Expect Hardgrove To Be Mayor GOP Policy Would Continue

It became apparent this week that Robert D. Hardgrove, present chairman of the public safety committee of the township committee, will be elected to lead the town government at the Jan. 1 organization meeting.

Although the election would be neither confirmed or denied, it has been the policy of the Township Committee since that body became predominantly Republican following the 1960 election, for the majority to switch the person holding the post of mayor from year to year.

With William F. Kozak as the most recently elected member, and reportedly slated to head the department overseeing recreation, those close to the scene see it highly unlikely that he will gain the mayor's spot.

Carmen Catafano has indicated that he might move from the township prior to the 1964 election, and has gone on record as saying that in any case he would not seek reelection when his term expires in 1965.

Mayor Arthur M. Falkin is presently serving his year in the mayor's position and Committee member Philip Del Vecchio held the post last year. Those close to the scene are saying that in 1964 it will be Hardgrove.

Hardgrove was elected to the Committee for the first time in 1961, when he and Falkin took the election from Demo-

No School Tax Increase Anticipated Although New Budget Figure Higher

Amount To Raise By Local Taxes Also Shows Hike

School officials do not anticipate any rise in the tax rate for school purposes, although the overall preliminary budget passed by the Board of Education Tuesday night is $45,000 higher than last year's figure.

The proposed budget for 1964-65 is $1,582,000, and the amount to be raised by local taxation, $1,331,000, Alan R. Cunningham, chairman of the finance committee, commented that while the amount to be raised by taxation is an increase of $82,000, he does not anticipate any change in the current $2.56 tax rate per $100 assessed valuation.

Cunningham said that the increase will be offset by the additional refunds in the township.

Tuesday night's move was the first step in preparing the budget for school action on Tuesday, both 11. The tax is currently in the hands of County Board President Dr. William H. West for personal suggestions and approval.

A formal hearing on the items will be held by the Board at its regular meeting on Jan. 21.

If the budget is approved from the county superintendent's office in the same form, the voters will be asked to approve a net outlay of $1,179,000, an increase of $97,000, and capital outlay of $140,000, a decrease of $33,000.

A school board official had pointed out that teachers' salaries make up some 7 per cent of the budget, and the annual $200 across the board increases have to be included in the figures. This is included in the current expense item.

Cunningham said that the Board anticipates State Aid in the amount of $1,242,124, a small drop from the 1963-64 figure of $1,245,000. He said that Federal Aid is $1,500,000.

The 1963-64 total budget for operation of the Springfield public school system was $1,547,550, with the amount to be raised by local taxes set at $1,309,200.

This was established by the $2.56 tax rate per $100 valuation. (Continued on Page 17)

NEWLY ELECTED OFFICERS of the Springfield Human Rights Committee for Fair Housing look over constitution which was adopted at meeting last week. Left to right are Irving W. Samuels, chairman; Mrs. William H. Lorimer, vice chairman; Mrs. Phillip Amos, recording secretary; and Joseph A. Bender, vice chairman. Not present when plans were taken over: Mrs. Phillip L. Lewis, corresponding secretary; and William R. Roselet, treasurer.

Fair Housing Group Elects, Samuels Named Chairman

"We have taken long enough with our organization. Now is the time to move forward," Irving Samuels said last Thursday at the Raymond Chisholm School, following his election as chairman of the Springfield Human Rights Committee for Fair Housing.

A slate of other officers and members of the executive board were also elected, and a constitution was adopted at the meeting. Guest speaker was William Helzel, chairman of the Fair Housing Council of South Orange and Maplewood, Samuels presided.

Consent of the local committee, as set forth in its constitution, is to "secure fair housing practices in our community for all persons, regardless of race, religion or national origin."

Samuels commented that he had received a number of informal requests to "go slow" and to "twist down" the purposes of the fair housing group.

He stated, however, that "our action will be reasonable, realistic and designed to bring us closer to specific goals, primarily the establishment of a moral climate in which Negroes can buy homes anywhere in Springfield."

Limited Negro home-owners, at present, are virtually all limited to "The Square" in the neighborhood of Ruby, Diverse and Hackett sts.

Other officers elected were: Joseph Bender and Alke Lorimer, vice-chairmen; William R. Roselet, treasurer; Irma Amos, recording secretary; and Lawrence Lewis, corresponding secretary.

Named to the executive board were the officers, and Larry Armstrong, Dr. Samuel Gross, Robert Johnson, Carver Joyner, Township Committee member-elect William Kozak, James Marshall, Harold Oneal, Nat Rulstein and Milton Zisman. Samuels said that committee will be appointed at once and plans manager for a specific course of action. He noted that the Springfield group has become one of the 87 communities throughout the state affiliated with the National Fair Housing Council.

Praise Miss Reyner At Library Meeting

A 10-year history of the Springfield Public Library, with recommendations for the future of the institution, written during the past year by Miss Helen C. Reyner, retiring librarian, has been staunchly praised by Kenneth Helzel, president of the Library Board of Trustees.

At the same time he squelched rumors that Miss Reyner was being forced to retire and explained the release of two other employees.

"In a statement to the board last week, Helzel said that Miss Reyner's report shows "solid thinking" and expressed appreciation for the time she has spent traveling to Trenton and other places gathering comparative data for the report and its recommendations. The document will be available to the public soon, he announced.

Referring to rumors concerning Miss Reyner's retirement, he said: "It has come to my attention that the Board of Trustees has forced Miss Reyner to retire." He smiled at Miss Reyner, who smiled back.

He quoted a paragraph of a letter to Mayor Arthur M. Falkin published in another newspaper last week, which read: "We have just learned that three of the most important people of the Springfield Public Library are no longer to be a part of it. We are referring to the dismissal of Miss Reyner, Mrs. Simmons and Mrs. Hahn, effective December 31."

Plan Dinner Miss Reyner is scheduled to retire this February. A testimonial dinner is slated for her on January 15.

"Two years ago," Helzel said, "Miss Reyner said she was thinking of retiring before the age of 65 and asked us to look for an assistant director. Miss Reyner interviewed several people for the position, and upon her recommendation we engaged Mrs. Helzel. I am sure that the Board of Trustees has forced Miss Reyner to retire." He smiled at Miss Reyner, who smiled back.

Approval Given To Nursing Home By Zoning Board

The first step in the building of a convalescent home on the Eastern Farm property on Mountain Ave. was reached Tuesday night when the Board of Adjustment recommended to the Township Committee approval of a special exception use for the home.

Valco, Inc., the company seeking to construct the proposed establishment on the property, will now have to gain approval of the Township Committee.

Construction of the modern facility has been estimated at $500,000, and its construction on the particular tract has been opposed by area residents.

When the application appeared before the Planning Board for an advisory report, it was noted by Planning Board members that the plan did not conform to a larger amount of "sturbance" than allowable in the zone for which the building is planned.

Board Denies Plans On Nursery School

Application for construction of a home to include space for a nursery school for children from ages three to five was denied by the Board of Adjustment Tuesday night.

Area residents turned out in large numbers to protest construction of the building which was slated for use of some 80 youngsters in two sessions, in what was termed a $407,000 to $550,000 home area on Green Hill rd.

In his application Bertram A. Gaudin said that the property would face the new Rt. 78. He said that the school would not produce a traffic problem because youngsters would be transported in the school's vehicles.

He testified that the property would also contain a two-car garage and a black top area for parking. Robert G. Miller, adjustment board chairman, pointed out that the plans before the board indicated a one-year garage.

William Gaudin of 14 Green Hill rd., one of two protesting property owners within the 200-foot distance from the proposed

Unopposed Slate Waits Opposition To School Board

No one really expects a "hot" school board election as there hasn't been an unopposed slate within the past eight years, but to date no one has come forward to oppose the incumbents.

According to Assistant School Board Secretary Audrey Rubin, no petitions have been picked up at the Board office, Deadline for filing is 4 p.m., Jan. 2.

Early this month John Gacos, Joseph A. Bender and Robert T. Southward announced their intentions to seek reelection, and began circulating their petitions. Bender has been a member of the Board since 1959 and Gacos is seeking election to his second full term. Southward, elected for a one-year unexpired term last year, is making his bid for a three-year seat.

Residents will cast their ballots for members of the Board and vote on the 1964-65 budget on Feb. 11.

Need Variance

At that time it was pointed out that a variance would have to be sought to allow for the additional land coverage.

Tuesday night, Attorney G. Simon, attorney for Valco, said that the organization was "taking one step at a time" and that ultimately the structure will conform to the zone laws.

Board action came just prior to the 90-day limit for reaching a decision. Application for the special exception was filed on Sept. 27.

At its last meeting the Board took an "informal poll" on a decision, according to Chairman Robert C. Miller, and the results were a two-to-one deadlock. Miller said that no vote was taken at his November meeting.

Miller said at that time that he absence of Board member Jean Widmer necessitated carrying the matter over until Tuesday.

Tentative $4,060,933 Budget Adopted For Regional Schools

A $4,060,933 budget was tentatively adopted by the Union County Regional High School District No. 1 Board of Education Tuesday night for the 1964-65 school year.

Meeting in the Governor Livingston High School in Berkeley Heights, the board announced the total figure, which represents an increase of $553,181.75 over the current school year budget.

Board President Avery W. Ward of Kentworth said the tentative budget had been submitted to the Union County superintendent of schools for approval after which it will be advertised preliminary to a public hearing Jan. 21 at 8 p.m. in the dramatic room (No. 133) of the school in Berkeley Heights.

The public hearing will examine the proposed budget, the proposed school days from Jan. 6 to 21 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the same room.

In a statement prepared by the board with regard to the proposed budget, it was pointed out that next year the enrollment in the three regional high schools will be more than 200 pupils. The student population will increase approximately five percent, the proposed budget, nine percent.

Miss Teachers Much of this increase is reflected in salaries for additional teachers and other personnel, repairs, new equipment and debt service, according to the prepared statement.

The increase in the amount to be raised by taxation is $283,070.75. Of this amount, $100,000 is provided to pay the interest on the new bond issue for the Kentworth school.

With state aid of $408,057 and a balance of $10,000, the board's aid of $10,000 anticipated, and with a balance of $131,100 appropriated from unexpended funds, the net amount to be raised by taxation is $3,512,760.

Each of the six towns in the regional district will contribute a portion of the total proportionate to the respective adjusted assessed valuations. The board states that the six communities have valuations of $300,000,000 supporting the system. The municipalities include Kentworth, Springfield, Mountain

Praise Efforts

Samuels praised the efforts of the local clergy, Catholics and Jewish in organizing the committee, and he said that the clergymen have agreed to serve on a special steering committee. They will also be ex-officio members of the executive board.

Hildebrand reviewed the work of the South Orange-Maplewood council since the first informal meetings last March and the formal organization in June. He said that the group had worked closely with Julian Brenner, president of the Board of Realtors of the Oranges and Maplewood, which also includes Springfield.

The realtors' group, in September, issued a pioneering policy statement outlawing "block-busting," the practice of promoting sales of homes in a neighborhood where a few Negro families have just moved.

This fall, Hildebrand's council moved to "promote harmony and prevent sales in two neighborhoods, one in South Orange and one in Maplewood, with new Negro residents."

Takes Sharp Issue With Vocational Bid

A Union County school official this week took sharp issue with arguments attributed to the superintendents of the county's public school districts favoring a county vocational school at the high school level.

Dr. Arthur C. K. Jones of Mountaineer, a member of the Union County Regional High School District No. 1 Board of Education, said the county educators might examine the operations of the regional district to see how vocational training is afforded some students, but not wholly to the exclusion of academic education.

Dr. Jones referred to a story in the Tuesday Plainfield Courier-News, reporting a resolution adopted by the superintendent calling on the county Board of Freeholders to establish such a vocational school. The superintendents pointed to dropout and unemployment among teenagers.

Low Rate

"The value-of-the-individual scheduling (in the regional schools) is evidenced by our low dropout rate, approximately one per cent a year," Dr. Jones said at a regional board meeting.

Later elaborating on the subject to a Leader reporter, Dr. Jones said studies have shown that 50 per cent of the jobs that exist today did not exist 25 years ago, and that there is every reason to believe that this trend will continue into the immediate future.

"Our guidance workers are well aware of this fact and constantly make every effort in their individual and group counseling sessions with students, parents and teachers to stipulate the need for broad subject choice and content."

"In a flexible, dynamic work society such as ours, the single career choice of the past is passé, and students are constantly advised to broaden their interests and skills to the extent to be able to successfully cope with this situation. The regional schools are attempting to meet this need for diversification by a constantly expanding program of studies."

Dr. Jones said the practice in the past was to compel a child of 13 or 14 to decide between vocational or academic high school education. He said that a child at that age is hardly prepared to decide on a future that must last him for a lifetime, and that the capabilities of many a youngster were stymied through a decision made by an immature mind, and very often by that of a parent.

Was Dual Highway?

One Sunday night last month a truck bearing Christmas trees from Nova Scotia suddenly pulled into the driveway at the Chisholm School and knocked down some power wires. School Superintendent Benjamin News-wanger told the Board of Education that the driver said he thought the drive was a dual highway.

"We realize Miss Reyner may be approaching retirement age, but we are at a loss to understand the letting go of Miss Simmons and Miss Ham. As students of Springfield for the past 12 years, we have been consistent users of the library and have always found the above-named persons to have been consistently generous with their time, cooperation and knowledge in providing information and in the securing of any or all books required by us. So, too, has our 20th of high school age been invariably aided by these three persons since his pre-school days."

"We have always been proud of our library, boasting of the intellectually zestful and happy spirit that have characterized it. Our friends of neighboring townships have done to recognize that our enthusiasm was not unwarranted when told of the individual attention one unfailingly received and the day-to-day keeping pace with the book and periodical publications of our times. No small measure of credit is due to the efficient leadership and wonderful knowledge of books and the functions of the library of the three library people cited."

"We feel it is your duty as a citizen to keep these key persons in our library and that you will respect your influence in their behalf. Yours will be the gratitude of many Springfield residents."

Consolidate

Referring to the release of Mrs. Polly Holz and Mrs. Antoinette Simmons, effective December 31, Hetzel explained that the two share the post of reference librarian, each on a part-time basis, and the district has decided to consolidate the positions by hiring one full-time person. The new position, which will pay $5,000 a year, was offered to Mrs. Holz. Hetzel said, adding that she did not accept it. The work of this position will be performed by Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, who was appointed assistant director last September, he explained, until the post is filled. Mrs. Miller has worked part time since her appointment last September and will become a full-time employee after Mrs. Holz's resignation.

Mrs. Francis was promoted from assistant director to acting director last February, he said.

Another change, Hetzel said, is the appointment of Mrs. Alice Schmitt as circulation clerk. This is a new position, he explained, intended to free the librarians for helping patrons and performing other duties.

"He added that the library is fortunate in having an excellent staff of volunteers to help with much of the work."

On Substitute List

Mrs. Frances Zorby and Mrs. Elizabeth Willis were placed on the official substitute list by the Springfield Board of Education yesterday night. Mrs. Willis, it was explained, will be used primarily to tutor a child with a neurological impairment. The board also accepted the resignation of Miss Sandra Bromberg, effective Dec. 31.

Help Given To Persons Suffering Nerve Deafness

CHICAGO, Dec. 10. — Until today, little has been written about nerve deafness, the nation's No. 1 cause of hearing disability. Now, however, an amazing booklet about this condition is being offered to the public free.

Beltone Hearing Service, at 8 So. Broad St., Elizabeth, has a supply of these books on hand and is making them available free of charge to anyone wishing a copy. Simply write to Beltone or telephone ED 8-7000.

The booklet explains the facts about nerve deafness — the painless, invisible condition that blinds and isolates millions of persons of all ages.

How does nerve deafness interfere with hearing? What symptoms first warn you of this condition? Will surgery help, will a hearing aid help? Will anything help?

The booklet offered now to the public free of charge by Beltone Hearing Service explains why persons may hear and yet not understand. Can this condition be corrected? Is there any help in this hearing ailment — nerve deafness?

"The Inside Story of Nerve Deafness," Beltone's remarkable free booklet, tells you what you can do to end this embarrassing ordeal.

If you are in the neighborhood of 8 So. Broad St., Elizabeth, come in for your free copy. Or write to Beltone Hearing Service, Phone, ED 8-7688.

Kiwans Hear Recreation Aide From Millburn

At last Thursday's meeting of the Millburn-Springfield Kiwanis Club, George Bauer, Millburn Township recreation supervisor, spoke about the various undertakings of his department.

He showed a number of slides depicting the many and varied phases of the types of activities the community plans for its young people. There are athletic activities in the various schools as well as Taylor Park with its recreation hall, tennis courts, and pond; and the facilities at White Oak Ridge Park which include the ball field, recreation hall and the beautiful new $475,000 swimming pool complex.

Vice-President Roy Scerruto reminded the members that the next meeting would be the children's Christmas party at White Oak Ridge Recreation Hall today.

A short meeting of the Board of Directors was held after the luncheon.

Chamber Board Nominees Named

The Springfield Chamber of Commerce announced this week that the Board of Directors has elected a Nominating Committee to select nominees for the vacancies to be filled on the Board of Directors.

The committee has selected the following members for the designated term on the Board:

James Cawley, three-year term; Henry Grabarz, three-year term; Will Salesky, three-year term; Jack Sulfeman, three-year term; and Murray Zucker, two-year term. Zucker would fill out the remainder of a three-year term.

Freeholder Post Sought By Wright

Henry S. Wright of 53 Colfax rd., who has previously made it known that he is an aspirant to the United States presidency has also asked that he be considered for the post of Union County Freeholder.

In a letter to Jay Steiner, chairman of the County Republican Committee, Wright last week asked that the screening committee consider him as a candidate for a freeholder seat. In another letter with copies to each of the nine-man Freeholder body, Wright suggested that some member of the group be available at all times during the regular work day to answer queries from the public.

Board Accepts Retirement Bid

The retirement request of Mrs. Margaret S. Gantz, who formerly taught in the Johnson Dayton Regional High School District No. 1 Board of Education at the Governor Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights Tuesday night was accepted with regrets.

For the past eight years Mrs. Gantz has been guidance counselor at the Arthur T. Johnson Regional High School in Clark, but she still has many friends in Springfield, a spokesman for the board said. She taught there for 12 years.

Dr. Warren M. Davis, superintendent of schools, learned Mrs. Gantz was a long-time and valued teacher and counselor in the regional schools. The retirement becomes effective on March 3, 1964.

SIXTH IN SERIES ON SPRINGFIELD SCHOOLS

Educators Deal With Special Problems In Special Ways

(This is the sixth in a series of articles on the Springfield public elementary and junior schools.)

By MARIAN BROWN

There are areas in education that cannot be served within the limits of the classroom program.

They deal with special problems, and they are handled in special ways: speech therapy classes, developmental reading, counseling for socially and emotionally maladjusted, parent counseling and in other unique ways.

These are called special services. Dr. Robert Micale, school psychologist and director of the special services department, says that all children have problems at one time or another and that the services of the department are available to them all upon referral by a teacher or principal.

"Many parents think," he said, "that there is something seriously wrong when their child has a problem. This is unfortunate, because all children can have problems. Our function is primarily to keep little problems from becoming big problems."

A special feature of the special services department is a child study team that meets twice a week under terms set up by the Board of Education in 1959 which provides partial reimbursement by the state for programs to help socially and emotionally maladjusted children.

Again Dr. Micale cautioned that symptoms of social and emotional maladjustment are not necessarily cause for excessive alarm. Parents, he said, sometimes resist the services of the team because they are afraid that accepting help implies the presence of a serious difficulty. He emphasized again that any child can have a problem, and that help should be given before it becomes aggravated.

The child study team consists of Dr. Micale; Wallace Hill, home-school counselor; Mrs. Lillian Hayward and Mrs. Loretta O'Brien, remedial instructors; Mrs. Elsie Blanche, school nurse; and Dr. Jay Fidler, consulting psychiatrist.

THE GROUP MEETS every second Tuesday with Dr. Fidler for guidance in conducting their programs. They advise them on counseling procedures and other methods of dealing with the children and parents they seek to help.

Last week one of the team sought advice on understanding a parent who allegedly could not stick to the subject in discussing her child's problem.

Dr. Fidler advised that the parent was really talking very much to the subject and that seeming digressions could provide a great deal of insight into those things that concerned him. "Listen to what he has to say about," he advised, "and perhaps you will find it in the team discussions when they need help or when their help is needed with a particular case."

That discussion was concluded, as are their reports. Following the team discussion their reports are made to the school's office and route them to the proper channel. This could be a remedial reading, or speech therapy class. Sometimes a visit from the home-school counselor to the parents is indicated.

It was a battery of tests is administered to the child before a decision is reached on the manner of handling the referral. Intelligence and personality tests are administered individually by Dr. Micale in his office, although the specific tests that might be used vary with the individual case. Sometimes a child is asked to interpret Rorschach cards. Sometimes he is asked to tell a story, using a picture as a stimulus, or take-off point. These are special pictures prepared to draw from the child a discussion of the things that bother him — sibling rivalry, parent-child conflict, or child-school conflict, for example.

If the child finds no story

EARLY ISSUE

The Christmas and New Year's issues of this newspaper will be on the newsstands or delivered to your home on the Monday preceding each holiday. The Friday noon deadline for news releases, photographs and related material must be met to insure publication.

In the picture, this, too, is indicative, Dr. Micale says, pointing out that for some reason the child's imagination is blocked.

Most problems can be handled by the school, Dr. Micale explained, but for the few cases of more serious maladjustment the services of the Union County Psychiatric Clinic in Plainfield are used. Problems are handled in school in several ways: by placing the child in a special class, by referring the child to a counselor, by referring the child to a counselor, by referring the child to a counselor, by referring the child to a counselor.

OPEN THE PARENTS are counseled by Dr. Micale himself. Sometimes the principal or teacher does the counseling. The home-school counselor is the liaison between the family and the school.

Our greatest problem, he said, is that a great deal of pressure is placed on children today. They should be motivated on a daily basis and not be pressured into learning in order to meet future pressures. They have too much anxiety, he said.

Dr. Micale received his PhD in education and his MA degree in sociology and psychology at Temple University.

Report Given On 'T, I' Program

Almost 80 per cent of the seniors who graduated from the Union County Regional Vocational Trades and Industries and Vocational Beauty Culture Classes this past year are now either in advanced schooling or in jobs directly related to their school preparation.

Donald Hongland, Regional Vocational coordinator, announced this week.

Hongland was "particularly pleased" because this was the first graduating class in these two fields. Many of the graduates are working with the employer who was their cooperating employer in high school.

Of the 22 applicants in Beauty Culture, two have enrolled in advanced institutions and in one new beautician, employed as such, he said.

Of the 17 young men who were graduated from the vocational Trades and Industries, 15 have enrolled in advanced schooling, one has entered the armed services, and 11 are working in a field other than that for which he was prepared, however the one young man who and trades and industries programs are having virtually no drop-outs. The "T and I" program has been greatly expanded during the current year, he added.

crata Richard Sullivan and Peter Pinnerly. At that time Del Vecchio was elected to fill a one-year unexpired term.

A graduate of Newark College of Engineering with a degree in electrical engineering, Hardgrove also holds a master's degree in management engineering. He is employed by Public Service Electric and Gas Co.

In his capacity as chairman of the public safety committee, Hardgrove, among other actions, worked along with the Fire Department in an attempt to set up a shorter work week which has gone into effect.

Most recently he pressed for action to prevent damage to both public and private trees and other property damage to prevent a recurrence of a situation which caused destruction in the moving of a house in the path of Rt. 78.

HELD THOSE REINS, UNCLE SAM

While Santa Claus never seems to lose his reindeer on their world-wide, gift-giving dash, the Federal Government should hold a tighter rein on the gyrations of its huge program of grants-in-aid to state and local governments.

Chairman Muskie reported that his subcommittee's study provided "massive evidence" that most State and local officials "with near unanimity" want Congress to tighten the reins on Federal grant-in-aid programs "which now disperse an estimated $10 billion annually." The report also indicates that a great majority of the respondents to the subcommittee's 97-item questionnaire urge the Congress to enact legislation to provide for: (1) regular Congressional review of all laws providing grants-in-aid to State and local governments; (2) periodic Congressional review of future Federal grant program; (3) amendment of the Internal Revenue Code to provide for a credit against the Federal income tax for income taxes paid by the States; (4) Federal payments in lieu of taxes to local governments with respect to certain Federal property; (5) the dispersing of the post audit of grants by individual Federal agencies and acceptance "under certain conditions" of the audit report by State authorities; (6) more effective utilization of certain Federal grants by encouraging better coordinated local review of grant applications; and (7) uniform accounting and auditing procedures for the administration of grants-in-aid.

For New Jersey taxpayers, the recommendation that Uncle Sam bear down on the $10 billion annual Federal aid "give away" makes sense. For, according to annual estimates of New Jersey Taxpayers Association, they are paying $1.80 in taxes for every $1.00 in grants-in-aid received in the State and that doesn't sound like a gift—even at Christmas time.

STEADY SPEED

When approaching a bill in winter time, a steady, safe speed will help maintain traction, the National Safety Council advises. But reduce speed at the crest so that brakes will not have to be used on the downgrade.

12 Area Motorists Forfeit Licenses For Points, Speed

Twelve motorists from this area forfeited their licenses for varying periods under the New Jersey Point System and 60-70 Excessive Speed Program, the Division of Motor Vehicles announced this week.

Henry K. Ell, 18, of 252 Ellery Ave., Wallisburg, lost his license for four months, effective Nov. 18, under the Point System.

Thomas L. Hinkle, 19, of 319 E. Grant Ave., Roselle Park, and Edward J. Badolato, 23, of 1562 Gregory Ave., Union, each lost their licenses for three months under the Point System. Hinkle's revocation is effective Nov. 24, and Badolato's, Nov. 15.

Nicholas P. Schmidt, 22, of 1071 W. Chestnut St., Union, lost his license for two months, effective Dec. 2; and Irving Zeleny, 2, of 49 Christy Ln., Springfield, lost his for 45 days, effective Nov. 27. Both were penalized under the Point System.

George E. Scherer, 21, of 117 Newwood St., Wallisburg, and Edwin A. Stadler, 21, of 1036 Stowe St., Union, each lost their licenses for 60 days under the Speed Program. Scherer's revocation was effective Nov. 14, and Stadler's, Nov. 20.

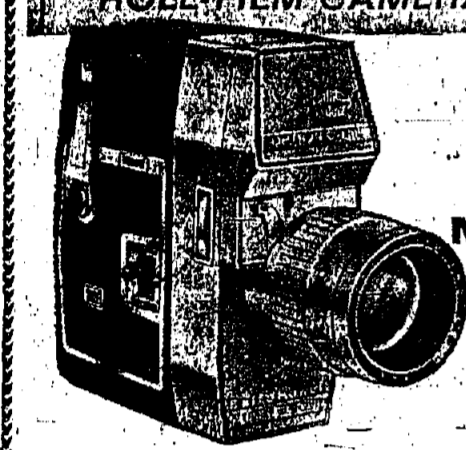

Joel I. Cohen, 19, of 274 Nesbit Ter., Irvington, Leonard Goldberg, 20, of 1866 Manor Dr., Union, and Peter M. Barlow, 35, of Manor Dr., Wallisburg, each lost their licenses for 30 days, effective Nov. 15, under the Speed Program.

Anton Radoviano, 28, of 749 Grove St., Irvington, and Mary Pink, 38, of 708 C. Union, each lost their licenses for 30 days under the Speed Program. Radoviano's revocation is effective Nov. 12, and the Union woman's, Nov. 18.

The 3D World Of Sound... Or How The Stereo Bug Bit Baxter

(Following is another account of the wry side of everyday life, as noted by Bob Baxter, cameraman and humorist without portfolio.)

BY BOB BAXTER
I don't know whether you must think it up to social prestige or to just plain "got-to-have-it-itis," but the two-headed stereo bug has bitten me. And, as usual, when something strikes my fancy, I get bit in a big way.

Stereo never appealed to me, mainly because my wife can't hear it (don't ask me why), and secondly, because in order to get a half-decent set, you practically have to mortgage your wife and kids (no takes), and third and last, because I am from the old class of 70. Thus, I have thousands of discs stashed here and there and anywhere I can find a few 10 or 12-inch spaces.

In addition to my shellac collection, I had invested heavily about 15 years ago in old-fashioned LPs — those wonderful 33 1/3 discs that gave almost an hour's music on a 12-inch non-breakable record.

So with the coming of the LP, my original Corba-head Zenith record-player went out the door, and in came the latest in "two-speed automatic record players and changers." Contentedly, I sat back and listened to Beethoven, Brahms, Bach and the rest of those boys in 33 1/3 speed and sighed that at last the ultimate in recording had been reached.

Not too many years later, RCA came on the market with the J1118 45, but I remained loyal and shunned them like the plague. Then about seven or eight years ago, along came the hi-fi kick. Again I resisted and chafed desperately to my "two-speed automatic record player and changer."

But time marches on (especially since I seem to grow older at the rate of two-to-one, and with the advent of stereo movies and stereo radio programs — which I couldn't receive — I succumbed to the spell of three-dimensional stereophonic sound.

NOW AS THE PROUD owner of a stereo set, I have learned two lessons: the stereo hunger is an expensive one to feed, and two, that the neighbors on either side of me don't need, or rather, can't hear, their own radio, record or TV sets because of the amount of volume needed to "enhance" the true stereo. And, brother, I like to enhance.

So, at last I have my very own stereo and gain again in the neighborhood of the stereo people of the same status I have attained. Out the door, or rather out in the garage, went my trusty "two-speed automatic record player and changer."

Now I have a four-speed AM-FM Hi-Fi set, with two loudspeakers on the left and two on the right. Along with the ownership certificate, but the set should have come an electrical engineering degree, or, if the thing was on the left, at the very least a mechanical one.

But I must admit that this two-dim. set is doing for the family: it cuts my wife's constant chatter. When I play stereo, only stereo can be heard, thus eliminating the middle man (my wife).

Owing to a stereo set is just the beginning. You must buy at least a hundred records right off the bat. Your old 78s, 10s and 45s don't do it. You must give you the thrill, the sound and, as it says in the ads, the "presence of the performer." So, off I go, wallet in hand to my nearest record shop and buy stereo records by the armful. Then spacing shelves with my treasure. I place very carefully on the turntable the record of the music from "The Longest Day." The martial strains and the military memories they conjure up make me want to join up again (well, almost).

The stirring melody brought memories to my kids too. (They saw the movie). The youngest dug out his methacaten cardboard bazooka, his plastic net-covered helmet, his M1 sidearm (complete with shells), and a neat row of plastic grenades with "removable pins." As the score reached its crescendo, he counted to three, and hurled a grenade at an imaginary enemy behind my ear.

I SPARED NO EXPENSE. I bought only the best brand names, the finest labels, the latest show tunes and stereo achieved through my basement, throughout my first floor and reverberated and resounded through the second.

KEEP WHEELS STRAIGHT
It's easier to get going on snow and ice by keeping the wheels straight ahead, according to the Allstate Motor Club. If this can't be done, accelerate slightly and turn front wheels back and forth to clear a path.

Gradually the thrill of sitting lazily on a bar stool directly between and in front of my two tweeters and woofers and cocking my head to the sounds of a stereo ping-pong match, and the parade of bag-pipers parading from the left speaker, across the center and off the set through the right speaker began to tell on my morale, as well as my hearing. I found myself supping both eyes whenever someone spoke to me. And turning my head to get the proper acoustic or stereo balance began to wear heavily on my ears. The neighbors by this time had developed the habit of stuffing cotton stereophenically into both.

Strange new habits have crept into the normal family life. The wife suddenly developed a taste for movies, even Saturday matinees with the cartoons and the queuing kiddies to watch. My daughter has taken up life-saving. My oldest son has taken up a life of vagrancy. And the youngest has forgotten to come home to supper until he knows that I'm at a meeting or out to work.

I suppose I should have taken the hint, but I was lost in a three-D world of sound, and when I went to the wife and asked if they could hear that train or that sound of waves breaking on a rocky beach, or the sound of cattle being slaughtered, they just looked at me and said blankly "Yes."

Almost five hundred bucks I have poured down the drain in equipment and records. And with all my educational pronouncement of stereo, I have found out, in my later forties and, damn, that my wife still can only hear "musical." (Don't ask me why.)

UJC To Accept Limited Fresh Class

Union Junior College will accept a limited number of incoming freshmen for the spring semester in both the Day and Evening sessions, Prof. Watson, acting director of admission, announced this week. The spring semester will begin on Feb. 7. Registration will be conducted on Feb. 3 through 6. "We accommodate young men and women who have recently returned from service as well as recent high school graduates who have changed their minds about going to college by accepting new students for the Spring Semester," Prof. Watson said. A student beginning classes in February may start some optional work in the fall by attending Union Junior College's Summer Session, Prof. Watson explained. The admissions director said all persons applying for admission to Union Junior College in both the Day and Evening Sessions are required to take an entrance examination if they have not taken College Board Examinations.

CD Report Given On Shelter Status In Union County

A shelter status report compiled by four Army Reserve officers for the Union County Civil Defense and Disaster Control shows that 129 shelter facilities containing 47,108 shelter spaces in the county have been licensed out of 244 eligible facilities containing 102,872 spaces. Statistics for each of the county's municipalities with the exception of Elizabeth were reported in the recent issue of The Minuteman, official organ of the county CD & DC. The above figures represent 46 per cent of the eligible spaces that have been licensed. Kentworth, Roselle Park and Springfield are among six municipalities which have completed their licensing of eligible shelters, the report states. Eligibility refers to licensing and stocking by Federal criteria. For Union Township, the report lists 24 eligible facilities, 26,257 eligible spaces, 15 licensed facilities, 4,412 licensed spaces, or 17 per cent of spaces licensed. For Roselle, the report lists four eligible facilities and 981 eligible spaces, but no licensed facilities or spaces. For Springfield, the report lists two eligible facilities and 1,130 eligible spaces, all licensed, or 100 per cent. For Kentworth, the report lists four eligible facilities, 740 eligible spaces, one licensed facility, 62 licensed spaces, or 100 per cent. For Roselle Park, the report lists three eligible facilities and 430 eligible spaces, all licensed.

Ethical Society Sunday School Plans Program

Sunday marks the annual Children's Sunday School "Winter Festival" assembly of the Essex County Ethical Culture Society. It was announced this week.

This year's program scheduled for 10:45 a.m. at the Society's Meeting House, 516 Prospect st., Maplewood, has been written and produced by Hester Dawson Gillette, former Sunday School Director. It is called "An Amiable Alphabet."

The program will be followed by a gift giving presentation and all the Sunday School Children will take part.

Refreshments under the theme "Sweets Around the World," is being coordinated by Albert Lane, of Cranford.

Kim Gluck of Elizabeth, this year's Sunday School Director, has extended an invitation to all the families and friends of the Ethical Society to attend the Winter Festival.

Attention to the Board which he said contained the names of 35 protesting residents.

Use of the property for the school was defended by five township residents, but only one from the area in which the school was proposed.

In other action, the Board recommended to the Township Committee approval of the application of A. L. Bridges to erect an aluminum canopy for 10 cars, to alter the building for inside lavatories and extend by five feet the serving area at the White Diamond Restaurant at 501 Morris ave.

Also recommended for approval of the Township Committee was the application of Marion Whitlock to add to house at 436 Morris ave. and to use the premises for both a residence and beauty salon. The property is in a limited business district.

First Church of Christ, Scientist

293 Springfield ave., Summit

The virgin birth of Christ Jesus will be explained in this Sunday's Bible Lesson at all Christian Science churches.

Readings from the Bible will include the angel's message to Mary: "The Holy Ghost shall come upon thee, and the power of the Highest shall overshadow thee; therefore also that holy thing which shall be born of thee shall be called the Son of God" (Luke 1:35).

From the Christian Science textbook, "The Incarnation of Christ," the illumination of Mary's spiritual sense put to science material law and its order of generation, and brought forth her child by the revelation of Truth, demonstrating God as the Father of men (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 20).

The Lesson-Sermon is entitled: "Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?"

Asks Gift Fund Be Established

A gift to the Springfield Public Library by Mrs. Clifford C. Scheer in appreciation for a book review presented to a group in her home by Mrs. Helen C. Francis, acting librarian, has inspired the creation of a new fund.

Mrs. Francis recommended at a meeting of the Library Board of Trustees last week that a library gift fund be established as a repository for gifts and memorials to the library. They can be saved in this way, she said, until there is enough to purchase a substantial library item.

The book Mrs. Francis reviewed was "The Pepperidge Farm Cookbook" by Margaret Rutkin. She spoke to members of "The Suburbanites," last night at Mrs. Scheer's home, 31 B Troy rd.

LEADER PROFILE

A constantly ringing telephone is used to maintain contact with the "extraneous" of his three-terminal operation. But he often moves about the part and conversing operations at close range.

Light work the stevedores in the terminal where Mountain keeps his desk were uploading ment from Australia. They scuttled it in motor-powered pickup trucks, which worked about the cavernous interior of the building among columns of concrete crates. At 6:40 a.m. they unboxed hundreds from signs.

The cargo is brought in through the port side of the building and delivered again through the front when the truck and freight cars pull up to claim it.

"This is his work, and this is the area in which he has fought for the rights of handling his family away from the conglomeration of Brooklyn where they lived in a detached two-family house with only a driveway between it and the next house."

"I'm not adverse to progress," he said, referring to his struggle to keep soundproof the way it is today. "And I'm not concerned with depreciation of my property, because I don't want to move." He said he is in a position where he could move anywhere he wants to but he doesn't want to because he likes it where he is.

When he says he is in the fulfillment of a dream, an apartment, he lives in home, his direct, his neighbors, Westfield.

And he says he likes the apartment, the utilities.

"He likes listening to the tickety."

WEEDER'S DIGEST

Style Switch in Yule Trees. Probably you've noticed the changing styles in Christmas trees—the switch from firs and spruces to the longer-necked, bushier pines. Raymond P. Korobko, extension landscape design specialist at Rutgers, has been doing some research on the subject, and he finds that the trend to pines got rolling in the Pittsburgh-area a few years ago. Dealers there now sell nine pines to every balsam.

Cut Scotch pines for use as Christmas decorations have been coming to market in New Jersey in increasing quantities, many of them from nearby Garden State plantations. And now the crop of pines that nurserymen started a few years ago are becoming available in Christmas tree sizes so that you can buy a pine for Christmas—and then use it in your landscape plan to enjoy for many years.

Water Helps. Of course you know about keeping the ball end-of-cut tree in water to keep it fresh. (Korobko claims that a Scotch pine so kept comes as close as you can get to a fireproof natural tree.)

Indoor care of a living tree is almost as easy. Just saturate the ball of soil and roots wrapped in burlap as it comes from the nursery, then make a bag of a piece of polyethylene film. Tie the film tight around the ball at the top.

There's no need to water it again for 10 days, and that's long enough to keep a living tree in the house.

Winter Workout. So there you are on New Year's Day, enjoying an early winter workout with pick and shovel, digging the hole where your tree will stand.

If you think you won't be in the mood, or if you remember how early the soil froze last year, you may be brave enough to risk the raised eyebrows and wisecracks of the neighbors as you take to the yard now and dig away while everyone else is shopping or wrapping gifts.

Not Too Close. Where and how you dig is important to a landscape design man such as Korobko. The last place to put your tree is in the center of the lawn, whether it's a pine, fir or spruce.

For a two-story home this kind of tree can be part of the corner planting. But remember that any of these trees will grow big and so you should plant yours no closer than 12 to 15 feet to the house.

You can expect a Scotch pine to grow to 25 feet in diameter and as tall as 40 to 50 feet.

If you plant your tree on the back of your property, dig the hole at least six feet inside your own property line, Korobko advises.

It may look as if it's standing in the middle of nowhere, so fill in with some temporary shrubbery or spray and be ready to get rid of them as the tree grows.

Early Issues. The Christmas and New Year's issues of this news-paper will be on the newsstands or delivered to your home on the Monday preceding each holiday. The Friday noon deadline for news releases, photographs and related material must be met to insure publication.

REDUCE SPEED. Reduce speed to slower than normal at intersections, railroad crossings, on curves and hills. The Allstate Motor Club suggests. Snow and ice become more polished at these points because of frequent stopping and starting.

Your heating dollar goes further!

From MARY ARMSTRONG, County Home Agent

NERVE DUCK DURING HOLIDAYS — USE A TART PRUNE STUFFING

Duck is better than ever. It seems to be milder and milder in flavor. But there's no doubt that it's more readily available in the markets. Most ducks in our markets are frozen, although they come to us mainly from nearby Long Island. And, as with other poultry products processed in today's modern plants, most are conveniently ready-to-cook. The most recent reports on the nation's frozen storage holdings of duck indicate a supply about a third greater than average.

A brace of ducks makes an attractive holiday dinner when the family is not too large. And for Christmas it might be a welcome change from turkey.

Plan far enough ahead so that it will be ready when you are. Leave it in its original form filling plastic film package and allow about 24 to 36 hours. Thawed duck has pliable skin and movable legs — assets that simplify cooking preparation.

If you have zero home storage space, you may wish to take advantage of price specials. Duck prices vary little throughout the year, but during the holidays, many retailers offer reduced prices. The spread between regular and sale prices often amounts to as much as 10 cents a pound.

Ready-to-cook ducks vary in weight from three to six pounds, with 4 1/2 pounds the average. When you buy, allow one pound or one-quarter duck per serving.

Usually people prefer to serve the holiday duck as a roast. But you may also fry, broil, and barbecue duck—or cook it on the rotisserie.

Duck is good either with a savory or a tart fruit stuffing. Apple stuffing has been traditional but orange or apricot stuffing are both delicious.

Two recipes are given: ORANGE STUFFING: 3 cups toasted bread cubes 2 cups finely diced celery 1 tablespoon grated orange peel

2/3 cup diced orange sections 1/2 teaspoon salt 1/2 teaspoon poultry seasoning Dash pepper 1 beaten egg

APRICOT-RICE STUFFING

3 tablespoons butter or margarine 1 cup chopped celery (mixed stalks and tops) 1 sprig parsley, chopped 1 small onion, chopped 3 cups fluffy, boiled rice 1/2 teaspoon savory seasoning salt to taste 1/2 pound dried apricots Cook celery, parsley, and onion in the melted butter or margarine for a few minutes. Add to the rice and dry seasonings. Wash and dry the apricots which should be plump and tender—then cut into strips and mix with the rice and seasonings. Recipe makes enough stuffing for a five-pound duck.

A Holiday Decorating Idea -- Use Christmas Cards

Been wondering what to do with those Christmas cards you've been receiving so that their colorful designs will continue to delight you all during the holidays?

They can be used in a number of exciting ways to supplement your Christmas decorations at home, particularly in the big, bold, modern designs favored with heavy feeling and sparkle.

Using cards as decorations has become so popular in recent years that many of the Greeting Cards has designed scores of its cards with this in mind.

They have added a dimensional element to many cards — elegant, die-cut lanterns, ornaments, bells, candy jars, snowmen and many more — which in addition to carrying friendly holiday greetings, are designed to become an integral part of a home's holiday decorations.

Besides decorating your mantles and trees, Ruth Craft Greeting Cards suggests these other little "extras" to create a real holiday atmosphere in your home or apartment.

What You Need

All you need is a pair of scissors, some cellophane paper, a ball of colored yarn or ribbon, the Christmas mail — and a little ingenuity.

If you have a large wall mirror, perhaps in your hall, give it a flowing border of Christmas cards held in place with cellophane tape.

Pin cards with distinctive designs to your living room drapes.

If you want the air to be literally filled with Christmas cards, just run crepe paper streamers from the room and attach them with short strands of colored yarn.

Place a brightly-lit card in the center of the holiday wreath on your floor, preferably one with "Christmas Greetings" in large letters.

Don't forget the kitchen. This room is given less attention than any other when it comes to decorating at Christmas time.

As a final touch, place several of your best Christmas cards with religious scenes of the Christ Child, the Three Wise Men or the Madonna, in an appropriate picture frame. It's a grand way to keep the spirit of Christmas in your home all year long.

DECORATING WITH CHRISTMAS CARDS has become a popular custom in recent years. Above are some greeting card creations which, in addition to carrying friendly holiday greetings, blend in perfectly with holiday decorations.

Jan Murray Follows Monique Van Vooren

Jan Murray follows Monique Van Vooren at the Meadowbrook Dinner Theatre, Cedar Grove. Monique plays Alibi and Van Cliburn in "Alibi" but leaves the "Alibi" "Puncher" restaurant after Monday night's performance.

Murray will appear at the Dinner Theatre in the found on Saturday, Dec. 20 and again in his own Comedy Club on New Year's Eve at the Meadowbrook with a complete variety entertainment supporting card on both occasions.

MONIAL PROPERLY

The simple act of signaling properly will avoid many traffic mishaps, advises the Atlantic Motor Club. Signals which are given too late, too early, or given in time cause sudden moves and stops which result in chain reaction accidents, particularly on slippery roads.

'Preferential Treatment For Negroes' In Hiring Advocated By CORE Speaker

A system of "preferential treatment for Negroes" in hiring is required, because the Negro doesn't have an equal opportunity for jobs in America's declining employment picture caused by automation, Allan Hoffman, national regional field secretary for the Congress for Racial Equality, told students last Thursday at Union Junior College, Cranford.

"It is a fact of life that there are six million persons on the starting line for only 50,000 jobs available. In this competition, the Negro doesn't have equality of opportunity," Hoffman said.

The CORE representative charged that automation is destroying jobs faster than new jobs are being created. "It is hitting the Negro community hard, because the Negroes are the first to be fired. We are demanding preferential treatment for Negroes to give them a fair share for the jobs available," Hoffman said.

He described the concept of preference for the Negro in hiring "an explosive, emotional concept which has created a negative reaction in the white community." He said Negro unemployment is triple that of white percentage-wise, and is five times greater for men between 16 and 25 years old.

"A program like the WPA (Works Progress Administration) will be needed in three to five years to provide employment in America, especially for minority groups," Hoffman said.

The CORE field secretary compared preferential treatment for the Negro to the GI Bill adopted after World War II for veterans. He explained that returning G.I.'s were given preferential treatment in getting jobs and were compensated for loss of educational and training opportunities.

Hoffman blamed today's racial problems on President Andrew Johnson, who succeeded Abraham Lincoln in the White House. He called the reconstruction era after the Civil War "the only truly democratic period in American history."

"If the policy of top access and a policy for each freed slave had been carried out, we would not have the problems of today. It would have given the Negroes the same chance as everyone else," Hoffman said.

The CORE representative said President Andrew Johnson destroyed the work of Lincoln, the Reconstruction Administration and the Freedmen's Bureau. He charged that Andrew Johnson "made deals with the southern power structure" that destroyed the work of Lincoln.

Marine Not Guilty As 'Peeping Tom'

John P. D'Elia, 20-year-old Marine from Springfield, has been cleared of a "Peeping Tom" charge for which he had been convicted in Union Municipal Court Oct. 16.

Union County Judge Chester A. Weidenbarger reversed the conviction of Township Magistrate Daniel G. Conino on the disorderly persons charge last Thursday in Union County Court.

D'Elia, whose Springfield address is at 63 Sherwood rd., appealed the decision.

Judge Weidenbarger found the youth not guilty and ordered a $30 fine be paid in the lower court.

Max Sherman of Springfield represented D'Elia. Ass't. Prosecutor Leslie P. Glick appeared for the state in the appeal.

Union Firm Buys Short Hills Tract

The purchase by Plymouth Construction Company, an affiliate of the Robbins Company of Union, of a 26-acre wooded tract situated on South Orange Ave. and Old Short Hills rd. in Short Hills, was announced this week by Alfred Montito, president of Plymouth Construction.

According to Montito, the firm plans to build a residential development of 300 to 400 units in the $800,000 price range early in 1964 and will initiate sales of homes in the sixty days to early spring on the tract. Forty houses are planned, each to be constructed on a half-acre or larger site.

Present Awards To Cub Scouters

Now Enjoy Apples At Their Very Best - Fresh, Fragrant, Crisp And Flavorful

By MARY W. ARMSTRONG
COUNTY HOME AGENT

All kinds of facts and figures revolve around apples. The apple that was the foundation fruit of the tree of knowledge, an apple irresistibly known to Adam and Eve. The golden apple of Venus that caused the ancient Trojan Wars. The apple of Isaac Newton that sparked his theory on the law of gravity and opened a new world to science.

And there are the many apples of Johnny Appleseed, beloved figure of American folklore, who planted apple trees in the wilderness of Ohio, Illinois and Indiana long ago. The recent figure of song and story known as Johnny Appleseed, was actually John Chapman, born on March 11, 1774, in Leominster, Mass. For more than 50 years he traveled about the new territories of his time, leaving land to be developed, orchards and formal plantations of fruit trees. John Chapman's effect, certainly, has been successful for today apples are grown in just about every part of the nation. USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service lists apples as one of the food crops in most abundant supply and a top value of the market. The nation's apple growers supply, in a wide range of varieties, for eating raw, as well as for cooking and baking. Research has developed improved apple varieties with better resistance to decay and better flavor.

New and improved apple products that appeal to the busy, convenience-minded housewife have also become available. Among new products developed by USDA scientists that may in the near future appear on the nation's grocery shelves are crisp, flavorful, dehydrated apple piques that can be eaten "as is" or that can be easily reconstituted and prepared as a complete pie filling or other dessert. A new concentrated form of apple juice is also on the way.

Now ways of packaging apples, new types of shipping containers, and improved storage methods are under constant study by Agricultural Marketing Service and industry researchers. Specially designed polyethylene bags and experimental packages developed in recent years being the fruit to the consumer in better, fresher condition, with less bruising. And the remarkable controlled atmosphere storages, invented comparatively recently, permit apples to come to market long after harvest as fresh as when they entered storage.

Now is a good time to enjoy

MISS JANET LEHRS

JANET LEHRS ENGAGEMENT IS ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Lehrs of 87 Sutter st., Springfield, announce the engagement of their daughter, Janet, to Mr. Richard A. Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Adams of West Linn, Oregon.

Miss Lehrs is a graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, and the Berkeley Secretarial School, East Orange. She is presently with Kinney Air Freight Corp., Newark Airport.

Adams is a graduate of West Linn High School and attended Portland State College. He is presently serving with the Army in the Sixth Division stationed at Fort Jackson, Wash.

No wedding date has been set.

LETTER FROM ENGLAND Hope Bright 3,000 Miles Away

Being completed on a personal basis (which in the long run is perhaps the only way all the powers of the world will bring about a better world) was brought home this week when Springfield residents received letter expressing a collection of "grief of her countrymen over the murder of John F. Kennedy." President John F. Kennedy's Thanksgiving message to Americans was a very moving address to the people in their homes on Thanksgiving Day. So we all look forward to the morning (in the hope) that happier and more peaceful days will follow in the world, the letter said.

ASTHMA LEAGUE SLATES MEETING TODAY AT TEMPLE

Springfield League of the Children's Asthma Research Institute and Hospital will hold its regular meeting today at Temple Beth Ahm, Ballston way, Springfield, it was announced.

Program vice president Mrs. Vincent Scatera said she has planned a holiday program which will include the singing and dancing of young Tedy O'Connell.

There will also be a grab bag and all members have been requested to bring a wrapped gift of approximately $1 value for the grab bag.

The business meeting will be conducted by Mrs. Joseph Teocubium, president of the Springfield League.

DEBORAH PLANS MEMBERSHIP/TEA

Suburban Deborah, which holds its regular meetings at Temple Beth Ahm in Springfield, will hold a Millburn-Short Hills Membership Tea on Jan. 4, at 12:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. David Kirschner of 62 Glenview dr., South Orange. It was announced by Mrs. Deborah.

Attendance to an announcement, requirements to attend this tea are that a Deborah member must be accompanied by a prospective member.

Mrs. Alvin Schneider said reservations and invitations can be gotten from her by calling DR 9-8894.

Mrs. Barry Baran, vice president, announced plans for a "Supper Card party" to be held in January. The date has not been announced.

At Suburban Deborah's last meeting Mrs. Marion Siegel, president, gave a "special thank you" to Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Fiorellino, for making the group's spaghetti supper "a success."

The next regular board meeting will be held on Monday, Jan. 13, at the home of Mrs. Martin Goldberg, 212 Lelak ave., at 8:30 p.m.

SENIOR CITIZENS HOLD YULE PARTY

The second annual Christmas Party for Senior Citizens was held yesterday in the basement Legion-Hall in Springfield. Some 70 seniors turned out for the affair at which Frank Franzose of 9 Newbreak rd. played Santa.

The luncheon party included grab bags, singing and games. Mayor Arthur M. Falkon led the singing of "Jingle Bells" and Recreation Director Ed Ruby, assisted by Edward Carmichael, led the games.

BUDGET HIKE

Community said that insofar as the Board can predict, the tax rate for schools will remain stable.

Current tax rate for the township as a whole is $8.87 per $100 valuation. Municipal officials are still at work preparing their budget figures and no estimate can be made as to whether the municipal budget will rise or fall.

Also to be taken into consideration in the overall tax picture for the township is the County Budget and Regional School District tax.

For 1963 the County tax rate for the township was $1.01 per $100 valuation and the Regional District tax, $1.64.

1 cup finely chopped apple
brown sugar

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Cut shortening into dry ingredients and mix thoroughly. Add milk, stirring until smooth. Pour into greased 8 x 10 inch pan and cover with the finely chopped apples. Sprinkle brown sugar liberally over apples. Bake 30 minutes at 350 degrees F. Serve overnight.

A listing of apple varieties for different purposes with their season is available free on request of "Know Your Apples" from Home Economics Extension Service, 1106 Elizabeth ave., Elizabeth, or telephone EL 3-5900.

Ornithologist Will Speak At Millburn High Jan. 5

Roger Tory Peterson, ornithologist, will show and narrate his latest color motion picture "Wild Europe," at the Millburn High School on Sunday, Jan. 5, at 3 p.m. The Hartshorn Arboretum of Short Hills is sponsoring this presentation, and tickets for patrons, adults and students are available from Mrs. Stewart Hartshorn, 153 Highland ave., Short Hills.

"This Audubon Screen Tour depicts rare sights the tourist seldom sees, such as brilliant-colored flamingos on the salt lakes of the Rhone delta, storks nesting on old churches on the Adriatic. To obtain these unique pictures, Dr. Peterson explored the coasts of Holland and England, the Camargue region of France, the forests of Finland and the mountains of Switzerland," an announcement said.

Judge Escherle R. Collie, member of the Board of Trustees of the Audubon and past president of the New Jersey Audubon Society, said in view of the limited number of appearances made by Dr. Peterson each year, the Audubon highlights it as a privilege for residents of this area to have the opportunity to "see the program."

Sponsored by the Audubon Society, the presentation will aid the Hartshorn Arboretum in its work of maintaining and developing plant life along the Audubon trail, conducting natural science classes for school and youth, and operating nature homes as interpretive museums and research places for nature study, cultural and educational activities, the announcement said.

side, Garwood, Clark and Berkeley Heights.

The increase in the budget also includes salary increases and increments to the present staff. "The board has unofficially approved a teachers' guide, which is increased somewhat from the current guide. This would give a beginning salary of $3,200 with a teacher's pay over, amounting to a total cost of $8,000 for a teacher with that degree only.

The budget is finally approved and will be voted upon by the citizens of the regional district Feb. 4.

PETS ARE NOT PRESENTS
That cuddly kitten or fuzzy pup is most appealing, but there are many wiser choices for Christmas presents for children. Many things need to be considered before giving pets as presents at Christmas or any other time.

One major consideration is whether the parents like animals and will take care of a pet for a child. Most children want pets and will promise gaily to take care of them, but they forget because they are really too young to assume responsibility for an animal's care. Mother is usually the one who winds up with the responsibility, so everything depends upon her willingness and fondness for animals. Another consideration is the age of the child. It is wonderful for children to have a pet and to have the emotional experience of loving an animal. Yet babies and toddlers are likely to hurt animals, and may be hurt in return. Youngsters about 6 are more able to respect animals when they have been taught by their parents how to treat their pet.

Pets can be exciting and rewarding presents when you know without doubt that the child and the parents really want an animal and will love it and care for it. The true spirit of

Christmas is un-served by giving a pet as a present to people who may abandon the animal and leave it homeless and

Overheard

By EFFIE

Little four-year old Susan was an only child. One night when her grandmother was baby-sitting with her, she inquired, "Why don't Mommy and Daddy get married again so I can have a brother or sister?"

Mr. S. was quite exasperated with his young son and said, "Why do I have to tell you so many times not to make that noise?" Answered Danny, "I don't know. Why can't I remember?" (Guess he must have had New England forebears, answering a question with a question!)

Reading the sign at the entrance of a bridge: "Cars 50c - Passengers 25c a head." Little eight-year old Jack asked, "Why do they charge only for heads?"

Mrs. L. remarked, "It's hard to get annoyed. But when one gets annoyed at being annoyed it's sort of hopeless!"

Ask Amy

By AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy: Someone who says they know you very well told my parents that Amy Adams is not your real name. Is that true? I hope you won't think I have a nerve for asking you this question. I'm 13. If it's too personal, don't tell me, but if you want to tell me, I would like to know why you don't write under your given name.

Dear Iris: Because my given name is not nearly as interesting... and for another reason. When I was your age, I wrote a poem and signed it "Amy Adams." It won first prize. "Amy" has been very good to me and I wouldn't think of deserting an old friend.

Dear Amy: I've been a housewife and mother for 14 years. I've raised three children and 1963 was enough for me for the time being. Now I find I would like to work in P.T.A., Cub Scouts, etc. However, I find it very difficult to relax in a group of more than four. Why? My voice even changes when I speak! I seem so unnatural.

I'm becoming more embarrassed but I don't want to call it quits. When I'm called upon to speak, I seem to panic. Can you give some voice training or books on speaking or relaxation or just what it is that I need to help me. I'm really Distressed

Dear Distressed: Your problem is not as serious as you think although many women are faced with it at one time or another. The secret of attaining peace and confidence with others is believing in a project deeply, becoming so wrapped up in it that you forget about yourself, and consequently, you will forget to be shy. Try it! It works every time.

Dear Amy: I am a first grandmother. I raised a big family of my own and I dreamed that some day I would be free to come and go as I pleased. But I am more tied down now than ever. Now the children expect me to raise their children! When the grandchildren get too much for my husband, he gets in his car and runs. But what am I supposed to do? Just Tired

Dear Fred: Who tells you to give your children everything they need? If you don't want to be tied down, tell your children to face up to their responsibilities. Only offer your services when YOU really want to.

Dear Amy: This is in answer to the gentleman who is embarrassed when his wife says "Grace" in public. I have often seen families say Grace in a restaurant. It always seems to generate a feeling of good will and fellowship among all the diners, without a word being spoken or a glance exchanged.

Please tell "Mr. Embarrassed" that he and his wife have our respect and our sympathy. In a way, they are saying Grace for all of us. Christopher

Dear Amy: I like a boy named Anthony. He's 28 and I'm 15. If he asked me, I think I'd marry him. (He divorced and has a daughter.) I think I need some advice. Am I crazy or sensibly in love? I don't think age makes a difference. It's only a number. Do you think I'm doing the right thing by dating him? I'm mature for my age. Tracy

Read a few statistics of what happens to young girls who don't mind their P's and Q's. My girl of 15 is mature enough to date a man of 28. "Numbers" are important. Date boys 16, 17 and 18 who are not involved. These are the right "numbers" for you!

Dear Amy: I am a little confused. My daughter-in-law and I have the same given name but I am a widow. A problem arises when I send cards to friends and neighbors. Often people stop me on the street to tell me that they received a card from my daughter-in-law when actually it was from me.

So the question is: How do I sign my name to distinguish between the two of us? With Christmas coming up, this is fast for thought. Thank you for any help you can give me. Mrs. C. C.

Dear Mrs. C. C.: A widow always signs herself "Mrs. John Doe." By using your deceased husband's given name, you will avoid any future confusion.

ST. JAMES GUILD HAS YULE PARTY

The annual Christmas party of the Mothers Guild of St. James School, Springfield, was held Monday evening in the school auditorium and a very merry time was had by all.

The festivities were highlighted by a special Christmas program presented by the second grade. Christmas carols were sung by Guild members and their friends. Santa Claus presented gifts to the children and Guild members from his pack.

Mrs. Frances Denkus, hospitality chairman, and a committee of fifth grade mothers prepared and served holiday refreshments.

Christmas Chimes Ring At Kawameeh PTA Meet

"Why the Chimes Ring" a Christmas play was performed by Kawameeh Junior High School students last night at the annual holiday PTA program.

The play was under the direction of Mrs. Norma Sherman. Cast in leading roles were Dennis Kornbluth, Charles Forman, Tom Leeburg, Jane Norman and Wayne Fischer. The Girl's Chorus was directed by Mrs. Ursella H. Walker, and the Boy's Glee Club by Walter Mahna.

Mrs. Robert Clee, community advisor, was presented with a life membership in the New Jersey P.T.A. by Mrs. Richard Ertson, Kawameeh P.T.A. president. Mrs. Clee is a past president of Livingston School and Kawameeh Junior High School and has been active in local and county P.T.A. activities.

The sixth grade "Autumn Leaves" dance was held recently at the school gym. Decorations were in orange and brown. The Spot Dance was won by Howard Gluckman and Lenore Krumer. The winners of the eliminating dance were Carol Brownik and Keith Layinger. Faculty advisor for the evening was Nicholas Welner.

Hear Holiday Music -- Wherever You Go
By TRUDINA HOWARD
Music, music everywhere. Music in the air -- music in the offices -- and music particularly at shopping areas.

The recording companies like MGM, Columbia, RCA and Decca have sprouted an atmospheric haze of goodies for the holiday season. If you prefer, you can have your music at home also.

High on the recording list is the charming disc "Mala Malisakama," which to us means "Merry Christmas" and which to Hawaiians means "Merry Christmas!" It is done by a young group headed by Arthur Lyman and his "Boys" and their style was one. It is as melodic as melting chocolate and as delightful as old favorites can make it. On the record are such selections as Silent Night, Rudolph, White Christmas, We Three Kings, Winter Wonderland, Silver Bells, O Holy Night, Silent Night, Little Drummer Boy and Mele Kalikimaka. It is on the Life Series of HMV Records Inc.

Definitely on the opposite side as far as sound is concerned is a record by the Diamond Brothers. Building Up Those Christmas Toys... Or Breaking Down Dear Old Dad!

BY ERWIN FALKENHEIM
This year's best selling "Teen-age Fashion Doll" may be perfectly "aged" in her "Dream House" this Christmas but this rather "old" lady was on the point of retiring a shouting after spending almost three hours putting together her luxuriously furnished apartment.
"The age of 'doll-year-old' has reached into the toy industry and was to the father who is not adept at following an instruction-booklet these days—because it appears to be the rule rather than the exception that almost nothing these days is sold already put together. That would be asking too much."
Spurred on by television commercials for the most part, the eleven-year-old daughter made it known to her mother and me that she would "absolutely die" if she didn't have a "Dream House" for her teenage fashion doll.

After all, mom and dad have to be expected to do the heavy lifting to get around the house and not have the advantage of a modern apartment with furniture, wardrobe and bookcase.
Now this dream house isn't exactly a house. It's a one-room apartment which, when finally put together (which is the big problem), contains a couch, bed, table, vanity-chair, ottoman, books, a rug (put together too), a lamp (with a broken shade) and built-in television. Mom and dad, who each engages a "closet" (complete with hangers) in a vanity with mirror and to top it all off, a framed picture of a moon escaped my lips.

THERE STANDING AT me were a score of large pieces of die-cut fiberboard pinned with pieces of furniture, ready on top of all this a complete array was an instruction book let all 20 pages of it.
Probably to give somebody a purpose for what was ahead, the manufacturer included a kind of preamble, noting in part:
"The assembly is simple when you follow the step-by-step assembly instructions." And with tongue in cheek (no doubt) the booklet cut this:

"It can't be a lot of fun 'for whom?' I asked my wife, looking for some one to blame. She said she was sorry but she was the one who was to blame for getting the latest toy age.

Finally I read on, because who was I to blame? My child, sitting her doll on her couch and listening to her 11-ft set or watching her fiberboard television set?
As if to make some kind of excuse for selling this dream house "as-is" the manufacturer goes on to say:
"Shipping the furniture that saves your money."
This year of a line brought a sneer to my lips.
To make it easier to understand the assembly, the instructions contained by graphically showing what in a slot,

Now we get into the meat of it:
"Place wardrobe A" printed slide down... Take the furniture... Insert tabs 1, 2, 3 and 4 through slots 1, 2, 3 and 4 of wardrobe A. Now take the formed wardrobe C and insert tabs 5, 6 and 7 through slots 5, 6 and 7 of wardrobe A. Repeat previous step with wardrobe B."
And on and on we go for 10 more pages of pushing the wardrobe together.

shuddered at the thought of a placed wardrobe (the printed slide down) and the instructions under the tabs 2 and 2B.
At about 11:30 (that's one-half hour before midnight) I completed Step 23, and placed the completed furniture in the three-walled apartment, and sat back, my fingers numb from punching out fiberboard and sliding XX flap into tabs 1 and 2, and looked at the pile of fiberboard strewn about, and thought:

Yule Seal Drive Reaches $66,751 In Union County

Christmas Seal campaign contributions have reached $66,751, Katharine M. Case of Union, chairman of the campaign committee of the board of directors of the Union County Tuberculosis and Health League, announced this week.
"This amount is little more than half the sum—the league needs to push forward its work next year for the prevention and control of tuberculosis in our county," Miss Case observed.
"During these last busy days before Christmas, I hope everyone will take a minute to send in a contribution, so the league can begin its planning for the coming year," she said.
The work of the league's tuberculous clinic continues to expand, Miss Case pointed out, and the League's case-finding projects in the jail and other locations must be maintained. The need for education and medical research is great, she stated.

With the number of new cases of tuberculosis showing a 20 per cent increase this year, we must intensify our efforts toward the control of this disease. We can only accomplish this with the help of every citizen in Union County."

PINGRY HONOR ROLL

Thomas Roberts of 738 Fairway dr., Union, has won a place on the first honor roll at the Pingry School in Elizabeth. Thomas is a fourth form student, the equivalent of 10th grade.

"POOR DAD, POOR Dad, he's feeling so bad. He's not a do-it-yourself man, and he's feeling so sad." That about sums up the feeling of newsmen Erwin Falkenheim as he wrestles with putting together this doll house for his daughter. This is a common sight to mothers and fathers this time of year. Marines Collect Christmas Toys

Union County Marine Reservists have been busy for weeks gathering toys and gifts and boxes to give to needy youngsters in the area.
But many more toys are needed according to General Bernard Howard Frankel of 831 Albany St., Elizabeth, 1st Lt. Frankel, a veteran of 11 years service in a regular and reserve status, is a graduate in the Union County Reserve Officers' Office.
"There are many youngsters in our home town who won't have a toy on Christmas unless we all help," Frankel said.
Frankel said, "Let's make this a Merry Christmas for every child in Union County. We can do it if everyone helps."

County AJC Unit To Meet Monday

The regular monthly meeting of the American Jewish Congress, Union County Chapter, will be held next Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Schwartz of 1480 Stanley ter., Hillside, it was announced this week.

Guest speaker will be Jacob Levin of the New Jersey State Division against discrimination, according to Joseph Marzell of Springfield, program chairman. Marzell will outline his plans for future programs, he said.

He said the public is invited to attend and further information can be had by calling WA 3-7786.

'Miss Night Owl' Title Sought By Union Girl

Dianne J. Slater of 23 Vivian ter., Union, is a candidate for the "Miss Night Owl" title among evening session students at Union Junior College, Cranford.

Five faculty members will serve as judges to select the winner at the students' annual Christmas dance at 8:30 p.m. Saturday at Kemy Acres in Woodbridge Township. Nine other co-ed's seek the title also.

Extra Sessions For Holidays Set At Warinanco Rink

Extra sessions will be conducted at the Warinanco Park Ice Skating Center, Roselle, during the Christmas holiday season, it was recently announced by the Union County Park Commission.

To Head UJC Society

Timothy M. Erday of 343 Newark ave., Union, has been elected president of the Life Science Society at Union Junior College, Cranford. A sophomore, Erday is majoring in engineering in UJC's day session. He is a graduate of Union High School.

held each day, except Saturdays, Christmas Eve, Christmas Day, and New Year's Eve. Sessions will be conducted from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.; noon to 2:30 p.m.; 3 to 5:30 p.m.; and 8 to 11 p.m. On Saturdays, morning sessions will be conducted from 9:30 a.m. to noon; afternoon sessions from 3 to 5:30 p.m.; and evening sessions from 8:30 to 11 p.m.

At the weekday morning and afternoon sessions children, 15 years of age and under, will be permitted to skate for a 25-cent fee, and adults will be charged 60 cents. On Saturdays, Sundays and at all evening sessions children will pay 60 cents and adults 75 cents.

The above schedule will remain in effect until Sunday, Jan. 5. The Warinanco Park Ice Skating Center will be closed on the eve of Christmas and New Year's and all day on Christmas Day. A complete program of instruction is offered both adults and children at the Ice Center. Contact the Ice Center for further information.

Plan Youth Rally At Gospel Chapel Saturday Night

Young people of Christian Assemblies in the northern New Jersey area will hold a youth rally Saturday night at 7:30 in Kountz Chapel Chapel. The speaker will be John K. Landgram of Detroit, musician and composer.

Landgram will be assisted in the musical program by his wife, the former Barbara Les Joslin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Joslin of Union. Mr. and Mrs. Landgram are engaged in full-time Christian work and are associated with Mel Dibble, whose gospel team is in demand among youth groups of churches throughout the country. Their work is not connected with any denominational group of churches, an announcement said.

The Landgrams also will participate in the Family Bible Hour on Sunday morning at 11. The speaker at the 11 a.m. service will be F. J. Squire, of Framingham, Mass., Christian writer and retired industrial chemist. Squire's articles on Christian topics are circulated throughout the English-speaking world. His daughter, Mrs. F. B. Macmillan, resides in Kenilworth.

The regular Christmas program of the Sunday school will be held on Sunday evening at 7:30. Its theme will be "Home For Christmas." A service will be held Christmas Eve at 7:30 with Walter Jensen, of Fanwood, as the speaker.

Dr. Davis, Rajoppi Will Serve On Educational Needs Group

Dr. Warren M. Davis, superintendent of the Union County Regional High School District, and Raleigh Rajoppi, 21, president of the International Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of Springfield, have been selected to serve on a state-wide committee to study the needs of vocational education in New Jersey, particularly at the secondary level.

The appointment was announced by Dr. Patrick M. Rusbinger, Commissioner of Education. Dr. Davis and Rajoppi are two of the 20 persons selected. Approximately half the committee members is from the ranks of schoolmen and half from lay individuals including members of Boards of Education, and representatives of industry and of labor.

Virginia School System Asks Help In Developing Educable Programs.

The Prince William County Schools of Manassas, Va., have requested the assistance of the Union County Regional High School District in the further development of their educable programs, according to an announcement this week from Dr. Warren M. Davis, superintendent.

The Virginia schools group also asks assistance in the development of their slow learners. The four-year program of the Regional district has already been visited by school people from many districts in several states, the superintendent said.

The southern school system was referred to the Regional Schools by the Office of Special Education of the N.J. State Department of Education.

Library Budget To Include Purchase Of New Equipment

Purchase of additional furniture and fixtures to improve conditions in the Springfield Public Library will be provided in the 1964 library budget, it was learned.

Mayor Arthur M. Palkin said at a meeting of the Library Board of Trustees last week that the budget figure cannot be obtained until they are submitted to the Township Committee for inclusion in its 1964 township budget.

It was revealed, however, that the library plans to expand facilities through purchase of a steel magazine rack, $67; two-drawer filing cabinets, combined cost, $120; a four-drawer storage cabinet for old files in attic, $50; six metal bookcase sections

Henry S. Wright Asked To Leave School Meeting

Henry S. Wright, college-trained candidate for the presidency of the United States from Springfield, was asked to leave a regional school board meeting Tuesday night after board members voted to do so.

Wright, who lives at 24 Colfax st., asked members of the Union County Regional High School District No. 1 Board of Education a number of questions, and one member pointed out that the answers were readily available from the superintendent's office. "Why are you taking up so much of our time?"

'Better Use Air Mail' On Last Minute Gifts

With only six days left until Christmas the time has passed to talk about mailing Early For Christmas. Postmaster A. V. Del Vecchio said today, "but you can still help us to avoid a tremendous last minute pile-up of Christmas mail if you will send all your gifts and cards right now."

The Postmaster says that the mail load is now at its peak. The flood of outgoing Christmas cards and parcels is being matched by a similar "torrent" of incoming mail being received for delivery.

AND STILL CHAMP: Cockroach is the biggest pest of all, say the nation's pest control men. National Pest Control Association polled its members and roach won hands down. Persistence of the roach, its ability to develop resistance to chemical control measures, and inherent craftiness, were cited by pest control men as reasons for their choice.

73 Students Will Return To UJC To Evaluate Readiness Program

Seventy-three high school seniors who participated in a college Readiness Program last summer at Union Junior College, Cranford, will return to the UJC campus next Thursday to evaluate the program.

The 73 students are attending more than 40 colleges and universities throughout the country, including UJC.

"We'll get the reactions of the students to our program and try to determine whether it helped them or not in the first semester of their freshman year," Prof. Eugene Salins, program director, said.

Dr. Kenneth C. McKay, UJC president, Dr. Kenneth W. Iverson, dean, Prof. and Mrs. Grace G. Landwehr of Madison, and Wilson Scott of Linden, instructors, will greet the students at a reception in the student lounge of the new Campus Center.

Dr. Iverson said the major aim of the program was to help cut down the high attrition rate among college freshmen. He said nearly half of all the young men and women who enter freshman classes each year do not complete the four-year program.

"A significant number do not make it because they cannot adjust to the college situation—even though they have the intellectual ability to do college work," Dr. Iverson explained.

The program was conducted daily for four weeks during July. It carried on college credit and was limited to high school graduates who planned to attend college in the fall.

The major emphasis of the program was an orientation into college life, plus a quick review of the basic skills of reading, English composition and mathematics, Dr. Iverson explained.

Film On California Slated At Trailside

A color, sound film entitled "California and Its Natural Resources" will be shown at the Union County Park Commission's "Trailside Nature and Science Center, in the Watchung Reservation, on Sunday at 3 p.m.

The film describes the natural resources of the "Golden State" and depicts how energy derived from water resources, petroleum, and natural gas transformed a raw natural region into a rapidly growing State with expanding population, industry, and agriculture.

Dub Cockroach 'Pest Of Year' National Pest Control Group's Choice

The tiny cockroach, one of the shiest insects known to man, has now achieved a new "honor." He's been elected "pest of the year" by the members of the National Pest Control Association, (the association of the pest control industry).

In a nation-wide vote, the NPCA selected the cockroach by an overwhelming majority as the insect causing the most trouble and the most difficult to control.

Of the 217 members of the national association who responded in the organization's "Pest-of-the-Year" balloting, 100 gave the roach their vote in this "unpopular" contest. The next highest vote was for the brown dog tick—another troublesome customer—but that bug only got 15 votes. Other "leaders" were carpenter ants, termites, earwigs, fleas and rats, but none was even close to the ubiquitous roach.

Although there are five roaches which are troublesome in this country, the German roach was the particular pest which pest control operators had in mind. There were a few votes for the American and the brown-banded varieties but the German—also known as the creosote bug and the water bug—is the one most hated.

The principal reason for this is that the German cockroach has proven to be particularly adept at getting along with the insecticides which are supposed to wipe him out.

The German cockroach is light brown in color, has black stripes running lengthwise down his back, and is about five-eighths of an inch long when fully grown. He is at his best in kitchens and bathrooms, since food and a generous supply of water are essential to his development.

Resistance—the ability of an insect to get along with the pesticides designed to exterminate him—is one of the peculiarities of the German cockroach. No matter what the chemical used, a few out of every generation of German cockroaches survives through the stuff, gets along with it and survives to have offspring.

Those offspring are usually even more resistant and wade through the chemical with even greater insouciance and persistence and their tiny color.

The cockroach isn't liked by anyone—except perhaps another cockroach—and the members of the NPCA have elected him as their "Pest of the Year." They admit he is hard to control, but they also admit that the trained pest control team is the only one who has the know-how and the equipment to fight him fully and persistently.

The Unofficial Sport Of Snowball Hurling

No Leagues, No Awards — Many Enthusiasts

By NAT RUTHEIN
When snow starts falling and winter and your town begins to look like a Christmas card you start thinking about ice skating, skiing, tobogganing and ice hockey. And there are those who gravitate toward that unofficial sport of snowball throwing — a sport that attracts the old as well as the young, the mature as well as the immature. Snowball throwing is really a primitive sport. There are no leagues for the snowball enthusiast and no awards are given for the person who can throw further than anyone else or can hit more targets. But when snow falls there are more snowball throwers than there are bowlers in town.

Unfortunately, there are no restrictions when it comes to throwing at snowball targets. And there are times when over-zealous snowball players lose hold of their rationale and throw recklessly. It seems that the most common targets are: fatigued, a teenage girl's bare legs and the neighborhood dog.

Perhaps the most active and dedicated snowball throwers are the teenagers. They not only toss their white round missiles at their female school mates, but some of the frustrated athletes start acting like Mandy Koufax without a catcher. And sometimes the unofficial catcher turns out to be somebody's nose. Snowball throwing is not only a sport for individuals. There is room for collective effort in the sport. It isn't uncommon to see two groups flinging snowballs at each other. And at these contests usually "anything goes." To score, the sport has a way of stimulating their animalistic instincts.

A proficient team snowball player is one who not only can hit his target but one who can avoid being hit himself. The most experienced and adroit player usually finds sound protection. A favorite shield of the skillful snowball thrower is a parked car. It is not only good protection but it allows a player to watch the opposition through the car's windows. Of course, the parked car becomes part of the snowball throwing game without the consent of the car owner who incidentally knows nothing about auto snowball collision insurance. These hard-learned snowballs have been known to shatter car windows and throwers with poor control have blasted windows of houses, uptown dining rooms and the wicker equilibrium of happy homes.

Snowball throwing can be dangerous, yet no ardent participant in the sport has come up with any rules or suggestions for equipment. However, it would be difficult to organize this winter sport, because it is a spontaneous sort of game. We really never are sure when it will snow. And there can't be any snowball throwing without snow. Besides, you have two or three-year-olds playing this game — tots who have a difficult enough time obeying their mothers and fathers. Starting to learn snowball throwing would be a little too much to ask.

Anyway the two and three-year-olds tend to eat their snowballs.

HUNTING LICENSE MAKES IDEAL GIFT

A New Jersey hunting or fishing license can be a simple but enjoyable Christmas gift. It is a sportsman's or woman's ticket to the Department of Conservation and Economic Development. It is a gift that represents many hours of outdoor enjoyment. Some will be hours of quiet contemplation, sitting by a stream or staking a deer; others will be filled with the excitement of hooking a big fish or the thrill of bagging a pair of pheasants. A license is sure to be enjoyable. They come in only one size for persons over fourteen.

Home Opener Slated Tomorrow For Davton Five

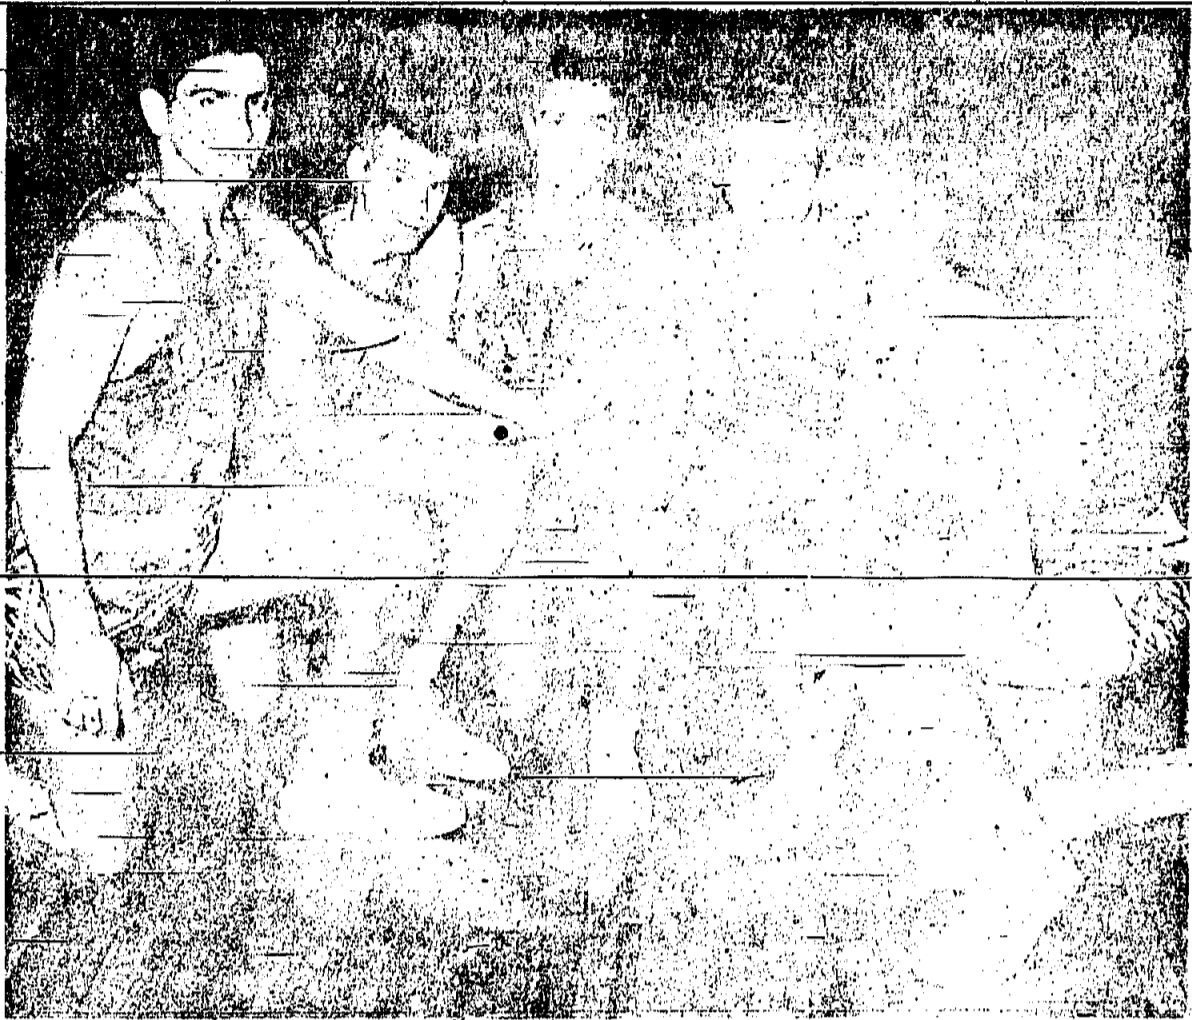

Caldwell (1-1) Here At 8:30; Bill Kretzer Averaging 30

Tomorrow night at 8:30 Davton Regional High School's basketball team, opening its 1961 season, plays its first home game against a well-known Caldwell High School team that hasn't yet, according to Caldwell coach Ray Yehkus, come into its own. Davton's basketball manager, Ray Yehkus, hopes Caldwell doesn't show tomorrow evening to develop all of its potential.

Caldwell's coach, Ray Yehkus, says he has five "stars" who are as good as a sure thing. However, High Water, N. J., has a man to watch. He scored 22 points against Piquette Valley in Caldwell's opening game when they met on a neutral site in a 51-46 victory.

The Davton team is coached by Coach Ray Yehkus, who has coached at Caldwell High School for 11 years. The Davton team is expected to be a strong contender in the league.

Bill Kretzer, Davton's star player, averaged 30 points per game in the season. He is expected to be a key player for the team.

DAVTON'S STARTING FIVE are pictured during practice session prior to Tuesday's game at Rahway. This quintet is scheduled to start tomorrow night for Coach Ray Yehkus against Caldwell in Springfield's opening home game. 12 Cage Veterans Say They'll Play in Alumni Game

The Davton Regional High School graduates who'll participate in the Alumni game on the evening of Dec. 27, won't be a team of pot-bellied, balding men who played basketball when the two-hand cut shot was the most popular scoring weapon.

They'll be recent graduates who are still in college and who can still dish down the court without puffing.

The graduates who'll take part in the alumni basketball game this year they were graduated from the schools they currently attend are:

Billy Franklin, '60, Columbia University; Herb Eason, '61, Rutgers University; John Lea, '61, West Liberty State; Richie Lewis, '60, Edgewood University; Gary Gansstone, '60, Rutgers University; Tom Alvano, '61, New York University; Richard Johnson, '61, Coast Guard Academy; Tom Sims, '62, Stewart College; Dennis Francis, '63, Rutgers University; David Bonkowski, '63, Rutgers University; and Steve Egan, '63, Montclair State College.

Montclair is the only member of the alumni group that is presently playing varsity basketball in college. Jay Gladstone is playing J.V. ball and so is Steve Egan.

Davton's athletic department hasn't received definite word as to what graduates will participate in the alumni wrestling match which will be the first contest in the Alumni event.

Town To Conduct Basketball Clinic

A department is concerned with the future of interscholastic basketball at Davton Regional High School and is doing something about it, according to Scott Domington, assistant director of recreation. A basketball clinic will be held at Davton's gym, nine a.m., Saturday, Dec. 28.

All Springfield youngsters who are interested in learning Davton's basketball techniques are welcome.

Ray Yehkus, the basketball coach at Davton will conduct the clinic. He'll use his team to demonstrate his systems. Yehkus relies heavily on the fast break and a tight defense.

"Both Yehkus and I want to acquaint Springfield youngsters with the brand of ball that's being played at Davton so that when they come to high school they'll be better equipped to try out for the varsity," Domington explained.

Domington says, "If the clinic on the 28th works out well, we'll have more of them." He expects at least 300 boys to show up.

Shtafman Wins Bowling Ball In Beth Ahm Contest

Ed Shtafman stroked the ten pins to the tune of 245 Sunday in the Temple Beth Ahm Bowling League's 10-Week Bowl. Shtafman's ten was good for a new bowling ball in a special-league contest.

High series was turned in by Joe Klein with a 215-214-584. Klein won a bowling bag.

The 10-Week Bowl team skipped four places into the second place just one-half game off the pace being set by Mike Holt's gang.

High games were turned in by Dennis Davis, 254; Art Golden, 207; M. J. Davis, 211; Charles H. Davis, 210; Bob Hochstadt, 200; Hal Hilder, 203; Abe Weinberg, 200; Sandy Reseler, 201; 200; Hal Hochstadt, 200; George Widom, 200; and Alan Feltus, 203.

The top half of the league leader list (60, after Round 8) plays:

W	L
Mike Holt	29	11
Hal Hochstadt	21	17
Alan Feltus	24	12
Mont Parola	20	16
Hal Hilder	23	10
Dennis Davis	23	10

Early Issues

In order to meet printing schedules for the holiday weeks, it has been necessary to advance the deadlines for the issues of Dec. 26 and Jan. 2. All sports copy for the Dec. 26 issue must be received by noon on Friday, Dec. 20. All sports copy for the Jan. 2 issue must be received by noon on Friday, Dec. 27.

Raiders Hold 1st In Boys League Despite A Loss

The top attraction of last week's bowling was the meeting between the average leaders, the Raiders and the Eagles. The Raiders, led by Mike Kretzer, defeated the Eagles, 100-90, in a closely contested match.

The Raiders' victory was a surprise, as they had lost their previous match. However, they showed great improvement in their bowling technique.

The Eagles' loss was a disappointment, but they are expected to bounce back in their next match.

Strikes Pull In Front By Sweeping Pros

The Four Strikes swept two in the average. Alyse Cooper moved into 1st place in the league. Sharon Gagnon and Virginia Vogt led the Wild Wonders to victory.

The Wild Wonders, led by Sharon Gagnon, defeated the Four Strikes, 100-90, in a closely contested match. This was their second consecutive victory.

The Four Strikes, led by Alyse Cooper, also showed improvement in their bowling technique. They are expected to remain a top contender in the league.

RECREATION DEPT. HOPES TO CREATE WRESTLING CLASS

Springfield's Recreation Department hopes to start a wrestling class for the town's youngsters in January, according to Assistant Director of Recreation Scott Domington.

"Getting the program off the ground depends on getting the man we want to head it," Domington says.

Domington knows who he'd like to see direct the program, but getting him is the problem, he says.

"All I've got is a former Springfield and physical education teacher in the Union school system," Domington says. "But he's not sure he'll be able to do it." Domington says he has a good idea of how to start a wrestling class, but he needs a coach.

Off-Style Bowling

By Glenn Allison

When you bowl, you're not just bowling, you're playing a game. The game is to get the ball into the gutter and knock down the pins. It's a simple game, but it's not always easy to do.

I'm a spot bowler, but unlike most of them I don't pick a target beyond the first line for release of the ball. I aim at the spot on the ball and try to clear the ball directly on the line directly beyond that spot. You might almost say I'm aiming at the spot where I hope to deposit the ball on its journey. All beyond that point I'm not sure I can do anything to help.

Elegy, 606, Paces Sinclair Victory

There wasn't any change last week in the standings of the Springfield Sports Bowling League, but some teams inched up on the league ladder. Conte's Delicatessen, Steve Elegy who scored a record 293-290-301 led his Contes' Sinclair team to two victories over Conte's Ed Schepel's 201-215-580 helped the VFW to beat Milton Liquors twice.

Some of the high scorers were Mark Conte, 228; Dick Bernmark, 224; Joe Alvaro, 201; Bob Zolner, 201 and Don Galante, 201.

Here's how the league stands now:

W	L
Conte's Delicatessen	21	12
Colantone Shoes	21	12
Milton's Liquors	21	12
Center Shuldr	21	12
Richard Television	22	23
Bond Electronics	20	24
VFW	20	25
Carol Stamping	17	28
