New library, highway construction top news of 1966

The year of 1966, which was marked by the absence of bitter political controversy which had been common in past years in Springfield, began with approval of a bond issue for a new Springfield Public Library and closed with ground-breaking ceremonies for the new library building at Mountain ave. and Hannah st.

Construction for Route 78 and Route 24 continued to disrupt the community throughout the year, forcing the Township Committee to operate emergency school buses for children crossing perilous highway construction areas.

Dr. Martin Luther King, Nobel Prize winner and civil rights leader, addressed a packed auditorium at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School. With leadership primarily from the Springfield Chamber of Commerce, residents organized and launched the town's first United Fund campaign to support the activities of 14 agencies.

Springfield's newest recreation facility was named Edward Ruby Field, to honor the veteran recreation director. William Koonz retired as a member of the Township Committee, and his seat was won by former Mayor Philip Del Vecchio, a Republican, who defeated Democrat Gerard Veza.

The Board of Education authorized additional pay for teachers at the Florence Gaudinzer

School who take part in week-long trips to Stokes State Forest and to Colonial Williamsburg, Va. Vanla Maria Cavalcanti of Brazil became the town's first foreign-exchange student, under the sponsorship of the American Field Service.

A month-by-month review of the year follows:

JANUARY
Township Committee votes unanimous approval for a $350,000 bond issue to pay for a new public library... Anton J. Campanella appointed chairman of 1966 fund raising and membership campaigns of Springfield Red Cross... Edward J. Ruby, township recreation director, to receive annual B'nai B'rith Citizenship Award... Douglas Colandrea named as Springfield's first baby of new year... Sanford Kessler named Springfield chairman for the Union County Heart Association's fund drive... Emergency school buses authorized by Township Committee to transport children across hazardous areas where Rt. 78 is being cut through Springfield... Schools closed on Monday, Jan. 24, because of heavy snow... Mrs. Edward F. Litten named secretary of the New Jersey Association of Youth Employment Services...

FEBRUARY
Seymour Margulies, Mrs. Ruth Weisman

and August 7, prior named to three-year terms on the Board of Education in the school board election... Sam Piller and Leonard Sherman selected as vice-chairmen of the 1966 UJA fund drive... Heavy rainfall, worst in two years, floods several areas in town... August Cuprio reelected president of the Board of Education... Lewin Weinberg, chairman of the Springfield Democratic party, resigns... Pollock of Springfield and Mountaintop departments to play benefit basketball game for Linda Clark, 10-year old Mountaintop girl who was paralyzed in park accident... Mrs. Allen Huberman to serve as chairman of the Women's Division of UJA in Springfield...

MARCH
Proposed ordinance to prohibit overnight parking on Springfield Streets is approved by Township Committee... Jonathan Bayona students to present "Brigadoon" March 11 and 12... Donald L. Mantel elected chairman of Democratic Party organization in Springfield... Springfield Recreation Department and Springfield Optimist Club join in sponsoring the first annual Springfield Invitational Basketball Tournament set for March 26 and 27... Rumors that schools will close because of an influenza epidemic are found unfounded...

Committee pays tribute to Koonz as term expires

By ABNER GOLD
Good fellowship was the seasonal motif Tuesday at the Municipal Building as the Township Committee concluded its business for 1966. Members joined in tribute to William F. Koonz, who is retiring from his post on the governing body. They also praised Robert G. Planer, who will relinquish his mayor's gavel in the coming year.

Regional board acts on budget, omits pay scale

Declining comment on the status of salary negotiations with the Teachers Association, the Regional High School District Board of Education at a special meeting Tuesday night voted to approve a tentative budget for the next school year without announcing the new salary guide for the year.

The regular board meeting last week was highlighted by a lengthy disagreement between board members and leaders of the teachers' group over the pay scale which the board had offered to the teachers. Spokesmen for the teachers met with the board on Monday in an effort to reach an agreement. Neither side would comment Tuesday on what had happened during those talks.

Although the board members declined to comment this week on details of the budget as approved, they had declared at the previous meeting that the total budget for next year would be $5,480,000, an increase of 10.1 percent over the present figures. Following ap-

Falkin announced receipt of agreements from Baltusrol Golf Club and Loudalle Quarry for transfer of land and construction of Mount View rd., linking the Baltusrol Top area directly to Shunpike rd. and the remainder of the township. The committee voted unanimous approval of the agreements.

Final approval also went to a new bond ordinance providing an additional $92,337 for the new building of the Springfield Public Library. This includes $67,300 to be received in a federal grant.

Mayor Planer noted that although Route 78 construction has now progressed to permit free passage of traffic on Morris ave. and Baltusrol way, the sidewalks are not yet in shape to permit easy passage of pedestrians.

He added that the emergency school bus service to carry children across construction hazards will thus continue until safety is more easily achieved. The mayor added that the township will give "adequate notice" when the discontinuance is planned.

The governing body voted to send letters of commendation to all road department employees who worked around the clock Christmas Eve and Christmas Day to clear away the heavy snowfall.

Another vote authorized preparation of an ordinance to return to the Union County Park Commission ownership of a portion of Milltown rd. made unnecessary by construction of the new bridge across the Rahway River.

The long-range capital improvement budget was amended to include a $900,000 item for 1968 requested by the Board of Education. The projected funds would go for renovation and expansion of the Raymond Chisholm School and for construction of an administrative building for the school system.

NOTE THAT KOONZ was taking part in his last meeting as a Township Committeeman, Mayor Planer noted that Koonz' retirement had been motivated by increased business

END OF AN ERA -- Little Douglas Colandrea prepares to end his reign as Springfield's first baby. As the new calendar goes up on the wall, nominations will be accepted to name his successor, starting at 12:01 a.m. on Sunday, New Year's Day. (Photo by Bob Baxter)

Fame, fortune in prizes await town's 1st baby born in 1967

A four-pound nine-ounce incubator baby who lazily came into the world as Springfield's first baby of the year on Jan. 12, 1966, is now a 20-pound almost one-year-old named

Douglas R. Colandrea. According to his mother, he "tears everything apart," as he demonstrates with a 1966 calendar.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Colandrea of 61 Rose ave., who received a host of prizes from Springfield residents in last year's contest. His father is a member of the township Planning Board. Douglas will make way for his 1967 successor in the fourth annual contest in Springfield.

To receive their prizes, parents of the first baby of 1967 are asked to call this office at 686-7700 as soon as they are qualified. They may also use the application blank printed this week on Page 7.

The list of prizes offered by local merchants includes:

- A 10-inch birthday cake, from the Cake Cottage, Gen. Greene Shopping Center; a certificate for baby's first pair of shoes, from Colantone Shoe Shop, 245 Morris ave.; a $20 savings account, from Crockett Savings and Loan Association, 175 Morris ave.; a steak dinner for mom, and dad, from the Hearth Restaurant, 244 Mountain ave.;
- Also, a Kohner Dasy flux (10-in-one toy) worth $5, from Kay's Stationery and Hardware, 265 Morris ave.; a $5 gift certificate, from Michele's Youth Fashions, Echo Plaza Shopping Center; a haircut, shampoo and set, for mom, from Norma's Salon of Beauty, 232 Mountain ave.; a spaghetti dinner from The Community Shoppe, 247 Morris ave.;
- Also, choice of an aluminum bottle sterilizer kit or a case of baby formula, from Park Drugs, Gen. Greene Shopping Center; lubrication and oil change, for the family car, from Pinkava's Esso Station, Morris ave. at Caldwell pl.; a $5 gift certificate from Kette Youth Center, 264 Morris ave.; and a three-piece silver set, for the baby, from Wesley Jewelers, 173 Mountain ave.

Falkin to serve in mayor's post for coming year

Township Committeeman Arthur M. Falkin will serve as chairman of the governing body in 1967, with the title of mayor. It was learned this week, Falkin, who has served on the Township Committee for the past five years, also served as mayor during 1963. He is believed to be the first man ever to become mayor on two separate occasions.

Robert G. Planer, who is retiring after a year as chief executive, will continue as commissioner of public safety, in charge of police, fire and civil defense activities. Falkin will take over as recreation commissioner from William F. Koonz, who is retiring from the Township Committee.

Philip Del Vecchio, former mayor returning to the Township Committee after a year out of office, will succeed Falkin as commissioner of public works. Robert D. Hardgrove will remain in charge of the township's finances. Jay B. Bloom, sole Democrat on the governing body, will continue to supervise the administration and legal department.

ARTHUR M. FALKIN

THE COMMITTEEMEN and all other civic appointees will be inducted at the organization meeting on Monday at noon in Town Hall. Major township employees appointed for another term include Max Sherman, magistrate; James M. Cawley, township attorney; Joseph Seidel, prosecutor; Walter Kozuly, engineer; and Otto Fessler, building inspector.

Mrs. Gloria Madding will be named deputy court clerk. Leonard Leliter, the present court clerk, will remain as Township Treasurer.

Marvin Strauss will be reappointed for another three years on the Board of Adjustment, and Jack Keefe will be named as a new member. Andrew Morrison, who has been a board member, will be appointed as an alternate member, along with Seymour Colan.

Albert Evans is scheduled for reappointment to the Planning Board. Del Vecchio will be named as the Township Committee's liaison to the Planning Board. Leonard Garner will receive another appointment to the Board of Health.

Young skaters discover body floating in river

Springfield police have concluded investigations into the death of a 30-year-old Newark woman found floating face down in the Rahway River Saturday by a group of teen-aged ice skaters.

The woman, Miss Rose Marie Kuechle, found fully clothed, was discovered shortly before 3 p.m. by three youths from Millburn who had gone to the river to ice skate. The body was found floating face down in the river near Springfield ave. by the Route 78 construction site.

Police said that there were ice patches in the river near where the body was found, and that identification was made through a name bracelet on the woman's wrist. The county medical examiner said that Miss Kuechle was dead about one day and that decomposition had not yet set in.

There was no way of determining where her body had entered the river, the police reported. They added that there was apparently no way to tell whether the death was caused by an accident or whether it was a suicide.

Police sources stated, however, that there was no evidence of homicide.

An autopsy was conducted by the county medical examiner at the Smith and Smith Funeral Home, 415 Morris ave., Springfield.

Snowfall puts icing on Yuletide leisure of road department

The Christmas Eve snowstorm really put the icing on the holiday celebration for men of the township's road crews, who made more rounds with their snowplows than Santa Claus did with his sleigh.

William Trivett, road department superintendent, reported that he called out all nine men in the department by 1 p.m. on Saturday. They worked around the clock, with six plows, until 4:30 p.m. on Sunday, Christmas Day.

In addition, some of the men were out again on Sunday night and Monday morning, spreading ashes on various trouble spots. Weather men forecast the seven-inch fall the heavy rest since last February.

Trivett commented that all local roads in the township were plowed at least twice, except for those in the industrial tracts. Because factories were closed for the holiday, he said, those areas were not reached until the snow had stopped falling, and they had to be cleared only once.

He noted that Morris ave. and Route 22, as state highways, are cleared by the State Highway Department. County plows are responsible for the county roads in town. These are Mountain ave., Meisel ave., S. Springfield ave., a portion of Hillside ave., Baltusrol way and Shunpike rd.

The local crews gave top priority, Trivett said, to the local snow routes, through streets where parking is prohibited during snowfall. These include Milltown rd., Tooker ave., Riverside dr., Washington ave., Weitz ave. and part of Hillside ave.

Major attention also went to the Baltusrol Top area, where the snowfall is usually heaviest and many of the hills are the steepest.

Weather is factor in minor accidents

Although the national highway death toll was far below the Safety Council forecast, Springfield police still had their hands full with several minor vehicular mishaps caused at least in part by the bad weather and icy conditions that prevailed over the three-day Christmas weekend.

Francis J. Peters Jr. of Menchen, reported to police that an unidentified motorist crashed into his car Friday at about 12:45 a.m. while he was driving eastbound in Milltown rd.

Charlotte Fischer of 95 Tooker ave., Springfield, and Charles Sasse of 24 Shunpike rd., Springfield, were involved in an accident in Mountain ave. Friday at about 2 p.m. There

HIGH WATER HELPER -- Typical of the factors which have helped to bring about chronic floods of the Rahway River in Springfield is this mound of mud and debris blocking the channel under the Morris ave. bridge. This picture was suggested by Mrs. Nelson Kirchner, who commented, "All these things add to the flooding, and the best way to impress those who can do something tangible about it is to see it in print."

SILVER BARS -- Newly promoted Capt. Charles M. Bell, center, of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bell of Springfield, has his insignia of rank pinned on his uniform by Mrs. Bell and by Co. D.H. App, deputy commander of the U.S. Army Element at Sandia Base, N.M.

MP commander, Capt. Bell gains Army promotion

SANDIA BASE, Albuquerque, N.M. -- Army officer Charles M. Bell was promoted last week to the rank of captain at Sandia Base, N.M. The newly promoted captain is assigned to duty as commanding officer of the 46th Military Police Detachment (Criminal Investigation), and has been stationed at Sandia since December, 1965.

A native of Baltimore, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bell of 108 Highland dr., Springfield, N.J. He earned an A.B. degree in political science at Marquette University, Milwaukee, where he was graduated with honors and also commissioned in June, 1962, and an L.L.B. degree from DePaul University College of Law.

Prior to his arrival at Sandia Base, Capt. Bell completed the Military Police Officers' basic course at Fort Gordon, Ga.

obligations and by a desire to spend more time with his family.

The mayor added, "Your family's gains our loss."

Among the other committeemen who praised Kooz for his service in the past three years was Jay D. Bloom, the sole Democrat on the governing body. While noting that they had disagreed on occasion, Bloom said that he had always enjoyed working with Kooz. Falkin and Committeeman Robert D. Hartzger also voiced their praise for their retiring colleague.

Kooz replied, "It has been a true joy and honor to serve the community." He expressed his thanks to his fellow committeemen to all the municipal employees and to the people who made it all possible by electing him to office.

The committeemen also joined in praise of Plamer, who will step down as mayor at the organization meeting on Monday but will still remain on the committee.

He commented, "We haven't accomplished everything we wanted to do, but we did achieve many goals and other projects are on their way." He thanked his neighbors and township employees, reserving special praise for the cooperation he had received from Mrs. Eleanor H. Worthington, township clerk.

IN THE PUBLIC DISCUSSION PERIOD, Isaacson, chairman of the Board of Health, continued discussions which had been instituted at the previous meeting about an incinerator recently constructed at the rear of the Dolly Madison Kitchens store and plant on Route 22.

The committeemen replied that they had been surprised to learn there was no ordinance prohibiting such an installation. They noted that the owners had obtained an incinerator permit for the incinerator, and added that the device could not operate until a permit is issued.

Once that is done, they stressed, the incinerator will be checked carefully and regularly to make sure that it complies with all regulations of the State Board of Health and with all fire safety standards.

Committeeman Falkin noted that incinerators of this type had been prohibited until 1963, when the ban was unintentionally omitted from a new ordinance designed to tighten zoning regulations. The committee authorized preparation of two new ordinances to bar any further accessory buildings of this type and to bar incinerators constructed as part of new industrial buildings.

Muriel Sims of 10 Morton ave. reminded the committee of her problems concerning a fence built next to her property, as required by a variance for expansion of the parking lot for the office building constructed by Sherman Dyes, at the corner of Moller and Morris avenues.

Conceding that she had assisted in preparing plans for the fence, she stated "the fence now is terrible." Miss Sims said that the fence cut off vision to and from her backyard. She also declared that it created a hazard by blocking from motorists' vision children who were in the habit of playing in the yard.

The committeemen expressed sympathy with her problem. They added, however, that the problem was complicated by the need to comply with the specifications of the variance.

Regional schools

proved by county and state authorities, the budget will be available for scrutiny at the board office at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School from next Tuesday until the formal budget hearing is held on Jan. 17.

The board members Tuesday voted unanimously to "continue the 30-year policy of maintaining our word and agreement with the teachers to formally adopt the agreed salary guide after the vote of the people at the annual election."

By a vote of five to three, they also decided to send a letter to all the teachers declining the board's intent to approve the salary guide if the budget is adopted. The board had never sent a letter of this sort before, but the majority felt that such an action would be advisable in the present situation.

Dr. Warren Davis, superintendent of the regional school system, commented after the meeting that most boards of education wait for approval of the budget before announcing a salary scale. He added, however, that more boards each year are adopting the other procedure of announcing the pay scale before passage of the budget.

NEW CLUB LEADER -- Fred H. Beneker, right, newly elected president of the Springfield Republican Club, accepts the key of his office from David Zurav, the retiring officer.

Beneker named as president of township Republican Club

Fred H. Beneker was elected last week as the president of the Springfield Republican Club for the coming year. He succeeds David Zurav, Beneker, who resides at 41 Morris ave., was campaign manager for C. P. candidates for the Township Committee for the past three years. He is a member of the Springfield Board of Health and of the Rahway Valley Sewerage Authority.

Also elected for the coming year were Raymond Forbes and Leslie Rosenbaum, vice-presidents; Charles Quinzol, treasurer; Mrs. John Donahue, recording secretary, and Mrs. Arthur Dausor, corresponding secretary.

Trustees elected from the various election districts were: 1st, Cay Beneker; 2nd, Leonard Garner; 3rd, Donald Rinaldo; 4th, J. Scott Donington; 5th, Robert Modersohn; 6th, William Kooz; 7th, Alice Lorimer; 8th, Ben Wilcox; 9th, Henry Bullman; 10th, Amy Bannomer; 11th, Harold O'Neil; 12th, Lovrange Seidel; and 13th, Gertrude Del Vecchio.

The club will meet throughout 1967 on the third Monday evening of each month at the American Legion Hall. Beneker extended an invitation to all Republicans in the township to join.

Mailbox vandalism brings retribution, postmaster warns

Mailboxes are protected by Federal law, and pranksters or vandals who damage or destroy the boxes and their contents may be in for a heavy fine or imprisonment, Springfield Postmaster A. V. Del Vecchio warned this week.

The postmaster noted that some 25,000 mail receptacles were damaged or destroyed in the past year. It was also noted that 2,641 persons were arrested in the year up to June 30 for damaging or destroying mail receptacles.

Postmaster Del Vecchio quoted from the law: "Whoever willfully or maliciously injures, tears down or destroys any letterbox or other receptacle intended for the receipt or delivery of mail on any mail route, or breaks open the same or willfully or maliciously injures, defaces or destroys any mail deposited therein, shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than three years."

"This applies to all mail receptacles and the mail in them, even though the boxes are bought by citizens and are their personal property," Postmaster Del Vecchio pointed out.

Often the mailbox damage is the work of youths, who do it for "kicks," he said, and the courts in recent time have shown little sympathy for these youthful means of expression. In Michigan, a justice sentenced two 18-year-olds to 10 days in jail, including two days on a diet of baby food. The diet specification, explained the judge, was because the youths "acted like babies." They were also fined $25 each, plus $15 costs.

In New York State, five youths were fined $25 each plus restoration, plus no driving for an indefinite period, plus an 8 p.m. curfew. Two Iowa youths were required to personally apologize to each landholder in addition to making repairs or providing new boxes. In Missouri, three 17-year-olds lost their driving privileges and were given a 9 p.m. curfew, the postmaster added.

Opera group plans audition next week

The Opera Theatre of New Jersey will hold general auditions for its May 5 and 6 production of Verdi's "Il Trovatore" on Sunday, Jan. 8, at the Plummer Trust Co. office in Fairwood.

The Opera Theatre of New Jersey presents "Il Trovatore" production, including orchestra, costumes, lighting and ballet. Alfredo Siliigni of West Orange is artistic director and conductor, and Evelyn Hecke of Westfield is chorus director.

Persons interested in participating in the auditions were requested to call Mrs. W. I. Marr at 233-7210.

DR. ALBERT J. MAZURKIEWICZ

Twelve-man team to evaluate UJC, two other colleges

Union Junior College, Cranford, York Junior College, York, Pa., and Mt. Vernon Junior College, Washington, D.C., will participate in a new approach to evaluating colleges for accreditation by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Under the plan, the three colleges will in effect evaluate themselves and each other. The same 12-man team will evaluate all three colleges. The team will include three faculty members from each of the three colleges.

Union Junior College comes up for re-evaluation in February, 1967, York Junior College in 1968, and Mt. Vernon Junior College in 1969.

Dr. Mackay said the three colleges were selected to try out the new approach, because all were coming up for re-accreditation and all had previously shown evidence of quality and depth. Dr. Mackay added that the three colleges are similar in that they are basically two-year liberal arts institutions. UJC and York are co-educational, and Mt. Vernon is an all-women's institution. UJC is a commuter college, while Mt. Vernon is all residential and York is 50 percent residential.

"Our three colleges are very similar in many ways, but also contrasting in many ways," Dr. Mackay said.

All three institutions specialize in transferring their graduates with advanced standing to four-year colleges and universities.

Union Junior College was founded in 1933 with funds provided by the W.P.A. (Works Progress Administration), thereby becoming the first college in the United States directly financed by federal funds. Two years later federal funds ran out, and the college became an independent institution operated by a Board of Trustees.

UJC offered only evening classes in the Abraham Clark High School in Roselle from 1933 to 1941 when a Day School was opened. In 1942, the college moved into the abandoned Grant School, and remained there until moving to its new 30-acre campus in 1959.

Following a successful fund-raising campaign in 1958, the college opened the $1 million Nomanagan Building in 1959, containing classrooms, science laboratories, library, lecture hall, cafeteria, administrative offices and other facilities. Three years later a Campus Center containing a gymnasium, theater, student lounge, music room art gallery and faculty offices was opened. A $1 million Science Building and $100,000 William Miller Sperry Observatory are now under construction. The Science Building will contain five science laboratories, classrooms, two large lecture halls, faculty offices, computer center, science resource center and other facilities.

UJC still accepts GI Bill applicants

Applications will be accepted by Union Junior College Cranford, from servicemen returning to civilian status and planning to attend college under the so-called Cold War GI Bill even though the deadline has passed for all other applicants, Dr. Kenneth C. Mackay, UJC president, announced.

Dr. Mackay said a similar policy was adopted last summer for returning servicemen, and provided an opportunity for many of them to begin their college careers at least six months early.

The UJC president said returning servicemen seeking admission to Union Junior College's Day or Evening Sessions in February should indicate in their requests for applications that they are veterans and plan to attend under the new GI Bill. He urged them to file their applications as early as possible, so they can be processed and reviewed by the faculty Admissions Committee.

Union Junior College, a "two-year community college of the academic disciplines," offers majors in liberal arts, engineering, science and business administration. UJC transfers its graduates with advanced standing to more than 400 colleges and universities throughout the country.

Dr. Mackay said all applicants must be high school graduates, and must submit College Board scores and recommendations from their high school principal, and a high school transcript. All students must have a minimum of 16 entrance credits.

75 students hold party at school for retarded

Seventy-five students at Newark State College, Union recently gave a Christmas party for 200 youngsters at the Woodbridge State School for Retarded Children, Woodbridge.

The students, who are all taking special education classes at the college, served refreshments and presented gifts to the children. George Morrell of Elizabeth, a member of the Class of 1960, was dressed as Santa Claus. The students were accompanied by Charles Hermann and Mrs. Bryna Horton, members of the Special Education Department faculty.

UJC trustee resigns

CRANFORD—Dr. M.L. Crossley of 734 Park Ave., Plainfield, has resigned as a member of the Board of Trustees of Union Junior College, and has been elected a trustee emeritus. It was announced this week by Hugo B. Meyer of Summit, chairman of the Board of Trustees. Dr. Crossley, a trustee since 1941; cited his great difficulty in getting to board meetings as the reason for submitting his resignation. His resignation was accepted with "deep regret" and he was unanimously elected a trustee emeritus.

Dr. Albert J. Mazurkiewicz, chairman of the education department at Newark State College, Union, has completed a report on an experiment in the use of the initial teaching alphabet that points to the innovation as an effective approach to a variety of educational problems.

Dr. Mazurkiewicz, who is new to the college this year, was formerly supervisor of the Lehigh University Reading Clinic and director of the I.T.A. Studies Center there. A pioneer in the use of the initial teaching alphabet, he directed in the Bethlehem, Pa. area schools the first demonstration and evaluation program for teaching beginning readers through I.T.A.

The three-year summary report, entitled "Lehigh University-Bethlehem Area School System Project: Use of the Initial Teaching Alphabet in Reading Instruction," will be published in the near future by Lehigh University through its School of Education.

Dr. Mazurkiewicz and those working with him on the project found that children using I.T.A. advance quickly into diversified reading and writing experiences, without the inhibitions in the "letter area" which are common to first graders, according to the report. The investigators also report that ultimate transfer to the traditional alphabet was accomplished without difficulty, and that no harmful effects were attributable to the I.T.A. experience.

THE PROJECT WAS begun in 1963 with a grant from The Fund for the Advancement of Education, a philanthropic organization established by The Ford Foundation.

Originated in England by Sir James Pitman, I.T.A. is a 44-letter transitional alphabet employing 24 symbols corresponding to letters of the traditional alphabet and 20 augmented symbols for sounds not covered in the regular alphabet. It eliminates some 2,000 variations of spelling sounds.

In his evaluation Dr. Mazurkiewicz found that children develop spelling skill quickly when they learn with I.T.A. and that the transition to spelling with the traditional alphabet in the second and third year is accomplished with relative ease.

Achievement in spelling, as determined by standardized tests, and in creative writing is higher after the second and third year among students taught with I.T.A. than those who began learning with the traditional alphabet, Dr. Mazurkiewicz said.

He also reported that word recognition achievement in the traditional alphabet at the end of the first and second years is "significantly" better for youngsters taught with I.T.A. No differences were reported at the end of the third year.

DR. MAZURKIEWICZ IS co-author of the I.T.A. classroom reading series, "Early to Read," which consists of nine books, eight workbooks, and teachers' guides. He has written five books on reading and 87 articles on that subject and other aspects of education.

He participated for three consecutive summers in international I.T.A. conferences held at Cambridge and Oxford Universities. During one of them, in 1964, he delivered an address on I.T.A. at the House of Commons that received extensive coverage by the New York Times and other newspapers in this country and abroad.

Dr. Mazurkiewicz holds a B.A. degree from Ursinus College, Collegeville, Pa., an M.A. from the University of Pennsylvania, and an Ed.D. degree from Temple University, both in Philadelphia.

In addition to his positions at Newark State and Lehigh, he has worked with the Reading Clinic Laboratory School at Temple University and as a secondary and elementary school teacher.

There is still time to nominate candidates for the title of "Miss Union County," according to the two Fanwood-Scotch Plains Jaycee members who are chairmen for the annual pageant.

The two, Douglas L. Lind and Richard Payne, said this week they are "especially hopeful of contacting girls now home from college for their holiday vacation to enlist them as entrants in this year's pageant."

The pageant, being sponsored for the 10th year by the Fanwood-Scotch Plains Jaycees, will be held April 15 at the Fanwood-Scotch Plains High School auditorium. The winner will be eligible to enter the "Miss New Jersey" competition.

Nominations may be made by writing or calling Lind at 351 North Dr., Apr. 73, North Plainfield (755-8911), or Payne at 1221 Christie Circle, Scotch Plains (233-5955).

$192,000 in federal aid to be sought for project at new UJC observatory

The Cranford Board of Education is seeking $192,000 in federal aid for a project which will enable students from five counties as well as teachers and adults to make use of the William Miller Sperry Observatory on the Union Junior College campus.

Filing an application for the grant under Title III of the Federal Elementary and Secondary Act was authorized by the board last week.

The project, titled "Operational Astronomy: The Earth and Beyond," provides for using the William Miller Sperry Observatory for visitations and lectures for elementary and junior high school students from Union, Essex, Morris, Middlesex and Somerset counties, for in-service courses in astronomy and space sciences for teachers, for courses for adults in astronomy and space sciences, and for a summer institute in astronomy for academically talented high school students.

The project provides for conducting the program over a three-year period, beginning July 1, 1967. It would be developed in three phases: a planning stage during the summer of 1967 when curriculum materials would be developed; a pilot stage using students of the Cranford public school system in the fall semester of 1967, and an operational phase involving students and teachers from all interested public and private schools in the five-county area.

MEMBERS OF THE staffs of the Cranford public school system and Union Junior College and members of Amateur Astronomers, Inc., have been working on the proposal since last spring.

Since colleges are not eligible for Title III funds, the Cranford public school system is serving as the agent for this project. Dr. Clark W. McDermonth, superintendent of schools, said.

The Sperry Observatory is now under construction and is expected to be completed early in 1967. It will contain two major telescopes: a 24-inch reflector telescope and a 10-inch refractor telescope. In addition to the two telescope rooms, the observatory will have a lecture hall, seating about 75 persons, a shop where the two telescopes will be built and where mirror grinding and other classes will be conducted, a dark room and a library-office.

Under the proposed project, thousands of elementary and secondary school students would visit the observatory each year to gain an insight into astronomy and space sciences. A major goal of the program would be to provide a laboratory experience in astronomy, which is usually not available. Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, UJC dean, said.

The project also provides for in-service teaching training courses on three levels. All courses would provide laboratory experiences for all participants.

THE PROPOSAL CALLS for hiring a director, assistant director, two instructors, a clerk-librarian and a number of educational and astronomical consultants to assist in the development of curriculum materials.

The objectives of the project are to broaden and enrich the opportunities for elementary and secondary school students, teachers and adults in basic astronomical concepts at all levels; to inform and orient them to the implications of space exploration and research; to acquaint them with the instruments and equipment used by professional astronomers; to attract young people to scientific careers, including astronomy; to provide an opportunity for direct observation of the heavens through major observatory instruments; to provide special experiences in astronomy for academically-gifted secondary students, and to assist public and private school systems in introducing or improving the teaching of astronomy and space science into their curriculums.

Dr. Iversen said a survey of programs offered by area educational institutions shows that astronomy is being taught without the use of a laboratory experience. The proposed project would provide for "direct viewing of the sky or instruction in the use of the telescope and other instruments used in astronomy."

"The Sperry Observatory could be regarded

'Lights on' project called a bright spot in Parkway news

The Garden State Parkway this week reported that its "Lights On, Please" program for early-darkness safety upon the return of Eastern Standard Time never shone brighter than it did this year.

Executive Director D. Louis Tonti said there were less accidents on the Parkway in the critical 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. period during this year's program between late October and early December than at any such time since 1960.

The 39 accidents in the five-week period, contrasted with the 73 in 1961 which prompted the special safety efforts, were seven less than last year and four less than the previously-low 1964 total.

Under the program designed to help motorists adjust to the fall of early darkness with the Daylight Savings Time end on Oct. 30, the Parkway issued reminder leaflets; posted "Lights On, Please" signs at toll booths before sunset each day, and increased State Police patrols by marked cars in critical traffic areas during the period, among other things.

The annual program recognizes that many motorists take several weeks to adjust to the changing conditions of driving home in darkness—instead of daylight—and avoid constant reminders to turn on headlights and watch for sudden stops during this hazardous period.

The report on Parkway accidents during the program period for the two hours each day showed:

1. 30 of the 39 involved more than one car, with 23 of those being rear-end collisions attributed for the most part to following too closely and inattention.

2. 26 of the 39 occurred in the State-owned section in Union and Middlesex Counties, and four in the Essex County section; whereas last year the respective figures for the two business sections were 15 and 18.

as a supplemental classroom for every school it will serve," Dr. Iversen said. "No individual school district could justify the expenditure of money to provide a facility of this type."

Dr. Iversen said the project is designed to introduce astronomy into the curriculum at a very early point in the educational careers of young people, to train or retrain teachers so they can introduce astronomy and the space sciences into their classrooms, to provide programs for adults who have not had this opportunity previously, and to attract talented high school students to the field of astronomy.

Working on the development of the project with Dr. Iversen are: Raymond J. Pantuso, science coordinator for the Cranford public schools; Patrick J. White of Watchung, vice principal of Perth Amboy High School, and chairman of the Joint Committee for the Sperry Observatory; Anthony Paone of Westfield, president of Amateur Astronomers, Inc.; Prof. Elmer Wolf of Cranford, chairman of UJC's Engineering and Mathematics Department, and Roy Smith of Elizabeth, a member of the Joint Committee and public relations director of Union Junior College.

Elderly in county reminded: enroll in Medicare program

Union-Somerset County residents nearing age 65 should go to the social security office to enroll in the medicare program, Ralph W. Jones, district manager of the Social Security Administration, said this week.

Although there is no time limit to sign up for the hospital insurance part of medicare, there is a set period of time in which a person can enroll in the medical insurance (doctor bill insurance) program.

For his doctor bill protection to begin as soon as he reaches 65, a person must enroll in one of the three months before the month he reaches 65.

Hospital insurance protection can be retroactive for as many as 12 months. But the protection of the voluntary doctor bill insurance is delayed one to three months if application is made during the month he reaches 65 or the three remaining months in the seven-month enrollment period. And delay beyond that seven-month enrollment period may mean a wait of up to two years.

Jones pointed out that people do not need to be retired to be eligible for medicare. People who are still working should get in touch with the social security office in the three months before the month they reach 65. In this way, they establish their entitlement to health insurance protection under medicare, and may even find they can receive some cash payments as well.

A change in evening office hours was also announced by Jones. The office will be open on Thursday evenings, today, Jan. 5 and Jan. 12, from 5 to 9 p.m. Beginning Jan. 19, however, the new evening hours every Thursday will be from 5 to 8 p.m. The regular daytime hours, Monday through Friday, will continue to be 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

NSC clinic to offer help in reading

The Reading Clinic of Newark State College, Union, will have openings for approximately 50 children 8 to 15 years old during the spring semester. It was announced this week.

Screening interviews will be conducted on two Mondays, Jan. 9 and 16, and two Wednesdays, Jan. 4 and 11, 3:30-5:30 p.m., at the Child Study Center on the Newark State campus. The visitors will be directed to special parking facilities when they stop at the information booth at the entrance to the campus near Green Lane and Morris ave.

A statement from the child's school indicating the need for special help in reading must be submitted to the college at the time the child comes to the clinic for the screening interview. The results of the screening interview will determine if the child is to be invited to enroll.

There is no charge for the screening interview and no appointment is necessary.

Two-year college receives $15,000 GM contribution

General Motors Corporation has contributed $15,000 to Union Junior College's Science Building Fund, it was announced this week by Dr. Kenneth C. Mackay, president of the college in Cranford.

The gift was presented to Dr. Mackay by Cornelius P. Blay of Westfield, plant manager of the Linden Plant of the Assembly Division of General Motors Corporation, and Edward Azar of Cranford, personnel manager.

"We are delighted to receive this most generous gift from General Motors in support of our new Science Building," Dr. Mackay said. "It is especially significant to us, because it represents a recognition on the part of one of the world's greatest corporations of the role of the two-year college -- a type of college which is today developing so many programs of cooperation with industry and offering so many courses, both day and evening, to meet the needs of American business and industry. It is especially important to a non-tax-supported institution like ours to receive this kind of support and we mean to put it to immediate use."

Dr. Mackay is one of the first gifts General Motors has made to a capital campaign of a two-year college. He said the company previously contributed to the Flint Junior College in Michigan.

"This gift indicates how important we consider the facilities to be provided in Union Junior College's Science Building to this area of New Jersey and the importance we attach to Union Junior College's impact upon our entire community," Dr. Mackay said. "We are appreciative of the importance of a two-year college to the community and of the outstanding record Union Junior College has compiled in the past three decades."

Union Junior College's $1 million Science Building is about 70 percent complete. It will contain five science laboratories, six classrooms, two large lecture halls, science resource center, student research center and 14

Welding courses offered for adults

Welding courses for adults are among those to be offered in the evening program at Union County Vocational Center, 957 Bell Ave., Union, in the spring semester starting Jan. 23.

A spokesman said the welding curriculum is designed to prepare and update individuals with some technical and trade background in areas of basic welding techniques and more sophisticated welding processes.

He said manipulative skills and the application of the latest welding equipment, such as tungsten and metallic inert gas welding, are particularly emphasized, as are basic oxy-acetylene and stick arc welding methods.

The program consists of three-hour sessions for a period of 15 weeks.

The spokesman said persons interested by call 233-3910 or 687-2899 or come to the school between 7 and 9 p.m. Mondays or Wednesdays. Information on the courses also is available at the Vocational and Technical School at 1160 Globe Ave., Mountainside, between 7 and 9 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

Realty company holds Yule party, open house

A combined Christmas party and open house of Dell-Ray Realty was held last Wednesday in celebration of the opening of the new company building at 427 Chestnut St., Union.

A buffet dinner and cocktail party was held with Stanley Stevens, president of the firm, acting as host. Guests were present from Summit, Springfield, Linden, Roselle, Elizabeth and Union.

New sorority formed

A new sorority, Gamma Sigma Chi, has been organized at Union Junior College, Cranford. The new sorority is to promote social activities on the Union Junior campus. Prof. Eugene J. Fisch of St. George's is the sorority's faculty advisor.

Modernization, expansion proposed in master plan at Elizabeth General

Expansion and modernization projects to be undertaken at Elizabeth General Hospital over the next 10 to 15 years are outlined in a long-range master plan which has been adopted by the hospital's board of trustees.

Carlton S. Stallard, board president, announced that Barclay B. Backey has been named chairman of a special committee to explore the plan of financing the plan, which John H. Haire serving as vice-chairman.

Major stages of construction recommended in the master plan are as follows:

Stage 1A includes the building of a one-story ground level addition to the existing north wing for kitchen expansion, with extension of a service elevator to all floors above.

Stage 1B would complete the construction of upper floors on the existing east wing and carry out a new extension of this wing toward Jacques St. This would provide a new psychiatric out-patient clinic and expansion of the long-term care unit and all floors above, including the surgical suite.

Stages 2A and 2B recommend the construction of a new boiler plant and a new laundry.

Stage 2C, which would be sometime in the future, recommends the erection of a main new patient building of six stories. This wing would have a street level main entrance from Jacques St. and would include lobby, coffee shop, administrative office on the first floor. Other floors would contain patient beds.

Stage 3 provides for another addition in the far future, if needed. This wing could provide for further expansion of dietary, storage, receiving, etc. plus additional floors for patient nursing units to permit vacating of the expansion of radiology, X-ray therapy, pharmacy, administration and pathology in the far future, if required.

SPRINGFIELD (N.J.) LEADER-Thursday, Dec. 29, 1966-11

Tips for Today's Homemaker

From Anne L. Sheelon, County Home Economist

Food prices have been a popular topic during 1966. Before the New Year begins, a good explanation of what makes food prices "go up" as a consumer.

In general, the size of your food market bill depends on your income, your family's wants and needs, and your market purchases that are not food items but are bought in the supermarket.

As the income increases, more total dollars are spent for food, but a smaller percentage of the income goes for food. More delicacies, more steaks and roasts, more out-of-season fruits and vegetables, and more foods with built-in mild services are selected when there is more money to spend.

Family's wants and needs also have a great effect. The number of times you entertain in your home or the frequency with which you eat in restaurants, as well as the size and age of individual family members are included in this category.

Other purchases that are not food but accounted for in the supermarket can count to twenty cents out of every dollar spent. These items range from drug supplies to clothing.

With regard to the prices of items themselves, there are several factors which affect the week-by-week fluctuations.

The wayward weather -- a long drought, a sudden freeze, or a pelting hailstorm -- can drastically harm an entire crop, which would result in smaller supplies. Smaller supplies can mean higher prices.

FRESH FOOD IS STILL most plentiful and most inexpensive during the harvest season. You can buy fresh strawberries in January, but they will cost more than they do in June. Transportation greatly adds to the retail price of out-of-season choices.

All food items that have been pre-peeled, pre-cooked, pre-packaged or pre-portioned any type pre-preparation are termed convenience foods. Today's homemaker has found these items to be a great saving of her valuable

HALF-PAST TEEN

A pilot project completed last month by the Division of Veterans Services in the State Department of Conservation and Economic Development designed to acquaint New Jersey veterans of educational benefits available under the 1966 GI Bill proved so successful that the program will be continued throughout the coming year. Conservation Commissioner Robert A. Roe announced this week.

Commissioner Roe said seminars were conducted for 120 members of the New Jersey State Police at the Division's headquarters in Trenton. "Each of the troopers subsequently applied for educational training under the GI Bill and their applications are being processed," Commissioner Roe added.

Veterans who served in active military service between January 1955 and the present are eligible for schooling benefits. Those planning to enroll in universities, colleges or technical schools are urged to make application for their certificate of eligibility as soon as possible.

at the Trenton headquarters of the Division of Veterans Service or at any of the 16 fully staffed full-time field offices throughout the State. Information and assistance will also be given concerning rights and benefits under any federal or State laws pertaining to veterans.

Traffic deaths on highway on the rise more every year

"Despite the new federal safety regulations, the traffic death toll may get worse before it gets better," warns Harry Porter, Jr., manager of the National Safety Council's Traffic Department.

"Pointing out the number of deaths resulting from the new vehicle standards and expanded highway safety programs to take effect, Porter listed the following "negative" factors that will tend to push death totals up in the years immediately ahead:

1. More young drivers
2. Higher speeds
3. Motorcycles
4. Increasing travel
5. Failure to use seat belts
6. Alcohol consumption

"In the face of these almost overwhelming pressures, it seems almost certain that the total number of fatalities will creep slowly upward for several years at least, barring major economic or military reversals," said Porter. "By then we hope and believe that the positive pressures resulting from new legislation will begin to take effect, turning the accident curve downward."

In the meantime, the safety authority cautioned drivers not to expect any overnight lessening of traffic hazards. "On the contrary," he warned, "the next few years will be an especially crucial time for drivers when it will be up to the individual to accept the responsibility for his own well-being as never before."

As a timely example, Porter cited the added hazard of driving during the "critical" winter months and pointed out that safer winter driving is largely a matter of individual responsibility.

"Reduced visibility and inadequate traction as the principal additional hazards of winter driving over, and above those normally encountered all year," he stated.

He reported that the following tips for safe winter driving have been advocated by the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards:

1. Get the "feel" of the road by accelerating carefully to see if wheels spin or break gently to see if they skid. Reduce speed accordingly.
2. Increase your following distance. It takes three to ten times as far to stop on snow and ice as on dry pavement.
3. "Pump" your brakes to slow or stop -- don't jam them on. An intermittent pumping action keeps the wheels rolling and helps maintain steering control.
4. Have good tires with good treads. Better yet, use snow tires which provide half again as much pulling power in snow as regular tires. Studded snow tires offer still more help on icy surfaces.
5. Always carry reinforced tire chains in the trunk of your car for use during severe snow and ice conditions. They provide four to five times as much traction on snow or ice as regular tires.
6. Keep your windshield and windows clear at all times. Replace streaking wiper blades gone dead from exposure to sun, wind and city road film. Be sure that your windshield washer solution contains adequate anti-freeze.

"Each of these admonitions," Porter concluded, "calls for a distinct personal responsibility. By accepting these down-to-earth recommendations, a driver demonstrates the kind of personal responsibility that is going to be required to reverse current accident trends."

President elected by church board

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dr. Elmer L. Severinghaus, of Brookfield Center, Conn., has been elected president of the United Church Board for World Ministries, overseas agency of the United Church of Christ.

Dr. Severinghaus succeeds the Rev. Dr. William G. Nelson, pastor of Trinity United Church of Christ, Akron, Ohio, who served as president of the missionary board for five years.

Profits in bankruptcy

FRESNO, Calif. (UPI) — A Fresno man and his wife offer a unique service to fight poverty — they help people declare themselves bankrupt.

Tom Hutchinson, 35, and his wife Anyce, 30, say they started the service after they lost their own home and other possessions because of debts and joblessness.

Their service consists of merely typing up bankruptcy forms which already have been filled out by clients.

Hutchinson emphasizes that the service is not for legal advice. "We give our clients sympathy... show them how to file the papers... after a while they have a job or it themselves," he says. "If it is almost impossible for a lay person to file bankruptcy schedules competently because they are so complicated," he said. "If it is not done properly a man can lose his home."

PEACHY IDEA

Minicomp peaches make a delicious dessert. Fill centers of canned peach halves with a spoonful of minicomp. Bake in a moderate oven about 20 minutes, basting several times during baking with orange juice. Top each half with hard sauce or whipped cream.

Activities of Y to be on exhibit

A program panorama day and welcome coffee have been planned by the Summit YWCA for newcomers to the area, as well as for those new to the activities of the YWCA, on Wednesday from 9:45 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

Booths showing the facets of YWCA program will surround the auditorium. Exhibits of art work, items made in tailoring, sewing, cup-making, millinery and other YWCA classes will be on display. Teachers and program participants will be available to talk with newcomers. Games on in chess and checkers programs will also be shown in displays.

For an attending the welcome coffee will also be guests at the YWCA's regular Wednesday morning Kaffeeklatsch. Speaker of the day will be Mrs. John Schoffman, who will tell why "It's Never Smart to Be Dumb." Mrs. Schoffman claims that "the willingness to learn how to communicate is effectively in a public situation is a private one, because a woman's whole life." She will offer advice and tips on how to overcome fears and gain self-confidence.

Babysitting will be available for infants 18 months and over, and dance and rhythm classes will be provided for children ages 4-12 whose mothers are attending.

Further information about the program may be had by telephoning the YWCA at 273-4242.

Summit Y club to meet

The first meeting of the new year for the Summit YWCA's International Club will be next on Thursday at 1 p.m. at the YWCA. Features of the day will be a Norwegian luncheon that will be prepared by two of the club's members, Wencke Uttmann and Synove Myrvang.

In the afternoon, girls will work off extra pounds gained at the luncheon by having a physical fitness session. Folk dancing and exercises will be part of the afternoon's activities.

The club, which meets regularly on the first and third Thursdays of each month, welcomes newcomers to the country as well as newcomers to the area to join them in varied activities such as trips to places of interest, theater-going, sports and discussions. Girls currently active in the International Club come from countries around the globe.

Further information about the club's program may be had by telephoning Mrs. John Goodall, young adult program director, at the YWCA, 273-4242.

Academy to hold cabaret program

The Hebrew Youth Academy of Essex County will sponsor a "Cabaret Night" on Saturday, Jan. 7, at 8:30 p.m. in the Berkowitz Hall of Sinai Synagogue, Hillside. Door prizes, entertainment and refreshments will be included. The entertainment will be provided by Ruth Jacobson and Chaya Freund, singers and musicians. Further information may be obtained through calling Elaine Schurman at WA 6-6143.

HOLIDAY DEADLINE
Careful adherence to this newspaper's Friday deadline for all organizational, social and other material for the issue for next Thursday, Jan. 5, is urged because of the legal holiday on Monday. All news items for the Jan. 5 issue should be submitted to this office by tomorrow.

War, birth control to occupy Pope in next year

Thursday, Dec. 29, 1966

Physicians charge car makers trying to scuttle safety act

Dr. Seymour Charles of Newark president of Physicians for Automotive Safety, this week accused the automobile industry of "a deliberate attempt to cripple the work of the National Traffic Safety Agency and its head, Dr. William Hadden Jr."

Dr. Charles called for a "resurgence of public support for a safer automobile," adding that the "auto industry's sudden hostility" toward the government's new safety program was endangering the adoption of proposed safety standards for 1968 cars.

"The recent emotional outcry of U.S. auto makers against the proposed standards is shocking, and raises serious questions about the auto industry's sincerity and real interest in responding to the auto safety problem in this country," Dr. Charles said.

Dr. Charles said "there has been a complete reversal of the uniform industry acceptance that greeted Dr. Hadden's announcement of the proposed standards just a few weeks ago."

"One auto company now tells us the proposed standards are arbitrary, unreasonable, and technically not feasible. Another says the standards might drive it out of business. It appears the companies are acting in concert in a desperate attempt to scuttle the National Traffic and Motor Vehicle Safety Act of 1966."

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Two very unrelated issues — the war in Vietnam and birth control — will command much of Pope Paul's attention in 1967.

If nothing else, the contrast between those subjects illustrates the scope of modern papal problems, and emphasizes Pope Paul's deep concern for humankind.

The Pontiff, who has dwelt heavily on the Vietnam question in recent months, made his most dramatic peace appeal, Dec. 29, by begging the two sides to extend their Christmas truce into an armistice for peace talks.

"We earnestly beg and beseech . . . that this truce become an armistice and that the armistice be the beginning of sincere negotiations that will lead to peace," he said.

The Pontiff may have an opportunity to personally discuss peace prospects soon with two vitally concerned world leaders: U.S. President Johnson and Soviet Premier Nikolai Khrushchev.

The Soviet chief of state is expected to make an official visit to Italy in January or February. If he does, it will be the first Soviet head of state to do so since the 1917 Russian revolution.

They say such a meeting undoubtedly would carry far more significance, both for the Vatican and for the Communist world, than Pope Paul's meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko last spring.

President Johnson was expected to include Italy on his announced visit to Europe next spring, and it is virtually certain he will meet with Pope Paul for a discussion on the Vietnam situation.

What and when Pope Paul will decide on the birth control question is known only to the Pontiff himself. In announcing an early for more study of the problem last October, he gave no indication how long he intended to take. But most observers believe the final decision will mean little, if any change in the traditional church ban against contraceptives.

Any endorsement of modern birth control methods, including the pill, most observers feel, would mean just the sort of departure from past teachings that Pope Paul is unlikely to take. He emphasized his adherence to tradition Dec. 19 in a speech marking the first anniversary of the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

On the anniversary occasion he numbered the four-year Council "among the greatest events of Christian history and even of the religious life of mankind," and warned against failure "to appreciate the immense richness of its instruction . . . and abundant means of renewal."

But significantly the Pope also warned against seeing the Council as a "break with tradition of doctrine and disciplines" or as permission for "novel and arbitrary interpretations of Catholic dogma."

On the central issue of the Council — the move toward Christian unity — Pope Paul can be counted on to proceed only with utmost caution. When the leader of the Eastern Orthodox Church, Archbishop Athenagoras I of Constantinople, spoke recently with enthusiasm about prospects for unity of the Eastern and Western churches, a Vatican spokesman was quick to add that many problems remained to be solved.

The same caution can be expected in any moves during 1967 toward improved relations with Communist governments. Yet the moves seem inevitable since the recent exchange of envoys between the Vatican and Yugoslavia, partly ending a 14-year rupture.

A top Vatican representative has visited Poland. Further contacts are expected with Hungary, where a 1964 Vatican accord for greater church freedom now goes largely ignored. A central problem there remains the self-imposed asylum of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty at the U.S. legation in Budapest.

Since Pope Paul was forced by Polish authorities to cancel a planned visit to Warsaw last spring, there has been intermittent speculation about future papal trips abroad, but none can be forecast with any certainty for 1967.

Vatican sources say that while the Pontiff would like to visit South America, Africa and North America, no suitable occasion has been found for the coming year. "I would like to make a hundred trips," Pope Paul told a visitor a few months ago, "but there are a hundred obstacles."

Coffee for Turnpike drivers

New Jersey Turnpike patrons can toast the New Year with a coffee break, courtesy of the Howard-Johnson restaurants on the Turnpike. For the sixth year, coffee will be served to motorists free of charge at any of the Howard-Johnson restaurants along the road, it was announced by Joseph Morecraft, Jr., Turnpike Authority chairman.

The coffee break will be in effect from 10 p.m. Saturday, to 7 a.m. Sunday.

Arrangements for the coffee break were made by Allan Bunnies, Howard-Johnson vice president in charge of Turnpike restaurants. The custom was started six years ago in the interest of safe driving. "It is one way to overcome that drowsy feeling on a holiday such as this," Morecraft said.

"Driving a mile a minute without relaxing can be dangerous," he said. "The spirit and a cup of coffee will help keep drivers alert. Sobriety will take you to your destination in safety," Morecraft concluded.

of them are pretty nutty — don't you think you can make it?"

— You'll have to do some adjusting to retirement. All the experts tell you that. Well, you're something of a professional at adjusting. In your lifetime you've adjusted to the Depression; to TVA, WPA, NRA, and that socialist scheme called Social Security; to the union, the 40-hour week, and the drastic deductions from your pay-check; to 80-mph-an-hour autos; to assaults on your religious beliefs from the Scopes Monkey Trial to Bishop Pike; to four rough wars; to Civil Rights; to Outer Space. In your generation you have adjusted to some of the most profound developments man has yet faced.

THE GOLDEN YEARS

IF YOU ARE PAST AGE 55
IT'S A TIME TO WALK TALK.

You who are past age 55 get another year "happier" with the coming of a new year. At 62 or 65 you'll have to retire, and the years seem to be speeding up. You worry. Nobody can stop your worrying because by now you have enough savvy to know the world is not waiting for you with open arms out in retirement country. Any more than it is waiting for school graduates who get that sort of pep every June.

However, there are a couple of matters you might mull over. And in mulling you may take on the new year with more faith.

Nearly 4,000 people in the U.S. are reaching age 65 every day now. That's every DAY. Very few of these are jumping off buildings or into rivers. In fact, they are rather happy, and with Social Security, Medicare, and a pension they are comfortable. If all these people are managing — and some

WARNING

Christmas Crepe Paper and New Year's Confetti Can Permanently Stain Rugs and Carpets!!

Each year after the holidays we and other professional rug cleaners receive calls to remove dye stains caused by wet Christmas paper. Unfortunately these stains are almost always indelible.

Party papers are colored with a wide range of cheap dyes. When the paper becomes wet, the dyes run badly. The dyes will transform permanently to textiles. If crepe paper and confetti get wet accidentally keep them off rugs and carpets.

Should a rug become marked with a paper stain, immediate first-aid action is necessary. Mix the teaspoonful of neutral soap detergent (such as those widely advertised for safe washing of fine fabrics) in one-half pint of lukewarm water.

Apply the detergent solution directly to the stain a few drops at a time. Use each drop. Blot the stained area with a clean, white, unstarred cloth or cleansing tissue. Do not rub vigorously. Start from outer edge of stain and work in. Repeat if necessary.

Finish by absorbing any remaining moisture with a clean, damp cloth. Complete absorption is important. Poor drying may cause a water stain. Pipe fresh unstarred towels on cleaning issues on the slightly damp area. Weight this blotter down and leave in place till the spot is thoroughly dry. Drying may be helped, too, by blowing air over the damp area with a fan, vacuum or hair dryer.

Exhibit traces development from Vermeer to abstracts

A contemporary artist of the abstract expressionist school of painting has assembled an exhibit that traces the development of his style to the influence of Vermeer.

The exhibit of paintings and drawings by H. Bernard Lipscomb III of New York City and 1038 Creger ave., Union, will be shown at the Blondelle Gallery, 115 West 55th st., New York City, from Jan. 4 through 31. Gallery hours are from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday. Lipscomb is an assistant professor in the Fine Arts Department of Newark State College, Union.

"For years I have been drawn to the mysterious light, the order, and the forms that Vermeer used," Lipscomb has said, referring to the 17th Century Dutch painter. "Much of my work begins from portions of Vermeer paintings in which the original picture has been eclipsed by form and color."

LIPSCOMB'S STUDY of Vermeer began as his thesis subject for the master's degree in painting that he received at American University, Washington, D.C., in 1961. This was followed by a year of travel in Western Europe which included additional study of Vermeer in his native Holland.

Lipscomb also holds a BA degree from Randolph Macon College, Ashland, Va., and has pursued further graduate study at New York University. He has studied art at Ecole des Beaux Arts, Paris, France; with Hans Hoffman in Provincetown, Mass.; and John Chapman Lewis in Washington, D.C.

mentary and secondary schools, as a principal at Wakefield High School, Wakefield, Va., and as a stage designer at summer stock companies in Roanoke, Va., and Provincetown. He is currently illustrating his second book for children with Harvey House Publishing Co. in New York City.

His work has been exhibited at the Corcoran Museum of Art and International Exhibition,

Washington, D.C., the Montgomery County Annual Exhibition, Rockville, Md., and the New Jersey State Cultural Center Museum, Trenton.

ALL ABOUT PEOPLE

by GENE ROSENFELD

ELGENE TIRE CO.

WHAT ARE YOU DOING NEW YEARS EVE???? That's the title to a popular, funny, and a question most of us ask each other at this time of the year. Regardless of the answer, when the celebration is over, we focus our attention to the resolutions we've made, some of which we keep, most of which we break.

Hobie Alter made his resolutions too... He wanted to be known among his circle of friends for an outstanding accomplishment... Hobie, like many sports-minded people today liked surfing... So how do you become famous, surfing? It's easy... Just do, or try to do, what Hobie did... or maybe do a little better. Hobie took his surf board, the fine day of April 30, 1964, and off the coast of Los Angeles he caught the Catalina Channel. Hobie caught a real good wave and he was off... not off the surf board, but off on a real good ride. Mile after mile he rode, two... five... ten... fifteen... twenty... twenty-five miles... and some 90 minutes later Hobie came to the end of his 26-mile ride... The longest surfboard ride in history.

All of us here at GENE TIRE, conveniently located on Milltown Road, (Between Route 22 and Morris Ave.), Opposite Facher's Groves, wishes you and all a Happy and Prosperous New Year!

Patrons requested by Christ Church to aid concert fund

Members of Christ Church Parish, Short Hills, and friends from the surrounding communities have been invited to serve as patrons for a concert by Vladimir Havsky to be given in Millburn Senior High School auditorium, Feb. 3, 1967, at 8:30 p.m. as a benefit performance for the Educational Fund.

The guild is raising scholarship funds for seminarians and has helped several young men who have made a late vocational choice of the ministry and who need aid during the years required to complete their education.

Havsky, a student of Rudolf Serkin, frequent soloist with the New Jersey and other symphony orchestras, who has served as choir master, organist and conductor of oratorio, cantata and mass performances, will play works by Beethoven, Brahms, Chopin, Debussy and Mendelssohn.

Mrs. John Schaller Jr. of Saratoga way, chairman of patrons, may be contacted before Sunday for information on concert patrons. Tickets for the concert are available through the church or by contacting any committee member.

MONEY GOES FOR MEAT

The largest part of the American food dollar goes for meat. And almost half of every dollar spent for meat goes for beef. Beef is bought by grade names. From top grade to lowest, they are: Prime, Choice, Good, Standard, Commercial, Utility, Cutter and Canner. Grades refer to the quality of the meat, tenderness and proportion of lean meat to bones and fat. They have nothing to do with nutritive value.

DON'T SKIMP ON SIZE

If you're planning to remodel your bathroom, don't skimp on the size of the lavatory bowl. A roomy one doesn't cost much more than the smaller sizes and will repay you manyfold in terms of convenience, whether you're washing your face or doing hand laundry.

Reception is held for members by Catholic Women

A reception for 18 new members and a presentation of pins to the Mount Carmel Guild were the highlights of the Christmas meeting recently of the Catholic Women's Club of Elizabeth, held at the Wyfield Scott Hotel, Elizabeth.

The new members were welcomed by the club's president, Miss Elizabeth Zielonach, who presented each newcomer with a corsage and a copy of the Year Book.

Mrs. Harry A. Hasson, guild president, announced that pins will be distributed to the blind, the deaf and the retarded children.

The Benedictine Academy Glee Club, under the direction of Sister Germaine, U.S.B., presented a selection from Benjamin Britten's "The Young Person's Guide to the Orchestra" in addition to several traditional carols.

The reception line consisted of the past presidents of the club.

Mrs. Edward J. Skapley and Mrs. Theodore W. Bauer presided at the table. Mrs. Nelson A. Cusack, club membership chairman, and Mrs. Carl A. Salimato, program chairman.

Guests at dinner

Unionite is awarded special pin for voluntary hospital services

Five thousand hours is a long time. It is 208 days or 29 weeks or nearly seven months. It is also the number of volunteer hours Mrs. Marian Gramise has spent working as a member of Memorial General Hospital's Volunteer Guild.

MISS MARIAN BRISCOE
Marian Briscoe is engaged to wed

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Briscoe of Renner ave., Union, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Marian, to John Duels, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Duels of Westfield.

Miss Briscoe, who was graduated from Union High School, is employed by Stenderize Inc., Morris Ave., Union.

Her fiance, who was graduated from Westfield High School, is employed by Alpine Metal Products, Clark.

In recognition of her service, Mrs. Gramise received a special pin during the Guild's Christmas party held last week in the Blue Shutter Inn.

The presentation was made by Col. Howell L. Hodgeskin, administrator of Memorial General, and Mrs. Ethelyn Leporeaux, who is in charge of recording volunteer's hours.

Noting that Mrs. Gramise was the first volunteer to receive a 5,000-hour pin, Col. Hodgeskin lauded her for her "extraordinary dedication and her devotion to the hospital. It is partly through the efforts of volunteers like Mrs. Gramise that we are able to provide our patients with the best in hospital care."

Mrs. James Mazzei, president of the 210-member Guild, said Mrs. Gramise has recorded most of her volunteer hours as manager of the hospital's coffee and gift shop. "Of course," she added, "she's always willing to pitch in and help anywhere she's needed."

Mrs. Gramise, who lives at 276 Forest dr., Union, near the hospital, on Galloping Hill, has been a member of the Guild since April 15, 1962, when the hospital moved to Union.

Solomon-Hermann wedding conducted

Miss Nancy B. Solomon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Solomon of Teaneck, was married Sunday to Mitchell C. Hermann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerson Hermann of Westfield.

The ceremony was performed by Rabbi Barry Schaeffer at the Ambassador in Teaneck, where a reception followed.

Both the bride and groom are seniors at Antioch College, and have attended the Guanjuato, Mexico, branch of the school.

The bride's father is an attorney at law, and her mother is an artist and art instructor at Engelwood Community Center and Hackensack Y.M.H.A. The groom's father is a graduate chemist of M.I.T., and is associated with Apex Chemical Co. His mother is a graduate of Boston University and is a student counselor at Upsilon College.

Following the marriage, the couple went to Bogota, Columbia, for a period of six months to complete a study program.

YOUR PARENTAL VETO POWER

In International affairs the veto power has been connected with the Russians' blunt uncompromising "No!" In family affairs your use of the parent veto power is not going to create popularity either.

Use your veto power as a protective device. Remember it's original purpose was to safeguard your youngsters until they could develop their own veto power, to curb rash unwise actions. Be on the alert not to use this power to stifle your youngster's initiative or stunt his developing sense of responsibility.

Your use of the veto power should be guided by your youngster's age. For example Johnny as a first grader may start deciding what coat to wear to school each day. Should he wear a raincoat or jacket? Johnny can listen to the TV or radio forecast and select his wrap. This type of decision is possible with a minimum of assistance.

When Johnny becomes a sixth grader suppose he announces he wants to quit school. This type of decision, he is still incapable of making, and seeing the long range effects. The laws step in to help you as Johnny's parents with this major decision, there is no continuing quitting school.

CANDY

BY TOM DORR

Weeder's Digest

YOUR GARDEN THIS WEEK

By Van Rutgers Garden Reporter Experience has proved what's best for the living Christmas tree you have in your living room with the hope of using it later in your landscape plan.

You're on your way toward success with this if you first select the right kind of tree (GEC) and sprayed the ball in heavy plastic film before you brought the tree indoors to place in a tub or whatever.

After Christmas, move tree, tub and all into a corner of the garage, or a sheltered location outside, suggests Tom Lacey, extension home horticulture specialist at the Rutgers College of Agriculture and Environmental Science.

The idea is to protect the little tree—by now a little mixed-up about whether it's summer or winter—from winter's wind and also winter's sun.

In late March you can plant the tree where it will stand.

All this differs from earlier recommendations, Rutgers horticulturists used to suggest having a hole ready to receive the living Christmas tree.

Dear Amy: What, or who, is a cultured person? What makes a cultured person? Are only wealthy, well educated people cultured? Also, what, or who, is a snob?

Dear Curious: A cultured person is one who is well read, well spoken, interested in the world around him, the arts, music and the sciences. One who dresses appropriately and who is a gentleman or lady at all times. He need not be wealthy, but rather be kind, genteel and considerate.

A snob, on the other hand, detests mingling with his inferiors even though he hasn't any!

FESTIVE FANCIES

Serve warm beverages during the holidays, especially when chill, frost or sharp winds tend to cool festive spirits. Hot chocolate with a fluff of whipped cream topped with crushed red peppermint candy is a good choice.

Spiced apple cider is another good cool weather beverage, served with cinnamon stick stirrers in holiday mugs.

Fruit kabobs of alternating slices of red cinnamon apples and dried green pears are lovely to serve around meat or poultry.

A NEW YEAR'S EVE SAFETY MESSAGE

OK PAL!
THE NEXT ONE'S ON ME

The grim spectre isn't kidding. That "one for the road" may well take you into eternity. Holidays and weekends are the times of greatest danger...the highest casualty lists. More drivers are on the road in more of a hurry, traffic is congested, driving strain increases. Add to this potion the drinking driver...and the mixture is DEADLY!

Cub Scouts learn different customs

"Christmas Everywhere" was the theme of the December meeting of Cub Pack 177 held recently at Community Presbyterian Church, Mountainside. Mrs. John Keenan, den mother, was in charge of the program which members from each den displayed Christmas customs of foreign lands. John Keenan read a resume about the various customs of the foreign lands as the children exhibited them. The cubs also took part in a gift-giving program in which each Cub made an ornament to decorate the Christmas tree and brought a gift which was donated to Queen of Angels Church, located in one of the most economically depressed areas in Newark. Santa Claus, portrayed by Rollin Schiefelbusch, presented gift to all cubs and candy canes to the small children. Awards were presented to various cubs by Cubmaster Gordon Batten. Refreshments were served. The pack will meet Jan. 27. The theme will be "Athletics Inc."

Witnesses preparing to feed 1,800 at weekend assembly

This is the season to have guests for dinner, but how would you like 1,800 for the entire weekend? This is the problem ahead for John B. Dufner of Metuchen and shared by Felice Episcopo, presiding minister of the Springfield Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses scheduled for Jan. 6-8 at Plainfield High School.
Dufner, who is in charge of cafeteria arrangements and food preparation, is looking for volunteer manpower from the 20 congregations invited. The Springfield Congregation has just received a call for help, not only from Dufner but from 21 other departments with smaller yet similar problems. These include sound, installation, trucking, signs and so forth. Many area residents are answering the call, according to Episcopo.
For the past month, Dufner has been working out menus which would be easy to prepare during the three days of the assembly, and yet appeal to the cosmopolitan tastes of the delegates. His shopping list contains such items as 250 lbs. of potatoes, 10 crates of lettuce and large quantities of various other vegetable and basic food items. Based on prior experience, Dufner anticipates needing some 56 persons to help, and they will be able to serve the meals at the rate of 50 per minute for an average cost-basis of 65¢ per meal.
In addition to those working, there are many from the neighboring congregations who will be on the program itself, either in demonstrations or giving lectures.
Because of volunteer help, Jehovah's Witnesses do everything at "minimum cost. No admission fees or collections are taken during their gatherings, and, as Episcopo pointed out, "no one is ever held back from attending because of not being able to afford it."
Episcopo stated that all sessions are open to the general public and that the invitation to attend includes sharing of meals, if they wish, as well as listening to the Bible discourses, films and demonstrations designed to stimulate and encourage daily Bible study. Special film showings dealing with Bible topics will be the high point of the Friday and Saturday evening programs, followed on Sunday by the 3 p.m. lecture, "Satisfying Mankind's Greatest Need."

Outlook on African continent clouded by maze of problems

By GERRY LOUGHRAN
LONDON (UPI) -- The common Swahili greeting "Hujambo!" and its reply, "Si Jambo!" translates roughly as "What news?" "No news." In other words, no news is good news, a significant pointer to Africa's past.
But 1966 has provided a welter of news out of Black Africa -- precious little of it good -- and the continent will enter 1967 with less cause for optimism than perhaps in any previous year.
Wracked by eight coups or attempts in 11 months -- double the average for the past three years; oppressed by savage economic difficulties; bedeviled by corruption, nepotism and inefficiency; squeezed in the East-West political war; and above all enraged at the continuing existence of white rule, particularly in southern Africa, the newly independent black states find little light on the new year horizon.
Most thinking politicians realize that to an extent their problems are inevitable. Political instability is likely to be endemic in the new sub-Saharan nations -- catapulted abruptly out of tribal stagnation society into the 20th century -- for a decade or more.
In so swift an emergence as Africa has experienced since World War II, a constant ferment of revision is not surprising in the less sophisticated countries. Governments, presidents and regimes are tried, found wanting and discarded in an avid search that springs more from bleak necessity than ideology.
So the despoising this year of presidents in the Central African Republic and Upper Volta, the ousting of kings in Burundi and the upheavals in Togo were not unexpected.
The overthrow in Ghana of Kwame Nkrumah, perhaps Africa's first modern tyrant, pointed to the determination of Africans like any other men to fight despotism and seek their basic rights.
It was in Nigeria, however, that Africa suffered its most hideous wound this year. "If Nigeria falls, then so does Africa" is a common phrase on politicians' lips and it's easy to see why.
Biggest of the African Independent states, most populous, richest, most sophisticated and one of the first to achieve sovereignty, Nigeria has long been in the vanguard of African progress.
But the savage, self-inflicted wounds it received this year in the form of two coups in which many of its most able leaders were slain, testified to the ferment that continued to boil under a relatively placid surface.
Bloody rioting between northern Hausas and eastern Ibos; suspicion between regions, tore the federation apart to underline again that tribalism is the root cause for much of modern Africa's discontent.
At the present time a chastened and largely subdued Nigeria, shocked at the realization of its own capacity for violence, is trying desperately under the leadership of the young (31) and able Lt. Col. Yakubu Gowon to make amends and find the key that will unlock a brighter future.
That this lies in some form of federation seems to go without saying. As its former British master knew, the country is too big, too diffuse, too diverse in character to be anything else.
If Gowon and the Nigerians do find a modus vivendi under which proud and arrogant Moslem northerners can eventually walk at peace with their brazen, volatile Ibo neighbors, then Africa will owe the country a debt it would be difficult to present to assess.
It's going to be a hard, long fight. Particularly a long one.
Even if some benevolent tribal god decreed the millennium tomorrow, though, and all of Black Africa lived at peace, there would be no rest for the new nations in the face of the continued existence of South Africa and Rhodesia.
The pragmatists -- like Malawi President Hastings Banda -- urge a course of co-existence with the white giants, and geographical accident forces the newly-independent Lesotho (formerly Basutoland) and to a large extent Botswana (formerly Bechuanaland) into a similar position.
But for most of Black Africa, South Africa with its apartheid laws, and Rhodesia, a new and unexpected enemy. Combining in a problem whose emotive overtones are heightened by the realization that there is practically nothing they can do about it.

State bankers unit to receive reports on credit card field

Reports outlining the experience of the banking industry in the field of charge cards or credit cards will highlight the New Jersey Bankers Association's 16th Consumer Credit Conference at the Berkeley-Carter Hotel in Asbury Park on Feb. 7-8, it was announced by Nathaniel J. Clute, chairman of the NJBA Consumer Credit Committee and vice president of the National Newark and Essex Bank, Bloomfield.

The conference will also include a workshop session at which a number of consumer credit problems will be examined.

Presenting the pros and cons of charge or credit cards will be James R. Hamblen, associate editor, "American Banker," a daily banking newspaper. Charles T. Russell, vice president, Pittsburgh National Bank, will give an account of the experience of his bank in launching a credit card plan. Both speakers will appear during the morning session on Tuesday, Feb. 7.

The afternoon program Tuesday morning will be a Mitchell Graybard, director of personnel and training, Smith, Barney and Company, Inc., New York, N.Y.

Alexander T. Smith, senior vice president, Peoples Trust Company of Bergen County, Hackensack, will lead off the afternoon session with a discussion of data processing applications to installment lending. The workshop will include William R. Farmer, assistant treasurer, Fidelity Union Trust Company, Newark; Conrad C. Legare, vice president, First National Bank of Passaic County, Totowa; Frederick J. Wennemer, vice president, Boardwalk National Bank, Atlantic City, and Israel Spitzer, counsel, New Jersey Bankers Association, Newark.

Highlight of a banquet on Tuesday evening will be an address by Julius C. Bernstein, principal, Livingston High School.

Ernest E. Blanchette, manager, Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Company, Newark, will open the meeting on Jan. 4. John A. Schauer, executive vice president, and Paul L. Armstrong,

The spirits of merry old London

In 1750, one house in five was a gin shop

It's probably not in the spirit of the season to point an accusing finger at the drink-ness of our English forebears.

But with New Year fast approaching, modern imbibers may take some comfort in knowing how moderate are their drinking habits compared to the drinking exploits of 18th century England.

The new issue of the Rutgers Quarterly Journal of Studies on Alcohol contains a revealing, if less than tactful, footnote to English history. You may not have learned it from your school books, but there was a period between 1700 and 1750 when enormous excesses of gin drinking actually caused London's population to decline.

Englishmen, particularly the poor of London, drank over 11,000,000 gallons of gin in 1750. It was a time when gin given to infants was largely blamed for the fact that 75 percent of all children christened were buried before the age of five, and when, in parts of London, one house in five was a gin shop.

Two million gallons. Most influential in forcing temperance action were the drawings of William Hogarth and the writings of Henry Fielding, both of which portrayed the appalling social conditions by drinking excessively.

"Such denunciations of gin were not prepared in a spirit of temperance reform; drunkenness was hardly considered a vice in 18th century England. They had a more practical origin in the concern over the decline of London's population," Coffey, who is British, says.

The extent of the social problem which existed can be seen in the fact that in 1740-1742 the parish records in London show twice as many burials as baptisms, despite the fact that the death rate in the rest of England was falling. Contemporary writers blamed London's plight on the excess of gin drinking.

In 1738 new regulations to control dealers of spirits had been made, but public opinion was against them and they were not enforced.

"The regulations caused the dealers an inconvenience which the lawbreaker was to be pitied, rolled in the mud and thrown into the Thames."

Beer was passionately defended by social reformers, clergymen—(even John Wesley) and politicians, against first gin, and later, tea and coffee.

"There were different class distinctions, he points out, in the choice of alcoholic beverages.

"Drunkenness was the acknowledged vice of the English of all classes, although women, except the poor, were rarely accused of it. While the poor drank gin, among working people beer reigned supreme, and the upper classes got drunk on wine and brandy," he reports.

Among the prominent men who were famous for their hard drinking, Coffey mentions three prime ministers, Lord Bolingbroke, John Carteret and Sir Robert Walpole, and poet and essayist John Addison.

The passage of the Gin Act in 1751, Coffey says, succeeded in changing the whole character of London, and by 1806 a Yale professor, Benjamin Silliman, could report that "the common people of England drink but little ardent spirits, because its excessive use was placed beyond their reach; in the country the effects are dreadful because every man can procure it."

The historical study in the Rutgers Journal of Studies on Alcohol is accompanied by five of the sketches by William Hogarth which eventually in 1751, led to change in public opinion and to effective governmental controls over the sale of liquor.

The journal is published four times each year by the Rutgers Center of Alcohol Studies.

ALONG GIN LANE—Satirist William Hogarth engraved a series of "moral lessons" about 1750. Including this sketch titled "Gin Lane." The winter issue of the Rutgers Journal of Studies on Alcohol contains an historical article on 18th century English drinking which credits this sketch with helping lead to a reform of English drinking practices.

THE ARTICLE BY T. J. Coffey, managing editor of the Quarterly Journal, stems from the publication's continuing interest in the use of alcohol in other cultures and times. It paints a vivid portrait of an era during which remarkably "many of the most prominent peers, statesmen, politicians and literary men were famous for their hard drinking."

In 1751 the British government instituted strict controls over the retailing of gin, in response to widespread public petitions and in a few years England's annual consumption fell from 11 million to less than one million gallons.

The article also notes that the considered loss of the virtues of the English, the quantity of beer drunk was prodigious.

"In 1722," Coffey says, "six million barrels were drunk by a population of a little over six million, making a per capita annual consumption of about 30 imperial gallons."

ONE GIN MIXTURE, called Old Tom, was sold in what was perhaps the first computerized vending machine.

"Pedestrians were invited to put money into the mouth of a metal car tumbled to a window sill, whirled 'Puss! Give me 2d worth of gin,' and two penny worth would pour down a tube," the Rutgers Journal reports.

The article also notes that the considered loss of the virtues of the English, the quantity of beer drunk was prodigious.

"In 1722," Coffey says, "six million barrels were drunk by a population of a little over six million, making a per capita annual consumption of about 30 imperial gallons."

Education foundations a rich man's institution

WASHINGTON (UPI) -- On September 14, 1638, John Harvard, the descendant of a family of London butchers, died of consumption in Charleston in what was then the Massachusetts-Bay Colony. He left half of his estate of 770 English pounds, 17 shillings and two pence to a small colonial college that had been founded in 1636 at Newtowne; later Cambridge. The college gratefully accepted the money and adopted the name of its benefactor. Thus, the role of philanthropy as the mainstay of American higher education began.

Regional basketball team to play at Roselle tomorrow

Miss Pfeifer rolls 195 game to lead action in girls' league

The Strikers increased their lead in the Tuesday Afternoon Girls' Bowling League with a top-notch team effort last week. The Striders have now lengthened their league-leading margin to a full two games. Another highlight of bowling last Tuesday was the continued sensational bowling of Donna Pfeifer. Donna joined the Strikers' team just two weeks ago and has set the league afire. Last week Donna rolled a 352 series by posting games of 157 and 195. Donna is now rolling with a 168 average for four games.

The Strikers increased their league lead last week by sweeping a two-game series from the Bowling Anchovies. Lisa Brown paced the Strikers' double victory by posting a 217 series; Darlene Packer was high for the Anchovies with a 187 series.

The Alley Cats continued in a three-way tie for second place as they split a pair of games with the Wildcats. Diane Ogonowsky paced the Cats by rolling a very high 273 series. Bonnie Raskin and Karen Lubert also rolled well for the Alley Cats. Bonnie rolled a 224 series, while Karen posted a 215 total for the two games. Barbara Banner was the top bowler for the Wildcats. Barbara scored 246 for the two games. Dawn Zarrell was also effective for the Wildcats with a 203 series total.

The final match of the day saw the Chargers and the Chiefs split a pair of games. Neil Elliot of the Chargers rolled the highest series of the day on all alleys, as he posted a 307 total. Mark Berkowitz of the Chargers also rolled well in gaining a 269 total for the two games. Gary Neifeld led the Chiefs by scoring a 266 series total for the two games.

Stuart Liebeskind continues to pace all bowlers in the Friday League. Stuart is rolling at a 136 pace for the season. Roy Greenberg holds second place over Jeff Slatter. Both boys are rolling at a 131 pace, but Roy gets the nod by pin fractions.

Fourth place belongs to Gary Neifeld with a 129 mark, while Scott Prussing is fifth with an average of 126. The other boys among the top 10 in the Friday League are: Mark Berkowitz, 123; Neil Elliot, 123; Howie Levine, 122; Steve Harris, 121; and Mylos Harrison, 118.

tant second, while Ellen Alexy with a 106 average is in third place. Virginia Vogt is at 104 and is in fourth place. The fifth place bowler is Lisa Brown, who is maintaining a 103 season mark. The remaining girls among the top 10 are: Linda Mutacchier, 101; Eileen Francis, 98; Karen Lubert, 98; Barbara Owens, 96; and Debbie Graveman, 96.

One-game margin for Tiger bowlers in Friday League

The Tigers held their slim one-game in the Friday Afternoon Boys' Bowling League at the conclusion of bowling last week. This was bumper day in league play, and there were few changes to be noted as the bowlers left the lanes. The boys will now take a holiday recess and return to action next Friday at the Springfield Bowl. The league is sponsored by the Recreation Department.

The Tigers and the second-place Hawks split their very important match last week. The Hawks are still a game away from the league leaders. A brother combination paced the Tiger bowling last week and enabled their squad to remain in first place. Mike Levine rolled a 267 series to pace all bowlers, and Howie Levine helped the cause with a 257 series. Steve Harris also rolled well for the Tigers, as he posted a 254 score for two games. Tommy Lowy, with an identical 254 total topped the scoring column for the Hawks.

The Falcons vaulted past the Warriors and into a second-place tie with the Hawks as they tripped the Warriors twice last week. Robert Goodman paced the Falcons with a 270 series. Stuart Liebeskind also aided in the Falcons' sweep as he rolled a 262 series. Roy Greenberg was the top scorer for the Warriors with a 270 two-game total. This tied Bob Goodman for scoring honors for the match.

The Rangers and the Royals split a pair of games in another match last Friday. Scott Prussing of the Rangers paced both squads with a 238 total for the two games. Denny Schuman was also effective for the Rangers with a 203 series. Bruce Cohen topped the Royals with a series effort of 198.

The final match of the day saw the Chargers and the Chiefs split a pair of games. Neil Elliot of the Chargers rolled the highest series of the day on all alleys, as he posted a 307 total. Mark Berkowitz of the Chargers also rolled well in gaining a 269 total for the two games. Gary Neifeld led the Chiefs by scoring a 266 series total for the two games.

Stuart Liebeskind continues to pace all bowlers in the Friday League. Stuart is rolling at a 136 pace for the season. Roy Greenberg holds second place over Jeff Slatter. Both boys are rolling at a 131 pace, but Roy gets the nod by pin fractions.

Fourth place belongs to Gary Neifeld with a 129 mark, while Scott Prussing is fifth with an average of 126. The other boys among the top 10 in the Friday League are: Mark Berkowitz, 123; Neil Elliot, 123; Howie Levine, 122; Steve Harris, 121; and Mylos Harrison, 118.

TOWER OF STRENGTH -- Mike Lester has been the leader in both scoring and rebounding this season for the basketball team at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School.

4-game lead for Hurricanes in Thursday league for boys

The Hurricanes managed to hold their commanding four-game lead in the Boys' Thursday Afternoon Bowling League at the conclusion of play last week. The boys now take a week off for the holiday recess and return to action the Thursday following the New Year. The boys roll at the Springfield Bowl in a league sponsored by the Recreation Department.

In bumper week activity last Thursday, the Hurricanes managed a split with the Rockets, their closest challengers. The two-game series saw top clutch bowling on both sides. Mitch Wolf of the Rockets paced all bowlers in this match with a 288 total for the two games. Todd Herman of the Hurricanes led his team with a 285 series. Romie Silverman of the Hurricanes rolled well with a 258 series, while Bobby Nangle of the Rockets tumbled the pins for a 231 total for two games.

The Jets, who are also in second place behind the league leaders, could gain ground last week as they split with the high-scoring Atoms. Billy Schwab led the Jets with a 286 total for the two games. Steve Glover was also effective as he rolled a 246 series. Jay Silverman of the Atoms paced both squads with a top series effort of 301. The Atoms are the highest scoring team in the eight-team circuit. Alan Schlanger rolled well for the Atoms. Alan hit 253 for two games.

The Bullets and the Raiders kept pace as they split a pair of games. Gregg Spector paced the Bullets with a 246 series. Mike Denner of the Raiders topped all bowlers for the day, as he rolled a 310 series. This effort boosted Mike into the high average spot.

The final match of the day produced a sweep of two games by the Hornets over the Bombers. Ira Shulman with a 238 series paced the Hornets. Robert Goldman was the top scorer for the Bombers, as he rolled a 253 total for the two games.

Mike Denner's top effort of last week caused him to vault two positions into first place for the league's high average award. Mike is now rolling at a 142 pace for the season. Jay Silverman is a close second with a 141 season average.

Craig Nowinski, who was the league leader for three weeks, fell to third place last week. Craig is maintaining a 138 season average. Mitch Wolf is a fraction back with a 138 average, while fifth place belongs to Todd Herman with a 137 average. The other boys among the top 10 are: Billy Schwab, 134; Steve Gray, 133; Marc Hollander, 132; Robert Goldman, 128; and Alan Schlanger, 128.

Bulldogs set for game at Hillside this Tuesday

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School basketball team will visit a top-notch opponent at Abraham Clark High School of Roselle tomorrow at 8. The Bulldogs will also travel to Hillside High School Tuesday afternoon at 3:30. As noted here last week, Dayton edged Westfield High School, traditionally a Watchung Conference power, 69-66. Springfield was at its best that day, and if the Bulldogs can continue to play as they did in the fourth quarter of that contest, they are certainly conference contenders.

The starting five consisted of Mike Lester, Gary Kurtz, Joe Buccell, Brian Sheehan and Steve Hirschorn. From the start Dayton took the initiative, perhaps a little too much, since the team often found itself in a hole. But Hirschorn's moves, Sheehan's defense and Lester's bounding, and the better shooting, especially by Kurtz and Buccell, made up for first-quarter jitters. Most important of all, the Dayton defense looked much cleaner. There were fewer fouls, but the defense was just as effective as it had been.

The Bulldogs also controlled the boards despite a great Blue Devil advantage in height, probably the game's deciding factor. In addition, Dayton gained a lot of momentum in passing and showed a greater variety of plays. Westfield, on the other hand, had better shots and more composure. They lost both as the game progressed.

It was a neck-and-neck affair as Dayton edged the Blue Devils by two, 46-44, in the opening quarter. But the difference between the squads broadened as Mike Lester sank 13 for 15 from the foul-line. Kurtz was invaluable as a play-maker. Dayton led by as much as 11, when Westfield exploded back, narrowing the lead to five. The Blue Devils were erratic, but posted a formidable thrust throughout the contest. Sheehan led a final Bulldogs push that placed Springfield ahead at the half, 36-29.

Dayton moved fast in the opening seconds of the third quarter, with Buccell and Sheehan each sinking a goal. But overall there was a big let-down in the Bulldogs play. Westfield dominated the boards, controlled the ball, and scored for the best shot and rarely missed it. For one quarter the Blue Devils looked like their reputation. The Dayton lead was shaved to two, where it stayed despite superb moves and plays by Lester, Buccell, and Kurtz.

Merely edging Westfield, 48-46, Dayton morale seemed to sag in the fourth quarter's opening seconds. Westfield tied at 48 apiece, and then they took the lead. Dayton truly sparked in the final superior event to the performance in the opener against Clark. Hirschorn was the first Bulldog to score, recording three points on a goal and foul shot. Lester, who had been drawing fouls and converting them into points all game, sank another two, followed them up with a deft steal and last break for a lead of five. Buccell lent his assistance, and the Dayton stranglehold was on. Westfield made many errors, but now they were really out of control. Kurtz drove hard over an Ivy defender, and Buccell displayed a fine eye. Altogether, the Bulldogs ran the opposition down with never-ending fast breaks. The result became final when Buccell sank all three foul shots on three consecutive technical fouls. Final score: 69-66.

This week promises to be one of the toughest facing Dayton all season. Roselle is considered as one of the best teams in the area. The Bulldogs look to be underdogs, but not by much, considering the way they looked against Westfield.

Hillside, recently the weak sister of the Watchung Conference, is one of the foremost contenders for the championship this season. The league will serve as a true test of Dayton's conference chances. Roselle is not in the Watchung Conference this year, having changed to the Garden State Conference.

In other action last week, the champion Dayton team met the alumni of Springfield squads of the past and beat them, 81-70. Jack Aggar and Bill and Mike Kretzsch coached for the alumni, and each former luminaries as Frank Miccillo, Alan Greenberg, Cliff Torry, Jimmy Lee, Kerry Tompkins, Dave Drajkin, Robert Ries, Keith Neigel and Ron Bousgaard competed.

D'Andrea remains in league's top spot

D'Andrea Driveways won two games to maintain its lead last week as the Springfield Municipal Bowling League prepared to suspend competition at Springfield Bowl for two weeks because of the holidays. D'Andrea has a record of 34.5-16.5, followed by Springfield Market, 30-21, and Polcarpio Bros. and Bunnell Bros., tied for third at 26-25.

High scorers included Adam Wans, 227-594; Otto Burkhardt, 203-200-581; Robert Jones, 224; Roy Schramm, 221; Ronnie DeSantis, 217; William Smith, 207; Robert Anderson, 202; Frank Katz, 203; Ed Cardini, 202; and Joseph Alcorn, 200.

Table tennis teams split in league play

Both Springfield teams broke even in competition last week at the N.J. Table Tennis Club in Irvington. The local competitors split with Prudential, 5-5, in the B-Division, and with Kearny, 5-5, in the A-Division. Nat Stokes of Springfield suffered his first loss of the season in the hands of Prudential's undefeated Bill Cross.

The Springfield A team is in sixth place in the A-Division with a record of 24-26. Union and Prudential are tied for first place at 33-17. In the B-Division, Springfield holds the lead with a record of 47-23, enjoying an eight-game margin over Manwood and Highland Park. There are 10 teams in the A-Division and 11 in the B-Division.

Baroff above 600 in temple's bowling

Oscar Baroff led all scorers with 233-205-603 in Temple Beth Ahm, Springfield, bowling competition this week at 114-Way Hotel, Livingston. The Dan Rosenthal team former league leaders, dropped all three games and yielded the top spot to the Ed Kurtz team. The Kurtz team has a point total of 61, followed by Rosenthal, 59; Nat Kearny, 50; George Wildom, 55; and Baroff, Marvin Gold, Lenny Niskan and Ed Stalman, all at 53.

Other top bowlers included Hal Liebeskind, 238; Jack Wolner, 219; Larry Goodman, 210; Abby Weinberg, 218; Lenny Scroff, 212; George Widom, 223; Jerry Tiele, 200; and Lloyd Roslin, 204.

UJC's a sophomore in Paris

Union Junior College, Cranford, and the American College in Paris, France, have concluded an agreement whereby elected Union Junior College sophomores will attend the American College in Paris under the new "Sophomore Year in Europe" program of the American College.

President of the American College in Paris, Dr. Del Amater, said that the program, completed in Paris, will be accepted by Union Junior College and these students will then receive their associate in arts degree from Union Junior College. This agreement was announced this week by Dr. Kenneth Mackay, president of Union Junior College, and Dr. Del Amater. Dr. Mackay added that the agreement will go into effect in September, 1967.

Sophomores have already gone to the American College from such four-year American colleges as Barnard, Brown, DePaul, Mills, Skidmore and the University of California and after one year in Paris have returned to their home college to complete studies toward their bachelor's degree. Dr. Del Amater added that similar arrangements are being worked out with other highly-reputed, accredited liberal arts colleges in the United States. Charles P. Dard, registrar of Columbia University, is assisting in the American College's admission of candidates to the "Sophomore Year in Europe" program.

"Some of the difficulties in international education are of the opinion that one year's study abroad is not sufficient to give a student a better preparation at the sophomore than at the junior level," Dr. Del Amater said. "Many American colleges and universities have established year abroad programs at various European universities. Since these universities do not accept American students until they have junior standing, the programs had to be established at the junior-year level, seriously restricting the number of students eligible to participate."

Among the difficulties encountered with the junior-year abroad program is the fact that most candidates for American baccalaureate degrees normally begin specialized study in their majors during their junior year, Dr. Del Amater pointed out.

"In areas other than language and literature, it is extremely difficult to find the equivalence of American college courses at the European university," Dr. Del Amater said. "Moreover, few American students are sufficiently fluent in the foreign language to reap full benefit from what are in reality graduate or professional-level school courses. Non-language majors who come to Europe in sponsored programs or as independent students find that upon return to their colleges in the United States the senior year largely provides sufficient time and scope to complete a full major."

Dr. Del Amater said his institution, from French Department and the Summer Session in intensive French would be of particular interest to future students in this area.

The American College in Paris, the first American institution of higher learning established in Europe, is now in its fifth year. It provides the first two years of a standard liberal arts curriculum offered by American colleges and universities, and transfers its graduates to colleges and universities throughout the United States.

Union Junior College is a two-year community college of the academic discipline. It offers courses in liberal arts, engineering, science and business administration. In its 33-year history, Union Junior College has transferred 85 percent of its graduates to more than 400 four-year colleges and universities.

Parents' program to start at hospital

The winter series of classes for expectant parents in the Elizabeth General Hospital will start Monday, Jan. 9. Classes will consist of six sessions on preparation for parenthood, entitled "Pregnancy: The Joyful Journey of Physical and Emotional Preparation of the Mother and Father for the Birth of the Child." Physical and emotional needs of the newborn child, the role of the mother and father, and "Instruction in controlled breathing and relaxation during labor."

The classes will be given in the evening so that husbands and wives can attend. Expectant parents are welcome regardless of the hospital they may choose for the delivery of the baby. A prenatal nurse with special training in parent education will conduct the course.

Classes will be held in the Nursing Students Residence, 133 Regt. St., Elizabeth, a nominal fee is charged for registration and additional information. The Nursing Service Office, Elizabeth General Hospital, 292, 8600, may be called a spokesman said.

Institute's budget adopted last week by county board

The 1967 budget for the Union County Technical Institute, Mount Airy, reported an increase of almost 25 percent over this year. The $488,500 budget was adopted last week by the Union County Vocational Board of Education and presented to the Board of Education. Estimates in Elizabeth for a four-day night. The Board of Education will act on the budget after "final" organizational meeting of the Board of Education.

General expenses accounted for the largest item, up $51,585 from this year's figure of $270,465. Dr. Carl J. Baxel, superintendent of the institute, said increases in personnel charges, including new positions, and program charges, are responsible for the rise in this item.

The increase in the proposed budget, which is $90,000 higher than the present budget, was also attributed to capital equipment, $81,400, compared to $40,000 this year. An annual evening dinner, $15,000, was also included in the year.

The capital equipment figure allocates funds to purchase instruments for the institute's new building; the purchase is used now to offset rising costs. Dr. Baxel indicated that the county's share of the budget is $282,000, up $50,000 from last year. Federal aid is budgeted at $67,000, up from $38,500 and state aid at $30,000, up from $20,000.

The institute also maintains facilities in Scotch Plains and Union. David Leichter, distributor of Newark, distributor of household, appliances and seasonal supplies, will move into a new modern warehouse on Milltown Rd., Union, on Jan. 15, according to the president, David Leichter of West Orange.

Robbins Construction Co. of Union is the builder. The new building will have 48,000 square feet of warehouse and new modern offices. Leichter Distributors offices are Al-beer Leichter of Livingston vice president, and Samuel Greenfield of Springfield, sales manager.

Freeholders organize

The reorganization meeting of the Union County Board of Freeholders has been scheduled for Monday, Jan. 2, at 10:00 a.m. in the Court House, Elizabeth. Freeholders Harry V. Osborne Jr. of Cranford, Edward H. Tiller of Cranford and Walter L. Ulrich of Rahway will be sworn in prior to the meeting. The three Republicans were re-elected to three-year terms last month.

Space expert sees hope for our Earth

By RUTH LEUERSTEIN
St. LOUIS (UPI) — A space expert says there is hope for planetary life.

"The planet he is talking about is Earth and the life is human," Dr. C. Stark Draper, head of the Department of Aeronautics and Astronautics at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, disagreed with predictions that man will blow himself and the whole planet to smithereens.

"There is hope for the future life on our planet," Draper said in a recent interview here. "But it depends upon the continued advances of technology."

Draper, here after attending a family celebration, the 150th anniversary of the Stark Apple Nursery, at Louisiana, Mo., said he also disagrees with predictions that the human race will run out of food.

"The earth is like a huge space ship with a given supply of resources to sustain life," Draper said. As president of the International Academy of Astronautics, Draper knows something about space ships.

"When we get excited that are too big we get atmospheric pollution, we get water pollution for human wastes and industrial wastes and so we have on earth the same problem they have in the space ships, except the space ship is more concentrated and the space ship forces you to solve the problem," he said.

"We will have to generate a system that takes human wastes and processes them to produce food in a continuous cycle of collecting, purifying, processing, and reusing," Draper said. "I am working towards this 'compromise' with our environment, countries—applying to significant rules of leadership must work towards a balance in technology, economic power and military strength that matches
