Township Committee race highlights election

BAND-WAGON BID—Democratic Township Committee candidate, Jerry Vezza, at left, winds up his campaign this week with another motorcade. With him are a number of the "Vezza Girls" who have been helping him on these motorized campaign tours.

Vezza states that he will end 'indecision' of 4-1 Committee'

In the final week of campaigning, the Democratic Township Committee candidate, Jerry Vezza, declared that he has started a "bandwagon rolling." He stated, "I am now obligated to keep my promise to end the imbalance and indecision of the four-to-one Township Committee."

"The tremendous support I have received from everyone, Republicans, Democrats and independents, has convinced me that my program to bring common sense and decision to the Township Committee is the program that all the people in Springfield want," Vezza said.

"The matter of experience has been brought up in this campaign. Experience in telling people that nothing can be done? The state has control in this situation? The county has control in that situation?"

"My experience has been to get the job done, not to tell people why I cannot do it," Vezza said. "I believe that this is what thousands of residents whom I have met want, and this is what they will get if I am elected."

"We pay state and county taxes," Vezza added, "and the officials on these levels listen to municipal representatives. The Township Committee can get things done, it just takes a little more effort than they are willing to expend."

"My opponent has had his chance to do things that he now promises to do. They are not accomplished, and we cannot be sure that he will accomplish them now. I see the job that must be done. You know what must be done. Next Tuesday you will tell me that you want a representative and decisive municipal administration — or you will tell me that you are content to drift. I have tried. All that you have to do is find Lever B-8 on Nov. 8," Vezza concluded.

Mayor proclaims 'Month' to support United Fund effort

Mayor Robert G. Planer this week proclaimed November as "United Fund Month" in Springfield. He urged all residents to give full support to the township's first United Fund campaign, which is now under way to meet the needs of 14 local and national agencies.

The mayor commended Jack Stiefman, general chairman, and his fellow volunteers for their "unselfish efforts in behalf of the many charities represented in the campaign."

Stiefman, as general chairman, announced this week that the Washington-Rock Council of Girl Scouts, one of the 14 participating agencies in the United Fund in Springfield, was the first of the agencies to report 100 percent participation by its staff in solicitations for the 14 federated funds in which the agency is a member.

The staff of nine professional workers has contributed $724, an increase of 15.9 percent from the staff of 11 members who were with the council last year. This amount averaged in excess of 1 percent of their total earnings.

Stiefman stated, "The allocation of the 11 United Funds by the Washington-Rock Council is based upon the percentage of Girl Scout membership in the fund areas at the time of budget presentation." He continued, "Since the Springfield Girl Scout membership is 31 percent, the United Fund of Springfield will receive $27."

The Washington-Rock Girl Scout Council is one of 528 councils in the United States. It serves 20 communities and 15,321 girls. Each registered Girl Scout costs the council $8.80, and the council operation depends on the support of each community and each of the United Funds.

"By your support of the United Fund of Springfield," the chairman concluded, "you are helping your young girls share in the growth of Springfield."

Recordings set for servicemen via Red Cross

The Springfield Chapter of the American Red Cross this week announced that the arrangements for "Voices from Home" tape recording sessions for families of servicemen on Saturday, Nov. 19, from 9:30 on, at the Red Cross headquarters in the Cannonball House, Morris ave., Springfield. Appointments at half-hour intervals may be made by calling Mrs. J. C. Pitney at 277-5777.

In another phase of Red Cross activity, Mrs. Daniel Kalem, blood bank chairman, reported that 100 donors contributed a pint each at the bloodmobile session Saturday at St. James Church; 27 volunteer workers took part for a total of 115 hours, and eight registered nurses contributed 43 hours of service.

The recording sessions can be planned for an individual or family group. Tapes will be forwarded to the servicemen overseas by the Red Cross and should arrive before Christmas. Last year's mailing of "Voices from Home" brought many letters of thanks from the servicemen who had received the tapes and had enjoyed hearing their loved ones' voices.

Replacement recruits are needed for the Red Cross Motor Corp., according to another announcement. Drivers are the essential part of this service, which transports patients to doctors and treatment centers. If anyone can drive and can give an hour a week, he or she may call Mrs. David Weinstein at 379-3275 for particulars. The Red Cross station wagon is provided.

Senator, one member of the House of Representatives, three members of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders and one county clerk. There will also be two public questions on the ballot.

There are 8,413 registered voters listed for the township, representing a slight drop from last year's figure of 8,548. The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Local candidates are Democrat Gerard J. Vezza and Republican Phillip Del Vecchio, for Township Committee. Candidates for the Senate post are Clifford P. Case, Republican incumbent; Warren W. Wilentz, Democrat; Julius Levin, Socialist-Labor Party, and Robert L. Schachter, Conservative Party.

Democratic candidates for freeholder are John F. Cirelli, Harold Hoffman and Richard W. Kochanski. Opposing them are three Republican incumbents, Harry V. Osborne Jr., Edward H. Tiller and Walter E. Ulrich. Also running are three Conservatives, Robert J. Eckert, Harry R. Edwards and Peter J. Silmonis.

County clerk candidates are Walter G. Halpin, Republican; John V. Donohue, Democrat, and Monica Crowie, Conservative.

Public Question No. 1 calls for adoption of an amendment to the state constitution to reappropriate the two houses of the state legislature.

Public Question No. 2 calls for authorization of night horse racing.

FINAL ROUNDS — Phillip Del Vecchio, rear, Republican candidate for Township Committee, discusses campaign issues with Mrs. Arnold Koldorf of 21 Garden oval as he concludes his door-to-door efforts to meet the voters. Looking on are, from left, Township Committeeman Arthur M. Falkin, Arthur Wagner (with rake), Mayor Robert G. Planer and Committeeman Robert D. Hardgrove.

Del Vecchio ends campaign based on 'positive program'

Former Mayor Phillip Del Vecchio, Republican candidate for election to the Township Committee this week continued his "positive program" campaign by stating, "My effort on behalf of Springfield speaks for itself, and its evidence is apparent throughout our township."

"Regardless of which way you turn, or what municipal problem you wish to discuss, our township can point with pride to its progress over the past five years. Whether it be roads, and 12 streets have been either rebuilt or resurfaced during this period, or whether you wish to talk about recreation, during which time the community swim pool was constructed, three playgrounds were built, a lighted softball field created, a senior citizens' program instituted, and the Choral Society organized, or service for direct mail service to Balmertop was initiated, we have tangible evidence of the progress that has been made.

"In 1963 we instituted the use of machine bookkeeping in Town Hall, which has kept us ahead of the times, had, in addition, the mem-

Dr. Allen stresses proposals to reach Vietnam settlement

Dr. Robert F. Allen, Democratic candidate for Congress in the 12th District, this week issued a statement taking issue with an editorial in this newspaper last week which endorsed his opponent, Rep. Florence Dwyer. The text of Dr. Allen's statement is as follows:

"From the beginning of my campaign for Congress last August, indeed in every press release, speech, brochure and flyer, I have stated my position on Vietnam unequivocally and without exception:

"1. I am committed to support the United Nations as the most important instrument for solving problems of international peace. It is my deep conviction that the war in Vietnam must be concluded by negotiations; this in order to arrive at a peaceful settlement, our country should adopt the following three-point proposal advanced by United Nations Secretary General U Thant:

1. A cessation of bombings;
2. Achievement of a cease-fire;
3. A settlement arrived at through negotiations with all parties to the conflict, including the National Liberation Front.

"As no time in my campaign have I called for the unilateral withdrawal of United States troops from Vietnam. I have called upon our government to stop the bombings; as the single most important act which could lead to a settlement of the war. This is the position taken by the New York Times in an editorial dated Oct. 30. This is a position which Pope Paul has announced. It is the position of many of our allies.

"If my campaign has served to arouse sentiment among the people of the 12th District for a settlement of the war in Vietnam, I feel that it has served a very useful purpose, for without peace our nation and our people cannot realize our fullest potential."

LWV to announce results of election

To report on results of the municipal election, the Springfield League of Women Voters Tuesday evening will again operate its "Who Won" telephone service. The election results will be announced Tuesday from 9 to 10:30 p.m. to those who call the following numbers: 379-3989, 376-5740, 376-8305, 379-4092 and 379-3571.

The LWV strongly urged residents not to call the Police Department for election results, since police lines must remain open for emergency use. The announcement also asked that the numbers listed above not be called before 9 p.m., since the figures will not be available.

POTTER'S WHEEL — Peter Belmont Jr. demonstrates on facet of his artistic talent to Mrs. Leo Johnson, left, chairman of the Springfield Association of Creative Arts, and Mrs. Leslie Rosbaum, treasurer. Belmont will present a creative arts course for children, starting Saturday at the Recreation Center on Caldwell pl., under the joint sponsorship of SACA and the Recreation Department.

CLIFFORD P. CASE

WARREN W. WILENTZ

Age 42 ... graduated from Rutgers University ... received law degree from Columbia University ... Member of Railway Common Council, 1938-42; and N. J. General Assembly, 1943-44 ... Member, 79th-83rd Congresses from N. J. 10th District, 1945-54 ... President, The Fund for the Republic, 1954-54 ... elected to U.S. Senate, November 1954 ... re-elected in 1960 ... Committees: Foreign Relations, Appropriations, Joint Committee on Organization of Congress.

1. "The world today confronts the United States with opportunities and challenges quite different from those of the immediate post-war years.

The response of American foreign policy has been highly constructive in certain respects, notably in the efforts initiated by President Eisenhower and continued by President Kennedy to reduce the threat of nuclear confrontation with the Soviet Union, and in such new departures as the Alliance for Progress, the Peace Corps, and the Asian Development Bank.

But we have not been sufficiently imaginative or flexible, I believe, in our response to such major developments as the rising power of Communist China, the withdrawal of France from NATO, and the declining role of the United Nations in peace-keeping. There appears to be a trend toward unilateralism in American foreign policy. I am concerned that we find ourselves without a major ally in Vietnam, where I believe our objectives are in the interests of free nations everywhere.

2. "I have long been especially concerned with education, health and equal opportunity for all our citizens. Legislation have sponsored and worked for includes: Federal aid to elementary and secondary, as well as higher education (I originated the Community College program); Federal aid for medical facilities and personnel training and Medicare (plus an insurance program derived from a bill I first introduced in 1949); the Voting and other civil rights acts for which I have been a floor captain. I have also given particular attention to the varied problems arising from increasing urbanization. Unfortunately, the Administration's failure in a time of stress, to set clear cut priorities among domestic programs tends to reduce the effectiveness of each.

3. "To protect the integrity of government, I am continuing to press for a floor amendment, members of Congress and top staff make annual public reports of their financial interests and activities. I have regularly done so myself. My proposal for Congressional reform provided in large part the basis for a special joint committee to which I was subsequently named. "The problems of urban America are large and growing and the means of our cities and suburbs to deal with them are limited. Federal assistance is necessary, but it must be used in a way that stimulates, rather than pre-empt, local initiative in dealing effectively with a variety of problems and needs among them: poverty, discrimination, air and water pollution, inadequate and antiquated mass transit facilities, lack of full educational opportunity, lack of decent housing and recreation facilities.

Federal programs should complement each other, not conflict. I have worked to require greater coordination between federal urban programs as well as coordinated planning by local governments and area-wide agencies."

Age 42 ... graduate from Perth-Amboy High School ... University of Virginia ... received law degree from Rutgers ... World War II-combat veteran (Europe) ... Prosecutor, Middlesex County, 1956-60 ... County Counsel, Middlesex County, 1960-66 ... handled federal urban renewal and construction grants, first county college, open space grants ... incorporator of county economic opportunity program ... director of county legal aid program to aid poor.

1. "The President has made clear that our first priority is to assure the right of self-determination for the people of South Vietnam. We must honor our commitment to prevent the forcible overthrow of South Vietnam by the armies of North Vietnam or by internal subversion. I support a policy of restraint. Air attacks on North Vietnam, while necessary in a military context, should be limited to those having a direct impact on the movement of supplies and personnel to the South and on northern support operations. I think this country should be ready to de-escalate where possible, while seeking negotiations on every front.

The first step for meaningful negotiations is the free election of a broadly based popular government in South Vietnam. Such a government should be prepared to talk to anyone, including the National Liberation Front, without preconditions. The presence of an international force such as the United Nations or a group of neutral nations might be helpful in attaining a de-escalation.

I believe that the United States must support the participation of Communist China in disarmament talks, talks which hopefully would lead to a nonproliferation treaty among all the nuclear powers. I feel that the United States should also increase its contacts with Communist China and might explore the possibility of opening up trade in non-strategic items with China. These steps could be part of a process which would lead eventually to the participation of China in the United Nations and to the establishment of normal diplomatic relations between that country and our own. In all of this, we have an obligation to insure that the vital interests of our ally, Nationalist China, are protected.

2. "I believe the educational aid programs initiated by President Johnson and the Democratic Congress should be expanded and refined with greater emphasis on educating the disadvantaged and developing community colleges throughout the nation. I also feel that low and middle income families should be assisted by granting a tax credit to those with children in college. We must increase our capacity for effective law enforcement through such measures as expanding programs for police training and Federal gun control legislation. New Jersey has taken the lead in gun control but a gap still remains in the sale of these weapons across State lines, requiring Federal action.

3. "I strongly support the desegregation proposal and the expansion of the urban mass transit legislation developed by Senator Williams. I would support great expansion of both direct Federal programs to purify our air and water and selective Federal incentive grants to states and localities to make greater efforts in this truly inter-state and regional problem."

Robert Lee Schlacter, Conservative Party

Nearly $2 billion in Christmas Club

Over 10,000 banks and savings institutions are preparing to mail checks totaling nearly two billion dollars for some 15 million members of America's largest club—Christmas Club.

The exact amount is $1,882,890,000, an average of $125 for each member—the highest ever recorded. This represents an increase of nearly 50 percent since 1950 when the average club was just $85 per member. As the incomes of Americans have grown, so have their Christmas savings and Christmas Club a Corporation, the organization that originated the plan.

While their average saving is about $250 per week, some two and a half million save as much as $5 weekly and an additional one million, three hundred and fifty thousand members put away $10 a week or more. The Christmas Club disbursement is timed to fit the habits of America's gift buyers. A recent survey shows that 55 percent of these customers will start their gift-buying before Thanksgiving. Another study shows that $715,500,000 (or 38 percent of these Christmas Club savings) will be spent for Christmas gifts. And equally pleasing to the banks will be the fact that $584,000,000 or 31 percent will go right back into savings.

Clothing Campaign is held this week by Catholic group

The annual Catholic Bishops' Thanksgiving Clothing Campaign is being held this week. Used but serviceable clothing, blankets, linens, shoes and other articles are being collected at Catholic schools and churches in Bergen, Essex, Hudson and Union counties for the needy overseas in 80 countries.

Archbishop Thomas A. Boland, announcing the campaign in a letter read at Masses on Sunday, stated: "The Bishops of the Church from every part of the world have left no doubt concerning the role of the Catholic in the modern world. All are keenly aware that not only war, but ignorance, poverty and disease are also enemies of mankind. To establish a stable world and to give to each man a due recognition of his being created in God's image, ignorance, disease and poverty must be alleviated. In over two-thirds of the world most people do not have enough to eat. They do not have sufficient clothing. Again this year we appeal to you to meet this human need in a Christlike spirit of giving to the Bishops' Thanksgiving Clothing Campaign for the needy overseas. All clothing and material contributed to the Campaign is packed and shipped overseas and distributed to the needy by Catholic Relief Services, the overseas aid agency of American Catholics.

Springfield teachers learning more about science education

Teachers of the Springfield public school system, bent on improving their science background, have started attending a series of science workshops conducted by the science curriculum action committee in the school district.

Under the direction of Joseph Di Stefano from the state Department of Education, serving as a consultant, a new phase in science education is being introduced. The program includes prediction and inference, classifications, interpretation, experimentation and research and evaluation.

His studies, according to Di Stefano, are under way in various classrooms with teaching materials from the American Association for the Advancement of Science and an organization taking the lead to improve science education across the country.

The newest in projection slides and simple concept film rolls are being used along with the most modern teaching apparatus utilized for a rounder science education.

"We are developing ways to reach every boy and girl and to individualize science instructions so that we may meet the needs of each child," Di Stefano said.

Members of the science curriculum committee are: Mrs. Genella Shea, Mrs. Ester Porter, Mrs. Lydia Henick, Mrs. Charlotte Peterson, the Tutor two from Edward Walton School, and the former from the James Caldwell School.

Representing the Florence Gaudner School are John Willard, Edward Mulvihill and Mrs. Beatrice Seapull. Raymond Chisholm School, Mrs. Kathryn Mazzola, and the Thelma Sandmeler School, Mrs. Lucinda Micheletti and Mrs. Rose Ann Gillis.

Andrew Allen, principal of the Walton School, is serving as resource person on the committee.

Four Springfield teachers, Mrs. Patricia Blake and Mrs. Simone Gordon of the Walton School, Fred Nafrall of the Caldwell School and Andrew Allen, principal of the Walton School, are attending a series of late afternoon and evening science workshops sponsored by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) in Scotch Plains.

Members of the U.S. Army Research and Development team, and scientists from the Goddard Space Flight Center have played a leadership role in the seminars. Members of the Hayden Planetarium staff will also conduct a seminar, the last meeting to end with a brief plane ride.

Teen entertainers will headline show staged by Kiwanis

The program is now set for 23 acts to be included in the teenage talent show at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, being sponsored by the Millburn-Springfield Kiwanis Club tomorrow and Saturday evenings.

This is the annual event held by the local service club to raise funds for its support of community causes. One example of this service was the donation of the electric scoreboard at Millburn High School last year. The talent show consists of several rock and roll groups, as well as individual singers and dancers; competing for prizes. They created a near sell-out at last year's performance. Tickets are still available for adults and for students, and may be obtained through any member of the Circle Key Club of Jonathan Dayton (the Kiwanis-sponsored student group which is assisting with the program) or from any of the following stores: In Springfield, National State Bank, Schable Oil Co., Donan & Company, Bunnell Bros., Inc., in Millburn, Pop-Drugs, Street National State Bank, the Item, Millburn Cycle Shop; in Short Hills, Masur's Jewelers, Brenner Florist and Travel Headquarters.

HOW TO DO IT — Joseph Di Stefano, science consultant of the State Department of Education, demonstrates an experiment with light and shadow for Mrs. E. Benn Micheletti, left, and Mrs. William Fry, teachers in the Springfield school system, at a science workshop held last week.

National economy subject for speech given by Dr. Allen

At a recent reception-house party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Grant, 12 Surrey Lane, Springfield, Dr. Robert F. Allen, Democratic candidate for Congress, declared he will ask for a full investigation of all of the forces behind the causes of the "tight money". He noted that "many banks are completely out of money for purposes of granting loans." He said he will take every step to alleviate the severity of the situation.

Dr. Allen stressed his concern for all phases of the economy affected by "tight money." Persons suffering most are the low and middle income families who, Dr. Allen pointed out, "Florence Dwyer seems to care least about. The people really hurt are persons who desire better living quarters who could normally buy homes with 10 percent and 20 percent down payment.

"A huge amount of lay-offs are taking place right now in the sub-contracting business. People who would now be selling their homes and trading other homes cannot do so because of tight money."

Dr. Allen pointed out that the "thousands of people who are now being put out of work have mortgage payments themselves, payments on cars and payments on construction equipment. Even the newspaper industry is affected because the lack of mortgage money deters owners and buildings and brokers from advertising in the papers."

United Fund contributions aid mental health group

More than 19 million Americans suffer from some form of mental illness, but only a small percentage receive adequate treatment and rehabilitation aid, because of limitations in known treatment methods and inadequacies of staff facilities.

The Union County Association for Mental Health, one of the 14 participating agencies of the United Fund of Springfield, is doing something about this problem. The Association sponsors two facilities, the Willow Street School in Roselle Park and the Bridgeway House of Union County, in Elizabeth.

They also co-sponsor a third facility, the Occupational Center of Union County. Springfield residents have been asked to contribute $1,500 to the association program through the United Fund of Springfield. If the United Fund attains its full goal of $39,750, the association will receive its full grant from Springfield. If the goal is not attained, certain programs may have to be curtailed.

Bus trip scheduled to visit 2 museums

The next scheduled bus trip to two New York Museums will be conducted on Tuesday, Nov. 15, by the Springfield Association of Creative Arts. Because of a typographical error in last week's issue, the date was given incorrectly. Mrs. Arnold P. Koldorf and Mrs. Martin M. Novich are in charge of this trip to the Henry Clay Frick and the New Whitney Museums.

SACA members as well as the general public, have been invited. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Koldorf (DR 9-9139) or Mrs. Novich (DR 9-9071).

Freshmen at Regional elect class executives

Keith Brownlie was elected president of the freshman class of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in special elections last week. David Stronover as vice-president, Cynthia James as secretary, and Melissa Bachrach as treasurer were the other class officers selected by the 288 members of the class of 1970.

Louis Piccolo and Mrs. Marilyn Thogmorton, faculty class advisers, announced that the class would immediately begin planning for their yearly activities.

fulfillment of the efforts of a group of people who had been responsible for organizing the Union County Chapter of the National Organization for Mentally III Children. When the National Association for Mental Health and the National Organization for Mentally III

Children merged in 1962, the Willow School was incorporated as a non-profit organization. The staff of the Willow School feels that seriously disturbed children, once considered uneducable, can be helped socially and educationally in an environment suited to their needs. It is hopeful that the child's experience in this type of environment, coupled with professional psychiatric care, will prepare him eventually to realize his greatest potential.

THE ROAD TO RECOVERY for the mentally ill person must lead to a transitional experience from institution to community. This is the function of the Bridgeway House, a comfortable home in an old semi-residential area of Elizabeth. Bridgeway House accommodates 14 men and women who participate in household maintenance for therapeutic purposes. Here they are evaluated for vocational skills, interest and work tolerance. Medical treatment and individual and group therapy are provided as needed. Further training, sheltered workshop, school or on-the-job training may be arranged to meet individual needs. And finally, assistance is given in finding suitable employment.

The Union County Association for Mental Health, along with three other county health agencies and the National Council of Jewish Women, sponsor the Occupational Center of Union County. The center conducts a three-phase program designed to aid in the rehabilitation of 70 disabled young adults.

Each trainee in the program is given an eight-week period in which to explore a number of broad occupational areas. The first phase gives the trainee an opportunity to determine his interest and abilities as well as aptitudes; the second phase involves personal adjustment training, and the final phase involves 12 weeks of intensive vocational training in the areas in which the trainee has demonstrated interest and ability. When the formal training is completed, every effort is made to locate satisfactory employment opportunities.

All of the programs described, coupled with other activities of the Mental Health Association, are helping many Union County residents recover from mental illness.

The problems of the mentally ill are complex and costly. The Union County Association for Mental Health, an agency of the United Fund of Springfield, is helping to solve some of the problems through its varied programs.

ARTISTIC THERAPY -- Painting is a means of expression and of adjustment to their environment for these two youngsters, shown with their teacher at the Willow School for Mentally III Children. The school is operated by the Union County Association for Mental Health, a beneficiary agency of the United Fund of Springfield.

Temple teenagers plan talk by 'surprise guest'

The Springfield Chapter of United Synagogue Youth will meet tonight at Temple Beth Ahim. A chapter spokesman urged all members to attend. There will be a "surprise guest speaker." A chapter study group began operations on Sunday, with a discussion on "What Makes a Good Jew?"

Plans for a class in elementary Hebrew have been announced by Jeff Peskin. Steve Piller and Andy Wortzel presided at a recent USY meeting at the temple. The program featured a "sing-down" conducted by Wayne Goldman and Almee Kaplan.

Coach Horner set as church speaker

Competitive sports as a character builder, a developer of sportsmanship, will be the theme of the Men's Club meeting of the Springfield Presbyterian Church Monday evening at 8, when James Horner, head football coach at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, will be the guest speaker.

Horner is serving his first year as football coach at the local high school, coming to Springfield from South Hunterdon Regional High School, where he was director of physical education for two years. He is a native of South Jersey, having graduated from Paulsboro High School and Rutgers University, New Brunswick, where he majored in physical education. He and his wife, the former Dawn Hay of Bordentown, have one daughter and reside in Plainfield.

Walter Anderson, program chairman, will introduce Horner. The business meeting which will follow the program will be presided over by Thomas Geddes, president of the Men's Club.

LWV cites flaws in proposed reapportionment

This is the fourth and last in a series of articles prepared by the Springfield League of Women Voters to outline its opposition to the proposal on Tuesday's ballot for reapportionment of the state legislature. Mrs. Harry Einstein is reapportionment chairman and a member of the State LWV committee on reapportionment.

To summarize League's reasons for urg-

Falkin commends Del Vecchio, asks support by voters

"In political candidates as well as races, there is only one basis of true comparison, to look at the record." Township Committeeman Arthur M. Falkin stated this week at a meeting of "Citizens for Phil Del Vecchio." He said, "Performance is all that counts. Anyone can talk a good race, but let's look into the record books and see who is more qualified to serve on the Springfield Township Committee."

"In this current campaign, Phil Del Vecchio has projected a program for the future. Not everyone will concur with every suggestion put forward, but we must respect the creative ability that Phil possesses. By contrast, Phil's opponent has not offered one positive program during the entire campaign. Although the opposition has endorsed the programs of the present administration, he has only been critical as to the implementation," Falkin continued.

"Let us for a moment dwell on the road across the Top. Many administrations have wrestled with the problems of this difficult construction feat since Balunser Golf Club donated the land to the township. However, until Phil Del Vecchio and I conceived of the approach to Houldallie Quarry and Blairford to have the road reconstructed for less than $50,000 cost to the taxpayers, was any positive action taken? Now after many months of negotiation, the township cost is down to $5,000. Sure, this road could have been built years ago at a cost of $400,000, all borne by the taxpayers, but Phil Del Vecchio helped engineer a method that will see this road built without bankrupting our community," Falkin added.

"This is not the first effort that Phil has put forth for his neighbors on the Top. Several years ago, when the mail to the Top was routed through the Westfield Post Office, it was Phil, our Congressman Florence P. Dwyer, who influenced the Post Office Department to alter their regulations to have mail to the Top handled by our Springfield Post Office. This is a fact that many new residents are not aware of, but Phil has served his neighbors well."

"When plans for the construction of a permanent playground on the Top were delayed because of the lack of access to the property caused by highway construction, it was Phil, in conjunction with Committeeman Bill Koonz, who arranged for transportation for the children to an existing playground so that they could enjoy the benefits of our recreation program; and it will be Phil in their fighting for his neighbors to establish the permanent playground as soon as the Highway Department removes the obstacles," Falkin continued.

In Phil Del Vecchio, Springfield has one of the finest examples of spirited, positive leadership, and his record shows it. I would sincerely urge all my friends to seriously consider the qualifications of the candidates before they cast their ballot on Nov. 8 and vote the A line, the slate of Case, Dwyer and Del Vecchio," Falkin concluded.

ing a no vote on Public Question No. 1, the following major weaknesses of the plan are discussed briefly:

1. The reapportionment commission which would redistrict New Jersey every 10 years would be appointed, not elected, by two political party chairmen. Once it is approved, the power to redistrict or redraw lines of representation will not again be in the hands of the people. The commission will be responsible to the party chairmen who appoint them, and not to the people.

Proponents who mention the happy fact the legislature will no longer have the responsibility to reapportion its own seats do not add the unhappy fact that they are merely shifting the job from one type of political control to another type of political control. Further, this proposed control would provide an even stronger hold on the politicians whose seats it saves. Nowhere will the people have an opportunity for recourse.

2. THE BUDDY SYSTEM: 40 senators with 80 assemblymen, so arranged as to place two assemblymen with every senator. When the senator is moved, his two buddies are moved. In neither house is under-representation balanced by over-representation in the other. Duplication is the rule. Identical units of population will be represented in both houses of the legislature in 11 of the 21 counties of the state.

Instead of more even representation, everything is figured in groups of three...one senator and two assemblymen. For example: Union County has 112,000 more people than Camden County, but the same number of senate and assembly seats, thanks to this arrangement. LWV strongly recommends smaller assembly districts, where more balanced representation would result and where the minority would have a voice.

3. To accommodate the buddy system, deviations of 20 per cent plus or minus are to be allowed. This actually means a difference or spread of 40 per cent between some districts—a tremendous disparity when the numbers are large.

4. Exceptions favoring some counties are actually written into this plan. Only certain counties in certain combinations with certain senate numbers will be included. Exceptions in a constitution are very undesirable and weakening.

5. The election of all members of both houses

F. Sussman in play

Fred Sussman of 297 Balunser way, Springfield, is a doll vendor in Hofstra University's all-student production of "Guys and Dolls" on Nov. 18 and 19. Sussman is a junior studying political science at Hofstra, located in Hempstead, N. Y.

at one time would mean a tremendous slate in some districts, as well as a clean sweep of both houses. Again, there is no regard for the minority.

Citizens cannot be expected to know all about the candidates when at least 16 candidates will be offered, such as in Essex County. Union County will have a minimum of 10 at one time, every time there is a senate election.

The public is now being threatened with the statement that if this is defeated, we will have a worse plan. Worse for whom? If voters could reject this plan, and we hope they can, would they not be able to reject a worse plan if offered?

WE ARE THREATENED with the fact that the present legislature has, only until 1967 to be in office. Would the courts leave us without a legislature, until a permanent plan is adopted? More likely, the present temporary legislature would be extended.

WE ARE THREATENED with costs. The truth is that delegates to the convention were paid $25 for one day per week, for 14 weeks, or a total of $350 each. The bulk of the money is going for public relations and advertising to promote this plan. $70,000 of taxpayers' money is being spent to advertise this plan favorably.

Board turns down offer of $32,300 for Regional lands

The Union County Regional Board of Education has rejected an offer of $32,300 made by the New Jersey State Highway Department in connection with the taking of lands and infliction of damages at the Governor Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights, where the right of way for the construction of Interstate Highway-78 encroaches on Regional lands.

The action was taken upon recommendation of the board's attorney, Irvine B. Johnstone Jr. Board spokesmen said it indicated a strong feeling on the part of the board that the damages to the school's educational program and actual cost to the school to re-orient its facilities would be "far in excess" of the sum offered.

Engineering, architectural and educational losses indicate a figure far in excess of the state's offer, the board was advised. The Superintendent of schools, Dr. Warren Davis, said that even with this expenditure, permanent educational disservice will be done to the school.

The State Highway Department proposes to take a portion of the girls' physical education and athletic field, together with approximately half of the parking lot. Necessary for relocation of parking area and of the facilities for the girls' programs would be costly, according to the school architect, Frederick Elsassner of Union.

Are we to approve a referendum merely because money was spent to promote it? Should not the question be: can we afford a good constitution for New Jersey, and are we willing to pay for a better plan than the one offered? This is a tiny price, indeed, when compared with the enormous importance of the issue.

We are told this plan took 14 weeks of work, and 52 proposals were studied. This convention never held open debate on the 52 proposals. Rather, discussions were held in private meetings of small groups, and the convention convened only part of one day per week.

We are told the vote was overwhelmingly in the majority. The public is not told that 31 per cent of the delegates voted against the plan or abstained from voting for it.

We are not told that many delegates at this convention protested on the public record as to the political control managing and stifling this convention.

Now, voters, it's your turn. Vote no on Nov. 8 to Public Question No. 1.

Morse stumps for Allen, wants UN to lead peace effort

By ADA BRUNNER
The candidate was Bob Allen, the young psychology professor at Newark State College in Union; but the campaigner throughout the day last Thursday was Sen. Wayne Morse, the fiery critic of the Administration's foreign policy. For Dr. Robert F. Allen, nominated by the Democrats to take on the uphill task of trying to unseat Rep. Florence Dwyer in the new 12th Congressional District, the visit from the Oregon Senator was a climax in the closing weeks of the campaign.

Town's educators will meet Monday; list guest speaker

The Springfield Teachers Association will hold its second general meeting of the year on Monday at 3:15 p.m. in the cafeteria of the Florence Gaudinier School with Mrs. Mary Edna Snider, STA president, presiding.
Mrs. Mary Ackerman, vice president, announced that Frederick E. Gould, a representative of the N.J. Education Association, will discuss as his topic, "Pressures on Teachers Today." Gould is one of the NJEA field representatives who has been assigned to the new number-four regional office in West Orange, which includes Essex, Union, Morris and Sussex counties. He has taught in Rockaway, and Parsippany, and in Spring Grove, Pa.
Mrs. Ester Porter, committee chairman, will present the proposals for the teachers' educational and professional standards committee.
Mrs. Mabel Seavins will give a report on the recent Union County Teachers' Association which was held at Newark State College. She attended as a delegate of the Springfield Teachers Association.
Local teachers will be among the more than 35,000 of the state's teachers attending the three-day New Jersey Teachers Association convention in Atlantic City this week. Speakers will be Dr. C. L. Hamilton, N.J. Commissioner of Education; Dr. Ernest O. Melby, education professor at Michigan State University; and Mrs. Elizabeth McCongle of Cape May City, president of the N.J.E.A.

Today will feature a day long conference on methods for upgrading teacher instructional skills, working conditions, salaries and teacher-baord relationships. In addition there will be meetings of 37 groups directly affiliated with the NJEA, which represent specialized areas of education.

Rose doctor has cure for town's thorny problems

LOVELL, Wyo. (UPI)—At the northern Wyoming town of Lovell, just a few miles from the Montana border, they call him the "Rose Doctor of Wyoming, and rightly so.
Dr. W. W. Horsley has practiced medicine for four decades and his second profession for almost as long—his other job is raising roses.
His love for the beautiful plants has made him one of the nation's authorities.
Dr. Horsley often judges at national rose competitions—and has written several articles on the proper care of roses.
"Thirty five years ago, the doctor decided to do something about his town's rather unattractive main street. He found a friend to help him and planted a sprawling rose garden at the west end of the street.
Horsley carefully nurtured each plant until the area was a beauty showcase.
The next project was the east end of the same street. Greenwood, alkali soil, rocks and rubbish were turned into a rose garden.
Today, the Lovell gardens have become test beds for many new breeds of roses introduced by the nation's nurseries.
In the two city gardens there are 150 varieties of roses. Dr. Horsley gives each variety personal study—checking on survival of winter and other characteristics.

gon Senator was a climax in the closing weeks of the campaign.
The two toured the district during the afternoon and evening, with Morse pounding away at President Johnson's position on Vietnam and what he called the failure of Congress to live up to its Constitutional responsibility of exercising a check-rein on foreign policy.
Staff aides said that, aside from the visit by Morse, it was a "typical day" for Allen, who, they added, has come "a long way" as a campaigner since his nomination.

THE DAY STARTED early. At 5 a.m. he was at his desk at Newark State College, where he is associate director of the Laboratory for Applied Behavioral Science and professor of psychology and education. (He has taken a leave of absence from his job as president of Scientific Resources Inc. of Union but not from his NSC duties.)
After more than four hours in his office, he left for Plainfield for the first political meeting of the day—a talk to a women's group at 10 a.m.

He was back at the one-story campaign headquarters of Rt. 22 in Union before lunch to discuss plans with his staff amid stacks of campaign literature, blank and addressed envelopes, posters, trimmed straw hats and all the other paraphernalia of politics.

At 2:30 p.m. he was at Newark Airport to meet Morse. From there the two went to Plainfield for a tea, to West Orange for a press conference and to Union for a dinner and a rally that lasted until nearly 11 p.m.

Although Allen, unlike some other "peace" candidates, did not have to buck the party organization to get the nomination, Morse pointed out that they did not meet—and he had no intention of meeting—with the Communist Party there.
He also pointed out that he was one of the three authors of the 1954 law that outlaws the Communist Party in the United States. The other two, he said, with obvious pleasure in the recollection, were the then Senators John F. Kennedy and Hubert H. Humphrey.
Allen, who introduced Morse, said that he himself had entered politics because of an "immediate concern that our government seek out a peaceful solution" in Vietnam and because he believes that this nation must "get on with the business" of rebuilding and developing our society.

Calling on the President to ask "The United Nations to move in, he said: "The United Na-

Hardgrove attacks Democrats, states charges lack merit

"Philip Del Vecchio's political opponent has made a great many irresponsible statements about Township Committeeman Jay Bloom's alleged inability to get seconds for his motions on Township Committee business," Committeeman Robert D. Hardgrove declared this week. "One look at the record should place this bit of political chicanery in its proper perspective," Hardgrove continued.

He further stated, "During the period of Jan. 1, 1965, to September, 1965, Mr. Bloom made 175 motions; of these, 170 not only seconded but voted for adoption. I doubt very much that Springfield needs a rubber-stamp for Mr. Bloom's motions when there is no real basis for such claims."
"Of the five motions not seconded, these were presented by Mr. Bloom in a very surprising manner—under executive sessions regarding these motions which Mr. Bloom suddenly proposed at a regular Township Committee Meeting. I, for one, do not vote on important measures without a thorough study. It is my opinion that if Mr. Bloom had the interest of the community at heart, he would offer his suggestions and motions in the normal way so that they could be studied and considered for content and effort, always keeping in mind the betterment of our fine community."
"It is seen that the cry of 'I'll second Mr. Bloom's motion' is not needed; and I would think that if that is all that Mr. Del Vecchio's opponent would be prepared to do, he is very unnecessary. Furthermore, I am appalled by the apparent absence of interest in civic and community affairs by the opposing candidate prior to his nomination on the Democratic ticket. His sudden criticisms of our townspeople and our township indicate his lack of first-hand knowledge of Springfield's civic needs."

Hardgrove concluded, "I urge all intelligent voters to join me in voting for progress, originality, and integrity by casting a vote for Philip Del Vecchio on Nov. 8. In this way, the entire community will benefit by Del Vecchio's excellent record of civic and governmental expertise—including his very well-qualified educational and business background with the knowledge that Phil will study the issues carefully and vote in the best interest of Springfield's citizens."

tions should sit at the head of that peace table, not the United States."
Later, after a brief visit to Allen's campaign headquarters to meet the volunteer workers, Morse repeated his comments before a group of about 50 persons—most of them women—at a tea at the home of Mrs. Irving Hirsch of Plainfield.

HE WAS CAREFUL to point out that he is not suggesting a pull-out in Vietnam. This would only lead to "a great bloodbath," he said. However, he called for a halt to the bombing and "tri-partite" negotiations involving the United States and its allies on one side, the Communists on another and "the non-combatant nations of the world."
Describing his stand as "a matter of conscience," he said that many Congressmen agree with him privately but will not do so publicly.

"I have never been without a majority in the cloakroom," Morse said.
"Congress is abdicate its Constitutional responsibility, as a coordinate and co-equal branch of government," Morse said. "We are moving toward government by executive supremacy."
Morse said that during a fact-finding tour to India, Pakistan and Japan last fall, when he headed a bipartisan Senate delegation, he found no support for American policy in any major Asian nation.

In Japan, he noted, "they couldn't understand a bipartisan delegation." The Senator's had to meet separately with the representatives of the Japanese political parties, although Morse pointed out that they did not meet—and he had no intention of meeting—with the Communist Party there.
He also pointed out that he was one of the three authors of the 1954 law that outlaws the Communist Party in the United States. The other two, he said, with obvious pleasure in the recollection, were the then Senators John F. Kennedy and Hubert H. Humphrey.

Allen, who introduced Morse, said that he himself had entered politics because of an "immediate concern that our government seek out a peaceful solution" in Vietnam and because he believes that this nation must "get on with the business" of rebuilding and developing our society.
"I am a strong supporter of the New Frontier and the Great Society," he said.

MORSE AGAIN OUTLINED his position at a rally Thursday night at Connecticut Farms School in Union, following a private $400-a-plate dinner at the Kingston Restaurant.
Speaking before a crowd of about 400—many of them from outside of Union—and again without any local political leaders appearing on the platform with him, Morse said he agrees with President Johnson on other issues, such as education and anti-poverty measures.
But on foreign policy, he said, "I believe in substituting international law for the jungle law of military might. We have reached a point in history where war will ever again produce peace. All it can do is produce a surrender. Then they will dig in with intensifying hate."

The Administration's present course, he predicted, "will lead to a major war in Asia."
He called on President Johnson to go to the United Nations, saying "my President: go to New York City and plead with the world to assume the primary purpose of the UN Charter—the great ideal that mankind is trying to have implemented."
He drew repeated applause as he told the audience:

"The President has no right to send a single American boy to the slaughter in Vietnam. The Constitution places the power to declare war in the hands of the Congress, not in the President."
"I shall support no Democrat running for Congress who has been voting the money to kill American boys."
"Congress has a check on the purse strings. If Congress disapproves of a President's foreign policy, it can just stop voting him the money and he has to change that policy."
He recalled that he campaigned for Johnson in 1964, speaking throughout the country "on the pledges my President has made against escalation in Vietnam."
"Millions of Republicans voted for him on the basis of those pledges," Morse said, adding that "as soon as the election was over, he began escalation."
Although his major theme throughout the day was the Vietnam war, Morse also answered questions on a wide range of other topics.

At the tea in Plainfield, asked about Congressional checks on the CIA, he said: "The CIA should be subjected to the same checks and surveillance as any other branch of government. Jack Kennedy would never have been hoodwinked except for the CIA."
IN AN INTERVIEW with reporters, he also commented on Sen. Robert Kennedy, saying that the New York Democrat "can exercise more influence for a sensible solution (in Vietnam) than any other person in the country—but that means he ought to break with the President now."
He said that Sen. Kennedy could, if he wanted, have the Democratic nomination and be elected President in 1968. "I think he has a better opportunity in 1968 than 1972," Morse added.

To questions on the political situation in New Jersey, where both Senatorial candidates support the Johnson policy, he said that if he were a resident of the state, he would easily write-in vote. In Oregon, he said, he will vote for Republican Governor Hatfield, now running for the Senate and an opponent of Administration policy.
He repeated in interviews a statement which he also made in his speeches: "I consider the President a great man. I don't question his sincerity—just his judgment."

Record turnout of educators expected at annual program

Atlantic City -- The world's largest educational meeting -- the annual convention of the New Jersey Education Association in Convention Hall -- is expecting a record turnout today through Saturday.

Family Life Today

COMMUNICATIONS -- THE LIFELINE BETWEEN PARENTS AND TEENAGERS BY MABEL G. STOLTE

Does it seem as if the bridge between your teenager and you is breaking down? Do you have trouble understanding one another? Parents and teenagers have expressed this feeling from time to time, according to C.B. Broderick, associate professor of family relations at the Pennsylvania State University.

YOUR ADOLESCENTS ARE afraid! Afraid that love and the feeling of obligation toward you, their parents, will interfere with their freedom. They are jealously guarding their tender, sprouting independence and right to make mistakes.

YOUR FEARS FOR THE young person's health and happiness have been found through research to center around their making mistakes, falling, getting into trouble and being hurt.

Sooner or later one side must back down. And this isn't easy. A common-or-garden lecture has been found to be the least effective way to correct misunderstanding. Being a good listener is the first step towards reaching an understanding.

and friends may swell the crowd to 50,000. Convention-goers will study curriculum improvements, educational innovations, new ideas in methodology and the latest in educational thinking from some of the nation's leading educators.

Speakers at the three general sessions include Clet Huntley, the NBC television news reporter; Dr. Ernest O. Melby, professor of education at Michigan State University; and Mrs. Elizabeth McGonigle of Cape May City, N.J., president.

In addition, 37 educational groups directly affiliated with NJEA (such as the N.J. Science Teachers' Association) and 12 other non-affiliated educational groups will have meetings, workshops and conferences during the convention, held in Atlantic City since 1924.

Materials and equipment will give a concert for convention-goers in Convention Hall tomorrow, beginning at 8 p.m. The Westminster Choir College in Princeton will share the stage.

Mummers to stage old Hindu comedy

The Mummers, the student drama group at the Newark Campus of Rutgers University, will be presenting "Ratanavati," a seventh-century Indian Sanskrit play tomorrow, Saturday, and Nov. 10, 11 and 12.

"Ratanavati," a romantic comedy, is about a love triangle between a king, a queen and a beautiful princess. The play was written by King Harsha, a seventh-century Hindu ruler, to entertain his court.

Reapportionment called 'fairest' bill in history of state

The citizens of New Jersey stand at the threshold of their fairest legislative representation since this State's government was formed. This will be assured by a favorable vote next Tuesday on Public Question No. 1.

THIS was the assertion this week by Adrian M. Foley, Jr., president of the Constitutional Convention of 1966 which drafted the plan for a new Legislature being presented as Question No. 1 on Tuesday's ballot.

Foley's was the last major statement in a bi-partisan campaign for approval of the legislative amendment to the Constitution proposed by the Convention. The campaign has seen endorsement of the proposal from Governor Hughes; the State Chairmen of both the Democratic and Republican parties; U.S. Senator Clifford P. Case and Warren W. Willenz, his Democratic opponent, leading Convention spokesmen representing both rural and urban areas; leading educators and many other leaders of the public life of New Jersey.

Silversmiths Silver Plating & Repairing FRESKO Silver Company

Foley, a past president of the New Jersey State Bar Association, said the proposal was the best - and perhaps the last - opportunity to find a bi-partisan answer to the court order that New Jersey assure each citizen the same voice in the election of legislators as any other citizen. This plan was overwhelmingly approved by a convention composed of 63 Democrats and 61 Republicans. In 13 weeks of serious deliberation, both parties made important concessions in order to achieve a proposal that can benefit New Jersey for years to come.

Message urges correction of 'death trap' on local road

An appeal to correct a "potential death trap" along Baltusrol way in Springfield was contained in a letter sent to Russell H. Mullen, acting state highway commissioner, by Mrs. Bert Goldberg of 232 Lelak ave. She also sent copies of the message to Gov. Richard J. Hughes and to several other state, federal and local officials.

The text of the letter follows: "This letter is being written to you by a very anxious resident, taxpayer, and parent, who resides in Springfield.

"I am concerned because I feel that there is a potential death trap on Baltusrol way, with flagrant disregard for the safety of people on the part of the contractor and N.J. Highway Department.

"I use Baltusrol way all week long for transporting children to and from Hebrew School at Temple Beth Ahm, where I also go for religious and community events.

"As you know, the construction of Rt. 78 has disrupted all traffic in this area, and although this is necessary for progress, I wish to call your attention to the total disregard for proper precautions for safety.

"I have been to the police and to the Township Committee of Springfield and have been told that their hands are tied, as the very poor signs and hazardous roadblocks are the responsibility of the contractor, who is responsible only to the State Highway Department.

"I am now appealing to the state, to which I also pay taxes. Please, please, before any fatal accidents occur on this road:

"Remove the roadblocks on a two-way road so that we do not have any head-on collisions;

"Please put up adequately lit signs that state just where the roads that have been built are leading;

"Put signs up on a treacherously sharp curve indicating that there is such a sharp curve.

"Please, let's not have any accidents or fatalities due to negligence that can be remedied with just a little effort.

"I am circulating a petition which will be signed by many other concerned citizens and neighbors who feel as I do. This petition will be forwarded to you as soon as possible.

Drowsy driver

A car which had been driven by John Monroe, 29, of Dunellen was towed from the scene after an accident early Sunday morning on Rt. 22, near the Mountainside line, according to Springfield police. Police records stated that Monroe was driving east when he apparently fell asleep, and his vehicle struck the rear of one driven by Hector Martinez, 18, of Newark. The Monroe car suffered extensive front end damage.

League of Women Voters data on county candidates

Term of Office: Three Years. Salary: $7,500. (Director of Board $8,000). Functions: Governing body of the county (9 member board). Controls: property, finances and affairs of the county, levies taxes for county needs such as maintenance of highways, parks and institutions.

CANDIDATES for the BOARD of CHOSEN FREEHOLDERS were asked to provide a biography and answer the following questions:

1. How can the Freeholders best utilize the Union County Planning Board in reducing the county-wide problems in traffic, air and water pollution, and garbage disposal?
2. What role should the county play in organization and administering community colleges?

Harry V. Osborne Jr.
Cranford-Republican

Member of the Board of Chosen Freeholders for past 6 years, 5 years as finance chairman, College and law school graduate; practicing lawyer; veteran; member and former chairman of New Jersey Public Employees' Retirement System.

1. The County Planning Board is now preparing a Master Plan, which will include its recommendations as to the location, character and extent of streets and roads and also include recommendations as to the location and extent of sanitary facilities. The presentation of such recommendations should do much to alleviate traffic and garbage disposal problems. Although the Planning Board is silent as to air and water pollution, the Planning Board can and should study these matters and submit its findings and recommendations to the Freeholders so that the latter may coordinate with the State Board of Health and the State Air Pollution Control Commission, the agencies which have jurisdiction in these areas. The Planning Board should also assist any County Air Pollution Control Association appointed by the State Commission.

2. Every qualified high school or vocational school graduate should have the opportunity of at least 2 years of additional education. In the technical field, such opportunity is offered by the Union County Vocational and Technical Institute, which is about to construct a large new building in Scotch Plains, and in the academic area the County provides financial assistance to Union County College for the benefit of Union County residents. If a community college becomes necessary, in addition to these 2 programs, it must be established by the Freeholders and administered by a Board of Trustees, as provided by the County College statute.

Edward H. Tiller
Garwood-Republican

Graduate of Roselle Park High School and attended Rutgers University. Supervisor for E. I. Dupont de Nemours & Company, Inc. Elected to two terms as a councilman and to three terms as mayor in the Borough of Garwood. Completing second three year term as a Freeholder. Served on all committees.

1. The county planning board can act as a liaison agency for all the municipal planning boards. It can sit in on local board meetings and act in an advisory capacity on matters pertaining to traffic, pollution and garbage disposal. It can accumulate all this information into a factual comprehensive report that can be submitted to all municipalities for review and study. The board can and is assisting in traffic counts, to isolate areas where vehicular congestion exists and make recommendations for improvement. It can be a clearing house where local boards can obtain information on what Federal or State aid assistance is available for projects concerning pollution or refuse disposal. Finally, it could set up a master plan subject to approval by the municipalities, which might recommend county facilities to correct pollution, traffic or refuse disposal problems that are beyond the financial ability of a single or group of municipalities.

2. The county has established a program to utilize the fine facilities of the well-established Union Junior College which has a two-year liberal arts, science and pre-engineering college of outstanding excellence. Provisions have been made to grant financial assistance to Union County students who attend there. This program has been very successful. As the demand for additional facilities arises, the county may with the consent of the College Board of Trustees, provide financial assistance. Should the county decide to build its own community college, and that day is not too far in the future, the county should establish a liaison committee consisting of the President of the county college, the President of Union Junior College, members of the Board of Trustees to be advisory to the Board of Freeholders to assure a fully articulated educational enterprise for the benefit and welfare of the people of Union County.

Walter E. Ulrich
Rahway-Republican

Columbia University, Catawba College, received L.L.B. Degree John Marshall School of Law - Manager - Law Firm Stevens and Mathias - Former - Railway Charter, Commissioner - Rahway Councilman 10 years - Member Board of Chosen Freeholders - World War II Detachment Commander - Evacuation Hospital, Four European Battle Campaigns - Member - Veterans and Civic Organizations - Home Owner - Married - Two Children.

1. The facilities of the Union County Planning Board, which include technical, reference and administrative resources should be made available to all of our municipalities.

A close liaison should be established between the municipalities and the County, in order to encourage cooperation, effective planning or adoption of constructive measures necessary to cope with the problems referred to above.

Require the continuous review and utilization of all available Federal and State aid. Cooperate with the planning boards of our neighboring counties in these matters of mutual concern.

2. The present County College Program created by the Board of Chosen Freeholders within the framework of the Union Junior College and the Union County Technical and Vocational School programs should be continued and further programmed to meet the growing need of our county youth.

I feel all problems should be taken care of at the lowest possible level.

2. The County should play no part in organizing and/or administering community colleges.

Harry R. Edwards

Union-Conservative

High School Graduate - Newark public schools. Transmission Testman, New Jersey Bell Telephone Co. Decided interest in fiscal responsibility in all branches of Government. Honorably discharged Veteran of (4) years in the U. S. Navy during World War II.

1. Regarding County-wide Traffic Problems, I feel after the responsibility of the County for building and maintaining roads, the traffic problems fall within the jurisdiction of local Municipalities. Any cross county expressways, if needed, should be built by use of private funds.

Under air and water pollution and garbage disposal, there are enough laws and ordinances pertaining to this situation at present. What is needed is proper enforcement such as Magistrates and Health Officers doing the necessary job to enforce these laws, which are being abused by some industry. Cleaning up this mess should become the responsibility of industry, not of the Taxpayer.

2. I do not feel that the County should engage in Community Colleges supported by the Taxpayers. The responsibility of financing colleges or institutions of higher learning, should fall on the shoulders of industry who in return will profit by the employment of the graduate of said institution.

Peter J. Shimonis

Elizabeth-Conservative

Two years of Newark College of Engineering; A.E. Mechanical Engineering; presently owner-manager of residential real estate for own account. Tool and Die Maker; Tool Engineer.

1. The solution to these problems lie in the utilization of (1) Our modern technology of "American Know-How" and (2) Enforcement by local magistrates of existing health laws.

Any new cross-county highways must be privately financed and self-supporting with tolls. Under no circumstances should the taxpayers foot the bill. The Planning Board would be of very little help.

2. As much as I recognize the investment value of community colleges, the constitutional, social, political and moral influences prevents its best utilization under government administration. Far better to encourage the private sector to handle this.

'Frosh' day parley set

Freshman Parents' Day will be held Sunday at 3 p.m. by Union Junior College, Cranford.

The parents of all members of the Class of 1968 have been invited to the annual program by Dr. Kenneth C. MacKay, president, and Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, dean.

Dr. Iversen will preside, and Dr. MacKay will welcome the parents to the UJC campus. The speakers will be Angelo K. Colburn, counseling officer, who will discuss counseling services available at UJC and the problems facing college freshmen; Mrs. Robert Leary, financial aid officer, who will speak on sources of financial assistance available to UJC students, including the new Tuition Aid Plan for Union County residents, and Robert Blunco, admissions director of Newark Rutgers, who will discuss how and when junior college students would transfer to four-year colleges and universities.

A film strip, "I Wish I Knew That Before I Went to College," will be shown. A question and answer period will be held following the talks.

This occasion provides an opportunity to explore with the parents some of the problems that have been uncovered in our orientation sessions with the students." Dr. Iversen said: "Our experience shows that parents can help us find their children's most critical stage of their college careers."

Following the program in the theater of the Campus Center, there will be an opportunity for parents to meet members of the college's counseling staff during an informal gathering for refreshments.

1. The County Planning Board being vested with the jurisdiction throughout the County is the only organization equipped to develop possible solutions to the four problems listed above. In developing these solutions—the first step—the Board must take its to assemble and analyze the existing conditions in these four areas. The Board must then develop comprehensive guide lines for uniform municipal action, improvement and elimination of the problem areas.

The second step would be to stimulate, assist and coordinate action in implementing the guide lines developed.

The guide lines developed by the Board would serve as a basis for each municipality to develop its own standards for the necessary improvements. The Freeholders must insure that the Board refrain from assuming the responsibility of the municipalities, but at the same time they must work to coordinate the activities of the municipalities in a united drive to the elimination of the problems.

2. The County has an obligation to its youth to offer all of its youth the chance for advancement. A Community College must be established. The Freeholders should set up a scholastic committee which would be similar to a local Board of Education and upon this committee would be the responsibility for planning the immediate establishment of a Community College.

This Community College would help supplement the needed space for our County residents. It should be the ultimate objective of this committee to achieve an accredited school, but the start must be made now. The committee should find suitable facilities to immediately start the education process, but at the same time attempting to develop a plan for the permanent construction of the necessary facilities. This County cannot afford to wait in supplying this service to its youth.

Robert J. Eckert
Roselle-Conservative

Born in Elizabeth, lifelong resident of Roselle. Graduated St. Joseph's Grade School and Abraham Clark High School, both in Roselle, and R.C.A. Institute, N.Y.C. Served (4) four years in the U. S. Navy, honorably discharged. Presently employed by I.E.M. as a Customer Engineer.

1. The problem of garbage disposal is a Municipal one and the County should play no part in it. As far as air and water pollution are concerned, what is needed are strictly enforced laws by the municipalities to force industry to correct this problem. Again with traffic the Municipality is responsible for enforcement of the traffic laws.

Premieres of two musicals scheduled at college theater

Two new one-act musicals slated for performance at the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts this winter will have their premiere performance at the Newark State College Theatre for the Performing Arts in Union.

The local production is scheduled for 8:00 p.m., Nov. 17, 18, and 19.

The musicals, "A Bullet for Billy the Kid" and "Total Sweet Success," will be produced by special permission from the authors, William Goldstein and Marvin Schofer, both of New York City, by the College Theatre Guild. Director is J. Laurence Lowenstein, a professional director and actors agent and a member of the English Department faculty.

The date has not been nailed down for the Lincoln Center event, but the place will be the Vivian Bealmond's 299-seat Forum Theater, where the Music Theater of Lincoln Center presents experimental Sunday evening performances before an invited audience of critics and Broadway professionals.

The authors are currently under contract with Sam Fox Music Corp. of New York City, which published "Brigadoon" and "Man from La Mancha." Schofer has worked on the production staffs of NBC Opera and the St. Louis Municipal Opera and contributed to numerous musical productions as both writer and director.

Goldstein has written for films, television and off-Broadway plays. His music has been performed on programs of the National Association of American Composers and Conductors. The plays are written to be performed on an almost bare stage with a minimum of props that are moved on and off by the actors. Lowenstein, who lectures frequently on the development of musical comedy in the United States, has termed the one-act musical a "new form" in the theatre. He is director of the Community Theatre of Deal as well as of the NSC Theatre Guild.

NSC students to hear Feiffer

Cartoonist and author Jules Feiffer will address students at Newark State College, Union, at 1:50 p.m. Nov. 15 in the NSC Theatre for the Performing Arts on the Morris Ave. campus. He will speak on the topic, "The Social Critic in American Society."

Feiffer is an internationally syndicated cartoonist whose work was originally published and still appears in the "Village Voice," a weekly newspaper in Greenwich Village.

Collections of his cartoons have been published in books that include "Sick, Sick, Sick" and "Passionella." He is the originator of the character of Munro, a four-year-old boy who is drafted, by mistake, into the Army. An animated version of Munro's adventures has been awarded the Oscar of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences as the best short-subject cartoon of the year. He is author of seven books, one of them a novel, and of two plays.

Feiffer is the second speaker in this year's Townsend Lecture Series, a program designed to bring to the college well-known figures in the arts, sciences, and public affairs. David Schoenbrun, news commentator, appeared last month. Sidney Krueger of Springfield, a member of the English Department faculty, is advisor to a student committee that arranges the series.

I am opposed to the present policy of deficit spending and advocate that we achieve a balanced budget. In order to achieve civil rights for all, I favor moral persuasion and oppose legislation that seeks to go beyond or change the basic rights of the individual as set forth in the constitution. I further advocate that we stop trading with Communist countries."

1. "In general, I agree with Administration objectives regarding conservation of natural resources, protection of civil rights, elimination of air and water pollution, and improvement of health and education, though in each area specific policy and administration improvements should be made. Too often, the Administration's performance falls far short of its promises. Especially, it has failed: to restrain spending and control inflation and high interest rates, to provide effective protection and representation for consumers, to exercise leadership to assure adequate water resources in the drought stricken northeast, to reorganize departments and agencies for maximum efficiency, to establish priorities and get better results from the multitude of overlapping Federal programs in the areas of poverty, jobs, and urban-suburban affairs, and to provide full support for rescuing commuter transportation. But most important, it has failed to be candid, consistent and credible."

2. "The Administration's failure to exert world affairs has seriously jeopardized the U. S. position with its friends, enemies and neutrals alike. Both trust in and respect for the U. S. has diminished. Relying on out-moded concepts of aid and alliances, each has declined as a source of major support for freedom. In Europe, NATO is crumbling with no apparent U. S. alternative in sight. In Africa, U. S. influence is negligible. In Latin America, we founder from dictatorship to reform and back again. In Asia, the Vietnam war has limited U. S. influence to military power, and in our conduct of that tragic war, despite our commitment of 300,000 troops and billions in resources, we have failed either to defeat the communists, persuade them to negotiate, or enlist the moral, economic or military support of more than a handful of allies."

3. "Partner, coordinator, initiator of new ideas — in each case, with due respect for the rights and priorities of State and local governments — are proper roles for the Federal government in seeking remedies for the ills of urban areas. Where problems are widespread and often interstate, air and water pollution, highways, commuter transportation, and that example, stronger Federal leadership is necessary. Federal, State and local governments are poorly organized to use resources wisely, help cities and suburbs efficiently, and people effectively. As I have urged for years, the Federal government must pull together its multitude of urban programs for maximum impact, coordinate them for maximum efficiency, redirect them for maximum help to people, in place of present piecemeal, scatter-gun approach — an approach which creation of the Dept. of Housing and Urban Development has done little to accomplish."

1. "I am in favor of a rapid expansion of the programs of the New Frontier and the Great Society which have as their purpose the advancement of the opportunities of the disadvantaged in our society through such programs as federal aid to education at elementary, secondary, and college levels; job training programs which equip the young people and the older workers displaced by automation with skills to qualify for jobs in industry; civil rights legislation which guarantees open housing and equal opportunities for all Americans; expansion of federal low-cost housing to hasten the elimination of slums and to relieve the tensions in ghetto areas which have plagued our major cities; increased federal appropriations to aid the deteriorated mass transportation systems; and to help clear up air and water pollution. I reject all measures which would cut back the above programs on the grounds that our commitment in Vietnam makes their expansion impossible. I reject such measures as higher federal income taxes at this time, right-money policies, and other measures which place the burden of dealing with inflation on the American people. I feel there is one answer to inflation and that is the termination of the war in Vietnam."

2. "In respect to United States foreign policy, I believe with United Nations Secretary U. Thant that we must take the initiative in bringing about an end to the war. I endorse his 3 point proposal toward this end: 1. Cessation of bombing, 2. Achievement of a cease fire, 3. A settlement arrived at through negotiations with all parties to the conflict, including the National Liberation Front. I am a firm believer in the United Nations and its efforts to bring about world peace, and its role in the proliferation of nuclear weapons, the reaching of an agreement for reduction in the arms race leading to ultimate world disarmament. I believe that the affluent nations of the world must take steps to distribute aid to underdeveloped countries on a non-political basis and that they should step-up the distribution of food assistance to 2/3 of the world's population who live on the brink of starvation."

3. "In respect to the role of the federal government in meeting problems of urban areas, I have answered that in the programs which I have enumerated under point 1. In other words, by dealing with education, job training, low-cost housing, mass transportation, fire pollution, anti-poverty programs, and the guarantee of equal opportunity, we will be dealing effectively with solving the problems of the cities."

Dayton to meet undefeated Westfield; gridder's beaten in game at Cranford

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School football team will visit top-rated Westfield High School, first-place team in the Watchung Conference and the only undefeated one, this Saturday at 2. The Bulldogs are now 0-6, following a 19-0 defeat at Cranford High School last week-end.

Soccer varsity in final games of '66 season

Cranford is an aerial team, as the scoring indicated, but in spite of the problem that pass defense presents on the high school level, our protection in the second half was superb. The quick rushing of our line helped immeasurably, as well.

Cranford has met few teams this season that squired its traditional air attack as much as Springfield. And their running game, with the exception of one very fine fullback, Gene Demsey, was hardly an equal to Dayton's.

Now on the Dayton 42, Rothfeld carried for three, and a heartbreak loss of nine followed. But Rothfeld bailed the team out of the situation and into a scoring threat with a fine run behind strong blocking for 24 yards. Jupa took the ball and went for another first down with a 12-yard sprint.

Now on the Cranford nine, the Bulldogs barely edged forward. Jupa went for two, but then a pass was thrown away. Jupa carried again for four, and Dayton, with fourth down and three yards to score, failed to cross the goal.

Cranford, regaining possession on its own four-yard line, then staged one of the best comebacks, with a long drive, this year. The fullback, Demsey, went on the 30-33, 40 and finally the midfield line. The rest of the Cougars then began to pitch in to the effort.

Dayton once again had a strong chance in the second quarter, but again failed to score. A Bulldog intercepted the Dayton 29; but the team fumbled on the next play, Cranford capitalized on this break. At first it appeared that Dayton defensive power would end the threat.

Cranford had four down and nine to go, and as happened all too often this season, the Bulldogs jet down the field. A 13-yard pass gave the Cougars the needed yardage. They were now on the Dayton one. Zabolcki and Burnett stilled the inevitable with fine rushing that forced the Cougars back five yards, but on the next play, they scored on a run through the middle.

Westfield, this week's opponent, is one of the top teams in the state traditionally, and this year's squad is no exception. They play fine consistent football, and have squeaked all competition this season, ranging from Berkeley Heights to Howard Spitzman to Cranford. Cranford, however, depended on its line; its finest game, and that should not be totally discounted.

With the season nearing completion, Palfi noted some of the promising men who will probably form the bulwark of next season's squad. Juniors Howard Spitzman, Bob Starnie, Don Cumberley and Derrol Brooks all turned in good varsity showings this season.

With the sudden turn of fortune, the Bulldog boosters will need to win their remaining games in order to emerge from the season with a winning record. The tally now stands at 3-4-2, excluding games with Edison Technical High School of Elizabeth (originally cancelled because of rain) and Scotch Plains-Fanwood High School on Monday and Tuesday, respectively. An all-out effort is certainly required.

Conference meet ahead for cross-country team

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School cross-country team will finish its season next week with two crucial events: the Watchung Conference meet on Wednesday and the final run against Livingston Regional High School of Berkeley Heights one week from today. The harriers will also compete in a non-scheduled turkey-trot at the outdoor track of Roselle Catholic High School

Football program

The Springfield Recreation Department this week announced that its Springfield youth football program will sponsor a "Parents' Day" on Saturday from 9 to 11 a.m. at Meisel Field. The football group consists of boys aged nine through 14, divided into units for each weight and age groupings. The training and play sessions consist of individual and group instruction, followed by team play on a clinic basis.

Edward J. Ruby, director of recreation, and Henry T. King, technical director, will be on hand Saturday to assist parents, to conduct the tour of the various age groups and to introduce coaches.

On Saturday, one of the most important and prestigious events, the school meets Clark, the Watchung Conference, the most coveted meet of the season, appears, in the view of head coach Marty Taglienti, to be a one-sided affair. "Westfield is just too strong not to win. But the race for second place is a very tight one between ourselves and Hillsdale. We haven't met Hillsdale, and in fact, the meeting of two teams in the Watchung Conference will count in the place of a regular meet. They will be tough, but in comparing our times, I feel that we should take them. It will not be easy, however."

As for Berkeley Heights, it should not be too great a challenge. However, they do have two fast runners. If we should defeat them, this year's cross-country team will be the first team of any of the Regional District's schools to defeat all three of the other Regional High Schools in a single sport.

In the last week's action, the team brought home two additional victories: over Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School, 17-43, and Abraham Clark High School of Roselle, 20-43. This raised the harrier's season record to 9-1, excluding a meet with Cranford High School on Tuesday.

Ron Fry and Ken Shatten led the field in the Clark contest. They tied for first place, and other Dayton runners were second place runner Bill Aggar; Joe Buccell and Alan Todres. Roselle saw a detour in the usual Warrinanco Park course and as a result the times of the runners suffered. Roselle scored a first place with a speedy 12:45. But Dayton managed to capture all of the remaining places, from second through eighth. The surprising facet of the meet was the showing of two freshmen, Marty Walsh and Gene George, who ahead ahead of two of the Bulldog stalwarts, Fry and Shatten, as expected, took second and third respectively, and Aggar finished fourth. Completing the sweep were Walsh, fifth; George, sixth; Todres, seventh, and Buccell eighth. The fine showing of the freshmen indicates promise for equally fine seasons in the future.

The Thursday Afternoon Boys' Bowling League began its fourth season of competition last week at the Springfield Bowl, Center Street. This is a Recreation Department-sponsored bowling league for grammar school boys. Each week they meet in competitive bowling at the local lanes. Each team will roll two games per week.

Last week saw the Hurricanes and the Bombers get off to a flying start, as each completed a two-game sweep. The Hurricanes and Ronnie Silverman scored the Hurricanes sweep over the Bombers, as Todd rolled a 251 series and Ronnie rolled a 247 series. The Bombers were paced by Kenny Baroff, who rolled a 229 series.

The Bombers received a top effort from Dick Freundlich, who paced their sweep over the Rockets. Dick had a series effort of 279 to pace both squads. Eddie Grasselle was the top scorer for the Rockets, as he fashioned a series effort of 242.

In another match last week, the Atoms walloped the Raiders in the first of two games, only to see the Raiders rally to win the second, and salvage the margin of a single pin to salvage a split of two games. Jay Silverman with a two-game effort of 210 topped the Atoms, while Mike Braun was close behind with 267 for the two games. Mike Demner of the Raiders shared high honors as he also tallied 270 for the series. Teammate Craig Nowicki rolled a 260 series in earning a split for the Raiders.

The final match of the day saw the Jets and the Hornets divide a pair of games. Steve Glover was the top gunner for the Jets as he rolled a 256 series. Steve Graw, a returning veteran, topped all bowlers for the day as he paced the Hornets. Steve rolled a top series of 295. Steve's second game effort of 173 established a mark to shoo for in high-game honors.

Steve Graw took the early lead in the high average department. After the initial week of bowling, Steve established a 148 average. Dick Freundlich is in second place with a 140 average, while remaining boys in the top five are Jay Silverman, 135; Mike Demner, 135; and Mike Braun, 134.

Two quintets tied for lead in bowling. The Ill Jinks and Try Harde shared first place in this. Jimmy Rosantini's bowling league following in the wake of the previous season's 13th. James had records of 105. The Hornets and Swingers remained in contention with marks of 9-6.

Leading lanes for the week included Lutz Vesoy, 192-444; Ida Capelo, 184; Fred Kessler, 162-127-463; Nancy O'Grady, 172-446; Helen Sackle, 160-159-163; Fran Benkus, 160-157-150; Freda Kaehlein, 158-155-458, and Claire Foster, 150-421.

Scott Prussing bowls 370 to shatter existing records

The Friday Afternoon Boys' Bowling League started its season last week at the Springfield Bowl. This league is the second of two boys' bowling leagues which are sponsored by the Springfield Recreation Department.

Last season, this Friday League took the overflow from the original Thursday League. This season the Friday League begins its first year of independent existence. The boys meet in head to head competition at the Springfield Bowl each Friday afternoon between 3:30 and 5.

Last week the Rangers, Hawks, and Warriors swept their respective opponents in two games to jump into an early lead. The Rangers scored two victories, as their captain, Scott Prussing, quickly broke all existing scoring records by rolling a 370 series. Scott fashioned this top effort by putting together games of 182 and 188. This top effort was assisted by Dave Rubin's 200 series, and the Rangers swamped the Royals in two games. Tom Lowy, rolling for the Royals paced his squad with a two-game effort of 358.

The Warriors kept pace with the Rangers by tripping the Chiefs in a pair of games. Top Warrior bowler was the captain, Roy Greenberg. Roy rolled a 244 series. Barry Fink topped the bowlers for the Chiefs as he tallied 209 for the two games.

The Hawks became the third unbeaten team in the loop as they swept a match with the Tigers. Myles Harmon topped both squads as he paced the victors with a 246 series. Top Tiger bowler was Steve Harris. Steve had a two-game effort of 232.

Another match last week, the Falcons and the Chargers split two games. Mike Klarfeld topped the Falcons with a 236 series effort. Alan Lipson was also effective for the Falcon team, as he rolled 234 for the two games. Mark Berkowitz turned one of the best efforts of the day as he paced the Chargers with a two-game effort of 268. Mark rolled a 166 game to lead the Chargers to victory in the second game and to earn a split for them. Larry Silverstein at 237 for two games helped pace the Chargers afternoon.

Scott Prussing established an early individual average of 185 to lead all bowlers by a wide margin. Mark Berkowitz with 144 is second. The remaining boys in the top fifteen are: Tom Lowy, 129; Myles Harmon, 123, and Roy Greenberg, 122.

FIRST AID ADVICE IS PUT IT ON ICE "Cool it" often is useful advice for first aid. In many cases application of cold helps to minimize swelling, inhibit bleeding, reduce excessive high body temperature and relieve pain. says the American Medical Association. Cold applications, especially ice, have an anesthetic effect and tend to inhibit bleeding by constricting small blood vessels. Immediate application of cold compresses to sprains lessens swelling and ice water alleviates discomfort from insect bites.

THE POPULAR BELIEF that infants can recognize their mothers shortly after birth has gained some scientific support from a trio of Northern Illinois University researchers. They recently completed an experiment that showed young chicks could learn to identify and respond to sounds they heard while they were in the egg. "A newborn bird or other animal has already learned a lot through listening and is probably listening much earlier in life than previously believed," the trio concluded.

MARS' ATMOSPHERE may not support life, as we know it on Earth, but it may be dense enough to support a soft parachute landing of scientific equipment, reports the Space Sciences Board of the National Academy of Sciences. The space experts say the use of parachutes could save millions of dollars by eliminating the need for a retro-rocket landing. The Board is weighing evidence about the Martian atmosphere before deciding which method will be used in the first soft landing.

WELDERS DRAW many areas but seldom complete a circle when welding. The first step in making a weld by the electric arc process, reports Alloy Rods Company, York, Pa., is called "drawing the arc." The welder places an electrode in contact with the work surface, closing an electrical circuit. The electrode is then quickly withdrawn a short distance and the current jumps across the gap, forming an arc that quickly brings the work to a molten temperature.

THREE OIL SOURCES of whiskey - or rather its laboratory equivalent, ethanol - can be a highly effective tool for diagnosing certain diseases or malfunctions in human metabolism, says a Northwestern University endocrinologist. The alcohol is given to persons undergoing supervised fasting to determine whether their blood sugar production is normal and also to check on the body's energy-burning processes.

of the entire area's communities, which allows us to borrow money when necessary at a lower interest rate.

The day-by-day operation of our township is in the hands of the finest group of people ever assembled for this purpose by any municipality, and the town's needs have to be served also. In this vein, over the past five years we have instituted a longevity program with up to six per cent being paid for 15 years of service. In addition, our Fire Department was granted a 40 hour week, and extended medical benefits were extended to all employees of the township," Del Vecchio continued.

"SPEAKING OF township personnel and appointments, the record over the past five years is a tribute to intelligent operation of the township government. Never has any employee been discharged because of party politics. In fact, several holdovers of the opposite party still retain their appointive positions because they are qualified and perform a service to our town."

"No less than eight people have been appointed to our local boards, although they are registered members of the other party, including the opposition candidate for Township Committee. I am a firm believer that party politics should not and never have played a role in the operation of the municipality under the present administration.

"I have been privileged to serve Springfield as mayor in 1962 and as a member of the Township Committee for four years, and with my professional background as a licenced engineer, I feel that I have the qualifications necessary to continue the progress of our community and to help solve the many problems that no doubt lie in the future.

"I have offered the people of Springfield a positive program for the future, I have projected a citizens' budget review committee to work with not only the members of the Township Committee, but also the members of our two elected boards of education in the preparation of their budgets. I have proposed the use of the existing library building for a library museum and a senior citizens' center, and I have proposed the construction of a year-round recreation center, at no cost to the taxpayers.

"By this weekend, we will have visited every house and neighborhood in Springfield to tell of our program, accomplishments and our goals for the future.

"I have endeavored to conduct an ethical, constructive campaign so that the citizens of Springfield can have a basis on which to base their choice of Township Committeeman, and I sincerely hope that the voters in appraising my record and my program will cast their ballot on Nov. 8 to help bring Phil Back."

Federal Tax Facts

CASUALTY LOSSES AND THEFTS Federal taxpayers who have casualty losses can save time and money by documenting their loss while it is fresh in their minds. If they wait until they are preparing their 1966 income tax returns, they may forget to deduct the loss or they may be unable to remember all the details.

Deductions for casualty losses on income tax returns can be made only by taxpayers who itemize their deductions on Form 1040. They cannot be claimed on the short tax form or by taxpayers who use either of the standard deductions.

Casualty losses result from the destruction or damage to property by fire, storm, lightning, accident, shipwreck or other losses caused by natural forces. Automobile damage caused by accident or collision can be deducted if due to faulty driving but it cannot be deducted if it is due to negligence or to a willful act. You can also deduct theft losses but not those due to missing or lost articles. Their losses should always be reported to your local police department.

The amount of loss to be deducted is measured by the fair market value of the property just before the casualty less its fair market value immediately after the casualty. It cannot be more than the cost or other adjusted basis of the property. The actual loss must be reduced by any insurance or compensation received and the $100 limitation written into the income tax law. Casualty or theft losses of less than $100 cannot be deducted and you cannot claim the first $100 of any greater loss.

Detailed information on establishing and claiming deductions for casualty or theft losses are contained in Document No. 174, Disasters, Casualties and Thefts. This booklet is free from any Internal Revenue Office.

Election Day is not a federal holiday, Joseph M. Shotz, director of the New Jersey District of the Internal Revenue Service, reminds taxpayers. Consistent with IRS offices in New Jersey will be open from 8:15 a.m. until 4:45 p.m. on Tuesday, Nov. 8.

PROPERTY TAX LEVY BY TWP. SPRINGFIELD 1966

The local property tax levy in New Jersey more than doubled in the past decade to reach a record high in 1966 of more than one and one-quarter billion dollars. During the period 1956 to 1966, it has risen $692 1/2 million, or more than 119 per cent, to this year's total $1,272,414,367.

Paid locally by both residential and business property owners, the levy on real and personal property is the chief source of support of school, county and municipal government throughout the State. A table prepared by the New Jersey Taxpayers Association showed wide variations in the rate of cities of the levy among the three levels of government during the ten-year period as follows: For school purposes, up $386.0 million, or nearly 153 percent, to nearly $639 million in 1966; for county purposes, up $132.3 million, or 126 percent, to more than $237 million currently, and for municipal purposes, up $140.8 million, or more 63 per cent, to nearly $363 million this year.

In contrast with a one-year rise of more than $77 million, or 6.7 per cent, in the overall property tax levy in 1965, the 1966 levy increased by less than $39 million, or 3.1 per cent. This increase, when the Legislature directed that $63 million, or two per cent, of the $98 million increase in state aid to school districts be applied to reduce already certified school tax levies. The remaining $32 million in additional school aid is going to local school boards to be used at their discretion.

The expanded state aid was appropriated from the State's sales tax revenues. Without the mandated aid for local tax relief, the 1966 local property tax levy would have increased by more than $101 million, or 8.2 per cent. No provision has been made by the Legislature requiring use of state aid for local property tax relief in 1967.

The table of local property tax levies assembled by the Taxpayers Association and published by official annual abstracts of statistics follows:

Tips for Today's Homemaker

From Anne L. Sheelan, County Home Economist

OUTLOOK GOOD FOR HOLIDAY FOODS BY ANNE L. SHEELAN, County Home Economist

The outlook is good for the supply of traditional Thanksgiving foods this November. The United States Department of Agriculture reports that turkeys and raisins lead the list of plentiful items. Other foods expected to be in abundance include grapes, pears, dry beans and pork.

Production of turkeys has increased for the fourth consecutive year. About 11 million more turkeys are expected this year over last year. Watch the prices of turkeys in the next few weeks. If the cost seems favorable, plan to buy yours ahead of time and store it in your freezer.

Raisins will continue in heavy supply this fall because of over a twenty percent increase in this year's raisin crop and a heavy inventory from the 1965 crop. Raisins are an important ingredient for flavor and texture in many holiday recipes. They are also a valuable source of iron and other nutrients. Since they contain seventy percent natural fruit sugar, they are an excellent quick energy food for snack time. Plan to include them often.

Grapes will be in supply with an above average production. Use grapes to add color to traditional harvest table decorations and for their unique flavor in fruit cup appetizers, salads and snacks.

Another attractive fruit for table decorations and eating appeal is pears. The pear crop this year is forty-seven percent over last year's and 15 percent above average. This abundant supply should result in reduced prices. Bartlett pears have been the market for a while, but look for Bosc and Anjou, which are winter varieties, and will soon be amply available.

Pork is held over from the October plentiful supply list. Serve pork often since it is the first time in two years that it has been in abundant supply.

"A Trip through The Orient" will be the theme for the annual paid-up membership luncheon of the Greater Westfield Section, National Council of Jewish Women to be held on Tuesday at 12:30 p.m. at Temple Emanu-El in Westfield.

Decorations were created under the leadership of Mrs. Irwin Genzer of Springfield, Mrs. Joel Stolz of Mountainside and Mrs. Norman Stary of Springfield are among the hostesses for this event.

Insurance is topic in driving classes at Dayton Regional

A total of 244 juniors in the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School driver education classes were exposed to the fundamentals of automobile insurance and financial responsibility by the All-State Insurance Company's public affairs manager, Joseph Ayares, as he addressed the future drivers of Springfield on their obligations and responsibilities when they take to the open road after graduation.

The speaker discussed various types of insurance coverage required by the state so that each driver can meet his financial responsibilities in case he is legally responsible for the accident.

Bodily injury liability, property damage liability, medical payments, collision, comprehensive coverage, and towing and road service insurance were explained in detail. Ayares gave each class information as to the nature of each insurance, its place in meeting the obligations of the driver, and the importance of maintaining adequate protection. He made each student realize that driving is a privilege and not a right. The privilege can be revoked when financial responsibilities are not met.

Ayares concluded his talk by emphasizing the importance of reading insurance policies and knowing the exact coverages can expect. Merit ratings, safe driving discounts, assigned risk program, and the Unsatisfied Claim and Judgment Act were discussed in the question and answer periods. The appearance of an insurance agent to color this important area of driver education is a feature of the Dayton driving program. Peter Socca, John Swetsch, Mike Iannelli, Bob Lummer, and James Horner instruct the behind-the-wheel students.

Oldest fiber made by man is "Acetate"

Many people consider acetate and rayon fibers as the same because of the early history of the first man-made fibers, reports Carolyn F. Yuknus, Senior County Home economist.

However, they are two distinct fiber groups, and in 1952 acetate was made, by-law, a separate classification from rayon.

Further distinction was completed when during the 1950's triacetate was further refined from the acetate generic fiber group. A major difference between acetate and triacetate are the "easy care" fibers of this classification.

Acetate is the oldest thermoplastic fiber while triacetate is one of the newest.

Both fibers compare favorably with rayon on cost and versatility of use.

Acetate and triacetate are good conductors of heat, however, they are not quite as cool to wear as rayon because of their non-absorptive nature. They do not absorb water and perspiration as readily as rayon. Acetates are subject to static electricity unless special finishes are applied.

Strength is not an outstanding quality of acetates, however, they do have greater tensile strength than rayon.

These fibers are naturally bright and lustrous and if delustered there is less resistance to sunlight.

The natural color for acetates is pure white and acetate dyes are more resistant to usual dyeing techniques have been a problem with a fading of blue, being the major problem.

Acetate usually requires dry cleaning, except for lingerie, while triacetate is either machine or hand washable.

Research Report available on New Jersey employment

Commissioner Robert A. Roe of the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development this week announced the availability of a factual statistical breakdown on employment trends in each of the state's 21 counties. Commissioner Roe said the study titled "Research Report No. 145" analyzes data on covered employment throughout the state as of September, 1965, including a listing on the number of workers for specific occupations.

Published under the title "A Digest of Employment -- 1965" by the Department's Research and Statistics Section, the Report shows that the number of persons covered by employment security in New Jersey during the survey period totaled 1,814,863. It notes that this number comprised approximately 90 per cent of the State's workforce, since all persons in firms employing four or more workers are automatically included under the Security Program. Manufacturing is listed as the leading employment activity for the state with an aggregate of 46.9 per cent of the workers, followed by 21.8 per cent employment in retail and wholesale trades; 9.7 per cent in services; 5.9 per cent in contract construction; 4.7 per cent in transportation; 4.1 per cent in finance; 3 per cent in communications and utilities; and 3.9 per cent in all other fields.

It further points out that the greatest concentration of New Jersey manufacturing was in the northeastern sector of the State. Essex County with 14.9 per cent and Hudson County with 13.8 per cent of the state's manufacturing employees, lead the state in this category, according to the report. On a statewide basis, electrical goods and machines, chemicals, apparel, food and non-electrical machinery are credited with employing 51 per cent of New Jersey's manufacturing workers, although the percentages vary substantially by county.

In addition to the 1965 statistics, a summary of county employment is given showing breakdowns by major industrial categories for the years 1950, 1960, 1961, 1962 and 1963.

Also presented are statistics from the 1964 Preliminary Annual Survey of Manufacturers that indicate 35.9 per cent of all manufacturing workers in the United States were located within a 250 mile radius of which New Jersey is the pivotal hub for both domestic and foreign markets. The report notes that annual retail sales for this area, encompassing 12 states and the District of Columbia, amount to over $4 billion dollars, more than 30 per cent of the national total.

Copies of "Research Report No. 145" are available at 50 cents each. Remittances should be made payable to Treasurer, State of New Jersey - CED-R and mailed to the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development, Research & Statistics, Box 1669, Trenton, N.J. 08625.

Pediatrician charges 'neglect, apathy' in passenger protection for children

"One of the most neglected aspects of medical care for the children of our nation, is their passenger protection in motor vehicles," charged Dr. Arnold Constad of Springfield, pediatrician and secretary of the Physicians for Automotive Safety, at the Palmer House, Chicago, last week. "In 1966 at least 7,000 young Americans will be killed unnecessarily in the epidemic on our highways ... an epidemic because there has been over a 17 per cent increase in the past three years. Here is the number one killer of our patients."

Dr. Constad said his first-time scientific exhibit at the 35th annual convention of the American Academy of Pediatrics presented the attitudes of the growing Physicians for Automotive Safety. "The apathy of both the medical profession and the public must be overcome. This apathy is compounded by a lack of information and investigation. While $100,000 is spent for the investigation of each air fatality, only five cents is spent per auto fatality," Dr. Constad proposed that the new 1966 national traffic safety legislation will counteract some of the deficiencies, but he cautioned against complacency based on this federal action.

Physicians for Automotive Safety have enlisted Bill Canfield, nationally syndicated cartoonist. His 16 colored sketches are based upon the Public Health Service investigations of Dr. Paul Gikas and Donald Huelke of the University of Michigan. "How They Die" shows just three basic patterns of bodily injury: Ejection, Invasion of Occupant Space, and Impact with the Interior. This research supports the conclusion, Dr. Constad pointed out, that over 50 percent of the deaths and serious injuries occur under survivable and preventable circumstances. "The pediatricians of America are traditionally oriented to accident prevention," he said. "While we have had dismal success in the prevention of automobile accidents, the growing Physicians for Automotive Safety calls now for a mission of injury prevention," he added.

"The new 1966 legislation brings federal government supervision for the first time over both the industry and local and state regulatory agencies. President Johnson has called for a creative partnership with the medical profession in meeting the public health problems of his administration. Pediatricians now have a historic opportunity to provide leadership in advancing the survival of our youth in the highway epidemic," he said.

A national organization, The Physicians for Automotive Safety can be reached at 527 Morris Ave., Springfield, Dr. Constad has an office in Union.

Classes for youthful artists, guitar players set this week

Classes are now filling rapidly for children's art lessons and guitar lessons under the sponsorship of the Springfield Association of Creative Arts, according to Mrs. Leo Johnson, SACA chairman. She stated, "This is a marvelous opportunity for the students, since we have been able to secure some very well-qualified teachers."

Starting Wednesday Mrs. Evelyn Brotman of Maplewood, a well-known teacher and performer, will instruct two classes for beginners and near-beginners of the junior-high and senior high school age levels. She is a graduate of the Juillard School of Music and also teaches violin and piano. Mrs. Brotman will advise prospective pupils regarding the purchase or rental of a guitar. All classes will be held on Wednesdays at the Thelma Sandmeyer School, from 3:45 to 4:45 p.m. for grades six, seven and eight, and from 4:45 to 5:45 for the senior high school grades.

On Saturdays starting this weekend, Peter Belmont Jr., an art teacher in the Parsippany-Troy Hills School system, will conduct creative art classes for children at the Recreation House, 59 Caldwell pl. Many media will be used in order to encourage experimental expression while the youngsters are becoming familiar with the best ways to use the various art materials. Most of the materials will be provided free of charge.

Belmont is now doing graduate work for his master's degree, and he previously received the most outstanding student award from Paterson State College. Belmont's classes will be held Nov. 5, 12, and 19; Dec. 3, 10 and 17; and Jan. 7, 14, 21, and 28.

The class for students of grades six, seven and eight will take place from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., and those in grades three, four and five will attend at 1 to 2:30 p.m.

A fee of $15.00 for each series of 10 lessons will be charged for each student registering for art or guitar.

Some modern dance lessons are already in progress. Another class will begin today from 1:30-2:30 p.m. for pre-school and kindergarten children at the Recreation House, 59 Caldwell pl. There will be 10 lessons given for each of the various age groups, and the charge will be $10.00. Mrs. Lucille Weiss of Springfield, who has taught in several schools in New Jersey and New York, will instruct these classes.

Additional information may be obtained from Mrs. Leo Johnson (DR 6-4139) or Mrs. Sidney Frank (DR 6-2287). Checks for class registration may be made payable to SACA, and mailed to 143 Batusrol way, Springfield.

Legislative Reapportionment

By Prof. SAUL ORKIN,

LAST OF THREE ARTICLES

Question No. 1, on the Nov. 8 ballot gives the people the final word on the proposal fashioned by the 1966 Constitutional Convention to reapportion the State Legislature.

A "yes" vote will furnish New Jersey with a new 40-80 bicameral legislature: 40 Senators and 80 Assemblymen to be elected for the first time in the fall of 1967. A 10-member bipartisan Apportionment Committee appointed by the State Chairmen of the two major parties will draw the Assembly district lines next year and both Senate and Assembly district lines subsequently after each decennial census.

Indications are that the proposal will be adopted. The Convention Commission on Continuing Public Information has waged a strong campaign this autumn urging approval of the Convention plan. Utilizing the mass media and a wide-ranging corps of speakers, the Commission has urged that a "yes" vote will permit the state to move forward under a Legislature that meets the constitutional requirements laid down by the courts. A "no" vote, the Commission says, will leave the state governmental structure in needless confusion and would invite the New Jersey Supreme Court to do the reapportionment job itself.

Despite the importance of the question little discussion has developed on the merits of the Convention proposal. Indeed, the people have shown scant interest in the matter and many voters still believe the question pertains to congressional redistricting, which it does not. Except for sporadic, individual opposition, only two major groups in the state have come out against the plan. The League of Women Voters and the New Jersey Farm Bureau are opposed to the proposal, for different reasons.

THE LEAGUE ASSERTS that the Convention produced a plan shot through with flaws that could have been easily avoided. It criticizes the representativeness of the proposed Legislature. If the number of Senators and Assemblymen were not frozen at 40-80, the League says, better future representation could be achieved. If single-member Assembly districts instead of double-member districts (the "buddy system," the League calls them) were used the parties would be more proportionally represented. If a 15 per cent population deviation instead of a 20 per cent were allowed, variances among districts would be reduced. If county lines were not the imperative in drawing district lines and if underrepresentation in one house could be compensated for in the other, the plan would be more acceptable, the League says. On the other hand, the Farm Bureau's basic objection is to the realignment of seats which would favor the urban areas over the rural areas.

The Farm Bureau is correct in saying that the Convention proposal shifts political POLISH SHIPYARDS WARSAW (UPI) — The Gdansk shipyards have put forward a plan for bringing some North Vietnamese orphans to Poland.

Radio Warsaw said trade unions are collecting a "fund of solidarity with fighting Viet Nam," while some other factories are offering a portion of the goods they produce. An ambulance was offered by a car factory.

HOLocaust STARTED KANSAS CITY, Kan. (UPI) — In a manner of speaking, a rattlesnake set David Kearney's house afire and caused $4,000 damage. Kearney was lighting a stove when he spotted the rattler on the premises. In the excitement he knocked over the stove and the fire started.

Investment series to continue tonight at Public Library

The third investment lecture at the Springfield Public Library will be held tonight, at 8. The topic will be "Public Utilities."

Jacques V. Sichel of Hammeshlog, Borg & Co., who gave the first lecture on "Chemicals, Drugs and Electronic Equipment," will return for this third session. The entire series of four lectures is sponsored by the N. Y. Stock Exchange Investors' Information Program. All speakers are representatives of stock exchange member firms.

Sichel, a resident of Union, is a graduate of Rutgers University. He has been an executive with R. H. Macy and a registered representative of Dreyfus & Co. He is president of the Humane Society of the U. S., New Jersey Branch.

The investment series covers five major industries. It has been designed to familiarize investors, experienced and beginners alike, with conditions and economic indicators. Each industry is discussed to show how production costs, marketing, research, government regulations, and tax considerations affect investment decisions.

Work night slated by Fireside Group

The Fireside Group, or couples' club, of the Springfield Presbyterian Church will hold its regular monthly meeting next Wednesday evening at the Presbyterian Parish House. Starting time will be 7 p.m., one hour earlier, because a work night has been planned.

Members of the group will assist in tiling one of the lavatories in the building, while others will be completing an antique painting job on one of the pianos in the kindergarten department of the church school. Other cleanup jobs will be undertaken as well.

Once each year this group foregoes a regular program to assist in the maintenance and upkeep of the church facilities. Francis Shimmock is president of the group, and Francis Crosetti will be in charge of the tiling operation.

YOUR VOICE IN A NEW LEGISLATURE

In 1964 the United States Supreme Court ruled unconstitutional any state legislature in which members of the same house represented widely varying numbers of people. This is the famous "One Man, One Vote" decision.

To Publicity Chairmen:

New Jersey is now under court order to substantially change the structure of our Legislature. The courts, in effect, held that it was unfair that a county with fewer than 50,000 persons should have the same vote in our State Senate as a county with more than 900,000 persons.

YOUR VOICE IN A NEW LEGISLATURE

As a result, the people of New Jersey elected 126 delegates who convened in Constitutional Convention last Spring and adopted, with bi-partisan support, the plan for a new Legislature now before you for a vote.

YOUR VOICE IN A NEW LEGISLATURE

It provides for the election in 1967 of 40 State Senators and 80 Assemblymen. Members of each house will represent substantially the same number of persons. The size of the old Legislature was established in 1844 when New Jersey had a population of about 400,000 persons; New Jersey today has a population of over 6 million, a growth of 1,400 per cent. The proposed Legislature represents an increase of 48 per cent. Even with the proposed increase, New Jersey will have one of the smallest legislative bodies in the United States.

YOUR VOICE IN A NEW LEGISLATURE

Importantly, this plan will bring state government closer to the people, and, at the same time, preserve the integrity of this County as a fundamental part in New Jersey government. In absence of adoption of this plan will provide our State with a new and responsive Legislature that will meet the guidelines of our Federal and State Courts -- a Legislature that will truly reflect the economic, political and geographic interests of our entire State.

Ask Amy

By AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy: I'm eighteen years old and have been married for two years. I have a daughter 8 months old. I live in a nice house and have all the things a young married woman would want. But I don't love my husband and I don't think I ever did. I married him because I had to get away from my family...

Any girl who uses marriage as an escape can expect to be disappointed. It's no use crying over split milk. Get the help of a marriage counselor and take your husband with you... without the six-shooter. He could use some advice, too.

Dear Amy: I am 14 years old. I have a girlfriend who is about 13. We are going steady... so she says. All we do is talk on the phone every night. We never do anything, just talk. Should I let this girl go and start going out with other girls?

Dear Fredric: Your girl sounds like a live wire. Don't sever the connection. You never know when the number might come in handy!

Dear Amy: I would appreciate your advice on the following matter. I am 15 and Catholic; my girlfriend is 15 and Jewish. This is where the problem arises. Her mother objects to risk taking her out. We are both sensible teenagers and appreciate each other's company. It's not that...

A quality portable is always a good bargain

Olympia

When you're choosing your new portable typewriter, don't be guided by price alone. ASK QUESTIONS!

- Does it have the most modern features?
- Is it a full-size keyboard?
- Is durability its guarantee?
- Is the dealer a specialist?
- Does he check the typewriter completely before delivery?
- Can he service it locally?

Without a "yes" to all of these questions, your bargain may prove to be very costly. Protect your investment. Treat yourself to the best in portable typing. Choose a Precision-Built Olympia Portable. Four quality Olympia Portables to choose from: SM-9 Deluxe, SM-8, SM-7 Deluxe, Socialite.

Application deadline set

George P. Lynes, admissions officer, announced this week that Friday, Dec. 16, will be the deadline for all applications for the coming spring semester at Union Junior College.

Lynes said the deadline applies to both the day and evening sessions, and to matriculated and non-matriculated students.

"We anticipate only a small number of vacancies for the spring semester. I urge all prospective students to file their applications as early as possible," Mr. Lynes said.

The spring semester will begin on Feb. 2, 1967, registration for the Day Session is scheduled for January 29 and 30, while Evening Session registration will be held on Jan. 31 and Feb. 1.

All applicants must be high school graduates and are requested to submit College Board scores, Lynes said. The UJC admissions officer said students are permitted to begin their college careers at the spring semester to accommodate those who complete their service careers, those who desire to go to work first and then start college, and those who change their mind about going to college.

Optometrist to give talk

The Essex-Union Section of the New Jersey Association for Brain Injured Children will meet Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. at the Taylor Park Recreation House, Millburn, on "How to turn on your brain injured child". Dr. Wiener, a practicing optometrist, specializes in visual perceptual training and is a member of the organization's Professional Advisory Board. He is currently studying at Jersey City Teachers College for his degree in special education.

Dr. Spock aiding Allen committee

Dr. Benjamin Spock, well known pediatrician and author on child care, has announced that he is serving as honorary chairman of the Allen for Congress Committee.

Dr. Spock, who has been a leader of the peace movement in the United States, urged citizens of the 12th District to vote for Dr. Allen because of the Democratic candidate's emphasis on ending the war in Vietnam.

Needles Legislature on sales tax

State Senator Mildred Barry Hughes (D-Union) this week urged New Jersey retail fabric dealers to join her fight to eliminate the state sales tax on materials used in home dressmaking.

Mrs. Hughes was invited to confer with a group of dealers at a merchandising forum conducted by the National Retail Merchants Association in conjunction with its semi-annual fabric and home sewing accessories show in New York.

The Union Democrat pointed out that last June she sponsored a bill to lift the three percent sales tax from all goods and accessories used in home dress-making. The measure she added, still is in the hands of the Senate.

Business Affairs Committee. Mrs. Hughes, the only woman senator, noted that all the members of the committee are men. "It is possible," she added, "that they are unaware of how important every penny is to the woman who sews for her self and her family."

"If retailers who sell the materials and women who use them can make an impression on the male Senator, I am quite sure we can knock out the tax," Senator Hughes said. "They should remember what happened last spring when the Legislature exempted all clothing from the tax. When this exemption was announced, a trade union and association of clothiers and furriers patted themselves on the back and took credit for getting the Legislature's decision.

"Retailers of the things that go into the making of clothing at home should at least try to be as forceful as those who make and sell the finished product."

"His has been a lonely fight, and I welcome all the help I can get," said Senator Hughes, a skilled dressmaker in her own right.

The lectures will be illustrated with color slides.

Woodbridge seeks volunteers to help 'forgotten children'

The new Woodbridge State School, a home for mentally retarded children, has issued an appeal for volunteers who will give two hours a week to help some of the 1,000 youngsters in the institution.

Rudy Mancini, director of volunteer services, pointed out that "often the birth of a retarded child brings enormous emotional problems to a family." He said: "Sometimes, these families are either ashamed of their problems or incapable of handling them. They bring their child to the haven at Woodbridge—shut their minds to him, and never return."

Mancini said that there is a "very active group" of parents at Woodbridge. But he added that "there are also a number of forgotten children—children who have no parents or known relatives and never have visitors from the outside."

He called on area residents to volunteer their time "just for two hours a week—whatever day, whatever time you choose." He asked anyone able to give the two hours a week to some of these "forgotten children" to call him at 630-3400.
