Letters Question Vaccine Project

A controversy over a previously approved plan to provide mass mumps vaccinations for students in the Springfield schools moved into the spotlight as letters questioning the project were read at the Board of Education meeting Tuesday night at the James Caldwell School, August Caprio presided.

The plan was approved without a roll call vote, but without any objections, at the December board meeting. It calls for free vaccinations for all students whose parents desire such procedure. No action has yet been taken, however, to implement the project.

Mrs. Sonya Darsky declared Tuesday night that she had planned to move then that the decision be rescinded. She said she would delay her action for a month, however, because Robert Southward, the plan's chief proponent on the school board, was not present at this week's meeting.

A letter expressing strong opposition to the proposed mass vaccinations was read from Dr. Benjamin H. Josephson, former board member. A pediatrician, Dr. Josephson cited concern over the plan on the part of himself and a number of other doctors, including Dr. Ralph Mond, physician member of the Board of Health.

The vaccinations were proposed to reduce the number of children who have gone more than three years since their last immunization. Medical objections have centered on the dangers of infection, both to youngsters who receive the mass treatment and to those who do not.

Legal Problems

A different type of objection to the proposal came in a letter from Howard F. Casselman, school board attorney, who questioned whether the board was legally empowered to administer a program of this sort.

Casselman noted that school boards are authorized to provide equipment, supplies and services which will aid in the preservation and promotion of health, but that this phrase is part of the mission of the law-enforcement agencies.

He added that "there are some who would argue" that this wording "does not authorize medical treatment for illnesses even in the form of preventive procedures."

"If you hold to this view, you would come to the conclusion that the board is acting beyond the scope of its responsibilities in sponsoring this program."

In other business, the board approved the hiring of two new teachers for next year.

SEMINAR SERIES ON MASTER PLAN TO OPEN TONIGHT

The first of four informal seminars on the new Master Plan for future development of Springfield will be held tonight at 8:30 at Town Hall.

All members of the Planning Board will be present to answer questions. A representative of Cadenbe, Fleishe and Associates, planning consultants, will also take part.

The formal public hearing on the Master Plan is scheduled for May 27 at the Florence Gaudineer School. Other seminars will take place next Thursday and May 13 and 20.

Grabarz, Merrill Selected To Head Democratic Slate

Marie Smith-Gains Party Nod To Seek Tax Collector Post

Henry Grabarz and George Merrill were endorsed by the Springfield Democratic organization Tuesday night as candidates for the two Township Committee seats that will be at stake in the November elections.

At the same time, Mrs. Marie Smith-Gains was selected as the party candidate for tax collector.

All indications are that Grabarz and Merrill will be unopposed in the June 1 primary election. The deadline for filing for the primaries is today at 4 p.m.

Grabarz was an unsuccessful Democratic candidate for the Township Committee last autumn. A former Republican, he has served as building inspector and secretary to the Board of Adjustment.

Among his other responsibilities have been the presidency of the Springfield Chamber of Commerce and the Business Area Study Committee named by the Township Committee.

Merrill, who has been a Springfield resident for 14 years, lives at 313 Northview ter. He has been Treasurer of the Democratic Club and this January was named to the municipal tax assessment commission.

He is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin School of Journalism and did post-graduate work at Harvard University and the University of Pittsburgh in the areas of religion, business administration and literature.

Merrill is employed by Newark Star-Ledger.

Mrs. Smith-Gains, the party choice for tax collector, has worked in the tax office at Town Hall since 1960 and has also served as acting court clerk and violations clerk. She is a former Springfield chairman of the Twigs, volunteer group of Overlook Hospital.

Session In Court To Put Emphasis On Law Day, 1965

Plans for local observance of Law Day, U. S. A., proclaimed as May 1 by the Congress and President, were announced this week by Springfield Magistrate Max Sherman and James M. Cawley, township attorney, who are co-chairmen for the program in Springfield.

A brief special program will precede the ceremonies Monday night in the magistrate's court. All clergymen have been asked to comment on Law Day and its basic principle of "equal justice under law" at services this weekend.

Inviting all residents to attend the ceremonies Monday evening, Sherman urged them to remain for the court session "to see a living exposition of law in action."

He added, "Our whole concept is to bring to the attention of the public that ours is a government of law, and not a government by men, and not a government by men."

"Under the law, all men are equal. This is not so in many other countries. Our purpose now is to develop a greater respect for law, by all citizens, at all levels."

All Lawyers Invited

Sherman extended a special invitation to all attorneys living in Springfield to attend Monday evening. Speakers will include Sherman, Cawley, Mayor William F. Koza, Joseph Seidel, township prosecutor, and Eugene Donnelly, court clerk.

The joint resolution on Law Day, adopted by both houses of Congress, calls on Americans to affirm their devotion to the principles of the Constitution and to the rule of law.

It urges that each citizen should know the rights and responsibilities of citizenship and should be prepared to defend them.

It also urges that each citizen should be prepared to defend the rights and responsibilities of citizenship and should be prepared to defend them.

Ambulance Group Calls For Men, Women To Help When Help Is Needed Most

At the last Township Committee meeting, Mayor William Koza opened the Springfield First Aid Squad membership drive with a personal appeal for cooperation from the town.

The First Aid Squad urgently needs members in order to continue to meet the needs of Springfield, he stressed. Financial support during the annual fund drive is not enough; a few people by themselves can not provide 24-hour ambulance service.

The squad is seeking people who are willing and able to start training. Most of all, the need is for men and women who can contribute daytime hours to this vital township service.

All township residents are on call a minimum of 12 hours a week. Some members prefer their hours consecutively; others break the time up into four or six-hour stretches. The squad is especially in need of men whose occupations prevent them from being on call during the day.

If anyone is interested in joining the First Aid Squad, he may fill in the form printed here and mail it to call DR 6-0582 and leave his name.

During "On Call" hours, squad members may remain in their own homes; they have special short wave radios. If an ambulance is needed, the call is put on the radio from police headquarters. Crew on duty then goes to the ambulance.

The first six months of an applicant's time on call, he is a probationary member of the squad. During this time, he has the chance to decide whether or not he wants to continue. In business meetings and second-run training sessions, including the standard course of instruction of the American Red Cross.

New members are introduced to squad work slowly. First they are shown the squad house and given uniforms. They are shown how to use the stretcher on ambulances so that they may help in emergencies.

When requests are explained and probationary members are shown how to write up reports, most of their responsibility.

Most squad training comes about by going on call and working with the ambulance crew. New members are allowed to drive the ambulance when it is driven from a call, and they are invited to help in first aid and movement of patients, always under the watchful eye of an experienced senior member.

Hardgrove Joins Planer On Ticket For Republicans

Del Vecchio To Run For N. J. Assembly, Leave Local Arena

Robert G. Planer and Philip D. Hardgrove will lead the Republican Party effort next November to return control of Town Hall for another year.

Planer, an incumbent Township Committee member and Hardgrove, former mayor of Springfield, were endorsed as candidates for the governing body at a meeting of GOP leaders Monday night. Both declared they will file their petitions for June 1 primary elections before the deadline today at 4 p.m.

In an unusual action, the Republican screening group recommended both Fred L. Braun and John Grifo as qualified candidates to serve as tax collector. Both Braun, the incumbent, and Grifo, head of the Springfield Elks Lodge, stated they will take part in an open primary contest.

Hardgrove was named to run for the seat being vacated by Philip Del Vecchio, who was selected Saturday to run as a Republican candidate for the State Assembly.

Del Vecchio, Springfield Republican chairman and also a former mayor, had earlier indicated privately that he would seek another three years in Town Hall. He was also chairman of the county screening committee.

Hardgrove elected to the Township Committee in 1961, was defeated in his bid for reelection last fall, losing to Democrat Jay R. Blum by the slim margin of 15 votes. He is currently president of the Board of Health and continues his activities by many other organizations.

Planer was appointed to the Township Committee last spring, following the resignation of Carmen C. Catanamo. He was elected last November to the one-year unexpired portion of Catanamo's term. Planer recently had indicated that business pressures might prevent him from running again this year.

Chamber's Plans For United Fund Promot Optimism

Encouraging response to a proposed United Fund drive for Springfield was shown by the large turnout of organization representatives last week at Town Hall, according to those in attendance.

Under the guidance of the Springfield Chamber of Commerce, the meeting brought together as many organizations as possible to consider a united effort to raise funds for the United Fund of Springfield.

The Chamber's annual fund drive is not enough; a few people by themselves can not provide 24-hour ambulance service.

Application Denied For Sign Variance

The Zoning Board of Adjustment Tuesday night denied a variance application by Morris and Michael Avramis to erect a sign on top of the firm's building at the corner of Morris and Market avenues.

The board, meeting at Town Hall, declared that the application exceeded the permitted area. It also added that the sign would be a detriment to the appearance of the building.

Two applications pending before the board were withdrawn. Philip Avramis withdrew his bid for a restaurant at the Federal Plaza Shopping Center. The board had previously announced its intention to recommend approval to the Township Committee.

James Cawley withdrew his bid for a building at the corner of Morris and Market avenues.

St. James Little League Plans Opening Day Events Tuesday

The annual game and banquet to be held at the Evergreen Lodge on Sunday will highlight the opening of the 1965 season of the St. James Little League. Some 138 boys and their families will join the team of St. James, which will play out the season in the Eastern Standard Time.

Baseball Players Will Knock On Doors For Fund Campaign

The Springfield Youth Baseball League will be knocking on doors Saturday asking Springfield residents to contribute funds for the support of the Springfield Youth Baseball League.

This drive is the major source of income for the league and unless it is more successful than it has been in the past years it will be necessary to curtail some of the program in 1966, officials said.

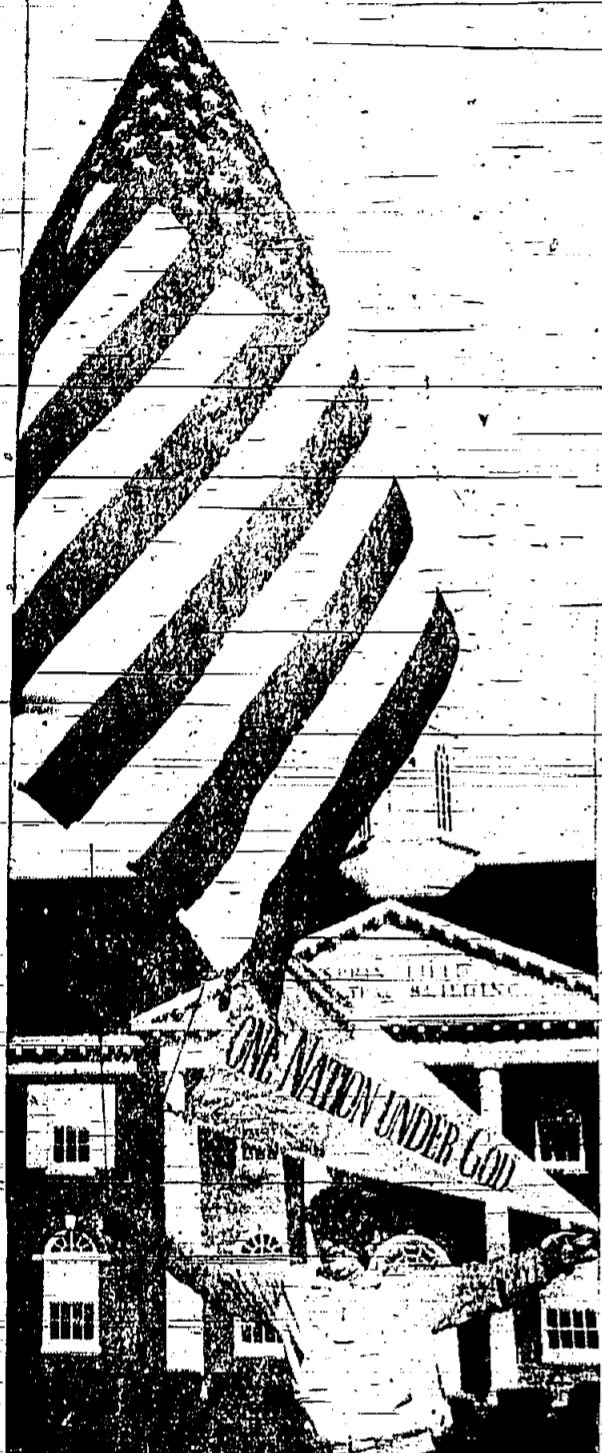

Because of a continuation of increased costs of equipment and power results of the fund drive, it has been necessary for the league to use up whatever reserves it had in the last few years.

Contributions that average about 25 cents per person throughout the township will solve the immediate financial problems, they said. Some give more than this, and the league hopes that they will continue their generosity. The major problem, however, has been explaining the urgency of the need to the other people, the people who have given less or nothing because they did not know that the league is 100 percent dependent on voluntary contributions.

No tax money is used in part for the operating expenses of the four leagues which make up the organization. The fund drive, plus the sponsorship of teams by various firms in the area, is the sole source of income.

Residents who will not be at home Saturday and wish to contribute can send money to Robert Fanning, Treasurer, Springfield Junior Baseball League, 50 Highway 40, Springfield.

Join Clocks Ahead

The road to summer will pass another milestone when all clocks are turned ahead one hour this Sunday at 2 a.m. with the arrival of Daylight Saving Time. The hour of sleep lost this weekend will be gained back next fall when the area returns to Eastern Standard Time.

Temple Receives Scroll As Tribute To Honor Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Menasha Mendelsohn were honored at a surprise testimonial program following the Sabbath eve service April 9 at Temple Beth Ahm, conducted by Rabbi Reuben R. Levine and Chana Ischel Weisman.

A Torah scroll containing the first five books of the Bible, was presented to the temple in their name by a group of members. The Mendelsohns were lauded for their many years of unselfish devotion to the temple and their dignified efforts to elevate the intellectual standards of the community. The occasion also marked Mrs. Mendelsohn's 70th birthday.

Mr. Leonard A. Golden was in charge of a "This is Your Life" program, bringing back friends of nearly 30 years ago. When Mrs. Mendelsohn was a teacher and youth group leader in Newark, and her husband-to-be was a college student, Army officer in World War I and then an insurance man.

General chairmen for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Meyer Biddelman, Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Wirtzel and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Lichter.

Sir, you'll get action with Multiple Listing!

A Realtor has to be ready for almost anything. And he is — with the help of Multiple Listing. This is the modern, most effective way to buy — and speed up the sale of your home by multiplying the number of buyer-prospects.

You set everything into action by simply enlisting the services of a selected Realtor. He becomes your Listing Broker and immediately assumes the responsibility of giving your property — and needs — his specialized attention. He then calls upon the entire Board of full-time brokers and asks them to start a concentrated campaign to sell your house. This means multiple-prospects through Multiple Listing. And this means ACTION!

If it's a residence you need — or if you have residential property you'd like to sell, call your Realtor today. Or call the Board of Realtors. Ask for our brochure that tells all about Multiple Listing — also the Roster of Realtor Board Members.

State Names Two For College Help

Even Springfield students are among the New Jersey high school seniors who have been named to receive state scholarship grants in the fall of 1965. They are Anthony J. DiCicco of 12 S. Maple Ave. and Gene E. Sherman of 13 New Brookway.

The 4,165 winners of the grants were chosen from 4,500 applicants by the State Scholarship Commission on the basis of both financial need and scholastic promise. The group this year was the largest since the program began in 1959. The scholarships pay $500 a year or tuition, whichever is less.

Lawit Proposed For Tax Position

Earl L. Lawit of 6 Essex rd., a real estate appraiser, has been proposed for appointment as Springfield tax assessor.

Joe Bloom, the only Democrat on the township committee, cited Lawit's service on the township board of adjustment as a qualification for an assessor. Bloom said further that Lawit's experience in real estate sales, management and appraisal would fit him for the position. The proposal was tabled for further study.

Roman Is Named Committee Head Of Realtor Week

Paul Roman, Springfield realtor, has been named chairman of arrangements for Realtor Week to be celebrated from May 23 to 29. It has been announced by A. Eugene Fiore of Maplewood, president of the Board of Realtors of the Granges and Maplewood, Livingston, Millburn, Short Hills and Springfield.

Presentation of community service awards will highlight the week, Roman said. The presentations will take place on May 27, and awards will be given to residents of each of the eight communities served by the board. Last year, Roman said, Saul Freeman received the award in Springfield.

In explaining the purpose of the board award, Roman noted: "The Essex County suburbs are considered highly desirable in which to live and operate business. We established the awards last year to honor individuals or groups that make this possible."

This year's winners will be presented plaques at a board luncheon in June.

STANLEY WNEK

It may be a long, hot summer for some people in some towns, but for the summer people of Springfield, there will be so many activities in the works that the residents won't even have time to wipe their brows.

That is, if Stanley Wnek, new manager of Springfield's Municipal Pool, has his way. A husky, genial, outdoor man, resident at Irvington High School, where he has also served as long-time baseball coach, outlined a particularly busy summer program the other sunny afternoon.

Wnek, who possesses a wealth of experience and knowledge of sports, and particularly in baseball, has been a Springfield resident for the past 10 years.

But, he admitted, this is the first time he has been named manager of a program in Springfield. "I feel," he said, "Springfield is primarily in need of a new recreational program which will encompass and interest men and women and youngsters, too."

"Right now, before plans are even materialized, we are already in the process of increasing the services at the snack bar."

HIS IDEAS for the new recreational program stem from his five years of experience as recreational director at the Brookside Cabana Club.

"I found, first of all," he said, "that a men's softball team can work out very well . . . so I'm planning to have several separate softball teams — for men . . . for boys . . . for girls . . . and for women."

"I would also like to have a volleyball league, and I've discovered that people in Springfield are quite interested in handball. I'd like to make the most of that idea this summer. There are facilities for horseshoe pitching . . . and I'd like to have a horseshoe pitching program set up."

"And since we are striving to reach all age groups, I'd like to have some programs for the Senior Citizens too — such as checker-playing or chess competition."

THE BOYS MAY even try a summer basketball league. "I don't think we've ever had one here before, and I would very much like to install this type of sport for the summer."

Wnek said that if "we can reach every level of activity in the community — not only from the standpoint of athletics, but from other areas, too — I wholeheartedly believe that we will have a very successful summer recreational program."

Wnek mentioned that he had already attended several meetings, "but things won't actually start happening until the pool opens officially. And that will be right after school closes for the summer."

Born in Newark, Wnek lived "most of the time in Irvington." He was graduated from Irvington High School in 1938 ("and here I am back again — and seeing many of the same faces too").

At Irvington High School, Wnek "played all three sports. I was captain of the basketball and football teams, and played four years of baseball." In his senior year, the baseball team won the Greater Newark Tournament — which is equivalent to the state championship — and he was selected the most valuable player of that tournament.

AS A RESULT, I went on a summer trip — north — with the Newark Bears. We toured Buffalo, Montreal, Toronto and Rochester." He was selected as the outstanding baseball player in the Metropolitan area by the N. Y. World Telegram, "and I wound up signing a contract with the N. Y. Yankees. I worked out with them, traveled with them, but at the end of the summer, I left them to go to college — to Georgetown University. "In 1941, I started at Montclair State Teachers College, now called, I believe, Montclair State College."

But the following year, Wnek dropped out of college to join the Merchant Marine Academy at Kingspoint, in Great Neck, L. I.

"I went to sea in February of 1943, received my commission as an ensign in the Naval Reserve in 1944, and came back in 1946 as a lieutenant junior grade in the Maritime Service."

"During that time, I was in every type of operation — from the Atlantic to the Pacific to the Middle East . . . the Far East . . . I spent some time in India in 1944 and went through the Suez Canal three times."

"And let me tell you, I was lucky to see the world. It helps in these days, in my world history and current events classes."

FOLLOWING HIS years in service, Wnek returned to Montclair State to complete his work. "I went on to complete my master's in 1948, while I was coaching there."

Senator Williams Reports

By Sen. Harrison A. Williams

WASHINGTON — Some 27 years ago, the Congress tried to curb the activities of professional strikebreakers through passage of the Byrnes Act.

The Byrnes Act made it unlawful to transport in interstate or foreign commerce any person who is employed or is to be employed for the purpose of obstructing or interfering with the peaceful settlement of labor disputes.

This bill was aimed at the thugs and labor goons whose nefarious activities gained for them such picturesque names as "Weasel Benny" Epstein, "Benny the Pink" Gross, "Snake-Eyes Kid" Sleinis and "Eat-em-Up" Jack Fisher.

In considering the Byrnes Act, way back in the thirties, the Senate Committee on Education and Labor found that professional strikebreakers contributed to labor wars, rather than settling them.

The committee said "strike services, are offered by detective agencies and employers associations, not so much for the purpose of assisting employers to protect property and maintain operations during strikes, but rather for the purpose of destroying unions and the process of collective bargaining."

The committee added: "Commercialized strike services tend to produce violence and disorder. Such violence comes partly as a result of the natural hostility and resentment of workmen against the use of industrial mercenaries, but is more directly attributable to the activities of professional strike followers and the employers who use them."

Unfortunately the Byrnes Act, which was designed to put an end to these activities, had a fatal flaw.

The courts interpreted the words " . . . for the purpose of . . ." to mean that proof of intent to interfere with peaceful picketing or the rights of employees had to be shown before the interstate transportation commenced.

It was not sufficient, the courts held, to show that violence had, in fact, occurred because the professional strikebreaker was brought into the state.

"This kind of proof was unobtainable, and as a result there has never been a successful prosecution under the Byrnes Act."

Recently it was called to my attention that a number of states and municipalities have felt compelled to pass laws and ordinances against importing professional strikebreakers, including a number of towns in New Jersey.

It also was brought to my attention that in one industry alone, the printing industry, professional strikebreakers have been used 86 times during the past decade in industrial disputes.

Probing further, I found that while the state laws and municipal ordinances were fine as far as they went, they didn't go far enough in a geographical sense. Because it is precisely the areas where such laws are needed that they are lacking.

For this reason, I have just introduced in the Senate a bill which is aimed at accomplishing what the Byrnes Act failed to do — put professional strikebreakers out of business.

The bill would make it a criminal offense for a professional strikebreaker to accept employment or to offer himself for employment in a plant or office involved in an interstate labor dispute.

The bill also would make it a criminal offense for a third party to recruit or procure professional strikebreakers for a firm involved in a labor dispute, or to transport strikebreakers to the scene of the dispute.

The bill defines a professional strikebreaker as "any person who has customarily and repeatedly offered himself for employment in place of any employee or employees involved in a labor dispute or disputes."

A penalty of two years in jail, a $5,000 fine or both is provided for violation of the statute.

The provisions of the bill apply to labor disputes affecting interstate commerce. And, under the broad interpretation of this definition used throughout the National Labor Relations Act, this includes the vast majority of business and industrial firms large enough to have a unionized labor force.

This bill will not infringe on the rights of employers to replace employees for good cause by other skilled and competent workmen.

But the business of strike-

ON 'PEACE WEEK'

Those of us who were interested in the development of a "Peace Week" observance in Springfield, were gratified that the Springfield Leader responded by printing an editorial on the subject. The point of the editorial is one which can bear emphasis today, as the war in Vietnam is expanding. It points out the looming danger of the "brushroom cloud" and places hope in the ability of the United Nations to bring about a settlement.

However, a democracy needs an enlightened public and an enlightened public must not deal with stereotypes of the "Cold War" but with reality. The reality is that we are engaged in a bitter struggle in Vietnam. Both American and Vietnamese people are dying there. Everyday of this war brings more death and the likelihood that the fighting may be extended to other areas — more likelihood that it will lead to a thermonuclear conflict.

The American public, living as it does in the world's most powerful democracy during the perilous 1960's, must pay special attention to reality. For many of our public attitudes are based on little more than over-simplified labels.

In our thoughts about Vietnam, China and the Soviets during "Peace Week," let us recall the words of the late President Kennedy. " . . . And history teaches that enmities between nations, as between individuals, do not last forever. However fixed our likes and dislikes may seem, the tide of time and events will often bring surprising changes in the relations between nations and neighbors." . . . American University, June 10, 1963

It is the acceptance of fixed cold war ideas which enables some Americans to accept instantly the bombing of women, children and old people. Will we still consider the war in Vietnam in the pattern of cold war slogans which have been so damaging to our peace efforts in the United Nations?

Or shall we make an honest

FLAGS AND PENNANTS

At last week's meeting of the Township Committee when the "One Nation Under God" pennant issue was decided, an impassioned man declared, "We all love our God" and added, in effect, so why can't we fly this pennant to show it.

Suddenly, sadly, a pennant had become a symbol of God. And how utterly ironic and sobering it is in retrospect to realize that, in a week which was sorrowfully recalled that long ago-misdeed when Christ was nailed upon a Cross, Springfield demonstrated its spiritual ineptitude by hanging God from the municipal flagpole.

Should Supreme Court Chief Justice Warren ever pass our way — and observe that pennant flying, I trust he will have the wisdom to repent the words: "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do."

"This is not a religious issue," said Joseph Natiello, and I heartily agreed. Then he contradicted himself: "We agree with the Supreme Court ruling on school prayers." Then the man who presented the pennant hedged a bit: "They decided that way, and as citizens, we support their decision."

He ruled out religion as an issue, which seemed strange. He said the Supreme Court decision was okay. He did not say, however, why a pennant admittedly devised as a protest of the court was seized as a symbol of our sudden virtuosity.

Several veterans at the meeting mentioned the American flag for which they fought, but didn't explain why this banner should need strengthening by a triangular pennant. Unless, for instance, these veterans aren't so sure about the flag.

The American Legion pole was stark empty, of American flag and pennant, last Friday (the Legion taught for the second time in one week with its pennant down). The VFW flagpole is usually bare. The Holy Name Society at St. James — another pennant sponsor — has not been moved to urge the American flag be flown at the church, where parochial school classes are held daily. What happened to consistency?

Several Township Committee members decried the "divisive" effect of the pennant issue, then, literally in the same breath, voted "aye" to accept and fly the pennant. Before the pennant issue was raised, there was no overt division. By voting yes, three committeemen created the division they said they regretted.

The pennant was conceived as a protest; it can not be a substitute for faith. Who use this discredited pennant to proclaim our righteousness? Why not something at least original? Or meaningful? DONALD W. ROSSETT

Reminder Issued On Tax Deadline; '64 Totals Listed

Second installments of 1965 real estate and business personal property taxes are due May 1, according to a reminder issued this week by Fred L. Braun, Springfield tax collector.

He asked residents paying by mail to enclose the complete tax bill and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to facilitate prompt return of the tax receipt. Braun reported that $3,581,500 was collected in 1964 taxes, as compared with $3,440,400 for 1963, for an increase of over $141,000. The 1964 figure also showed $68,800 collected in delinquent taxes, as compared with $72,700 in 1963.

Interest collected on taxes and assessments in 1964 was $9,700, above the $8,300 figure for the previous year. The overall total in the tax office for 1964, including gross receipts, franchise taxes, auto bus, sewer, sidewalk and curbing assessments, came to $3,957,000. The total for 1963 was $3,772,000. Braun added that current collections for 1965 have maintained the upward trend.

$25 Fine Imposed

Frederick J. Unkel, 28, of South River, paid a fine of $25 Monday night after pleading guilty to a charge of careless driving. The fine was imposed by Springfield Magistrate Max Sherman during the regular session of Municipal Court.

Woman Realtor Joins Federation

Millburn realtor Harriet L. Moore, a resident of Springfield, has been admitted to membership in the International Real Estate Federation through its American Chapter. It was announced this week by Kenneth S. Keyes of Miami, president.

Ms. Moore is a former president of the Board of Realtors of the Oranges and Maplewood, Livingston, Millburn, Short Hills and Springfield. She was named "New Jersey Realtor of the Year" in December.

Mrs. Huneke Tops Officer List For Township's Women Voters

The Springfield League of Women Voters will hold its annual meeting Tuesday evening at 8:15 at the home of Mrs. Herman Lenchner, 18 Sycamore.

Officers and board members will be elected. The budget will be adopted, and there will be a discussion and voting on next year's local agenda programs.

The state of officers proposed by the nominating committee is as follows: president, Mrs. Huneke; vice-presidents, Mrs. Harlow, Mrs. Nelson Lewis; secretary, Mrs. Ann Duca; two-year trustees, Mrs. Henry Einstein, Mrs. Morris Leiner, Mrs. Charles Gergs; one-year trustees, Mrs. Joseph Horowitz, Mrs. Herman Lenchner. The office of treasurer is a hold-over term.

Two women from Springfield will be among the 400 delegates to the 38th biennial convention of the League of Women Voters of New Jersey to be held in Atlantic City April 27 to 29. "Hats Off to Women Voters" is the theme of the convention to be held at the Claridge Hotel.

Local League members who are preparing to attend are Mrs. Huneke and Mrs. Harlow.

In addition to electing state officers and adopting a budget, convention delegates will select the areas of New Jersey government which the 9,200 League members in the state will study

YOUTHFUL PIPER, LATE TO LESSON, PAYS $35 PENALTY

A 17-year-old Kentworth youth told Springfield Magistrate Ma. Sherman Monday night that he was driving 55 miles per hour in Tookoos-also- live weeks ago because he was late for a clarinet lesson.

The youthful motorist, John W. Wallace, was stopped by Springfield Patrolman Sam Calabrese on April 1. Magistrate Sherman imposed a $35 fine against Wallace and revoked his license for 15 days.

David W. Brown Wins Promotion At Public Service

David W. Brown of 22 Redwood rd., Springfield, has been made a senior engineer in the Gas Distribution Department of Public Service Electric and Gas Co.

Brown started with Public Service as a cadet engineer in the Camden Coke Plant in 1948 after being graduated from Rutgers University with a B.S. degree in civil engineering.

Upon completion of his cadet training course in 1951, he was named assistant superintendent of the Trenton Gas Distribution Department and subsequently held the positions of division design engineer, Essex Division Gas Distribution Department; district superintendent, Summit-Montclair Gas Distribution Department; and district superintendent, Englewood Gas Distribution Department.

On November 10, 1961, he was made district superintendent of the Oradell Gas Distribution Department. He is a member of the American Gas Association, New Jersey Gas Association, Rutgers Engineering Society and the Englewood Country Club. He enlisted in the United States Army in October, 1942, and was commissioned a second lieutenant two years later. He was discharged in October, 1946, with the rank of first lieutenant.

Plans for the 11th season of the Summit YWCA's day camp for young children have been announced by the teenage program committee of the YWCA. A two-week session, from July 19 through July 30, will be held for two groups of children, one for boys and girls ages five and six and another for girls ages seven and eight. A third group, for girls nine through 11, will run, for three weeks, June 28 through July 16.

Program Listed For 'Y' Day Camp

The program includes nature walks, picnics, swimming, drama, music, sports and games.

Since registration in all three camps is limited, early registration is urged. Further information about the program may be had by telephoning Mrs. Gerald Carver, day camp director, at the YWCA, 273-4242.

A GIRL FOR ALBERTS

The Overlook Hospital, Summit, this week announced the birth of a girl to Rudolf and Dorothy Dlugosz Albert, 14 Dayton Court, Springfield. The baby, Sandra Beth, weighed seven pounds six ounces at birth April 13.

Homemakers Plan Training Program

The Visiting Homemakers of Central Union County and SAGE Visiting Homemaker Service of Summit will hold a free training course next week at the Nursing Arts Laboratory at Overlook Hospital.

The Homemaker Service offers an opportunity for mature women to supplement their incomes by working four to 24 hours a day. They are selected through personal interview on the basis of personality and a desire to be of service.

The course is given by the extension division of Rutgers University in cooperation with the division of chronic illness control of the State Department of Health. Certificates are awarded for satisfactory completion of the course.

Lecturers will include Benjamin S. Ettinger, executive director, Union County Mental Health Association; Mrs. Ann Reick, chief physical therapist, Overlook Hospital; Mrs. Evelyn Friedman, occupational therapist, Runnells Hospital; and Mrs. Caroline Addison, director of foods and nutrition, American Red Cross.

A demonstration of home nursing techniques will be presented by Dorothy Driscoll, R.N., of the Westfield District Nurses Association; Edith Doane, director of the Women's Division of the State Safety Council, will instruct in accident prevention in the home.

Dr. Edward Felappa, Summit physician, will discuss ethics, and Mrs. Adelaide McGiffin, director of Elkwood Play School, will speak on understanding children. Mrs. Edward Higgins, former director of the State Visiting Homemaker Association, will discuss working with people and understanding the elderly.

Candidates can call CR 3-5550 or BR 8-3260.

ON THE DOTTED LINE — Loren F. Gardner, seated, left, president of Crestmont Savings and Loan Association, signs a purchase order for a National Cash-Register computer to provide data processing services for Crestmont and other associations in the area. When the new computer is delivered in the fall, Crestmont will be the first savings and loan association in the state with a full-scale electronic data processing system. Crestmont has two Springfield offices. Also shown above are Joseph Bergwall of NCR, seated, right, and standing from left: R. B. Slaughter and E. J. Kelly of NCR, Raymond Schunk, Crestmont vice-president, and R. D. Schmidt of NCR.

8 Young People To Be Confirmed By Rev. Dewart

Eight young people of Springfield Emanuel Methodist Church will be confirmed at the 10:45 a.m. worship service Sunday.

To be confirmed by the Rev. James Dewart are Robin Geiger, Richard P. Johnson, Robert Thatcher Johnston, Bruce W. Miller, Robert Ouellette, Jeanne Elaine Palmieri, Russell Thomas Pancilio, and Barbara Jean Roy.

On Palm Sunday the young people concluded a six-month course under the direction of Mr. Dewart. They will take a field trip to New York City tomorrow to visit the John Street Methodist Church, the Church of All-Nations, the Church Center at the United Nations and the Cathedral of St. John the Divine.

During the confirmation service Robert Ouellette will present the class gift to the church, two copies of the Methodist Book of Worship to be used in the church and one copy for the church library.

A family night program and supper will honor the confirmation class. It will be held Sunday evening from 5 to 7 o'clock. Guest speaker will be the Rev. Leopold Schaefer, who will present an illustrated lecture concerning the Methodist Inner-City Mission in Elizabeth, Mr. Schneider is Pastor of Calvary-Holy Trinity Methodist Church, Elizabeth, which serves English, Italian, and Spanish speaking peoples.

Clergymen Support 'Peace Week' Goals

Robert Neuben R. Levine of Springfield, the Rev. Richard A. Bryan of New Providence and Dr. Robert Allen of the graduate school, Newark State College, have joined with a Union County committee supporting the "Peace Week" proclamation made by Gov. Richard Hughes recently.

The committee of clergymen and laymen was formed to carry out Hughes' plan that "all church, school and civic groups observe the week with the serious problems of world disarmament, and with prayer for the leaders of all nations."

The committee supported President Johnson's plea for ary of $5,400. They are Ariene Schumann a graduate of Fairleigh Dickinson University, and Mrs. Carol Ginsburg, an alumna of Jersey City State College.

Added to the official list of substitute teachers were Mrs. Patricia Simmons, Marge Horberg, Robert Mischak and Mrs. Gerald Cunningham.

Board members authorized the purchase of new mathematics textbooks as recommended by the committee which has been studying procedures of the "new mathematics."

The Addison Wesley program, "Elementary School Mathematics," was approved for grades one through six, and the American Book Co. program, "ABC Mathematics," for grades seven and eight.

Authorization was voted for materials and equipment in the areas of science, mathematics, reading, English, history civics and geography. Under new federal legislation, the Federal Government will reimburse the local Board of Education for half the cost of these items.

LEADER PROFILE

A year later, Wnek met a nurse in Irvington Medical Center — Bernice Malek of Irvington. "I married her," he said simply, "and we have five children, and the next day she works will be her first since our marriage."

"I was supposed to go to Toronto to play baseball in the Interstate League. But... well," he grinned, "...it was my first year home, I had just become a bridegroom, and I stayed home to take a job in my old high school as teacher and coach."

Wnek mentioned his children with great pride and joy. "There's Susan, 15. She's a freshman at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School; Judy, 13, who is in the eighth grade at Gaudinier; Ricky, 10, in the fifth grade at Walton, Patty 8,

Driver Is Fined On Speed Count

A cab driver, taking a passenger from Summit to Newark Airport last week, found the hard way that Shunpike rd. is a 25-mile-per-hour speed zone.

Albert Scott, 52, who lives in Union, was stopped by Springfield Patrolman Sam Calabrese April 13 and issued a summons for driving 44 miles per hour in Shunpike rd.

Pleading guilty Monday night before Springfield Magistrate Max Sherman, Scott paid a fine of $25.

Fund Drive

Those organizations who definitely stated their interest in a United Fund drive were: National Mental Health, Springfield Junior Baseball League, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Multiple Sclerosis, Retarded Children, Neuro-Muscular Diseases, and Leukemia Association.

Chairman Stiefelman will arrange for experienced personnel from the national association of United Fund drives to speak at the next meeting, at which time it is proposed to set up a permanent committee to get the project under way.

Ethics Code Proposed As Guide Post To Aid Town Officials In Springfield

Henry S. Wright of 53 Colfax st., Springfield, last week proposed that the Springfield Township Committee adopt a code of ethics for elected and appointed officials.

He suggested that the township attorney draw up the code and that a committee be formed to conduct hearings on violations of the code.

Wright would bar campaign contributions from persons doing a business with the township. He suggested that gifts from busi-

Speeding Conviction

Pleading guilty to a charge of speeding in Morris ave., John Czarnik, 20, of Newark, was fined $25 Monday night by Springfield Magistrate Max Sherman. The fine was imposed during regular session of Springfield Municipal Court.

A fine of $18 was imposed Monday night against Alfred Faller, 35, of Somerville, after Faller pleaded guilty before Magistrate Max Sherman to a charge of passing a stop sign in Springfield.

Hollandaise Sauce that won't curdle, lump or separate

1/2 cup butter
2 egg yolks
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon salt
Few grains of cayenne
1 electric range

Follow the Tower of Light to the New York World's Fair

The secret of hollandaise is a precise, constant cooking temperature, and the fact is you can regulate electricity a lot more accurately than you can flame. Nothing's left to guesswork.

Lawn Seed Ends Birds' Famine

Baxter Family Spreads Feast Of Blue Grass

By ROBERT T. BAXTER
Every spring, as soon as the last flake of snow has melted and turned my backyard into a sea of yellowish oozing mud, where green grass should be growing, the wife suddenly jumps from her scorching couch and states, "Well it's time."

Then as if by magic all the kids disappear and I try to find a hiding place large enough for me. We all know that this is the season for the annual lawn care and feeding. But try as we may, the wife finds each of us and drags us kicking and screaming into the yard.

And so begins the raking of last fall's collection of oak leaves, and the removing of last winter's sleighs, skates and the rusting snow shovels left out for old man winter to turn into iron oxide. And throughout the yard the twitter of birds is heard as they gather in our two trees, knowing that soon the Baxter's will spread before them a feast of mighty expensive blue grass seed.

Out from the cluttered garage come weird tools, like rakes with teeth broken off from retrieving model airplanes from the limbs of the oak tree, weed diggers bent points, and shovels with the front edge so ragged that they look more like saws. Then each of us is handed a tool and is assigned an area. After what seems like hours of back breaking bending and picking up the wife decides that the area that we have just completed just isn't good enough, so she goes over the same place again, and all the while she is mumbling under her breath something like, "If you want a job done right, do it yourself." And I keep telling her I agree with her and why doesn't she.

BAKING DONE by her to her satisfaction, off she drags us to the hardware store, checkbook in hand. Then it's 50 pounds of this, and 20 of that. Grass seed comes in 10 pound cans at about $10 a can. Crabgrass remover, lime, and of course large bags of 5-10-5 fertilizer. Then not content with already having spent the table money for a month, off she pops and buys garden hose, sprinkler, new rakes for getting model airplanes from the oak tree and dozens of other garden gadgets.

And to distribute the bags of foul smelling chemicals sagging the car scrapes us bottom as we pull into our driveway. Then the real fun begins; we must spread the hundreds of pounds of lime, and my black pants and black shoes are soon white as I push the spreader, making weird white patterns where our lawn should be. Naturally it's always a windy day so that no matter how you try, the wind always blows the stuff back into your face, and for days after everything you eat tastes like 5-10-5—whatever—that is.

The actual putting on of the grass seed is always done by the wife, with loving care and apparent know-how she carefully spreads the seed evenly here and there, and just as carefully the wind redistributes it where it pleases.

So as the last flicker of sunlight dims in the darkening sky, "Operation Backyard" comes to a final halt, and tired weary and back, sore we drag ourselves into the house, too tired to eat. Then it's early to bed, and earlier to rise as dawn brings with it the sounds of hundreds of which fill the trunk of my car, she rents a spreader that won't fit in the trunk of the car and has to be pushed the three blocks to the house by one of the grumbling kids. Axel dragging and car springs hungry birds, twittering and chirping. Sparrows and jays, robins and starlings and even a cardinal or two thrown in for good measure are devouring all that lovely, expensive grass seed. The wife shoes them but to no avail, and soon the seed has vanished, and once again the Baxter's raise a lovely crop of wild-ohion, chick weed and crabgrass.

Although the same thing happens every year, the wife doesn't give up hope, and I'm sure that next spring we will go through the same thing again. Ah, but one of these days I'll win out and soon our backyard will be green, for I have plans to have it covered with cement and paint it green, and end once and for all the Baxter's annual "Operation Backyard."

YWCA Sponsors Tennis Classes

The adult department of the Elizabeth YWCA will sponsor a two-session outdoor-tennis class in Warrinanco Park beginning Saturday, May 8. The first class will be held at 10:30 a.m., and the second at 11:30 a.m.

Joseph Fearing, 627 Elmwood ter., Linden, will teach both beginners and intermediates. Fearing is tennis coach at Bathin High School, Elizabeth.

Advanced registration and membership in the YWCA is required for the courses which are open to men, women and teenagers. Students must furnish their own shoes and rackets.

AT PAPER MILL

Most Happy With 'The Most Happy Fella'

By WILLIAM H. BRUCKER

A burst of melodious sunshine glows over the Paper Mill Playhouse this week where Frank Loesser's "The Most Happy Fella" brings a new radiance and a glorious stature to the summer musical season.

This is, indeed, a magnificently wrought musical that crescendos to an emotional peak of operatic proportions. Going farther than his predecessors Loesser has studied the Sidney Howard Pulitzer Prize Play of 1924, "They Knew What They Wanted" with 30 musical numbers that are held together by a fluid recitativ. His duets, trios, quartets and ensemble pieces give a formidable dignity to the work and the sheer beauty of his structured music is just as impressive.

There are many musically eloquent pieces. It is difficult to explicate them, but they are grouped into the operatic form, the popular song form, the comedy song form and the Italian street song form.

Aware of what makes show stoppers Loesser has written two like "Standing on the Corner" and "Big D," the first being a lament of the Marty boys of the plains watching their Saturday night's dispart, the second, a tuneful blast for Dallas, complete with spelling and vernacular. Aware of what gives dimension and thrust to his musical he has provided such intensely beautiful songs as "Warm All Over" and "My Heart Is So Full Of You." Either has a melodic line to rank with many of the great in grand opera.

And finally, just as aware as to what makes popular his appear on LPs he has composed "Joey, Joey, Joey," a dusty ballad, and "Don't Cry," an invitation to compromise.

The old play has weathered these 40 years well, and even though the world is a far more involved one, the story of a mail order bride and her romance with a man old enough to be her father rings true and worthy of our attention. Even though the music gets in the way of the plot at times, the human values and relationships still shine through.

Here is Tony, starved for love, ashamed of his poor knowledge of English and his advancing years—resorting to the trick of sending a picture of his handsome ranch foreman as a picture of himself. Here is Amy, despised by her getting nowhere in life, terrified by the idea of marrying a man she has never met.

There is Marie, selfish for her brother, skeptical about the success of their union, sinister in her attacks. And there is Cleo and Hermap, one brash, the other a bruiser; Cleo subduing her insecurity by a tough veneer, Herman loving every one so that he may be loved.

Edwin Stoffe is Tony, the Napa Valley padrone. This is Mr. Stoffe's second visit to the Paper Mill in this role, and he plays it roundly and sings it with dramatic vigor and a dark beauty. He has a big voice, and never ceasing one, he gives it magnanimously. Having played Tony 600 times, his is an expansive reading and he creates a loving and lovable character.

Margot Moser, an established favorite at the Paper Mill, is extremely well cast as Amy, the waitress, whom Tony calls Rosabella. She also sings beautifully and brings credence to the role of the cynical, by-passed girl who finds sincerity and hope for herself in a correspondence with a man she had never met.

Joey, the ranch foreman, is played by Art Lund, just as effectively as he did 10 years ago and as he is likely to do it 10 years from now. For he is the complete cow type straight from the set of "Oklahoma," a roamer who stops only long enough to work up a stake and impregnate. His "Joey" and "Don't Cry" have just the proper portion of whimsiness to them.

Patricia Newmy's broad contralto fits well the role of Marie, Tony's sister. Mimi Bowen-Roberts as Cleo is Ursula's gift to the theater and she brings comic drama to her part as co-worker to Rosabella in a brewery. Dean Dittman is her vis-a-vis and together they romp through "Big D" and "I Made A Fist." The latter is a parody to the glory of folding your fingers and extending your arm. Clifford Scott as the Doctor has one shining aria as he sings "Love and Kindness" with a silver blue tenor voice.

Having mentioned so many of this very large cast, it would be unparadise to omit the names of Lariet Montgomery, George Del Monti and Ken Richards, who, with superb voices, as Giuseppe, Pasquale and Cleo, bring down the house with "Benevenuto," a song of welcome to the "Cera Sposa" of their boss, and "Ab-bondanza," a joyous ode to the good things around us.

Robert T. Williams employs two turn tables on the stage to keep the play moving swiftly, and Stone Widney's direction does convey an Italianate California atmosphere. The orchestra under Jonathan Anderson often lacked distinction, but first night flaws will be smoothed out inevitably.

All in all I was most happy with "That Fella."

Paper-Mill Shows Perrine Paintings

A composite of paintings and pastel drawings by Van Dearing Perrine, valued at more than $32,000, are on display this month in the Art Gallery of Millburn's Paper Mill-Playhouse.

The artist was born in a log cabin on the prairies of Kansas in 1889, just after the Civil War, and went to New York to study. Van Dearing Perrine died in 1955 at the age of 66. His exhibit will remain at the Paper Mill Playhouse through May 2.

BAD BOY!

"Stop being a bad boy," Mother commanded Johnny as he was halfway up the tree. Johnny kept on climbing while Mother called threats of punishment.

Did Johnny continue to climb because he wanted his mother to think he was bad? Not at all. Johnny just didn't believe tree climbing was a bad action. Is it possible he was right? Is tree climbing really "bad," or did his mother call it "bad" because she was afraid he might get hurt or tear his clothes, or get dirty?

Many so-called "bad" actions cause friction which could be eliminated by asking "what in Johnny's own terms has he really done?" When this question is honestly answered, parents often find that the child has done something distasteful or foolish from the adult point of view. But from the child's view, the action is actually of no great significance.

Many of the "bad" actions of children are really only ways of using up their great amount of energy. An ingenious parent often can guide the youngster into physical activity of a more suitable nature than that devised upon by the child. Johnny may be encouraged to dig up the corner selected for a vegetable garden instead of digging for pirate gold in the center of the front lawn. In either case, we must remember that digging is digging to Johnny. He doesn't automatically know that it is "bad" to spade up the lawn.

Antique Show To Aid Student Fund

Lucy Arakellan, proprietor of the House of 7 Wonders, and Alice Cramedjian of Alice's Antiques, both of Irvington, Ruth Henson of Springfield and Helen Howe of Connecticut Farm Antiques in Union will be among the 35 dealers exhibiting at an Outdoor Antiques Show and Sale on Saturday, May 8, at the South Mountain School, Millburn.

Items including early glass, china, primitives, furniture, jewelry, books, guns, coins and stamps, dolls, postcards, and decorator accessories will be offered for sale between the hours of 11 a.m. and 5 p.m. on the school grounds at Southern Slope Drive in this P. T. A. sponsored event.

Among the special attractions will be an old-fashioned country store, a silhouette artist, a snack bar and ample free parking. Tickets are priced at 50 cents and children under 12 will be admitted free. Proceeds from the show will be used for the student loan fund and the school library. In the event of rain, Saturday, May 22 has been chosen as the alternate date.

New NSC Prof Taught Monroe Karbe Gave Marilyn Swim Lessons

College professor who gave swimming lessons to Marilyn Monroe has joined the ranks of Newark State College faculty. He is Wolfgang Karbe, 34, of Newark, N.J., who has been named assistant professor in the health and physical education department.

Karbe is a native of Lunenburg, Germany. After World War II, he served five years in a Russian prisoner of war camp. Following his release, he served in the U.S. Occupation Army for nine months, rising from private to second lieutenant in only two months. In 1951, Karbe left his native Germany and came to the University of Alberta, Edmonton, Canada, where he earned a B. A. degree in education. To pay his tuition, he taught swimming every summer at a resort in the Canadian Rockies. It was here that he taught Marilyn Monroe and other celebrities.

Following his graduation from the University of Alberta, Karbe decided to give up his Canadian citizenship and come to the U. S. because, as he puts it, "I like to get to know the world. I like people very much and am very interested in them."

After earning his M. A. degree from the University of California at Berkeley, he then decided that he would like to see the Eastern part of the country and took a job as a substitute teacher in Union County public schools.

In addition to his regular teaching duties at the college, he is working on a doctoral thesis for New York University, which deals with the anxious reactions that people have when learning to swim. Karbe also is a member of Kappa Delta Pi national honor society for educators.

Karbe's interests are varied and run the gamut from philosophy to physical fitness. "I like books and I like physical activities — a combination of the two makes a healthy life," Karbe states.

He is the author of an article entitled "Physical Education and Sports in East and West Germany" which appeared in The Physical Educator, Vol. 10, October, 1952, and a book titled "A Critical Analysis of Goldwater" which has been accepted for publication. Karbe now is writing another book to be called "The Phenomenon of Hatred." It deals with hatred between social groups such as races, nationalities, and religions.

A bachelor, Karbe says, "I never had the time or the money to marry."

THE FEMININE LOOK

Commentary on a recent National Editorial Association Study Mission Around South America

By TRUDINA HOWARD

Eighth of a Series

ARGENTINA CONTINUED

Argentina has some of the world's richest farm lands and pasture, some of South America's best fed, best educated, best trained people and one of Latin America's most highly developed industrial structures, yet it has economic problems. Political turbulence and serious economic difficulties have prevented it from realizing its full potential.

COMMUNIST AND PRO-WESTERN

There should be a better appreciation of this in the United States. Castro is not looked upon favorably by Argentina and there are no diplomatic relations with Cuba or Communist China.

AND SO IT SEEMS that the election of last month in which the Neo-Peronists gained 35 per cent of the popular vote in a congressional election and President Illia's Peoples' Radicals Party only 27 per cent was no great surprise even though it may have caused some dismay.

THE second thing about Argentina that most people think of incorrectly is that it is not stable, but since the inauguration of Oct. 1963 the government has been a good government.

THIRD, Argentina is not neutral. It is on the side of the west, and has cooperated in many western movements. It is anti-

A LITTLE BOY WALKS — Little Glen Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Smith of Elizabeth, tells members of the Cerebral Palsy Service Committee of Union County, Mrs. J.F. Balak, left, and Mrs. William Selb of Elizabeth, that he is ready for a stroll at the Cerebral Palsy Center in Cranford. The committee is sponsoring a cocktail dance May 2 to raise funds for therapy equipment for the center.

Union County Cerebral Service Group Plans 'May In Bermuda' Dance Benefit

The Cerebral Service Group, which is a committee of Union County will, on May 2, hold a "May in Bermuda" cocktail dance at the Schackamaxon Club in Cranford. The theme, "May in Bermuda" was selected because the Service Committee, which was formed in January, 1962, has 35 members representing Union County, who meet monthly at the center and at respective members' homes.

Officers for the 1964-65 season are Mrs. Harry Bernstein, president; Mrs. Frank Pizz, vice-president; Mrs. W. A. Bole, secretary; Mrs. Frank Hayes, recording secretary; Mrs. Robert Hyatt, treasurer.

Among the committee chairman for the benefit are Mrs. J. Balak and Mrs. Helen Imbrie, both of Union.

Miss McCormack's Troth Told To W. James Zeiss

Mrs. Martin L. McCormack of Clifton has announced the engagement of her daughter, Patricia Ann, to W. James Zeiss, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard J. Zeiss Sr. of Union. Mrs. Zeiss is a member of the editorial staff of the Suburban Publishing Co. Miss McCormack also is the daughter of the late Mr. Martin L. McCormack.

The announcement was made at a dinner party on Eastern Boulevard.

Miss McCormack, who was graduated from St. Mary's High School, Rutherford, is a senior at Caldwell College for Women, Caldwell, where she is president of the Student Government and a member of "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges." She will receive a B.A. degree in English and a teacher's certificate in elementary education this June.

Her fiancé is an alumnus of Our Lady of the Valley High School, Orange and Rutgers University, New Brunswick, where he received a B.A. degree in history and was a member of the Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society.

MISS PATRICIA MCCORMACK is the daughter of the late Mr. Martin L. McCormack.

FURS TO FASHION RESEARCH UNIT'S MEETING MONDAY

Ruth Estrin Goldberg Memorial fur fashion show will feature a fur fashion show at its general meeting Monday at 8:30 p.m. at Congregation Beth Shalom, Union. The show will be presented by Friedner and Pyles, New York furriers.

The organization held a fund-raising dance recently at Temple Shalom, Springfield, which was treated a success by the president, Mrs. Sanford Weller of Springfield.

Chairmen for the dance were Mrs. Philip Zwajsky of Union and Mrs. Jacob of Cranford.

BOWLING LEAGUE GIVES TROPHIES

The three members of the "Kings" first place team in the Bowling League of the Mountainside Newcomers Club, presented trophies at a luncheon held recently in the William Pitt Inn, Chatham. "Kings" are Mrs. Robert Lawrence, Mrs. George Schwabker and Mrs. Roland Roedter.

Other awards presented at the luncheon, which climaxed the season for the league, went to Mrs. John Kaufman for high average, Mrs. Donald Siegel, high game, and Mrs. William Casper, high series.

Mountainside Student To Present Research

Carl E. Budd of 214 Evergreen court, Mountainside, a senior at Rutgers University, will present a paper on mathematics Saturday before the Henry Rutgers Conference.

Budd is one of 36 scholars selected to do conference research during their senior year.

Publicity chairman and individuals are urged to get their news items in this newspaper on Friday. Also, type them on one side of the paper only, double.

Girl Scouts Plan Armory Exhibit

Girl Scouts from Union County will join an expected 1500 members of the Washington Rock-Gladstone Council in a festival Saturday, May 8, at the National Guard Armory in West Orange.

Included in "The Village Fair" exhibit will be demonstrations of Girl Scout activities in 14 booths. A village theater will be the scene for vocal music programs and dancing.

On the committee organizing the festival are Mrs. Robert Ziegler of Springfield and Mrs. Harold Pitman of Roselle.

ELECTION SLATED BY PARENTS UNIT MONDAY EVENING

Parents Without Partners, Inc., Essex-Union Chapter of New Jersey, will hold election of officers at its next meeting to be held at the Coronet, 925 Springfield ave., Irvington, Monday at 8:30 p.m.

Papers for the International Conference in New York, June 25-27 will be discussed.

Patricia Made will report on Father's Day, 1964, and committee responsible for awards for that day.

Mrs. Anne Stenstrom is program chairman.

Mrs. Hughes Heads Mental Health Fund

Mrs. Mildred Barry Hughes, Union County Assemblywoman from Union, will be chairman for the fifth year of the Annual Fund Campaign of the Union County Assn. for Mental Health. It was announced this week by Thomas P. Prout, Jr., association president.

Mrs. Hughes said the County Assn. is engaged in several new services for the mentally ill in Union County.

She cited the Willow School for emotionally disturbed children, the Occupational Center of Union County and Bridgeway House, an avenue back to the community for mental patients.

Mrs. Hughes has been the sponsor in the State Legislature of bills to create and update the care and treatment of the mentally ill.

Mrs. Hughes set $58,000 as the year's goal. The funds will be used to support the programs of state and national mental health groups and the Union County Assn. for Mental Health.

UJC Graduate Group Will Honor Professor

Prof. Gregory, Elizabeth, will be honored at a testimonial dinner on May 15 at the Fern Brook Country Club. Sponsored by the Union Junior College Alumni Association in recognition of 25 years service on the UJC faculty.

Prof. Gregory, who joined the UJC faculty in September, 1940, teaches mathematics and engineering. This was his first and only job and his only offer, he recalls.

Tickets for the dinner can be obtained in the Alumni Office at Union Junior College, Cranford, and from all officers and directors of the UJC Alumni Association.

field; Lillian Kobb, Roselle Park; Virginia Freeman, Union; Amy Bandomer, Springfield; Barbara Claman, Westfield, and Frank Kopecky, Union.

Theater Date Set By Republicans For Annual Party

Plans for the Union County Republican Committee's annual theater party have been completed. It was announced by the project's chairman, Virginia Freeman, of Union, following a recent meeting with executive board members at the home of Barbara Claman, 6 Rutgers Ct., Westfield.

The theater party date is June 3 at the Paper Mill Playhouse and the show is "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," featuring George Rose and Jack Gifford. Mrs. Freeman said that though tickets are still available, the present sale rate points to a "sell-out."

In addition to Mrs. Claman, committee members are: chairman Irving Velinsky, Plainfield; Amy Bandomer, Springfield; Lillian Kobb, Roselle Park; and Frank Kopecky, Union.

Ice Arena Schedules Sessions In Summer

The Ice Land Skating Arena in South Plainfield will extend the skating season through the summer, it was announced this week.

Registrations for the sessions which begin June 22 are being taken at the arena. The sessions will run from 6:30 a.m. to 10:30 p.m.

Mend Fund Drive Seeking Support

The Mend Fund Drive for 1965 in Union County is entering its final all-out effort to make this the most successful campaign yet in the fight against crippling nerve and muscle diseases, according to Edwin Aaron, county campaign chairman.

The annual educational and fund raising drive seeks support for the programs of research and local patient services of the National Foundation for Neuromuscular Diseases, Aaron said.

"If a volunteer calls at your home when you are out," the Mend Fund chairman said, "you can send your contributions to the Mend Fund, c/o The First Bank of Union, Box 1330, Union."

Acting Admissions Director At UJC Tells Of May 1 Application Deadline

Prof. Bruce P. Watson, acting director of admissions, reminded high school seniors this week that the deadline to file applications for Union Junior College's Day Session next September is May 1.

Prof. Watson said that the number of applications is nearly 50 percent more than last year's total, but the number of openings is not increased. He said that the deadline to file applications is May 1, but that the deadline to file applications for the maximum at the same level is June 1.

Planning Can Bring Rewards In Remodeling, So Make That Check List Before Work Starts

FILIGREED SCREEN such as this one of hardboard can give privacy to any area and be decorative, too.

Inside, outside and all around the house, from the basement to the roof and from the interior family room to the outdoor patio and garden, there's something going on in many, many homes these days — a considerable "something" in the way of home improvements. Families intent on making the old new again, on increasing living space and bettering existing space, on boosting the comfort, convenience, beauty and enjoyment of the entire home and adding substantially to property values, are going into action now to make sure their own particular improvements get off to a good start and reach a satisfactory conclusion.

Whether the plans involve repairs, remodeling or expansion, or all three, rewarding results do depend greatly on the "good" improvements of any kind — to determine first just what the home needs to put it in top shape and assure the successful completion of new projects. A modern, automatic kitchen, for instance, can't be a dream come true if the house wiring isn't up to the added electrical load, and a central heating-cooling system is apt to be a costly disappointment if the conditions of walls, windows and doors causes dissipation of warm or cool air, in season, to the great outdoors.

CLEAN-UP HINTS EASE REMODELING DIRT PROBLEMS

Homemakers thinking of leaving home until after the family room has been paneled or the fixtures installed in the bathroom or the wallpaper added in the children's room will find that a few house-keeping precautions make home improvements much simpler. Proper cleaning measures will preserve a safe, clean home during renovation, according to professional experts. Equipment should first be organized into these categories:

1. A variety of clean rags, from chambray to scraps of old bath towels and sheets.
2. Brushes and mops, including a chemically-treated mophead that will pick up gritty soil.
3. A supply of soap, cleaners, polishers and waxes.
4. A first-aid kit of solutions for spot emergencies.

Throw rugs, rubber mats or old pieces of carpet should be placed both inside and outside areas where work is in progress. Heavy construction is scheduled, a coat of finish or "sealer" will help protect the flooring. The surface of wood floors may be guarded with a special application of wax. Later, the floors should be thoroughly cleaned and re-finished.

Rugs, furniture and walls should be vacuumed frequently to prevent a hard-to-remove film of soil from gathering. Waste should be thrown out at the end of the day so that it doesn't pile up. If waste material contains plaster or dusty articles, sprinkling with water or wrapping in wet paper will make removal easier and less dusty.

Keeping work areas clear will reduce household hazards, as well as dirt. Steps should be taken to clear these areas of curious young observers. If children are too small to heed "off-limits" signs or commands, a temporary barrier should be set up.

HOME PROJECTS JUMP $1 BILLION WITHIN 10 YEARS

Although baseball, bowling, hunting and fishing each has a claim to fame as an important national pastime, there's a new challenger coming up fast — home improvement.

Most recent complete figures from the U. S. Bureau of Census, show that the nation's homeowners spent a big $11,733,000,000 for home improvement in 1963, points out Executive Director Edgar Hall of the National Improvement Council.

To see just how home improvement activity has grown, look back a decade or so. During the first five months of 1953, three billion dollars was spent on home improvement. During the corresponding period in 1963, that figure zoomed to four billion, four hundred million.

Projecting the 1963 outlay for five months to an estimated 12 months gives a figure of eight billion dollars, versus 1963's 11 billion, 733 million.

SMALL PARTS

When cleaning a number of small parts in solvent, keep them from getting lost by first putting them inside a scrap piece of wire or screening bent into a bowl shape which can be lowered into solvent.

Plumbing

Most common plumbing problem is the loss of water pressure from corrosion in the pipes. To test water pressure, turn on all the faucets in the house and flush the water closet.

If water from the faucets drips to a trickle, it can mean future plumbing troubles. Any lime-like accumulations around valve stems is an indication that the valve is leaking.

Hot Water System

Trouble brewing in a tank hot water system shows up first in rust and leaks around the pilot light and burner.

A family of five persons, which has a washing-machine, should have a water heater with a minimum capacity of 40 to 50 gallons.

Insulation

To check for adequate wall insulation, place one hand against the inside surface of an exterior wall on a cold day. If it feels much colder than the surface of an interior wall, too much heat is escaping.

Wood Structure

Most common problem in the wood structure of a house is termites. Signs of their presence include: mud tubes, hollowed-out wood, and visible signs of their presence.

Roof and Gutters

Loose shingles should be nailed back in place and broken ones replaced. Check the chimneys for bird nests or other obstructions which can create a fire hazard. Also examine gutters and downspouts, clearing out accumulated leaves and other debris.

Basements

Signs of a wet basement are dark stains on the walls and floors, flaky cement on the walls.

ENTERTAINMENT CENTER BUILT IN to the wall of a room provides space for the television set, with storage space above for books, records and trophies. The TV set can be shut away when not in use, leaving shelves handy to the desk. Knotty-wood paneling used for walls as well as built-ins helps to unify the room.

An Invitation To Browse Extended By 'Lamp City'

An invitation for the public to browse among one of this area's largest collections of lamp shades, decorator graphic arts and imported oil paintings was made today by Steve Odinsky, manager of Lamp City, Route 22, Union.

He added that the hundreds of lamps and shades, both foreign and domestic, on display does not end the selection. "Home-makers or decorators interested in custom-made shades may bring their own fabrics to follow certain decor," Odinsky said. "We make available a further selection of hundreds of shade frame styles."

Styles of both ready and custom-made shades range from ultra-modern through provincial, contemporary, Mediterranean and colonial.

Replicas of sculptor masterpieces features the graphic arts display. The oil paintings are principally European.

Heating System

A heating plant should be cleaned at least once a year, at the end of the heating season. Inspect the inside of the furnace and boiler for signs of cracking and rust. Check the base for rust and general deterioration.

WHAT TO SPEND ON HOME NEEDS BUYER'S DECISION

When you shop for furnishings for your home, what can you do to be sure of getting what you need at a price you can afford to pay? How can you avoid confusion, disappointment and loss of money when you buy? With the salesman's help, what can you do to buy intelligently?

Even though laws, regulations and standards protect you, it is necessary for you, the consumer, to accept your share of the responsibility when you buy, says Miss Gena Thames, extension home furnishing specialist at the College of Agriculture, Rutgers University.

Shopping for furnishings begins at home, she declares, and continues, "Only you can determine what pieces of furniture you need, how much you can afford to spend and how the furnishings must perform for your purposes."

"You can't expect the government or the manufacturer or the salesman to do this for you! Before you begin to shop, know what you need and plan what you will buy."

"Answer these questions: Must upholstery fabric withstand abuse, constant use and frequent cleaning? Will rug receive constant wear, tracking and 'heeling'?" Do you want a window treatment to afford privacy, cut out glare, or resist sun damage? "The decision is yours. Your responsibility is to be informed to be a discriminating shopper. You cannot choose wisely from an array of consumer goods unless you have up-to-date knowledge of the different types and qualities available and the performance that you can expect from them."

"It takes time to shop intelligently, but the investment of your time can save your dollars. And it may add years of satisfaction with the furnishings that you purchase," Miss Thames says.

PLAN COLOR-HARMONY

When color styling two ad walls of the two rooms, the painting rooms, care should be same color and to repeat the taken to make the transition color of the floor covering of from one to the other a smooth one room on the ceiling of the one so that the two do not clash. A second area would be to reverse the wall and ceiling colors of the two.

The National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association says: Still another plan might be to use two methods which help to take a lighter or darker hue achieve a harmonious look. One method is to paint the and use it in the second.

Prefinished Paneling For Re-Doing Rooms

Whether a dwelling is new or old, the middle-aged or young modern ideas for distinctive interiors are constantly being sought by home decorators. Both amateur and professional budget and light maintenance, however, often dictate the choice of materials.

Many homemakers are not aware that hardwood paneling once considered a luxury, has moved into the economy range, thanks to the development of prefinished paneling. This new material is available in a wide variety of styles and colors. It is made of real wood and is finished with a clear, protective coating. It is easy to install and requires no special maintenance.

Weather-evening or random-spaced, grooves in Reisen Lumber's prefinished paneling fall in line with the grain of the wood. This makes for a natural, unobtrusive appearance. The paneling is available in a variety of wood species and finishes.

Can you use paneling in a small room? "Yes. In fact, you can make the room appear larger by using a light-toned wood. If you want the room to look longer, run the panel's horizontal. If the ceiling is low, run the panels vertically."

Can paneling be used in period rooms? "Definitely yes. Real wood paneling adapts to all decorative styles regardless of architecture or design. It is the room's furnishings and accessories which really determine the period style."

Should the walls match the furniture? Not necessarily. This will help to retain the new-look without looking like a museum. The lighter woods today offer a desired contrast to dark furniture and vice-versa.

Does paneling limit the use of color in furnishings? "No. On the contrary, it tends to give other colors greater richness and depth."

Suppose I want to change color schemes, will the paneling conflict? "No. Select a neutral-toned wood species and you'll find it goes with just about everything. You will have a permanent background for practically any color you choose to use in furnishings."

How is paneling cared for?

Weldwood panels will remain beautiful indefinitely under normal conditions, requiring only an occasional dusting with a damp cloth. Occasional waxing will help to retain the new-look without looking like a museum.

Can paneling be used for bathroom walls? "Yes, except for the shower and tub area. Interior paneling is moisture-resistant but not waterproof and installation should be as directed by the manufacturer."

What about ceiling? "They can match, contrast or harmonize with your panels for an entire room or use same wood species with one-wall paneling as an accent area."

Worth said he has worked hard to make his rental business efficient, attractive and businesslike. "Every business on this highway is fighting to get attention," Worth said. "We have managed to get the prospective buyer's eye by our neatly landscaped front, clean building signs and freshly painted exterior."

"At night," he said, "the unique lighting system used both inside and outside the store, is an attention getter. At night the lights change color from the outside of the structure and our inside displays are kept lit until midnight."

"Once we get the customer's attention," Worth emphasized, "we have no trouble keeping it because we run an efficient operation. Our customers keep coming back."

Precast Stone Veneers Give 'New Look'

The use of precast stone veneers to reface a home or business building is becoming a popular and practical trend, according to Max Epstein, president of Progress Construction Co. of 2515 Vauxhall Rd., Union.

Progress specializes in refacing buildings with Samastone and installing Shawnee precast steps. The business has been located in Union for 11 years, has been in operation 26 years, and Shauner-steps, which come ready made, are "designed for safety, beauty and durability."

Epstein also points to an unconditional, 10-year guarantee and one-day installation for most steps. Samastone is used to convert frame or block construction into a stone veneer that offers many advantages, the Progress president points out. These he notes include insulation that saves on fuel, eliminates painting and repairs, adds structural strength and proof against termites, vermin and dry-rot.

Good Engineering Saves Fuel, Gives Best Heating

A heating system has to be properly engineered to work at maximum efficiency, according to a spokesman for General Heating Corp. of 1025 Clinton Ave., Irvington. "Each installation presents an individual problem and requires a heating expert's knowledge and follow-through," the spokesman said.

General Heating has proven that a heating installation properly installed—whether it be gas or oil—can save as much as 50 percent on fuel bills, the spokesman said. He added: "Experts are always available at General Heating to discuss any heating problems free and at no obligation."

Jasco Story: 'Ideas . . . And A Million Tiles'

Why Jasco Tile Co. has become so important in the decorating plans of countless thousands of families and why the company's three expanding showrooms—in Union, Paramus and Easton town—continue to attract an ever-enlarging circle of Jasco aficionados, is explained by Abe Mintz and Sam Krienberg, co-owners. Their statement follows:

"Ideas—essentially ideas—are Jasco's stock-in-trade. Virtually a limitless world of ideas await the decor-conscious homeowner just inside the doors of the Jasco showroom."

"One million floor and wall tiles constantly maintained in Jasco's inventory are, in effect, the instruments by which these ideas spring to life. To the average retailer, the mere notion of stocking a million of anything would have a staggering, nerve-jolting effect. But Jasco's "think big" philosophy and "always think better" policy have made the company the fountainhead of decorating ideas that it is today.

"We once tried to estimate how high our stock of a million floor and wall tiles would go if we ever tried to stack them up. Our best guess was something about the height of Mount Everest.

"Whatever is made in tile, Jasco finds it. And in the display in a Jasco showroom are found the fruits of that search —a world-wide gathering of decorating ideas. In eye-arresting display after display, the viewer is treated to a delightful rainbow of colors, textures and patterns.

"In size, shape, color, texture, opacity or translucency, Jasco's "think big" philosophy assumes gigantic proportions. Rubber, cork, vinyl in its many moods and variations, ceramics, mosaics, linoleum tile — every conceivable tile material, every size and — limitless spectrum of colors — all in sensibly logical displays await your pleasure at Jasco.

"Jasco's list of suppliers reads like a blue-book of top brand names in the tile business. Ken-tile, Amlico, Robbins, Goodyear, V.P.L. and Armstrong are among the world's leading manufacturers represented.

"For the rugged individualist who delights in do-it-yourself pursuits, Jasco has an interesting and applicable switch: Tile-It-Yourself. They offer free instructions in the art of Tile-It-Yourself. Prepared and explained by experts, the instructions ease the task for even the most uninitiated self-doer.

"Next, Jasco offers the Tile-It-Yourself free loan and use of all necessary tools. A unique and sensible service, too, is its no-risk refund policy. Any unused tiles may be returned for a full refund.

"For the not-so-hearty soul or the full-blown customer, Jasco maintains a custom floor tile design center with installations by the company's expert staff of technicians.

"As part of its floor tile center, Jasco offers a free design service. Custom planning and individual designs matched to the homeowner's decor and tastes are features of this no-cost service.

"Jasco recently opened a new carpeting department in their showroom on Route 22, Union. Here again, ideas are the life-blood of the department — ideas that enable the customer to coordinate her entire floor decorating scheme, both floor tiles and carpeting. Among the leading brands in this department are Alexander Smith and Callaway. And the company offers a free stop-at-home service whereby a customer can select from a wide range of samples and make her selections against the actual background to which they will ultimately appear.

"Jasco's Union Showroom is located on Route 22.

Water Softener Service Is Homemaker's Helper

The new automatic water softener is truly one of the best helpers to the homemaker, according to Hubert Nelson, local Culligan man. The softener shows the lady of the house remarkable results in everything she normally washes, Nelson said, including cleaner laundry and sparkling dishes.

"Other features of the softener," Nelson emphasized, "proved to the homemaker that her hair and skin respond beautifully to the gentle cleaning action of soft water and simple soap."

"Dramatic savings of soaps and washing compounds result from using soft water and there is also the prevention of costly scale deposits in the hot water heater and piping," Nelson said.

"These economies become an impressive return on the investment in the softener and more than justify its nominal cost," he said.

HODOR DINETTES CUSTOM BUILDS FURNITURE SETS

Hodor Dinettes, described by Samuel Potash, general manager, as "America's largest chain of dinette stores," has served the New Jersey and Metropolitan New York area for 31 years.

"These stores take pride in their merchandise and the prices offered," explains Potash.

"Our slogan, 'Better Buys Because We Build Them,' is more than a slogan. It is a rigid standard which is resolutely applied to each and every set we produce. We custom build to your specifications," he went on to say.

Using various materials such as chrome, wrought iron, "Hodorite" and Hodor's luxury laminate, that wipe-clean and resists burns and stains, the Hodor chain "unconditionally guarantees" to fill a customer's needs or budget, according to Potash.

The home office for the New Jersey branch stores is located at 2234 Morris Ave., Union. There are more than 20 Hodor stores in the New Jersey-New York area.

Space-Saving Heating Is New Trend, Owners Of Cerv-All Company Point Out

"Whatever the type of heating in the home and whatever the fuel, today's newest trend is certainly towards the compact, space-saving furnace," according to Nick Mosco and Joe Duddy, owners of Cerv-All Heating & Air Conditioning Co., 444 Bloy St., Hillside.

"Furnaces that will heat an entire home are now so compact that they can be tucked away in a closet. Or, if the furnace is located in the conventional area, the basement, there can still be plenty of room left for a family room or laundry center," Mosco said.

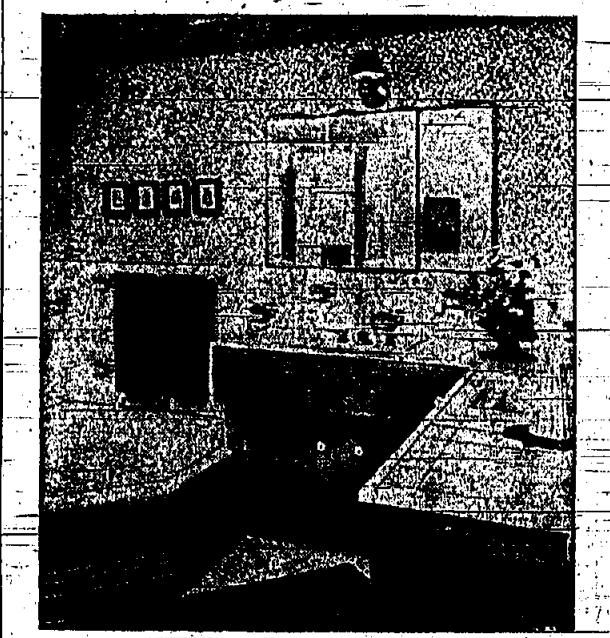

"Still another trend," Duddy pointed out, "is toward the combined heating-cooling system. Homeowners planning to modernize the heating plant might well consider a system that will control the home climate in hot weather, too."

When the question of the type of heating comes up, the new developments in hydronic (hot water) heating are worth attention, both men emphasized.

"Overized and inconvenient radiators can now be eliminated and replaced by wall-hugging, baseboard units which allow much more space and are out of the way," they said.

"Hydronic equipment can frequently be connected to existing piping of an old steam or gravity-type hot water system, reducing material and labor costs. New lines of finger-size tubing are easily installed and normally do not require alterations in home construction."

Mosco and Duddy said: "Before installing any heating, it is advisable to get in touch with a heating contractor. We are in a position to help with the choice of the type of fuel to be used and will also make sure that other remodeling projects will not hinder the heating."

LANDSCAPING KEY TO EXPANDING FAMILY BENEFITS

Most families take pride in living in beautiful natural surroundings. More and more families are developing the grounds around their homes into inviting, beautiful "outdoor living" rooms.

These "outdoor living" rooms furnish restful retreats for adults, places for teenagers to entertain and for the small children to play safely, and to learn about growing things.

Landscaping can accomplish the beauty; each family member can enjoy it. Seventy-two percent of home owners are critical of neighbors with poorly kept grounds — they think of them as too poor to do anything about beautifying, or lazy and shiftless.

On the other hand, they think of families living more beautifully as good citizens, refined and educated.

For individual members of the family, good landscaping can accomplish a great deal.

It is wholesome and educational for children. One industrialist planted a tree for each of his seven children, who watched the trees grow. They experienced the natural flowering and fruiting of the trees.

Loans Are Possible For Lighting, Wiring

Lending institutions recognize that many a house which is structurally sound suffers from obsolete wiring. Therefore, they will usually approve modernization loans for wiring improvements. Often, such financing can be extended to include electrical equipment and new lighting fixtures, too.

Many electrical contractors offer installment financing.

AAMCO Transmissions' Life-Time Guarantee

AAMCO Automatic Transmissions is a nationwide chain of automatic transmission shops, with a locally owned and operated unit at 2240 Morris Ave., Union.

An AAMCO spokesman quoted their aim as immediate attention to a customer's automatic transmission difficulties by specialists, no matter what the automobile make or model.

He added, "This specialization on a local level means lower prices — and, on a national level means a nationally-known guarantee. New techniques and methods were developed to turn out quality repairs in volume. Each mechanic employed in an AAMCO shop is individually trained in all phases of the repair operation. This mechanical know-how is coupled with the most up-to-date equipment to insure a job well done. AAMCO Union, like other AAMCO shops has spent close to $76,000 on new equipment alone.

"Mass-purchasing power plus volume shop sales equals low operating costs. AAMCO's written lifetime guarantee has become nationally famous throughout the United States and Canada. Each AAMCO shop honors this guarantee."

AAMCO offers other services. One-hour to one-day service is offered depending on the job. AAMCO's free transmission check-up offers a prospective customer a clear picture of their specific needs and also the cost involved. National credit outlets facilitate easy credit approval to each customer. Free towing is another service offered.

Designs Provide Roomier Bathrooms

When it comes to expanding bathroom facilities in the home, family convenience comes first. However, today's designs in bathroom fixtures make it easy to plan for smart, decorative appointments.

Whether adding a new bath or modernizing an old one, homeowners will find that modern fixtures are designed to make the most of available space, in everything from the smallest powder room to the most spacious bathroom.

The size of the bathroom determines the size of the plumbing fixtures, but even a five-foot by seven-foot area can contain a full-size bathtub and twin lavatories, with double bowls for double convenience and new single-control faucets. The emphasis is still on comfort and roominess for ample, a tub five and a half feet long, 32 inches wide and 16 inches high.

With the new, compact lavatories in the market, powder rooms with countertops along two walls are possible in areas as small as four feet by four feet. Wall-hung lavatories are also available in many new, modernistic designs.

Where room does not permit a twin lavatory installation, it's advisable to select a large single fixture, with ample ledgers and bowl size.

Water closet styling is streamlined, with emphasis on quality flushing mechanisms. Off-the-door models gain popularity, due to greater cleaning ease.

Utilitarian white in plumbing fixtures is giving way to more and more color. Enamelled cast iron and china are color matched in brand name fixtures.

Among the most popular fixture colors now are the sandy shades such as Fawn, beige.

HOW TO CHOOSE DUAL WINDOWS

Combination storm and screen windows contribute a lot of living comfort — and they contribute still more if they're carefully chosen for lasting performance.

When buying storms and screens, test the units for ease of operation, making sure they work without frantic tugging.

Examine cut-away sections for construction — and design. Heavy-gauge extruded aluminum for the frames assures rigidity.

The insect wire screening is an important factor in trouble-free service. Quality windows and doors come equipped with aluminum screening made under a standard issued by the U. S. Department of Commerce, which governs quality of the wire, its tensile strength and mesh size.

Examine the hardware. It should be heavy-gauge aluminum, simply designed but strong.

Beware of skimpy fittings. One indication of quality is the use of substantial gaskets (triangular metal reinforcements).

Accounts Show Rise In Savings Banks

Deposits in New Jersey's mutual savings banks have risen more than $34 million in the past three months, it was reported this week by John S. Freeman, secretary of the Savings Banks Association of New Jersey. Deposits at the end of last month stood at $1,011,785,000, he said.

Freeman indicated the average account in a New Jersey savings bank is now almost $3,000 — an increase of more than $1,000 over the average 10 years ago.

Partition Materials Help Control Noises

When selecting materials for constructing room partitions, attention should be given to both the development of a satisfactory and adequate noise suppression.

Plaster is a popular and effective method for finishing interior walls and ceilings. It is capable of receiving both paint and wallpaper and offers good sound suppression qualities.

Full effectiveness of plaster finish is achieved by using a good foundation. One of the best is expanded metal lath, attached directly to joists and studding. If exterior walls are studding, if exterior walls are in need.

Metal lath can be installed in a manner to prevent the plaster from coming into direct contact with possible dampness or moisture from the exterior walls of a home.

Right Windows Make Big Difference In Your Home Remodeling Projects

The right combination of windows can make a great difference in the long-time pleasure that comes from a home remodeling project.

A first consideration is harmony of style with the original windows, but don't overlook the opportunity for a blithe note such as a bow window at the front of the house, or a big view overlooking the backyard or patio.

Special situations may call for special solutions, such as a "ribbon" of windows placed high on a bedroom wall for privacy sake; or flying windows that can be left open when it rains.

There's a great variety of styles, types and sizes of wood windows available from local building supply dealers.

Wood windows come in case-swing, bay, bow, double-hung and sliding types. There are also sliding-door combinations and various arrangements of opening walls of windows which may include vents that open either inward or outward, with screen inserts, as needed.

Ponderosa pine, of which most stock wood windows are made, is a natural insulating material which means heat loss in winter is kept to a minimum and moisture won't condense on the sash. The wood is chemically treated for durability, and the windows are weatherstripped at the factory.

ONE-HANDEDNESS IS A GOOD RULE RE: ELECTRICITY

The basic rule of putting both hands to work to save time and energy in efficient homemaking does not apply when electricity.

When using electrical equipment, never try to do two things at the same time, warns Mrs. Cleo M. Cottrell, extension home management-family economics specialist at the College of Agriculture, Rutgers University.

For safety when handling appliances or when changing a fuse, avoid touching anything else. If the appliance is worn or otherwise defective, it may cause a short circuit and there is the possibility of shock. One-handedness eliminates some of this danger.

Take special care in the bathroom and kitchen because electricity travels through water. When turning on an electric light with one hand, don't touch a damp surface or the metal water faucet with the other hand. Be sure your hands are dry when handling any electrical equipment and that the floor you are standing on is dry, too.

Cement floors often appear dry yet hold enough moisture to be shock-hazards. Never touch a radio, portable electric heater or other electrical appliance, or turn on lights when in the bathtub. The same rule applies when washing dishes or doing the laundry.

Another two-handed hazard has to do with the vacuum cleaner. The New Jersey specialist points out, if you use one hand to run the cleaner, and the other hand to move a metal lamp out of the way, or either of the appliances happens to have a loose wire or other defect, an electric shock can result.

Today is a good time to check all electrical appliances and connections in the home to make sure that there are no loose wires or other defects that are shock hazards, Mrs. Cottrell suggests.

Niches Provide Charm To Rooms At Low Cost

A well-placed niche can often add charm and distinction to an otherwise conventional room. Such a feature can be added to the average home at little expense or effort. It is particularly easy to do when a room is to be redecorated.

The space between wall studs will provide for a niche about 13 inches wide and as tall as desired, assuming there are no ducts or pipes or conduit in that part of the wall.

To build the niche, metal lath is bent to the desired shape and is nailed to the studs. The corners are reinforced with metal corner bead and plaster is then applied.

Check The Guarantees When Buying Equipment

By MARY W. ARMSTRONG, E.E.D.
Senior Home Economist

A piece of modern home equipment can be a joy to own and to use. It can also be a good investment if its performance measures up to your expectations. You, the purchaser, can know what you have a right to expect as far as service without a high price tag by checking the guarantee and the service available. This should be done before the purchase is made.

Do you have a guarantee from the dealer or manufacturer? Or only a warranty? The first usually promises replacement of defective parts within a given time, including labor costs involved. The second promises only parts replacement, labor costs are not included. Labor costs for expensive repairs may amount to much more than the cost of materials.

Looking into the availability of reliable repair service before you buy is good insurance for keeping labor saving equipment both labor saving and economical to operate.

Kitchen and home-laundry equipment, for example, is becoming more convenient, more attractive, more wonderful each year. But at times even the most wonderful piece of household equipment will need repair; then the service of a well-trained person who understands the problem is needed.

The general field of service is expanding in order to insure the homemaker that her appliance will have adequate care. Mrs. Cleo M. Cottrell, home management-family economics specialist on our Rutgers University staff, says: Service guarantees are being offered on many major appliances in cooperation with the wholesale distributors and specific manufacturers' service organizations.

Many manufacturers are increasing the number of service outlets for their particular line of merchandise. In some areas they are also increasing the number of reliable service organizations designated as "official" or "authorized" repair and parts centers.

There are other signs that the household equipment industry is aware that increasingly mechanized homes will require available, reliable product service.

Such services conveniently available if and when needed will benefit manufacturers and distributors as well as customers.

Best Rule For Home Pool Is Plan Before Plunging

From fabled luxuries to increasingly popular backyard fixtures, swimming pools have become investments that pay off in increased family enjoyment.

Home owners who are ready to take the plunge and invest in a home swimming pool have many considerations before the actual construction begins.

Cost, materials, landscape and upkeep are just a few points that require careful planning. Although pool construction costs are lower now, it is best not to skimp on quality work in a long-term investment such as this, as any compromise may end up in costly repairs and increased upkeep.

In choosing the material of which the pool is to be constructed, type-of-soil-and-physical-layout-of-the-property are important considerations. Often the best way to determine if the pool should be constructed of concrete (pneumatically applied concrete), vinyl liner, steel or some other material is to see which is the prevailing choice in the area—a good clue as to which is best suited to the region.

Before construction, check the property for underground rocks or man-made hindrances, such as septic tanks or cables.

ance, but there are several points to consider in choosing.

First, a rectangular pool, though less imaginative in design than the many free-form and kidney shapes, is best when there are children using the pool for races and sports. Also, the pool should have as few hidden corners as possible, to avoid algae forming and eventually clogging the filter, and to facilitate cleaning.

Keep plantings some distance from the pool, to prevent leaves and grass from clogging the skimmer, and to discourage insects from pestering swimmers.

Fences are required in many communities, and should be built to avoid any accident.

IT IS quite apparent to the seeing mind that a man's spirit is something very different from his physical body. The spirit is changeless, indestructible. The progress and development of the soul, the joy and sorrow of the soul, are independent of the physical body. - Bahai Writings

View From The State House

By GOV. RICHARD J. HUGHES

The story of the drunken driver is indeed tragic. On August 15, 1964, an intoxicated driver made a forbidden U-turn on the Garden State Parkway and drove in the wrong direction. He crashed head-on into an oncoming car, killing himself and three innocent victims.

It takes a massacre like this to get the average citizen to protest in rage about the driver who drinks. Unless a fatal accident is shocking, the public sees the victim as no more than a statistic. Yet, no statistic can describe the personal heartbreak for the victim's family and friends.

One month after the multiple tragedy of the Parkway, a case occurred in the State of Florida where a man went into town to buy some bills. After some heavy drinking in a local bar he proceeded to drive, only to strike a boy on a bicycle. As the boy was hurled limply to the pavement, the man sped on to his home. Soon after, the police found him hiding in an attic, quaking with fear. Not until they had all the details from the frightened man did the police tell him the boy he had killed was his own 12-year old son. Once the man had promised definitely that he would never drink drinking - Now it makes no sense to drink to the son he has killed.

New Jersey has conducted post-mortem examinations since 1961. These have shown year after year that about 87 per cent of the drivers involved in fatal accidents were under the influence of alcohol, and half of those had a blood alcohol content in excess of .15 per cent, the level at which a person is presumed legally drunk.

HOSPITAL STATES CAMPAIGN TOTAL TOPS $2 MILLION

Major announcement for Overlook Hospital's "progress program" for a new wing will be made tonight at the annual meeting of the Overlook Hospital Association with the news that the hospital has raised $2,225,000 to date.

Overlook has accomplished in one year an amount it took four years to raise in the last campaign, Robert C. Porter, president, commented. "The board of trustees administration, and Overlook's own permanent development and public relations departments have handled the campaign, not outside fund-raisers. This is a do-it-yourself job we are proud of - but we still have a long way to go - in our $3,500,000 goal."

Springfield Emanuel Methodist

Main st. and Academy street. Rev. James Dewart, pastor. Sunday - 9:30 a.m., church school for all ages, 9:30 a.m., German worship service...

Three Arrested On Theft Charge

Three young men, all 18 years old and all residents of Roselle Park, were arrested last week-end on a charge of stealing tires from cars in the parking lot of Echo-Lanes, Rt. 22, Mountaineer.

The three, Dennis Orbard of 508 Pinewood ave., Harris Howler of 128 Butler ave. and David L. Keenan Jr. of 37 W. Clay ave., were released on $200 bail each. They are scheduled to appear May 5 in Municipal Court.

The trio was picked up by Roselle Park police after a witness took their license number Friday night in the Echo Lane lot, according to Det. Sgt. James Herick. Herick also said that the young men had been previously charged with similar offenses in Roselle Park and in Clark Township.

Charge Schultze On False Report

William E. Schultze, 24-62-268 Bridge path, Mountaineer, was released on $170 bail charged Sunday after he was charged with filing a false police report. According to Mountaineer Det. Sgt. James Herick, Schultze reported his car stolen after he parked in Westfield, police, who tried to apprehend him when he was drug-racing with another driver.

Schultze was scheduled to appear in Municipal Court last night to answer the false report charge, Herick said. He is scheduled to appear in Westfield court at a later date, according to Herick.

Clinton Hill Baptist

2815 Morris ave., Union. Rev. John D. Fissel, pastor. Today - 8 p.m., choir rehearsal. Tomorrow - 7:15 p.m., Pioneer Girls (3-6 grades), 7:45 p.m., Christian Service Brigade (boys 12-18, 7:15 p.m., Stockade (boys 8-12). Sunday - 9:45 a.m., Sunday School, Classes for all ages, 11 a.m., Nursery class, Children's Church, 11 a.m., morning worship: "Called to be Priests," 5:45 p.m., Youthtime, Children's Story Hour (Pre-school-2nd grade), Jet Cadets (3-6 grades), Torch Bearers (7-9 grades), Timothians (high school), 8 p.m., Adult Bible-Prayer Fellowship, 7 p.m., Evening Gospel service: "Eight Days After Easter."

It is also possible that in half of these cases the victim's blood alcohol content was .15 per cent or higher.

What effectiveness measures can we take to stop the drunken driver from killing himself or innocent and law-abiding citizens? My annual messages every year call for the passage of an implied-consent law. Under this law anyone who wants the privilege of a New Jersey driver's license will have to consent to a sobriety test if an arresting officer suspects he was under the influence of alcohol. Should he refuse to take this test, he would automatically lose his license for six months. Under present law a motorist can - under any circumstance - refuse a sobriety test without consequence. Thus, a magistrate must rely on other evidence to determine if the driver was, in fact, driving while intoxicated.

Passage of an implied-consent law will provide our magistrates with substantial scientific evidence as to the degree of a driver's drinking. In such cases the magistrate would have little difficulty in finding a driver guilty or innocent of drunken driving. I feel that implied-consent legislation is one of the most important steps in behalf of a more effective enforcement of our motor vehicle laws. It could become a major factor in the reduction of the tragic death toll on our highways. I see no reason why the public should continue to be jeopardized by the inconsiderate habits of a small minority of drivers who mix excessive alcohol and gasoline.

I hope that every citizen will take the time to express his support for this vitally needed implied-consent legislation. It is certainly in everyone's interest that we do something to get the drunken driver off our highways.

Shoppers Finding Big Food Supply This Month, Notes Home Economist

The harvest of rice is one-third larger than average. Rice teams well with eggs and fish, well as appearing in main course or dessert on its own.

Keep canned pink salmon, tart red cherries and pears on your pantry shelves. This is a good time to lay in a supply. In March and for Lent—canned pink salmon will be a good consumer buy. With the 1964 Alaskan pack much larger than in 1963, large supplies should continue through Easter. Salmon is a source of high-quality protein—ideal for casseroles, croquettes, sandwiches and salads. Open a can and it's ready to eat or mix with other pre-cooked items, she says.

The canned pear pack was record large; the cherry pack larger than usual. In addition, there are 133 million pounds of frozen cherries on hand.

Shoppers will find lots of good quality apples offered in the late winter and spring months because a record large number of fresh apples went into controlled atmosphere storage this year. For an interesting and delectably different apple salad, core tapered apples and slice in thin cross sections. Arrange on salad greens with orange slices and onion rings. Serve with a clear, tart oil-dressing.

Cabbage, celery and carrots are other salad foods that can be served separately or in combination. The production of all three was adequate to provide normal winter-market needs, says Dr. Armstrong.

Buying foods in plentiful supply is one way to help keep food costs down. Therefore, the good supply of many popular foods offers menu planners double satisfaction, says Dr. Mary W. Armstrong, senior county home economist.

Eggs, peanuts and peanut products head the list. Also featured for March are rice, canned pink salmon, red tart cherries, Regionally, another pleasing fruit, winter pears, is also listed. In vegetables, carrots, cabbage and celery will be most outstanding. March is traditionally a big month for eggs and this year supplies are particularly bountiful with prices at attractive consumer levels.

Last year's record-breaking peanut crop resulted in heavy stocks of peanut products as well as peanuts. Peanuts are always good for out-of-hand eating; they make excellent garnishes for salads, sandwiches and desserts. And with the younger set, there's nothing like a peanut butter sandwich, she notes.

SLEEVES POSE PROBLEMS IN HOME SEWING

Setting in sleeves so there's not a sign of a gather or a pucker is often a bugaboo to the home seamstress. Mrs. Florence G. Minifie, extension clothing specialist, College of Agriculture, Rutgers University, admits there's quite a technique to setting in plain sleeve, but she offers step-by-step directions for making the job easier.

Be certain the bodice of the dress fits satisfactorily so that the armhole sets well on the figure. Any fitting fault that extends to the armhole becomes more obvious when sleeve is set in.

After the sleeve-seam has been stitched and pressed, you are ready to proceed. Use matching thread and a slightly longer stitch than normal. Place two rows of stitching along the top of the sleeve—first from double to single notch. Sew on the right side of the fabric. Place the first row of long stitches on the exact seam line. Place the second row 1/4-inch closer to the seam edge. Leave thread ends about 3 inches long at each end of your stitching. To ease the fullness, pull bobbin threads on either side of sleeve center.

CURTAIN FABRIC REQUIRES CARE, EXPERT EXPLAINS

Curtains last longer if you follow a plan to spread effects of soil and sun, states Miss Gena Thames, extension home furnishing specialist at the College of Agriculture, Rutgers University.

Air, vacuum, or brush your curtains to remove surface dirt and clean them often. Imbedded soil weakens fibers and discolors light backgrounds.

Synthetic fibers pick up dust due to static electricity. Sander curtains to a reliable dry cleaner or launderer and tell him the name and percentage of each fiber. He can give you satisfactory service if you provide him with sufficient information.

After soil, sunlight is the next most wearing enemy of your curtains. Striking at the crest of pleats and yellowing at curtain tops, not noticeable to the eye until after cleaning, are signs of age and sunlight and not scorching during cleaning.

Rotate curtains from windows on the sunny to shaded side of your house to equalize effect of sun.

Another guide offered by Miss Thames: Do not permit curtains to flap at an open window. They may snag against screens and frame.

For Clear, Healthy Skin Keep Carrots On The Menu

Carrots will not, as the tale goes, make your hair curly, but they are extremely high in Vitamin A which is essential for a clear, healthy skin. The sweet, tender, well-scrubbed carrots which can be bought in the markets all year do not need paring or scraping, just wash well.

Fresh carrots cooked properly are delicious. They are a mild vegetable, so cook with as little water as possible. Simmer shredded carrots about 5 minutes; boil carrot slices 10 to 15 minutes until just tender and let whole carrots cook 15 to 20 minutes. Try serving carrots a variety of new and interesting ways.

SAVOY CARROTS WITH CHIVES
12 medium whole fresh carrots
1 1/2-inch beef or chicken broth
2 teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon chopped chives
1 to 2 onions
salt and pare carrots. Place in saucepan with 1-inch beef or chicken broth and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Cover and cook until tender, 20 to 25 minutes. Drain. Mix together butter or margarine, lemon juice, remaining 1/4 teaspoon salt and ground black pepper. Pour over carrots. Toss lightly. Arrange carrots on serving dish. Sprinkle as desired with chopped chives or onion. Serves 6.

CARROTS PROVINCIAL
1 lb. carrots, washed and sliced (approximately 3 cups)
1 cup water
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup evaporated milk
1 tablespoon flour
1 tablespoon butter
1/4 teaspoon melted onion or instant minced onion
1/4 teaspoon marjoram leaves
Dash of pepper
1 egg yolk
Combine carrots, water and salt in a saucepan. Cover and cook over medium heat until carrots are barely tender, 15 to 20 minutes. Stir in evaporated milk and continue cooking over low heat until mixture is heated through. Sprinkle in flour evenly; stir to blend smoothly. Continue cooking and stirring gently until slightly thickened; blend in butter, onion, marjoram and pepper. Beat egg yolk slightly, then blend in a little of the hot mixture, stirring constantly to mix well. Return to saucepan and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, 2 to 3 minutes longer. Makes 4 to 8 servings.

BONDHOLE OF MOUNTAINSIDE, MOUNTAINSIDE, NEW JERSEY

PROPOSED ORDINANCE NO. AN ORDINANCE TO ACQUIRE, MAINTAIN AND EXTINGUISH THE PUBLIC RIGHTS IN AND TO CERTAIN LANDS LOCATED IN THE BONDHOLE OF MOUNTAINSIDE, UNION COUNTY, NEW JERSEY.

WHEREAS the lands hereinafter described have been dedicated as a public street or highway, and the said lands have not been accepted or dedicated as a public street or highway, and WHEREAS it appears to the governing body of the Borough of Mountain Side, Union County, New Jersey, that the opening and maintaining of the same would confer an expense to the same benefit to the public and that the public will be better served by retaining said lands from such dedication.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the Mayor and Council of the Borough of Mountain Side, Union County, New Jersey, that the public rights in and to the following described property located in the Borough of Mountain Side, Union County, New Jersey be and the same be retained, released and extinguished.

Beginning at a point in the Northwesterly line of Central Avenue as shown on a survey and map entitled "Map of Property of the Estate of Marie Weber, situated at Mountain Side, Union County, New Jersey," dated September 10, 1954, made by Casey J. Keller, Civil Engineer, Surveyor, Irvington, N. J., and approved for filing by the Board of Education of Mountain Side, New Jersey, on October 20, 1954, at a point distant 24 feet and 6 inches westerly from the Northwesterly line of the lands of the Board of Education of the Borough of Mountain Side, New Jersey, and from said beginning point running thence 13 on a course of North 30 degrees East, and 1/4 mile distant Northwesterly 80 feet measured at right angles to the aforementioned line of lands of the Board of Education 101 1/2 feet to a point thence 80 feet 13 degrees 15 minutes East, and 25.01 feet to the line of lands of the said Board of Education; thence 30 degrees West 300.07 feet to the aforementioned line of Central Avenue; thence 18 seconds West 25.14 feet to the point of beginning.

Being part of the same premises which provide for portion of property be dedicated for street purposes to the Roman Catholic Diocese of Newark, a religious corporation of the State of New Jersey by deed of Prada Pirramann and Edward Pirramann, her husband, of the Town of Mountain Side, New Jersey, and by deed of Prada Pirramann and Edward Pirramann, her husband, dated November 30, 1954, and recorded December 31, 1954, in Book 2161, page 407 'Till 404.

SECTION 7. This ordinance shall take effect in the manner provided by law.

NOTICE

The foregoing ordinance was introduced and passed on first reading at a meeting of the Mayor and Council of the Borough of Mountain Side, New Jersey held on April 20, 1965, and will be considered for final passage at a public hearing to be held at the Mayor's Chamber to be held at 8:00 p.m. (prevaling time) on May 11, 1965, at any time and place to which the same may be referred. Notice is hereby given.

RESEARCH BONUS

Rutgers Labs 'Coat' Salt To Preserve Pork

A research "bonus" from the laboratories of the Rutgers Food Science Department soon will be paying dividends for the country's sausage industry.

Discovered during basic research into problems of rancidity in meat products, the "bonus" is a specially coated salt which will extend the freshness of sausage beyond its previous limits.

"During fundamental research, we sometimes find leads to answers for problems tangent to our study," explains Dr. Stephen S. Chang, professor of food science at the State University. "They are the indirect benefits or bonuses of basic investigation."

For the past five years, Dr. Chang's laboratories have been involved in fundamental research dealing with the rancidity of meat. Dr. Peter X. Hoynak, now in industry, did work as a graduate student with Dr. Chang which led to the improved method for the preservation of pork sausage. Essentially, the Rutgers investigators were faced by this problem:

Ground pork when frozen will last from six months to a year. But when pork sausage, which is salted, is frozen it becomes rancid in about three weeks.

Because of the salt, the frozen sausage can't be stored safely for any length of time. Once used to inhibit the growth of bacteria, this function of salt becomes relatively unimportant when the product is frozen.

If salt causes the problem, why add it to sausage? The answer is simple and mouth-wateringly important for taste. Sausage without salt just isn't sausage.

In investigating the problem, the Rutgers research team first broke down pork into its four major components, triglycerides, phospholipids, pigments and tissues, and used salt on each part and on all combinations of them.

"We found that salt adversely affected three of the parts, excepting these, singly and in combination," says Dr. Chang.

The investigators also isolated rancid meat flavor, using a high vacuum technique, and used an instrument called a gas chromatograph to study the chemistry of the isolated flavor.

Rancidity in fat is caused essentially by carbonyl compounds. But, it was found that rancid flavor in meat is a much more complex mixture of a large number of compounds.

Finally, the investigations showed the answer to be to coat the salt with a substance which would keep it separated from the sausage until cooked. The need was for something which would offer protection but would not change the flavor.

"Hydrogenated fat was selected because of two properties," says Dr. Chang. "It is stable in resistance to the development of rancidity, and it is a solid at lower temperatures, but melts at slightly more than room temperature."

Using salt coated with hydrogenated fat, the sausage is no different than before in appearance and still has the genuine sausage taste after cooking.

The Rutgers Research and Educational Foundation has applied for a patent on the invention and has licensed Preservalline Manufacturing Company. The product will be used under the trade name of Antifox Seasoning.

Preservalline, located in Flemington, has supplied the meat packing industry with seasoning and curing preparations for 33 years. Through the company's Research and Development Laboratory, a practical method for coating the salt granules was developed under the direction of Dr. Henry J. Izzo, technical director and a Rutgers University graduate, and Charles O. Burton, plant director.

For the sausage makers, the Rutgers' discovery means that they will be able to make larger batches of sausage, particularly important during the seasonal peak of pork production, and ship them greater distances.

For Dr. Chang, the discovery is an off-shoot of a basic study and not an end in itself. Supported by a five-year $30,000 grant from the Eastern Utilization, Research and Development Division of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, his fundamental research will continue.

Lifesavers

Jews Plan Service For 6 Million Slain

Springfield's two synagogues will join together Wednesday evening for a special Martyrs' Day memorial service, at which they will commemorate the six million Jews who lost their lives in the concentration camps and crematoriums of World War II.

A solemn occasion throughout the Jewish world, Martyrs' Day which falls this year on April 23, is celebrated annually on the 27th of the Hebrew month of Nisan, the day on which the Warsaw Ghetto uprising began in 1943.

In Israel, the day is traditionally a time for reflection and prayer. In Springfield, it will be marked this year by a service Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. at Temple Sharey Shalom conducted by Rabbi Reuben R. Levine of Temple Beth Ahm and Cantor Mark Biddelman of Sharey Shalom.

Following the service, Sharey Shalom's Rabbi Israel Dresner will discuss the background of the Jews who met their death in Hitler's concentration camps. Norman Salsitz, a survivor of the camps, will sing a selection of Jewish folk songs and relate some of his experiences.

"Although it is painful," says Salsitz, "at least once a year we should look back and remember that six million Jews were murdered. If we do, perhaps it won't happen again."

Now a resident of Springfield, Salsitz is a native of Poland. He was herded in 1941 into a ghetto in the southern part of that country. In what was a routine procedure, Nazis invaded his home one day and killed his father. His mother, two sisters and their children — 21 immediate relatives in all — later were murdered at the Belzen death camp.

Put to work on a road-building assignment, Salsitz managed to escape from the Nazis. He then helped organize a band of underground fighters. Wounded several times, and forced to live for years like an animal, he became a leading figure in the resistance movement.

At Wednesday's service, Salsitz will relate some of his ghetto and concentration camp experiences and will chant a variety of Hebrew and Yiddish songs.

According to Rabbi Dresner, "All friends of freedom, Jew or Christian, black or white, are cordially invited to attend."

LOOK AT THE RECORD — Dr. Stephen S. Chang, professor of food science at Rutgers University, reads a graphic analysis of the chemistry of isolated rancid meat flavor. The machine at right, a gas chromatograph, measures and records chemical properties. It was used by Dr. Chang and his colleagues in a study of the problems of rancidity in meat products which resulted in a new preserving technique for pork sausage.

He's going through the Bell System Pavilion again at the World's Fair.

For the next fourteen minutes he's going to be captivated by The Ride through the long history of man's efforts to communicate—all the way from tom-toms to the Telstar® communications satellite.

One of the most exciting things at the Pavilion is the new Picturephone® Service. And he knows it. He'll make his own Picturephone call and see as well as talk to the person on the other end of the line.

He'll discover the Phone Fun Fair—it's one of the many new exhibits for 1965. There, he'll find the Voice Mirror and hear how his voice sounds on the telephone. He'll use a "Weatherphone" and dial cities around the country to listen to the weather forecasts. And, at The Phone Fun Fair's Kiddie Telephone Center, he's going to dial his favorite Walt Disney character and hear a recorded message.

Then there's the physical sciences exhibit, where he'll be spending a lot of time. He'll be intrigued with the achievements of Bell System research: the transistor, solar battery, maser and laser.

In the manufacturing exhibit, he'll gaze at a conveyor, 400 feet long, carrying examples of telephone products. He'll watch how machines test telephones to make sure of their reliability.

He'll also get a chance to see the exhibits on the many time-saving changes that electronic switching brings to telephoning.

And there's more. Much more. He may have to go through a third time.

If you would like up-to-the-minute news and information from the Fair, just dial Area Code 212 followed by 888-1212 anytime between 9 A.M. and 11 P.M. Regular telephone charges apply to this call.

Auto Club Requests Reduction In Number Of Parkway Tolls

New Jersey Automobile Club has asked Assemblyman William T. Hering (R-Ocean) chairman of the highways, transportation and public utilities committee, to appoint a special subcommittee to study the feasibility of reducing commuter tolls on the Garden State Parkway.

Albert W. Stender, president of the AAA Club, told Hering in a letter released this week that "Something needs to be done to lighten the burden of the commuter, and there are indications we can begin with the Parkway." Stender said the move by the Auto Club was unanimously approved at a recent board of trustees meeting. As support for the club's contention that tolls need to be reduced, Stender said, "An average commuter, for example, who lives in Sayreville and works in Newark, spends $1 a day or $280 a year on tolls alone.

"To operate his car he spends 11.8 cents per mile on fixed and variable costs, according to latest AAA statistics. That's an additional $1,400 a year based on his daily trip of 46 miles to and from work.

"As a further example, commuters who live at the seashore all-year-round or during the summer, spend $1.50 - $2 a day on parking tolls into Newark.

"These facts, plus the plan of the Highway Authority to finance construction of a $1.65 million art and culture center in Holmdel by using $700,000 in reserve funds and by using the increased revenue that is expected, are basically why we urge this study.

"We have nothing against building a culture center, assuming our society has produced culture worthy of this monument to it, but why not give the overburdened commuter a break first? And why continue to divert highway user funds from benefiting the people who pay their way every day, by making our highways better and safer if not cheaper to travel?

"The irony of all this is that we are 48th in interstate highways, our road building program is way behind, and here we are watering the grass while the house is on fire.

"One thing we might consider doing is offering reduced commuter books to Parkway commuters, similar to what has been done for commuters using New York tunnels.

"We constantly hear about helping the little man. Here's a possibility to do just that. Furthermore, if we keep working toward reducing highway commutation costs, we'll be encouraging people to use our toll roads and even to buy homes in suburbs far from their jobs.

"We urge you to appoint a special subcommittee to study this matter," Stender added.

Backs Sales Tax, Also Cites Lack Of Firm Leadership

State Sen. Wayne C. Dumont this week attacked the administration of Gov. Richard J. Hughes for a lack of "firm leadership" in decreasing tax burdens.

Dumont said such leadership could mean the end of living "in the shadow of our neighboring states" and "make it possible for us to cast our own shadow."

Dumont, in adopting a slogan "Progress" officially accepted backing of the state Republican organization for a gubernatorial nomination.

"To those who put their head in the sand," Dumont said, "I offer a challenge to explain how property taxes can be leveled off and at the same time schools and roads be constructed in our cities and towns. He called for the institution of a selective sales tax in order to have 'citizens' at all levels—including non-real-estate owners—enjoy our facilities in supporting the fulfillment of our needs."

The candidate for governor predicted that the proposed tax would bring in 150 to 170 million dollars to the state annually. He recommended the bulk of the revenue be applied to aid to education and construction of roads and bridges.

Tips for TODAY'S HOMEMAKER

From MARY ARMSTRONG, County Home Economist

Meals on a budget can be interesting! You may have hash or stew as the main dish and with colorful fresh vegetables and some interesting sweet bread or a special pudding have a really delightful and satisfying menu. In this case a little time and effort by the cook can help the food shopper to save considerable money.

This principle even extends to breakfast when a homemade coffee cake can win plaudits. With some mixes moderately priced, even the time and energy needed can be small. We suggest making a fruit coffee cake with a muffin mix. Since mixtures are often available in local markets, we suggest using them. But, for economy, peaches in season, apples, crushed pineapple will be more appropriate.

Nectarine Coffee Cake
2 eggs
2 fresh nectarines
1 pk. (14 oz.) orange muffin mix
1/4 cup brown sugar
1/8 cup flour
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon

1/4 cup butter or margarine
Slice nectarines to make 1 1/2 cups. Prepare full amount of muffin mix following package directions. Turn batter into greased nine-inch square pan. Mix brown sugar, flour and cinnamon. Cut in butter until mixture is of crumbly consistency. Place nectarine slices over top of batter, cover with sugar mixture. Bake at 400° F. for 20-25 minutes. Cool about 10 minutes. Cut into three-inch squares and serve warm. Makes 9 squares.

If you enjoy making yeast breads, you might like to make an orange bread or spiced fruit bread. Fruit bread is good at any meal or for snacks. A fresh baked coffee cake makes a good main meal dessert as well as a breakfast mainstay.

Sweet Orange Bread
(makes three loaves)
1/4 cup milk
1/4 cup sugar
1-1/2 teaspoons salt
3/4 cup warm water (105-115° F.)
3 packages or cakes yeast, active dry or compressed
4-1/2 cups unsifted flour
3 eggs beaten
3/4 cup (1-1/2 sticks) margarine
1 tablespoon grated orange peel

Scald milk, stir in 1/4 cup sugar and salt. Cool to lukewarm. Measure warm water into warm bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved. Stir in milk mixture and 3 cups flour. Beat until smooth. Cover. Let rise in warm place, free from draft, until light, about 20 minutes.

Meanwhile, cream margarine until light and fluffy. When yeast mixture is light, stir and beat in margarine, remaining 1/4 cup sugar, eggs and orange peel, with spoon. Stir in remaining flour; beat hard, until smooth and somewhat elastic, about 1 minute. Proceed with one of more variations below.

Spiced Fruit Bread - Lightly toss together 1/4 cup seedless raisins, 1/4 cup chopped pecans, 1/4 cup chopped mixed candied fruit, 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 teaspoon ginger and 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg. Add to one-third of batter and mix well. Turn into well greased 1 1/2 quart mold. Cover. Let rise in warm place, free from draft, about 1 1/2 hours. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) 25-30 minutes, or until done. Cool. If desired, sprinkle with confectioners sugar.

Double-Crumb Coffeecake
Rub together with fingers until crumbly 1/2 cup unsifted flour, 1/4 cup chopped pecans, 1/8 cup brown sugar (packed), 1/8 cup margarine and 1-1/2 teaspoon cinnamon. Sprinkle 1/4 mixture in the bottom of a greased eight-inch layer cake pan. Turn one third batter over crumb mixture. Top with remaining crumb mixture. Cover. Let rise in warm place, about 1 hour. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 30-35 minutes or until done. When cool, drizzle with confectioners sugar icing.

Dayton Baseball Team Has 3 Chances For First Victory

By DONALD LEWIS

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School baseball team will have three chances this week to win its first game of the season. The Bulldogs travel to Hillsdale this afternoon to replay the season opener, which was rained out April 9.

They play tomorrow at Scotch Plains, considered a top contender for the county championship. The Bulldogs will then play host to Roselle on Tuesday.

Wednesday's Clark game was highlighted by the play of Clark's all-county athlete, Frank Spaziani. Spaziani pitched a six-hitter for Clark, batted fourth and hit a home run.

The Bulldogs' chance to rebound into the victory column last Friday went down the drain with the rains as an away game with Linden was postponed.

After three weeks of play, the Bulldogs' lineup still seems uncertain. Coach Ed Jasinski is still testing out his largely inexperienced squad. One of Jasinski's best surprises has been the play of first baseman Leroy Mathis.

Mathis is now the club's leading regular hitter with a .225 batting average. He is also the only regular infielder who has not yet made an error.

with the bases full. Clark rebounded to lead to six runs in the following inning after that's first three batters in the lineup singled and two Springfield errors allowed runners to score.

Clark scored in the fourth and again in the sixth on pitcher Spaziani's bases empty homer. Dayton's two runs came in a fifth-inning rally. After Spaziani walked, Ted Levitt and Carl Yares, Leroy Mathis singled to score Levitt. Another single by Bob Blythe scored Yares.

The winner of the Clark game was Frank Spaziani, and the loser was Dayton's starter, Gary Schaffernoth.

Yorke Bowlers Lengthen Lead

Yorke Investment bowlers won three games last week from Ehrhardt Television to widen their lead to two games in the Springfield Sports League at the Springfield Bowl.

Ted Dziabaty of the VFW team rolled a 223 series that included a 230. Other 200-or-better scores were: Bob Craden, 220; George Brann, 216; Art Mutschler, 214; Ken Reinhardt, 214; Scott Domington, 212; Bob Zeiser, 211; Joe Alacco, 208; William Taus, 208; Sam Caster-nova, 207; Mark Conte, 205; Carl Garner, 205; Ronnie De-Sands, 202; Stan Cornfield, 201.

D'Andrea Wins 3, Cuts Bowl Margin

D'Andrea Driveways moved to within 3 1/2 games of Polcarpio Allstate by winning three matches from Springfield Bowl in the Springfield Municipal Bowling League last week.

Bowlers with scores of 200 and better were: Robert Jones, 228; Robert Bock, 221; Burt Henry, 208; Al Scott, 202; Herb Quin-ton, 202; Vince Polcarpio, 200; Ralph Polcarpio, 200; Sam Cas-ternova, 200; Al Smith, 200.

Drivers Are Unhurt As Two Cars Collide

A car driven by Dolores M. Nahringer, 34, of 79 Beverly rd., Springfield, collided last Friday with one operated by Dennis E. Kinsella, 19, of Scotch Plains. Police reported this week. No one was reported injured.

The show will feature fast-pitch and slow-pitch exhibitions and softball players demonstrating techniques. The National Office of the Amateur Softball Association will furnish information on player and team eligibility for participation in county, state, regional and world tournament play. Instance information will also be available.

Pussycats Retain Edge In Bowling

The Pussycats and Nat Finks both swept their matches in the Smithfield Park Mixed Bowling League last week at Echo Lane. The Pussycats retained a 5 1/2 game margin over the second-place Rat Finks.

Top scores among the men were: Abby Meiberg, 203-384; Lloyd Bostick, 175; George Widom, 211. Leading ladies were: Shelley Wolfe, 184-482; Marilyn Lipton, 188-480; Joanne Silverstein, 182; Rose Widom, 188; Natalie Segall, 162.

Macmillan Uses The High Road Not Many Reach Dayton Before Him

The road to athletic success is a long one, but Dave Macmillan of Kenilworth and Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, is one of the few who know just how long. For Macmillan, the road means nearly five miles every morning.

Combining duty with pleasure, and no one is sure which is which, Macmillan lopes up for his assignments as a mile runner for the Dayton track team by running to school every morning from his home in Kenilworth.

He has his friend to carry his books and school shoes on the bus which takes average young men and women to school. Dave does make one concession, however, to human frailty. After a day in class, as an honor student, and several hours on the track, he does

BROKER OF THE WEEK Even Though His Office Is In Elizabeth, His Heart Still Belongs In Kenilworth

RUDOLPH O. CAMMAROTA

Kenilworth was a sleepy little village of 4,500 people when Rudolph O. Cammarota first arrived in town some 35 years ago. Being only a year old at the time, young Rudy didn't make an immediate impression on Kenilworth but he soon began to watch it grow and prosper. His father, Salvatore Cammarota, was the borough's first struggle-moving to Hillside as a young man, Cammarota returned in 1883 to live in Kenilworth with his bride, the former Nancy Tokar of Union.

brokeage, he is active in the general insurance field as well. His present staff consists of six real estate associates and eight life insurance salesmen. A football star at Jonathan Dayton-Regional High School and Albright College, Cammarota later played semi-pro football for the Union Blue Comets and the Cranford Clippers. His interest in sports is evident today in his sponsorship of a Little League team and two bowling teams.

WEEDER'S DIGEST
By YOUR RUTGERS GARDEN REPORTER
Required Reading
Many a gardener has discovered that he began to enjoy the sweet-blossomed flowers the day he put on his reading glasses. The fine print on a label may not be the most fascinating reading you'll come across on a weekend, but it could easily do you the most good. You could start with the label on the pesticide you buy which insect or weed or plant disease it's meant to do in, how much to use, how to mix it, and above all, how to protect yourself and others from using or storing it improperly. Heeding such directions could even save your life. Other labels are required reading, too, for different reasons. For example, the label or tag on a package of grass seed. Not So Easy! Now the people who put up grass seed don't hire people like Bret Harle and Mark Twain - to mention a couple of current favorites - to write the table of contents for the package. The part of the label that describes what's in the package has to tell in specific terms the percentage of Kentucky bluegrass and creeping fescue, for example, along with percentages of weed seeds. Also, the percentage of germination. You're likely to find this label in especially fine print, so you'll pay out to take along your glasses when you're out to buy lawn materials. Altogether, the man who gives advice to gardeners hearily agrees with the man in the ad who says: "Send me a man who reads."

National And Olympic Athletes To Be Present At Sports Show

The annual Sports Show, sponsored by the West Orange Council, Knights of Columbus, will be held from 2 to 8 p.m. Sunday in the West Orange Armory. Funds derived from the project will go to the organization's youth development program, according to Louis Ruggieri, general chairman.

On the program will be basketball, football, golf, basketball, and tennis clinics, all staffed by experts in the fields. Ruggieri said. He also pointed out that sports awards will be presented to area high school youth who have proved excellence in the fields of baseball, swimming, basketball, football, wrestling and track. The young people were chosen for awards by New Jersey sportswriters.

Expected to be on hand, Ruggieri said, are Roosevelt Brown, N. Y. Giants and Walter McDaniels of the N. Y. Jets, who will conduct the football clinic and Joe Collins, former Yankee first baseman, who will assist in the baseball clinic. Exhibitors will include The Plainington Sky-Divers with Jay Shuttworth, who will drop from the top of the armory, Roger Sait, as well as Bob Middleton, one of the top scuba divers in the area, who will demonstrate scuba equipment.

Among others to exhibit will be drivers of Grand Prix racing cars with their auto, members of the National Rifle Association and representatives of the U. S. Power Squadron who will discuss boating and navigation. Tickets are available through members of the council; the general chairman said, or at E. J. Kovotic, Bamberger's, the Orange YMCA or by calling RE 1-1252 or RE 1-2006. They will also be sold at the door, he said.

Gargalowitz Fund Approaches $12,000 Mark

Contributions from all over the state have brought the Theresa Gargalowitz Fund to almost $12,000, Philip Portnoy, chairman of the fund, said this week. Theresa is the 20-year-old college coed from Union who has lain in a coma at Overlook Hospital since she was critically injured in an automobile accident in Springfield last April. The fund is to aid her family with medical expenses.

A Junior Achievement company, comprised of 18 high school students from Essex and West Hudson Counties, for example, gave a check for $250 to the fund this week. The check represents part of an $11,000 profit realized by the young group this year from production and sale of a 12-volt automobile flashlight. The young company calls itself "Wes-Lite."

Janet Sierzeza, a senior at Newark East Side High School, who is president of the group, said that initial capital was obtained by selling 6000 shares of $1 and are now worth $5,900, she said. The young people, guided by three advisors from Western Electric Co. in Kearny, rented quarters for their venture, purchased materials, assembled their product, distributed it through door-to-door sales, paid salaries, expenses and stock dividends, kept records and is now in the process of liquidating the company.

Junior Achievement companies are set up in business centers throughout the United States to teach young people the ways of private enterprise. Each group is sponsored by representatives from business or industry and is liquidated at the end of a year's operation.

Janet said that her organization voted that the Theresa Gargalowitz Fund would be the first charity to benefit from its profit. The group feels it has a connection with the fund because Western Electric, which sponsors the young capitalists, employs Theresa's father, Alex Gargalowitz.

Another group of teenagers contributed $340 to the fund this week. They are the Teen-Age Republicans from Springfield and Union, who sponsored an adult dance to help Theresa. In charge of the affair were Paul Penard of Springfield and Nancy Amato of Union.

Other recent contributions included $100 from Welcome Wagon of Union and $20 from the employees of Medco Products of Newark.

"Theresa" was injured when the car she was driving skidded on recently-removed trolley tracks in Morris Ave., Springfield, and struck a bus. She was a coed at Fairleigh Dickinson University. When she did not rally to hospital treatment a fund was started to help the family with medical expenses.

Chorus Will Give Concert In May For Rotary Club

The Masterwork Chorus, which will perform at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, on Saturday evening, May 8, for the benefit of the Rotary Club's scholarship fund, has a total membership of 200 persons.

From its inception in 1958 with a nucleus of 28 members, it has grown in stature, having performed in 12 concerts in Carnegie and Philharmonic Halls, Cooper Union, Brooklyn Museum and in New Jersey at the Mosque Theatre, Newark, as well as in Morristown, Summit, Madison, Catham, Convent, New Vernon and Rockaway.

Jay Bloom, general chairman of arrangements for the Springfield Rotary Club, in selecting the Morristown group to follow such fund raising projects as the U. S. Army Air Force Band, Don Cossack Chorus, Navy Band, and Theatre on the Green dramatists, is looking forward to a fine performance.

He announced that tickets are available locally from: Crestmont Savings and Loan, Key's Stationery, Milton's Liquors, Benson Hill Co., all on Morris Ave.; Saks 5th Avenue, 92 Millburn Ave., and Remlinger Real Estate, 789 Mountain Ave.

David Randolph, conductor of the Masterwork Chorus, will lead the group in Bach's "Magnificat," Vivaldi's "Gloria" and contemporary Israeli music, first performed in this country in March at a "Composers' Showcase" presentation in New York Philharmonic Hall.

The Masterwork Chorus is considered one of the top-performing choral groups in this country and throughout the world. Its members are from northern New Jersey. With the largest single category consisting of housewives, followed by teachers, and the third largest unit consisting of scientists and mathematicians.

UJC Externity Plans Spring Formal Dance
 Students serving on the committee for the all-college spring formal to be held by Pi Kappa Psi fraternity at Union Junior College on April 30 include Edward I. Shinkov of Linden and Roger M. Shaller and Philip C. Whitting, both of Union.

Lecture Slated By Mineral Club

The Tri-State Mineral Club will meet today at 8 P.M. in the auditorium of the Paradise National and State Center in the Washington Reservation, Morristown.

Alvord K. Westfield will discuss "Mineral Identification for the Hobbyist." Dr. Knell is a chemist for the Metals Dismantling Corp. of Union. He has served as mineralogy consultant for the Franklin Nature and Science Center, is currently in charge of mineral identification for the Franklin-Godensburg Mineral Society and has lectured before many mineral clubs.

Boot Training Over For Pvt. Goldberg

Pvt. Harvey I. Goldberg of Springfield was graduated from the Marine Corps boot training program at Parris Camp, N.C. He will now report to boot training at Camp Lejeune, N.C.

Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, where he was on the varsity football and wrestling teams, was presented by Mrs. Goldberg of 77 Laurel St. Mrs. Goldberg, Norman, who is the Art Editor, attended the ceremonies Tuesday.

Senior high students of the Connecticut Farm Experiment Station will watch cars Saturday at the church on Irving Ave. from 2 p.m. to raise funds for a retreat at Johnsonburg.
