Temple Teeners Attend Conclave With Other Units

This past weekend, the Senior Youth Group of Temple Shalom participated in its seventh annual interfaith-interracial conclave. This year the conclave was held in Roxbury, Mass.

The other groups that attended were from the Unitarian Church of West Upton, Mass., the Congregationalist Church of Andover, Mass., and the Charles St. African Methodist Episcopal Church of Roxbury, the weekend's hosts.

The theme of the weekend was "Our Faith in a Changing World". Lectures and discussions were held on such topics as "Faith in the Space Age" and current problems in newly emerging states of Africa.

The youth group members from Temple Shalom who participated were: Dave Bass, Marcia Bass, Jim Bender, Nancy Conroy, Diane Frank, Alan Graham, Barbara Grubel, Harriet Hendrix, Sheri Hurwitz, Susan Koldorf, Betty Ann Lillian, Sheila Lillian, Mark Paul, Pam Reich, Steven Richman, Alan Silverman, Diane Slater, Richard Spector, Debby Weid, Jim Welton, Stan Yablonski, Elizabeth Yellin and Jane Yellin.

These students were accompanied by Rabbi Israel S. Dresner, Jack Slater, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Yellin and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bender.

Jim Bender, Youth Group president, stated:

Webelo Night, Trip Planned By Pack 73

St. James' Cub Pack 73 of Springfield is planning two activities for the near future.

The first to be held in mid-February, will feature a Webelo night, during which the younger boys will be introduced to advanced arts and crafts. Demonstrations will be given by the older boys in the Webelo Den.

The second will be a field trip on March 5 to the Walker-Gordon dairy in Plainsboro. On the return trip the boys will visit the National Scout Headquarters at New Brunswick.

At the annual Blue and Gold Dinner held Jan. 23, the following achievement awards were presented:

Wolf badge — Thomas Bambridge, Thomas Conroy, Joseph Corrigan, Gerard Kaehlein, Joseph Grabowy, Michael Morris and Michael Skuyra; bear badge — Frank Perelli; lion badge — David Casillas, Adrian Laurencella, Brian Mullin, John Potomski and Henry Wroblewski; ranger sash — Peter Pardo, assistant denner sash — Stephen Rossi; gold arrow — Leonard Doland, Michael Morris, John Potomski and Michael Skuyra; silver arrow — Wayne Dostal, Michael Morris and Michael Skuyra; Webelos badge — Mark Dostal, David McCleary, Robert Sarg and Eugene Shuster.

The following boys were inducted into the Webelo den:

Fifth Conference Of Professionals Slated Saturday

Adeline Pepper of Morris Ave., Springfield, will be one of the guest speakers at the fifth annual professional conference for teachers and librarians, which is sponsored by the New Jersey Historical Society.

Theme of the all-day session, to be held at the society's headquarters, 230 Broadway, Newark, Saturday, will be "Teaching History with Community Resources."

Miss Pepper, who is the author of "Tours of Historic New Jersey," will talk on "Field Trips in the Community." Her book provides backgrounds of historic sites in the state and describes many outdoor recreational areas, museums and art collections.

Dr. Kenneth C. Mackay, president of Union Junior College, Cranford, will be another speaker. New ideas in audio-visual methods will be a feature of the conference, which will also include symposiums on social science.

Vandals Create Mailbox Melee

Vandals ripped through a section of Baltusrol Top Friday night, uprooting about 10 mailboxes, hurling one of them through a plate glass window, and overturning garbage cans, according to Springfield police.

Michael Chasman of 34 Skylark rd. telephoned police early Saturday morning to report that a mailbox had been thrown through his picture window. John Stillwell reported that a mailbox belonging to Mrs. R-H Perry of 101 High Point dr. had been thrown through his garage window. Mrs. Perry called police to inform them that her mailbox was missing. Other calls were received from residents with addresses that included Green Hills and Fox Hills sts.

The juvenile officer is investigating the case, police said.

LEADER PROFILE

MRS. ROBERT PACKER

"Library work is meat and drink to me," declared Mrs. Robert (Ruth) Packer, librarian at the Florence Gaudineer School in Springfield, during a reporter's visit to the new, expanded school library. "I'm to happy in it. And when one is happy in one's work, it makes all the difference in the world."

Mrs. Packer, a friendly, warm person, who gives a visitor the impression that she's about to pop up and offer help, advice and a list of suggestions to any youngster who opens the library door and steps upon the newly-laid gold-flecked carpet in the recently-expanded book-lined haven, explained that becoming a librarian has been the "opening of a new sort of life for me."

Mrs. Packer referred to her years as a teacher of social science in the James Caldwell School from 1938 to 1944. "I taught the sixth, seventh and eighth grades there before I was married in 1944."

Englewood-born, Mrs. Packer received her primary education in Englewood, then attended Montclair State College. "Between my third and fourth years at Montclair, I was an exchange student in Spain."

"SPANISH WAS my major in college. I also know Swedish; I'm of Swedish extraction. The more languages you know, the better off you are," she added.

After Mrs. Packer was graduated from Montclair, she did graduate work at Columbia and Rutgers. She received a master's degree in library service from Rutgers. "They used to call it library science."

With six years of teaching experience behind her, she married Robert E. Packer, who is treasurer and an accountant for Universal Manufacturing Co., Inc. on Grove st. in Irvington and moved to Westfield.

Mrs. Packer busied herself in the next few years raising two daughters (Ruth, now a student at Wheaton College in Illinois and Barbara, a senior in Westfield High School).

Thirteen years later, Mrs. Packer returned to teaching school in Springfield. "I started as a substitute teacher and stayed on as a fixture," she smiled. "While I was teaching social science, I became interested in the school libraries."

"MRS. REVA JOHNSON, the first librarian here," she said, served as an incentive. When Mrs. Packer became librarian at the Gaudineer School five years ago, she said, it gave "a great deal of meaning to my life."

"First of all," she explained, "I like library work because of its informal way of dealing with children. Then the librarian has all the pleasures of introducing the youngsters to reading... and you don't have to do all the drudgery work required of a teacher," she smiled.

"We had our library in the old wing of the school... which incidentally, has become new offices since the renovation. In the old location, the library accommodated about 6,500 books; this one," she indicated, beaming with pride, "is built to accommodate over 12,000 volumes."

"We've almost doubled our capacity. And our collections are growing all the time. Right now," Mrs. Packer said, "we have stacks for about 8,000 to 8,500, but panels are still being built."

Mrs. Packer went on to explain that the new library, which is "centrally located" at the end of the middle wing (there are three wings in the school), "is better located than before."

SHE PROCEEDED to take her visitor on a brief tour. The first stop was in a little vestibule with desks and chairs. "This," she said, "is the room where the teachers prepare their materials. It is sound-proofed. And there are books, film clips, recording tapes... and all catalogues in these files."

"We have a teacher's room where teachers' books are situated on shelves. We also have a record player, film strip viewers, and a glass window panel giving the teachers a complete view of the whole area."

Another small room situated off the main library floor was set aside as Mrs. Packer's office. "The vertical file is here too."

Another room, called the work room, followed, and Mrs. Packer explained that this is where "all books are unpacked and processed, before they go out on shelves."

Another room exhibited book files of periodicals. "This," Mrs. Packer pointed out, "can double as a conference room."

She went on to point out that the main library is sectioned off into two areas: the reference area and the reading area.

"THE TEACHERS schedule some of their classes here in the research area," Mrs. Packer said. "And the pupils learn about how to make use of the library tools when they need them for assignments. The area is big enough to accom-

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Don't Play Hookey On Election Day

All citizens of Springfield have an opportunity this week to pay a debt to themselves and to their children of today and tomorrow. Payment can be made only by voting in the Board of Education Election Tuesday afternoon and evening.

Once in the polling booth, voters will face two basic sets of decisions. One is quite easy. The school board has presented a budget of $1,485,521 for current expense for the next school year and $35,500 for capital outlay. While not enough to pay for everything which might be done, this is certainly a prudent estimate of the cost of continued good education.

The second problem, of course, involves the choice of candidates seeking election. The quality of the candidates this year appears higher than in some previous elections. The general caliber of board membership will not suffer by the election of any of the candidates, and it could even be improved.

Electioneering has been quiet and gentlemanly (or ladylike) for the most part, as is usual in Springfield. Candidates have requested their friends to use the facilities of the N. J. Bell Telephone system to get out the vote. No mud has been flung in public, for which the community should be grateful.

There have also been undercurrents and rumors of political mobilization. Unfortunately, this is also hardly unusual in Springfield. The surest way to destroy the efficiency of a board of education is for members to use it to build personal prestige and further political ambitions.

Also, according to the usual pattern, charges of partisanship in school board campaigning have remained unproven. We earnestly hope that they are unfounded.

There should be only one group of winners in this election: the children of Springfield.

Anyone who has ever overheard a parent speaking to a teacher is well aware that our children are all serious, diligent and anxious to cooperate. Let us all hope that our board members will continue to follow this admirable precedent.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Letters to the editor must be submitted no later than Monday of the week they are to appear. They should not exceed 250 words in length and should be typed with double spacing (not all in capital letters, please). All letters must be signed. Writer's name will not be withheld if the letter is of a political nature. Names will be withheld upon request from non-political letters. This newspaper reserves the right to edit or reject any letter.

NEW ORDINANCES

The Board of Education Township Committee meeting of Jan. 23, two new ordinances were proposed, one prohibiting the parking of cars on our streets between 2 a.m. and 8 a.m., and the other prohibiting the parking or storing of trailers, boats, trucks, or other commercial vehicles on property used for residential purposes.

The first of these, which one of the committee members stated would "maintain the suburban nature of our community," is offered without any reference to the extent to which cars are parked on Springfield streets during the hours mentioned.

Furthermore, who is concerned about the suburban nature of our community when everyone is in bed?

I can well imagine that it would be difficult to enforce this ordinance, and that it would also be a source of embarrassment to residents of Springfield if guests or overnight visitors were ticketed because of a violation of the ordinance. Violation is highly discriminatory against those persons in our community, painters, plumbers, electricians and nurserymen who use trucks and who conduct their businesses from their places of residence.

For years these persons have paid their taxes, and made significant contributions to the life of Springfield, and now they may be adversely affected by the contemplated ordinance, and in some cases, may be forced to move.

I would urge the residents of Springfield to oppose these ordinances.

SCHOOL ELECTION
I find it difficult to accept the fact that only 45 people out of 15,000 residents in Springfield were interested enough in our educational program to attend candidates night, Monday evening, January 24. The obvious display of public apathy must have embarrassed not only the candidates themselves but also those who supported them.

To add to this dismal position we were told that Mr. Hayden, a prospective board member, was unable to attend because of a business commitment. His conspicuous absence surely nourishes the virus of unconcern that plagues our community. Obviously, Mr. Hayden's personal business enterprise takes precedence over his obligation as a candidate to present his views to the public.

Mr. Skousen, acting as moderator to this farce, had literally to beg the audience to ask questions so that the program would last a respectable amount of time.

Mrs. Weisman's and Mr. Caprio's remarks highlighted a relatively dull evening. Their sound and practical answers to the few questions presented justified the respectable position they hold on our Board of Education. I sincerely believe that their election to the board will insure a continuation of policy that enables Springfield to command a respectable position in our metropolitan educational community.

If the voters of Springfield find it inconvenient to attend candidates night, then I urge them to at least acquaint themselves with the views of the candidates and participate in the election or deterring of said candidates.

Determining the educational policy of a community is every voter's responsibility.

BOAT STORAGE
Our boats have... Provided countless hours of wholesome recreation for my family and friends.

"Taken actually hundreds of my young friends to heights of unbundled joy with their first boat ride; added wings to their feet on skis; helped catch their first fish; taken them to an unobstructed view of the stars.

The proposed ordinance, now before our Township Committee, means adding many hours and dollars to the upkeep of these boats on property used for residential purposes.

Boats have long since passed from the category of "the rich man's toy." They represent the total recreation and vacation budget dollars of many families. I question how a family boat, brought onto home property, can detract from the value of Springfield property or be offensive to the vast majority of our citizens.

I would encourage all to participate in the joys of family boating and urge that the ordinance not be passed.

TOWN BUSINESS

It was interesting to see Edward W. McAllister, U.S. Navy retired, in action at the last Township Committee meeting, on "tax" and which you so faithfully reported in the Springfield Leader 1/27/66 issue.

It was doubly interesting in that he was on the scene "bill-of-fare" with the Evergreen Lodge case. The singing shell has only been under litigation for about three years; whereas, the McAllister case has been fought for almost nine years, with 96 court hearings, and no end in sight at a cost to him of over $250,000 and over $100,000 to the taxpayers!

Is there corruption in the blocking movement? That is the question is this "Little Hoover" Nuremberg trial in America?

In the case of Evergreen, it would appear that the attempt to discredit a group goes far beyond any national interest in one piece of land. The objection to the singing shell has all the earmarks of an "ethnic vendetta." If you please, and if and when this matter comes before the assignment judge of the Superior Court in Union County, he will be so apprised, by me.

This foolish squandering of the taxpayers' money in an attempted blocking of a perfectly sound business venture, is a horrible travesty of justice and should be corrected, immediately, by higher state authority, before federal agents begin investigating.

The only reasonable solution to the Evergreen Case is groundbreaking ceremonies in the spring of 1966. As for The McAllister Case, a $1,000,000 claim against New Jersey's court system was filed on 1/20/66 with the State Joint Appropriations Committee of N. J. Legislature.

NOTE FROM WITNESSES
Our assembly in Plainfield was a fine success, and the local congregation enjoyed it. They asked me to send this note to you expressing their appreciation for your fine cooperation in publishing the affair.

As our main speaker brought out, it will certainly be a happy time on the earth when the promise of the resurrection is a reality and ungodliness is gone. We look forward to that time.

Camp Expecting High Enrollment
Prospective campers for YMCA resident Camp Wawayanda were urged this week to register early to insure a place this year. Howard Merrick, youth secretary of the Summit Y, explained that because of heavy enrollment in the last few years, registrations will be limited to YMCA members. Over 50 boys and girls from the Summit area, ages 9 to 16, have already applied through the Summit YMCA.

Camp Wawayanda is located on 2,000 acres of property near Oliveira, N. Y. in the Catskill Mountains. The summer is divided into two week-long camping periods with capacity limited to 220 boys and 85 girls each period. The girls' camp is already filled for the second and third periods, and new cabins are being built to accommodate the building list.

The camp program includes hiking, fishing, exploring, riflery, horseback riding, archery, swimming, boating, canoeing and some sailing. Available for older boys, 14-17, are the Trail Blazer and Construction Engineer programs.

Three Springfield patrolmen were graduated last Friday following completion of a course in basic photography offered in Scotch Plains under the sponsorship of the Union County Police Chiefs' Association. They are Donald Schwerdt, John Gmiej and Edward Klach Jr.

The three men now give the local department approximately 10 officers qualified in photography, according to Police Chief Wilbur C. Selander. Chief Selander is president of the county chiefs' organization.

Two Motorists Fined in Springfield Court
Two motorists were fined for traffic violations in Springfield Municipal Court Monday. Fined by Magistrate Max Sherman were John R. Stone, 38 of Plainfield, $15, improper passing, and Raymond P. Schmitt, 19, of Newark, $20, speeding.

Library's Listing Of Newest Books For Reading Fun

The Springfield Public Library this week issued the following listing of new books available with brief comments by the library staff.

For Parents
"Twins: Twice the Trouble, Twice the Fun" by Betsy Gehrman. "Who has twins, different kinds of twins, how to cope with the feeding, dressing, caring, and schooling of twins? All of these topics and more are covered in this book, written by the mother of twins."

For Young Adults
"A Teen-Age Guide to Healthy Skin and Hair" by Irwin Lubowe and Barbara Huss. "An accurate and non-technical guide for teen-aged boys and girls. Deals with the care of your skin, cleanliness, hands and feet, hair, food and weight control."

Military Biography
"Outpost Freedom" by Roger Donlon. "The exciting and heroic true story of a captain in the U. S. Special Forces, from his boyhood in America to Viet Nam and a night raid at Nam Dong where he earned a Congressional Medal of Honor."

Other Lands
"Scandinavian Lands" by Roy Millward. "A book for potential travelers, for students, or for those who are just interested in foreign countries. Illustrated."

Performing Arts
"Seven Stages" by Geoffrey Treven. "Readable biographies of seven theatre greats: Mark Twain, Mollere, Sarah Siddons, Verdi, Jenny Lind, Henry Irving and Anna Pavlova."

Escape Tales
"The Berlin Wall" by Pierre Galante. "The exciting and true stories of the people who escaped to the West and freedom by going over, under, around and through the Berlin Wall."

Picture Books
"Please Share The Peanut" by Josine Taback. "A picture book that demonstrates clearly that it's much more fun to say 'ours!' than to say 'mine!'"

Picture Book
"Wheels" by Eleanor Clymer. "A beginning science book for youngsters. It describes with pictures and words the wheel and all of its varied uses from the earliest times to the present."

Callen Will Direct 1966 Local Drive Of Jewish Appeal

Wallace Callen this week was named Springfield chairman for the 1966 campaign of the United Jewish Appeal of Essex County. He was appointed by Martin S. Fox, chairman of suburbs for the area fund drive.

Callen served as Springfield co-chairman for the last three UJA campaigns. He was recently elected to the board of trustees of the Jewish Community Council of Essex County, which conducts the UJA drive to support local, national and international Jewish philanthropies.

An active member of the Springfield Lodge of B'nai B'rith, Callen is a lodge trustee, fund-raising chairman and journal chairman for the lodge's 10th anniversary dinner-dance. He is now selecting vice-chairmen to assist in leadership of the Springfield UJA campaign, as well as members of a Springfield-initiated city committee. The local campaign is scheduled to begin later this month.

"Take a giant step in 1966" has been chosen as the UJA slogan for this year. Callen expressed the hope that "increased needs will inspire a dramatic increase in gifts."

UJA funds will be used overseas to increase the state of absorption for 40,000 newcomers expected this year in Israel and to facilitate the admission of many aged immigrants into homes for the aged in the Holy Land.

A prime need on the local level is for more beds at Daughters of Israel Pleasant Valley Home. Callen said added funds will help provide residential care for aged men and women now forced to wait because of the lack of bed space.

Economics Class Starts Tuesday; 10-Week Course

Residents of the Springfield area will have an opportunity to participate in a 10-week course in fundamental economics. The class will begin on Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Mountain Ave., Springfield.

The course will examine the economic laws and principles which underlie the economy of all nations. School officials said students will discuss such problems as burdening taxes, unemployment and automation, urban decay and suburban sprawl, inflation and the general question of "why, with all our technological progress, is it still so hard for most people to make ends meet?"

The class meets for 10 consecutive two-hour sessions. There is no charge for tuition but a registration fee of $2 is required. A certificate will be awarded upon completion. Paul S. Nix Jr. is the instructor.

The course is being sponsored by the Henry George School, which was founded in 1932, is chartered by the University of the State of New York and is accredited - member of the National Home Study Council.

Historical Society Elects Its Officers At Annual Meet

Officers of the Springfield Historical Society were elected at its 13th annual meeting held last Wednesday.

Elected were: president, Richard E. Werner; vice-president, Mrs. Robert Dancosher of Short Hills; recording secretary, Mrs. George Lancaster; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Robert Herd-grove; treasurer, Catherine Stess-curator, Donald Palmer; and trustees, Henry C. McMullen, Charles Heard, Howard Casselman, Augustus Smith of Short Hills, Jay Bloom and Alan Cunningham.

The nominating committee included: Mrs. Charles Beardley of Summit, Heard, McMullen, Howard Wiseman, and Stewart Fulton.

Werner pledged a drive to "encourage Springfield to get behind the society." He told the society he plans an extensive campaign to get the various township organizations interested in taking more active roles in promoting Springfield traditions.

The 175th anniversary of the building of the present sanctuary of the Springfield Presbyterian Church is being observed this year. The founding of the church, built in 1761 was actually in 1745, it was pointed out, but this is not the original building.

The society is presently undertaking a project to tape record some facts known only to some of Springfield's senior citizens.

The township has provided the society with a tape recorder for this purpose. An appeal was issued for all who can be of assistance to volunteer in this project.

Space Gets Post As Staff Engineer At Humble Oil Co.

James A. Space of Springfield has been named staff engineer in the technical department at Humble Oil and Refining Company's Bayway Refinery, Linden. In his new position, Space will be involved with the modernization of oil movement facilities. Employed by Bayway since 1947, he has served in the field of air and water conservation.

Space earned a B.S. degree in chemical engineering at Pennsylvania State University and was an active participant in Phi Eta Sigma, Tau Beta Pi, Sigma Tau and Pi Mu Epsilon. During World War II he served as captain in the U.S. Army Corp of Engineers and was stationed in the Central and Western Pacific.

Residents Urged By Mayor To Aid Heart Fund Drive

One of the briefest proclamations within memory of municipal workers was signed this week by Mayor Robert G. Planer designating February as Heart Month in Springfield and calling upon all citizens to support the Heart Fund with their gifts and voluntary services. It was only 80 words long.

"Not too much elaboration is required when you're dealing with a complex of diseases responsible for about 64 percent of all deaths in the nation," said Mayor Planer.

"Beyond this, these same diseases afflict on the average one of nine citizens, and are a prime source of economic hardship." The proclamation's full text follows: "Whereas, diseases of the heart and circulation constitute our Number One health enemy, being responsible in this community for more deaths than all other causes combined and causing widespread suffering and economic hardship;

LEADER PROFILE

(Continued from Page 4) moderate two classes at one time. "When they are finished building, we will have six individual study carrels (individual student tables). We have about 750 pupils in the school, and they come to the library on a fixed schedule.

"They get recreational reading guidance; they come with other teachers to get reference instruction on how to use reference tools, and they come as part of our program to prepare pupils for high school."

There really was so much to see during one brief visit that Mrs. Packer offered capsule outlines of each phase of the library operation.

IT'S MORE than a library, really," she said. "It's a material center. Of course, our tape collection is in its infancy. But we do have over 100 film strips and over 100 records. Everything is catalogued.

"And we have a master file catalogue," she pointed out, "where the cards have colored bands on them. For example, there are red banded cards for film strips; green banded cards for records; and the rest of the cards are for books. The pupils need to make only one step — to this file . . . to find everything."

And the youngsters at the school make very good use of the library, Mrs. Packer said. The number of books taken out each night runs from 184 to 193 . . . the averaging being about 170. "Last year, the average total of books taken out was 159. When I first came here, the average was 89 books."

For recreational reading, Mrs. Packer said, mysteries are most popular with the boys; and books about romance are popular among the girls. "A large percentage of youngsters like books about animals, and a small percentage is interested in books of fantasy. The boys also go in for sports stories and sports biographies.

"I do a lot of floor work; I work with individuals. Because there is a lot of recreational reading, guidance is required . . . and it must be done on an individual basis."

Mrs. Packer indicated the importance of having a carpet on the main floor. "The carpeting," she said, "is practical as well as beautiful. It was put right down on concrete; a wooden floor was unnecessary. The color is restful to the eyes, and the carpet itself serves as a very practical purpose."

Miss Gittes Aids In Staging Opera

WORCESTER, Mass. — A Springfield girl is working with a Clark University group which will stage Offenbach's opera, "La Perichole," at the University on Feb. 11 and 12 as part of an experimental educational program being offered Clark undergraduates this month.

She is Betty A. Gittes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David B. Gittes of 10 Lynn dr. A sophomore at Clark University, she is chairman of the make-up committee.

The opera will be presented by 70 of Clark's 1,023 students as one of some 100 projects in the University's new independent study program, a three-week period between semesters which allows each undergraduate to devote full time to a project of his or her own choosing without the restrictions of daily assignments or courses.

In addition to the opera production, students selected projects ranging from study hours of several foreign countries and experimental research in the university's scientific laboratories to work and study at a state mental hospital to research at museums and libraries throughout the country.

Wright Files Suit Over Delegation For Constitution

Henry S. Wright of Springfield on Tuesday filed suit in the state Superior Court against Union County Clerk Henry G. Nulton, in behalf of himself and his running-mates on a slate of independent candidates for election as delegates to the coming state constitutional convention.

"And we, as teachers and parents, benefit just as much," Mrs. Packer plays the organ in her spare time ("I used to play the organ for Westfield's Presbyterian Church for nine years . . . I resigned last year"). I also like to sew. I can't say reading is a hobby; rather, it is my nourishment."

Mrs. Packer smilingly revealed a secret in which she takes a modest pride. "Since I've become a librarian, my sister, who was a teacher in Tenafly, went to Rutgers for special library courses, and is now a volunteer librarian in Tenafly.

"And my sister-in-law is similarly interested. In fact, she's getting a degree at Texas North-eastern University.

"I'm really very excited about all this," Mrs. Packer grinned. "I'd like to think that I had something to do with their decisions."

Home Sales Rise, Realty Board Says

Sales of multiple-listed homes in the suburbs continued to increase in 1965, according to Frank Bedford of Livingston, president of the Board of Realtors of the Oranges and Maplewood, Livingston, Millburn, Short Hills and Springfield. For the 10th consecutive year the Board topped all previous records, with $30,754,000 in multiple-listed sales, Bedford said.

"Our suburban home-owners recognize that multiple listing is the best way to sell a house," the realtor commented. "The figures show that their confidence is justified."

Bedford pointed out that in the Oranges and Maplewood

 This Sunday's Lesson Sermon: "Can Deity be known through the material senses? Can the material senses, which receive no direct evidence of Spirit, give correct testimony as to spiritual life, truth, and love?"
 This thought-provoking question is part of the Lesson-Sermon on "Spirit" to be read at all Christian Science churches this Sunday. The question is taken from the denomination's textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science.
 "Bible passages" will include Jesus' declaration: "It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing" (John 6).
 The services on "Spirit" is one of a series through which Christian Scientists seek a deeper understanding of the nature of God through the study of certain terms. Others to come include services on "Soul" and "Mind."

State Science Teachers Hold Aviation Workshop Sessions

New Jersey science teachers, "Aviation for the Science Classroom," will follow a precept of good teaching and end up in the air.

The New Jersey Science Teachers Association is sponsoring the workshop, with the first two sessions being conducted at Newark State College in Union. The third session will consist of a tour via commercial airliner of aviation facilities in the New York metropolitan area.

The first workshop was held last Saturday. Others are scheduled for next Saturday and Feb. 12. Participating will be approximately 90 teachers from throughout New Jersey.

Aside from the college and the science teachers association, the program is made possible through the cooperation of the New Jersey Wing of the Civil Air Patrol and the Aviation Development Council, which is presenting the third session.

The first two meetings were to consist of briefing sessions conducted by experts on various aspects of aviation in the new science-lecture hall at the college.

The third meeting will convene at Newark Airport, where participants will tour maintenance, tower, weather and dispatching facilities. The group then will fly to Long Island, for a tour of the New York Air Route Traffic Control Center, the largest in the world, then fly back to Newark Airport.

Speakers scheduled for the first session included Dr. Merwin Stokler, chief of the Aviation Division of the Federal Aviation Agency; "Aviation and Education," Robert E. Bush, educational programs and services consultant from NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center at Greenbelt, Md.; "Aerodynamics," and Ross W. Cole, chief project engineer, Wright Aeronautical Division of Curtiss-Wright Corporation; "Development of Aircraft Power," Speakers next Saturday will include Leroy J. Ducharme of the Bendix Corporation, on "Aircraft Instruments," and Eugene W. Kilgore, aviation forecaster in the high altitude section at John F. Kennedy International Airport; on "Meteorology and Aviation."

In addition, a panel of aerospace educators will discuss methods, materials and objectives of school and youth activities in aviation. Panelists are Mrs. Eugene G. Madonia, chairman of the Air Age Committee of the New York City Board of Education; Mrs. Joan Rosner, science supervisor of Public School 11, New York City; George F. Plack, associate professor of science, Montclair State College, and Majed Manuel Moran, director of training of the New Jersey Wing of the Civil Air Patrol.

Miles D. MacMahon, physics and aeronautics instructor at Thomas Jefferson High School, Elizabeth, is workshop director. He is assistant vice-president for the central region of the New Jersey Science Teachers Association.

Lancaster, McGrath On Dance Committee

George W. Lancaster of 29 Alvin ter., Springfield, and Henry G. McGrath Jr. of 409 Wayne ter., Union, are on the committee for the third annual Colonial Ball to be held at the Molly Pitcher Hotel in Red Bank on Feb. 19.

The event is being sponsored by the New Jersey societies of Sons of the American Revolution and Daughters of the American Revolution.

Two Appointed To Steering Unit

Two area residents have been appointed to a 10-man steering committee for a fund raising effort of Union Junior College's $1 million science building campaign. It was announced this week by James R. McDonald of Westfield and DeWitt J. Paul of Short Hills, co-chairmen.

Appointed were: Edward Aborn of Rumson, vice chairman of the UJC Board of Trustees and president of Tenco Inc. of Linden and Warren W. Halsey of Springfield, secretary of the Board of Trustees and retired school superintendent of the Union County Regional High School District 1.

The science building was designed by Eisenberg and Miller of Union, architects.

Prediction For Jersey: Population To Triple

New Jersey can look forward to a population of 20 million persons—three times the present number—in the predictable future. B. Budd Chavooshian, director, Division of State and Regional Planning, New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development, predicted last week.

Chavooshian addressed a general Farmers Week session in Trenton dealing with "New Jersey Land Today and Tomorrow." He and Mrs. Ann Louise Strong, acting director of the Institute of Legal Research of the University of Pennsylvania, Law School, were the two speakers at a meeting presided over jointly by State Secretary of Agriculture Phillip Alampi and Dr. Leland G. Merrill Jr., dean of agriculture and environmental science, Rutgers University.

Current projections estimate that the State will have about 8.2 million people by 1975 and 9.5 million by 1985, a 40 per cent increase in 20 years. These are dramatic figures when you realize that it took 250 years for New Jersey to reach the three-million level and it added another three million people during the next 40 years.

Chavooshian stressed the need for long-range planning based on the needs and desires of the majority of people. "We must begin to be concerned with shaping development rather than continuing to merely react to it," the planning director said.

Estimates for 1985 place the State's population at about six and three-quarters million, an increase of 12 per cent over 1960," Chavooshian reported.

WEEDER'S DIGEST STORM WORRIES IN THE GARDEN Did you add a worry line to your forehead, or two as you looked out the window during this winter's first snow and ice storm? Some of your ornamental plants bowed down to the snow load didn't they? You did just what they gently brushed the wet, heavy snow from your evergreens to help them spring back to their natural shape. This is the best first aid for any snow-damaged plant and especially the dense ones like dense yew or juniper, according to Donald B. Lacey, extension home horticulture specialist at Rutgers. HANG OFF GLAZED PLANT But keep hands off if the next storm comes as freezing rain and puts a glaze on your trees and shrubs, he says. An ice-coated twig or branch is brittle and could snap if you handle it. The best treatment for glazed plants is to let them alone. They received their load gradually and will lose it gradually when the ice melts. There's a good chance they will spring back to their natural shape. Just hope there's no strong wind to put the glazed plant into violent motion. You can earn yourself peace of mind by protecting such vulnerable plants as Hicks yew by enclosing them in chicken wire cylinders before winter sets in. Or tie up their many branches from the inside, to keep them from drooping under a snow load. Trees with weak crooked and brittle wood can be made more durable by cabling branches together so they support each other. Let a tree expert or nurseryman take on this job though.

Ask Amy

by AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy: My husband is always the first to volunteer for charity work. These drives last for weeks on end and he is in the thick of it. Consequently, we (our children and myself) just see him for an hour during supper. Now you have often said that a man leaves his home at night because something is lacking. I can't get my husband to tell me what he finds outside that is more interesting than his family. He is a wonderful person and I know he loves us dearly. "Widowed" by-Charley

Dear "Widowed": There is obviously nothing lacking. He is a good soul with a kind heart who enjoys helping others less fortunate than he. Tell him when you can and appreciate him when he returns. Few men are so inclined inside and out.

Dear Amy: I met a boy at school and soon found out his parents knew my parents. One day when I went to his house, his parents sent us to the store. We got chummy and started kissing in the alley. I like him very much and would do it again.

Dear Amy: When people write and say they are lonely, need friends or want to belong to something, and the other party tells them to join a church group, that person thinks right away of religion and says "Not for me!" Being active in church groups or societies doesn't mean you'll get lessons in religion. It's participating and planning activities for the church, meeting new people and it's a lot of fun. Most of all, if you don't give up and stay with it, apply your ideas as an individual, you'll be surprised to find out why you didn't join earlier. Especially men... we need more of them. So come on, men, and join us! E. L. (Lilford)

Dear Edith: The girl did nothing wrong accepting the invite. In all probability, she had her parents' permission but your son first so that proper arrangements could be made. Your first impression of her should prevail. They could have spent the holidays with her parents. Then you would have missed the pleasure of their company. Residential Construction Increases In Union County

Residential construction in Union County showed a definite upswing in 1964, in contrast to other counties adjacent to metropolitan New York.

Statistics on new dwelling units authorized in the New Jersey-New York-Connecticut metropolitan area were issued this week by the Regional Plan Association, a research and planning agency.

Union County is part of the area described by the Association as the Inner Ring, composed of the older suburban communities in the metropolitan area. Also in this Inner Ring are Bergen County and parts of Essex and Passaic Counties in New Jersey as well as Richmond and Nassau Counties and part of Westchester County in New York.

Building activity in the Inner Ring declined slightly in 1964 from 1963, according to the Association report.

In Union County, however, the number of new residential units increased from 2,846 in 1963 to 3,786 in 1964.

Senator Williams Reports

By Sen. Harrison A. Williams

WASHINGTON — The battle lines of the "War on Poverty" are being extended into rural America to encompass elderly farmers.

This was part of the testimony of the final hearings held recently by the U. S. Senate Special Committee on Aging, in Washington.

The Committee, chaired by U. S. Senator Harrison A. Williams, received a progress report on Operation Green Thumb, from Sargent Shriver, Director of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

The Committee, chaired by U. S. Senator Harrison A. Williams, received a progress report on Operation Green Thumb, from Sargent Shriver, Director of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Financed by a $768,142 Federal grant, the project was inaugurated last month on an experimental basis in New Jersey, Arkansas, Minnesota and Oregon, with the four states sharing funds on an equal basis.

In New Jersey, alone, the project will employ 70 older men from rural areas with family incomes of less than $3,000 per year. They will earn $1.25 per hour working an average of three days per week on conservation and beautification projects along state highways.

Shriver said that "through his employment and through other special training, they will gain skills in the areas of gardening, landscaping and nursery work." He added that one of his main problems the War on Poverty faced when dealing with the elderly poor was "united education, by today's standards."

"Over three-fourths of the poor aged family heads," Shriver stated, "have completed less than eight years of schooling. The rapidly changing technology of the twentieth century demands a high degree of skills for the good jobs. With yesterday's skills, many of the aged simply cannot compete in today's labor market."

Senator Williams complimented Shriver on the growing imagination shown in creating the Green Thumb project. "I feel that it is projects such as these," Senator Williams said, "which will perform the double function of training the elderly so that they may successfully compete in today's job market while providing them with a source of income."

"This gives me confidence that the War on Poverty among the elderly is one that can yet be won. It is only by putting the needs of the elderly poor in perspective," added Senator Williams, "that jobs that fit the special needs and skills of the aged can be found."

The Committee, led by Senator Williams and Senator Jennings Randolph (D-W. Va.) closely questioned Shriver at the question and answer session following his testimony.

Shriver admitted that he was not entirely pleased with the slow pace at which the poverty program is involving the elderly. Mr. Shriver said that it is not nearly so easy to get local communities interested in problems involving the elderly poor as it is to spark interest in the young poor.

An exception to this attitude on the part of communities, Shriver said can be seen in the response to Medicare. Under this recent program, the old will be mobilized in teams to help inform elderly persons in their communities about benefits available to them under Medicare. Mr. Shriver said more than 200 communities are now mobilizing to start this program and 1,500 volunteers are already registered in Detroit alone.

Nevertheless, in summing up OEO's efforts to benefit the elderly poor, Shriver said that his programs at present "are not nearly large enough and not reaching the massive majority of the elderly poor." To aid the War on Poverty, Mr. Shriver called for a strengthening of the direct benefit programs under the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

In thanking Mr. Shriver for his testimony before the Committee, Senator Williams expressed the hope that OEO would not lag in its continuing efforts to enact work programs for the elderly that would enable them to live in dignity.

Senator Williams added that the War on Poverty should continue with renewed vigor now that Shriver will be able to devote full time to leading the War on Poverty.

Chairman Announced

Donald W. McGinnis of Cranford will be chairman of the advanced gifts division of Union Junior College's $1 million science building campaign. His appointment was announced this week by James R. MacDonald of Westfield, president and chairman of the board of General Cable Corporation, and De Witt J. Paul of Short Hills, chairman of the board of Beneficial Finance Company, Morristown, co-chairman for the fund-raising effort.

FRIDAY DEADLINE

All items other than spot news, submitted to this newspaper, should be in our office by Friday to insure publication in the next issue.

report said.

Regional Plan Association officials attributed this trend to "the increasing scarcity of vacant land in the Inner Ring and the growing demand for apartments arising from changes in the age composition of the population (i.e., an increase in number of families without children)."

The report pointed out that in 1960, only 36 percent of existing housing units in the Inner Ring was in multi-family structures. Between 1960 and 1964, however, approximately 50 percent of total residential building was devoted to apartment construction, with the percentage of multi-family units increasing each year to a total of 59 percent in 1964.

A breakdown for Union County showed 325 new units in Union Township in 1964, compared with 235 in 1963.

The number of multiple-family dwellings authorized in the township in 1964 topped the total for single-family dwellings by 174 to 151. The previous year, however, there were only 72 multiple-family units compared with 163 single-family units.

In the City of Linden, 273 new units were authorized in 1964, and 202 in 1963.

The increase reflected the rise in the number of new multiple family units, which went from 147 in 1963 to 223 in 1964. Single-family units authorized in 1963 totaled 55, with the number dropping to 30 the following year.

Increases also were reported in the Borough of Roselle, with 294 new units in 1964 and only 181 in 1963.

The 1964 figures for the borough show 215 multiple-family dwellings and 39 single-family dwellings. The figures for 1963 are 143 multiple-family dwellings and 38 single-family dwellings.

In the Borough of Roselle Park, residential construction rose from 128 units in 1963 to 167 in 1964.

The 1964 total included 180 multiple-family units and only seven single family units, while in the previous year there were 88 new multiple-family units and 40 single-family units.

Springfield Township and Mountainside Borough were among the communities with single-family dwellings. In Springfield, new residential construction rose from 46 in 1963 to 55 in 1964, and in Mountainside, there was a drop from 63 in 1963 to 62 the following year.

In the Borough of Kenilworth, 31 new units were reported in 1964, with 16 of them multiple-family dwellings and 15 single-family dwellings. Only an incomplete figure of two—both single-family dwellings—was available for 1963.

For New Jersey as a whole, the total number of new units authorized in 1964 was 46,404, compared with 33,080 in 1963. In 1964, 65.8 percent of the new units were multiple-family dwellings; in 1963, the percentage was 54.9.

Postage Stamps Aid In TB League Effort

Junior Board members of the Union County Tuberculosis and Health League are undertaking a project to help the Mutual Assistance Program of the International Union Against Tuberculosis.

After clipping commemorative stamps from envelopes that are being discarded, the Junior Board will send these stamps to the tuberculosis association in Michigan that has volunteered to receive them from all over the country and to sort them for sale. The stamps must be commemorative ones and must be clipped to a size of two by four inches, so that the postmark is included.

The return envelopes from Christmas Seal contributors, after all records have been posted, will provide a sizeable supply of stamps.

The Junior Board members become interested in the worldwide tuberculosis problem in 1964, as it infects more than 50 per cent of the world's population. The International Union Against Tuberculosis, with a limited budget, sponsors demonstrations of tuberculosis programs in cooperation with government and voluntary agencies in various countries.

The Mutual Assistance Program was set up by the International Union so that organizations and individuals could contribute to these special projects. The Union County Tuberculosis and Health League in 1963 contributed to a project in Mysore, India.

Contributions made by local tuberculosis association in the United States are matched by the National Tuberculosis Association when the funds are forwarded to the International Union Assistance Program.

CD Unit To Teach Radef Monitoring

A basic radef monitoring course will be given in the Hillside Municipal Building, starting Tuesday, March 1, at 8 p.m. and continuing for eight two-hour sessions on consecutive Tuesdays.

All instruments will be supplied by the County Office of Civil Defense and Disaster Control.

Upon completion of the course a Department of Defense certificate will be issued to each individual.

If registration is large, additional courses will be arranged.

SOCIALIZING THROUGH DANCING—The couple in the middle, Paul and Gloria Lightner, Arthur Murray Dance instructors, are teaching Michael Krochmalny of Linden and Miss Katherine Hale of Union (left) and Donald Madden of Union and Miss Theresa Kozynski of Linden the art of ballroom dancing. The Lightners give instructions in all phases of dancing at the Elizabeth YWCA Social Dance Club every Tuesday evening from 8:30 to 11:30.

YWCA Social Dance Club Continues Program Started Eight Years Ago

The Elizabeth YWCA Social Dance, which was organized in November, 1957, continues to go strong under its new teachers and social directors, Paul and Gloria Lightner, the Arthur Murray dancers. Since then, the Club has served several hundred men and women, announced Miss Linda Karam, adult program director of the Y.

The Club meets every Tuesday evening from 8:30 to 11:30 at the Association Building, 1131 E. Jersey st., but those who wish to enjoy more dancing may come at 8 o'clock, she said.

The program aims at socializing through dancing, including one hour of group instruction in ballroom dances, basic and most recent variations, mixers and refreshments.

The Club continues to extend its welcome to old and new friends who came stag, with friends or as couples. For more information call EL 5-1500.

Officers Elected At St. Elizabeth's

Pageant Entries Due By March 20

Robert Schlicht of Scotch Plains and Ronald Brown of Festfield, co-chairmen of the entries committee and general co-chairmen for the Miss Union County pageant, have announced March 20 as the deadline for entries.

The pageant will be staged in the Scotch Plains-Fanwood High School auditorium on April 30, and is sponsored by the Fanwood-Scotch Plains Jayces.

Winner of the Miss Union County contest, in addition to receiving various local awards, will qualify for a participation in the Miss New Jersey contest to be held in Wildwood in June. The girl crowned Miss New Jersey will receive a $1,000 scholarship and compete in Atlantic City for the Miss America 1967 crown and the $10,000 first prize scholarship.

Shoveling Can Cause Heart Strain

Although winter is a season of joy and activity, it also brings with it a host of dangers. One of the most serious is heart strain caused by shoveling snow. The American Heart Association warns that shoveling snow is a strenuous activity that can be particularly dangerous for older people and those with heart conditions.

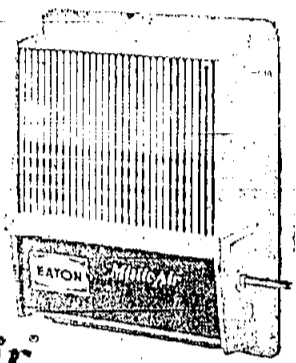

Because heavy snow will pile up, it is important to shovel frequently. The American Heart Association suggests that people shovel in three-minute intervals, resting for one minute between shoveling sessions. It also advises that people should not shovel after a heavy meal or when they are tired.

Dr. Rosenber, president of the county group, said that heart strain is a common cause of heart attacks. He noted that shoveling snow is a strenuous activity that can be particularly dangerous for older people and those with heart conditions.

Elderly Must Sign By March 31 For Health Insurance

Persons 65 or over and receiving Social Security or railroad retirement benefits must send an enrollment card to their local Social Security office to qualify for the medical insurance part of Federal health insurance, according to Ralph W. Jones, Social Security district manager in Elizabeth.

If the enrollment card has been lost, Jones said, duplicates will be provided by his office. Jones said that persons who were 65 or over as of Jan. 1 will have medical insurance when the program starts, only if signed up by March 31. Information on the program is available at all Social Security offices, Jones said.

CAN GET BENEFITS

If you are 65, do you know that you may be eligible for hospital and medical insurance benefits even though you are still working? Write or telephone your nearest social security office for more information. Ask for the free Medicare booklet.

A FEMININE LOOK

Commentary on a recent National Newspaper Association Study Mission to the British Isles and Scandinavia

By TRUDINA HOWARD

Fifteenth in a Series
DENMARK
Copenhagen revisited is still Copenhagen. When you go to Copenhagen it must be said that way, and not "hoo-gen" or the Danes will cordially hate you. They are quite definite in their desire for what they call the English, rather than the German pronunciation of the city, and correct you immediately. It is also "snaps" and not "schnaps" which by a turn of the tongue is a nice, dynamic little liquor.

If you want to be a real hit, however, say something close to "Cobenhavn" which is how the Danes say it. Almost. Copenhagen on second look did not seem as over-run with bicycles as it had in 1960. Yet they told us there are 600,000 cars in Denmark but two million bikes, 500,000 of which are in Copenhagen. And that's a lot of bikes. What worries me is that one brewery alone claims that it bottles 3,000 bottles of beer a MINUTE and that the Danes drink over one million bottles of Tuborg beer a day. That means that one-fourth of the people are drinking Tuborg beer while more than one half are drinking bicycles. That puts one fourth of them on bikes drinking beer. And that's only Tuborg beer. There is also Carlsberg beer.

But in Denmark there is a good reason to drink beer. Tuborg gives large donations to education, science, industry, and commerce and through the generosity of the will of Mr. Jacobson of the Carlsberg Brewery, all profits of that company must go to cultural efforts. So it is that in Denmark you may have many a perfect castle, (Borg), other fine restorations, one of the best Greek art collections in the world and the original Radio "Thinker."

Danes are also very proud of their literacy rate and there is a saying that of the 4,500,000 Danes in Denmark only two cannot read or write very well. At least they are not in the process of, or contemplating, writing a novel or their memoirs.

Perhaps it is because the children have such a short school vacation. In Denmark we found the children have one of the shortest summer vacations found anywhere, six weeks.

In Copenhagen we found one of the longest menus anywhere. It measured three feet long and contained a list of 200 sandwiches at a restaurant called David's.

And in Denmark we think we found the reason for Dachshunds. Dog licenses are priced according to the height of the dog!

BUT SPEARING of restaurants, while Amsterdam has its Five Flies Copenhagen has its Seven Small Homes, and that is rather better. The Seven Small Homes is just like a house and each of the seven rooms is decorated in a different motif. But the fun thing is that while you wait for your table you go down to the wine cellar and have a cocktail. Old-casies and barrels make the chairs and tables and there are 20,000 bottles of wine and a million people, always.

One night several of us wanted to try a good, un-touristy Copenhagen restaurant which we decided was the Coq d'Or. We were right for it was jammed and we were told "no tables until ten." As we drooped out a couple coming in heard us lamenting and said "Would you like our reservation at the Small Homes? We have reservations at both places and won't use the Small Homes one." They were American and understood us.

The couple said the reservation was in the name of "Hearn." So we asbayed over to the Small Homes and one man in our group, Martin Morgan of Newton, N. J., said, "We have a reservation," and the man behind the desk interrupted and said, "Name please?" Whereby Mr. Morgan continued blithely, "Morgan—or I mean Morgan O'HEARN."

Well that fixed Mr. Morgan. From then on he was Mr. O'HEARN.

And of course, of all the million people in the cellar, not one was a Dane, and the table next to our eight of ten was alive with 12 men from the Chamber of Commerce of Harrisburg, Pa.

ONE CAN HARDLY think of Copenhagen without thinking of Hans Christian Andersen. The Little Mermaid and Tivoli is located right in the center of the city and is an amusement park to end all amusement parks. Not only are there rides and games and dancing, but theaters and concerts and stage shows and restaurants and sidewalk cafes and everything.

But it was closed.

We missed it by one day for it closes for the winter.

The Little Mermaid's head was never found after it was severed and taken a year or so ago, but in six weeks the Danes had made a new one and you would never know the difference, so we saw the Mermaid complete at least. She sits about a foot off land in the water and is life size. Many are surprised that she is so small.

Also in the center of town and almost as famous as Tivoli is the big department store, Ged Films. But almost more interesting is the street that runs to the side of Illum. It's a long and not too wide but also not too narrow, and it is for pedestrians.

One of the days we were taken to several castles and in riding through the country we were shown the highest spot in the land: Stry Mountain, 480 feet high. The castles seemed higher. We saw Kronborg Castle at Elsinore which is famous for Hamlet, Fredensborg which is the spring and fall residence of King Frederik and Queen Ingrid, Frederiksberg with its church filled with coats-of-arms and the highly prized plaques of the Order of the Elephant (Eisenhower holds one), Christianborg Castle in Copenhagen where we visited with the minister of Cultural Affairs and Amalienborg Castle, also in the city, where we saw the changing of the guard.

And on one of the fine days in Copenhagen we saw the American ambassador, Mrs. Catherine White of Red Bank — of, yes, New Jersey.

And with that thought I say adieu. We had Iceland still to see, but that has already been told, and so this mission is at end. There are only fond afterthoughts to tell, which we will do from, believe it or not, the Casbah.

Marrakech, Rabat, Casablanca, Rome, Istanbul, Athens, Crete, Madrid, Toledo, Tel Aviv, Lisbon, Jerusalem, Casablanca, Tunis, and Algiers and THE Casbah comprise the next National Newspaper Association Study Mission, and it's almost too glamorous to be true.

And pronounce-able too. Next: Views on us. To come. Resume from xv Casbah!

Tips for Today's Homemaker

From Carolyn Yukins, County Home Economist

Alterations of ready-made dresses often leave a new dress purchaser with a feeling of despair. One solution is to pay for the alterations by having them done by the store where the dress was purchased or, paying someone else to do the necessary fixing to make the dress fit.

In either case, the original cost of the dress was increased, and depending on the kind of alterations done, the cost of a new dress can be more than you figured.

Another solution to this problem is to "do it yourself." However, recognize the fact that no matter how adept at repair you may be, there are some alterations that are just not possible — for example, a bodice that is entirely too short with the waistline riding above the belt. If more than a quarter inch is needed to get the waistline seam under the belt, it is better not to even consider buying such a dress.

A gaping neckline means that the circumference of the neckline is too big for you. This is an extensive alteration and may in some instances, belong in the impossible class.

If this alteration is to be done it will require restitching the zipper to fit in the extra fullness in the back. Sometimes about a half inch can be taken up on the shoulder seams, but be careful that such a take-up does not make the armholes too tight.

Decorative darts or tucks can be used to remove the fullness in the front. But be sure to make them look like design detail rather than a take-in alteration. For example, a sunburst of tiny darts will be a better solution than two big darts.

Shortening is easier than lengthening hems. Remove the existing hem and have someone mark the new hemline. Measure carefully to get an even width of hem and re-sew.

Lengthening a hem may mean that a permanent crease will always show. It also may mean attaching a false facing to get the necessary length.

If you are considering a dress that needs lengthening alterations, check the inside seams and darts carefully for any clips or holes that will make even a simple alteration impossible.

It may be cheaper in the long run to try another size or different brand of ready-made dresses.

INQUIRE

If you are 65 or older, inquire about your rights now under Medicare. The place to inquire is at your social security office. The time is now. Delay may be costly.

Newark Ballet School Holding Registration
Registration is in progress for the Spring semester at the Newark Ballet Academy, 11 Centre Ave., and the South Orange branch, 150 American Ball Academy, at 18 South Orange Ave. The director is Fred Dan Jell, while faculty also include Ramon Bogarra, former Ballet Russe and New York City Ballet dancer, and Ana Marie Melendo, Ford Foundation student scholarship will be available in spring auditions.

ENROLL NOW
If you are 65 or over and are not receiving social security or railroad retirement benefits, you should get in touch with your social security office as soon as possible to enroll under the new Medicare program.

PEOPLE 65 AND OVER APPLY NOW FOR BLUE CROSS AND BLUE SHIELD

To Round Out Your Medicare Program

This is the new Blue Cross and Blue Shield coverage you've been reading and hearing about. Designed especially for New Jersey residents 65 and over, this new program — along with Parts A and B of Medicare — will give you the added protection you need. Here are the highlights of Blue Cross and Blue Shield 65:

IN-HOSPITAL BENEFITS Medicare Provides: Up to 90 days of bed-patient hospital care per spell of illness.	Under Medicare Patient Must Pay: First $40 of hospital costs plus $10 per day co-insurance, 61st through 90th day of hospital stay.	Blue Cross and Blue Shield 65 Provides: Coverage of the $40 deductible and $10 daily co-insurance 61st through 90th day inclusive.
DOCTOR'S SERVICES Medicare Provides: Under Part B, Physician's and surgeon's services in hospital, doctor's office, clinic, home or elsewhere.	Under Medicare Patient Must Pay: First $50 of charges and 20% of the balance during each calendar year.	Blue Cross and Blue Shield 65 Provides: Coverage of any part of the $50 deductible and the 20% of the balance, for physician's services in hospital.
OUT-PATIENT & OUT-OF-HOSPITAL BENEFITS Medicare Provides: Benefits for out-patient hospital services consisting of diagnostic tests, under Part A, and radiation treatment, splints, casts, and rental of medical equipment under Part B.	Under Medicare Patient Must Pay: First $20 of out-patient hospital costs and 20% of the balance during each 20-day period of diagnostic testing under Part A, and first $50 and 20% of the balance for physician's services and incidentals under Part B.	Blue Cross and Blue Shield 65 Provides: Coverage of the $20 hospital out-patient deductible and the 20% of the balance for diagnostic tests, and any part of the $50 deductible and 20% of the balance for physician's services in the out-patient department, PLUS coverage for hospital out-patient care for surgery, accidental injury within 72 hours, medical emergencies and specialized therapy.
SERVICES AWAY FROM HOME Medicare Provides: Benefits only in the United States and its territories and possessions except for certain emergency provisions.		Blue Cross and Blue Shield 65 Provides: Coverage for hospital care and in-hospital physician's services anywhere in the world. Benefits provided will be those which Medicare would have covered (if care were rendered in the United States) supplemented by the additional Blue Cross and Blue Shield benefits described above.

MEDICARE also provides up to 100 days per spell of illness in a qualified skilled nursing home after discharge from a hospital following at least a 3 day stay. However, the patient must pay $5 per day for the 21st through 100th day. Medicare further provides home visits by visiting nurse or other approved health workers. These benefits include 100 such visits under Part A only after 3 days in hospital or approved nursing home, plus 100 visits under Part B, without the requirement of prior hospitalization.

URGES TRAINING PROGRAMS

CD Official Cites Need For Know-How In Emergencies

What is your emergency IQ? Probably rather low, according to Col. Jack Faron, Civil Defense Program coordinator for Rutgers University. He claims that the everyday IQ of most of us dips considerably when we are confronted with a life or death emergency.

Col. Faron, who has spent 33 years handling tight situations, many of them as a navigator of B-29's and of mid-air refueling planes, points out, however, that one can bring his emergency IQ up to everyday levels through knowledge and training.

He cites a personal case, a refueling mission over the Atlantic during which two engines of his plane developed trouble. By correctly estimating remaining flying time and positioning his plane's position by the stars, he was able to plot a new course to an American base in the Azores. The million-dollar aircraft and its crew of six landed safely 90 minutes later.

Col. Faron, 44, retired from the Air Force last July convinced that know-how and training can take the panic out of emergencies. The former aerospace studies instructor in the Rutgers ROTC program is devoting his new career to proving the point in training courses for Civil Defense leaders throughout the State.

"The principles learned in Civil Defense are applicable for any emergency," he says. "We live in a nuclear age. No one wants war but we all know that accidents and disasters can happen. Knowledge and preparedness are our best weapons against disaster, natural or nuclear."

MORE LIVES were not lost in the 1964 Alaskan earthquake because the Alaskan CD had ready an emergency trained individuals, supplies and equipment and a central control, he says. Pointing out that the U.S. government three years ago surveyed available areas suitable for fallout shelters, he says we now need trained people to make these facilities usable in an emergency. To make it easier to obtain this training, the government is bringing the necessary instruction to those who assume responsibility as CD leaders and shelter managers. Until this year it was necessary to go to Brooklyn or centers in Michigan or California for the instruction required to organize and direct a complete Civil Defense program.

Col. Faron said Rutgers has been designated by Washington to set up Civil Defense training classes in every county of the state. Two of the "units" courses are Civil Defense management, which trains CD municipal and county directors and co-ordinators to carry out their responsibilities in the event of a natural or nuclear disaster, and shelter management, which trains shelter managers and their staffs to give organized protection against radioactive fallout.

Besides the two basic courses which the government hopes to see operating in each of the New Jersey counties, the Rutgers CD program is conducting specialized classes in central locations for instructors in shelter management, in radiological defense and for radiological monitoring.

County Group Plans Two Weekend Hikes

Two hikes have been scheduled for the members and guests of the Union County Hiking Club over the weekend.

On Saturday, Miss Irma Hever of the Union County Hiking of Elizabeth will lead an afternoon ramble in the Watchung Reservation. The five-mile hike will include a visit to the Boy Scout area and to Drake's Field. The hikers will meet at the parking area above Lake Surprise at 10:30 p.m.

On Sunday, Robert Gesser of Annandale will lead a 12-mile hike in the area of the Raritan Gorge and Voorhees State Park in Hunterdon County.

Advices Emergency Box For Removing Rug Spots

Accidents or spills on carpets or rugs often seem like disaster to a homemaker. Yet such things are bound to happen, no matter how careful one is, according to Carolyn Yuknus, Union County home economist.

"So rather than bemoan the accident itself or blame the person causing it, it is far less frustrating to know you are prepared to take care of spots, spills or accidents that will invariably happen."

It will be helpful if you have a stain removal guide to help you know how to go about treating a stain quickly, Miss Yuknus said.

On hand and easily accessible should be a container of one quart of water with one teaspoon of mild detergent and one teaspoon of white vinegar, labeled as rug "spot-cleaner" and another container with a good commercial dry cleaning solution and labeled as such. In the same rug emergency box or shelf, should be a sponge and a roll of absorbent toweling.

The next thing to remember is that stains fall into three categories. There are stains that are water-soluble, such as milk, soft drink, alcohol beverages, and pet accidents. Then there are those stains that are of a grease or oil base, such as tar, ice cream, or meat stains are cleaned by a grease solvent, and stains that require fast professional treatment such as shoe polish, furniture scratch remover and nail polish, she said.

Any homemaker has a good chance of removing stains in the first two categories by using either water and detergent, or a grease solvent. When grease stains occur, use a sponge to blot up the excess. The next step is to apply the proper toweling using absorbent toweling to blot up the excess. Do not form the habit of rubbing a stain, this only disturbs the pile of the carpet and helps to spread the stain.

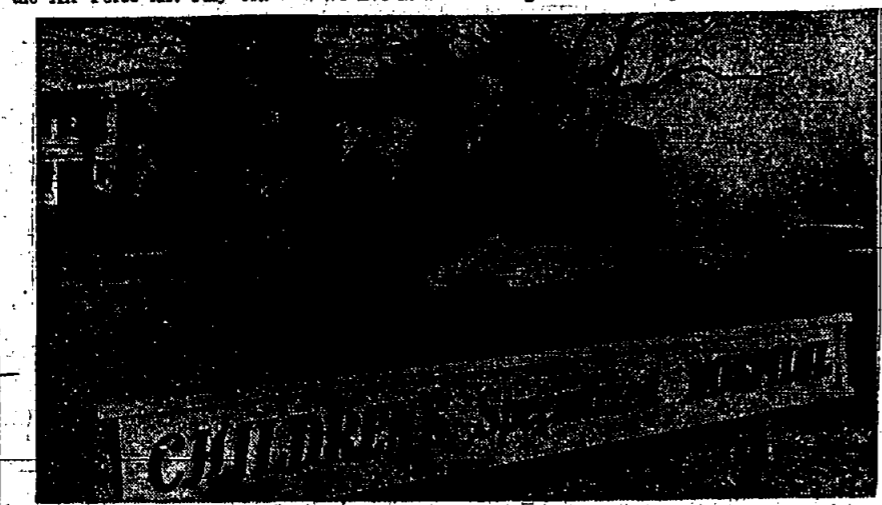

If you aren't certain if the stain is water- or grease-soluble, it usually is the best to try the water solution first. If a stain is the result of a dye additive, don't hesitate to call a professional rug spotter, Miss Yuknus said.

Garden Program Plans Drawn Up

Plans for a Garden Center and Clinic to be held on Saturday, Sept. 10, and Sunday, Sept. 11, at the Union County Park Commission's Trillium Nature and Science Center in the Watchung Reservation, Mountainside, were discussed recently by members of the Trillium Garden Club of Union County at the home of Mrs. Wesley Philo, Cranford.

It was announced that a special meeting will be held next Wednesday, at 8 p.m. at the Somerset Trust Company, Rt. 22, at the Brick Star Shopping Center. The purpose of the meeting will be to select committees for the program.

Representatives of garden clubs throughout Union County are invited to participate in the program and attend the meeting.

SPECIALIST GIVES TIPS ON CARING FOR TILE FLOORS

Those who find it a chore to take care of asphalt tile floors, may appreciate the advice of a Rutgers specialist who knows some ways to make the job easier.

Miss Gene Thames, extension specialist in home furnishing, suggests proper cleaning, sealing, and waxing at the beginning to simplify later maintenance.

Dirt, grime, and grease will not become embedded in the porous surface if you apply asphalt tile sealer to your floors. The sealer also prevents bleeding of colors and improves the appearance of the floor. Asphalt tile sealer is made specifically for use on standard asphalt tile flooring, but not on greaseproof asphalt tile, Miss Thames advises.

Before applying sealer, you must clean the tile surface and remove all wax. You can use steel wool and an asphalt tile cleaner that's made to remove wax, dirt, and films from asphalt flooring.

Next, clean the floor with a neutral soap and warm water. On hard-to-clean spots, gently use an abrasive cleaner. Wipe floor with damp cloths or sponges and mop and clear water. Let dry overnight.

Next day, apply two thin coats of asphalt tile sealer with a lamb's wool mop, allowing about six to eight hours between coats. Two thin coats are a MUST.

When sealer is dry, apply two thin coats of a wax designed for use on asphalt tile. Buff surface uniformly with a floor polisher, using fine steel wool or polishing brush.

After this sealer treatment, floors may be maintained by buffing frequently with fine steel wool pads attached to a floor polisher. This "dry cleans" the surface, the specialist says.

'My Fair Lady' Film; Stunning Adaptation

By BEA SMITH

The large, curved stereophonic screen at the Clairidge Theater in Montclair is currently being graced with the stunning, eye-filling, colorful film adaptation of one of Broadway's longest running productions: "My Fair Lady."

The Alan Jay Lerner-Fredrick Loewe musical, derived from George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion," is nearly as breath-taking as the original stage offering, with Rex Harrison charmingly re-creating his Broadway role of enigmatic, articulate Professor Higgins and Audrey Hepburn, superb in the Julie Andrews role of Eliza Doolittle, the self-marked Cockney flower urchin, who is picked up from the streets of London and is turned, Cinderella-style, into a polished, high-society, smooth-speaking "lady."

The featured cast, including Stanley Holloway also enacting his original stage role as Alfred Doolittle, Whitfield Hyde White, Gladys Cooper and Theodore Bikel, is excellent.

Still highlighting this marvelous motion picture (which won eight Academy awards) are the words and music to "I Could Have Danced All Night," "The Rain in Spain," "Why Can't the English," "Wouldn't It Be Lovely," "I've Grown Accustomed to Her Face," "With a Little Bit of Luck," "On the Street Where You Live" and "Get Me to the Church on Time." And the hilarious Ascot race scene still has the power to break up whole audiences—whether it is performed on the stage or on the big wide screen at the Clairidge Theater.

College Choir To Sing For Church Groups

Youth Groups from metropolitan New York Russian Baptist churches will hear the Eastern Baptist College Choir at 7 p.m. Saturday, at Evangelical Baptist Church, 18th ave. and 20th st., Newark. The choir, offering will include motets by Brahms and Schack and arrangements of folk hymns and traditional church hymns.

The Eastern Baptist College Choir, directed by Professor Joel Anderson, is making a singing tour of the New York City area, Massachusetts and Maine during the mid-term break at the college in St. Davids, Pa.

'ZORBA' REMAINS IN FOURTH WEEK AT ART THEATER

Irene Pappas, Greek actress, who is reunited with producer-director Michael Cacoyannis in "Zorba the Greek," starting its fourth week at the Art Theater, Irvington Center, Wednesday, won the "Best Actress Award" at the 1962 Salonika Film Festival for her performance in Cacoyannis' "Electra."

Miss Pappas also marks her third film with Anthony Quinn in "Zorba." She previously played opposite him in "Attila the Hun" and "The Guns of Navarone."

She declines any talk of hobbies, saying: "Believe an actress, if she wants to play well, doesn't have time for anything else but preparation for her roles—reading, studying and observing."

Olivier's 'Othello' Set In Millburn

Britain's National Theatre production of William Shakespeare's "Othello," which was staged at the Old Vic Theater in London, has been transferred to the motion picture screen by Warner Brothers' in "Technicolor" and Panayiotou, and will be shown in four performances at the Millburn Theater, Millburn, Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 9 and 10.

Directed by Stuart Burge, "Othello" stars Sir Laurence Olivier who recreates his National Theatre role of Venice. Olivier was named director of the National Theatre in August, 1962.

Others heading the cast in the bard's drama are Maggie Smith as Desdemona, Frank Finlay as Iago, Joyce Redman as Emilia, Derek Jacobi as Cassio, Robert Lang as Rodrigo, Kenneth Macintosh as Lodovico, Anthony Nicholls as Brabantio and Sheila Reid as Bianca.

'Hill' To Remain At Palace Cinema

"The Hill," film drama which won one of the recent Cannes Film Festival awards and which is being held over at the Palace Cinema in Orange, was filmed almost entirely on location in the sandy wastelands of Gabo de Gata in Spain.

Sean Connery, known to movie audiences as the debonair James Bond character, is seen in an entirely different role—as that of an ex-convict officer, one of five prisoners admitted to a British military stockade in North Africa during World War II.

Much of the action of the picture takes place within the barbed wire perimeter of the prison stockade.

'Repulsion' Star Has B. A. Degree

Yvonne Furneaux, who appears in Roman Polanski's "Repulsion," film drama, which is being held over for a third week at the Ormont Theater, East Orange, portrays the older sister of a repressed and inhibited girl driven beyond the edge of insanity by Miss Furneaux's passionate love affair.

Miss Furneaux, who was born in Roubaix, France, earned a B.A. degree in Oxford University in England, then won a scholarship at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art. She made her screen debut in "24 Hours of a Woman's Life," played Jenny in "The Beggar's Opera" and appeared in "The Girl Friends," which won the Silver Lion Award at the Venice Film Festival. She then played a season at the Bristol Old Vic in England, toured Finland and India with a Shakespearean company, and in 1959, was seen in her most famous role—that of Marcello Mastroianni's long-suffering wife in Fellini's "La Dolce Vita."

Dysautonomia Plans 'Give To Live' Dinner

A "Give To Live" dinner sponsored by the Northern New Jersey Chapter of Dysautonomia will be held March 17 in the Kingston Restaurant, Union. It was announced this week.

The "Give To Live" cans are to be turned in at a meeting which will be held Feb. 10 at 8 p.m. in the Bet Yehed Center, Newark. Mrs. Leon Trinker of 2518 Spruce st., Union, will preside. Florence and Maxine of Grayces in Millburn will give a cosmetic demonstration.

JOAN FONTAINE STARS 'Dial M' For Melo drama At Paper Mill

By WILLIAM H. BRUCKER
A highly expert melodrama braced with English Leather (tennis anyone?) and British police methods makes for a considerably suspenseful evening at the Paper Mill Playhouse, where "Dial M for Murder" has just opened a two-week run.

It is a period piece type of whodunit that omits the psychological ramifications of the perfect murder, but dissects it cold and bare and exposes the fall-safe mechanisms that make it his and mine.

SEMI-ART POLICY AT GROVE BEGINS SUNDAY AT 2 P.M.

The Grove Theater, 16th ave. and Grove st., Irvington, has announced that starting with its present screen offering, the theater will show its semi-art policy all day on Sunday, starting at 2 p.m. A kiddie matinee will be shown on Saturdays only, promptly at 1:30 p.m.

The present double-bill at the Grove is "Beane On A Wet Afternoon" starring Kim Stanley and "The L-Shaped Room" with Leslie Caron.

On Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 9 and 10, two Polish films will be presented.

Saint Joan Presented At Morris Theatre

Saint Joan, George Bernard Shaw's biographical drama about the French village girl burnt for heresy, witchcraft and sorcery more than 500 years ago, will open tomorrow night at the Morris Theater's fifth repertory production of its 1965-1966 season.

Opening night tickets, now on sale at the box office at 35 Market st., Morristown, and through swastrel. Swann, who has never been able to get life's trolley going and is for sale if the dastardly deed is post-doctoral in its quality (enough motives).

We have the beautiful wife who philandered and engenders her husband's ingenuity for mayhem, but involves the plot by murdering the would-be assassin.

And, of course, we have a very debonair inspector, who is traditional, dresses nattily, makes urbane wisecracks, is nicely off-hand and diffident in the best Scotland Yard mannerly until that brilliant half hour when he solves everything at play's end.

Joan Fontaine is highly effective as the wife who interrupts her own garrulous with some highly effective maneuvers with a crocheting machine. Her voice has the same richness she had 25 years ago when she was the second Mrs. Manderly, and she does wear some stunning clothes here.

Richard Clarke plays the cad's role that was created by Maurice Evans. Clarke appeared just a little too young for the part, and his menace was missing. The attack was almost that of a rogue, rather than of a calculating paranoid. Jeffrey Lynn looks lean and handsome and makes a TV writer plausible and affable in the Warner Bros. tradition.

Eric Berry's inspector is a capital performance. He is mindful of the ghost of Neyland Smith over him and his sleuthing is first class. Robert T. Williams set had a stock look to it, but it is a stock play.

The interest in the play is not in its potential emotional impact but its mathematical solution. The final verdict is that it is as good as any and much better than many.

This Lady's Place Is Most Often In The Lumberyard

Who would think that a woman's place is in the home didn't have Etta Sweet in mind. Etta's place is in the lumberyard, a place she's occupied for some 35 years as head lumber buyer for Channel Lumber Company, Newark, Jersey's largest retail outlet chain for lumber and other do-it-yourself materials for New Jersey's home owners and hobbyists.

It is highly unusual that a woman should occupy such a position in a man's world. Even more unusual is the fact that she has a better knowledge of wood and lumber than anyone else in the country, according to a company spokesman.

Thirty-five years ago, Etta Sweet walked into Channel Lumber Company for a part-time after-school job. Starting as a clerk, filling lumber invoices and specification sheets, the subject of lumber fascinated her and she began to study — and literally memorize — every booklet and bulletin on the subject.

Impressed by her desire to learn, her department manager suggested to management that she be allowed to attend Rutgers Extension School at nights, at company expense.

BY THE TIME the war came along, Etta knew more about how to buy, sell and use every type of lumber than anyone else in the Channel operation. She recalls proudly being visited by two U.S. Navy admirals, in 1944, who were dispatching a Seabee detachment to Alaska to build some newly designed outdoor storage sheds.

They wanted her opinion on what types of lumber would best stand up in the bitter cold Alaskan winters. (She recommended an old-treed black walnut.)

Right after the war, Etta was sent on an extensive four-month trip to the West Coast to study the many new techniques which had been developed for wartime use and were now ready for peacetime activity, and to learn about the many new lumber products and techniques which were going to be essential to the mushrooming home building industry.

The results of her trip were instantaneously reflected in Channel's retail sales volume, and she was promoted to head lumber buyer, a post filled in every comparable company by a man.

Her knowledge of woods — orders — and find-out-how-the market is — if there's any spare time, she'll visit a new home tract (preferably a Channel customer) and see how the lumber is being used at its ultimate end.

AFTER 35 YEARS, it might be assumed that she's a bit tired of wood and lumber. This is a wrong assumption. "Nobody believes it," smiles Etta, "but wood is a part of my life. Even my hobby is wood. I collect wood statues and carvings from all over the world."

When Etta first joined Channel Lumber, in 1909, the company was solely in the lumber business. And they handled only wholesale construction accounts. The end of the war marked a whole new market for lumber products and a whole new merchandising and marketing concept for Channel.

Etta went right along with the change, learning the decorative and home owner's end of the lumber field, to supplement her technical knowledge.

Etta loves her work and hopes to head the lumber buying end of Channel's operation for at least another 35 years. And Channel's management would like nothing better.

Here's why Garden State Farms Milk is 20% Richer in Butter Fat than min. State Requirements

Garden State Farms Milk is as pure, fresh and wholesome as it is humanly possible to produce. It's never lower than 3.5% and usually around 3.8% butterfat with absolutely nothing removed from the Milk and nothing added except Vitamin-D.

The butterfat content in excess of state requirements remains in the Milk — and so Garden State Farms Milk is 20% richer than the legal minimum.

Dayton Five Set For Visits By Rahway, Scotch Plains

By MYRON MEISEL

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School basketball team suffered two defeats last week to Abraham Clark High School of Roselle, 32-22, and Cranford High School, 24-58. The Dayton cagers will entertain Rahway High School tomorrow at 8 and Scotch Plains-Fanwood High School Tuesday afternoon at 8:30. Both are home games.

The losses came as a surprise after the stunning victories over Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School of Clark and Union High School two weeks ago.

Head coach Ray Yanchus commented, "I would attribute the losses to a collapse of our defense. In both games, the defensive performances were lacking and very disappointing considering how polished they were earlier.

"It represented our greatest let-down. Both Cranford and Roselle were lighter and displayed considerable more hustle."

The Roselle tally was perhaps the highest ever scored in any Dayton game. The Dayton Bulldogs cagers found themselves outclassed in every way, and were unable to rise to the challenge of the contest represented.

At Cranford, after an early 4-1 lead, the Bulldogs faded behind the Cougars, never again to catch up. Fumbling badly in the first quarter, the Dayton

Wrestlers Seeking Victories In Finales

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School wrestling team is in the doldrums after suffering three consecutive defeats in two weeks.

The Bulldogs lost matches to Caldwell High School, 35-9; Scotch Plains-Fanwood High School, 46-0, and most recently, to Rahway High School last Wednesday, 42-2. The Dayton record, at this writing, is 2-3.

The Bulldog grapplers will visit Madison High School tomorrow evening at 8:00, and entertain Governor Livingston Regional High School of Berkeley Heights Wednesday in the final scheduled meet of the 1954-55 wrestling season. Afterward, the district regional and state competition will be held.

In all the recent contests, Dayton was badly outclassed. Short on strong individual performances, the Bulldogs lost by tremendous margins.

In the Rahway meet, only Pete Sayki, at 98 pounds, and Eric Millner, at 178, scored for Dayton on decisions.

Despite these disappointing results, head coach Tom McCabe stated, "I really expect the team to win against Madison and Berkeley Heights." Whether or not Dayton will finish the season with another victory depends a great deal on several factors.

"The loss of vital practice and training because of snow hit all the schools involved, but especially Dayton, which needs much bolstering since the wave of losses."

"Perhaps the key to Dayton is its lightweights, Sayki, Jon Brenn, Howie Goldhammer, Stu Cohen and Ed Camaleri, who must come back."

"These wrestlers did well earlier in the season, and formed the backbone of many Dayton contests, spearheading the victory over Arthur L. Johnson of Clark. Mike Clancy, a newcomer to the regular varsity squad, at 147, may also prove to be the extra momentum needed."

"Steve Hartz, Glenn Behrens, Al Silverman, Miner and others, at 130, 140, 150 and 160, are all experienced, and have proven themselves tough."

"The future of the final contests is very uncertain, but it goes, without a doubt, hinges on the ability of each of these individuals, and possibly others, to battle well on the mats. The team does not lack spirit, but in the final analysis, each must win for the team alone."

"It represents a challenge, but the Bulldogs have no one else. Every member of the squad has, at least one bout; now they must all win together."

Rockets Blasting For League Lead Among Small Fry

The Rockets continue as the lone unbeaten quintet in the Sandmeier School Small-Fry League. Three teams, the Raiders, the Chargers and the Comets, are just behind the league leaders with one loss each.

Last week concluded the fourth week of play in this league for the younger basketball hopefuls. The play visibly improved with each passing Saturday. The eight teams in this league meet for team competition each Saturday afternoon at the Thelma Sandmeier School.

The feature game last week was the third contest of the four games played in this league. The Rockets clinched their unbeaten record as they trounced the Jets by the score of 21 to 8.

Mark Weber, who is establishing himself as one of the league's top players, led both teams in scoring as he tallied 12 points. This was the first time this season that any boy in this league hit double figures in the scoring column. Bobby Wallack and Louis Klein were also effective for the winners, scoring four and three points respectively.

The opening contest last week saw the Comets trip the Tigers by the score of 17 to 16. The Comets displayed a good team effort in this victory, as five players hit the scoring column. Matt Collins paced the Comets with five points, while Jimmy Bowry and Mitch Marler each hit four points for the winners. Bobby Tasher provided most of the punch for the Tigers, as he tallied nine of his team's 10 points.

The Raiders remained in contention last week as they tripped the Chiefs in a good defensive basketball game, 7-8. Jeff Sarokin led the Raiders in scoring by tallying three points. Robert Dorsky and Steve Blumenkrantz each hit a basket for the winners. The Chiefs' three points were divided between Gavin Woldom and John Zurkoff. Roger Frank played a spirited game for the Chiefs.

The final game of the afternoon resulted in a 15 to 5 victory for the Chargers over the Pirates. Garry This paced the Chargers in scoring with seven points. Don Weg and Jeff Ficek played a good game for the winners. Each boy scored three points. Jimmy Toll with three points and Anthony Petruzzello with two points paced the Pirates in this contest.

This week, the action at the Sandmeier School will feature the following contests: Chargers vs. Comets, Chiefs vs. Jets, Tigers vs. Raiders and Pirates vs. Rockets. The first game will start at 1 p.m.

Pistons Trip Nats As 4 Quintets Tie In Small-Fry Play

The Pistons planned the first loss of the basketball season on the Nationals last week. As a result of their upset victory by the Pistons, a four-way tie for the lead was created in the Caldwell School Small-Fry League.

This eight-team basketball league for boys nine and ten years of age is sponsored by the Springfield Recreation Department and meets each Saturday afternoon at the James Caldwell School. The Pistons, Billikens, Bullets and Nats are tied for first.

The feature game in the league last week was the second game played. In this contest, the Pistons trounced the Nationals by the score of 21 to 16 in a well played contest.

Johnny Bellevue paced the Pistons with 10 big points, while Joe Pepe tallied six markers for the winners. The Pistons, who dropped their opening game, scored a victory over the Nationals in this contest as they tallied 14 points in the first half of play. Although outscored by the Nats in the second half, the Pistons held on to score an impressive triumph. Mike Levine led the Pistons with five points, while Bill Palazzi and Scott Margules each scored four points for the Nats.

The opening contest saw the high scoring Billikens defeat the Celtics by the score of 12 to 2. Neil Anderson with six points and Kenny Koster with four points paced the Billikens, while Johnny Gacos played a fine floor game for the winners. Eric Greene was the only Celtic to hit the scoring column.

The Knicks scored their initial victory of the campaign last week as they tripped the Jets by the score of 15 to 10. Matt Mathews paced the Knicks to their first victory, Marc Nieto with five points, while Bill Palazzi and Scott Margules each scored four points for the Nats.

Miss Cicconi Hits For 336 To Lead 1st-Place Quintet

The Rockin' Bowlers last week maintained their four game lead over the Chargers in the Girls' Bowling League. Both of the leading teams won two games in league action at Springfield Bowl.

Lorraine Cicconi of the Rockin' Bowlers once again turned in a top effort for her team. Miss Cicconi rolled a 248 two-game series. This effort was four pins off the record-breaking series she rolled just a week ago. The Girls' Bowling League is sponsored by the Springfield Recreation Department.

The Rockin' Bowlers swept a two-game series from the Alley Oop in a feature match last week. Lorraine Cicconi's top effort of 336 pins for the two games topped all bowlers for the afternoon.

Darlene Pancker of the Rockers was once again effective, as she turned in a 218 series. Eileen Francis rolled high for the Alley Oop, Eileen Francis her best series of the season and third best in league play as she tallied 379 for the two games.

The Chargers remained in second place as they took two games from the Alley Oop. Sally Wallace paced the winners, as she tallied a score of 236 for two games. Angi Margulies also turned in a good series for the Alley Oop, as she rolled a 211 series. Carol Hammer with 197 for the two-game series was the top bowler for the Alley Oop.

The final match of the day saw the third-place Strikers top the Alliettes in two games. Virginia Vogt rolled her top effort of the year as she paced the winners with a 273 series. Alyce Cooper was once again effective for the Alliettes. Alyce rolled a 245 series for the two games.

Lorraine Cicconi's league-leading average continues to soar. Lorraine, after her top effort of last week, is now rolling at a season average of 132. Alyce Cooper with a very respectable season average of 122 is a distant second.

Virginia Vogt moved into third place last week. Virginia is maintaining a 104 average.

Eileen Laber holds the fourth spot with a 103 season average. The fifth best average belongs to Eileen Francis. Eileen moved into the top five this past week. She is rolling at a 101 season average.

The remaining five girls among the top 10 in the individual averages are: Sharon Gagnon, 101; Diane Cagnowaky, 100; Sally Haines, 100; Linda Mulachler, 98; and Debbie Kiebler, 98.

Bombers Tie Bullets For Lead In Bowling

The Bombers continued their sensational bowling last week at Springfield Bowl as they pinned a pair of defeats on the Bullets and moved into a first-place tie with the Bullets.

This action took place last Thursday afternoon in the Springfield Recreation Department.

Admin last week, the Bombers rolled their big scores to defeat a contending opponent. Evan Wasserman rolled a high series of 309 to pace the Bombers. Eric Wasserman was also a top performer for the Bombers as he rolled 292 for two games. Jim Sarokin at 280 and Phil Slickes with 288 for two games were also effective for the winners.

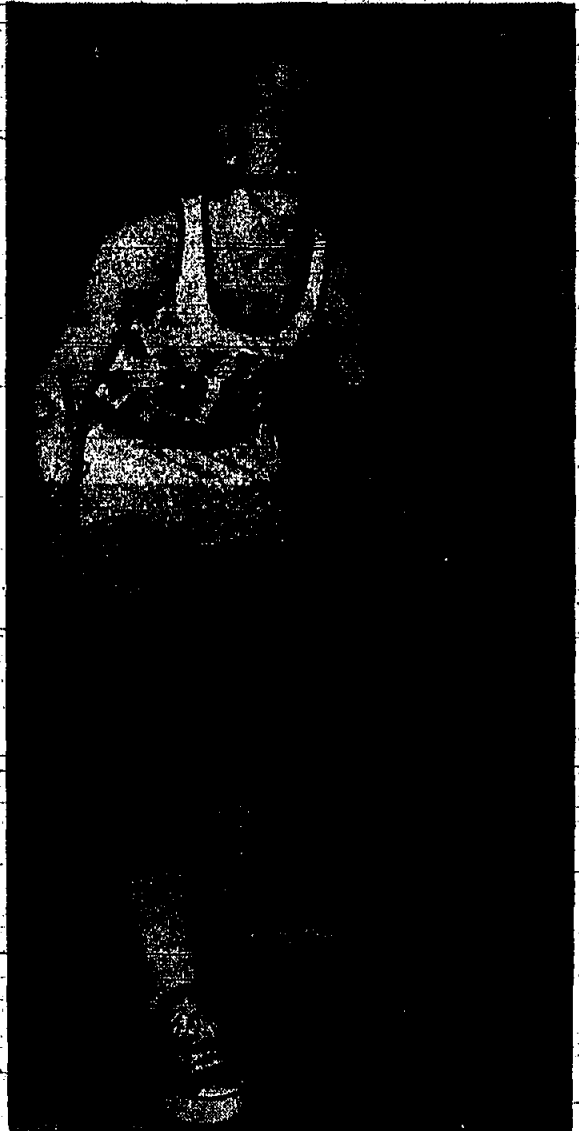

Robert Shindler turned in a top effort in a losing cause for the Bullets. Shindler tallied 301 for the two games.

The final contest of the day saw the Bullets retain their position of first place with a 6 to 2 triumph over the Aggies. The Bullets rallied to score all of their points in the final period to provide the margin of victory. Bob Hydock, Howie Tanenbaum, and Joey Knowles each scored for the Bullets. Frank Zarrello and Mike Scapellato each hit a foul shot for the Aggies to give them the lead going into the final period.

Sue Sanders' Set Tops Ahm Loop

Sue Sanders bowled a 468 set to pace the bowlers in the Sisterhood of Temple Beth Ahm League last week at Hy-Way Bowl, Union. Other high scores were recorded by:

Shelley Wolfe, 452-199; Marilyn Lipton, 429; Matty Heller, 468-194; Sylvia Kosnett, 412; Shirley Kurtz, 480-183; Bernice Kurtz, 494; Vicki Kavenberg, 401-160; Barbara Kavanagh, 401-160; Carol Popper, 401; Helia Nofield, 186; Phyllis Cohen, 464-165; Joanne Silverstein, 434; Judy Meyer, 411; Doty Welberg, 442; Frieda Fedinoff, 433-163; Sue Kaufman, 448-163; Helga Nigard, 439; and Eliza Slickes, 424-163.

STEVE HIRSCHORN, stellar back-court performer for the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School basketball team, has won a reputation for his scoring and his play-making ability.

Iowa Retains Unbeaten Status To Hold State Basketball Lead

Iowa continues to lead the Springfield Recreation Department's State Basketball League. Iowa after four weeks of play, has managed to remain unbeaten in league competition.

Texas and Kansas are just a notch below Iowa with identical records of three victories and one loss. The State League teams meet each Saturday afternoon at the Riverside Swindler School. There are 10 teams in the league.

Iowa Triumphs

In the opening contest last week, undefeated Iowa protected its league-leading record by downing a good Florida team by the score of 22 to 13. Iowa showed a strong offense and tight defense in this contest.

Ray Danziger with seven points and Howie Alexander with six points topped the scoring for the winners. Six players in all were in the scoring column for the well-balanced Iowa team. Howie Alexander, a performer for Florida, turned in another fine game and tallied six points.

Kansas Rolls

High-scoring Kansas, routed Iowa last week by the score of 25 to 14 to remain in contention for the league top spot. Scott Peussing, a fine performer this season, tallied 11 points for the

Columbia, Princeton, Cornell Tied In Ivy League Standings

With four weeks of basketball concluded in the Springfield Recreation Department's Ivy League, these three teams tied for the league lead—Columbia, Princeton and Cornell all have records of three victories against a single loss.

Columbia scored an important victory last week, and Princeton upset Cornell to create the logjam at the top of the standings. The six Ivy League teams meet in competition each Saturday afternoon at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School.

Yale Wins

In the opening contest last week, Yale moved into league contention a game behind the leaders, as they tripped winless Harvard by a 18 to 7 count. By virtue of this victory, Yale evened its season record at two and two.

Bobby Janukowicz, the hoop's outstanding center, topped all teams in scoring as he tallied 13 points for the winning Yale squad. Bob talked on 5 of 8 shots from the foul line in this game. Jimmy Sarokin played a fine game for Harvard, and hit two points for the Crimson and played a top floor game.

Columbia Scores

The second game last week saw Columbia take an important victory, 17-10, from a hustling Dartmouth team. Columbia rebounded from a first half deficit to take the victory going away. Richie Deusch of Columbia tallied 10 points to pace the victory surge. Rich hit some big shots during the second-half rally by Columbia.

Eric DeGruy of Columbia played his usual top floor game for the Light Blue team. Gold and Deusch gave Columbia the league's top one-two punch in the back court. Marc Hollander played a top game for Columbia, and Eddie Gassette of Columbia established himself as one of the league's top rebounders. Keith Brownie with five points and Phil Stokes with four markers topped Dartmouth. Stokes was particularly effective with his defensive steals.

Princeton Victory

The final contest of the day saw Princeton send Cornell down to its first defeat of the season, as they topped the Big Red team by the score of 17 to 15. This upset victory put Princeton into first place in the Ivy League with Cornell and Columbia.

The Cornell-Princeton game was a see-saw battle until the final minutes. Princeton took the game out of reach with a foul shot by Gary Fox with six seconds remaining. Baskets by Fox and Frank Buck tied up Princeton at a point up in the final minutes of the game. Jeff Morris also played a top game for Princeton. Jeff hit important baskets on two occasions to keep the score close. Another top performer for Princeton was Bobby Sasse, who turned in a fine floor effort.

Mike Chotiner, Johnny Edwards and Jay Silverman paced the Cornell team. Mike and Jay were particularly effective in this game as they kept Cornell close with their outside shooting. Jay tallied four points while Mike hit for six points. Johnny Edwards gave a top rebounding effort for Cornell.

Hard-charging Princeton will meet the contending Yale team in the feature game next Saturday in the Ivy League. This will be the second game on the slate next week. Other games next week will be Harvard vs. Columbia and in the opener, Cornell vs. Dartmouth. The first game at the Regional High School gym will be at 1 p.m.

Rangers Remain First In Bowling; Wolff Is Top Man

The Rangers continue to soar above all other teams in the Friday Afternoon Boys' Bowling League. Last week the Rangers toppled another opponent in two games to maintain their full three-game lead in league competition.

The league meets at the Springfield Bowl and is sponsored by the Springfield Recreation Department.

The Rangers defeated the Chargers in two games last week to hold their league lead. Mitch Wolff again paced the Rangers, and again rolled a top series. Mitch again topped his average as he tallied 307 for the two games. Scott Peussing with a score of 287 for two games was also effective for the Rangers, as was Henry Zachau, who rolled 248 for the two games.

Brian Ogonowky topped his average last week as he rolled a 213 series for the Rangers. Jay Silverman paced the Rangers with a fine 282 series. Pearlmuter of the Chargers had a good afternoon, as he tallied 245 for the two games.

The Black Hawks kept pace with the league leaders by doubling the Royals in two games. The two defeats put the Royals in fourth place, five games out of the top spot. Gary Neifeld put in a top effort for the Hawks as he rolled a 282 series to lead his team. Jeff Slater with a two-game effort of 270 also sided in the Hawks' two victories. Steve Grau with a series of 245 was the only Royal bowler to top the 200 mark for a series effort.

The Tigers defeated the Chiefs twice last week to jump into third place in the league standings. Ira Shulman paced the Tigers with a 245 effort for two games. Perry Koplik rolled a 281 series with a series effort of 256 paced the Chiefs, while Keith Singer with a 241 series also rolled well for the hard-luck Chiefs.

The final match of the day saw the Bruins split with the Eagles. Billy Schweb topped the match as he rolled a 290 series for the Bruins. Army Bismontello also rolled well for the Bruins with a 247 series. Mike Sanders at 253 and Mike Levine at 237 were the top performers for the Eagles.

Mitch Wolff with a 148 average continues to lead the league, while Jay Silverman second with a 134 season average. Eric Freundlich is in the third spot with an average of 124.

Custom Features Are In Abundance At Colonial Acres In Middlebush

Artist's rendering of "The Franklin" 2-story model at Colonial Acres. Home sells for $26,500. Limited number of homes are to be built in this Somerset County community.

Colonial Acres is not a large development; only a limited number of homes are to be built in the Early American tradition. Each home will be finished to the buyer's specifications. In fact, he is encouraged to lend imaginative suggestion to assist the builder in fashioning a home to his own particular desires.

Located in the country, in the Middlebush area of Franklin Township, Colonial Acres homes are situated on half-acre landscaped lots.

Two models are shown: "The Somerset" Expandable Ranch and "The Franklin" 2-story Colonial. Prices start at $24,990.

Among the custom features to be found at Colonial Acres are random width pegged flooring, fire places, solid six panel pine doors, natural stained woodwork and doors, exterior brick and cedar shake exteriors and Caloric appliances.

The basic ranch model features three bedrooms but can be expanded to five bedrooms and 2 1/2 baths. The home includes a laundry-mud room on the first floor, spacious entrance foyer, large kitchen with birch cabinets and formal dining room.

The two-story model has 4 large bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths, formal dining room, country "eat-in" kitchen, center entrance foyer, fully paneled family room, and spacious laundry and utility room.

Colonial Acres is minutes away from schools, shopping centers, buses, and "Park & Ride" commuting from the Pennsylvania Railroad Station in New Brunswick. American Acres, Inc. is the builder of Colonial Acres and Norman M. Krisburg, realtor of 231 Somerset St., North Plainfield, is the sales agent.

Set Starting Dates Of Two Classes For College Boards Preparation

The College Board Center this week announced the starting dates for its courses preparing high school juniors for the May Scholastic Aptitude Tests of the College Entrance Examination Board. The Saturday morning class will have its first session on March 5; the Friday afternoon class will hold its initial meeting on March 4. The Center, now completing its eighth year of operation, assists students in developing skills, concepts, and techniques needed for improving scores on both the verbal and mathematics sections of the exam. The entrance rooms of the school are located on Main Street in Orange. Presently, the school is conducting courses for those who plan to take the March Boards. The next session in preparation for the May Boards will finish just prior to the examinations which will be held on May 7. Additional information on registration forms may be obtained by writing Department 1-2025 at Center 9-3114.

Civil Rights Unit Publishes Guide

The New Jersey Division on Civil Rights, in cooperation with the New Jersey Manufacturers Association, has published a new explanatory pamphlet on pre-employment inquiries. Entitled "Employer's Guide to the New Jersey Anti-Discrimination Laws," the publication contains the Division's Rules and Regulations concerning the kinds of information which may and may not be obtained from job applicants by employers under the new laws. It also contains explanations of the laws and answers to questions frequently asked about the regulations by both employers and applicants, as well as explanatory answers.

The Manufacturers Association is distributing copies of the pamphlet to its membership, and the Division will circulate the pamphlet through the New Jersey Employment Service and in answer to requests.

It may be obtained without charge by contacting William W. Barnes, supervisor of education, New Jersey Division on Civil Rights, 52 West State Street, Trenton 08608.

52 Percent Of Deaths Caused By Cardiovascular Diseases

Diseases of the heart and blood vessels were responsible for 52 percent of 3,487 deaths in Union County during the last year, according to which statistics were compiled by the health department. The figures are the highest in the history of the county since 1948, when 4,000 deaths were reported.

Of the total of all deaths, 1,811 were cardiovascular diseases, or 52 percent. The total number of deaths in the county last year was 3,487. The health department reported that the average age of those who died of heart and blood vessel diseases was 68.5 years.

All About People

EUGENE TIRE CO.

The daredevil who drove the Indianapolis Speedway 500 every Memorial Day, must have courage and heart. For racing drivers, are indeed brothers in a fraternity of death.

In the 500 of 1952, one of the contestants was an ex-farm boy. He had hopes of beginning a famous daredevil, but on that day he was a nobody in the company of famous drivers from all over the world.

Before the race was run, the boy had to quit. As he rolled back in the pit in his cheap little car, feeling discouraged, an old mechanic walked over to him.

"I know how you feel," he said. "You think you're a failure, you'll never be a driver because you couldn't finish your first big race. Son, I can tell a daredevil when I see one. You're one! So don't ever quit no matter what the odds may be."

The boy took the advice. He entered other races and before long he was hailed as the auto speed king of America.

When World War I broke out, he learned to fly and became America's ace aviator. Time and again he was shot down but he always made it to safety. After the war, the ex-pilot returned to America, a national hero.

In World War II, although past fighting age, he created another epic in courage. He became the hero of one of the most thrilling stories of the war, for while flying on a secret mission, he was forced down at sea and for 25 days, drifted in a lifeboat on the vast Pacific Ocean.

But again, he escaped death, when he was found and saved from a watery grave. When that ex-farm boy, who drove to failure in his first big auto race, took to heart the advice of an old mechanic, a fantastic story of greatness was born. For the ex-farm boy is the famous American.
