New ordinance to bring changes in zoning

Tourney parking set for town land

The township will rent the Fadam-Farm property, at the corner of Mountain avenue and Stumpike road, to a local non-profit organization to use for parking during the National Open Golf tournament here June 12 to 18, Mayor Arthur M. Falkin announced at the Township Committee meeting Tuesday evening in the Municipal Building.

He declared that the township will take sealed bids from qualified groups June 4, with the intention of letting the high bidder use the property as a source of income during the golf tourney, when crowds are expected to reach 20,000 per day.

Baltusrol Golf Club, site of the tournament, has designated a parking area on its upper course, with access from the end of Hillside avenue.

The mayor set a minimum fee of $25 for use of the Fadam Farm property during the golf competition. The land has been approved by the Township Committee for use as a park, but work on that project has not yet started.

Show of works by town artists set for June 11

Finishing touches for the township's third annual art show and sale, to be held on Sunday, June 11, from 1 to 5 p.m. on the Town Mall in front of the Municipal Building, are now being completed by the sponsoring group, the Springfield Association of the Creative Arts. In case of rain, the event will be held the following Sunday.

The show will feature works in such media as water colors, oils, pastels, graphics and sculpture, done by professional and amateur artists living in Springfield.

A separate section, at the Springfield Recreation House across the street from the Mall, will be devoted to the works of junior artists, in grades one to five.

Mayor Arthur M. Falkin will present awards to prize-winners and those receiving honorable mention at 3 p.m. the day of the show. Mrs. Martin Novich, SACA co-chairman, is chairman for the day, with Erwin May as co-chairman.

Each exhibitor will be allowed up to three items, and there is no limit on the size of the entries. The entry fee is $1 for each adult and 50 cents for each child. All pictures must be framed and wired for hanging. Entries must be brought to the American Legion Post Home, opposite the Mall, between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. on Saturday, June 10. Entry blanks will soon be available at places throughout the township.

The Legion home will be the scene of a "Patrons' Night" program that Saturday from 6 to 8, with Mrs. Leslie Rosenbaum as chairman. Patrons will receive a preview of the art show, and refreshments will be served. A SACA spokesman urged everyone interested in becoming a patron to call Mrs. Rosenbaum at 379-5039, since invitations are now being sent.

Supper to feature picture explaining exchange program

The documentary film, "The American Field Service Story," will be shown at the "International Supper," to be sponsored by the Springfield Chapter of American Field Service Wednesday at 6 p.m. in the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School cafeteria. The film explains the process of bringing a foreign student to the United States, from the time he applies until he reaches this country. Several foreign students have been invited to attend the supper, and they will discuss their year in the U.S.

Proceeds from the "International Supper" will be used to bring another foreign student to Springfield next year. Two local families have applied to the American Field Service Committee to sponsor a student in their homes. The applications are being processed in New York, and one family will be selected.

The supper will feature foreign foods and hot dishes prepared by members of the American Field Service, and the Jonathan Dayton Parent-Teachers Association. Tickets may be purchased from Mrs. Benjamin Josephson, DR 6-0410.

Students were especially invited to attend the supper with their parents. In addition, church and synagogue youth groups have also been urged to attend the "International Supper," Mrs. Leonard Waldt is chairman.

A MINOR CONTROVERSY within the governing body arose during the public discussion portion of the evening, when Mrs. Gertrude Sala of 468 Morris ave. spoke to protest several phases of the operation of the office building at the corner of Morris and Molter avenues. She stated that the air conditioners at the rear of the building had not been equipped with baffles to reduce noise, as called for in the original variance for construction of the building.

Mrs. Sala also commented that four new offices had been constructed in the basement of the building, putting the total of parking spaces in the lot behind the building below the number required for the new amount of office space.

Committee member Jay B. Bloom, lone Democrat on the governing body, recalled that he had opposed the original plans for the parking area on the grounds that the parking facilities would be inadequate if offices were ever added in the basement.

Both he and Committee member Robert G. Planer called for a full investigation of the situation. Mayor Falkin replied that he would have Building Inspector Otto Pessler, who is zoning enforcement officer, look into all possible violations, concerning both the air conditioning equipment and the parking area.

IN OTHER BUSINESS, the Township Committee voted final approval for expenditure of $9,000 on improvements at the municipal swimming pool. John J. Brennan was appointed as a new member of the Volunteer Fire Department.

New street lights were approved for Gregory road and Ronald terrace, new streets near Briar Hills circle, and for Archbridge lane. The committee voted approval of preliminary plans for a five-house development at the corner of Meisel and Linden avenues.

On the motion of Committee member Robert D. Hardgrove, they acted to rescind 1964 authorization of a road to run from Parking Lot No. 2, opposite Caldwell place, to Main street. Lack of cooperation from property owners appears to have doomed any plans for the road.

Hardgrove also received approval to invest $60,000 in township funds in short-term government bonds, at an interest rate of 4.50 percent.

On a motion by Bloom, the committee granted permission to the borough of Mountainside for several of its residents to tie into a Springfield sewer line along S. Springfield avenue, south of Rt. 22. Bloom noted that the new customers will pay for use of the sewer at the same gallonage rate as several other Mountainside residents already using the facility.

State band concert at Dayton Regional

The 50-piece band of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield will present its annual concert, "Opus 67," under the direction of Anthony F. Armento in Halsey Hall at 8:15 p.m. tomorrow.

The "Opus 67" theme will feature such numbers as: "Force of Destiny," "Toccata Marziale," "Ruy Blas Overture," "La Bomba Vera Cruz," "Folk Legend," "Symphonic Prelude," "Exodus" and "Highlights From Dr. Zhivago."

John Vasselli, Sean Katz and Dave Margulies will be soloists in the "Bugler's Holiday" presentation, while 10 twirlers will perform in the finale, entitled "Bandology."

Armento announced that tickets are priced at $1 and will be on sale at the door. Band members have been canvassing the town with door-to-door sales as well, he added.

NEW ZONING MAP -- Provisions of the new township zoning ordinance to be discussed at a meeting June 7 are outlined above. Designations on the map are explained as follows: S-120, single-family residential; S-75, single-family residential; S-60, single-family residential; M-R, multi-family residential; A-O, apartment-office; G-C, general commercial; H-C, highway commercial; I-M, industrial, research and mining; I-40, general industrial; I-20, general industrial. ### Stores have larger area in two spots

Quarry land designated for industry, mining use

By ABNER GOLD

The proposed new township zoning ordinance, slated for a public hearing by the Planning Board on June 7, has dropped one zoning category, added several others and increased the number of uses prohibited in any part of the community, according to Argelio T. Pancani, board chairman.

One new designation is that of "Neighborhood Commercial." This definition will be applied to two areas along Mountain avenue. One is at the corner of Henshaw avenue, covering stores now in operation there and extended across Mountain avenue, as indicated by the map printed on this page.

The other "Neighborhood Commercial" zone includes stores on the east side of Mountain avenue, extended to run south from Hillside avenue to the start of the garden apartments, which are in a multi-family residential zone. This commercial zone has also been extended east to the end of Lelak avenue. Pancani comments that this was done to provide for development of the rear portions of lots fronting on Mountain avenue, now extending into residential zones.

THE OTHER MAJOR new category is that to be zoned for industrial, research and mining operations. This zone applied to the property of the Houdaille Quarries, atop the mountain above Baltusrol Golf Club. This land is now zoned for residential use, but devoted to quarry operations.

This zone will extend down the hill to Mount View road, if new street now under construction to provide a direct connection from Stumpike road to the Baltusrol Top area. Pancani stresses, however, that no roads, entrances or driveways of any sort will be permitted from the I-M zone in Mount View road, which is in a residential zone.

The ordinance requires a 75-foot buffer, heavily shrubbed and wooded, to a height of at least six feet, between the I-M zone and the single-family residential area.

Another change called for by the new ordinance completely eliminates zoning for two-family homes. There are now approximately a half-dozen two-family homes in Springfield, primarily along Caldwell place. They will continue as nonconforming uses. The planners express the view that this type of housing

Town's annual Memorial Day parade set Tuesday; Clark to lead marchers

Final plans for the township's annual Memorial Day parade this Tuesday morning were announced this week by Frank Clark, grand marshal, and N. Vincze Policicrpo, chairman.

All units will assemble at 8:45 on N. Tri-vett avenue and will begin their march at 9:15. They will proceed along Mountain avenue and Main street to the Methodist and Presbyterian cemeteries. The Veterans of Foreign Wars will conduct memorial services at the Methodist Cemetery, and the American Legion, at the Presbyterian Cemetery.

Following the ceremonies, the Springfield units will parade along Main street into Millburn, where they will combine with marchers from that community. The paraders will then halt for memorial services at the St. Stephen's and St. Rose of Lima cemeteries, with participation by the two Springfield firing squads.

After completion of those services, the combined marching units, with the Springfield marchers in the lead, will continue along Short-Hills avenue into Springfield, then along Morris avenue and Mountain avenue to the Town Hall. Millburn marchers will turn into Main street and return to Millburn.

The order of march for all Springfield units is as follows:

Police Department, Harmony Band, Fire Department, Fire Department Reserve, American Legion, American Legion Auxiliary, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary, First Aid Squad, First Aid Squad Auxiliary.

Also, Red Cross, Civil Air Patrol, Jonathan Dayton High School Band, Elks Club, Lions Club, Springfield Swirlers, Girl Scouts, Brownies, Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts.

The festival committee, consisting of Anton Campanella, Prosper Giffordello, Sven Hedstrom, Francis Shimslock, Warren Slin, William Smith, Ronald Wandhardt and John Zaleski, is completing plans, readying the booths and preparing to offer to the town the "recreation of an old-fashioned strawberry festival," according to their announcement.

This same team went on to first place finishes in the Dayton Regional Tournament (7-1) and at Morris Hills Regional (7-1). Krueger, Katz, Starr and Margulies almost put Dayton in the National Forensic League national tournament, but lost to a Seton Hall Prep team in the final round of the North Jersey District Tournament. This tournament gave the team second ranking in north Jersey.

Meisel and Gwirtsman later combined with freshmen Carl Goldstein and Arnold Gerst to take second with a 7-1 record at Morristown High School in February. Sophomores Jerry Rubinowitz and Jim Wellen (8-4) and freshmen Carl Goldstein and Arnold Gerst (8-8) placed second in the Watchung Forensic Conference Novice Tournament in March. Mike Chutiner and Howard Dobin (4-2), Barbara Katz and Fred Gold (3-1) and Bruce Schwartz and Bob Sternbach (1-1) also contributed to the fine freshman record.

Ticket sales listed to start on Monday for golf tournament

Daily tickets to the 1967 U.S. Open Golf Championship will go on sale Monday, it was announced today by Robert Finney, general chairman. The Open will be held at Balausrol Golf Club, Springfield, June 12 to 18. The "Dallies" will be sold at four locations in the Metropolitan area: at the USGA headquarters, 40 E. 38th st., New York City, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; at Fidelity Union Trust Company, 765 Broad st., Newark, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.; at Summit & Elizabeth Trust Co., 367 Springfield ave., Summit, from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m.; and 6 to 8 p.m. on Thursdays and at Balausrol Golf Club, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. No advance orders nor checks will be accepted. All tickets must be picked up in person and paid for in cash. As the Open has not been held in the Metropolitan New York area since 1959, and may not return for another decade, we are anxious to give everyone a fair chance to see this premier event," Finney stated. "The decision to sell daily tickets in advance of the tournament was made after consultation with the United States Golf Association. We felt that it would relieve congestion at the gates and allow ticket holders to come when they wished." The total attendance on any one day will be limited to 20,000. Any unsold tickets will be available at the gate, but spectators were advised to make early application to ensure admission. For further information, they may call 379-4323.

She will receive a weekly stipend and will live on the campus. As an application requirement, each participant was asked to suggest a project for improving economic education in his own school system. Graduates of the Leadership Training Institute who complete successful post-institute projects will receive an additional stipend.

4 receive prizes in national contest

Four Springfield girls have been awarded prizes in the 13th annual Lenox China table setting contest conducted through the home management classes at Jonathan Dayton-Regional High School. Awarded fifth prizes in this contest, in which 340,000 girls in 8,300 schools participated, were Diane Smith of 121 Henshaw ave., Linda Kisch of 462 Metzel ave., and Arlene Marano of 301 Northview ter. Miss Smith's entry was a St. Patrick's Day dinner. Miss Kisch submitted plans for a table for unexpected guests, and Miss Marano arranged a "Spring Fling." Gay Mitchell of 299 Short Hills ave. received an honorable mention for her patio party. Mary Ann Ulrich, coordinator of home economics and home management teacher, announced that Jonathan Dayton was one of very few schools in the country receiving more than one award. The girls had to select china, silver and crystal and plan an attractive and original table setting. They will receive a selection of china pieces as their prizes.

Federal Tax Facts

AMENDED INCOME TAX RETURNS
Taxpayers, who discover that they neglected to report all income or all deductions on Federal income tax returns filed last month, should prepare amended tax returns to correct their mistakes. Joseph M. Stotz, IRS District Director for New Jersey, explained that amended returns must be prepared on Form 1040, sometimes called the long form, even though the original was filed on the short card Form 1040A. These returns should be clearly marked "Amended Return" in heavy print across the top. They should be completely filled out and include the information which was correctly reported on the original as well as the necessary new information. Your name and social security number should be printed exactly as it was on the original. In figuring the amount of tax due, you should take into account any tax paid or refunded on the original return. New Jersey residents should mail their amended returns to the Internal Revenue Service, 1060 Broad st., Newark, New Jersey 07102. If the original was filed from another address, attach a note giving your former address and the IRS office to which it was sent. Amended returns are not necessary to correct an error in arithmetic or the omission of a W-2 form or supporting schedule. Arithmetical errors are automatically corrected by computers when returns are processed. If a social security number, W-2 form or schedule is missing, Internal Revenue will ask for it when it is needed. Do not send it before.

HALF-PAST TEEN

New zoning

does not appear to meet the needs of the community. The highway commercial zone generally extends 300 feet north of Rt. 22, except in the Brown avenue industrial tract. Pincani comments that motels are a permitted use in this zone. He adds, however, that one motel application is now pending, and that there seems little demand for any more.

A NEW MULTI-FAMILY residential zone is designated as a buffer between the highway commercial area and the residential area of Derby rd. The new zone is designated for garden apartments only.

The multi-family (garden apartment) zone which includes the Troy Village apartments is extended to Shampke rd., running roughly between W. Bryant avenue and the Rahway Valley Railroad tracks.

A new apartment-office zone is designated for the northern portion of the triangle formed by Mountain and S. Springfield avenues and Shampke road. Pincani comments that this land is now occupied by several older homes and does not appear desirable to new home builders.

The new ordinance includes several new items in the list of uses prohibited in any zone within the township. Among these are boarding houses, incinerators of any type, junk yards, used car lots and the keeping of livestock, fowl or sporting birds.

PANCANI COMMENTS that the new ordinance includes a chart of limitations and permitted uses for all zones, with references provided to direct readers to the pertinent sections of the law. He says that this chart is intended to reduce the amount of text to be studied and to ease the burden of research on people planning, commercial, industrial or residential developments.

In addition, he points out, the booklet containing the ordinance includes a three-page table of contents, for quick reference in answering questions on such matters as parking or sign requirements. The Planning Board has been working on the new ordinance in conjunction with the board consultants, Alvin L. Gershen Associates of Trenton. Pincani notes that the firm was retained in April, 1966, after interviews with several planning consultants. Costs of the project were met in part with state funds. Pincani stresses that the Planning Board is under no legal compulsion to hold the June 7 hearing, a place for which will be announced shortly.

He adds, however, that the meeting is intended to give members of the public an opportunity to voice their opinions and give us any comments which we can consider prior to our final recommendation to the Township Committee.

Memorial Day thoughts on peace for the world

Memorial Day 1967, dedicated to the memory of all who have given their lives for America, takes on an added poignancy with a new generation of heroes fighting and dying half a world away. Our hope has been and must be that some day the world will make such sacrifices unnecessary.

patriotism which supports my nation, right or wrong.

There is no room, however, for the superpatriotism which labels as treason the stupidity of the draft-card burners or the pro-Viet Cong paraders.

As underscored by last week's statement by U.S. Senators opposed to Vietnam policies of the administration, constructive dissent is a vital part of the democratic process.

Having said all this, and having expressed basic support for the long-range national policy of freedom, we must say a few more things.

As long as we continue, as loyal citizens, to support the basic goals of national policy, we are entitled to know the basic facts which justify that policy.

We are not entitled to a credibility gap. We are entitled to know that the price being paid in American, and Vietnamese lives will bring the quickest possible, and most equitable possible, peace.

Somewhere in all the millions in Vietnam, north or south, there must be a man or group dedicated to freedom, not to devious paths to personal wealth and not to some subtle perversion of the Communist perversion.

We can only wish that just once, some time, some place, our well-financed and well-cloaked secret diplomatic agents could pick a democratic winner.

This is all the more true today, when our young men are committed to battle in a war where the issues are less clear, and the goals less easily defined than in many past conflicts. We are engaged in a war, in Vietnam, which the nation did not expect, where our official policy does not call for full victory, one which we probably can never win--and which we certainly cannot afford to lose.

The nuclear deterrent has probably made all-out war impossible, even when the adversary is Red China, where paranoia is a normal way of life. This very drawing of limits, however, might even encourage the not really spontaneous combustion of brush fire wars, the kind our nation is least ready and least eager to fight.

There is room for legitimate debate on whether American troops should be fighting in the swamps and jungles of Vietnam. There is room, certainly, for discussion on the terms which we should offer to end the endless tragedy.

There is room, equally, for

PROFILE--Capt. Leslie J. Bell

By BEA SMITH Leslie J. Bell, newly-appointed captain of the Springfield Police Force, has come a long way since he joined the department back in 1952. "We had 15 men in the department back in those days," says the husky officer, who, incidentally, is the only police captain in Springfield. We now have 36 men, from chief on down. Times sure have changed. And so has Springfield--it's grown.

CAPT. LESLIE J. BELL

BEFORE HE officially became captain on May 17, Bell had been police lieutenant for two years.

"The duties of a captain have changed somewhat," Bell says. "Now the captain handles the uniform division completely. (There are two divisions; the uniform and the detective)."

"The duties," he continues, "have been slightly reorganized. The captain now assumes all of the responsibilities of the uniform-division, from scheduling right on down to disciplinary action."

The captain, he indicates, is the chief's right hand man. He handles all the working men.

"I'm really looking forward to my new duties," he grins. "This will be something new for me. It will present a real challenge. I'm kind of anxious to get with it."

Capt. Bell has lieutenants and sergeants working under him. "They have their duties and assignments, and I'm responsible for what they do, I supervise them."

"And this sort of work," he says happily, "will not keep me confined to a desk and an office. I'll spend quite a bit of my time outdoors on specific cases, such as searching for a possible criminal or emergency situations of the more serious type."

Capt. Bell looks like the outdoor type of person.

"I'll BE CHECKING the town to see that violations are not being overlooked. That sort of thing..."

Capt. Bell continues to prepare himself for

Senator CLIFFORD P. CASE Reports

Working in Ben San and an adjoining hamlet is one of the 59-member Revolutionary Development teams of which about 500 have been trained by the Vietnamese government and assigned to the countryside.

These teams have a multiplicity of tasks in the field of education, health care, community development and political indoctrination, with an overall emphasis upon self-help. For example, an early step in their program, which I observed, is assisting the villagers to build fences in and around the hamlet--partly as an exercise in self-help and partly to restrict freedom of movement by the Viet Cong.

From Ben San we moved by helicopter to the headquarters of our regional director for Civil Operations, John Vann, a forceful Rutgers man of 42 whose experience in Viet Nam extends back more than a decade. Vann, whose outspoken criticism of earlier pacification efforts led to his retirement from the Army after 21 years of service, is now back in Viet Nam as a civilian with enlarged responsibilities for conducting what has been called "the other war" -- that array of economic, social and political measures designed to help build a nation.

Colonel Vann's frank and informed assessment of our assets and liabilities in this task was most helpful to my study of the many problems we face in Viet Nam.

These included the chief of Bien Hoa province, Lt. Col. Tran Van Hai and his military adviser, Lt. Col. Earl Garner, USA, the district military adviser, Major Edward P. Tompkins; and two young Foreign Service officers, David Kenney and Robert Franzblau.

A battalion of regular Vietnamese Army troops is the basic security force for the district, in which Viet Cong units continue to operate. The degree of security afforded the inhabitants of Ben San has improved, however, in the judgment of our officers, who cite the fact that the hamlet has regained about 70 percent of its original population; from a low of 30 persons who had remained.

U.S. Congresswoman FLORENCE P. DWYER Reports

A good deal of morning and groaning has greeted the action of the House on Wednesday when it denied additional funds for the rent supplement program and sharply reduced appropriations for the model cities program.

Some of the less restrained outcries charge that the House has abandoned the people of urban areas to hopelessness and despair, and that the House has victimized the poor. These are rather extreme statements, coming as they do from high-ranking Government officials who ought to know better. They are misleading.

Congress has neither turned its back on the problems of cities nor has it abandoned the poor. It did not kill either the rent supplement program or the model cities program. Faced with a budget deficit that may exceed $20 billion and the mounting costs of the war in Vietnam, the House simply decided that neither of the two programs has yet demonstrated that it need all the money requested by the Administration for the fiscal year beginning July 1. Both programs are in their experimental stages, and neither program has so far gotten off the ground.

Take the rent supplement program first. To listen to supporters of the program, one would be led to believe it's the Government's chief effort to provide housing for low-income families. Not so. The conventional public housing program is the primary source of help. This has been supplemented by the rent certificate program as well as the rent supplement program, both of which were enacted in 1965. The two are often mistaken for each other, but the differences are significant.

Rent certificates are limited to low-income families who are eligible for public housing. Rent supplements include low-income persons but also provide subsidies in diminishing amounts, to middle-income families. Rent certificates utilize private housing which is already in existence. Rent supplements require new construction. The rent certificate program is locally administered; it has less red tape and lower administrative costs; it fills the need for decent housing for the neediest people much more quickly; and it provides an added return to the Government in the form of increased tax receipts from the use of private rental housing.

From this background, it will come as no surprise that, while the rent supplement program is still in its infancy in terms of results, the rent certificate program has made giant strides. In little more than a year, 94 cities in 27 States have applied for a total of more than 21,000 units of rent certificate housing. Of this amount, nearly 13,000 units are under contract and more than 10,000 people are actually in residence.

Much of the credit for this achievement belongs to my fellow New Jersey Congressman, Bill Widnall, with whom I was proud to join in sponsoring the legislation -- legislation, by the way, which has been passed by the House.

Husbands, fugitives sought in 1821 newspaper

A copy of a Carlisle, Pa., newspaper dated April 18, 1821, was found last week in a bound volume of copies of the Springfield Sun newspapers of 1942. The paper, published in Carlisle and known as the Carlisle Whig, was sold by subscription only at a cost of $2 "per annum."

Among the more interesting articles in the paper were want-ads for marriage partners, reward offers for wanted persons, reports of a murder and a sudden accidental death, notices of acts of Congress, a census report and a letter denouncing the action of a Spanish vessel against an American ship. Excerpts follow.

AN $80 REWARD was offered for "John Meyers, who is about 5 feet 6 inches high, very stout built, dark complexion, marked with small-pox, small and crooked nose, large eyebrows and down look, about 26 years of age, had on when he broke jail, a woolen pair of pantaloons, and roundabout, Drab colored, a Brown jacket, that half worn and a new pair of shoes, he is a shoemaker by Trade, and carried off with him a set of shoemaker's tools."

APPEALS FOR HUSBANDS were made by "A lady, aged 40, capable of good health, and an bachelor about her own age, of a healthy constitution, with a decent income and sufficient gentry to drive away care in the long winter evenings;" and "A girl, aged 25, born in the country and of simple manners, though she has lived in Paris for six months, wishes to find a husband in the working class...she is singularly handsome and is most complete in health."

A census of the eastern and western districts of the state of Pennsylvania showed an increase of 29 and 30 per cent respectively since the 1810 census. A total of 725,683 persons were recorded in the eastern counties and 321,161 were recorded in the western area. Total population of 1,046,844 was divided into 1,015,971 whites, 30,598 free blacks and 279 slaves.

ANOTHER ARTICLE told of the horrible death of William Young of Ohio, who died in a still house owned by John Green, Esq. According to the news report, Young "laid himself down on one of the still for the purpose, supposed, of warming himself. Here it is conjectured, he fell asleep; and turning over, precipitated himself into the boiler, which stands close to the place on which he was lying. The unhappy man survived the catastrophe but a short time. He died in great

A story of injustices done to American ships was told in a letter which had originally been printed in the N.Y. Evening Post. The incident occurred off the coast of South America, precipitating danger to American maritime men who were in Lima. Sentiment of the Spanish in Lima was reportedly indicated by a threat to one of these men. The paper reports, "On Captain Downes passing the Vice-Roy's palace, several officers and citizens were overheard to say, 'There goes the rascal, we will have his blood next.'"

THE SPECIFIC INCIDENT involving one of the ships was recorded in the following manner: "On the morning of the 9th, the schooner Rampart, of Baltimore, got underway with the agreement with the authorities on shore to receive her cargo. Immediately, on her coming within gun shot of the castles, they opened on her...with all the vessels, gun boats, etc., in the harbor. The captain and the officers, as there was but little wind, and that right on shore, immediately abandoned her, and she sank before the numerous gun-boats, who vainly came out to take her, could get her on shore."

"Now we communicate with the shore but no other way. Is that proud flag, which humbled the haughty Briton, to be wantonly insulted by pusillanimous, cowardly lily-livered Spaniards? Are our innocent shipmates, the pride and future hopes of our country, to be thus wantonly massacred, butchered, and even denied Christian burial?"

AMONG THE NEW LAWS of the Union were: "An act, to authorize the President of the United States to borrow a sum not exceeding five millions of dollars...An Act to release French ships and vessels entering ports of the United States prior to the 13th of September, 1820, from the operation of the act entitled 'an act to impose tonnage duty on French ships and vessels, and for other purposes.'"

Another act was to "reduce and fix the military peace establishment of the United States." Its provisions included "that the President of the United States cause to be reorganized the officers, non-commissioned officers, artificers, musicians and private of the several corps now in the service of the United States..."

"That the medical department shall consist of one Surgeon general, eight surgeons, with the compensation of regimental surgeons, and 45 assistant surgeons, with the compensa-

THE PAPER ALSO INCLUDES an account of a "Horrid Murder." It begins, "It is our painful duty to record an event probably the most melancholy that ever occurred in this district -- murder, and not only murder, but fratricide. John Murdoch was this day committed to prison, charged with the heinous crime of destroying the life of his brother, James Murdoch."

As an explanation for the crime, Murdoch confessed that following a quarrel while the two were cutting wood, "he, the prisoner, suppose the deceased, from a quick motion he made, had aimed a blow at him, with an axe, whilst the prisoner was in the act of stooping down his body. The prisoner then seized the axe, with which he instantly struck the deceased on the breast, which blow brought him to the ground; he immediately repeated the blow by striking him on the back part of the head, and then left him."

It is added that the prisoner returned to the scene and found his brother still alive and in pain. "On this account he struck him another blow on the small of the back to put him out of pain, and then made a small hole and buried him." After a search for the missing brother, the body was found and the crime realized.

Student take-over scheduled at Springfield regional today

Dozens of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School students will take over administrative and teaching positions today as the Springfield school presents its annual Senior Day program.

Robert F. LaVanture, principal, in announcing the annual function said, "The purpose of this project is to acquaint the senior class members with administrative functions and to give them the opportunity of conducting classes and instructing and supervising their fellow students."

The addition of her professional photographs and several maps makes this a fascinating book.

"Beyond Paris," by Lillian and Philip van Doren Stern. A different kind of guidebook, for it tells what to see and not to see, where to find the best foods and how and where to travel by car. It offers practical information with special emphasis on art, architecture history and famous personalities of the area.

"The Ruins of a City that flourished in Thailand 1,200 years ago have been found by an amateur archaeologist who made the discovery while seated at a desk studying aerial photographs. The ancient city discovered in Chansen, a community that covered about 120 acres and was surrounded by a 20-yard-wide moat.

Students at Dayton to visit art museum for culture course

Approximately 160 members of the ninth grade at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield will conclude an unusual course of study in Foundations of American Culture by visiting the Museum of Modern Art in New York City next Thursday.

Pauline Keldi, coordinator of social studies of the Union County Regional High School District, said that this world cultures course was introduced in the curriculum for the first time this year at Dayton as a team teaching experiment, with two teachers, Dave Carl and Mrs. Claire Mason, as the cooperating tutors.

The four units covered during the year included: "Economic Development of the Western World," "Political Development of the Western World," "Religions of the World" and "Art Appreciation," which is now being concluded with the trip next week.

Carl, in explaining the final unit in this course, said: "Students are encouraged to express feeling for art and have experience with different art media (painting, drawing or writing)." Examples of students' creative efforts are found on the bulletin boards of their classrooms.

The team teachers stressed the fact that the "impulse to create is an integral part of life. Understanding art is an expression of differing values of a society. Art is affected by cultural diffusion, religious diffusion and geography and gives the student insight into the different cultures and eras."

A combination of teaching and learning techniques was used in this course to show the cultural arts of painting, sculpture, architecture and music, from primitive to modern times.

Musicians have charms Symphony group wins applause

By HAZEL HARGROVE

The Springfield Symphony Society distinguished itself again by giving another brilliant performance last Saturday evening in the auditorium of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School. Approximately 500 music lovers were treated to a high caliber of musical entertainment featuring a variety of scores appropriate for a springtime concert.

The conductor, Ira Kraemer, skillfully led the musicians, who responded enthusiastically to his directions. The youthful leader vigorously used his entire body, as his baton and expressive hands called for crescendos, decrescendos and proper rhythmic values at the correct times.

The audience, comprised of adults as well as children, also responded with great amounts of applause, one result of which was a highly complimentary demand for several extra curtain calls for Kraemer and his group just before intermission.

At the conclusion of the program, the applause was so tremendous that Kraemer, after quieting the audience, with his hands, asked:

"Would you like to hear the waltzes again? Having to an affirmative response, they again repeated the waltzes of Richard Strauss.

A SUPERB CELLO SOLI was given by Maurice Slapin during the playing of Luigi Boccherini's "Violoncello in B Flat Major." With partial orchestral accompaniment at times, Mrs. Slapin expertly fingered and stroked the difficult measures in a very professional manner through allegro, moderato, adagio (non troppo) and rondo (allegro). Mrs. Slapin also had to take several curtain calls.

The entire program included: "Concerto VII in C" (Moderato, Allegro, Larghetto and Presto); "Serenade in Four Movements" (Eine Kleine Nachtmusik), featuring Allegro, Andante (Romance), Allegretto (Minuet) and Allegro (Rondo); "Sinfonietta Op. 52" (Allegro Molto, Andante, Allegro); by Albert Roussel; "Violoncello Concerto in B Flat Major" with Mrs. Slapin as cello soloist and several Richard Strauss waltzes from "Der Rosenkavalier" (arranged for string orchestra by Moris J. Isaac).

The orchestra members included: violins: Max Robbins (concert master), Ammett Altshul, Louis Berman, Henry W. Bradbury, Alan Branigan, Henry Dabrowsky, Rose Deutschman, Ann Gladstone, Dr. Jerome Greenfield, Maurice Gobenberg, Dr. Harold Lansing, Sal Locker, Maurice Lutske, Albert Paul, Claudia Phaneuf, Jack Torbert, Dr. Jack York.

At the 9:30 a.m. German language service, Emanuel Schwing, local preacher, will entitle his message, "The Experience of Meeting God."

An industrial engineer there found that students who watched television lectures did "slightly, although not significantly," better than their schoolmates who got the information "live."

FRAGMENTS of two celestial bodies that collided some 650 million years ago are still raining on Earth, a Purdue University scientist reports. In fact, he says, more than half of the meteorites that have fallen on Earth probably have come from this single collision, which occurred between the orbits of Mars and Jupiter.

THAT RUDYARD KIPLING ADAGE about East and West never meeting may have been given a small jolt by a pair of scientists who are studying the continent-drift theory. The theory holds that the earth's surface was once a solid land mass and that portions of it moved apart, forming the continents. The scientists, from Cornell University and Oxford University, have discovered that the continents surrounding the Atlantic ocean are drifting apart at the rate of two inches a year. "If this is so," they say, "it is entirely possible that North and South America will contact Asia about 100 million years from now."

Summer day camp opening June 26 on campus of NSC

Camp Union, a summer day camp operated under the auspices of the Union County Organization to Aid Children with Learning Disabilities, will open for a six-week season on June 26 on the campus of Newark State College, Union.

Gerald Carlucci, president of the county organization, reported the camp will take youngsters "who are not classified as mentally retarded, seriously emotionally disturbed or brain injured to the extent that the deviate very far from the norm."

He added: "Other than learning difficulties that these children present in school, they find it difficult to interact socially in group situations in accepted patterns of behavior."

Dr. Eugene Wilkins, president of Newark State, is honorary camp chairman and Dr. Edward LaCrosse, chairman of the department of special education at the college, is professional advisor.

THE CAMP WILL be directed by Vincent Aniello, a teacher of handicapped children who has a master's degree in special education and is now attending Columbia University for his doctorate in the same field. He has been waterfront director of Camp Notre Dame in New Hampshire and Stonebrook Day Camp in Hillside.

He will be assisted by Mrs. Phyllis Aniello, who also has a master's degree in special education, and other personnel with special training.

Newark State College is making its facilities available free of charge to the camp. Included are the swimming pool, athletic fields and classrooms.

A typical day at the camp will include swimming, arts and crafts, dramatic play,

Sen. Hughes calls on women to help rid New Jersey of pesky gyp artists

State Senator Mildred Barry Hughes (D-Union) last night called upon women to help New Jersey in its fight against the gyp artists who do everything from trying to sell a get-rich-quick scheme to promising to practically rebuild your house for only pennies a week.

"It's up to us women to help make our State's new consumer protection program work," Senator Hughes told the Union County Women's Democratic Club at its annual dinner at the Elizabeth Carter Hotel, Elizabeth, "We can give immeasurable assistance by protecting ourselves through careful scrutiny of any contract we intend to sign and by alerting the new State Division of Consumer Protection if we detect any suspicious salesmen or proposals."

Senator Hughes pointed out that the Legislature unanimously voted for the measure which elevated the status of the old Consumer Frauds Bureau in the State Department of Law and Public Safety. She noted that the new office, headed by former Congressman Paul J. Krebs of Livingston, is prepared to handle complaints of consumer fraud.

"We in Union County have some experience in fighting fraudulent schemes," Senator Hughes said. "A few years ago, we helped gather evidence which put an end to a mail order house which operated out of Elizabeth. The action against this firm was one of the most effective consumer protection steps ever taken. While we in the Legislature and the State Administration took some credit for it, we agreed it would not have been possible without an alert public which gathered evidence of the firm's operations."

"NOW WE ASK the public, especially the women, to continue to be on guard. Of course, we don't want to hurt legitimate businessmen, but we must be alert at all times to the fakers who sell expensive schemes to unsuspecting housewives and others. More often than not, we are the ones who are approached first by the door-to-door salesman who wants to sell us siding or roofing, furnace repair, insulation or some other home repair."

"We must make sure the proposal is legitimate. If we suspect anything wrong, we should go advise Mr. Krebs at his Newark office. He wants to hear from us. Two weeks ago, I had the privilege of introducing him at an Atlantic City conference in which he emphasized he is banking on the public, especially women, to help him do a job. As he pointed out, he will have difficulty pinpointing sources of trouble unless he hears from the householders."

"Mr. Krebs cited another area in which we can provide help. He noted that there is at least one out-of-state firm that is suspected of trying to 'hook' older folks into a home craftsmen operation that will hurt the elders financially. He is investigating complaints that the company sells materials to senior citizens for projects it contracts to sell and then turns down the finished products -- after the materials are paid for.

Camp-Union program to be discussed today

A meeting for all interested concerning Camp Union has been called by the Union County Organization to Aid Children with Learning Disabilities. The camp program will be outlined by Vincent Aniello, director, and Dr. Edward LaCrosse, chairman of the Department of Special Education at Newark State College.

The meeting will be held at the Child Study Center, Newark State College, Union, today at 8:30 p.m. Applications will also be accepted at that time, a spokesman said.

musical activities, sports and picnics. Camp hours will be 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Carlucci said additional information may be obtained from him at 687-1990 or the following: Mrs. Miriam Diekmann of Cranford, BR 2-5671; Mrs. Ethel Carlo of Westfield, AD-2-8856; or Mrs. Margaret Harton of Plainfield, 754-8073.

UJC sets speaker for commencement

John J. Downing, chief of operations of the International Department of the Atomic Energy Commission, Washington, D.C., will be guest speaker at Union Junior College's 34th annual commencement on Saturday, June 3, at 10:30 a.m. in the theater of the Campus Center, Cranford, it was announced this week by Dr. Kenneth C. MacKay, president.

Dr. MacKay said there are 120 candidates for Associate in Arts degrees. He and Dr. Kenneth W. Iverson, dean, will confer titles degrees. Prof. Forrest P. Dexter, Jr., of Cranford, will preside. The Alumni Prize to the class valedictorian and the Post-Day Award will be presented by Prof. Hermand J. Bielefeld of Summit, chairman of the Humanities Department.

DONATION -- Julius R. Pollarschek, President of United Cerebral Palsy League of Union County, said this week that the Union County Bowling Association recently donated a special Relaxation Chair for use of boys and girls with cerebral palsy, attending the League's Center at 216 Holly St., Cranford. Pictured are (left to right): Victor Hesso, 535 Golf Ter., Union, treasurer, and Edward J. Woods of 425 Christian St., Roselle, secretary of the Union County Bowling Association, inspecting the chair. Seated in this specially equipped chair is Aaron Blumhagen, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Blumhagen of Cranford, who is enrolled at the Cerebral Palsy Center.

Trailside to hold program Sunday on rhododendrons

A "Rhododendron and Azalea Culture" will be presented by members of the Union County Rhododendron Committee at the Union County Park Commission's Trailside Nature and Science Center, in the Watchung Reservation, on Sunday at 4 p.m.

The program will include a talk on how to raise both rhododendrons and azaleas in the home garden. The program will offer visitors an opportunity to visit the Union County Rhododendron Display Garden in the "Loop" area of the Watchung Reservation. The initial planting in the garden began in the fall of 1962. Over the years many new plants have been added to the collection. The object of this planting is to have a complete collection of all Rhododendrons that will grow satisfactorily in this area.

Mrs. Charles R. Haag, Cranford, is chairman of the show.

Dr. Harold N. Muldenbe, director of Trailside, will conduct one-half hour nature talks for children on Monday, Wednesday, May 31, and Thursday, June 1, at 4 p.m. each day. The topic to be discussed during the three days is "African-Mammals." The lectures will be illustrated with color slides.

The Trailside Nature and Science Center is open to the public each weekday, except Friday, from 3 to 5 p.m., and on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays from 1 to 5 p.m. The public is invited to visit the Nature Center, tour the live-animal area, view the thousands of indoor exhibits, and participate in the scheduled programs.

Surgery survey

NEW YORK (UPI) -- Medical authorities report 13 million Americans will undergo surgery in 1967.

According to the U.S. National Health Survey, a study of patients discharged from short-stay hospitals indicates about two-thirds of patients undergoing surgery use insurance to pay all or part of their surgical bill. The average length of hospital stay for these patients will be about a week.

Ask Amy

By AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy:
I've been noticing a change in my husband for several months. When I came across a girl's telephone number in his pocket, I knew I had found the answer.
I called her up and she said they dated a few times, but she certainly didn't know he was married.
Should I tell him I know about her or just go around with the knowledge bubbling inside me?
His Wife

Dear Wife:
"Old Faithful" bubbles, too, before it blows its top. Before you blow yours, tell all and insist that he do likewise!

Dear Amy:
I've been going with this boy since November '65. He went into the service seven months ago. He came home for New Year's Eve, and of course, we went out. I received a beautiful ring from him at that time. Last week we broke up. Although he has written numerous letters telling me the exact opposite of what he just did (breaking up), I was truly hurt by this.

He is going overseas for one year and he is leaving me thoroughly confused. I want to know if I should return the ring? It was meant to be a Christmas gift.
Problemated One

Dear One:
If the ring is a diamond and costly, return it. If not, keep it for what it was meant to be.

Dear Amy:
I am 40 years old and have been without my husband for nearly 20 years. He didn't die, you see, he left me to go fight in the war. My husband was always a noble man and promised to return.
For quite some time the halls of my home had been quiet, but in recent months, being a woman of considerable wealth and dignity, I have held my home open to old friends. They, at first, brought comfort to me, but now I find that several of the unwed men who frequent my home have interests in me beyond friendship and condolences.
Three of my guests in particular have time and time again bestowed upon me gifts of much value which I continue to refuse, knowing of their intentions. Just the other day, one of the three after debasing a fellow house guest (a wonderful man and a very talented violinist) because he hinted that I should consider marriage, suggested the same thing to me. I could hardly hold my astonishment and I told him that even if my husband returned, a poor ragged man, broken and lost, I would welcome him into my arms over all the expensive gifts that any would-be suitor might offer.
Now I am very frightened as every week end I will be beset by these "suitors", and I am at the point of yielding.
Very Upset

Dear Upset:
I don't know what you are upset about if you haven't seen your husband in 20 years nor know of his whereabouts, you can have him legally declared dead. Then you have one of two decisions to make. Either you show your week-end "suitors" the door... or choose one to marry.
Your considerable wealth and dignity will not bring you happiness unless you come down to earth, face reality and enjoy the kind of life you really desire.

Canada: proud parent for spectacular Expo

By DR. WILLIAM H. BRUCKER

There is an aura in the Montreal skies, and the people walk around "starry-eyed." It seems to the fact that Mayor Drapeau's folly has blossomed into the magnificent Expo 67 that has made Montreal the Queen City in the world this year.

The Canadian pride has long been dimmed by the fact that they have always been considered the dullest of all the commonwealths of Britain. Other than Mounties, snow and hockey, what else has there been?

Yet its economic growth is closest to that of its sister country, the United States, and now it has come this opportunity to develop its great strides into the great nation it is today.

So—sound the to-cans—and pop the corks for our neighborly nation to the north, who are having a whale of a time celebrating the centennial anniversary of Canada and the 325th birthday of Montreal, and they are inviting everybody.

The newspapers have been full of the fanfare and descriptions of the spectacular buildings. However, Expo 67 is more than this. It is an expression of Canada's great pride in itself and its people, in having achieved a place among the great nations in the world, and Canada is playing host like a proud parent.

MONTREAL HAS SPENT the last few years preening itself like any proper haus frau—building new highways, new motels, a spanking new subway, practically revamping the lower city and generally slicking itself up. Most important, it has generated this new and strong national pride.

The fear stories I had heard about the unavailability of and price gouging for accommodations I found not to be true. At least at this time of the year. I stayed at the Royal Mount Hotel for $12 a night, an absolutely standard rate. Montreal has always been a mecca for tourists. Besides the well-known hostelerie there are many lesser ones. The tourist homes above Sherbrooke seem in-viding, too. Then, there are sundry housing opportunities within 40 miles of Montreal. An hour's drive would be the most involvement. Did it ever take that much less than an hour to drive from Union to the New York World's Fair?

Among the intriguing facets of Expo 67 and Montreal are the bilingual signs which provide a course in instant French. My poles and trots in high school Latin were never as available.

A gala atmosphere is evident from the moment one leaves the taxi that takes one from the center of town to the gateway. Taxi fare is 90 cents. Entry to Expo is $2.50, children $1.25.

It is at the entrance that one begins, fare free, the wonderful, exciting and stimulating Expo Express ride which takes one to and over the three islands in the St. Lawrence River that house the fair.

THE EXCITEMENT of the express comes not only from the opportunity for transportion, but because of immediately acquiring a birds-eye view of the fairgrounds and its spectacular geographical location with the city of Montreal on one side and the rapids in the river on the other. The vastness of the entire enterprise becomes apparent. Since it is a round trip and free, I recommend even two or three round trips at the beginning so that one may become acquainted with the general structure of the grounds and the structures thereon.

The approach to Fair viewing, if possible should be done with the same finesse as playing pool. It is position that counts. As it is always advisable to have your cueball stop in the most advantageous position, indiscriminate rambling over the fair will only wear away the hours and your physical stamina. It is better to do some advance research before coming, then inspect the grounds via Expo-Express and make plans for distinctive areas.

With the announced 75 restaurants and 50 food stands comestibles at first seemed unavailable. However, I soon found vast opportunities for eating—all the way from beignes (a Belgian dough ball) at six for 50 cents to a "noble dinner" at the French pavilion for $10. There were hamburgers at 45 cents, foot longs at 50 cents, mousses (cotton candy) at 25 cents, chain restaurants where a hamburger platter was $1.69 and a chicken platter $1.79, and cous-cous in the Tunisian pavilion at $3.95.

There was an excellent mocha coffee in the Ethiopian pavilion at 25 cents, smorgasbord in the Scandinavian pavilion for 75 cents and Norwegian reindeer cutlet for $4.50. And there were bobos (a deep fried meat ball) and creme glacee for 25 cents, and soft drinks at 15 and 25 cents.

I found a delicatessen that sold packaged cold cuts, loaves of bread, packaged takes and containers of milk. Most important, nothing was prohibitive. Yet, if it was so considered, prices were prominently displayed at the entrance.

PURCHASERS OF WEEKLY or season tickets receive a passport book. The buyer of a daily ticket does not. At the entrance of each country's pavilion sit young ladies manfully dressed who stamp your book with the proper cachet from that country. But the second day of the fair the newest game was counting cachets, comparing them, determining their rarity. This is a tip. Not only is it a good activity for a child at the fair and a genuine souvenir, but with the great interest in trivia and memorabilia these could accrue value in the years to come.

Souvenirs, if you have such a penchant, go from back scratchers at 75 cents through ash trays at one dollar, coasters at 39 cents to the hideous shoes I saw in a Balinese boutique at 18 dollars. All are properly emblazoned with Bonjour de Montreal.

Expo 67 thus observed is a family affair. The building with their architectural delights and surprises and the various attractions have been described elsewhere. However, it is the people that come to them that fulfill the story.

It does not take long at all to sense the flavor and the flutter here that was waiting at the New York World's Fair of 1964. Perhaps, as Americans, we are too critical, too blasé about our achievements. Perhaps what is in some one's backyard often seems better.

A FEMININE LOOK ...At AFRICA 1967

(Commentary on a National Newspaper Association Study Mission to eight African countries south of the Sahara.)

By TRUDINA HOWARD

Seventh in a Series
SIGHTSEEING IN SENEGAL
 One of the things a tourist might likely want to see in Dakar, Senegal, is the residence of the U. S. ambassador, for it is on one of the nicest streets of the city and on the "heights" and it affords a rather good view of the city. But there is also a certain tree. Not a baobab tree either, which is the fascinating, huge, crooked tree which abounds in Senegal, but a taba tree.

This special taba tree stands in the garden of the residence and it is a beautiful shade tree—but thereby hangs a tale...tail!

It seems that while the taba tree is lovely for shade it is also lovely for bats. It has a blossom which the bats simply adore to eat—and shouldn't. But with hundreds of bats eating things they shouldn't right over the embassy residence, that residence really had a problem. Twice a year it had to be painted and the bats scared the wits out of all the guests.

So obviously, cut the bloomin' tree down and plant a new one, wouldn't you say? After all, there must be other shade trees.

Ah no.

Instead, every time that tree blooms, which is every six months, all the blossoms are painstakingly removed.

So, the residence only needs painting once in a while now, and you still can see the taba throwing beautiful shades.

That's what you call solving a problem the hard way. Or would you say, the batty way.

Well anyway, with this "be kind to tabas" policy at the embassy, it does have a lovely garden. As a matter of fact, Dakar despite all its dryness, has many handsome garden spots. Many of the business buildings and government buildings have great areas of brilliant flower beds near-by giving the city a pleasant cared-for look. There are a great many marigolds, geraniums, roses, zinnias, hibiscus and bougainvillea.

The main sightseeing things to go to in Dakar are the recently completed great Mosque of Dakar, the medina, the open air markets and Goree Island. Senegal game sport fishing is world famous and there is one game park in the eastern side of the country.

THE GREAT MOSQUE IS UNIQUE in two respects: despite the fact that it stands in the country of Senegal, all its interior work was done by people from Morocco; and it only has one minaret. Instead of the usual four. This single Moroccan style minaret is an impressive 80 feet high, however, yet took only 12 days to build! It took 400 men to do it in the 12 days though, and when it was finished, King Hassan II of Morocco came to its dedication bringing with him several magnificent Moroccan rugs to adorn the main mosque.

THE MEDINA, OR NATIVE QUARTER, is not the pretty part of Dakar. Here you will see "shacks" made of wood or tin or any material available, all clustered together. There seems to be no plumbing, no electricity and no gardens. Ah, you will say what about that non-discriminating thing in Senegal mentioned previously, if there is such a thing as a crowded, inadequate medina? Well, the answer lies in the fact that the people are not all educated, they have no money to speak of and consequently have no position. Aha, you will say, there is the rub. Yes, of course, there is the rub. But there is such a crowd of natives that education has not reached them all. Not all can be presidents and cabinet members and educators and businessmen, but even so, there are better and bigger educational plans, social benefits and economic improvements in the making to give more opportunity to all and more education to all. It is hoped that by 1970 all eligible children regardless of sex and color will be in school. At the current time the focus has been on getting all the boys to school. It is hoped that the country will become bilingual and use and understand English as well as French, which now is the legal language. "We already have instituted English classes in the schools," President Leopold Senghor told us four years ago. "But unfortunately it is Oxford English and not Harvard English," he humorously added.

While the medina may look disheveled and shabby, out of it step women who look like butterflies. They are as spotlessly dressed and pressed as though they have just popped out of a laundry box. You stare in amazement. The dresses are not only clean but long and sheer and full of color. Native costumes vary greatly through Africa and here in Senegal they are particularly beautiful. Most of the native dresses here consist of a material that is sheer and flowing (a "cage") and they are always some vibrant color. They are worn over a basic dress made of a heavier material in the same color with a turban on the head-made of full two yards of material of the same color. The whole togetherness is called a boubou. You pronounce it as boo-boo only it certainly doesn't look like a boo-boo.

Men are in full length white or dark colored robes unbuttoned and flowing, or in western clothes. There is a good scattering of both. Very few elderly people are seen on the streets in Dakar, or anywhere in Africa for that matter.

THE SANDAGA MARKET, which is a market of green-roofed huts scattered about in sand and trees and near a fishing area on the Atlantic, is unbuttoned and flowing, or in western clothes. There are a great many wood carvings here, tall and small, mainly of human heads and animals. Jewelry is a big item and a certain v-shaped bracelet is a particular favorite. While the market was interesting, four years ago the carvings seemed to be of a better quality and the market buzzed considerably more. This year it was very quiet and the shop-huts were all but empty of people. Nearby, the fishing fleet's little boats seemed busier. Fish nets, birds, and people were among the oar-boats, and the boats themselves were intriguing with their hand paintings brilliantly scattered on their bows.

THE HIGHLIGHT OF THE SIGHTSEEING though is Goree Island. Goree is a tiny island 20-minutes from Dakar which once was a slave island. Here slaves were held until they were shipped abroad. It is now quiet with old buildings, garden restaurants, NO CARS and a prison where every once in a while all the prisoners are allowed to roam at will over the island. It was first settled by the French in 1677 and among its historical buildings are a 1828 church, slave buildings, an historical museum, and a marine museum. Its shoreline is filled with beaches and black stone basalt cliffs.

On the day our NNA group visited Goree it must have been 90-ish and I for one could have used one of those beaches for I was in a wool dress which I had worn out of New York while all the rest of the people were in cool cottons. My tale of woe was that my suitcase was lost and I had no choice. By the wonderful work of the men at our embassy, the case was located half way down Africa, and found still on the Pan Am plane we had taken out of New York! It was then luckily captured and placed aboard a north bound plane and brought back to Dakar. But in the meantime I waded up to my knees on that beach in Goree—to keep cool.

All of which makes me want to say right here and now that the people who are in our embassies all over the world, from ambassadors to clerks, are people to be proud of. There are more Negroes from the U.S. to be found in our embassies in Africa than there were four years ago and they too are highly educated, knowledgeable, helpful, gracious and splendid representatives.

Mowing safety weeds out dangers

"Turn loose a few sheep and let them graze to their hearts' content." Until about 150 years ago that was about the only way to keep the lawn short-cropped—other than breaking your back using a hand sickle.

The first lawn mower wasn't invented until 1830. Power mowers came later, the first ones using horses, then steam and finally internal combustion engines and electric motors.

Today no one breaks his back with a hand sickle, but all too many persons will be injured this year by power mowers.

Although the power-driven reel mower has taken its toll, the less expensive and more popular rotary type is the chief offender.

The rotary blade, whirling at up to 3,600 revolutions per minute, is as potentially lethal as a power saw and, warns the New Jersey State Safety Council, should be handled accordingly. Studies indicate that fingers, hands, toes and feet are injured most frequently, often resulting in amputation.

Most of these accidents occur to the operator. Nevertheless, many others are injured who merely happen to be nearby while a rotary power mower is being operated. They are struck by pieces of glass, stones, wood, wire and other objects easily concealed in the grass. Many of the injured bystanders, the Council points out, are children.

Manufacturers of power lawn mowers are making progress in the development of safety features, and nearly all power mowers on the market today meet the safety standards sponsored by the Outdoor Power Equipment Institute.

In spite of this, cautions the Council, the power lawn mower remains potentially dangerous if improperly used.

George G. Traver, executive vice president of the New Jersey State Safety Council, offers the following suggestions to help home owners cope with power mowers:

- Before starting, clear the lawn of all debris. A power mower can propel objects as speeds up to 170 miles an hour.
- When starting the engine, stand firmly with feet away from the blade. Know the controls, and make certain that self-propelled mowers are not in gear.
- Mow only when the grass is dry. Thousands of toes are amputated or mangled every year when feet slip under the blade housing.
- Keep away from moving parts. Wait a moment or two after shutting off the engine to be certain the blades have stopped.
- Wear shoes. Bare feet and sandals offer no protection, and ordinary shoes only a little. Steel-tipped safety shoes do much to thwart the blade's cutting action.
- The proper technique on slopes is to mow sideways, as in contour farming.
- Stop the engine whenever you leave the mower.
- Children and young teenagers should never be allowed to operate power mowers.
- Keep children away. More than one child has been killed by a piece of wire, bottle or other debris propelled by a whirling rotor blade.
- Do not refuel while the mower is running or even while the engine is hot. Always refuel out of doors where gasoline vapors can escape into the air.
- Before cleaning or making adjustments, stop the engine and always disconnect the spark plug wire.

CHICKEN IN A BASKET FOR MEMORIAL DAY

By County Home Economist, Anne L. Sheelan

Memorial Day starts the season of outdoor eating. Chicken in a basket is just right for the occasion.

Served in individual baskets with potato sticks, salad, and your favorite jellied relish, this golden chicken will satisfy appetites stimulated through the holiday activities.

Chicken is a versatile and economical choice as well as being high in nutritional value.

During warm weather it is imperative that chicken does not stand at room temperature for any period of time. Use a method in its preparation and serving that will keep it hot or cold, depending upon the requirements of the recipe. Allowing chicken to sit on a buffet picnic table in the sun or shade should definitely be avoided. All poultry and shell fish products are highly susceptible to spoilage.

The recipe which follows gives directions for preparing the chicken indoors. Weather permitting, serving it on the porch, patio, or in the backyard will add to the holiday flare of the day.

PRIED CHICKEN IN A BASKET

2 broiler-type chickens, cut in serving pieces
1-1/2 cups flour
2-1/2 teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons paprika
1 egg
1/3 cup milk
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Vegetable oil or shortening

Wash chicken; do not dry. Combine flour, salt and paprika in shallow dish or pie plate. Dip in milk and lemon juice. Roll chicken pieces in seasoned flour, dip in egg mixture, and then roll again in seasoned flour. Let

1,300 students to participate in Legion's annual program

More than 1,300 high school students will plunge into the world of practical politics when the annual New Jersey Boys' and Girls' State week-long programs open in New Brunswick June 25.

A record number of youngsters will participate in the two programs, according to camp officials. Close to 800 boys are expected for the Boys' State program at the Rutgers College campus and about 440 girls will take part in the Girls' State activities at Douglass College.

The youngsters will take part in almost identical programs designed to give them a taste of democracy in action through the election of city and county officials and two mythical governors. Their education in the world of practical politics also will be advanced through lectures by a number of New Jersey office holders, including members of Gov. Richard J. Hughes' cabinet.

Gov. Hughes will be the speaker at the opening day luncheon of Boys' State, sponsored by the New Jersey Department of the American Legion. Girls' State is sponsored by the State American Legion Auxiliary.

Both programs will include a busy schedule of social and athletic activities as well as classroom study and mock political campaigning.

Delegates to the programs represent every county in New Jersey and are sponsored by local American Legion posts and civic and service organizations. Soon after their arrival here they will be divided into two mythical political parties and will seek election to various offices on city, county and state levels.

The Boys' State program is directed by Harold A. Eaton of Riverport, retired former director of administrators at the Rutgers College of South Jersey in Camden. Mrs. R. Graham Huntington of Montvale is Girls' State director.

Girls' State will close on Friday, June 30, and Boys' State on Saturday, July 1.

Dividend is declared by Howard Savings

The board of managers of The Howard Savings Institution has declared The Howard's 304th consecutive dividend, John W. Kress, Howard president, announced this week. Totaling in excess of $8,000,000, the dividend is the largest in the bank's history. It will be paid to the more than 355,000 depositors on June 15 for the second quarterly dividend period of 1967.

The figure is $1,200,000 more than that paid for the same period last year. It will bring to $30,284,000 the total paid for the past four quarterly dividend periods, and boost to over $304,000,000 the total dividends paid by The Howard since it was chartered.

'Widow' hits a high note on stage of Paper Mill

BY WILLIAM H. BRUCKER
 Take a little schripitz of gemlichkeit from Vienna, add a soupçon of for-mid-a-ble from Paris, flavor with sets out of the beau monde of Beardsley and Toulouse-Lautrec, and you have a schitzel of a show that is swaying before latter day audiences at the Paper Mill Playhouse in a sumptuous revival of that old war horse "The Merry Widow."

This is a full-blown production of this vintage gem, beautifully staged, exquisitely garbed and sung and acted in the grand old tradition of operetta. It is as refreshing as rose petal jelly and water.

Frank Carrington has produced the work straight from the pen of Viktor Leon and Leo Stein, who in 1905 wrote this blue skies opus with not a scurrilous character in sight and an all-hail to Marsovia, that sweet, little, that quaint little, that bankrupt little Nyssop on the then-scenic map of Europe.

It is played not as high camp, but true and sincere. Thus, except for a book that claps along like a dejected Lippenzener with interlarded spurs, this is a lovely musical with a score that stands up solidly 62 years after Franz Lehár himself conducted the opening night of "Die Lustige Witwe" in Vienna.

I CAN'T RECALL how many times I've seen "The Merry Widow" all the way from the pre-Christopher Morley days at the Hudson Theater in Hoboken and the Roger Pryor days at the Bayonne Opera House through a performance by an English troupe in Corsica and movie versions and TV versions and the 1964 production at The New York State Theater at Lincoln Center. This present cast is a superlative one.

Dorothy Sandlin is always a Sonata with the carriage, the physique, the grandeur of this part that was first delineated by Milzi Gunther, Miss Sandlin's elegant "Vilja" stopped the show, as it has with every other soprano I have seen. It was altogether lovely and I felt glad all over that some opportune producer in the early days of the relic's history had seen fit to change the widows name from a prosaic name, Hanna Galvati (probably first rank in Marsovia), to the more mellifluous Sonia.

Richard Fredricks is a dashing Danilo equipped with a fine bass-baritone that emanates from a succession of Parisian boulevardier, roving peasant and Marsovian Hussar. He married well with only five girls from Maxims, whereas the original had six. Economy in this day of government grants.

EDWARD EVERETT HORTON is the only Popoff that ever was. He must have the voice of the turtle because it comes from the face of a turtle, scribbled with maturity and wisdom, harboring a smile that just never comes through to let you know that it all is kind of silly. Marsovia in his hands receives the treatment of a plenipotentiary at the U.N. He defers to his king, but realises in his inadequacies. He condones his wife's cuckoldry so as to preserve the throne. He wears a hussar's kapok at such a rakish angle that you can feel it laughing at you. And with the gang of fellows marches and gallops and its number four in a high kicking chorus line as they do "Wulber, wulber, wulber."

Joe Ross is a nifty Nani, Mischa Auer notwithstanding. There are so many others of robust voice and high-style operetta theatrics. Donna Sanders as Madame Popoff, John Peck as St. Brichoe and Peter Costanza as Cascada, and of course, Montes de Oca as Pierre de Joldion, who with Madame Popoff sings my all-time favorite, "Romance."

How can one deny the marvelous lilt of "The Merry Widow Waltz," the veritable schmalz of "The Gold and Silver Baller," the plaintive sentimentality of "Vilja," the jaunty, foxy march of "Women, women, women?" Yes, how can they be denied?

Don't deny them! Go see and hear "The Merry Widow" at the Paper Mill now now.

FLIGHT PRIZE
 The New York World newspaper offered $10,000 in January 1967 for anyone making a flight from any point in Greater New York to within 10 miles of the Capital & Albany. The prize marked the observance of the Hudson-Fulton celebration.

Stanley Warner theaters to get modern 'face-lifting'

A renovation program is currently underway to transform a number of Stanley Warner Theaters in North New Jersey into ultra-modern showplaces with up-to-date innovations and installations. It was announced recently by Henry Burger, New Jersey zone manager.

Theaters already completed in the Essex and Union Counties areas are the Hollywood, East Orange, the Cranford, Cranford and the Welmont, Montclair.

In the process of an extensive face-lifting is the Sanford Theater in Irvington, with modernization scheduled for completion in time for the showhouse's exclusive Essex County engagement of "The Sound of Music," which starts June 21. During its innovation, the Sanford will continue to present films during evening hours and weekends.

Also scheduled during the next few months for transformation are the Union Theater in Union Center and the Millburn Theater in Millburn. Drew Ebersohn, theater architect, has been commissioned to remodel and rebuild the two showhouses.

The Union and the Millburn will have a new marble facade and new architectural treatment throughout. The "new look" will be highlighted in the theater fronts with an ultra-modern trim line soffit with a massive suspended double-faced attraction panel.

The lobby and interior will be revamped, up-dated and redecorated to conform with present day standards of construction. Among the new improvements will be luxurious rooms, inside lobby ticket counters, new large screens and improved sound and projection. Glass panels will enclose the auditoriums to eliminate foyer noises.

In Millburn, adjoining commercial shops are being eliminated to make room for a larger theater. In Irvington, the Sanford, as part of its new front, will have a trim line canopy and suspended attraction panel similar to the Union and Millburn.

French-comedy opens at Ormont

"La Vie De Chateau," French adult comedy, starring Catherine Deneuve, Philippe Noiret, Pierre Brasseur and Carlos Thompson, arrived at the Ormont Theater, East Orange, yesterday.

The picture, which concerns the misadventures of a French family in a chateau which has been taken over by German troops, and the lady of the house who finds herself pursued by both the German and Resistance leaders, despite her jealous husband, was directed by Jean Paul Rappeneau, Rappeneau, an established screen writer, is making his directorial bow in "La Vie De Chateau."

Miniature railroad to open for season

The Centerville & Southwestern Railroad, miniature steam railroad in Roseland, will begin its 1967 season on Saturday.

The C & S operates a 30-horsepower steam locomotive—known as a 4-8-4 Pacific type, equipped with air compressor for brakes, air operated brass bell and steam chime whistle.

Starting from the station on Livingston ave., the train makes a round trip of two miles via a horseshoe curve. An automatic color light signal system controls all train moves.

The train operates on Saturdays and holidays up to Labor Day and on Wednesday afternoons and evenings during July and August. Schedules and brochures are available by calling 226-2003.

What? Huh? What did you say? I can hardly hear you!

If you ever have trouble hearing while phoning long distance, please call the Operator.

If you dial long distance and the connection is so bad you can't carry on a conversation, let the Operator know. She'll see that you're not charged for the call, and get you a new connection. Should the trouble recur, telephone repair service will start tracking down the trouble. There may be literally thousands of miles of wire and cable, scores of switches, and dozens of relays to check. A big job. Fortunately, these days you don't often have trouble hearing while phoning long distance. A few decades ago it was altogether common. Remember the shouting?

Things have become much better—mainly because we are never satisfied. So we continually upgrade all the equipment involved.

We've developed better cables. And now microwave transmissions are helping, too. But you are still one of our best sources of information. So please let us know whenever our transmission is not up to snuff—whether you are calling long distance or locally.

FOR THE BIRDS

By FARRIS S. SWACKHAMER, professor, Union Junior College

For many years my wife and I used to take a ride down to the shore during early spring. We'd stop along the way at every spot that was liable to be productive of a migrating shore bird. The first one was along Raritan Bay in South Amboy. Just below the yacht club is a stretch of beach where sandpipers and plovers often gather. Occasionally, too, there is a chance of seeing a foreign gull that has wintered along the western Atlantic beaches rather than the eastern ones.

place for Canada geese and many varieties of duck. I've taken some good pictures there. Five or six years ago we took this trek, snappd several rolls of color slides along the way and then ate lunch in one of the few restaurants that are open all year. After eating the breeze was warm and the sun bright so we decided to stroll on the deserted boardwalk. As we cut across the mixture of sand and grass that separates road from beach, a brown shape flew up in our face and came to earth about 30 feet in front of us. It was a killdeer.

It feigned a broken wing and kept a constant distance ahead as we followed it. After some yards, it flew away but when we retraced our steps, the whole act was repeated again. Obviously it had a nest nearby and was determined we shouldn't find it. A telephone lineman working on a nearby pole had seen the incident and from his high perch, had located the eggs. He pointed them out to us. If he hadn't, their natural camouflage would certainly have hidden them.

Killdeers are members of the plover family. They have brown backs, white underparts and necks with two characteristic dark brown or black collars. They are the most widely distributed member of the plover family. I have seen them on the California coast, along the Rahway River in Union County and on Cape Cod. Although they are most often seen near water during migration, they may nest in pastures, cultivated fields, on gravelly ground. Early in the century, one case was reported of eggs laid on a gravel forcing the gardener to move them so they wouldn't be run over by carriages. Another killdeer built between the ties of a railroad in use.

Employees honored

City Federal Savings and Loan Association honored two employees for 10 years of service at a dinner held recently at the Hotel Suburban, Summit. They were Mrs. Marlon E. Brady of Maplewood, assistant manager of the East Orange office, and Andrew Donlin of Clark of the mortgage servicing department.

Sand traps not only golf hazards, warns Safety Council

"My father's a golf nut," said the small boy to his new friend. "What kind of a nut is your father?"

Conservatively speaking, 8.5-million Americans — including "nutty" fathers, women and junior golfers (persons under 18) — will play at least 15 rounds of golf during this present season. An estimated additional 1.5-million golfers will play less frequently.

Golf in America, according to the National Golf Foundation, had its beginnings when Joseph Mickler-Fox introduced the game at his summer home in Foxburg, Pa., in 1884, upon his return from a trip to Scotland. The Foxburg Golf Club, reputedly the first such club to be formed in America, was founded in 1887. It is still in existence.

By 1900, "Harper's Golf Guide" listed 982 private and public golf courses in existence in every state except Idaho. This number doubled by the early 1920s and swelled to 5,856 in 1930. At present, there are 8,672 golf courses in the United States. This does not include golf driving ranges and miniature golf putting courses.

If you've had difficulty in getting onto a golf course lately, don't be surprised. The squeeze is on. The rate of growth in the number of golf courses is not keeping pace with the percentage of the population taking up the sport.

In 1930, there was one golf course for every 325 golfers. Today, there is but one course for every 1,000 golfers. The Golf Foundation estimates that by 1970 there will be 10,000 courses for roughly 10 million golfers — which will just about keep pace with the present ratio of courses to golfers.

Although golf is essentially not a dangerous sport, it's not at all surprising — when you consider the increased population density on the courses and the ever-increasing diversity of backgrounds and skills of the players — that crazy antics on the golf courses are taking an increasing toll.

Players run their motorized carts into trees, bombard one another with golf balls, clobber their fellows with clubs and invite electrocution by playing during thunderstorms. Many golfing injuries, the New Jersey State Safety Council points out, are inflicted by the golf ball that drops from out of nowhere. Such injuries are often slight, for the ball has traveled far enough to lose its speed and impact. But at close range a ball can deliver a fatal knockout blow.

Generally these accidents are caused by a lack of common sense and courtesy. A player gets impatient and tees off before those ahead have played their second shots or are safely out of range — about 200 yards for amateurs.

There's good safety logic behind the courtesy rule that the player farthest from the green always shoots first. Other players should stay behind the hitter and not get in front of him until his ball is in the air.

Slices and hooks plague even the pros. The Council says that to protect yourself and others, you should give warning if you see someone in the path of your wild shot, and keep on the alert for flying balls from other fairways.

A surprising number of golfers are clobbered by golf clubs. Make sure that bystanders are not within the arc of your swing, and — to protect yourself — never walk behind a person holding a club.

Power carts save time, effort and heart strain. But careless operation can cause them to end up in a creek or against a tree. If turned sharply or driven on steep inclines or in rough areas, they are prone to tip.

The Council says golfers should take shelter at the first signs of rain. Lightning strikes most often during the muggy lull preceding rain. Standing in the open, the golfer is often the highest object in the area — making him a perfect target for lightning. The nearest lone tree, the classic lightning target, is a booby trap. Take shelter in a building or crouch in a ditch or sand trap.

The Council says another major mishap on the course is collapse due to overexertion or

National Guard to start field training

Some 12,000 members of the 50th Armored Division, New Jersey Army National Guard, will move from home armories to Camp Drum, N. Y., tomorrow, for 16 days' annual field training — their 20th at that upstate New York reservation.

The division, commanded by Maj. Gen. James H. Weyhenmeyer Jr. of Livingston, will go to Camp Drum at its highest personnel strength ever. It is one of the two top-priority armored divisions in the Army's reserve force structure, a division spokesman said.

The Support Command plus the 2d and 3rd Brigades representing units from northern, central and metropolitan New Jersey will move over the route from home armories via local roads and the Garden State Parkway to the New York Thruway, then via New York Rt. 12 north to Camp Drum. Col. Herman Tenkin of Union is Support Command Commander.

A FIFTH OF SNOWFALL
A snowfall in California occasionally covers about one-fifth of the state, or 35,000 square miles, says the National Automobile Club.

UJC board of trustees elects Springfield man

Warren W. Halsey of Springfield, retired superintendent of schools of the Union County Regional High School District, will be installed as secretary of the Board of Trustees of Union Junior College on Monday at 4 p.m. in the conference room of the Campus Center.

Dr. William H. McLean of Short Hills, chairman of the nominating and membership committee, will present a slate of trustees to be elected to three-year terms and a slate of officers for the 1967-68 academic year.

Don't pack a lunch. Your Volkswagen happens to lead a very simple, uncomplicated life. Even when it's broken down. Because it doesn't change very much year after year, our mechanics don't have to learn about an entirely new car every year. On your terms. Or your expense. To them, a 67 adjustment is really not that different from any other VW adjustment that's been made since the year one. Which is why they're so good at servicing it. So thorough. And so fast. When improvements are made, many of the new parts are made to fit older models. Which is why there's a VW around today that we don't have a part for. Or can't get for you in short order. Over the years, we've gotten pretty good at servicing Volkswagens. We owe it all to the Volkswagen.

Patient's OK for drugs

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Doctors may soon have to ask for written permission from their patient or his family before they use a dangerous drug, a physician predicts.

There is a growing recognition that there is a great risk in the use of some drugs and this may force doctors to seek written consent. Dr. Joseph D'Alma of Hahnemann College, Philadelphia, told a University of Michigan conference.

He said written consent is now required for volunteer drug testing and even minor operations and "It is not unreasonable to expect the same requirement for the administration of a drug where the risk may be considerably larger than for the average operation."

FAMILY LIFE TODAY

By Mabel G. Stolte, County Home Economist

Does it seem as if you are always saying, "Don't touch that Timmy!" "Put that down, Jane!"

One, two and three year olds start learning by touching things around them. Remember this the next time you caution Timmy or Jane not to touch something.

Teach your children that there are some things within reach that they can and cannot touch for specific reasons. For example, a radiator that will burn, a glass that will cut one's fingers if broken.

Perhaps, you can make it a point to have some items such as wooden spoons, pieces of material or a rubber ball within easy reach along with these other objects that should not be handled in the home.

You can also help your youngsters learn about the feel of things they will later be reading about in school by taking a walk down your street and feeling a glass window, seeing and petting a dog or a cat. Just placing a letter in a mail box can be an adventure.

Another important point to remember is to talk about things you are seeing and doing. Play some games with this in mind.

Take a plain brown paper bag and put some hard and soft, rough and smooth objects in it. Make sure nothing is sharp or rough. Leave an opening in the top just large enough for one of your child's hands. Then play this game.

Have your youngsters reach in and find something you describe — something hard or soft, smooth or rough. This may include seed pods, a feather, a piece of cardboard.

Then you can reverse the game and have them feel and describe something soft and ask you what it is.

If you'd like a good used Volkswagen, see your Volvo dealer.

When we discovered that former Volkswagen owners buy more Volvo than anybody except former Volvo owners, our first reaction was "That's nice."

Our second reaction was "That's very nice."

Volkswagen has a reputation for reliability that most car makers would give their eye-teeth for.

And when a VW owner has to step out of his little economy car into a bigger car, it's significant that he so often steps into a Volvo.

Volvo, as we say, is the compact that lasts an average of eleven years in Sweden where there are no speed limits on the highways, where there are over 70,000 miles of unpaved roads, where driving is virtually a national pastime.

Besides reliability, Volvo has a couple of other virtues that appeal to former Volkswagen owners. Volvos deliver over 25 miles to the gallon, even with automatic transmission.

Volvos out-accelerate every other compact in their class, and run away from a few cars that are out of their class.

Of course, Volvo and Volkswagen owners aren't the only people who appreciate a car that goes fast, costs little to operate, and lasts longer than the payment book.

A lot of Fords and Chevs are traded in on Volvos, too. We figure that makes sense. They're in Volvo's price range.

69 Cadillacs were also traded in on Volvos last year. You figure that one out.

Negro's part in history now receives attention

"Some history textbooks are finally conceding the existence of the American Negro but recognition of the Negro's contributions to the development of America remains spotty and incomplete," says the New Jersey Education Assn.

Until now, textbooks have portrayed slavery as "paternalistic rather than horrible," says an article in the current issue of the "NJEA Review," the monthly professional journal for New Jersey teachers. Reformers who sought to abolish slavery were pictured as "fanatics" reconstruction of the South after the Civil War as "unnecessary rape"; and reconstructionists as "carpetbaggers" and "arch villains."

A new generation of textbooks now admit slavery is "an ugly institution," says the "NJEA Review," and they place abolitionists and Reconstruction in "proper perspective." But there the improvement ends. The comments: "Regrettably, the Negro still seems to disappear from American history at the end of Reconstruction and does not reappear until discussion of the civil rights movement."

The modified textbooks still create the impression that Anglo-Saxons made Lafayette and Pulaski.

Textbooks are not only transmitting "racial distortions" to Americans, the "NJEA Review" notes. Literature, movies and TV all portray the West as white, despite the fact that, after the Civil War, 15 to 30 percent of all cowboys were Negroes. So were some of the best troops in the Indian Wars. Even the Negro Indian has not received his due. Few Americans have heard of Che-

Employment trend noted

Nonfarm wage and salary employment in New Jersey rose less than seasonally by 17,400 during April. According to estimates prepared by the New Jersey Department of Labor and Industry on the basis of its monthly employer survey, April employment, excluding self-employed, domestic, farm and unpaid family workers, was 2,385,800. This represents a gain of 74,600, or 3.2 percent, over the level of April, 1966.

Employment in manufacturing declined more than seasonally during April, as smaller than seasonal gains in durable goods failed to moderate the effects of a seasonal decline of 7,700 in non-durable goods. This decline was due primarily to seasonal layoffs in the apparel industry. Overall, employment rose by 500 in durable goods with a gain of 1,000 in the miscellaneous-manufacturing group partially offset by a 700 decline in non-electrical machinery.

Nonmanufacturing employment rose somewhat less than seasonally expected by 26,600. Significant over-the-month changes included gains of 10,000 in services, 7,200 in contract construction, 7,200 in trade, and 1,000 in finance, insurance and real estate. The average factory workweek lengthened by two-tenths of an hour to 40.7 hours, raising average weekly earnings by $0.58 to $118.44. Average hourly earnings were unchanged at $2.91.

MEMORIAL DAY

With pride in our heritage, and with heartfelt gratitude, we honor our nation's heroes

On the solemn occasion of Memorial Day, we remember the departed . . . and we honor those to whom honor meant all . . . with sorrow and pride, with respect and gratitude. To the valiant, who selflessly gave all, that our great nation might endure in strength and freedom, we pay heartfelt tribute. Their spirit lives on . . . in the resolve of each of us to treasure and preserve the liberty for which they gave the last full measure of devotion. May the memory of their gallant deeds ever inspire us.

Items found in park to be put on auction

Thirteen bicycles, baseball gloves, wrist watches, ice skates, a transistor radio, three golf carts and other items found throughout the Union County Park System and turned over to the Union County Park Police will be auctioned to the public at a sale to be held on Saturday, it was announced to the Union County Park Commission.

The sale will be conducted by the Union County Park Police, beginning at 10 a.m. in the service building adjacent to the Administration Building of the Park Commission in Warinanco Park, Elizabeth and Roselle.

The material being auctioned has been in the custody of the park police for over six months. The proceeds of the sale will be added to the Union County Park Police Pension Fund.

REALTOR WEEK proclamations are studied by Charles V. Berry, president of the Eastern Union County Board of Realtors (L.) and George Pagoulatos, Realtor Week chairman. Mayors of Union, Kenilworth, Linden, Roselle and Roselle Park have all proclaimed this week as "Realtor Week."

Realty offices, salesmen join in celebration of annual week

"The Time is Right to Buy a Home" is the theme of the 1967 Realtor Week celebration this week by the 100 realtor offices and the 400 sales personnel of the Eastern Union County Board of Realtors, according to Charles V. Berry, board president.

In honor of Realtor Week, a number of community-wide observances have been scheduled as realtors in this area join with their more than 85,000 colleagues across the nation directing public attention to their calling and the special character of the services they render," Berry said.

"A realtor," said Berry, "is a professional in real estate who subscribes to a strict code of ethics as a member of the local and state boards and of the National Association of Real Estate Boards."

In discussing the code of ethics, Berry continued that "it was one of the first such codes adopted in the history of American business. Under its 30 articles, which cover all aspects of real estate transactions, realtors pledge fair treatment and their total real estate knowledge to both parties of a contract—the buyer and seller."

Realtor Week will continue through Saturday, Berry explained. "The slogan this year underscores the resourcefulness of realtors throughout the nation. For the prospective buyer who is experiencing a little difficulty in securing financing for property, the realtor can suggest new money sources. For the family which needs more space for growth, the realtor can find just the home which will fill their needs, both as size and cost."

"Two-thirds of American families own their homes, a proportion virtually unrivaled anywhere in the world," Berry declared. "The advantages of home ownership, in convenience, in security and as an investment, are boundless."

Blossoms at peak in Azalea Garden

The Azalea Garden in Warinanco Park, Elizabeth and Roselle, is now presenting its annual array of spring color, it was recently announced by William Anderson, forestry and horticulture foreman for the Union County Park Commission.

Anderson stated that there is a variety of color in each of the five major groups in the Azalea Garden, including the Chion hybrids, Kaempferi hybrids, Kurume hybrids, Mollis hybrids, Vuyk hybrids, in addition to most of the species plants. The Korean species, Yodogawa Azalea and the Royal Azalea may still be in bloom.

The vivid colors in the garden are expected to be at their peak during the week of May 28, weather permitting, and will continue to show color through late June when the Indicum azaleas bloom.

The garden, constructed and planted in 1945, contains nearly 3,000 plants representing 54 species and clonal varieties covering 2-1/2 acres in Warinanco Park.

In 1957, the garden was dedicated to the late Caxton Brown, one of the original park commissioners, who served from 1921 to the time of his death in 1952, and a plaque overlooking the garden honors his memory.

A plant list and diagram of the garden is available by contacting the Public Information Department, The Union County Park Commission, Box 275, Elizabeth.

Reminder issued on social security

Spring is summer job hunting season for many high school and college students. Students who will be taking a job for the first time and will need a social security number were urged this week by Ralph W. Jones, social security district manager in Elizabeth, to apply now and avoid the late May and June rush.
Jones stated that, by applying now, the student will avoid unnecessary delay. As schools draw to a close in June for summer vacations applications for social security cards is four to five times greater than in the other months of the year and some delays occur. Since employers need to see a new employee's social security card before he goes on duty, getting the card late could cause a delay in starting work, and result in missing a good job opportunity.
Jones concluded by urging students not to wait until the school term ends to apply for their social security numbers. Applications may be obtained from the Elizabeth social security district office at 268 North Broad St., or from most post offices.

Memorial service

The Springfield Fire Department will attend the 11 o'clock annual Memorial Day service. Chief Ormond Meeker will lead the delegation in this service, which commemorates the deceased members of the department. The Rev. Bruce W. Evans, pastor of the church, serves as chaplain of the Fire Department.

Tips from women back in college

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI) -- A lawn suffering from bald spots will take care of itself, provided the spots aren't too big, a soil scientist says. Paul Rieke of Michigan State University says any spot less than four inches in diameter should not be reseeded. The grass will spread and hide such spots in quick order. But Rieke says anything larger will have to be reseeded or sodded.

Checking account can be beneficial to budget-minded

FACTS TO KNOW ABOUT YOUR CHECKING ACCOUNT

A checking account can be very beneficial if properly handled, says Mabel G. Soltz, County Home economist. Canceled checks provide an automatic receipt to use as a record of income and major expenses. This receipt will, also, prevent you from paying a bill twice and provides proof-positive for your income tax report. In addition, if you do not overdraw on the checking account it can increase your credit prestige, if and when you need to borrow money.

Shop around before deciding where you will place your checking account. Every business bank, and some savings banks, provide this service under the titles, "business or regular" and "special or budget" checking accounts. However, service charges vary considerably. Regular checking accounts are designed for business or individuals who maintain a minimum balance anywhere between $100 and $1,000. Service charges may actually cost you several dollars a month or nothing. This depends upon the way they are set up and how you use them.

Some regular checking accounts charge a set base fee, plus so much for each deposit and withdrawal made. They may, or may not, charge for checks deposited in your account drawn on the bank's own name. Dividends or earning credit paid on the minimum balance may also vary from bank to bank. Statements of balance on hand are usually sent out once a month.

Corresponding variations in service charges may also be found in "special or budget" checking accounts. The most common service charges for these accounts seem to be 50 cents per month and 10 cents for each check drawn on the checking account. No minimum balance is required for these accounts. However, there are still some differences to be found even within these checking accounts.

Some commercial banks have a Special Account which allows a set number of checks, (i.e. five) to be withdrawn for a base fee of 10¢ per check. All additional checks deposited or withdrawn will cost you extra.

Some savings banks provide a special checking account service for their regular depositors. These banks require a set minimum savings in their bank's savings account. (For example, $50.)

Then, you can use their special checking account services for less than the commercial or business banks charge. At the same time, however, interest on savings may be lower in these banks. You may wish to keep just a token amount in this kind of bank.

Remember, you will save money by shopping around for your checking account. But you must know your own habits and do a little figuring on your own to compare the final cost in each bank.

FAIR PLAY
It is not always true, as it has been said, that "nice guys finish last."
Many of the nation's greatest athletes have earned recognition of the public as "nice guys." And, let's face it, if an athlete is good enough to win, and to win often, he should learn how to become a graceful winner.
On the other hand, some never learn to lose. Winning is important to the professional athlete. He has to win to survive. Yet the professional athlete, generally, knows that his success or failure depends upon his personal ability. He does not have to be popular to remain in professional sports. He just has to keep winning.

In the game of life, many of us are quick to blame our failures on someone else. It is never that we did not try hard enough, that we did not do the things that needed doing; it is, instead, that someone interfered with our efforts, someone got in the way; someone "goofed" it up.
The best players in any game, those who win the majority of the time, are usually the ones who observe the rules of fair play and good honest competition — who blame only themselves when someone turns in a better effort.

Auto Club blasts state for misuse of revenues

The state government is holding highway construction expenditures to a "bare minimum," while diverting an increasing amount of motorist taxes for non-highway purposes, the New Jersey Auto Club-AAA has charged in the current issue of the club magazine, "The Autoist."
Club Manager F. Kenneth Schultze told the 40,000 members of the American Automobile Assn. in Essex, Union, and Morris counties that "the highway-user taxpayer is being singled out to bear a disproportionate share of financing the state government."

more than 47 per cent of motorist taxes will be diverted in 1968 to other uses. Schultze urged AAA members to write their legislators urging the enactment of anti-diversion legislation. The article listed assemblymen and senators and included a complete chart of highway-user taxes compared with appropriations for highway purposes in both 1967 and 1968.

Meisel pitches no-hitter for PBA in youth league

Bob Meisel pitched the first no-hit game of the season in the Springfield Youth Major League, as PBA exploded for a 12-1 victory over American Legion. Meisel struck out 15 batters in the six-inning game as the Legion, which suffered its first defeat of the season, was able to hit only one ball to the outfield. Tod McQuaid and Johnny Bahr were key hitters for PBA.

Jimmy Schoch pitched and batted Rotary to a 9-2 victory over the Legion, as the winners scored four runs in the fifth inning and four more in the sixth. Schoch pitched a four-inning and had three hits to help himself, including a two-run homer. Ed Cook had a three-run homer for Rotary. Mark Jaffe had two hits for the winners and starred in the field. Dan Kocovsky had a triple and single for the Legion. Reimette's scored seven runs in the first inning and coasted from there on to defeat Lions Club, 9-4. For Crestmont, Ken Flockhart, Bill Fisher and Steve Harris all pitched well. Jeff Sarokin and Fisher each had two hits, and Gil Gleim had one.

Strong relief pitching by Matt Telator, coupled with an eight-run rally in the fifth, powered Reimette's to a 13-5 victory over Jayne. Telator hurled three innings of shutout ball. Gene Shute led the attack with a bases-loaded double.

Jim Toll fired a four-hit shutout as Rotary blasted Lions, 9-0. His mate had five hits, and were helped by nine walks. Mark Weber had a clutch triple for Rotary, and Ed Cook had two hits. Schwab tripled to drive in two runs for the Elks in the second inning. They added four more in the fifth, with the key blows a double by Schwab, a single by Mitch Wolff and a long sacrifice fly by Rick Deusch.

Mitch Wolff took over on the mound for Elks and fired a two-hitter as they trounced Angleton, 9-1. Bobby Vaughan led the Elks' attack with three hits, and Deusch had two. Alan Schlager had both hits for Angleton. Bob Janukowicz was the losing pitcher.

Angleton whipped Morris Motors, 9-0, behind a two-hit pitching job by Bob Fielding. Swinging the big bats for Angleton were Bob Janukowicz, Alan Schlager and Ricky Williams. George Robbins and Gary Katz had the only hits for Morris, which got good defensive play from Fred Gold, Ed Graessle and Steve Max.

Angleton came back and defeated Morris again, 9-2, behind the strong pitching of Ricky Williams, Eric Wasserman tripled and singled for Angleton, with Janukowicz clouting a double and single. Baldwin led the attack with two hits. Raymond Jones pitched four scoreless innings in relief for Rex, and Wayne Malens had two hits.

Bill Kilian slammed five hits, including a home run and a triple, to lead Bunnell Bros. to a 19-5 triumph over Elkay Products. Russ Gabay and Bill Brewer also tripled for Bunnell. Leon Rawitz was the winning pitcher with a four-hitter. Marc Shipman homered for Elkay.

The Naber brothers held a slight edge over the Mercus brothers as Chamber of Commerce outscored Sam's Friendly Service, 14-13, with four runs in the fourth and final inning. For the Chamber, Jim Naber had two home runs and a single, and John Naber had a double and two singles. Kevin and John Mercus each had a homer and a single for Sam's. Charles Moore was the winning pitcher.

Rex Dairy Queen scored three runs in the final inning to edge Concrete Block, 5-1, behind the three-hit pitching of Wayne Magers. Magers also led the winners' attack with a key double. Keith Widom had two hits for Concrete Block, giving him six extra-base hits in his first eight times at bat.

Chamber of Commerce exploded for 10 runs in the fifth inning to blast Concrete Block, 11-6. Wayne Camp struck out 12 men to become the winning pitcher. Rich Goldhammer led the Chamber attack with four hits, and Camp clouted a key double. Jim Andrews had a homer and single for Concrete Block, and Jess Greenstein and Alan Filtrits both tripled.

Marc Shipman pitched and batted Elkay Products to a 15-3 rout of Wesley Jewelers. Shipman pitched a one-hitter, striking out 11 men and walking seven. He also led the Elkay attack.

Micky Martinovich and Carmen Scoppeu tripled to spark Bunnell Bros. to a 12-6 victory over Fire Department. Bill Kilian was the winning pitcher, with Tim Tackles out.

Leon Rawitz was the winning pitcher as Bunnell Bros. trounced Sam's Friendly Service, 18-4. Rawitz was in command all the way, after his team scored eight runs in the first inning. He gave nine hits, but allowed only one walk. Todd Herman had a single and homer for Sam's.

Mark Jacobs, helped by strong relief pitching by Jess Greenstein, received credit for the victory as Concrete Block defeated Wesley Jewelers, 10-5. Stuart Sherman had three hits for the winners, including a double, and Robert Rosenkrantz had a double and single. Jim Andrews also doubled for Concrete Block. Greenstein struck out six men in relief. Matt Levine pitched well in defeat, striking out 10 men and giving a single walk. He also hit a double and single. David Snyder and Barry Baldwin both tripled for Wesley.

Baskin, Chrisholm, frosh score in Watchung meet

Senior Greg Baskin, junior Bill Chrisholm and the freshman relay team all brought Watchung Conference honors to the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School track team last Thursday as the Bulldogs finished sixth in a field of eight in the annual conference meet. Dayton also completed its regular season last Tuesday when the Bulldogs competed against Scotch Plains-Fanwood High School, second-ranked in the Conference.

Excluding that meet, which will be reported next week, the Bulldogs have a 2-7-1 record, following losses last week to the Pingry School of Elizabeth, 86-40, and Rahway High School, 75-54.

Baskin captured the conference championship for Dayton in the shortput, with a mark of 49-5, and took second in the discus, setting a new Dayton school record with 150-9 1/2. Chrisholm won the other individual honor for Dayton, hurling for a third place in the javelin with a 179.

The freshman relay team of Tommy Campbell, Marty Josephs, Bob Sasse and Bruce Smith dashed to an 49.6 time and second place.

record to near 500 with a mark of 6-8. The Bulldogs edged Edison-Technical School of Elizabeth, 10-9, and shut out two sister Regionals, Gov. Livingston of Berkeley Heights and David Barclay of Kenilworth, 1-0 and 2-0, respectively. Dayton also split a double-header with Scotch Plains-Fanwood High School, winning the second game 5-1, after dropping the first contest, 2-1.

The team, under the direction of head coach Ed Jasinski and assistant coach Mike Lannelli, will play Rahway High School today at home and travel tomorrow to Cranford High School. The Bulldogs will complete their season one week from today when they entertain Hillside High School.

HIGHLIGHTS of the week included two homers by Bob Gartlan and Ralph Losanno and a one-hitter hurled by Steve Jupa for the second time against Kentworth.

Dave Hollander started against Edison on the mound, but it was the pitching and hitting of Tony Gromek in relief, along with Losanno's blast, that squeaked out the Bulldog victory.

Two singles and a sacrifice bunt gave Edison an early lead, but in the second half of the first inning Dayton came back. With two out, Jupa walked, advancing on two hard-hit singles by Gartlan and Ron Azarewicz to tie. Gartlan crossed on the left fielder's error on the next play.

But Edison retaliated with a spectacular seven-run inning in the second, hitting four singles and capitalizing on five Bulldog errors. Dayton was now down, 8-2.

GROMEK ENTERED in the third and stole the momentum from Edison by fanning three batters in a row. Meanwhile, Dayton began to edge forward, narrowing the Edison lead by one run in the third on singles by Gary Kurtz and Rich Campbell. The same pattern was repeated in the fourth: three away for Edison, and another Bulldog run. This time Tom Brownie led off with a single, and pitcher Gromek and third baseman John Schoch followed in kind.

Edison extended its margin still further in the top of the fifth. A lead-off double and two bases on balls loaded up the bases and passed the threat of another strong scoring inning. On the next swing, quick infield work by Dayton caught the runner at home, momentarily delaying the score. The run walked in when the next batter took first. Score: Edison Tech, 9 and Dayton, 4.

A single by outfielder Phil Beneduce and a walk by Gartlan set up the bases for the hit that broke open the game for Dayton in the bottom of the fifth. Losanno, a sophomore, stepped up to the plate and slammed a long ball to left center that added three to the Bulldog tally. Outfielder Don Buehrer walked and Gromek then stepped up for his second single of the game, and a sacrifice by Schoch put Buehrer in scoring position.

Then the Edison pitching collapsed. Gary Kurtz walked, and a run scored on a balk and a hit batter, as Dayton won the game, 10-9, in the eighth.

JUPA, WHO SCORED his first mound victory in a one-hitter against Kenilworth, delivered a carbon copy of his first game the second time around. This time, however, Dayton batsmen fared somewhat better, netting six hits, although both runs were unearned. Gartlan scored in the second after he walked, and was pushed along by Losanno sacrifice and a third baseman's error.

In the fifth Don Buehrer (who went two for three) singled and was advanced by Tom Schoch's long single to right center field. A base on balls by Jupa loaded the bases, and Gartlan grounded to the shortstop, who fumbled, scoring Buehrer. Other hits were registered by Campbell in the second, Kurtz in the third, Gartlan in the fourth and Buehrer in the fifth.

Dayton also shut out Berkeley Heights with Jupa's pitching, but the Highlanders twice came dangerously close to scoring. In the third Berkeley smashed four consecutive singles, but catcher Gartlan caught the lead runner out at the plate despite the hit. Bases were loaded once again by the Highlanders in the seventh when, with two out, Gartlan ended both the inning and the game by a dead-end, accurate throw to first, catching the Berkeley man off base.

Dayton scored its run early. Campbell reached first on an error, stole second, and crossed home on a long single by Gartlan to left. Beneduce singled in the fifth, and both Kurtz and Jupa did the same in the sixth, but no real scoring threat materialized after the first inning.

THE ONLY DOUBLE-HEADER of the year, a yearly event between the Scotch Plains Raiders and Bulldogs, ended in a dead heat. Pitcher Bob Gartlan, in his only mound appearance of the busy week, completely dominated the first game. His pitching was superb, and overall it was his best of the season. To top off this showing, Gartlan scored the only Bulldog run with a lead-off homer in the fourth. With a 1-1 count, Gartlan connected on a fast ball for a hit that soared, hitting the far curb of the track at Meisel Field on a fly for the longest blow of the season.

Dayton came close to scoring on several other occasions. In the first, Kurtz led-off with a single, and Schoch followed with a sacrifice. Jupa singled and stole second, placing men on second on singles by only one out. Again in the fifth, Buehrer walked. Kurtz singled again to the shortstop hole and a Schoch sacrifice set up the same situation.

Dayton's fielding was sharp, and that strong improvement helped immeasurably. In the second outfielder Buehrer made a spectacular catch that stopped a probable many-base hit. In the fourth, the Raiders hit back-to-back singles down the left field line to score. Gartlan then gave up his only bases on balls of the game. With the bases loaded, one out, Gartlan struck out the next two batters; one of them a strong pinch-hitter.

An error on a throw in the sixth gave the game to the Raiders. It was the only Bulldog error of the contest.

GROMEK PITCHED the second game, and the Bulldogs easily topped the Raiders this time. Scotch Plains fielded a young pitcher to start whose fine curve ball surprised the Bulldogs at first. But by the second inning, he began to tire, and Dayton took full advantage.

Gartlan walked and Losanno, going three for the game, chopped a single to short right. Brownie walked, loading the bases. Following the first out of the inning, Buehrer sacrificed Gartlan home. Then, with two away, men on second and third, the Raider hurler balked, scoring Losanno for the winning run.

Dayton also scored in the third and fourth. Schoch walked, and a three-bagger hit to left field by Jupa scored him. Jupa tagged up on Gartlan's long fly ball to deep left field to place Dayton up, 4-0. The fifth run came when Campbell singled, moved to second on a fielder's choice play, and Kurtz received the RBI on his single.

The Scotch Plains squad scored on back-to-back doubles in the fourth. The Raiders also scored in the fifth, but the Bulldogs' strong defense kept them from scoring again.

Steve rolled games of 146 and 114. The final two boys on the Tiger team also produced good series, as Steve Silpe, rolled a 237 series and Kenny Haroff topped 231 pins in the two-game match. Steve's second game effort of 150 topped all bowlers for a single game effort.

The Hurricanes, who had been trying for a "grand slam," didn't go down without a battle. Karl Mende of the hurricane team was at the top of his game in this match. Karl rolled one of his top efforts of the year, as he had a series total of 262. Craig Nowinski and Todd Norman also helped the hurricane offense. Craig scored a 244 series, while Todd's two-game total was 236. Joe Pope, a first-year bowler, contributed to the hurricane total with a fine 218 series.

Two victories for tennis team; finale this week

By MYRON MEISEL
The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School tennis team swept two victories last week, placing the fledgling netsters within reach of a winning first season as they complete their play for the year today and tomorrow. The Bulldogs defeated Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School of Clark for the second time, 5-0 and handed a loss to Rahway High School, 4-1.

Both of the concluding matches are to be played at the home courts of Irwin and Samuel, versus Cranford High School this afternoon at 3:30 and Governor Livingston Regional High School of Berkeley Heights tomorrow.

Clark provided an easy mark for the relatively young Dayton squad. Lenny Burstein, playing first singles, won in straight sets, 6-1 and 6-0, as did second man Dennis Inley, 6-4, 6-4, and Steve Piller, 6-2, 6-4. The doubles squads of Mike Chotiner-Warren Danziger and Barry Fishman-John Edwards did likewise. Chotiner-Danziger, 6-2 and 6-3, while Fishman-Edwards twice won 6-0.

Rahway was a much-tighter competition. Freshman Hank Dobin led off in first singles, but lost. Lenny Burstein easily won his first set, 6-2, but dropped sharply in the second set, which he lost, 2-6. Down, 4-3, in the deciding set, Burstein's serve came on strong as he won three straight games to take the set and match. Piller played good, strong tennis at third singles and won in consecutive sets, 6-1 and 6-4.

The doubles pairs had an easier time, with Inley-Fishman winning 6-2, 6-2, to clinch the match for Dayton. Rain called off the second doubles match, but Danziger-Edwards led, 5-1, in an eight-game pro set when the match was concluded.

Considering the comparative youth of the squad and its lack of experience in interscholastic play, the current record of 4-5 is a fine achievement for head coach Norman Pollack and his team.

Cranford is one of the top teams in the state, and Berkeley Heights has beaten the Bulldogs once before. But the team has the momentum going into the year-end match, and that is quite a way to end an opening year.

Wall Street Notebook

By ARTHUR POLLACK
In 1965 color TV sets (to dealers) reached 2.75-million sets, nearly double the 1964 rate. Early in 1966 it was predicted that demand would double again — and during the first half of the year it did. Through June, unit sales were 120 percent ahead of the comparable 1965 period.

Demand softened during the summer — but looking toward the normally big Christmas season, the industry was optimistic. Television Digest (Oct. 17, 1966 issue) published results of a coast-to-coast survey which indicated that a two-thirds majority of television dealers expected a shortage of color sets by Christmas. Although demand did pick up during the last months, it was not in line with first half gains. For the year as a whole, 4,702,463 sets were sold, 72 percent more than in 1966.

What about 1967? Early in the year, sales of about seven-million color sets were predicted — a 50 percent increase. But sales to date haven't matched the forecast. Through April 7, sales were only 23 percent ahead of last year's, and the rate of gain has been slackening. As a result, production rates have been cut by most manufacturers.

The nation's economic slowdown has been the major reason for less than expected demand. Automobile and appliance sales, as well as color sets, have been soft. And despite declining interest rates, consumers fear a tax increase later this year.

THE COLOR TV problem was magnified because the industry did not anticipate the changing economic climate. From the beginning of the color boom and continuing well into 1966, there was a shortage of color components, especially tubes. With a limited supply of tubes and the reality of a seller's market, most set manufacturers tended to put what tubes they had into fancy cabinets because profit margins are normally best on the high priced consoles. When the economy softened, buyers began shopping around; they preferred lower priced sets, but few were available.

As a result, the industry lost some sales and dealer inventories increased substantially. There are nearly 59-million households in the U.S. Over 95 percent of them have at least one black and white television set, but only about 17 percent have color sets. With the quality of color telecasting substantially improved and color programming now widely available, it seems only a matter of time before color TV saturation matches that of monochrome. The availability of lower priced, smaller sets should help to stimulate demand.

This, the longer term prospect for the consumer electronics industry appear fairly bright. Moreover, color TV won't be the industry's last important new product. Just as black and white TV succeeded radio as the glamour product, and color then succeeded black and white, we suspect it won't be many years before another new product — perhaps the home video tape recorder — gives the industry a major boost. And don't forget, the efficient companies continue to make decent profits on radios, clock radios, black and white TVs, tape recorders and phonographs.

While the consumer electronics industry may be somewhat subdued, we certainly don't think it will take a "10 count." With the stocks of many of the companies selling at quite reasonable levels, there are some which I regard as attractive longer term value sales tax revenues to reduce already certified school taxes for one year only.

It also proposes the formula: (1) consider a school district's ability to pay for the education of the pupils taught in that district; (2) recognize variable costs for the acquisition of essentially the same service in various sections of the State; (3) re-distribute the financial resources available for the support of education on the most reasonable and equitable basis possible; and (4) assist public-school districts to meet an established minimum standard for each type of education taught in the school system — academic, vocational, technical, social (handicapped, retarded, etc.). Educational policy, as well as aid formulas," the report said, "should be under continuous review by a permanent commission consisting of both legislators and representatives of the public at large, such as the Commission on State Tax Policy."

Tables in the report on State aid to public school education, show that, since 1957, State aid payments to local school districts in New Jersey have been increased by $144.6 million to a total of $221.8 million for the current school year ending June 30, 1967. Local school district levies more than doubled in the past 10 years to total $638.9 million in the year just closed. The 1966 levy was only slightly higher than the year before as a result of mandated application of $63 million of new sales tax revenues to reduce already certified school taxes for one year only.

Science students make tour of cancer research center

Twenty-three Union County high school juniors and seniors will excel in the sciences and get a first-hand look at advances in cancer research when they toured the Sloan-Kettering Institute in New York recently.

Their tour, the fourth annual conducted by the Union County Chapter of the American Cancer Society, was for juniors and seniors who plan to continue their studies in medicine, chemistry or biology. The Union County Chapter of the American Cancer Society has asked each public and parochial high school in the county to select one student for the tour. Alex Busse, curriculum coordinator for Rahway High School, acted as the tour chaperone.

Gary Jay of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, and Joy Hundertmark of Union High School were selected by their schools for the tour. The two-hour tour included visits to the pathology, radiology, microscopy and chemotherapy departments.

In the pathology department the students were shown how tissue sent from the operating room is prepared in slides for diagnosis. Mrs. Dagmar Murphy, research aide in the chemotherapy department, compared the differences between normal and leukemic mice. A $35,000 Geissler electron microscope which enlarges images as much as 100,000 times was demonstrated by a laboratory technician.

In addition to touring the Research Department at Sloan-Kettering Institute the students also visited the treatment facilities at Memorial Hospital. Sloan-Kettering Institute, one of the 153 research institutes supported by the American Cancer Society, last year received 14 Research Grants totaling $547,579.00.

ATLANTIC CROSSING: Capt. John Alcock and Lt. A. W. Brown of England made the first non-stop Atlantic crossing in June 1919. The 1,936 mile trip from Newfoundland to Ireland earned them $50,000.

GARY JAY of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, and Joy Hundertmark of Union High School are pictured outside of Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research, visited recently by top science students in county under sponsorship of Union County Chapter of American Cancer Society.
