No Aspirants File For Race To Join Town Committee

Del Vecchio Defers Comment On Plans; Planer Not Certain

Springfield's crystal ball remained full of smog this week as the April 22 deadline neared for the filing of petitions by candidates who intend to run in the June 1 primary elections for places on the ballot next November.

With two seats on the Township Committee to be filled this year, the race is still completely devoid of hats. Spokesmen for both parties declared that selection of candidates will be the usual long of business at meetings this week.

Both the filing deadline and the date for the primary elections could well be changed, as a result of the current deadlock over reapportionment of the state legislators. With the legislators facing a court order to reapportion in primaries can be held unless the candidates and voters know how many legislators are to be named from each county.

The two Township Committees whose terms expire this year are Philip Del Vecchio and Robert G. Planer. Both are Republicans.

Del Vecchio declined to comment on his own candidacy in any manner until the Republican Municipal Committee meets on Wednesday to plan for the elections. He is also chairman of the party municipal group and, in that capacity, stated that no decisions had yet been reached.

Planer disclosed that he has "serious doubts and reservations about running again," but that he had not yet reached a firm decision concerning another trip to the starting gate. Planer has indicated that business pressures were the principal reason for his uncertainty.

Court Commends Township Police For Procedures

The conduct of Springfield police in applying proper search and seizure procedures in the apprehension of an alleged robber last fall was strongly praised last week by United States District Judge Carroll W. Hopkins.

Judge Hopkins, in Elizabeth, denied a defense motion to throw out evidence against Frank N. Campolo, 19, of Roselle Park, who was charged with robbery and attempted larceny.

Master Plan Has Few Surprises

Mrs. Andrews, Mrs. Waldorf Will Direct Cancer Crusaders

Mrs. Lee L. Andrews Jr. of 460 Meisel ave. and Mrs. Fred Waldorf of 301 Milltown rd. have been reappointed chairman and co-chairman, respectively, of the 1965 Springfield Cancer Crusade. Their appointments were announced this week in a joint statement by Herbert W. Sam-one to do his part in the fight against cancer by "putting a generous contribution in the collection envelope when it comes to your house." She noted that the disease will eventually strike some 48,000,000 Americans now living, according to present rates.

"All of us, either directly or indirectly, will be touched by this dreaded disease and therefore we should all do our part to bring the day closer when we can claim victory over cancer," Mrs. Andrews explained.

During her long affiliation with the American Cancer Society, Mrs. Andrews has served on the Union County Chapter's board of managers and led the Springfield Cancer Crusade. An active worker in Girl Scout Troop 274 of St. James Church, Mrs. Andrews is chairman of the drama department of the Springfield Woman's Club and is the secretary of the Springfield Fourth of July Committee.

Mrs. Waldorf, who is active in several community organizations, has been associated with the American Cancer Society for several years and, in 1964, served as co-chairman of the local drive.

Leap, Don't Look, To Register Now For Town Pool

With the Springfield swimming pool membership lists opened to the general public last Thursday, registration has been heavier than anticipated. The largest registration yet recorded for a single week was accomplished last week at the Recreation Department.

At this printing, only a few memberships remain. All those who have not yet joined and wish to do so were officially advised to register now. Anybody who is waiting until the warmer months will find the membership list closed. The Recreation Department is limited by ordinance to take only the first 5,500 who apply.

Those registered now should come directly to the Recreation office in Town Hall bringing a check or money order for the one-offing dues. Family dues are $60, single dues are $30, and senior citizens' dues are $15.

Concert To Offer Indigenous Music By Existentialists

The Student Council of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, is again this year sponsoring a hootenanny, to be staged tomorrow night at the high school. The event will feature professional college and high school folk performers from Plainfield, Elizabeth, Paterson, Berkeley Heights and Springfield.

"Hootenanny: Folk Music '65" will begin at 8:15 p.m. tomorrow in the boys gym at Dayton Regional. A crowd of over 500 is expected by the sponsors. Tickets will be $1, and proceeds will be used for Student Council scholarships awarded to graduating seniors at the school.

Headlining the program will be the Piedmont Belt Bucklers, a bluegrass group from Rutgers. Bluegrass is a lively blend of Southern mountain music and popular country and western. The PBB features Larry Cohen on banjo and Al Hewitt on mandolin.

Also performing will be "Springer" Dave Gershen, a blues singer and guitarist from Springfield. Dave will be accompanied by Doug Scroff on the harmonica.

No New Report On Navy Flyer Missing Over North Viet Nam

Mrs. and Mrs. George S. Vohden of 321 Minute Arms rd., Union, continue to pray for the safety of their son, Cmdr. Raymond A. Vohden, 34, who was reported missing in action Saturday in the first aerial combat of the Viet Nam conflict.

Cmdr. Vohden, a former football and wrestling champion at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, was listed as missing in action Sunday upon a 600-foot suspension bridge and power station at Thanh Hoa. His superior jet was shot down in the first clash between U.S. and Viet planes.

Home radio is reported to have said that North Vietnamese militiamen at Thanh Hoa Province captured two U.S. pilots on Apr. 4 and another on Apr. 4. The plane was not identified.

Proposals Listed For Development In Next 20 Years

May 27 Date Slated For Public Hearing; 4 Seminars Planned

Springfield's long-awaited master plan for future development, which was unveiled by the Planning Board at its meeting last Thursday night, contained few surprises but many suggestions for the future growth of the township.

The first center of outgrowth appears to be the proposed expansion of municipal library facilities in the present location, as part of a detailed plan for redevelopment of the downtown business district.

The board announced that a public hearing on the Master Plan will be held May 27 at the Florence Gaudineer School. The plan will also be the subject of four less formal "seminars" at Poplar Hill April 22 and 29 and May 13 and 20.

Board members stressed that the Master Plan will not have the effect of law and is not an amendment of the present zoning ordinance.

It is rather a plan for the future, designed to serve as a policy guide for the Planning Board for the next 20 years, they declared.

The planners proposed that the remaining vacant land bordering Rt. 42 should be designated as a transition zone between the intensive activities along the highway and the one-family character of adjoining areas.

The plan stressed maintenance of the "low density character" of the residential areas, but stated that a variety of housing types should be available in Springfield, which will permit a family during the various phases of family life-cycle to find suitable housing within the community.

The Master Plan stated, "A better quality of development is needed along Rt. 22, instead of marginal development further eastward, which has fostered dangerous traffic conditions, congestion and an unstable and unsightly type of growth."

The planners urged that "commercial development be limited only to the west-bound side of Rt. 22. Development along the east-bound side should only be permitted when provided for in a planned, integrated shipping area, as provided, for example, by the Polo Plaza."

Highway Official To Present Talk To Service Clubs

Transportation problems of the state in general and the latest plans of the New Jersey Highway Department for the Springfield area in particular will be the topic of a state-highway official tomorrow evening at the annual inter-club meeting of local service organizations.

The meeting will be held at the Mountside Inn, Rt. 22, beginning at 6 p.m. In attendance will be members of the Springfield Rotary and Lions Clubs and the Millburn-Springfield Kiwanis Club. The Kiwanians are the host group for this year's affair.

Guest speaker will be Raymond B. Dasch of the community relations office of the New Jersey Highway Department. His talk will deal primarily with the most recent plans for Interstate Rt. 78 and the new Rt. 24, a state road, as they pass through this community.

Dasch has been associated with the highway department for the past four years as a member of its public information and community relations office. He is a graduate of Syracuse University and attended the Urban Studies Center at Rutgers University as a Ford Foundation fellow.

Springfield Raises Blood Bank Credits

The Springfield Blood Bank credits were raised to 151 bins last week when 77 persons donated at St. James School.

Mrs. Robert C. Laurencelle, some 42 volunteers contributed 137 hours of their time to the Red Cross blood drive.

Those who aren't scheduled to donate blood will contribute later, she said.

Mr. Thomas Doherty was chairman of the volunteers, and Mrs. Daniel D. Kalam was nurses' chairman. Mrs. Evelyn Kaye headed the canteen workers, and Mrs. David Weinstein was in charge of the Red Cross Motor corps, which provided transportation.

Mrs. Glattstein, Senior Citizen, 71

Mrs. Lottie Glattstein, 71, of 21 Janet Ln., Springfield, wife of the late Dr. Isidore J. Glattstein, died on Saturday, March 27, 1965. She was born in New York City. Dr. and Mrs. Glattstein had resided in Bridgeport, Conn. since 1918, where Dr. Glattstein had practiced dentistry, before they moved to Springfield, in 1959.

Mrs. Glattstein was a member of the Sisterhood and the Congregation of Rodef Shalom, of Bridgeport, and Women's American O.R.T. and Bridgeport Chapter of Hadassah. In Springfield, she was a member of the Springfield Senior Citizens League and chairman of the Senior Citizens of Temple Beth-Ahm.

Mrs. Glattstein is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Natalie F. Goldstein, of Springfield; two grandchildren, Barbara Joy and David Lee Goldstein, and three sisters, Mrs. Tessie Kaufman, of Forest Hills, N. Y., and Mrs. Ruth Sgrasser and Mrs. Caroline Strauss, both of New York City.

Funeral services were conducted on Monday, March 29, 1965 at the Raymond A. Lantierman and Son Funeral Home, Morristown.

Rabbi Israel S. Dresner, of Temple Sharey Shalom, Springfield, officiated and interment was at Riverside Cemetery, Rochelle Park.

OUR DEADLINE is noon Friday for organization, club, social, church news.

Symbolic Portrayal Planned For Easter

A graphic and symbolic portrayal of the resurrection of Christ will be the highlight of the Easter morning service in St. John's Lutheran Church, Summit. With a 12-foot cross at the center, the two sides of the chancel will be decorated with ancient resurrection symbols.

The Easter reminders will remain on the walls of the church until Pentecost, June 6. The Rev. Richard Lee Peterman, pastor, said he received the idea for the portrayal from a Romanian princess.

Two Autos Damaged

Cars driven by Ursula Utley, 53, of Jersey City, and Jennie Fabrizio, 46, of Orange, were damaged Sunday evening when they were involved in a collision at Morris and Ballustron avenues. Springfield police reported this week. Police said no one was injured.

Hospital Offers Help In Finding Doctors

St. Barnabas Medical Center, Livingston, this week announced that it maintains a list of physicians on its staff who are available to use the services of local physicians in an emergency.

Residents were advised by the hospital to call its emergency room at 992-5500 in case of emergencies. The statement added that personnel, beds and equipment are available at St. Barnabas for any emergency at any time of the day or night.

Police Chief Wilbur C. Selander commented that the need for emergency medical service has not constituted a major problem in Springfield, particularly for people who have a family physician in the area.

The crises which arise usually affect families who still use doctors in towns where they formerly lived, Selander added. He advised families in Springfield to use the services of local physicians.

Criticize Treatment Of Chicks, Ducklings

"Appalling" is the term applied to the treatment of Easter chicks and ducklings by Don R. Maxfield, Executive Director of The Humane Society of the United States, New Jersey Branch, Inc.

Each year these helpless creatures are left outside in freezing weather and abandoned in public parks with mangled limbs and bodies. Others are smothered to death by pneumonia, are kicked to death, thrown like a flubber ball, torn limb from limb by the family cat or dog, or are squashed when they get under the feet of a forgetful member of the family," Maxfield said. The Humane Society Director said that 95 percent of these appalling little animals are either dead or abandoned within two weeks after purchase.

"Many people mean well, but they either do not know how to care for the little animals, or else they find it too much trouble after the 'just born' cuteness is gone. People simply do not visualize the suffering in-store, especially when their intentions are so good," Maxfield said.

Director suggested that a proper brooder house be secured prior to purchase of the birds and that a responsible adult in the family assume the care of the animals.

Let us remember that Easter and Passover are seasons to celebrate deliverance from death and suffering, not a period to promote, cruelly," Maxfield said.

Mississippi 'Order' Is 'Sham,' Says Rights Lawyer At UJC

The new image of law and order in Mississippi is a sham, says a lawyer who is working with the Freedom Democratic Party to unseat the five Mississippi members in the House of Representatives, told a college hour program at Union Junior College.

Duffy charged that Gov. Paul Johnson in January called for a period of law and order especially during the next six months when the attorneys would be fighting to unseat the Mississippi delegation in the House of Representatives.

"The drive to get depositions has been of great benefit to the Negroes in Mississippi, because for the first time they saw white men argue and fight for the Negro. It has had a tremendous impact on attitudes of the Negroes, which has begun to change," Duffy said at the program held last Thursday.

The Pennsylvania attorney said he was one of 150 lawyers from around the United States, including some from the South, who came to the aid of the Freedom Democratic Party early this year.

"We organized the largest law firm in the county of 150 lawyers who went to Mississippi at their own expense. We operated in all 82 counties. And this was the first time this was ever done throughout the entire state," Duffy said.

The speaker said the attorneys found that the lawyers in Mississippi "didn't know how to defend segregation because they always operated within that system."

Plans Discussed For Senior Week

The Union County Committee for Senior Citizens Week and last week in the senior citizens center in Elizabeth. The program is scheduled for the week of May 22 and 23.

The committee has sent letters to the President and Gov. Richard J. Hughes requesting that May 22 and 23 be declared "Senior Citizens' Week" as a time to recognize the social and spiritual contributions of our senior citizens.

The committee will also sponsor a poster contest in schools throughout the county. The posters will be displayed in store windows during Senior Citizens Week. A hobby show will also be held May 21 in the YWCA in Elizabeth.

Army ROTC Program To Be Topic At UJC

The U.S. Army's new ROTC program for graduates of two-year colleges will be discussed at a college hour program today at 1 p.m. in the theater of Union Junior College's Campus Center.

Under the new program, a graduate of a two-year college can join the ROTC and earn a commission upon graduation from a four-year college or university by attending a six-week summer training program between his sophomore and junior years.

MacKay To Speak

Dr. Kenneth C. MacKay, president of Union Junior College, Cranford, will be the principal speaker at the annual meeting of the North Jersey Purchasing Agents Association, on Wednesday evening in the Essex House Hotel, Newark. "Higher Education in New Jersey—the Next Decade" will be Dr. MacKay's topic.

19th General Assembly Lowered Prestige Of U.N.

The United Nations does not seem the same. The prestige button has been pushed the wrong way, and a certain spirit is gone. It stems from the 19th session of the General Assembly which was a tight from Article 19—and barely more. In a normal session of the General Assembly, which would generally run from September to December, about 100 items would be considered with resolutions passed on many; there would be voting and debating on issues and a large amount of business would be dealt with. The 19th session on the other hand, began belatedly in December, recessed, met and is now again in recess. It accomplished nothing more than the absolute minimum amount of business required for the continued functioning of the United Nations organization.

The Assembly's occupation with avoiding formal debates and formal voting was to prevent a possible head-on clash of the United States and the Soviet Union over the matter of Moscow's failure to pay peace-keeping dues which are over two years old. Article 19 of the United Nations charter states that a nation which is more than two years in arrears is subject to losing its vote in the General Assembly. Russia has said that it may walk out of the United Nations if it loses its vote.

In order to avoid this mish-mash which might become a moister if faced, the 19th Session of the General Assembly looked the other way and pretended it wasn't there.

Someone said it was a meeting of non-voting, non-working nonsense. I hated to hear it and so did almost everyone else. But it might be true.

The feeling at the United Nations headquarters runs to heartfelt, and even wincing disappointment. Almost everyone—in an off-the-record response, will voice a wish for a better showing. Practically no one wants to see the United Nations fade or diminish or lose its value but it seems to be doing just that for itself. For some unaccountable reason the GA seemed proud of itself for having avoided a vote—almost as though it were too close to the forest to see the trees—yet all it really succeeded in doing was to give men of thought throughout the world grave concern and forebodings about the prestige and the continued effectiveness of the United Nations.

The poor 19th Session even began badly. When it finally met in December it already had been postponed twice, and for such reasons as the dues fiasco, the British elections, the American elections, etc. etc. etc.

It began to feel as though it would always be a reason and it would never meet. After all, something always is happening in the world. But finally it did meet.

Then it decided not to vote. This, of course, to avoid a possible clash between the Soviet Union and the United States over the dues question. But it appointed itself a president, considered membership of new nations and allotted some funds to the Secretary General for the necessary functioning of the United Nations—all without voting.

Then it recessed for the Christmas vacation. On its return January 18 it met for a month more doing little more. But towards its last days Albania asked for a vote on whether or not to continue the non-voting procedure the Assembly was following. This threw the meeting into a tizzy. And what happened? A vote was finally taken all right—but it was claimed that the "no-vote" procedure referred only to votes on "substantive" matters whereas the motion of the Albanian ambassador concerned only a "procedural" matter, so it was all right for the defaulters-on-payments to vote this time!

Anyway, the motion was defeated by 87 to 2 (Mauritania siding with Albania) and 13 abstentions. The new voting machines were not even used. It was a voice vote. And then the Assembly was quickly adjourned until September.

So perhaps it was non-voting, non-working nonsense. But can it be that September will bring all-voting, all-working alertness?

Picnic Areas Open Along Garden State

The earliest reopening of its roadside picnic areas in many a season was scheduled this week by the Garden State Parkway.

Vice-Chairman John B. Townsend of the New Jersey Highway Authority said its five picnic areas along the Parkway's sea-shore sections would be ready to serve the motoring public with full facilities from now on this season.

The Authority operates the toll road. At the same time, Commissioner Townsend reported the Authority was exploring the possibility of additional picnic sites along the 173-mile Parkway.

More than 50,000 motorists are estimated to have used the rustic roadside areas last season from April through October.

The picnic sites serve as rest areas as well as stopping places for informal outdoor eating. Each of the Authority's five picnic spots provide sanitary and drinking water facilities along with tables, benches and disposal barrels.

No fires are permitted at the Parkway picnic areas. This Authority's five Parkway picnic areas are Telegraph Hill Park at Milepost 116, northbound and southbound; Horbertsville at Milepost 94, southbound only; Polhemus at Milepost 87, northbound only; Oyster Creek at Milepost 72, northbound and southbound; and Stafford Forge at Milepost 50, northbound and southbound.

Ask Amy
 by AMY ADAMS

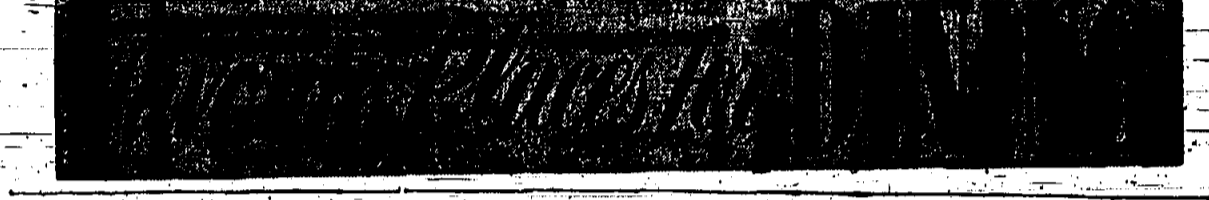

Dear Amy:
 My family adds up to seven. My husband works long hours to make our family's living. We meet our needs, but find it a constant struggle to keep above board all the time, and I'm sure most parents know what I mean. For me to work would cost more than it would profit at this time.
 Our junior-high daughter wants to wear nylons to school because the other girls do. Because college students are wearing bobby socks (and I checked on this), I forbid her this luxury. It's not the cost as much as I honestly feel it adds to delinquency. Girls are trying to grow up too fast before they are ready. We parents are responsible for what our daughters do.
 My daughter is allowed to wear nylons to church and parties. Recently, knowing it was forbidden, she wore nylons to school. Consequently, no nylons until Easter! Now an important school function is to take place. She is expected to be with her class and the girls will be wearing nylons. I know she resents my decision.
 My purpose for discipline is to influence my daughter in the right direction and to follow through when a family rule is broken. Am I being too strict? Beloved Mother and Dad—too.

Musical Season

The spring season of musical shows at the Paper Mill will open in three weeks with Edwin Steffe and Margot Moser in "The Most Happy Felia." The play will run for five weeks through May 23.
 Miss Moser was last seen at the Paper Mill in "Carnelot." Patricia Neway, remembered for her role as Mother Abbes in the Broadway run of "The Sound of Music," has just been added to the cast.
 The second musical of the season, "A Funny Thing Happened On The Way To The Forum," is being cast now. Jack Gilford will re-crede his original Broadway role and will handle the directing also. George Rose will assume the part played by Zero Mostel. The musical will run from May 25 through June 20.
Dear Amy:
 I am 11 years old and I am afraid to ask my mother any personal questions. Even though I am afraid, should I ask her anyway?
Afraid
Dear Afraid:
 Of course ask her, dear, and don't be frightened. The American Medical Assn. has five booklets they have made available to help parents answer the questions that young people ask. I'll be happy to inform your mother of them if she so desires.

DISCIPLINE AND PUNISHMENT
 Some people believe that discipline and punishment are the same and are used interchangeably.
 Discipline is teaching and training. It involves leading, shaping, and guiding behavior. It should be emphasized that discipline is desirable—a fact often overlooked.
 The goal of discipline is self-discipline, self-reliance. Its usefulness and reasonableness are accepted by children, and one step toward self-discipline has been accomplished.
 Punishment inflicts discomfort of the offender. It may be bodily pain, such as spanking or whipping. It may take the form of scolding, shaming or depriving the child of pleasures, such as going to bed without dessert.
 Fear is always connected with punishment: fear of pain and the fear of the loss of love, a deeper emotion than most adults realize. Punishment really works because it threatens the youngster's security—by fear. And its success depends on whether the fear will be remembered well enough to stop action the next time. The child thinks of himself as bad, because he wants to disobey, and weak, because he is afraid. He feels guilty and helpless.
 In order to be effective, punishment must be used with an understanding of why the crime is a crime, of what makes it undesirable. However, when both the parent and child genuinely understand (and that is discipline), the punishment usually is not needed.

Dear Amy:
 I have a good friend who is in the Navy. He and his girlfriend plan to be married next year. His girlfriend complains of being lonesome and bored with nothing to do. She even has gone as far as asking me to take her out.
 Do you think she has lost interest in her sailor boy? Should I take her out?
Good Friend
 I wouldn't advise you taking her out unless she asks her sailor for "out." Whether she has lost interest remains to be seen. It sounds to me like she wants to be wined and dined, needs a stealer and you're it. You can take it from there, Bubi!

With 18 years of travel-business experience, we can help you plan your perfect trip... by sea, by air, by land.

THE FEMININE LOOK

Commentary of a recent National Editorial Association Study Mission Around South America

By TRUDINA HOWARD

(Sixth of a Series)
RIO DE JANEIRO
I borrow a thought from a fellow traveler when I say it felt as though we were coming in from another world when we went from Brasilia to Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

Brasilia, after all, had been made-believe, hadn't it? But Rio was real.

The reaction by our National Editorial Association Study Mission Group which was touring South America, was wholesale, even from those who liked Brasilia. Everyone looked at Rio de Janeiro and said, "Ah, a REAL city!" Here was an old building and a new building, a crooked street and a straight street, a wide avenue and a narrow avenue, modern structures and classical structures, plainness and elegance, dirtiness and cleanliness, bad things and good things.

And it felt more natural, Rio also has grace and charm and heritage — which are missing ingredients in Brasilia.

It took an hour and 45 minutes to fly down to Rio from Brasilia in an Electra plane, and then we were encoined in a hotel right on the famous Copacabana Beach and our flirtation with Rio began.

That is just about how it is with Rio too, strangely enough. The city is exciting, it is frivolous, exasperating, serious and quite beautiful.

RIO WAS IN A STATE of gaiety when we arrived even though it was not yet Mardi Gras. It is celebrating its 400th year of founding this year and a celebration-a-month is the order. The day after our arrival was the actual founding day so on top of everything it was a holiday. But in the middle of the holiday Rio pulled a dark face and was exasperating. Heavy clouds rolled in and it was overcast for the remainder of our visit there. Consequently we could not see the Christ on the Mountain nor the view from Sugarloaf for our entire stay.

Of all places in South America to get a rainy, hazy spell, Rio is the most unfortunate. Sugarloaf, with its cable car side, or "aerial trolley" is 1,175 feet high and the view of the harbor and city is famous for its beauty. The state of Christ on Corcovado (meaning hunchback) Mountain, with its cog railroad to its top, is 2,329 feet high, and also offers a magnificent view, but not only from its summit, but from the city below. Besides all this, there is not just one Sugarloaf and one Corcovado mountain — there are dozens such hills scattered around and fringing the city, making a lovely scene too. So it is a shame to get fog in Rio and miss it all.

We caught one quick glimpse of the Christ Statue one night when the clouds rolled away for a brief moment. The monument is 100-foot tall, pure white and illuminated with flood lights at night so it can be seen from afar. This night there was something special about it too. Instead of the clouds rolling completely away, only a nightgown rolled away so that the statue alone appeared. Clouds were above it, below it and around it, so there in the night sky, seemingly floating in the heavens, was the beautiful white figure of Christ.

It was glorious. We never did get a view from Sugarloaf though, in spite of the fact that we took the cable car and rode up on it. All we did was ride into a cloud.

WE SAW A LOT on the ground however. Rio was a success despite the haze, and the men in her life are gallant and charming. One of the most charming and one of the most respected, is Brazil's Foreign Minister and former ambassador to Moscow, Vasco Leitao da Cunha. We were scheduled to meet with the Foreign Minister one afternoon, and when we arrived at the ministry offices we found ourselves in the Tamaraizy Palace, an old and beautifully kept building of great elegance. We went to the second floor up a broad, carpeted staircase to a rose and gold velvet room with large crystal chandeliers, oriental rug, gilded furniture and balconies at the windows. The quarters the ministry will have in Brasilia will be a great contrast!

The gracious Minister Leitao da Cunha met us in the graceful room, and taking a look around, he suggested we go to another room "with a table" for more comfort. The "table" turned out to be larger than most New York dance floors. We had been at many conference tables but this was the greatest of them all. It was easily 30 by 15 feet! It was polished the greatest of them all too.

We also had greater than usual in the room. While we "covered" the minister, the local press covered us and the minister, but there were more than the usual amount. About four cameras were taking pictures, about ten newsmen were jotting notes, and some outside was taping everything.

On the question of how other Latin American countries felt about Brazil's bloodless revolution of last year in which a leftist influenced regime was overthrown, the Foreign Minister said he felt Brazil was a good example to other Latin American countries on how to avoid communism. "We did not get that far" (to communism) he said. "Thank goodness we stopped it when we did."

When someone asked if the government was a military one the Foreign Minister indicated it was and that it should not be thought of as one just because the president was an ex-military man. And just because it is not military, does not mean it is a dictatorship, how come the press is free to write about us as they do every morning?

ACTUALLY, according to information sheets given us, the Brazilian system is a national government in its Federal pattern and in its executive-legislative-judicial structure, is roughly the same as that of the United States.

"The president is Commander-in-Chief of the Armed Forces. It is true, and may intervene in the individual states under special circumstances, and in practice, he generally wields greater power than a United States president, even though their constitutional powers are similar. But the Constitution of 1946 provided for a federal form of government and a recent constitutional amendment provided:

that the president and vice-president are to be elected by majority vote for a four-year term and the president may not succeed himself. There are 22 states, four territories and a Federal District. (Brasilia) There are 13 political parties, the largest and most important being the Social Democratic Party, the National Democratic Union and the Brazilian Labor Party. But in Brazil, parties usually revolve around a man and not a platform, consequently many parties stand for the same thing but are bitter foes because they sponsor a different man.

Currently, Brazil and the United States are on the best of terms. "Brazil's course lies with the west," Minister Leitao da Cunha said, "and we belong to the free world." Brazil also has good relations with countries who are not in the western camp, however, and intends to keep it "but with respect" the minister said, especially in trade.

Of course someone asked about the quality of newspaper coverage. Many papers under good the situation, the minister answered, and some did not. There was no real bias, though, he felt, even by those who wrote incorrectly. He added something new, however, which was encouraging to us. Even some Brazilian papers wrote incorrectly, he noted, and some papers in other countries besides the United States.

ON ANOTHER DAY we met the Minister of Planning and former Ambassador to the United States, Roberto Campos, who told us primarily that Brazil hopes to achieve stability by next year. In talking of agricultural improvements and rural development, he remarked that God must have made Iowa to give International Harvester a home. But Brazil sure could use them!

We also met the Minister Counselor of the United States Embassy and then we met the president of Brazil himself, Humberto Castello Branco, in a palace that again, was nothing like the palace he has at Brasilia. So we had quite a gala time.

At the other extreme we met David David was the "Captain" of the boat, not a ship, in which we went sailing in Rio harbor at sunset time without a sun. He was the "earthly" type. Charming if you like the "earthly" type. He was of Yugoslavian descent.

THE FAMOUS SUGARLOAF MOUNTAIN in Rio de Janeiro. It is 1,175 feet high and an "aerial trolley" takes you to the top for a view of the harbor that is reportedly "the most beautiful in the world." This view of Sugarloaf is from one of the many bathing beaches that abound in Rio.

THE FAMOUS STATUE OF CHRIST in Rio de Janeiro. The pedestal height is 26 feet, the monument height is 100 feet and Corcovado Mountain on which it stands, is 2,329 feet high. The arms, finger to finger, stretch out to 92 feet and the head weight alone is 30 tons. The statue was executed by a French sculptor with a Polish-sounding name, Paul Landowski, and according to information on a post card in Rio it is the "project and construction" of a Brazilian engineer, Heitor Da Silva Costa.

Special Service For Good Friday

A meditation service will be held on Good Friday, April 16, at 1 p.m. in the Springfield Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Bruce W. Evans and Rev. Donald C. Weber will lead the meditations based on the last words of Christ on the Cross. Evangelical hymns, played on the organ by Mrs. Edith Diefendorf, will provide the background. Following the meditation hour, the ministers of the church will administer Communion to the ill and "shut-in" members of the congregation. In the evening they will participate in the union Good Friday service to be held in the Springfield Episcopal Methodist Church at 8 p.m.

Automation Provides Extra Check On Medical Care

How does anyone know when he is a hospital patient that he is getting the best possible medical care? How can patients be sure that every needed test has been made, correctly interpreted for accurate diagnosis and then followed through with proper treatment? At Overlook Hospital in Summit, a new system of medical auditing is designed to assure every patient of just such high standards of medical care. Over 70 representatives from 38 hospitals throughout the State of New Jersey gathered at Overlook recently for a special seminar on the new data-processing methods of PAS-MAP, professional activity study—medical audit program. Overlook is one of few New Jersey hospitals participating in this advanced automated program, which has 400 member hospitals in the nation. The new system greatly broadens the former medical audit, which Overlook has had since 1951, by making 100 more detailed information much more readily available.

"Overlook entered into PAS-MAP in the interest of patient welfare, to insure and constantly upgrade its quality of medical care," commented Dr. H. W. Diefendorf, chairman of the medical audit committee and chief speaker at the seminar. "It is the medical staff's responsibility to analyze, review and evaluate the clinical practice in the hospital and to insist on high standards of performance—a difficult and time-consuming task, but one which Overlook's medical staff has voluntarily undertaken." Dr. Diefendorf pointed out that under PAS, every patient has all pertinent information entered on one special sheet.

In a special code, A remarkable amount of information is transferred to the single-page form, making it compact and manageable compared to the former voluminous case histories with their stacks of daily sheets and reports which were becoming almost impossible to survey with over 18,000 patients a year. No vital statistic escapes the eye of the medical recorder—age, sex, diagnosis, lab and x-ray tests, interpretation and results, therapy, surgery, complications, consultations, length of stay, patients' progress and outcome—every detail goes down in code.

Next, this concisely coded sheet, taken from the original case history by a medical recorder (of whom there are over 20—one of the behind-the-scenes hospital costs few people stop to consider) is sent to a computer center in Ann Arbor, Mich. There, the information is again abstracted. Now it is condensed to one horizontal line, with the diagnosis listed first in code. Case after case on line after line are thus compiled into a monthly report. By reading across each line, the medical auditor can give a swift check-at-a-glance for any trouble spots.

Certain case categories are routinely reviewed by the medical audit committee of physicians, surgery, stillbirths, deaths and complications are carefully checked to be sure they were manageable and proper efforts had been made. Tests which are abnormal, or any abnormality, such findings, confirm the diagnosis to the patient, as well as to the physician, as well as to the hospital. The absence of abnormality, on the other hand, would indicate a more detailed review of the case. Suppose a patient were to come to Overlook with severe abdominal pain and many symptoms indicating acute appendicitis. Suppose, however, that after surgery the tissue examination showed a perfectly normal appendix had been removed: What would the medical audit committee do? "FIRST, THEY would check the record for the patient's physical symptoms. Next, they would see if the required tests had been made—was the white blood cell count high indicating infection? Was there fever? Nausea? One by one they would check out the usual indications for an appendectomy, and decide if enough factors were present to validate the doctor's judgment to perform the operation. If not, the physician involved would be called upon to justify his decision. Many research possibilities are also made available by the new program. Cases are indexed in three ways: diagnosis, operation and physician. These classifications enable special studies to be made, causing new and useful information on patient care and treatment. The indiscriminate use of antibiotics has recently been under serious question. Unless specifically indicated by infection or other definite symptoms, studies now indicate there is no advantage in the use of antibiotics as a general "precautionary" measure. In fact, medical opinion commends that practice on the grounds that (1) it is not effective; (2) it may cause alterations in the normal flora and the emergence of resistant strains of bacteria; (3) it may unnecessarily sensitize patients to antibiotics.

Minister Takes Post In Summit

The members of St. John's Lutheran Church, Summit, have elected to call the Rev. H. Peter Unks to be minister of Christian education. Mr. Unks is now pastor of Bethany Lutheran Church, North Bergen. Mr. Unks was formerly minister of Christian education in Parkside, Pa. He combines hobbies of magic, extrasensory perception and audio-visual aids in his education and youth work. At the Summit church, Mr. Unks will be responsible for the entire program of Christian education and youth work, which includes the Sunday church school, weekly church school, vacation church school and two Luther-Leagues.

Eagle Scout, 14, Is Awarded Palm By Review Board

Eagle Scout James Kunc, a member of Boy Scout Troop 70, Springfield Presbyterian Church, was awarded the Bronze Palm this week in a board of review. He is senior patrol leader in the troop. Kunc earned his Eagle badge last June before he was 14 years old. He has participated in many civic, scouting and conservation activities, including the Boy Scout Jamboree in Valley Forge, Pa., last summer. The scout was honored with a certificate and a trophy last October by the Optimist Club. In the club's program, Kunc served as "township clerk" for the evening. His grandfather, Edward C. Townley, actually held the post from 1971 to 1926. In addition to scouting, Kunc is a first class trooper in the Patching Riding Troop and has won several ribbons in its horse shows. He also helps instruct junior living in the Summit YMCA. Kunc attends Jonathan Dayton Regional High School where he is chiefly interested in science. He will have a project entered in the Newark College of Engineering Science Fair slated for Monday and Tuesday.

Israeli Summer Camp Institute Selects Springfield Girl To Attend

Lisa Harris of Springfield has had her application to participate in the teenage summer camp program of the American Historical Cultural Institute accepted. The Institute sponsors a summer camp for American teenagers in Israel. Miss Harris is among five young people who will fly to Israel July 7. They will arrive in Tel Aviv and be transported to the summer camp which is an agricultural center. Lisa, 14, lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Harris, 40 Cottage Lane. She attends Florence Gaudineer Junior High School and is a member of the youth group at Temple Shalom. The five New Jersey teenagers will spend seven weeks in Israel before returning Aug. 20.

Future Policy Guide Master Plan Offers

The "flexibility" of the plan stressed the need for a "greater degree of flexibility in the development" of the few remaining large areas available for commercial use. There are four such areas listed: south of the railroad, Springfield rd., the vicinity of Hillside and S. Springfield avcs., between Hunter rd. and Rt. 22 and the vicinity of the Houldale Quarry. The Master Planners noted that there poorly designed interferences account for 15 percent of all accidents in the township. They are along Morris ave., at Springfield and Meisel avcs., at Main st. and Mountain ave. and at Millburn ave. The advent of Rt. 22 was expected to alleviate many of these problems, but further action was urged. Improvements were also recommended for Mountain ave. at Shunpike rd. and at S. Springfield ave. and at S. Springfield ave. and Milltown rd. Access to the industrial area south of Rt. 22 was suggested for improvement by extending Diamond rd. west to S. Springfield ave. near the Westfield line. Public buildings are generally well situated, the plan stated, with one exception. It urged construction of a second fire house, on Hillside ave. near Rt. 22, to serve the "high value industrial and commercial uses along Rt. 22, as well as the residential portions in the southern and western parts of the township." Recreation Needs Surveying recreation facilities, the Master Plan declared, "Most of Springfield's facilities are well located for the areas they serve. However, two areas are poorly served. These are the Evergreen ave. and Baltusrol rd. areas. In addition, several sites which have been adequately located are too small to accommodate their neighborhood needs. They include the Henshaw, Alvin and Denham playgrounds. Playgrounds were recommended for the Henshaw and Denham areas. The former could be combined with school facilities projected to serve the Baltusrol rd. area and a road planned to link this area with Shunpike rd. In addition, a larger park and playground was called for between Rose and Truoker avenues to relieve the overcrowded facilities in the Henshaw Playground." The planners added, "It would further enhance the surrounding neighborhood and could be designed to serve a variety of functions." The Master Plan also stated that the former Leone Tract, running from S. Springfield ave. to Pitt rd. should be retained for future municipal purposes. Geographically located in the center of the township, the site might serve as a future passive recreational facility. Storm Drainage The storm drainage system, according to the Master Plan, "is Springfield's key utility problem." It listed several areas for particular attention. They are: The seven blocks west of Widetz ave., the lower portion of Padena rd. near the Railway River, the six blocks from S. Maple ave. and Cain st. to Washington ave. and Riverside rd., the six blocks north of Morris ave. from Alvin to Marion ave. in area along Garden way, an area along N. Trivett and Center streets and an area along Salter st. and Dayton ct. The planners also recommended several "detailed revisions" to the zoning ordinance. They urged that the existing Board consider the use of performance standards as an additional means of controlling developments in industrial districts. Individual Decisions The report commented, "This method enables potential nuisances to be measured objectively in terms of the nuisance itself, and protects any use from arbitrary exclusion based solely on the nuisance which may have characterized a certain operation in the past." The planners noted that at the present time, Springfield Township has no effective code to enforce minimum standards in existing housing. They called for a code to set and enforce minimum standards for such items as the size and occupancy of habitable rooms, sanitary plumbing facilities, lighting and heating facilities and maintenance and repairs. Other aspects of the Master Plan will be outlined in an article next week. They include development of the central business district and the impact on Springfield of Interstate Rts. 78 and 24. The Master Plan was prepared by Candeb, Fleiszig and Associates of Newark, planning consultants.

You may never be a great cook, but you can be a consistently good cook.

What is a "great" cook, really? Something of an artist who has the flair and talent and daring not only to try new things, but to create—to add an original touch to everything she cooks. Who knows? There may be that inborn spark in you. If it's there, you'll soon hear about it.

But let's face it. We can't all be Michelangelas with a skillet. Most of us have to work hard at turning out competent meals, and we get faint praise for it. But with persistence in mastering the "tricks" we can become good cooks.

The most vital "trick" of good cooking is in controlling the cooking heat. Many, otherwise perfectly prepared, dishes fail because they don't get exactly the right, unwavering heat for exactly the right time. If you're cooking with electricity, it's much easier to get this exact heat, consistently.

First of all, you can regulate electricity much more accurately than you can flame. The controls on an electric range leave no room for guesswork. Once you've set the exact cooking heat, there is no noticeable fluctuation, either on the top of the range or in the oven. Then there is the fact that flameless electric cooking is contact cooking—heat goes directly into the bottom of the pot or pan, not around it. The result is the most precisely controlled, consistent cooking possible.

Whether you argue a "great" cook, or whether you are working at being a consistently good cook, you'll find a flameless electric range "Cooks Around the Rest."
