Statements Favor, Oppose Plans Offered For Library

The Springfield Public Library board of trustees today announced its decision to accept the plan for a new library building on Morris Ave. The board's decision was based on a study of the city's needs and the availability of the site.

The B'nai B'rith Men's Lodge of Springfield is scheduled to hold an induction ceremony for 36 new members Monday at 8:30 p.m. in Temple Beth Ahm, 60 Baltusrol Way.

According to Louis Spigel and Sam Miller, membership co-chairmen, this will be the largest group ever inducted into membership by the lodge, and will make it one of the largest in the state. The ceremonies will be presided over by Arthur Kesselhaut, vice-president and program chairman of the lodge.

Assisting in the ceremony will be former presidents Leonard Golden and Harvey Feldman, and current president Sidney Ellner. The Springfield Lodge is a part of the Northern New Jersey Council.

YMHA Reception Attracts Visitors From Springfield

More than 100 Springfield residents took part in an open house program Sunday at the new building of the YM-YWHA of Eastern Union County on Green Lane at Magie Ave. Union. They were greeted by Albert L. Kessler, president; Mitchell Jaffe, executive director; and Harry Lebau, director of capital funds.

Kessler announced that the YMHA will definitely open for service to all members in the 12 communities of eastern Union County not later than June 1 of this year. He further reported that the new building is already in use by a number of groups. On behalf of the board of directors, he extended an invitation to all interested persons to visit and join the "Y."

Jaffe stated that the "Y" day camp is now accepting enrollments and will hold all of its activities at the new site. The area will include the John F. Kennedy Memorial Park.

A total of 38 families from Springfield have enrolled in the "Y" program to date, Lebau declared, and many others have indicated an interest.

WALTER A. HONE

One of the more distinguished members of the Springfield community — and one who has served as an incentive to students and educators alike — Walter A. Hone, of 60 Severna ave., Springfield, takes a modest pride in his accomplishments.

Hone, who is coordinator of sciences for the Union County Regional High School District, has taught science for 34 years (29 of those years were spent at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield).

In addition, he served as the school's basketball coach from the mid-1940s to 1951, during which time Jonathan Dayton's basketball team won the 1950 state championship; the county championship twice, and two sectional championships in Union County's Big Five.

"During those early years," Hone reminisces, "which we called the golden age of basketball at Jonathan Dayton, we had some really good boys. We had three of the Bellevue brothers — and one year the team won 19 straight games. Now, we have sons of the oldest Bellevue boy playing for Dayton."

"SO MANY THINGS have happened during my 34 years of teaching," says Hone, "but of particular significance is the basketball era."

Hone, who is current department head and science coordinator (he has trained chemistry teachers in a new chemical study program), initiated curriculum changes in the regional schools. Now he and his teachers are all stressing the new "chem" study program.

Active in such professional organizations as the National Science Teachers Association and American Chemical Society, he is presently devoting much time to the Lackawanna sub-section, serving as elected officer and a member of the scholarship committee; on the Chemical Industry Council scholarship committee and the Esso Science Engineering Youth Forum advisory committee.

Among his attributes, Hone considers his work in the Greater Newark Science Fair one of his outstanding contributions to the field of science. He has been successful enough (as a chemistry teacher) to be able to inspire youngsters with a love for science and a desire to make it their life's work.

EMPHASIZING THE laboratory as the focal point in chemistry, he has been able to recognize his students' understanding of concepts and mastery of fundamentals and their talent in the scientific field, thus encouraging the youngsters "to participate in all opportunities toward extra-curricular work."

"I have sponsored 100 students in 13 years of science fair work." And Hone admittedly is the only teacher "who has sponsored more than one grand winner. I had five of them." Also, nine won first place, four won second place, and eight won third place. "It was really quite a fortunate combination of things."

In the 12 years (from 1953 through 1964) that Hone sponsored the American Chemical Society's Creative Chemistry contest, a great many students also received honors and recognition, reflecting their science preparation.

Many of his former students "have since furthered their science education by going on to MIT, Carnegie Tech and Caltech, where they received their doctorates."

Hone explains that there is one former student of whom he is exceptionally proud.

"TEN YEARS AGO," he recalls, "a young girl came to me in her sophomore year, and asked if she could take chemistry during her junior year. I encouraged her to write a paper. She was a brilliant student, and I asked her to work the paper up into a science project. She was reluctant at first. But she did it. The project was entered in the Newark Science Fair, and she was proclaimed a winner."

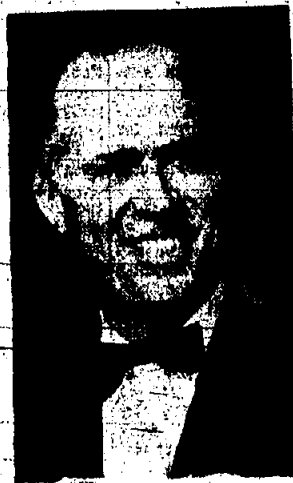

"The following year, she applied for a scholarship to Bryn Mawr. From there, she received a Woodrow Wilson scholarship. She now has a doctorate and she teaches at Harvard University."

Hone says that he is "really proud of this young lady," particularly since she was one of the ones who was retiring and reclusive about getting into things.

"This has happened with some of my boys too."

Hone, who was born in Hoboken, received bachelor's and master's degrees from Montclair State College. He taught science for two years at Bradley Ranch Junior High School, for three years in Glen Rock, and then he came to Jonathan Dayton Regional.

"I WAS ONE of the original faculty members of Jonathan Dayton, 29 years ago," he says. "I served mostly in the (Continued on Page 19)

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Stamp Our Library Card, 'Modern'

The entire community is to be congratulated for the poise with which it took a long step forward last week by adoption of a $550,000 bond ordinance for a new Springfield Public Library. In all too many communities, any municipal expenditure over $1.98 is the occasion for oratory and histrionics.

Judging from the reaction at meetings on two successive nights, however, residents of Springfield well realize the need for improved library facilities. They also appear to realize that the price of progress must be paid, in dollars and cents. Our new library will hardly be lavish, judging from all indications, but it should suffice for a highly literate community.

The only major question raised at both meetings concerned selection of a library site. Those citizens who exercised their rights to differ with the ruling fathers (who include the ladies on the library board) did so reasonably and constructively. Consensus in the conduct of public business is highly desirable; unanimity would please only those zealots who dream of a faceless, totalitarian Utopia.

Primary credit for stamping Springfield's library card "Modern" must, of course, go to the hard-working library trustees, and the far-seeing Township Committee members who have acted to take an outmoded facility out of circulation.

The community's thanks, as many persons already well recognize, also go to the ladies of the Springfield New Library Committee who can regard last week's vote as the triumphant finale of a campaign waged for more than two years. In the process, they succeeded in convincing the community and the Township Committee of both their determination and their dedication to the common good.

At the end, they were asked to accept a site which they had not even considered in their past investigations. Along with a great majority of citizens, the New Library ladies had the maturity to realize that there could be no perfect location for a facility of this size — and to accept the recommendation of a series of library experts.

And speaking of experts, the people of Springfield are also deeply indebted to the community's number one library expert, the professional who supervises the going out and the coming in of books every day at the town library. Mrs. Helen Francis, head librarian in Springfield, has done a calm and efficient job of coordinating the information provided to the public on the shortcomings of the present outmoded facilities, and on the service which can be expected when the new building opens, its 20th Century Colonial doors. The publicity campaign was no job for an amateur, and it was well done by a professional.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Letters to the editor must be submitted no later than Monday of the week they are to appear. They should be typed on one side of the paper and should be typed with double spacing (not all in capital letters, please). All letters must be signed. Writers' names will not be withheld if the letter is of political nature. Names will be withheld upon request from non-political letters. This newspaper reserves the right to edit or reject any letter.

NOTE FROM LIBRARY
The board of trustees of the Springfield Free Public Library appreciates the cooperation you have given during the preparation and presentation of the proposal for a new library.

The articles and editorials in the Leader have kept the residents of Springfield well informed on the library needs of the town. We are fortunate to have in Springfield a newspaper which so well reflects local interests.

Through the pages of the Springfield Leader, the trustees of the library will endeavor to keep Springfield residents apprised of progress on the new library.

First Meeting

Planner said that the new road connecting the Balthasar Top area directly to the rest of the township "is coming very near. This will help us to provide better police and fire service to this neighborhood." He added that the road will be constructed at so cost to the township.

He disclosed plans to press for an ordinance banning overnight parking in Springfield. Planner also said that recent authorization of a fifth police car would permit the department to keep four cars in operation regularly. Concerning recreation, Planner said that facilities have been "greatly expanded" in recent years and are a "credit to the community." He said that a new playground will be opened this year in the Balthasar Top area.

On continued deterioration in the Morris ave. business district, Planner said. "The problem is not basically one of a lack of parking facilities, but of the layout of buildings and streets. He urged replacement of all the structures on the north side of the main-business street, possibly with the end of urban renewal funds.

Planner pledged efforts to "reduce the tax impact on homeowners," but he noted that the municipal portion is only a part of the total tax load. He announced plans to divide the industrial committee into two groups, to aid efforts to bring both industrial and commercial ventures to Springfield.

Other projects will include a traffic study to weigh the impact of R. 76, and continued efforts to "fight any encroachment" by R. 278.

The new mayor also promised installation of air conditioning in Town Hall before the summer.

He concluded by pledging that the keynote of his administration would be "courtesy" in all its dealings with the public.

The invocation was by Msgr. Francis X. Coyne of St. James Church, and the benediction by the Rev. Donald Weber of the First Presbyterian Church. The meeting opened with the presentation of the colors by the color guard of Springfield Continental Post, American Legion, led by Ben Colandrea.

They included: James M. Casady, township chairman; Bernard W. Heller, township treasurer, court clerk and violations clerk; Mrs. Betty Heller, deputy township treasurer; Otto E. Fessler, building inspector; Edward J. Ruby, recreation director; Joseph S. Seidel, prosecutor; Frederick J. Sitarz, auditor.

Firemer Answer Variety Of Alarms In Week's Work

Several minor blazes kept Springfield firemen on the move throughout the past week. It was reported by Fire Chief Ormond W. Mesker.

A full complement responded last Wednesday morning to deal with flames in southeast used for R. 76 construction work in the vicinity of Springfield ave. Last Friday at 10:35 p.m., firemen put out a fire in an auto on Springfield ave. in front of the Springfield Sheet Metal Co. property. They reported that the car had been abandoned and had no license plates.

A house fire alarm brought firemen to the home of Max Cantor at 70 Bumpkin rd. on Saturday at 11 p.m. They reported that the flames were confined to the oven, and that the blaze had been extinguished by them by the time they arrived. There was some smoke damage.

Another car fire was extinguished Sunday at 1:15 p.m. in the parking lot of Harmony House, R. 22 music and record store. The fire started on Saturday at 11 p.m. They reported that the flames were confined to the oven, and that the blaze had been extinguished by them by the time they arrived. ## Auto Thieves Take, Abandon Two Cars

Recovery of two cars stolen this weekend from Springfield owners was reported at Police Headquarters. The first auto was reported stolen by Warren Ruban of 623 S. Springfield ave. New Year's Eve at 8:55. He stated that the car had been parked in front of his house.

The car was discovered the following morning in front of the Brown ave. Industrial area. Ruban reported that the thief had taken two bowling balls, two bags and two pairs of bowling shoes.

The second auto theft was discovered Monday when Kenilworth police notified headquarters in Springfield that a car registered to Horwitz Inc., Fading rd. had apparently been abandoned in Kenilworth.

When a representative of the business firm was notified and went to recover the car, it had been moved. It was recovered again, and permanently later on Monday, also in Kenilworth.

Families With New Pets Given Tips On Care And Treatment

If the new addition to your family this Christmas is canine or feline, the Humane Society has some tips on animal psychology that may spell the difference between harmony and discord in your heretofore happy household.

Because you can't acquire a pet as you would some inanimate object—like a piano or a ping pong set. You have to bone up on animal psychology in much the same manner you de-voured your now battered copy of Dr. Spock to learn the ins and outs of child psychology before your children were born.

Don R. Maxfield, executive director of the society's New Jersey chapter, has offered the following tips, designed to provide "emotional stability and security for household pets:

1. Leave the pet with its mother at least three months.
2. Runts of a litter may have an inferiority complex, and should be avoided unless extra care and attention can be given.
3. Teasing a pet is very harmful.

4. Teach the pet a few simple tricks if at all possible. It gives them confidence.
5. Include the pet in conversations where possible. It increases their mental capacities.
6. "The best way to break a bad habit is to prevent it."
7. Consistent and regular punishment is always best. If and when correction is needed, (A teaspoon of cool water splashed in the face of a barking puppy will help train the puppy to refrain from needless and useless barking which often produces negative reaction to the pet).

8. Teach the children how to care for the pet, and then hold them responsible for its care.
9. Don't be over-indulgent with the pet.
10. Make the pet feel wanted.
11. Avoid frustrating the pet.
12. Pets are very jealous of humans and other pets. If there is another pet in the family it may take as much as three months for adjustment to be made—with a little more contact each day—perhaps none for the first week or two. (You may also substitute "small children" for "another pet," Maxfield states).

13. If the family expects to take the pet on automobile trips, they should begin when the pet is very young.

For further information about the care of pets The Humane Society of the United States, New Jersey Branch, Inc. invites you to write to them at 1140 East Jersey St., Elizabeth.

Boright and Miss Zardecki, both students at Newark State College, Union, auditioned as a singing team last spring in Plainfield. It was taped on Sept. 24.

The duet has appeared in several musicals in Newark State, at the World's Fair with the Hi-Low chorus and did a show at the Lamb's Club in New York City with Lanny Ross.

Miss Zardecki, who was graduated from Linden High School, is a soloist at St. Theresa's Church choir in Linden. Boright

The Rev. Richard A. Byron of the Presbyterian Church of New Providence will be honored at a reception tea Sunday at 4 p.m. by Temple Sinai, Summit, following his resignation from the Church. It was announced this week by Rabbi Mordecai Blal of the Temple.

"The ecumenicity of Rev. Byron is exemplified by the sponsorship of the gathering," said Rabbi Blal, "namely Father Gerard Kelly of Our Lady of Peace, New Providence; Rev. James Golden Miller of Greystone Presbyterian Church, Elizabeth, and Rev. David Wylat, chaplain of Overlook Hospital, Summit," said the Rabbi who is serving as host of the interfaith meeting.

"It is our hope the clergymen throughout the county will join with us in honoring Rev. Byron who has resigned to take a position in the New Jersey Anti-Poverty Program.

"Mr. Byron is going but he leaves a richer heritage in civil rights, ecumenicity, peace and open housing," said Rabbi Blal.

Junior Academy Inviting Entries For Competition

Prof. Farris S. Swackhamer and Bernard M. Solon, regional directors of the Union County Region, Junior Academy of Science, this week invited all Union County high school students to submit entries in the annual student research competition.

All entries will be judged by a committee chosen from industry and academic circles in Union County. Entries may be within any scientific discipline.

Prof. Swackhamer said individual papers are screened on a regional level and the winners of each region present the results of their research during the annual meeting of the Junior Academy, which meets concurrently with the New Jersey Senior Academy of Science in March. He added that the winners of the state-wide competition are afforded an opportunity to present their work at the national meeting the following fall.

WEEDER'S DIGEST

'SPITTING' HOLLY
Mrs. J. S. asked for advice about her 12-inch holly plant growing well on her kitchen window sill. Except for one thing: "I've never known a house plant to rot all over the window before," she writes.

And then she explained that her plant's leaves tend to dip a sticky substance, and there are tiny drops of what seems to be sap on the glass.

I called two specialists in a huddle, sort of, and both Don Tatey, home horticulture specialist, and Dr. Louis Vavary, entomologist, said the trouble sounds like aphids or maybe scale insects.

Aphid Honeydew
Aphids are those numerous and bothersome little critters that drop their "honeydew" from maple and other trees in summer. Their preferred target is a newly washed and polished car, never an old heap with no lustre. Or so it seems.

Anyway, the cure for aphids on a house plant (and this holly seems to qualify) is to dunk it upside down in a pall of malathion solution. Use two teaspoonfuls of the 57 percent concentrate to a gallon of water, Dr. Vavary suggests.

To keep the soil from falling into the pail, cut a cardboard disk with a slot in it to fit around the base of the plant and hold the soil in with that when you up-end the pot.

A treatment every two weeks until you're rid of the pests is best.

But choose a warmish day when you can treat your plant in the garage and let it dry off there without getting chilled.

Malathion spray doesn't smell pretty, but you can live with your plant after it dries.

right word. It looks unbelievable. It must be Norway's secret missile to shoot men to the moon. Certainly it could never land them safely on earth. The people quite proudly tell you that the King made the jump once, and believe me, the King should be proud. It is fearful looking.

Nearly on another one of the mountains there is what looks like a gigantic (fallen) slab of concrete. THAT, we were told, is a very modern elegant apartment house. It does not jut up from the ground but follows the contour of the mountain which gives it the "fallen" look. All of its outside walls and steps are heated to prevent ice and snow accumulation for Oslo has five months of darkness during the year and a severe winter.

We were hosted at the Design Center by the Norwegian Export Council and SAS and it began with an inspection of the exhibit of Norwegian Industrial and export products, which at the time consisted predominantly of housewares. Then we proceeded to the 17th floor club room and observation verandah where excellent champagne, the magnificent view and a full moon were on hand.

All this was followed by sea-gull eggs, lingonberries, cold reindeer meat, sauerkraut, meatballs, sardines, tiny shrimp, etc. etc. at a "Smorgasbord" type dinner several floors lower.

Norway may be cold in weather, but it certainly was warm in hospitality and spirit. Just like Christmas.

ANTI-POVERTY PROGRAM

Consult Older Poor, State Urges

Immediate, direct and widespread involvement of the older poor in community action programs was recommended strongly this week by John C. Bullitt, director of the New Jersey Office of Economic Opportunity.

Bullitt said that through community action the older poor can no longer be invisible and no longer silent.

"The older poor are available for consultation almost everywhere we go. I am sure that as the result of candid discussion with them, we will abandon some pet schemes that seemed perfect to us who are not poor, and we will substantially modify others," he said.

Bullitt used as the springboard for his remarks some conclusions developed here recently in a broad conference on community action programs and the older poor. The conference, sponsored by the State Office, was the first public consideration in the nation of the needs of the older poor in the context of the economic opportunity program.

The conference emphasized, for one thing, that there is a large gap in program planning that has, to a considerable extent, kept persons over 45 out of the anti-poverty effort.

"The conference uncovered the feeling that many who direct the day-to-day activities of community action programs are inexperienced in working with older people and, perhaps, are unaware of existing resources and their potentialities.

"At the same time many of those who have been working with older poor for a long while and generally in the same communities often don't understand the new mission of the community action program," Bullitt said.

Another point Bullitt stressed is that there is a danger of launching a great deal of "unsolicited and unwanted" program effort, unless the distinction between the older poor and other older groups—older workers and the aging, for example—is carefully drawn and understood.

A substantial amount of the million or more dollars currently invested in CAP program development work in New Jersey should be directed toward the needs of the older poor as soon as possible.

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy:
I have a very dear girlfriend who's ready for a nervous breakdown because she's worried about her house and her boyfriend. Let me explain: Last summer she bought outside house paint, and he helped her pick up some combination windows (which she paid for). He painted her house and put on the combinations.

Now he claims if she breaks up with him, he will put a lien against her house for the hours he put in plus take off all the combinations. She never at any time promised to pay him for the job, but he says that doesn't mean anything because he can always submit a bill claiming labor.

Can he legally make good his threats? An interesting fact is that she is single and he is a married man.

A Girlfriend's Friend
Dear Friend:
His threats are as phony as he, but to your girlfriend's total relief, he labored on her house, pay him by check marked "PAID IN FULL" and wash her hands of the entire matter.

This friendship could have been costlier. When one toys with forbidden fruit, they shouldn't be surprised if they uncover a worm!

Dear Amy:
I'm 15 and want to start to use a little rouge on my cheeks, but my mother says, "No, it's not proper."

When does a girl start to use rouge?
Iris

Dear Iris:
When she stops blushing!

Dear Amy:
I am married to my second husband because I couldn't live with my first husband. To be perfectly honest with you, I'm a gold digger and he didn't have enough money to keep me happy.

Now I'm having the same trouble with my second husband. Since my first husband has more money than my second husband, I pined my first husband and suggested we make up, but he wouldn't listen. What do I do now?
Fran

Dear Fran:
Hold on to the guy you've got. I doubt that anyone else would want you!

There's probably isn't a man living with enough money to keep a dinky dame like you happy.

Dear Amy:
Once I wrote to you about the washing machine situation in the apartment building I live in. Your answer gave me the nerve to assert myself.

Now I have another problem with the washing machines again and another neighbor. We have

THE AFTERNOON previous to the sumptuous dinner party, the shipowners had invited the men ONLY to a briefing and luncheon, and when some of the writing women commented on the exclusion of the women, one shipbuilder, apologetically, exclaimed, "Oh, we never thought of it! We thought the women would want to go to the frizor." The frizor or frizer is a beauty shop.

So after some of us got frizzed an others got prizzed, we went on a tour of the town. Oslo is a good-looking city. It is not a large, bustling city but more of a large, sedate town. It has lots of trees, hills, parks, modern buildings — and a fjord. Or so they say.

Our itinerary showed no trip to a fjord during our stay in Norway and many members of our group felt there should be. But then someone said that Oslo was ON a fjord so that seemed to make it all right.

The fjord at Oslo, however, looked like no fjord I've ever seen in the movies. It looked like a very "flat" street with water on one side. In Norwegian, it seems a fjord doesn't necessarily have to have steep, cliff-like sides. Just the movie ones do. So we saw a fjord but not a movie fjord. Norway does have many of the movie-type loo-but they are further north and on the west coast.

THERE IS A BUILDING in Oslo that makes up for it though. It is the steep-cliff-like sleekly modern building that houses the Design Center. It towers 17 stories and on top is a club-room and observation "verandah" all around. From the verandah you can see all sides of the city and it is a worthy view. The many-fingered fjord-bay lies to one side but seems to be everywhere, and in one of the fingers, tingers the King's yacht. Mountains are on another side and on one of them projects the famous Holmenkollen championship ski jump — and "projects" is the

Wit, Fun And Laughs All In A Row -- That's 'Mary, Mary' At Paper Mill

By WILLIAM H. BRÜCKER
Whatever was enigmatically contrary about Mary Mary who kept her cockle shells all

'CASANOVA' FILM; SPY SPOOF, PLAY TOGETHER AT ART

Marcello Mastroianni, who has garnered the romantic inclinations of some of Europe's most seductive screen sirens in past decades, is presenting his alluring self in similar capacities to a newer international favorite, "Vincenzo" in "Casanova '70," Italian film satire on sex which opened this week at the Art Theatre, Irvington Center, in its original uncut version.

The associate film at the Art is a spy spoof called "Agent 8 3/4," starring Dirk Bogarde.

in a row is hardly the case with "Mary, Mary," a nifty, highly-polished, packed-with-laughs opus that opened the winter season of plays at the Paper Mill Playhouse in Millburn. 'Twas a happy play with Betsy Palmer. What could be better?

This one by Jean Kerr is constantly and consistently funny and could very well have achieved a decibel record as well as a box office record at the venerable playhouse. It remains short of farce, because the humor germinates from just a slight exaggeration of moments in our daily lives. It is not just a witty play, because there we look for a level of delicacy and brightness to lift the lines like an air stream.

But it is a play that has all the lines and wise cracks to shake an audience from its seat to flash fire-cracker fun between the eyes and sparkle the senses into a euphoria that sends everyone home with a lift that is often rare in play going these days.

Miss Kerr often calls on elements in her own life for books and plays. In "Please Don't Eat the Daisies," there is obvious reference to her large brood of children. In "King of Hearts" she examined a cussed newspaper cartoonist who returns to humanity with the help of a wife.

In "Mary, Mary" she casually examines the book publishing business, but does place her couple of protagonists in the final days of an interlocutory divorce. Bob McKellaway, a gray-flanneled executive, is shell shocked from the thunderous barbs with which his wife, wondrous Mary, bombards him. Mary suffers from perception, an intelligent disease of coming to the core of a situation with computer speed and exciting its most comic elements to verbally flatten any antagonist. Bob contends with this for years, until his burbling becomes perception-motivated and he decides, so as to keep himself vertical rather than horizontal, that he must look again for a new life's partner.

His dilemma is that with his present salary he can hardly keep himself and his alimony going, much less take on a new wife. As his attorney states, "It isn't that you can't support a wife—you'd be ill advised to buy a canary." Mary helps to unravel her former husbands' accounting problems, meets his affianced Tiffany Richards, becomes emotionally involved with Dirk Winton, a movie star who is writing his autobiography, engenders jealousy in Bob, and finally decides to take Bob for what he is as he must take her for herself.

What can anyone write about Betsy Palmer, but wondrous, wondrous—I can't even decide whom I love more, Betsy or Mary. Miss Palmer brings such radiant health that she seems to transmute and revivify a role. She is Betsy and Mary and more progressions geometrical.

Scott McKay as Bob is also fine, but a trifle too agitated for me. When he relaxed to a more simmer he was more believable. Explosive, staccato articulation is not necessarily from the index of Stanislavsky. This mannerism could very well have been set down by the direction of Barry Nelson who originated the role and gave the definitive performance. Yet McKay is an apt actor and has a long line of Donald Cook roles ahead of him.

Richard Clarke is the charming movie star, Paul McGrath, is a fine lawyer who seems to have many of the lines, and Jane Zachary has the old Betsy Von Furstenberg part of Tiffany, a leader in the cult that seeks to replace tea and lemon with dried apricots as a cure-all.

"Mary, Mary," is for all, everyone, anyone.

Essex, Union Work Included In $152 Million N.J. Highway Program

Gov. Richard J. Hughes has approved a $152 million State Highway Construction Program for the current, 1965-66 fiscal year, the second largest program in the State's history, it was announced this week.

In summary, the new program provides:

- $83,132,418, including $74,369,141 in Federal funds, for construction of Interstate highway projects. Most of these funds have been allotted to Routes 78, 80, 280 and 288.
- $32,749,120, including $15,750,815 in Federal funds, for construction of Primary and Urban Routes.
- $14,281,966 for construction projects on State Highways in which the Federal government is not expected to participate. $1,624,055, including $1,509,108 in Federal funds, for work under the new Federal Highway Beautification Act covering control of billboards and junkyards and landscape and scenic enhancement.

$7,885,014 in State funds for the operating costs of the Highway Department's Design, Right of Way and Construction units during the current fiscal year.

$1,102,842 in State funds for planning and research activities during the current fiscal year. Most of this work is participated in by the Federal government. However, since the Department's current program is based on the 1966-67 Federal apportionment, which is available for programming projects with the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads and for obligation of Federal funds, but is not available to the State in terms of cash reimbursement until July 1, 1966, the Federal share of this work, as well as other operating costs, was provided for in the Department's previous 1965-66 Construction Program.

$3,200,000 in Federal funds for operating costs of the units involved in Design, Right of Way and Construction; and $1,546,614 in Federal funds for planning and research work has been reserved for the coming fiscal year starting July 1, 1966, for the reasons outlined above.

$3,500,000 reserved for expansion of the Highway Department's engineering and right of way personnel. In accordance with the authority granted under the 1965-66 Appropriation Bill, this sum has been set aside so that the Highway Department may recruit the staff needed to execute its expanded workload. In the event the entire amount is not required, it will remain within the Department's construction fund account. Whatever amount in State funds is utilized for this purpose will be offset in the future by Federal reimbursement on either a 60-10 or 80-20 basis.

The funds included in the Construction Program are derived from a Federal apportionment of $68,378,178; a State appropriation of $52,278,593; savings of $1,248,200 in the cost of projects previously authorized and an estimated $2 million in reimbursement from the Port of New York Authority and the New Jersey Turnpike Authority for work on the Rt. 18 Freeway in Middlesex and Monmouth Counties, the Rt. 21 Freeway in Passaic, the Rt. 24 Freeway in Union and Morris, the Rt. 29 Freeway in Mercer, the Rt. 35 Freeway in Monmouth, the Rt. 440 Freeway in Middlesex and the Rt. 440 Freeway in Hudson County. In addition, he said, for the first time specific funds have been provided for the Rt. 76 Freeway (Newark Midtown Connector) in Essex. Other major Primary and Urban projects include widening Rt. 17 from Rt. 3 to Rt. 46 in Bergen County; and qualification of Rt. 208 from Morristown Avenue to Oakland in Bergen County, although additional funds will be provided for this work in subsequent programs.

The Interstate program includes funds for a start on completing Rt. 95 from the Northern terminus of the New Jersey Turnpike up to the existing Interstate highway in Bergen County.

"Since it is now settled that Route 95 will remain on the New Jersey Turnpike from the vicinity of Edison north," the Commissioner said, "it is time to complete what has been regarded as a missing link in this route."

Other Interstate projects involve work on Rt. 76, the North-South Freeway in Camden, completion of the link between the present intersection of Rt. 95 (formerly Rt. 287) at Rt. 1 and the New Jersey Turnpike in Middlesex Counties; and Rt. 278 Bridge in Union County.

Know Your Government

From N. J. Taxpayers Association

WHEN IT'S BUDGET TIME TAXES CAN'T BE FAR AWAY. It's budget time in Jersey and time for taxpayers to become alert as plans for next year's governmental spending are outlined for the consideration of local governing bodies early in 1966.

Fiscal officers already are at work on budget proposals in most of the county court houses, town halls and school administration buildings in the state. In municipalities operating under "optional municipal charter" government, public hearings are held on preliminary phases of the budget. In addition, those counties and municipalities planning major capital improvements were required to formulate capital budget programs in November. These set forth projects which might be included in the regular 1966 budgets.

News reports frequently tell of these preliminary budget developments. In addition, appearance of the "local budget timetable" prepared annually from official sources by the New Jersey Taxpayers Association serves to remind taxpayers that this is the 1965-66 pay attention, rather than wait for the tax bills to arrive next summer. "Advance knowledge of local government finance problems is useful to all citizens," points out the Association. "It also is valuable in expressing views at public hearings conducted later on all budgets and especially so in 'Charter 6 and 7' school districts where the property tax levy to support the educational budget is subject to voter approval."

The budget timetable lists statutory dates of various steps through which municipal, school district and county budgets must pass before final adoption. It shows that in municipalities, January 1 to February 10 is the period for initial budget approval by the local governing body. The budget then is published and notice of public hearings given before March 10. The public

PHYSICAL ILLNESSES, often so mild that they are not recognizable, may interfere with a child's ability to read, says a Fairleigh Dickinson University psychologist. Dr. Harold A. Solan called such disorders "ill-defined laterality," an improper organization of the nervous system that prevents one side of the brain from becoming dominant. Dr. Solan says that normally one side of the brain must become dominant to enable a child to learn to read.

ONE "HIDE-AWAY" you won't find, conceived in Allbright, N.J., is used by the meat processing industry and can remove up to 75 hides an hour from cattle carcasses.

FAMILY LIFE TODAY

By PHYLIS GREER
of Rutgers... the State University
Specialist in Human Relations

NEW YEAR CHALLENGE

A new year brings a new opportunity to improve over past performance. For many parents this means asking themselves what can be done now to help children prepare for the future and, in the process, to help them live as adults.

There are as many different ideas about what should be done for children as there are people. Some of these ideas may be really helpful; some may do more harm than good in the long run.

Basic attitudes and values are the beliefs and principles individuals live by. These are the fundamentals that make life meaningful.

Children learn what is expected, what is valued, and what is despised from their interpretation of adult behavior. Basic attitudes and values are learned from families first, then neighbors, school, church and other community relationships.

Children learn values from the example of their parents and other adults. Not from what they are told. They need a model they can follow so that they develop confidence in the worthwhileness of the values they learn.

Developing meaningful values gives children confidence in themselves and the security that they can handle themselves in situations. Each person has his own fundamentals that make life meaningful.

Children learn what is expected.

Teletype equipment purchased during 1965 by the Union County Office of Civil Defense and Disaster Control are now linked between the various municipal civil defense headquarters and the county office. It was announced this week.

Dr. Jack R. Karel, deputy coordinator, said the various items were obtained at a markedly reduced cost from a large supplier and from the Federal Surplus Program.

If bought at regular retail prices, he said, the equipment would have cost approximately $50,000. It was purchased for $380.

Record Consumption In 1965 Listed For Area Water Users

Customers of the Elizabethtown Water Co. used a record high of 33.8 billion gallons of water during 1965, the company announced this week.

Last year's consumption of water was 19.6 per cent above 1964 and 36 per cent higher than 1963. December was the biggest month in Elizabethtown's history when a daily average of 110.5 million gallons was pumped to customers. This was 42.8 per cent above December, 1964.

Unlike many municipalities, the 24 communities in Union, Middlesex, Somerset and Mercer counties served by Elizabethtown had no water restrictions in 1965. Elizabethtown supplies and pumping facilities were sufficient to meet all demands from customers and no difficulties in 1966 are anticipated.

A large part of the increased use in 1965 came from service to Elizabeth and Newark to aid those cities.

Elizabethtown Water is presently pumping up to 25 million gallons daily to Newark through a new 48 inch pipeline running from Linden to the Newark-Elizabeth border. In addition, the City of Elizabeth is receiving an average of 13 million gallons daily.

The Elizabethtown Water carried out an extensive expansion program during 1965 and plans to construct additional new pipelines, pumping stations and filtration facilities in 1966.

Last year 6,000 feet of new 60 inch main was put in place to increase flow capacity from the company's Bound Brook filter plant. Two additional filters were installed and the capacity of both the high lift and low lift pumping facilities was increased.

New diesel pumps were also added so that the company cannot meet minimum water demands in case of power failures.

Telemetry controls at Elizabethtown's Netherwood control center were enlarged in 1965 to that almost all of the pumps, wells and storage tanks can be operated by remote control. The installation at Netherwood is one of the most modern water dispatch centers in the nation.

Ski Film Showing Planned Sunday

"Ski Country — U. S. A." a color sound movie will be shown at the Union County Park Community Center, 7777 Trinitas and Science Center, in the Washington Reservation, Mount Laurel, on Sunday at 3 p.m.

The film features the eight major ski areas near Denver and some of the nation's top skiers perform for the camera. "One-half hour" nature talks for children will be conducted by Dr. Harold S. Molendone, director of Trinitas, at 4 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The topic selected for the four days is "Water Birds." Dr. Molendone's talks will be illustrated with color slides.

The Trinitas Nature and Science Center is open to the public each weekday, except Friday, from 3 to 5 p.m., and on Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays, from 1 to 5 p.m. The public is invited to visit the Nature and Science Center and participate in the scheduled programs, a spokesman said.

Mrs. Lee reported that tickets have already been distributed and urged that all those wishing to attend make reservations in advance. Tickets are ten dollars per person.

She said that while Mrs. Hughes is a Democrat many Republicans and Independents from all parts of the state already have indicated a desire to participate in the celebration. He added that "this dinner definitely will be a non-partisan tribute to a public servant who has long been deserving of such recognition."

The sheriff noted that Senator-elect Mildred Hughes has been in the State Assembly for eight years and has been serving in the legislature longer than any other representative from Union County. When she was elected to the Assembly in 1957 it marked the first time a Democrat was elected to the office in 42 years. Her recent election to the State Senate is the first time a Democrat from

WORLD-WIDE TOTAL ANNOUNCED

Increase In Number Of Telephones Hits 11.5 Million

More telephones were added to the worldwide communications network in 1964 than in any other year in history. The world's telephones increased by a record-breaking 11.5 million in 1964, according to a report by the International Telecommunications Union (ITU) in Geneva, Switzerland.

The ITU report shows that the total number of telephones in the world reached 115 million in 1964, up from 103.5 million in 1963. The increase was particularly significant in the United States, where the number of telephones rose by 2.5 million to 45.5 million.

Japan also saw a significant increase, with the number of telephones rising by 1.5 million to 10.5 million. Other countries with notable increases include Canada, France, and the United Kingdom.

The ITU report also noted that the growth in telephones was driven by a combination of factors, including the expansion of long-distance services and the increasing use of telephones in both urban and rural areas.

The report also highlighted the challenges of maintaining and expanding the global telecommunications network, particularly in developing countries where infrastructure is often limited.

Overall, the ITU report indicates a strong and steady growth in the world's telecommunications network, reflecting the increasing reliance on telephones for communication and business.

Use Of Herbs Suggested To Add Flavor To Meals

Herbs when used in moderation will add a pleasant flavor to your meals, according to a report by the Food and Drug Administration.

A pinch of curry powder is a good seasoning for meats. Use with a little lemon juice. Curry powder has been used in a variety of ways to add flavor to meats, soups, and vegetables.

Some good general seasonings for meats include the following:

- If you are a novice with herbs, start with a little of the better known ones, such as thyme, marjoram, and sage.
- Use a little of each in a mixture of three or four parts to one part of salt.
- The strength of fresh herbs is not as strong as dried herbs. Use about one part of fresh herb to two parts of dried herb.
- For best retention of their true flavor, herbs should be kept covered in a dry container. Long storage will cause them to lose their flavor.

The Food and Drug Administration has advised that dried herbs are four times stronger than the same amount of fresh herbs. A good rule is to use two times as much of the dried herb as you would of the fresh herb.

The purpose of the report is to enhance flavor and to provide information on the safe use of dried herbs. It is intended to be a guide for the home cook.

OUTLOOK FOR '66: PRICES OF FOODS TO CLIMB HIGHER

The outlook for 1966 is that prices of food will continue to rise. This is due to a variety of factors, including increased costs of production and a decrease in supply.

Prices of major foodstuffs are expected to rise by 10 to 15 percent over the 1965 level. This includes items such as wheat, corn, and soybeans.

The increase in prices is expected to be passed on to consumers in the form of higher food prices. This could lead to a decrease in the purchasing power of the average consumer.

Tips On Preparing News Releases

The following "Tips On Submitting News Releases" is published for the mutual benefit of publicity chairmen and this newspaper. It should be especially useful for newly appointed publicity chairmen or individuals who submit news releases to newspapers. The article should be clipped and filed for future use by interested readers.

A "news release" is just what the words imply — news, released to a newspaper. The writer of a news release, usually the publicity or public relations chairman of a group, simplifies the job for himself and the paper by preparing a "model news story" about the subject or event he wants to publicize. The publicity chairman can't expect it to appear exactly as written in print. But a properly prepared release SHOULD be able to be used "as is."

Your news release, therefore, should "sound" like a news story and not like the secretary's minutes of a club meeting. This isn't as tricky as it sounds. It's mostly a matter of putting the most important things first in your story (the "Five Ws of Journalism" — more about that later) and avoiding the use of flowery, personified descriptions (editorializing, we call it).

You don't have to take a course in journalism to write a good release; anyone who ever learned to write a business letter can learn to write a news release.

Let's begin with lesson one, the FORM of a "news release."

FORM

1. Release must be TYPEWRITTEN. If you can't type yours, have it typed for you. The reason for this is the need for accuracy. Newspapers don't want to risk misspelling people's names in print, which is likely if the names are submitted in handwritten scrawl or even in bold block printing. We'd much prefer a sloppy typing job to even the prettiest display of penmanship. Some papers won't accept any handwritten release, and no paper will accept them regularly from the same source.

2. Use a plain sheet of paper, not letterhead stationery cluttered up with a lot of printing. Type on one side of the paper only. Double space, leave plenty of room at the top, sides and bottom for editing by the newspaper staff. DO NOT WRITE IN CAPITAL LETTERS. LIKE THIS. The newspaper doesn't print stories in all capital letters so why submit them that way?

IDENTIFY YOURSELF

Type your name, the name and address of your organization, and the phone numbers at which you can be reached in the sheet. Be sure to include the upper left hand corner of both home and business phones so that the newspaper can reach you if it has any questions.

YOUR STORY

Put the most important facts in order of their importance. In the first paragraph, and lesser facts in later paragraphs, in order of their importance. A release should be written with this sort of note at the top:

Editor: This meeting will take place Monday night, November 15.

Of course, if anything happens and the expected falls to happen YOU MUST PHONE THE NEWSPAPER IMMEDIATELY.

LOCAL NEWS ONLY

News is local when it happens here, involves local people or groups or when it specifically concerns the readers. If John Featherworth of Terrytown, N. Y., is elected president of your group and Jacob Farnsby, who lives in town, is appointed to the executive committee, your story is about Farnsby, not Featherworth. Farnsby's neighbors care about him, but who ever heard of Featherworth. If your charity group is conducting a two-month clothing drive in North-Central New Jersey, your story to the local paper should be that the week-long campaign in town will be held Monday to Friday. The readers want to know when they should have THEIR discs ready. The local paper wants to know, for example, how the local March of Dimes campaign is going, but isn't much interested in the results of a national election. It wants biographical backgrounds of the local volunteers, not the national campaign chairman. It wants to know what the charity does for local people, not the millions here (USA) and abroad.

POINTS TO PONDER

1. The newspaper WANTS your publicity.

2. The newspaper is the final judge of the material — it accepts and rejects and the fashion in which the material will appear.

3. Keep your eyes open for "real" news. You can endear yourself (and your group) to any editor by letting him know what's going on, even if it doesn't concern your group. If you know of somebody or something that would make a good feature story, let the editor know about it.

4. The newspaper staff will be very happy to talk with you about publicity plans or problems of your group. Weekly journalists have more time for you on Thursday and Friday than any other time in the week. Check by phone, first, please.

A write, perhaps, but tried and true guide for importance is the "Five Ws of Journalism" — What, When, Where, Who and Why (or How). All five Ws should be answered in the first paragraph, though not necessarily in any particular order. Here are some examples:

Dr. James Smith, child psychologist at Newark State College, (WHO) will discuss L. Q. testing (WHAT) next Thursday at 8 p.m. (WHEN) in Hamilton School (WHERE) as members of the PTA assemble for their first meeting of the new term (WHY).

In itself, that paragraph is a complete story. The reader knows all he needs to know if he wants to attend — the publicity chairman's wishes, however, he or she may add other paragraphs giving more details.

The second paragraph might offer more information about Dr. Smith.

A member of the Newark State faculty for 16 years, Dr. Smith has also served as a testing consultant in the Cranford school system. He is the author of several professional articles on testing procedures.

Then, more about the meeting.

Mrs. Benjamin Brown, of 1 Ballistral way, program chairman, will reveal plans for forthcoming meetings.

Mrs. Ronald Jones, of 200 Forest St., chairman of the ways and means committee, will discuss plans for the annual winter hat sale to be held in December. New members of the PTA will be introduced by Mrs. Milton Green, president of 41 Morris ave.

NOTHING BUT THE FACTS

You've probably concluded that our fictional Dr. Smith is an "expert" in his field, though unaware in the release did it say he was. His accomplishments, which are FACTS, speak for themselves. Your releases should, too.

Leave the fancy description and personal opinions out of your release. Never say a meeting was "interesting." Tell what the topic was and let the reader decide for himself. Don't say that a singer was "in good voice;" report instead that she was applauded for five minutes and called for ten encores. The hall was not "beautifully decorated" but rather decorated in shades of violet and lavender.

ALL THE FACTS

Your release should not send the newspaper staff scurrying for the phone or the city directory to get the information you forgot to include. Give complete details. Make sure that names and addresses are accurate and complete.

HERE ARE SOME POINTERS:

FULL NAMES. Use full names in the case of a woman; always identify her as Miss or Mrs. You may use either the corner of Colonial and Morris avenues.

NAME YOUR ORGANIZATION. Do this the very first line. You may know that it is C. M. A. means National Office-Machine Association, but we don't and neither will our readers. Use the full title in your release. Don't identify troops, branches and units by numbers or the names of their founders. Call your group the Springfield branch (Irvington, Vauxhall, Essex, New Jersey or whatever) of the National Fish Fanciers' Association — not unit No. 29457, or Jerome S. Smith Memorial chapter.

Boy Scout and Girl Scout troops should be identified by the name of the school in which they meet — the neighborhood they serve or the organization that sponsors them — not by long, meaningless numbers. Fraternal organizations should be identified by the name of the town — NOT the council number.

QUOTES AND OPINIONS

The only place for opinions is inside quotation marks. Your releases should not say that a new branch library is needed, but rather that Mrs. John Smith, president of the James Caldwell School PTA, said that "A branch library serving the western section is a definite necessity."

In other words, all opinions should be attributed to somebody, preferably in a direct quotation. When you quote someone directly, make sure that he is willing to be quoted with the words you describe to him. Pick the punchiest and most important things you speak said. Keep your quotes brief and significant.

HEADLINES

The deadline for organizational publicity is the Friday preceding the issue in which you want it published. If your release arrives later than that, very likely it will be thrown out or pushed aside until next week.

Monday and Tuesday of the editor's week are reserved for "spot" news. He's busy with the political campaign or the big accident and doesn't have time to give proper attention to what happened at the PTA last Wednesday.

You can eliminate most of your deadline problems by doing ADVANCE stories, appearing in the paper before the event occurs. If the election is on a Monday night, what do you do?

If you KNOW what's going to happen, write your release as if it already did and put the most important facts first so that later paragraphs may be chopped off if necessary.

Do you know who is going to win? We're not referring to a good guess, of course, but the fact of election where the slate of officers is selected by a nominating committee and the "election" is a formality. Phone: 651-684-7700.

All About People

EUGENE TIRE CO.

As a youngster, Charles Jimmy wanted to become an athlete. He was rugged and healthy but he was clumsy and was mocked by the other youngsters when he tried to play football or baseball or basketball with them. In spite of the mocking he continued to hope that he could make good in some sport.

One day, he suffered a serious accident. He recovered and more than ever, he was determined to make a place for himself in sports. He became a swimmer, a very good swimmer. But he wanted to be a great swimmer and believed that he could make his mark by concentrating on long distance swimming.

The fame that had eluded him so long finally came. He began to make headlines. One day, the sports pages carried the story that Charles Jimmy had established an endurance record by swimming 81 hours. A year later, he broke that record by swimming for 100 hours.

He was now famous. But there was one more thing he wanted to do, something no other human had done. He wanted to swim the Hudson river from Albany to New York—147 miles. His friends tried to dissuade him, but Jimmy had made up his mind.

So, one morning Charles Jimmy entered the water at Albany and began his endurance swim to New York.

To the amazement of the entire nation, Charles Jimmy, hungry, tired, and sleepy, completed the grueling 147 mile swim. A man who had been a sad failure at other sports became world-famous as the greatest long-distance swimmer.

That is not the most amazing part of his story. The Charles Jimmy who turned from other sports to swimming after his accident, the Charles Jimmy who swam from Albany to New York had been left a cripple by that accident. In his youth, you see...

Endurance is the word for the time we sell here at EUGENE TIRE, whether they be new (by FIRESTONE) or the finest in retreads. Step in today and see what we mean when we say, "Service is as important a product as the tires we sell." That's EUGENE TIRE CO., Milltown Road (between Route 22 and Morris Ave., just off Liberty Ave., across from Farmer's Group) in Union. Phone 687-4150.

Rutgers Kicks Off Year-Long Bicentennial Celebration

Rutgers, inaugurated this week the year-long celebration of its founding two centuries ago as Queen's College with a ceremonial ringing of the bell in historic Old Queens and the signing of a proclamation by Governor Richard J. Hughes.

The proclamation reminded citizens of New Jersey that on Nov. 19, 1776, Gov. William Franklin of the Province of New Jersey in the name of King George III granted a charter to Queen's College, the eighth college founded in colonial America.

Almost a century after its founding, Rutgers in 1864 became the Land-Grant College of New Jersey. All units of the institution, the proclamation recalled, became the State University of New Jersey in 1945.

Rutgers is the only university in the United States founded in colonial times that is also a land-grant college and a state university.

The Bicentennial Year was announced at midnight on Dec. 31 with the pealing of the bell given to the University in 1825 by Colonel Henry Rutgers, the colonial patriot for whom the school was named in the same year.

The bell ringing ushered in a year which promises to be a critical one for Rutgers and public education in New Jersey. Two citizens—congressman and Gov. Hughes have called for the greatest expansion of public education in the history of the Garden State. It could amount to the expenditure of as much as $427 million on capital construction for higher education by 1975 and a great increase in enrollment at Rutgers and other institutions in the public higher education system.

THE YEARLONG CELEBRATION will feature in February the Bicentennial Rutgers Concert Series, which will run through April. The concert series in the gymnasium on the Rutgers College campus will open Feb. 7 with the appearance of the American pianist Byron Janis. He will be followed Feb. 16 by the Philadelphia Orchestra, Eugene Ormandy conducting.

and the University Choir. F. Augustin Walter, director. The Norwegian Festival Orchestra, Olavin Fjeldstad conducting, will appear March 2. The London Symphony, Istvan Kertesz conducting, and the University Choir will perform April 1 and the American basso Jerome Hines will appear April 27.

A number of nationally prominent speakers are expected to take part in a series of student conferences March 18 through March 20.

The highlight of the Bicentennial year from the standpoint of student participation will be Student Bicentennial Week, April 17-23, when undergraduates on each campus will be responsible for one day's program each.

During this period there will be several showings of the special Rutgers film, which it is hoped will be seen throughout the year by a wide audience through commercial television, alumni groups, educational organizations, labor unions, civic and community groups, and other interested parties. The film shows what is going on at Rutgers today, how and why.

The big day for Rutgers seniors will be commencement on June 1.

In the fall, two football weekends stand out. The entire West Point cadet corps will make its first appearance in New Brunswick on Oct. 15 when the Scarlet Knights meet Rutgers in a football game at Rutgers Stadium. On the next weekend, Alumni Homecoming, Rutgers will take on the Columbia Lions in football and there will be an exhibition crew race between Rutgers and Columbia on the Raritan.

But the most colorful event of the year-long celebration will fall on Sept. 22, Convocation Day. Universities from throughout the world will be represented and standards of the various colleges and divisions of the University will lend an air of pageantry to the event.

The celebration will culminate on Charter Day, Nov. 16, with "Rutgers Night Around the World." Rutgers alumni will gather at Rutgers clubs

From the Sperry Memorial Observatory

Step out of your home at midnight to observe the sky. It is as bright as twilight, studded with thousands of magnificent sparkling jewels. The velvety blackness of the familiar earth night sky has disappeared, and the hazy band of the Milky Way has been supplanted by a hemisphere filled with very many, very bright stars. Where do you live? From the description, it must be on a planet of a sun in a globular star cluster.

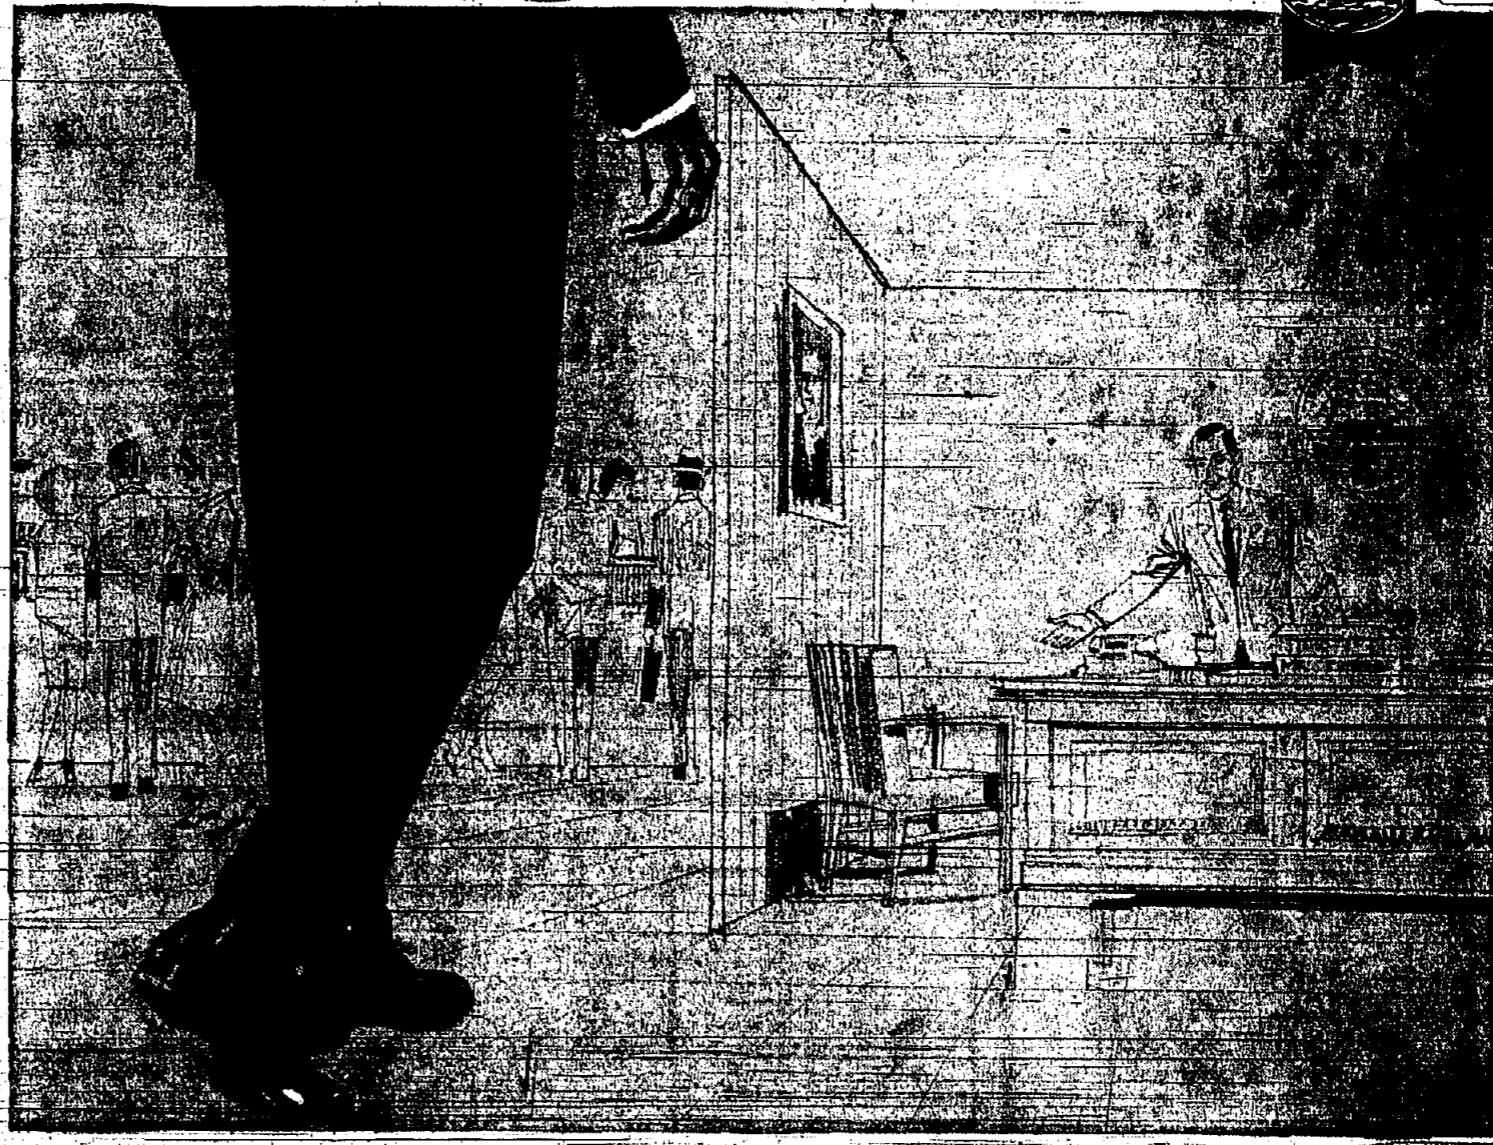

Star clusters are aggregations of stars which had their birthplace within a single volume of cosmic gas and dust, and so share a common motion through space. There are two types, called galactic or open, and globular.

Galactic clusters are relatively nearby, and some of their brighter stars are easily visible. The Seven Sisters in the Pleiades cluster is an example. The globular clusters are far away and mostly invisible to the naked eye. If seen at all, they look like hazy or diffuse stars. But to the owner of even a small telescope, views of either type can be breathtaking, particularly if enhanced by a knowledge of them. The open clusters can best be seen in low power wide field views: the Double Cluster in Perseus seen in a 50 power wide field eyepiece is spectacular. Globular clusters require more magnification to resolve individual stars, and the larger the telescope aperture the more satisfactory the view.

Galactic clusters are located in the principal plan of our Milky Way galaxy. Each contains some hundreds of stars within a maximum cluster diameter of about 20 light years, or 100 trillion miles, astronomically a short distance. About 500 open clusters are known, all within 20,000 light years of the Sun.

Globular clusters appear to be a discrete structural unit, and studies of their distance from us and the evolution of their component stars has added considerably to our knowledge of the

Classes, Clubs, Events Scheduled For Winter-Spring Program at 'Y'

The Summit YWCA's winter-spring program of classes, clubs, special events, Y-Teen and junior high school girls activities has been announced this week.

Adult classes, both new offerings and continued ones, require advance registration of one-week before the beginning of class. This policy has become necessary because of the great increase in enrollment in classes, all of which can take only a limited number of persons, a spokesman said. Many evening classes are open to both men and women, and baby-sitting for children 18 months and more is available. Most classes will begin in mid-January or early February.

Among the new class offerings in the winter-spring program are landscaping, art appreciation, and "Foods! Fine and Fancy." Landscaping will be held on Monday evenings from 8 to 9:30. Art appreciation will meet on Tuesday mornings, from 10 to 11:30.

Continuing classes which are open for registration include two beginners French classes, intermediate French and advanced French. Beginners Spanish and Spanish II will also be offered. English for non-English speaking men and women is continuing in its first semester.

Ceramics, tailoring, three classes in bridge, including beginners bridge, intermediate bridge, and evening bridge for beginners; a popular exercise class entitled "Your Figure, Madame," as well as modern dance classes.

For those interested in art, there is an evening art class taught by Albert Brost. Clubs and other activities at the YWCA include the regular Wednesday morning "Koffeeklatsch," the Homemakers Club, the Thoughtstirs, the International Club, Saturday night socials, the Jet Set, Tri-Epsilon Club and a Monday afternoon program for those in junior high school.

Further information about the Summit YWCA's winter-spring activities may be obtained by telephoning the YWCA at 273-4242.

Four years ago, my mother stopped in at my house the day before Christmas. Being intrigued by the wrapped gifts on the table, she asked me to give her a peek. I promised to give her a peek, but I never promised anything.

Four years ago, my mother stopped in at my house the day before Christmas. Being intrigued by the wrapped gifts on the table, she asked me to give her a peek. I promised to give her a peek, but I never promised anything.

A couple was talking in the hall as I passed. The man was saying to the woman, "I don't know whether I should give her a peek or not. You know the old saying, 'I promise her a peek, but I never promised anything.'"
