

PARENTS APPEAL TO DISCOVER DOG WHICH BIT CHILD

The parents of a little girl this week appealed for help to save their child from a series of extremely painful rabies injections. The child, Emma Weizimer, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Weizimer, 803 Mount Pleasant, Springfield, she was bitten by a small tan brown dog shortly before 5 p.m. Monday in an area near the market on Mount Pleasant. The dog was with a young woman.

Musical Voices, Busy Hands

Junior Choristers Enjoy Handicrafts

Hand busily working, voices raised in song — this has been the scene of the expanded Junior Choir program of the Springfield Presbyterian Church over the past several weeks.

Each Thursday afternoon from 3:15 to 4:45, 25 or more young people from the junior department of the Church School gather in the Presbyterian Parish House to take part in this music program. The first half of the period is devoted to handicrafts all of which have a Christian symbolism to them.

In preparation for the recently observed Christmas season, these young people made table centerpieces for which they actually molded the candles; also made were mobiles of Christmas symbols which enhanced the vestibules of the Parish House. A stained glass nativity window scene completed the handwork for the Christmas season.

The current handicraft project is titling banks, through which the stewardship program of the church is being explained to these youngsters. Future plans call for projects in metal crafting and the making of seed plaques.

All of these handicrafts have been under the direction of Mrs. Howard Hunkle, Mrs. Robert Springer and Mrs. Louis Quinton, each of whom has a youngster participating in this program.

A recreation program, possibly once a month, is included in the future plans for this group.

The musical portion of the afternoon is under the direction of John H. Bunnell, who is director of music for the church. Currently an anthem is being rehearsed for presentation at a worship service sometime during the month of February.

The group made its initial appearance at a worship service on Dec. 26, singing the German carol, "Joseph Dearest, Joseph Mine."

Mrs. Lilien Named N. J. YES Secretary

Mrs. Edward F. Lilien of Springfield was elected secretary of the N. J. Association of Youth Employment Services at the annual meeting on Saturday.

Delegates from some 60 active YES groups throughout the state took part in the meeting at Terrell Junior High School in Scotch Plains. Mrs. D. H. Langston of Princeton was named president.

Praising the selection of Mrs. Lilien, Mrs. William Lorimer, Springfield YES chairman, declared, "It's a feather in our cap to have a local member elected to the state board."

"I am highly pleased that it was Mrs. Lilien, since without her urging of the formation of a YES office in town, and her substantial help, the Springfield group would not have gotten off the ground."

Mrs. Lilien has been active in community affairs since she moved to Springfield more than 13 years ago, and particularly in activities concerned with young people. She has been a Girl Scout leader and has served the PTA of the Florence Gaudineer School as chairman of the committees on juvenile protection and on parent and family life.

After leaving of youth employment groups in other communities, Mrs. Lilien began a one-woman campaign. Mrs. Lorimer recalled, she spoke to virtually every organization in town and obtained detailed information and speakers from active YES offices.

She served on the board of directors since the Springfield YES office was initiated in 1954 and is now corresponding secretary and office manager. Mrs. Lilien has also functioned as recording secretary and is now assisting with YES publicity.

While the YES office in Town Hall was officially closed for vacation last summer, Mrs. Lilien kept the project in operation from her home to meet constant requests from employers.

She and her husband reside at 7 Warwick circle. They have two daughters: Marcia, 10, a freshman at Philadelphia College of Art, and Janice, 15, a sophomore at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School.

RAYMOND W. FORBES

Raymond W. Forbes, former Township Committeeman, who was recently appointed to the Springfield Planning Board, declared the other day that five years away from Springfield are five years too long.

Forbes went on to explain that he and Mrs. Forbes, who had come to settle in Springfield in 1939 with their family, had decided to buy a house in the lovely countryside of Mountainville in Hunterdon County in 1969, where they resided for five years.

"We had a very nice place there," he mused, "except it wasn't home. You know that old expression: 'Home is where the heart is.' Well, it seems that we spent so many years in Springfield, we really got lonesome for it. You know, when you see it grow before your very eyes . . ."

"Why, there were only 3,500 people living here when we first moved into the town . . . now, there are approximately 17,000. It sort of gets to you," Forbes murmured nostalgically. "When we first moved here, the Post Office didn't even deliver the mail. We had lived on S. Springfield ave. at the time."

"WHERE WE ARE NOW (81 Lyons pl.), there were only woods. In fact," he laughed, "the street wasn't even cut through at the time. Both Mrs. Forbes and I were very active during all the years we lived in Springfield."

Forbes reminisced: "We had lots of fun in those days, and we took great pride in being able to do things for the town . . . to help it grow . . . to make it better."

"So, after five years, we came back. Of course," Forbes said, "it was Mrs. Forbes who really missed being in Springfield."

"You see, I had the advantage of maintaining this office (he indicated the surroundings of his second floor office in Mountain ave. and Morris ave., "above the bank")."

"Even though I was no longer a resident, I could still look out of this window" (he turned his swivel chair completely around to the big picture-like window, which gave an over-all view of the heart of the town) "and literally see the goings and comings . . . the actual growth and strength."

Forbes maintains his small office "in the heart of town" as a manufacturers' representative for "two California Aircraft companies, the Zephyr Manufacturing Co. and Monogram Industries."

HE DOES a good deal of traveling from coast to coast and to various states. He says he enjoys traveling . . . "otherwise, I wouldn't be in this business."

Forbes, who was born in Newark, moved to Irvington when he was a youth. He was educated in Irvington schools.

"I started working as a junior salesman while I was still in high school," he recalled. He worked in the auto sales department in Bamberger's when he was graduated from high school.

"I picked up experience as I went along. I was a floor superintendent in Bamberger's in Newark. During the war, I worked at the Newark airport. I sold automobiles for DeCoben Motors in Newark; I worked for Brewster Aircraft . . . which has since gone out of business. Then I came to my present vocation."

Forbes had married an Irvington girl, the former Gretchen H. Neff, and they have three children ("They're all grown up now").

THERE'S MY DAUGHTER, Lynne (now Mrs. Schoenhart of West Simsbury, Conn., who has two boys of her own); my son, Raymond Jr., who is 28 and is in Phoenix, Arizona now. He's roaming the country . . . in fact, he uses the country just as you and I would use our back yard. He works odd jobs during his travels. He's worked on tug boats, shrimp boats, in oil fields . . . wonder where he gets that wanderlust . . . Forbes mused.

"And there's my youngest daughter, Gretchen E. Forbes. She's 21 years old and attends the University of Hartford, Conn."

When Forbes came to Springfield in 1939, he served as director of the local Red Cross. "I was on the Township Committee for three years, was a member of the board of the Regional High School District and served as its president for two years."

Forbes also was a trustee of Overlook Hospital; served as a president of the Springfield Lions Club ("I am still a member"); was a charter member of the Elks Club, a member of the Masonic organization and a former elder of the Presbyterian Church ("where I am still a member").

"When we rebuilt the Town Hall, I was director of public works." Forbes, who served on the Regional Board of Education for six years (1948-1954), explained that "during that time we acquired some of the present high school sites."

Education Is A Two-Way Process

This column last week was devoted to those qualities which constitute a good member of a Board of Education. There are two other factors which go into the composition of a good school system. One is the faculty, and much attention has been given to that aspect of the scholastic situation.

The other factor, and perhaps the most important, is the child into whom the vast treasure of learning is to be condensed. Right now, our high school seniors are receiving a vendetta on their attainment; in the form of college acceptance and rejections, and our eighth graders are looking forward to high school with considerable uncertainty. This appears a good time to assess the qualities a student should bring to school.

The first, with which almost all children start and with which very few finish, is the feeling that learning is an exciting business. The process of understanding about any one pigeon-hole in the jumble of human knowledge can well be its own reward. In all too many cases, however, parents and teachers combine to swamp the light of learning and convert the oil in the lamp into elbow-grease and drudgery.

Hard work never hurt anybody; we've all been told that often enough. That is quite true, as far as it goes. Hard work does exceedingly little good, also, unless it is directed toward a goal. Our children must learn to work and to concentrate efficiently, under control, and in a well-defined direction.

Master teachers are artists, blessed with a talent beyond understanding, like great painters or French chefs. Experts have commented that the average child will study under one such in his 12 years of elementary and secondary education.

Here is Springfield, the average may be somewhat higher. In addition, the proportion of the good, capable teachers to the drudges and the incompetents is significantly heartening. The parent's responsibility is to encourage a flowering under the teachers who are capable, and even inspirational, and to discourage, with every possible mental and physical muscle, apathy and surrender when faced with the occasional teacher who cannot establish contact with either the student or the subject matter.

As far as techniques are concerned, the most vital is for a student to plan ahead to budget his time. If an assignment is to take a month, let the youngster learn to work on it for a few minutes each day, not all night for the last couple of nights.

Doing that, we might even develop a new generation of adults who can plan ahead and avoid strangulation in a web of deadlines. Once we can do that, converting swords into plowshares would come naturally. And making bullets into plumbing fixtures would be a lead-pipe cinch.

School Board Federation Eyes 'Risky' Candidates

"Most citizens know the kinds of qualities they should look for in evaluating a prospective candidate for the local school board," declares the State Federation of District Boards of Education, the organization representing New Jersey's 595 local school districts. "Citizens naturally seek an intelligent, liberally educated community leader of integrity and independent good judgment for school board membership. They look for someone with an interest in children and a willingness to devote sufficient time to do a good job. They hope that that person can see both sides of an issue and will be willing to grow in the job."

YWCA Registers Language Class

Registration for the Summit YWCA's English classes for the foreign-born will be on Wednesday at 8 p.m. Registration night will provide students with the chance to meet the teachers week series of classes will begin on the following Wednesday, from 8 to 9:30 p.m.

All levels of instruction are offered in the YWCA's English classes. During the past semester there were eight classes, ranging from those for beginners with no knowledge of English through advanced students who had studied the language in their native lands. Conversation, reading, writing, grammar are stressed, and classes are kept small enough to insure individual help to students, a spokesman said. A special class in composition and writing will be offered in the new semester starting Feb. 9. Letter writing, filling out applications and forms, improvement of writing ability as well as skill improvements such as enlarging a student's vocabulary, improving spelling and punctuation, will be covered. The instructor will be Mrs. Logan Hargrove, a former high school English teacher.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Letters to the editor must be submitted no later than Monday of the week they are to appear. They should not exceed 250 words in length and should be typed with double-spacing. (Not all in capital letters, please). All letters must be signed. Writer's name will not be withheld if the letter is of political nature. Names will be withheld upon request from non-political letters. This newspaper reserves the right to edit or reject any letter.

IN THE RACE

I think it is quite a fine tribute to Springfield, one of the smallest towns in Union County, to be fielding not one, but two candidates on the ballot for the March 1 special election for delegate to the spring constitutional convention at Rutgers. After 20 years, it is about time Jerseyans took stock of their governing document which is antiquated in many aspects.

Also, for little Springfield to be the home of a United States Senator candidate for the first time in history for the statewide primary election to be held June 7 is a great honor!

So many people ask me: "Doesn't it cost a lot of money to be in politics?" My answer is: "Possibly it costs a lot more than money to be a politician, but I am only running for public office in an honest effort to give uncorrupt, unbiased, non-partisan government to the people and that only takes guts and signatures."

I personally obtained over

200 signatures from people in all walks of life, independents, Democrats and Republicans, in the past month to run for delegate under the slogan, "For Fair Representation," with eight running mates who obtained 800 more. Glen Hoke, Wray Bailey, Jack Clark, Tom Bryan and Dick Baxter, all employed at Gerling Pipefitting, Division of Monsanto Chemical Co. in Keanborough are fine independent thinking young men.

To round out the countywide ticket are Charlie Burwell, Bernice Higgins, the McAllister candidate from Summit; and Daniel Reidy from Elizabeth; all fighting for freedom and justice. For U. S. Senator, I already have amassed almost 300 of the required 1,000 Republican signatures by my governing document which is antiquated in many aspects.

Escapes Injuries When Car Slams Into Rt. 22 Bridge

A 32-year-old Mountaineer man escaped injuries Sunday morning when his car slammed into a bridge on Rt. 22, Springfield.

According to police, Gunther W. Fieck was traveling in the east-bound lane of the highway when his car slid on the ice across the lanes and into a bridge in the center lane.

In another accident caused by the icy conditions Sunday morning on Shunpike rd., a 19-year-old New Providence youth, Robert Mangold, lost control of his car and slammed into a vehicle operated by Joseph Kessler, 18, of Summit, police said.

In a previous incident, Kessler lost control of his car minutes before the collision occurred, and he hit a rock wall on Shunpike rd.

His car was towed from the scene.

Pvt. Circelli Takes Fort Eustis Course

FORT EUSTIS, Va. — Pvt. Donato Circelli, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Circelli, 69 Morris ave., Springfield, N. J., completed a transportation control course at the Army Transportation School, Fort Eustis, Va., Jan. 13.

The 20-year-old soldier entered the Army in September 1965 and completed basic training at Fort Dix, N. J., following completion of mortgage financing arrangements through Franklin Capital Corporation of Newark.

2 Receive Probation In Traffic Violations

A Montclair man was fined a total of $95, given a 60-day suspended jail sentence and put on two years' probation by Springfield Magistrate Max Sherman in Municipal Court Monday night on two vehicular charges.

Robert Tatum was charged with being involved in and leaving the scene of an accident on Morris ave., Springfield.

In another vehicular case heard Monday night, Jeffrey L. Parra, 23, of Millington was fined $65, given a 10 day suspended jail sentence, put on one year's probation and had his license revoked for 30 days.

Parra was charged with going through a red light at the Springfield and Morris avenues intersection and with speeding on Short Hills ave. He was traveling at 60 m. p. h. in the 35-mile zone, according to court records.

Edward D. Golden, 21 of Union was fined $205 by the Magistrate for driving while on the revoked list. His case was also heard in Monday night's court session.

In a criminal case heard the same night, Manfred Reyes, 27, of Plainfield was given a 30-day suspended jail sentence and put on one year's probation for passing a bad check in the Echo Plaza Acme Store.

Elks Will Honor Previous Rulers

The Springfield Elks will observe "past exalted rulers night" at their next regular meeting Tuesday. The occasion will be marked by some 2,000 lodges throughout the country.

All past exalted rulers will assume their previous offices for the event. "Elks are urged to attend this meeting to honor those who have devoted their efforts to further the success of their lodge during their terms in office," a spokesman said.

A buffet supper will be served.

New Plant To House Offices, Warehouse

Construction has begun on a modern, one-story industrial plant in Springfield which will house the offices and warehouse facilities of General Floor Products Inc., following completion of mortgage financing arrangements through Franklin Capital Corporation of Newark.

The permanent financing of the $160,000 was placed through Franklin Capital with John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company, which is one of the 11 major life insurance companies served by the Newark mortgage banking institution as New Jersey correspondent.

The new plant will be located on the south side of Rt. 22 in Springfield, and is scheduled for completion this summer. It will occupy almost two acres of land and provide 25,000 square feet of space, including 3,000 square feet of air conditioned office space.

Completely sprinklered, it will have overhead doors for use as accessways and loading docks.

General Floor Products Inc. intends to move all its operations from its present site in Elizabeth. The firm is one of the area's leading wholesale distributors of floor coverings, an exclusive distributor for Kentile Inc., as well as Carolina, Arloom and Foremost Carpets.

Sponsor of the building is Cardinal Consulting Co. Inc. of Springfield, whose principal is Frank E. Gardinal. An allied firm, Cardinal Construction Co. is doing the building.

The driving license of Peter E. Palmer, 19, of 31 Marcy ave., Springfield, was suspended for a one-month period effective Dec. 23 under New Jersey's point system. This was announced last week by the State Division of Motor Vehicles.

All items other than spot news, submitted to this newspaper, should be in our office by Friday to insure publication in the next issue.

New Books Span Social Climbing, Freezer Cooking

New books at the Springfield Public Library this week include the following titles, with comments by the library staff.

Light Reading: "The Art of Social Climbing," by Jerome Zerbe.

"A half-serious, half tongue-in-cheek how-to-do-it book by the society editor of Town and Country magazine.

Safety: "Stay Alive!" by Jean Carper.

"An extremely practical book on the best ways of preventing or avoiding accidents in the home, on the highway, or at play.

Cooking: "Freeze with Ease, the Complete Freezer Cookbook," by M. F. Burrow and L. Levine.

"The purchase and care of a freezer, proper freezing and defrosting methods, quantity cooking for the freezer and recipes are all included here.

For Chess Enthusiasts: "The Most Intriguing Games of Chess Ever Played," by Irving Cherney.

"Some 62 famous games of chess, all masterly demonstrations of the basic strategy of winning."

"Familiar Garden Birds of America," by Collins and Boyars.

"Life histories, including distribution, migration, habitat, and ways of attracting 75 different species common to the continental United States."

Small Fry: "Kangaroo and Kangaroo," by Kathy Braun.

"Kangaroo and Kangaroo collect things. Anything and everything until they have no more space for 'things' or even themselves. A well-illustrated story in verse, just right for reading aloud or by yourself."

Sports Stories: "Ben on the Ski Trail," by Leonard Shortall.

"Seven-year-old Ben, after learning to ski with the help of an instructor, puts his skills to use in coming to the aid of an injured friend."

Bell Commands MP Detachment

SANDIA BASE, Albuquerque, N. M. — First Lt. Charles M. Bell, U.S. Army, has been assigned to Sandia Base, N. M., from Fort Gordon, Ga., where he attended the military police officers' basic course.

The newcomer is presently serving as the commanding officer of the 46th Military Police Detachment at this joint service command.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bell, 106 High Point dr., Springfield, N. J., he earned a bachelor of arts degree at Marquette University in Wisconsin and his law degree at the DePaul University College of Law, Chicago, Ill.

He was also a distinguished military graduate from Marquette.

ALLIN B. CROUCH GETS PROMOTION AT IRVING TRUST

Allin B. Crouch of Springfield has been elected an executive vice-president by Irving Trust Company, New York, according to George A. Murphy, chairman of the board of directors. Crouch will continue to serve as company comptroller and overall supervisor of the accounting, personnel, and general services departments.

Crouch, 61, was a salesman at comptroller for General Electric Co. before joining the Irving in 1950 as vice-president and comptroller. In 1961, he became senior vice-president and comptroller.

Born in Detroit, Crouch is a graduate of the University of Michigan.

Plant At Summit Is Safety Winner

V. G. Aubry Jr., president and general manager of Houdaille Construction Materials Inc. of Morristown, recently announced that the Summit Stone Plant is the winner of the company's 1965 Inter-Plant Safety Contest.

J. E. Truppi, superintendent at Summit, said his employees have worked more than one-quarter of a million man hours since Nov. 21, 1964, without a lost-time injury. The plant recently was the recipient of an award from the National Crushed Stone Association, of which it is a member.

Houdaille Construction Materials Inc., a subsidiary of Houdaille Industries Inc., Buffalo, N. Y., has crushed stone, sand and gravel, bituminous concrete and ready-mix concrete operations throughout New Jersey and northeastern Pennsylvania.

quietly University in Wisconsin and his law degree at the DePaul University College of Law, Chicago, Ill.

He was also a distinguished military graduate from Marquette.

Brownie Troop 84, led by Mrs. Ralph Quorin, is making "St. Ursula" to be used on spring hiking trips. A birthday party was held recently with all 21 Brownies receiving membership stars and friendship pins. The troop also made "Nut Cups" for two favors for Overlook Hospital and visited the "Springfield Miniature Village" on Springfield ave. during recent meetings.

Cadet Troop 181, led by Mrs. Arthur Welles accompanied 13 Cadettes to Elizabeth, where they spent three hours recently assisting with mail for the Union County Tuberculosis Society in Elizabeth. The Scouts are preparing for a camping trip in February to Marshwood Lake.

Troop 273, under the leadership of Mrs. Lee L. Andrews Jr. and Jeanne Putscher, welcomed Alexis Fisher, a student at Newark State College, who will work with the troop during the coming year.

The Scouts are working on the Child Care Badge, and a demonstration was given by Linda Zera and Mary E. Keller. Patrols: A fashion show was another demonstration given by these patrols as part of a Good Grooming Badge.

Mary Elaine Keller and Patricia Mulligan, accompanied by Mrs. L. L. Andrews Jr., visited Mrs. Harriett Smith at the John Rannels Hospital. Mrs. Smith will celebrate her 90th birthday this year.

Theater To Start Tour Of Schools

The Children's Theatre of the Junior League of the Oranges and Short Hills, Inc. will start a tour next week with its current production, "The Merry Pranks of Tyll." This will mark the 38th year that the group has brought live theatre to the elementary schools of this area.

About 11,000 school children in Newark, East Orange, West Orange, Maplewood, Springfield and Millburn will see this tale of a boisterous boy who runs away from home to become a court jester to the king.

On Saturday, Feb. 5, at 11 a.m., a performance of "The Merry Pranks of Tyll" will be given at the Paper Mill Playhouse in Millburn for the general public. Reserved seats are available by calling Mrs. Robert McHugh in Short Hills (phone: 378-8231).

FAULTY MUFFLER Ronald Given, 19, of Millburn was fined $15 in Municipal Court Monday night by Springfield Magistrate Max Sherman for driving with a faulty muffler which caused excessive noise.

300-Mile Course Followed In Air By Springfield 4

Four members of the Springfield Civil Air Patrol participated recently in a three-hour orientation flight out of the Morristown Airport. It was an honor flight.

The members were: Capt. J. J. Ward, pilot; Eugene Boehm, senior member; and Alan Ferguson and Michael Krill, cadets.

The flight covered 300 miles in a course to Montauk Point, Long Island, then to Block Island, South and New London, Conn., where the group had lunch.

Afterward, Capt. Ward flew the plane over the submarine base at Groton, Conn., and the Coast Guard Academy at New London. The course home followed the Connecticut coastline to New York and across New Jersey.

Capt. Ward said there will be more flights of this type and called for boys between the ages of 14 and 19 to attend Wednesday evening squadron meetings at the Gaudinier School, Springfield, to become cadets.

Union County this week when the Union County Technical Institute, Montclair, in cooperation with the Bureau of Employment Security initiated its latest Manpower Training course in machine tool operation.

Manpower Training and Development, initiated under the late President John F. Kennedy and continued through the present administration, makes funds available to train people in areas where jobs are available and, in some cases, offer stipends for temporary support.

The 16-week course in machine tool operation began last Monday with 10 men. From 4:30 p.m. through 6 p.m. they will study mathematics and blueprint reading taught by Clifford Harum of Union. Shop practice and instruction in the use of machine tools will be done from 6 through 10:30 p.m. each night under the tutelage of Albert Bulgreen of Martinsville.

While none of the men are presently employed, they look forward to the end of the 16 week training period because jobs are available for machine tool operators.

Manpower training courses are organized when lack of trained manpower for a specific field is brought to the attention of the Bureau of Employment Security.

Know Your Government

From N. J. Taxpayers Association

Use Of Data Processing. Means of harnessing modern electronic data processing to the functions of government currently are being explored in this state, points out the New Jersey Taxpayers Association.

Under a 1965 executive order, the New Jersey Director of Budget and Accounting is re-evaluating present uses and foreseeable needs of state departments as well as exploring development of centralized electronic systems to serve state government on a comprehensive overall basis.

Over 30 separate data processing installations, including 10 computer facilities, already are in use in the State Government. These cover activities ranging from highway planning and motor vehicle regulation and licensing to tax administration and various accounting, administrative and statistical tasks in personnel, health, welfare and other functions.

Formulation of a comprehensive plan for effective consolidation and coordination of all automatic data processing activities of the various departments and agencies in the "interests of economy and efficiency in state government" was the objective of the Governor's order.

Meantime, the Legislative Commission to Study Efficiency and Economy in State Government has reported completion of a pilot study of the State Health Department. While confined to one department, the study conducted by a private consulting organization indicated potentialities for improved management in other governmental areas. It recommended a complete study throughout Government of the most efficient application of data processing.

In a recent panel discussion before the New Jersey Chapter of the American Society for Public Administration, authorities from state and local government and Rutgers - the State University described progress of efforts to adapt the machinery of government at all levels to the electronic procedures that have produced marvels in the fields of science and industry.

Their common cautions on further extension of data processing included recognition that the machines are only a management tool, not a substitute for sound judgment; that data processing does not produce instant economy; and that proper preplanning of an installation ranks in importance with the selection of equipment. Other

Doctoral Candidates Will Receive Grants

The Data Processing Management Association is sponsoring a program to promote Ph.D. level university research in data processing. Beginning in September, individual grants of $2,000 each will be made to selected doctoral candidates for research and writings in the data processing field.

Applicants must be doctoral candidates at accredited graduate schools. Applications for 1966-1967 grants must be received no later than March 15 at Data Processing Management Association International Headquarters, 505 Busse Highway, Park Ridge, Ill. Further information is available from the association's area director, John C. Macris, senior traveling auditor, Vice President and Comptroller's Department, Public Service Electric and Gas Company, 80 Park Place, Newark.

Know Your Government

From N. J. Taxpayers Association
Use Of Data Processing Means of harnessing modern electronic data processing to the functions of government currently are being explored in this state, points out the New Jersey Taxpayers Association.

Under a 1965 executive order, the New Jersey Director of Budget and Accounting is re-evaluating present uses and foreseeable needs of state departments as well as exploring development of centralized electronic systems to serve state government on a comprehensive overall basis.

Over 30 separate data processing installations, including 10 computer facilities, already are in use in the State Government. These cover activities ranging from highway planning and motor vehicle regulation and licensing to tax administration and various accounting, administrative and statistical tasks in personnel, health, welfare and other functions.

Formulation of a comprehensive plan for effective consolidation and coordination of all automatic data processing activities of the various departments and agencies in the "interests of economy and efficiency in state government" was the objective of the Governor's order.

Doctoral Candidates Will Receive Grants

The Data Processing Management Association is sponsoring a program to promote Ph.D. level university research in data processing. Beginning in September, individual grants of $2,000 each will be made to selected doctoral candidates for research and writing in the data processing field.

Applicants must be doctoral candidates at accredited graduate schools. Applications for 1968-1969 grants must be received no later than March 15 at Data Processing Management Association, International Headquarters, 505 Busse Highway, Park Ridge, Ill. Further information is available from the association's area director, John C. Macris, senior traveling auditor, Vice President and Comptroller's Department, Public Service Electric and Gas Company, 80 Park Place, Newark.

Rangers Extend Lead In Boy's To Three Games

The Rangers once again stretched their lead over the rest of the Friday Afternoon Boys' Bowling League to three full games. The Rangers swept a series from the contending teams, while the Black Hawks were upset by the Bruins in two games. The Springfield Recreation Department sponsors this league, which meets at the Springfield Bowl.

The Rangers received a balanced team effort last week to once again increase their league lead. Scott Prussing topped the Rangers with a 248 game effort. Wirt of 256, Henry Zachau was just in back of Scotty as he turned in a 263 series for the Rangers. Other top series for the Rangers were rolled by Mitch Wolf, 257, Richard Lan, 225.

The Royals moved into a tie for second place as they split a series with the Chargers. Steve Gray and Dave Rubin topped the Royals. Steve rolled 194 for two games, while Dave's two-game total was 191. Jay Silverman with a 231 series was the top bowler for the Chargers.

The Bruins received top effort from their captain, Billy Schwab, to upset the contending Black Hawks in two games. Billy rolled a 182 game and a series effort of 278 to help spell twin defeat for the Hawks. Arnie Blumenthal and Tom Lowy also rolled well for the Bruins. Arnie hit 246 for two games, while Tom scored 228. In the match, Gary Nefield with a 228 series was the top bowler for the Black Hawks.

The final match of the day saw the Chiefs divide a pair of games with the Eagles. Rich Fraundlich had another good afternoon for the Chiefs. Rich rolled a 278 series. Mike Denner, a hot bowler of late, paced the Eagles with a series effort of 256. Danny Gechter of the Chiefs had a good effort in this match. Mitch Wolf continues to outdistance all other bowlers in the race for the league's top average. Mitch is maintaining a season average of 146. Jay Silverman with a 133 mark for the season is a comfortable second. Rich Fraundlich continues in third place with an average of 124.

Henry Zachau with his 120 average has moved into fourth place, while Gary Nefield is fifth with a 119 season average. The remaining boys in the top 10 are: Scott Prussing, 118; Steve Gray, 116; Alan Schlanger, 117; Mike Denner, 116; and Jeff Slater, 113.

Caldwell Small Fry Gain Skills Rapidly

The James Caldwell Small Fry Basketball League was the scene of four hotly contested games last week. These young boys receiving their first taste of competitive basketball are now beginning to exploit basic skills of the game. The Nats have moved out to become the last undefeated quintet in league play. This league is the beginning point in the Recreation Department's youth basketball program.

In the feature contest played at the James Caldwell School last Saturday afternoon, the Nationals met the Billikens. These two teams have shown much talent during these first weeks of play. The Nats topped the Billikens by the score of 21 to 17 in the best-played game of the season.

High scoring Mike Levine once again paced the Nats as he tallied a game high of eight points. Roy Greenberg played a fine game for the winning Nats and contributed six points. William Plazza, who counted for four points, was also effective for the winners.

The Billikens showed a well-balanced attack as five players hit the scoring column. Pacing the Billikens with six markers was Neil Anderson. Ken Mercer tallied four points to tie Billy while Johnny Gacos scored three points. The Nats won this important game with a final-period split of 11 points.

In the remaining game, the Bulls topped the Knicks by the score of 12 to 4. Mickey Byrd and Steve Harris paced the attack for the winners, as each boy tallied four points. Billy Huntley proved the scoring punch for the Bulls.

Knicks as he tallied all of his team's points for the game. The Pistons showed an improving attack as they rolled over the Lakers last week by the final count of 16 to 3. John Belliveau and Joey Tepe contributed all the points to the Pistons victory as each boy scored eight big points. Joe Visotaki was the top man for the Knicks as he garnered all his team's points for the afternoon.

The final match of the day saw the Celtics turn in a top defensive game as they shut out the Aggies by the score of 8 to 0. Charles Spiegel, Bruce Blumenthal and Jeff Colandrea divided all the scoring for the winning Celtics. Rich Feldman of the Aggies played a top game for his team. Richie is a very good ball handler and dribbler and is a top basketball prospect.

Sarokin Scores With Game Of 201

The Bulls, Bombers and Hurricanes maintained their one, two, three position in the Boys' Thursday-Afternoon Bowling League at the conclusion of last week. Each of the top three split its respective match.

The highlight of bowling last week was the rolling of the first 200 game of the campaign. Jimmy Sarokin, rolling for the Bombers, turned in a 201 game in the opening game last week. This Recreation Department sponsored league meets at the Springfield Bowl.

The Bulls maintained their first-place position in the league as they split a two-game series with the Pirates. Robert Shindler paced the Bulls with a 248 series. Carl Goldstein also rolled well for the league leaders as he rolled a 190 series, which was well over his average. Mark Berkowitz topped the Pirates with a 213 series.

The Bombers and the Hurricanes rolled in the feature match last week. The two contenders split the two-game series. This match was highlighted by some of the best bowling of the year.

The Bombers in the first game lapped all records for a high team game, as they rolled a team game of 228. Jimmy Sarokin rolled his 201 and 228 series during this match. Other top series scores for the Bombers were: Eric Wasserman, 268; Phil Stokes, 268; Evan Wasserman, 263; and Karl Kotovsky, 227.

Stuart Leibeskind of the Hurricanes also chose this day to show his finest effort of the season. Stuart rolled a 200 series. Todd Herman also rolled well for the Hurricanes, as he tallied 268 for the two games.

The Rockets moved into contending position last week as they swept a two-game series from the Raiders. Marc Hollander paced the winners as he rolled a 200 series. Steve Harris and Ted Rames were also effective for the Rockets. Steve rolled 268 for two games, while Ted hit a series of 244. Dave Epstein of the Raiders had another good day as he turned in a series effort of 223.

The final match of the day saw the Atoms trip the Jets in two games. Gary Fox and Roy Greenberg paced the Atoms. Gary scored 247 for the series, while Roy's series mark was 240. Mickey Harmon at 210 paced the Jets.

David Epstein has been moving his league-leading average up the scale during the past few weeks. Last week he turned in a 178 effort to raise his top average to the 135 mark. Mark Hollander with a 128 season average is in second place. Stuart Leibeskind with a 127 season average holds third place among the top bowlers.

Fourth place belongs to Jimmy Sarokin, who is rolling at a season pace of 128. Joel Millman, the early season leader, is the fifth best bowler to date with a 124 average.

The remaining bowlers in the top 10 of this Thursday-afternoon league are: Robert Shindler and Evan Wasserman, 122; Eric Wasserman, 119; Fred Gold 117, and Danny Wells, 116.

Weber Bows 619 To Lead Scorers

Dick Weber topped all bowlers in the Springfield Sports League last week at Springfield Bowl as he scored 224-204-619. Other top men included Robert Zeller, 213-202-582; Don Casternova, 211-201-582; Hank Elcholz, 223; Joseph Wilcox, 213; Mark Liza, 218; Frank Taylor, 203; Mark Conic, 191; Frank Madison, 201; Robert Belander, 261, and Ted Dzubal, 200.

Richard Television broke a first place with a sweep over Earl Stamping. Ehrhardt now leads the league at 38-22. The evening also featured the top top scores of the year, 2924 for FWF and 2927 for Ehrhardt.

Report to the People

From Your Congresswoman

There was more in common than may have been evident at first glance between the President's State of the Union address and the similar report made by Senator Dirksen and Congressman Ford, the Republican floor leaders of the Senate and the House.

Here are some of the major issues on which there seems to be significant agreement between the spokesmen for the two parties.

Viet Nam — In foreign policy generally, and especially on U.S. involvement in Viet Nam, there was a remarkable degree of unanimity. Both the President and Senator Dirksen's remarks were restrained and responsible. Each took the balanced position are particular, but a careful comparison of the two documents reveals a number of similarities as well as contrasts which, taken together, suggest some of the main lines Congress will follow in this session of the 89th Congress.

Traditionally such reports are notably more general than they are in the past. The President's report is particularly so. It is a carefully worded document, but it does not back down on the commitment to defend the independence of South Viet Nam. While this position leaves a broad area for differences of approach and emphasis on the question of how far to go in other directions, the general position unquestionably reflects the feelings of the great majority of American people.

Foreign Aid — By implication, at least, the President recognized the need for a comprehensive overhaul of foreign aid when he proposed "major new directions" for the program with emphasis on "self-help." Senator Dirksen was somewhat more explicit, calling for a detailed audit of the $120 billion already spent and close scrutiny of each future request to determine whether it will be used wisely. Demands for and promises to reform the foreign aid program are nothing new. But, indeed, with new and better world leadership, the "self-help" program for which President Dirksen proposed a worldwide attack on hunger and pledged to utilize advanced American agricultural techniques in helping others modernize their own. Congressman Ford urged extension of the Food for Peace pro-

Grant and supported establishment of the Republican-sponsored "U.S. - World Food Study and Coordinating Commission" to begin closing the "food gap" on our planet.

Closer to home, political issues take on a more partisan tinge and this was reflected in both messages. But even in domestic policy, there were striking parallels.

Labor Relations — Beneath party differences over repeal of section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act and revision of the unemployment compensation system, the President and Senator Dirksen are in agreement on the once highly controversial issue of dealing with strikes which damage the national interest. On the heels of the New York City transit strike and with a nationwide rail strike threatened, the President's proposal to empower the Government to stop or prevent such strikes has been widely welcomed by Republicans as well as Democrats. Though Congressman Ford did not touch on this issue directly, he made a consensus-nearly complete agreement on the importance of organized labor, headed by United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther, has made a similar proposal. Congressional action in this area would seem virtually certain.

Civil Rights — Democrat Johnson and Republican Ford left no doubt about their respective parties' complete commitment to the principle of equal rights and justice and opportunity for all. While the President called for racial discrimination to be outlawed in the sale or rental of housing, that civil rights workers and others exercising their constitutional rights be protected, and that juries be selected on a non-discriminatory basis, the House Minority Leader stressed the strengthening and more effective enforcement of existing civil rights laws.

Executive Branch Reorganization — Although President Johnson's only direct reference to the reorganizing the Executive Branch was his endorsement of the idea of a Cabinet-level Department of Transportation, it is known that he is a strong proponent of the "self-help" program. He has urged that the "self-help" program be a nationwide attack on hunger and pledged to utilize advanced American agricultural techniques in helping others modernize their own. Congressman Ford urged extension of the Food for Peace pro-

Labor Relations — Beneath party differences over repeal of section 14(b) of the Taft-Hartley Act and revision of the unemployment compensation system, the President and Senator Dirksen are in agreement on the once highly controversial issue of dealing with strikes which damage the national interest. On the heels of the New York City transit strike and with a nationwide rail strike threatened, the President's proposal to empower the Government to stop or prevent such strikes has been widely welcomed by Republicans as well as Democrats. Though Congressman Ford did not touch on this issue directly, he made a consensus-nearly complete agreement on the importance of organized labor, headed by United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther, has made a similar proposal. Congressional action in this area would seem virtually certain.

Civil Rights — Democrat Johnson and Republican Ford left no doubt about their respective parties' complete commitment to the principle of equal rights and justice and opportunity for all. While the President called for racial discrimination to be outlawed in the sale or rental of housing, that civil rights workers and others exercising their constitutional rights be protected, and that juries be selected on a non-discriminatory basis, the House Minority Leader stressed the strengthening and more effective enforcement of existing civil rights laws.

Executive Branch Reorganization — Although President Johnson's only direct reference to the reorganizing the Executive Branch was his endorsement of the idea of a Cabinet-level Department of Transportation, it is known that he is a strong proponent of the "self-help" program. He has urged that the "self-help" program be a nationwide attack on hunger and pledged to utilize advanced American agricultural techniques in helping others modernize their own. SPARE-TIME SALESMAN — Martin Greenfield of Springfield, who sells librettos at the Metropolitan Opera House every Tuesday evening, looks over one of them. Greenfield's daytime job is that of technical librarian at Plectinny Arsenal, Dover.

Offers Course In Life-Saving

The Westfield YMCA will offer a Senior Course in YMCA Life Saving starting Monday evening, Feb. 7, at 8 p.m. The course will run on Monday evenings from 8 to 10 p.m. for 11 weeks, terminating on April 10. Robert Roman, Red Cross water safety instructor and John Al-

Borton, assistant physical director, will be the instructors. The Senior course will offer instruction in both YMCA and Red Cross Life Saving. There will be 22 hours of instruction, half in the class room covering the manual and the other half covering the water part. Each candidate must attend 21 hours of instruction and pass both the written and water tests.

Moonlights At Met He Is Libretto Salesman

Plectinny Arsenal people legally "moonlight" all over the place—as clerks, toy salesmen and pizza foundry cashiers.

Martin Greenfield of 77 Weisel Ave., Springfield, a technical librarian, moonlights at the Met in New York City.

It should be explained immediately that the Met is never confused with the Maf's. The Met is at the top in opera houses and the Maf's are at the bottom in spades.

One night a week Greenfield can be found in the lobby of the Met selling the libretto of whatever opera is being performed that evening.

The job, incidentally, involves some of the toughest competition in the country. The opera patron has a big choice—he can find out what all the whoop's about by consulting either a program or a libretto.

A program carries a synopsis of the opera story, the names of the cast, plus articles on famous singers—and other short features. Against this, the libretto contains only a synopsis and the text in the original language (if it's not being given in English).

THE REASON for the fierce competition? Well, the librettos for a buck whereas the program is free.

That's why Greenfield's top earnings for a night so far were only $2.10.

Patrons who give up a buck for an opera libretto usually do so knowing it's going to last them forever, or close to that span, anyway, because the Met never puts on new operas. (Occasionally, it will deign to dust off an oldie but that's all.)

Librettos carry the names of the characters of an opera—always the same, naturally—but not the names of the singers who will play the roles at any one performance.

Like all the Met's libretto salesmen—about 35 of them—Greenfield likes opera, and counts as pay the opportunity to hear some of his favorites free.

He works as a periodicals reference librarian in the technical information branch, Feltman Research Laboratories, at Plectinny.

Women Bowlers Have Close Race

The Jewels clung to a slim lead as competition grew closer last week in Skittlers' bowling at Springfield Bowl. The Jewels, with a record of 31-20, were closely trailed by the Maf's; 30 1/2-20 1/2, and the Oldtimers, 29 1/2-21 1/2.

Adele Colandrea was high scorer for the week with 174, 160-481. Other leading ladies included Edna Edwards, 177; Mabel Henshaw, 173; Pearl Shmishook, 171; Theresa Hagenbush, 171; Madeline Roth, 169; Mildred Russell, 168; Claire Mutschler, 164; Nancy Burkhardt, 162, and Carol Sikanowicz, 161.

Chemistry Program Planned At Institute

A course in general chemistry, the first in a series leading to an evening school program diploma in chemical technology, may be offered by the Union County Technical Institute, 1160 Globe Ave., Mountainside, if sufficient enrollment is achieved.

The series of courses is offered because of the good employment opportunities available to trained chemical technicians in the local chemical and pharmaceutical industries.

Interested persons may call John R. Green, coordinator, at 233-2211 for application forms and further information.

There is also space available for additional students in the Institute's low pressure boiler operator course and in the staff program in electrical, refrigeration, engineering, courses, blue seal and red seal.

SCIENCE TOPICS

LONG-TERM MEMORY may be a chemical process involving the manufacture of protein by the brain, according to evidence compiled by Dr. Bernard W. Agranoff, University of Michigan. Two unrelated antibiotic drugs, both known to block protein manufacture, were found to impair memory formation in goldfish.

DEWORMING puppies and kittens may help protect children's eyes from Toxocara canis, the common dog roundworm, suggests the American Medical Association. Larvae can enter the bloodstream and reach the peripheral retina area of the eyes, causing blurred vision and inflammation. Adult cats and dogs are less likely to transmit the disease because previous infections may have established immunity to reinfection and recycling of the larvae.

THE U.S. MARKET of nitrogen is increasing at a rate of 25 to 30 per cent annually, says Charles J. Haines, chairman of Chemtron Corporation, Chicago. He also says that some experts expect nitrogen sales to quadruple in the next four or five years, and food industry alone may very well consume nitrogen at the rate the steel industry is currently consuming oxygen.

IT'S PSYCHOLOGICALLY unsound not to tell children they are about to be tooth-extracted, reports Dr. Dewitt C. Baldwin Jr., Harvard University. He says that children require an opportunity to prepare themselves psychologically for the extraction.

ATHLETIC FIELDS may soon become the "hottest spots" in town on wintry days. The U.S. Department of Agriculture says that heating fields by means of buried electrical cables appears to be a practical way to stimulate grass growth and keep soil and turf in top condition throughout the sport season. # THE Golden Years

Medicare, whether you like it or not, whether it's right or wrong, will probably be one of the major developments of your life. No matter how old you are, Medicare will ease some suffering and save some lives of those over age 65, to be sure. But it will go beyond this, to affect the fortunes of people between age 40 and 55, of merchants, of 18-year-olds, and of those in charge of savings accounts at the bank.

Because the illness and threatened illness of Grandpa and Grandma have dammed up a veritable flood of money all these years, and with the coming of Medicare next July the dam is going to let go.

EXAMPLE NO. 1 — William Smith, married and the father of three children, is contributing $40 a month for the medical needs of his aging parents. Whatever it is that ails the parents may well be cured if they get treatment by competent doctors and reasonable hospital care, which will be provided by Medicare but which until now nobody could afford. In any case, this treatment and care can start in July and will be virtually free except for a fee of $3 a month. So, however things go, the son should be freed of his $40 a month burden.

So Smith and his wife will reclaim enough of their income to make installment purchases of a refrigerator and a sofa or a second-hand car. They will be relieved of the constant threat that the $40 could have jumped to $80 at any time. They will be done with one of the serious cockleburrs of marriage, which is "Why are we giving so much money to YOUR parents and so little to mine?"

EXAMPLE NO. 2 — Mr. and Mrs. John Jones, both having retired parents with meager savings and both frightened by the fantastic costs that would fall on them if the parents developed serious illness, are paying health insurance premiums for both sets of parents. Medicare will provide what their premiums have been buying, so in July they will be reclaiming $34 a month to spend. There may still be private insurance to supplement Medicare. But it will not be so expensive. The Jones may feel the supplement is not necessary since Medicare will have eliminated the threat of a financial disaster to them.

EXAMPLE NO. 3 — Jimmy Green, a high school senior intent on entering college soon, has the assurance of a college fund of $2300 his parents have been building for him through the years. But Grandpa, 68, shows up with cancer. And a major operation. And medical bills of $8,300. With savings of $650. There is no health insurance. It is better to save Grandpa than to educate Jimmy, so the $2,300 college fund plus a mortgage on the home goes to the hospitals and doctors.

Medicare will remove the threat to Jimmy's $2,300. The additional expenses it saves his own parents may provide him the money to join a fraternity.

Mallon Adds Car Prepping Center

Mallon Irvington, New Jersey's largest Pontiac-Tempes dealer, will soon double its service facilities and at the same time alleviate traffic problems at its main 1129 Springfield Ave. showroom, according to Edwin A. Neubeck, president of Mallon Suburban Motors.

Mallon Irvington will achieve both ends when it puts into operation a new car preparation center in a new building at 21st and Nye Ave., Irvington. The addition will house a new metal, paint and body shop.

"The continual growth of our business over the year said Neubeck, with a 45% increase in 1965 over 1964, has made this new plant necessary in our plans for the future."

All 1966 cars will be delivered by trailer directly to the 21st street location, where they will be unloaded, stored, road tested and prepared for customer delivery. Body and paint repair work also will be handled at the new plant, with towing operations headquartered away from the main showrooms.

Mallon Irvington will use the space gained in the Springfield Ave. building to expedite regular customer service facilities and for the establishment of a "Quick Service Department" which will be able to offer service of minor repairs on a "while-you-wait" basis.

The new Mallon Irvington facility is located in Murray Industrial Park and was built by Murray Construction Co. The building provides 15,000 square feet of room.

Robert D. Lilley (left), New Jersey Bell president, discusses construction plans for a new $2,000,000 switching center in Newark.

This year, New Jersey Bell's construction bill will be over $150,000,000. Why?

Just to keep ahead of New Jersey's amazing growth — that's the main reason. And we believe that our state's growth will be even more spectacular in the future. Today's building program is to make sure that we will be ready for it.

More service — plus new services

It's not just a matter of more telephone service. There are many remarkable new services — some for business, some for your home. For example, the Trimline® phone with the dial in the handset will become available later this year. And Touch-Tone® push-button phones are being introduced area by area.

Building all over state

We're pushing ahead with over 1,000 construction projects in different parts of New Jersey. In Landisville, for instance, we'll break ground in April for a $100,000 central office. A $600,000 addition will be added to the Accounting Center in Teaneck. And we'll complete work this spring on a new $2,000,000 switching center in Newark.

More employment for New Jersey

Our 1966 program will provide hundreds of new jobs, both inside and outside the company. What's more, Western Electric and Bell Laboratories as well as New Jersey Bell will be buying from over 3,300 local companies. It all adds up to a major contribution to our state's economy.

Earning to pay for the program

Of course, our building program depends on our earnings. A large part of each year's profits go into this building for the future. In addition, adequate earnings are essential to attract the new capital needed to do the job.

Our construction plans are big, and will probably grow bigger. But one thing becomes more apparent with every year I spend in the telephone business: The best of buildings — the most advanced equipment — are only tools. It's the telephone people who count. The high quality of your phone service depends on the New Jersey Bell men and women who do their jobs well. After all — people serving people — that's what New Jersey Bell is all about.

Recording Studio Sets Open House

Deblyn Record-Inc. will hold an open house Sunday at their new recording studios at 1412 Stuyvesant Ave., Union. On hand to entertain during the 1 to 7 p.m. reception will be Pat Gallo, recording artist now appearing at Chez Charles in Newark, and Marlene DeJon, who has appeared on the Clay Cole Show.

Jerry Ferrara of Irvington and Joseph Frisco of East Orange head the Deblyn firm, which formerly had its offices in Orange.

Among their latest ventures was the recording of "Christmas Is Near" by Ferrara's little daughter, Debbie, backed by the Archbishop Walsh High School Chorus of Irvington. Debbie is now cutting two more songs "Good Ship Lollipop" and "Little Girl."

Some children from Boston were visiting relatives in Arizona. They came into the house laughing. It seems that the neighborhood youngsters, not being used to the New England brood "ras" and rolling "r's" accent had asked them what foreign country they belonged to.

Five-year-old Billy asked, "Hey, Mom, do you wake up tired?" She admitted that sometimes that was the case. When upon the "commercial-minded" youngsters volunteered, "I think a second cup of coffee might help you!"

Ginny's parents had gone to a party and left the little three-year-old in the living room. As she had gone, Ginny announced, "My mother is coming back for me and when I wake up I'll be in my own bed, cuz when she says she'll do something, she always does!"

Harry was being questioned by his uncle as to his name. His father's name and the telephone number. He gave correct answers but when asked where he lived he replied, "Oh, you can't see the house, it's too far off."

Podiatrists' Topic Is Arthritis Treatment

One type of treatment for arthritis, the common ailment in this region, will be discussed by Dr. Milton E. Asher of Jersey City at next Tuesday's meeting of the Eastern Division of the New Jersey Podiatry Society. The group will meet at the White Laboratories in Gallatin Hill Rd., Kenilworth.

Dr. Asher will discuss "Steroid" injections in rheumatic disorders, directing his remarks particularly to the foot area. Medical science has not yet overcome arthritis, but is progressing in relieving the suffering in certain types.

Union Junior College Sets April 15 Deadline

George P. Lynes, admissions officer, announced this week that Friday, April 15, has been set as the deadline for receiving applications for the Day Session for the coming fall semester at Union Junior College, Cranford.

Lynes pointed out that the deadline is earlier than a year ago, as the result of the greatly increased volume of applications. As of Jan. 4, 698 applications were on hand for the Day Session next fall, which is 25 percent more than the number received at this time a year ago.

Reminder Letters Mailed Out On Medicare Insurance Plan

The Social Security Administration mailed out a million reminder letters last week to social security beneficiaries who have not signed up for the supplementary medical insurance plan of Medicare.

Medicare kits, including an enrollment card for the medical insurance plan, were sent during the last week of the 1965 social security and railroad retirement beneficiaries' 65 or over. About two-thirds of these people have sent back their cards, and 90 percent have received letters for medical insurance under Medicare.

In New Jersey, Ralph W. Jones, social security district director in Elizabeth, said that 75,000 people receive Medicare kits and enrollment cards last year. As to the first week in January, 367,261 had signed up for the supplementary medical insurance plan.

"Many of the people who have not signed up may not understand how the plan will work and what it offers," he added. The letter going out from social security headquarters in Baltimore, Md., this week should answer some of their questions.

Enclosed with this second letter is another enrollment card in case they lost the first one or sent it in error. "No" and "have since changed their minds" are the two reasons for not signing up for the supplementary medical insurance plan. If your coverage is to begin as soon as the Medicare program goes into effect, you have to be enrolled by March 31, 1966.

"The medical insurance program, like the basic hospital insurance plan, will be paid for by the beneficiary in cash. It will be automatically deducted from the monthly checks of social security, railroad retirement and civil service retirees.

"The primary message carried in the reminder letter, Jones said, is that people who over 65 have until March 31 to sign up for the optional medical insurance plan if their coverage is to begin on July 1.

"Anyone who still has questions about this part of Medicare should get it tough with the social security office," Jones concluded. "The Social Security Administration is anxious to make sure that everyone who is eligible makes an informed decision about Medicare -- and makes it before the 31st of March." The social security office in Elizabeth is located at 268 North Broad St.

New York Professor To Speak At College

Dr. Robert A. Kavech, professor of Economics and Finance at the State University of New York at Albany, will speak at an "Economic Seminar" at 2:15 p.m. on Friday, Feb. 8 in the Union Junior College auditorium. Entitled "1966 - A Challenge to the Investor," will be his topic.

An economist, analyst and author, Dr. Kavech is secretary-treasurer of the American Finance Association and was formerly senior economic specialist and business economist of the Chase Manhattan Bank. The seminar is being sponsored by Union County Trust Company.

Trap Shoot Event Planned Sunday

The 30th Annual William Drake Memorial Shoot at "Trap" will be conducted by the Union County Park Commission at the County Park Trap and Shoot grounds, off Kenilworth Blvd., Cranford, on Sunday at 2 p.m.

This shoot, a 50-target handicap event, was won by Carl Blank of Cranford in 1965 and in 1964.

The County Park Trap and Shoot field are open to the public on Saturdays and Sundays from 11 to 5 p.m. Shots of all gauges are available on the grounds.

Miss Barbara Lee Holub Is Bride Of Princeton Man

Miss Barbara Lee Holub, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Holub of 657 Duquesne ter., Union, was married Jan. 15 to Robert William Timberlake, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Timberlake of Franklin, O.

Dr. Ernest Campbell officiated at a candlelight, double ring ceremony in First Presbyterian Church, Ann Arbor, Mich. A reception followed for more than 300 people in the First Presbyterian Social Hall. Guests were present from New Jersey, New York, Long Island, Georgia, Illinois, Massachusetts, Michigan, North Carolina and Ohio.

Miss Elaine Wisheart of Union, a senior at Duke University, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Marilyn Maloney of Union and Miss Lydia Burr, Miss Christine Francis, Miss Susan Bowler and Miss Gretchen Cater, all of Ann Arbor.

Alan Timberlake, a sophomore at Harvard University, served as best man for his brother. Ushers included Thomas Bonny of Franklin, O.; William Curry and Loren Young, both of Atlanta, Ga.; Jack Timberlake of Illinois, brother of the groom; and Phillip Carlson of Illinois.

Mrs. Timberlake, who was graduated from Union High School, is a senior at the University of Michigan, where she is studying for a B.S. degree in nursing. She is a member of Alpha Phi Sorority.

Her husband, an alumnus of the University of Michigan, plays professional football for the New York Giants. In the off season, he is a student at the Theological Seminary in Princeton, where he is studying for the ministry. He is a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity, the Michigan Senior Men's Honorary Society and is a charter member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes in Ann Arbor.

Following a honeymoon trip to Arabia, the couple will reside in Princeton.

Hospital Aide Feted At Farewell Party

A farewell luncheon at The Lavin was given to Mrs. Harry Livermore of 367 Putnam rd., Union, by friends who served at the Information Desk with her at Elizabeth General Hospital.

Mrs. Livermore has been a volunteer at the hospital for 23 years.

It was estimated at the hospital that she has served more than 6,000 hours during her tour of duty.

Her husband was recently retired from Esso, and the Livermores are moving to Sea Girt, where Mrs. Livermore says she plans to volunteer at the hospital nearest to her new home.

SPECIAL LIGHTING HAS LIMITED USE FOR SOME TASKS

Small, high intensity lamps which you're seeing on the market today are excellent for critical tasks that require high levels of concentrated light. However, they are not recommended for prolonged hours of desk work at home or at the office.

This high intensity lamp gives no upward light; it produces a confined light pattern, harsh shadows and an annoying reflected glare, says Miss Gena Thames, extension specialist in home furnishings at the College of Agriculture and Environmental Science, Rutgers University.

However, when used properly as "plus" lighting along with good, ample illumination elsewhere in the room, the high intensity lamp is excellent for fine handwork, repairs and hobbies for short periods.

But encourage family members to develop the habit of having good ample illumination throughout the room to dispel some of the high intensity lamp's harsh shadows and glare, Miss Thames said.

B'NAI B'RITH SETS THEATER PARTY, 400 BALL, DANCE

The B'nai B'rith Women of Union will hold a luncheon and theater party on Feb. 16. Luncheon will be served at The Tavern on the Green in New York City, which will be followed by a visit to a matinee performance of Broadway's "The Castles Flower," with Lauren Bacall and Barry Nelson. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Leo Boyer, chairman, at MU 7-1204. Transportation will be provided.

The B'nai B'rith Women, Northern New Jersey Council, will sponsor a "400 Ball," on the evening of Feb. 5 at the Waldorf Astoria's Starlight Roof. Mrs. Nathan Shanan of Linden is overall chairman; Mrs. Sidney Janowsky, reservations chairman; Mrs. Leonard Chabrin, donor chairman; and Mrs. Alvin Krevsky is council president.

Cocktails and dinner will be served, followed by music for dancing by Harry Lennon and his society orchestra. The formal ball is being offered as a reward for members who raise five donors. Proceeds will go toward B'nai B'rith's many philanthropic projects.

Mrs. Daniel Zweben, president of the Union chapter, and local members will be in attendance. Local chapter chairman is Mrs. Milton Simon.

WEIGHT CONTROL CLASSES SLATED

Miss Anne L. Sheefer, County Home economist, has announced that due to numerous requests from homemakers in Union County on the subject of "Weight Control," the Home Economics Extension Service is holding a series of five meetings.

The meetings are being held in the Home Economics Extension auditorium, 7 Bridge st., Elizabeth, from 9:30 a.m. until 12 p.m. Wednesday.

The first meeting was conducted yesterday.

As a special attraction, the second and third sessions will feature a guest speaker, Miss Audrey Burkart, assistant specialist in foods and nutrition at the College of Agriculture, Rutgers University.

For registration or additional information, the public may contact the Extension Service at 1106 Elizabeth ave., Elizabeth, or call 353-5000.

There is no charge for any of the Extension Service programs.

James Mueller's Wedding Is Held In Park Ridge, Ill.

Miss Sandra Jean Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Smith of Park Ridge, Ill., was married Saturday to James William Mueller, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Mueller of 400 Crawford ter., Union.

The marriage ceremony was conducted in First Methodist Church, Park Ridge. A reception followed at the home of the bride.

Miss Penny Barley of Warren, O., served as maid of honor. Miss Joan Mueller of Union, sister of the groom, was a bridesmaid.

Richard Schaub of Manhattan, N.Y., served as best man. Ushers included Michael Talbot of Union, James Barnes of Union and Stephen Smith of Park Ridge, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Mueller, who was graduated from Chatham College,

Trimming Offers Clothes Look Of Quality, Richness

Trimming is often the custom touch for a good looking outfit. However, the cost or amount of trimming for an outfit does not always assume a successful custom.

In finding the right trimming detail, it is easy to get an idea from the fabric or the style of a garment. Or, adapt an idea from a ready-made style.

Trimming is important, but not every garment needs trimming. Judge trimming by whether, or not it creates a spotty effect or subtly enhances the overall design. It helps to answer the question of whether trimming improves with the use of accessories of jewelry or with the overall costume?

Buttons tend to be the first type of trimming most people think of. A wide variety of buttons are available to choose from as a trimming detail.

A more ambitious undertaking could be to design and make your own version of buttons. These may be in the form of pom-poms, crocheted, fringed, or flower forms.

Matching wool yarn is often used to make pom-pom buttons. Count the number of loops before cutting so there is consistency in the size of the pom-poms. The cut loops can be trimmed in a rounded effect or can be left long as desired.

Buttons with fringe of matching fabric will be a conversation piece on a suit. To make, first cover a round button. Next, pull lengthwise thread from center of strip thus forming an uncut fringe with a wavy edge.

Fold the fringed part in half lengthwise and sew through the remaining wavy seam allowance with a running stitch.

Draw fringe to form a circle and press flat. Sew one or two divides of fold fringe to the under edge of the covered button.

To make one type of crocheted button, first make a bias cording of matching material. Next, make a small loop of the bias cord and stitch by hand. Then make

Miss Nancy Jane Parnell Is Wed To Programmer

Miss Nancy Jane Parnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Parnell of Schuyler way, Union, was married Saturday to Donald H. Miller, son of Mrs. John Miller of Parsippany, and the late Mr. John Miller.

Dr. Stevens of the Central Presbyterian Church performed the ceremony. A reception followed at the Suburban Hotel, Summit.

Miss Alice Miller, sister of the groom, served as maid of honor. Miss Bonnie Langsam was a bridesmaid.

Alfred Miller, brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers included Robert Miller and John Miller, brothers of the groom.

The bride, who was graduated from Cedar Crest College, is a technical writer for Bell Labs, Whippany.

Her husband, who attended Rutgers University, is a programmer for the National Newark and Essex Bank, Bloomfield.

St. Paul's Rosarians Set 'Wild West' Show

St. Paul's the Apostle Altar and Rosary Society, Irvington, will hold a "Wild West" show and dance Saturday evening at 8:30 in the auditorium of the church.

A "Rhythm-Trotting Round-Up" will be highlighted by a stage show, featuring the church's Rosarians and the Holy Name net.

Mrs. Stanley Blackowski, chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Joseph Colella and Mrs. Gerald Colella. Dancing will be to Jack Richmond and his orchestra.

Club Establishes New Scholarship To Assist Handicapped At College

The Rahway Chapter of the Indoor Sports Club, Cranford, this week announced the establishment of a scholarship at Union Junior College to help a handicapped person aiming toward an associate in arts degree attend the college.

The scholarship would be for $100 and would be used for educational expenses other than tuition, such as books, fees, laboratory fees and purchase of any special equipment he may require to attend classes at Union Junior College.

Westmoreland Says 'Thank You' To UJC

Gen. W. C. Westmoreland, commander of the United States Military Assistance Command in Vietnam, has sent a personal letter to Miss Sophie Nicholas, president of Sigma Alpha Pi sorority at Union Junior College, Cranford, thanking her for petitions expressing support for United States forces in Vietnam.

"On behalf of all the servicemen in this command, I extend my heartfelt thanks to each member of Union Junior College and each citizen of Cranford who signed this statement of support," Gen. Westmoreland said.

Visiting Nurses Visit Contemporary Club

Two members of the Visiting Nurses' Association were guests yesterday at a meeting of the Contemporary Club of Union, held at the home of Mrs. Anthony Carracino of Frederick ter., Union.

Mrs. Alfred Guenzler, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Edward Bonner, R. N., supervisor, who exhibited a film called "Long Day's Journey" and Miss Lois Blach, who discussed public health nurses' service of Union.

A FEMININE LOOK

Commentary on a recent National Newspaper Association Study Mission to the British Isles and Scandinavia

By TRUDINA HOWARD

FOURTEENTH IN A SERIES
STOCKHOLM.

Of all the countries the National Newspaper Association Study Mission visited in Europe only Sweden, Great Britain and Iceland drove us "crazy." That is, we drove down, or is it up the streets in just the opposite way than we do here.

Stockholm at least, has only one car to each seven persons, 85,000 small boats in the waters around the city — for the city is built, not on seven hills, but on 14 islands — and a subway. But most of all, it is going to change to the "right" side on Dec. 3, 1967... all in one day.

"Why in the winter?" I asked one official, "wouldn't the lack of ice and snow and the summer light be more help? (Stockholm has very little daylight hours and little sunshine in the winter.)"

"Surely," said he, "but only one-half the cars are on the road in winter. Which is a good reason."

But if the winter weather and the driving are left-handed no to speak, the courtesy, friendliness and hospitality in Sweden certainly are not, and the driving system didn't stop one man in our party, Jackson Baty of Osage, Iowa, from taking his courage in both his hands and renting a car. A terrific rental no less. Then he and his equally courageous and beautiful wife, Jeannette, and a few more brave souls, drove to Uppsala.

UPPSALA IN SWEDEN not only is a city of 84,000 people but it is the name of Uppsala University, the "mother" school to Uppsala College in Elm Orange, and the home city of Dag Hammarskjöld.

It lies about 40 miles from Stockholm and we took the long way around to see the countryside too. We were in a Volvo car which cost $32 for 24 hours on the basis of $5 a day plus seven cents a mile plus the expensive gasoline. Prices are generally high in Stockholm and good housing very short. One bunch of celery, for instance, was one dollar.

When we reached Uppsala we found a grove of trees on the outskirts of town and had a picnic. The hotel in Stockholm had packed a sandwich lunch for us and these sandwiches were the largest I had ever seen. Since Uppsala is a dry town because of the University, we had soda — not beer — with the monster sandwiches and then in town bought ice-cream cones which also were immense.

We were the only tourists in the entire city, I am sure. We went through a splendid Lutheran cathedral and visited Dag Hammarskjöld's grave and we were completely alone.

Mr. Hammarskjöld's grave is in a large family plot in a cemetery in the middle of town.

It took some doing to find it for no one spoke English, but everyone understood, "Hammarskjöld."

The plot is headed by a large, rough, unsymmetrical stone with Hammarskjöld on it. The individual family members' names are in stonish flutings on the ground and "Dag Hammarskjöld" is one.

On the grave the day we were there, was a letter encased in plastic, and a round burl of wood which some Californians had placed there during the summer. The letter said that a group of Californians had dedicated a redwood grove to Mr. Hammarskjöld and brought one piece of a tree, a burl, to Sweden and placed it on the grave.

And there, sprouting out from that piece of wood was a tender green young redwood shoot.

ON MY FIRST VISIT to Stockholm in 1960 we had two guides who were memorable, and one, Janie, was tender, young and lovely too. She sang folk songs for us and cried when we left and quoted, "To say goodbye is to die a little."

But the other one, Ingrid, was a dynamo and fully packed. It was Ingrid who told us with great gusto and great gestures — and in a light but direct way — all the little interesting things. How, for instance, the Swedes love tiny crayfish that come into season only once a year (late summer) and how lucky we were to be there when the season was on. Twenty crayfish to a good grade of each life, preferably taken under moonlight by the water's edge on a late picnic.

Needless to say, most of us had crayfish that night.

On this trip most of us went to an elegant restaurant one night that was an excellent coffee in the "old city" and didn't get crayfish. It was called "Fratelli" and had Swedish-Latin American Italian cuisine. It also had, according to some members in our group, "exceptional" prices. But then they did cut the peaches like roses and the oranges in fancy twists and peel the grapes, even if they didn't acknowledge crayfish and schnaps.

ONE OF THE FIRST things tourists are shown in Stockholm is the Klara. This is an underground garage or sometimes a symposium or a shopping center, but in reality it is a bomb shelter. The Klara was saw can hold 15,000 people and its lowest level is 88 feet below sea level.

It is blasted out of rock with reinforced concrete; water wells under the Klara provide water. Independently generated systems supply electricity and waste pumps provide sanitary facilities. There are four of these shelters and they can take 50,000 people. The one we saw was holding 300 cars instead of the day we were there and they were mostly small cars such as Volvos, Ford Zephyrs, little Ford station wagons, Karmann-Ghias, Porsches, VWs and Mercedes. It seems all things but cars come big in Sweden — ice cream cones, sandwiches, prices, Klara, girls — even the King's Palace has 608 rooms.

And The Town Hall! Town Halls in Europe are generally large and handsome, but the one in Stockholm is even more so. Healthy Ingrid had hiked — through it on an afternoon when we were all grumbly and tired — of walking through rooms, and would rather have faced a cheering schnaps than the huge town hall — and it was the same this time. But wait! I panted, "It is worth it! Wait until you see the last room."

And all at once our guide stood before two immense carved wood doors about two-stories high and simply said, "This is the last thing I have to show you — and will one of you gentlemen please help me slide the doors open, because EACH ONE WEIGHS ONE TON!"

While everyone was still catching their breaths on this statement, the doors slid open easily (she really didn't need help for the engineering made the opening easy), and there before us was a solid gold banquet room!

This woke everyone up. Twenty-five million pieces of gold mosaic line the walls and a picture history of the East and West are in color mosaic at one end of the room. It is magnificent. The room is approximately 150x50 feet and about three stories in height.

Goldfinger where are you? But as one of the officials at a briefing at the Foreign Ministry said, "We now must cut it short and go to the next room to meet some more guests and we can continue in a more civilized manner perhaps with a glass — in our hands." So I too must now cut it short.

Ballet School Classes To Reopen Monday

Classes reopen Monday for the spring semester at the New Jersey School of Ballet, official school of the New Jersey Ballet Co. at 327 Main street, Orange. Instruction is offered in ballet, point, modern jazz and variation.

The faculty is headed by Miss Carolyn Clark, former Metropolitan Opera Ballet and American Ballet Theater dancer, now assisting choreographer. Matt Mattox on TV's Bell Telephone Hour and for the upcoming Broadway musical, "Little World-Hello." Mattox also will be teaching at the school.

TRUDINA HOWARD, writer of the "A Feminine Look" column for this newspaper is flanked by theatrical producers Gerald Keane, left, and Bruce Graham of The Acting Company. The trio are recently named trustees of the Clinton Theatre Festival, Inc., newly-formed nonprofit organization in Hunterdon County. The Festival will sponsor a year-round program of professional theatre events with related community activities. Last summer The Acting Company put in its first season at the Clinton Music Hall with Philip Burton resident director. Burton will be artistic director for The Festival.

Tips for Today's Homemaker

From Carolyn Yukawa, County Home Economist

Busy women find that a regular schedule of grooming clothes care keeps them looking their best. But busy women also find that a regular schedule cannot always be followed. Therefore, some quick tricks can tide one over for the moment, as long as such tricks do not become a habit.

For example, a long hard day and a late night is going to make anyone look haggard the next morning. A handy cosmetic for hiding dark circles will do wonders for that lack-of-sleep look.

When you haven't had time to set your hair or for a trip to the beauty parlor and your hairdo isn't up to par, wear your prettiest hat. Whether it is hiding a deflated hairdo or completing a costume, a hat is always a quick trick that does wonders for your appearance.

If there is going to be a mad rush between activities and you are dead tired, try to manage enough time in between to wash your face and apply fresh makeup.

Five or ten minutes on a couch or bed with your feet elevated will help you relax and really feel refreshed. When possible a change of shoes and stockings will make your feet feel more comfortable.

When your colored nail polish has chipped badly, the shortest way to a new manicured look is to whisk out the old color, and it makes no difference if some of the rosy glow remains. Add a coat of quick drying clear polish and the result will be a new light shade.

The old trick of keeping an extra pair of stockings in a desk drawer, purse or glove compartment of the car will pay off in the long run.

Seam rips are most exasperating and damaging to a good appearance. A handy traveling sewing kit will be well worth the space it takes for such emergencies.

Nothing makes a person look more bedraggled than a loose hem that is hanging down. Sticky tape will remedy this situation in a hurry but remember to repair the hem correctly before sending the garment to the dry cleaners.

Keep a couple of small safety pins, straight pins, hair pins and dimes — and needles — in a small change purse for emergency clothing repair, telephone calls and parking.

LEARNING WITH MONEY

"C'mon to the movies, Bud. It's a good show," called Harry.

"Not tonight — I'm too broke." "Ah," sneers Harry, "you can't be broke with all that money you get. You're just crazy!"

Bud considers changing his mind; it is a good show. But then he remembers the plaid jacket in the store downtown. If he doesn't go to the movies and saves for another week, he'll have that jacket. He really wants it for next week too, there's the football game with Sally and the dance afterward.

Bud's parents overhear this conversation and have an idea why Bud refused to go to the movies.

Their eyes meet proudly. They are pleased with their son and with each other. They laugh as they remember his anguish when he realized he had spent his whole week's money on a broken jackknife. That was a real lesson — and he learned the hard way.

But the experience left an impression for the future. He's always been able to get a good value for his money from then on. Frequently his purchases haven't seemed necessary to his parents, but they were things Bud wanted and used.

His parents increased his allowance to include buying some clothes. Father and mother thought they had made a mistake the day Bud came home with a new sport shirt instead of the socks he really needed.

But he learned from that too. He bought his socks the next week.

He must have realized the shirt was an extravagance, because he certainly took good care of it. That was a big surprise after the way he had thrown his clothes around before.

When he was managing pretty well, his allowance was increased to include all his clothes. His parents figured out how much they spent on his clothing for the whole year, then gave him that same amount on a weekly basis.

It seemed like a lot of money for a high-school boy, and they worried about it. At the end of the first year, they were both proud and surprised to realize that Bud had bought the clothes he wanted and needed and that he took much better care of them.

VOLUNTEER GUILD ANNUAL BALL SET FOR MAY EVENING

A regular monthly meeting of the Memorial General Hospital Volunteer Guild was held Jan. 20, at McMahon's Realty Office, 1585 Morris Ave., Union. A discussion was conducted concerning the annual charity ball dinner-dance to be held May 21 at the "Siburban" Hotel in Summit. Members were requested to recruit additional volunteers needed for daytime work in the coffee shop and gift shop in addition to week-end desk workers.

Plans were made for a matinee theater party in May, to see the Broadway play "Cactus Flower." Service awards were announced: 100 hour certificate, Miss Dorothy Roberts; 200 hour pin, Miss Daphne Thorpe; and 1,000 hour bar, Mrs. Millard Anderson.

Volunteers have donated 81,687 hours of service to the hospital. A new class for nurses aide has been formed, and anyone interested in information on future classes may call Mrs. James Hazelet, guild president, at MU 6-4516.

Mrs. George Metters of the Merle Norman Studio, Elizabeth, concluded the evening with a demonstration on the art of cosmetics.

At the next meeting on Feb. 17, Dr. Michael Sutin will speak on "Osteopathy and Its Purpose." Interested non-members are invited.

Cancer Research Group To Hold Annual Meeting

The Ruth Estrin Goldberg Memorial for Cancer Research will hold its annual paid-up membership meeting Monday at 8:15 p.m. at Temple Sharey Shalom, Springfield.

August DiFlorio, guest speaker, will discuss classroom diplomacy as practiced at the United Nations.

Members and their husbands, who also have been invited to attend, will be served refreshments at a social hour before the meeting and at the conclusion of the program. It has been announced by the hospital chairman, Mrs. Esia Kilberg, and Mrs. Rose Avnet, both of Union.

Mrs. Shirley Goldstein of Springfield, president, will conduct a brief business meeting. She has announced that members who have not paid their dues will be charged an admission fee which will be credited to their dues.

The evening activities have been arranged by the membership chairman who are Mrs. Myra Abramson and Mrs. Carol Oltasky, both of Union, and Mrs. Phyllis Bern.

LOOKING FOR JOB? WIVES ARE URGED TO THINK AHEAD

Working home makers are making an important contribution to the increase in family income. The working wife is the reason rather than the exception today, and her primary motive for working is to improve her family's standard of living. If you are considering joining the full or part-time workers, there are several factors you and your family should consider before you seek that job. Mrs. Cleo M. Cottrill, extension specialist in home management-family economics at the College of Agriculture and Environmental Science, Rutgers University, suggests you answer the following questions:

Will your family be financially ahead if you work? It costs money to make money. From your expected income deduct necessary work expenses and other expenditures that will increase due to your employment. These may be income taxes, social security, transportation, lunches, extra-clothing and personal care, household help and child care. To conserve time and energy, you may purchase in part or fully prepared foods for the family meals, resulting in larger expenditures for food. Will the balance of your income be financially worthwhile? Is your family prepared to assume responsibility for sharing household tasks? Management of time will be important to you and your family. You will need to question the necessity of every task, work out new shortcuts and share the housekeeping with other members of the family. By answering these questions, states the New Jersey State University specialist, you and the family can decide whether the monetary gains outweigh the disadvantages.

Spirited Dayton Quintet Tops Clark Regional, Union

Varsity To Play Cranford Team

By MYRON MEISEL

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School basketball team is in high spirits this week, and slightly so. The Bulldogs emerged from two contests last week with two victories, both against teams that represented major challenges for the Dayton five.

The Bulldogs defeated Arthur J. Johnson Regional High School of Clark, 33-40, and edged out Union High School, 59-53.

Upcoming matches include Cranford High School, tomorrow evening at 8 a.m., and a home contest next Tuesday, at 7:30, against Hillside High School.

The pair of victories keep alive the chance for a winning season, with only six games remaining. Head Coach Ray Yanchus was deservedly optimistic.

"Last week represents a turning point," he commented. "Inasmuch as many of our players, so to speak, found themselves, particularly offensively."

Joe Buccelloni was exceptionally accurate from the floor. His high scoring was the key to the Bulldogs' success last week.

"The offense of our captain, Kerry Tompkins, also was a great asset. He scored 15 points against Union, playing his finest game of the season, in addition to his usually strong defense and aggressive rebounding."

The maturing of our offense, however, came as an extension of the team's defensive training and ability. Bill Murphy, despite the fact that he rarely scored, proved himself vital against some of the most difficult men in the conference, and succeeding better than most other players had done in the past.

"Steve Hirschorn, although not scoring as much as earlier, has also found his role. He is a play-maker. He feeds deftly, and picked off the right man at the right time and place. His ball handling under pressure was superb."

Key victories were especially important for Dayton. Until now, including earlier in the season, the Bulldogs had never defeated Clark. Beating Union, a considerably larger school, also generated greater spirit than a routine opponent could have.

The game against the Crusaders of Clark was a see-saw affair, with Bulldog rallies at crucial points carrying the game. An early steal by Hirschorn set the early pace of a fast-moving offense. Earlier, it was offensive weakness and poor foul-shooting that cost Dayton a loss to Clark in the opener.

Now, in mid-season, these same factors were decisive in the Bulldog victory. Swift passing broke apart the Crusader defense and, driven by Mike Lester placed Dayton ahead, 7-4. But an one-man rally by Clark's Bill Jann tied up the score.

Tompkins of Dayton, however, quickly broke for a basket, drawing and sinking the added foul shot, again regaining the lead. But Clark height proved to be too much on the boards, and the Crusaders emerged from the first quarter with a 14-11 lead.

The second quarter was largely even, each team alternating in scoring. Dayton, however, sliced the Clark edge to a slight one point, 23-22, at the half.

The third quarter was the turning point for the Bulldogs. Led by Tompkins, whose fast passing, swift fakes and driving speed were never more evident, the Dayton cagers pushed their way up to a 22 lead after four minutes. Despite Crusader threats, Hirschorn's accurate shot from the outside maintained the five-point lead.

Until the end of the third quarter, the Clark team's chief asset had been control of the boards. Fred Mates, guarded by Bill Murphy, had been both the rebounding and scoring cornerstone for the Crusaders. But Murphy's pressure defense drew two offensive fouls from Mates, who left the game during the third quarter. Murphy had also managed to hold Mates to one of his lowest scoring games, with just 11 points.

With Mates on the bench, Bulldogs Brian Sheehan and Mike Lester caught nearly every rebound, displaying aggressive work on the offensive board in particular. This, coupled with Buccelloni's shooting from the corner, for the first time in the season created a Bulldog team that ran like a machine, perfectly coordinated.

Big Lead

The final touch was when the Clark backcourt man, Nick Falzone, injured himself on an offensive foul against Sheehan. Demoralized, the Clark offense was weak and floundering scoring only two minutes, the Bulldogs led by 17 points for Springfield. Dayton led going into the final quarter, 39-29.

The fourth quarter produced a threat. Clark put in its second team, refocused and forced the Bulldogs had narrowed to 40-36. But Buccelloni, with several goals of his own, the score 45-37 at the four-minute mark.

Sheehan then finished off the victory in a well-balanced performance, displaying off-setting Clark pressure as well as rebounding well. Sheehan sank three deft field goals in succession to give the Bulldogs a secure victory, 53-40.

Union Falls

Foul-shooting, formerly a Bulldog weakness, gave them the Union decision. High-pressure defense by the Bulldogs gave them numerous one-and-one situations, with Dayton shooters sinking 19 out of 26 shots. The Flyers were restricted to 11 for 18.

In fact, Union out-scored Dayton from the floor 42-40, and the foul shots were the margin of victory for the Bulldogs. The game was close, with the lead frequently changing hands.

The contest brought out three particularly fine individual performances by Bulldogs: Buccelloni, Tompkins and Murphy. Buccelloni kept a tight Farmer defense open by shooting well from the outside and Tompkins pulled the Bulldogs' defensive fast of the season in dropping his man, Pete Sant'angelo, the key Union scorer from 20 points the game before to only three against Dayton.

Despite the fast pace, the score was 46-44 with five minutes remaining to the game. Mike Lester burst through to break the deadlock, and the Bulldogs rallied to hold the team winning, 59-53.

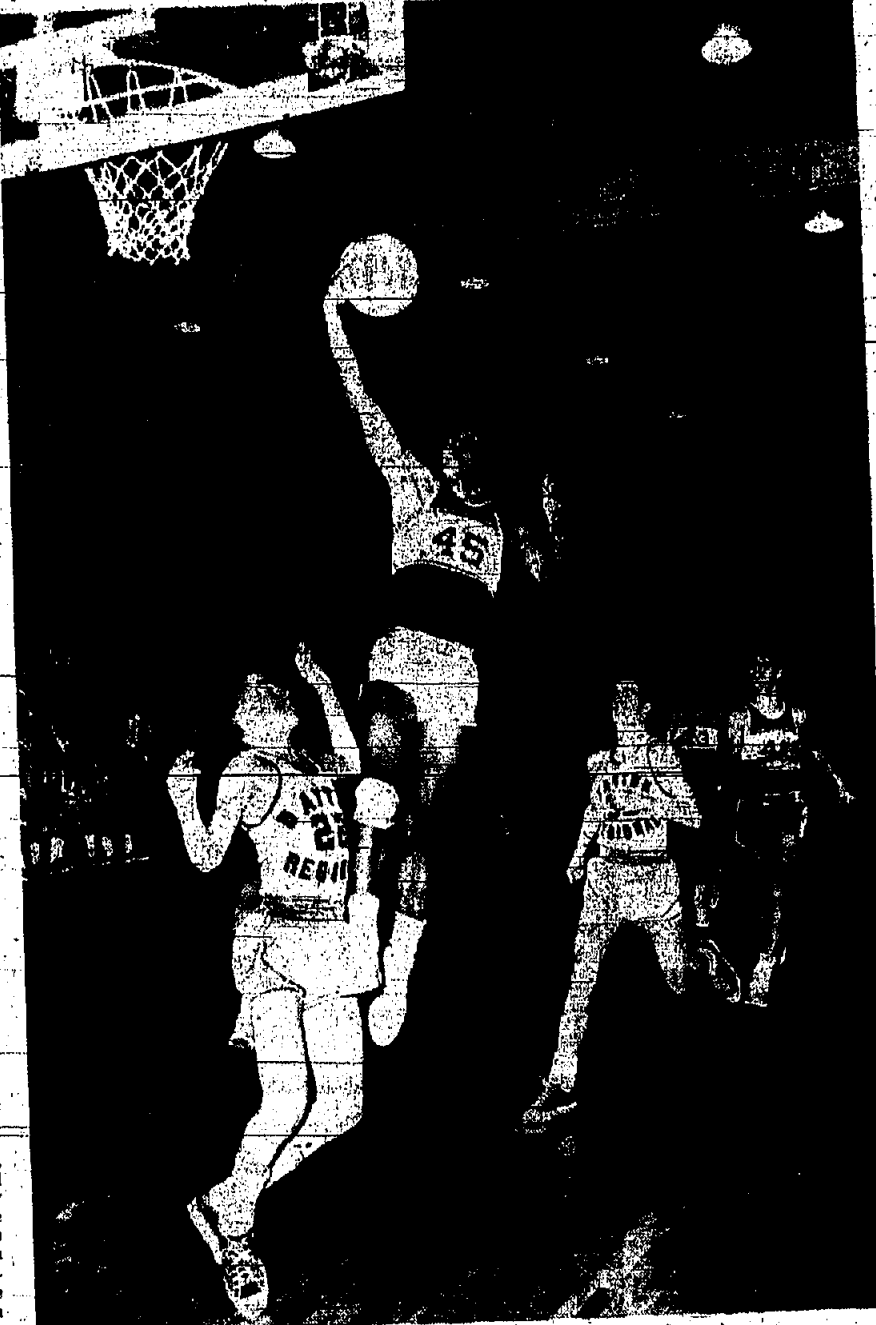

"On the whole, the outlook for the team is considerably improved. The squad has, I believe, finally adjusted itself, and matured offensively," the coach said.

Speedy Cranford Team

Yanchus was hopeful, but not especially confident as to the upcoming contests. "Cranford (8-4 at this writing) is not as strong as it has been in previous years, but has a great advantage in speed. We are in a better position than we have been in previous years against them, especially if the quality of last week's game carries over, but the game should be quite difficult."

"Cranford also plays a pressure defense similar to ours. The battle should be tight. Taking into account the intensity of both of our defenses, it would not be surprising if the contest ends up being decided at the foul line."

Hillside (4-9) is likewise a strong team. We just let them earlier in the season. We had a seven-point lead, but let down towards the end to give them the game. I expect no such let-down against them again."

A JUMPING JACK—Elliott Maddox of Union leaps high to grab rebound during game against Dayton Regional last week at Springfield. Looking on are Steve Hirschorn (22) and Billy Murphy of Dayton Regional and Gary Gordon (41) of Union, Dayton Regional won game.

Undeclared Cornell Team Has Lead In Ivy League Basketball

Cornell stands alone to lead in Ivy League competition. The Springfield Recreation Department's Ivy League has completed the third week of play, and only the big red team of Cornell has a spotless record. The boys meet each Saturday afternoon at the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School gymnasium.

The opening contest last week saw Dartmouth score its first victory of the season, topping Harvard by the score of 32 to 18. Dartmouth displayed a fine working unit in this game and should prove to be trouble for the league during the season.

Keith Brownlie and Phil Stokes paced the scorers for Dartmouth. Each boy collected nine points and played strongly throughout the contest. Dave Epstein and Steve Dorsky, with six points each, also played well for the winners. Dan D'Andrea and Lee Meisel paced the Harvard team. Dan topped his team with seven points, while Lee tallied five points for the Crimson.

Columbia Wins

The middle contest last week saw Princeton drop from the undefeated ranks as the orange team was upset by Columbia. The final score was Columbia, 26, and Princeton, 26. Columbia played a steady game throughout and pulled out the victory with a strong final period effort.

Richy Deutch paced the Columbia victory as he tallied 18 points for the game. Richy's point total was high for the season in the Ivy League.

Fred Gold also played a top game for the winners. Fred's passing and play-making were brilliant, and his final period scoring burst spelled the difference. Fred tallied six points for the game.

Gary Fox played a strong game for Princeton. Gary scored 10 points and controlled the boards in this contest. Frank Buccelloni tallied six points for the Princeton team.

Stays Unbeaten

The final contest saw Cornell remain unbeaten as the team squeezed out an 11 to 9 victory over Yale. Both teams missed countless close-up efforts to account for the low score. Bobby Vaughn paced the winners with five points. Bobby was perfect from the foul line in the final minutes of the game to spell the difference.

Bob Janikowicz paced the Yale team with seven points. Bob just missed with a jump shot at the buzzer which would have drawn his team even. The shot hung on the rim and then dropped out.

The race for the league scoring crown in the Ivy League is a close battle as only five points separate the top five boys. Frank Buccelloni tops the league in scoring with 27 points. Frank played for Princeton. Gary Fox, who also tallied for Princeton is second in the league totals. Gary has hit for 23 points.

The Ivy League will be the meeting of Cornell and Princeton. League leading Cornell will meet high-scoring Princeton in the final of three games. The first game, starting at 1 p.m., will feature Harvard vs. Yale. Dartmouth will meet Columbia in the middle contest.

Diplomats Play At Dayton Gym; Tickets At School

Basketball's internationally famous Harlem Diplomats will play at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Gym, Tuesday, Feb. 15, 1966, at 8 p.m. The Diplomats recently played in Mexico, Cuba, Jamaica, Nassau, Brazil, and Venezuela, where they were labeled the "funniest team ever."

The team features two of basketball's great comedians, Dick Harvey and Goose Tatum Jr. Also there is a bright new sensational dribbler and ball handler, Pete Russell.

The Diplomats will present basketball's most spectacular magic circle. Parts of this unique circle is done in darkness; only visible objects are the hands, shoes, and a glowing basketball. The tricky ball handling will precede the game.

The team, while playing here, drew 200,000 fans last season, compiled a 173 and 4 record respectively.

The game is sponsored by the Booster Club of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School. Tickets may be purchased at the door or at the school.

Summit 'Y' To Hold Open House, Contest

The Summit YMCA will hold an informal open house and coffee Saturday morning when its program for elementary school boys will be on display. Information about other programs will be available.

At 2 o'clock that afternoon the public is invited to watch a swim meet between the Summit and Orange YMCA boys' teams.

Iowa Basketball Team Retains Spotless Slate In State League

After three weeks of play in the Recreation Department's State Basketball League, Iowa is on top of the loop with a record of three victories against no losses. Iowa is the only undefeated squad remaining in the league. Following Iowa are Texas, Kansas, Florida and Utah.

The boys meet at the Florence Gaundinger School each Saturday afternoon.

Iowa met Utah in the first game last week. Both teams entered this game with no records. Iowa topped the Utah team by the margin of 14 to 12. The boys were concentrating on their offensive efforts in this contest. In the final period, however, both teams put on an offensive spurt. Iowa grabbed the odd basket in this period to pull out the game.

Howie Alexander topped the Iowa team with seven points. Howie hit two important buckets during the final period rally. Ray Danziger with four points also aided the winners. Seven boys hit the scoring column for Iowa, as Larry Silverstein with four points led the way.

Wyoming posted an upset victory over Ohio in the second game last week. Ohio fell to a last-period rally by a determined Wyoming team. This was the initial triumph of the young season for Wyoming.

Robert Goodman paced both teams in scoring with five points. All of Bob's points were scored for the Wyoming cause in the final period. While Bob was notching his important markers, the winners were holding Ohio scoreless. Bob Karisberg and Barry Femp paced Ohio with four points apiece. Larry Starnbach tallied four points for Wyoming.

Texas Wins

Texas put on another strong performance last week as the team defeated California by the score of 19 to 10. Robert Meisel played a strong floor game for the Texans and topped his team in scoring with eight points.

First Place Goes To Rocket Quintet In Small-Fry Play

At the conclusion of three weeks of play in the Sandmeyer Small Fry Basketball League, the Rockets are the lone undefeated team and top the league standings. The Rockets moved into their top position by virtue of an impressive victory over the Tigers in the final game of last Saturday's action.

The boys meet for play in this Recreation Department sponsored basketball league each Saturday afternoon at the Theina Sandmeyer School.

The Rockets defeated the Tigers by the score of 20 to 7 in the final game of four played last Saturday. By virtue of this victory, the Rockets moved into sole possession of Howie-Wallich Mark Weber and Robert Wallich each has tallied in a fine floor game and chipped in with four points. Kenny Barrett of Florida turned in his best performance of the season as he tallied 12 points. Ira Shulman with five points was also effective for the Florida team.

In the opening contest this week at the Gaundinger School, Florida, with a contending team this season, will attempt to pin the first loss of the season on the strong Iowa team. Other games this week include: Idaho vs. Kansas, Texas vs. Oklahoma, California vs. Wyoming and Utah vs. Ohio.

Craig Nowinski also played a top game for the Texas team. Leon Margules was the top scorer for California with six points.

1st Victory

Oklahoma was another club which notched its first victory of the 1966 campaign last week as it topped Idaho by the score of 19 to 16. Oklahoma is the defending champion in the State League. In this contest Oklahoma had to withstand a strong final period rally by the Idaho team. Idaho tallied 10 of its 16 points in the fourth quarter. Steve Grau, a holdover from last season's championship team, topped all scorers in this game as he tallied 12 points.

Stan Mazicka tallied five points to pace the Idaho team in scoring. Bob Quinn was also effective for Idaho; as he tallied four points. Bob hit all his points during Idaho's final period rally.

Kansas Coast

The final contest of the afternoon saw a high-scoring Kansas quintet knock Florida from the ranks of the undefeated by the score of 28 to 17. Chris Gacos and Scott Prussing paced the winning Kansas team. Both Chris and Scott tallied nine points for the winners. Warren Schuller and Jamie Gacos were also effective for the winners; each has tallied in a fine floor game and chipped in with four points. Kenny Barrett of Florida turned in his best performance of the season as he tallied 12 points. Ira Shulman with five points was also effective for the Florida team.

In the opening contest this week at the Gaundinger School, Florida, with a contending team this season, will attempt to pin the first loss of the season on the strong Iowa team. Other games this week include: Idaho vs. Kansas, Texas vs. Oklahoma, California vs. Wyoming and Utah vs. Ohio.

Eicholz Records 620 Series Total

Hank Eicholz started with 203-237-620 in Springfield Municipal League bowling last week at Springfield Bowl. Other top scorers were recorded by Mark Conte, 204-218-581; Tony Truncala, 215-204-576; Walter Schram, 216; Adam Wans, 215; William Smith, 211; Ralph Policarpio, 210; Matt D'Andrea, 207; Ted Hatus, 205; John D'Andrea, 208; Art Mutschler, 203, and James Funchon, 201.

Springfield Market, in second place, trimmed a game from the lead by defeating the first-place Polcarpio Brothers quintet. Polcarpio now has a record of 38-39, with Springfield Market at 33 1/2-23 1/2. D'Andrea Driveways now stand in place with a record of 32-26.

HOME OF THE WEEK: Everything Is Within Walking Distance At Millington Heights Community

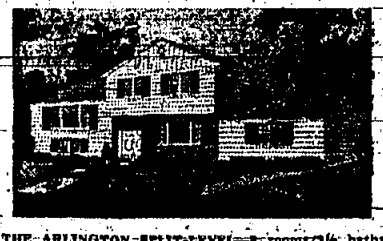

The "Chatham" model serves as display and sales office at Millington Heights. The Ranch-and-a-half model features three bedrooms and two full baths with expansion possible to five bedrooms and three baths.

New homes on acre-plus lots "in the country" yet within walking distance of a rail station, a public and a parochial school, a shopping center and a lake recreation area are not too easy to find. But this fall order can be filled at MILLINGTON HEIGHTS, 54-home community in the Millington section of Passaic Township. Situated on a hillside off Long Hill Road with a view of Morris County's Passaic River valley, Millington Heights features five different models from $29,900. The new Interstate Route 78 is now being built a few miles south of the tract which will make commuting possible by car to Newark in twenty minutes. Nearby is the Shilling station of the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad. The John F. Kennedy Lake swimming and recreation area, a facility for local residents, is close to the tract. An elementary school, a parochial school, and stores of all types are within walking distance. Among other conveniences at Millington Heights are city water and city sewers. The "Summit", a 2-story colonial sells for $30,900. It features 4 bedrooms and 2 full baths on the second floor, a 23' living room, formal dining room, 17' kitchen with large breakfast area, wood-paneled recreation room, full basement and two-car garage. The "Chatham" Ranch-and-a-half model is for the family who wants the convenience of one floor living with additional "room-to-grow". The basic model, selling for $30,490, has 3 bedrooms and 2 full baths. Expansion is possible for two additional bedrooms and a third bath on the upper level of the home. Completed by the builder, this 3-bedroom, 2-bath home sells for $31,900. The "Springfield" ranch, a 3-bedroom, 1 1/2 bath home sells for $28,990. The "Jefferson" split-level at $26,990 features a ground-level recreation room and finished den, lavatory and laundry room on first level. A large living room with bay window, formal dining room, kitchen, and den are on the second level with 3 bedrooms and bath on the upper level. The "Stirling" which sells for $29,900 is a large split level. A unique feature of this home is its eleven closets. The upper level of the "Stirling" includes 4 bedrooms and two full baths. The master bedroom includes a dressing alcove with a built-in vanity. Optional extras in all models include fireplaces and brick fronts.

Class For Pilots Will Begin Feb. 1

The first of the new class of pilots will begin on Feb. 1 at the Orange-Morris County Technical School on Thursday.

The course is a two-year program to train pilots for the Federal Aviation Administration's private pilot license. The course is designed to meet the needs of the area's growing aviation industry.

The instructor is Robert J. Greenberg, ex-Navy aviator and test pilot, who holds a Commercial Pilot's License with single and multi-engine ratings and an Instrument Rating. He has 15,000 hours of flight experience.

The class meets at 100 West 20th Street, 7:30-9:30 on weekdays. Tuition is $1,000. For more information, contact the school at 202-500-1000.

2 Newark Rutgers Scientists Working On NASA Space Lab

Two Newark Rutgers scientists, Dr. Robert G. Carl and Dr. Robert G. Carl, are working on a NASA space laboratory. The scientists will be sent back daily by the satellite, which will be in orbit for 14 days. The scientists will study the effects of microgravity on the human body. The experiment is expected to be a continuation of the Skylab program.

Dr. Carl indicated that the experiment is expected to be a continuation of the Skylab program. The Rutgers scientists have been working together for the past eight years, primarily in the field of space medicine.

SPEECH TO ROTARIANS

Workers Prefer Sales Tax, Best Says

The state's leading advocate of a sales tax that would allow New Jersey employers to post names and addresses of all state employees, said that workers will be encouraged to give their preferences on the sales tax question.

Leonard E. Best, chairman of the Union Action Committee for a Sales Tax, based in Springfield, made the suggestion in a 15-minute speech last week to a group of Union Rotary Club and Four Seasons Play and Recreation Center.

He said his committee was certain the majority of New Jersey workers are for a selective sales tax. "Besides the natural preference, they're already feeling the bite in social security taxes and the threat of higher federal income taxes, so it's even more likely they don't want another lump sum taken out of their pay envelopes."

He pointed out that one of

Case Nominates Two Area Youths For Academies

Senator Clifford P. Case (R-NJ) last week announced his nomination of a Union resident as a candidate for the United States Naval Academy and a Springfield resident as a candidate for the Merchant Marine Academy.

The candidates will compete, along with others nominated by Sen. Case, in the College Entrance Examination Board Test to be held in May.

Nominated for the Naval Academy, along with five others, was Robert J. Healy of 144 Leguise pl., Union. From this group of six young men, the Academic Board of the Naval Academy will select the best qualified candidate for the one vacancy which Sen. Case will fill at the Academy this year.

Nominated for the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy, along with nine others, was Thomas F. O'Meara, 61 Mountain ave., Springfield. The Maritime Administration will select 10 young New Jersey men from among the Case nominees and others named by New Jersey's Congressional Delegation.

Church Weekend In Boston Slated By Temple Youth

Sam Browne, state director for the American Jewish Congress, will be guest speaker at the Sabbath service tomorrow evening at 8:45 at Temple Shalom Synagogue, Springfield.

Rabbi Israel Dresner of Shurey Shalom will accompany the Temple Youth Group this weekend on a trip to Boston. Members of the Springfield group, as well as teenagers and leaders from the Ardmore, Mass. (Congregational) Church and the Union, Mass., Unitarian Church, will be guests of the youth group of the African Methodist Episcopal Church of Roxbury.

Rabbi Dresner will preach the Sunday morning sermon at the church. The trip is part of the series of interfaith, interracial gatherings the young people have conducted for the past series. Jack Slater is chairman of the temple youth committee.

Peggy's sermon topic at the local service tomorrow night will be, "An Eyewitness View of the Jews of Russia and Poland." He led an American Jewish Congress tour through Eastern Europe last year. The service will be conducted by Howard Kiesel, temple president, and Cantor Mark Biddelman.

Masterwork Chorus Will Hold Auditions

The Masterwork Chorus will hold auditions for prospective members at 8 p.m. Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. May, 23 Pleasant Valley rd., Whippany.

For audition information or to reserve a place on the audition schedule, one may call the office of the Masterwork Chorus and Art Foundation, 11 South St., Morristown, at 538-1860, or Mrs. Stanley Davis, president of the chorus at 725-0727.

The chorus rehearses at 8 p.m. every Wednesday evening at the Hillcrest Ave. School in Morristown.

the dangers of the tax. "The Governor has stated that the people prefer a sales tax, and that he would accept it though he prefers the income tax."

Best declared that representation, which expanded the size of the state legislature and introduced new districts, plus the recent elections, which brought in "scores of new names," has made it "more difficult for the average citizen to know who his representatives are."

He went on to tell the Rotarians that "a state income tax would retard the state's economic growth, a selective sales tax will permit New Jersey to enjoy expanded economic growth. Take a look at the six prosperous industrial states with only a sales tax—Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Michigan, Illinois and Connecticut—and this fact becomes obvious."

Renaissance Lecture At Westfield Library

A paper lecture with slides on "The Renaissance Painter as a Silent Poet," prepared by Mrs. Ruth Kennedy, professor emerita of art at Smith College, will be sponsored by the Plainfield-Westfield-South College Club next Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. in the Westbank Room of the Westfield Library. The first program is open to the public.

Mrs. Kennedy, in authority on Italian Renaissance painting, is a graduate of Radcliffe and has a degree from Oxford University. She joined the Insurance Industry in 1919 and retired in 1961.

"A personal income tax," Best claimed, "will make it much more difficult to continue attracting high-caliber companies into New Jersey."

"On the other hand, a selective sales tax will not discourage jobholders from investing in homes, education, savings, life insurance, and other vital investments, when they are confronted with the 'has-as-you-go' feature," Best said.

All About People

EGENE TIRE CO.

Willie Hoppe, the world's greatest billiard player, was between trains in Springfield, Mass. He dropped into the local poolroom to play a game to help pass the time.

As he idly batted the balls around, he saw a kid of about sixteen watching him.

"What's the matter son?" he asked, amused. "Don't you like the way I play pool?"

"I've seen better."

"Well," the man said, "I've won a few titles in my time."

"Think you can take me in a 50-point game?" the kid asked.

"I might," Hoppe answered. "I only play for money."

"How about ten bucks?"

"All right! Let's roll for the break," Hoppe said.

The kid won the roll and made his break. Hoppe stood amazed as the kid then proceeded to drop in one ball after another—ten... twenty... thirty... forty... fifty. When the boy had made his last shot, he put down the cue and held out his hand.

"Son," said Hoppe, "You're quite a pool player. You should stick to it. You know, you've just beaten Willie Hoppe."

The boy looked at him. "What do you know... Willie Hoppe. Well, Mr. Hoppe," he told the billiard champion, "I'm really not interested in pool. I want to be a baseball player. In fact, this ten dollars is getting me to Hartford for a tryout."

The kid smiled and with a twinkle in his eye he left the man with a "So long, sucker."

It was twenty years later that the two met again. He was at a billiard match in New York. This time the kid watched as the old master dropped in ball after ball to retain his championship.

"Remember me Mr. Hoppe? I look you at pool some twenty years ago. Fifty points for ten bucks?"

Hoppe laughed at the memory. "Sure, you're the kid that wanted to play ball. How did you make out?"

"Not bad, Mr. Hoppe. I'm manager of the Dodgers now. I'm LEO DUBOCHER."
