8 Board Candidates To Discuss Schools

The annual Board of Education candidates' night, co-sponsored by the PTAs and the Springfield League of Women Voters, will take place on Monday at 8:15 p.m. in the Florence M. Gaudineer School auditorium. Moderator for the evening will be Milton Kappesser, a past member of the Springfield Board of Education, now vice-president of the library board.

Each candidate will have the opportunity to address the audience with a prepared statement. A question and answer period will conclude the evening.

The candidates for the three-year terms are Carlo A. Casale, Mrs. Sonya G. Dorsey, Alvin Jay, Howard Levin, Harold H. Liebeskind and Francis Shlimshack.

The candidates for the one-year unexpired term are Joseph R. Affitto and Mrs. Ruth Weisman.

Candidates will speak in alphabetical order. The election will take place Feb. 9.

Mrs. Henry Hueneke, League voter service chairman, announced that voter information sheets are being mailed, for the first time, to all registered voters in the township. Mrs. Stephen Bonn is League president.

Budget Approved By School Board

Approval of a $1,294,129 school budget following an uneventful, sparsely attended public hearing, was voted unanimously Tuesday night by the Springfield Board of Education. The budget for the township's five schools running through the eighth grade, will now go before the voters on Feb. 9.

Other highlights of the board meeting included an "on-line" report on work for the new addition to the Florence Gaudineer School and a report by John O. Borwick, superintendent of schools, on introduction of new mathematics methods into the curriculum.

A scant dozen residents attended the hearing, including a majority of the eight candidates for the School Board, who are seeking four seats in the Feb. 9 election.

Postmaster Notes Added Emphasis Put On ZIP Code

Springfield Postmaster A. V. Del Vecchio this week advised patrons that the Post Office Department is actively promoting its service-improvement program, more commonly known as ZIP Code.

Postmaster Del Vecchio stated that approximately 75 percent of the parcel post leaving the Springfield post office is distributed by ZIP Code. This permits a speedier service with less probability of damage because of the reduced number of handlings required, he said.

Del Vecchio also stated that mail bearing ZIP numbers in the addresses was sorted by the ZIP Code during the past Christmas season. All distribution cases at the Springfield post office are labeled for ZIP Code distribution.

The postmaster urged all patrons to use the ZIP Code in their return addresses and to note and add to their mailing lists the ZIP Codes in the return addresses of mail received. To assist local patrons ZIP Code their mail and make the necessary additions to their mailing lists, Postmaster Del Vecchio has noted the following ZIP Codes for neighboring communities:

Millburn, 07041; Mountainside, 07092; Union, 07083; Vauxhall, 07088; Summit, 07901; Short Hills, 07078; Maplewood, 07040; South Orange, 07070; Westfield, 07090.

Assistant Postmaster Jack Fisher is the ZIP Code Coordinator for the Springfield Post Office and any questions concerning this program may be directed to either Fisher or the postmaster.

NEW DELIBERATION on the variance application to build an outdoor slugging shell at Evergreen Lodge began Tuesday night before the Springfield Board of Adjustment. The site of the proposed structure is pictured above. It is on the grounds adjoining the present lodge, on Evergreen ave. opposite Christy lane. First Aid Squad Elects Bruder, Reports 432 Calls During 1964

Officers of the Springfield First Aid Squad for 1965 were installed recently by Ed Carroll of the second district of the New Jersey State First Aid Council.

President for the current year is Bert Bruder, and vice-president is Robert Wilkins. Madeline Lamstra is recording secretary and corresponding secretary is Gloria Simpson. Spencer Cannon is squad treasurer. The three trustees for 1965 are Libby Berson, Mary Sklar and Robert Robinson. Esther Poznanski is serving as supply sergeant.

Field officers of the squad are in charge of all apparatus, crews and personnel. Steering the First Aid Squad this year are the re-elected officers: captain, Robert Vorhees; first lieutenant, Edward Street; second lieutenant, Daniel Kalen, and second lieutenant and training officer, Harold Jensen.

During 1964, there were 13 heart accidents, as well as the nation. In December, the Springfield Police Department called the squad 21 times for accidents. Of these, seven were in homes, seven in businesses, six caused by auto, and one a sports incident.

The remaining 20 of the 54 calls answered in December were due to various illnesses. In the month of December alone, volunteer crews responded immediately to 39 calls, and transported 15 stretcher cases to and from hospitals.

STUDENTS ASSIST ACCIDENT VICTIM WITH GIFT OF $50

Students at the Florence Gaudineer School, Springfield, this week made a $50 contribution to the Theresa Gargalowitz fund. The funds will go toward hospital expenses for Miss Gargalowitz, a college student from Union who has been in a coma at Overlook Hospital since last April.

She was injured when her car skidded on the trolley tracks on Morris ave., Springfield. The Gaudineer students have made two previous contributions to aid Miss Gargalowitz, $50 at Thanksgiving and $10 at Christmas. The money was raised primarily through the sale of apples conducted by the students in the cafeteria.

Fair Housing Unit Completes Plans For Pledge Drive

Springfield Fair Housing Committee turned out last Thursday at Holy Cross Lutheran Church to hear plans for the group's forthcoming pledge drive.

Mr. Philip Lewis, coordinator of the campaign, reported that the drive would be launched on Sunday, Jan. 31. At that time, to generate support for the "principles of open housing," committee members will make a door-to-door canvass of town with good neighbor pledges.

The pledge that residents will be asked to sign reads as follows:

"We believe that the foundations of American democracy rest on the enthusiastic support of the human rights and dignity of all people.

"We believe in the principle of open housing.

"Therefore, we express our willingness to accept as our neighbors persons on their own merit, without regard to race, religion or national origin."

The Committee hopes to obtain at least 500 signatures to the pledge, which it then plans to publish in a full-page advertisement in the Springfield Leader.

Mrs. Howard Kaplan, the head of the private circulating operations, reported that her list of pledge seekers numbers close to 100. The town has been divided into voting districts, each with its own captain, and workers have been recruited for (Continued on Page 4)

To Base Verdict On '63 Hearings

Decision on the application of Evergreen Lodge for a variance to extend a non-conforming use on its property by construction of an addition to the existing building, which would contain a shell for singing, will be given by the Board of Adjustment after study of the material presented initially to the board in 1963, according to Robert C. Miller, board chairman.

Miller made his announcement of the board's decision "not to accept additional evidence in the case after listening to arguments by attorneys representing both the applicant and the citizens who brought the matter to the courts last year.

Irwin Weinberg, of the law firm of Weinberg and Bohrod, Springfield, who represented a group of five township residents in their suit against the Township Committee after a variance was granted permitting the addition to the Lodge, told the board that the record of the case was already before the board. He added that the remand from the courts meant that the decision on the variance was to be made on the basis of the testimony already recorded.

ROBERT C. MILLER
Miller Renamed By Zoning Board For Third Term

Superior Court Judge Milton A. Feller remanded the matter to the Board of Adjustment on June 4, 1964, and specified that the board was required to give "special reasons" for recommending a variance in such a case.

In his presentation to the Township Committee, Judge Feller said that the laws governing the extension of non-conforming uses stated that "special reasons" are a requisite for the recommendation of a variance, and also that it must be proved that the variance will be "without substantial detriment to the public good and will not substantially impair the intent and purpose of the zoning plan and zoning ordinance."

Weinberg pointed out that Judge Feller had stated that "all the reasons given (by the board) are negative, and are mainly in the nature of conclusions. There was no finding of special reasons justifying the recommendation which was made."

Miller, who is the only member of the board who was sitting at the time of the original presentation of the case, asked how the board could make a decision when the members now sitting had not been present during the original hearing.

"If on examination of the record," Weinberg said, "the board decides to deny the case, would then go back to the courts." He maintained, however, that the decision must be made on the basis of the record and not on a rehearing of the case.

YES GROUP SEEKS YOUTHS, OVER 18; WORK AVAILABLE

The Springfield Youth Employment Service has six to eight full and part-time jobs waiting for young men and women 18 or older. Mrs. William Lorimer, chairman, revealed this week she added that the YES office now offers "instant" snow shoveling with teenage crews available in all parts of town.

Advance reservations can also be made by residents who will be on vacation of who want to prepare ahead of time for snow of the future. Details on these and other YES services are available from the YES office at Town Hall, DR 6-5800, or from Mrs. Lorimer at DR 6-7985.

Rall Named Head Of Committee Urging Change Of Government

Election of Ed Rall as chairman was announced this week by the Committee for Change in Springfield's Government. Lewis Rosen was named secretary. H. Lee Sarikon has joined the committee and will serve as legal advisor. It was also made known.

The committee added that petitions seeking a referendum to approve a change in the form of municipal government are now being prepared and an organization is being built to change the form of government to a commission form of government.

The committee noted that the State Legislature in 1950 passed the Faulkner Act to establish procedures by which municipalities could change their charters and "bring their plans of government to date."

The committee added, "The Faulkner Act offers the people of New Jersey some 15 optional plans for the operation of local government, plans which vary in their adaptability to the size and circumstances of a particular town."

A recent study by the Springfield group resulted in its support for the Mayor-Council Plan.

The committee announced that it has set its sights on passage of the charter change, by referendum, for the election in Springfield in May of 1966.

The would provide for election every four years, of a mayor and five councilmen at large.

Every Fourth Year
Elections without party labels would take place on the second Tuesday of May, every fourth year, with the officials to be installed the following June 1.

The committee announced that it has set its sights on passage of the charter change, by referendum, for the election in Springfield in May of 1966.

Paper 'Coins' Helped Relieve Shortage A Century Ago

By ANITA M. EPSTEIN

Recent reports of a shortage of coins in circulation during the Civil War led to the issue of paper "coins" by the Post Office.

The first paper "coins" were issued in 1862. They were made of cotton and were used to replace the shortage of coins.

The paper "coins" were used for a short time during the Civil War. They were eventually replaced by metal coins.

Although the paper coins were not used for long, they helped to ease the shortage of coins during the Civil War.

Postmaster Explains Purpose, Procedures Used In ZIP Code

Springfield Postmaster A. V. Del Vecchio has offered the following basic information and answers to many recurring questions concerning the ZIP Code Program of the Post Office Department.

WHAT IS ZIP CODE?

ZIP Code is a five-digit number which identifies each post office and delivery unit in the United States, and associates each with the sectional center or major post office through which mail is routed for delivery.

The country was divided into 10 geographical areas in order to arrive at the determination of the ZIP Code. Each geographical area was then subdivided into areas the size of which were determined by population and mail volume.

The first digit therefore represents the national geographical division, the second digit represents the sub-division of the national area and the third digit represents the major post office of the sub-division.

The last two digits represent the delivery unit within the sectional center.

To illustrate with the ZIP Code for Springfield 07081: The 07 represents the national area (the New England States plus New Jersey). The next digit, 8, represents the sub-division of the national area, or northern New Jersey; the next 0 represents the major post office in the sub-division, Newark.

Thus the Newark Sectional letter is deposited in the street letter box to the time it is delivered to the addressee's home, that letter is handled at least 10 times.

Why is ZIP Code necessary? ZIP Code is no longer a theory, but is a reality. It is the economical answer to the mail explosion of the next two or three decades.

By the year 2000, at the present rate of increasing mail volumes distributed by the present methods of handling, it would require the entire work force of the United States to handle the total mail volume.

Therefore, it was necessary to devise means of handling these volumes quickly and economically. ZIP Code is the means towards this end.

Clerks sort mail manually at the rate of 30 pieces per minute, or 1,800 pieces per hour, if at a sustained rate.

Also, mail is sorted by scheme which requires a clerk to memorize routing directions for 800 post offices in New Jersey among the 35,000 post offices in the nation.

In addition, from the time a letter is deposited in the street letter box to the time it is delivered to the addressee's home, that letter is handled at least 10 times.

More important, ZIP Code permits the use of mechanical sorting methods. This will be accomplished through the development of optical scanners which will sort 10 times the mail sorted manually by clerks.

The Post Office Department expects these machines to be in operation by the time the general public has ZIP Codes on letters as a common practice.

HOW CAN THE PUBLIC HELP NOW? With the use of ZIP Code by the general public on a voluntary basis, it will take some time for the majority of mail to be ZIP Coded.

Therefore, the Post Office Department needs your help in this matter. Always include your ZIP Code in your return address; note the ZIP Code in the return address of mail you receive and add these numbers to your mailing list to up-date the list; then use these numbers as part of the address.

Since the majority of mail is addressed to insurance companies, publishers of magazines, utility companies and other business establishments who are now cooperating fully with the program, these hints will permit the companies to update their mailing lists and will help reduce the transit time for all mails.

The Springfield post office at the present time is distributing parcels by ZIP Code number. This will permit less handling and thus less damage to parcels.

Furthermore, all letter distribution cases of the Springfield post office contain the ZIP Code identification, and we are equipped to commence distribution of mail by ZIP number just as soon as the majority of mail contains the ZIP Code numbers.

Postmaster Del Vecchio stated that he will be happy to present additional material in a short talk to any organization or group interested in this program.

They may also add, also contact Mrs. Mary (Borrali) Nadasky of Avenel or Mrs. Julie (Barbarise) Vasile of Kenilworth.

Extension Effort Plans Announced By Local Church

The Rev. James Dewart, pastor of Springfield Emanuel Methodist Church, and Mrs. Eleanor Keller and Mrs. Mildred Rempfer, co-chairmen of the commission on missions, announced that members are being asked to share in a special church-extension effort in a "unique way."

Each member of family has been asked to become a "church builder," pledging to contribute 10 dollars no more than twice a year toward construction of a completely new church in the Northern New Jersey Annual Conference for the enlargement of a growing congregation. A total of 5,000 "church builders" are being sought within the Annual Conference.

The first 10 dollars to be solicited from "church builders" will be invested in the Christian Education Building and Fellowship Hall of the Methodist Church of Bridgewater Township, which was organized in 1983 by Dr. Albert Allinger, former pastor of the 1,600-member Cranford Methodist Church. Local Methodists may give their pledge or their contribution to Mrs. Rempfer, Mrs. Keller or Pastor Dewart.

LEADER PROFILE

RAY YANCHUS

"The sport that I liked the best throughout high school and college was not, in a sense, my best sport—I played better baseball and better football than I did basketball."

These words of irony were expressed in a recent rundown of the life of Ray Yanchus, basketball coach and history teacher at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield.

Yanchus, a husky, six-foot-two, athletic-looking teacher, ran his large hand through his short-cropped hair the other afternoon at Regional, grinning wryly, and said, "I even had a chance to play pro baseball, but I turned it down."

"The Cleveland Indians wanted to put me in training, but I had just completed two years of college. I already was 23 years old—I had spent three years in the U.S. Marines between my high school and college years, and I felt it was too old to start."

"USUALLY, ROOKIES are just out of high school and they're 17 or 18 years old—and that's about the appropriate age for a fellow just starting out for professional baseball."

"But at 23—well, as far as I was concerned, I was too old."

Yanchus, who is in his fifth year at the high school as a U.S. history teacher and in his second year as head coach (he is also assistant football coach), is now more interested in discussing basketball than in pro baseball or the U.S. Marines or football.

"Of the 14 boys we have on our basketball squad," he said, "six were injured in a recent game. We've had a rash of ankle injuries. And Mike Kretzer, one of our best men, really tore a couple of ligaments in his ankle. I'm just hoping he'll be well enough to play in our next game."

"Actually," he said, "we started the season poorly. We were badly beaten in our first game. We won four finally, but we lost our last two—to Westfield and to Linden."

"We're just going to have to hobble along—five bodies out there to hobble along on five legs," he said, not without a sad smile.

"WERE IN THE process of rebuilding a sport that was down in the last few years."

"This school," Yanchus explained, "has always been a good basketball powerhouse. Now, however, we're lacking in experience. One year's lost experience makes the difference between a good year or a mediocre year."

Yanchus indicated that some freshmen, who go out for the basketball team one year, skip their sophomore year, then perhaps return to the team the following year. "As I said, one last year can make all the difference."

"We've been trying to get the kids interested in basketball. We've been working to build the grammar school league. This is a way to rebuild interest. There are kids who go to basketball camps for a week or two in the summer to train and be interested and be ready for basketball by the time they get to high school."

"Rutgers runs one of these camps, where all day the boys concentrate on basketball, drill, and are evaluated. They are shown all phases of the game."

"THE BEST THING is to get interest built up in the lower grades... the seventh, eighth and ninth grades... in the formative years. The junior-high schools are doing this, and the youngsters are well drilled in the fundamentals before they register in a regular high school."

Yanchus reiterated, "We must get a program where we can get kids out there and keep them interested. Without interest in any program, it's just very difficult to do."

"Every one who has ever been good has worked at it, practiced for hours."

"Most of the kids out here," Yanchus said, "must have outside interests. Other sports curtail their activities in basketball. If the interest can be promoted—and we think it can, we'll make the school proud of us yet."

Last year, Yanchus had tried to set up a basketball program "out of season" at the Municipal Pool. "It was unsuccessful. The kids were more interested in swimming—naturally."

"BUT WE'LL TRY again this year to get a summer program going. If we get some victories under our belt, we'll get the interest going."

Yanchus told of the Bellevue brothers, who, in the mid 1940s and the early 1950s, helped make Regional a "real powerhouse in basketball."

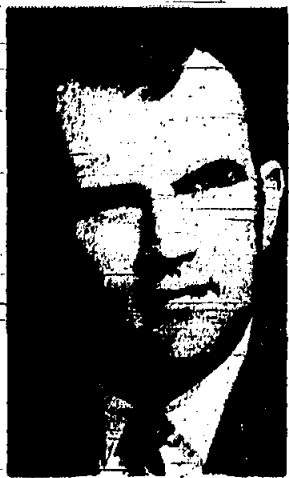

"Bellevue is a big name around here. You can frighten your opponents when you just mention 'The Bellevues.'" There are six brothers. We now have two of the younger generation: Jimmy, who is in his

THANKS FROM COACH

Just a short note to thank you and the Leader for the "Profile" article published in the Jan. 14 issue of your paper. It was greatly appreciated by me and my family, and I hope it brought to the attention of Springfield residents the existence of a wrestling team here at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School.

Your interviewer did a fine, accurate job of reporting. I'm sure interviewing a wrestling coach is far from an easy assignment.

Let me take this opportunity also to thank your paper for the excellent job of wrestling coverage we have received this year. Needless to say, the members of the wrestling team join in this thanks.

Once again, thanks for the "Profile" article.

tration salaries, $51,350,000; faculty salaries, $1,060,920; textbooks, $1,000; libraries and audio-visual material, $21,630; teaching supplies, $26,600; health service salaries, $24,925; operational salaries, $30,350; heat, $12,000; utilities, $25,200; maintenance salaries, $20,750; contracted services, $45,900; equipment replacement, $10,950; employee retirement contribution, $12,500; insurance and judgments, $18,500.

The total operating budget for the coming school year will be $1,595,025, with the amount above $1,294,129 to be received from state and federal aid, debt service and balance appropriated.

Previous Years
This figure compares with $1,390,830 for the current school year and $1,383,475 for last year. The amount raised in local taxes this year is $1,179,260. Last year's figure was $1,081,757.

On a percentage basis, 72.2 percent of the proposed budget will go for salaries, 12.1 percent, interest and amortization of bonds, 2.6 percent, heat, utilities, janitor supplies, 4 percent, texts, library, instructional supplies, 1.6 percent, repairs and replacement, 2.4 percent, insurance, pensions and utilities, 1.5 percent, health services, transportation, 1.8 percent, capital outlay.

The major factor in the increase of $115,000 in the law is a $92,000 rise in teachers' salaries. The higher salaries were explained by August Caprio, board president, as necessary to keep the township's "competitive position" with other, comparable school systems.

In response to a question from Mrs. Weisman, board members noted that the budget includes provision for four elementary school principals, rather than the two now in the system.

Gaudineer Progress
Board member Joseph A. Bender reported that work is being finished on minor changes required by the state in plans for the new wing at the Gaudineer School, and that final approval is expected in the next week, at most. He praised the work done by Robert C. Miller, school architect.

Next stop, Bender said, is to advertise for bids. He added that progress on the Gaudineer project so far has been "exactly on schedule."

He noted that there is some chance of having the addition in use "before the cold weather begins," in November or December of 1965. If not, the completion date will be some time in the late spring or early summer, Bender stated.

A board comment was that "we have about one chance in 10 of meeting the earlier date."

Tuition Aid Plan A Sensible Idea

New Jersey has been moving slowly but gradually toward solving its grave shortage of facilities for higher education. A part of this effort is the proposed county college system which would be financed by our 21 counties with some assistance from the state.

County colleges are designed to help meet the challenge of an exploding population. This year, tidal waves of high school graduates will be heading for our colleges and universities but New Jersey is in no position to help many of them.

A college education has been a cherished dream—and often a reality—for a high percentage of our Union County citizens. Our college-conscious area sent nearly twice as many high school graduates on to college as the average for the entire United States. This interest in college education reflects the kind of area in which we live—an area rich in highly trained men and women. Our citizens want and support the best in education for their children.

It is estimated that 40,000 New Jersey high school graduates will seek college admission in September, but New Jersey will have room in all its public and private institutions for only 14,000. Even if half the Jersey students could gain admission to out-of-state colleges, there would still be 6,000 or more qualified graduates with no place to go.

Union County is fortunate in having a fine teacher training institution in Newark State College, Union, which is rapidly expanding and heading towards a liberal arts orientation. We also have a fine two-year institution, Union Junior College, Cranford. It is obvious that these two institutions cannot now or any time in the future handle all the young people in Union County who want and need college educations.

In Union County we have a ready-made solution to help ease the crisis for our young people. We can work with our non-profit, independent Union Junior College, as proposed by an advisory committee named by the Union County Board of Freeholders. The tuition aid plan proposed by the committee is a sensible, economical way for Union County to assist its college-bound students. It would provide $400 to each Union County resident who is admitted to Union Junior College. The county would provide $200 annually and the state a similar amount.

Studies made by competent authorities indicate that Union County will have to play a larger role in the future if all qualified young men and women are to receive a college education, and 1965 may well be the critical year.

Zoning

in July on March 4, 1963.

The case was heard before the Board of Adjustment on March 19, 1963, he said, and the application was recommended for approval to the Township Committee. The Committee remanded the application back to the board, he noted. In April, 1963, giving recommendations that be met before approval would be granted.

Additional public hearings were held on the case on May 21, 1963, de Hagara said; the variance was given recommended by the board for approval, and the application was approved by the Committee on June 11.

"All of the stipulations were understood by the applicant," de Hagara said, "and the applicant said they would be met."

He said there was "ample reason in the testimony for the board to find 'positive reasons.'"

He said that the addition to the lodge would be an improvement and that the applicant had stipulated that it was not only planning construction of a shell for singing, but that the plans submitted showed other improvements, such as the installation of inside toilets to replace the existing "outhouses" and installation of new fire exits with "panic doors." He said that 3,200 square feet of buildings on the property, were to be removed, while the addition would be 1,300 square feet.

United 38 Years
"The United Singers have been singing there for 38 years," de Hagara said, "I believe that granting of the application can be in keeping with the nature of the area."

Weinberg countered that while the United Singers owned the property, it had been leased in 1954 to James Brescia and was used largely for commercial purposes.

"Taking the testimony of the applicant," Weinberg said, "the United Singers of Newark does use the premises all day a year." He said that Brescia had testified that under the lease the singers "got one free picnic a year."

At other times, Weinberg said, they would lease like any other else. "It would seem," he said, "that the applicant has vacated and the lease controls."

He emphasized that the area is residential and that 300 to 400 single family homes have been constructed in the neighborhood since its zone change in 1954.

In other action, the board received a brief from Harding Brown of Elizabeth attorney for Villa Contracting Co., which has applied for a special exception to construct a nursing home in an S60 Zone on Morris Ave.

The application was brought before the board at last month's meeting and was not heard pending determination of the legality of construction of a "private" nursing home by special exception in such a zone. Brown was asked to submit the brief before the board would hear the case.

According to Molter, decisions on both the Evergreen Lodge matter and the Villa application might be heard at a special meeting early next month or at the regular board meeting on the third Tuesday. I can't say just when we will reach the decisions," he added.

Report From Trenton

by State Senator Nelson F. Stenier (R-U.)

Each year there is introduced to the legislature more than 1,000 bills, and this has been going on for sometime.

This past year, 1964 - 673 bills and resolutions were introduced to the Assembly and 449 introduced in the Senate, making a total of more than 1,300. At this point about 240 of these have become law, and I am informed that a higher percentage of bills which are introduced here in New Jersey eventually become law than in most states around the country.

Some bills have been introduced into both Houses for more than 10 years, and while their sponsors believe them to be the most important pieces of legislation, it appears as though the constant introduction has not caught on. All of us in the legislature have pet topics and subjects—and it is always interesting to determine the source of the introduction of these bills.

Not long ago I introduced a bill on behalf of the Union County Park Commission which would give them the right to increase their bonded indebtedness in order to extend their capital construction. Though the bill was introduced and eventually passed both Houses it apparently has struck some difficulty in being signed by the Governor.

Most of our citizens do not realize that the Governor does not really look into bills unless there is a demand made upon him by either House.

Now that the legislature has opened the Governor has 45 days from Jan. 12 to sign any of the bills which have passed—before they die.

Schramm stated, "Important projects for the year include a stepped-up drive for membership, amplifying the activities of the three divisions of the chamber. They are professional, merchants and industrial."

"The Chamber expects to continue in its work for the beautification and modernization of our streets, commercial areas—in fact, the whole town."

Other activities will include the continuation of the fall dinner dance and the annual general meeting.

The general meeting is to be held on Feb. 10, at Saks Fifth Avenue. Chamber business will be integrated with the program of entertainment.

Hart Found Guilty Of Attack On Cop Captain Finds Adventure On The Seven Seas

Ryart Hart, 19, of 236 Milltown rd., Springfield, faces sentencing in Union County Court Feb. 11 for assault and battery on Springfield Patrolman Richard Elin.

The youth was found guilty on the charge last Thursday in Union County Court by Judge W. Fillmore Wood. He and a co-defendant had been indicted for assault and battery after an attack on the patrolman. Elin had told them to move while they were talking to occupants of a parked car in a restricted parking area of the township.

Assistant Prosecutor Leslie P. Glick represented the state, and Reginald Creighton of Newark appeared for Hart.

Isley In Coast Guard

Electronics Technician Third Class Alan R. Isley, USCG, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Isley of 30 Colfax rd., Springfield, has been selected recently to attend the Third Coast Guard District's Leadership Program at Sandy Hook.

By BEA SMITH

Adventure, travel and the exciting life of the sea may fill the day-dreams of many city inhabitants, whose only adventures may be brief, unexpected occurrences — whose only travel may be to and from the office — and whose only excitement may be derived from watching a TV show or reading a newspaper article or magazine story.

But to one particular Springfield inhabitant, adventure, travel and the exciting life of the sea are all part of a dream come true. They are as real and as frequent to him as his morning cup of coffee.

Charles E. Reilly of 50 S. Springfield ave. dreamed a dream when he was a young boy back in East Orange. So, when he was graduated from Essex County Vocational he set aside his books of the sea and took a job as a deck boy with American Export Line in New York.

Today, he is known as Capt. Reilly, commander of the American Export liner, Independence, a 26,000-ton passenger ship.

amphibious operations, where he saw plenty of action.

"It was in the early days of the war," he recalled, "and we were involved overseas in the North African invasion. We had to get the troops ashore when we invaded North Africa. The ship was hit and we lost 16 men."

Capt. Reilly explained that he "spent the rest of the war in the Pacific." He commanded the Chilton, the Bolaber and the Gen. John Pope — which, incidentally, is still an operating Navy transport.

MAP OF ADVENTURE — Capt. Charles E. Reilly of 50 S. Springfield ave., Springfield, works assiduously in cabin aboard ship on plans for his next far-away cruise. Capt. Reilly, who has been a man of the sea for more than 38 years, is commander of the 26,000 ton American Export-liner, Independence.

When the war was over, Capt. Reilly returned to American Export Lines.

In 1950, the born seaman took a wife, the former Anne Wagner of Irvington, and they moved to Springfield. Mrs. Reilly has had to ride with the turbulent waves of change and absence of her seafaring husband.

"Our trips vary," Capt. Reilly said, "from 19 to 23 days. And the ship's longest stay in New York is for about 50 hours. That is, except for one dry-dock period of 20 days — which we are having at this time. They paint and refurbish her to get her ready for the next year."

"Actually," he explained, "we do get 90 days a year for vacation. Not all at once, of course; still, let's face it — 90 days!"

"Anne, by this time, of course, is pretty well accustomed to this life."

THE CAPTAIN'S WIFE, a lovely, patient and sympathetic woman gives the appearance of being accustomed to the life — except when the sea becomes overwhelmingly rough.

For example, this past New Year's Eve, Capt. Reilly and 1,612 passengers and crewmen spent a terrifying New Year's Eve on the Independence, rolling and sweeping over the angry waters of the North Atlantic during a raging storm.

"We were on our way home from a 22-day cruise of the Canary Islands, when we ran into a very heavy northwesterly gale. We were getting the high winds by 10 p.m. New Year's Eve. Prior to that, we were having a wonderful New Year's Eve party."

The captain explained that by 1:30 a.m. on New Year's Day, the sea was really getting heavy. Sixty-foot waves smashed into the pitching liner, which was 530 miles southeast of New York. Bringing the ship to a standstill for more than 30 hours, the captain headed the bow into the waves at about two knots to keep the ship from turning sideways into the troughs between the waves.

According to news reports, portholes on upper decks were smashed. The waves ripped open a weather door, 15 of the 807 passengers were bruised and a crewman was hurled across a deck suffering a dislocated ankle.

WHEN THE SHIP docked a day late, Capt. Reilly told newsmen, "The storm was as bad as anything I've seen in 38 years at sea."

Capt. Reilly indicated that he had encountered rough weather on the Mediterranean "any number of times."

"If you get a good northwesterly or northwestern, that's what piles the sea up. You see, it builds the sea slowly. The center moves very slowly and just builds up a mountain of sea. It isn't like a tornado or cyclone. But you only get that in the North Atlantic," he said. "And that covers a large area — about 1,100 miles."

One of the captain's few hobbies is reading books on the sea. "But I get very little chance to do that now."

"Whenever I get home from a cruise, I have a lot of catching up and socializing to do."

The Reillys, were, in fact, getting ready to go out "socializing" at the conclusion of the interview.

The New Year's Eve storm story, as told by the captain, caused this reporter to become somewhat seasick. Didn't he become slightly uncomfortable when the cruiser heaved and rolled for so many hours on that black sea?

Capt. Reilly grinned. "Take my word for it. I've never been seasick a day in my life."

WRIGHT SEEKING GOP NOMINATION FOR FREEHOLDER

Henry S. Wright of 53 Colfax rd., Springfield, has filed his petition as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Union County freeholder. Elections will take place next November. He has also filed to serve another term as Republican district leader in Springfield's fourth district.

A consistent critic of Republican administrations in the county courthouse as well as in the Municipal Building here, Wright filed his freeholder petition under the label, "Regular Republican Organization." He noted that, with 100 signatures required, he presented 148 names, including 40 from Springfield.

Please Color Them Ambitious Picture Books Urge N. J. Income Tax

More than 200 members of the League of Women Voters from all parts of New Jersey are expected to make a "Tax Trek to Trenton" on Monday.

They will bear a special gift for their state legislators — one which they usually reserve for their children — a brand new coloring book. Mrs. Stephen

Beno, local League president has expressed the hope that a Springfield contingent will participate.

She added, "The coloring book is specially designed for New Jersey's citizens and the state senators and assemblymen who have been reluctant to respond to a call which the League of Women Voters and other groups have been issuing for several years."

"This is the call for a state income tax to provide more revenues for schools, institutions, roads and other state services."

BILLED AS the "most sophisticated coloring book on the market," this one has such illustrations as a man dreaming that someone is offering him a severed head.

The text says "This is a N.J. legislator dreaming of solving New Jersey's problems. He's sure if he does what he should, the voters will hand him his head. Color the legislator 'shrinking violet.' Color the nightmare a myth. Send him a letter to reassure him."

The League women, many wearing special hats and badges, plan to present Gov. Richard J. Hughes with 11 coloring books — one for each of his 10 children, and one to be his very own. The presentation will take place in his office at 2 p.m. on Monday.

"Governor Hughes may not need to be reminded of all the critical areas that are crying for attention in New Jersey, but he will be delivering his budget message to the Legislature in another week, and we want to be sure he has not forgotten where we stand," says Mary Louise Nuelson of Englewood, president of the League of Women Voters of New Jersey.

LAST YEAR Governor Hughes proposed a state income tax, which the League of Women Voters has been suggesting for many years as the most equitable tax that would provide sufficient revenue to solve New Jersey's problems.

League women who number 9,200 in 87 communities will also be giving out their coloring books on main streets and in shopping centers all over the state this week.

In an effort to "participate effectively in this important campaign," the Springfield League of Women Voters will distribute the New Jersey Coloring Book in the General Greene shopping center and to all residents attending the Board of Education candidates night at the Gaudineer School on Monday, according to Mrs. Charles Danziger, tax chairman.

OUR DEADLINE is noon Friday for organization, social, church news.

Members of the congregation or those in the community interested in this type of sacred music are invited to share in its presentation by being present on Thursday evenings in the Trivett Room of the Christian Education Building located at Academy green and Main st. in Springfield.

Ask Amy
 BY AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy: This may be hard for you to believe, but it's true. My husband has a beautiful head of hair that he loves dearly. He has bought every preparation available to keep it from falling out. Before he goes to bed at night, he asks if I've brushed his hair for him. I usually stand by the mirror for about a half hour and set waves in it. Then he puts on a skull cap and sleeps that way so it won't get matted.

It's nice to be a good neighbor, but you're too good—for your own good. Refresh their memory and recall the loans. Do it quick. If they get to your pants, you're in trouble!

Dear Amy: I've never written a letter before asking advice but I guess there is always a first time for everything. My wife and I play bridge once a week with my boss and his wife. It has been a standing date for years. I used to enjoy playing but lately my wife and I can't seem to get it off as bridge partners. Invariably my wife and I have an argument all the way home because she feels I didn't play well enough. My boss looks forward to our date so I don't want to tell him that we can't play anymore. How can we continue these "bridge games" and at the same time avoid arguing?

Dear Amy: A husband and wife can get along nicely as life partnership they can avoid being bridge partners. It's time for a change bridge partners, that is. Team up with the boss' wife. It will make for a better game and fewer arguments.

Dear Wendy: I think it's a scream, but let him enjoy himself. In this day and age we are all worried about "Fall Out." His might be the case of "Hair Today, Gone Tomorrow!"

Tuition-Aid Plan For Union Junior To Be Requested

The Union County College Opportunity Committee tonight is expected to ask the Board of Freeholders to establish a county-financed tuition aid plan for county residents attending Union Junior College, Cranford, the committee announced.

On Jan. 7, the freeholders unanimously adopted a resolution asking the State Aid Department to "reserve" $35,000 in state aid in the expectation that the county will authorize a tuition aid plan for its residents who attend Union Junior.

The plan was recommended last year by an advisory committee appointed by the Board of Freeholders. The committee's report proposed that Union County should utilize Union Junior to the fullest extent by granting assistance to county residents who attend there.

Former Assemblyman James M. McGowan and former Assistant Prosecutor Richard P. Muscatello, co-chairmen of the opportunity, said they are gratified by the freeholders' action.

Thanks Workers In TB-Seals Drive

A message of appreciation to the many volunteers who helped make possible the 1964 Christmas Seal campaign was issued by Newton J. Rodgers, chairman of the Christmas Seal Committee of the Union County Tuberculosis and Health League.

Rodgers cited the hundreds who aided the preparatory phases, the many groups and individuals who took care of publicizing the Christmas Seal Campaign while it was at its height, and to those who are helping now in the final months.

"I also wish to thank those who have contributed thus far to voluntary agency program to combat tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases," Rodgers said. "The resurgence of tuberculosis and the rapid rise in emphysema cases are just two facets of the continuing problems we are attacking each year with the funds made available to us by these contributors. I do hope we will hear from many more people before we make our final decision on budget allocations for the various programs we believe we should conduct in our area for 1965."

Hahne Head Lauded For 32-Year Leadership

"Fashion, good taste and friendliness" are the key words that stress the merchandise and services at Hahne & Company stores, Jack Millar, advertising manager of the company told a group of Union County residents recently.

Speaking specifically about the company's Westfield store, Millar gave major credit for its policies to Junior C. Buck, president of Hahne & Co. who had in 1933 brought the Newark store to a standard of excellence and carried and rebuilt it to its former place of leadership in New Jersey.

Noting that Buck assumed leadership of the company during the days of the depression, Millar said: "He set up certain standards to be achieved as soon as possible. One was a return to, and enlargement of, fine fashions, both in women's, men's and children's wearing apparel — and in furniture and furnishings for the home."

"New markets were invaded, scrupulous attention was devoted to searching out those designers whose forte was the creation of wearing apparel and accessories of good, tasteful design — the kind of fashions that men and women of New Jersey like. The kind of fashions that are simple in design, rich in appearance and always in the best of taste."

"The second standard was quality — the finest quality available at the price, whatever the price. And Mr. Buck made it clear that although the price range of merchandise to be carried by the store was from the middle to the higher price brackets, yet in those ranges Hahne & Company's prices on identical merchandise would be the same or lower than other stores. This standard of being competitive on prices for identical merchandise is one that is just as diligently adhered to today as in 1933.

"The third standard was friendliness — he wanted his store to be a pleasant place to stop — a pleasant place to work, I believe," he said, "that probably the best test of whether or not his emphasis on friendliness has borne fruit is answered by the fact that so many of our customers today refer to Hahne & Company as 'the store with the friendly spirit.'"

Millar said he believed that the true test of the philosophy of the company could be judged "by the fact that Hahne & Company has been so well supported by customers over recent years — and here in Westfield the last year and a half."

Alluding to the people of the area Millar said: "They've turned out to be the friendliest folks we've met anywhere. We've enjoyed every moment we've been here."

He said that the majority of the employees of the Westfield store live in the town or in the adjacent communities.

Emphasizing that the company likes suggestions from its customers, Millar said, "that the company has listened to and profited by listening to the ideas provided to them by area residents."

Noting that Hahne & Company is a division of Associated Dry Goods Corp. of which Lord & Taylor is also a division, Millar emphasized that each division is "completely autonomous."

"Each store makes its own policies which are adapted to the areas where they are and the people they serve. We get no ironclad policies from the home office that have to be followed to the letter — we're not a chain that does exactly what New York or Chicago tells it to. We're all people who live in New Jersey and will stay in New Jersey — we're part of it and we are proud and very happy about it." The Westfield store at 809 North ave. draws customers from the communities in and beyond Union county.

Hahne & Company, Millar stressed, "has one of the finest reputations among the finest department stores in the county."

Noting that six years ago Hahne & Company celebrated its 100th anniversary, Millar said: "We used as our slogan, 'Beginning our second 100 years of quality and good taste.'"

Authorities 'Pleased' With 'Alien Response'

Dominick F. Rinaldi, district director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service is "well pleased" with the response of aliens in this state to address report requirements. The program has been underway for 20 days and the number reporting thus far is well ahead of the number reporting for the same period last year, he said.

Rinaldi reminded non-citizens who have not reported their address this year, to do so within the next week. Alien address report forms are available at all post offices and offices of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, he said.

The way in which the immortality of life becomes a reality for every individual will be explored in the lesson-sermon at all Christian Science services this Sunday. The subject is "Life," and it is keyed to the Golden Text from Galatians 6:22: "He that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting."

The theme is amplified by this passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Being is holiness, harmony, immortality. It already proved that a knowledge of this, even in small degree, will uplift the physical, and moral standard of mortals, will increase longevity, will purify and elevate character. Thus progress will finally destroy all error, and bring 'immortality to light' (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 492).

Kiley Again At Reins Of Kiwanis Division

Joseph F. Kiley Sr. was installed for his second term as lieutenant governor for the 10th Division-New Jersey District of Kiwanis International in ceremonies which took place yesterday at the Robert Treat Hotel, Newark.

Kiley, who two weeks ago had the honor of installing his son, Robert, as the 20th president of the Union Kiwanis Club, will serve in his present capacity during the 50th anniversary year of the founding of Kiwanis International.

Kiley is a charter member of the Union Kiwanis Club and served as its third president in 1948, the year the township group earned an achievement award. The Key Club for high school students was also begun during Kiley's presidency.

As Kiwanis lieutenant governor, he has jurisdiction over nine clubs in the area and also will serve as a member of the Kiwanis state board. Among his duties during the 50th year of the international organization will be his attendance at the International Convention to be held in New York in July.

Those clubs under Kiley's supervision are the organizations of Summit, Millburn-Springfield, Hillside, Union, Elizabeth, Elmora, Cranford, Mountainside and Roselle-Roselle Park.

A veteran of 42 years with the Prudential Insurance Co., Newark, Kiley serves as the firm's director of district agencies in the northern New Jersey region. He has charge of 14 district offices which employ 800 men.

Kiley and his wife are the parents of four—the younger Kileys are Joseph Jr., Robert, Richard and Mrs. Dale Strand of New York. There are also 10 grandchildren. Kiley lives at 1818 Berkshire dr., Union.

Vale School Has 'SAT' Prep Course

Carl Straus, director of the Vale School, 15 Hill st., Newark, has announced that the Vale College Entrance Examination Preparatory Course for the March 6 Scholastic Aptitude Test (S.A.T.) will start on Saturday, Jan. 30.

Straus said that competition to enter college has become so keen, that colleges, in increasing numbers, require applicants to take College Board Examinations to enable college admissions officers to make a better selection.

The Vale Course, according to Straus, will provide a review in basic math and verbal skills and examine the contents of typical tests, with emphasis on the development of a time-tested technique for taking the examination.

Publicity chairman and individuals are urged to observe the Friday deadline of this newspaper for other than spot news. Thursday is even better. Include your name, address and phone number.
