Board Of Education Approves $1,592,816 Budget

Regional Board Approves Budget; Totals $4 Million Only One Questions New Expenditures At Board Public Hearing

A $1,592,816 budget was adopted Tuesday night by the Union County Regional Board of Education, which operates three regional high schools in Union County, including Springfield's Jonathan Dayton, and plans to begin construction soon on a fourth high school in Kentonworth.

The budget, which attracted questions from only one person in the audience at a public hearing, represents a $355,181.75 increase over the current 1963-64 school budget totaling $1,237,634.25.

George T. Loman, chairman of the board's finance committee, said the $4 million figure represents 80 per cent for overall instruction and 40 per cent for salaries of teachers and staff. He said that the addition of new teachers, increased salaries in conformity with the teacher's guide and anticipated service for the new construction account for most of the increase.

He also said that while figures were not in from all of the six communities in the district to make a definite statement, he estimated that the cumulative effect of the budget would be to cause an average four-point tax rate increase.

Appropriations, as stated in the budget, are listed as follows: current expense, $1,592,816; capital expenditures, $118,054; and existing vocational schools, $1,100. The corresponding figures in the current budget are $1,237,634; $42,000; and $592,845.25 and $1,000.

$45,266 Increase To Hike Tax Rate Approximately 6c

Budget procedure was the main topic of questions to the Springfield Board of Education at Tuesday's hearing as the proposed $1,592,816 school budget for 1964-65 was adopted by the Board.

Alan R. Cunningham, chairman of the finance committee, outlined the budget for the 15 residents who attended the session in the Board of Education office at Caldwell School. He also explained that the $45,266 rise over the present budget would produce a tax increase of about six points, bringing the school tax rate up to $2.62 per $100 assessed valuation, compared to the present $2.56 school tax rate, according to estimates.

That, he said, would mean a tax increase of about $4 a year on a $20,000 home.

Questions from Ed Schwartz and Len Kartzman sought to pinpoint specific items in the budget. Edmund Pachiewski said he asked budget items in general.

Residents followed Cunningham's presentation with questions of the Springfield Board of Education. The current issue contains the proposed budget, which calls for current expense totaling $1,592,816 and capital outlay totaling $118,054. The amount to be raised by taxation is $1,173,200 and $16,800, respectively.

Residents of $100,000 will not appear on the list, but their budget is put before voters at the annual school election Feb. 14. According to school law, this amount already has been raised by the township.

The amount to be raised by taxation is $1,173,200 and $16,800, respectively. Cunningham explained that the drop in capital outlay is due to a bookkeeping system required by the State Board of Education concerning allocation of funds for school libraries. These, he said, are being stocked with capital funds this year but next year will be included under current expense. Funds for the improvements to the Caldwell and Schools will not be required this year. In response to questioning by Schwartz, Cunningham said that the portion of these funds, still unpaid, is included in the balance appropriated from the current year.

In response to a question from Len Kartzman, it was explained that the increase in instructional materials bringing the total up to $97,000 from $80,200 is due to the regular annual salary increments, an anticipated increase.

Petitions Hit Snag For Mail Service To The Top Area

Action on mail service directed from the Springfield Post Office in Paterson, N.J., is being held up by a petition to have bogged down, but Committee member Philip Del Vecchio says he will call a meeting of "interested parties" to get a petition moving to the Philadelphia Regional Post Office.

Del Vecchio, who said last month that the Regional Post Office "wanted" a petition regarding the matter, "I don't know what they want," noted that although petitions were in circulation, the holidays and post office closings had slowed down the effort.

"I am going to call a meeting of district lieutenants for something next week," Del Vecchio said, "to get the thing completed."

Residents of the Top Area have been asked by the P. M. that their mail has been delayed because of a regulation which does not permit post office trucks to leave a township to deliver to an isolated section of a municipality.

Three days ago, the Township Committee authorized by the Township Committee and sent by then Mayor Arthur M. Falciano in November to Congresswoman Florence Dwyer asking that she intercede in behalf of the township, brought a reply from J. J. Doherty, regional director of the Philadelphia office.

Doherty's reply said the department did not consider it necessary to continue the matter, but suggested that a petition might carry some weight. "Experience has shown,"

Planning Session For Budget Will Be Held All Day Saturday

Township Committee members who have been meeting at least three times a week over the past weeks to plan the 1964-65 municipal budget, are planning an all-day session on the item for Saturday, according to Mayor Robert D. Hardgrove.

The budget will be unveiled to the public sometime next month, the mayor said, but no date for the open hearing can be set as yet.

Work on the budget began before the first of the year when individual departments were asked to submit their requests and meetings were held between members of the Committee and department heads.

Since that time, Hardgrove said, the Committee has reviewed the figures in an effort to come up with an efficient and economical budget. "This is the kind of thing," the mayor explained, "that you write, review and then sit down and rewrite. Revisions can go on and on until an acceptable figure is reached."

Trip For Teachers Approved By Board

The seventh grade four-day trip to the reconstructed colonial town of Williamsburg, Va., last fall proved so successful that the Springfield Board of Education approved a similar trip for Florence Gaudinier social studies teachers.

Social studies teacher William B. Pfeiffer, who accompanied the 30 students on the outing requested approval of the expedition for four teachers Feb. 8, 9 and 10 at a cost to the Board of $200. The remainder of the expense will be borne by the teachers themselves, he said.

Pfeiffer said the trip would be considered an in-service training program and that services of a staff of experts at Williamsburg's Henry and Anne Center, 420 Morris Ave., Springfield, DE 9-3382, Auk, Deaton, O'Brien & Qualifone, hearing aids, Conley facilities.

Office Building Variance Okayed By Town Board

Approval of a request for a variance to convert a home into an office building was granted to Carmen Catapano by the Board of Adjustment Tuesday night. In other action they refused a request for a special exception on another piece of property to the Planning Board for an advisory report.

The property on which Catapano requested the variance is at 27-3/4 Linden ave., according to Board of Adjustment Chairman Robert C. Miller.

Catapano was granted a variance last year on the same property, but the variance stipulated that use as a "zoned" office building if the property remained in the hands of Catapano. This variance was recommended to and approved by the Township Committee.

Catapano asked a new variance which would not demand the return of building to residential use if he no longer retained ownership or ceased to use the building personally.

The Board on Tuesday recommended approval of the new variance to the Township Committee, asking only that parking stipulations for an office building be met.

The application of Mrs. Marion Whitlock to use a house at 436 Morris ave. for a combination residence and beauty parlor, which was returned to the Board of Adjustment by the Township Committee last week, has been sent on to the Planning Board for an advisory report.

Miller explained that Mrs. Whitlock had sought and been granted a variance for such use by the Board of Adjustment. The matter was approved and recommended for approval of the Township Committee, Miller explained. The Committee, he said, felt that a special exception use was needed for the property and Planning Board advice is required in such cases.

Local Kiwanians Hear Engineer On Meadowlands

Joseph S. Ward, a soil engineer of Caldwell, addressed the Millburn-Springfield Kiwanis Club last week and told of the various problems involved in developing the meadowlands of the Hackensack River and what is being done to overcome them. It has now been determined that even large buildings can be built on the land in that area without the necessity of deep pilings as a foundation. This has been proven by several buildings of "five to seven" stories which have been built in the past three years. First the "surface" soil, which is a layer of muck, approximately 10 feet thick, is removed and then replaced with about 12 ft. of compacted sand fill and then can withstand a weight of 800 lbs. per square foot. Ward said that a system of dikes similar to those successfully used in the reclamation of marsh lands in Holland would be financed through public funds to prevent the daily loss from flooding the area, he said.

LEADER PROFILE

MRS. AUDREY RUBAN

When the Springfield Board of Education prepares a school budget, she capitalizes on the budget, sets the stage for an election, a maze of financial computations must be routed into place and the complete procedures required by law must be complied with.

MRS. AUDREY RUBAN

Many minds go into the operation of Board of Education business, but particularly valuable is behind-the-scenes wisdom from the pretty blond head of the Board's assistant secretary, Mrs. Audrey Ruban.

In her office in the Caldwell School many of the Board's business transactions are conducted, included among numerous operations are school purchasing, accounts payable, payroll, contracts, building construction, bonds and interest, elections and budgets.

Her particular love, she says, is school law. "The fascinating thing about law," she explains exuberantly, "is that it is always changing. We have to keep abreast of things by reading State Department of Education bulletins, newspapers, and the New Jersey Legislative Index, which we scan with a fine tooth comb."

She said that often new legislation is confusing and a court case is needed to interpret and clarify it. Asked for an example within the concern of the Springfield Board of Education she said: "The Prevailing Wage Act, passed last year, is a good example."

THIS, SHE SAID, requires that a prevailing wage for all workers on public construction or maintenance jobs be established and verified with the state commissioner of labor and industry. It is a difficult law to comply with because it means supervision of wages paid by contractors performing public work.

Municipalities of less than 45,000 people are exempt from compliance, she explained, so it was generally thought that most school boards were exempt, too.

However, she continued, a school district is not a municipality, and almost hidden in the legal document that phrases this law are the words, "school district." Springfield's assistant board secretary spotted the phrase and pointed it out to the legislative chairman of the State Federated District Boards of Education. She has a letter from him saying that the state organization is now working for an amendment to clarify the law.

"We want to go where the law requires," Mrs. Ruban says, "but we want to be sure of just what we're supposed to do."

Another phase of her work that grips her interest is school bonds, and in line with this she was appointed last December to the General Obligation School Bonds Committee of the N. J. Association of Public School Business Officials. She is also vice president of the Union County Association of School Business Officials.

"I feel at ease preparing for a bond issue now," she explains, "because I've been through five of them. I just do it very carefully." She pointed to what was literally a volume of work prepared in her office for just one bond issue.

She works closely with Springfield school auditor A. J. Stefany of Irvington and school board attorney Howard F. Casselman.

Replying to a comment on her dexterity with a system of very complicated operations, she quickly recalled Board of Education secretary A. B. Anderson for skill and understanding in speaking her in. "He has trained me since I came here in 1946," she said.

MRS. RUBAN LIVES at 120 Mountain ave. with her husband, Bob, a florist with Rimmel's in Union. They were married in 1944.

The couple met at the "old swimming hole" in the Rahway River along Milltown rd. when Audrey was 12-years-old. She lived in Union, and he, in Springfield, and both would join the trek of youngsters hiking from both communities for a summer trip.

When the group reached high school age they formed what they called the "Vix Club" so named because its membership was from Union and Springfield. A strictly social club, they met regularly at their various homes and took occasional jaunts to such spots as the New York World's Fair, High Point Park, and a local "Bee" Ranch. The last had some "beat up old junker," she said, to transport the group where it wanted to go.

After graduation from Union High School Mrs. Ruban attended Drake's Business College and later worked as a clerk with the Prudential Insurance Co. in Newark for three years. "Even then I was working with figures," she said, adding that she took courses given by the Pru while she was there.

Her next job was for the Winter Stamp Manufacturing Co. in Elizabeth, where she was a girl Friday, enjoying her job because it offered her a great diversification of work.

TERCENTENARY TALES by John T. Cunningham

'Skol' Sounded Death Knell For 'Yoicks' Of Gloucester Hunt Club

Things had come to a pretty pass in the old Gloucester Fox Hunting Club by 1880. The club still reckoned about 40 members, but more than half of them, faintly protesting the pleasure of the banquet table to "the early rising, exposure to invigorating frosts and the surmised dangers of a fox hunt."

GLoucester in 1835, as drawn for members of the venerable old Gloucester Fox Hunting Club.

THE PARTY-MINDED "hunters" of 1880 wouldn't even have been permitted near the club when it was founded in 1766. Only those who had proved themselves in chases across the fields of southern New Jersey dared make application.

Enthusiasm outran good sense at the organization meeting in October, 1766—Members voted to hunt Tuesday and Friday plus "any intermediate days thought necessary." Within a year the by-laws were amended to limit hunting to once weekly.

Hunters gathered outside William Hugg's Tavern at the Gloucester Point Ferry, after breakfasting by candlelight. Astride fine-blooded horses, they made a handsome sight in dark-brown coats with lapped dragon pockets, white buttons and frock sleeves; buff waistcoats and breeches and black velvet caps.

Impatient hounds waited anxiously in the cold morning air. Hunters began howling names: Mingo, Piper, Drummer, Countess, Dido, Slouch, Tippler, Kumper, Droner, Singwell and Sweetlips, gained their names, of course, from their merriment in a pack in full chase.

THE GLoucester fox hunters had a good sense of public relations; they hunted only between the 10th of October and the 10th of April, when fields were barren and frozen. One-farmer began expelling members "killing the soil," all hunters turned to the pleasures of the wine cellar.

Hunts usually began at Cooper's Creek or more often as soon after Cooper's Creek as a keen-nosed hound picked up the scent of Reynard (as members of the club called their quarry). Hunts ended with the signing of a "brush" (fox tail).

Over frozen fields, across the icy creeks, over the fences and through the woods went the chase. Sometimes the fox succumbed in an hour, sometimes he ran for eight to 10 hours. One noble fox in 1798 eluded hounds and hunters on a 40-mile run from Gloucester Point to Salem.

Farmers enjoyed the sport, leaping astride mounts without a doubt whenever they heard the pack-singing across the horizon. They were not permitted to be members, but they could "joyfully augment the hunting train" (And they could help dig a burrowing fox).

Heppily for those who felt foxes deserved an equal chance, the digging at the end of a chase often left the hunters with only exercise, for the fox could use his wit as well as his legs. Occasionally the diggers worked up with skunks, and the "Messieurs" related unhappy times when club members ended a day by meeting the wrong end of a skunk.

MOST OF THE Gloucester fox hunters joined the revolutionary cause in 1776, and after the war the first signs of age began to show.

Old timers came faithfully after 1800, but instead of leaping ditches or fences astride spirited steeds, they rode carriage along a carefully-chosen trail. They could hear the chorus of hounds and see the brightly-uniformed hunt men on plow-horses. It wasn't hunting, but it did "revive the spirits" of the old warriors.

Yet, there came a time when "the fox" was no longer "savage." Deities, resignations and mercantile misadventures depleted the ranks and bouquet lovers and Madeira drinkers joined in too-numerous proportions. The end was in sight.

The Gloucester Fox Hunting Club dissolved in 1818 after 52 years of sport. The "Memoirs," written in 1830, recalled the chases, the exhilarating hours in the fresh air and the numerous times when fox hunters from Kentucky or England found the New Jersey going tougher than at home.

All that remained was the pack of unmatchable hounds. Distribution of them was made amongst the sporting farmers of West Jersey, and for all we know, descendants of Singwell, Droner and Sweetlips may still be making merriment on the frozen plains of Gloucester.

Report From Trenton

by State Senator Nelson F. Stamler (R-Union)

While most of New Jersey remained bogged under last week's heavy snows, members of the State Legislature gathered together from all corners of the state Tuesday morning to open the 1964 session.

There were many new faces in both the Senate and Assembly Chambers as a result of last November's elections. Once again, for the first time in several years, both houses of the Legislature have a Republican majority. The order of the day, from the two sides of the Legislature and from the Governor, was a hope for bipartisan support of programs to meet the needs of New Jersey. In any event, there is clear sentiment among Republicans that, if there is disagreement with the proposals of the Governor, the Republican majority in the Legislature will accept the challenge and responsibility of presenting a positive alternative program.

I was proud to be reappointed chairman of the Senate State, County and Municipalities Committee. This committee has the responsibility of analyzing all legislative proposals dealing with governmental administration in the state at all levels. I was also reappointed to the Appropriations Committee, and stand next in line to the chairman, Senator Harper of Sussex. I will also be privileged to serve again on the Senate Investigating Committee, which has the authority to examine and investigate the operations of any public body in the state which receives state funds; and to the Education Committee, the Institutions, Public Health and Welfare Committee, and the Public Safety, Defense and Veterans Affairs Committee.

The President of the Senate appointed me, too, to the Judiciary Committee through which BY MEN'S CLUB DANCE PLANNED

The Temple Beth Ahim Men's Club is sponsoring a General Membership dance Saturday evening. Feature of the evening will be a Champagne Cocktail hour, along with prizes for various dances. It was announced.

Also, the Temple is sponsoring a Purim Masquerade dance and party on March 1. Admittance will be $2.00. There will be a Queen Esther Beauty contest, as well as prizes for costumes. Free refreshments and entertainment will be provided the evening of the announcement.

Meeting On Monday A meeting of the Republican Club of Springfield will be held Monday at the American Legion Hall, beginning at 8:30 p.m. It was announced.

A program on fire and fire prevention will be presented. Scheduled as speakers are Fire Chief Armand Mester and Capt. Theodore Johnson.

Auto Hits Truck A car driven by Anthony Zarullo, 56, of 16 2nd rd., Springfield, was damaged Tuesday when it struck a vat truck emerging onto Mountain ave. from the Post Office parking lot. Springfield police reported. No one was injured.

Named To Committee Dr. Donald Merachnik, director of special services in the three high schools operated by the Union County Regional High School District No. 1, will serve on an evaluation committee April 22-24 at Lincoln High School. Permission was granted by the district Board of Education Tuesday night upon the request of the Middle States Association.

SNOW BRINGS FINES Last week's blizzard cost two Springfield residents $5 each in fines for failure to clean snow from their sidewalks. Irving Rothenberg of 139 Irving St. and Samuel Labovitz of 24 Briar Hills oval, paid the fines in Municipal Court.

BOARD OF REALTORS Real Estate Future Optimistic

Continued demand for apartments, homes and stores in the suburbs is foreseen for 1964 by members of the Board of Realtors of the Orange and Maplewood, Short Hills, Millburn, Livingston and Springfield-Henry Lansu of Millburn, president of the Board, said this week that realtors are "extremely optimistic" about the future of real estate in this area.

Excellent schools, good transportation and shopping facilities, and proximity to Newark and New York will continue to attract new residents, according to Julian Brenner of Maplewood, former president of the Board, and president of Newark's Education Committee, and Assemblyman McDermott, the Business Affairs Committee Assemblyman McDermott will also serve on the important Assembly Commerce Committee, which determines the priority of bills to be deliberated by the Assembly.

All in all, Union County's delegation to Trenton will figure prominently in State affairs in the coming year.

Town Budget At Gaudinier School, Springfield

It was announced this week that a new Boy Scout troop had been organized in Springfield, and is being sponsored by the Florence M. Gaudinier School. The troop will be officially known as Boy Scout Troop 62.

The organizers and officers of the troop are: Committee Chairman, Samuel B. Sauer, and Scoutmaster, Daniel W. Greenfield.

Members of the troop committee are: Larry Rogers, secretary; Irving Keston, transportation; Edward H. Schwartz, advancement; Martin E. Walsh, publicity; and Frank La Motte, treasurer.

Officers of the Boy Scouts' main office in the organization of the troop are: Dr. William DeGarrath of Springfield, and Wesley Smith of Union.

Joseph Bender, building and grounds chairman, told the group that $13,000 item for replacement and purchase of equipment included grounds lighting, maintenance supplies and blackout drapes for auditoriums at the Chisholm and Wallon Schools.

Operational expenses total $197,350, up $5,000. This includes salaries for custodial employees, $27,500; up $4,000; heat, $10,000; utilities, $22,000; supplies, $7,000; other expenses, $500.

Under maintenance salaries for maintenance men, $18,000; groundskeepers, $18,000; contracted services for repair of buildings, upkeep of grounds and repair of equipment, $46,800; replacement of equipment, $13,000; other expenses $6,500.

Fixed charges of $31,500 include employee retirement contributions—$18,000; insurance costs and judgments, $15,050; rent for $3,000.

Tuition expense for pupils attending special schools in other districts comes to $5,000; food service cost to cover possible deficit in cafeteria operations, $2,000.

Union community services $5,000 is provided to cover salaries for personnel used during rental of school buildings by outside organizations.

Capital outlays to sites and related professional fees, $4,500; improvements to build and related fees, $5,000; furniture and equipment for buildings and grounds, $7,000.

The children must cross the driveway at Mrs. Prince's farm when they reach the other side, he explained. Board members agreed that the situation is the responsibility of the governing body but that a "request" for consideration should be made by the Board.

Mrs. Audrey Ruban was recommended by the Board for her part in getting out the Board publication, "School Board News."

PLANS TO DESIGN

Mrs. Beverly J. McMahon, physical education teacher in Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, will resign from her duties March 1. The Union County Regional High School District No. 1 Board of Education accepted the resignation Tuesday night.

Pigeon Fanciers Seek Better 'Image' For Their Feathered Friends

By BARBARA GIBBONS
One group is strictly for the birds' exploding Dominick Ritorio with a grin. The group he's referring to is the Irvington Racine Pigeon Association, a club of some 200 hobbyists from Union and Essex Counties. A Unionite, Ritorio is a captain in the Union Fire Department. He is an active pigeon racer and a former president of the Irvington Club.

"We pigeon fanciers are usually pretty quiet about our hobby. We're generally so absorbed in training our birds and readying them for competition that we haven't got much time to 'sell' pigeons to the public," Ritorio continued. "But all that's changed now."

The need to promote a better public image for their feathered friends was dramatically brought home to pigeon racers last Spring when a New York City health official urged a massive campaign to wipe out the city's exploding population of sky-scrapers dwelling wild pigeons. The city birds were accused of carrying encephalitis and other serious illnesses but the effect of the indictment was to the world a less friendly place for all pigeons. Homing pigeon hobbyists soon found that their neighbors didn't share their fancy. Attempts to expand their activities were being seriously curtailed by the objections of other residents.

Pigeons were being maligned as pestilence-spreading delinquents with anti-social habits and nasty diseases. "People are confusing our birds with common pigeons," Ritorio exclaimed. "There's nothing common about them."

Ritorio's pigeons, however, are high-born purebreds costing as much as $250 a pair. Ritorio's prize-winning athletes have been subjected to months of training so rigorous that few major league ball players would endure it. Racing pigeons, Ritorio argues, cannot be guilty of any of the complaints against their unpedigreed counterparts. Their homing instinct is so strong that the birds beat it back to the coop as fast as they can. Their uncanny ability to find their way back over fantastic distances is the basis of the sport of pigeon racing.

Pigeon races are conducted in the spring and summer. Competing birds will be taken to starting points 150 miles from home and released at the same time. Their owners, meanwhile, remain at home to await their return. When the racer arrives, the owner removes a timing slip capsule from the bird's leg and inserts it into a machine which automatically stamps the time. The machine is tamperproof and irrefutable evidence of the bird's speed performance. The 150-mile distance is a typical "big race."

Longer events of 500 or 800 miles are often held. The 1,000-mile race is the Kentucky Derby of pigeon-fanciers. World-spanning races are often scheduled in an effort to surpass the achievement set in 1931 when a French pigeon flew the 7,000-mile distance home from Saigon, Viet Nam in just seven days.

Though the training habits of pedigreed pigeons is intensive, trainers have their own techniques to help instinct along. A serving of the pigeon's favorite food awaits him at the loft. There are other inducements too: Pigeons are monogamous and the males, especially "floaters," Ritorio boasts, the performance of his male birds, by putting another bird in the nest with the racer's mate. The anxious bird can't wait to get home to see what's going on. Motherhood is an instinct which hobbyists also exploit. Nestling females are given false mechanical eggs to prevent "pigeon-baiting" taken away for a race. The egg wiggles and clicks and otherwise makes like a baby-pigeon about to pop. The expectant mother will flap her heart out to get home, afraid that she will miss the blessed event.

Pigeons are highly individual, and hobbyists are always discovering new ways to bring their birds back in record time. Ritorio tells of one vain bird who would race back to the loft for the sure prize reward of looking at his mate in a mirror. "Celebrity" appeal sometimes works.

They've been calling on "expert witnesses" who are able to disprove their claim that pedigreed pigeons cannot carry diseases harmful to humans. At a recent Zoning Board hearing in Union, a medical expert came armed with charts and diagrams of bird anatomy to prove that pigeons must be perching in order to indulge in the unpopular habit of messing up public buildings. And, he continued, homing pigeons are always home or on their way there.

The pigeon fanciers are as eager as the health authorities to be rid of the common pigeon nuisance. Ritorio and a fellow pigeon fancier, Unionite Frank Dehmar, have volunteered hours of their time to trapping the herds of pigeons that have plagued various neighborhoods in Union. One of their most ambitious and successful undertakings in recent years was to rout the hundreds of feathered pests who chose to become parishioners of St. Michael's Church.

Some of the other residents active in the Irvington Club include Theodore Wolek, Andrew Babernitch, Louis Alfimi, Charles Finch, Arthur and George Frisch, Stanley Vaccaro, William Koempel, Fred Calderone, Charles Smith, John Kubik, Charles Vastar, Emil Reckelner, Harold Bogart, Andrew Babernitch, William Thomas and Emil Solman. Irvington residents include Nicholas Houran, John Malyska, Al Novak, Iddora Spatz, Calrenee Wolek, Kurt Steinhof, Charles Schwegerl, Peter Wilk, Frank Uebelhor, George Barozzi, Charles W. Doty, Joseph Abbot, Raymond Deery, Sam Casper, Ted Gledywiec, Henry Gorman and Lawrence Houran.

Springfield pigeon hobbyists are John Bauer, Stephen Matyszek, Henry Moran and Frank Semon. Roselle Park residents are N. D. Dellotacconi and Harry Deutchlander. Kenilworth hobbyists are Sam Cervulolo and Arthur Vitale.

Springfield pigeon hobbyists are John Bauer, Stephen Matyszek, Henry Moran and Frank Semon. Roselle Park residents are N. D. Dellotacconi and Harry Deutchlander. Kenilworth hobbyists are Sam Cervulolo and Arthur Vitale.

They've been calling on "expert witnesses" who are able to disprove their claim that pedigreed pigeons cannot carry diseases harmful to humans. At a recent Zoning Board hearing in Union, a medical expert came armed with charts and diagrams of bird anatomy to prove that pigeons must be perching in order to indulge in the unpopular habit of messing up public buildings. And, he continued, homing pigeons are always home or on their way there.

The pigeon fanciers are as eager as the health authorities to be rid of the common pigeon nuisance. Ritorio and a fellow pigeon fancier, Unionite Frank Dehmar, have volunteered hours of their time to trapping the herds of pigeons that have plagued various neighborhoods in Union. One of their most ambitious and successful undertakings in recent years was to rout the hundreds of feathered pests who chose to become parishioners of St. Michael's Church.

Overheard

My neighbor said, "We went out for our Christmas dinner. As we passed an auto with three passengers, our local-age son exclaimed, 'Look at those folks—they must have a good opinion of themselves to have such a license plate!' It was XL 3."

"Psychology nothing!" exclaimed Mrs. B. "I wish they'd stop marking articles $1.99, $4.99, $9.99 and so on causing me the trouble to add one or two cents which I unconsciously do. What sort of folks do the advertisers hope to ensnare?"

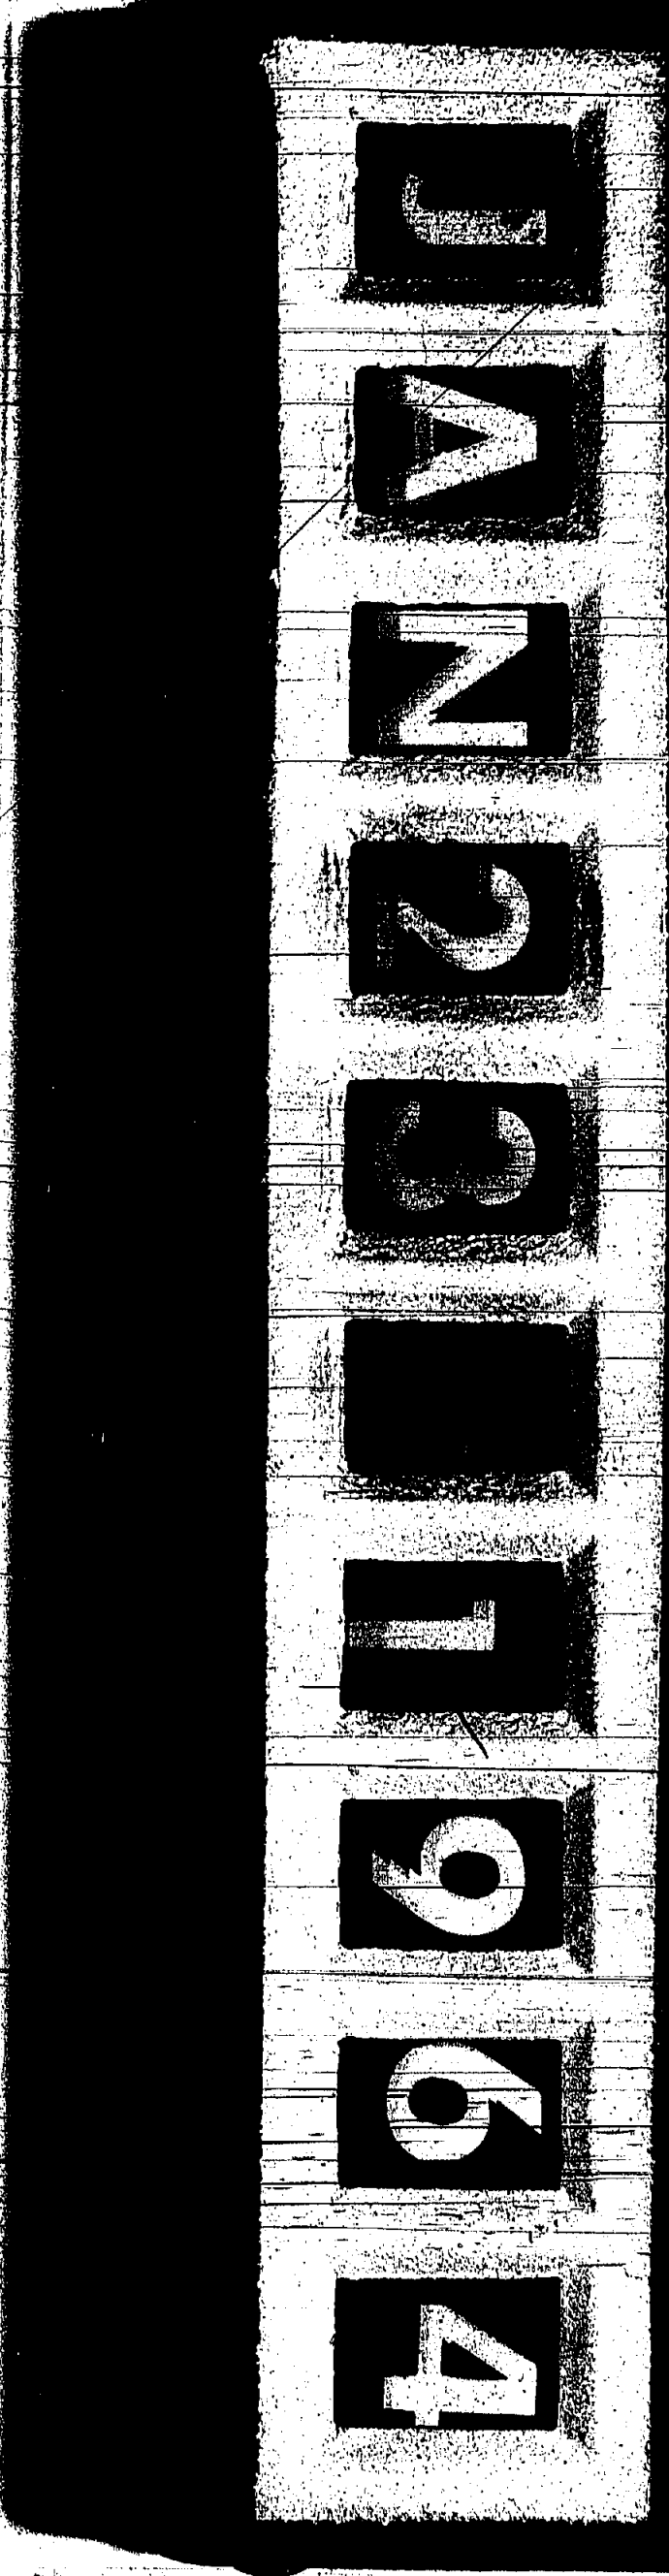

A little 10-year-old received a check for $5 as a gift from his grandmother. His mother carefully explained that it was the same as getting money but he would have to sign it. They'd take it to the bank. He got so excited that he spelled both of his names wrong.

With some money given them, Joan (age seven) decided to buy a doll. When she finally picked out the one she liked best after having looked at every doll in the store, she said, "Now don't show me anything else and tempt me to spend my money. I'm going to put it in my piggy bank!"

WORLD CHAMPION SPARKLER

The largest diamond ever found was the Cullinan Diamond, sometimes called the Star of Africa. Found in a mine in the Transvaal, it weighed, in the rough, three thousand carats, or slightly over one and a third pounds. According to the Book of Knowledge, it was given to King Edward VII of England as a birthday present in 1907, and from it were cut: one egg-shaped brilliant of 530 carats, now in the King's Royal Scepter; one square brilliant of 317 carats, now in the state crown; one 64 carat and one 83 carat stones for the queen's crown and, in addition, 101 smaller stones of assorted shapes and sizes.

Publisher Embarks On Study Mission

Publisher Sam Howard of this newspaper and his wife, Trudina, departed last week as participants in a newspaper study mission tour of Pacific islands, the "down-under" countries, and Asia and Near Eastern ports. They are among a group of writers, editors and publishers from throughout the nation who took off by jet flight from Los Angeles Airport on a tour directed by the National Editorial Association. They are expected to return in early March.

Mrs. Howard writes the column, "The Feminine Touch" and her husband is publisher of six newspapers—the Union-Leader in Irvington, Herald, Springfield Leader, Vailsburg Leader, Roelle Spectator, and the Suburban Leader of Kenilworth. Mrs. Howard's column has included a series on a similar expedition to African nations that the couple took last year. This is their fourth year of participation in the National Editorial Association mission. The first was a tour of Russia and countries behind the Iron Curtain. The tour, which will feature meetings with heads of government, will include stops at Tahiti, the Fiji Islands, New Zealand, Australia, Singapore, India, Pakistan and Lebanon.

Nurses Will Press $98 Minimum Wage

New Jersey's general duty hospital professional registered nurses are ready to press this year for a minimum basic salary of $98.07 a week, according to the New Jersey State Nurses Association.

Placement Tests For Peace Corps Overseas Service Set For Feb. 8

A group of highly-prepared professional people is not inconsistent with today's living aspirations, said Miss Phyllis L. Gray, president of the 4,000-member statewide organization.

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy: I am 16 years of age and have a habit of always picking on me. If he hits me anymore, I'll be bruised-for-life-What shall I do?

Dear Amy: I don't know what wild thoughts my husband was thinking when he chose my Christmas gifts but he gave me the most impractical, useless, yet expensive, lingerie. For a woman my age (I'm 52), who needs it...

Dear Amy: I wouldn't advise returning the gifts. They could have been prompted by an over-anxious wife. Wake up!

Dear Amy: My husband is a very jealous person and this has caused many arguments between us. He even goes to the extreme of being jealous of our very closest friends.

Dear Amy: I am a 17-year-old girl. About 8 weeks ago, I noticed a boy in my class. I attend on Saturdays. His name is...

Dear Amy: I have been married just one year and have a 2-month-old son. I now find that I'm going to have another child. I'm not sorry, but I'm afraid of what my parents and relatives will say.

Dear Amy: Your husband is absolutely right. This unnecessary worry about what your parents and relatives will say is spoiling the joy of your expected arrival.

I like to see a man live so that his place will be proud of him. Address all letters to: Amy Adams, c/o This Newspaper. For a personal reply enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dr. Joachim Prinz To Get Rights Award

Dr. Joachim Prinz, spiritual leader of Temple Beth Ahm of Newark and President of the American Jewish Congress, has been selected to receive the First Annual Human Rights Award of Temple Sharey Shalom of Springfield, it was announced this week.

Said a Temple announcement: "From his early days as a rabbi in pre-war Berlin to his present position as a leading spokesman for American Jews, Dr. Prinz has been a dedicated campaigner for civil liberties, civil liberties and other issues concerning his fellow man. We are honored to designate him the recipient of our first award."

The presentation will take place in the Temple Beth Ahm auditorium at 10 p.m. on Sunday, Feb. 22. A spokesman said the agenda includes a breakfast. The spokesman said many nationally-known figures as well as many local Jewish and civic leaders have been invited to the affair. Members of Dr. Prinz's congregation and representatives of the press have also been invited.

Ticket information, the spokesman added, can be had by contacting Alan Kampf of 138 Reshway ave., Springfield.

FAMILY LIFE TODAY

by PHYLLIS GREER

ENCOURAGE READING develop an interest in reading even before the child is ready to read. Looking at pictures, hearing stories told and reading to him, making up stories, learning to read. Youngsters want to learn new things unless their curiosity has been stifled.

The ability to read has many long-term results besides making it get through school. A young man who is intelligent and able to read and understand the complicated directions of "Do-it-yourself" toys and equipment must be read and interested. How can mother cook today without being able to read package directions?

It is found that most of the young people who drop out of school are poor readers. There are no jobs for these unskilled youngsters.

There may be fundamental causes for poor reading, such as defects in vision or emotional problems. These need professional advice. However, many youngsters don't enjoy reading because they haven't learned that it can be "fascinating." Parents can help young children a great deal by encouraging them and by making reading opportunities.

Driver Education Official Lauds New Regulations

Motor Vehicle Director Norman J. Tarsitano has released the text of a letter received from William F. Taggart, vice president of the New Jersey Professional Driver Education Association.

Taggart commented on the new Commercial Driver School Regulations that became effective Jan. 1, 1964, as follows:

"We are in receipt of the new Commercial Driver School Regulations effective Jan. 1, 1964. After a careful review of the revisions therein we feel Director Tarsitano and the entire Division of Motor Vehicles, should be congratulated for their efforts to afford the public a greater degree of safety through upgrading and improvement of the driving school profession in this state.

"Restriction of the driving school's location, the addition of seat belts and greater insurance protection in the instruction vehicles, and the addition of classroom facilities to the teaching program, are very definitely a step in the right direction. We have highly advocated such measures in the past and wish to pledge our fullest cooperation with the Division to assure the public of superior instructional techniques. This standardization of teaching methods should go a long way in aiding our causes for greater highway safety.

"New Jersey Professional Driver Education Association sincerely hopes that this is only the first in a series of steps being taken by the Division in a continuing effort to reduce traffic accidents. Such methods are being advocated throughout the country and we are proud that New Jersey stands among the nation's leaders."

Registration for the Spring Semester of the Union Junior College Institute will be conducted next Tuesday and Wednesday from 6 to 9 p.m. in the main administrative office in Cranford. The UJC Institute offers non-credit college-level courses for adults. Tomorrow is the deadline to register by mail.

Juvenile Problem Subject Of Talks At Junior College

Juvenile Court Judge William Di Buono of Hillside, and Saul Pilnick, director of Essexfield, Newark, a home for juveniles on probation, will be guest speakers at the winter meeting of the Union County Personnel and Guidance Association next Tuesday, at Union Junior College in Cranford. It was announced this week.

Pilnick will speak about the program at Essexfield at 4 p.m. in the theatre of Union Junior College's new Campus Center. A question and answer period will follow.

Judge Di Buono will speak following dinner in the college cafeteria in the Nomahegan Building on aspects of the juvenile delinquency problem. The meeting will open with registration and a coffee hour in the student lounge of the Campus Center.

Edward Gottlieb, director of guidance at Hillside High School and association president, and Dr. Kenneth C. Mackay, president of Union Junior College, will extend greetings. Gottlieb will preside.

Rinaldo Appoints GOP Lincoln Day Dinner Chairmen

Freeholder Matthew J. Rinaldo, Jr. of Union, general chairman of the Union County Republican Lincoln Day Dinner to be held Monday, Feb. 10, at 7 p.m. at the Elizabeth Carter Hotel in Elizabeth, has announced the appointment of the following committee chairmen:

Tickets — Mayor H. Raymond Kirwan of Cranford and Mrs. Amy Sandner of Springfield; reception — Mrs. Helen Huber of Summit; speakers — State Committeeman Albert Benninger of Mountainside and Committeewoman Irene Griffin of Westfield; decorations — Mrs. Evelyn Heath of Summit and Benjamin Scheppe of Summit; publicity — A. Donald McKenzie of Union and Arthur Lapp of Hillside; arrangements — Hugo Pfaltz of Summit; treasurer — Mrs. Ethel Allison of Mountainside; secretary to committee — Mrs. Maude Millering of Westfield.

Freeholder Rinaldo stated that a nationally prominent speaker will deliver the major address at the dinner. Tickets are priced at $10 per person and may be obtained from members of the Republican County Committee in each municipality, according to Rinaldo.

County Residents Would Pay $353,638,000 Of U. S. Budget

The New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce estimated that New Jersey taxpayers will be required to pay out approximately $4,278,230,000 in Federal taxes as their share of the cost of the Federal spending program of $97.9 billion proposed for the fiscal year 1964-65 by President Johnson in his annual budget message Tuesday.

This share is 4.1 times the total of $1,035 billion in property taxes levied in 1963 to support the services rendered by New Jersey's 21 county governments, 367 municipal governments and 575 public school districts and it is 7.91 times the record $533.8 million New Jersey state budget for the current fiscal year, the state group said.

Locally, the State Chamber estimates that Union County taxpayers will pay a total of $353,638,000 if Congress adopts the $97.9 billion spending program proposed by the President. This is an amount equal to $661 for every man, woman and child in the county.

This Federal tax burden upon the county's taxpayers is 37 times the $91,777,510 of property taxes levied within the county to support the county government as well as all municipal governments and public schools, the Chamber explained. The State Chamber's estimates are based upon its calculation that New Jersey taxpayers currently pay 4.37 per cent of all Federal taxes.

The Chamber pointed out that any change which Congress may make in this budget will reduce or increase the amount that New Jersey taxpayers will have to bear depending on whether Congress cuts or spends more.

The State Chamber commended President Johnson for halting the rapid growth of Federal spending in recent years. The Chamber urged Congress, however, to make sure that the $97.9 billion expenditure total is not increased and to strive for a reduction in this amount so that the anticipated deficit of $4.9 billion can be lowered.

Less than gratifying to the Chamber, the organization said, is the President's $103.8 billion request for new obligatory authority. "If Congress should approve this amount, which is almost $8 billion higher than the 1965 expenditure total, a renewal of the sharp rise in spending can be expected in 1966. Congress can prevent this expenditure rise by rejecting the many new big spending programs proposed by the President for initiation at a small start-up cost in 1965," the Chamber added.

Wrestlers Crush Clark, 33-9; Meet Unbeaten Scotch Plains

Dayton Regional High School's wrestling team journeys to Scotch Plains tomorrow to meet Tommy Baker and his undefeated Scotch Plains High School team. Dayton's coach Jerry Sachsel is confident that his team can win tomorrow, despite its losing record.

"If we wrestle against Scotch Plains the way we did against Clark High School last Wednesday, we should win," Sachsel says.

Dayton, coached by Clark, 33-9 for its first win of the season.

One hundred fourteen bring victory for their team. Mike Kreitzer, who scored 14 points against Linden and 12 against Clark, is not only developing into a scorer but he's been Dayton's most consistent footer this season. Mike is a junior.

U. S. SKI PATROL
The National Ski Patrol System, founded in 1938, is an organization of expert skiers, who promote safety in all major ski areas. It is linked up with the National Ski Association of America, which promotes and supervises annual events. According to the Book of Knowledge, ski patrol members are trained in rescue methods and first aid and have performed notable service in many disaster areas, such as airplane crashes in remote places.

Whitney teams in the cross score division, and their scores were: Thomas and Bornstein of Union, 1407; Bishop and Walsh of Mountaineer, 1387; Ziltner and D'Antonio of Clark, 1369; Laurito and Schmitt of Linden, 1369.

Bulldogs Drop 2 To Clark, Plains

Dayton Regional High School's basketball team plays host to a poor Union High School team tomorrow and is favored to win. The way the Bulldogs have played in their last two outings against Clark and Scotch Plains, almost anything can happen.

Tuesday afternoon, Clark invaded Springfield and left the winner of a squeaker, 44 to 42. With a minute and 15 seconds to play the score was tied, 40-40. Clark decided to play control ball during the remaining time, and the Bulldogs, in their desperation to get the ball, started fouling. Clark made four free throws and clinched its second victory over Dayton this season. Dayton lost its opener to Clark.

Though the Bulldogs scored three more field goals than Clark, another poor performance at the foul line hurt their cause. Dayton made only four of 13 foul shot attempts.

Frank Monticello, who usually can be counted on to score in double figures, was held scoreless and fouled out. Frank's off day was caused by a bad cold.

Coach Ray Yanchus said his regular guards Mike Kreitzer and Jimmy Lee fouled out. Dayton looked hard pressed in getting the ball to its big scoring guns, Billy Kreitzer and Monticello.

Billy scored 23 points against Scotch Plains and Monticello plunked in 17. The game's high scorer was Scotch Plains guard Rickie Falmester, with 25.

Once again, Dayton did not perform well on the foul line. The Bulldogs hit 19 free throws out of 31 tries. Scotch Plains made 31 of 41 foul shots attempts.

Yanchus said, "We fell apart." But in the second quarter, Yanchus said, "we fell apart."

Scotch Plains scored 47 points and led at half time, 42-30.

In the third quarter the Bulldogs fought back to 58-44 at the end of the period. With two minutes left to play, Scotch Plains was ahead, 69-57, and for the second time during the game Dayton collapsed. Scotch Plains scored to quiet points and won the game, 78-69.

Scotch Plains' press seemed to irritate Dayton's attack. The guards seemed rattled at times, losing the ball numerous times while bringing it up court. When regular guards Mike Kreitzer and Jimmy Lee fouled out, Dayton looked hard pressed in getting the ball to its big scoring guns, Billy Kreitzer and Monticello.

Cold Fishermen In Large Numbers As Jersey Season Breaks The Ice

Large numbers of New Jersey anglers are expected to flock to the waters of the state for the winter season, according to the Division of Fish and Game. The Department of Conservation and Economic Development is sponsoring a winter fishing season which ends Feb. 16. They wish to see the effects of the new limiting angles to five tip-ups and the effects of the extended tip-up season.

Biologists will check these lakes every weekend throughout the winter season. They will check the new limiting angles to five tip-ups and the effects of the extended tip-up season.

State Agency Seeks Help By Sportsmen

Cooperation is being asked of New Jersey sportsmen selected to participate in game and fish surveys conducted by the Division of Fish and Game, Department of Conservation and Economic Development.

Postcards were mailed last week to some 8,000 hunters selected at random from license buyers. The same group of hunters who last year gave the best cooperation since the survey started is being polled again, since the survey is designed to use a sample for two years running.

Donan President Talks On Finance At Exchange Club

Various types of retirement plans were explained to the Exchange Club of Union by Donald H. Shafarman, president of the investment securities firm, Donan & Co. Inc., of Springfield, who said that only one of 25 persons is financially independent of the age of 65.

The speaker advised against the retirement plan for the professional man or independent man that is provided for in the Federal Keogh Act. This act enables a retirement plan of 10 per cent of earned income for which he gets a tax deduction of one-half the amount, with a $5,000 limit.

Other alternatives, he said, are a principal amount he could invest until the person is 50, 55 years old, and that the entire amount would be paid out in a lump sum at a five-year period. Also he said employees of the individual must be covered, if they have been employed for more than three years.

On the general subject, Shafarman said that a man needs $100,000 in invested capital to guarantee a $300-per-month retirement income. He said that, without the money, the man would have to take $100,000 per month to use the capital of $200,000.

He spoke of the benefits of Social Security, which a man who has earned maximum benefits can get $125 a month at the age of 65, and a husband and wife can get $190.

The speaker said that investment years ago were in grain annuities, but that in recent years the trend has been toward investments in income stocks. He spoke of the recent report put out by Merrill Lynch, which indicates that in 10 years there was only a nine per cent compound increase in investment, considering every stock listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Shafarman recommended buying only quality securities for retirement purposes. He said that there are several types of retirement plans depending on circumstances.

He said that the Donan Plan is a "profit sharing" plan, and that it is a "profit sharing" plan, and that it is a "profit sharing" plan.

With the club meeting at the "Hitchin' Post" on the constitutional amendment committee, through its chairman, Peter Hughes, proposed amendments which will be acted upon at a subsequent meeting.

Skating Students Receive Ribbons

Fifty-seven Union and Springfield residents were among skaters at the Winter Sports Ice Skating School who participated in recent nationwide "ribbon tests." The local tests, administered by the local skating club, were given at the school's rink in Union by members of the faculty.

Yellow, red, blue, white and gold ribbons were awarded to winners.

Participants from Union were Lisa and David Logow, David Novak, Cathy Schwartz, Amy Thomas, Betty and Alexander Barchicki, Raye Bashover, Ann Marie, Debbie and Lauri Dunn, Lisa Pazzani, Barbara and Gary Fox, Steven Goldfain, Nancy Hossid, Pat Kozemarski, Carol Kirschbaum, Shirley Kuseloff, Joan and Jon Kwiecien, Wendy Lewis, Anne Nicholson, Lynn Ozy, Maureen Regan and Susan Smith.

Rabbi Dresner Tells Of Moral Challenge Dealing With Race, Community

Rabbi Israel S. Dresner of Temple Sharey Shalom, Springfield, delivered a major paper Monday at a New Jersey Conference on Religion and Race in Atlantic City. The theme was "Race and Community—The Moral Challenge."

That paper, one of the four major ones delivered at the conference which ended Tuesday, was "The Moral Challenge of the Temple." The Rabbi informed us that King Solomon in building the Holy Temple in Jerusalem made the windows of the Temple's House so that they were narrow inside and broad on the exterior—the reason being that the spiritual radiance of the temple might spread abroad and so illuminate the world outside. It was, thus, the task of God's house and those who served within to influence and transform the society which surrounded the temple. This remains the task of God's house—the church and the synagogue—and those who minister within them.

"ALL TOO OFTEN, however, the reverse occurs. The darkness of an indifferent and unjust society dims the light of the Lord's house. The church and synagogue instead of reforming and transforming the community about them are themselves corrupted by a sinning and bigoted community. Thus we find, to our everlasting shame, that here in America there are houses of worship which are themselves discriminations—and segregation—between churches and synagogues which are themselves saviors and abettors of a social community and an economic system which discriminates against God's tortured and tormented negro children.

"We in the house of prayer too frequently forget the Rabbinic teaching that our heavenly Father considered the doing of justice and righteousness to be far more important than the bringing of sacrifices and offerings to Solomon's Holy Temple. The Rabbi in the Talmud cites as their proof text the Biblical verse: 'To do righteousness and justice is more acceptable to the Lord than sacrifice.' (Proverbs 21:3).

"The prophet Isaiah says it even more explicitly: 'Your new moons and your appointed seasons my soul hate; they are a burden to me; I am weary to bear them. Your hands are full of blood, you make you clean, you say, the evil of your doings from before mine eyes. Cease to do evil, learn to do well; seek justice, and oppress no one. Defend the fatherless, plead for the widow.' (Isaiah 1:14-17). In a like manner the prophet cries out 'Is not this the fact that I have chosen? To loose the fetters of wickedness, to undo the bonds of iniquity, and to let the oppressed go free, and that ye break every yoke? 'Is it not to deal thy bread to the hungry, and that thou bring the poor that are cast out to thy house? When thou seest the naked that thou coverest him... Then shall thou call and the Lord will answer thee, thou shalt cry and He will say here I am. If thou take away from the midst of thee the yoke, and the putting forth of the finger, and speaking wickedness, and if thou draw out thy soul to the hungry and satisfy the afflicted soul; then shall thy light rise in darkness and thy gloom be as the noonday.

"BEFORE WE CAN expect the Almighty to answer our call-to-bring-into-out-er-out-come-for-forgiveness, we must first ask forgiveness of those whom our society has wronged; we must first do everything within our power to right an unjust society, to make amends to those who have been wronged. In the words of the Psalmist: 'Who shall stand in His holy place, He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart, who hath not taken My name in vain, and hath not sworn deceitfully.' (Psalms 24:3-4).

"We in the house of God must cleanse ourselves and the institutions we represent of any shibboleth of that most heinous of idolatry—racism, but we cannot truly do so unless we have set about cleansing our communities. The eternal light of the sanctuary will be extinguished unless it lights candles in the darkness all about. The church and the synagogue must become involved in the stuff of life—in the problems of the community. The house of God must not flee life—it must seek it. Instead of 'Stop the world, I want to get out of here,' I want to get in here. Society is unredeemed; if we religious do not attempt to redeem it then who will?

"The ministers, the priest, the rabbi must call in the employers, the builders, the bankers, the realtors, the owners of public accommodations, the trade unionists, the homeowners, the teachers, the holders of public office, the professionals who are members of his church or synagogue and he must tell them that to discriminate against a Negro or any child of God is a sin against God, for the symbol of God is man—every man. The very first chapter of the Bible informs us that we were all created by one Heavenly Father who fashioned us in His own image, and that we all trace our descent to one earthly progenitor—Adam.

"We in the clergy are duty bound to inform our congregations—the truth proclaimed by the Talmudic Rabbi. When they asked why did God begin the human race with but a single man? and they answered, 'So that no man should be able to say to his fellow, 'I have better ancestry than you.' We must speak to the members of our churches and synagogues—from the pulpit, at meetings, in our personal confrontations and request of them, urge them, demand of them that they become equal opportunity employers, open occupancy builders, fair labor, banker, landlords, homeowners and tenants.

"EACH OF OUR congregations must play a vital role as a congregation in the duty of bringing down the Jericho-like walls of discrimination and de facto segregation which mar the spiritual beauty and health of our communities—here in New Jersey and throughout the land. It is not enough for members of the church or temple to speak as individuals on this most pressing of all issues—the issue of eliminating racial injustice.

Feature Movie To Be Shown At Lutheran Church

A feature-length, color movie, "A Letter To Nancy," will be shown Friday, Feb. 7 at 7:45 p.m., at Holy Cross Lutheran Church, 639 Mountain Ave., Springfield. It was announced this week.

This is the first feature-length film to be produced in color by The Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod, the announcement said.

Professionally produced in Hollywood at Paramount Studios and Family Films, the 80-minute movie "portrays the dramatic conflict in the heart and soul of a self-assured church member who was able to convince a jury at the trial for his defendant, but found it almost impossible to share his Christian conviction with a nine-year-old girl."

According to Pastor Lester P. Messerschmidt, the local congregation is "aiming at saturation coverage." He said everyone is invited to attend the showing to be held in the church nave.

The power of divine love in daily living will be the subject at all Christian Science churches this Sunday.

Opening the Bible Lesson readings on "Love" will be this verse from I John (4:7): "Beloved, let us love one another for love is of God and everyone that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God."

Selections from the Christian Science textbook will include these lines: "Human affection is not poured forth easily, even though it need no return. Love enriches the nature, enlarging, purifying, and elevating it." (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 37).

Donan President Talks On Finance At Exchange Club

Various types of retirement plans were explained to the Exchange Club of Union by Donald H. Shagman, president of the investment-securities firm of Donan & Co. Inc. of Springfield, who said that only one of 25 persons is financially independent at the age of 65.

The speaker advised against the traditional plan of the professional man—an independent man that is provided for in the Federal Reserve Act. This, he said, is a self-imposed pension to set up a retirement plan of 10 per cent of earned income for which he gets a tax deduction of one-half the amount, with a $2,000 limit.

During his remarks, he said the principal cannot be touched until the person is 50 years old, and that the entire amount is considered ordinary income over a five-year period. After the age, employees of the individual must be covered, if they have been employed for more than three years.

On the general subject, Shagman said that a man with $100,000 in invested capital to guarantee a $300-per-month retirement income. He said that would take 15 years at $500 per month to use the capital.

He spoke of the benefits of Social Security, advising a man who has earned $10,000 a year can get $120 a month at the age of 65, and a husband and wife can get $190.

The speaker said that investment plans were in great demand, but that in recent years the trend has been toward investments in income stocks. He spoke of the report recently put out by Merrill Lynch, which indicates that in 10 years there was only a nine per cent compound increase in investment, considering the stock listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Shagman recommended buying only quality securities for retirement purposes. He said that there are several types of investment plans depending on circumstances.

He said that the Pension Plan is the most popular, and its main asset is that it gives a fixed amount of money upon retirement.

The Profit Sharing Plan is a definite plan, where there is no fixed amount of retirement income, for said, it depends upon the shares applied to the individual.

Both of these plans are generally covered by employees of corporations. There are definite advantages if the company is making money, he said.

He said that the Pension Plan is preferred, if it is received in yearly payments, it is considered as ordinary income.

The speaker was introduced by Richard Muller, program chairman.

With the club meeting at the Hitchin Post Inn, the constitutional amendment committee, through its chairman, Peter Hughes, proposed amendments which will be acted upon at a subsequent meeting.

Skating Students Receive Ribbons

Fifty-seven Union and Springfield residents are among the winners of the 1944-45 Skating School who participated at recent nationwide "ribbon tests." The legal tests similar to others administered throughout the country, were given at the school's rink in Union by members of the faculty.

Yellow, red, blue, white and gold ribbons were awarded to winners.

Participating from Union were Lisa and Debbi Lopez, David Novak, Gail Schwartz, Amy Thomas, Betsy and Maureen Jankowski, Dayle Bickel, Marle, Debbie and Laura Dunn, Lisa Fazzari, Barbara and Gary Fox, Steven Goldfarb, Nancy Hoid, Pat Kezmerski, Carol Kischmann, Shirley Knowler, Joan and Jan Kwiecien, Wendy Lewis, Anne Njehelson, Lynn Ozy, Maureen Reagan and Susan Smith.

Springfield students were Alicia Berthick, Wendy Binzel, Joan Chamon, David and Steven Gold, Randy Goldstein, Diane Greenstein, Pat Masters, Randi Meyerson, Hene Nilsen, Amy Both and Susan Worfel, Marjorie and Robin Zlatin, Mary Kay and Megan Plunier, Shari Gottlieb, Caryn and Robert Groder, Cindy Mathison, Michael Miller, Mary Beth Quinn, Carol Stahl, Karyl Weisman, and Mark Worthington.
