GOP Teen-Agers Switch Factions In Internal Fight

Lee Bowman of Springfield, Union County chairman for the N.J. Teen-Age Republicans, Inc., this week announced that three Essex County teen-aged GOP groups have withdrawn from the N.J. Federation of Teen-Age Republicans to join the N.J. Teen-Age Republicans, Inc., also known as TARS.

The switch in allegiance was disclosed by three youthful GOP municipal chairmen: Pam Greene of Irvington, William Sandberg of Montclair and Steve J. Moore of West Essex.

They stated, "We feel that the organization should serve as an effective working arm of the senior Republican Party and that it should follow only the official party line on all issues."

They also declared, "We are thoroughly disgusted with the manner in which the Federation has been run. Such tactics as threats, blackmail and ultimatums are out of place in any organization, much less the Republican Party."

The trio added, "In the N.J. Teen-Age Republicans, Inc., we are going to work solely for the benefit of the Republican Party, not ourselves. Our satisfaction will come on election day when our efforts will be visible to all."

Town Meeting

"there is ragweed growing profusely between the sidewalk and the curb. Can we at least get people to cut it down?"

Rosen also asked when reports would be presented from the various municipal committees. Mayor William F. Koontz replied that the reports had been requested for Sept. 1 and should be received in the immediate future.

Henry S. Wright said that he opposed back-yard pickup of garbage cans, stating that he needed the exercise. Wright also expressed his opposition to ragweed.

IQ Loses Status In Poverty War Rights Action

This is the third in a series of back to school articles prepared by Don Rosser, N. J. Education Association writer.

The era of the IQ is over-ended with the help of the war on poverty and the civil movement.

No longer is IQ revered as THE unalterable scientific measure of a child's native ability to learn, says the New Jersey Education Assn. Today, it's just a score on a test, one of many general indicators of his academic ability at the moment.

The test-makers who devise and publish intelligence tests have been cautioning for years that the IQ simply shows how well a child has learned the abilities and processes which are measured by the test, says NJEA.

Even gifted children will score well unless they know what the test-maker thinks they should know.

Comments Henry Chauncey, president of the Educational Testing Service in Princeton: "The so-called intelligence tests never did measure some innate thing called 'intelligence' that could be summed up in one number called an IQ. It has taken years to disabuse people of this notion. Any test score simply indicates how well an individual performed the task on that one test at that one time."

An IQ score should not be used in any decision about a child's ability, placement or level of instruction, says NJEA. It should always be examined in the light of other information about him, including at least his grades, comments and evaluations from his teachers, and his rank on achievement tests.

Preferring these other measures, New York has stopped group intelligence testing.

Yet, in some cases, low test scores have been used as an excuse to put children into "slow" or "non-academic" classes.

This serious misuse of intelligence tests aroused many teachers in the civil-rights movement and helped put across to the public what the test-makers had been saying all around: that the IQ should not be used to label children as "slow" or "unteachable."

In the District of Columbia, for example, a four-track teaching system has become a major target of civil-rights protests.

Teachers in the civil-rights movement and helped put across to the public what the test-makers had been saying all around: that the IQ should not be used to label children as "slow" or "unteachable."

Too often, NJEA cautions, the effect of such grouping is to expect less of those labeled "slow," when actually just the opposite may be needed. Experience with manpower development programs is beginning to show that

Receives Promotion
VII CORPS, GERMANY—William D. Berner, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Berner of 886 S. Springfield ave., Springfield was promoted to private first class recently while assigned to the 34th Artillery in Germany.

Berner, a cannoneer with Battery B of the artillery's 2nd Howitzer Battalion, entered the Army in December, 1964. He completed basic training at Fort Dix and was last stationed at Fort Sill, Okla.

The 22-year-old soldier is a 1961 graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School and attended Union Junior College in Cranford.

unteachables" and "incorrigible brayants" respond suddenly when they find adults paying attention to them in programs designed specifically leading to employment.

Pre-school experiments show similar "wake-up" results, NJEA says. In one project, two years of intensive pre-school enrichment increased the IQ scores of some young children as much as 20 points.

However, intellectual ability can regress just as much as it can be stimulated, says NJEA. The culturally deprived child's progress can lapse if the enrichment program is not kept up.

The intelligence test dates from 1905, when a French teacher of retarded children, Alfred Binet, invented the idea of mental age. The relationship of mental age to chronological age is shown by the child's ability to perform certain tasks.

Lewis Terman of Stanford University expanded mental age to cover superior children as well and, in 1916, brought out the Stanford-Binet Intelligence Test, still widely used in revised form.

When the Army needed a quick method of screening recruits during World War I, Terman developed the first group intelligence test.

Investigators began to wonder why a child could be outstanding at mathematics but poor in English or a genius at music and a failure in everything else. From these doubts rose the concept that intelligence consists of not just one factor—but a group of processes and abilities. In the mid 1930s, tests appeared intended to measure specific intelligence factors such as verbal ability and number skill. Multiple-choice tests became common during World War 2 and now dominate the field.

The IQ is the relationship of a child's "mental age" determined by his score on an intelligence test, to his actual or "chronological" age. A child of five who scores a mental age of five has an IQ of 100. A child of five who scores a mental age of ten has a 200 IQ, and the five-year-old who scores a mental age of two and a half has an IQ of 50.

The mental age is determined from a table of statistical "norms" established after large numbers of children took the test.

Critics of intelligence tests complain they show how well a child reads, how quickly his mind works and how well he can parrot facts—but not how deep a thinker he may be or how creative he is. There is a finality attached to test scores, the critics say, that often determines, right or wrongly, what the future holds.

Testing is here to stay, says NJEA, and the test-makers constantly work to improve their products. Intelligence tests are being used more judiciously than in the past. Rather than controlling a school's curriculum, test results may show how a school's program can change to improve individual students. Rather than becoming ends in themselves, tests are a means for helping children.

LEADER PROFILE

LEE BOWMAN

Lee Bowman, an earnest young man from Springfield who was elected the new chairman of Union County Teen-Age Republicans last month, has been a member of the Springfield Teen-Age Republicans since their formation two-and-a-half years ago.

Bowman, who took some time off during his lunch hour the other afternoon (he is employed in clerical work at Gering Plastics Co. in Plainfield), explained that he has never had any political aspirations, nor does he plan to seek a career in politics in the future.

"I'm mainly interested in doing a good job in Union County, and especially interested in seeing the teen-agers' program grow up in this town.

"One of our basic activities this year is to have several teen-agers work for the Dumont chairman of Union County Youth For Dumont. The chairman is head of our ways and means committee in Union County the TARS. He is Mike Swayze from Elizabeth."

During his two-and-a-half years with the Springfield Republican Teen-Age group, Bowman said, he "sort of helped keep good attendance in Springfield meetings."

DURING HIS high school years at Jonathan Dayton Regional, he admitted, he "didn't participate much in Springfield affairs," but he is now making that up by working earnestly for his community and his county.

"I've felt that teen-agers can do a good job in helping Springfield officials get elected. The Republicans helped us when we needed them. They helped our youth by raising money to encourage individuals to join our organization. They paid for the Legion Hall one evening for our dance in Springfield."

Bowman, who was elected chairman of the Union County Teen-Age Republicans at the semi-annual convention held July 17 at the Scotch Plains YMCA, explained that he is "actually filling in for the new term . . . which will last until the January, 1966, elections for new officers at the group's convention."

"Actually, it all sounds pretty complicated," he mused, "because I replaced Robert Britts of Summit, who had served as vice-chairman and who had later taken over the office vacated by the original chairman. And so when Britts left, we had to have an elected chairman . . . that's where I came in."

BOWMAN EXPLAINED that the county organization has a total of 200 members—"about 160 of the members are active." At the opening session of the convention, State Senator Wayne Dumont Jr., GOP candidate for governor, who was principal speaker, said of the Teen-Age Republicans:

"The Teen-Age Republicans can provide needed initiative and new blood," referring to their aid to the GOP.

Bowman, who was born in Springfield, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Bowman of 381 Hillside ave. His father is with Kirby Smith Associates, and Lee's brother, Alfred E. Bowman Jr., is a lieutenant junior grade with the U.S. Navy. He works in Washington, D. C.

Lee attended school at the Presbyterian Parish House ("that was when the James Caldwell School was overloaded"), then eventually, the Caldwell School, the Florence M. Gaudineer School, Jonathan Dayton Regional High School and Stevens Institute of Technology.

"I attended Stevens for one year. Now that I'm working full time at Gering, I plan to attend Fairleigh Dickinson University on the Madison campus at evening classes, where I will major in mathematics. I'd like to study toward a teaching career or a career in computer programming."

ALTHOUGH BOWMAN cannot foresee any sort of political future, as far as his present ambitions are concerned, he says, "Right now, I'm mainly interested in doing the very best I can for the Union County Teen-Age Republicans. It's good experience for the teen-agers, and I enjoy it. Good experience for me, no matter what profession I pursue."

Recently, Bowman said, "a very exciting thing happened to us. You see, there is a state organization that is called the Federation of Teen-Agers."

"At this time, Union County does not belong to it. But very recently, there was a state meeting at Margo Penard's house, at which time Essex County declared itself disassociated with the state federation group. I think it was because they were dissatisfied with the former chairman of the association."

"Anyway, they announced that they're going to join our Teen-Age Republican group."

"And that's very good news," Bowman said, indicating that the more active

Learning Should Be Serious Business

Young people, from kindergarten to college, will return in the next few weeks to what may well be the most important work they will ever undertake — acquiring an education on which to build their lives.

For most of them, the process is not fun. It shouldn't be, once they are past the first or second grade. They are in school to learn — if they can be entertained at the same time, that's fine, but hardly essential.

Teachers have the responsibility of helping our children to work — hard and efficiently. There are many methods which can be used to reach this goal, but the odds are overwhelming that any specific teacher is using the ones most appropriate for the specific task and personalities involved.

Children have problems with teachers, on occasion, and teachers can well have problems with children. Things being as they are, and the quality of local teachers being what it is, in almost all cases the children will be the ones who have to adjust.

Let's all surprise our local teachers this fall. Let's tell them that they're right.

Being Ready When Tomorrow Comes

This month's wave of riots in Negro slums throughout the country, from Los Angeles to Chicago to Springfield, Mass., must have evoked the same feeling in many residents — a determination that it must not happen here, in Springfield, N.J.

So far, the basic ingredients for a nightmare of this sort are lacking in this quiet, suburban community. Needed for this witches' brew are deteriorating, overcrowded slums with virtually no chance of escape, reinforced by inferior, segregated education and a future of mental, dead-end jobs.

Many of the young people who looted and burned and threw rocks felt that they had nothing to lose. Their actions, of course, can never be excused; they must be understood if we are ever to solve the problem.

A child can not possibly gain a clear understanding of his country or his world if he goes all the way through school without having a single white classmate. In the same manner, however, a child will have difficulty understanding the facts of life on an international, or even a national, scale, if he never sees a black face in the classroom and never knows a Negro except as a servant.

No, the danger of a riot here in Springfield is not great, today. After all, the great majority of the population, Negroes as well as whites, moved here to avoid just those hyper-urban conditions which breed violence and mob anarchy.

The danger for us all is tomorrow. Some day, there will be no place left where we can run. Springfield has virtually no problem today because the Negro community is so small, no more than perhaps 80 families.

Of course, it is so small precisely because restrictive realty practices, by sellers and brokers, have limited Negro purchasers to homes in one small section.

Attitudes are changing, on the part of sellers and brokers, just as the law has changed. In the foreseeable future, perhaps tomorrow, Negroes with comparable income and education and goals in life will be free, or at least more nearly free, to buy homes where they wish.

The urgent need, even, or particularly, in a placid little town like Springfield, is for us all to be ready when tomorrow comes. Being a good neighbor is a two-way proposition. So is living on a street where there are good neighbors.

Fire Destroys

Exploding Bottles

Adding to the hazards of the flames and smoke, firemen stated, was a series of minor explosions as soda bottles burst out the delicatessen kept bursting open, scattering glass and steam.

There were no injuries, however, even though the floor collapsed under the weight of a number of refrigerated storage units and other equipment.

The scene Monday morning was one of complete desolation. The various pieces of equipment lay in a heap, charred and covered with soot, in the basement. Above was only the roof, also charred with a number of gaping holes.

No dollar estimate of the destruction to the delicatessen or to the adjoining business could be obtained. Both the China Sky and the Cake Cottage were closed temporarily, until all the smoke and water damage could be repaired and the foodstuff replaced.

Neighboring Stores

The Morey La Rue shop was able to open for business as usual. Slim Yungor, manager of the dry-cleaning shop, stated that none of the merchandise was harmed, although there was some smoke and water damage to the building.

Al Lombardi, manager of the Grand Union, declared that none of his merchandise suffered any damage. The store was closed in the morning on Monday, however, until the faint smoke odor could be dissipated. The supermarket was able to open its doors later in the day.

With all men and equipment busy battling the fire from 8:42 Sunday evening until 2:30 Monday morning, the Fire Department notified units in Millburn to remain on stand-by alert. This was the first time in more than a year that such a precaution was necessary. There was no need for additional help, however.

Finally, at 2:30 in the morning, the final flames were extinguished and the firemen returned to their headquarters to begin the tedious chores of cleaning their equipment.

Then, at 3:15, there was another alarm. Two men were dispatched to deal with a car fire in the parking lot of Gen. Greene Village, seven apartments adjacent to the shopping center. That task was handled without difficulty. There was no apparent connection between the two fires.

This simple fastener can be dangerous here.

Tacks, nails and staples are great for fastening posters and notices to utility poles. But these metal fasteners, especially when in great number, can cause a lineman's foot to slip; can cause a serious, if not fatal, accident. And posting bills on utility poles in New Jersey is illegal (Section 27:5-1 of the Revised Statutes).

Post no bills. Please.

Here Are Some Helpful Tips For Family Auto Trips

If your family planning to take the road before summer ends? If you've had enjoyable trips in the past, you're more likely to do so. Family vacations by car have much to commend them if adequate advance preparations have been made. This is the advice of Senior County Home Economist Mary W. Armstrong.

The family home economist urges advance planning about routes and stopovers, suggesting that one can't get ready properly unless there is a pretty good idea about destination.

Then on an individual basis, there is the matter of clothes and gear likely to be needed. If there are to be no more than two-passengers, bulky fishing tackle and other recreational equipment present less of a problem. But if there are several traveling together, an agreement of the space allowance per person before getting ready is important.

Two rules for individual packing are helpful: Make a list of all essential items and check them off as you pack. Don't overpack—keep clothes and vacation gear to a minimum. This cuts down on both some unpacking and searching time. After all, you did plan to do something else on the trip than hunt for a certain scarf or pack and unpack several items you wish you had left at home.

Now, for everyone's comfort and convenience in the car, there are several suggestions:

1. Put overnight and "on-the-road" items in a tote bag which you can reach with ease as you stop for the night. Some other activity is more fun than moving four bags to get the one you need.

2. Unpack the glove compartment, then repack it. Include basics only—necessaries maps, pencil and pad, flashlight, facial tissues, pre-moistened pads for cleaning hands and face, especially children's.

3. For car cleanup emergencies, include a sponge and a bottle of an all-purpose product—for example, a pine cleaner wrapped in a plastic bag.

4. Don't overlook the first-aid kit and other medicinal aid. Even mosquito bites, as well as sunburn, can cause discomfort. Also, possible cuts and burns—or poison-ivy—do need attention right away.

5. A thermos of hot coffee or cold milk is often welcome, but nothing takes the place of a good cold drink of water. Thirsty children can make everyone uncomfortable. Most state camp sites have good safe drinking water for refills. But if you're traveling to far-away places with which you are unfamiliar and assurance of safety is not provided, people will still get thirsty. Some folks always carry bottled drinks for emergency use but in case you must risk unknown sources of

Channel Lumber Adds To Chain

Channel Lumber Co., do-it-yourself retail chain, has opened new headquarters on Route 10 in Whippany, it was announced this week by B. R. Charin, vice-president of the firm.

Charin stated that the new building contains the warehouse, administrative and buying sections and includes the most modern mechanical equipment now available. "Some of this equipment," he said, "has never before been used in an operation such as ours."

Channel maintains retail outlets on Route 46, Totowa; Route 10 at the Livingston Circle; Allwood rd., Clifton; Route 22, Springfield; Route 35, Neptune; at the Sayre Woods Shopping Center, Route 9, Sayreville; and at 675 South 10th st., Newark. The company also maintains a Leisure Living Center adjacent to its Route 22, Springfield, outlet. Each Channel home center displays a complete selection of national advertised hand tools, hardware, paint, power tools, outdoor furniture, plumbing, electrical and appliance lines.

JACK NICKLAUS, winner of the Thunderbird Golf Tournament, is shown with Justin P. Walder of West Orange, Dr. Robert Watson and Salvatore Boncompagni, all of the Suburbia Chapter, City of Hope Pilot Medical Center. They met at the Thunderbird to plan for the benefit golf clinic and exhibition game to be held September 3 at the Braidburn Country Club, Florham Park. This will be Nicklaus' only scheduled appearance in New Jersey this year.

Senator Williams Reports

By Sen. Harrison A. Williams

WASHINGTON (Special to New Jersey Weeklies) — Swindlers have moved in on Medicare. The first reports have come in from the Dallas-San Antonio, Texas area and from the Buffalo, New York, area. Confidence men are misrepresenting themselves as employees of the Social Security Administration, authorized to sell and receive payment for health insurance in advance, at a discount. These scavengers in the wake of progress are swindling the elderly by confusing them about the newly enacted federal programs for hospital and nursing care and for medical care for the elderly. The first line of defense, for the individual, against these swindlers is accurate information on Medicare. And it is apparent that, despite the efforts of the Social Security Administration and others, many Americans are not accurately informed. Here are some of the questions which have come to my office and to the office of the Subcommittee on Frauds and Misrepresentations Affecting the Elderly, of which I am chairman: What is Medicare? It consists of two programs; one covering hospital and nursing home care and the other covering medical care, including doctor bills, home nursing care and certain diagnostic and therapeutic costs. There is no charge for the program of hospital and nursing home care. Coverage under the medical care program will cost $3 per month. Who is eligible? Everyone, 65 and over, except for certain employees of the federal government already covered under another plan and most aliens.

How do I sign up for coverage? If you are receiving Social Security benefits, railroad retirement benefits or a federal Civil Service annuity, information will be mailed to you. If you are receiving public assistance payments, the public assistance agency will help you in signing up. IF YOU ARE 65 OR OVER AND ARE NOT RECEIVING ANY OF THE ABOVE LISTED BENEFITS, GET SOCIAL SECURITY WITH YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY OFFICE BETWEEN SEPTEMBER 1, 1965 AND MARCH 31, 1966. Can I enroll before September 1, 1965? No, not under any circumstances. Are there salesmen for Medicare? No. If anyone representing himself as a Medicare salesman, or claiming to be authorized by the Social Security to sell any kind of medical plan calls on you, notify the police or the local Social Security office immediately. Should I drop my present hospitalization plan? No. Hospitalization and medical care benefits don't begin until July 1, 1966. Nursing home benefits don't begin until January 1, 1967. You have plenty of time to consider carefully what, if any, private coverage you want to keep to supplement the federal program. How are these two programs financed? The hospitalization and nursing care program is financed through Social Security, by an addition to the Social Security Tax. This increase is automatic. If you elect to sign up for the medical care program, it will cost an additional $3 a month. This will be deducted from your Social Security or Railroad Retirement monthly benefit check. If you are not receiving either of these benefits, other arrangements will be made through your local Social Security office. What does the hospitalization and nursing care program provide? Payment of hospital bills up to 90 days for each spell of illness except for the first $40. For an additional 30 days, the government will pay all but $10 per day of your hospital bill. This includes drugs. Payment of 80 per cent of the cost of out-patient hospital diagnostic services up to the first $20, during a 20 day period. Payment of the cost of 100 days of post-hospital nursing home care. After 20 days, the patient must pay $5 per day for the other 80 days. Payment of post-hospital home health services up to 100 visits including nursing care and occupational and physical therapy. Payment of up to 100 days in a psychiatric hospital. This is a lifetime limit, in contrast to the limits on hospital and nursing home benefits, which are for each spell of illness. There is no limit on the number of spells of illness for which benefits may be claimed, but confinement to a hospital or nursing home must be separated by 60 days. What does the medical care program provide? You pay the first $50 for medical care in each calendar year. After that, the program pays 80 per cent of: Doctors and surgeons fees. 100 home health visits each year, with no prior hospitalization required. Diagnostic services: X-ray and other, radiology; Ambulance services, surgical dressings, casts, splints, and other therapeutic services. How are benefits paid? Directly to the doctor or the hospital. You will be billed separately for your share of the cost. Are there services which are not paid for by either of these plans? Yes, these include physical examinations, eyeglasses, hearing aids, and certain other services. For further information, contact your local Social Security office.

View From The State House

By GOV. RICHARD J. HUGHES

On Monday, July 26, 1965, President Johnson announced the creation of 19-member National Commission to study all aspects of crime and the administration of justice in the United States. At that time the President said:

"The present wave of violence and the staggering property losses inflicted upon the nation by crime must be arrested. . . . Indeed, there is good cause for alarm. For on the same day, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover reported that serious crimes in the United States increased by 13 per cent in 1964 over 1963.

Crimes of violence were up 15 per cent. Crimes against property were up 13 per cent. Since 1958 the crime rate has increased six times faster than our population growth. . . . But have you ever wondered what these statistics mean for us in New Jersey? In fact, have you ever wondered why we must wait until the FBI issues its report in July to find out how many murders, rapes, robberies, assaults, and the like, were committed in our state during the previous year?

The simple reason is that the Legislature has for years ignored my plea for the adoption of a uniform crime reporting system. Why is this crime reporting law so important? The FBI reports we now rely on are excellent for the purposes they serve. But they do not allow us to pinpoint and analyze differences in the crime problem peculiar to New Jersey. Illegal gambling activities, for example, are not reported by the FBI. Neither are forgery, embezzlement, fraud, narcotics violations, illegal possession of weapons, sex-violations (other than rape), and the like. Even the crimes which are reported are based on arrests — not convictions.

A recent trend, which is occurring not only in New Jersey but other states as well, is a dramatic increase in crime and violence in our suburbs. This nationwide increase was, in fact, 17 per cent in 1964. Here is a potential source of great discomfort. Yet, we cannot get at the roots of this problem because our statistics are not scientific enough to let us do so. As citizens of this state, you have a right to know the extent and scope of the crime problem in New Jersey; so do law enforcement officials so they can respond accordingly in your best interests.

Special Unit At Saint Barnabas To Deal With Lung Disorders

The newest and most modern pulmonary therapy and rehabilitation section in New Jersey will open next month in Saint Barnabas Medical Center, according to Anthony Scala, president of the board. . . . The pulmonary section will feature the latest in diagnostic equipment, including instrumented spirometry, and a variety of laboratory studies. Treatment facilities will include respirators, equipment for the administration of medications to dissolve obstructive lung material, special tilt beds for the draining of secretions, and devices which aid in training people in breathing techniques which permit maximum utilization of remaining lung capacity. . . . In addition to working with patients suffering from better known respiratory ailments such as severe asthma, chronic bronchitis and pulmonary emphysema, Scala said, the pulmonary section will also diagnose and treat industrial ailments associated with aluminum, iron, cotton, anthracite, coal, silicone and beryllium.

He noted that the increasing mobility of the population and the retaining of workers in the mining and cotton industries has brought people suffering from these ailments into New Jersey. . . . Scala noted that 10 years ago there was little that could be done for pulmonary cripples restricted by various diseases. Now, Scala asserted, advances in techniques and equipment make it possible for patients to live a more normal life. . . . "The increase in the number of pulmonary cripples has been striking," he said, "and there remains the question of whether increased longevity bring more of these ailments to the surface, or the aging of heavy smokers, or greater air pollution cause an increase in respiratory disease." . . . ## Eviction

(Continued from Page 1) properly, which adjoins the municipal swimming pool. . . . The Highway Department's first offer was for $30,000, she said, and the most now offered is $35,000. . . . CONDEMNATION PROCEEDINGS were held by three commissioners appointed by Judge Walter L. Hoffield of the Superior Court of N.J. They set a price of $42,000 for the property. That figure is currently being appealed by the Dreyers as too low, and by the highway builders as too high. . . . A preliminary hearing is scheduled for today in the Superior Court, to set the date for a jury trial. That trial is expected to begin in approximately a month. . . . Meanwhile, a Highway Department spokesman in Trenton stressed that the state "has the right to enter upon the property" while the courts consider the appeal. He added that the Highway Department had never encountered people who refused to vacate their homes when so ordered by the court. . . . "If ANYONE should refuse following a court order, he added, the Highway Department has the legal right to 'enter upon the property,' cut off all utilities and even start to tear down the building. . . . Schwartz, the Dreyer's lawyer, declared that he will apply to the courts for additional time for his clients if the Highway Department does not consent to a voluntary extension. . . . He conceded, however, that the Highway Department does have the right to evict the family now. The $35,000 offered for the property has been deposited with the court, and the money could be released to the Dreyers pending final determination of the price. . . . The Highway Department received bids earlier this month for the first stages of construction work for Rte. 78 through Springfield, including the Dreyer's property. The contract for the work is expected to be awarded within the next 10 days.

Widow May Start Social Security Benefit At Age 60

An estimated 500 Union County widows of men who worked under Social Security are eligible to choose to start their benefits when they are 60 instead of waiting until they are 62 as a result of the recent changes in the law, Ralph W. Jones, Social Security district manager in Elizabeth, announced this week.

Up to now, a widow could not start receiving benefits until age 62 unless she had in her care a child who was also getting benefits.

A widow choosing to get monthly benefits when she is 60 will receive a smaller payment than one who waits until she is 62, Jones said. This is to make up for the longer time she will get benefits.

If a widow decides to get benefits when she is just 60, they will be reduced by 13 and one-third percent. If she chooses to start when she becomes 61, the reduction will be six and two-thirds percent.

For example, if a widow whose husband's average income was $3,600 a year decides to start her payment when she is 60, she will get $80.80 a month. If she chooses to start when she is 61, her rate will be $86.70; and if she waits until she is 62, she will get $92.60 monthly.

Once a widow receives benefits before she is 62, she will always get a reduced benefit, even after she is 62, Jones said. If she is working and earning more than $1,500 in a year after 1965, she may not get benefits for all months before she is 62. If this happens, Mr. Jones continued, her benefit will be adjusted upward at 62.

"If any widow has a question about her status under the social security law, I urge her to write or telephone the Elizabeth district office, 288 North Broad st.," Mr. Jones said. The telephone number is 351-3200.

Explorer Scouts To Hear Lecture On Generators

How automobile AC generators work will be explained to the Union County Explorer Scout Automotive Specialty Post Tuesday night at the General Motors Training Center, Route 22, Union.

The lecturer will be H. J. Patterson, zone service manager of United Motors Service, a GM subsidiary. He will tell the automotive-minded Explorer Scouts about the function and operation of the generator and will supervise the disassembly, assembly and testing of a generator by the youths themselves.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m.

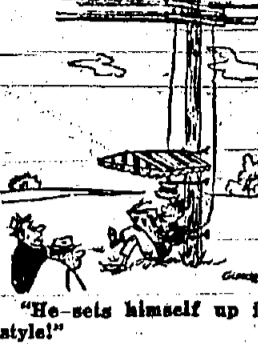

The Explorer Scout post has openings for a select number of qualified boys aged 14 to 17. No previous scouting membership is necessary.

Boys interested in the automotive field who would like to apply for membership should contact Chester V. Podd of Westfield, post chairman, or Donald W. Butters of Westfield, Leonard B. Farrell or Alexander J. McDonald of Mountalnside or Peter Kellers of Summit.

On Tuesday night the Explorers saw a film describing the function of the components of a car's electrical system. The film was shown by John Christen, training service manager for Delco-Remy. A DC generator was disassembled and tested.

The cumulative dividends paid by the Howard since its establishment in 1897 totals almost a quarter of a billion dollars.

Vehicle Accidents At Rail Crossings Killed 19 In 1964

Nineteen lives were lost in motor vehicle accidents at public grade crossings in New Jersey last year, the New Jersey State Safety Council reports. The toll was eight more than recorded in the previous year. In a total of 188 grade crossing accidents, 43 more than in 1962, 81 persons were injured. The injury toll was 11 more than in 1962.

To the end of July this year eight deaths have been recorded, two less than in the corresponding period of last year. Of the fatal accidents this year five occurred during daylight hours and the weather was clear and pavements dry in all eight.

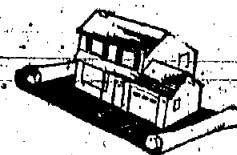

A survey of the accidents last year reveals that 61 per cent of the accidents happened at crossings protected by automatic or manually operated gates, lights, bells, whistles, or a combination of these methods of protection, and 39 per cent took place at crossings with standard crossing signs.

A detailed report of grade crossing accidents, compiled by the State Department of Public Utilities, shows that in 64 of the accidents in which 14 lives were lost and 32 persons injured, the crossings were equipped with flashing light signals or automatic signals. In 19 of the accidents in which four persons were injured flagmen were on duty at the crossings. In seven of the accidents in which five persons were injured the crossings were protected by automatic gates. In seven of the accidents three persons were injured at crossings protected by manually operated gates or other audible or visible signals. Standard cross bar signs were at crossings where 61 other accidents occurred in which five persons were killed and 37 others were injured.

Records show, the Council points out, that a large majority of grade crossing casualties involve drivers, ranging within 25 miles of the accident, who should be familiar with the area. Fatal railroad accidents last year also included 12 pedestrians killed, nine less than in 1962, while taking "short cuts" on railroad property.

Tips for TODAY'S HOMEMAKER

From MARY ARMSTRONG, County Home Economist

If you're a fisherman in the family, the next door you'll probably face some fish-cleaning chores before the summer is over. These tips on how to clean and dress a fish come from the U.S. Department of Agriculture and Department of Interior.

Wash the fish. Then remove the scales by scraping the fish gently from the tail to the head, using the dull edge of the knife.

Cut the fish the entire length of the belly, from vent to head, and remove the entrails. Then remove the backbone over the edge of a cutting board or table.

Remove the large back fin by cutting the flesh along each side and pulling the fin out. Never trim the fins with shears or a knife because the bones at the base of the fin will be left in the fish. Wash the fish thoroughly in cold running water. It is now dressed, ready to cook.

Large dressed fish may be cut crosswise into steaks for freezing. Cut steaks about 3/4 inch thick.

For fillets, cut down the back of the fish from the tail to the head. Then cut down to the backbone just above the collarbone. Turn the knife flat and cut the flesh along the backbone to the tail, allowing the knife to run over the ribs. Lift off the entire side of the fish in one piece. Turn the fish over and cut fillet from the other side. You also may skin the fillets.

If you're planning to freeze fish steaks and fillets, give them a 30-second dip in a solution made up of two-thirds cup salt to one gallon of water. Then wrap and freeze them.

Stuffed Baked Fish
For a whole stuffed fish, cut down the back as for filleting. Remove the thick bone but leave the two sides connected at the two ends of the belly after cleaning. Rub with salt inside and out. Sew together lower edge of opening. Stuff fish with savory cracker filling from opening where backbone was removed. Sew top opening together. Brush with oil or melted butter and place on fish sheet in dripping pan or in oiled oven-proof glass plate.

Cracker Stuffing
1/2 cup cracker crumbs
1/2 cup stale bread crumbs
1/2 cup melted butter
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
few drops of onion juice
1/2 cup hot water
Mix ingredients lightly with fork and season to taste.

NEED A JOB? Read the Help Wanted Section of the Classified Pages. You can probably find an employer who can use your services. If not, list your qualifications in an employment wanted ad. Just call 684-7700 and ask for Ad-Taker.

WITH AN INSERTION OF A CROCHETED section near the center and a lovely edging around the bottom you can turn this simple tablecloth into an exceptionally attractive formal one that can be used for either a seated or buffet dinner. ## LOSS OF TEMPER

Can anyone honestly say, "I never lose my temper?" We all lose our tempers, but we react in different ways. Some cry with anger even though their tears make them even more furious. Some go white, others get red in the face. Some speak softly and very deliberately, others bellie to prevent the feeling of anger.

When we say "control your temper," the meaning should be clarified. Even though we can't control feeling angry, we can control our actions. We do not have to take action when we feel angry. Emotion gives us energy. But we can choose whether our action is constructive or destructive. It is not necessary to throw dishes on the floor and jump up and down on the broken pieces.

There are constructive ways to work off temper. The extra job is a good way—cleaning the attic, straightening out the office files. Hard physical exercise such as a fast game of tennis or golf are fine for working off temper energy. We need this action, and it is much better for us than boiled up wrath or a destructive display of temper.

Ask Amy

By AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy: I have been going with this girl for over four years and I want to get married. At one time she wanted to get married, too, but now she doesn't. She wants to go to college and take courses to build a future for herself but still wants to get married and raise a family in a couple of years.

If she's going to get married and raise a family, why go to college at all? I'm mixed up. What should I do?

B.G.A.H.

Dear E.G.A.H.: An education is just as important for a girl to acquire as it is for a boy. I think she made a very wise decision.

A good education is helpful to a woman in supplementing her family's income (if the need arise), in raising her children more intelligently, in being a better and more understanding wife and also to be worldly wise. If you love her, give her this opportunity to enrich her life so that she can enrich yours.

Dear Amy: I would like to know how you feel about necking — with my girl, of course! I've been dating her steadily for about a year. I'm in my thirties and very normal in every way, but she says I'm abnormal. Do you see anything wrong with it?

Just a Guy

Dear Guy: It may not be fatal but it has put an end to many a bachelor!

Dear Amy: After having danced a dance, I think it is a nice gesture for a boy to thank the girl for the dance. But how on earth is the girl supposed to express her enjoyment? Should she just smile, say "Thank you" or "It was fun" or what?

Questioner

Dear Questioner: "It was fun" sounds like pay for the dance course.

Candystripers Are Honored At Tea For Summer Services At Overlook

Pretty as peppermints—and twice as refreshing! That's the opinion patients at Overlook Hospital, Summit, have of the pretty Candystripers who have made their hospital stay more cheerful by the many tasks they perform for patients' comfort.

A special Candystriper tea was held at Overlook as their honor last Thursday as a thank-you to 156 teenagers who gave summertime service this season. "The hospital particularly appreciates such help since many adult volunteers are occupied with children home from school or are away on vacation," a hospital spokesman said.

The young ladies, clad in their pink and white striped jumpers, perform a multitude of helpful duties—delivering flowers and mail, freshening water carafes, cleaning bed side tables for patient's meals, helping with feeding and entertaining in pediatric.

Comments from Candystripers about their hospital jobs express the girls' views: "It's good to feel you're helping other people—especially when they're sick."

"Everyone is so pleased when you bring them flowers and mail. You really feel you're cheering up."

"The children enjoy playing games so much, and hearing stories read."

"Lots of my friends are candystripers and it's fun doing something useful together—you make lots of new friends, too."

A HANDY SHOPPING GUIDE FOR BOTH PARENTS AND STUDENTS

Largest And Best Qualified College Freshmen Are Expected This Fall

Approximately 1,300,000 freshmen—the biggest class and considered to constitute the generally best qualified in history—will be entering institutions of higher learning this fall, swelling total college and university enrollments to around 5,500,000 for a new record high.

The increase was expected. It grows out of the continual arrival of more post-World War II babies at college age, a trend that will continue for several years. Yet numbers do not tell the whole story.

A greater percentage of high school students, fully indoctrinated with the importance of a higher education to a rewarding position in modern life, with its mounting demands for better educated people, are committed to the quest for knowledge. This too, will increase, as government, business and industry join in materially and spiritually stimulating youth to appreciate and understand the importance of education.

Problems Intensified

The continuing growth of the numbers of aspiring youngsters intensifies their problems of finding a place in institutions of higher learning, despite a virtual explosion, over these past years in facilities to take care of them.

Still more expansion is required. Public institutions—the state universities and land grant colleges—have made tremendous strides in expanding physical facilities and improving educational standards to meet the relentless needs.

Yet even among these institutions, except where laws require admission of any graduate of any accredited high school in the state, the principle of selectivity has had to be invoked to some degree. Requirements for admission have been upgraded.

The significance of these institutions to the overall problem of providing higher education is dramatically documented by last year's enrollment figures—which will go up 10 to 15 percent this year.

They found places for more than 3,200,000 students as compared with approximately 1,780,000 in private colleges and universities. The figures are from a survey reported by the Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges.

Ivy League Picture
The eastern prestige schools—the Ivy League and the Seven Sister Colleges for girls—with their rigid admission requirements, have accepted a total of 18,812 out of approximately 62,000 applicants, for admission this fall.

A total of approximately 12,000 places are available. The excess of acceptances will bring a total since many applied to other schools.

Thus the so-called "prestige" group are able to take care of approximately 1 percent of the total. But there are in excess of 2,000 colleges in the nation, inclusive of a great number of the smaller schools, all of which are striving valiantly to improve their education standards.

Growth in the number of two year institutions known as community and junior colleges and the truly explosive expansion of state and land grant schools, should make it possible despite the pressures, for every student to move on to higher education.

One thing appears certain. The quality of the college student body is increasing. More exacting admission requirements make this inevitable. Improvements in preparation is making for better candidates.

A vastness among students of the big colleges, especially where they are demanding more personal attention from teaching staffs, hampered by shortages and by time required for research projects, is interpreted as indicating the more serious approach the modern college student is taking toward his education.

Fit And Style Determine Selection Of Child's Shoe

Does the shoe really fit? Parents should make sure. Since shoe styles vary, and the youngster's feet most likely will have grown during summer vacation, his old shoe size is not an adequate guide. Here are some steps to follow in the selection of correctly fitting shoes:

1. Have the salesman measure each foot while it is bearing the youngster's full weight; fit larger foot.
2. Press toe of the shoe until you feel the tip of the big toe and the second toe should be one-half to three-quarters of an inch from the toe of the shoe.
3. Check to see that widest part of foot is at widest part of shoe — ball of foot and ball of shoe should meet exactly.
4. It should be possible to grasp a small fold of leather at the side of the vamp. If leather wrinkles, shoe is too wide; if the leather is tight, bulging, shoe is too narrow.

BOYS' BROGUES ARE PERFECT FOR SCHOOL WEARING

Boys going back to school go for the brawny, lightweight leather brogues that look just like Dad's, down to the perforations, long-wing tips and pinkings.

Leather moccasins and saddle oxfords rate with the junior male set, in their classic forms with many new variations: waxed, light-grained and scotch-grained leathers for mood; dark-on-dark color combinations for the saddle oxford as well as the traditional white-with-brown-or-black.

The chukka or demi-boot in sporty brushed leather with elasticated insets on the heel model is another winner for trim classroom and rugged outdoor wear.

For stepping out, boys choose dress-brogues or slip-ons.

BEAUTY OF A BOOT — One of the season's popular boots is this uncluttered, slim look by Desco. Its under-the-knee height shows just enough beneath short, swingy skirts. Made of polished waxhide leather, it has a plush, orlon pile lining for cozy comfort in the great outdoors or while strolling in town. Slack heel and narrow-rib sole make the "Lancaster" skid proof. Inside there's the special "Red Carpet" construction with control stitch to cushion the foot in buoyant softness. And there is a full length slipper. Waxhide colors are black, bronze and green. They are available at Union Bootery, 1630 Stuyvesant Ave., Union Center.

Wide Variety Of Administrative Posts Available To Non-Teachers, Specialists

The education field offers a wide variety of "back-up" or administrative posts for those who are not planning to spend their lives in teaching.

There are opportunities at all levels for counselors, librarians, psychologists, social workers, dietitians, speech and sight therapists in the schools.

There are exciting openings for specialists in programmed learning, educational television (there are now more than 100 TVT stations on the air), language laboratories and other new teaching media.

There is the big field of administration for those who aspire to become principal, dean, department head, curriculum director, research or personnel chief, superintendent of schools.

Teaching — and its offshoot careers — has become the nation's number one job. And judging from the testimony of those in teaching today, it is a wonderful one.

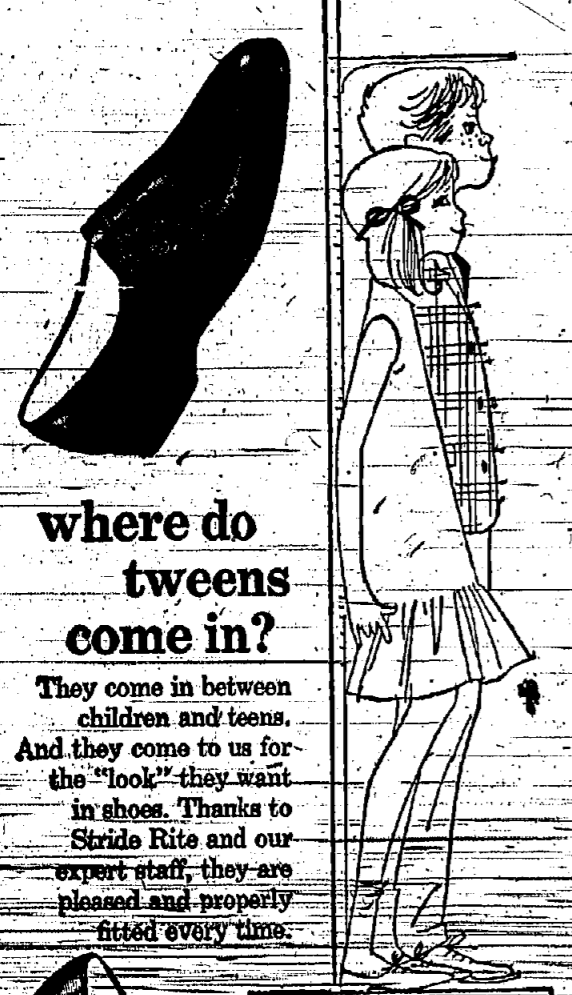

Listen to what a teacher said when her son decided to go into teaching: "I am glad my son wants to become a teacher. He is going into the most wonderful profession in the world. It will not make him rich.

"But I feel sure he will be happy, and it is possible that he will drink of the fountain of youth.

"For when you grow old sharing the thoughts and dreams of young people, you assume some of their optimism, their charity, their wonder at the unseen treasures always waiting to be found."

'Winged Horse' Can Spur Broad Range Of Learning For Primary Students

"Who is Pegasus?" To the average person, Pegasus is the name of a character in ancient mythology. To a group of primary students in a Chicago parochial school, however, Pegasus is a current ideal in several lessons relating art, science, mythology and even basic notions of algebra and geometry.

The school, Christ the King, is one of two pilot elementary schools engaged in a curriculum project developed by the Center for Liberal Studies in Education at Saint Xavier College, Chicago.

Teachers utilize such concepts as the "Pegasus" lessons to show pupils the interrelation of knowledge. Saint Xavier educators believe that this unification of knowledge helps pupils to see the reasons behind their studies.

The lesson might begin with a discussion of the story about the mythical winged horse named Pegasus. From there it's a natural step to the Pegasus rocket, which has wings that spread out as the rocket approaches its target, to help it

Drawing Pegasus on the chalkboard leads the way to a discussion of geometric shapes and of such scientific principles as how rockets travel around the earth.

Concepts of arithmetic and time are developed, as the primary pupils answer questions that might range from "Give us the countdown for Pegasus' blast-off" to "If our rocket travels 500 miles in one minute, how far will it travel in three minutes?"

How To Plan Boys' Wardrobe For Tastes, Budgets

How does a mother go about setting up a plan to build as complete a wardrobe as possible for her grade school son or sons? Here are some suggestions from the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear, the consumer education bureau of the male apparel industry.
Most boys could be better dressed and have a more extensive wardrobe if apparel was bought on a planned basis and if, before any item was purchased, you could answer "yes" to the question, "Will this item fit into his basic wardrobe?"

and make a dressed-right look for your boy easier to achieve and maintain. In the long run, it's less expensive in terms of your money and energy.

'65 Footwear Styles Vary From Campus To Campus

As students cross the country take steps to get ready for the move back to college, shoe wardrobes come in for their share of attention.
Tastes in footwear vary somewhat from campus to campus, depending on geographical location, reports Leather Industries of America. In each region, college men and women have special shoe favorites, as well as certain styles that seem to hit across-the-board.
Very much in the picture, too, is the lively high school crowd, whose members are more and more inclined to put themselves on the same fashion footing as collegians.

NORTHEAST
MEN - Students of Ivy League colleges and other Northeastern schools favor traditional styles in rugged leathers—cordovan or heavily grained leather brogues and oxfords, black or brown saddle shoes, classic moccasins. For dress-occasions, oxfords and dress slippers.
WOMEN - For the classroom, here—and everywhere—the leather moccasin rates high. Tie-shoes in smooth, grained and brushed leathers are also popular. Boot-shoes suitable for indoor and outdoor wear in cold weather are a big favorite.
DATING calls for sling-backs, pumps with huge buckles.
MIDWEST
MEN - Midwestern men about campus like informality and comfort. Norwegian-style moccasins, saddle shoes, and plain-toe oxfords—mostly in grained leathers. Fleece-lined chukkas or desert boots step out when temperatures drop.
WOMEN - Brushed and grained leather boot-shoes and boots are big with the Midwestern coed. Again, the moc is important; also, ghillies and other tie-shoe styles. Pumps, buckled or bowed, for dress-and-date.
SOUTHWEST AND SOUTH
MEN - Southern college men go for the neat and natty look in footwear. In addition to brogues and dark-on-dark saddle shoes, the look of tasseled slippers, moccasins are plentiful. Southerners take a "color break" with light tans and amber tones, as well as standard blacks and browns.
WOMEN - Southern campus belles like the marvelous moccasins, too. Zingy slippers—flat and little-heeled—in a variety of leathers and styles are also being worn. "Dress-up" means slings, open-sided or cut-down pumps.
SOUTHWEST
MEN - The college male of the Southwest prefers the "Ivy League" look in his shoe wardrobe, except for occasionally worn cowboy boots. Ethnic oxfords, long wing-tip brogues in cordovan and scotch-grained leathers are for classroom and dress. Strictly casual are dark-toned saddle shoes, mocs.
WOMEN - The college girl of the Southwest has a more casual approach to footwear fashion. She likes the "booby" knee-high, calf level, and low cut wear in every way—sporty, leg- and slip-ons are popular. Important dates call for pale or bright "bare-foot" pumps or sling shoes.
WEST COAST
MEN - For classroom wear, West Coast collegians like black and white suede oxfords, brushed leather ties and moccasins. For a more formal feeling, they do grained leather oxfords or elegant smooth leather slippers. In the Northwest, boots are a "must". For skiers, ski boots as well.
WOMEN - Fashion-conscious West-Coast coeds opt for smart suede and reptile-grained boots, booties, and tidy ties in many leathers. Sandals and slings blossom out at date-time.

Call For Trial Basis Only On Student 'Acceleration'

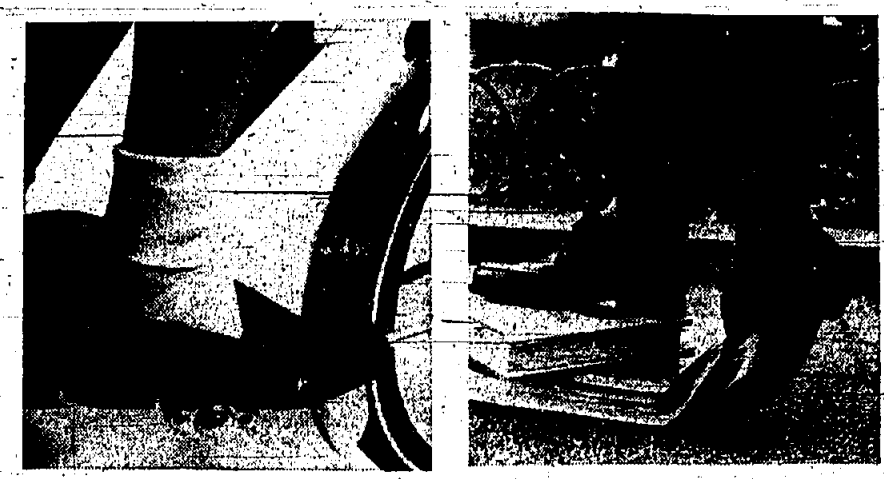

"Acceleration" of students in public schools, which usually means allowing them to skip a grade, should be on a trial basis only with provision for return to the normal class without "loss of face."

This is the recommendation of Daniel Daly, elementary school principal, and Stanley Winters, school psychologist, in Ridge-wood, authors of a 10-point plan "to take the guesswork out of accelerating a student."

The plan, described in the

New Jersey Education Association Review, has been tested over a period of three years by the authors.

Standards for permitting students to skip a grade are set forth as follows: academic, physical, and emotional maturity, chronological age with avoidance of the "too young" teacher placement, parental attitude, effect on other children in the family and school attendance record.

Moccasins, oxfords ride high with grade-schoolers. Girl's moo at left is a scotch-grained penny loafer version. Boy's oxford features perforations, touches of antiquing, smooth and grained leathers.

Moccasins In Style For Girls Or Boys

For boys and girls going back to school this fall, there's a wide selection of footwear to satisfy both the youngsters and their parents.

To help in choosing shoes to meet every need of the school day, and dress-up time, too, here are some suggestions from Leather Industries of America.

Little girls radiate classroom charm in leather booties, strap-shoes, ties and slip-ons of all types. Some slip-ons sport slings-backs; others have side cut-outs, appliques or button trim.

The favorite slip-on is still the leather moccasin, now not only in glove and waxed leathers, but in grained, brushed, suede and patent leathers as well.

Plain leather soles add assurance of comfort through flexibility, protection through strength.

Girls like smart strap shoes in smooth, grained or brushed leather. Decorative noles are many — stitching details, strap shaping, combinations of leathers or colors, buckles or buttons.

Trim tie-shoes are zippy, in multi-textured leather. Higher cut for foot hugging ease is the dependable leather oxford, which comes appliqued, cut out or saddled. Saddle oxfords have a new look in contrasting suede or patent-leather saddles.

Leather booties show a flair for buckles, tassels and color combinations. Shearling linings in booties and full boots keep feet cozy-warm.

For parties and dress-up, girls prefer delicate leather slings, shells and pumps with the flirty, feminine look of bows and cut-outs.

You're a high school graduate and you're headed for college.

If you haven't done it already, you will soon set out on your first trip to look over the college of your choice and that will be the time when your college will take its first look at you.

Well, before you take this first trip — and certainly far ahead of the day when you land on the campus to start your freshman year — you should be planning that all-important item, your wardrobe.

First impressions are very important. Your appearance — the "90 Per Cent You" that is what you wear and how you wear it — is a big part of what faculty and students will go by when sizing you up.

The best time to begin to build a college freshman's wardrobe is a month or two before starting for the campus, as stores then offer the widest choice in back-to-school apparel.

Early shoppers will, of course, find the stores have plenty of light wear, useful if you're heading for a tropic-type campus. For students in sterner climates, however, the emphasis will be on colors and fabrics for the colder months.

To begin with, take stock right now of the wearables you have. Many items will fit perfectly on the campus of your choice. Others, on the other hand, will be out of place if not taboo.

Button-down-collared white oxford shirts go well on all campuses.

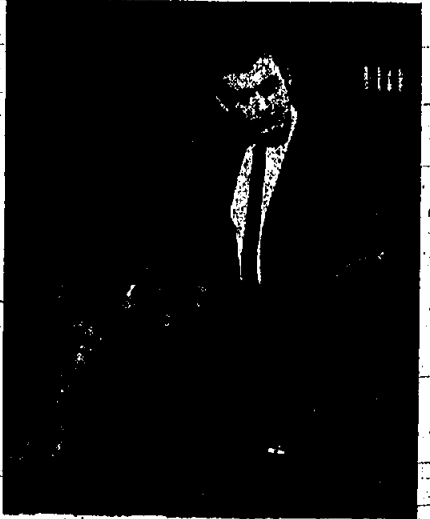

The tweed jacket is a must. But flannel trousers and chinos are acceptable only if they are not the skinny-legged, stovepipe variety. If your blazer is styled with a short, outaway front and has a light-colored "Continental" look, plan on leaving it home.

Start at the earliest to get together a wardrobe of conservative college clothes. Guard against all flashiness and extravagance. As a freshman, do your best to look like a sophomore.

From there on, you should find it a cinch to present an appropriate appearance on all college occasions.

IN TRADITIONAL style, favored by college men, are sport coats like this three-button glen plaid, with coordinated slacks.

LEADING A DOUBLE LIFE — at the library, or on a date; sport coats coordinate with the well-groomed look. This three-button style is of all-wool hopsack.

VERSATILE SUBURBAN-STYLE coats can be worn over suits, sport coats, sweaters with equal ease. Coat shown has an alpaca collar and, for warmth, alpaca lining.

Fashion Today Is The Complete Look

Now they're calling it the new "total look," but back-to-school and college girls know about it all the time. In fact, they inspired it.

approach to fashion sophistication as the junior high girl joins her high school and college sisters in becoming knowledgeable about wardrobe planning.

beginning with a well-planned selection of sweaters, blouses, jackets, vests, jumpers, skirts. Separates for the new season may rely strongly on casual, classic favorites, but there's plenty of news, too. In styling, it's ease and femininity that count with the fresh-liveliness of skirts—from pleated to dandi—being welcomed by the busy young set.

Heather tones—and weaves vie with corduroys, plaids and madras for popularity. Leathers, suedes and their look-alikes are going strong. Flannels, tweeds follow the casual line. Fabrics, colors and patterns mix.

Coats and suits cooperate in the total look, too. For instance, cutaway or slim coats or capes of any length top dresses or skirts and blouses. New shapelier suits come with matching blouses or newest turtleneck sweaters in contrasting patterns.

For young dash, there are such fashion ideas as the giant-size industrial zipper.

Add them up, and it's clear that the neat, complete look, which fashion now dubs "the total look," is a clear case of cause and effect. It just had to be created, especially to answer the diversified fashion needs of the grooming-conscious class and campus set. Basics of a wardrobe that works well-for-class, dress-up and leisure are mixable, result, the total look often begins with a well-planned

Long Distance to San Francisco — $1.00

Quite a change for a three minute night station call. While the cost of just about everything else has been going up, the cost of calling long distance has been going down... and down... and down. It didn't just happen. We've worked long and hard to find better ways to provide service. More economical ways, too. The result? More for your money. And we're looking for new ways to do our job better all the time.

Growing High Schooler Has Problems Dressing Right

Full, short, chubby, lanky. High school men come in all sizes. So do their fathers and older brothers; of course, but there's this difference about the high schoolers. They're still growing by leaps and bounds, and a few years are likely to make a big change. To the meantime, careful choice of clothes—colors, patterns, styles—can make a big difference right now for the high schooler who wishes he could change his appearance, suggests the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear. Want to play down weight? Avoid screaming colors; too-bold patterns, says the Institute. But count on vertical designs—chalk stripes, herring-bones—to "unbroaden" and elongate. Remember rough, thick-looking fabrics emphasize bulk. Head towards smooth chevrons, flannels, clear-faced worsteds. Jackets on the long side, tapered trousers modify heaviness. Neither jacket nor trousers should be tight-fitting. Is looking taller the objective? Avoid being "cut in two" by pattern, model, color. Emphasize the up-and-down. Select jackets with the shoulders squared. Avoid stubby, short or high-rolled lapels. Watch jacket length—too short "cut in two"; too long shortens the apparent length of legs. When coordinating trousers to jacket, avoid sharp contrasts. Accent the "up-and-down" with tone-on-tone matches. Cuffless trousers do much to

Patterns and types of fabrics are important. In over-plaids and plaids, for instance, the crosswise lines cut the vertical markings and tend to emphasize breadth. While unfinished worsteds are acceptable, thicker-looking fabrics such as chevrons and saxones are preferred. For shirts, those with wide-spread collars are suggested.

Colleges Stretch Time To Accommodate Students

Pressure of the mounting enrollments in colleges and universities is bringing significant changes in attitudes toward the time available in these institutions of higher learning, for teaching.

Some schools are attempting to stretch the available time by scheduling classes to start earlier in the day and extending them further into the afternoon and evening.

Morning classes at Oklahoma State University will start at 7:30 a.m. This fall, Freshman chemistry laboratories will be scheduled far into the night at Louisiana.

Even more significant of the pressure is the change that is coming about in attitudes toward summer sessions.

Star-spangled key to a home of your own

A key to your own home is a mighty nice thing. Especially if it has stars and stripes on it.

The way you get one is to save U. S. Savings Bonds for the down payment. Or if you're beyond that point, for furniture or appliances, or the other things inside a house that make it a home.

A nest egg in Bonds can go a long way towards providing a nest and its contents — because each Series E Bond pays back $4 at maturity for every $3 you save.

Another thing you'll get is a nice red, white and blue feeling. The kind you get by giving your country a financial hand while you're saving.

It's easy to start saving Bonds today. A call to your payroll department, or a visit to your bank will do it.

Quick facts about Series E Savings Bonds

- ✓ You get back $4 for every $3 at maturity
- ✓ You can get your money when you need it
- ✓ Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, destroyed or stolen
- ✓ You can buy Bonds where you bank, or on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work

Buy E Bonds for growth—H Bonds for current income

In the 50-meter freestyle competition for girls 13 and 14, Kevin Geiger paced the field to a new mark, 34.4 seconds. Pete Davenport at 28.1 seconds established a record in the 50-meter dash for boys 15 to 17. Chris Consales was clocked at 34.4 seconds in the 50-meter race for girls 15 to 17 to set her record.

Keith Widom and Aaron Devinsky finished two and three as Hector established his record. Cathy Alexy and Ellen Sherman were in that order behind Miss Bullman.

Ricky Hector and Gavin Widom followed Holler as he splashed to his record, and John Edwards and Steve Alex finished behind Creede in the fastest race of the day.

A. Best Pharmacy Takes 3 To Retain Margin In Softball

A. Best Pharmacy maintained a two-game spread on Springfield in the Springfield Recreation Adult Softball League of both clubs posted three victories last week to keep pace.

Best Pharmacy won 4-3 over the PBA, 12-2 over Community Sweet Shoppe and 22-9 over Conte's Deli. A grand slam homper in their next two starts.

Spring Liquors walloped Conte's Deli, 17-1, won 8-6 over the PBA, and 17-2 over A.R. Meeker. Spring is in a position to gain a tie should Best Pharmacy falter in their next two starts.

Spring Liquors opened the heavy schedule of the week over Conte's Deli. A grand slam homper by Johnny Lies of the Springfield Liquors came in the fifth. Teammate Ted Soriente was finally retired after reaching first safely in 10 consecutive appearances at the plate.

Best Pharmacy turned back the Springfield PBA, 4-3, in the best game of the campaign. Here was a nip and tuck game that could easily have gone the other way with a timely hit.

In the seventh the PBA loaded the bases with one away but Scott Donington induced Frank Jezzkoff to pop out to third. Bob Interdantia hit a sharp bouncer up the middle which shortstop Jackie Angar converted into a force-out at second in the defensive gem of the contest.

PBA came back Tuesday night to defeat the hard hitting Millmans, 12-4, coming through with 14 base hits. Mike Pisano had a triple, Frank Jezzkoff a double to lead the PBA.

Spring Liquors kept pace with A. Best by winning, 17-2, over A.R. Meeker as the Lies brothers put on their biggest hitting show of the season. Johnny Lies had a pair of doubles, Jimmy Lies and Mark Lies got three hits between them.

Stan Cornfield had his spineer working well and held the Meeker hitters to three safe blows.

ATTENTION BOWLING LEAGUES

As September draws near, aficionados of America's number one participation sport, bowling, are feeling the butterflies and getting the urge to once again "go down to the lanes."

Bowlers who wish to have publicity about their league appear in this newspaper will have an easy job.

The Sports Department has prepared bowling publicity forms which are available at no charge. The coupon which appears below should be pasted on a post card and mailed to the sports department so that arrangements can be made to accommodate your league.

This newspaper will try to offer complete coverage of area bowling. Two bowling columns are planned.

"As the Pins Drop" will contain standings of all area leagues that desire publicity. A second column, "Bowling Highlights," will contain top individual scores of the week's action, anecdotes, bowling interest pieces and bowling news of specific interest to area bowlers.

League secretaries may submit items for "Bowling Highlights," as well as their league standings for "As the Pins Drop." Secretaries are requested to mail the coupon to the sports department as soon as possible so that forms may be returned by the beginning of the season. Only standings submitted on these forms will be accepted.

Nobody ever thinks about a water heater... until it runs out.

Quick recovery electric water heaters never get thought about.

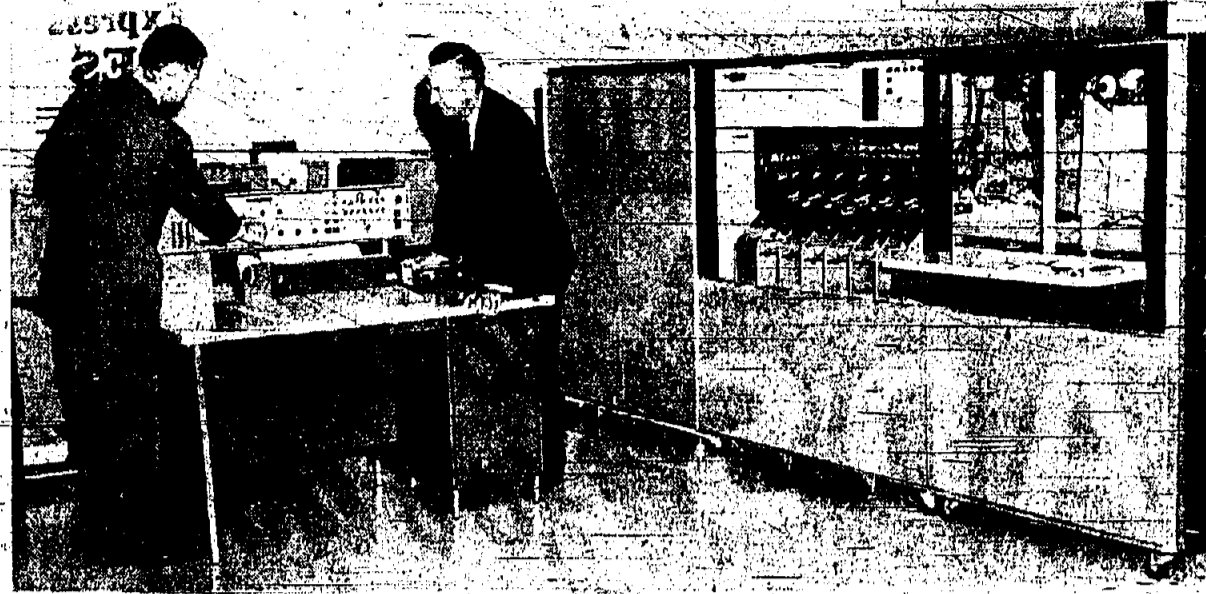

They just work away unnoticed, unsung, producing hot water that goes on and on and on and on. If you owned one, you wouldn't even know it was there. As you use the hot water, it heats up more in a big hurry. And it works without flame, needs no vents or flues, never makes a sound, or even a speck of mess, and can be installed anywhere in the house. If you don't own one, it might be worth a little thought.

Hail Legislation Helping Centers For Mental Health

"We are delighted that President Johnson has signed the bill which will provide funds to staff community health centers," Roderic L. O'Connor, president of the New Jersey Association for Mental Health, stated recently. "The New Jersey Association for Mental Health and its 19 chapters have strongly favored and actively worked for the passage of this legislation since 1963. A group of 20 Mental Health Association leaders visited Washington last March to contact our Senators and Representatives about this bill. It provides $22.5 million dollars to finance the staffing of community mental health centers throughout the country. The signing of this bill represents the completion of the federal commitment to the community-based mental health center program concept advocated by President Kennedy and Johnson." O'Connor explained. "The bill also provides $138 million dollars for training teachers of handicapped children, including the emotionally handicapped, and for demonstration and research projects in the field of education of handicapped children. We are extremely pleased with this provision of the bill as well."

The Result Of 20 Years' Work: 30,000,000 Cancer Dressings

As the New Jersey Division of the American Cancer Society observes the 20th year of its existence, the work accomplished by volunteers in its 21 county chapters deserves special recognition. An average of 14,000 volunteers have worked in the Society's service program each year, mostly in sewing groups, and over the years they have made some 30,000,000 dressings for cancer patients. The number of workers in the dressings groups grew from approximately 3,000 in 1945-46 to 22,166 in the peak year of 1961-62. Ever before, the existence of the New Jersey Division of the American Cancer Society in New Jersey is the lack of public knowledge about the services available to the cancer patient. One does not have to be completely without funds to obtain assistance. Each case is judged on its own merits; medical indigency, rather than income, is the criterion on which granting aid is based. Among services provided by the Society, when chapter funds are available, are visiting nurses (up to $3 per visit) practical nurses, house-keepers, nursing

An attempt to move Theresa Gargalowitz to Morristown Memorial Hospital has been postponed because of an attack of pneumonia, she recently suffered. The decision came about after it was learned that nothing more could be done for Theresa at Overlook Hospital, according to Phillip Portnoy of Union.

The 20 year-old Feirligh Dickinson co-ed has been in the Summit hospital in a coma for 18 months after being critically injured in an automobile accident that occurred on Morris ave., Springfield on April, 1964. Theresa's condition improved slightly last week and if all goes well she will be moved to Memorial where she will undergo Seymour Corsover of 667 Chelsea ter., Union, reported to police Wednesday that a $125 tire and wheel and a $225 Olivetti adding machine had been stolen from his 1965 Cadillac over the night.

patterning therapy treatment, a spokesman said. However if nothing can be done for her at the Morristown institution she will be transported to a nursing home, Portnoy said. Portnoy has reported that more than $1,000 had been paid out of the funds in recent weeks for nursing care during her attack of pneumonia. In Springfield however $15.02 has been raised for the fund by seven children ages 9 to 12 at a carnival held at the home of Wendy and Cathy Grosky of 4 Surrey lane, Springfield on Monday. The carnival featured fish games, fortune telling, ring toss at bottles plus a canky, cookie and refreshment sale. The hostesses of the party were Wendy and Cathy and their friends Laura Lobbato, Debbie Cardaci, Roberta Opabinella, Bobby Fisher and Melaine Karlzman, all of Springfield. It was reported that about 25 children attended. In addition, $344 was collected at a dance held for the Gargalowitz fund, at the Old Evergreen Lodge, Springfield. The "Jazz Masters", who played at the dance, sponsored the affair.

Besides the $344, a "mysterious envelope" containing $200 was also collected. The "Jazz Masters" are currently playing at the Union Drive-In Theater on Tuesday evenings and the Forest Lodge Swim Club on Sundays. They are scheduled to appear shortly at the N. Y. Pavilion at the World's Fair. Contributions to the Theresa

Hearing Sept. 13 For Union Youths

An article last week inaccurately stated that Springfield Magistrate Max Sherman issued bench warrants against two young men from Union when they failed to appear to face disorderly conduct charges. The two were actually not scheduled to appear until Sept. 13, and court records which had listed them for a hearing last week were in error. There were no warrants issued, once the error was determined.

The two youth are Stewart Goldberg, 18, of 1243 Magnolia pl. and William Bouware of 2346 Springfield ave., both Union. The charges arise from an altercation Aug. 10 at the Balsorol Stables in Springfield.
