Red Cross Seeks 'Time, $$, Blood'

By ABNER GOLD

"All we want is your time, your money and your blood," Mrs. Robert G. Laurencelle, chairman of the Springfield Red Cross Chapter, declared at a meeting Monday evening at the Florence Gaudineer School which had been called to determine if the community could provide enough support to maintain Red Cross activities in the township.

The audience of some 50 men and women, containing approximately equal groups of former Red Cross volunteers, workers presently active and others who are interested in helping the chapter, seemed to indicate that sufficient support could be mustered.

Although invitations had been sent to 80 organizations in town asking for participation in the meeting, only 11 were represented.

Several of the delegates, however, pledged themselves to "report back to their groups" as strongly as we possibly can "on the urgent need for volunteers to conduct a variety of Red Cross services. They expressed confidence that the volunteer workers, major need of the chapter at the present time, would be produced.

Groups represented at the meeting were: Springfield Chapter of United, Lions Club, Fire Department, Township Committee, Democratic Party, St. James Mothers' Guild, Thelma Sandmeier PTA, First Aid Squad, Gaudineer PTA, Civil Defense and Temple Beth Ahm.

Chairmen for the various Red Cross activities joined Mrs. Laurencelle in outlining the work to be done and the specific tasks waiting for volunteers.

Mrs. Carl Ledig, treasurer, reported that the chapter raised some $5,000 last winter, gave approximately half to the national office and is operating on a budget of $2,500 for the current year.

She stressed that, even more important, is the need for time, money and blood.

Mission Project To Help Children In Appalachians

Organizations of the First Presbyterian Church, Springfield, have been coordinating their activities this fall to aid the Presbyterian Child Welfare Agency at Buckhorn, Kentucky, as their Christmas mission project.

The Rev. Bruce W. Evans and the Rev. Donald C. Weber, ministers of the church, plan to combine the contributions of clothing, household supplies, sports equipment, games, toys, school materials and first aid supplies for presentation directly to the agency in the Appalachians.

The agency provides a home and schooling for 40 to 45 boys and girls aged six to 18. The program works with three major groups of young people, those who will go back to their own homes—those who will go into adoption and those who grow up at the agency home or in one of the affiliated foster homes.

Organizations of the Springfield church taking part in the project include: the women's groups, Men's Club and Pirezde Group, as well as the high school students in the Westminster Fellowship.

The teenagers were busy all through November, on Sunday afternoons, repairing and repainting toys, dolls, games, sleds and other items contributed by families of the church. A portion of the toys will be included in the shipment to Buckhorn. Others will be distributed to needy children in this area.

Officials, Critics In Disagreement At Town Meeting

Disputes Concerned With Tape Recorder, Schwartz-Valco Link

Additional controversy over the Valco nursing home court decision of a month ago, which voided a zoning action of the Springfield Township Committee, shared the spotlight at last week's meeting of the Committee with a heated exchange between Mayor Robert D. Hardgrove and Vincent J. Bonadies over use of a tape recorder to record the proceedings.

Bonadies, former Democratic mayor, has been critical of the current Republican administration over a number of issues. At several recent meetings he has attacked use of the tape recorder, and particularly the $10 per hour fee charged residents who wish to hear portions of previous meetings.

The final speaker during the public portion of the meeting, Bonadies remained at his seat and refused to come forward to the microphone, as Mayor Hardgrove requested.

"You will not record my voice without my permission," Bonadies declared. "You will not shut me up."

After a brief recess, Hardgrove told him, "You must go to the microphone. You are out of order."

Bonadies, still at his seat, stated, "I insist on my right to be heard." The mayor thereupon adjourned the meeting.

Later Comments

James Cawley, township attorney, on Monday told the Leader that the dispute arose from the court suit Bonadies has filed to upset limitations placed by the Township Committee on a variance granted to him for a garden apartment project.

A court order has been authorized, but not signed, for Bonadies to obtain a transcript of the meeting.

3 Boy Scouts Spend Weekend In Township's Fallout Shelter

Three Springfield Boy Scouts took part in an unusual experiment this weekend, staying in the township's demonstration fallout shelter from 7 p.m. last Friday until 8 a.m. on Sunday.

Donald Gross, John Litzbauer and James Cawley, members of Boy Scout Troop 73 at St. James School, took part in the project. It was conducted to determine the physical and psychological effects of confinement for 37 hours in the shelter adjoining the municipal Recreation House at Caldwell pl. and N. Trivett ave.

The experiment was planned by Saul Freeman, director of civil defense, and supervised by Dr. Robert S. Milligan, Board of Health's medical officer. Also taking part in the planning was J. De Witt McGarrath, the boys' scout leader.

Food, water and other essentials for the project were provided by the township civil defense organization, according to regulations specified by the Federal Government for survival in the event of atomic attack and radioactive fallout.

Purpose of the experiment, Freeman declared, was "to determine the psychological effect of close confinement in a small area, and the ability of young people to maintain their compatibility under such conditions."

"No adverse effect was observed on the completion of their stay in the shelter, except for the loss of weight," Dr. Milligan examined the teenagers carefully on Friday evening, before they entered the shelter, and again on Sunday morning, when they came out.

Gross had lost 6 pounds in the 37 hours, Litzbauer came out four pounds lighter, and Cawley had lost three pounds.

"Young Cawley kept an hourly log of their schedule in the shelter. They passed their time by listening to the radio, playing with games they had brought into the shelter and working on several scout projects."

RED CROSS GIVES LOCAL SERVICES; ALL COULD CEASE

A number of projects serving many Springfield residents would go out of existence if Red Cross activities ceased in Springfield, it was stressed at the chapter meeting Monday evening at the Florence Gaudineer School.

Among them are the blood bank, which provides a reserve for township residents in case of emergency, anywhere in the country; the motor corps taking patients to doctors and hospitals for treatment; the water safety and first aid programs, providing instruction for hundreds of residents each year; and the loan service, which provides medical equipment for temporary use.

Anderson Picked To Fill Vacancy

Prompted by the unexpected appointment of A. B. Anderson to the Board of Education this week, two of the three board members whose terms will expire in February told the Leader that they do not plan to seek reelection.

Both Alan R. Cunningham and Frank Haydu Jr. praised the choice of Anderson by Dr. William H. West, Union County superintendent of schools. Dr. West acted in the failure of the Springfield Board of Education to name a replacement for Dr. Benjamin H. Josephson, who resigned in September, within 65 days.

Cunningham and Haydu both stated that they had served "long enough." Cunningham has been a board member for "the better part of 12 years," and Haydu for eight years.

Mrs. Lawrence Dorsky, whose term also expires in February, was first elected in 1962. She declined to comment specifically on whether or not she will run again, but indicated there is a good chance she will seek another term. Mrs. Dorsky also praised the Anderson appointment by Dr. West.

Retired In June

Anderson retired as secretary of the Board of Education last June, after 27 years of service. He noted that Dr. West spoke to him informally, just before Thanksgiving, about accepting the new appointment.

He will serve until February when a successor will be elected for the one year remaining in Dr. Josephson's term.

Anderson declared, "I have made no plans whatever about running for election, one way or the other."

Haydu stated that he had decided some time ago not to seek another term on the school board, but had not previously made any formal announcement to this effect.

He added that he had considered running for a seat on the Regional High School District Board of Education, but had not yet reached a final decision.

Cunningham declared, "It is time for new people to take up the job at this point. I do not think it is a good idea for people to stay in a position like this for too long a period of time."

"I had thought of this before, but now there are enough people on the board with sufficient experience to provide continuity of leadership. I'm certainly anxious to see people who are interested and capable step in and run for the board."

"The schools certainly need the best people available. We can't afford to stand still; the Board of Education must keep trying to improve. We need people who will work well with the school administration and with the community."

Jobs For Teens Topic Of Meeting On YES Program

Plans to establish a YES (youth employment service) program in Springfield got under way with an organizational meeting Tuesday evening at Town Hall convened by Township Committeeman Robert G. Planer.

Mrs. William Lorimer was named temporary chairman of the township YES group, which will function as a volunteer organization using desk space and telephone service in Town Hall.

Planer will serve as liaison between the new group and the municipal administration.

Guest speakers Tuesday were Mrs. Charles Palmer of Westfield, chairman of the N. J. Association of Youth Employment Services, and Norman Klein, past president of the YES group in Cranford.

The primary need of the Springfield organization, its leaders declared, is for volunteer workers "to help in the process of establishing contact between young people of high school age and local employers seeking part-time help."

The YES group will register and interview teenagers and will also work with businessmen.

It was noted that YES could also help homeowners who want assistance with snow removal, lawn mowing and other odd jobs.

Another area in which YES could operate is the finding of summer jobs for college and high school students.

To Avoid The Reindeer Rush: 'Wrap Well, Then Mail Early'

"Please pack parcels solidly," was the plea this week of Springfield Postmaster A. V. Vecchio.

"Now is the time for mailing out-of-town parcels. Don't worry about the parcels arriving too early, just mark 'Do not open until Christmas' on the front," Del Vecchio said. "It is better to receive the gifts early than to be disappointed on Christmas Day."

A "lightly stuffed package" with nothing rattling around inside, will have less chance of being damaged in transit, he noted. "When you pack your gift, remember that your parcel may be shipped on the bottom of a mail sack and there may be a heavier package on top. Among the few packages that are damaged in transit, improper packaging is the greatest factor," the postmaster cautioned. Just to be on the safe side, the postmaster suggests that all packages be insured.

Poor Packaging

He stated that poor packaging and addresses which are either incorrect or not legible are responsible for the non-delivery of about a half-million parcels each year. If the return address is incorrect or illegible and the package cannot be returned, it will be held for 90 days and then sent to a dead parcel branch where such parcels are auctioned at a public sale.

"Make sure parcels are addressed only on one side and the address is written on a slip of paper on the inside in case the exterior wrapping should come off," he urged.

Del Vecchio emphasized that parcels at Springfield are being sorted by ZIP code numbers which help to insure against loss because of improper addressing. Since each area of the country has an individual ZIP code, there is little chance of having a piece of mail destined for one city directed to a city which may have a similar name.

"For example, there are at least 28 possible areas around the country which would have Springfield in the address. Use the proper ZIP Code which will send the mail to the right post office," he urged.

The use of ZIP code sorting of parcel post will help speed up the delivery of parcel mails and will help prevent damage to parcels because of the more direct routing and fewer handlings enroute, the Postmaster added.

Volume Of Mail

De Vecchio also reported that the Post Office Department is predicting the volume of mail during this year's Christmas rush will hit a record high.

Well over two million pieces of incoming and outgoing mail are expected to move through the local post office during the month of December, 70 percent of which will be handled in less than two weeks. The volume expected to be handled in the two-week Christmas rush period is approximately 10 percent of the total volume handled for the entire year.

Postmaster Del Vecchio stated that public cooperation is one important reason that post offices around the country are able to handle this huge mountain of mail in such a short period.

"Without the assistance of the public, we'd be in a jam. People who shop early and get their cards and parcels into the mails early make it possible for the holiday mail to be delivered on time, imagine what it would be like if we were to get all the holiday mail the last week before Christmas."

In addition to early mailing, the postmaster listed several other suggestions designed to help the hard-working postal

Honors Awarded Regional Seniors For Scholarship

Fourteen Jonathan Dayton Regional High School seniors have been inducted into the National Honor Society. The group was honored in ceremonies held in the school assembly last week, according to Stella Bialecki, faculty advisor. The new members joined 11 who were named last year.

The fourteen inducted last week are: John Aragona, Jacqueline Franzese, Ray Jensen, Allyson Kalem, Jeffrey Katz, Lance and Michael Kraemer, Stanley Levy, Donald Lewis, David MacMillan, Carol Matturo, Christine Mindas, Diane Scobey and Robert Wuerz.

Last year's group included Michael Adickman, president; Arlene Arends, vice-president; Terri Chotiner, secretary; Marilyn Tabakin, treasurer, and Jane Driscoll, David Gershen, Allison Katz, Sue Perker, Michael Tabakin and Gail Wilson.

The purpose of the society, Miss Bialecki explained, is to create enthusiasm for scholarship, stimulate a desire to render service, promote worthy leadership and develop good character. The method of selection, according to Miss Bialecki, is based on scholarship, class rank and a weighted average which is used to determine those scholastically eligible. A list of students is then circulated, she said, to all faculty members who are asked to evaluate these students in the area of leadership and character.

The results are tabulated and presented to the committee on selection, which makes the final decision on those to be accepted. The society holds two elections each year. In the fall election, only seniors are inducted. In the spring election, both junior and senior students are eligible. A maximum of three percent of the juniors and 10 percent of the seniors can be elected, Miss Bialecki explained.

Miss Bialecki said that the student must maintain the high qualities of character, service, leadership and scholarship which brought him his initial selection.

to include a personal message to those friends and loved ones who are far away. It also permits the forwarding of cards if the addressee has moved and left a forwarding address.

"If he has moved without leaving an address, the card will be returned to you, provided your return address is shown. None of these services are given Christmas cards if you mail at the four cent rate, which is third class.

"There are 50 postal employees working all hours of the night and day in the Springfield post office in order to serve you this Christmas and to assure you and your loved ones a Merry Christmas."

Postmaster Del Vecchio said that by following his suggestions, readers can help these postal employees and themselves to a "more relaxed and happier holiday."

Next, the postmaster urged all patrons to use first class postage on the Christmas cards. The new Christmas stamps help brighten up envelopes. First class mail will permit you

LEADER PROFILE

MRS. PHILIP DEL VECCHIO

There's never a dull moment in the home or the lives of the Philip Del Vecchio on High Point dr., Springfield. Township Committeeman Del Vecchio is a former Springfield mayor and a current Springfield Republican party chairman.

Every moment in that beautifully decorated home on a hill is lived to the hilt. Time is precious; a moment isn't wasted, and a family of nine (father, mother, seven children, Philip, 19, Valerie, 18, Denise, 16, Peter, 12, Paul, 11, Anthony, 6, and David, 4), plus two animals (a miniature black poodle, Cinto and a female cat, Mickey) enjoys a full, rich active life.

Mother, Gertrude Del Vecchio, for example, happens to be neighborhood chairman of "All the Girl Scouts, leaders and volunteers in town right now. We're running our current Girl Scout fund drive at this time," she informed a reporter one recent afternoon.

There are 25 troops, 545 to 550 girls and some 75 to 80 registered adults, leaders, co-leaders and mothers. "Our co-chairman is Mrs. G. Randolph Frost, and Saul Freeman, who is in charge of business and industry, is an honorary Girl Scout... the only male honorary Girl Scout we have," she smiled.

THE BLONDE, ATTRACTIVE, energetic Mrs. Del Vecchio explained that the scouts are currently conducting a door-to-door campaign. "The girls deliver the envelopes, and the leaders, mothers and volunteers pick them up — filled, we hope."

In Troy Village and Short Hills Village, Mrs. Del Vecchio said, door-to-door soliciting is not allowed. "Therefore, we mail out about 500 envelopes and 500 families fill them and mail them back."

"The funds are given to Washington Rock Council in Westfield, our headquarters. We have a staff advisor assigned to us, Judy Henehan of Cranford. Any problems, difficulties, or questions that come up, she will answer for us. We also get professional help from the council, and games, films and slides about scouts, upon request. The council has determined that it costs about $8.80 per year to keep a girl in scouting."

"The Girl Scouts have been making Christmas decorations for three hospitals: Overlook in Summit, Rummels in Berkeley Heights and Graystone in Morristown. They make, for example, vases out of plastic containers. If dropped, the vases will not smash."

"They also make about 800 placemats per day — most of that is the work of the Brownies."

"WE TRY TO GIVE every troop something to work on... not only to do arts and crafts, but to be of service to humanity. I've always believed," Mrs. Del Vecchio said, "that has always been the whole concept of the girl scouts."

How did Mrs. Del Vecchio become involved with the girl scouts in the first place?

"My second daughter, Denise," she mused, "needed a Brownie leader about seven years ago. The next thing I knew I had a troop for the next seven years."

Another of Mrs. Del Vecchio's activities is in the Twigs. "It's a volunteer unit to support Overlook Hospital," she explained.

"There are 13 members in our group in Springfield alone. Each town is a branch of the auxiliary organization. I've been a member of this organization for two years. The group makes pinkie dolls, which are little things children take with them into their operating rooms. Right now we're working on about 25 of them."

"I first came upon the cute little things when my two boys got them when they were in the hospital. I wondered who made them. Now I'm in the group that makes them," she laughed.

"The Twigs also roll bandages, make slings, sell draperies, curtains, whatever the hospital needs. Some have fund-raisers — card parties, fashion shows, a sale in a home of handmade Christmas articles."

WITH SEVEN CHILDREN, how does Mrs. Del Vecchio find the hours to devote to these time-consuming activities?

She shrugged. "I think that the more children you have, the more time you have to do other things... especially when the children are well-organized. I admit children can be demanding."

"Last week, for example, my son, Peter's class at Our Lady of Lourdes in Mountainside collected food for Thanksgiving, and he volunteered me to deliver the food to Newark — to the Queen of Angels, a Catholic mission church on Belmont ave. I've done it other years, too."

"Actually," she said, "the children do help me. When the children know I'm going to be out, everyone pitches in and helps. I'll make a stew or spaghetti — and they'll serve themselves. My girls do all the ironing in this house. Everybody helps and cooperates. The more responsible."

Letters To The Editor

REPLY ON VALCO

Two weeks ago Mr. Alan Goldstein, the law partner of Stanley Gruen, attorney for the Board of Adjustment, wrote a letter to this paper condemning the local Democratic Party. His letter necessitates a response.

Mr. Goldstein's concern and sorrow about the court's decision in the nursing home lawsuit is understandable. His personal disagreement with the court's opinion may be his prerogative. His accusations with respect to the Democratic Party however, are incomprehensible.

Mr. Goldstein states that at some time — unstated, some place — Democratic Party leaders — unnamed, have engaged in deliberate character assassination. Mr. Goldstein does not give a single example of such alleged character assassination nor name a single name, because he cannot. They do not exist.

The only charges that have been made with respect to the present administration's handling of the nursing home suit and other matters, by me or any other Democratic leader, has been that the officials involved have been clumsy, ill-advised and inept. This does not constitute character assassination.

If unqualified people are administering Springfield's million dollar budget and unqualified people are allegedly protecting our welfare, as exemplified by this mishandling of the nursing home case, the taxpayers are entitled to know it, and such mismanagement is a necessary campaign issue.

With respect to my own position on related matters, I draw Mr. Goldstein's attention to two prior public statements by me, one of which was quoted in the press; that I disbelieved that there were any dishonesty involved in similar situations, but that they were clear evidence of lack of qualification of the people involved.

Since Mr. Goldstein has chosen to make accusations without stating a single fact supporting his charges, I can only guess at the nature of his mistaken assumption. I assume that he has accepted the view published by the present administration that the plaintiffs in the nursing home case were acting for political purposes, or that the suit was politically controlled. If these are Mr. Goldstein's beliefs, he is dead wrong.

If he knew anything about the area of Springfield which is involved in this matter, or anything about the Springfield taxpayers who brought the suit, or about the history of the law suit itself, he would know that his assumptions are wrong.

Evans Co-Author Of Publicity Book

Henry S. Evans of Morristown, former vice president of the Keyes, Martin Co., in Springfield, is co-author of a book entitled "Public Relations and the Line Manager," published by the American Management Association of New York.

He and Theon Wright, both veteran public relations men, have attempted to clear away "dense clouds of double-talk that have made a mystery of public relations."

In the book's introduction, the authors declare that public relations must meet the fundamental need of businessmen to conduct a sound business, make a profit and avoid costly mistakes in dealing with people.

Dembitz To Play Part Of Cromwell In St. Benedict's Stage Production

Edward Dembitz, of 28 Elmwood rd., Springfield, will play a major role in the production of "A Man for All Seasons," to be presented at St. Benedict's Preparatory School, Newark, tomorrow and Saturday at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m.

Honor Society

Charles Cameron of 15 Tower dr., Springfield, last week was named to Chi Epsilon, national civil engineering fraternity. Cameron, a student in Newark College of Engineering, received the honor in the college's Honor Society Council annual dinner.

The play, a recent Broadway success written by Robert Bolt, is being produced by the St. Benedict's Drama Guild, along with Benedictine Academy of Elizabeth and East Orange Catholic High School.

"A Man for All Seasons" tells the story of Sir Thomas More, who became a reluctant martyr because he would not support the plans of King Henry VIII to get a divorce and establish a new church.

Dembitz plays the part of Thomas Cromwell, secretary general of England. Tickets may be obtained at the door or from the Drama Guild at St. Benedict's.

Members Of Staff At Town Library Complete Course

Two members of the Springfield Public Library staff, recently completed a 10-week course in basic reference work. They are Mrs. Alice Schmitt, assistant in the cataloging department, who lives at 10 Dayton ct., and Mrs. Julia Tuck of 17 Dayton ct., who is in charge of the circulation desk.

The reference course was held at the Public Library in Cranford where classes meet each Friday morning from Sept. 18 through Nov. 20. The course was planned and taught by Mrs. Ada English, former librarian of the N. J. College for Women (now Douglass College).

The purpose of the course was twofold: to acquaint library staff who did not have library degrees with basic reference books; and how to use such books to answer general questions for the public. Mrs. English lives in Cranford and had offered originally to teach only the Cranford staff. However, in view of the need in other libraries for staff with some reference training, the course was opened to a limited number of people from nearby libraries.

The Springfield Public Library in order to have better trained staff available to help its borrowers, sent two members who have been associated with the library for a number of years, Mrs. Tuck is on duty at the circulation desk five days a week. Mrs. Schmitt, in addition to her cataloging work, helps in reference some afternoons and weekends.

Diner's No Gallery, Magistrate Decides

A Berkeley Heights youth who thought it was very funny to drape old pictures along 25 feet of fence at the White Diamond Diner recently was found guilty of littering Monday night in Springfield Municipal Court.

Magistrate Max Sherman deferred sentencing of the defendant, Gerald Hutz, 18, with an order to return to court next Monday night with both his parents. The offense carries a penalty of up to $200 in fines and/or 90 days in jail.

Lieutenant Status Given Jacobson

Louis Jacobson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Jacobson of 145 Wentz ave., Springfield, has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the U. S. Air Force upon graduation from Officer Training School at Lackland AFB, Tex.

Lt. Jacobson, selected for OTS through competitive examination, is being assigned to an Air Training Command unit at Keesler AFB, Miss., for training as a communications officer.

The lieutenant, a graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, has a b.s. degree from Rochester Institute of Technology.

who was also his companion at the diner, thought the occasion was very funny, until the magistrate warned both that one more giggle could result in contempt of court charges.

According to the complaint, Hutz removed the pictures from the car and lined them up to allow room in the vehicle for two female companions from another car. The court noted that the diner management forbids fraternizing of patrons between cars.

In other matters before the court, Bruce A. Barash, 18, of Caldwell was fined $40 for speeding; William A. Dugan, 57, Elizabeth, $35, for speeding, and William Busson, 22, Audrey ter., Union $10, inspection violation.

PARKWAY OFFER

Toll Book With Greeting Card

The Garden State Parkway this week unwrapped its seasonal package offer to serve shoppers seeking holiday gifts for the driving man or woman. The offer of a special holiday gift card to go with each book of Parkway prepaid toll tickets bought as a present was introduced last year for those seeking something different. The offer also includes mailing of the book to the intended party with the card enclosed in the gift-giver's name — at no extra cost — if the prepaid toll tickets are ordered directly from the Finance Department of the New Jersey Highway Authority, which operates the Parkway. Such orders can be made by mail or in person at the authority offices in Woodbridge.

Motorists can purchase the books from any Parkway toll collector on the road and request the free card for their own mailing of the gift later. The cards, printed by the Authority in holiday colors and form, will be available at Parkway toll booths all this month.

The prepaid toll tickets are for use instead of cash in paying the passenger car rate at manned Parkway collection points. They are valid indefinitely and, though offering no reduced rate, provide the extra convenience of non-cash payments plus a handy record of the user's toll transactions.

Prepaid toll tickets have been in use on the Parkway since 1956. The 25 cent toll books cost $10 for 40 tickets; the ten cent toll books cost $10 for 100 tickets; and the 15 cent toll (Interchange 100) books cost $7.50 for 50.

PLAY DEVELOPS IMAGINATION

"Look at my garage, Mother," calls five-year-old Jackie. The carton that is the garage was a train previously. The carton won't be a garage very long, for Jackie's imagination will transform it into something else to suit his play.

During the years from four to six, your child's imagination is developing. Play involves a great deal of make-believe, and toys can add much to the child's enjoyment.

Provide toys and equipment that will stimulate the youngster's imagination and assist his growth and development.

Parents are frequently amazed at the uses a child makes of ordinary things found in the home — such as Jackie's carton. Other playthings that stimulate imagination are puppets and equipment for playing store or housekeeping.

HEALTH HINTS

WHOLESOME FEAR
For some years fear has been an unpopular and disparaged emotion. The impression has grown that fear is a debilitating reaction which only the cowardly or the worrisome indulge.

Nothing is farther from truth. Fear is an intelligent emotional reaction which results from the perception of evil which is about to assail one. Its effect is to impel one to flee from the evil that threatens. Thus fear is familiar to the intelligent and impelling to the brave. Only the stupid never know fear; the foolish never admit it.

Disease and incapacitation and death are evils which thoughtful people properly fear. For your health's sake be alert against them and fear their beginnings in you. Take your fears — and your balancing hopes — to your physician soon enough to enable him to do his best to avert the evils that threaten you.

Let us not depreciate wholesome fear. It is a saving and vigorous reaction which can keep us from succumbing to escapable and unnecessary

Year In London Is Bridge To Career In Fine Arts

By BEA SMITH
 "Art," declared 23-year-old Ward Landrigan of Springfield, "is a very, very big business. It's been pretty much my whole life — in school, in my spare time, and now in my job as an official auction recorder at Parke-Bernet Galleries in New York City, one of the largest auction houses for art in the state."
 "I've always felt that if you're going to be good in something, you might as well enjoy it."
 "My family (parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Landrigan of 129 Satter st., and sister, Chryseis Jo — a junior at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School), like most families, was a little dubious at first about my career and my future.

"FOR PRACTICING ARTISTS," he said, "it is very difficult to make a living. But the part of art that I'm in — is business. At least, I can make my parents feel that I'm not starving out there somewhere. And it eases my mind to know that they are at ease."

"You see," Landrigan explained, "my degree is in fine arts. I was always interested in painting, and eventually became interested in the historical angle of it."

The Newark-born artist came to Springfield with his family in 1950.

"I was in the first group at the James Caldwell School that moved from Caldwell to Gaudinier when they opened that school." At the Regions High School, he was a cartoonist for the school paper. During his senior year, he won third prize at the Hunterdon County Art Show for New Jersey.

He was graduated from Drew University, where he received a B.A. degree. "I was president of Kappa Pi, a scholastic art fraternity at Drew. I was also in the college literary fraternity. I used to write, too. I always hoped that when I finished my degrees, I would do more serious writing. Up to now, all my writing has consisted of research work and historical work in art."

LANDRIGAN MENTIONED that he served as art editor of the college magazine, Columns, and art editor of the college newspaper, Acorns. Reluctantly — he added that he was an honor student at the college.

"Last year, I received a fellowship to attend the University of London, Courtauld Institute of Fine Art History.

"I studied there for a year," Landrigan recalled, "and my work included traveling around Europe. I saw nearly every country in Europe. In passing, I spent a lot of time in Spain while I studied Picasso. And in Greece, I spent some time on the island of Crete to study Minoan culture. I attended school in Berlin for graphic work for two months. They were all part of the same project."

"During my travel-study period, I was pretty much on my own. But my home base, naturally, was London, where I would return from time to time.

"I do have some interest in London," he admitted, "but I prefer this area to anything I've seen. I've decided my fate. I'm a very American person."

Landrigan, who prefers painting portraits to landscapes, explained that it was the portrait of a girl friend he was going with that won that prize in Hunterdon County. "I prefer people. My interest in art is in people and people's faces."

AMONG HIS FAVORITE artists are Picasso and Diego Rodriguez Velasquez (1599-1660). "He was a contemporary of Van Dyke."

Landrigan started working for Parke-Bernet this past September.

"The firm," he said, "realizes a tremendous business. Last August, it was purchased by Sotheby's, Ltd., London's public auction gallery."

"It isn't very likely that I'll have to move to London. I'm sure — and I'd prefer, anyway — to stay with the company right here in the United States."

When Landrigan completes day's work in the New York gallery, he attends the New School for Social Research in New York. "It's very strong in fine arts," he explained, "and it's an accredited school."

His forecast for his future is a general trend toward realism.

"I've always felt that when I finish my degrees, I would like to teach art. I've had some experience in teaching, and," he chuckled, "although his experience did not cover art — I was a Shady Side School teacher for six years at the First Presbyterian Church here in Springfield, the last two years of high school and four of college."

"I'VE ALSO HAD some experience in lecturing. Mrs. E. P. Korn, head professor of art at Drew University, arranged for me to lecture to art students recently at the annual alumni art exhibit at the Drew University Center in Madison."

He also mentioned that he had done some actual art teaching during his last year at college. "I was a student assistant and I managed to do some teaching in painting."

Landrigan said that there are people who are interested in painting but claim they don't have the time.

"Well, I say that everybody has the time, if they want to — if they're interested enough."

"As one of my professors used to say all the time to anyone who showed an interest in art, 'Just paint. That's all.'"

"I'm sure," Landrigan concluded, "that that's exactly what I'll advise to prospective artists, if and when I ever become an art teacher. 'Just paint. That's all.'"

CHRISTMAS DECOR IS TALK SUBJECT FOR GARDEN CLUB

Christmas decorations was the subject of a talk entitled "Holiday House" by Mrs. Theodore Wolcott at the last meeting of the Mountaintop Garden Club at the home of Mrs. P. L. Young of Westfield.

It was reported that the club has given $100 to the Wild-Life Foundation to buy acreage in the Great Swamp in Morris County. Members were given names of patients in John Runnels Hospital and will wrap Christmas gifts for them.

ALUMNAE GROUP HOLDS LUNCHEON

The Delta Gamma alumnae held their annual Christmas luncheon Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Lowell Donk, 762 Hyslop Westfield. Mrs. W. J. Ricker and Mrs. Victor Brooks of Fairwood and Mrs. John Willard of Westfield assisted the hostess. Mrs. John Miller of 278 Pembroke rd., Mountaintop, president, conducted a short business meeting. Lunch was served at 1:30 p.m. with luncheon following the social hour. Christmas decorations made by the committee were sold later to the members.

Newcomers Club Plans To Fete Past Presidents

Past presidents of the Mountaintop Newcomers Club will be guests of honor next Wednesday at the group's annual Christmas tea which will be held in the Mountaintop Inn.

The "Larkettes," a singing group from the Mountaintop schools, will present the holiday program. Members will join them later in group caroling. Yule decorations will be provided by the home and garden group. Donations from the money tree contributed by members will be turned over to Mountaintop Y.E.S., a unit recently formed to provide full time and part time employment for teenagers.

The Christmas tea is an open meeting and all former members of the Newcomers Club are invited to attend.

Members and their husbands will hold a Christmas caroling party Dec. 20, starting at 7 p.m. Refreshments will be served later at Mrs. Malcolm Graham's home.

Plans for an informal dance were discussed at a board of directors meeting held at the home of Mrs. Neil McLaughlin, 1123 Saddle Brook rd. The dance will be held Jan. 20 in the Mountaintop Inn.

Mrs. Donald Skoog, president at the executive session, and Mrs. George Ramsey was co-hostess.

LEGION AUXILIARY HELPS VETERANS: Member of the Ladies Auxiliary of the American Legion Blue Star Unit of Mountaintop are giving two Christmas presents for the benefit of veterans.

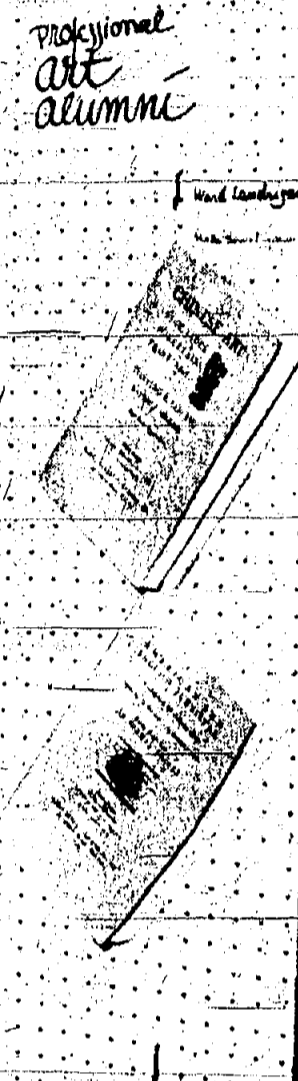

The group will send a holiday package to a hospitalized veteran at Menlo Park. They also have forwarded money to the president of the state organization to be added to a fund set up to purchase equipment needed at the Menlo Park hospital.

The auxiliary met recently at the home of Mrs. Ruth Kuback, 307 Central ave., Mountaintop. Mrs. Frank Jareski presided.

BOROUGH WOMEN IN BRIDGE MATCH

In the Mountaintop Women's Duplicate Bridge contest held at the Elks Lodge, Mountaintop, the North-South winners were Mrs. Marion Sweet and Mrs. John Conner. Mrs. Duncann McPhee and Mrs. Frank Balazik placed second.

Two teams tied for first place in the East-West competition. They were the teams of Mrs. Carl Salerno and Mrs. Urban Rickert, and Mrs. Fred Staeger and Mrs. William Groves. The team of Mrs. Thomas Banach and Mrs. Herman Banach finished second.

THE FEMININE LOOK

Commentary on a recent National Editorial Association Round the World Newspaper Study Mission

by TRUDINA HOWARD

34th of a Series
THE LAST OF KABUL
 The first hours in Kabul, Afghanistan, consisted of an enthusiastic snow storm — and a date.

Our National Editorial Association Study Mission Group had an appointment to meet with the Minister of Press and Information of Afghanistan, Sayyed Kasim Rastay, in one of the new government buildings. So just before dinner a large bus appeared before the hotel door to take us there. It was a new bus with all the right trimmings, but the best thing about it was a grinning, inquisitive young boy who came with it. He was along to help us jump the show piles and play footman and he sure did. He helped us all in merrily, closed the door jauntily and — hung on the outside of the bus. We were so surprised it took us about two blocks to realize what he was doing, and then we hauled him inside. He, in turn, seemed surprised, but fully squatted next to the driver and then grinned at us all the way. I have a suspicion he would have grinned on the outside too. He was so happy — made us feel happy.

When we arrived at the meeting, the first thing on the agenda was refreshments, and so we were served coffee and tea. That may not sound remarkable, but it was for us each had BOTH. We sat in a circle with the rather handsome, grey-haired, Madison Avenue sullen official, and were served first with a round of tea, and then with a round of coffee. Our host was taking no chances.

AFGHANISTAN HAS BEEN conquered many times in its long history. Genghis Khan and Alexander the Great were among the most notable conquerors to pass through it and possess it, but at this point in history, it is headed by its own popular king, with a new, and more suitable, constitution in the making. It gained its independence from Britain in 1919. It has many reform programs for improvement of standard of living and is in its third year of a second five-year development plan.

Afghanistan receives aid from all directions. It has good relations with the United States and good relations with the USSR. Neutrality is its byword. It is friendly with everybody. In Afghanistan you can find a road that is engineered by the British, paved by the Russians. It almost has to be friends with Russia. It shares a 1,000 mile border with that country and that's a long way to watch. If Russia wanted to invade, however, Afghanistan could do nothing about it, but luckily, Afghanistan has nothing that Russia, or anyone else for that matter, wants. It has territory, but that territory is too much trouble. It consists mostly of jagged, rugged mountains of the mighty Hindu Kush mountain range and other ranges, and is almost totally unusable. It is easier to fly over it than to go into it. It is not as it used to be in the old days when it was strategically and geographically located on the highway between the great powers of the world, and it was necessary to go into it and no one could fly.

So today, everyone it seems agrees without saying so, on a mutual denial and Afghanistan's hands-over-backwards to the middle.

FRIENDLINESS TO THE United States is genuine. Someone said that when an Afghan thinks of where he'd like to be if he could not be in Afghanistan, he would like to be in the west. Someone else said "I have never seen Asians who speak without an accent as Afghans do. When an Afghan speaks English he speaks it almost without an accent. Just like the women when they go Western and forsake the chador. When they go, they go whole hog and dress a la Paris or New York. Afghans jump from the 17th century to the 21st. They won't settle for in-between. If they have a mud hut, they won't settle for a little better hut, but wait until they can build a very modern new house.

Before the war French and German were the second languages, but now English is sweeping the country. Pashtu (or Pakhto) and Persian are the first languages of the country. There are only 15 million people in Afghanistan which is about the size of Texas, so there is no population problem. New York City has about eight million. There are 17 provinces with governors named by the King.

AS FOR POLITICS: Up to 1963 Afghanistan was a "benevolent dictatorship." Constitutional Monarchy since 1922, with the royal house taking the attitude "What father knows best." But at that time someone on top realized that this could not go on because of the growing awareness of the people. "Let's do something," the ruling group said, "before we have a revolution." And so they did. Reforms were started from the top. The royal premier, Prince Daoud, and a royal cabinet, resigned and a commander, Dr. Mohammed Josef, became prime minister with an all-western educated cabinet. Plans to revise or remake the constitution were made to recognize the national life of Afghanistan according to the requirements of the times. This was due to be done by the Loya Jirga (Great Council) and completed this year. The King, Mohammed Zahir, (Shah) who inherited the throne from his father in 1932—at the age of 19, wishes to have no responsibility and wishes to give it to a three-way system.

AS FOR THE UN—Afghanistan feels that the United Nations is progressing, and supports it fully. It became a member in 1946 and receives some UN aid, mainly technical and social, but Afghans have learned, we were told, that if they want money, they have to ask the US OR USSR.

The press reportedly is controlled, but not much was said on that subject. There are four newspapers, one in English, with about ten or twenty thousand circulation each. The press is not very big and the numbers of readers small, but the situation is rapidly progressing. There are about 30 magazines, one radio station and no television.

THE LAST HOURS in Kabul consisted of exuberant sparkling weather—and a wait.

We sat in the modern Kabul Airport terminal for almost four hours waiting for the field to be cleared so we could take off in an Airina Airlines DC6 for Beirut, Lebanon. An airline official told us that "Ariana" means "Aryan" and that is what Afghanistan used to be called.

Directly in front of the picture window where we were sitting, men were shoveling the field with hand-made, flat-topped shovels with rope, wooden-headed shovels! At that point, we wondered if we'd get off that afternoon.

ABC's Of Selecting Pre-Schoolers' Toys

Playing Santa to a pre-schooler is always fun — but often frustrating.

For parents who realize that a child's toys are his tools of fun and learning, choosing toys can be sometimes a bewildering job.

Mistakes in selection risk that "day-after-Christmas" letdown for parents and children, when costly toys are broken or ignored. More important than the disappointment to the family pocketbook, however, is that the rapidly growing pre-schooler lost the opportunity of fun, discovery and learning with wisely chosen toys.

Pre-school authorities recommend these ABC's of toy selection for parents:

A. ALWAYS CHOOSE toys which are suited to a child's particular stage or development. During this fastest-growing period in a lifetime, the pre-schooler rapidly develops new skills and interests. He quickly loses interest in a toy, which is "too young" or "too old" for him. One is boring; the other frustrating. His toys should pace his individual development.

B. BE SURE that the toys you select are safe, soundly constructed, sturdy and durable enough to take the rugged punishment of pre-school play. When a child breaks a toy, he's usually not being destructive; the toy simply didn't live up to its promises.

C. CONSIDER THE PLAY VALUES of a toy before you buy. "World-in-miniature" toys so attractive to adults, have limited play value for the young child. Battery or electrically-operated toys which "do everything themselves" seldom challenge the pre-schooler's imagination. Toys with which he can push, pull, build, tear down, take apart and put together again have many and longer play values.

Some of the types of toys recommended for pre-schoolers are blocks of various shapes, puzzle plaques, drop-boxes, push-pull toys, small wagons, pegboard sets, pounding benches and trucks. "Let's pretend" toys such as child-sized wooden tool benches, sweepers, tool trays, toy musical clock radios and TV phonographs are also appropriate.

When they were growing outdoors in high humidity, particularly at night, plants put on luxuriant leaf growth.

The moment you brought them inside they had to make out the best they could in drier surroundings. Then you turned on the furnace, lowering the humidity still more.

When you find that a bureau drawer does not stick the way it did in the summer you know that the humidity has really dropped.

This is fine for stuck bureau drawers, says Dr. Davis, but it raises Cain with the plants. # Predicts Increase In Fuel Oil Use

The Oil Heat Council of New Jersey anticipates an 11 percent increase in fuel oil use in this state by 1970.

Henry J. Keil, president of the state organization, said the prediction is based on a new survey by the National Oil Fuel Institute covering fuel consumption trends for the past seven years in the 26-state primary heating area which includes New Jersey.

Keil said that on the basis of the survey, the number of oil-heated households in New Jersey should climb to at least 1,385,000 by 1970. At the end of 1963 there were 1,200,000 oil-heated households in the state consuming Number 2 fuel oil at a rate of more than a billion and a half gallons a year.

Then you brought them indoors about six weeks ago with high hopes that they'd do better than ever after their vacation.

But now some of them may look worse than when you put them out last spring, and you're ready to suspect some disease is rampant.

Not necessarily, says Dr. Spencer H. Davis, Jr., extension plant disease specialist at the Rutgers College of Agriculture. It's doubtful if they suddenly picked up a fungus or some bacterial disease.

A Little Radiation May Be Good For You -- So Says Rutgers Prof

A little radiation may be good for you!

That's the conjecture of Dr. Francis J. Jankowski, Rutgers University professor of nuclear engineering, but he stresses the words "may be."

A great deal is known and has been published about the harmful effects of large doses of radiation. But Dr. Jankowski says little is known of the effects of the small quantities of radiation absorbed daily by living creatures, including human beings.

Radiation is picked up through cosmic rays, from natural radiation of the earth and from food. In a paper scheduled to have been delivered before the American Nuclear Society in San Francisco yesterday, Dr. Jankowski points out that there is evidence that this small amount may be beneficial.

He builds a case by first pointing to a possible parallel between radiation and chemicals, many of which are necessary to health and even life in limited quantities, but are poisonous in larger amounts — iron, for example.

Dr. Jankowski also supports the possibility of radiational benefits with the findings of other scientists. Having collected information for almost two years, he claims there are enough favorable indications to warrant greater study.

Speaking of his paper, conceived while he was proctoring a final examination, Dr. Jankowski describes it as "a starting point for further investigation."

He suggests a controlled study, as has been done with foods. If a vitamin, such as one of the B complex group, is removed from a rabbit's diet the deficiency makes itself known through physical changes and the value of the withheld vitamin can be determined.

Dr. Jankowski would decrease the amount of radiation received by the subject of the experiment. To do this, three steps would have to be taken. First, the experiment would probably have to be conducted in a subterranean cave to avoid cosmic rays. Secondly, it would have to be held in a room specially shielded against the earth's natural radiation and finally, and perhaps the most difficult, it would require the control of radiation in food. Dr. Jankowski says one-third of the radiation absorbed by humans comes in food.

What convinces Dr. Jankowski of the need for such research?

radiation possibly raises the amount of white blood cells which combat disease.

Dr. Jankowski concedes, of course, that even if what was observed in the beagles is supported with further investigation, it cannot be automatically accepted as true for human beings.

But, Dr. John W. Goffman, director of the biomedical division of the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory, operated by the University of California for the Atomic Energy Commission, says of humans that his group has no direct valid information of harm done by small doses of radiation. In fact, he points out that radiation varies from place to place by as much as 15 times in degree without apparent effect.

And a May 1961 report by Hugh F. Henry of the Oak Ridge Gaseous Diffusion Plant indicates that radiation may tend to lengthen life of animals and possibly humans, too, according to a comparison of longevity of radiologists with other physicians.

Dr. Jankowski, who has been engaged in nuclear safety work since 1950 and is a member of the reactor safety committees of the Saxton Nuclear Experimental Corp. and the Westinghouse Reactor Evaluation Center, is scientifically cautious concerning these reports, but he believes there is enough in them to warrant research which may uncover exciting possibilities.

Choral Art Group Will Sing Sunday

The 80-voice chorus of the Choral Art Society of New Jersey will perform Bach's "Christmas Oratorio" at 7 p.m. Sunday at the First Baptist Church of Westfield.

There will be no admission charge to the performance, which will be under the direction of Mrs. Donald Bleeke. Soloists will be Josephine G. Donini, soprano; Dorothy W. Glambalvo, alto; Jack Limpert, tenor; and Jerry P. Donnini, bass.

A teacher of vocal music at the Deerfield School in Mountainside, Mrs. Bleeke has served as music director of many church choirs in the area and presently directs the choir of the First Baptist Church of Westfield. She is a graduate of Boston University School of Music and has had 20 years of experience in creative music.

Bankers' Group Elects Officers

Mrs. Frances K. Gaines, secretary of the Union County Trust Co., was elected president of the bank's Quarter Century Club at the 21st annual dinner meeting of that group last week at the Elizabeth-Carter Hotel.

Charles H. deGrau, controller, was elected secretary of the club, and Covale Wagner, manager of the Elmora office, was elected treasurer. John M. Rugh, a director of the bank, was inducted into the club.

George W. Bauer, chairman of the bank, and Raymond W. Bauer, president, spoke to the group. After the business meeting the group watched travel and sport films.

Carving Know-How Asset To Holiday Hostesses

With the holiday season upon us and with it entertaining for family and friends, now is the time to brush up on your carving know-how.

Most likely, a succulent turkey or standing rib roast will have the place of honor on one of your holiday menus. But chopped or badly hacked-up meat or fowl will do nothing to enhance your reputation as a hostess.

Here are a few tips on proper carving techniques:

The first rule of carving to remember is that all meat has grain. Meat grain may be best visualized as bunches of tiny, closely-grouped tubes, each brimming with savory juices. When the meat is cut with the grain, the slices will consist of these tubes, side by side — in other words, chewy or tough.

When meat is cut across the grain, the slices are made up of short lengths of these tubes standing on end — tender and holding all their natural juices.

To carve a rib or standing roast, you will need a roast slicer, a five-inch utility knife and carving fork.

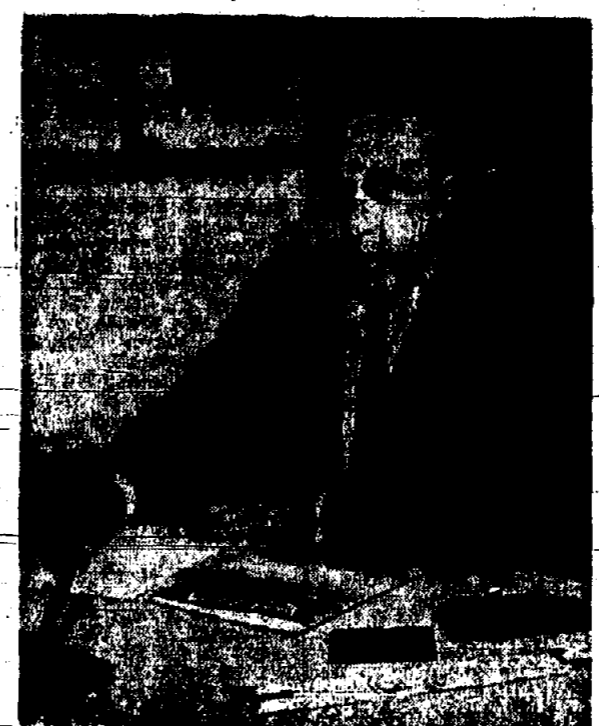

Place the roast so that the rib bones are at your left hand. Insert the carving fork between any two of the rib bones, and holding the roast slicer horizontally, cut from the outside of the meat toward the bone. Withdraw the slicer and with the point of the utility knife, cut vertically alongside and close to the bone until the piece is free. Place the slicing knife under the slice, steady the meat with the point of the utility knife, then turn it upside down and place it on the plate. More slices will be retained by turning the slicer over.

To carve a turkey or chicken, use a roast slicer, ham slicer and carving fork.

Place the legs of the bird at the right. Insert the fork through the center of the wishbone curve, pushing the fork all the way down to strike the backbone, and give you a firm hold when carving. Using the roast slicer, cut vertically on each side of the second joint of the leg where it is attached to the body by the skin. Bend the entire leg downward, exposing the ball socket, connect the leg to the carcass. Cut through the socket and connecting skin, freeing the leg.

Next remove the wing by placing the slicer parallel to the wing and cutting by pushing the knife forward. Slice the breast next. After one side has been carved, turn the bird and repeat on the other side.

LET'S TAKE A LOOK — Dr. Francis J. Jankowski urges an investigation of the effects of small doses of radiation. A Rutgers University professor of nuclear engineering, he points out in a paper to have been presented yesterday before the American Nuclear Society that research in this relatively unexplored area of radiation may produce surprising findings.

FAMILY REMAINS DESPERATE

$6,459 Theresa Gargalowitz Fund Soon To Be Depleted

The Theresa Gargalowitz fund, which has now reached $6,459, will be all but depleted when the family pays its $8,000 hospital bill, accrued over the last two months, according to Philip Portnoy, chairman of the fund.

Contributions have been pouring in from residents of Union and surrounding areas to defray hospital expenses for the 20-year-old college coed who has been in a coma at Overlook Hospital, Summit, following a critical automobile accident in Springfield last April, but the family's need remains desperate.

Theresa's condition is unchanged, Portnoy said, and efforts to place her in a public institution have been unsuccessful. He said Theresa's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Gargalowitz, now fear they may have to sell their home at 2530 Hawthorne ave., Union.

Portnoy said he is negotiating with an insurance company over an emergency policy Gargalowitz carries through his employer. The company has declared the family ineligible for benefits because of a technicality that specifies that a student receiving benefits must be enrolled on a full-time basis. Theresa was a part-time student at Fairleigh Dickinson University at the time of her accident, although she had planned to enroll on a full-time basis this year, Portnoy said. The policy was expected to take effect when Blue Cross benefits ran out several weeks ago.

Meanwhile, Mr. and Mrs. Gargalowitz have expressed their gratitude to Portnoy and Frank Kenny, who instituted the fund; the Union firemen, who conducted a special drive that raised some $3,000, and all of the people who have contributed. "We want to thank everybody," they said in a statement to the Leader.

Elect Sternbach Vice-President Of Tenney Company

Seymour B. Sternbach, veteran manager of manufacturing and contracts administration for the Environmental division of Tenney Engineering, Inc., 1090 Springfield rd., Union, has been elected a vice president of the company, Monroe Sellman, president, announced.

Tenney Engineering is a leading manufacturer of environmental test equipment, heat transfer products and electronic devices. Sternbach joined the Environmental division in 1950 and rose from design engineer to the manufacturing-contracts post, which he retains as vice president.

FINDS, RETURNS SMALL FORTUNE LEFT IN POCKET

Honestly turned out to be profitable last Friday morning for Mrs. Christine Gray of 29 Maple ave., Union, who works at the One-Hour Martinizing Dry Cleaners, 787 Mountain ave., Springfield.

Checking a pile of clothes brought in by a customer, Mrs. Gray noticed into a pocket and pulled out what was described as a "treasure trove of bills." The woman who had brought in the clothes, when she recovered from the shock of her near-loss, gave Mrs. Gray a $10 reward.

The incident was revealed to the Leader by Herman Rosenthal, owner of the dry cleaning store, who called in to declare, "Honesty of this sort should receive some kind of special mention."

Union Man Faces Five MV Counts In Court Monday

Preston Baldwin, 23, of Union, driver of the vehicle that allegedly knocked a 13-year-old Springfield girl off her bicycle Nov. 21 and injured her, is scheduled to appear in Springfield Municipal Court Monday night on five motor vehicle charges, including two as an unlicensed driver.

The victim, Lynn McKenna, 13 daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McKenna of 46 Laurel dr. was reported still convalescing at home early this week after suffering a concussion and cuts and sprains. She had not yet returned to studies at St. James School, a family member said.

Police said warrants had been out in Springfield for Baldwin's arrest before the accident. He had been issued summonses for being an unlicensed driver and a parking offense. Added to this now are a second charge of being an unlicensed driver, one for operating with an expired vehicle registration and one for operating an unsafe vehicle.

Police said this week that the vehicle Baldwin allegedly was driving could not be halted by its brakes within 75 feet of driving distance at a speed of 15 miles per hour. The brake pedal doesn't return to normal position after being depressed, they added.

Baldwin, who lives at 325 Carnegie pl. in Vauxhall, has been in the Union County jail since the accident on Meisod ave. in Union, in lieu of $500 bail. Police said that he never did have a license.

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy: Thanksgiving I'm having my family over for dinner. Through intermingles, they run the gamut of almost every religious faith. My husband, children and I have always made it a practice to say a prayer before our Thanksgiving dinner, and we would like to include a prayer before we enjoy this one also.

I have searched through our prayer books and cannot find an appropriate one to say that would not offend anyone's religion. Can you suggest one? Grateful

Dear Grateful: You are a gracious, intelligent woman. Here is an appropriate prayer acceptable to all religions: "For what we are about to receive, Lord, make us truly thankful. Amen."

Dear Amy: Is it proper for a widow to wear her ring for as long as she desires. However, should the time ever come when she desires the company of the opposite sex, the ring should be removed.

You are correct in assuming a widow is addressed as "Mrs. James Doe."

Dear Amy: I have been going steady with my boyfriend for 2 1/2 months now. Just recently we started talking about getting married next September. I love him a lot and I want to marry him, but I'll be 16 in March. He'll be 18 in January.

I haven't spoken to my parents yet but I will eventually. I'll be graduating in 2 years and I could finish my last year after I'm married. Is there any reason why I shouldn't get married? Mixed-Up

Dear Mixed-Up: Off hand I can think of about 20 reasons why you shouldn't. There are very few (if any) young people your age who are ready to take the big step. If you were ready for marriage, you wouldn't ask me for reasons why you shouldn't.

Dear Amy: When my husband and I are invited to a friend's home for dinner, I always find myself in the same predicament. I would like very much for you to settle this and put my mind at ease.

After dinner, do you think a woman-guest should offer to help the hostess do the dishes and clean up the kitchen? When I invite people to my home for dinner, I wouldn't think of letting them do my dishes or clean up, and frankly, when I am invited out, I don't feel like doing it either. I have to do enough of them in my own house. If you offer, the hostess lets you.

If you don't offer, they talk about you.

Do you feel like doing dishes when you're invited out for dinner? Do Or Not To Do

Dear Do: There are many pros and cons on this subject, but I'm going to agree with you. Under these circumstances where you don't expect your guests to do your "dirty work," I don't think you have to feel obligated to do theirs.

Dear Amy: I've been going with a real wonderful guy for about six months. He said he'd get my engagement ring in December and we would be married sometime after Christmas.

Since the time he proposed, he's never said anything more about it. I'm too bashful to bring up the subject. Could you tell me what to do? Too Bashful

Dear Bashful: The "Bashful Bride" went out with the horse and buggy. Pursue this topic further and find out if there is a "ring" of truth in what HE proposes.

SCIENCE TOPICS

WATER POLLUTION and improper sanitation rank as the number one rural health problem, according to the American Medical Association. An AMA survey indicates that the shortage of uncontaminated water for family and farm use is an increasingly serious matter and unless adequate sewage disposal facilities are provided for, will inevitably lead to serious outbreaks of contagious diseases.

LITTERBUGS continue to be a disgrace to our streets and highways, according to an organization called "Keep America Beautiful." The higher standard of living and increased amount of leisure time, says KAB, results in Americans producing more trash annually.

SPACE SCIENTISTS are working on a system for landing manned satellites on land, as the Russians do, rather than on water. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration is experimenting with last-second braking rockets, and parachutes with improved maneuvering capabilities.

SPARKLING WATER is used to perk up laggard oil wells. When the level of a well drops so low that pumping the oil out becomes a problem, water charged with carbon dioxide is injected into the well, forcing the oil closer to the surface. This is called "water flooding" and helps in further developing our oil supply, reports Cadeo, Chicago.

FRESH FOODS will retain moisture, suffer less discoloration and last longer if a Louisiana State University program is successful. Researchers are developing an edible, transparent, harmless coating which they hope will maintain the fresh quality of foods longer than is now possible in normal storage, processing and handling.

EXPLORERS from the University of Wisconsin are investigating the area around the "Pole of Inaccessibility," that point in Antarctica which is furthest in all directions from the coast—some 900 miles from the nearest possible approach by ship. The 10-man team will study the thickness and properties of the great Antarctic icecap and the nature of the underlying rocks in this vast unexplored portion of the continent.

ANOTHER SUPERSTITION, the notion that milk and fish in combination is poisonous, has been exploded. Scientists say that clinical evidence proves this theory is "fishy" and theorize that the erroneous idea got its start in the days before refrigeration. When people ate spoiled fish and just happened to drink milk at the same meal, they blamed the resulting upset stomach on the combination, researchers believe.

Jewelry And Silver Sale Next 2 Days In Short Hills

The organization known as New Eyes for the Needy will conduct a jewelry and silver sale tomorrow from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at its headquarters on Millburn ave. in Short Hills across the street from the parking lot of the Saks Fifth Avenue store. Among the salesladies will be five Springfield residents, Mrs. Van H. Sutto and Mrs. E. J. Burnes of Forest dr., and Mrs. Louis Meiges, Mrs. William A. Schlorer and Mrs. J. G. Rafo of Troy dr. The annual event is awaited by collectors of antiques and costume jewelry and those looking for unusual Christmas gifts. New Eyes for the Needy has never asked for money in its 32 years of operation. It wants only articles overlooked in the home, such as unused eye glasses and discarded jewelry and silver. To come to further the work of providing eye glasses for the needy throughout the country is derived from refining the precious metal sent to the organization. Reusable-plastic frame glasses are tested and sent abroad. Much of the jewelry and silver received is too valuable to be melted down, and it is these items which will be on sale. Among the antique pieces that will be on sale are charms of all kinds, gold watches and chains, fobs, stick pins, wide silver wedding bands, gold and silver thimbles, necklaces, rings with precious and semi-precious stones and a large assortment of pins.

Red Cross Chapter Seeks Help To Insure Continued Services

(Continued from Page 1) than cash contributions at the present time, the chapter needs volunteers "who will do the clerical work and who will go out and ring doorbells" when their fund campaign gets under way in February and March.

Mrs. C. E. Sasse, chapter secretary, reported on service to military families, often referred to as home service. This is the Red Cross service officially designated by the Federal Government to aid servicemen and veterans and their families—in cases of emergency or need.

Red Cross home service workers are the only ones who can facilitate emergency leave or hardship discharges for servicemen, particularly in the event of death or major illness in the family. They also aid veterans and families of servicemen and veterans in qualifying for the proper benefits and allotments.

Must Be Maintained

Home service is one vital project which must be maintained if a chapter is to keep its Red Cross charter.

Springfield's home service operation was suspended, without notice, by the national office earlier this year. That function was handled temporarily by the Summit Chapter.

The Summit group, however, rejected a merger which had been proposed by the national office—without a request from the Springfield Chapter.

Springfield resumed its home service work recently when

Mrs. Sasse obligated herself to guarantee 24-hour-per-day coverage.

"When a boy has to get home within 24 hours for his father's funeral, as happened not long ago," Mrs. Laurencele explained, "we just can't wait for the next morning to answer the phone."

"At the same time, we do have to let Mrs. Sasse out of the house once in a while. Volunteers must be trained to share this work, which is absolutely necessary round the clock."

Chapter Services

Other chairmen reported on their work, which would not be performed if there were no Red Cross group in Springfield. Home service would be conducted by another chapter, but all other activities would lapse.

The chairmen included Mrs. David Weinstein, motor corps; Mrs. Daniel Kalem, blind bank; and Mrs. Thomas Doherty, welfare. George Bowles, reported for his wife, who is first aid chairman. Nate Hart, civil defense chairman, was unable to be present.

Mrs. Oliver Deane, chairman of volunteers, stressed that the chapter could use men and women "with almost any kind of skill, drivers, content workers, blind bank volunteers, clerical help, for whatever time they have available."

Male Volunteers

Chapter leaders cited a particular need for men who are retired or who have time during the day, especially at the noon hour when many mothers must return home for children's lunches.

Men could serve as motor corps drivers, taking local ambulatory patients for treatment and driving patients at East Orange VA Hospital for a variety of purposes.

Mrs. Deane emphasized, "We need our volunteers primarily to provide Springfield services for Springfield residents." She urged all potential volunteers to write or call her at 252 Short Hills ave. DR 9-4203.

Edward Deusch, Red Cross area representative, told the meeting, "The best hope for survival of Red Cross services in Springfield lies with the people of Springfield."

He added, "There is no present move afoot for a merger of Springfield with any other chapter, and certainly not for a revocation of the charter."

Deusch stated, however, "There are some 3,500 Red Cross chapters in this country. There is a movement going on to reorganize the structure and to adjust to the facts of community life in 1964."

He commented, after the meeting, that Springfield had a thriving Red Cross group in the 1930s, when there was little competition for volunteers; but that there are now more than 80 organizations in town, all competing for manpower.

The Red Cross executive pointed out that Union, a much larger community, is a branch of the Elizabethtown Chapter. He implied that a local group could maintain semi-autonomous status, providing local services and still being able to call on the trained professional personnel employed by a large chapter headquarters.

Deusch said, in any event, that a step of this sort was not contemplated for the immediate future.

Henry McMullen, former magistrate for many years, and Mrs. McMullen were among the many veteran Red Cross leaders who took part in the meeting. Judge McMullen noted that the chapter had once maintained an office in Town Hall, and he urged that the township restore this facility.

Diner Waitress Killed On Rt. 22 On Way To Work

Funeral services were scheduled for 2 p.m. today for Mrs. June M. Beams, 50, a waitress at the Swingle Colonial Diner on Rt. 22 in Springfield, who was killed Monday, when her car veered off Rt. 22 in Somerville and struck a tree in the center island.

Dallas Swingle, owner of the diner, said Mrs. Beams, who lived in Somerville, was on her way to work at the time. State Police of the Somerville station said she was pinned inside the vehicle for several minutes after the accident.

Mrs. Beams had worked at the diner in Springfield for 14 years, since the establishment was opened, according to Swingle.

State Police said there was no clue as to why the car left the road, and that there were no witnesses.

Funeral arrangements are being handled by the Sheehan Funeral Home in Dunellen, and interment will be in Crown Point, N. Y.

Surviving are three sons, Louis W. of Whitehouse, Earl A. of Scotia, N.Y. and Vernon R. of New York City; three sisters, Mrs. Louise Smith of Vergennes, Vt., Mrs. Lucille Thatcher of Schroon Lake, N.Y., and Mrs. Merile Ireland of Whitehouse; a brother, Charles Merriam of Chester, N.Y., and Mrs. Mary C. Howard of Whitehouse.

Town Meeting

(Continued from Page 1) Bonadies, also on Monday, declared that his statements last week at the meeting had no connection with the court suit over the Cellam zoning variance.

"My basic argument about the recorder," he stressed, "is over a matter of principle. By placing a charge for hearing the cases the Committee make this a private tape recording. They have no right to record voices without the speaker's permission."

"I started this argument with the Committee before the Cellam motion on a transcript came up. This tape is a public document and it must be open to the public, without charge, under the right to know law."

"I intend to pursue this matter further at the next Committee meeting. If they pass an ordinance establishing a fee, which they have not yet done, then I will test the ordinance."

Valco Dispute

Earlier in the Township Committee meeting, Nicholas Montano challenged the Committee on a previous statement they had made. On Nov. 10, Montano stated, the members of the Committee had said they knew of no business connections between the principals in Valco and Edward Schwartz, news analyst and its attorney.

Montano then produced a portion of the deposition of Committee member Arthur M. Falkin, taken during the course of the Valco suit. Falkin had testified, in the deposition, that he knew of some sort of a connection between Schwartz and Valco.

A dispute ensued as to what specific time the Committee had been unaware of a link between Schwartz and Valco, at the time of the zoning decision or at the time of their appointment of Schwartz to the Board of Adjustment.

As the dispute grew between the Committee and the township attorney on the one side, and their critics in the audience, it appeared, at least to some members of the audience, that each side had a certain amount of difficulty in understanding just what the other side meant to say.

New Library

Mrs. Arnold Harlen, speaking for the New Library Committee, said that her group had remained quiet pending the Valco decision. She added that the decision had freed the land, known as the Fedam Farm property, for possible municipal use. The property is at Mountain ave. and Shunpike rd.

She declared that the site is the "best possible" one for a municipal library, that it is centrally located, close to several schools, and that it would "provide a sorely needed area of beauty in the center of town."

Mrs. Harlen urged that the township act to purchase the land "at this time, before another developer comes along."

She added the present library building is "becoming inaccessible" because of heavy traffic on Morris ave. that it is "much too small" and would be impractical to expand.

Protest

(Continued from Page 1) Soviet leadership has already shown that it is acutely aware of public opinion. Through the march, which is a demonstration of the feelings of rabbis representing close to three million American Jews, we hope to stir public opinion and bring pressure to bear on the Russians."

The march proceeded down Lexington ave. to the Carnegie Endowment—for International Peace Building and then to the Soviet Mission. On hand were Orthodox, Conservative and Reform rabbis. The group heard messages of support from Senator Jacob K. Javits, Senator-elect Robert F. Kennedy and New York State Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz, representing Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

The group's purpose was to stress two objectives: religious freedom for Jews in the USSR and granting Russian Jews the right to leave that country for the purpose of being reunited with their families abroad.

Senator Javits said, "In a world-wide protest over discrimination against Jews in the Soviet Union there is implicit fear that mankind fall to be warned... of the grave dangers which spring from religious persecution."

Members of the congregation accompanying Rabbi Dresner were: Philip Yellin, Larry Aronson, Donald Frank, Mrs. Max Fleischer and Sheridan Levin.

The group recorded the events of the day on both film and tape. A report of the day's activities, including pictures of the march itself and messages of the representatives of state and federal government, will be shown at the regular meeting of the Brotherhood of the temple on Dec. 10. The meeting, scheduled for 8:30 p.m., is open to the public and will be free of charge. Also featured at the meeting will be a film, "The Price of Silence," narrated by Edward G. Robinson, which deals with the plight of Soviet Jewry.

Robber Suspect Seized At Scene Of Earlier Crime

A Roselle Park youth suspected of being Springfield's bandit, who covered one eye with a patch, is scheduled to appear in Springfield Municipal Court Monday night on three armed robbery charges as well as other criminal and motor vehicle charges.

The suspect, Frank N. Campolo, 19, of 125 W. Clay ave., Roselle Park, has been free in $5,000 bail since the time of his arrest early Thanksgiving morning at the American Host Motor Lodge on Rt. 22 in Springfield.

Springfield police had placed a look-out at the motor lodge after an armed holdup Nov. 15 by a marauder with a patch over one eye. A bandit of that description had helped up the Atlantic Paint Co. also on Rt. 22 in Springfield, Nov. 12 and then returned Nov. 24 in an attempt to rob the paint store again at gun point. They thought he might again return to the motor lodge.

Police early last Thursday watched as Campolo allegedly stopped his car, got out, left the car motor running and walked toward the motor lodge entrance. They converged on him, and he was arrested. They reported finding in his car a black eye patch and black metal toy pistol that looked like a German Luger.

Campolo, who gave his occupation as a machinist, was charged with armed robbery and attempted armed robbery at the paint firm, armed robbery at the motor lodge, failure to give a good account of himself at the motor lodge, driving the wrong way on Farm rd. and driving the wrong way on Rt. 22 (two summonses) to get to the motor lodge and leaving a motor vehicle with motor running and brakes not set.

The complaints were filed by Patrolman John Baber. Other arrest were Sgt. Edward Ross-officers participating in the net, and Patrolmen Daniel Halsey, Rees Powell and Richard Elfrin.

The youth is charged with taking $94 from the paint store Nov. 12 and $123 from the motor lodge Nov. 15.

Drive Continues For Boy Scouts Two Weeks More

Springfield Township Committee member Arthur M. Falkin, chairman of the Boy Scout residential fund drive, announced that the drive will be extended for another two weeks, so that the volunteer workers may complete their canvass of all past Boy Scout Fund Drive contributions.

Falkin requested that residents assist the drive, because "scouting needs money to run the business of youth training just as we require money to run our homes and businesses."

He said that "it is important to realize that the local council budget is the base — or cornerstone — upon which the whole scout program rests."

There are three major divisions of the scout program, for boys eight through 10 years of age. A Cub Scout is automatically "graduated" upon reaching his 11th birthday.

Boy Scouting is designed for the 11-13 age group. It includes camping and hiking, physical fitness skills and a vocational exploration experience.

Exploring is designed for young men—14 through 16 years of age. It includes advanced camping, extended camp trips, social activities and life work explorations.

Falkin also requested that workers make their returns to the co-chairman, James Cawley, 420 Mountain ave., Springfield, as soon as possible.

"It would be deeply appreciated," Falkin stated, "if any interested residents who wish to assist in this fund drive would contact me or Cawley as soon as possible."

Peace Corps Slates Exam For Monday

For the first time since its inception, the Peace Corps placement test will be given on a weekday — Monday, Dec. 7. This date is made necessary because of the Christmas rush at U. S. Post Offices, where most Peace Corps tests are administered, it was announced.

The non-competitive aptitude test takes about one and a half hours. It is divided into a general aptitude test, a modern language aptitude test and language achievement test (for those who claim a knowledge of French or Spanish).

If test results, questionnaire information and character references prove a candidate is qualified, he will be invited to enter the Corps' intensive training program.

The next cycle of Peace Corps training starts in February. Questionnaires are available at most post offices and at college placement offices. They may also be obtained by writing the Peace Corps, Washington, D.C.

American citizens, over 18, are eligible to take the test. If a candidate is married, his or her spouse must also apply. A college degree is not required.

In this area, the Peace Corps test will be given in Room B-89 of the Federal Building in Newark and at Post Offices in the following cities: Montclair, New Brunswick, Paterson, Phillipsburg, Plainfield and Red Bank. Tests will begin at 3 p.m.

Go ahead, Mr. Gas Salesman STAND ON YOUR HEAD You Still Can't Beat OIL HEAT!

Nothing beats OIL HEAT! It's so much cheaper! More powerful! Better in every way! That's what the 'poor' utilities are up against!—No wonder they'll do anything to sell you gas. But no matter what they do or say, YOU keep your feet on the ground. Get truthful answers to these questions before you make a move!

Q Mr. Gas Salesman! Did you say "gas is cheaper"?
He must be a darn good salesman to say this with a straight face when it's a scientific fact oil is at least 47% cheaper than gas in metropolitan New York. Did you know that Con Edison just chose OIL for its own use. Why oil?—when they get gas wholesale? They know why! Just compare $30 worth of oil with $30 worth of gas and see for yourself. For $30 you get enough OIL to produce about 28 MILLION heat units (BTU's), for the same $30 you get only enough GAS to produce about 18 MILLION heat units (BTU's). That means 47% more heat with OIL for the same $30!

Q How can you possibly say "gas is cleaner"?
This is another head-standing claim with absolutely no basis in fact. It just isn't true that gas is cleaner! Impartial reports by independent experts put the lie to this claim ages ago. Your oil system is totally enclosed—impossible to be the source of any dirt. Even the Better Business Bureau has gotten after the gas companies to stop saying this. What's more—nearly every hospital in New York is heated by oil. How much cleaner can you get?

Q Were you heard to say "No Moving Parts"?
No moving parts! Hey, how about the thermostat, pressuretrol, solenoid valve, aquastat—to name a few moving parts. Both gas and oil systems have moving parts—let's face it!

Q Did you say $239 to convert to gas?
One salesman says $239. Another company here says $220. On Long Island they're giving away gas burners "FREE"! Know what happens when you switch from oil to a "free" gas burner? Your fuel bill goes up $100 to $300 a year. Over the term of your mortgage this can compound to as much as $6,000! That's what a "free" gas burner can cost you! (For as little as $125 you can modernize your oil burner, stay with oil heat and save all that money!)

Why don't you let the poor gas guy off his head? Let him go home. Just tell him you're not taking gas today! You're staying with nice "clean, modern, economical" OIL HEAT!

Q What did you say about "free heating estimate"?
A heating estimate should be in writing. Insist on that! And make sure it includes hot water. Gas hot water can add another $100 or $150 a year to your gas bill. Oil estimates always include hot water. (Remember, too—oil produces hot water 4 times faster than gas and at enormous savings!) While you're at it, see if the gas estimate is based on your keeping your house at 60° at night and 70° by day! That's too cold for a house—especially with children! With OIL you set your thermostat as high as you wish! And don't accept any estimate that requires NEW insulation, costly storm windows—or that depends on the temperature of your neighbor's house (sounds silly, but it does appear in some gas estimates).

Q Did you say "NO service contract with gas"?
He's telling the truth about this. Gas companies have no service contracts! That's because they offer no real service. Oil users love their service contracts! It's a guarantee of continuous trouble-free comfort. With gas you must go find your own heating contractor every time something goes wrong. Ever try to find a heating contractor 2 o'clock in the A.M. Who wants that?

Q What's this "guarantee" stuff all about?
Changing an entire heating system is a drastic and expensive renovation. It's silly to risk it on the basis of a sales gimmick such as this so-called "guarantee." On Long Island the sales gimmick they're using is the "free" gas burner deal—which turns out to cost the poor homeowner $100 to $300 extra in fuel costs every year. Beware of sales gimmicks like these! Better yet, have a lawyer investigate thoroughly. (Read the small print!)

A LOOK AT THE UN with Trudina Howard

Late Beginning For General Assembly

Time Out? The time has come, the Walrus said, "to speak of many things..." and that time has come for the United Nations.

Its usual opening date sometime in mid-September. However, the Christmas recess will interrupt it once again, possibly until February; and U Thant, the Secretary-General of the UN, had proposed that the General Assembly postpone a decision on the crucial peace-keeping debt of Russia and about 13 other countries, to February also.

However, the only problem is, the Soviet Union reportedly doesn't go along with this whole idea. It says the General Assembly should proceed as usual and so the impasse may not pass until February, but come up sooner.

The programs will be in prime time, to boot, and on a major station. Besides the UN, there will possibly be such prime stars as Marlon Brando, Sterling Hayden, Maya Jaggi and Gregory Peck; such prime producers and directors as Joe Mankiewicz, Sam Spiegel, Fred Zinnemann, Alfred Hitchcock, George Sidney and Terrence Young; such major writers as Tad Mosel and Rod Serling.

And So To Tiffany's... If, however, you wish to have a Christmas present to give person-to-person, and you want it to reek with elegance as well as with practicality, the United Nations will provide that too.

It's not going to be "Breakfast At Tiffany's" this Monday, but "Commemorative Stamp Day at Tiffany's." When the United Nations Postal Administration issues its "Education for Progress" commemorative stamp on Dec. 7, the issue will be placed on sale not only at the UN headquarters, but at Tiffany's, 57th st. and Fifth ave.

Tiffany's will make available to collectors a special, embossed envelope for first day cancellation. Envelopes, for mailing, will be accepted by the UN Postal Administration personnel in attendance and will be returned to the UN building for cancellation. No cancellations will be made at Tiffany's. The new UN stamp serves to aid and commemorate the work of the UN in its endeavor to eradicate illiteracy throughout the world.

To coincide with the "Education for Progress" stamp issue, the week of Dec. 6 has been proclaimed in New York as "United Nations Stamp Collection Week."

... And To School Education gets many a helping hand at the United Nations and the United Nations Correspondents Association (UNCA) offers its hand to it too.

Every year UNCA bestows a scholarship fund in memory of Dag Hammarskjold to a worthy student from somewhere in the world. This year's winner is tiny Miss Lourdes Jaramilla of the Philippines and she is a small wonder of intelligence and charm. Previous winners have been Patrick Urist of Nigeria; Fakh Ouali of Tunisia and Bahar Habib of Pakistan. Miss Jaramilla is attending the Columbia University Graduate School of Journalism in New York City through the scholarship.

At the annual fund luncheon given by UNCA in honor of the scholarship winner, Miss Jaramilla spoke not only with wit, but with grace and composure. The luncheon was held in the delegate's dining room at the UN headquarters last week. Secretary-General U Thant was guest of honor and also spoke. Approximately 25 ambassadors, including U.S. Ambassador to the UN Adlai Stevenson, were among the invited guests.

Along with St. Benedict's, participating schools include Benedictine Academy of Elizabeth and East Orange Catholic High School. "A Man For All Seasons" is a drama of beauty and power, the story of the reluctant martyrdom of Sir Thomas More, who went to his death because he could not bring himself to lend his support to the plans of King Henry VIII to get a divorce and establish a new church. Tickets may be purchased at the door or by writing to St. Benedict's Drama Guild, 520 High st., Newark.

Mud, Defenders Dominate Regional-Rahway Tie Game

By DONALD LEWIS

In a muddy but stirring contest, the Jonathan-Dayton High School Bulldogs and the Rahway Indians battled to a 6-6 tie on Thanksgiving Day. It was the fifth tie in the 28-year rivalry between the two teams. The tie also placed both teams in the No. three spot in the Watchung Conference.

The winner of the contest would have tied Clark for second place. Westfield High clinched the championship two weeks ago.

Coach Herb Palmer of Dayton thought his team had played a "fine ball game." Offensively he had planned to control the ball and win. Dayton did have possession of the ball for most of the first and third periods.

Defensively, Palmer said, "We broke down only once, and that gave them the TD."

Dayton scored the first time it got the ball. Dan Ginter received the opening kick-off for Dayton and took it almost to the 25-yard line. Then Dayton simply ground out the yardage in a 75-yard power drive.

Power Plays

—Led by the plunging of full-back Mike Adickman and half-back Carl Yaras, the ball was moved to the Rahway 12. From there Yaras-carried it over for the score around the right end. The extra point attempt, which Dayton had won the game for, failed as Yaras' off-tackle drive was checked.

As the second period began, the Dayton defense was trying to stop a Rahway drive that had come to the Dayton 15. An excellent rush threw Rahway quarterback Terry Sweeney for a seven-yard loss, and then a fourth down draw play failed to gain yardage.

Dayton took over, but on the third down, a fumble was recovered by Rahway. Two plays later, halfback Dan Halsey swept around end for 20 yards and a Rahway touchdown. The crucial extra point kick, almost blocked by Bob Blythe, went wide.

Strong Defense

In the second half, the Dayton defense did a superb job of containing the Indians. In four separate attempts, the Indians were able to make only one first down, and they were forced to punt four times. Dayton mustered two major threats, but each was stopped.

In the third quarter, when a Dayton drive seemed to have been halted at the 40-yard line, quarterback Bob Ries dropped back to punt. When he received the ball, however, instead of kicking, he threw to Yaras for a five-yard gain that was enough to make the first down. The team then marched all the way to the Rahway 10 before running out of downs.

The Indians, taking possession, couldn't move and were forced to punt from their own end zone. The punt was downed on the Rahway 35.

Four plays later, Dayton had a first down on the Rahway 12. An offside penalty moved the ball to the 7. Then Ries plunged for three yards, and Yaras moved the ball down to the one-yard line and a first down. Ries carried again, but could gain only half a yard.

Then another offside penalty, halfway to the goal line, placed the ball on about the two or three-inch line.

Ries called for the ball again, but a Rahway tackle came diving over his blocker on top of Ries, knocking the ball loose. It was recovered by an Indian.

Film Report

Coach Palmer of Dayton later said that film of the game showed that Ries might have keyed on the play before but that mud had obliterated the goal line.

The mud and poor footing were the reasons, Palmer said, he could not call an end seven or a pass. The center of the line had been Rahway's weakest point.

"After falling in this bid, Dayton was unable to mount another serious attack in two attempts. The Bulldog defense, however, prevented any serious Indian attack.

The game ended as a desperation pass by quarterback Bob Ries was intercepted on the 50 yard line by Mike Panko. The game ended in a tie when Panko was brought down by tacklers.

PLAYERS NEEDED TO FILL ROSTERS FOR VOLLEYBALL

Each Tuesday evening the Thelma Sandmeier School gym is set aside for men's volleyball. This program has been active for three weeks. The Springfield Recreation Department reports this program has been a "disappointment to date."

Those men who are interested in supervised volleyball play were advised to come Tuesday evening to the Sandmeier School gym between 7 and 9. If a greater interest is not shown in this program, it will be dropped, the department stated.

The women's volleyball program which meets at the Sandmeier-School gym each Thursday from 8 to 10:30 p.m. is now ready for league play. The Recreation Department reported that "good participation marks the success of this program."

A representative of the Recreation Department urged all women who are interested in joining an organized volleyball team to "report to the Sandmeier School gym tonight at 8. This will be the last call for all women interested in playing volleyball this winter."

Rockets Soaring; Retain Top Rank In Boys' League

The Rockets continue to pare the Boys' Recreation League bowling going into the seventh week with nine victories to their credit against three losses. In last week's play, the league leaders split two games with the Atons. Ricky Williams of the Rockets, with a 232 series last week, while Jay Silverman, with a 266, was high man for the Atons.

The Bullets became the closest pursuers of the league leaders, as they defeated the Bombers in two games last week. These two victories raised their season average to 8 and 4. Robert Shindler, with a season high series of 308, led the Bullets. Mark Hollander with a 270 series was also high for the Bullets. Jimmy Sarokin with a series of 254 was high man for the Bombers.

The Raiders moved their team into contention as they turned back the Pirates in two games last week. David Epstein with a 243 series and Mark Berkowitz with 237 were top bowlers for the Raiders. Billy Schwab was the leading bowler for the Pirates.

In the final match of the afternoon the Hurricanes moved up in league play by defeating the Jets twice. Howie Levine with a series of 263 was top bowler for the Hurricanes. Danny Weiss with 267 was 273 paced the Jets.

Robert Shindler on the strength of his high 308 series last week has moved back into the league lead in averages. Robert is averaging 131 for the season. David Epstein, who was the league leader last week, dropped into second place with an average of 127. Jimmy Sarokin, also at 127, is in the third spot. Early season leader Eric Wasserman is fourth place with an average of 125. Mark Hollander at 123 is holding down the fifth spot.

Basketball Slated To Draw 300 Registration Day On Saturday

More than 300 boys are expected to turn out Saturday for the opening of the Springfield Recreation Department's winter basketball program. Four uniformed basketball leagues will be formed following the afternoon registration, according to Scott Donington, assistant recreation director.

Registration for boys from the ages of nine through 13, and those older but still in grade school, Donington said, will be held at 1 p.m.

Boys slated for the Small-Fry League — ages nine and 10 — are asked to register at Caldwell School. The State League, composed of boys ages 11 and 12, will register at Gaudineer School and Ivy League boys — ages 13 and over — should meet at the Regional High School gym, Donington said.

Eight uniformed teams will make up the Small-Fry League, Donington reported, and the group will be under the direction of Ed Ruby, recreation director, and John Swedish, former head basketball coach at Regional.

A second group of boys in this age range will be formed into six teams for league play at Sandmeier School. This league, Donington said, will be directed by Norman LeRoeth, physical education instructor at Gaudineer.

Members of the State League will form 10 teams. Boys in this age group will play each Saturday under the direction of Joseph Blanda and Robert Johnson. Blanda is a teacher at Gaudineer School and Johnson is athletic coach at South Side High School.

Donington and Jack Apper, former star athlete at Regional, will coach the Ivy League, assisted by the Regional coaches.

All boys who participate in any of the four leagues, Donington said, will be provided with team jerseys as part of the registration fee. Volunteer coaches will also assist the recreation department in the development of the boys in each of the organized basketball leagues.

Donington stressed that the program can only be formed completely successful if volunteer coaches make themselves available. He asked that anyone interested in participating in the program get in contact with a representative of the recreation department.

good bet to be mentioned when the all-county listings come out this week.

Yarns has also been mentioned in terms of the all-state team, but may be hurt in his chances by the good but not overwhelming record of the team.

Key Linemen

Linemen Dan Etzold and Alan Greenberg were also outstanding throughout the season. Etzold's blocking was quarterback Bobby Ries' security. Greenberg's linebacking was the main element in Dayton's strong defense.

Next year may be a rough one for Palmer and his coaching staff. If the new school in Kenilworth is opened in September, he will be losing 10 members of this year's squad in addition to the graduating seniors. That will leave him with only 23 experienced boys.

Palmer is optimistic, however, and points to this year's junior varsity record of 5-2-1 as a good omen for the future.

Besides Dan Ginter and Eddie Erskine, juniors on this year's varsity, Palmer looks for development in such players as Joe Jupa, Steve Hartz, Harold Hansen and Al Lobatto, all of whom saw some action this season.

Hartz and sophomore Bob Gaitlan, says Palmer, will vie for next year's quarterback position.

Mrs. Del Vecchio explained that her husband, who is now Springfield Republican chairman, "has me down now as county committeewoman in the 13th District. Originally, I only did it as a favor to him; now I'm so involved . . . I have to keep records of anyone who is in town, who has left town, absentee ballots—it does rather keep one busy."

"At the moment," she said, "I am training Girl Scouts who have been selected to go to Faragut in Idaho. It's a camping trip, and I must train girls from Scotch Plains, Berkeley Heights and Watchung how to be good hostesses, how to travel, how to pack their gear. It's a big job."

Mrs. Del Vecchio, who was born in Springfield Gardens, New York was a fourth and fifth grade teacher in Brooklyn while she attended St. John's

Teachers College in Brooklyn.

"I've really had a very active life," she said. "Prior to my teaching, I had attended a French convent school. In high school at Our Lady of Wisdom Academy, I got my background for doing and collecting things."

She started out as a private. "I did aircraft warning work in New York City. Then I applied for officers' training school, and was graduated in June, 1943."

Mrs. Del Vecchio explained that 28 officers were sent to Daytona Beach for "three weeks of intensive training and maneuvers. We seemed to be training for the South Pacific, but we ended up on the Queen Mary. That meant England. It was really rough," she recalled. "With full packs on our backs, we jumped off sides of ships, learned to survive under fire."

Bluebirds Quintet Still Flying High In Girls' Bowling

The Bowling Bluebirds were still flying high this week in the Springfield Girls' Recreation League and have now increased their league lead to two games. In defeating the Bowties in two games last week at Springfield Bowl, they managed to hold the top of the scoring column. Lisa Brown, with a series of 203, was once again top bowler for the Bluebirds. Jeannine Spangler also scored well for the winners, while Anita Demaries was top bowler for the Bowties.

The Four Strikes continue their climb to the top of the league as they defeated the Wildcatters in two games last week. Nancy Morlino, with a series of 287, and Sharon Gagnon, with a series of 253, were high for the Strikes team. Debbie Killeber was the leading bowler for the Wildcatters.

The Knockouts made it nine losses in a row for the unlucky Lucky Charms as they took two from this season's hard luck team last week. Alyse Cooper was again the top bowler for the Knockouts by bowling a 235 series. Kathy Tonky was top bowler for the Charms.

Sharon Gagnon with her good series last week, increased her league-leading average to 112. Miss Cooper continues in second place with a season average of 111. Nancy Morlino, averaging 104, has moved into third place; Michelle Widom with 93 in fourth, and Miss Brown, with a 84, average is fifth.

Referee To Talk At Coaches Clinic

A basketball coaches clinic will be held at the James Clark Well School next Thursday evening, according to Scott Donington, assistant superintendent of recreation in Springfield.

Representatives of the recreation department will speak, a professional basketball referee will explain the rules and a basketball film will be shown. Donington said that the program is open to any Springfield resident but has been specially designed to attract those men who are willing to coach one of the Springfield Youth Basketball teams.

Coach Looks Back; '65 Picture Cloudy

Last Thursday's tie with Rahway gave the Bulldogs of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School a 6-2-1 season record on the gridiron this year. Highlights of the season were victories over both of Dayton's sister schools in the regional district.

Berkeley Heights was defeated, 25-12, in the season opener, and Clark was beaten, 32-25, the following week.

The only losses were in Westfield, Watchung Conference champs, and Scotch Plains. Thursday's tie with Rahway ended the season on a contented but not joyous note.

Herb Palmer, head coach of football at Dayton, said he thought this year was "a real good season, although we anticipated one-a-little better. The competition we faced was very tough, but we had some outstanding kids."

The usual starting team this year consisted of 10 seniors and only two juniors. Palmer said of the graduating boys, "Our seniors did a real fine job. Some of them developed into good leaders. Some may be making the all-county team."

Palmer's reference to the all-county team could refer to any of several outstanding players on the Bulldogs squad this year. Halfback Carl Yaras was the county's leading scorer and is a

IN ENGLAND, Lt. Gertrude Koltz met Maj. Philip Del Vecchio. The major won his future wife amidst the blitzes, bombings and shell fire. They were married in Jamaica, Long Island, and came to Springfield 16 years ago with their three-year-old son, Phillip.

At the conclusion of the interview, Mrs. Del Vecchio looked up at the clock. "Oh, dear," she said, "I'll have to get ready for the car pool."

"Car pool, we asked?"

"Oh, yes," she smiled, "I have to pick up eight children at three this afternoon, and it's nearly that," she added as she bundled up little David and tumbled for her car keys.

"I don't want to be late," she said, waving goodbye with the hand she had tucked in her pocket during an outing with her beloved Girl Scouts. ("It doesn't even need a bandage any more!")

20 Graduate Students 'On Location' To Study Business, Industrial Firms

College is no ivory tower to 20 graduate students enrolled in a "Workshop in Business and Industry Guidance" at Newark State College, Union. The 20, who are teachers, administrators, and counselors in area schools, have been spending their class time "on location" at business and industrial concerns in North Jersey.

The workshop, which offers three semester hours of credit, is the result of cooperation between college officials and industrial leaders in an effort ultimately aimed at better informing youth about the industrial and business community.

A. P. Lennert, supervisor of industrial relations of Westinghouse-Electric-Corp., Newark, who has been instrumental in developing the workshop, has this to say about the cooperative venture: "Teachers are teaching tomorrow's industrial employees today. We want to help them to better communicate business philosophies, needs, and wants, as well as latest developments in business technology."

According to Professor Samuel M. Valla, coordinator of the program at the college, "We think that helping New Jersey's young people find their place in the complex world of modern industry is an important task. The transition from student to worker will be eased by teachers and counselors made keenly aware of the trends and problems of the industrial community."

So far the students have met for classes at the following locations: The Relay and Instrument Division of Westinghouse Electric Corp., Newark; Multi-Amp Corp., Cranford; The Singer Co., Elizabeth; Bamberger's, Newark; Weston Instruments Division of Daystrom, Inc., Newark; Jersey Central Power and Light Co., Morristown, Metal and Thermit Corp., Rahway, and Pratical Insurance Co., Newark.

They were scheduled to meet at Worthington Corp., Harrison, yesterday; Becon, Dickinson and Co., East Rutherford, on Dec. 9; Bendix Corp., Tebora, on Dec. 16; and Public Service Electric and Gas Co., Newark, on Jan. 6.

They'll finally return to Newark State Jan. 13 for a talk by R. M. Whelan, personnel supervisor of Hyatt Bearings Division of General Motors Corp., Harrison.

The last session on Jan. 20 will be devoted to a "Review and critique of the workshop experiences" at the college with representatives from participating companies present.

By that time they will have heard first hand about such subjects as decision-making in industry, preventive maintenance, economic misunderstandings about industry, rising job standards, practical applications of industrial engineering, government and business, upgrading and transfer of employees, employee development through performance review, computer, industrial promotions, morale problems, communication, and job opportunities within industry.

Among the workshop participants are: Fred Cohen, 81 Cedar Lane, Roselle, and Mrs. Lillian D. Knappstatter, 39 Glenview Dr., Springfield.

Practical Nursing Class Will Begin At Tech Institute

The Union County Technical Institute, Mountainside, has openings in its new class for practical nurses. This need has existed for some time and will continue to exist in the future according to the estimates of the hospital head nurses' said a spokesman.

The course in practical nursing is shorter and somewhat simpler than for registered nurses. Considerable emphasis is given to nursing techniques, anatomy and physiology, nutrition, pharmacology, and the psychology of human relations during the 16-week pre-clinical phase which is conducted at the school at 423 Park Ave., Scotch Plains. This phase of the program is conducted by a qualified teacher who is also a registered nurse.

The clinical training is given at various hospitals with the major portion of this time to be spent at Elizabeth General Hospital followed by shorter periods at Runnels Hospital and Marlboro Hospital. This part of the program will be taught by a registered nurse from the hospital and the school's teacher-nurse, the announcement added.

The course and the school are approved by the State Board of Nursing and successful graduates of the program will be eligible to take the State Board examination to become licensed practical nurses.

Further information may be had by contacting the school at 1160 Globe Ave., Mountainside, or 423 Park Ave., Scotch Plains.
