Campaign Issues Hold Spotlight At Candidates' Night

Gaudineer Wing Near Completion

Construction work on the addition at the Florence Gaudineer School is "moving along quite nicely" and remains on schedule, Board of Education member Joseph Bender told the board at its meeting Tuesday night at the James Caldwell School.

With 35 to 40 men on the job, Bender stated, the contractor should have the classrooms ready for occupancy by the school board by the contract date of Nov. 15.

The students could be in their new rooms by Thanksgiving, and certainly no later than the end of the year, Bender said, once Board of Education employees finish moving and installing equipment. This cannot be done until the contractor finishes his work.

Occupancy of the gymnasium, auditorium and the home economics kitchen facilities will come somewhat later, since additional work remains in those areas.

Decision On Plaque
A minor dispute over the issue of whether or not to install a plaque in the new wing bearing the names of the board members also occupied a portion of the meeting. A motion to dispense with a plaque was tabled by a vote of four to three.

Voting in table were John Gacos, Camilo Casale, Robert Southward and August Caprio, board chairman. Opposed were Bender, Mrs. Ruth Weisman, Francis Shlimshock and Mrs. Sonya Dorosky were absent.

The board, with Mrs. Weisman and Werner dissenting, then approved a plaque for the addition. It will bear the names of the present board members, superintendent and secretary, as well as former officials who aided in the project.

New Teacher
On the suggestion of John O. Berwick, superintendent of schools, the board approved appointment of Marshall Pura as a new teacher, at a salary of $8,600. A graduate of Ohio State University, he has had one year of teaching experience.

Added to the list of substitute teachers were Mrs. Anita Blumenthal, Mrs. Rosalie Millman, Elbert Kleinman, Mrs. Margaret Goss, Mrs. Selma Grosswald, Mrs. Mildred Grader, Mrs. Rosemond Goodman, Mrs. KRS Hough, Mrs. Margaret Hough, Mrs. Lovelle Silverman, Mrs. (Continued on Page 7)

Nominees Of GOP Stress Finances In Seeking Votes

"Where do you want your change?" Republican Township Committee Candidates Robert G. Planer and Robert D. Hardgrove asked a gathering of voters at a meeting last Thursday evening.

Planer and Hardgrove answered the question was, "The change is in your pocket when you stick with the team of Hardgrove, Planer and the tax collector, Fred L. Braun."

"These men are part of the team that has made financial responsibility more than a slogan in Springfield over the past four years," Planer continued.

Hardgrove pointed out, "Considering the fact that only approximately 23 percent of the total Springfield tax dollar is spent for municipal purposes, the services required by our township people have been expanded to meet the needs of our growing community.

"Our police force has been expanded, our fire department has additional personnel and necessary people have been added to our recreation and other municipal departments, and all within the 25 percent of the total tax dollar.

"It is important to note that the services to the citizens have not been diminished but expanded and still within sound budgeting procedure."

Tax Collector
Tax Collector Fred L. Braun, candidate for reelection, reiterated his part in the "sound financial condition that Springfield enjoys" by pointing out his record of tax collections, which in 1964 was 97.64 percent of the total.

"The percentage was one of the highest in the state and is an indication of the qualifications that I offer in my bid for reelection," said Braun.

Township Committeeman Planer informed the audience that "despite the disparaging remarks made during this campaign to the effect that taxes have increased 122 points, there is absolutely no substantiation." (Continued on Page 2)

WRONG SIDE

James Farrell, 28, of Waterbury, Conn., paid a $25 fine at Monday night's court session for going the wrong way on Rt. 22, Springfield.

Federal Agency Will Begin Work In Local Facility

Defense Department Opens District Office To Handle Contracts

The U. S. Government Defense Contract Administration Services district office in Springfield will formally open its doors with special ceremonies next Friday, October 29, it was announced this week.

The new office will begin its operations on Nov. 1 in the new facility, which was formerly the Davaga store on Rt. 22 at Hillside ave. It was extensively renovated and enlarged to accommodate the government office.

The new office is a merger of procurement offices formerly operated by the Army, Navy and Air Force. It will handle all Defense Department dealings with contractors in New York's Richmond County and New Jersey's Essex, Hudson, Hunterdon, Middlesex, Bergen, Monmouth, Morris, Passaic, Somerset, Sussex, Union and Warren Counties.

Army Brig. Gen. C.W. Clapsaddle is director of the New York Defense Contract Administration Services Region (DCA-SR), with headquarters at 770 Broadway in New York. District offices will be in Springfield and in Garden City, L. I.

Air Force Col. Leo F. Deegan is Springfield district chief, with John Phelan as deputy chief, and Lt. Col. Philip Palmer of the Air Force as executive officer.

Most of the functions of the new office are being transferred from other offices of the Defense Department and Defense Supply Agency.

These include the Air Force office, which has been in Newark, and the Navy office, which was formerly in Mountainide. Most of the more than 300 workers are being transferred from the other offices.

A Defense Department spokesman stressed that no information on hiring personnel for the Springfield office will be available until the office begins activities on Nov. 1.

Democracy Face GOP Nominees For Town Offices

Republicans praise Opponents Condemn Municipal Policies

By ABNER GOLD

Contenders for the three municipal offices to be filled by voters Nov. 2 made their only joint appearance at the campaign at the annual Candidates' Night meeting, sponsored by the Springfield League of Women Voters last week at the Edward Walton School. Some 200 persons attended.

Township Committee candidates—who spoke were Henry Grabarz and Donald L. Mantel, Democrats, and Robert D. Hardgrove and Robert G. Planer, Republicans.

The two candidates for tax collector also spoke. They are Fred Braun, Republican, and Mrs. Marie Smith, Democrat.

Each contender opened with a five-minute prepared address. Each then presented a three-minute rebuttal, and then the candidates answered questions from the audience.

Candidates' Statements
In his prepared remarks, Grabarz attacked a "lack of competent leadership" and a "do-nothing attitude." He declared, "Not a single new industry has been attracted to Springfield in the past three-and-a-half years through the efforts of this administration, and the business district keeps getting sadder."

Hardgrove called on all citizens to "cast an intelligent vote for the future of Springfield." He declared that he wants to help the community "grow in a proper manner—foster its residential character." He cited the municipal swimming pool as typical of activities which encourage all residents to "meet as a cohesive unit."

Mantel stressed a need for "checks and balances" and the value of an organized opposition party. The lack of an effective opposition, except for Democratic Committeeman Jay Bloom, he declared, had "led the administration into complacency and a lack of foresight."

Listing problems which he said could have been avoided by looking ahead, he cited the garbage disposal contract, maintenance from highway construction, Milltown rd. traffic, the opening of the new bridge and personal disputes in the tax office.

Planer declared that his opposition is "trying to create issues where none exist." He also stated, "We have had four governments under Republican administrations. It is easy to be a Monday morning quarterback critic after actions have been taken."

He also stated that a problem local activities by the county commission, criticized local officials involved neither himself nor Hardgrove. Planer stressed that the municipal portion of the tax rate had remained stable under the present administration.

On Tax Office
Mrs. Smith told the audience that she was "fully capable of running every phase of the tax collector's office. I have done so many times, including during the recent illness of the collector." She also declared, "The job call for a working tax collector, not a DEBATE." (Continued on Page 8)

Grabarz, Mantel Issue Attack On 'Lack Of Accomplishment'

Before a crowd of supporters for Township Committee, spoke out against the "lack of leadership and lack of accomplishment" that the present Republican-dominated administration has exhibited.

Henry Grabarz and Donald Mantel, Democratic candidates for Township Committee, spoke out against the "lack of leadership and lack of accomplishment" that the present Republican-dominated administration has exhibited.

"This is an administration," Grabarz said, "which is moving aimlessly without direction and best by its nose to cover up its do-nothing record that it has to resort to unwarranted personal attacks on us."

"This administration," they continued, "is so politically motivated that when the current tax collector, Fred Braun, returned to his office after his illness, he tried to fire his political opponent, Deputy Tax Collector Marie Smith, after she had performed his duties and her own for almost six weeks."

"This administration" was forced to admit that the tax collector illegally fired Marie Smith, and they were also forced to admit that Marie Smith was running the tax collector's office efficiently and well."

DEADLINE NEARS FOR ABSENTEES TO GET BALLOTS

This Monday is the deadline to apply for absentee ballots to vote in the Nov. 2 general election, according to a reminder from the Springfield League of Women Voters.

Voters who will be out of town on business or in the military service on Election Day or who are ill may apply for absentee ballots at the office of Mrs. Eleanor Worthington, township clerk, in the Municipal Building.

No person who has received an absentee ballot may then vote at his polling place on Election Day. A voter citing physical disability or illness as the reason for his absentee ballot must submit a certificate by a physician or accredited Christian Science practitioner along with his ballot.

Town Ordinance Governs Burning For Highway Job

Although Superior Court Judge Milton Folger last Friday declined to make permanent a temporary restraint on burning of trees by workers clearing a path for Rt. 78 through Springfield, he did stress that the contractor must obey the local ordinance on burning.

This permits burning of plant matter only, and only between 7 a.m. and 8 p.m. Each fire must be attended, and a permit for the burning must be obtained from the Fire Department.

Township Attorney James Cawley commented that the case will continue to be tried in court. This will determine whether the township can enforce these state laws and codes against state agencies or state-owned property.

He also disclosed that the (Continued on Page 2)

Two Youths Caught After Street Chase

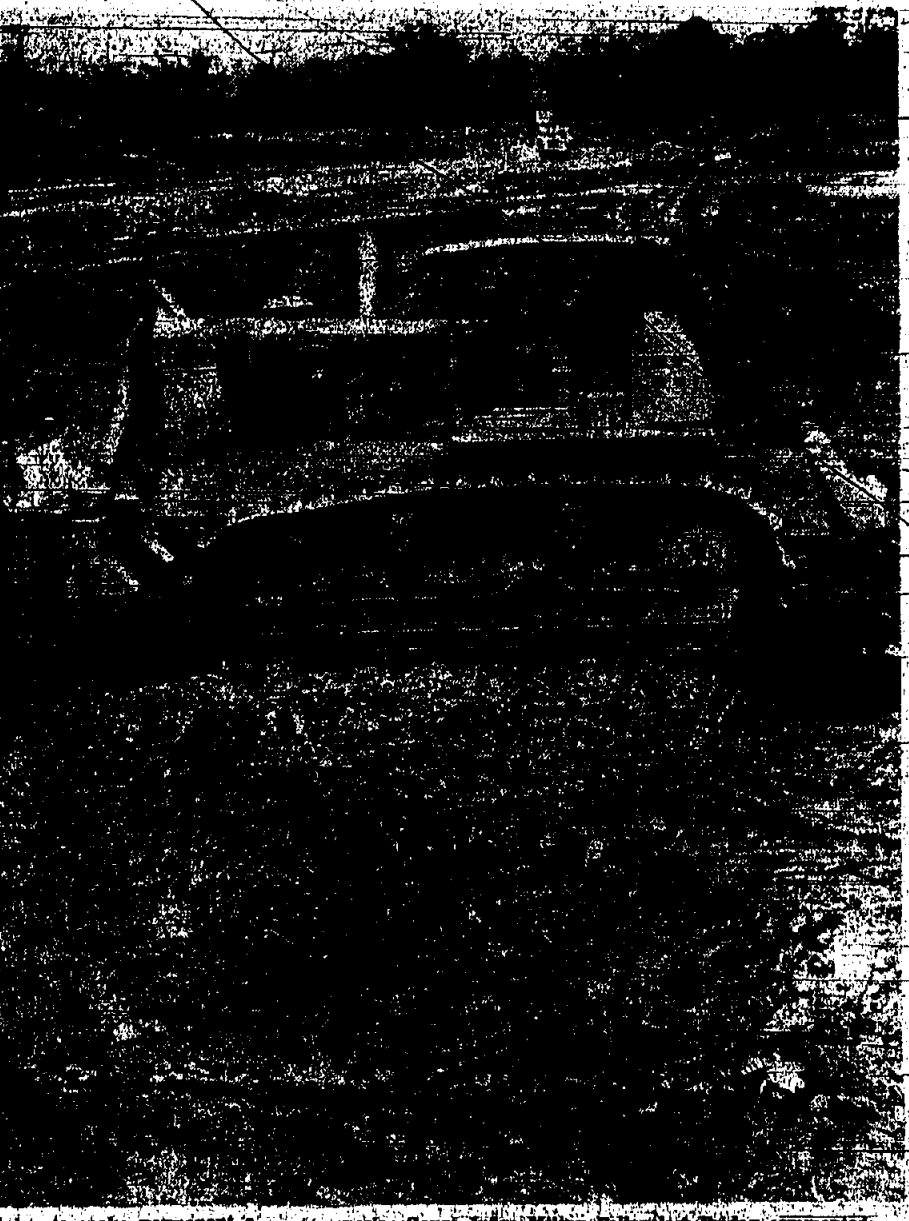

Two young men, seized by Springfield police following a street chase Monday, were charged with breaking and entering a home and are awaiting a court appearance.

Charles Heard of 7 Alvin ter, Springfield, returning home Monday afternoon with his wife and 18-year-old son, Gerald, spotted two men running from his house with a set of gold clubs, police stated.

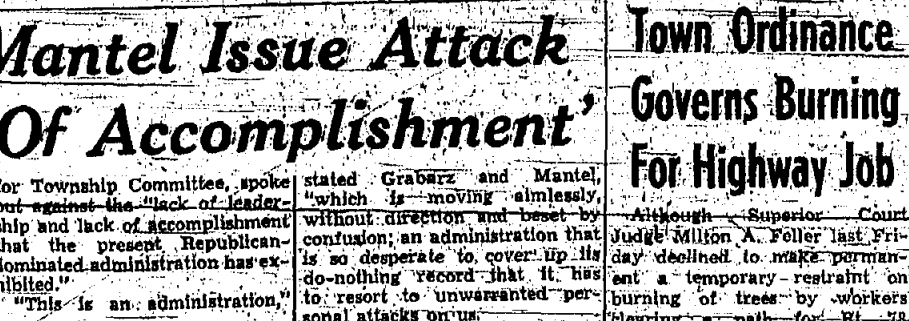

While Mrs. Heard telephoned police, Gerald chased the suspects across Morris ave. between S. Maple ave. and Colonial ter, trapping them in the rear of John C. Yeager's home at 18 Colonial ter, where they were arrested, according to police.

Michael DeSena, 18 and Salvatore Morella, 20, both of Plainfield, were brought to headquarters and charged with breaking and entering Heard's home, ransacking it and stealing the clubs and two adding machines.

DeSena, scheduled to appear in court on Nov. 1, was released on $1,000 bail, and his companion was sent to the county jail in lieu of $2,500 bail. Morella was also charged with driving while on the revoked list, reports said.

BURNING ISSUE—While declining to make permanent a temporary restraining order limiting burning of trees uprooted by bulldozers clearing a path through Springfield for Rt. 78, as indicated above near Springfield ave., Superior Court Judge Milton Folger last Friday commented that township ordinance on burning of plant life apply to the highway project.

Troop 70 To Cite Scouts' Advance

Boy Scouts of Troop 70 in Springfield who have advanced in scouting since the spring will be cited at a court of honor Nov. 4. A. C. Roth, advancement chairman, announced this week. The citations will be made for scouting skills, service to the church and the community and conservation in 21 categories. The troop is sponsored by the First Presbyterian Church-Men's Club and has maintained a scouting program for 25 years. The monthly camping program will continue and afford opportunities for the boys to put their scouting skills into practice according to Murry Hurwitz, scoutmaster. The troop will hold a pumpkin sale Saturday to finance activities for the year. Robert Marshall, sale chairman, will dispatch scouts to all sections of the community so that friends of the program may contribute, he said.

Township Library Lists New Volumes

New books at the Springfield Public Library this week cover a wide range of subjects. With comments by the library staff, they are:

For parents and high school students: "The Next Five Years," by Glatt and Manone. "This is a planning guide designed to help high school students and their parents develop effective plans for the future. A variety of charts shows the student how to evaluate himself, his high school accomplishments and also to analyze his possibilities for after high school: marriage, military service, career planning and further education. A considerable portion of the book gives information on choosing and preparing for college."

For the concerned citizen: "The First Step . . . on a Long Journey," prepared for Congressional presentation, this is an illustrated report of the working programs for the war on poverty, a concrete approach to a tremendous need for help to distressed people in all aspects of their lives."

Chess players: "Profile of a Party Headquarters. The Springfield Democratic Party headquarters is now in operation at 183 Morris ave. The building is the white mansion formerly occupied by the Morris family, adjoining the Gen. Greene Shopping Center.

Prodigy: "The Life and Games of Bobby Fischer," by Frank Brady. "Bobby Fischer is only 22 years old but he is one of the nation's outstanding chess players. In addition to the biography, the author has annotated with diagrams 75 of Fischer's most important games."

Adventure readers: "The Ship with Five Names," by Charles Gibson. "This is an extraordinary story of the English tramp ship Speybank, which was captured by the Germans and converted into a disguised mine-layer. The ship operated under a series of names to escape detection, but in its final role as a prison ship was unexpectedly sunk. The author was the only man to survive."

History lovers: "Spain: A Modern History," by Rhea Smith. "Published by the University of Michigan, this is a colorful story of a turbulent land, its people and the events that shaped its history."

For small fry: "Coins and Currency," by Dr. Paul Gallinas. "Page after page of illustrations trace the early development of money and its evolution throughout the centuries. The final chapter is on coin collecting."

"Indian Island Mystery," by Mary C. Jane. "The disappearance of the class valedictorian and a valuable Indian necklace is finally solved by two young classmates. The setting is on an Indian island in Maine."

Legion Launches Annual Campaign Promoting Dance

Springfield Continental Post, American Legion, started its ticket solicitation on Sunday in connection with the annual Veterans Day dance to be held on Nov. 12, at the Evergreen Lodge, Springfield.

The proceeds of this event give the post its main source of revenue to fulfill its budget commitments for the many Legion and civic enterprises. They include Americanism programs, donations to various charities, many boys' programs, including Little League and American Legion baseball teams, and many activities in connection with veterans who are hospitalized.

Chairmen Donald Schwerdt and Oliver Owens and their dance committee, consisting of Allen Best, Ben Colandrea, Robert Dougherty, Ray Daudelin, Ben Mosconi and William Weber are being assisted by many members of the post in this drive.

At the last meeting of the post, it was announced that John Sloman of 133 Baltirol ave. has again agreed to coach the post's American Legion baseball team for the coming year. Sloman, a former semi-pro ball player, has been active in the Babe Ruth League for many years.

Girls Are Now Hard At Work Learning To Be Good Scouts

Springfield's Girl Scout troops are all well on the way with their projects for the year.

Troop 772, with 34 Junior Scouts under the leadership of Mrs. Frank Roux and Mrs. Arthur Schwartz, meets Fridays at the "Theodor Sandmeyer School."

The troop is divided into four patrols with a patrol leader, assistant patrol leader and secretary in each: the Beatles, Caryn Groder, Melanie Gians, Melame Harzman; the Baracudas, Lynn Schwartz, Debbie Goldman, Virginia Harbach; the Violets, Cynthia Patino, Jo Ames, Diana Mazieka; Queen Angels, Randi Adler, Linda Schwartz, Rebecca Goodman.

Scout Rebecca Goodman showed the troop a box of articles which she had collected for the collector's badge the scouts are working on. Plans are under way for the re-dedication ceremony which will take place Friday.

Mrs. Anthony Cicconi will assist the scouts of this troop with the pen pal badge. Future plans are for the Halloween party, a hike in November and a father-daughter dinner in December.

Troop 501, led by Mrs. Warren Henderson and Mrs. James Weber, has 24 Junior Scouts who meet on Friday at St. James School.

The troop is divided into three patrols. Patrol leaders are, Valerie Henderson-Karen Weber and Ann Gallagher. Assistant patrol leaders are Mary Stuart, Susan LaQuaglia, and Karen Reister.

The patrol leaders and assistant patrol leaders acted as baby sitters at the recent St. James blood bank and were "victims" for the civil defense day in Springfield.

The troop is preparing for the Halloween party which it will have with other troops in the school. Future plans include a visit to the Court House in Elizabeth in November.

Troop 558 is led by Mrs. Joseph Carroll, assisted by Marie Carroll and Natalie Ivclin, students at Newark State College, and Mrs. Lee L. Andrews Jr. Twenty-Three Junior Scouts of this troop meet on Wednesdays at St. James School. The troop is divided into four patrols. Patrol leaders are Pamela DaQuino, Gloria Fernandez, Susan Kaiser and Roscann Wygiedowski.

Scout Patricia Crowley is the troop scribe. Scouts Julia Blaufox and Roscann Wygiedowski demonstrated the proper way

Burning

(Continued from Page 1) township is rushing work on an ordinance to prohibit all open burning except on farmland and woodland. Noting that a complete ban on all burning might be found unconstitutional, Cawley said that the projected ordinance "is as far as the town can go within limits of state law and constitutional law."

Another phase of the highway construction will be reached today, when the Highway Department auctions off a parcel of land not needed for the highway. Measuring 50 feet by 300 feet, the tract is on the south side of Rt. 78, in the vicinity of Municipal Parking Lot N Two.

Cawley said that the township, which may use the land for parking or business area development, has a choice of procedures. It can either buy the land from the state, in advance of the auction, at the price paid for it, or else wait and take a chance on paying less at the auction.

Republicans

"This is apparently an attempt to create a smoke-screen around the entire tax picture—an attempt to confuse the voters. The only real comparison of taxes that can be made is between comparable communities."

"Making this comparison with some of our more desirable nearby neighbors, we find that a $25,000 house in Springfield pays $718.75 per year in taxes, while a similar house in Westfield pays $753.75, $35 more, and does not include garbage collection," continued Planer.

Hardgrove Comments

"There are even more startling figures," former Mayor Hardgrove added. "If you want to compare Springfield's favorable position with that of some of our Essex County neighbors, you would find that Livingston homes average $1,012 for a $25,000 house while residents of West Orange pay $1,027."

"There are savings in your pocket when you compare Springfield with its neighbors. More important, let's look at some of the plus features that our citizens enjoy:

1. One of the finest municipal pools in the state;
2. More playgrounds and recreation facilities per capita than other surrounding towns;
3. A positive program of road improvement, now in its second year, that will shortly see all Springfield streets in A-OK condition;
4. A program of street lighting and traffic safety that has warranted awards from state associations."

Planer, presently serving his second year as a member of the Township Committee, indicated the "conscientious effort that the members of the Township Committee utilize in the management of the taxpayers' dollars."

"Sound Financial Basis"

"Unlike a previous administration that used surplus funds from the township savings account to bring about a 'political budget,' the present administration, in addition to providing the services described above, has also 'banked' $193,472 in three years to put Springfield on a sound financial basis."

"This position was recognized by Moody's, the national financial rating organization, when it improved Springfield's borrowing position from a B-AA rating to an A rating."

"This improved stature in the financial community makes it possible for Springfield to sell its bonds for 3.05 percent, one of the lowest rates of all surrounding communities. In addition, by rejuvenating town funds at 4.47 percent, the township has earned as much as $42,000 per year in interest on its investments, which serves to lower the burden of the individual taxpayer."

"Our purpose in running for the offices to which we hope to be elected is to be of service to the people of Springfield," Planer concluded. "We believe that we have demonstrated this purpose in the past, and we know we can promise to continue good responsive government in Springfield if elected on Nov. 2."

DISREGARDS SIGN
Briar Mead, 23, of 30 Remer ave, Springfield, paid a $10 fine Monday night in court for disregarding the Hillside ave.-Rt. 22 stop sign.

to build three types of fires—the A-Shape, crisscross and teepee fire—and showed the proper wood to make each fire, at last Wednesday's meeting. Plans for the troop's Halloween party with other troops in the school are under way.

Troop 273 is led by Mrs. Lee L. Andrews Jr. and Jeanne Plischner. Eighteen Cadette Scouts of this troop meet Thursday evenings at St. James School. Patrol leaders are Mary Elaine Keller and Claudia Villanova; assistant patrol leaders, Mary Ann Graziato and Linda Zera.

On Oct. 12, 14 Scouts accompanied by the leaders, toured the United Nations in New York, with Beatrice DeMeyer a guide from Switzerland. They visited the NBC studio, where they saw "The Doctors" being taped, after which they themselves were televised.

They viewed the Columbus Day parade on Fifth Avenue, then visited St. Patrick's Cathedral before their return to Springfield.

All of the scouts are taking a 10-week charm course given by Tepper's, Short Hills, each Saturday morning. When the course is completed, they will have fulfilled the requirements for the good grooming badge. A baby sitters' course offered at the Florence Gaudinier School will be attended by many of the Cadettes, who are working on the child care badge.

Ten Cadettes acted as "victims" at the Civil Defense day in town. Linda Zera and Patricia Mulligan are working on plans for the Halloween Party with Cadette Troop 840. The troop welcomed Kathy Van Stratton and Kathy Cavagnaro, both newcomers to Springfield. During the past three meetings the Cadettes have made vases and lotto bags. A visit to a television show is the next trip.

The Girl Scout fund drive is in progress. Leaders asked all residents to support the local Brownies and Girl Scouts with donations when the worker calls, or to send contributions to the chairman, Mrs. Philip DeVecchio, 11 High Point dr., Springfield.

Grabarz Replies To Planer Stand On Zoning Probe

Henry Grabarz, a Democratic candidate for the Springfield Township Committee, this week expressed his "surprise" at a statement made by Township Committeeman Robert G. Planer at last week's Committee meeting. Planer is a Republican nominee for re-election.

He called last week for an investigation of alleged zoning violations on property occupied by a print shop at 200 Morris ave., on land owned by Grabarz. Grabarz this week declared: "I am shocked at Mr. Planer's use of his position as Township Committeeman last week to conduct a smear campaign against me and my wife. It is a publicity-singled out at a Township Committee meeting a supposed violation on a property we have owned for six years."

"It is a fact known by many that we own the property where the former official-Springfield newspaper was printed, and where the Springfield industrial bureau was printed and where these same Republican incumbents had their own political rallies printed."

"Two weeks before election, Planer alleges the building is in violation and authorizes the township attorney to investigate."

"The township attorney, Mr. Cawley, handled the legal work on this property six years ago, assisted in arranging the financing and negotiated the leases for the building. Will Mr. Cawley investigate himself and his actions on this building?"

"Last week the administration tried to fire Marie Smith; this week they have attacked my wife and me; next week, will it be Don Mantel's turn?"

War Bride Fosters Friendship Medals Presented From Waiblingen

A new dimension was added to Mrs. Annelie DeLeonard's hobby of collecting autographs and encouraging pen pals in foreign lands when her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Herz, came to Springfield last week bearing greetings and three special medals from the town of Waiblingen in Western Germany.

The medals, which came as a complete surprise, were sent by Waiblingen's Oberbürgermeister (Mayor) Kurt Gebhardt for presentation to Mayor William F. Koonz, former Mayor Robert D. Hardgrove and Annelie herself.

Annelie, who is now an American citizen, was born and raised in the suburban community of Waiblingen, near the Swiss border. During and shortly after World War II, a young GI, William DeLeonard, was stationed in the same town with a topographical unit of the U.S. Army.

Bill returned to New Jersey, moved to Springfield, and kept corresponding with Annelie. He proposed by mail; and in 1947, she flew here and became his bride.

They now have three children, Diane, 17, in the senior class of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School; Dennis, 13, in the eighth grade at Florence Gaudineer School; and Douglas, 8, in the second grade at the Thelma Sandmeier School. Their home is at 322 Milltown rd.

Among the signatures in her autograph collection are those of President John F. Kennedy, Indian Prime Minister Nehru, Spanish Generalissimo Franco, Italy's Ex-King Umberto, Queen Hope of Sikkim, Greece's late King Paul and Queen Fredericka, Queen Diva Farah of Iran, Edward R. Murrow, and Eleanor Roosevelt.

In her individual efforts to further international friendship, she has encouraged others to acquire pen pals. Her children and their friends actively engage in this pursuit.

She also encouraged Springfield's former Mayor Robert D. Hardgrove, during his term of office, to write to Mayor Kurt Gebhardt of Waiblingen. He complied and an exchange of letters between them followed in which they described the people, general physical characteristics of their respective towns and recent events. They also exchanged booklets and pamphlets concerning the two communities.

Waiblingen is in the southern portion of Western Germany, near Switzerland. Its founding predates the medieval period, and its old city walls are still standing. It has a large residential area through which flows the picturesque River Rems.

AS IN SPRINGFIELD, its farming land has reduced greatly in recent years because of industrial and home expansion. Among the manufacturing enterprises, a high-tech drop-factory predominates; and there are many commercial green-houses, specializing in orchids and carnations. It is also a tourist attraction, featuring Old World charm, yet it boasts a new municipal building of extremely modern architecture.

Springfield, too, is rich in historic tradition of Colonial times, as the scene of the famous Battle of Springfield on June 23, 1780, which some historians claim to be the turning point of the Revolutionary War.

By coincidence, several years ago, Springfield's current Mayor William F. Koonz and his wife, at the time of his serving in the U.S. Army were stationed a few miles away from Waiblingen. Their daughter, Patricia, was born in nearby Badconstadt. He and his wife, Marlene, had visited the town during some of his off-duty hours.

DURING THE PRESENTATION ceremony last Tuesday at the Springfield Municipal Building, an engraved plaque was given to Annelie's parents for transmittal to Mayor Gebhardt, upon their return later this month.

Mayor Koonz and former Mayor Hardgrove also presented special china commemorative plates to Mr. and Mrs. George Herz for themselves and for the Waiblingen mayor.

The plates depicted historical scenes of New Jersey and Springfield. The gold-colored medals, which were encased in velvet lined boxes, bear the Waiblingen emblem and an embossed town scene on the reverse side.

Building Inspector Lists Cases Of Township Zoning Violations

A total of 11 violations of the municipal zoning code were listed in a report presented to the Springfield Township Committee last week by Otto Fessler, building inspector. He added that four other violations had been corrected following communication with the property owners.

Fessler also reported on two violations, one already corrected, in the area of parking, which rightly belong in the province of another department.

Another portion of the report, Fessler declared, lists a series of unsightly parking of trailers and boats, for which there is no prohibition in the zoning ordinance. The Township Committee should consider the possibility of a new ordinance concerning this type of problem.

Among the violations which Fessler said existed was one involving a print shop at 200 Morris ave. This property is owned by Henry Grabarz, Democratic candidate for Township Committee. Details of this matter, which has become an issue in the election campaign, have been well publicized elsewhere than in this article.

The report listed trucks parked on a sidewalk area adjoining the Sinclair Gas station at Morris and Springfield aves.

Fessler stated that one boat stored in a rear yard had been removed. He also noted the following instances, which cannot be termed violations since they are not specified by ordinance: Trailer in rear yard, 363 Mountain ave.; trailer parked in driveway, 8 Laurel dr.; trailer in rear yard, 518 Mountain ave.; trailer in rear, Torchy's Diner, Springfield ave.; boat parked in driveway, 180 Linden ave.

The report declared that one parking violation, involving an unlicensed station wagon, had been corrected. It did list, however, parking of unlicensed cars at the Sunoco Gas station on Morris ave.

SIGNS LISTED
The report cited six violations involving detached building signs, which must be located wholly within property lines.

Fessler stated that they are: American Gas Co. station at Meisel and Morris aves.; Chevron Gas station Meisel and Waiblingen aves.; Chevron Gas station, Mountain and Tooker aves.; Shell Gas station, Mountain and S. Springfield aves.; Tydol Gas station, Mountain ave., and the building at 22 Cortez st., where Fessler has served notice of a violation on the owner.

The report stated that the shrub at the corner of Baltusrol way and Baltusrol ave. exceeded the permitted height of two feet for corner clearance. He added that two other over-size hedges had been trimmed.

Fessler noted two violations of the ordinance limiting housing of commercial vehicles in residential districts. They were a truck parked in a driveway at 350 Mountain ave. and a tractor-is interesting," they noted, "that in almost four years in office, the building inspector has not prosecuted one building violation in the township."

"Illegal signs are permitted to exist all over this town. An illegal brick yard was permitted to exist for years. An illegal lumber yard was permitted to exist for years. These are just a few of the violations that have gone unabated."

"An investigation," they stated, "would disclose whether or not these violations were permitted to exist with the knowledge and consent of the Township Committee."

Grabarz denied the use of "gutter politics" by Robert Planer when he publicly singled out a supposed violation on property owned by Mr. and Mrs. Grabarz.

"Mr. Planer is ignorant of the fact," Grabarz stated, "that the Republican Township Committee officially designated this location as the official newspaper of Springfield, and the Springfield Industrial brochure was printed there."

"The incumbent Republicans had the political illustrations printed there. When was the building inspector the past four years and why the supposed violation two weeks before election?"

Grabarz and Mantel concluded, "The key to a better Springfield can be provided with the election of the Grabarz, Mantel and Smith ticket to office on Nov. 2."

The Springfield Market lost two games to Bunnell Bowlers this week in the Springfield Municipal Bowling League at Springfield Bowl, but continued to hold the league's top place. Bunnell and D'Andrea Driveways are tied for second place.

The high team game this week was a 67 rolled by D'Andrea. The following scores of over 200 were listed: Mark Conte, 213 and 202; Otto Burkhardt, 228; John D'Andrea, 213; Harold Burdett, 207; Art Mutschler, 205; Ted Nalus, 203; and Robert Anderson, 202.

LEADER PROFILE

"When I was in college, a girl once told me I was the first Republican she ever met," says Donald L. Mantel, "but many things have changed since then. First of all she became my wife, and we now know plenty of Republicans.

"And now, I'm a Democrat." In fact, Mantel is now a candidate for election to the Springfield Township Committee, as a Democrat. He has lived at 27 Tudor ct. since 1960 with his wife, the former Judith Becker of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., and their two sons, David, 9, and Andrew, 5 who have both inherited their father's red hair and vigorous temperament.

Looking back to his own boyhood, which began 35 years ago, Mantel comments, "I was a congenital Republican. I was born in Summit, where there was just no such thing as a Democrat.

"My father, Jacob R. Mantel, has been an active Republican all his life." The older Mantel, now associated with his son in a Summit law firm, served under several Republican governors as a Superior Court commissioner and as a special master in chancery. He was also counsel to the Springfield Board of Education, in the 1920s.

THE YOUNGER, Democratic, Mantel, recalls that he first got to know Springfield as a teen-ager, "when there were just 2,000 people here, rather than the present 16,000.

"I played varsity baseball and soccer for Summit High School and Jonathan Dayton Regional in Springfield was a traditional opponent.

"Most of the boys I played against from Springfield then were either farmers or the sons of farmers.

"There has been a tremendous change in Springfield in the 20 years since then. This is now a highly sophisticated town, with varied interests, serving as a hub of commerce and industry for the surrounding area. People in general realize all this, for they have grown along with the town."

Returning to his progress from being a "congenital Republican" to a dedicated Democrat, Mantel says it was at college, Johns Hopkins in Baltimore, that he first realized "Democratic ideas and ideals were much closer to my own than was the Republican philosophy."

Mantel had entered college with the idea of going to medical school and becoming a psychiatrist, but his vocational goal changed along with his politics. After graduation from Johns Hopkins, Mantel entered New York University Law School.

TWO YEARS in the Army, as an infantry sergeant, delayed the educational process somewhat, but Mantel was graduated from NYU Law School in 1958. He passed the New York bar examination and practiced there briefly before coming back close to his original home.

"I've been an active Democratic campaigner, particularly since the Adlai Stevenson campaign in 1956," Mantel comments.

Now state counsel of Young Citizens for Hughes, he is also a member of the governor's state campaign staff. He was special events chairman last year for Young Citizens for Johnson and Humphrey. In that capacity, Mantel was responsible for a rally which drew 10,000 Great Society adherents at Teaneck.

Active in the township and county party organizations since he first arrived here, Mantel is now district committeeman for the 11th District, and was township Democratic treasurer briefly earlier this year before throwing his hat into the municipal ring.

"I love politics," he explains, "and I had been active before on all but the municipal level. Besides, I had heard many things I didn't like about operations here in Springfield.

"QUITE FRANKLY, I enjoy challenges. Now that I'm campaigning, I meet people of all kinds every day. I enjoy listening to people, then doing something about what they say.

"The present administration in this town seems to feel that politics ends with the election. You can't run a town like that.

"You have to get out after the election, all during your term. You must seek out the people, hold scheduled meetings with people in different sections of town. You can't just act on speculation, listening to the same old people come to Township Committee meetings with the same old problems."

Praising the backgrounds and ability of his running mates, Henry Grabarz for the other Township Committee post and Mrs. Marie Smith for tax collector, Mantel stresses that their door-to-door campaigning is intended to provide personal contact with every family in Springfield.

Candidates Reply On Town Campaign Issues

Printed below are the answers of the four candidates for election to the Township Committee to several questions asked by this newspaper.

The questions were:

"What do you regard as the major issues of the campaign?"

"What do you feel are the strong points and the weak points of the current administration?"

"What are your goals for the township in the next three years?"

Answers to these questions were provided by Robert D. Hardgrove and Robert G. Planer, Republicans, and Henry Grabarz and Donald L. Mantel, Democrats.

HARDGROVE declared: "Concerning the question of major campaign issues, I can only ask, 'What major issues?' Our opponents can find nothing at which to point a finger. We have a tax picture and a financial structure that is the envy of surrounding communities.

"All township services are well above par. The Fire Department, Road Department and Recreation Department, as well as the other service groups, are excellent and can be matched with any in the state.

"The strongest points in the administration are: (a) the financial management in all its aspects, from investment programs to the value received for every dollar spent; (b) recreation facilities from the municipal swimming pool to the senior citizens' activities, with a wide variety of programs in between.

"In regard to weak points, Springfield citizens are too discerning to permit their existence. However, Springfield does not offer its true excellent image to the public because of administrative political opponents who do not care for Springfield and offensively tread on her good name with no concern for her reputation. No political victory is worth the destruction of our community's prestige.

"I will do everything possible to improve Springfield as a prime residential community and take all necessary steps to ease the community through the changes created by Rt. 78.

"Further, I will endeavor to keep taxes down and maintain the high level of municipal services which Springfield demands, while pursuing non-nuisance industrial development for tax relief."

GRABARZ stated: "The major issue in this campaign is to restore the development and forward progress of Springfield.

"We have seen four years of Republican complacency and too much of a do nothing policy, because this administration has hitched a ride on a gravy train set in motion by prior imaginative and creative administrations.

"The gravy train has come to a halt because this Republican administration has failed to provide the fuel to keep the train going and Springfield growing.

"They are stalled because of a lack of initiative and individual effort to keep this community on the forward track of progress.

"The $30,000 master plan initiated by a Democratic administration should be taken off the shelf and used to promote Springfield's growth.

"Springfield can capitalize on the new highways being built here. They can be used as a selling point to attract industries and businesses to increase our tax base to help stop the constantly rising taxes. These highways are an acknowledged fact now and fighting them for purely political reasons will only further retard the growth of Springfield.

"Let's not permit any more garbage dumping in town which encourages rats and endangers the public health.

"Let's spend the $300 needed to get rid of the rats that infest this dump because of a do nothing policy."

"Finally, let's give credit where it honestly belongs to prior administrations, for the building code, zoning ordinance, health code, industrial park, master plan, Moody rating and municipal swimpool.

PLANER commented: "The basic issue of this camaign, as I see it, resolves to a question of whether or not the current administration has or has not provided our community with good government. It is my sincere belief, despite the attempted 'smoke screens' of our opposition, that we have had a responsive and dedicated Township Committee over the past few years.

"The many citizens of Springfield who have had occasion to contact a committeeman during this time, I am sure, would attest to this statement as an actual fact.

"The Democratic candidates in desperation have sought issues where none exist and have conducted a campaign of misrepresentation and scare. This might well go down in the annals of Springfield as the rat campaign."

"In an attempt to deceive our voters, they would have you believe that our municipal portion of taxes (and this is the only segment that the Township Committee controls) has risen a staggering amount under Republican administration, while in reality it has remained stable.

"The strong point of this administration and past Republican administrations has been the ability to act as a cohesive group to get the job done.

"The weak point to me is always the ever-present lack of time to devote to all problems.

"My goals for the community are generally to attempt to improve Springfield wherever possible, and to nullify the effect of Rt. 78. Specifically, I hope to see the road connecting Ballucroil Top become a reality, improvement in the aesthetics of our town and an expansion of the industrial committee to encompass studies and recommendations for our business areas.

MANTEL replied: "The major issue of the campaign has been a failure on the part of the present administration to grasp, attack and resolve the community's problems. With the exception of the resolute voice of Democratic Committeeman Jay Bloom, they have acted virtually without opposition.

"Overconfidence in their secure position has led them down the path of poor judgment into the abyss of complacency, lack of foresight and improprieties in office. When finally urged to act, are too little and too late.

"This has all recently been exemplified by their handling of the garbage contracts, the smoke problem in the construction of Rt. 78, the traffic hazards which have developed as a result of the Milltown rd. bridge construction, an unsound fiscal policy which dictates a useless, high surplus in the town's bank account at the expense of the taxpayer, a purchasing system which has resulted in untold waste of taxpayers' dollars, and the apparent disorganization and lack of leadership in Town Hall that led to the disgraceful treatment of Mrs. Marie Smith.

"Once asked to act, the current administration has found in most instances that the results of its actions are already irreparable, and the community is obliged to suffer.

"If elected, my goals are to give Springfield a new, vital, perceptive and energetic administration pledged to eradicate waste, disorganization, improprieties in office and complacency; and, further, to give the entire community a standard of representation to which it can look with pride."

their acts, if forthcoming at all, are too little and too late.

PRAISES STAMLER
So now the highest administration remarks that it may be at least two years before New Jersey has need of a broad-base tax. (Newark News, Sept. 20, 1965).

That is not news to us in Union County, for Senator Stampler has consistently argued for a study of our tax structure before any new revenue-producing programs are considered.
Let's continue men in Trenton like Nelson Stampler, who have an eye on our pocketbook rather than a hand in our pockets.

PREDICTIONS
After living more than seven years in Springfield and Union County, I feel totally unable to prognosticate the outcome of elections in living areas. However, I have personally observed all of the candidates for this Now a general election and see signs of leadership among them.

The following is a list of "Hank's Green Card Selections," but not necessarily a projection of how I intend to vote personally.

Here goes for the winners on election day, 1965:
In Springfield Town Hall: Fred Braun, proven record; Bob Planer, open-mindedness; Hank Grabarz, persistence.

In Union County Court House: Chuck Rabig, administrative knowledge; Hugh Caldwell, brogue; Matt Rinaldo, publicity machine; Ray Moore, control of board.

In Trenton: Jack Welgel, Dunn Association; Rip Collins, McAllister case; Frank McDermott, New Jobs; Nick LaCorte, sheer

Up in the State House: Peta McDonough, youthful vigor; Mildred Barry Hughes, female vote; Wayne Dumont, outspoken fighter of corruption within state government ranks.

Whatever the outcome Nov. 2, I will be at the tabulation to start circulating petitions for the nominations in the September, 1966, primary campaigns.
County Clerk of the Union County Court House is up for grabs in 1966 re-election. (See Superior Court of New Jersey Law Division, Union County Docket No. PW 12-114, the case of "Wright vs. Nukon.")

LAUDS McDONOUGH
Election Day is rapidly approaching, and soon the voters of Union County will go to the polls to decide who their two state senators will be.

We in Union County are fortunate indeed to have a man whose background, experience and qualifications make him an ideal candidate for this job.

A general description of that man would include: college graduate (St. Lawrence University); World War II veteran; successful businessman (vice president of a number company); credit record (very good); character (integrity); employer: assemblyman.

The man is Peta McDonough, candidate for State Senator. His particular interest: youth and its problems. Peta McDonough, an chairman of the New Jersey Assembly's all-important education committee, leads the way in doing something about the drop-out problem, youth employment and scholarship aid.

A vote for Peta McDonough is a vote for confidence in a young man doing a job for the youth of Union County.

At Last, A Non-partisan Candidate

One of Springfield's fiercest and most effective political partisans has this year become a nonpartisan issue. Philip Del Vecchio merits the support of all voters in his campaign for election to the State Assembly.

In four years of local office, Del Vecchio has clearly been the dominant figure on the Township Committee. His sharply relevant wit, patience with citizens sincerely interested in civic welfare, impatience with those seeking partisan gain and his general ability to take the long-range view have all set the tone for township meetings.

In addition, Del Vecchio's action in stepping down from the mayoralty to provide each of his colleagues with a turn at the office, and the honor, set a precedent which should long prevent the establishment of such personal empires as are found in some other communities.

No paragon of mercy toward Democrats, at least while they fail to cross party lines, Del Vecchio has always been an effective fighter in the municipal arena. And he has always been willing to ignore party lines or, in fact, to ignore an entire election, as his skillfully engineered local campaign did in regard to last year's national contest.

Perhaps his most difficult, and very likely his most lasting, accomplishment has been to revitalize a scattered and demoralized party organization and create a machine that should continue to run smoothly for some years without its sparkplug.

That, too, should be a recommendation as Del Vecchio moves to a wider political stage. If the New Jersey Republican Party needs anything at the present time, it is a large dose of vitamins and Del Vecchio carries a sharp needle.

Once in Trenton, Del Vecchio would never fall victim to the anonymity which often strikes in the Assembly chambers. He may well leave a deep imprint on his friends, and some vivid bruises on his foes, but Phil Del Vecchio will never be anyone's rubber stamp.

"PEOPLE OFTEN have problems right on the neighborhood level," he comments. "They have a sincere interest in local problems, even if they seldom have the time to get to Township Committee meetings. If they do, all too often they receive only vague promises and very little action."
 His strenuous campaign, from climbing front steps to fielding several hard Republican assaults, has perhaps been facilitated by Mantel's athletic background and trim physique.
 His sports interests continued beyond his high school and college years, since he played semi-pro baseball and professional football in Baltimore and in the Summit Industrial League.
 Sports also led Mantel into contact with many youngsters, as coach for the Summit PAL baseball team. He is now advisor to Union County Explorer Scout Troop 160, composed of boys interested in careers as lawyers.
ANOTHER INTEREST, which would conceivably promote municipal harmony, is music. Mantel plays the bass fiddle, piano and drums, and he was a member of a professional jazz group while in the Army. Which instrument would be best for Springfield, however, remains undetermined.
 His other activities and affiliations range from the Summit Lions Club to Springfield's Temple Beth Ahm.
 Win or lose, and the odds appear to favor another of Springfield's traditionally close elections, Mantel has provided the local political arena with a new face, a new vigor and a new personality—a candidate rational and, as is natural for a redhead, occasionally volatile.

Dayton Debaters Brushing Up On Big Topic: U.S. Arbitration

Should the federal government provide compulsory arbitration in labor-management disputes? This question is absorbing the interest of a group of students at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School. The students are members of the school's varsity debating team, who are beginning to compile evidence on the subject. The labor-management relations topic is expected to become this year's chief debating subject in New Jersey and elsewhere.

The school's Debate Club and National Forensic League Chapter opened this season Oct. 12 at a school meeting. New freshmen members were introduced. They are: David Margulies, Lewis Stein, Jan Starr, David Shrensel, Hal Lewis, Steven Katz and David May. Members of the varsity debate teams are Eric Krueger, Stan Katz, Scott Hammen, Myron Meisel, James Bender and Steve Tasher. Most of the varsity team attended a pre-season forum Saturday at St. Joseph's High School in Metuchen. Students from several schools discussed the topic: "What policy of labor-management relations will best serve the people of the United States?"

Next Wednesday Linda Fingerhut and Susan Maas expect to compete in a humorous interpretation contest at Seton Hall Prep School. Other forensic events include a student congress Monday at Jonathan Dayton and a National Forensic League district congress Oct. 30 in Morristown. Last year Dayton's varsity debaters maintained a winning record that led them to the state finals. The team is now ranked eighth best in New Jersey. Officers are: National Forensic League Chapter, president, Steve Tasher; vice-president, Scott Hammen; treasurer-secretary, Bob Waldmann; Debate Club president, Eric Krueger; vice-president, Stan Katz; treasurer-secretary, Myron Meisel.

Debate

(Continued from Page 1) just a supervisor." Braun spoke on introduction of automatic equipment under his direction, "which has saved many tax dollars." He added that his term in office had seen the collection of more than $240,000 in back taxes and $27,000 in interest on delinquent accounts. Braun left immediately after his talk, to keep another engagement, and did not remain for the rebuttal or question period.

Olles "Hoagwash" Describing Democratic complaints as "just a bunch of hogwash," Hargrove cited recent statements by his opponents on rats found in the township. Now chairman of the Board of Health, Hargrove said there had been 60 complaints about rats in 1961, 23 in 1962, eight in 1963, 14 in 1964 and 18 so far this year. "This is hardly a rat explosion," he commented.

Grabarz discussed Springfield's top Moody rating, reflecting financial stability. He said that the township auditor had never answered his request for a written explanation of how the rating is determined. He stated, "The current administration is just riding a gravy train started by Democrats in previous years." Grabarz also said there had been "four years of double-talk" in improving the central business area.

Planner stressed that the Moody rating, which permits the lowest borrow money at the lowest possible rate, "is a recognition of our financial stability." He has been building up a municipal surplus. He cited legal action undertaken by the township to limit smoke nuisances from the Rt. 78 construction work.

Campaign Issues Mantel listed as campaign issues the garbage disposal problem, health problems, the smoke nuisance and conflict of interest charges against township officials. Included in a court decision on the Valco nursing home zoning application. Calling for a central purchasing system for the township, he stated, "Let's keep taxes down. Let's move forward."

Mrs. Smith, who serves as a deputy tax collector under Braun, raised a list of statements that 97 percent of all taxes had been collected under his leadership. She declared that the 97 percent figure had been the same for at least six or eight years.

She also commented, "Most of the policy in our office is established by the auditor and by state directives. We just do the work." Questions, Answers In answer to a question on conflict of interest charges in the Valco case, Hargrove said that "anyone can sue at any time against township actions, but all opposition last year was just for the sake of opposing. The people who complained about all the court suits were the same ones who had filed them."

Later, on the same topic, he stressed that appealing township decisions and policies "is a basic right of citizenship. I fought a war to protect that right." Mantel told a questioner that he favored establishment of a code of ethics for municipal officials. "We need some standards, with proper sanctions," he commented, "particularly to cover acts which may not be criminal but which do involve impropriety."

Planner replied to a question on the garbage disposal contract problem that the governing body had anticipated a rise in the price, but not to nearly the extent which developed. He noted that both Union and Baselle had faced similar problems at the same time as Springfield.

Answering another question, Planner said that each municipal department did its own purchasing. "We shop very carefully," he said. "We are working out procedures for coordination and a purchasing control function. This is much less expensive for our township than setting up a central purchasing office."

Grabarz told a questioner, "We must now move to implement the master plan for future growth. We must simplify the work of the Board of Adjustment in dealing with variances, ease the burden of some outdated zoning ordinances."

Planner said that the Planning Board was now in the process of implementing the master plan. Mass Transit Answering a query on mass transit problems, both Planner and Grabarz expressed strong support for state or federal action to set up an efficient system of mass transportation for the metropolitan area.

Both Planner and Mantel were asked about their views on zoning variances, specifically those to expand a nonconforming use. Planner commented, "A nonconforming use should not be expanded, but at the same time an existing business should not be driven out of Springfield."

Mantel said that "if there is a positive reason for a variance, I would favor its approval." Mrs. Nelson Lewis, voter service chairman for the League of Women Voters, opened the meeting. She introduced Mrs. Henry Hunkle, League president and Mrs. Dearborn, who conducted the remainder of the program.

GOES THROUGH STOP SIGN Anthony Calantoni, 52, of Fords, paid a $10 fine at Municipal court Monday night, for disregarding a stop sign at Rt. 22 and Hillside ave., Springfield.

Zoning Board Votes On 11 Applications

The Springfield Board of Adjustment took action on 11 applications at its meeting Tuesday night at Town Hall. Recommended to the Township Committee for approval were the following variances:

For Lots Gillette for a Poodle Boutique, canine beauty parlor, at 22 Center st.; For Dobbs and Co., an auto body shop at 23 Springfield ave., to extend a nonconforming use; For Frederick and Ann Sylvester, for a rear yard at 649 Morris ave.;

For Dr. Leon Tropp, for a professional office at his home, 379 Meisel ave.; For the National State Bank of Elizabeth, for parking at 192 Morris ave.;

The board also approved the following variances: For William Beler, a side yard for Industrial Woodwork Co., 330 Brown ave.;

For Wainwright Realty Co., for a driveway to Hillside ave. for the new government offices in the old Davega building on Rt. 22;

For Frank Altomonte, for a substandard lot for a home at 262 Mountain ave.;

For Ruth Cannon, rear yard at 69 Wentz ave.;

For Michael Pettasch, substandard lot at 26 Maple ave., to permit moving of a two-family house across the street.

The board referred to the Planning Board for an advisory report a bid by Kurt Stern for a special exception use for a wholesale fish business at 119 Mountain ave.

Newark Fined, Jailed On Charge Of Drunk Driving

A 32-year-old Newark man was sent to the county jail, in lieu of a $250 fine, by Magistrate Max Sherman in Springfield Municipal Court Monday night. William C. Brown was issued a summons on Oct. 9 for driving under the influence of alcohol, driving without registration in his possession and being an unlicensed driver. He was also given one year's probation by Magistrate Sherman.

In other court action, two youths and one man, charged with being disorderly persons on Oct. 9 in the Springfield Diner, paid a total of $300 in fines. Carl B. Wilderetter, 20, of Summit, was fined $100 and given six months probation for being involved in a fight with Charles Reister, 21, of Millburn, in the diner. Reister was fined $125.

Another youth Robert Marshall III, 20, of Short Hills, paid $75 in fines and $18 for the replacement of a front door window he was accused of breaking at the diner.

Awaiting grand jury action is Albert Ades of Jackson, accused of breaking and entering last month at Calvin Friedman's on Morris turnpike, Springfield. Arresting officers said they found him attempting to open the company safe and preparing to remove machinery; reports said. He was continued in $2,500 bail after waiving a preliminary hearing.

Harold Shipley of the Shipley Auto Body Shop, Montclair, was fined $35 and $15 for contempt of court on a charge of using fictitious license plates. He was picked up by Springfield Police after driving out of Springfield Motors with a car he was taking to repair for the company, records said.

Springfield Motors was issued a subpoena but neglected to appear before the magistrate with Shipley, court records stated.

Aide For Rinaldo Sees Groundswell

Mrs. Amy Bandemer, Springfield coordinator of the Rinaldo-for-Freholder campaign effort, said this week that support for her candidate "has come from all walks of community life." She said that she has received offers of assistance from "people in all segments of the community."

"It is heartening," said Mrs. Bandemer, "that citizens recognize the job that Rinaldo did as a freholder. It is all too rare when an officeholder's dedicated efforts are rewarded by support from all quarters. Matt Rinaldo has done such a job."

Mrs. Bandemer said that much of the "groundswell of Rinaldo support" has been prompted by "residents' appreciation of his efforts to make the operation of county government more efficient and economical."

Speaker To Explain 'Confession Of 1967'

The Rev. Henry B. Struck Jr., pastor of the Wyoming Presbyterian Church in Millburn, will be the guest speaker at the first of three evening sessions of a study seminar to be held by the First Presbyterian Church, Springfield, on the proposed "Confession of 1967 — A Brief Contemporary Statement of Faith for the United Presbyterian Church — U. S. A."

Mr. Struck will speak on Sunday evening at 8 p.m. in the Presbyterian Parish House. He will introduce the study with an historical presentation explaining the need for a contemporary statement of faith.

Following this opening session, there will be a two week period for personal study on the part of the members of the congregation in preparation for discussion evenings on Sunday, Nov. 7 and 14. These will be led by the Rev. Bruce W. Evans and the Rev. Donald C. Weber, ministers of the church.

A special committee of the United Presbyterian General Assembly has worked for seven years on this confessional statement which would restate the faith of the Presbyterian Church in the light of a contemporary world. The result of their labors—the proposed Confession of 1967—has been sent down to the local churches for study and evaluation. The study seminar at the Springfield Church has been arranged by the Christian education committee of the church.

Oranges-Maplewood Board Offers Realtor Course For New Salesmen

A class of new-realtor size has begun its higher education in real estate under the auspices of the Board of Realtors of the Oranges and Maplewood, Livingston, Millburn, Short Hills and Springfield.

The 40 students, new associate salesmen members of the board, will receive an intensive survey of the real estate field. Only one previous class of 44 had a larger enrollment.

Realtor Harold Hudson of Maplewood, a former educator, is chairman of the 35-member board. Bi-weekly classes at the board's headquarters, 2101 Millburn avenue, Maplewood, will cover mortgage financing, listing property, legal aspects of real estate, neighborhood relations and the opportunities and responsibilities of the field.

Attendance at the lectures is required of all new sales members of the board. Now three years old, the course is the only compulsory one for real estate salesmen in New Jersey and is one of the few of its kind in the country.

Among those enrolled in the course is Jackie Miller of Caldwell, well-associated with Anna Syle, vester's Realty Corner of Springfield. Two associates of Suburban Essex Real Estate of Springfield also taking the course are Richard Pepple of Millburn and Ernest De Vincenzis of Orange.

School Board

Recently Youman Mrs. Sheila Levy, Mrs. Ruth Hendlin, Mrs. Honor Snyder and Bernadette Raito, Mrs. Sandra Sherman was named substitute nurse.

Mrs. Barbara Fisher was approved as secretary to Joseph Anderson, assistant superintendent, at a salary of $4,000.

Berwick reported to the board on steps being taken to participate under Title I of the new federal law on education for education of children of low-income families.

Low Income

He said that Springfield qualified for the program, with 69 children having family income below $2,000, according to the 1960 census.

The program being planned will provide special training for approximately 60 youngsters from culturally deprived homes, Berwick said. He added that they do not necessarily have to be the same ones listed as having low incomes.

The superintendent commented that the program will also serve students at St. James School, and will be conducted in cooperation with the parochial school. He noted that the exact course of the program, with a federal grant of some $10,000, is still under study. It will be closely supervised by state and federal educational authorities.

Berwick also said that Springfield is qualified to receive a grant of approximately $2 per student, under Title II of the federal law, to provide school library resources, textbooks and other instructional materials.

Board members authorized use of facilities at the Thelma Sandmeyer School of Antioch Baptist Church this winter while the church is constructing a new building. The exact fee, to cover heat and custodial services, is to be determined.

Ticket Sell-Out Seen For Dumont Lunch

Mrs. John A. Mooney of Roseland and Mrs. John D. Flynn of Deal, co-chairmen of the campaign honoring Wayne Dumont and being sponsored by the New Jersey Federation of Republican Women, Inc., on Oct. 22, at the Mayfair Farms, West Orange, reported this week the luncheon will be a sell-out.

Representatives from the 21 counties along with their legislative candidates are expected to attend to hear Governor John H. Chafee of Rhode Island tell how he won in 1962 against all odds. Like Wayne Dumont, Governor Chafee attacked his Democratic opponent on a tax issue, and charged that his opponent lacked qualities of leadership and a positive program. A Federation spokesman said.

Governor Notes State Prosperity In Past 4 Years

Governor Richard J. Hughes announced last week that measured by any economic barometer, "New Jersey is enjoying one of its most prosperous periods in history." The Governor underscored the fact that "our prosperity is not one-sided" but is shared by both the businessman and the workman.

"During the past four years alone there has been an increase of 194,000 new jobs in our State, even while our population increased faster than 2,000 new manufacturing industries have come to New Jersey. In the past four years, with new plant investments increasing by almost $100 million from 1962 through 1964. Wages and salaries are at a peak and unemployment in September fell to four per cent — lowest point in 10 years."

The Governor said "that a prosperous New Jersey is marching side by side with a prosperous nation. He cited his own efforts to call New Jersey products to the world through appointment of a New Jersey Trade Mission which is now in Europe under the leadership of Paul Troast. He also cited the recent establishment of a new State Division of Economic Development which will continue to find new ways to increase our prosperity.

GOP Hopefuls Issue Eight-Point Platform

Legislative action on narcotics, education, consumer transportation and five other major statewide problems was pledged this week by the five Republican candidates for the State Assembly from Union County.

In releasing the eight-point program, the GOP candidates called for an end to political campaign "promises, predictions, and predictions." The five are: Frank X. McDermott, Louis Collins, Nicholas St. John, Lucio Corti, Philip Del Vecchio, and William M. Weaver. They urged expansion of the State's educational programs to assure that "no qualified youth is denied a college education or technical training."

The Republican legislative platform also calls narcotics a "continuing problem" and urged mandatory sentences for narcotics pushers.

In computer transportation, the candidates back creation of a state agency to remedy mass transit problems. In other areas, the Republican legislative candidates urged a state program to attract new industry, creation of an adequately financed "Little Hoover Commission" to develop a "modern, positive program of economy in government," protection of property owners from "arbitrary" action by the State Highway Department, progressive labor legislation to benefit employees and consumers, and state action on water problems.

Rinaldo Suggests Hospital Revise Accounting Plan

Matthew J. Rinaldo, Union Township Republican running for freelholder, this week suggested that the John E. Runnells Hospital consider adopting a different accounting method that he said could earn the county "several thousand additional dollars annually."

Rinaldo said that "by instituting an accrual accounting system, Runnells could take into account and recover the cost of services now provided by other county officers for the hospital, such as the treasurer's and attorney."

"Because the hospital's system is not on an accrual basis, the county is not realizing the income it should from insurance companies. The established $20.30-a-day rate which the companies now pay," he explained, "does not approximate the real cost of a day's care."

At the same time, Rinaldo suggested that the county take steps to ascertain that hospitalization plans be required to reimburse Runnells for X-rays, lab tests and other such charges. He said he had discussed his suggestions with members of the Runnells Hospital Board. "They have been studying the matter and are in general agreement that the accrual method should be instituted," Rinaldo declared.

'Choose One Job' County Dems Say To William Ahern

Freelholder Raymond A. Moore, Matthew J. Rinaldo of Union and Freelholder Jay A. Stimmer this week called upon Kentworth Mayor William Ahern to "choose now—before it is too late—between the two jobs to which he applies on election day." Democrat Ahern is a candidate both for mayor of Kentworth and freelholder.

Moore, Rinaldo and Stimmer, Republican freelholder candidates, urged Ahern to make his decision "or forever" hold his peace when the voters of Union County and Kentworth rebuff him for his overly voracious political appetite.

The GOP candidates criticized the Democratic hopeful for "oversteering the bounds of proper political ambition by seeking two jobs, either of which demands an officeholder's undivided political attention and loyalty."

"We would not blame the voters of Kentworth if they responded to this brazen grab for political power by rebuffing Ahern locally," said Moore, Rinaldo and Stimmer. "Nor would we fault the voters of Union County for rebuffing his bid for office as a freelholder."

Three Hikes Set Over Weekend

The program committee of the Union County Hiking Club has scheduled three hikes for this weekend.

On Saturday a 22-mile bicycle trip is planned from Whitehouse to Oldwick in Hunterdon County. The hikers will travel to Whitehouse by auto and then begin their cycle trip under the leadership of Carl and Joyce Richards of Springfield. This group will meet at Rt. 22 and West 2nd Ave. in North Plainfield at 8 a.m.

Also on Saturday, Miss Irma Meyer of Elizabeth will lead a five-mile afternoon walk in the Lake Surprise area of the Watchung Reservation.

On Sunday, Henry Reimer of Irvington will lead a seven-mile hike in the area of Mount Tammany which rises 1,250 feet on the New Jersey side of the Delaware Water Gap.

For further information contact the recreation department of the park commission, a spokesman said.

Each year at election time, the League of Women Voters publishes a local and county "Know Your Candidates" sheet. This is done as a public service to help the voter understand and know the candidates running in the general election. Biographical information and answers to League questions have been furnished by the candidates. Together with the Springfield League of Women Voters, the Springfield Girl Scouts have distributed these "Know Your Candidates" sheets throughout the town.

Parking Of Cars Near Evergreen Termed Violation

A charge that patrons of Evergreen Lodge have been parking their cars in a vacant lot across Evergreen ave. in a residential zone, was contained in a telegram sent to the building inspector and Township Committee by Irwin Bross of 85 Evergreen ave.

Bross was one of the principals last year in a lawsuit to upset a variance which had approved additions to Evergreen Lodge. The case was remanded back to the township of Springfield by the courts and is still under consideration for the second time.

The charge by Bross declared that cars were parking in the lot at 87-89 Evergreen ave., adjacent to his house. He asked, "Why is this permitted to go on year after year, despite notification by myself to Township Committee and building inspector?"

View From The State House

By GOV. RICHARD J. HUGHES
A coordinated effort supervised by civic leaders who are eminently qualified to meet this challenge. Here, as in so many other cases, the citizens of New Jersey have answered the call of service to the State. I was privileged to be present at the meeting of the New Jersey Council on Medical and Dental Education. It is the purpose of this Council to encourage the orderly development of a program of medical and dental education at Rutgers University and the New Jersey College of Medicine and Dentistry.

Before I took office, New Jersey did not operate a single medical school. Today, we have the New Jersey College of Medicine and Dentistry, to which I have already referred, and a new medical school at Rutgers, the latter to be able to appoint the following distinguished citizens as members of the Medical Council, which will deal with this matter. They are:

Dr. Jerome Kaufman, Past State University; it is also my hope that in the near future we shall have a third medical school in Southern New Jersey.

However, our attempts to assure medical education of the highest level are dependent on the people of Springfield are entitled to know. If these violations are with your knowledge and consent.

Stemmer Claims Freeholder Title Needs Replacing

Freeholder Jay A. Stemmer of Clark this week called for the creation of a new title to describe the job of a member of governing bodies of New Jersey's 21 counties.

Stemmer, who is vice president of the New Jersey Association of County Freeholders, said that he had studied the matter thoroughly and concluded that the name freeholder is obsolete and should be replaced.

"The name freeholder," said Stemmer, "is an anachronism that dates back to medieval England. New Jersey adopted it in colonial times and the name has simply stayed on because no one thought too much about it."

Stemmer said it "seemed silly in this complex atomic age to retain a title that has little or no relationship to the duties of the job. A freeholder's job, especially in this highly industrialized urban area, involves far more than it did when the title was created. Running Union County, or any other county, is a task that calls for superior business acumen and ability. That's why I believe we should have a more modern job title and description."

The Clark Republican, who is seeking a third term on the county board in November, said that he hopes that a name change will be effected soon. He suggested that "Countyman" would be a better title to describe the job of an elected county leader.

Branch 'Y' Forms Father, Son Tribes

The annual formation of the new Indian Guide (IG)es will take place Tuesday at 7:15 p. m. at the Branch Y. M. C. A., Five Points, Union. It was announced this week by George W. Hoffman, branch executive.

The meeting is for fathers and sons who are interested in the purpose of the "Y" Guides, that is to foster a companionship of fathers and sons, said Hoffman. The Guide program reaches a boy at an early age and there by lengthens the rich years father and son may spend together, he said. The Navajo tribe with Chief Edmund Johnson in charge will give a demonstration of a typical tribal meeting.

A Halloween Party for the entire family is planned for Friday night Oct. 25 at 7:30 at all local "Y's."

Baton twirling classes are held on Saturday morning from 10 to 11 for girls. They are under the direction of Miss Phyllis Kritz of Newark State Teachers College, Union.

"The Kenilworth, Roselle Park and Union branch Y. M. C. A. is here to serve the families of these communities and others as well, for convenience and pleasure," said the director.

Meet The 'Queen Of Transylvania'

High Schooler Plays Many Roles With Equity Unit

By RITA ZEISS

It isn't often that a high school student meets a celebrity in a French class. It is even less often that a student FEELS like a celebrity in French class.

But Andrea Hyde did last week.

A classmate, hitherto unknown but now forever beloved, came up to her in French class in Governor Livingston High School and asked: "Weren't you the queen of Transylvania?"

It startled, overwhelmed and thrilled Andrea, admitted happily that she was.

She was too last summer. She also was a convent postulant, a burlesque stripper, a Cockney flower seller and many other people during the three short months of summer vacation.

FOR ANDREA, 16-year-old daughter of the Thomas Hydes of 1308 Wood Valley rd., Mountainside, was an apprentice this summer at the Grist Mill Playhouse. Playing with an Equity company, she was the "Queen of Transylvania" in "My Fair Lady" and doubled in the same show as a Cockney flower girl. The stripper role was in "Gypsy."

She also essayed many other minor roles, sang in the chorus, performed with the dance line, was prop girl, theatre sweeper, scenery changer and baby-sitter for a woolly little lamb which appeared in "Gypsy."

Trail athletic Andrea had had to learn to "walk like a queen" for the Transylvania bit, an accomplishment that was only achieved after grueling drilling by the director, she says. She almost lost the queenly gait in one carefree day riding a horse bareback on a nearby farm.

"Did you ever try to walk like a queen when you're sandy-legged?" she asks, demonstrating with a series of high-stepping, jerky motions how she looked after her saddleless expedition.

She found the summer theatre exciting and challenging. She loved the work, although much of it was arduous and she loved the people with whom she worked.

"They were just the tops," she reports.

Several of the company were near the tops in their field too. Henry Sutton, who starred in the Grist Mill's production of "Tina, La Duce" is now appearing with Carol Channing in the touring company of "Hello Dolly." David Smith, professor Higgins in the Mill's "My Fair Lady" is making a movie.

But most of all she loved "strike night." In summer theatre, Andrea explains, "strike night" holds none of the connotation it has in union circles. Strike night is work night — all night work.

Lions Club Hears Talk By Educator

Dr. Kenneth C. MacKay, president of Union Junior College, discussed the role of the junior college in modern education before the Springfield Lions Club last Friday at the Mountainside Inn. He noted that nearly 25 percent of all college freshmen today attend two-year colleges.

Citing various items in the UJC expansion program, Dr. MacKay said that his institution "has always emphasized the role of transfer to four-year colleges, as against many other junior colleges which stress the terminal program."

He also commented, "Recent state legislation now makes it possible for New Jersey to develop a system of junior or community colleges. Already five are under way, two of them opening next fall."

Dr. MacKay stated, "The big job for UJC today is to extend the opportunities for Union County youth to get started with their college education, at home and under favorable financial conditions."

Newark Academy Student Is Cited

David Yuckman, son of Dr. and Mrs. Ben P. Yuckman of 26 Fieldstone dr., Springfield, has been commended for his high performance last spring in the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

He is a student at Newark Academy, Livingston.

The youth is one of seven Newark Academy students and 3,000 students across the country who have been recognized for scoring in the top two percent in the tests.

John M. Sialaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, said:

"The commended students have considerable ability, which should be developed through further education. They deserve every encouragement, and their promise is great. They represent an important intellectual resource which our nation needs."

Arapaho so her family caught most of her shows this summer.

A very positive and purposeful teenager, Andrea hopes to make a career of singing.

"I like acting too," she points out, "but I HAVE to sing."

However, she is also practical. Now a junior at Governor Livingston, she would like to major in architecture in college and minor in music. She has a flair for design and she has a secret hankering to design bridges, "simple but beautiful bridges."

But the architecture comes after the singing.

"That's just to fall back on. If I don't make it with my voice and my guitar," she says frankly.

Andrea, her mother says, has been singing since she could talk. Music has "always delighted" her. She was a member of the "Larkettes," the locally famed singing group, in Mountainside and is now on the "Chorale," the top vocal group at Governor Livingston High School.

SPORTS CAR TROPHY — Helmut F. Geiger of Wyoming dr., Mountainside displays the first place trophy he captured with his 300 GL Gullwing Coupe-Mercedes-Benz at the second annual Concours d'Elegance on The Mall at Short Hills. His assistant, Kenneth Saffell of Ackerman ave., Mountainside, is with him. More than 40 cars participated in the event sponsored by the Northern New Jersey Region of the Sports Car Club of America. Cars were judged on beauty and condition.

PURCHASING MEAT CAN BE PROBLEM FOR U. S. SHOPPERS

Ask an individual what he had for dinner and usually the first item mentioned will be meat.

In the United States, meat is frequently emphasized as the most important food on the menu and the item around which the other foods are planned.

The success of the meat you serve for family meals will depend on its wise selection and purchase; proper home storage, good cooking methods and attractive service.

The kinds and cuts of meat available in the market are so extensive that it is possible to serve a different cut of meat each day for several months. This variety, however, has brought about much confusion when one is buying meat in the market.

Meat quality is one of the most difficult things to recognize and to select with confidence. There are many signs of quality the food shopper can look for. The U. S. Grade stamp — U. S. choice being the most popular grade in our market — and brand names used by packers, wholesalers or retailers, are a reliable source. Learning to recognize certain characteristics of good quality meat is also important.

Use this outline as a guide to what to look for when buying meat:

- Beef: high proportion of lean to bone and fat — firm, fine textured lean — bright red color — marbling — red porous bones.
- Pork: high proportion of lean to bone and fat — firm, fine textured lean — grayish-pink color — firm white fat on outside — well distributed fat through lean — reddish bones.
- Veal: firm structure — light pink color — fine grained and velvety — soft, red, porous bones.
- Lamb: high proportion of lean to bone and fat — firm white outside fat — fine, evenly dispersed flecks of fat — light pink color — soft, red, porous bones.

Therapists Study New Techniques Of Retarded Care

Seventeen students from New Jersey, New York, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania studied new methods in the treatment of brain damaged children this summer at the Children's Specialized Hospital on New Providence rd., Mountaineer.

The students, all of whom are student or graduate physical therapists, represented Northeastern University, Sargent College, Boston University and the University of Pennsylvania.

Each year students and recent graduates from the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia, Russell Sage College in Albany, N. Y., Bouve School and Sargent College in Boston, Mass., come to the local hospital to serve as interns, receiving training while applying their skills to children who have difficulty in coordination of nerves and muscle function.

Children's Specialized Hospital cares for hundreds of children who suffer from cerebral palsy or other brain damage. The interns, working closely with these children, the intern therapists acquire additional skills which are immediately applicable to their own practice.

Effect Of Medicare Dr. Staub, who assumed the administrator's post on Sept. 1, stated that the need for therapists and nurses, already indicated by the Medicare program goes into full swing. He believes that the Children's Specialized Hospital should have an active part in providing training in special skills for therapists and nurses.

The child with a damaged brain needs special treatment and therapy if he is to use all of his potential. Dr. Staub pointed out, intern therapists and nurses working under the direction of the local hospital's specially trained staff, can acquire the skills to help him, the administrator added.

revealing the events which molded the character of Sir Winston Churchill and enabled him to so brilliantly lead the British nation in the supreme crisis of his life. Historical events made Churchill great; but his character and his indomitable will shaped the events. This is the theme of "The Finest Hours." The MERCURY album (SFP-3-604) is from the original soundtrack of the motion picture of the same name.
The album preserves forever the actual voice of Churchill, and of men who shared the years of crisis with him; Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Neville Chamberlain, and John F. Kennedy. Narration is provided by Orson Welles, with Patrick Wymark speaking as Churchill where no recording of his voice was available. The album contains two records—a full one hour and 50 minutes of dramatic listening, plus a beautifully illustrated brochure containing a unique collection of photos of Churchill from his childhood to the present day.

CELEBRITY BITS: Maggie Pierce, who plays Jerry Vandyk's wife in TV's "My Mother, The Car" series, is a crack billiards player. Jackie Gleason taught her to play "and now I'm able to give him a run for his money" . . . Carolyn Jones, who hopes to co-star with Sammy Davis Jr. when he films "Golden Boy," is taking singing lessons so as to be ready when she's tapped for the role . . . Jim Henson, who created the lovable Muppet "Rowlf" for the Jimmy Dean Show, has ventured into a new area with huge success. "Time Piece," a color film short produced by Henson, has won the coveted Plaque d'Or of St. Mark at the Venice Film Festival.

Original Players Have 'Dolls' Roles

Vivian Blaine and Sam Levene have been chosen to recreate their original Broadway roles in the forthcoming 15th anniversary production of the musical "Guys and Dolls" at the Paper Mill Playhouse.

Frank Carrington, producer at the Millburn theater, has united 80 percent of the original Broadway company for this special presentation to pay tribute to the creators Damon Runyon, Frank Loesser and Abe Burrows.

"Guys and Dolls" is based on the stories and characters created by Damon Runyon. The music and lyrics are by Frank Loesser, whose Pulitzer prize-winning musical "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" is playing at the Paper Mill currently. Loesser also wrote the music for "The Most Happy Fella."

Bernstein Leads NY Philharmonic

The New York Philharmonic concert Monday at Symphony Hall (the Mosque) and the Boston Symphony program on Oct. 25 and 30 will include major 20th century works.

The Philharmonic, under Leonard Bernstein, will offer Ralph Vaughan Williams' Fourth Symphony in F minor (1935), a violent creation for this normally peaceful composer, filled with dissonance and certain respites which have been likened to "the sinister calm of exhausted anger."

The Boston Symphony and Erich Leinsdorf will turn to Bartok's masterful Concerto for Orchestra, composed in 1945 two years before his death. Though usually considered a showpiece for brilliant instrumental interplay, Bartok described its "general mood" as a "gradual transfiguration from the sturdiness of the first movement and the lugubrious death song of the third (after a jesting second movement) to the life assertion of the last one."

Work, Volunteer Forum Scheduled At Summit's YWCA Next Thursday

"Your Future: Chance of Choice," an all-day forum to aid mature women questioning what to do with present or future time, will be sponsored by the Summit YWCA on Thursday, Oct. 28 from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

The woman who is seriously considering whether to return to work, to engage in volunteer community service, or to continue her education will be informed about the opportunities in all three fields, a spokesman said.

Following registration and coffee at 9 a.m., Dr. Samuel Brett, dean of the Florsheim-Madison campus of Fairleigh Dickinson University, will deliver an address entitled "The Six-Sided Woman." A question-and-answer period will follow the talk.

During the rest of the morning a panel of experts will discuss the question of returning to work.

Panelists will explore the opportunities available in the clerical, technical, business and retailing, and the professional fields.

During the afternoon session, volunteer community service opportunities will be explored by a second panel. Panelists will be volunteers involved in work with youth organizations, such as the Scouts; with civic affairs, such as fund drives, the League of Women Voters, and others; with senior citizens in organizations such as Owl Sage; and with health, for example, in hospital, rescue squads, and Red Cross.

Those interested in attending the forum were asked to bring a sandwich lunch. Dessert and coffee will be provided at the YWCA.

Further information may be had by telephoning Mrs. J. J. Hennessy, program director, at the YWCA (278-4242).

N. J. Trooper Talks To Driving Students

"Driving is a privilege and not a right. Traffic laws are designed to protect drivers and pedestrians and to insure smooth and efficient flow of traffic." These were two of the main points emphasized by State Trooper William Kehris of the Morristown State Police Barracks as he addressed 400 junior class students of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School last Friday at a special assembly and lecture tour of all driver education classes.

The visit by the trooper is an annual event which marks the concluding two weeks of the nine weeks of classroom theory work in driver education. Trooper Kehris' lecture was preceded by the showing of "Signal 30," which brought the 400 "drivers-to-be" face to face with the reality that the automobile is a deadly weapon of destruction in the hands of the careless, reckless and chronic violator of the basic rules of the road. The film highlighted actual fatalities recorded "on the spot" by Ohio State Police.

A "grunkomputer" demonstration was used in the classroom lectures by the trooper to illustrate the legal method of testing to see if a drinking driver is "under the influence of intoxicating beverages." The dangers of drinking and driving were explored by the trooper and the classes. Statistics and penalties were listed for the information of all classes. A question and answer period on the rules of the road followed each demonstration.

UN Day Observed By Local Baha'is At Talk, Meeting

United Nations Day will be observed in Springfield on Sunday at a public meeting at 4 p.m. sponsored by the local Baha'is. Richard Jensen of North Plainfield will speak on the topic "Co-operation For A Meaningful World Peace" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Rouse, of 86 Denham rd.

He said that "1965 marks the 20th anniversary of the United Nations and has been designated as International Co-operation Year." He further explained, "Baha'is believe that the United Nations is a vital step toward a lasting world peace in which all nations will live together harmoniously."

In fact, Baha'u'llah, founder of the Baha'i World Faith, said 60 years ago, "The fundamental purpose animating the faith of God and His religion is to safeguard the interests and promote the unity of the human race, and to foster the spirit of love and fellowship amongst men." Baha'is, he added, "can not live singly and alone. We are in need of continuous cooperation and mutual help."

Those who wish to learn more about the Baha'i Peace Program and the part the United Nations plays in its ultimate fulfillment are invited to attend this meeting, a spokesman said.

Yale Admissions Official To Speak

The Yale Club of Central New Jersey will hold its annual dinner for secondary school principals and guidance counselors tomorrow night at the Canoe Brook Country Club, Short Hills.

Clarence R. Hall of Madison is the chairman of the affair. Guest speaker will be R. Innes Clark Jr., newly designated dean of admissions and student appointments at Yale.

Clark has been assistant director of admissions and freshman scholarship since 1961 and since 1962 has been dean of Trumbull College, one of Yale's 12 residential colleges.

Among those invited to attend the affair is Robert F. Lavanture, principal of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield.

THE WELL-BEING OF MANKIND

Its peace and security are unattainable unless and until the unity firmly established.

Soon will be the present day Order be rolled up, and a new one spread out in its stead.

OVERHEARD

By EFFIE

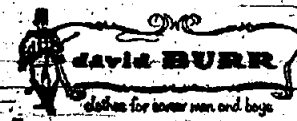

Little Suzanne didn't care much for dolls but always loved all kinds of stuffed animals. Upon her return from her first stay at camp, she made this confession to her mother, "You know, Mommy, I wasn't sure whether I'd be lonesome or not at night, so I took my woolly lamb along with me. I didn't need it and I kept it hidden so the kids wouldn't tease me."

The youngsters were shouting and chasing each other around the table while their father was trying to read the evening paper. At length his patience was ended and pounding on the table he exclaimed, "I want nothing but silence — and very little of that!"

My neighbor said, "Yes, Christmas Clubs are O. K. But one year I thought to myself — I'm not joining this year — I'll just put $10 away each week. So you know what happened? I had saved $480 when I saw an ad in the paper for a special bargain in a cemetery plot — so I bought it!"

Eight-year-old Marie came home from her Sunday School class party and said, "Next time we meet at the teacher's house I'm bringing fresh mints." "Do you mean peppermint?" asked her mother. "No, Mommy, I said 'fresh mints.' Still puzzled and wondering if by any chance she was supposed to bring a bunch of spearmint, she finally figured it out. The youngster was to furnish "refreshments."

Rabbi To Hold Class: 'Art In Jewish Life'

"Art In Jewish Life," a course taught for the first time in the Suburban Adult School of Jewish Studies will be led by Rabbi Reuben Levine of Temple Beth Ahm, Springfield.

The school is sponsored by eight area Jewish congregations including: Congregation Beth Shalom, Union Temple Beth Ahm, Springfield; and Temple B'nai Israel, Irvington. It will begin its fourth year with classes Monday evening, Nov. 1.

Rabbi Levine's course will survey through lectures and slides the history of Jewish art from its beginnings. Among themes to be discussed are: attitudes of traditional Jewish religion to visual images, Jewish ceremonial art and the role of art in modern Jewish life.

The art course as well as classes in four levels of the Hebrew language, and modern Hebrew literature (in English) will be offered from 7:50 to 8:50 p.m.

The Hebrew literature course is also new to the curriculum, and will be taught by Rabbi Theodore Friedman of Congregation Beth El, South Orange.

A survey course in Jewish civilization will also be offered from 9 to 10:05 p.m. by the rabbi of the sponsoring congregations. There will be five sections which may be taken in any order. The course will cover social, political and cross-cultural contacts with the various rabbinic teachings about various eras.

Persons interested in enrolling should be asked to contact Temple Beth El, South Orange.

N.J. Bell Will Identify Sponsors Of Pre-Recorded Phone Messages

A ruling by the State Board of Public Utility Commissioners last week authorized the N. J. Bell Telephone Co. to disclose the identity of sponsors of pre-recorded telephone messages.

William E. Hyland, board president, said the improper use of announcements services had become a major problem in the important public utility service in the fostering of "tumors" of hate, vilification or smear.

A telephone company spokesman, stressing that the ruling was issued at his company's request, said that the name and address of a person presenting a pre-recorded message can now be obtained by calling the local business office.

Pre-recorded messages have been increasing in many parts of the country, usually presenting comments on political and related issues.

One such message can be heard by calling a number in Summit. This particular message is part of the "Let Freedom Ring" program of the John Birch Society. Several recent callers to this number have heard messages which were somewhat general in nature, rather than attacks on individuals or groups.

The sponsor of this pre-recorded message has included his own name and address as part of the message.

IRELAND TO ICELAND

On a bright, cool day in August, people from 18 states of the United States were in the village of Blatney, in the county of Cork, in the country of Ireland, kissing the Blarney stone at the rate of about one every two minutes.

Consequently, in a little over an hour, about 40 people, from such places as Blue Earth, Minn.; Osage, Iowa; Kerrville, Texas; Brighton, Colorado; Hillsboro, Oregon; Middletown, Kentucky; Fillmore, California; Geneva, Nebraska; Ogdenburg, New York; and Lebanon, New Jersey, kissed the stone and came away with a bright new sense of chastity that they never had before. At least according to the chatter on the coach afterward, the promised potency of the stone, seemed to be a certainty. At any rate, the 20-some people who didn't perform the deed were very quiet.

The occasion was the 1965 summer study mission of the National Newspaper Association which began August 23 in Ireland and ended September 22 in Iceland.

And Iceland is where I'll begin for WHO goes to Iceland? It is such a mystery and a question. How does it really look? Is it communistic? Is it friendly? Is it cold and icy? How do you even pronounce "Reykjavik" the capital?

Well in September, 67 Americans were there on the aforementioned study mission to learn a little about it—and it was a complete pleasure.

Study missions are planned and arranged jointly by the National Newspaper Association (NNA) and Travel Consultants, Inc., both of Washington, D. C. The schedule includes meetings and briefings with prime ministers, presidents, government ministers, ambassadors, business and cultural leaders, newspaper people and leading citizens.

When time allows, sightseeing is also offered. Some 5,500 newspapers, mostly weeklies, from all over the United States are members and are eligible to purchase tickets for the Study Missions. On this particular trip, 62 persons began at New York and with some additions and then some subtractions, 67 persons ended at Iceland.

The itinerary included in order of stops: Killarney, Cork, Dublin, Belfast, Glasgow, Liverpool, Birmingham, London, Amsterdam, Hamburg, Oslo, Stockholm, Copenhagen and Reykjavik.

It also has the most tranquil sunsets you ever saw. They come in shades of grey and no color whatsoever. It has turbulent waterfalls and quiet trout-filled lakes. It has bleak un-forgotten mountains and verdant valleys.

Contrary to expectations, there are no laws to speak of and no communists to speak of, except those planted and tended quite carefully in Reykjavik—the trees that is. The country around Reykjavik is bleak of trees and consists mainly of hills and mountains and lava beds covered with moss, blackberries, blueberries, heather and a yellow flower similar to a low-growing golden-rod. Some trees planted 50 years ago are all of THREE FEET high. They tell you, however, that a normal forest does exist in the very north but they are not the expected pine, but birch and maple. Some communists do exist also they say, but they are not the expected size either — just "three feet high" too.

And so Iceland, which is reputedly rather red and excitedly rather icy, is neither. It is red — mainly in the fire of the volcanoes and the ice in the snows of the glaciers, but not in politics or the weather. Most of Iceland averages 50 degrees in summer with July being the warmest at 54 to 60 in the afternoon and 30 degrees in winter. On the September days of our visit, however, it was about 83 in the afternoon. The communist party, it has only 15% of the vote and according to Prime Minister Bjarni Benediktsson, an independence party member, "on the whole the communists are losing — they are having difficulties among themselves."

Further surprises and contradictions exist in the fact that Iceland has a 74% alcohol tax, small houses of two bedrooms cost from 60 to 70 thousand dollars U. S., two-bedroom apartments cost $20,000 and a two-family house costs $50,000 without the land. The reason for it all is the lack of building materials and the shortage of labor. But most of its men, the married workers and seamen, earn only 125,000 Kronur a year or about $2,000. These are 1963 official figures, but in September, 1965, a government official said it was about $4,000.

Iceland, believe it or not, is only 4 1/2 hours by jet from New York City but Pan Am has only one flight a week from there and the flight originates in Berlin, goes to Scotland and then to Iceland and New York. Icelandic Air has a few prop flights also. The country has no budget for defense but it was an original member of NATO. It has no alliance with the European Free Trade Association or the Common Market and gets no U. S. aid. Despite its expensive building habits, it has an eight-story, modern, beautiful hotel with a roof-top-all-around-view-restaurant and bar, several 18-story apartment houses and office buildings and approximately 8,250 farms. And, in far-off sounding, Viking-age sounding unpronounceable Reykjavik you can go to a sleek night club with three floors worth of orchestras so you can select your dancing mood.

IN NOVEMBER, December and January Iceland only has two to five hours of daylight, but on the other hand, from May to August it has perpetual daylight. Its Parliament is said to be the oldest in the world having been established in 930 A.D. but it once belonged to Norway, then Denmark and only became completely independent in 1944. It has five daily newspapers and about 12 community weeklies and all are political party owned or have tinges of party ownership except one daily and that is the only one that makes money. (There are four parties: The Independence Party who are the conservatives, 45%; the Progressives who are chiefly the farmers, 25%; the Social Democrats, 15% and the Communists, 15%.)

There are 777,000 sheep and 190,000 people in Virginia-sized Iceland. The people are descended mainly from the Norwegian Vikings and speak Icelandic, an old Viking tongue. They are blond and brunette, short and tall-fat and thin, consuming 3,240 calories a day, and 80,000 of them live in Reykjavik, which is pronounced "Rake-ee-a-vick. Known as the land of fire and ice, (and no wonder) I almost think the people are of fire and ice too. They are some of the warmest, most hospitable people we have ever met, yet there is a lively feeling in the United States that Iceland is very icy to the Navy boys who are stationed at the NATO base there.

And they are — just a little bit. Next: What the Navy says about Iceland; What Iceland says about the Navy, ETC.

What to do about obscene or harassing phone calls

We are very concerned about these calls. Should you receive any, the following guidelines provide a very effective way for you to stop them:

1. Hang up — If the caller does not say anything, — at the first obscene word. — If the caller does not identify himself to your satisfaction.
2. Don't keep talking to the caller — what he really wants is an audience. Don't be that audience.

By keeping these hints in mind, you can usually discourage someone from continuing to call you. If the calls do persist, call your Telephone Business Office. We have representatives who are trained to investigate, identify, and help in the apprehension of these callers.

NOTE: New Jersey law provides up to ONE YEAR IN PRISON AND A $1000 FINE to anyone making lewd, lascivious, or disgusting remarks on the telephone, or who repeatedly telephones a person for the purpose of molesting or annoying that person.

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy:
Last night I took my girl for a long drive. On the way home, the car broke down. We walked to the nearest gas station and arranged to have the car towed. We finally got it to the station and were told that the repairs wouldn't take long, so we decided to wait. The phone at the station was out of order so we couldn't call our folks to tell them what had happened.

To make a long story short, it was almost five o'clock in the morning when we got home, and boy, our parents won't let us see each other any more. Furthermore, my father has taken my car away.

I know this story sounds hard to believe, but it's true. Do you think our parents are being fair?

Victim of Circumstances

Dear Victim:
Strangely enough, I believe you, but you should have found a phone or prevailed upon the repairman to call your parents to let them know where you were, what happened and why you would be detained.

If you have always been trustworthy, your parents will "feel over it." But should you have similar problems again, and a phone even if you have to knock on doors to do so.

Dear Amy:

Just a few words of advice to "B.G.A.H." from a personal experience. I graduated high school but I married a girl who had graduated from college. Her love for me must have been engendered by her good looks, physique and the fact that I had a good income. But in a short while, I realized that if our marriage were to last, I would have to get a better education for we were worlds apart intellectually. And so I did... a night college course, 12 months a year for the past three years. I'm getting there and her love for me has grown deeper since we now have money in common. Need I say more!

Still Learning

Dear Amy:
I'm surprised that your answer to "B.G.A.H." concerning the fact that his girlfriend was going to go to college instead of marrying him did not include the thought that he, too, seek to improve his mind and position in life.

I'm not aware of the financial circumstances, but today a young adult with a will to go to college can secure the necessary funds (as long term loans) to attain this education and many students are availing themselves of tuition in this manner. The fact that he has been turned down by his girlfriend so that she can go to college is immaterial. The important thing is that this is the first of many obstacles and disappointments he might encounter in his search for a happier life that a college education would assist him in overcoming!

Just sign me
One Who Knows

Dear Amy:

My husband and I are invited to a church wedding. The bride is our granddaughter, and the wedding will be in the evening. What would be correct for me to wear? Would a dress be more suitable than a suit and should gloves and a hat be worn?

One Other Point

Is it correct to take a gift when the reception is held following the ceremony? Wondering

Dear Wondering:

An evening wedding calls for a dress. Hat and gloves should also be worn to the ceremony which can be removed for the reception.

If the gift you plan to be presented to the bride and groom before the reception, anything else should be sent to the home of the bride well in advance of the wedding to allow for its display should the bride so desire.

ABILITIES DIFFER

Johnny can do it if he will only try," says Johnny's mother assuredly. She has been brought up in the good old tradition that ambition and hard work will accomplish anything.

Every youngster has individual differences. And every youngster has different abilities. Often these do not coincide with his parents' ambitions for him.

Johnny's mother wants him to get the best marks in the class. (But Johnny doesn't have the ability to do this.) When his studies he can do a little above-average school work, but he just can't do better than that.

The harder his mother's ambition drives him, the worse his marks get. He tries to meet this impossible high goal, but when he can't do it he feels that he is letting his mother down. So he doesn't try any more—he feels it's no use!

Johnny's ability to do above average work is not considered by his mother. He is good at athletics and particularly interested in science. His mother discounts or fails to recognize these abilities.

Each child will be himself no matter how hard a parent pushes. How much better for Johnny's mother to encourage and help him to develop the abilities he has. Then Johnny will feel he is successful instead of a failure, and he will work hard to make the most of his abilities.

Director Uninjured After Auto Accident

Dr. James Caulfield, director of special services in the Union Schools, escaped injury last Wednesday when his car collided with a car driven by Kathleen Zankowski, 22, East Orange, at the intersection of Seltmaster pkwy. and Burroughs ter., according to police.

Caulfield's car was traveling south in Seltmaster. The driver of the other car told police she had stopped for a stop sign in Burroughs ter. and then proceeded northward. Both cars were towed from the scene of the crash.

Silberman will discuss the racial climate of the United States and particularly the significance of the Watts County riots in Los Angeles. He is the author of articles on the Negro in business and an economic lecturer at Columbia University. He holds ETAT B'nai B'rith's Four Freedoms Literary Award and the National Conference of Christians and Jews Superior Merit Award.

Tips for TODAY'S HOMEMAKER

From MARY ARMSTRONG, County Home Economist

"Is it really kangaroo tail soup?" I'm not sure I'd like it," I said to the waiter. "If you like ox-tail soup, you'll enjoy this, I'm sure," he replied. He was right; I did.

The conversation took place in Brisbane, Australia, in a hotel dining room renowned for good food. It is always interesting when traveling in another country to sample some of their traditional foods and, liking soup especially, I found kangaroo soup quite as tasty as any I had ever eaten. It was rich, and like many Australian dishes, it was highly seasoned. I did not finish this sample but later, on route to Honolulu from Australia, I enjoyed kangaroo tail soup served as part of the dinner menu on the Quantas Airline. This version was milder flavored, with lighter body and color. I wished that I might have had space to bring home some of this same soup on sale in eggs at the airport.

Kangaroo meat is not otherwise used much for humans in Australia. There is too much excellent beef, veal and lamb readily available at reasonable prices. But canned kangaroo meat is processed and exported as pet food.

This frequent meal service on a motor launch cruise to the Great Barrier Reef was routine. Tea or coffee was served early in the stateroom, breakfast on schedule before 8 o'clock, tea with biscuits at 10:30 a.m., a three-course lunch at 12:30, tea with pastries at 3:30, a three-course dinner at 6:30, with coffee in the ship's lounge, supper at 10:30, consisting of tea or coffee with crab meat or cheese on crackers, or other tasty habits.

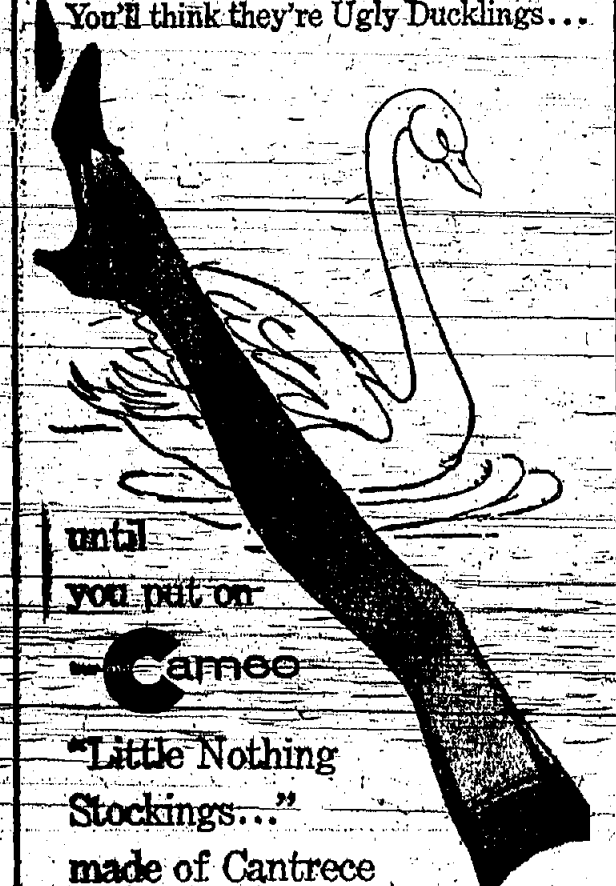

Meat Well Cooked, Main Dishes Varied. The main dishes included much lamb and considerable beef, both usually cooked very thoroughly, indeed. But barbecue beef in baked beans was one of the combination main dishes. Beef pies, chicken with local fish were others.

The breakfast menus were leaders in variety; scrambled eggs served with mashed potatoes, steak, lamb chops, kidney stew, asparagus on toast, corn on toast and baked beans on toast were among the most usual breakfast offerings; fruit and cereal. The fruit was quite often canned peaches, apricots, pineapple or stewed prunes, but really good papaya melon and fresh oranges were frequently served.

Volunteers Sought For Stuffing Letters

Volunteers are being sought by the Union County Tuberculosis and Health League to assist with preparation for mailing the 1965 Christmas-Seals at a two-day "letter stuffing party" to be held in the league's office at 7 Bridge St., Elizabeth, Monday, Nov. 1 and Tuesday, Nov. 2.

Mrs. J. M. Wisan of Elizabeth, honorary chairman of the 1965 Christmas Seal campaign in Union County, said she hopes that many groups and individuals will volunteer to help during the morning or afternoon of Nov. 1 or 2.

The "letter stuffing party" will begin at 9 a.m. on both days. The chairman said she hopes that the entire mailing to some 90,000 homes in Union County will be completely processed in the two sessions.

Because only a certain number can work at a particular time, all individuals and organizations who can help the League, on either day or at other times, were asked to call the league office at EL 2-2482 to schedule the hours for assisting.

The annual Christmas Seal campaign makes possible the year-round work of the Tuberculosis League to combat tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases in Union County.

Hourihan States He Will Support Rail Commuters

Every effort to maintain and expand existing commuter service for the people of New Jersey was pledged this week by William P. Hourihan, Democratic candidate for the State Senate from Union County.

"The means of livelihood for a great number of our residents lies outside their home community — and for many the availability of rail transportation is essential," he asserted.

"The railroads serving this state have wasted time and again that they no longer can afford to serve commuters," Hourihan pointed out. "Unless additional state assistance is provided, this essential service for our residents stands in great danger of serious curtailment."

"It may become necessary for the state of New Jersey to undertake agreements with the railroads serving the state to maintain their rights of way at state expense with the understanding that passenger service will be maintained.

"Let us not forget," Hourihan said, "that any curtailment of railroad service results in an increased burden on our already overburdened highways."

Advisory Group Considers Plan

The possibility of a cooperative program in which Union County Technical Institute senior classmen would spend afternoons as technicians in local electronic plants for 10 weeks by their last term was discussed at the Electronics Advisory Committee meeting last week at the school in Mountainside.

The industry representatives on the committee included the Chairman, Jerome Drexler, vice president of S.F.D. Laboratories in Union; John M. Burk, supervisor at the Burrington Corporation in Plainfield; Donald J. Tighe, general manager of the Harrison Laboratories Division of Hewlett-Packard in Berkeley Heights, who were in agreement that such a program could benefit both the student and the cooperating company, but foresaw problems in placement of all of the students. It was suggested that the plan be finalized and local industry polled for reaction, a release said.

Old Village Tour Set For Sunday

Dr. Harold N. Moldenke, director of the Union County Park Commission's "Prairie, Nature and Science Center" in the Warnanco Recreation Area, Mountainside, will conduct a four-Sunday tour of the historic "Deserted Village," located in a valley between the first and second ridges of the Watchung range. The guided tour is open to the public and will start from Trailside at 2 p.m. and proceed to the site of the village, a short distance away, by auto.

Dr. Moldenke will discuss the 300-year history and tradition of the area from the time of the Indians and earliest settlers to its present state as a unit of the Union County Park System. He will point out many historic facts about both the native and exotic plant and animal life that exists in the area.
