Teen-Agers Help To Provide Toys In Annual Project

Sunday afternoons in late November and early December have been busy hours for the high school young people of the Springfield Presbyterian Church. For the past nine years, the Westminster Fellowship Group of the church has held a toy workshop at which members reassemble, repair and repaint toys, games, dolls, bicycles, for Christmas distribution to needy children.

This year's workshop sessions will end with a covered dish supper Sunday at the Parish House. Through the years, the repaired toys have been distributed to youngsters in nearby Newark, Orange, Elizabeth and Plainfield, and as far away as the Presbyterian Child Welfare Agency in Buckhorn, Ky.

This year the toys are being distributed through the Marine Corps "Toys for Tot" program. Harvey Goldberg, a local resident, is acting as liaison between the Marine Corps program and the youth group of the Springfield church. Speaking about the toy workshop this week, the Rev. Donald C. Weber, associate minister of the church, summed up the enthusiasm of the young people in the words of the "Toys for Tot" program: "The joy of living is in the giving, so let's give lots of toys for tots."

HOLIDAY CONCERT FEATURES VOICES OF DAYTON UNITS

The music department will present its annual Christmas concert at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield next Thursday evening, Dec. 16, at 8:15, featuring 66 voices of the Dayton Glee Club, Choir and Chorus. This program will be directed by Ronald J. Pikor, a graduate of Trenton State College who had four years of teaching experience in the West Orange school system before coming to Dayton this year. Dale Lawson is student director of the program, which features traditional, holy, popular, and classical Christmas music. Sherry Moore, Kathie Cull, and Greg Anderson will be the accompanists for the concert.

Schools Request Grant To Operate Special Program

Tutors, Counselors Will Work To Assist Culturally Deprived

The Springfield school system has applied for some $10,000 in federal aid for special projects to provide better schooling for educationally deprived children. It was disclosed this week by John O. Berwick, superintendent.

The application, authorized by the Board of Education, is for funds under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965. This is the largest federal grant program ever approved to meet the special needs of educationally deprived youngsters.

Berwick added that once the application has been approved by the N. J. Department of Education, "we will hire personnel and begin the program within six weeks."

Title I helps finance special programs of local school districts to meet the needs of educationally deprived children in areas with high concentrations of lower-income families.

"Educational Need" Berwick stressed that although the formula uses the number of children from low-income families to determine the amount to be paid, "educational need" determines which children may benefit. This focus is on helping (Continued on Page 4)

RED CROSS LISTS ITEMS AVAILABLE IN 'LOAN CLOSET'

The Springfield Chapter, American Red Cross, this week announced that its "Loan Closet" has several items of equipment which can be borrowed by sick or injured residents. Details are available from Mrs. William Smith, 376-0875, or chapter headquarters at the Cannon Ball House, 376-1875.

Among the items available are—adult wheelchair, children's wheelchair, walker with crutches, 40-inch crib with mattress, child's bed with adjustable head-rest and 28-inch mattress, nine pairs of crutches, six pillows and four GI blankets.

OPENING WHISTLE — The basketball season is under way Saturday for these boys at the James O'Connell School gymnasium, and hundreds of others, in leagues sponsored by the Springfield Recreation Department. Above, Andy Mendelsohn, left, and John Zurickoff drive to get a jump on the ball, as league official John Swedlund makes a last-up. Play will continue with Small Fry Leagues for fourth and fifth graders at the Caldwell and Thomas Sandmeier schools, the State League for sixth and seventh graders at the Florence Sandmeier School and the Ivy League for seventh and eighth graders at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School.

YES Office Seeks Contributions, Sets Summer Job Interviews

An appeal to the public for contributions to support the Springfield Youth Employment Service was issued this week by Mrs. William Lorimer, chairman of the volunteer organizations.

She also announced that the YES office in Town Hall will be open, with additional staff members on hand, during the Christmas vacation period to interview college students and high school seniors seeking summer employment. Office hours will be 1 to 3 p.m. Dec. 20 to 23 and 27 to 30.

In her statement, Mrs. Lorimer noted that the YES group seeks $500 to meet expenses for the coming year. The organization was formed last year to assist Springfield teen-agers in finding full-time and summer jobs. It also helps local employers find young men and women to fill job vacancies.

The text of the statement follows:

Holiday Deadlines

In order to have news published in time for the Christmas and New Year holidays, particularly careful adherence to this newspaper's Friday deadline is advised for the issues of Dec. 23 and Dec. 30. All organizational and news items should be submitted by Dec. 17 for the issue of Dec. 23 and by Dec. 24 for the issue of Dec. 30.

Operation Mail Call

A steady flow of mail to Springfield men and women is being maintained through the year. That is the objective of "Operation Mail Call," which is continued this week.

If anyone knows the names and addresses of other Springfield residents serving overseas, the information should be sent to the Springfield Leader, Box 69, Springfield, so that friends and neighbors can keep in touch and express appreciation for contributions to the national welfare.

Location Chosen Near Town Mall

Springfield's new Public Library will be located on a site bounded by Mountain ave., Center st. and Hannah st., according to an announcement this week by the library board of trustees.

LIBRARY SLATES PUBLIC MEETING ON NEW BUILDING

A public hearing on the proposal for a new Springfield Public Library building will be held at the library board of trustees on Monday evening, Dec. 27, at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School. Inviting all residents to attend, the library board stated that sketches and floor-plans of the building will be available.

The library board has also invited a number of community leaders to a preliminary discussion meeting in the present library building next Thursday evening.

The library board statement continued: "In keeping with sound library planning and the interest of public-spirited citizens for a more centrally-located library, the board of trustees and the Township Committee agreed that a new library should be part of the municipal complex."

"It should be near the high school and available to other schools, near the business district and bus lines, and have plenty of parking space. The site chosen is the land south of Hannah st. between Mountain ave. and Center st., encompassing vacant property and a lot with a house on it."

"The new library is expected to face Mountain ave. with entrances to a parking area from both Mountain ave. and Center st. In keeping with the Municipal Building, the architecture will be Colonial in appearance. The library will be a one-story brick building containing 15,000 square feet, with provisions for expansion in the future. The general layout will include a central core made up of service areas with direct access to the children's room and the main reading and reference areas."

"With a properly laid-out floor plan and all services on one floor, it will be possible to have (Continued on Page 3)

Zoners In Favor Of Evergreen Bid

The Board of Adjustment last week again voted to recommend approval of a variance to extend a nonconforming use at Evergreen Lodge, by construction of an addition. The zoning board is now preparing a resolution which will present its recommendation to the Township Committee.

Scouts Receive Badges, Awards

Four members of Boy Scout Troop 76, which is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Mountaintop, received merit badges recently. Mark Kimak was awarded badges for stamp collecting and reading, Tim Williams for swimming and Tim and Jeff Williams, both for basketball. At the recent district camporee held at Watchung, several of the members received medals for properly defining the various points of the scout badge. They are: Pat Ricciardi, Ken Matysok, Mark Keating, Mark Lesslauer, Billy Fleming, John Barry, John Bushmann and Greg Kelch. Jeff Williams received a first place award for fire building at the camporee.

A FEMININE LOOK

Commentary on a recent National Newspaper Association Study Mission to the British Isles and Scandinavia

By TRUDINA HOWARD

Eighth in a Series
TOURING ENGLAND
Do you need a baby-sitter? Let Shakespeare help you. SHAKESPEARE?

Yes. In the Shakespeare house in Stratford-on-avon there is a device known as the "baby sitter." Tourists invariably and laughingly call it the original baby sitter and you are free to copy the idea.

In the middle of one room of the lovely quaint old house there is a wooden pole from floor to ceiling. A few feet from the ground there is another pole extending out from it about three feet long with a loop at the end which goes around a baby like a belt under the arms. This entire pole structure around the middle-post so that when the baby is placed in the loop, and the pole is adjusted so his feet just reach the floor, he can walk backward and forward without being held or watched. There is just no where he can go—except around.

The Shakespeare house is in the middle of what is now a very touristy town. It is built right "on top of the sidewalk" and has a garden and lawn only in the rear. The Hathaway house, on the other hand, is almost in the countryside about half mile away and has a typical English flower garden all around it. It looks like Hansel and Gretel's house. Inside, the antiquities would make a collector drool, and outside, the bursting blooms would make a garden-clubber green. With envy.

THE FIRST OVERNIGHT stop in England for our National Newspaper Association—Study Mission Group was Liverpool. We arrived after 300 miles of riding from Glasgow coming down through the Lake District. The hotel in Liverpool was one of those elegant, gracious hotels with marble baths and 12-12-8 rooms, and it was marvelous.

The mayor of Liverpool was too busy to meet us. We met Alderman David Conley, J.P., the Lord Mayor of Liverpool, and several officials at the Town Hall at a briefing and luncheon.

Questioned about the Common Market and the Beatles at the briefing, two sensitive subjects in England, the mayor humorously said at the luncheon, "Well, you woke us up with that (the Common Market) one," and on the Beatles, he claimed they have reduced juvenile delinquency and are a good example to youth. "They are having such a good time themselves, the others can't help enjoying themselves too," he said.

Lord Mayors in England wear a massive gold chain-and-medallion necklace worn wide on the shoulders, and when Lord Mayor Conley was asked if they were solid gold and how they were kept in place he merrily answered "yes" and "with safety pins."

Liverpool, besides its famous port, has a tunnel much like our Holland and Lincoln-Tunnels. There is called Mersey and it rhymes with Jersey. It is three and a half miles long and it costs 18 cents for a passenger car and $1.25 for a bus to travel through it.

BIRMINGHAM, the second stop for us, is about 120 miles from Liverpool, and is really living up to the signs found all through England: "Keep Britain Tidy" the signs very typically say, and Birmingham really has taken it seriously. Entire blocks of shabby old buildings, entire old-fashioned sections, and in fact, almost the entire city, has been torn down to make room for new buildings, shopping "rings," modern apartments and "ring" highways. It is the most ambitious tidying you ever saw.

Actually, Birmingham is under a massive urban renewal program and has been since the end of the war. Its pride and joy are the ring roads which circle the inner part of the city, the middle part, and the outer part with roadways up to six lanes in width. When these highways are totally completed there will not be one traffic light or one cross road on either the Inner Ring, the Middle Ring or the Outer Ring Road. Underpasses and over-passes will eliminate the need.

The city's tallest building presently is 22 stories high—but the building's greatest fame lies in the fact that it is round. Birmingham seems enamoured with circles.

ANOTHER impressive building, but this time not round and not in Birmingham, is the great cathedral at Coventry. Coventry was extensively bombed during the war for it had been an automobile center and became an airplane motor center. Almost the entire city was destroyed and even the cathedral was a charred ruin by war's end.

But the re-building architect did not remove the bombed cathedral. Neither did he build one to match the style it had once been. Sir Basil Spence built instead, a poignantly beautiful structure artistically blended with the jagged ruins of the old structure. The result is magnificent whether you admire "modern" or not.

But to understand the message of Coventry Cathedral, its Provoost says, "you must start where all the ideas built into the architecture and art and ministry of the new cathedral were born—in the Sanctuary of the Ruins." Here are the physical reminders of what evil can do, but here also are the marks of faith and goodness.

The old cathedral is not simply an historical monument; it is still a church. At the altar in the ruined sanctuary Communion is celebrated on Easter and Whit Sunday. Rising beyond the altar is the Charred Cross made of timbers from the medieval roof destroyed in an air raid of 1940. And cut into the wall above the altar are the words, "Father Forgive."

During the summer months, 2,000 people per hour pass through the cathedral and one day in September, Head Verger John Wickens escorted 66 of our Study Mission members through it also—and then we went through Oxford.

GOING THROUGH Oxford is easy—if you walk through, and we did it that way. We got no degrees but we got atmosphere. Everyone took off in different directions and saw different colleges, but everyone, I am sure, heard Old Tom. Old Tom is a famous bell in Christopher Wren tower, and although it rings throughout the day, it is a tradition at Oxford that every evening at 9 Old Tom rings out 101 tolls, and supposedly by the time it finishes, all the students must be in their rooms. The whole thing is in honor of the original 101 students of one of the original colleges, Merton, but every night there must be many students who wish it had been 1,000,001.

Currently, there are 21 colleges and three private halls in Oxford. The earliest are Merton, University College, and Balliol. The best known are Exeter, Queens, Magdalen, Corpus Christi, Christ Church and New College Trinity.

THE COUNTRYSIDE near Oxford, Stratford, Warwick, Banbury, and much of the north and west through which we rode, consists of lovely rolling green land with age left in and wildness left out. Little villages dot the landscape and some are museum pieces with thatched roof houses, quaint buildings, narrow streets and little shops. The woods, meadows and fields are seldom left to wilderness and are under cultivation, or use of some kind—or support one of those Stately Houses.

By the time we had seen all this and reached London, we had traveled some 550 miles on the motor coach in two days, and some 1,000 miles through Ireland and Scotland in the ten days before that. It had been an interesting and beautiful trip, but as one of our fellow travelers succinctly put it, "we really were the Dead End Kids" by then.

In-Service Class For Science Staff

Dr. Robert H. Salvesen, of the products and research division of Esso Research and Engineering Company, addressed the science teachers of the Union County Regional High School District at Governor Livingston High School in Berkeley Heights last Monday. The program was arranged by Walter A. Hohn, science coordinator for the district.

"Oil's Green Thumb" was the subject of Dr. Salvesen's address which is part of the continuing in-service training program for science teachers of the regional system, according to Hohn.

Dr. Salvesen joined Esso Research in 1959 and has worked in the fields of wax, plastics, and agricultural products. He received a Ph. D. in chemistry from the Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn and a master's degree from the University of Buffalo.

Welfare Help Seldom Needed But Emergencies Are Sudden, Serious

By ADA BRUNNER

A Springfield merchant telephoned Mrs. Daisy Howarth not long ago. He was worried.

The businessman told Mrs. Howarth, township welfare director, about a family which had been on his mind.

"He was concerned because they looked emaciated, and they were too proud to ask for assistance," Mrs. Howarth recalled. "He asked me to check."

Mrs. Howarth did check on the family, a couple living in a small house in the township.

"I found the woman was mentally ill and had to be hospitalized," Mrs. Howarth said.

"The husband hadn't been working because he was afraid to leave his wife alone. They had no food in the house. They had no heat, either, and this was on a cold day."

MRS. DAISY HOWARTH

A FOOD ORDER from the welfare department took care of the most pressing problem. Then Mrs. Howarth made arrangements to have the wife admitted to a hospital, where doctors are hopeful for her recovery. The husband, in the meantime, has been able to find odd jobs to bring in a little money.

Handling the case was just part of the day's work for Mrs. Howarth, a 20-year veteran of welfare work. She served as clerk in the welfare department office for 13 years before being named director seven years ago.

Pointing out that the welfare case load is usually light — it's normally under 10 — Mrs. Howarth commented, "We're very fortunate here in Springfield."

However, there are always some who need assistance, and their needs are serious.

"If a client comes to the office and tells me there's an immediate need for food, I take his word for it," the welfare director said. "I write out a grocery order without waiting to make an investigation."

ACTUALLY, she added, "in

Scout Fund Drive Seeks Donations

Township Attorney James M. Cawley, chairman of the Springfield Boy Scout residential fund drive, said this week that the drive is now underway.

"We are now at the period of the year," said Cawley, "when all of us are called upon to support one of the most worthy causes in connection with the future of the youth of our town, and that is scouting."

"Your financial support, which has been the backbone of the Boy Scouts is again sought to continue this most rewarding function of the youth that is America," he continued.

Assisting Cawley are Will Saltsky, Paul Rouman, Arthur Falkin and James Barrett, all of whom are district chairmen.

The relationship and actually brings the family closer."

These are only some of the aspects of the job of welfare director, Mrs. Howarth said. She added:

"That's what makes this job a real challenge."

AT CHRISTMAS TIME, the Kiwanis and Elks clubs usually give baskets, and the Lions Club donates money. In addition, the Agricultural Department and Key Club of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School frequently donate baskets, as do individual Scout troops.

There are also times when the problems brought to Mrs. Howarth are other than financial.

Counseling unwed mothers and mothers-to-be is one of the jobs she handles as welfare director. She also finds herself faced with the problems of the elderly.

"Very often tensions are caused by three generations living in one home, and the oldest member feels unwanted and unloved," she said.

"If the family can afford it, I plan other living arrangements for the senior member. This takes the strain out of a small community like Springfield there's not much chance of fraud." She explained, "After 20 years, I know most of the people."

When there is no emergency, Mrs. Howarth follows the routine prescribed by the state and starts an investigation within 48 hours of the time that the application is filed. This investigation determines whether the family is eligible for assistance and whether the case will be handled by the township or, as in cases of persons over 65 and fatherless families, by the county.

If special problems arise, Mrs. Howarth can call on the Local Assistance Board for help. This board is composed of Arthur Falkin, a member of the Township Committee, and Mrs. Edward Rackowski and Mrs. Kenneth Brant, both appointed by the Township Committee.

Other help comes at Thanksgiving and Christmas time from local organizations.

Members of B'nai B'rith, St. James Girl Scouts and the American Legion Auxiliary donated a total of $15 food magazines in just one place. Borrowers and staff will save time by not having to go off the floor to get periodicals.

—Lack of Space

"In the present building, adults have practically no place to sit down, for example, to consult the investment services provided for their use. This same situation applies to all adult interests. In the new building, adequate adult reading and browsing areas are planned, as well as easy on-the-floor access to the stacks for both fiction and non-fiction.

"Public libraries always provide for students and young people to use the collection and to study when the school libraries are closed. A special young peoples' area will enable them to consult material in their particular interests. For quiet study and work with reference materials there will be study carrels.

"The microfilm reader, and 25 years of the New York Times on film, will be set up in a small room of its own. Space will also be provided for photocopying equipment and supplies."

LEADER PROFILE

MRS. CHARLES MILLER

The busy Mrs. Charles (Rose R.) Miller of Springfield, is busier than ever this holiday season. She has, in fact, so many activities, agendas, programs, jobs and appointments that she doesn't even have time to be tired.

As president of the Springfield Woman's Club, an enormously active group (consisting of about 133 members), Mrs. Miller spends "every night and weekends — some weeks" supervising and participating in departmental activities of the club.

"Although there are some weeks when I only have to devote one night a week," she adds modestly, "this is very unusual indeed." It is very important, she emphasizes, that "we do as much as we possibly can for Springfield."

Mrs. Miller, who is married to Charles Miller, a plant manager for William Dixon in Newark, and who raised two sons (Peter, 23, and Robert, 19), maintains a full-time job as secretary to Dr. Edward L. LaCross ("a wonderful boss") in the Education Department of Newark State College.

A charter member of the Springfield Woman's Club, Mrs. Miller "was one of the first members of the club when it made its debut in Springfield in 1949."

"OUR MEMBERS try to do as much as they can for Springfield," she says, "and they devote a good part of themselves and their time to the club's many worthwhile local activities."

"For example," Mrs. Miller explains, "pre-holiday Christmas activities are foremost on our agenda."

"There are the usual families we take care of during Christmas. There are donations, Christmas packages, food baskets."

"We've been decorating and making decorations in various phases. Our committees are decorating planter boxes and Christmas trees around town; planning Christmas parties for hospitalized youngsters and for people in hospitals."

Generally speaking, however, Mrs. Miller points out that the departments of the club are involved in year-round activities.

"The club also sponsors two girls, members of the Candy Strippers at Overlook Hospital in Summit, for nursing scholarships each year."

"Groups of us," she says, "go up every week to one of two hospitals, alternating each week between the Eton Memorial Home for the Infirm in Elizabeth and Runnells Memorial Hospital, Berkeley Heights."

"Our women go up to entertain children in the hospitals; play games, read to them . . . sort of give them an afternoon among other people . . . to see other faces than those of the professional hospital staff . . . to have some diversified activity . . ."

"AT RUNNELLS, different groups of us . . . whoever can go . . . at various times . . . supervise parties, play bingo . . . offer prizes . . . present the hospitalized people with beautiful hand-crocheted afghans . . . and all sorts of other things."

"We like to help out in material things," Mrs. Miller says. And, she indicates, the folks in the hospitals need only smile, or show by their attitudes that they are enjoying the many games and visits from so many of the club's ladies, and the club members are sufficiently compensated.

"As I said, we try to do as much as we can for our town," Mrs. Miller asserts, "and occasionally new activities pop up once in a while, stressing the local things; and our ladies are right there to volunteer their time and efforts."

And Mrs. Miller beams with pride as she lists the numerous time-consuming necessities into which her members plunge energetically . . . without complaint . . . and possibly with some personal sacrifices . . . unmentioned.

HER CLUB . . . The various departments of the club have activities devoted to helping to make Springfield a better place to live . . . and a town which can take pride in such local groups as the Springfield Woman's Club, is one of the most active in the Township.

Mrs. Miller, however, is seemingly unaware of the fact that one of the many reasons her clubwomen are so actively involved, may be that she, as president, serves as a true example. They are following their leader . . . and their leader just happens to be indefatigable.

Mrs. Miller, who has been a Springfield resident for 25 years, was raised in Elizabeth and Newark. She was graduated from Central High School in Newark, and, shortly thereafter, obtained a job in a secretarial capacity at Newark State College, where she worked until she was married.

"They called me back about eight years ago, and because my sons were grown and

Education

After a "very careful analysis" by staff members, the school system determined "that our efforts should focus primarily upon those children below the norm in reading and English language skills." The statement added that the "major emphasis shall be in the Sandover and Walton school attendance areas."

Berwick explained that "additional staff members will be employed to offer tutorial and small group instruction to those children who are in need of additional help in reading and English language skills."

"A part-time psychologist will also be employed to assist in other aspects of the Title I project. Special instruction will take place during the regular school day, with some additional help available to certain children during a Saturday-morning program."

"Educationally deprived children in non-public schools can participate in approved programs through dual enrollments or shared time. Children from St. James Parochial School will therefore participate in the planned program of the Springfield Township public schools."

The statement also noted that "special incentive grants will be made during subsequent years of the program on a formula basis to school districts that have raised educational standards, as measured by per pupil expenditure from State and local funds."

Rotwein

Local structures designed on their drawing boards include the Woodside Homes development, Temple Sharye Shalom, the World of Tile, Bamberger's and Fielden Calculators of Rt. 22 and 12 buildings in the Union County Industrial Park, including Runyan Sales and Federated Electronics.

The firm also designed the National State Bank of West Caldwell, the Suburban Bank of Livingston, the Clark State Bank and a number of buildings in Mountainside.

Build For Tomorrow, Not Yesterday

"When in Rome . . ." as we all know is a counsel of conformity with local usage. The same adage could also apply with a temporal as well as a geographical interpretation: when in the 20th Century, build in a style reflecting the present day.

Springfield has a rich Colonial tradition. That's fine, and we are all proud of it. Those few buildings surviving from the days of the great insurrection should be cherished and restored and displayed. Their appearance illustrates a significant era in our history, and we all, as residents of Springfield, should be proud that we have inherited that tradition.

At the same time, we don't expect our doctors to treat us with 18th Century nostrums, nor our butchers to store our meat according to the sanitary standards of 200 years ago.

All of which comes as prelude to one basic point: buildings designed to serve 20th Century purposes should look like 20th Century architecture. A basic rule of modern design is that form follows function, that any object, from a frying pan to a chair, from a bicycle to a skyscraper, should be designed in whatever form is most efficient for its purpose.

If anyone plans to construct a blacksmith shop in town, by all means let him make the design as Colonial as possible, complete with chestnut tree.

But if someone designs an office building, or a library, every canon of good sense, as well as artistic sensibility, demands that the form manifest some aspect of a modern, highly industrialized society. There seems to be an unusual logic in effect when industrialists put in computers and fireproofing and air conditioning, and automate all the pretty receptionists out of existence — and then stick on a few white columns in front of the building with cellophane tape in an effort to turn back the centuries.

The course of human events has come a long way in almost 200 years. We have central heating, from our basements, and central government, from Washington, and central cultural uplift, from Hollywood. With all these, somewhat mixed, blessings, let us face resolutely to the future, hold hands and all shout firmly, "Long live Frank Lloyd Wright."

2 Policemen Spot Auto On Highway Listed As Stolen

After a high-speed chase along Rt. 22 and near-by roads early Saturday morning, two Springfield patrolmen were able to halt a car which they had spotted on the highway and which had been reported stolen last Friday in Garwood. The chase began at 12:15 a.m.

When Patrolmen Richard Elvin and Howard Thompson ended the chase, in Scotch Plains, the only occupant was a 15-year-old boy from Garwood. The driver had escaped on foot, but the boy identified him as William Harney, 20, of Garwood.

Harney was arrested on Sunday in Roselle, police records showed, and was turned over to Garwood authorities. Springfield police charged him with driving in the township while

CRESTMONT S & L DISPLAYS WORKS BY TOWN ARTISTS

Paintings by 21 Springfield artists have been displayed this year at the Crestmont Savings and Loan Association office at 175 Morris ave., Springfield, as was disclosed this week by Kathleen Krey, assistant treasurer. Many of the works were available for purchase at the same time.

Artists who have been featured include: Kathleen Krey, Ellen Weg, Henry Waldheim, Walter Deakin, Mary Eichenlaub, Doris Haskell, Doris Henrich, Amanda Williams, Frances Tyne, Mary Sklar, Rhoda Kaplan, Marge Silence, Natalie Goldstein, George Seessel Jr., Eleanor Schwartz, Henry Waldheim, Eugene Foley, Coulter Wait, Robert Gagner, Ethel Benjamin and George Russell Sr.

on the revoked list. The boy will face juvenile court proceedings in Garwood for his part in the incident.

Newspaper Responsibility

Some people regard newspapers as public servants.

In fact, some newspapers refer to themselves in this manner.

Public informers? Yes! Guardians of the people's right to know? Yes! Moulders of opinion? Yes!

But not public "servants"!

A servant is a person without a will of his own. He is subject to the command of others. God forbid the free American press should ever become the servant of any group or individual, for of all the freedoms guaranteed by our constitution, freedom of the press is the only one which can preserve the others.

It is the responsibility of every newspaper worthy of the name to print facts, not fiction; to confine its news columns to news, not opinion, and to dedicate itself to building more than to destroying.

What the editor thinks about any given subject should never interfere with his objective handling of the news. Responsible journalism demands that he confine his personal thinking to by-lined columns on the editorial page itself.

In order to accomplish its objectives, a newspaper must be financially solvent and cannot be dedicated to any cause not in the best interest of the people. This is as true on the grassroots level of the country weekly as it is in the vast domain of the metropolitan daily.

The separation of the news department from the revenue-producing ones must be sharply defined, for a newspaper which lives in fear of economic rebuttal or reprisal cannot possibly exercise freedom or meet its reportorial obligation to the public.

By the same token, the act of printing a story carries with it the responsibility to report correctly and without bias. Just as objective reporting can do widespread good, inaccurate reporting can bring untold hardship upon the innocent.

Not enviable is the lot of the dedicated publisher. He must not let his judgment of right or wrong be influenced by personal friendship or monetary gain. Obviously, not every person is that incorruptible. Thankfully the vast majority are, and their publications have written glowing pages in the annals of press freedom.

People have a right to expect their newspapers to be free and independent. They have a right to demand it, in fact, for only in this respect might newspapers be considered public servants.

Should the day ever come that people of this land can no longer believe the truth of what they read in the public press, newspapers will have failed miserably in their obligation. By then, however, our nation will no doubt be too far down the road to oblivion to make any difference.

The obligation of the American press to be free, strong and courageous is the greatest responsibility with which it is charged. For upon this assignment rests the very cornerstone of our Democracy. An informed public will almost invariably react correctly. One not informed cannot accurately choose its path. It is this pitfall which the free press must help the American people avoid.

Jonathan Dayton Regional Chorale Invited To Sing Carols On Dec. 21

The Chorale, who sang for holiday shoppers on the Mall at Short Hills during Christmas shopping days in the past, will return this year.

Beginning today, a different group will appear each evening except Saturday and Sunday from 7:30 to 8:30.

Among the groups invited are the Dayton Chorale from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, which will appear on Tuesday, Dec. 21.

The group is under the direction of Ronald J. Plow. Participating students are Sallie Durham, Gerry Kieffer, Marilyn Learner, Gail Post.

Girl Scouts Continue Projects, Prepare For Holiday Season

Junior Girl Scout Troop 81 of Springfield recently visited the Morris Junior Museum in Morristown. They had lunch on the picnic grounds, and spent the day viewing the exhibits of live animals and birds, fluorescent minerals, decorative art and the science gallery, with their leaders, Mrs. Henry Huncke, and Mrs. Howard Ross.

With the holidays coming, the scouts are collecting used toys, games, puzzles, for an orphanage. They are also collecting eye-glass frames and used glasses for New Eyes for the Needy. The scouts will soon be learning to knit squares, which will be made into an afghan to be sent to a hospital in Arkansas.

Junior Troop 169, led by Mrs. Daniel Turcott and Mrs. G.A. Lalak, took a bus trip to Pur-rope's in Summit for a sewing demonstration.

The troop is divided into two groups. One group is working on the toy-maker badge, with Mrs. Louis Soos and Mrs. Louis Quinton as instructors. The other group is working with its Leaders on the sewing badge.

Cadet Troop 273, led by Mrs. Lee L. Andrews Jr. and Jeanne Putscher, is busy making Christmas head bands, stockings, stuffed animals and Christmas tags. The girls have completed decorating tissue boxes for Christmas giving. They are also collecting clothing, games and dolls, which will be sent to a mission in Alabama.

The Scouts helped prepare three Thanksgiving baskets which were delivered during Thanksgiving week. All of the Scouts were scheduled to give two hours of service to the Union County T.B. Society yesterday. Scout Linda Zera and her patrol are busy working on a play which they will present to the St. James Brownsies and Scouts on Dec. 22.

Girls of Junior Troop 501, led by Mrs. Joseph Carroll, are busy working on macaroni Christmas trees and shrines which they will have for Christmas. Scout Susan Kaiser and her patrol presented an original Thanksgiving play to the troop.

Scout Pamela DaQuino and her patrol are busy working on a Christmas play, written by Pamela, which they will present to the troop on Wednesday.

Scout Rose Ann Wyslendowski and her patrol are working on the Indian lore badge and they are working out all the details for the troop's entertainment at a later date. Scout Gloria Fernandez and her patrol have chosen February for their entertainment day for the troop.

Cindy Cavanago was welcomed to the Troop on Dec. 1, and Scout Gloria Fernandez and her patrol accepted Cindy into their group. The girls are working on the service project for Christmas, and will bring to troop meetings an article of good used clothing or a game, toy or doll which will be sent to a mission during the holidays.

Investiture services, for the Catholic Girl Scouts and Brownsies, will be on Sunday from 1:30 to 3 p.m. The Brownsies and

SLATE EXERCISE FOR '40 FINGERS' IN SUMMIT SHOW

The 40 Fingers, Springfield rock and roll quartet, will be featured in a concert Saturday evening at Summit High School. The Fingers are divided evenly among Bruce Colandrea, lead guitar; Wayne Maciello, drums; Bruce Gerstein, bass guitar, and Ted O'Connell Jr., organist and lead singer.

The boys, all students at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, have been playing as an ensemble for almost three years. They have been playing as an ensemble for almost three years. They have entertained at many teen-agers' dances throughout Union County, as well as the Maryland Pavilion and the New York Pavilion at the World's Fair.

Completes Training

FOXBORO, MASS. — Edwin A. Seifert of Redfield Village, Metuchen, N. J., an engineer in the Springfield, N. J., office of The Foxboro Company, has completed a five-week program for sales engineers at training school here. Seifert was graduated from Penn State University and Rutgers University, is married and has one child.

Girl Scouts will receive their pins, and all scouts and leaders will re-dedicate themselves to the Girl Scout program. Parents and friends are invited to attend. The services will be held at St. James Church. Rehearsal for the services will be tomorrow at 3 p.m.

The local Girl Scout fund drive chairmen request the support of all "town folks" to help meet the goal. Donations may be mailed to 11 High Point dr., Springfield, or a call to CR 3-2350 or PR 9-4917 will notify someone to stop by for a donation.

At a community meeting on Tuesday, investiture of new leaders and a "Growing Up Today" in the Arts program, will be presented. All leaders and adults working in the scouting program are urged to attend.

pretty much on their own, I returned to work full time."

MRS. MILLER'S older son, Peter, who is 23 years old, is a demolition bomb expert with the U.S. Army at Fort Dix. He is a specialist fifth class.

Robert, who is 19 years old, is in his second year at Texas A and M University, where he is taking pre-veterinarian courses. "He is going to specialize in cows and horses . . . not cats and dogs," Mrs. Miller smiles. "Down there, in Texas, of course, they work with large animals. And as a result, he's become so interested that he's planning to make this a lifetime profession."

And how do the Millers feel about their sons' careers?
"My husband and I are just delighted," Mrs. Miller says. "We think it's just marvelous."

"After all, our sons have independent thoughts and ideas. They have to make up their minds what they want to do in life. And whatever they decide — knowing them — she smiles, "they will probably do well."

Now that the children are out of the house, Mrs. Miller feels that she can devote more time to her club activities. "Although I do have another job—it's a very, very nice job," she chuckles.

"I have to take care of a little dog . . . our seven-year-old dachshund, Heidi. But she's a pretty independent little animal, and she doesn't really mind being left alone so much of the time."
"She's a good little watchdog . . . makes an awful lot of noise, and is pretty proud to know that her job also is a useful one . . . that of the family guardian."

N.J. Economy Benefits By Prime Government Contracts

New Jersey's advancing economy benefited by prime government contracts totaling $41,282,587 awarded to 139 firms throughout the State during October, the Department of Conservation and Economic Development reported this week.

Bergen County led the awards list with contracts aggregating $9,204,437 followed by Essex County, $7,060,060; Passaic County, $5,101,024; Camden County, $4,576,589; Hudson County, $3,125,444; and Union County, $3,097,663. It was Essex County, however, which had the greatest number of firms—25—awarded contracts; Bergen was second with 17; Monmouth third with 15; Union fourth with 14 and Camden fifth with 13. Hudson and Passaic each had 12 firms awarded contracts.

Currier-Wright's Aeronautical Division of Wood Ridge received the greatest dollar award with 11 contracts amounting to $4,221,513 for aircraft engines and data. Two contracts totaling $3,078,709 went to Aerospace Group of Little Falls with hydraulic actuation systems named as the major items.

Other substantial awards and the major products named included nine contracts totaling $2,843,352 to RCA's Defense Electronic Products Division of Camden for radio receiving sets and equipment; six contracts amounting to $2,662,509 to the Bendix Corporation's Eclipse-Pioneer Division of Teledyne for adaptors applicable to services aircraft; three contracts totaling $2,032,101 to Eastern Tool and Mfg. Co. of Belleville for projectile assemblies and three contracts aggregating $1,933,083 to Elsen Bros. Inc. of Hoboken for projectile assemblies.

Garden State food products or food processed items named as major items on the awards list totaled $2,500,578. Sizeable awards in this category included three contracts amounting to $683,270 to United Instant Coffee Corp. of Paterson for instant powdered coffee; three contracts totaling $368,798 to Thomas J. Lipton, Inc. of Clementon for dehydrated soups; a contract of $227,790 to Farmland Fairlawn Dairies of Fairlawn for milk; and two contracts amounting to $227,253 to Theobald Industries of Harrison for canned shortening compound.

Awards for construction and related services totaled $778,313. These included a contract of $280,000 to RCA of Somerville for VHF power transmission structures; two contracts to N.Y. Shipbuilding Corp. of Camden for overhaul of the USS Blackwood; and a contract of $43,376 to Bethlehem Steel Corp. of Hoboken for repairs of the USNS Lt. George W. G. Boyce.

Sixteen of the State's counties were represented on the awards list which also included 20 "indefinite" contracts to 19 New Jersey firms.

Named as major products in the indefinite awards were lubricating oils; pipe cutters; paints; enamel; lubricating compounds; shears and scissors; paper fastening staplers; fabricating materials; wood dowels; laundry waxes; type cleaners; accountical boards; rubber hoses; office machines and steel bookends.

The listing of prime government contracts awarded to New Jersey firms each month is compiled by the Research and Statistics Section of the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development.

No Change In 1965 Tax Laws; Few Differences In Tax Forms

Newark, New Jersey Tax Assistants in Internal Revenue Service offices in New Jersey said this week that taxpayers are generally confused about the effective date of changes in income tax law which were part of the Medicare Bill.

The only change which affects 1965 income tax returns which must be filed by April 15, 1966 is the one which exempts physicians from the other professional and business people who must pay a self employment tax along with their income tax. This allows them to qualify for social security benefits.

All the other changes are not effective until the tax year which begins on January 1, 1966. These include the increase in the maximum amount of wages subject to social security taxes, the increase in social security taxes to provide for hospital coverage and other medical benefits, as well as the new provision on the reporting and payment of social security taxes on tips.

The maximum amount of wages subject to social security taxes for 1965 remains at $4800. Taxpayers who worked for more than one employer during the year and had more than $174 in social security taxes deducted from their earnings may claim the excess as a credit against income tax due. A taxpayer who worked for just one employer and had more than $174 in social security taxes deducted should obtain a refund from his employer.

Because there have been no basic changes in income tax law, you will find few differences in the tax forms which will be sent to you in December. The form has been redesigned to make it easier to read and made more attractive by using more modern type and a less cluttered arrangement.

Spaces have also been provided for entering the name of your current employer and for listing the names of your dependent children.

All taxpayers are reminded to be sure to keep the tax instruction booklet which will be mailed to them late this month. It contains a pre-identified income tax form. Internal Revenue asks that each taxpayer use this form for his tax return because of this identification.

If this form cannot be used for any reason, the top part of the identifying label should be peeled off and used on the return which is filed with Internal Revenue. If someone else prepares your return for you, be sure to give him the form mailed to you so that he may use it or the label.

BLIND GOOD WORKERS

A misinformed public with misconceptions about blindness has been the chief obstacle in overcoming distorted notions about the capabilities of blind people. Blind people can work in over 700 different work categories and perform tasks, in some cases, far superior to sighted persons, the American Foundation for the Blind states in its recently published annual report.

REWARDING CAREERS

The American Foundation for the Blind maintains a Personnel Referral Service for those men and women interested in work for the blind. The need for professionally-trained teachers, administrators and social workers is very acute. An interesting and rewarding career can be had in this field of social work, the AFB states.

Christmas Trees Can Be Fire Hazards

Christmas trees can present definite fire hazards unless precautions are taken, the New Jersey Chapter of the American Society of Safety Engineers pointed out this week.

Chapter representatives predicted that "many thousands of home fires will result this Christmas season because people were careless with Christmas trees and decorations." They issued the following safety suggestions:

Pick a fresh looking tree that has firm needles. Saw off the butt at an angle an inch or more above the original cut. Keep the tree in water until it is brought into the house, and keep it in water until it leaves the house. Check water level at least once or twice a week; a tree will absorb several glasses of water while indoors.

Support the tree firmly. Keep it well away from sources of heat such as radiators, stoves, fireplaces. Don't locate it where either upright or fallen, on fire, it might block escape. Don't keep the tree up until it becomes excessively dry.

DRIVER TRAINING
 Most insurance companies, the Insurance Information Institute reports, grant discounts on automobile liability and collision insurance for young drivers who have successfully completed recognized driver education courses in schools.

Don't rely on self-applied chemical coatings or solutions to "flame-proof" a natural tree. None is completely effective. Only commercially treated trees using UL-listed compounds are effective.

Artificial trees can also be a fire hazard. Plastic, paper and metalized plastic trees can burn. Metal trees (aluminum or other metals) are not a fire hazard but may be a shock hazard. Only indirect lighting should be used on these trees. If lighting strings short on a metal tree, it may become "charged" and dangerous.

Don't allow smoking amidst gifts, decorations and wrappings placed under the tree. Supervise small children playing near the tree. Keep matches, lighters and candles out of their reach.

Don't use candles on or near trees; they are highly dangerous.

Check lighting sets and cords for frayed wires, loose connections and broken sockets. Discard old or broken wiring sets. Use only UL-listed lights; those not listed are probably cheap and unsafe.

Limit the lighting circuit to 15 amperes. Check the fuse in the fuse box to assure it is not over this limit.

Most important, turn off all tree and other indoor holiday lighting before retiring or leaving the house.

WEEDER'S DIGEST

By Your Rutgers Garden Reporter

Your Living Christmas Tree

Now, about that living Christmas tree you expect to enjoy indoors this holiday season and then plant outdoors.

It's an idea that's catching on, and you can look forward to watching your tree grow, year by year, to remind you of a merry Christmas, 1965, if you treat it right.

You'll buy your tree balled and burlapped, of course, and the first thing to do is wrap the moist ball in plastic film to hold the moisture in. Then place the tree in a decorated tub or box.

Don't overlook this first simple step. It's a trick that really works, according to Don Lacey, extension specialist in home horticulture at Rutgers.

Plants in the Rutgers exhibit at the New York flower show have survived two weeks of hardship because of this kind of preparation for the rugged Manhattan life.

Only a few days indoors. But it's best not to keep your living Christmas tree indoors any more than a few days because home conditions could be even more unkind than an exhibition hall climate.

The danger in keeping an evergreen indoors too long is that it will break its dormancy. New growth may start. Then, when you finally take it outdoors it can't stand the shock of January cold.

Naturally, you'll arrange your string of lights so that bulbs can't touch the needles.

Moist And Sheltered
 So let's say you have untrimmed your tree a few days after Christmas and you're ready to take it outdoors.

Experience has proved it to live to see even one more Christmas, according to Lacey.

Rather, choose a well lighted protected place, sheltered from the drying north wind. An unheated garage often is ideal, or a sheltered corner of the house, or a porch.

Then take off the plastic and put the roots, still in their burlap, into a tub, and fill around the balled roots with peat moss or leaves. Dampened, this material will help the roots moist until spring. Add a little water if you have to.

Not Too Wet
 But don't let water stand in the bottom of the tub or you'll be as bad off as if you left the plastic around the roots, to collect water. Too much water will make the roots rot.

Now let's skip ahead until the end of March. By then you can decide exactly where you want to plant your tree, and digging the hole for it will be a lot pleasanter.

Maybe you'll want this tree to be your outdoor Christmas tree in the years ahead so you can string lights on it. All the more reason to pick the right spot.

Christmas In Future
 Remember that although your tree is small now, you expect it to grow, and grow a lot, so it'll pay to plant it where it will serve your purpose and not get in the way.

These are forest trees, really, and even under our civilized conditions may grow six inches a year. A Colorado blue spruce may grow to be 30 feet tall; a Norway spruce, 50 or 60 feet; Douglas fir, 50 feet; Scotch and Austrian pine, 30 to 40 feet. Any of these will need a long string of lights in 1965.

Council Warns Of Accident Rate In December '63

Two hundred and ninety-eight lives were lost in New Jersey in all types of accidents during the month of December last year. The toll of deaths was 32 more than recorded in December 1962 and the highest total accidental deaths recorded for the month of December in New Jersey. Included in the toll are 32 deaths classified as "type of accident unknown." This is reported by the New Jersey State Safety Council to point up both the doubly tragic consequences when associated with the Yuletide season. Accidents "in traffic" and "at home" were the major killers with the combined toll of 222 deaths accounting for 75 percent of the total accidental deaths. One hundred and seventeen deaths, including 36 pedestrians, were recorded in traffic—an increase of 17 more than recorded in traffic during December, 1962 and the highest December traffic death toll in New Jersey in the past 27 years. Twelve thousand and thirteen other persons suffered injuries including 622 pedestrians.

In the age group 0-14 six youngsters, including three pedestrians, were killed in traffic. One thousand and fifty others in the age group suffered injuries and 218 of these were pedestrians.

In the age group 65 years and over 27 were killed including 17 pedestrians. Four hundred and eighty-two others over 65 years-of-age were injured including 68 pedestrians.

One hundred and five persons were killed in-home accidents, an increase of 31 more than during December in the previous year and the second highest on record for December since 1960, when 106 were reported. The State Safety Council estimates that 15,750 others suffered various degrees of injuries, an increase of 800 more than in December 1962.

Falls accounted for 50 of the deaths and 40 of those were in the age group 65 and over. Fires took a toll of 20 lives, 12 were 65-years-of-age and seven were under 14 years of age. Other causes in order of importance were: poisonings (gas accepted), poisoning by gases and vapors, hot substances and mechanical suffocation each accounting for four deaths; firearms two; and other specific home accidents eight.

A comparative study of accident deaths during the month of December in New Jersey during the past 10 years, according to the State Safety Council, shows that 97 more lives were lost in home accidents during the period than in traffic accidents. In home accidents, the December total during the period was 835 deaths compared with 838 in traffic.

Accidents in public in New Jersey last December took 33 lives and 4025 others suffered injuries. Falls accounted for 16 deaths, drownings four, water transport three, firearms two, railroad one, and other specified public accidents seven.

In work accidents 11 persons were killed and an estimated 1000 others injured compared with seven killed and an estimated 1800 injured in December 1962.

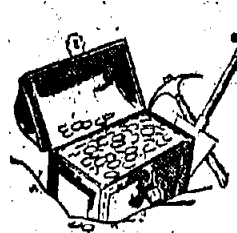

The state's accident record in all areas is actively according to the Council, should serve as an incentive to redouble efforts to prevent it from being repeated this December.

McKay Has Lead In Paper Mill Play

Scott McKay has replaced Barry Nelson as Betsy Palmer's co-star in "Mary, Mary" which opens at the Paper Mill Playhouse, Millburn, Dec. 28.

Nelson relinquished the part to open on Broadway in "Cactus Flower," a new play by Abe Burrows, author of the current hit at the Paper Mill, "Guys and Dolls."

When Joan Fontaine opens at the Paper Mill in February in the British mystery "Dial M for Murder," she will wear the first Yves St. Laurent original ever off the Paper Mill stage.

Efforts are being made to move "Guys and Dolls," which closes at the Paper Mill Dec. 19, to Broadway if costs are not prohibitive. Starring in this production are Vivian Blaine and Sam Levene.

Union Restaurant Being Operated By Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wimmer

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wimmer, who have operated a restaurant in Newark for 17 years, recently opened the Union Hofbrau at 1252 Stayson Avenue.

Mayor F. Edward Hirtuempfel was among the guests at the opening of the restaurant, formerly the Club Royale.

The Wimmers, who opened The Bavarian Village in Newark in 1948, are being assisted in operating the Union restaurant by their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wimmer Jr.

They announced that entertainment and dancing are featured on Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings. Joachim Schroeder, who has appeared in German-American nightclubs in the Catskills headlines the entertainment program, with the younger Wimmer playing the accordion.

Red Cross First Aid Teaches Ways To Reduce Fire Hazards

Fire, which ranked third nationally among accidental killers in 1964, will receive special emphasis in first aid classes conducted in New Jersey by the American Red Cross, according to Howard E. Camp Jr., area director of Safety Services at Red Cross Eastern Area Headquarters in Alexandria, Va.

The 7,700 deaths in the United States attributed to fires and burns by the National Safety Council, last year, were exceeded only by those from motor vehicle accidents and falls, Camp said.

Fires from matches and smoking were responsible nationally for 22 percent of the fatalities, with misuse of electrical equipment a close second with 20 percent. Defective heating units account for another 10 percent.

In 1966 Red Cross chapters across the country will conduct upwards of 60,000 free first-aid courses and more than a million certificates for completion of these courses will be awarded. In these classes, and in informal first aid instruction for millions of others, both first aid care for burns and prevention of fires will receive special attention.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1965, the Safety Services section of the Red Cross issued, through its statewide chapters, 37,910 First Aid Certificates, and 578 Small Craft Certificates in New Jersey. The certificates were awarded to individuals who successfully completed these courses given at chapter houses or in other areas designated for Red Cross use, such as municipal swimming pools.

Accident prevention, Camp points out, is one of the main objectives of first aid training, along with immediate and temporary care of the victim of an accident or sudden illness. Information about first aid classes may be obtained through your local Red Cross.

Recognition of what constitutes a fire hazard and caution in eliminating as many of these hazards as possible, Camp said, could bring about a marked reduction in the number of fires and the needless tragedies they cause.

In offering a list of suggestions which can help cut down fires and resulting injury or death, Camp noted that many of the "tips" are so simple and elementary that they should be obvious to anyone, and yet it is because these simple rules of safety are neglected or ignored that fire and death or severe burns result.

Here are the Red Cross suggestions for reducing fire hazards in the home:

SMOKING: do not smoke in bed or in upholstered furniture; discard cigarette butts in a safe place, not in wastebaskets; use large, deep ashtrays; do not smoke near flammable liquids (gasoline, paint thinner); do not smoke or light matches in attics, closets, or confined places; wear clothes, sweater, and other combustibles, and keep matches and lighters out of children's reach.

HEATING AND COOKING EQUIPMENT: have chimneys cleaned and checked regularly; do not place heaters, stoves and smoke pipes near combustible walls and ceilings; do not place clothing or furniture near stoves, heaters or fireplaces; clean ovens and broiler regularly, and be extremely cautious around fireplaces, particularly when wearing loose clothing.

ELECTRICAL: use proper size fuses; do not overload wiring or use multiple outlet plugs; replace worn-out equipment and wiring; keep electric motors clean and free from grease, and do not place extension cords under rugs or hook them over a nail.

GOOD HOUSEKEEPING: get rid of rubbish in attics, closets, basements, garages and yards; keep paint in tightly closed metal containers; keep away from heat; gasoline and flammable fluids should be stored safely; do not use flammable cleaning fluids; do not use gasoline or kerosene to start fires; keep the handles of cooking pots turned away from edge of stove, and when handling hot fluids, protect children by keeping them away from immediate area.

EQUIPMENT: keep fire extinguishers in places where they are easily accessible; have a garden hose near a faucet for ready use, and provide screen guards around fireplaces.

Know Your Government

MUNICIPAL-COUNTY NEEDS REMAIN AFTER 30 YEARS

New Jersey has had no comprehensive study of municipal and county government relationships for more than 30 years.

This was pointed out at the recent Public Policy Forum at Rutgers University. Frank W. Haines, Research Director of the New Jersey Taxpayers Association, reviewed some enduring findings set forth in the voluminous reports issued in 1931-32 by the State Commission to Investigate County and Municipal Taxation and Expenditures. The Commission chairman was J. H. Thayer Martin, State Tax Commissioner. Harley L. Lutz, Professor of Public Finance at Princeton University, was director of the study.

Among unfavorable factors and conditions adversely affecting local government a third of a century ago, the Commission found: (1) low-level administrative efficiency due to failure to provide proper standards of good public administration and failure to establish administrative districts commensurate with some of the tasks to be performed; (2) defective local government organizations with excessive small local units, ineffective administrative areas, overlap of jurisdiction and improper internal municipal organization; (3) exaggerated emphasis on home rule; (4) absence of effective means of controlling expenditures.

Among the Commission recommendations: simplification of local government organization and structure; development of standards of service and cost; cooperative state-local home rule; popular determination of governmental policies with administration by experts; abolition of the patronage system and complete review of the allocation of responsibilities for various services to determine which are local and which should be performed by the county or state.

"Had many of the major recommendations been acted upon, we would have a much different local governmental system than we have now," it was observed by Haines.

Engineers' Jobs Listed in Booklet

New Jersey job opportunities for qualified engineers are described in a new reference book just published by Resource Publications Inc. of Princeton Junction.

The directory, entitled "New Jersey Index of Engineering Opportunity, 1966," presents comprehensive full-page profiles of 46 companies in the Garden State that are currently seeking engineers. In addition, the booklet includes an informative section entitled "New Jersey in Profile" describing the economic, educational and cultural environments of New Jersey.

Each of the corporate profiles informs the reader of the nature of the company's business, the opportunities for engineers, the requirements for position, and the specific features that make the company attractive to a prospective employee. Cross indexes in the back of the book guide the reader to opportunities by location and field.

The "New Jersey Index" is the first in a nation-wide series of books outlining engineering opportunities in research, development, and manufacturing fa-

BOND SUCCESSOR IS 'FILE' AUTHOR OF ORMONT FILM

A successor to the late Ian Fleming, author of the successful James Bond spy thrillers, has been found. He is the British author of "General In Berlin," a runaway best-seller among the hard-covered books, and "The Incessant File," best-selling paperback, adapted to the screen by Universal Pictures in Technicolor and Techniscope.

A runaway spy thriller, "The Incessant File," starring Michael Caine as secret agent Harry Palmer, has been held over for a fifth week at the Ormont Theatre, East Orange. Nigel Green, Sue Lloyd and Guy Doleman have featured roles.

November Rainfall At Record Low, Meteorologist At College Reports

Rainfall in November totaled only 1.68 inches, which is 2.18 inches below the estimated normal of 3.86 inches, Harold Duff, meteorologist at the Union Junior College, Meteorological Station, Cranford, said in his monthly report to the U.S. Weather Bureau.

November's total precipitation of 1.68 inches was the lowest since the UJC Meteorological Station was opened in 1920. The greatest November rainfall recorded at the UJC station was 7.12 inches in 1923.

Rainfall in 1965 from January 1 to November 30 totals 27.78 inches, as compared with 33.19 inches during the same period a year ago.

Temperatures in November ranged from a maximum of 69 degrees on November 4 to a minimum of 24 degrees on November 3 and 25. The average temperature was 44.4 degrees—8 degrees below the estimated normal temperature of 45.2 degrees.

During November, 617 degree days were recorded, bringing the total for the heating season which began September 1 to 1,032 degree days.

The warmest days were November 1, 4 and 7 when the daily average temperatures were 55 degrees.

Fog occurred on five days—November 8, 19, 16, 21 and 22. Thunder was heard on November 23. There were eight clear days, 11 partly cloudy days, and 11 cloudy days. The prevailing wind direction was southwest.

BBB Warns Public On Yule Shopping

The season of giving, the Better Business Bureau of Bergen, Passaic and Rockland Counties cautioned the public this week, can unfortunately also be the season to be taken.

To protect the gullible, the unsuspecting, or the just plain careless, the BBB offers these do's and don'ts:

Do your Christmas shopping at a firm—whether it be a large store or a little shop up the street—about which you have some knowledge. Many problems—exchanges, refunds, guarantees, damaged goods—can be avoided or adjusted if you deal with a reliable, responsible firm.

If you receive unordered merchandise through the mail (Christmas cards, ornaments for the trees, ties, bells, etc.) the BBB advises that you are under no obligation either to acknowledge their receipt or to return them. After a reasonable period of time, these items may be discarded as you see fit.

If you receive solicitations from charitable organizations, make sure that they are legitimate before making any contribution. While most solicitations will be from worthwhile sources, there are certain charities with high sounding names which provide little service in relation to the amount of money collected. Professional promoters are the main beneficiaries—while the needy remain in need.

It's a practical idea to examine merchandise, particularly items like toys which have to be assembled, soon after delivery. The frustration of discovering only three doll carriage wheels in a carton on Christmas Eve can be avoided by an advance inspection.

Don't sign a contract to purchase anything priced beyond your means to pay. And if you pay a deposit on the "lay-away-plan," make sure that you can and will go through with the purchase. Otherwise, you may forfeit your deposit.

If you lose your credit card, notify the company immediately. You could be liable for purchases made in your name.

And, do your Christmas checking early. You owe it to yourself and those on your Christmas gift list.

Holiday Deadlines

In order to have news published in time for the Christmas and New Year's holidays, particularly careful adherence to this newspaper's Friday deadline is advised for the issues of Dec. 23 and Dec. 30. All organizational and social news items should be submitted by Dec. 17 for the issue of Dec. 23 and by Dec. 24 for the issue of Dec. 30.

FIRE VOLUNTEERS PRESENT HONORS TO 20-YEAR MEN

Frank Ruban and Theodore Ganska received pins commemorating 20 years of service to the Springfield Volunteer Fire Department at the volunteers' annual dinner held Saturday evening at the Club Diana, Union.

Vincent Plaia was chairman for the evening, assisted by Ray Rieger, Ed Anastos and William Schmidt. Warren Ruhoff is deputy chief.

Presentation of the 20-year pin was made by former Chief Ormand W. Mesker and Fire Commissioner Robert G. Planer.

Drinking Charge Reason For Fine Paid By Motorist

A 35-year-old Florham Park man was fined $305 on two charges by Springfield Magistrate Max Sherman in Municipal Court Wednesday night.

Donald C. Rock was found guilty and fined $250 for driving while under the influence of alcohol and $55 for leaving the scene of an accident, according to the charges.

Police apprehended Rock at Caldwell pl. and Morris ave. on Nov. 5 after his car struck a vehicle on Mountain ave., causing damage.

In another case Magistrate Sherman levied a $50 fine on an 18-year-old youth for possession of liquor.

John E. Danelson of Newark was picked up in the slip and sup parking lot with a pint of rye in his car, police stated.

Schwartz Named To National Staff Of Youth Agency

Appointment of Richard L. Schwartz to the public information department of the Boys' Clubs of America has been announced by John M. Gleason, national director of the youth-guidance organization. Schwartz at one time was editor of the former Springfield Sun.

A former New Jersey weekly newspaper chain editor, he joins Boys' Clubs following two years as a trade magazine editor and free-lance photographer.

Schwartz, who attended Antioch College and Fitchburg Dickinson University, is married and has a daughter. A life-long resident of New Jersey, he lives with his family in Springfield.

Psychiatric Wing At Overlook Gets Funds From Government

Overlook Hospital has announced a grant of $102,750 from government Hill-Burton funds, to be used toward the 22-bed short-term psychiatric unit planned for the hospital's new wing, now under construction.

The total cost of the psychiatric unit will be in the neighborhood of $300,000.

"Overlook enters an entirely new realm of service to the community by entering into the mental health field," commented Robert E. Heinlein, Overlook's director. "One out of every 10 persons is estimated to be mentally ill. Mental illness has, in fact, been called our number one health problem."

"The time has come when we must face this problem locally and do something about it," he stated. "Today we know there are many types of emotional disturbance which, if caught early and treated promptly, can often avert more serious conditions requiring long term therapy."

Overlook is in a high priority area for psychiatric facilities, which is one of the criteria of Hill-Burton grants. The establishment of short-term psychiatric units in community hospitals is also one of the major current objectives of the federal and state governments.

There are many reasons why the community hospital is regarded as preferable to a large, distant mental institution. First, the more normal environment is immediately reassuring to the patient, who feels more comfortable and therefore is more responsive to treatment.

His environment is acceptable to him; he is not completely separated from family and friends, according to Dr. R. D. Roessler, chief of Overlook's neuropsychiatric section.

"The so-called stigma of the purely mental institution is still felt by some of the public, but this is lessened markedly with its community hospital surroundings. More and more people are realizing that everyone has times of stress, sometimes requiring help for his emotional difficulties—the loss of a loved one, incapacitating disease, business pressures, family strains—any traumatic shock or trigger can often be helped by professional psychiatric attention," Dr. Roessler pointed out.

Another strong factor in favor of psychiatric help at the community hospital is the continuity of care provided. In his home setting, the patient can continue under the care of his own family doctor, who knows his history and background, to give aid to the consulting psychiatrist. The patient also is not faced with the difficulties of adjustment to new personalities in a strange place when he is already under more than enough emotional tension.

This will enable out-patient treatment and counseling close to home, still in the natural environment, with the family nearby for conferences and help.

In addition, there will be the continuity of care offered by the private psychiatrist's office in the area. At the present time Overlook has 11 neuropsychiatrists on its medical staff.

The psychiatric unit will have 15 specially trained nurses. All nursing personnel on the unit, including aides and orderlies, will have specialized training in psychiatric care.

In addition the hospital will add to its staff a combined occupational-recreational therapist, along with an experienced social service worker.

The psychiatric unit will be equipped with its own dayroom, dining area, and recreational facilities. Patient rooms will be both private and semi-private, depending on the individual patient's needs. The hospital's electroencephalograph department will be located nearby, along with other diagnostic and therapy facilities.

RAINFALL CALLED BELOW AVERAGE BY WEATHERMEN

Rainfall in this area during November was only half the average amount, according to the Canoe Brook Weather Station operated by the Commonwealth Water Co. in Short Hills. The total of rain last month was 2.05 inches, while the 26-year average has been 4.32 inches.

The average temperature last month was 42.3 degrees, close to the average for 26 years of 42.8 degrees. The mercury climbed to a high of 69 degrees on Nov. 1 and dropped to 21 degrees on Nov. 10.

Other top men were Dave Torchy, 222-209-599; Scott Donington, 232; Mark Con- to, 218; Frank Eichelz, 214; Richard Schwartz, 213; Stan Corn- field, 211; Ted Delubaty, 207; William Taus, 203; Bill Bosco, 203; Frank Madison, 201.

Pastor From Africa To Visit Methodists

The Rev. Marcus Buthelezi of South Africa will be guest speaker at Springfield Emmanuel Methodist Church, Main st. and Academy green, this Sunday at the 9:30 and 10:45 a.m. services of divine worship.

Mr. Buthelezi, with his wife and two children, is living in Madison. He is presently a student at Drew Theological Seminary. He is a graduate of a theological seminary in South Africa and served a Lutheran congregation there for two years, before coming to the United States for further study at Yale Divinity School and Drew Seminary.

Mr. Buthelezi will visit in the Church School classes from 9:30 to 10 a.m. before speaking to the members attending the early service. He will also show slides and speak at 7 p.m. in the Trivolt Chapel for those who would like a more detailed account of his work in South Africa. Opportunity will be provided for questions. The public is invited to attend, a church spokesman stated.

At the 8:30 a.m. German language service on Sunday Emmanuel Schwing will speak on "The Preparations of the World For Christ," using Galatians 4:4 as his text.

On Monday the 13 Methodist Men will hold a Christmas party and game night in the Mundy Room.

The confirmation class will meet Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. in the Chapel for the regular study session and rehearsal for the vesper service on Dec. 19. The Pastor James Dewar's Bible study group will convene at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday.

'Y' Yule Fete Planned For Saturday Night

The coming Yule season will be celebrated at the Summit YWCA's Saturday night social dance on Dec. 11, from 9 p.m. to midnight. Christmas decorations, refreshments, live music by the Moodmakers are part of the evening's fare.

Single young adults of post-high school age were invited to attend, with or without a partner. The dances are sponsored by the YWCA so that young persons living or working in the area may have an opportunity to meet other young adults and enjoy an evening of sociability. No previous reservations are necessary.

The next regularly scheduled Saturday night dance will be on Jan. 8. Further information may be had by telephoning Tillie Louie, young adult program director at the YWCA, 273, 4242.

Psychiatric Unit at Overlook

The new psychiatric unit at Overlook will take patients who may be expected to respond to treatment within a period of six weeks. They will enter the unit on a voluntary admission basis. Deeply disturbed, psychotic cases requiring long-term treatment will not be candidates for care at the community hospital level.

With modern transmitters, psychiatric units in general hospitals function on an "open" basis and have proven very successful, but there will, of course, be precautions taken for temporary acute cases until they can be transferred to a purely psychiatric hospital.

Actually, many of the patients who would be treated by the psychiatric service are already patients in the general hospital setting. The attempted suicide, the post-operative patient, the alcoholic with severe physical symptoms, or the after-childbirth depressive.

Psychosomatic Cases
Studies indicate that 50 percent or more of the patients admitted to general hospitals have an emotional problem as the major cause of illness, according to a recent report by the American Hospital Association.

Now patients have psychologic ailments without some kind of associated mental conflict, and many patients need treatment for their emotional problems as well as for the physical difficulty. Such facts indicate the need

Gift Project For Viet Nam GIs Called Success By N.J. Legion

The New Jersey American Legion's fund-raising project for Christmas gifts for U. S. servicemen in Viet Nam has proved to be a great success, according to William R. Huggard, State Legion Commander, this week.

"The response to our appeal which began on Nov. 7 has been tremendous, not only from our own Legion-Auxiliary Posts and Units, but also from individuals and organizations throughout the state," said Huggard, when he announced that with some $60,000 in hand and pledged, the total would undoubtedly reach $100,000.

Plans for shipping 150,000 gifts to Viet Nam by Christmas have been completed. Plastic bags, each containing grooming kit with nail-clipper and file, comb, razor-blades, cigarettes, alarm stationery, ballpoint pen and greeting card, will be assembled and packed at the Dumont, N.J. High School on December 11th and 12th, by several hundred students, through the cooperation of the Board of Education, and the Superintendent of Schools.

On Monday, the assembled packets will be transported to McGuire Air Force Base by Oneda Motor Freight of Carlstadt, in truck trailers donated by the company. Some 16 tons of gifts will go to Viet Nam by air via Travis Air Force Base, California, through arrangements made with the Air Force by Brigadier General William C.

Doyle (NJARRG), Chairman of the Legion's drive.

Huggard pointed out that contributions continue to reach Legion Headquarters at Trenton in large and small amounts, including monies collected by Legionnaires who have solicited funds on the streets, in shopping centers, and from New Jersey industries.

In addition to Community-Bus Lines of Clifton, N.J., who donated the entire receipts, including their drivers' wages, derived from transporting protestors of government policy in Viet Nam to Washington, D.C. on November 27th, numerous important donations have been made by:

Gillette Razor Company; Borden Milk Company; Oneda Motor Freight; Everett Wadley Co., Richmond, Va.; Rudi Di Signis of Englewood; Campbell-Soup Co., Camden, and others. Many companies and industries, such as Prudential Insurance Co., Newark; General Motors and General Electric Co., Trenton; and the N. J. Turnpike Authority, have endorsed solicitation by their employees for the drive, resulting in amounts from $10 to $1,000 being turned in from such collections.

With the exception of its annual street sale of poppies, "this is the first time the Legion has appealed to the public for financial support of any of its programs," said Huggard. "The magnificent response of New Jersey citizens, companies and industries proves conclusively to us," continued Huggard, "that an overwhelming majority of our people support our government's policy in Southeast Asia and stand solidly behind our fighting men wherever they defend freedom."

31 Women To Visit Air Defense Bases

Thirty-one women in New Jersey government, scholastic, civic and business activities including three from this area, will be guests of Maj. Gen.

James F. Cantwell, the chief of staff of New Jersey, on a tour of U.S. Army Air Defense installations.

Dubbed "Operation Understanding," the purpose of the tour is to acquaint community leaders with the purpose and accomplishments of Army Air Defense measures, and the role played by the National Guard in air defense.

Education Plan To Be Discussed

"A Plan for the Education of Brain Injured Adolescents" will be discussed at a meeting of the Essex-Union Section of the New Jersey Association for Brain Injured Children, to be held on Tuesday at 7:15 p.m. at the Taylor Park Recreation House, Millburn.

Participating in the program will be Arthur Side, principal of the Technical and Trade Training Center in Westbury, N.Y.; Edgar Crothers, assistant director of Nassau County Vocational Board; and Silver W. Casbarra, principal of the Services-Occupation School, Syosset, N.Y., which offers training in a variety of service-occupation trades plus an academic program.

The New Jersey Association for Brain Injured Children is an organization of professionals and parents interested in establishing private and public facilities for research on and education of the perceptually handicapped child. The association's office is at 61 Lincoln st., East Orange.

Since Nike missile sites are common landmarks and their purpose is sometimes misunderstood, area citizens are given a first hand look at Nike training and operations.

Departing from McGuire Air Force Base Tuesday, the tour party travels in a New Jersey Air National Guard C-121 aircraft. They pay all expenses except travel which is furnished by the government.

The party will tour Fort Bliss, Texas, on Wednesday, where they will be given a series of briefings and demonstrations of Army air defense operations and equipment. A highlight of the day's activities will be a visit to McGregor Range in nearby New Mexico to witness actual missile firings.

Today, the group will go to White Sands Missile Range in New Mexico to visit the Nuclear Effects Laboratory, and then will fly to Colorado Springs, Colorado. There, on Friday, they will visit and tour the North American Air Defense Command headquarters (NORAD), including the Combat Operations Center. While at Colorado Springs, they may also visit the U.S. Air Force Academy. The return to New Jersey will be on Saturday.

The following area residents will participate in the tour: State Sen. Mildred Barry Hughes, Morris ave., Union; Dr. Marie A. Sema, coordinator of the state Emergency Health Services and a resident of 1408 N. Stiles st., Linden; and Miss June Strelecki, director of the Division of Motor Vehicles and a resident of 2 Berkeley ter., Irvington.

Area Group To-Hear Talk On 'Your Voice'

Mrs. Myra Trinkler of Union will preside at a meeting of the Northern New Jersey Chapter of Dysautonomia, a disease of the autonomic nervous system, at Bet Yelod Center in Newark this evening.

Mrs. Trinkler, president of the chapter, announced that the show sponsored by the chapter as a fund-raising project will be open at 8 p.m. with Christmas and Chanukah items on display. A program on "You and Your Voice" will be presented by a representative of the Bell Telephone Company. Mrs. Lenore Baer of Newark, program chairman, will be in charge.

The meetings of the organization are open to the public, Mrs. Trinkler said.

Attention New Housewives: Shop To Save Money, Time

Ed.D.
Senior County Home Economist
By MARY W. ARMSTRONG.
Having the prefix "Mrs." attached to your name brings many new and varied responsibilities. Not the least of these is food shopping and preparation.

One June bride recently wrote thanking an aunt for the gift of a cook book. "The way to a man's heart is definitely through his stomach and like (her husband) is no exception."
New housewives often learn by trial and error at some unnecessary cost in money and emotional stress. The past example of mothers, in some cases, provide essential know-how. Too often, however, the job held by the bride-to-be, to say nothing of her clothes, wedding plans and just-having-fun, occupy most of her time and thoughts before marriage.

Unfortunately, it takes a lot of experience to make the proper food selections in the market, especially of fresh produce. There are no set rules or easy-to-learn instructions for the uninitiated. But shopping for fruits and vegetables can be fun, especially in the summertime.

In buying fresh fruits and vegetables, the customer should always ask herself "Is this the best for me and for what I want to use it?" If not, it is not a good buy no matter how cheap it is. Generally speaking, the excessive waste in preparation and inferior-taste of wilted, immature, overripe or deteriorated products make the best quality actually your best buy.

For example, bananas may sell for only five cents a pound, but if they aren't eaten within a day or two, they aren't worth anything.
A low price, however, might mean that there is a lot of this item available. Look for items in season and for fruits and vegetables that are grown locally. With no shipping charges, these should be less expensive.
But don't buy more than what is needed—or more than can be stored. A waste of food is also a waste of money.
Union County is well situated in regard to produce supplies because of the availability of fruits and vegetables grown in the Garden State. South Jersey products, which are ready for the market one to two days ear-

Cherry Nut Round Bread Good Eating At Christmas

By ANNE L. SHEELEN
County Home Economist
Time-saving to mix and convenient to bake is the theme for this festive Cherry-Nut Round Bread.

Taking advantage of your electric mixer and the recently introduced instant blending flour results in a delightful Christmas bread that takes only about one minute to beat.

Convenience in baking results from using emptied No. 303 cans, rather than a traditional bread pan. Using this method, the bread will be evenly shaped with attractive round slices when it is cut.

Serve this bread as a glamorous touch to holiday meals and entertaining. It can also be attractively wrapped and given as a gift to the person who has everything.

Your freezer can also come to your rescue with the preparation of this bread if you anticipate a heavy schedule right before the holidays. Simply prepare and bake the bread as it is stated in the recipe, cool it thoroughly, and securely wrap it in freezer wrap.

can for freezing—but you will have to loosen the sides of the cake with a thin knife when you remove it from the can after it is frozen.

Cherry Nut Round Bread
2 cups instant blending flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening
3/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup drained maraschino cherries
2 eggs
1 cup buttermilk or sour milk
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 cup chopped nuts

Grease three No. 303 cans. In large mixer bowl, combine all ingredients except nuts and cherries. Blend 20 seconds at lowest speed of mixer. Beat 1 minute at low speed. Stir in nuts and cherries. Spoon into cans. Bake at 350 degree F. for 40 to 45 minutes. Cool 10 minutes.

Remove from cans. Cool on wire rack. If you like, frost with confectioners sugar glaze and decorate with nuts and cherries. Yield: Three round loaves.

Sewing Holiday Outfits Can Give Satisfaction

Special occasions call for festive outfits. Fashion sewers can fashion elegant outfits from lace, velvet, or brocades at a minimum of cost and maximum satisfaction. Mrs. Carolyn F. Yukus, county home economist.

The first step for any elegant fabric is to select only the simplest of patterns with few construction details in the design. Both lace and brocade require matching the design so a little extra time is required in cutting out the pattern. All three fabrics, mentioned above, have a one-way direction, and all pattern pieces must be laid in the same direction to prevent sliding.

Velvet has the most noticeable direction in its nap. If the pattern is cut with the nap running up toward the face, the true color will be evident. If the nap is reversed, the color will have a grayed appearance.

For lace fabrics an underlining, lining, or slip, must be considered as part of the total outfit. Of the three possible additional materials to use—under lace, an underlining is perhaps the best. This technique requires that the major pattern pieces be also cut from taffeta or other suitable underlining material.

Matching pieces of underlining and lace are stay-stitched together and treated as one piece of fabric. This eliminates the problem of seam finishes that will show through the lace.

The facings for lace can be of tulle to avoid distorting the lace design in the collar or down the front opening. While facings for velvet or heavy brocade should be of a lighter weight material, such as taffeta, to avoid excessive bulk.

Machine made buttonholes are perhaps the easiest—and most successful—for any of these materials. Although closures of snaps or loops may be considered for a dressier look.

Velvet may pose some problems in stitching. Test stitch a double thickness of a scrap of material first to make certain the stitching line will not look puckered. Hold the stitching line slightly taut as you stitch to improve the appearance.

Berlin Academy Friends Organize

Rabbi Benjamin Finkelshteyn, Rabbi David Freedman, and Rabbi Leon Yagod, all of Irvington, are serving on the newly formed North Jersey Friends of the Rabbi Chaim Berlin Rabbinical Academy. It was announced yesterday by Rabbi Louis Waller, of Newark, general chairman.

Also serving on the organization are five laymen active in Orthodox religious endeavor, David Lechter, Irving Alper and Max Orenberg, of Irvington; and Herbert Lewis and Jay Blingot, of Union. Lechter is one of the lay co-chairmen of the Friends.

The Academy, which was named for a noted Orthodox spiritual leader and scholar, originally was established in Manhattan nearly six decades ago. Several years ago it was relocated at Far-Rockaway, N.Y. In addition to a seminary for training of Orthodox rabbis, it also maintains a Jewish day school, a four-year high school and a department of post-graduate studies. It has a total enrollment of more than 1,000 pupils and students.

The North Jersey Friends, who comprise laymen and rabbis interested in Jewish education, will seek to aid the Academy through scholarship funds and other media.

Hospital To Give Review Course

Newark Beth Israel Hospital will participate in a new state-wide program designed to solve the nursing shortage by giving a special free refresher course for inactive graduate professional nurses at the beginning of the new year.

The course will start Jan. 24 and will continue for eight weeks on Mondays, Tuesdays and Fridays from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

This state-wide program of nursing recruitment announced by Governor Richard J. Hughes is being conducted with a $300,000 federal grant under the Manpower Development and Training Act. Newark Beth Israel will receive a proportionate share of the grant, along with other participating hospitals.

There are 4,320 job vacancies for registered nurses in hospitals and related facilities, according to New Jersey Hospital Association estimates. With Medicare going into effect shortly and continued population growth, even more nurses will be needed, Association officials said.

Memorial Program Scheduled At Hospital

Babies Unit of United Hospitals at 15 Roselle ave., Newark, will hold an open house this Sunday, noon to 2 p.m., to describe a new program—"Journey To Health through Recreation"—planned as a memorial to Dr. J. Herbert Rabinowitz, Newark pediatrician who died in 1963.

The project will include supervised group play, individual play therapy for bedridden youngsters, movies, parties and a daily "mail service." The project also may include a recreation director, additional equipment, toys and supplies, a spokesman said.

Area Performances Planned For January

The New Jersey Symphony and the Metropolitan Opera National Company have scheduled performances in the area for January.

The Symphony, under the direction of Kenneth Schermerhorn, will give concerts in the high schools in Millburn and Montclair on Jan. 19 and 22.

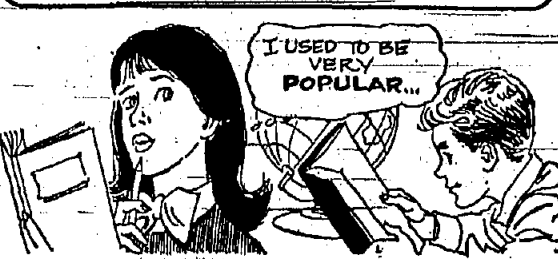

Four students matinees will be included in the week of performances to be given by the Metropolitan Opera National Company at Symphony in Newark from Jan. 4 to 8. New Jersey singers appearing with the troupe are Ellen Berse, mezzo soprano from Westfield, and Vern Shinnal, baritone from Fort Lee.

LAFF OF THE WEEK

"Hey, pop—how about giving me a boxing lesson . . . or, skip it!"

For And About Teenagers

THIS WEEK'S LETTER: "I am a very worried girl. I am in the eighth grade and go to a small school. I have always been considered a pretty cute girl. I used to be very popular and could get any boy I wanted, but something has happened! I am hardly popular any more. What could I have done? Tell me what to do! Do you think boys like girls who walk right up to them and start talking? One girl does that and she seems to be pretty popular. I'm stumped!"

OUR REPLY: There is nothing wrong with a girl walking up to a boy and starting a conversation—if she knows the boy and she has something to say. What she talks about is important, because she will appear foolish if she has nothing on her mind but a lot of nonsense.

You should be able to determine for yourself why your popularity sagged. Did you become too sure of yourself? Were you hangy? Do you treat everyone you meet with condescension? Are you friendly to everyone—or do you speak only when you feel like it?

All things being equal, the most popular girl is the one who is friendly and pleasant. Rate yourself.

Counselors Plan Area Interviews

Admissions counselors will interview applicants in Newark, on Dec. 13 and 14. High school seniors and juniors may make appointments with admissions officers from one or more of the colleges.

In recent years, individuals and groups of students from both public and private schools have traveled great distances to take advantage of this opportunity for interviews, college officials said.

Parents and guidance directors may also interview as many admissions counselors as they wish. The colleges included in this cooperative plan cover a wide area of the country—Arkansas, California, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Mexico, North Carolina, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Texas, Vermont, Virginia, and Wisconsin.

This plan enables prospective applicants to learn more about colleges, universities and technical schools from various parts of the country. Small, medium-sized, and large colleges are represented.

State Highway Department Ready For Winter's Snow

The New Jersey State Highway Department has issued a report outlining its plans for keeping its 2,000 miles of highway clear of snow and ice during the coming winter.

Snow plows are ready; rock salt, calcium chloride, sand and other abrasives are stockpiled; state highway snow-removal crews are set and prepared for the first storm, the report said.

Call 245-8500

A Highway Department spokesman said that overall control of snow-removal activities is accomplished through the Department's network of 425 two-way mobile radios and 10 base radio stations. The "command post" for state-wide operations is located in the Department's Trenton headquarters.

The Department's snow-fighting plan goes into action when advance warning of threatening weather conditions is received at Trenton headquarters. These warnings, provided by the federal weather bureau and a private weather service, alert the snow control staff and keep it informed of changing weather conditions, the spokesman said.

Approximately 2,000 pieces of mechanical snow-and-ice-removal equipment, and about 2,000 men are on standby alert. This includes more than 600 privately owned trucks, loaders and graders fully manned, hired only when needed by the Highway Department to supplement its own forces in an emergency or severe storm, he said.

Stockpiles of salt and abrasives, located strategically throughout the State, have been brought up to adequate levels, based on the experience of past winters.

For this winter, the stockpile includes 27,000 tons of rock salt, 48,000 cubic yards of abrasives including sand, cinders, stone grits, and crushed slag and 6,000 tons of calcium chloride, the report said.

The rock salt will be spread to melt the ice and snow, the abrasives will provide traction and the calcium will keep the stockpiles from freezing solid.

This year the Department purchased 25 heavy-duty snow plows, 25 tailgate spreaders, and 10 spreader bodies, bringing the total to nearly 1,200 pieces of snow-removal equipment ready to roll—and keep the 6,100 lane miles of State Highway System clear this winter.

In addition, snow crews have erected more than 250 miles of snow fence at strategic locations to prevent or minimize drifting. Until the season closes, the Department's Landscape Section continues to plant shrubbery as living snow fence.

According to the spokesman, even with all this, the snow crews' big problem is not snow and ice, but the unthinking driver who is unprepared for snow storms and unprepared about proper driving techniques. He identified this type of driver as the one who runs out of gas during a snow storm, skids or stalls on highways and ramps, or drives in the wrong direction in a selfish attempt to avoid his own delay.

Every motorist can help reduce driving hazards at this time of year, the spokesman noted, by driving with extra caution and caution and courtesy, and by having his vehicle functioning properly and equipped for emergencies.

The Department has distributed more than 200,000 copies of "Year Round Driving Hints," a pamphlet which explains many safety precautions to be observed.

for safe operation of a motor vehicle, and what equipment should be kept in the vehicle for emergency use. This folder is available free by writing the New Jersey State Highway Department in Trenton.

In general, the Department advises motorists always to give snow plows and other snow-removal equipment the right of way; put chains, snow tires, or stud tires (authorized for use on

Returns On 'Fox' After Deployment

USS DOUGLAS H. FOX—Interior Communications Technician First Class John Mueller, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Mueller of 1028 Drake ave., Roselle, has returned to Norfolk, Va., after a five-month deployment to the Mediterranean and the Persian Gulf aboard the destroyer USS Douglas H. Fox.

While operating with the U.S. Sixth Fleet's Middle East Force, the destroyer participated in the evacuation patrol off the coast of Pakistan during the recent crisis there.

During the deployment, he visited ports in Italy, Spain, Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Mallorca.

highways from Nov. 1 to April 15), on rear wheels, to avoid getting stuck in snow; take curves and corners with caution; maintain a safe, even speed; avoid accelerating or braking rapidly, and eliminate "tailgating" by driving well behind vehicles ahead.

Emergency equipment should include tire chains, sand, a shovel and flares kept in the car trunk; non-perishable food and a flashlight in the glove compartment or console, and a blanket for warmth when in a traffic tie-up, instead of keeping the motor and heater running.

DEEP-SEA cameras have solved the mystery of strange animal burrows and tracks that appear on many photographs of the Pacific ocean floor. The animal responsible for the tracks is a "giant" enteropneust or scorpion worm, Columbia University reports.

WHISTLING SWANS, Canada geese, snow geese, mallard ducks, pintail ducks and the double-breasted cormorant are unlikely villains, but the Federal Aviation Agency has warned pilots to be particularly alert for these and other migratory waterfowl during the spring and fall.

Because of their size, large population and their habit of flying in dense flocks, they are a hazard to aircraft. The FAA urged pilots not to fly directly below migrating flocks because they tend to dive when approached by planes.

Candlelight Service Set At Springfield Methodist

A Christmas candlelight service will be held Tuesday night at the Springfield Emmanuel Methodist Church.

The service, to begin at 8 p.m., is being sponsored by the Women's Mission Circle of the church.

Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Wilma Schonack, Evelyn Schonack, Mrs. Irene Kirchner and Mrs. Lydia Schneider.

All Springfield women are invited to attend, the group stated.

The church's Women's Society for Christian Service will meet earlier in the day at noon for its annual covered dish luncheon.

In charge of the worship service preceding the luncheon will be Mrs. Lydia Schneider. Hostesses will be Mrs. Nina Hayward, Mrs. Lillie Pennington, Mrs. Blanche Chisholm, Mrs. Elizabeth Poppy, Mrs. Lillian Babbitt, Mrs. Clara Schreiber and Mrs. Lydia Schneider.

MEMBERS TO SEE DEMONSTRATION OF FACE MAKE-UP

The Suburban Deborah League of Deborah Hospital will hold its regular meeting one week early, next Tuesday at 8:30 p.m., at Temple Beth Ahm in Springfield. It was announced by Mrs. Robert Feld of 40 Newbrook lane, League president.

The program vice-president, Mrs. Robert Ramus, has arranged for a presentation entitled "Clair's Total Look in Beauty." Featured will be two consultants of the Clair Company, who will demonstrate a new concept in face make-up on three League ladies: Myrna Miller, Joan Corey and Alice Blake, all of Springfield. A question and answer period will follow.

EDITH J. BELL

BETROTHAL TOLD OF EDITH J. BELL, REGIONAL SENIOR

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander L. Bell of 146 Linden ave., Springfield, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Edith Joyce, to Dennis K. Lawson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Douglas Lawson of 65 Springbrook rd., also in Springfield. Miss Bell will be graduated in June from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School. Her fiance, an alumnus of Dayton Regional, is a senior at Gettysburg College, Gettysburg, Pa. He is majoring in music and is a member of Theta Chi fraternity.

Hospital Gifts On Display As Club Holds Yule Party

One hundred and thirteen members and guests attended the Christmas party of the Foothill Club held recently in the Mountaineer Inn.

Entertainment was provided by Mrs. Marie Shepard, lyric soprano and concert comedienne. Over 80 Christmas gifts, selected and wrapped by club members for patients in the John R. Rannels Hospital, were on display. Mrs. Richard Kapke and Mrs. Thomas Morris will deliver the presents to the hospital.

Christmas decorations and individual corsages for board members and hostesses were made by a committee headed by Mrs. Rap Kapke.

Five new members, Mrs. Edgar Morrison, Mrs. Leslie Personette, Mrs. Thomas Root, Mrs. G. W. Simpson and Mrs. V. A. Verra, were introduced by the membership chairman, Mrs. Fred Schoemer.

The ways and means chairman, Mrs. Albert Eisenauer, urged members to keep open the dates of Feb. 15, when the club will hold a card party, and April 23, the evening of the dinner-dance.

Mrs. Donald Langmann, social activities chairman, announced that tentative plans have been made to hold a mystery bus ride in the spring. She also urged members to participate in the various social activities included in the club program.

Herbert Buchalter, a registered pharmacist from West Orange, will speak on "Drug Abuse" at the Jan. 6 meeting of the club. The program is being sponsored by Mrs. Leo Palumbo.

The president, Mrs. John Suski, gave holiday greetings to all present.

WOMEN'S GROUP SERVES AS HOST

The Springfield Women's Club was host recently to 10 presidents and their guests from the Seventh District. They were welcomed by Mrs. Charles E. Miller, local president.

Name tag cards with Christmas motifs, made by Mrs. Robert Buffington were presented to the presidents. Table decorations of fresh flowers and greens were arranged by Mrs. Fred Mercuro, Garden Department Chairman.

Monologues, sketches and songs in the holiday mood, entitled "A Holiday Package," were presented by Phyllis Finston.

Notice On Engravings For Social Pictures

This newspaper does not maintain its own engraving plant and finds it necessary to charge a fee for engravings of photographs to appear with wedding and engagement stories. There is no charge for stories; they will be published whether or not a photograph is desired.

An engagement engraving, always one column in width, will cost $3. The fee for wedding engravings will be $3 for one column or $5 for two columns.

Evening Group At Church Plans Christmas Chorale

Musical selections by a group of students at Madison High School, under the direction of John H. Bunnell, will highlight the December meeting of the Evening Group of the First Presbyterian Church, Springfield.

Bunnell is music director for the local church, as well as director of the music department of Madison High School. The group of students who will perform have all taken lead parts in the various musical productions held at the Madison school. They will present a program of sacred and secular advent and Christmas music.

Traditional Scripture readings and carol singing will add to the seasonal tone of the meeting. In place of exchanging token gifts among themselves, the members

Women To Hold Annual Program

All church women are invited to come to the assembly room of Community Presbyterian Church next Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. for the annual Christmas meeting of the Women's Association and Church Circles.

The theme of the meeting, "The Meaning of Christmas," will be carried out in story, carols and readings. Music will be directed by Mrs. Arthur Olson, with her autoharp, and Mrs. Eleanor Hechtle, piano accompanist. Mrs. Walter Young, will lead the devotions. Mrs. Ray Myers is chairman of the program.

New officers will be installed by the pastor, Rev. Elmer Talcott. Mrs. Robert Kubli will conduct the business meeting. The tea table will be arranged by Mrs. Henry Langbein's circle. Each person attending is asked to bring 10 of her favorite Christmas cookies and the recipe for each one.

Once-Upon-A-Time Players To Offer Annual Winter Vacation Stage Show

The Once-Upon-A-Time Players of the Greater Westfield Section, National Council of Jewish Women, will present their annual winter holiday show at the Grant School, Westfield, on Monday, Dec. 27, at 11 a.m. and 1 and 2:45 p.m.

Each show will consist of two short plays, "The Washub" and "Old Pipes and the Dryad," as well as a program of folk songs, it was announced by the chairman of the players, Mrs. Lawrence Krasoff of Mountaineer.

"The Washub" is a medieval French farce about a henpecked husband who regains his rightful place in the household with the aid of a washub, a players' spokesman explained.

"Old Pipes and the Dryad" features a dead old man and his mother, a group of children and a woodland nymph. Mrs. Stanley Corwin of Westfield will present the medley of folk songs.

Mrs. Stan West of Westfield, ticket chairman, announced that tickets are now on sale, with special rates for children's organizations and party groups. Area ticket chairmen include Mrs. Nathan Trynin of Mountaineer, AD3-4952, and Mrs. Lewis Morris of Springfield, DR8-6179.

WORKSHOP PLANS A FASHION SHOW

Teen Time Workshop this week announced plans for a fashion show Saturday at 2 p.m. at St. Rose of LIme Church, Short Hills. Girls from the area will model clothes by Bobbie Brooks.

Gifts and door prizes are in store, it was announced. Admission is free, but donations will be sought for the international Teen Care program.

The cast includes Mrs. Harold Ackerman, Mrs. Charles Herz, Mrs. Joseph Indick and Mrs. Jack Usdin of Springfield, and Mrs. Lawrence Krasoff, Mrs. Melvin Liberman and Mrs. Abe Suckno of Mountaineer.

The players have entertained more than 2,000 children in schools, hospitals and institutions over the past six years. Other activities of the Council Section have included Youth Employment Service, the Westfield Community Center and baby-sitting courses for teenagers, including one given recently in Springfield.

Overheard

BY EFFIE

My neighbor remarked, "I always think November is sort of a drab month—after the beautiful foliage in October. The one thing that seems to add a bit of color to the rural landscape are the pumpkins either in the field or on the road-side stands. Now that Halloween and Thanksgiving are over we'll miss that." To which her listener added: "You forget the traffic cops and their orange gloves!"

The following conversation was overheard in a bus. One woman said, "Do you know, I usually had a break this Thanksgiving. First time in years that I hadn't a big dinner to cook. At the last moment sickness prevented my family from coming. So George and I went out." To which her companion replied, "It usually falls my lot to have our gang here. But one of the couples had a wedding to attend and the other two couples had tickets for a football game in a distant city. So instead of spending hours in the kitchen, Hal and I used the time very profitably — we addressed nearly all our Christmas cards."

Some folks think that the commercial "There's nothing like a Lark" should have a few qualifications—for instance: "If one doesn't squander the pay check." "If one doesn't get drunk." "If one can still drive sanely." "If one gets home before friend wife is annoyed." (And others equally apropos.)

Tips for TODAY'S HOMEMAKER

From MARY ARMSTRONG, County Home Economist

SERVE VEAL FOR VARIETY

Veal offers meat variety as well as good eating. Ofttimes it is overlooked. This year, with veal supplies more plentiful than last, is a good time to treat your family to a tasty veal dish.

What veal dishes might you serve? Veal Scallopini is currently popular and delicious. But this dish calls for cutlets, one of the more expensive choices. Veal hamburgers are liked by many. These are served more frequently in Australia and other countries. Veal Pie and Veal Goulash are flavorful, hearty dishes for cold weather. For both you can purchase either shoulder or shank. Veal chops from either the loin or shoulder make very good eating. Stuffed breast of veal uses one of the least expensive cuts when price per pound is considered. But veal breast contains a high proportion of bone and waste.

Four types of veal roasts are prevalent locally.

Several different cuts aside from breast of veal are available for veal roasts. Most local markets offer leg, rump, and boned and rolled shoulder veal roasts.

The boned and rolled shoulder is easy to carve but may contain numerous seams that cause the cooked meat to "separate" into pieces after slicing. The leg roast is a meaty piece containing only a small round bone. Usually sold with bone in, this roast may at times be offered boned and rolled. Rolled leg roast has less tendency to "separate" on carving than the rolled shoulder roast. The shoulder contains more bone than the leg and so must be cut more to remove the bone before the meat is rolled into a roast.

The rump contains more bone than the leg. In some stores rump is marketed attached to the leg, but in others the rump and leg are sold separately.

Veal breast contains a high proportion of bone. To form a pocket for stuffing, you may cut the roast between the bone and outer covering or ask the butcher to do this for you.

At current prices, veal roasts vary from slightly over 20 cents to slightly over 30 cents per serving, very few fresh meals cost less than 20 cents per serving. These costs are determined by dividing the retail price per pound for each type of roast by the number of servings of cooked lean meat provided by each pound as purchased. The breast of veal for example contains considerable bone and yields only two servings per pound, while the boneless shoulder roast yield 3½ servings per pound. This means that you could pay three fourths more per pound for boned shoulder than for veal breast, bone in, and the cost per serving of the two roasts would still be similar.

Leg roast, bone in, yields about 2½ servings per pound and is currently a more expensive choice than either the breast or shoulder.

Deadline Announced For Coast Guard OCS

Dec. 24 is the deadline for application from college seniors and graduate students for the U. S. Coast Guard Officer Candidate School at Yorktown, Va. The class begins on Feb. 13.

Coast Guard officials said qualification tests will be given at several locations, including the Third Coast Guard District, U. S. Customhouse, New York, N.Y.

ONE MILLION BLIND

"Although there are over 355,000 totally blind people in the United States, if the term 'legally blind' is applied, which means the inability to read news print with the aid of glasses, then the number of blind persons would be closer to a million," so says M. Robert Barnett, Executive Director, American Foundation for the Blind.

HOLIDAY DEADLINES

In order to have news published in time for the Christmas and New Year holidays, particularly careful adherence to this newspaper's Friday deadline is advised for the issues of Dec. 23 and Dec. 24. All organizational and special news items should be submitted by Dec. 17 for the issue of Dec. 23 and by Dec. 24 for the issue of Dec. 30.

SNOW TIPS

Snow shovelling is strenuous—can be dangerous to your heart. Shovelling ten loads of fluffy snow a minute equals walking five flights of stairs in the same time. Shovelling wet snow takes as much effort as climbing to the seventh floor in a minute. If you're pushing 40, play it safe, hand that shovel to the boy down the block.

trophies for Christmas from our big game hunter

Hahne & Company's Santa has bagged the greatest, wildest ideas for the grand adventure of Christmas! He trapped a fierce tiger's stripes on a fur-ish bedspread

... chased leopard and pony-spots on a wild toss of pillows ... caught a raccoon a cuddle-up coat ... unearthed an ostrich and made a handbag ... wrestled a crocodile for a pattern on boots ... wrapped an umbrella in a lizard's style ... saw a fox for a big, fluffy bonnet ... took a mink's pretty tail for the cuff of a glove ... even met the wiles of a tigress in perfume! Feel adventurous? Like a safari?

Come see what our big game hunter has bagged for you—and everyone on your gift list!

Junior Auxiliary Unit Lists Hospital Work On Agenda

The Junior Auxiliary members of the American Legion Auxiliary, Connecticut Farms Unit No. 35, Union, are actively engaged in volunteer hospital work this season, participating in unit projects and County Junior activities programs.

Mrs. Robert Wacker, junior activities chairman has reported that the members conducted their semi-monthly meeting at her home, 634 Colfax ave., Kenilworth, Friday evening. The group conducted a mass cookie-baking project, for cookies to be donated to the Senior Auxiliary for the unit's Christmas party, Tuesday.

The girls have collected 896 assorted coupons for the unit, 72 pairs of discarded nylon and nine pairs of eye glasses for various hospital projects. They donated canned goods toward the Thanksgiving Dinner basket and for the Christmas basket (to be delivered to a needy family).

Junior activities chairman Miss Eileen Walsh, and junior activities vice-chairman Miss Lynn Walck, each served 12 hours of voluntary duty at the East Orange Veterans Hospital during the month of November. Miss Walck also participated in the Veteran's Day parade in Elizabeth.

The Juniors are currently taking part in the Junior activities county program, making articles to be donated to the East Orange V.A. Hospital.

The Connecticut Farms Juniors will join other groups from the county to attend the Union County Junior Activities meeting and Christmas party tomorrow at the American Legion Railway Post Home, Mrs. Robert Gargulio, county chairman, Mrs. Robert Wacker, the unit's junior activities chairman and Mrs. Calvin Walck, county auxiliary president, will accompany the juniors to the meeting.

It was announced that the club erroneously stated in a previous news release that Junior Activities treasurer Miss Laura Wacker was the recipient of a second prize winner ribbon for her stuffed "Raggedy-Ann doll" in the department of New Jersey's rally, Nov. 13 in Flemington. Miss Wacker actually won the Blue Ribbon award for a first prize entry. She also was the recipient of a gift from the department. The stuffed toys were distributed to children's hospitals.

Residents Asked: Join Fight On TB

With less than three weeks remaining until Christmas, Robert M. Crane of Cranford, treasurer of the Union County Tuberculosis and Health League, this week issued two reminders to all Union County residents.

The first is to use Christmas Seals on all letters and packages and in holiday gift and home decorations to help carry the message that the fight against tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases can be won by the concerted effort of many people. The second reminder is to send a contribution to the Union County Tuberculosis and Health League so that League board of directors can plan next year's schedule of projects to advance the control of tuberculosis in Union County. The amount of work that can be carried out next year depends upon the response to the annual Christmas Seal campaign.

The Tuberculosis League this week is mailing brief reminders to people who have not answered their Christmas Seal letter, Crane said.

Edward Teifeld Attends Meeting

Edward B. Teifeld of 45 Wentz ave., Springfield, registrar of Rutgers University in Newark, was one of over 500 representatives of 280 colleges and universities from six states who attended the annual convention of the Middle States Association of Collegiate Registrars and Officers of Admission in Atlantic City last week.

The keynote address was given by Dr. Jacques Barzun, dean of faculties and provost at Columbia University, on "College Administration and Crime."

Teifeld, a graduate of the State University's College of Arts and Sciences in Newark, started working for Rutgers in 1955. He and his wife, Arline, have one daughter.

Battle Hill Post, VFW, Presents Awards To 20-Year Members

Springfield Battle Hill Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, played host to its Auxiliary members at a recent cocktail party held at the Guy Bosworth Post, American Legion, in Millburn.

Post members presented their guests of honor, Mrs. George M. Briggs and Mrs. Charles Phillips, with bouquets of flowers. The two honored guests are not only senior members but also charter members of the unit.

During the course of the afternoon, Commander Frank G. Reitel presented special pins for continued membership in the post, as follows:

20-year membership: Howard F. Casselman, Wesley C. Eick, Harry M. Farb, George W. Lancaster, Charles E. Miller, Joseph L. O'Neill, William B. O'Neill, Stephen B. Schmidt, Edward A.

Cardinal, Rudyard C. Jennings, and Sam C. DeFino.

15-year membership: Clarence E. Buckley Jr., John Link, Robert M. Maloney and William H. Woodside.

10-year membership: Dominick Casternovia, Robert M. Dickerson, Herbert R. Day, Edward J. Garvey, George T. Janisko, Martin C. Kepperson, Michael A. Pacifico, William J. McAuliffe, Charles E. Morrison, James D. Pelio, Werner H. Reilman, Max W. Schwarz, Homer J. Wright and John E. Wentz Jr.

The Auxiliary president, Mrs. June DeFino, advised that the next Auxiliary meeting was to be held yesterday at the home of Mrs. Rose Miller, 112 Meisel ave., Springfield, at which time Mrs. Margaret Richards, Fifth District President, was to make an official visit.

Mrs. DeFino also said that she had received applications for membership in the Auxiliary from Mrs. Roland Adams, Mrs. Dominick Casternovia, Mrs. Frank G. Rebel and Mrs. Stanley Wisniewski.

Commander Rebel also announced that the post now has its first Viet Nam Veteran in its membership ranks, as of November, 1965. He is, John Buckley of 6 Rosedale ave., Millburn.

Realtors To Hold '65 Holiday Party

Betty Timbers, an agent with Anne Sylvester's Realty Corner in Springfield, is assisting with plans for the annual holiday party sponsored by the sales division of the Board of Realtors of the Oranges and Maplewood, Livingston, Millburn, Short Hills and Springfield.

The party will be held Tuesday night at Mayfair Farms in West Orange, with cocktails at 7 and a dinner-dance at 8.

The party is expected to attract more than 150 suburban real estate salesmen and women. Honored guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus, distributing small gifts donated by broker members of the board and by business associates.

Acting as Santa will be William E. Williams Jr. of Short Hills, an associate of George A. Allgepp Inc. of Millburn and president-elect of the sales division. His "spouse" for the night will be Marie Klebaur of Maplewood, who is with Louis D. Stratton of Maplewood.

FAMILY LIFE TODAY

CHRISTMAS CHEER

In the midst of the Christmas rush, we often overlook the real importance of Christmas as a family celebration. This is the season to continue family tradition or begin to build patterns we will remember and cherish.

Some families hang a wreath on the door, give each other a present, eat a turkey dinner, and call it a day. What kind of memories will these occasions leave?

A Christmas to remember begins long before Christmas Day: All members of the family have a share in the planning. Each person prepares little surprises for the others.

Trimming the tree in a special way or with treasured ornaments that have a family history are some ways to help children establish a feeling for the past.

Children can get more pleasure from preparing for Christmas than from just receiving many presents. Their own efforts and participation bring joy and satisfaction.

To look forward only to receiving presents is to lose the best that this season has to offer. Parents worn out with preparations for Christmas are often disappointed because their efforts are not appreciated. They are discontented and regard the children as selfish and inconsiderate. The youngsters need a real opportunity to participate help with decorations, presents, and special festivities.

Christmas can be a day to celebrate family traditions, which give meaning and sense of continuity.

LEGION'S LADIES

The regular meeting of Continental Unit 228 of the American Legion Auxiliary will be held this evening at 8 in the Post Home on North Trivett ave.

Christmas candy cups will be made for hospitalized veterans. Special holiday refreshments have been prepared by the hospitality chairman, Mrs. Carl Holmberg.

The unit president, Mrs. Alfred Ruiz, will preside at the meeting. The membership chairman, Mrs. Raymond Daudelin, will welcome several new members.

5 Cars Damaged In Two Collisions On Main Arteries

Five cars were damaged in two accidents at opposite ends of Springfield last Thursday morning.

The first accident occurred at 9:50 on Morris ave. in the west-bound lane. Barbara T. Gerling, 18, of 82 Troy dr., Springfield, had stopped to make a left turn into Center st. according to police records, and her car was struck from the rear by one driven by Robert T. Mitchell, 26, of East Orange.

Mitchell was taken by the First Aid Squad to Overlook Hospital, where he was released after treatment for head injuries. Both vehicles had to be towed from the scene.

The other accident took place at 10:05 on Rt. 22, near the Lido Diner. Police records showed that Margaret F. Borden, 40, of Westfield had slowed her car to avoid being cut off by an unidentified driver.

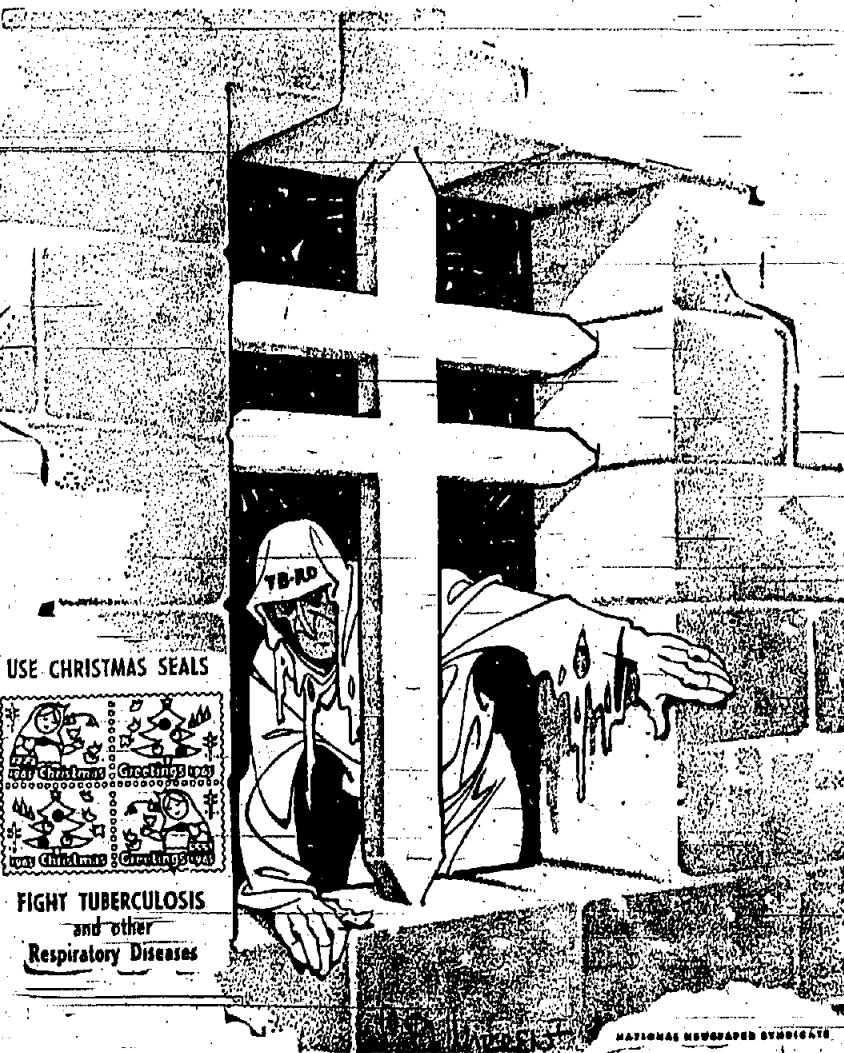

She was then hit from the rear by Jerry Appala, 45, of Bernardsville. His auto was then struck in turn by a car driven by Anna Campbell, 63, of Scotch Plains. All three cars were heavily damaged, according to police, and the Campbell vehicle was towed away.

Jones Above 600 In Bowling Action

Robert Jones tallied 212-211-608 to lead all scorers in the Springfield Municipal Bowling League last week at Springfield Bowl. Other men with games over 200 were James Funcheon, 224; Tony Truncala, 218; Matty D'Andrea, 208; Mark Conte, 204; Dave Bonhoff, 204; Vince Polcarpio, 204; Tom Pacifico, 203; and Robert Bovan, 201.

Springfield Market won twelve from league-leading Polcarpio Brothers to close in first place. Polcarpio now has a record of 23-13, with the Market team trailing by a game-and-a-half. Cardinal Garden Center, in third place, has a record of 10 1/2-16 1/2.

Hospital Schedules Free Hearing Tests

A free hearing test will be given to anyone who stops in at Saint Barnabas Medical Center during the prescribed hours from Dec. 13 to Jan. 15, it was announced this week.

Sponsored by the Medical Center's Rehabilitation Department, the brief test is designed to determine if an individual's hearing is within normal limits. If it is the recipient will receive a notice so informing him. The notice will also urge an annual hearing test.

If the test reveals abnormal hearing a notice will suggest further tests, and also urge the recipient to check with his family physician.

Dr. Lyndon A. Peer, director of rehabilitation, and Gerald D'Andrea, clinical audiologist, noted "that a hearing loss can come on a person so gradually that he may not notice it. When a hearing loss is not realized the individual may endanger his job and may find that his social contacts are proving difficult," he asserted. Dr. Peer noted that the free tests "are part of the traditional Saint Barnabas philosophy of Helping Keep Well People Well."

The hours are: Tuesday, 2-4 p.m.; Thursday, 2-4 p.m. and 5:30-8 p.m.; and Sunday 1-5 p.m.

The tests are limited to those 35 years of age or over, when hearing loss usually begins to take place.

ANOTHER REALTY CORNER sale: Property located at 10 Essex Road, Springfield sold for Mr. and Mrs. Irving Tanner to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rioux of Springfield. Mr. Rioux is Sales Manager of the Mitchell Equipment Company of Ardmore, Pennsylvania. This sale was arranged by Nancie Taylor, an associate of ANNE SYLVESTER'S REALTY CORNER.

Guild Organization Helps St. Barnabas

One hundred thousand dollars has been pledged by the Guild of Saint Barnabas Medical Center to the hyperbaric medicine and research building now under construction at the hospital in Livingston.

This was announced by Mrs. Howard Grigg, Guild president, who said that the Guild has already presented checks in the amount of $25,000 after the membership voted to dedicate their efforts in the coming three years to the total commitment of $100,000.

In accepting the pledge, Anthony Scala, president of the board, noted that Guild members have been "ardent supporters of the new Medical Center in the years when this Medical Center was only a dream, and these wonderful women contributed almost $90,000 to make the dream a reality."

Mrs. Grigg noted that the Guild is interested in hyperbaric oxygenation "because this new frontier in medicine offers so many life-saving possibilities for the thousands of families served by the Medical Center, our families included," she said.

High pressure oxygen has been found to be effective in the treatment of burns, tetanus, gas gangrene and certain forms of anemia, and it makes tumors more sensitive to radiation. The Saint Barnabas facility was planned to serve the tri-state metropolitan area, with the first patients scheduled for admission in June, 1966.

Although treatment with high pressure oxygen is well beyond the research stages, medical authorities believe that only the surface of its ultimate potential has been scratched, one reason why research facilities are being built into the structure which will house the two 46-foot long chambers.

Electric Carving Knife Will Be Demonstrated

Kay's Stationery and Hardware store, 285 Morris ave., Springfield, will host a demonstration of the Hamilton Beach electric carving knife tomorrow from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Louis Kravitz and Saul Bell, proprietors of the store, announced that the demonstration will feature Eve Gabin. The project is in conjunction with a national TV campaign for the Hamilton Beach carving knife, described as "the one with the hole in the middle."

Businesses Aid Employees To Seek A Higher Education

More and more business men are providing incentives for their employees to seek a higher education, Dr. Kenneth C. Mac-

Key, president of Union Junior College, declared in a recent report by the New Jersey College Fund Association of which Union College is a member. The association is conducting its annual fund-raising campaign from business and industry.

"One of the trends in college education today that is particularly gratifying," Dr. MacKey said, "is the increased interest of business and industry in encouraging students to go to college. This is evident in our evening session. Approximately one-third of our evening students come from corporations which in some way provide incentive for job up-grading through college attendance.

"Many of the nearby corporations provide full tuition assistance for students. In a recent evening class, the personnel director of one of New Jersey's largest corporations sat alongside a number of employees in the same corporation. They were all students together in a Union Junior-College classroom," the president said.

Union Junior College, operating at full time capacity, has 750 full time students in the Day Session, and 650 part-time students in the Evening Session. A new science classroom building, which is expected to be ready by the second term of the 1966-67 academic year, will enable the college to take from 25 to 30 percent additional students, he said.

Expert To Speak On Port Authority For Kiwanis Club

Members of the Millburn-Springfield Kiwanis Club will be briefed on the current and future development of land, sea and air facilities in the Port of New Jersey-New York at the 11:30 a.m. meeting next Thursday, Dec. 16, at Shouffer's Restaurant, the Mall, Short Hills. Carl M. Allara of the Port of New Jersey Authority will explain the Port Authority's role in developing and operating 23 terminal and transportation facilities in the port district. He will illustrate with colored slides recent advances at such facilities as Port Newark, John F. Kennedy International Airport and the George Washington Bridge. Allara will then point out the dependence of the entire bi-state port region on the flow of trade and commerce in the port. He will describe Port Authority efforts to develop trade and to protect the port district from discriminatory tariff rates and cargo handling practices. Administrative assistant in the terminals department, Allara is a graduate of the City College of New York and has completed two years of graduate work at West Virginia University. A member of the U.S. Army Reserve, he resides in Parsippany-Troy Hills. Dr. Sanford Weinger, program chairman for the Millburn-Springfield Kiwanis Club, scheduled this presentation through the Port Authority Speakers Bureau, 111 Eighth Ave., New York City.

Firemen Suspect Origin Of Flames In Highway Route

A fire of "suspicious origin," according to Springfield Fire Department records, last Thursday morning gutted a building just vacated to make way for Rt. 78. All units responded at 2:45 a.m. to an alarm received from police for the building which had housed Mendelson's Antique Shop, between Morris Ave. and Morrison rd., Deputy Chief Robert Day was in command.

He reported that the building was "blaze like crazy from the cellar to the roof." The flames were extinguished, but the structure was badly gutted. All merchandise had been removed from the building when it had been vacated the previous day.

The Highway Department had not as yet acquired title to the building, however. Fire Department records indicated that this was the latest in a series of fires of suspicious origin sweeping houses and other buildings awaiting demolition by the Highway Department.

Earlier, last Wednesday morning, all units, led by Fire Chief Ormond W. Mosker, answered a call to the home of E. W. Lublow, 404 Morris Ave.

They found a fire in the chimney leading from a wood stove in a shed at the rear of the house. The shed is used for storage and repair of antique furniture. The flames were quenched without damage to the merchandise.

In other parts of the week's work, Capt. Theodore Johnson was in charge of a rig which cleared gasoline from Morris Ave. following an accident last Thursday morning; Firemen Jerry Richelo and Raymond Rieger responded Thursday afternoon to notice that children were starting fires along Baltusrol way, and the same two firemen fixed a Highway Department kerosene light that had tipped over on Bryant Ave., also Thursday afternoon.

Dayton Graduate Enters Air Force

Gerald William Heard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Heard of 7 Alvin Ter., Springfield, recently enlisted in the Air Force and is taking basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas. Heard was graduated from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in June and enlisted in the mechanical field.

He departed from Newark Airport for Lackland A. F. B. and, upon completion of initial indoctrination, he will be assigned either directly to an Air Force base or to a technical training school.

Harry Taylor Jr. Installed As Head Of N. J. Realtors

East Orange realtor Harry A. Taylor Jr. has been installed as president of the New Jersey Association of Real Estate Boards. He was elected to the office Saturday at the group's annual convention in Atlantic City.

Taylor is the eighth member of the Board of Realtors of the Oranges and Maplewood, Livingston, Millburn, Short Hills and Springfield to head the statewide organization since its founding 47 years ago.

As president of Frank H. Taylor and Son, Inc., of East Orange, Taylor represents the third generation in his family prominent in the real estate field. His father, Harry A. Taylor Sr., is a past president and his grandfather, Frank H. Taylor, was an honorary president of the state association.

The new president-elect of the N.J.A.R.E.B. has been treasurer and vice-president of the state association and is also a former president of the Oranges and Maplewood Board and was a member of its board of trustees for 10 years. Taylor received the local board's Realtor of the Year Award in 1963, going on to win the state title in the same year.

A graduate of Colgate University, Taylor was an aircraft commander during World War II with the Army Air Force. He has been in the real estate field for over 20 years and, in addition to heading the Taylor Realty firm, is an associate of Harry A. Taylor Associates and executive vice-president and general manager of the Suburban Hotel System.

License Suspended

Postmaster Asks Readable Writing On All Addresses

One of the biggest problems postal employees face is illegible handwriting, and at Christmas time, when mail volumes skyrocket, this can become a major problem, Springfield Postmaster A. V. Del Vecchio said this week.

He added, "The use of ZIP Code by mailers does help speed up the process because often the city and state names are unreadable; the ZIP Code will direct the mail to the post office from which it will be delivered." "Clerks in that post office, being more familiar with local residents, may be able to figure out the person to whom the mail should be delivered."

Another significant problem is the number of parcels delayed or actually undelivered because of poor wrapping or packing. Postmaster Del Vecchio urged that special care be taken to see that each package is tightly stuffed and that nothing rattles around inside.

Parcels are generally shipped in bags, and often heavier items rest on top of the smaller, lighter parcels. The postmaster urged mailers to be a bit more cautious and insure all packages.

All packages should be addressed on only one side and should have the address written somewhere on the inside of the package in case the exterior

Boys Face Charges In Joy-Riding Case

One boy from Springfield and seven from Kentworth are awaiting hearings by juvenile authorities following their arrest by Springfield police Thanksgiving night on joy-riding charges. The boys range in age from 12 to 16.

According to the charge, one of the boys broke into Imporved Motors on Rt. 22 by removing glass from a window. He then opened a door to admit his friends. The boys helped themselves to various cars in the shop and scattered in all directions from 3 to 6:30 p.m. on Thanksgiving Day, the report added.

After police discovered the incident, Patrolmen John Beber, William Sedlak, Daniel Halley and Edward Kisch were busy for several hours making arrests throughout the southern part of Springfield.

One car was located on Baltusrol rd., in the Baltusrol Top area, and another was found two days later in Plainfield, where it had broken down, the police report stated. Several of the boys were apprehended as they were returning the cars to the shop, having completed their joy-ride.

Police records disclosed that several of the boys were already facing hearings on similar charges. All of them were released in custody of their parents pending hearings by juvenile authorities.

Adler Team Has Lead In Bowling

The Adler team, with a 20-7 record, held a slim lead in the Temple Beth Ahim Eisenhower, Springfield, Bowling League after last week's action at Highway Bowl. Tied for second at 18-9 were the Lippon, Popper and Blumenkrantz quintets.

Edythe Shulman, with a 114 average, bowled 184-151-438. Other leading ladies were Marilyn Greis, 160-416; Irma Rosenzthal, 414; Sue Sanders, 160-462; Shirley Straus, 400; Lois Kalesh, 157-407; Audrey Cole, 161; Frieda Pedinot, 168-435; Babe Green, 168; Bernice Kurles, 160-417; Judy Mayer, 155-429; Vicki Kayberg, 426; Millie Hodas, 156-469; Helen Neunarth, 180-453; Natash Neuman, 427; Joanne Silverstein, 171-442, and Carol Popper, 406.

Judge Will Speak At Lodge Meeting

The regular meeting of Springfield B'nai B'rith Men's Lodge will be held Monday at 8:30 p.m. at Temple Beth Ahim.

The program committee, headed by Arthur Kesselhaut, has arranged for the guest speaker to be Judge V. William DiBuono, judge of the Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court of Union County. Judge DiBuono, who is a former mayor of Hillside, will discuss court cases and juvenile problems.

This is an open meeting, with members, wives and friends invited, according to the lodge president, Sid Piller.

Verna Anderson Rolls Top Series

Verna Anderson starred with 168-167-491 in Skittles' bowling competition last week at Springfield Bowl. The Jewels retained the league lead, with a record of 23-13. The Mistiffs were second, at 21 1/2-14 1/2, and the Oldtimers were third at 19 1/2-16 1/2.

Other top scorers included Adele Colandrea, 173-168; Nancy Falcone, 171; Nancy Burghard, 171; Jeanne Keyworth, 168; Lorraine Vosburgh, 167-168; Claire Mutschler, 167; Pearl Shimschock, 158; Jackie Glassen, 154, and

Legion Post Head Will Honor Scout

Commander Ray Daudelin of Continental Post-American Legion, of Springfield with present Scout Donald Cuddeberly with his Eagle scroll tonight at Troop 70's weekly meeting at the James Caldwell School.

Members of Troop 70, which is sponsored by the Men's Club of the First Presbyterian Church spent Saturday, Nov. 27, at Camp Winnebago in Marcella, N. J., working on scout advancement and skills. The scouts went on a five-mile hike by map and compass, keeping in touch with base camp by walkie-talkie.

The troop's next week-end camping trip is planned for January.

A Holiday Extra: Do-It-Yourself Rainbow Fireplace Flames

Every now and then someone asks how to produce colored flames in a woodburning fire place. In some homes color in the fireplace is a traditional part of Christmas festivities. The county home economist points out that there's no reason, however, that the extra pleasure of watching the play of blue, green, orange or violet flames cannot be enjoyed at other holidays, too. Ready prepared products can be purchased but Austin Lentz, New Jersey forestry specialist, points out that materials for burning can be color treated at home easily and inexpensively. Also, a greater variety of different colored flames, or your choice of color, can be provided through home preparation of wood and other products.

Never use chlorates, or nitrates, or potassium permanganate. Always keep the chemicals away from children and pets. Also, be sure to mix the chemicals and treat the wood out-of-doors. Wear rubber gloves and be careful not to spill the chemicals or solutions. It's best to dissolve the chemical in a container that you can discard after using it—an empty two gallon oil jug or a cleaned out five-gallon paint can. If you must use a container you cannot discard, be sure its surface is not absorbent and that it is cleaned thoroughly before using it again. Avoid containers related to food preparation.

colorful burning in the fireplace. Another caution is to be sure the fireplace in which you burn chemically treated materials has good air drafts, so that the smoke does not come out into the room.

Any product which you can buy to produce colored flames in the fireplace depends on a chemical for the color it produces. Your home-produced material will do the same job if you follow carefully the directions given.

4 Roselle Drivers On Revoked List

ROSELLE—Four borough residents have had their driving privileges suspended, the New Jersey Division of Motor Vehicles announced this week.

Revoked under the state's excessive speed program was the license of Rose L. Kramer, 32, of I Garden dr., one month, effective Dec. 11.

Revoked under the state's point system were the licenses of: Raymond E. Wolff, 20, of 533 Washington ave., two months, effective Nov. 28; Gordon R. House, 19, of 195 Victory st., 45 days, effective Nov. 13, and Leander Fairmont, 36, of 134 E. Seventh ave., one month, effective Oct. 15.

Arthur M. Sowder, federal expansion forester, suggests using cones from evergreen trees, small blocks of wood or kindling, wood chips and sawdust, or even one-inch diameter rolls of tightly wrapped newspaper or magazines tied at both ends and soaked in chemical solutions and dried.

Different chemicals produce different colored flames: copper sulfate, green; calcium chloride, orange; copper chloride, lithium chloride, a carmine red, and potassium chloride, a purple hue.

Mix one pound of chemical to one gallon of water; use only one chemical in one batch of solution. Place the materials to be treated in a mesh or porous bag or a wire basket and submerge in the chemical solution for 24 to 48 hours. Remember to keep it away from children or pets. And dispose of it promptly after use. Let the material dry thoroughly after it has been soaked. If you put wood chips, cones or other materials to dry on spread-out newspapers, the excess chemical solution will be picked up by the newspapers. When dry, the paper can be rolled for

To List Chapin In College Book

ROSELLE — Ralph Chapin, a senior at Davis and Elkins College, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Chapin, 156 West 2nd Ave., Roselle, will be listed in the 1966 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges," according to a recent announcement.

Students are chosen on the basis of their scholastic record, their participation and leadership including intellectual and moral influence both in academic and extra-curricular activities, their record of citizenship and service to their college, and their promise of future usefulness to society.

Davis and Elkins College is a co-educational liberal arts and sciences college in Elkins, W. Va., supported cooperatively by the United Presbyterian Church and the Presbyterian Church of the United States.

Chapin, an English major, is active in the student council; campus social committee; swimming team; college choir; Student Christian Association; Student National Education Association and has been choir director, pledge master, and chaplain of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. He is past president of the sophomore class and president of the senior class. He was also elected "Mr. Senator" for this school term. He was graduated from Abraham Clark High School in 1962.

Prosecutor Lauds Police Testimony

ROSELLE — Roselle police received a pat on the back this week from County Prosecutor Leo Kaplowitz for their testimony in the murder trial of Ralph Davis, who was convicted recently of the murder of Leon Hanjian of Roselle, an Elizabeth rug dealer.

Kaplowitz lauded the police work of Deputy Chief Charles Radecki, Detective Frank Lukatis and Officers William Dixon and Frank Pogue.

He cited the importance of the Lukatis testimony in the outcome of the trial.

Grob Traveling With Miami Team

CORAL GABLES, FLA.—University of Miami's basketball team was on the road this week, meeting Santa Clara in San Jose, Calif., Tuesday; San Francisco in San Francisco today and finishing the tour Saturday against Nevada in Reno.

Charles Grob of Roselle, was to make the trip as an alternate center for Miami. The tall senior had a good opening game as he grabbed five rebounds and hit for six points in the game with University-of-Tampa.

Apparel Manufacturing Is State's Third Largest Employer, Roe Says

Apparel manufacturing is the third largest employer in the State, according to statistics issued this week by the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development.

Conservation Commissioner Robert A. Roe noted that this industrial activity has paralleled New Jersey's dynamic economic growth for over a century and there is at least one manufacturer in each of the State's counties. "The apparel industry is the chief provider of jobs in Atlantic, Ocean and Sussex counties and the second major source of employment in Cape May, Cumberland, Hudson, Monmouth and Passaic counties," Commissioner Roe added.

There are presently 2,461 establishments throughout the State which employ a total of 77,555 persons in the production of apparel and related products. Few, however, employ more than 100. These plants have an aggregate value added by manufacture of $482,275,000, placing New Jersey third nationally in this category.

"Made in New Jersey" has been identified with the apparel industry since 1790 when John B. Stetson began producing hats in the Orange Valley. Subsequently, other hatmakers established factories in Newark, Orange and Plainfield. Now there is nothing in the garment industry that the needle isn't producing in New Jersey, from overcoats to neckties and rompers to embroidery.

Isaac Merritt Singer revolutionized the apparel industry in 1873 when he founded a sewing machine plant in Elizabeth and 16 years later began turning out electric models in Elizabethport. This plant is now producing approximately 5,000 units a week.

Another significant development was the establishment of concerns in Newark for the manufacture of scissors and shears by Rochus Heisch and Jacob Wiss in 1825. These enterprises merged in 1914 as the famous Wiss and Sons and gave added impetus in the shift of garment making from the home to specialized factories.

Hudson County has long been the center of the needlework segment of New Jersey's apparel industry. Schiffli plants located in Guttenberg, West-New York, Union City and adjacent towns produce about 90 percent of the nation's embroidery and the apparel industry employs approximately 10,000 persons in this area of the State.

Paterson, the nation's first planned industrial city, has played a leading role in New Jersey's apparel industry. Today, there are about 11,000 persons employed in Passaic County and the largest concentration of handkerchief manufacturers in the United States is located around the City of Passaic.

Conservative estimates indicate that the State's apparel manufacturers produce about one-fifth of the foundation garments for American women. The Maiden-form Brassiere Company of Bayonne employs 1,500 workers and is the largest apparel employer in New Jersey.

Garment manufacturing is geared to keep abreast of style changes and its mark up is low due to the aggressive competition which characterizes this type of manufacturing. Consequently, many of today's garment makers are located in low-rent districts.

Traditionally, most workers in the apparel industry are women. Continuing growth and productivity is expected in this business through establishment of specialized manufacturing concerns in various areas of the State.

It is also apparent that New Jersey will remain a major apparel state, because of her excellent transportation facilities and unique geographic location adjacent to New York City, the greatest market and style center of the United States.

Bike For Youngster? Don't Forget Rules

Don't buy your youngster a bike this Christmas unless you also afford the time to explain carefully how he must operate, respect, and obey traffic laws governing the new vehicle, says the New Jersey Auto Club (AAA).

This Christmas over 700,000 American youngsters will receive bikes from their parents but less than ten percent will be taught properly how to ride the "bikes," according to AAA Club.

As a result, says the Auto Club, the yearly bike accident toll will not be diminished but will instead climb to over 700 killed and about 36,000 injured.

"Parents should be reminded that their responsibility to a child is not fulfilled with giving him a bike but is instead made greater," said the Auto Club.

Here in the Northeast where traffic density is so high, motorists ought to be especially alert after Christmas when the new bike riders take to the road shaky and unsure of themselves.

The AAA Club reported that there are more than 30 million bicycles in the country and that every 15 minutes a cyclist is injured.

As part of its continuing driver education program, the New Jersey Auto Club has been distributing thousands of AAA pamphlets on "bicycle riding, regulations and maintenance." These pamphlets are available through the Club's Florham Park headquarters.

1. Don't buy a bike, close to the curb.

2. Keep well back from moving cars — they may stop suddenly.

3. Be smart on left turns — drive straight across the street with the light or when no traffic is approaching; stop at the opposite corner and wait for the light to change or until it is safe; start off in the new direction — WITH THE LIGHT.

4. Walk your bicycle when crossing busy streets and intersections.

5. Be on the lookout for doors of parked cars which might open on the street side.

6. Avoid driving too fast down hill, or on rough, slippery roads — good drivers avoid skids.

7. Cross streetcar and railroad tracks fairly straight across — then your bike won't skid on the tracks.

8. Remember, under New Jersey laws, your bike is a vehicle. Drive your "bike" as you would someday drive your own car carefully!

CHRISTMAS PARTY FOR CP TOTS SET

Students at Union Junior College will present their annual Christmas party for the children at the Union County Central Palsy Center, next Thursday at 2 p. m.

The UJC students will provide a Christmas tree and gifts for all the youngsters, which will be distributed by Roger M. Shaller, of 871 Sheridan st., Union, as Santa-Claus.

James E. Kern of 164 W. Ninth ave., Roselle, is chairman for the annual party sponsored by the Day Session Student Council at Union Junior College.

EYES ON ROAD

Some of the most serious accidents are caused by drivers who take their eyes off the road for 10-seconds to light a cigarette, 20 seconds for an involuntary nap or as much as a full minute to get rid of a troublesome insect, according to Motor Club of America's Safety Department.

Holiday Deadlines

In order to have news published in time for the Christmas and New-Year's holidays, particularly careful adherence to this newspaper's Friday deadline is advised for the issues of Dec. 23 and Dec. 30.

All organizational and social news items should be submitted by Dec. 17 for the issue of Dec. 23 and by Dec. 24 for the issue of Dec. 30.

HARMONIA'S NEW RATES

EFFECTIVE JANUARY 1, 1966

NEW "HI-RATE" INVESTMENT SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

NEW "HI-RATE" REGULAR SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

NO HIGHER RATE IN THE GARDEN STATE

TO REWARD HARMONIA SAVERS WITH LONG-RANGE GOALS WHO WANT HIGHER EARNINGS, the bank introduces the INVESTMENT SAVINGS ACCOUNT effective January 1, 1966, which will give depositors 4 1/2% a year return after deposit has remained in the account for 4 full quarterly periods.

Until a deposit shall have remained in an Investment Savings Account for four full quarterly dividend periods, it earns dividends at the rate applicable to Regular Savings Accounts — 4 1/4% per annum, effective January 1, 1966 computed in the same manner. At that time the deposit will receive a special dividend — presently 1/4 of 1% per annum, for the preceding four full quarterly dividend periods. The current rate on Regular Savings Accounts, if continued through the four full quarterly dividend periods following a deposit, plus the present special rate, would therefore produce earnings at the rate of 4 1/2% per annum on the deposit for such periods.

Thereafter, the deposit will be credited quarterly with dividends at the Investment Savings Account rate declared by The Board of Managers from time to time, which will be composed of the then Regular Savings Account dividend rate, plus the additional rate then in effect.

INTEREST ON HARMONIA REGULAR SAVINGS ACCOUNTS will be at annual rate of 4 1/4% starting January 1, 1966 — compounded and paid 4 times a year on all balances of $25 to $50,000.

IT WILL PAY YOU TO OPEN AN INVESTMENT SAVINGS ACCOUNT OR ADD TO YOUR REGULAR ACCOUNT... NOW!

Remember — your Harmonia bankbook can be used at both Harmonia Offices.

The "Hi-Rate" INVESTMENT SAVINGS ACCOUNT is ideal for long-range savings goals such as a new home, a car, retirement, college education, as part of an estate-planning program, etc. Although this type of account has income advantages, it is, however, a wise thrift habit to keep some funds in a regular savings account... readily available for financial emergencies and opportunities.

LOAN ADVANTAGES

YOU CAN BORROW ON YOUR INVESTMENT SAVINGS ACCOUNT just as you can on a regular savings account. Present your bankbook and we'll arrange your loan in a matter of minutes.

START YOUR INVESTMENT SAVINGS ACCOUNT — JUST-MAIL THE COUPON

SPECIAL PASSBOOKS

Special passbooks for Investment Savings Accounts will be required, and will be issued upon an initial deposit of $1,000. Additional deposits and withdrawals may be made in multiples of $500, but dividends may be withdrawn in any amount. The balance in such an account shall be not less than $1,000 and shall not be more than $50,000, except as permitted by law. If balance drops below $1,000, account must be closed or transferred to regular savings account, in which case it would be without loss of dividend at regular rate.

Open your Investment Savings Account now by mail or at our Morris Avenue or Union Square Office. It will start earning interest at the new higher rate on January 1, 1966. Regular Savings Accounts may be transferred at any time without loss of interest.

THERAPY — Patients at John E. Rannels Hospital for Chest Diseases, Berkeley Heights, participate in occupational therapy to strengthen muscle groups ineffective due to illness or accident. Dr. Eugene Nargallo, superintendent and medical director, recently told press conference that rehabilitation of chronically ill is a most important factor in care and treatment of this type of patient. He stressed the teamwork involved between the various rehabilitation sections at the hospital.

The World Of Outer Space

From the Sperry Memorial Observatory
Union Junior College, Cranford
Amateur Astronomers, Inc.

Ninety-three million miles from earth lies the domain of a star, our star, called the sun, which affects or controls nearly every aspect of our solar system, be it the planets that hurtle at fantastic speeds around it, the steady winds and currents of the oceans of the earth, or the gossamer structure of far-away comets. It is the sustainer of life, chemists in its own right, and the prime source of energy for our system.

Yet for all its benefits and deeds, it is far from unique. It is smaller in size and mass than the average stars of our galaxy. It is less luminous, and in fact, it is classified as a dwarf, yellow in color. There is some evidence that the sun is not an independent body as previously thought, but subject to the motions of a small open cluster of stars in one of the spiral arms of our Milky Way galaxy. However, the sun is a fine example of a normal star, having a normal end and a normal beginning.

In the enormous gulf between the stars of any galaxy, there is a fair amount of gas. Although it is of a low density, perhaps one atom per cubic yard, small accumulations do exist. Dust and remnants of exploded stars are also dispersed throughout the galactic plane. Through some of these, condensation took place, and one may see today amorphous shapes of gas called nebulae glowing colorfully because of collisions among its rapidly moving atomic particles.

Dark globules may be seen forming in some of these nebulae. Here is considered to be the birthplace of stars. Slowly the gas condensed until the mass became hotter due to more frequent particle collisions. The one tiny irregular globule began to take a spherical shape of gigantic proportions, perhaps extending to three the diameter of our present solar system. The heat became more intense, and the proto-sun glowed more brightly. Eventually a point was reached where the mass became red hot. Instantaneously the first and continuous thermonuclear explosions occurred, and the star was born, existing on the rapid conversion of hydrogen to helium and expelling a vast quantity of useful energy.

The birth did not yet terminate. The proto-sun still condensed, more and more each year, until an equilibrium was established, where the gravitational collapse is equalled by the surge of the outward-rushing solar energy.

The sun comprises better than 99 percent of the total mass of the solar system and is close to 864,000 miles in diameter. Its surface gravity is more than 30 times that of the earth. Its surface temperature is better than 10,000 degrees F.

The entire sun is one seething body of gas — no solid substance can exist at those temperatures. The intensity of the heat becomes greater as one goes to the core, where it is a theoretical 25 million degrees. It is at the core of stars that thermonuclear reactions take place to form most or all of the natural elements known to man.

Because of the great temperature difference between the central portion and solar surface, great convection currents are believed to take place, much like the action of a boiling pot of water. Small granules cover the swelling surface. Each granule is several hundred miles across, changing slowly in size and appearance until it disappears after existing about five minutes, only to be replaced by others.

Man is continually learning more and more about the star nearest him and how it directly affects him. The sun has been stable these last billion years to provide us with the rare qualities so necessary for life to develop and expand upon the globe. From observations of other stars, astronomers can say with confidence that our Sun will be much the same five billion years from now.

Union's Grand Prix For Slot Car Buffs

In the middle of Union Center, at 1027 Stuyvesant ave., Union, to be exact, is a place that has become the Grand Prix for slot car racing buffs. Known as The Tom Thumb Family Hobby Center, it offers four of the most modern slot car racing tracks in the east. The tracks range in size from 80 to 220 feet.

Using cars 1/24 or 1/32nd the size of, say, a Corvette, the driver shoots his car around the plastic track in one of the eight lanes. (The driver either uses his own car or rents one from Tom Thumb). The use of the lane is rented and the cost is stipulated by the size of the track.

Each car is equipped with a tiny but powerful electric engine which picks up its power from electric current running through the slot. The amount of current is controlled by a hand held rheostat, with which the driver of the slot car can make his racer go faster or slower. The skill in slot car racing lies in the delicate manipulation of the rheostat, for if a driver takes a curve too fast, his car will spin out and crash, like a real car.

Tom Thumb officially opened its doors to the public on Oct. 21 of this year and already has held racing competitions that have drawn enthusiasts from as far away as 150 miles, they say.

Currently, Tom Thumb is holding a four week competitive racing schedule with two first prizes to the winners in each of two divisions.

Group Schedules Christmas Party

The Union County Chapter of the Catholic One-Parent Organization will meet Wednesday evening at the Westwood Lounge, 438 North Ave., Garwood.

COPPO plans a Christmas Party for its members with Santa Claus presenting gifts from under the tree for each. Music will be furnished by guitarist Ray Barton. Refreshments will be served.

The group had joined in the recent annual communion mass at Sacred Heart Cathedral, Newark, and supper at the Fountain, Bloomfield.

All widows and widowers of Union County were invited to the Christmas party. Further information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Sue Wear at HU 4-4150.

Christmas Show To Be Presented

Kawarung Junior High School, Union, will ring in the Yuletide with the annual Christmas show to be presented Wednesday evening, Dec. 22, at 8 and Thursday morning, Dec. 23, for the school.

Musical selections will be performed by the orchestra, Boys' Glee Club and Girls' Chorus.

A play, "A Cub of Strength," also will be presented.

Songs will include carols and hymns, both old and modern. Soloists will include Sheila Enquist and Anne Ambandos.

The play centers around an

HOME OF THE WEEK:

Cedar Ridge At Washington Valley Scene Of Historical Encampment

Ranch model at Cedar Ridge at Washington Valley. Homes are built on deeply wooded lots and are priced from $23,500.

During the American Revolution, General Washington's army spent two winters secure in a peaceful valley nestled among the gentle hills of Somerset County. In the past decade, Somerset's Washington Valley has been the scene of considerable homebuilding activity. The confluence of two major interstate highways nearby and the relocation of many nationally-known firms in the area are the chief reasons for its growth and popularity.

Bridgewater Township, in which the valley and its surrounding hills are located, has a history going back to colonial times. Today it has become a residential community, which in the near future will be only a half hour's drive to the New York Metropolitan area. Despite its growth pattern, the valley still maintains all of its former rural peace and beauty.

Situated on the valley's southern slope is Cedar Ridge at Washington Valley Estates. Here are deeply wooded lots with homes spaciouly set among the trees. Now in its fourth section, Cedar Ridge features five models all in Colonial architecture, and priced from $23,500. Buyers may choose from 16 variations of the five basic models. All homes are built on 3/4 acre lots with 100 foot frontage.

Watchung Hills Realty Associates, sales agents for Cedar Ridge, report Section IV is 25% sold and some 28 lots still available in Section III. Brisk sales activity has been attributed to "convenient yet 'in the country' location and exceptional Bridgewater schools". The community is within 1 1/2 miles of access to Route 287 and Route 78, now under construction.

Currently shown at Cedar Ridge at Washington Valley are the "Somerset" ranch, the "Washington" bi-level, the "Saratoga" split-ranch, and the "Williamsburg" 2-story Colonial. The latter three models all feature four bedrooms. In addition, a new U-shaped ranch has recently been introduced with three extra-large-sized bedrooms.

Builders are Somerset Valley Estates, Inc. who have been active in the area for many years.

DEATH NOTICES

Small Game Hunting To Re-Open Monday

The early part of the season. With a good dog and plenty of warm clothing, a licensed hunter can enjoy many hours of fine sport on a crisp winter day.

Office Floor Equipment SEE THE FINEST Prestige Home and Office FLOOR CARE EQUIPMENT By Appointment Only 748-3743 - after 6 p.m.

Small game hunting in New Jersey will re-open Monday, following the current week of deer hunting, according to the Division of Fish and Game in the Department of Conservation and Economic Development.

Seasons will remain open through the rest of 1965 for rabbits and male pheasants, and into 1966 for other upland species. Quail, squirrel and grouse seasons will close Feb. 5 and re-open on March 15. Fox hunting will end March 31 in the area south and east of Route 1 and April 30 in the northern part of the State.

Hunting hours are sunrise to a half hour after sunset except for quail which are hunted between sunset and sunrise. Sportsmen should consult the 1965 Compendium of New Jersey Game Law for bag limits and detailed regulations.

This year is the first time that pheasant hunting has re-opened after deer season. Re-stocking of pheasants on Public Shooting Grounds ended with the deer season, but native birds and carryovers from the stocking program should furnish good hunting opportunities.

Quail hunting will be stepped up during this part of the season. The birds are released in covens of ten on most Public Shooting Grounds in southern New Jersey.

URGES STIFFER PENALTIES

Air Pollution Called 'Critical'

New Jerseyans are "sitting ducks" as pollution creates an "inferno" over the Garden State, Rep. Florence F. Dwyer (N.J.-SIXTH DISTRICT) warns in the current issue of the New Jersey Education Association's monthly magazine, the "NJEA Review."

"Air pollution is on the verge of overwhelming us," the Elizabeth Republican believes.

"Fresh clean air—essential to life, health and happiness—is not available in short supply, especially in the heavily populated regions of the state."

The situation is "bad" in industrial areas generally, she opines, and already "critical" in northeast New Jersey.

"We have hardly begun to attack this threat to the lives and safety of our people," Mrs. Dwyer writes. "In the face of overwhelming evidence, we are doing little more than testing."

Polluted air can cause death, disease and disability among humans, Mrs. Dwyer writes. It damages crops, livestock, plants, flowers, clothing and is responsible for "corrosion of metals, deterioration of buildings, and layers of dirt and grime everywhere."

In dollars and cents, the "economic costs" of air pollution exceed $18 billion a year, she estimates.

Mrs. Dwyer names industrial discharges, auto exhausts and waste disposal as major causes of air pollution.

New Jersey is particularly vulnerable to polluted air, Mrs. Dwyer writes, because "the bulk of our pollution and industry is concentrated in the small, six-county northeast corner of the state. The land is flat and invites the dangerous air inversions which trap fumes, gases and particles under a layer of warm air and turns the area into a vast aerial garbage heap."

"Air pollution laws are weak and insufficiently enforced," Mrs. Dwyer writes. At the same time, sources of contamination are increasing.

"We cannot make headway," Mrs. Dwyer warns, "until we move faster and farther than the growing rate at which we pollute the air."

New Jersey and the federal government are going too little to control the spread of poisons through the air, the Union County congresswoman says. She suggests:

"We need more research to find better ways of identifying, measuring and controlling pollutants. We need higher standards for clean air, more inspectors, stiffer penalties. We need to replace urban traffic jams with modern mass transit facilities. We need more effective regional and interstate cooperation."

Congress has passed laws to urb-auto exhausts and disposal of wastes, Mrs. Dwyer writes. "It's only a beginning. Unless it quickly becomes much more, we shall only cause a slight delay in our otherwise inevitable flight to disaster."

Mrs. Dwyer's article is the third in a series by which the NJEA magazine is alerting teachers to major economic and social problems in the state.

Legislators Speak To Employers' Unit

A broad-base tax, reappointment, needs for higher education, and Congressional re-districting—these will be major areas of concern in Trenton next year, according to five state legislators who addressed members of the Employers Legislative Committee of Union County last week.

Speaking last Thursday at the Committee's luncheon meeting in Springfield, State Senator-elect Mildred Barry Hughes (D, Union) expressed doubt that the legislature's "lame-duck" session on Monday would provide any solution to New Jersey problems. The next year, she said, would constructively for a better business climate, to provide a forum for discussion on legislative matters, and to foster good relations between members of the Committee and the legislature. Current chairman of the E.L.C. is Donald P. Taylor of Merck & Co., Inc.
