Girl Scouts welcome the Yuletide season with carols after lighting the Christmas tree on the Town Mall Sunday.

Burning device seen permitted as industry use

Township officials this week stated that the new incinerator on the Builders Fair property, behind the Dolly Madison Kitchens store on Route 22, which was the subject of a complaint at the Dec. 13 Township Committee meeting, does not appear to violate any local regulations.

On Tuesday, building inspector, noted that an incinerator is a permitted use in an industrial zone, such as this one. The old ordinance prohibiting incinerators was repealed in 1963, Fessler stated that the incinerator must be smoke free and odor free.

He commented, however, that no building permit had been issued for the incinerator, and that one is required. The device cannot be used, he emphasized, until an application is filed, including all relevant plans, and approved.

Fire Chief Ormond C. Mesker reported that he had checked to make sure that the incinerator had been approved by the National Board of Fire Underwriters. He added that this one is an approved type. The chief added that he will check, once the device is in use, to make sure that it does not constitute a fire hazard.

The new device is the first free-standing incinerator to be constructed in Springfield, Chief Mesker noted, although a number have been in use, in buildings, for many years.

Postmaster thanks those who helped with early mailing

"Thank you." That's the comment this week from Springfield Postmaster A. V. Del Vecchio. "The people of Springfield cooperated magnificently, and we have had the best Christmas season ever. There are no backlogs of mail and every piece of mail received at the Springfield post office by 8 on Saturday morning will be delivered," the postmaster said.

Monday was the busiest day in the Post Office during the pre-Christmas rush period. Some 200,000 pieces of mail were handled by the local postal employees, who have been working around the clock for the past 10 days.

According to the postmaster, Monday's volume of mail was the greatest ever handled in a single day by the local post office. Other heavy volume days on which records were broken were Thursday, Dec. 15, when 150,000 pieces were handled; and Friday, Dec. 16, when 165,000 pieces of mail were handled.

The increased use of ZIP code and a pattern of early mailing helped us move the mountains of mail with greater efficiency than ever before," the postmaster commented.

The Springfield Board of Education introduced a record budget of $2,135,000 for the 1967-68 school year at its regular meeting Tuesday night in the James Caldwell School. The total budget represents an increase of $150,000 over the current budget, to bring it over the $2 million mark.

The budget total includes the sum of $1,860,000 to be raised by taxation, an increase of $212,000 over the figure for the 1966-67 year. However, the original sum of $1,689,000 to be raised in local taxation for this year was reduced to $1,650,000 because of the sales tax.

Seymour Margolies, acting chairman of the finance committee, explained that the five-increase in the budget was caused primarily by a proposed increase in the teachers' salary guide, renovation at the Raymond Chisholm School, and provision for health insurance for all employees. Other areas of increase in the budgeted amounts are for mandated charges for pensions and social security, and additional services for children with learning disabilities.

Margolies added that Springfield is a minimum aid district and is entitled to only $75 per pupil in state aid.

The public hearing on the budget is scheduled for Jan. 17 at 8 P.M. in the Caldwell School. Following approval of the county superintendent of schools, William H. West, details of the budget will be published in the Leader. The budget will be voted on by the public in the Feb. 14 election.

IN OTHER BUSINESS, the board approved a recommendation of the building and grounds committee to erect a 100-foot split rail fence, starting from the sidewalk of the southwest corner of the Florence Gaudineer School property, and continuing the remaining 300 feet of the property line with a five foot high cyclone fence. The cyclone fence is to be

Regional board plans more talks on teachers' pay

By ADNER GOLD
Following a lengthy and sometimes heated discussion, the Regional High School District Board of Education voted to table introduction of its budget for the next school year and to meet once again with leaders of its Teachers Association in an effort to find a way out of the "salary impasse" in which both groups had been trapped.

The tentative budget scheduled for introduction Tuesday had contained a salary guide termed its final offer by the board and called completely unacceptable by the teachers. The leaders of the Teachers Association will now meet with the board Monday afternoon, and a special budget meeting will be held next Tuesday for introduction of the budget.

The meeting, in the auditorium of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, was attended by a large majority of the district's 288 teachers. Their views were presented by George M. Bartol, president of their Teachers Association, and by Jack Bertolino, field representative of the N.J. Education Association.

CENTRAL POINT OF the discussion was the disparity remaining between the best offers of the two parties. The actual difference amounts to $10,000, out of a total budget of $5,480,000. The projected budget, with the school board's salary figures, is $503,000 over the total for the current year, an increase of 10.1 percent.

Board members stated that the figure for salaries is $3,128,000, an increase of 11.3 percent, and all other budget items are up 1.9 percent.

The salary guide as proposed, but still subject to the new negotiations, provides for a pay range of $6,300 to $10,000 for teachers with a bachelor's degree; for $6,300 to $10,550 with a master's degree and for $6,800 to $11,350 with six years of study. According to

Red Cross reports on blood donations in industrial center

The first industrial bloodmobile visit in Springfield was held on Dec. 12 under the auspices of the American Red Cross. It was contracted at the Defense Contract Agency office, Rt. 22, one of Springfield's largest establishments.

A total of 49 pints of blood was given by employees. Although credits for this blood will be designated for Defense Contract workers, the Red Cross stated it is important to note that the contribution to the blood bank at this time also serves the purpose of assuring a continuous flow of fresh whole blood for the community at large.

The supply of whole blood is often critically low during the busy pre-holiday season because whole blood can be kept only three weeks and then must be processed.

Mrs. Daniel Kalem, blood program chairman said that the reciprocal benefits of this bloodmobile visit could not have been realized without the cooperation of the Red Cross volunteer staff of 16 local women who donated a total of 39 hours to the operation.

Those credited were: Mrs. F. N. Sickle, Mrs. Ormond Mesker, R.N., Mrs. William Smith, R.N., Mrs. David Feldman, R.N., Mrs. Elliot Kaplan, R.N., Mrs. Daniel Kalem, R.N., Mrs. Julian Tharp, Mrs. Adag La Sota, Mrs. Max Kuchin, Mrs. Joseph Seidel, Mrs. A. R. Cunningham, Mrs. Naomi Gershtwin, Mrs. Carl Laddie, Mrs. James Cawley, Mrs. George Williamson and Mrs. Harold Morcinis.

No paper drive

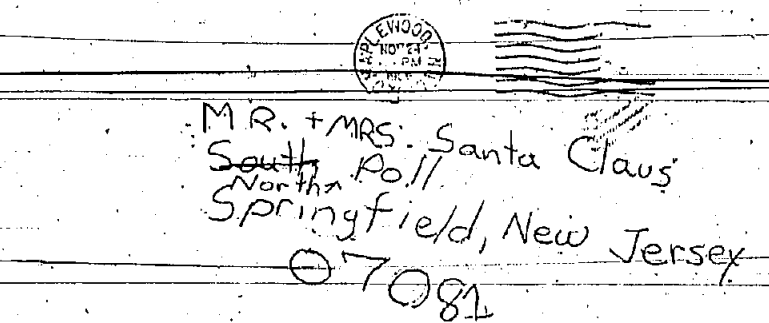

Springfield Continental Post, American Legion, has announced that the monthly paper collection drive will not be held on Sunday, Jan. 1, because of the holiday. The collections will be resumed on Sunday, Feb. 5.

Police officials seeking added crossing guards

Police Chief Wilbur C. Salander this week renewed his appeal for men and women to serve as school crossing guards in the township. He stressed that there are no restrictions as to age, and that retired men are often well qualified for the positions.

The duties take up some 18 to 20 hours per week, he added, and the guards are paid $1.85 per hour. Further details are available from Chief Salander at Police Headquarters in the Municipal Building.

Santa Claus will need an exhaustive knowledge of television commercials if he is to bring joy to Springfield children this year, according to the requests addressed to him and passed on by the Springfield Post Office.

As he sets out on his rounds Christmas Eve, however, Santa should be encouraged by the faith in his goodness expressed by at least one little girl.

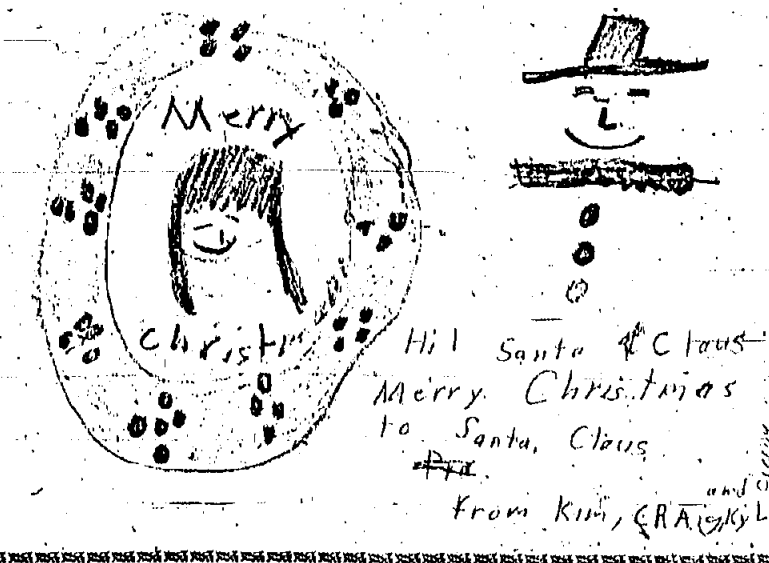

Jo-Ann wrote, "I want you to know, most of the kids don't believe in you but I do and I love you!!" In case Santa's helpers are interested, Jo-Ann wants a big box of crayons and a Sinclair radio from the Sinclair gas station. (The spelling

Drew, Debra and Mark sent word, "We have been good boys and we will leave a snack for you." All three asked for skates and trucks, and they also requested a robot for Mark "and a toy for Lady."

Elizabeth, very formally, addressed her letter to "Mr. Santa Claus." An obviously attentive TV viewer, she asked for Baby First Step, Ampco Supermarket, Heidi and Jan Magic House and Garden, a mechanical toaster and battery-operated phone. To be even more helpful to a busy to the teachers' last offer, the starting salaries for each educational level would be increased another $100, with another $250 increase at the top of each scale.

Regional schools

 Barclay, speaking for the teachers, read a formal statement protesting the board's policy during negotiations.

HE DECLARED:
 "We, the members of the professional staff of the Union County Regional High School District Number One are publicly protesting the arbitrary and capricious action of the Board of Education by their action in announcing their intention to negate our intensive and prolonged negotiations by placing in the 1967-68 budget an amount for a tentative salary guide."

"Salary negotiations began many months ago and meetings have been intensive in the last few weeks. However, the board has abruptly stated that a tentative amount will be put in a tentative budget and that this amount is not negotiable."
 "We feel that this is a breach of sincere negotiating procedure and leaves no alternative than to publicly denounce their action."
 "After considerable negotiation and discussion of the reasons for the increase in salary guide, a good partial salary guide and the joint salary committee of teachers and board arrived at a cost figure which the majority felt would be negotiable with the board."
 "However, at the Dec. 19 meeting this was repudiated by the board; and they reverted to the original budget which had been formally rejected by a unanimous vote of the teachers."
 "With time as a crucial factor, the teachers feel that now is the hour for public condemnation of the board's attitude."
 "If the board cannot see its way clear to negotiate in good faith with the teachers and to field representative of the New Jersey Education Association, then they must accept the responsibility for any action the teachers may take."

BOTH AVERY WARD of Kentworth, board president, and Robert Lockwood of Clark, who heads the negotiating committee, took heated exception to portions of Barclay's remarks.
 Ward said, "We are also interested in providing the best professional standards for our teachers." Stating that the average Regional teacher will receive a pay raise of $800 per year under the proposed salary guide, he said, "I hope all the residents of our six communities will receive $800 more next year."
 "The board has shown good faith. The board is the delegated authority. It must set a salary guide and then meet the costs. I doubt whether we will have a unanimous vote on this guide. To offer more would make a serious breach of the board's trust and impair the final passage of the budget."
 Barclay replied, "My responsibility is to the teachers. We thought we had reached a negotiable figure with the board. We feel the action of the board, its repudiation of that agreement, was arbitrary."
 Lockwood reviewed progress of the salary negotiations, stating the board met at least seven or eight meetings. He added, "We did recognize most of the requests by the teachers in our proposal, but it was rejected by the teachers."
 Dr. Warren Davis, superintendent of Regional schools, commented that the original offers were for an increase of 20 percent by the teachers, and an increase of 7 percent by the board. He added that the guide as proposed contained an increase just over 12 percent, while the teachers' last offer was for an increase of 13.7 percent.

EARLIER IN THE EVENING, Mrs. Loebard Wald, IFA president at Dayton Regional, presented her group's four-point proposal designed to improve "quality education" for local students.
 She called for increased clerical help for the guidance department, a change from a six-week marking period to a nine-week period to reduce pressure on guidance personnel and teacher, replacement of outdated classroom furniture and an improved salary guide.
 Board members replied that many of her proposals were under study, and that some of her requests had already been met.
 At the close of the public discussion period, Henry S. Wright, a candidate for election to the board from Springfield, delivered a lengthy personal attack on Mrs. Wald, who is also a candidate. He was finally ruled out of order by Ward.

New books at library range from symphony to curly hair

The selection of new books at the Springfield Public Library this week is quite varied, including among the new titles are the following, with comments by the library staff.
 "The Infinite Variety of Music," by Leonard Bernstein.

"As conductor, composer, pianist and pianist," by Leonard Bernstein.
 "The motion, made by Margulies, was passed with all in attendance approving except for committed chairman John Gacos, who contended that "allocating money for this would be a misappropriation of public funds." The fence is being erected because residents near the school have called the board's attention to children using their property as a thoroughfare on the way to school.
 "According to Gacos, a split-rail fence erected in the heavily wooded area would be a function for what it is intended and would be a waste of school money."

The board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Mary Ellen Donnelly, a kindergarten teacher at the Sandmeier School, effective Dec. 31, and of Mrs. Theresa Natale, who was scheduled to return to school.
 Eileen McMahon from Jan. 2 to June 30, 1967, at an annual teacher's salary rate of $6,600. Mrs. McMahon is a graduate of Rhode Island College of Education with previous teaching experience in Providence.
 Office positions approved by the board include the employment of Mrs. Ann York as a secretary in the Special Services Office and Mrs. Mary Schlichter as a secretary in the office of the superintendent of schools, both at the annual salary rate of $3,300.
 Mrs. Blanche Blumenfeld, the learning disability teacher, has received permission to attend the International Conference on Learning Disabilities to be held at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel in New York City on March 9-11. The cost of the three-day conference will be approximately $75.
 The board also gave its approval to price increases to go into effect some time in January for the costs of milk and lunches at the Board of Education. The cost of lunch will increase from 30 to 35 cents. Milk purchased with lunch will be sold at three cents a half pint instead of the present two cents, and the cost of milk purchased alone will rise from three cents to four.
 A report of the enrollment in the Springfield schools shows a total of 2,078 for the month of December, an increase of one over the September total.

Three members of the Board of Education have filed petition for re-election. The latest to file are Robert T. Southward of 194 Irving ave. and John C. Gacos of 287 Short Hills ave. Three seats will be filled. Seymour Margulies filed his petition earlier this month. Margulies is also a present member of the Board.
 Southward, chairman of the finance committee and vice-president of the board, will be running for the third time and for his second three-year term. He has been a member since 1963. Southward has presided at board meetings in the absence of August Caprio, who has not been able to attend recent meetings following surgery.
 Gacos is running for his third three-year term. He has been a member of the board since 1961 and is second in seniority. He is chairman of the recreation committee.
 Deadline for filing is Jan. 5. Election to the Board of Education will be on Feb. 14.

 Miss Bamberger is presently working at the Jordan Marsh & Company in Boston as a part of a four-week on-the-job training program. The program is a regular part of Lasell's work-study curriculum for retailing majors.
 Since 1963, Southward has presided at board meetings in the absence of August Caprio, who has not been able to attend recent meetings following surgery.
 Gacos is running for his third three-year term. He has been a member of the board since 1961 and is second in seniority. He is chairman of the recreation committee.
 Deadline for filing is Jan. 5. Election to the Board of Education will be on Feb. 14.

Location in Elizabeth is announced for state Golden Gloves tournament

The New Jersey Golden Gloves tournament, biggest amateur boxing event of the year, will be staged in the Elizabeth Elks auditorium for the ninth straight year, starting Jan. 13.
 The tournament eliminations will be held on seven Friday nights, with the finals slated for Feb. 24. George T. Cron, tournament director and State AAU official, said the entrants will be screened and examined Sunday afternoon, Jan. 8, in the Elks Club. Last year's tournament attracted more than 150 boxers.
 An added incentive this year will be the selection of six champions to represent the state in the national Golden Gloves tournament in Milwaukee late in February.
 The state championships again will be divided in 16 classes—eight novice and eight open—in the following weights: 117, 118, 126, 135, 147, 160, 175 and heavyweight.
 Ray Hoagland, state AAU secretary, is back as tournament secretary, and will handle entries at his office in Rutway City Hall. Joe Lavista, State AAU boxing chairman, will handle the Golden Gloves boxers throughout the tournament, while George Forester, former pro boxing star of Elizabeth, will serve as announcer.

LAW-MAKERS DISCUSS LEGISLATIVE CHANGES
 Means of strengthening the legislative branch of New Jersey's government through improvement of its operations and facilities have been under the spotlight of discussion prior to convening of the 1967 State Legislature in Trenton on January 10.

Various representatives of the 89-member body have indicated they look forward to dialogue and possible action next year to strengthen the legislative image of independence in the governmental pattern. The re-appointed 12-member State Legislature will take office in 1968.
 At the recent 30th annual meeting of the New Jersey Taxpayers Association, legislators formed a timely bipartisan panel to explore a number of the proposals for legislative revamping that have been advanced informally in the past several sessions.
 These included proposals for two-year instead of one-year legislative sessions, with the same leadership; that the legislators meet twice a week—once for committee and bill study and once in public session—and for frequent orientation sessions. The suggestion that under the current schedule legislators get no sense of "what's in the bills we pass" drew lively debate.
 "Broader use of a joint-committee system by the two houses and reduced use of the 'emergency rule' were urged. Creation of a standing Legislative Committee on Taxation and provision for more adequate information and input of the budget were among suggestions for improvement of the fiscal side of legislative operations. Extension of the function of the State Auditor -- as agent of the Legislature -- so check value received for dollars spent was proposed. A program to determine whether legislative intent has been carried out was called for.
 Participants also considered need for larger committee research staffs and for new legislative building at the capital and discussed increase in present $7,500 legislative pay. Members of the panel on "Strengthening the Legislative Branch of Government" at the Taxpayers' meeting were State Senators J. Edward Crabel (D) of Milltown and Frederick J. Schultz (R) of Cherry Hill; Assemblymen Norman F. Ausman (D) of Middlesex County and Francis J. McDermott (R) of Union County. Moderator was Dr. John E. Babous, government consultant and director of the Urban Studies Center at Rutgers, the State University.

CARS AND MOTORCYCLES
 "The Golden Age of the American Racing Car," by Griffith Borgeson.
 "As the title indicates, this book covers the history of the engineering, the trucks, the various makes of racing cars and the men who drove them."
 "The Model Car Handbook," by Paul Hieck.
 "This handbook is for the enthusiastic hobbyist. It is written by an experienced collector, an author and racing model car fan and is sure to create interest among the buffs."
 "History of the World's Motorcycles," by Richard Troughton and L.J.K. Seagrave.
 "The popularity of all kinds of motor bikes is sure to bring a demand for this title from the current devotees. It is well written and profusely illustrated."
SCIENCE IN PICTURES
 "What Makes the Light Go On?" by Scott Corbett.
 "A Junior Literary Guild selection, written in the simplest terms and with many explanatory diagrams."
 "Straight Talk, 'Curly Hair,'" by Auguste Golde and illustrated by Ed Emblerly.
 "A delightful little book which explains in scientifically accurate, but simple language how hair grows, why some hair is straight and some curly -- and also offers a few experiments that a child might enjoy making."

Westfield Y to hold 'Holiday Specials' for youth members

The Westfield YMCA will offer an extended holiday physical department schedule for its youth members from Dec. 22 through Dec. 30. The regular schedule of gym and swim classes will be carried plus several "Holiday Specials." College members will receive open gym time; Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at 1 p.m., plus regular men's open gym time at night. College men will also have use of the pools during most of the night and will have additional time from 1 until 1:45 each afternoon. High school boys will have time on the gym Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at 2 in addition to their regular time Friday. The junior high group will be given extra time Tuesday at 10 and Friday at 1:30.
 Special activities will also fill up the "Holiday Specials." The Hi-Y Clubs will hold their annual holiday basketball tournament Wednesday and Thursday starting at 10. The Y boy's gymnastic team will have a workout Tuesday at 11:30. All members from grade 4 and up are invited to a unique open gymnastic time Friday night 8:30 to 10:30. At this time all personal apparatus plus tumbling mats and the trampolines will be available, under leadership, for a two-hour period of gymnastic fun.
 In addition to the heavy gym schedule, the swimmers at the Y will also receive holiday extras. Make up classes for boys grade 4 and up that meet on Mondays will have special double sessions Thursday morning Dec. 29 starting at 8:30. Boys from grade 4 through grade 8 will swim on Thursdays will have make-up classes from Thanksgiving day on Wednesday, Dec. 28 starting at 10.
 The Y swim teams will enjoy practice in the morning that will last until 9:30. The coaches will announce the starting times at practice sessions prior to Christmas. Westfield High school will hold its annual swim meet Saturday, at 12 noon.

Colleagues' service slated at Beth Ahm

Rabbi Reuben Levine, spiritual leader of Temple Beth Ahm, and Arthur Miniman, Hillside chairman of the Springfield Men's Lodge of B'nai B'rith, have announced that tomorrow evening the annual student homecoming will take place at Temple Beth Ahm.
 Jointly sponsored by Temple Beth Ahm and the local B'nai B'rith Lodge, the assembly will be addressed by Justin Whitler, president of the South Mountain B'nai B'rith Lodge and a former Essex County prosecutor, on "The Effect of the Draft on the Youth of Today." A question and answer period will follow Walder's address, and refreshments will be served. All college and high school students have been invited to attend.

Student at Denver

A Springfield resident, Craig E. Reibold, 5 Redwood rd., is enrolled at the University of Denver this fall. A total of 870 students are enrolled at the University of Denver this year, representing all 50 United States, the District of Columbia, four U.S. territories and 44 foreign countries. The 102-year-old university is the Rocky Mountain region's largest and oldest privately supported institution of higher learning.

of upkeep — daily housekeeping, outdoor chores, maintenance, repairs. Be sure you are willing and able to pay that bill, in money and in time.

This note of caution comes from one of the nation's experts on cleaning and maintenance, Henry Silbert, president of MacClean Service Co., New York.

Silbert, who often acts as consultant to builders and institutions in planning new structures from the viewpoint of ease and economy of cleaning and maintenance, believes the same principle of advance analysis can profit the house hunter.

Before buying or building, he urges, sit down and figure out just what work will be involved in upkeep of the house you have in mind; whether certain features that entail extra work are important enough to your family to make that work worthwhile.

For instance, just about everyone will agree that acres of manicured lawn, extensive flower beds and plantings are beautiful. To some families the work involved would be recreation; to others sheer drudgery, or an unwelcome expense for outside help.

In general, Silbert says, you can expect a single story ranch home to be easier to clean and maintain than the two-story or split-level house containing the same amount of space.

Painting a ranch house exterior is easier, quicker because there is less time spent on ladders. The do-it-yourself homeowner also will find it easier to regularly clean the rain gutters or repair roof shingles. Even window washing will be simpler.

Fancy trim, small paneled cottage windows, shutters and elaborate fencing may add eye appeal — but be prepared for the many more hours of cleaning and painting.

On the other hand, the more brick or stonework, the less long-range maintenance involved.

Among details to watch for, Silbert noted slabs placed too close to the base of the house eventually will damage a paint job, and trees should be far enough away so falling leaves do not clog gutters and leaders, nor branches rub against the roof.

Driveways and sidewalks can be dirt run-off spots. If they are low points in the grading around the house, he says.

He also advises a check of the quality of cement work — walks, patio and basement. If the non-slip texture is too deeply pocked, dirt will gather and harden in the tiny pockets to make sweeping clean a difficult task.

At the entrance to the patio, he notes, the door saddle should be above patio level to block

Team of doctors improve chances of heart patients

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — When a person's heart stops, he is generally considered dead — unless special emergency measures are taken within four minutes.

Even then, the odds against survival are heavy — about one to 12.

But at the Southern Pacific Memorial Hospital here doctors have improved the odds to one in nine. They've done this by training the entire medical staff as a "rescue team."

Dr. R. E. Ferguson, chief cardiologist at the hospital, organized the "Code H" program.

"Unless a trained team can reach the patient and apply treatment, beyond emergency measures taken by the nurses on the spot, within four minutes, there is practically no hope of survival," he says.

He noted that most hospitals have specialty appointed rescue teams for heart stoppage cases but pointed out this procedure "poses problems if all members of the team are not available at the time of the emergency."

"We consider a minimum team should consist of five doctors or interns," Ferguson says. "We solved our problem by training every resident and intern on the hospital staff."

The entire physician staff has become one big rescue team.

He explains that "the first five men at the bedside of the stricken patient automatically become the team" for that emergency. "The rest return to their duties elsewhere in the hospital."

"In this way," he says, "we reach the patient in half the critical time."

Dr. Edward A. Chow, senior medical resident at the SP hospital, has kept detailed records of the system. He reports the average time in reaching the patient and going into action has been two minutes — on several occasions, less.

Team members have received printed instructions which include steps to be taken by nurses, doctors, interns and switchboard operators.

"We hope that with more experience we can continue to increase our percentage of 'saves,'" says Ferguson, "thus giving victims of cardiac arrest still greater chances of survival."

Government moves ahead in birth control research

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal government during the past year has moved with increasing boldness into a field that political leaders once hesitated even to mention.

The field is birth control.

Less than a decade ago, then-President Dwight D. Eisenhower told a White House news conference, with regard to government-sponsored research on family limitation: "I wouldn't touch it with a 10-foot pole."

Today the government is engaged not only in research but also in making birth control information and materials available to poor families.

Last month, a statement issued by U. S. Catholic bishops charged that the government was going even further, and seeking "aggressively to persuade and even coerce the underprivileged to practice birth control."

High administration officials, including Surgeon Shriver, the Catholic layman who directs the war against poverty, promptly denied that poor people are being subjected to any kind of government coercion, and sought to limit the size of their families.

But they did deny, nor did they offer any apology for, the provision of birth control information and materials through tax-supported clinics.

The government's forthright new attitude toward birth control was made clear as early as last January when John W. Gardner, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), announced one of his department's objectives henceforth would be "to provide families freedom of choice to determine the spacing of their children and the size of their families."

In March, President Johnson placed his personal stamp of approval on the HEW policy, he said:

"It is essential that all families have access to information and services that will allow them to choose the number and spacing of their children."

The Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) also revised its regulations on birth control programs in March.

The new regulations allow community clinics financed with OEO funds to provide birth control pills or other contraceptive materials on request up to a monthly cost of $20 per family.

OEO retained a prohibition on supplying contraceptive materials to unmarried women or married women not living with their husbands.

But this limitation soon was knocked out by Congress in an authorization bill. HEW never did have such a prohibition.

OEO retained prohibitions on coercion or force in family planning programs, use of funds to publicize family planning, and use of funds for abortions or sterilization.

OEO estimates it has funded 75 local and poverty projects which include birth control services and that these programs reached 102,000 persons in 1966.

The Defense Department in October announced an expanded program of family planning. It said wives of servicemen could be sterilized in military hospitals as of Jan. 1, 1967, if they desire and their physicians agree.

This marked the first time a government agency had supported sterilization.

HEW has announced a series of further moves in the family planning field, including:

Grants for family planning to more than 40 states, an increase from 19 states just two years ago.

Matching funds to state welfare agencies for medical services. HEW redefined "services" to specifically include contraceptive drugs and devices and urged states to remove restrictions on dispensation of birth control drugs.

A decision by the Office of Education to start or improve family life and sex education programs for students, teachers and parents.

New policy statements by the Public Health Service and the Welfare Administration "putting increased emphasis on family planning programs."

A series of nine regional conferences on family planning to let state and local leaders know where the federal government stands on birth control. These are expected to lead to expanded family planning programs on all levels.

It was the first of these conferences that prompted the Catholic bishops' protest. The bishops felt HEW was not just explaining its position but was urging welfare agencies to "get in there and fight for birth control."

Formal recognition of the government's role in family planning came on Oct. 18, when Planned Parenthood-WORLD Population, the nation's leading birth control organization, presented an award to President Johnson for "his vigorous and far-sighted leadership in bringing the United States government to enunciate and implement an affirmative, effective population policy at home and abroad."

High cost of education continues up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The high cost of higher education reached the highest level in history this year.

But the record isn't likely to endure very long. All signs indicate that the trend is still upward.

A new survey of college costs has just been released by the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges and the Association of State Colleges and Universities.

It shows that students at three out of four state institutions are paying higher tuition, fees, room and board charges in 1966 than last year.

Of 303 colleges surveyed, 225 had increased at least one type of student charge this year.

Tuition and fees registered and greatest increases. Tuition for resident students at State Universities and Land-Grant colleges increased from a $312 average to $333. Non-resident tuition climbed from $737 to $752.

The survey shows that highest tuition costs are usually encountered in the East, while fees are lower in the West and South. Nineteen schools charge residents over $400 a year for tuition and fees, including the State University of New York, the Universities of Vermont, New Hampshire, Ohio, Cleveland and Virginia, Marist Maritime Academy and Western Colorado State College.

$1,000 PLUS

Nineteen colleges also charge over $1,000 for out-of-state tuition and fees, including the Universities of California, Colorado, Arizona, Wisconsin, Miami (Ohio), Michigan and Maine and the District of Columbia Teachers College.

Basement of UN looks like grandma's old attic

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — When it comes to gifts, it's always Christmas at the United Nations.

For instance, Somebody in Iran made a dress out of flags of UN members and presented it to the world organization... the Salvation Army sent the UN a bust of its founder... then there was that New Jersey high school year book dedicated to the UN.

By now the basement of the glass skyscraper looks like grandma's attic, stuffed with the gifts with which the world organization was honored to receive but just can't seem to find a spot for.

What to do with a plaque presented by the Inter-American Federation of Automobile Clubs? A boat in the shape of a shark? An Israeli flag? A paperweight, a statuette and a Bible?

These gifts fill so many gray cardboard filing boxes that in 1960 the archives keepers surveyed their bulging basement and ruled that the UN may receive gifts only if sponsored by a government.

"If we had to take all the things offered to us, the building would be so cluttered up we couldn't move around," explained one of the UN's "housekeepers," David Vaughn, deputy to the Director of General Services.

But the flow of presents from well-meaning admirers still keeps the UN comparable to the bride who is overloaded with presents that do not match her house. While the bride can sneak some gifts back to the stores for exchange or refund, UN gifts can't be returned or even auctioned for charity because gifts might be confiscated.

Some presents have been destroyed.

but in order not to hurt any feelings the archives keepers pass lightly over the subjects. Other presents have been displayed in the UN mission in West Africa and Samoa. A vast collection of stamps presented by member countries some day may be put on exhibition.

The UN has no plans now to make a permanent museum of the more interesting gifts because that would take funds and time.

One gift that may wind up in the UN school in New York is a large embroidered sampler, sent by an anonymous donor in Sweden with the card, "A gift from a man who likes your efforts for keeping the peace. Two years work of my leisure time and 350,000 stitches is an expression of my admiration."

Other objects are being kept permanently in the UN basement for historical reasons, such as the pen sets used by signers of the UN charter.

But heaps of other objects are homeless. In the basement Vaughn leads the way past copper trays from Chile, an alumin lampshade from Cambodia, a plaque from the U.S. Institute of Surplus Dealers, a handsome two-volume album of photographs of Indonesian leader Sukarno's personal art collection, a flight bag and banners from the Second Infantry Division of the Brazilian Army that was a peace-keeping force in Israel.

"Some of these things may be used as a special exhibit or possibly we might donate them to an institution," said Vaughn. "Some objects we keep because we can't decide how to use them. Often they have great value."

Leaning against walls are numerous portraits of Secretary-General U Thant, the most recent sent by the Lions International club in Washington.

"We are constantly besieged by artists who want to give us portraits of Dag Hammarskjold, Adlai Stevenson and Dr. Albert Schweitzer," said Vaughn. "One gentleman said unless we accepted his portrait of Hammarskjold he would pick us. He hasn't yet."

Of the thousands of offered gifts, the UN accepted and actually installed 36 from countries and 22 from private donors prior to 1960. Any gift-giver now has to pay for the installation of the gift. In the past the UN was stuck with a hefty bill for installations.

The most recently accepted gift, from Nigeria, is a gold statue of an African woman placed near the delegates' lounge. Other gifts from countries range from five rugs given by Afghanistan to a bronze statue of a man on horseback from Yugoslavia, placed in the UN garden.

Private presents in 1960 accepted gifts offered by member nations. When the World's Fair in New York closed, one nation wanted to give a pair of its temple doors but the UN didn't need any doors.

WARNING

Christmas Crepe Paper and New Year's Confetti Can Permanently Stain Rugs and Carpets!!

Each year after the holidays we and other professional rug cleaners receive calls to remove dye stains caused by Christmas paper and confetti. Unfortunately these stains are almost always indelible.

Party papers are colored with a wide range of cheap dyes. When the paper becomes wet, the dyes run freely. The dyes will transform permanently to textiles. If crepe paper and confetti get wet, they will keep them off rugs and carpets.

Should a rug become marked with a paper stain, immediate first-aid action is necessary. Mix a teaspoonful of neutral soapless detergent (such as those widely advertised for safe washing of fine fabrics) in one-half pint of lukewarm water.

Apply the detergent solution directly to the stain a few drops at a time. Use an eye dropper. Blot the stained area with a clean, white, unstorched cloth or cleansing tissue. Do not rub vigorously. Blot from outer edge of stain and work in. Repeat if necessary.

Finish by absorbing any remaining moisture with a clean, damp cloth. Complete absorption is important. Poor drying may cause a water stain. Place fresh unstorched towels or cleansing tissue on the slightly damp area. Weight this blotter down and leave in place till the spot is thoroughly dry. Drying may be helped, too, by blowing air over the damp area with a fan, vacuum or hair dryer.

High style service offered high in air

NEW YORK (UPI)—Air travelers must be among the most pampered people in the world today.

Since fares are fixed by international agreements or government regulations, major American and foreign airlines are constantly looking for something special that will per-suaide travelers to fly in their planes.

The competition has led to various types of in-flight entertainment to help keep passengers contented.

You can watch a full-length movie or listen to multi-channel stereosound systems offering everything from classical music to rock 'n' roll, children's fairy tales, shopping tips for women and other travel information for business men.

Recently, Trans World Airlines introduced "quickie" lessons in four foreign languages—Spanish, French, German or Italian—on its trans-Atlantic runs.

If you tire of the film or sound-track, you can just sit and admire the stewardesses, dressed in costumes of their native lands or uniforms created by some of the world's top fashion designers. Air India stewardesses wear saris, Japan Air Lines wear kimonos, Braniff's stewardesses go through a series of changes on longer flights—stripping "down" from a space-age uniform complete with bubble-top helmet and boots to neat, short, culottes.

The "inner man" has not been overlooked either in the battle for the traveler's buck. Maxim's of Paris and the 21 Club of New York are only two of the famed restaurants whose cuisines are made available to plane passengers.

And there are cocktails and other aperitifs, champagnes, wine, brandies, cordons and other good and soft drinks.

Naturally, passengers flying first class get the deluxe treatment. Glassware, silverware, linens etc., are on a par with similar tableware in the finest restaurants, and they get complimentary drinks and choice of entrees.

A first class breakfast aboard a United Airlines plane would include juices of fresh fruits, eggs with steak, ham-bacon or sausage, hot or cold cereals, and coffee, tea or milk.

One dinner menu on a Pan American overseas flight included hors d'oeuvres, clear turtle soup with sherry; a choice of roast rack of veal with port wine sauce, grilled fillet steak "Maitre D'Hotel," sauteed lamb in Madras curry sauce, stuffed squash with port wine sauce, or San Francisco bay shrimps with buttered snow peas and oriental rice; varietals of cheese, desserts, fruits and coffee or Orange Pekoe or Japanese green tea.

For And About Teenagers

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I am 14 years old. I have a problem with my mother. She doesn't care if I go on dates but there is one boy my mother won't let me go out with. He is supposed to be the only boy I like. She said he was 'cute' but he was a 'smart-alec'. What should I do? I want to go on a date with him. Should I sneak out with him—or do what my mother says?"

OUR REPLY: Do what your mother says. Most 14 year old girls are not permitted to date at all. If your mother permits you to date, regardless, she knows who you are dating.

You will be wise to believe in her good judgment and recognize that any objections she has to some boy are based upon considered thought and experience. If you are in love with a boy who is not acceptable in her eyes, you may wind up not being able to date at all.

Should you believe your mother is wrong about this particular boy, your proper move is to show her where she is wrong—and at the same time, be willing to accept the truth about him if she shows you that she is right.

Holiday deadline

Particularly careful adherence to this newspaper's Friday deadline is advised for material submitted for the issues of Dec. 29 and Jan. 5 because of the legal holidays—Monday and Jan. 2; Organizational, social and most other news items for the issue of Dec. 29 should be submitted by tomorrow. Material for the issue of Jan. 5 should be submitted by Dec. 30.

Chemist salaries up

NEW YORK (UPI)—Starting salaries received by 1966 chemistry and chemical engineering graduates showed an over-all increase of 6 per cent, according to Chemical and Engineering News. The highest increases were reported by new chemists with master's degrees, with 1966 median starting salary of $722, a gain of 8.2 percent over 1965. Ph. D.'s recorded a new high of $1,010, a boost of 5.0 percent.

MAKE A JOYFUL SOUND, a heart-warming story of 477 youngsters selected last year as members of the New Jersey All-State High School Chorus and Orchestra, climaxed by their big concert attended by 1,100 persons in Newark's Symphony Hall, will be rebroadcast Christmas Day, Sunday, Dec. 25 on WCBS-TV, Channel 2 (11:30 a.m.).

With Jack Whitaker as reporter, MAKE A JOYFUL SOUND depicts how the 477 youngsters were chosen from among hundreds of students representing about 550 New Jersey high schools.

Channel 2 cameras follow the boys and girls through their auditions and rehearsals, plus an exciting week-end in Atlantic City where they get together for the first time to rehearse, socialize and give their first performance in Convention Hall.

TELEBRITIES: The public is quite aware of the acting talent of George Maharis, well-illustrated in his Dec. 21 appearance on the Bob Hope Chrysler Theatre-NBC-TV program, "The Eighth Day." But few realize he is also an accomplished painter and is one of three artists who executed the ceiling murals for Broadway's Lunt-Fontanne Theatre. Anne Bancroft's appearance in the upcoming Richard Lewine-produced ABC Stage 67 musical, "I'm Getting Married," marks the first time the Oscar winner will be seen professionally in a musical book show. Those trips that Paul Anka made entertaining in Europe, North Africa, the Middle East and Japan are paying off again. The TV Special he taped in his native Ottawa has been purchased for showing in 29 countries.

TV-TOPICS: While scenic changes were going on during the taping of a Garry Moore CBS-TV stanza, Moore asked the studio audience to throw him any questions they wanted to. One lady called out: "This is personal. Would you say hello to my husband when you go home tonight?" She then explained that her husband was the doorman at the building in which Moore lives. Then the lady reproached Garry with: "And don't forget to take off your shoes when he washes the floor!" One of the props in Hal Holbrook's forthcoming CBS-TV special, "Mark Twain Tonight," is a rug that cost $50. The cleaning job for it cost $85.

QUICK HOLIDAY GOODIES

For a special dessert, bake packaged brownies according to packaged directions. Immediately upon baking, while still warm, top with miniature marshmallows and drizzle until marshmallows are covered with thin chocolate icing. If making the icing, use about three cups of powdered sugar.

Garnish holiday entrees with cranberries, washed and spread on toweling, coat with slightly beaten egg white and roll in granulated sugar. That makes "Frosted" cranberries.

If in sugar cookies, either from purchased dough or your own recipe, take on holiday air with the addition of chopped, mixed candied fruits.

Garnish plain coffee cakes with whole candied cherries and slender leaves cut from citron. Place these on cake which has been spread with confectioners' sugar icing.

It's quick to make jams and jellies from frozen fruit or juice with commercial pectin which carries the recipes for them.

HELEN'S FAVORITE: BAKED MACARON PEARLS (4 servings)

1/2 cup melted butter
1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed.
2 cups coarse dry bread crumbs
1/3 cup strained honey
1 teaspoon cinnamon
4 medium fresh pears, pared.
Combine butter, brown sugar, bread crumbs, honey and cinnamon. Coat outside of each pear with mixture. Stand pears upright in baking dish which has been buttered. Bake in a moderate (375 degrees F.) oven 30 minutes or until tender. Serve with cream.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

SUNDAY'S SERMON—8:00

IT'S CHRISTMAS—Christmas is with us again. Whether the tune is "Jingle Bells" or some long-favored carol, when you feel a surge of warmth within yourself, open up your heart and give free rein.

I can sense the smile that seeks your face, speak unthinkingly the happy greeting that pushes outward.

Open your eyes to the goodness that surrounds you. Seek a share of the happiness that abounds.

Sometimes, set aside a moment or two and turn your footsteps toward your church. Don't be content with merely attending Christmas services. Make a special pilgrimage of your own. You will find, perhaps, as did the Wise Men and the shepherds so long ago, something of the real beauty and wonder of Christmas-time.

You will find that Christmas has a meaning and a spirit which can well endure the passing of the holiday observance.

Scholarship applications up in state

New Jersey students this year submitted 22,336 applications for college scholarships—a 10 per cent increase over last year—according to a report issued this week by the State Scholarship Commission, Department of Education.

The applications are being made by students planning to enter college next fall.

Masterwork's Chorus slated for TV screen

The Masterwork Chorus will be featured on two television channels during Christmas week. David Randolph will conduct the chorus in excerpts from Handel's "Messiah". The program will be shown on Channel 47, Monday, Dec. 26, at 6 p.m. This will be repeated on Channel 13 the following day, Tuesday, Dec. 27, at 6:30 p.m. The program will show the conductor and chorus at work in the final stages of preparation for concerts in Philharmonic Hall and Carnegie Hall.

Dr. Elizabeth L. Chart, director of the program, said the commission expects to announce recipients early next spring.

Since 1959 New Jersey has granted awards to five percent of the high school graduating class of the preceding year. The awards pay up to $500 annually and are renewable for a four-year period.

Some 14,000 students were in college this fall receiving grants under the basic program. Of these, 4,642 were recipients just entering school.

Under the Incentive Scholarship Program, which went into effect this year to supplement the basic program, 2,255 awards went to basic scholarship winners to offset high tuition and fees. These awards are from $100 to $500, making it now possible for a New Jersey student to receive up to $1,000 annually from the scholarship commission.

The awards are made on a basis of financial need, high school record and qualifying test scores. Thirty-five per cent of the awards ship to be granted to students attending colleges outside of the state.

CLAY POT TREES IN THE MAKING

Clay pot trees in the making: A small Christmas tree can be made out of graduated sizes of red clay pots. Start with a five or six-inch inverted pot at the bottom and use sizes up to two or one-and-a-half pots. First upside down, the pots fit snugly one atop the other. Insert the "tree" with holly, evergreen, stars and balls, or whatever decoration appeal most. And have a fine mantel of table "topping" for the holiday season.

THE GOLDEN YEARS

HOW TO MEET THE NEW YEAR IF YOU'RE NEAR RETIREMENT

This is the Season of Concern. The coming of a New Year always is -- for men and women who have passed the age of 59. Are they planning well enough for retirement? Are they saving enough money? What are they going to do after 65? It is only twice a year, on New Year's and on birthdays, that they fret about these things very much. So it seems fitting, with 1967 coming on, that they get some consolation and some guidance on their concerns. A retired office manager, Robert W. Gardner, has a little of both.

Mr. Gardner retired a year-and-a-half ago. He made no preparations for retirement, because he was so comfortable -- enjoying a comfortable retirement policy and having accumulated virtually no savings for it, because he was having too much fun spending what he made.

Yet the retirement has been so good, that he and Mrs. Gardner are happy.

What, if he had to do it over again, would he do -- starting at about age 59?

"For one thing, I wouldn't worry too much about it," he says. "God will provide, and He has Medicare, pension plans, Social Security, and a Beneficial Great Society to help out. But I would save some through the retirement plan I would have set up then."

"I would start with a doctor. I would get one young enough to accept the Medicare concept and young enough to outlive me. I'd see him every six months so he could build such a file on me that he could tell at once when I started breaking up."

"I'd do the same with a lawyer -- one young enough to accept the idea of Social Security, which is likely to follow Socialized Medicine, and young enough to build a file on my affairs."

Then, Mr. Gardner says, he'd sell his house and move into an apartment. That's the only civilized way to live in retirement. The upkeep on a house, the bother of it, and all those dogs and kiddies aren't that much fun. He would set up a file at once and start filling it with the valuable papers needed for retirement, including birth certificate, marriage certificate, military service records, income tax records, insurance policies, copy of will, and company retirement data. "To come up to retirement without these papers handy is a mess," he says.

Mr. Gardner says that shortly after age 59 "I would start cutting the umbilical cord between my job and me. This is an emotional and mental cord, not a physical one -- the compulsory retirement policy takes care of you physically. I would train myself to understand that when I retired I would lose a sweetheart, who might love me still but would want no more dates with me. I would start cultivating a new love."

Mr. Gardner explains that the major retirement project he would undertake at age 59 or so would be the cultivation of new friends who had interests completely apart from his job.

Employment totals for November hit new Jersey high

Nonfarm wage and salary employment in New Jersey attained a new record level in November for the third consecutive month. According to estimates prepared by the New Jersey Department of Labor and Industry on the basis of its monthly employer survey, November employment, excluding farm, domestic, self-employed and unpaid family workers, was up 6,500 to 2,370,500. This was 67,500, or 2.9 percent, above the level for the same month last year.

Employment in manufacturing increased seasonally by 7000 with the gain split between the durable and non-durable goods sectors--and was at a post-World War II record for the third time in as many months. The largest single gain was in the electrical machinery industry of the durable goods sector--where employment rose by 800. Job-holding was down by 500 in miscellaneous manufacturing, due mainly to seasonal layoffs by a large toy manufacturer. In non-durable goods, employment in the paper industry rose by 400. Nonmanufacturing employment was up more than seasonally by 5,800. Nearly all of this gain was the result of a pre-Christmas surge in buying and mailing which boosted employment by 4,800 in trade and 4,100 in government. These rises were partially offset by seasonal layoffs of 2,400 in services and 1,200 in contract construction. Average weekly earnings of factory production workers were unchanged from a revised October record of $119.11. The work-week held at 41.5 hours, and average hourly earnings remained at a level of $2.87.

Large sale of watches in Christmas season

NEW YORK (UPI) - More than two-thirds of all sales of watches bought as gifts annually in the United States are made during the Christmas season, according to a consumer survey conducted by an independent research organization for Bulova Watch.

The survey shows that pre-holiday sales volume and this watch sales in the yuletide season are expected to reach a record 18.5 million units, an increase of about 19 per cent over the 1965 total.

Charter program to be held Jan. 21

The Madison Hill Chapter of Sweet Adelines in Clark will celebrate the granting of its charter at a special affair on Saturday, Jan. 21. An evening of barbershop entertainment with a buffet supper is planned at LePree's, 149 W. Woodfield ave., Roselle Park.

The Madison Hill Chorus under the direction of John Marconi will headline the program and spotlight its own quartets, "The Nu-Tones" and "The Whatever Four." Featured guests for the evening will include "The Day Dreamers," a Sweet Adelines quartet and the 1964-65 Region 14 Champions, and "The Schoolhouse Four," a male quartet from the Greater Jersey City and Livingston Chapters of the S.P.E.S.G.S.A.

Tickets are $4 and may be obtained from Mrs. Louis Viggiano of Clark at FU 8-9055.

It's wise to be right on the Parkway

The Garden State Parkway this week took a second step in its special safety education and enforcement campaign for keeping to the right on the road after seeing success from the first. Parkway toll collectors began distribution of a follow-up prompter card to motorists citing the initial success of efforts and calling for continued compliance with the State law to drive to the right.

Winter 'air conditioning' for comfort

NEW YORK (UPI) — Heat and humidity, bugaboos of summer, concern the homeowner in winter, too, although in different combination. For a home to be properly "air conditioned," not just heated in winter or cooled in summer, a proper humidity level should be maintained at all times; regardless of whether it means the addition or removal of moisture from the environment. And, increasingly, homeowners are coming to feel the really complete humid conditioning system requires, in addition, an electronic air filter which can provide pure air in the home at least, no matter what the state of outdoor air pollution.

County Heart Fund chairman named member of board of state association

Former Freeholder Matthew J. Rinaldo, chairman of the Union County Heart Fund for the past two years, has been elected to the board of trustees of the New Jersey Heart Association. Rinaldo, who raised $81,302 for the Heart Association this year, broke the all-time record. An officer of a North Jersey consulting firm,

The new card hand-out, timed for the holiday driving period, stresses the message as the first did last month: DO NOT DRIVE CENTER OR LEFT LANE IF RIGHT LANE IS AVAILABLE. KEEP RIGHT STRICT ENFORCEMENT.

At the same time, State Police on the Parkway reported issuing 276 summonses for failure to keep right last month in the concentrated safety drive. This number contrasted with 72 issued in the same month the year before.

UNDER THE CAMPAIGN program, Parkway staff members are also sporting and reporting Keep-Right offenders along the road for the forwarding of educational letters home to the registered owners of the vehicles. Some 50 have already been sent.

While safety officers have reported a wide-spread disregard of the State's Keep-Right law on New Jersey highways in general, the Parkway directed special attention to the problem along its road as a serious source of accidents and traffic disorder there.

Numerous accidents on the Parkway have been attributed to drivers who, based on the left or center lane and impelled motorists behind to pass them on the right. Both New Jersey law and Parkway regulation require motorists to keep to the right and pass on the left.

Although slow drivers in the left lane are often cited, the requirement that a motorist move over to the right as soon as possible with safety applies regardless of the speed at which the vehicle is being driven, whether 60 miles per hour or less.

All Parkway employees have been alerted to the need for overcoming the unsafe practice and urged to set an example in proper lane for steady driving when the right lane is open has also been a cause of traffic congestion as it deters the proper movement of motorists behind with a resulting waste of the road's capacity.

Rinaldo is a native of Elizabeth. He received a bachelor of science degree from Rutgers and the degree of master of business administration from Seton Hall University's Graduate School of Business Administration. He has also undertaken studies at the Seton Hall University School of Law, Newark; the School of Law of St. John's University, New York City, and Columbia University, New York City. He is a candidate for a doctorate in public administration at New York University.

Rinaldo is a former president of the Township of Union Zoning Board of Adjustment and served on the Union County Board of Freeholders in 1963 and 1964. He was selected as the "Outstanding Young Man of the Year" in 1965 by the Union Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Club donates dolls to hospitalized tots; other Yule projects

Thirty-two stuffed dolls have been donated by the Mountside Women's Club to children in the Trenton State Hospital. The dolls were made by club members. Members also donated 30 gifts for the teenage girls in the Janet Memorial Home, Elizabeth. In addition, earlier in the month the club members baked and cooked and packed cookies for members of the armed forces now serving overseas.

The Christmas projects were carried out by the American Home department, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Donald Hancock. At the club's Christmas party, held recently in the Mountside Inn, Mrs. John Dick of Haddon Heights, a landscape artist, presented a program entitled "Christmas Decorations Throughout the House."

Serve Ambrosia, a fruit appetizer, during festivities

Serve Ambrosia as an appetizer or dessert for holiday entertaining, suggests Anne L. Sheelen, County Home Economist.

A colorful and classic way to feature fruit in the menu, Ambrosia is a refreshing change of pace from rich, festive food choices. The unique trademark of Ambrosia is that it is a combination of fresh fruits topped with coconut. The basis for fruit ambrosia is usually grapefruit and orange sections; these can be peeled and sectioned in the home or the added work can be eliminated by purchasing them already in this form.

Fruit varieties added to the grapefruit and orange sections are a matter of personal choice. Banana slices, red apple slices, tangerine sections, grapes, berries, and cherries are just a few of the possibilities. Another version of Ambrosia also calls for the addition of tiny marshmallows and chopped pecans.

Choose the fruit varieties that are the most available to you and will be among the flavors your family and friends enjoy.

The scattering of shredded coconut over the top of the fruit just before serving is essential. The addition of the coconut adds the crowning touch to the fruit.

MISS SARAH FIORAVANTI

Sarah Fioravanti is engaged to wed

Mr. and Mrs. Syl Fioravanti of Meister ave., Union, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Sarah Ann, to Martin J. Healey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Healey of Hillside.

A new puppy from Santa? Care for it

A puppy is frequently a Christmas gift that will affect the family and furnishings for some time, says Carolyn F. Yuknus, Senior County Home Economist.

It's a pleasure! To shop in a store so rare that finding a gift is never a care! From hosiery to furs, a sweater perhaps suggestions from our girls, if memory has a lapse. Handbags, cosmetics, jewelry galore lingerie or sportswear, my, what a store! A coat, a knit or an elegant gown for celebrating the season and doing the town. An unusual gift from famous Sommers Alley a store in itself to make you dally. Perfume, cosmetics from Charles of the Ritz or John Robert Powers are sure to be hits. Perhaps Gift Certificates so beautifully wrapped will ease your doubts if you are trapped. And isn't it nice—if you make a mistake that "no sale is ever final", that's icing on the cake! Poets or artists we may not be, but good neighbors always, and you know that we Wish You the Most Happy of Holiday Seasons!

Silk fiber is elegant

The silk fiber has been known to generations as the luxurious and elegant wonder of the fiber world, announces Carolyn F. Yunkus, Senior Home Economist.

Because World War II curtailed the silk supply, many members of the war generation are not too familiar with the wonders of silk.

Most silk is made in Japan and the supply is limited because it is costly to produce and buy.

Silk is one of the natural fibers that is obtained from the cocoon of the silkworm. These worms are hatched from moth eggs and after birth consume great quantities of chopped mulberry leaves for about 25 days.

During the eating period, silk glands are developed on either side of the worm's body and are joined at the spinner opening in its head. Through this orifice the silkworm extrudes its silk filaments in a figure eight motion of the head and gradually becomes encased in its own cocoon. It takes about three days to spin a cocoon.

The fibers are reeled from the cocoon and made into yarn. The lovely soft luster of silk is one of the many reasons for its elegance. Silk holds its dyed color well but is weakened by the ultraviolet rays of sunlight.

Silk ranks second to nylon for fiber strength and is the strongest natural fiber. It loses strength when wet but regains this strength when dry.

"FURS FOR FUN"—This is the new theme at Fleming-Fur Company in Flemington as it presents the dark and light side of furs in fashion. Mod "mink" fur coats is featured in the new fashion boutique and the dual personality shown is Mongolian Lamb, which reverses to a belted black leather coat when not worn on its shaggy white side. There are fur hats at the boutique, too, in addition to suits, cloth coats and suede coats among others.

Insurance Institute data shows higher incomes

NEW YORK (UPI)—Families with an annual income of $10,000 or more a year now make up about half the entire income of all families in the United States, according to an analysis by the Institute of Life Insurance of data made public by the U.S. Bureau of the Census.

In 1960, the $10,000 and plus group represented only a third of nation's family income, and less than a fifth in 1955, showing a great upward shift in the country's purchasing power, the Institute said.

SUNDAY'S SERMON Christmas is with us again. Whether the name is "Single Bells" or some long-favored carol, when you feel a surge of warmth within yourself, open up your heart and give free rein. Turn loose the smile that seeks your lips; speak unhesitatingly the happy greeting that pushes outward. Open your eyes to the goodness that surrounds you. Seek a share of the happiness that abounds. Sometime, set aside a moment or two and turn your footsteps toward your church. Don't be content with merely attending Christmas services. Make a special pilgrimage of your own. You will find, perhaps, as did the Wise Men and the shepherds to long ago. Christmas Gift Sale All Items Reduced! Dayton basketball squad faces alumni, Livingston

Bulldogs top Brearley at Kenilworth

York leads all scorers as team shows balance

By MYRON MEISEL
The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School basketball team regained its 500 record last Friday with an easy victory over the new team of David Brearley Regional High School of Kenilworth. The Bulldogs, coached by Bill Fuchs, defeated the Brearley team 45-27 in the first game of the season on Tuesday. This will be the season's only Tuesday night game, being called for 8 in the Berkeley Heights gym. Tomorrow, instead of the usual night contest, the Dayton quint will meet the returning alumni at 7:30.

Wrestling team to open conference competition

By MYRON MEISEL
The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School wrestling team will open its Watchung Conference season next Wednesday against a formidable opponent, Westfield High School, in the Regional gym at 6:30. Tomorrow evening at the same time, the Bulldogs varsity will meet the alumni in their annual wrestling match. The Dayton grapplers officially opened their season last Saturday with the second annual Union County Regional High School Invitational Tournament, hosted by Dayton. For the second time in a row, Westfield took the tournament trophy, this year with the sizable point total of 44. Scotch Plains-Fanwood High School was runner-up with 25 points. Following were Hillsdale High School, third, 15; Columbia High School of Maplewood and South Orange, fourth, 14; Rahway High School, fifth, 12; Gov. Livingston Regional High School of Berkeley Heights, sixth, 11; Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School of Clark, seventh, 5 and Dayton, eighth, 4.

Tiger bowlers get grip on first place in league for boys

The Friday Afternoon Boys' Bowling League saw the Tigers move into sole possession of first place for the first time this season. The Tigers, with a split of a pair of games, moved one game ahead of the Hawks and Warriors, both of whom suffered double defeats last week. The league rolls at the Springfield Bowl and is sponsored by the Recreation Department.

Several of the Dayton wrestlers, despite a rather poor over-all showing, did a fine job. Dale Lies, a senior wrestling at 130 pounds, turned in a superlative performance that gained Dayton its only tournament score. Lies lost only in the final round, by the razor-thin score of 2-1, decided on the basis of riding time.

Team rosters completed as State Leaguers prepare for season of basketball competition

The State League represents the intermediate step in the Springfield Recreation Department's extensive youth basketball program. The State League is composed of sixth and seventh grade boys. The boys are organized into 10 teams. They meet in competition each Saturday afternoon at the Florence Gaudineer School.

Three other grapplers from Springfield made the semi-finals: Dave Pierson at 98, a sophomore and seniors Howard Goldhammer at 123 and Alan Silverman at 168.

The Hawks swept a two-game series from the Warriors in the early-season league leaders, fell before the sensational bowling of Stuart Liebeskind, as his Falcon team trimmed the Hawks twice. Smart rolled a 298 series. Tommy Low was the most effective bowler for the Hawks as he rolled a 247 series.

At 115, Dayton has one of its strongest contingents with three lettermen staying for the top varsity slot. Senior Pete Mollen competed in the tournament, but juniors Jon Brown and Pete Sayll both were among the most frequent winners last year at lower weight classifications. Both are in strong contention.

The Falcons swept a two-game series from the Hawks, who were the early-season league leaders, fell before the sensational bowling of Stuart Liebeskind, as his Falcon team trimmed the Hawks twice. Smart rolled a 298 series. Tommy Low was the most effective bowler for the Hawks as he rolled a 247 series.

Letterman and tournament semi-finalist Howard Goldhammer, a senior, is the malstay at 123. Junior Bruce Borris also is a source of Bulldog strength in this weight.

Creede named by state AAU as 'Diver of Month' for N. J.

Jim Creede, a junior at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, was honored by the New Jersey AAU diving committee as "Diver of the Month" in the November issue of "The Hurdle." This AAU diving publication has a wide circulation among divers and diving coaches in the United States and Canada.

The boys will be led by many veteran coaches, who again this season will give leadership to the young boys. The past success of the youth basketball program is owed to the many fine men who give each Saturday to the boys, according to a league spokesman.

The league champion, Kansas, which sent many of its championship players to the Ivy League, will return to defend its title. Veteran performers Dave Schaffner and Ed Cook will lead the Kansas squad. The newcomers from the ranks of the Small-Fry League, who will do battle in the State League for Kansas this season, include Joe Pope, John Belliveau, Jess Colandrea, Stu Gelwary, Mike Byrd, Walt Robinson and Mark Matthews.

Margin increased by D'Andrea team

The D'Andrea Driveways team increased its lead in last week's bowling action of the Springfield Municipal League at Springfield Bowl. D'Andrea has a record of 32-5-15-5, followed by Springfield Market, at 28-20, and Polcarpio Bros. and Bammel Bros., tied for third at 25-23.

Miss Brown leads Strikers to 1st spot in bowling for girls

The Strikers, paced by the sensational clutch bowling of Lisa Brown moved into undisputed control of first place for the first time this season in action last week in the Girls' Tuesday Afternoon Bowling League. There is a three-way tie for the second spot between the Alley Cats, Charms and Stars. All three teams are a game away from the top spot.

Mrs. Lipton bowls top series of 526

Marilyn Lipton, with 202-526, and Shelley Wolfe, 202-499, were the high scorers in the Parish House of the Parish House of the Bowling League last week at 11y-Way Bowl, Union.

At 153 two seniors are competing for position. Howard Rubenstein and Doug Jayne, both former football players. This is the first year on the wrestling squad for Jayne.

Mrs. Cannon tops Skiffers' scoring

The Springfield Skiffers held their annual Christmas party in the Parish House of the First Presbyterian Church following their bowling competition last week at Springfield Bowl.

Man fined, jailed after guilty verdict on traffic counts

Robert Tatum, 22, of Montclair, was fined $50 and received 15 days in the Union County Jail from Magistrate Max Sherman in Municipal Court Monday.

Tatum, on probation, was charged with leaving the scene of an accident and driving while on the revoked list.

In the only other two matters to come before the court, Thomas J. Carzoff of Morristown, was fined $20 for passing a stopped school bus, and John A. Blackwell of Roselle, $20 for careless driving.

There will be no court hearings for the next two weeks. The next court date has been scheduled for Jan. 16.

Labor Department expects increase of 7 1/2 million in total number of jobs

WASHINGTON, D.C. — More than 7 1/2 million jobs will be added to the American economy by 1970, according to a study released by the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The study — "Projections 1970" — estimates 81.6 — 82.8 million jobs in 1970, generating a Gross National Product of $835 — $845 billion (1965 prices) — an increase of approximately $155 — $165 billion over that for 1965.

Employment will grow fastest in service industries, particularly in state and local government, business, professional, educational and medical services and trade. These three sectors, which accounted for about 34 million or 45 percent of the total employment of 74 million in 1965, provide about three-quarters of the projected employment increase.

Business, professional and personal services — including private schools, medical services, hotels, repair services and amusements — will provide 12.8 — 13.8 million jobs in 1970, compared with 11.2 million in 1965.

Goods-producing industries as a whole — agriculture, manufacturing, mining and construction — may employ 28.0 — 28.9 million in 1970, only moderately more than the 27.6 million in 1965.

THE PROJECTIONS of industry employment are based on what consumers, business and government may buy, patterns of sales and purchases among industries (input-output relationships) and productivity, input-output relationships and labor productivity estimates are used to convert expenditures by consumers, business and others into projections of direct and indirect manpower requirements for specific industries. The projections cover all in-

Witnesses to hold Bible assemblage at Plainfield High

Twenty local congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses will open the New Year with a semi-annual Bible assembly at Plainfield High School, Jan. 8.

The event is sponsored by the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society jointly with N. J. Circuit No. 5 of Jehovah's Witnesses. The three-day seminar is designed to stimulate community interest in studying the Bible, and to improve the ministerial activity of the witnesses in the circuit.

Theme of the convention is "Become Spiritual Men with Everlasting Life in View," based on I Cor. 2:15. Joseph D. Wenger, Watchtower Society representative and appointed chairman, will direct the assembly sessions. He will also deliver the keynote talk, "Satisfying Man's Greatest Need."

C. J. Jones, circuit supervisor for the Springfield area, is in charge of the assembly arrangements for rooming, catering, and volunteer workers. The Springfield congregation will be called on to supply selected speakers and other help.

On the agenda are two films directed and produced by the Watchtower Society, "Heritage," to be viewed Friday evening, has been widely televised this past year on major networks throughout the United States. It offers a solution for the breakdown of the family circle, the basic unit of community life.

An attendance of 1,800 is expected, including entire families. Throughout the gathering, emphasis will be placed on strengthening the family unit through Bible principles.

Jehovah's Witnesses have long been noted for their assemblies in various parts of the world. One of the earliest assemblies was held in 1898 in Chicago, with a total attendance of 360.

For And About Teenagers
THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I am 14-year-old. I have a problem with my mother. She doesn't care if I go to school. It's not my fault. If your mother permits you to date, providing she knows who you are dating, you will be wise to believe in her good judgment and recognize that any objections she has to some boy are based upon considered thought and a genuine interest in your welfare."

STEP TOWARD PEACE ON EARTH
Once again, the holiday season — the most joyful time of year — is shadowed by American participation in a war on foreign soil. In 400,000 American homes, there will be an empty seat at the holiday dinner table.

And, perhaps, there is nothing meaningful which can be done at this point. Perhaps more military pressure will be required before we begin to see light at the end of the tunnel. But, for the sake of that torn and ravaged country, as well as for our own sake and for the sake of world peace, we must continue to use every conceivable means to pave the way for the peace conference which, inevitably, will end that conflict.

Forward that end it has been suggested to me by the mother of a young man now a prisoner of war in North Vietnam — that we should utilize the holiday truce to attempt to obtain an exchange of prisoners with the Viet Cong. I can foresee many difficulties in the way of this. But I think it should be considered by our State and Defense Departments. And I have urged Secretary Rusk and Secretary McNamara to do so.

CHRISTMAS IN KOREA
From an island off the Korean Coast comes a reminder that Christmas can be a bleak and lonely time. I recently received a letter from Ronald Rozniak of the mission department at Immaculate Conception Seminary, describing the work — and the need — of the Reverend Edward Moffett, formerly of Newark, now a missionary to Korea.

Rozniak wrote: "Father Moffett directs a refugee center on Pucknyong Island, Republic of Korea. Being only seven thousand yards off the coast of mainland China, he is flooded by thousands of refugees who line the interior of the mainland. Most of these refugees continue on moving farther and farther from the tower. However, thousands of the aged, infirm and abandoned have been forced by circumstance to remain on the island.

It is for these people that this man has dedicated his life. Included in this complex are an old age home, a TB ward, a hospital and a home for orphans and leper children. Here Ed Moffett cares for the sick, the weak, the old and the abandoned, those who must stay behind.

Family Life Today

TEST YOUR KNOWLEDGE OF YOUR CHILD
Does your Johnny like to spend some of his time alone? Why shouldn't he if he is satisfied? Do you really think he has to be "snuggled" all the time to be "normal"?

IF YOUR JOHNNY likes music more than football, art more than skating or baseball more than talking to girls, is that necessarily a bad sign? If you think so, perhaps you are not seeing your child as he really is but as you think he should be. This thought was voiced by Willard Abraham of Arizona State University. An honest parental appraisal of what your son's interests and abilities are, and help guide him more directly toward becoming what he really is suited for.

To help you reach a more objective understanding of your child as an individual, try answering these questions: (True or false). 1. A very bright child always shows qualities of leadership? 2. Slow learners, the child with an IQ of 70 or 80, will catch up with the rest. They just need a little more time.

3. Seeing the world through your children's eyes is impossible. We have to try, but we can't really do it. 4. Every child is different, even within the same family. And every child is subject to almost constant change as his environment and his body change.

Check your answers with those below. You either score 100 or zero because the one you miss may be the one applying to your child. Answers: 1. False. A very bright child is not always a leader. Nor will he always do well in school. You cannot always judge intelligence by leadership and academic achievement. Leadership qualities are more closely associated to personality traits than intelligence. A gifted child who is bored may perform at a low level.

2. False. Recent research indicates slow learners do not only learn at a slower rate but also a more limited degree. However, disturbed parents, refusing to accept these facts, may be the major stumbling block to the slow learning child.

3. True. They are children in a different time. Listening to them once in a while and reading the very human literature of child development helps, but never bridges the gap.

ALL ABOUT PEOPLE

by GENE ROSENFELD

ELGENE TIRE CO.

AT THIS TIME OF YEAR most people's thoughts turn to PEACE ON EARTH AND GOOD WILL TOWARD MEN. Peace is, in most instances, the absence of War... and the hope of MOST people in MOST countries.

It seems however, that we have always had war, and it was just one such war that made Admiral Sir Harry Rawson of the British Royal Navy famous. You don't know who Admiral Sir Harry Rawson was? ... Admiral Rawson commanded the battle fleet of the United Kingdom in the war against Zulu (Now a part of Tanzania) in 1896. At 9:02 on August 27, 1896 he delivered an ultimatum to the self-appointed Sultan Said Khalid to evacuate his palace and surrender. When this was not forthcoming, Admiral Rawson issued his orders and the bombardment began. At 9:40 A. M. on the 27th day of August 1896, Admiral Rawson accepted the surrender of the Sultan, thus ending the shortest war on record... some 38 minutes... would that all wars had...

and will end that quickly. Instead of our regular message ELGENE TIRE, in behalf of the Employees and Management, we'd like to take this opportunity to wish everyone, everywhere, "PEACE ON EARTH... GOOD WILL TOWARD ALL MEN."

Readiness grads will return to UJC to evaluate course

The 104 college freshmen who participated in Union Junior College's College Readiness Program last summer have been invited to a reunion on Tuesday, to reevaluate the program. The 104 students are attending more than 50 colleges and universities throughout the nation, including Union Junior College. The reunion was scheduled for Tuesday while most of the students are home for the holidays.

Prof. Gunnar Salms of Glen Ridge, director of the College Readiness Program, said an attempt will be made at the reunion to determine if the program helped the students in their first semester of their freshman year in college.

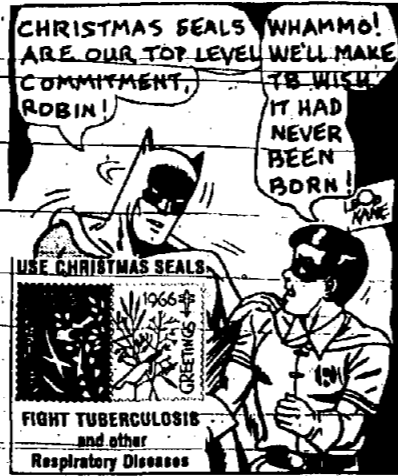

"Our previous reunions indicated clearly that the College Readiness Program was of substantial help to many of those who participated. The students have indicated areas in which they think there should be greater emphasis and other areas which were not as useful to them. These suggestions have been followed in developing the program," Prof. Salms said.

The College Readiness Program "graduates" will be greeted at a reception in the Student Lounge of the Campus Center at 3:30 p.m. by Dr. Kenneth C. MacKay, UJC president, Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, dean, and Prof. Salms, Mrs. Grace Landwehr and Prof. Farris S. Swackhammer, both of Cranford, and Dr. Julia Carlson of East Orange, instructors.

The major aim of the College Readiness Program is to reduce the high attrition rate among college freshmen. Dr. Iversen said, he pointed out that nearly half of all the young men and women who enter freshman classes each year do not complete the four-year program.

"A significant number of freshmen do not make it because they cannot adapt to the college situation—even though they have the intellectual ability to do college work," Dr. Iversen said. The program was conducted daily for four weeks in July. It carried no college credit and was limited to high school graduates who planned to attend college in the fall. The emphasis was on an orientation to college life plus a quick review of the basic skills of reading, English composition, and problem solving, Dr. Iversen explained.

Warinanco posts holiday schedule

The holiday schedule at the Warinanco Park Ice Skating Center was recently announced by the Union County Park Commission as follows: On Saturday general skating sessions will be held from 9:30 a.m. to noon; 12:30 p.m. to 3 p.m., and 3:30 to 6 p.m. The evening session will not be held Saturday and the Ice Center will be closed all day Christmas Day.

On Monday, general skating sessions will be held from 9:30 a.m. to noon; 12:30 to 3 p.m.; 3:30 to 6 p.m., and 8:30 to 10:30 p.m. At the morning and early afternoon sessions the admission for both adults and children will be 50 cents per person. At the 3:30 to 6 p.m. session and the 8:30 to 10:30 p.m. session the admission fee will be 75 cents per person.

On Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Dec. 30, general skating sessions will be held from 9:30 a.m. to noon; 12:30 to 3 p.m.; 3:30 to 6 p.m.; and 8:30 to 10:30 p.m. At these sessions the regular weekday rates will be in effect, that is, children 15 years of age and under, will be admitted for a 25-cent fee at the morning and afternoon sessions and 50 cents at the evening sessions. Adults will be admitted for a 50-cent fee at the morning and afternoon sessions and for a 75-cent fee at the evening session. On Friday, a special family night session is held from 6:30 to 10:30 p.m. at a fee of 50 cents per child and 75 cents per adult.

On New Year's Eve, Saturday, Dec. 31, sessions will be conducted from 9:30 a.m. to noon; 12:30 to 3 p.m., and 3:30 to 6 p.m. The evening session will not be held on this day.

On New Year's Day and on Monday, Jan. 2, the Sunday schedule and rates will be in effect.
