure that EVERYTHING you get at Good Deal is the very best. Buying only those cucumbers that have been raised in rich black earth with good shade coverage makes a big difference in the quality you get. In cucumbers. And in everything you buy at Good Deal.

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy: We have a problem and the problem is the busy-busy, do-gooders, and goalies of our town. Those people apparently think it's their civic duty to inform our parents that we have been seen doing such "immoral" things as holding hands with a girl we like, talking to them and even having them at our homes. Well, we hope they're satisfied because they've succeeded in spoiling our reputation...

Dear Amy: I don't care for drinking. The only time I have a cocktail is when he takes me out to dinner. My friends say what a swell guy he could be if only he would stop drinking. I sure let that frighten me. Myself, I don't care for drinking. The only time I have a cocktail is when he takes me out to dinner. My friends say what a swell guy he could be if only he would stop drinking. I sure let that frighten me.

Dear A. H.: Don't bet on a lifetime of wedded bliss with a man who cashes his paycheck at a bar or your marriage will end up on the rocks. If you can persuade him to change his way of living, fine. But there is only one thing more heartening than a drinking fiend and that's a drinking husband.

He never remembers to return those loans for my budget writer. When it comes time to pay the bills the envelopes are short or empty. By then he's down too much to pay back. What would you suggest? Always Short.

Mrs. B. said, "We were calling on my husband's boyhood friend in Vermont. On each side of the steps of the porch were a number of very special potted plants. On the top step was a pail full of medium sized stones. 'What are they for?' asked my husband. 'Oh,' she replied, 'these I use to throw at the dogs when they come into my garden.' 'Do you ever hit 'em?' asked her nephew. With a wink in her eye, she replied, 'Not very often, but it scares 'em just the same.'"

On-The-Job Training For Vocational Pupils At Dayton Regional School

This is the first in a series of informative articles concerning the Union County Regional High School District.

By MARIAN BROWN

The impact on the back of a lastingly designed brochure mailed annually to businesses and industries in the Springfield area reads: "Print Shop, Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, New Jersey."

It is an illustrated folder outlining the regional high school district's part-time cooperative trade and industrial education program which seeks to provide on-the-job training for senior vocational students here.

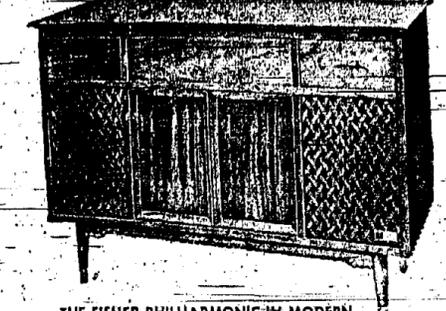

The brochure, carefully prepared on blue paper with photo-offset equipment in the student shop testifies to the quality of vocational training the schools offer, printing is one of the six trade subjects taught within the district.

It is called "On-the-Job" and industries as a means of interesting them in hiring part-time student workers who attend regular high school classes in the morning and work for standard wages in the afternoon. They complete a prescribed program of training in school, in their chosen field before they are eligible for the part-time work experience.

Subjects included in the district's built-in vocational school program are automotive mechanics, drafting, printing shop, cabinet making and electronics. Students taking distributive education (retailing and wholesaling), beauty culture and commercial subjects also participate in the work program.

are located in each of three schools in the six-town district and except for distributive education, which is taught in both Jonathan Dayton and the Arthur L. Johnson schools in Clark, are duplicated in any two schools. A student may participate in the vocational program of his choice regardless of where he lives in the district.

Jonathan Dayton offers the courses in printing and drafting and conducts a program in agriculture as well. The Johnson school teaches auto mechanics, beauty culture, data processing, machine shop and cabinetmaking. Electronics is taught at the Governor Livingston High School in Berkeley Heights.

Students in the vocational program help keep the district's school dropout rate at the very low figure of less than one per cent.

Donald Merachuk, director of special services in the regional high school district, has said that students in this program are in a "favored position" for employment after graduation by virtue of having had a year's part-time, paid work experience.

"There is no substitute for experience," Hoagland added. Asked what the students in this program usually do after graduation, Hoagland said that working for General Motors automobile dealers last year were sent to a General Motors training institute. Hoagland said that a man is usually given this opportunity only after he has worked for General Motors about five years.

A Clark boy won a Chrysler Motors trouble shooting contest last year and was sent to compete in a national contest held in Detroit. Hoagland said that the boy, a Chrysler Motors employee, placed fifth in the national contest, Hoagland said.

SCHOOL TIME for the employed student is spent in regular English, physical education and history classes and a specific class related to his occupation. He is regarded, according to reports written by his employer, as a contributing member of the company, and the company is proud to have him.

The program is only open to twelfth grade students, he said, and those must maintain a satisfactory academic record to continue in it. A minimum of 15 hours a week of the job is required.

"There is no doubt," Hoagland has said, "that this program helps keep the district's school dropout rate at the very low figure of less than one per cent."

Five Young Men Face Sentencing

Five young men who were originally indicted on charges of assault with intent to kill a Kentworth tavern owner are scheduled for sentencing Nov. 21 on lesser charges of malicious damage.

The quietest includes Ronald De Santis, 19, of 30 Maple ave., and Alexander L. Bell Jr., 19, of 327 Morris ave., both Springfield. James Sharkey, 20, of Newark; Joseph Lo Monaco, 21, of Hillside and Joseph Coppola, 16, of Hillside.

They pleaded guilty to the malicious damage charges Oct. 29 at a trial before Union County Judge Ervin S. Fulton. Asst. Prosecutor Leslie P. Gluck informed the court that the charges in the complaints were made with the approval of Prosecutor H. Douglas Stone. He announced a motion for dismissal of the indictments will be made when the five are sentenced.

The complaints arose from an incident which occurred July 16, 1962, when the five are alleged to have gone to the tavern looking for someone. One of them allegedly fired a shotgun blast through a window, causing damage estimated at $200, according to Gluck.

$10,000 Awarded For Head Injury

The Harvard School of 401 Kentworth Blvd., Kentworth, will give a former Springfield youth $10,000 for head injuries he suffered when he fell about a street Nov. 24, 1961, according to a settlement approved Oct. 20 by Union County Judge Edwin F. Fallon.

Lawrence Sullivan, now 18 and of Andover, was walking to a car in a parking lot at the rear of the building when he tripped and fell, falling about a street level.

According to the papers in the suit, the falling gave way and the boy tumbled down the stairs and suffered a skull fracture, cerebral concussion and other injuries.

The suit was instituted by Richard M. Sullivan as guardian for his son. He was allowed $10,000 for medical and legal expenses.

IRVINGTON LINOLEUM and CARPET CONTRACTORS

Yesterday's Carpet Said:
"NO TRESPASSING"

But Today's Carpet by Magee Says:
"COME ON IN!"

SEE the wonderful difference... in our carefree carpets with Acrilan® acrylic fibers in the pile.
CHOOSE now from our wide range of textures, colors and prices!

Some of the times — and how times have changed! Sunlight was the enemy of old-fashioned carpets, so the parlor draperies were kept closed to keep it out; footprints crushed the pile; normal walking brought in soil and "wore it out." And colors wore so drab and "practical", nobody was very tempted to enter the inner sanctum anyhow.

What a difference modern Acrilan acrylic fibers in the pile make in the parlor-turned-living room! The cheery, clear colors sing out a welcome; footprints are "absorbed" in the deep, luxurious pile; and the fiber is made to be walked on lived with for years. Other modern advantages: Acrilan is non-allergenic; moth-proof; mildew-resistant.

The many families of "true nature colors" offer a wide selection of shades both subtle and bold. Start living today with the inviting carpet.

Blackman

(Continued from Page 1) over this. We will have to carry the ball for those who are dissatisfied with taxes and other issues in town. They will star from us more than ever. Our's is a vigorous party, and it's growing more vigorous all the time.

"Now if you will excuse me," he said, "I'm going to Republican headquarters to congratulate Bill Koontz."

Campaign chairman Doug Maltice said, "We're proud of the way Alex conducted this campaign with the limited time he had. He has won friends, and we'll be better organized. We're year of course the bond issue played a strong part in the defeat. I don't want to give other reasons," he said, "but next time we'll be better organized. We're having a meeting this week."

"What am I saying?" pleaded Bonadies when he was pressed for a statement before leaving for his county headquarters. "I don't know yet how I've done in the county. Of course, the bond issue is pulling us down. And I disagree with all Alex has said."

The last of the Democratic County Committee members of the Democratic Club in Burlington said, "This has not been an even party government. I hope the Township Committee will now use some qualified Democrats in the next election."

Mrs. Ruth Hillard, vice-chairman of the Democratic County Committee, said, "We're proud of the type of campaign we waged. We didn't want to see anyone's reputation tarnished. I feel the interest in the bond issue contributed to the defeat of our candidates in Springfield."

Irwin Weinberg, 100 Lelak ave., pointed out that Bonadies ran about 200 votes behind Republican assembly candidates higher than any other Democratic candidate. The others lost by a margin of about two to one, he said, adding that there is also the ratio by which the bond issue was being pulled down.

"I can think of some reasons why we lost," someone said, "but not why we lost by this much."

"Wait till next year," said Wally Callen, finance chairman of the Springfield Democratic campaign committee.

"There's no another year," someone called.

"The atmosphere at the library has always made patrons feel at home," she said, "and Mrs. Keyser has continued the spirit of friendliness. I don't know of any other library which has such a lovely 'quiet room' where people can study and be alone." She still works in the library every Monday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons.

Sunday afternoons, of course, she is at the Cannonball House, where she works as a volunteer. The pre-Revolutionary War building, open to the public from 3 to 5 p.m., is worth a visit on a Sunday afternoon for its historical charm and interest. Its Chapter and its 50 members work while they go to stop for a talk with the interesting and delicately charming Miss Phoebe Briggs.

Tips for TODAY'S HOMEMAKER

From MARY ARMSTRONG, County Home Agent

Chicken casseroles, fried chicken, chicken salad, chicken cacciatore and chicken terrizini are among the tried and trusted chicken offerings for family and friends. But an outdoor meal get-together will make a real hit with homemade chicken.

CHICKENS ARE ALWAYS IN SEASON A DISH FOR ANY PARTY OR MEAL:

There's a chicken dish for every occasion! Whether it's a wedding reception, an outdoor barbecue, a porch supper, a holiday dinner or a midnight snack—small wonder, then, that the advantageous prices of chickens, especially fryers and broilers, are much appreciated by housewives.

Old and young enjoy chicken and find it easily digested, as well. Experienced cooks have usually developed a large repertoire of chicken dishes. But, young brides and not so experienced homemakers can also rely on chicken for many occasions with a feeling of security. Little can go wrong if directions are followed carefully.

Chickens in this continent are said to have been introduced through the tough game birds brought to Jamestown by the early settlers. And they were domesticated before that from the wild jungle fowl of Asia. But the delectable, tender young chickens of today, so meaty, juicy and full of flavor, bear little resemblance to their early forebears. Ever since the first carload of live units arrived in New York City in 1859, the poultry industry in this country has been making great strides to offer better quality as well as quantity at all seasons of the year.

When we realize in how many ways we use chicken, it's not surprising to learn that each of us eats an average 30 1/2 pounds of chicken a year. This figure, back in 1959, was less than half as large, only 13 1/2 lbs. per person. No longer is chicken saved as a special treat for Sunday dinners, but instead it appears for safe enjoyment anytime.

For a bridge luncheon or wedding reception, why not chicken casserole? Make it as rich and full of calories as you like with whipped cream. Or try this more economical recipe which is still delicious, although less apt to add pounds.

For that informal company dinner, try the baked chicken casserole, that takes little attention until serving time once in the oven.

For a spur of the moment lunch offering, try a meal-in-one chicken sandwich. And don't overlook the joy of sizzling-loftover cold roast chicken for cozy midnight snacks.

- Chicken Casserole
- 1 package of unflavored gelatin
 - 3/4 cup cold water
 - 2 cups hot chicken stock or bouillon
 - Grated onion
 - Worcestershire sauce
 - Paprika
 - Salt
 - Pepper
 - 2 cups diced cooked chicken
 - 1/2 cup finely chopped celery
 - 1/4 cup finely chopped green pepper
 - 1/2 cup nonfat dry milk
 - 1/2 cup water
 - 1 teaspoon lemon juice
 - Soften gelatin in one-half cup cold water and dissolve in chicken stock or bouillon.
 - Season with grated onion, Worcestershire sauce, paprika, salt and pepper. Chill until slightly thickened. Mix in cooked chicken, celery, green pepper and green pepper. Refrigerate dry milk in one-half cup water and beat until stiff.

Beat in lemon juice. Fold into gelatin mixture and chill until firm. Serve on crisp fresh watercress or other salad greens.

VARY YOUR PUMPKIN PIE WITH A TRIO OF TOPPING

The old fashioned pumpkin pie is made of big fat apples, women with a new twinkle brought to the table with a tasty and attractive topping. It has new glamour and interest.

Here are three ideas to choose from. The flavors are right with the pumpkin filling.

In one, spicy pumpkin pie is paired with apple butter for an Apple-Cream topping. A honey of a dish results from the long-loved combination of brown sugar and honey that team in a Walnut Crunch spread. Lastly, there's Orange-cheese topping, a delectable blending of orange marmalade, cream cheese, and a whisper of cinnamon.

APPLE-CREAM TOPPED PUMPKIN PIE

- 1 cup heavy cream
- 1 tablespoon confectioner's sugar
- 2 tablespoons apple butter
- 2 banana slices
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 8 pecan halves
- 1 8- or 9-inch baker's pumpkin pie

Whip cream with confectioner's sugar until stiff. Fold apple butter and spoon onto pie in eight mounds. Dip banana slices into lemon juice. Place 1 banana slice and 1 pecan half on each whipped cream mound.

WALNUT CRUNCH TOPPED PUMPKIN PIE

- 1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
- 1 tablespoon milk
- 1 tablespoon honey
- 1/2 cup chopped walnuts
- 1 8- or 9-inch baker's pumpkin pie. Combine brown sugar, milk, honey, and chopped nuts. Spread over top of pumpkin pie. Bake in a moderate oven 350 degrees F. for 10 minutes.

ORANGE-CHEESE TOPPED PUMPKIN PIE

- 1 egg white
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- Dash of salt
- 1/2 cup orange marmalade
- 1 (3-ounce) package cream cheese
- 1/8 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 tablespoon orange marmalade

Now's Time To Plant Most Deciduous Trees

The season has arrived for planting deciduous trees and shrubs, now that most have shed their leaves, reminds Donald B. Lacey, Rutgers extension home horticulture specialist.

All but the tender-bark ones such as dogwood, which are best planted in the spring.

Your nurseryman will be glad to see you now, during his comparatively slack season, and can afford more time to talk with you and give you advice, Lacey points out.

Meanwhile, here's some advice from Lacey: Plant your tree or shrub about as deep as it stood in the nursery. Be sure the drainage is good. Fill in around the roots with high quality topsoil. Mutch the surface over the roots and keep watering so your new tree does not dry out.

'Spoiler' Springfield Takes Aim At Westfield Next

Leader Sports

Booters Win, Tie; To Face Westfield

Jonathan Dayton Regional High School's soccer team, which defeated Cranford and tied Scotch Plains last week, will attempt to keep its winning ways on tomorrow against Westfield at Westfield.

Weiss Bowls 241

Mort Weiss bowled 241-502 to establish a new high series in the Temple Beth Ahm Bowling League last week at Hy Way Bowl. "Doc" Widom posted a 235, Bernie Brudich 224, Herb Manowitz 212, Bernie Sanders, Joe Lichter, and Dan Rosenthal 207, Milt Koplik 201, Herb Elliott 202 and Milt Billett 201.

Springfield's soccer team failed to come in out of the rain last Friday, and as a result the booters from Dayton downed Cranford, 3-1.

Following Friday's victory, the bulldogs went out and tied what Paul called a "formidable opponent," Scotch Plains. The game was scoreless.

Paul was proud of last week's victory, because it proved that "the boys could get out there and do the job," something the mentor has claimed all along.

It will be a big shot in the arm, said Paul. The mentor explains the victory very simply. He says we just finally got all the parts together and it clicked. Paul did not say that Cranford has a better-than-average team and that they have a potent scoring attack, but when asked he admitted to the calibre of the opposition.

Limited Openings Available In Boys Bowling League

There are still a few spots open in the Boys Recreation Bowling League which began its season last Friday.

Four Strikes Top Girls' Recreation Bowling League

The Four Strikes led by Nancy Morlino's 100 series, took the measure of the Wild-Bowlers to regain first place in the Girls' Recreation Bowling League.

Upsets Cranford On 'Team Effort'

When the Dayton High School football team swept past previously unbeaten Cranford High, 25-13, Saturday, it seemed like everyone was surprised — that is everyone except the Springfield football team and its coaching staff.

Glover Bowls 648 In Temple League

Art Glover's 241-235-448 led the bowlers in the Shurey Shalom Brotherhood League at Hy Way Bowl.

3-Way Tie For 1st In Sports League

Milton's Liquors took two from the Center Sinclair while Con's won one in a three-way tie for first place in the Sports League.

Participation of New Jersey citizens in the current campaign to raise funds for the 1964 United States teams who will compete in Innsbruck, Austria (Jan. 30-Feb. 9), and at Tokyo (Oct. 10-24), is one of the most meaningful and most of when applied to the U. S. Olympic team and the citizens of New Jersey. Their support, not only financially but in the development of championship athletes, is a tremendous boost for the U. S. Olympic Committee's preparation.

The 1960 team included 18 athletes from New Jersey, with Don Brad, pole vaulter, heading the list as a gold medal winner.

The USOC has the responsibility of organizing and sending 28 teams of men and 11 teams of women in 23 different sports, totaling more than 1,100 individuals to represent the United States in the Olympic Games.

The cost of preparation, selection, transportation, feeding and housing those teams, in addition to sponsoring a rigorous pre-Games conditioning program, will be approximately $2,100,000. This entire sum must be financed from non-government control, entirely through voluntary contributions.

Public Given Warning On Book

The publisher of a book which is being advertised as containing exclusive information and "tips" on how to get twice as much social security, states that his book has been cleared for accuracy. "With the highest legal authority on the subject of the city benefits claims."

"This book, the Social Security Administration, has not been cleared by the Administration. They said that the book, which is offered for sale at prices ranging from $1.00 to $5, contains advice which if followed might place a person in a worse rather than a better financial position."

They said also that taking some of the "tips" the book offers might lead to extensive delay in the payment of social security benefits, because all of the facts would have to be investigated before social security benefits could be paid.

"Responsible publishers of privately published books and pamphlets about social security," the Administration pointed out, "make sure that their materials are technically accurate and up to date. Also, they do not try to mislead with advertising material indicating that the information they offer is not available elsewhere. Nor do they attempt to imply that a person might lose money by not buying the book they offer for sale."
