New map from Trenton shows Rt. 278 in town

By ABNER GOLD
The latest engagement in the war of nerves between the State Transportation Department and local residents concerned about the possible path of Rt. 278 through Springfield began last week with a map sent out from Trenton along with a questionnaire for local school and municipal and county officials.

The questionnaire was intended to test reaction of communities throughout the state to future highway plans. Judging by the path indicated for Rt. 278, it should draw plenty.

The map, although its precision is carefully qualified by its title as a "draft — state highway system proposal," shows Rt. 278 running from the Goethals Bridge through Linden, Roselle, Roselle Park, Kenilworth and the center of Springfield, to connect with the interchange of Rts. 24 and 78, in the Baltusrol way area of the township.

A highway department spokesman commented, "This has always been the schematic location for Rt. 278. It is probably accurate, within perhaps five miles."

"That's the way it seems to be running at the moment. Until Transportation Commissioner David J. Goldberg makes a decision on what the exact path will be, we still show it as a corridor location."

"We have studied several lines for Rt. 278 in our planning division, and we are still studying them. We have recommended several locations, and after that we are subject to sociological and financial and other considerations."

"This path for Rt. 278 was in our thinking when we originally started planning for the entire state, in 1956. We saw the need for a connector between the Goethals Bridge and Rt. 78 — but we don't make the policy. The commissioner does that."

Admitting that he could give no specific answers on the exact location and timing for Rt. 278, the spokesman said, "I just can't answer your basic question, because there is nothing definite yet on which we can answer."

IN A SPEECH last week in Newark, Commissioner Goldberg told the Newark Advertising Club that the alignment of the nine-mile stretch of Rt. 278 from Linden to Springfield is his most difficult current problem.

He indicated that he may need six months or more to determine an exact path. With this one exception, Goldberg commented, he hopes to have all other alignments for interstate roads completed by the end of the year.

A consulting firm, Frederick P. Harris, Inc., of New York, was to have presented recommendations last month on the basis of a $170,000 survey seeking the best path for Rt. 278. Trenton sources reported last week that the firm was going over some new ideas on the subject, with 16 possible routes still under consideration.

Any path yet proposed for Rt. 278 to Rt. 78, ranging from the Elizabeth River Parkway in Elizabeth to a western alignment near Plainfield, has drawn strong opposition from local officials fearing blighted areas and loss of taxables because of highway construction.

Noting that he is still a good six months away from his final decision on Rt. 278, Goldberg raised the possibility that construction of the superhighway might not fit into the federal time schedule set up for completion of the interstate road network in New Jersey. Washington pays 90 percent of the construction costs, with the remainder met by state funds.

FIRST AID ON THE FAIRWAYS — Members of the Springfield First Aid Squad took an active part in the operations of the Red Cross tent at the U.S. Open tournament this past week at Baltusrol Golf Club. Red Cross, First Aid Squad crews on the ball at U.S. Open golf tourney

Golf is a mighty dangerous game. At least that is the opinion of leaders of the Springfield Red Cross Chapter and First Aid Squad who manned the emergency tent at Baltusrol Golf Club during the U.S. Open tournament which ended Sunday at Baltusrol.

They reported 257 first aid incidents during the six days of practice and competition, with 20 patients taken to Overlook Hospital during the week from the golf course.

Five people were hit by golf balls, with no major casualties. Serious cases included coronary attacks, epilepsy, heart stroke, appendicitis, kidney stones, whiplash injuries and dislocated joints.

The most frequent problem on the sunbaked links was heat exhaustion, which was treated with rest, water, ice packs, salt tablets, sometimes aspirin and often rides to distant parking cars. Some 2,500 salt tablets were distributed, going by the bottle to the caddy master and the parking supervisor. The Red Cross report added that about 600 band-aids were applied, mostly to blistered feet.

Miscellaneous services covered a wide span. Two sports fans applied for help with split pants, and both received a patch in time. Several lost children were cared for and restored to their parents. Assorted medicines were delivered to distant parts of the course.

Many people left their belongings in the Red Cross tents, and one tent even instituted a check system. It was dropped after a Dr. Perloff's jacket went to the hospital without Dr. Perloff. It was retrieved by the next ambulance trip.

LAST THURSDAY AFTERNOON was the busiest time of the week for the Red Cross and first aid units. At 5 p.m., Baltusrol casualties occupied five stretchers in the emergency room at Overlook. This was the day for a new township record, set when three ambulances rolled simultaneously — twice.

With the Springfield Red Cross Chapter responsible for all first aid needs at the tournament, Mrs. Michael Herzlinger, chapter first aid chairman, was Red Cross coordinator for Project Baltusrol. She was responsible for securing first aid personnel and for supervising all operations.

James Barrett, a chapter board member, was co-chairman, in charge of scheduling, supply coordination and general organizing. Dr. W. Austin Tangay of Short Hills, a Baltusrol member, was the U.S. Open committee representative in charge of first aid and safety. He provided medical coverage and supervision.

Springfield Chapter members working at Baltusrol in the Red Cross tent included George Howler, Mrs. Thomas Doherty, Mrs. William Goldman, Mrs. Theodore Heyman, Mrs. Arthur Kuten, Bruce Lodg, Mrs. Frank McClatchey, Mrs. Raymond Miele, Mrs. William Smith, RN, and Mrs. Ronald Wendlandt, RN.

There were three first aid tents set up at Baltusrol, in operation from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. throughout the week. Each tent was staffed at all times with a registrar and three first aid workers, plus medical personnel.

PROJECT BALTUSROL required the services of 184 Red Cross workers, who logged more than 2,500 hours of service. Each worked a minimum shift of six hours. All had completed the advanced first aid course, and more than half were certified first aid instructors.

In addition to the work at the tents, the Springfield Chapter's motor corps drove some 215 miles in service calls on the golf course. Assisting the Springfield group in the operation were chapters from Essex, Madison-Clatham, Morristown, Summit, Rahway-Clark, Plainfield, West Morris and Westfield.

THE FIRST AID SQUAD covered the entire township from headquarters at Baltusrol during the week, which was the busiest in squad history. Two ambulances and crews were stationed near the first tee on the golf course for the week. The Springfield ambulance crews answered 10 calls at the golf course and 30 more throughout the township.

Robert Voorhees, squad captain, had invited guest ambulances to help meet emergencies at Baltusrol and throughout the town. Ambulances from Plainfield, Westfield, Chatham and Cranford stood by at the Hillside avenue.

Taken to Overlook by the First Aid Squad were the driver, Mateo Gonzalez; his wife, Mrs. Melissa Gonzalez; and Santiago Alemand, all of Newark. All were still in the hospital's intensive care unit on Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Gonzalez were described as being in fair condition. Alemand was reported in critical condition.

At least for the time being, board members dropped their efforts to change the meeting date to a time other than the third Tuesday of the month, in order to avoid a conflict with meetings of the Regional High School District Board of Education. John Gagos had objected that he sought election to the board on the basis of Tuesday night meetings, and that a change would create problems in his schedule of business activities.

The board approved Berwick's recommendations for the hiring of several new teachers. Lois Burstein, named at a salary of $6,900, is a graduate of Sargent College of Boston University with experience in Israel, in Irvington and Edison in New Jersey and in Kamapo Central, N.Y.

James Funchon, also hired at $6,900, is an alumnus of Seton Hall University with five years of service in the Marines. Jane Goldard, a graduate of Claiborne State College, was appointed at a salary of $6,000.

Mrs. Jacqueline Sharkey, named at $6,300, is an alumna of Georgian Court College with experience in Toms River. Mrs. Madeline Targonski, named at $6,600, is a former first grade teacher at the Edward Walton School. She is a graduate of Trenton State College and has also taught in Bordentown.

Two custodians were also appointed for next year, at a salary of $4,700. They are Michael Bartrôme and Isadore Cohen.

JIM HORNER

Town appoints Horner to direct weight training

The Springfield Recreation Department this week announced that it has secured the services of Jim Horner, Jonathan Dayton Regional High School coach, who will conduct a weight-lifting course for all athletes 13 years of age and older.

Horner will also be in charge of the Springfield Minutemen baseball team which is entered in the Suburban Recreation Baseball League.

Boys interested in the weight-lifting course were requested to register as soon as possible at the Springfield Recreation Department office, DR 6-5800, or at the first meeting of the group, which is scheduled for every Tuesday and Wednesday evening at 6 at Ruby Park, Caldwell place.

The weight-lifting course will be offered in three parts: the first part dealing with the proper weight-lifting concepts, the second part with activities to develop flexibility and agility, and the third part with various sporting activities such as volleyball, basketball and softball.

The weight lifting program will be offered three days a week, with an individual program set up to meet the needs of each boy who registered. Each boy registering will state his age, weight and height, and the sports he is most directly interested in.

July 4 committee to offer ball game, music, fireworks

The Springfield-Fourth of July Committee this week announced its full program and its personnel.

The activities for the Independence Day celebration on Tuesday, July 4, will start at 10 a.m. with a baseball game at Edward J. Ruby Park (Caldwell place near Rose avenue). The Springfield Minutemen will play the Irvington All-Stars. J. Scott Donington will be in charge of this athletic event, assisted by David W. Brown and Jack A. Williams. This year, a new feature will be offered at the baseball game when "Harry, the Hobo," Springfield's own Harry Gregory, shows up in full regalia to give candy and trinkets to the younger children.

The admission gates for the evening program at Malsel Field will open at 7:15. Donations of 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children under 12 will be accepted at the various entrances.

Another new feature will be the musical entertainment starting at 7:45 by the Lost Chords band. Making up this all-Springfield group are: Michael Klein, Raymond Danziger, Larry Friedman, Robert Quinn, Gary Berger, Norman Reinhardt, Joel Horowitz, Robert Kurtzer, and Robert Zuckenberg. They will sing and play their own musical arrangements.

Alfred E. Bowman will preside as master of ceremonies. The invocation will be given by the Rev. James Dewart, pastor of the Springfield Emmanuel Methodist Church. The colors will then be presented by the color guard of American Legion Continental Post No. 228, and the national anthem will be sung by Harold Dishof, Mayor Arthur M. Felkin will give a welcome speech, and Fire Chief Ormond Mesker will offer a safety message.

Harry Gregory as "Happy, the Clown" will again distribute candy and small toys to the younger set.

Newark man killed in crash on Rt. 22

A Newark man was killed in an auto crash early Saturday morning on Rt. 22, Springfield police reported this week. He was Jose Gonzalez, listed as dead on arrival at Overlook Hospital, as a result of injuries suffered when the car in which he was a passenger struck a power pole along the east-bound lane. Witnesses told police that the car was travelling at a great rate of speed.

Taken to Overlook by the First Aid Squad were the driver, Mateo Gonzalez; his wife, Mrs. Melissa Gonzalez; and Santiago Alemand, all of Newark. All were still in the hospital's intensive care unit on Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Gonzalez were described as being in fair condition. Alemand was reported in critical condition.

Testimonial program honors Rabbi Dresner, Rev. Wilson

RABBI ISRAEL DRESNER

"Courage in Church and Synagogue" was the theme last Thursday evening at an interfaith testimonial event dedicated to Rabbi Israel Dresner, Temple Sharey Shalom, Springfield, and the Rev. Richard Wilson, Cranford Methodist Church, Union County members of Northern New Jersey Clergy and Laymen Concerned About Vietnam, sponsors of the event held in Temple Emanu-El, Westfield, termed each a "modern-day Man of 'La Mancha,' who persists in dreaming the impossible dream, fighting the wrong; Don Quixote tilting at the windmills of human institutions that need renewal."

Mr. Wilson initiated the New Jersey peace petition circulated by Clergy and Laymen in January and February and presented it to Senators Clifford Case and Harrison Williams, Rabbi Dresner has been a leader in civil rights drives in Springfield, Newark and in the South, in the Florida freedom rides; the Albany, Ga., prayer pilgrimage; and the Selma march to Montgomery, Ala. "One of the first N. J. clergymen to speak against the Vietnam war, he has furnished continuing leadership to clergy courageous enough to question it," the announcement stated.

Dr. Carl Soule, United Nations representative of the Board of Christian Social Concerns of the Methodist Church, spoke at the testimonial as "witness to a decade of identification with Clergy and Laymen Concerned" and "to symbolize the interest and hearty approval of the Methodist Church" for religious leadership calling attention to the effects of the Vietnam war.

Rabbi Charles Kroloff welcomed the meeting to Temple Emanu-El as a "privilege and honor" and stressed the "relationship between the Mideast crisis and the bankrupt Vietnam policies which have driven the UN in to the ground." The Rev. Theodore Seaman, Woodbridge Methodist Church, who served as master of ceremonies, said "the courage of the idealists, the flower-pot people who love not hate," is especially needed today.

The Temple Sharey Shalom choir, led by Cantor Irving Kramerman, sang the opening selections. Other participants in the program included Howard Kiesel, president of Sharey Shalom; Rabbi Reuben R. Levine, Temple Beth Ahm, Springfield; the Rev. Joseph Sherer, St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Newark; Dr. Roger Alling, Episcopal Diocese of Newark; the Rev. John Dextelmer, senior pastor, Cranford Methodist Church; Dr. Albert Allinger, pastor emeritus, Cranford Methodist Church; Rabbi Sidney Shanken, Temple Beth-El, Cranford; and Mrs. Winifred Canright, a member of the Plainfield Friends Meeting.

BB escapade ends in fines, suspended 30-day sentences

Three young men entered guilty pleas here Monday night to a total of 26 charges of malicious damage stemming from a wild ride on March 29, when they shot the windows out of that many cars with a BB gun.

The trio consists of Bruce Stockberger, 20, of 2 Tree Top dr., Springfield; Roger Naumann, 18, of Roselle Park, and Douglas Doney, 16, of Woodmere, N. V.

Magistrate Max Sherman imposed a $150 fine against each and gave each a 30-day jail term, suspended. He also placed the two New Jersey residents, Stockberger and Naumann, on probation for six months. He noted that they had made restitution for much of the damage and would continue to pay for the remainder.

The three youths had also been charged with similar offenses in Mountaineer and Westfield. They paid $250 fines when they appeared to face the charges in Mountaineer last month.

St. James scouts end spring season at picnic for troop

The concluding meeting of Girl Scout Troop 583 of St. James School, Springfield, was held last week. With the permission of the parish pastor, Mgr. Francis X. Coyle, the girls held a picnic on the school grounds welcoming Brownies from the junior level in May.

They cooked hot dogs and hamburgers, roasted marshmallows and had watermelon and soft drinks. Their leader, Mrs. Matilda Pepe, made all the preparations, with the help of Mrs. Anne Ziegler.

During the summer some of the girls will be working on badges on their own, and on Wednesday they will go to a splash party at the municipal pool of Springfield. In August the girls will work on the water fun badge with the rest of the community. Future plans of the troop include a camping trip to Camp Lou Henry Hoover in October.

The members of the troop are: Sandra Bloufox, Patricia Brennan, Christina Cusumano, Francine Di Giovanni, Eugenia Fernandez, Mary Frain, Dianne Harrison, Marilyn Heller, Phyllis Kaiser, Lisa Roman, Elizabeth Romano, Nancy Smith, Joan Taranula, Kathleen Ziegler, Margaret Ann Lynch, Jean Guineo, Anita Ragucci, Debbie Davis and Kathy Hazenbush.

The new "Fly-Ups" in the troop are: Elaine Clarke, Debra Mast, Debra Ann Olaszewski, Cathrine Guineo, Patricia Kooz, Mary Ann Solazzi, Loreta Dieckert, Lina Pepe, Lori Ruocco and Lynn Kortenhous.

Outer space theme at library to put local children into orbit

BY HELEN S. KELLER
Mothers? Are you interested in sending your children into outer space this summer? The children's department at the Springfield Public Library is about to launch a gigantic space game in connection with the annual summer reading program. The theme will be, "A Reading Race in Space."
Mrs. Helen Kellner and Mrs. Marguerite DeCesare, children's librarians, have visited all the schools to explain the procedure. After the child has presented a few written comments on four chosen books - anything of interest to him on his own reading level - he will be given a rocket with his name on it. He will then travel, as he reports, from Earth through space, stopping at all the planets until he reaches Pluto. Winners will receive "Astronaut Diplomas."

The story hours, which will also be designed to appeal to boys and girls six through 12, will take place on Wednesday mornings at 10:00. No registration for either program is necessary.
The emphasis this year will be on a two-way story telling. The children will also tell the librarians about their favorite stories. Another puppet show will be given at the community pool in August to culminate the entire summer program. Blast-off time will be this Monday, or any later date convenient to parent and child.

Church designers choose local artist as newest member

The Guild for Religious Architecture (formerly Church Architectural Guild of America), Washington, D.C., this week announced the acceptance into artist membership of Maxwell M. Chayat, 530 Morris ave., Springfield, a graduate of Columbia University. Chayat is a sculptor of national renown. His "Victims of the Holocaust" is on permanent exhibit at the headquarters of B'nai B'rith in Washington. He is a member also of the Artist Craftsmen of New York and the American Craftsmen's Council. A number of his works are displayed at Temple Beth Ahm, Springfield.

The Guild for Religious Architecture was founded in 1940 by a group of architects, craftsmen and religious leaders to promote excellence of design in religious architecture and its allied arts. In cooperation with national religious bodies, the Guild sponsors an annual National Conference on Religious Architecture, to be held this year at New York City in August.

Chayat now joins the fellowship of more than 400 professional architects, craftsmen, artists and clergymen dedicated to the advancement of better design and better function in religious art and architecture.

Historical Society plans annual tour

The Springfield Historical Society will have its sixth annual tour and dinner Sunday. They will leave by charter bus at noon, from the Springfield Municipal Lot.

Dinner will be at the Rivers Chateau, Staten Island. A tour of a dozen buildings will follow. They include the Richmondtown Restoration sponsored by the Staten Island Historical Society. The bus will return at 7:30 p.m. to the Springfield Municipal Lot.

Cost of trip including dinner is $6 per person. Reservations may be made by contacting Catherine Stess, 77 Linden ave., Springfield.

Springfield allotted $7,500 by state in roadbuilding aid

Springfield has been allotted $7,500 in state roadbuilding aid, according to an announcement made this week by the New Jersey Department of Transportation.

The sum is part of $102,000 in road building aid allocated to 14 municipalities in Union County.

The aid was provided from the allotment fund, one of five separate funds authorized by the state legislature to provide approximately $16 million in aid to New Jersey counties and municipalities each year.

Under the provisions of the allotment fund, the New Jersey Department of Transportation annually receives applications from municipalities interested in constructing or reconstructing portions of their road and street systems. Allocations to each municipality requesting aid in this category are then reviewed with an eye to their relative need. Through this fund a total of approximately $100,000 is available annually to municipalities within each county.

The amount set aside for each municipality represents the state's share in the total cost of an approved municipal project. The state share may be up to 90 percent. Subsequent construction plans are reviewed by the State Department of Transportation, which also checks materials and construction work.

Schedule set for summer at Summit Y

The Summit Area YMCA issued its summer schedule this week with special summer memberships available again this year. The summer membership rates, in effect from June 1, cover three months from the date of joining and may be applied toward an annual YMCA membership at the end of that time. Schedules are available at the Chamber of Commerce, Public Library, and at the Y. The summer program is effective Monday, June 26, through Sunday, Aug. 27.

Regular graded YMCA swimming instruction is scheduled throughout the summer for boys and girls. There will also be a concentrated course given in competitive swimming for boys and girls 16 years of age and under to teach skills and team experience. An adult learn to swim course is being continued through the summer.
Recreational swim period for all ages include periods for boys, girls, junior and senior high

2 attend session on air conditioning

Saul Marder and Seymour Marder of Orange Refrigeration and Air Conditioning Co. of East Orange, both Springfield residents, were among a group of New Jersey air conditioning contractors present at the introduction of a new line of Carrier air conditioning units developed by Carrier Air Conditioning Company, at a meeting at the Marriott Motor Hotel in Saddle Brook this week.

The meeting was sponsored by Montgomery Engineering Company of Jersey City, distributor of Carrier products in New Jersey.
The new cylindrical outdoor units, more compact and easier to service than the conventional rectangular box-shaped units, release heat and sound upward and have special sound-dampening components. The more attractive design of the outdoor sections permits more freedom in choosing a location for them outside the home.
Cooling capacity of the equipment ranges from 18,000 to 48,000 Btu's. The units will be marketed in standard and de luxe models.

'Hams' to take part in annual field day of relay radiomen

Four Springfield teenagers will be part of a group of eight "hams" who will take to the airwaves to contact other amateur radio operators throughout the country in the annual field day project of the Amateur Radio Relay League this Saturday and Sunday.

The local operators taking part will be Steve Katz, whose call letters are WB2WIK; Jeff Katz, WB2DCV; David May, WB2WND; and John Cottage, WN2BAT. Joining them will be Donald Blivise of Mountainside, Mark Kolber and Don Ginsberg of Hillside and Mitch Bergner of Jersey City.

The group will set up portable and emergency equipment on Saturday near the observation tower at the top of the Watchung Mountains in Mountainide. During the 24-hour field day program, which will start late Saturday afternoon, they will attempt to contact as many other amateur radio operators as they can throughout the country. Most of the transmissions will be on VHF (very high frequency) bands.

SPRINGFIELD GRADUATES of the Board of Realtors' lecture course for new salespeople are congratulated by realtors Adelaide Shaffer Campbell and Georgia McMullen on the completion of their course. From the left are: Jane Baldwin (Allen K. Harris), Mrs. Campbell, Vincent Hull (Allen K. Harris), Mrs. McMullen, Erika Walter (Ann Sylvester's Realty Corner), Elsie Anderson (Realty Corner) and Kitty Revock (Allen K. Harris).

Realtor chief urges veterans to buy before GI Bill expires

"Hurry!" is the advice of Harold F. Hudson, president of the Board of Realtors of the Oranges and Maplewood, Livingston, Millburn, Short Hills and Springfield, to veterans of World War II who have not used their eligibility to buy a home under the VA program. Hudson pointed out that this July 25 is the deadline for World War II veterans. They will not be able to take advantage of the no-down-payment, VA-guaranteed type of financing after that date.

He declared now is a good time to buy a home for veterans and non-veterans alike, and said the National Association of Real Estate Boards, with which the local board is affiliated, has received reports from all parts of the country indicating that mortgage money "tightness" which existed last year has eased dramatically, and indications are that conditions will continue to improve.

While interest rates are declining a bit from their record highs of last year, Hudson said it would probably be unwise for most potential home buyers to wait for them to come down further. "They simply are not dropping fast enough to compensate for the steadily increasing cost of building new dwellings, and as new house costs go up, so do existing prices."

The realtor noted that, in order to use the GI bill provisions for home loan guarantees, a veteran must have a certificate of eligibility which requires time to obtain. Since the deadline is drawing near for World War II veterans, he urged those contemplating using the GI bill to get their certificates and make a decision on a home as soon as possible.

Hudson said the expiration date for Korean War veterans is 1975, and for veterans who served after 1954, the deadline is 10 years after discharge, plus one year for each three months of active duty, but not in excess of 20 years from the date of last discharge.

A RECORD VOLUME of sales was set in May through the multiple listing service of the Board of Realtors. Over $4 million worth of residential property was sold during the month through multiple listing, a service of the board, Hudson said this week.

Total listed properties for the month were 193, resulting in 135 sales. Last May saw 151 listings with 102 sales, Hudson said. "According to all records, this was the biggest month ever in the history of our board's multiple listing service," he added, explaining that "multiple listing puts the efforts of all 88 member offices and their sales associates to work on behalf of the homeowner selling his house. Our high percentage of cooperative sales demonstrates how effective this service is."

Paul Karpich awarded diploma at County Tech

Paul Karpich of Springfield took part in the sixth annual graduation ceremonies of Union County Technical Institute, Mountainide, last week. Exercises were in the auditorium of Union Junior College, Cranford.

Karpich was a major in mechanical technology at the school. Principal speaker for the occasion was Richard F. Stringer of Esso Research and Engineering Co., Linden. The invocation and benediction were offered by the Rev. Robert G. Langaker, minister of the First Presbyterian Church in Cranford.

License suspended

The driver's license of Matthew P. Principe, 24, of 807 Mountain ave., Springfield, was suspended for 30 days effective May 25 under the 10/70 excessive speed program, according to the New Jersey Division of Motor Vehicles.

Psychiatric aides to receive training at Summit hospital

Overlook Hospital in Summit is the first hospital in the state to establish a psychiatric aide training course in cooperation with the health occupation training program of the Hospital Research and Educational Trust of New Jersey and the New Jersey Hospital Association.

On-the-job training and upgrading of skills are the goals of the program. At Overlook eight staff aides and orderlies will take a six-week course to learn the specialized skills required in working with patients on a psychiatric unit.

According to Overlook's director, Robert E. Heintz, Overlook's contact with the state-wide HOT program will cover payment of the instructor's salary. Mrs. Frieda Wiegand, RN, Overlook in-service educational instructor, will conduct the course, which will combine lecture and demonstration with actual practice in the new skills. The hospital itself will maintain the student's regular salaries during the course.

Sandmeier School holds track events to complete season

The fifth grade boys and girls at the Thelma Sandmeier School, Springfield, wound up their physical education program for the year with a track and field day at the school playground last Friday. Mrs. Sandra Zimmer, the physical education teacher, was in charge of the 20-event meet.

Jonathan Zurkoff was a triple winner in the boys' competition, collecting three first place ribbons. Jon's 6.8 was the best time in the 50-yard dash. After taking the high jump with a leap of 3-9, Jon threw a softball 143-2. This is an exceptionally fine toss for a fifth grader, according to Mrs. Zimmer.

Other winners in the boys' events were Jeff Schneider (100-yard dash), Robert Roth (triple jump), Robert Lee (potato race), Larry Fritzkis (6-1 in the standing broad jump) and Alan Spielholz (obstacle race). Jon Katz and Bruce Schaefer had the fastest "three legs" in the school. Alan Geiser, Bruce Hoffman, Robert Lee and Andy Mendelsohn combined their talents as speedsters to win the relay race.

The girls' events produced two double winners. Lorraine Weinbuch captured first place in both the 50-yard dash and the potato race. Janice Mikulicz won the softball throw with a toss of 80-4. Janice and Mardi Cooper tied for first place in the high jump as they cleared the bar at 3-5.

The 100-yard dash was won by Debbie Jo-Mehl. Maria Sidco covered 15-8 in the triple jump event, tops for the day. Kathy Spielholz and Randi Rowlein showed good teamwork as they took the three-legged race. A leap of 5-5 brought a victory in the standing broad jump to Karen Baber. Barbara Manoff raced through the obstacle course in the fastest time for the girls. Ina Schaefer, Patti Browne, Jolene Blasi and Carol Braender outsped all of the other relay teams to take the relay event.

Principal renamed

Robert LaVature, principal of Jonathan Dayton High School, Springfield, has been re-elected to a three-year term on the board of trustees of the New Jersey Council on Economic Education. The council operates the New Jersey State for Economic Education at Montclair State College, where it will conduct a summer leadership training institute June 26 through July 14.

'Jet Set' plans Watching picnic

The Summit YWCA's "Jet Set," single young professional men and women in the area, are planning a picnic Sunday at the Watchung Reservation. They will assemble at the YWCA at 2:30 p.m. Planning the menu for the day's outing are Mary Flanagan of Summit and Valerie Aronson, Berkeley Heights.

"Young men and women returning from college are welcome to join with us," said Miss Aronson. "Those interested should phone the YWCA at 273-4242, so that ample food will be available."

Those attending the affair have been urged to bring sports equipment or guitars. The Jet Set meets twice a month and plans trips, theater parties, discussions, dances and sports events. The members range in age between 20 and 35. They may attend Jet Set functions with or without escorts.

Ask Amy

By AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy:
We would like to know why people drink beer? It only causes trouble! There are fights at our house all the time. Can't they make a law that no beer is to be sold? Our mothers are the greatest in the world, and we are sick of seeing them get the heck knocked out of them.

Beer Haters
Dear Beer Haters:
People (your fathers) drink beer because they find it an appetizing and stimulating beverage. A social drinker limits himself to one or two. An excessive drinker knows no limit, therefore he causes damage to himself (mental and physical) and to his family. Your fathers need encouragement and help to want to stop drinking and Alcoholics Anonymous to keep them on the wagon. Suggest to your mothers to get the help of your family doctor and clergyman to talk some sense into them.
For you and other young people who live with an alcoholic parent, a national organization is in existence called "Operation Alateen". Write them at P.O. Box 182, Madison Square Station, New York, New York.

There are local chapters everywhere to help teen-agers like yourselves to live with and to understand an alcoholic parent.

Dear Amy:
Would it be proper for a First Communicant to open cards containing money in front of all the guests at a sit-down dinner?

Dear I.S.:
It is improper to open cash gifts or to display them in front of your other guests at any time.
These gifts are opened in the privacy of your home and "Thank You" notes sent to all those who were kind enough to remember the First Communicant.

Dear Amy:
Now that the weather is nice and the days are longer, why don't parents give their children some advice on where and how to play outdoors? We live next door to one family whose child and his friends are all over our lawn.

They throw paper, garbage, toys all over, throw stones at the windows and tease our dog something terrible.

They have their own yards but having no respect for others, they are ruining our property. This woman has been told about this but does nothing about it. In her eyes, the kids are doing nothing wrong, but I have heard her call down other children if they do anything to her property.

You can't imagine how terrible it is living next to someone who has no respect or consideration for her neighbors.

Mrs. G. E.
Dear Mrs. G.E.:
Your letter along with many others arrive in droves on my desk at the first sign of spring and continue until the first frost. I personally suggest that every parent of young children make a genuine effort to keep their children in their own backyard where they belong. Besides being a nuisance to others, you can be held liable for the damages that your rymes might do to the neighboring properties. So let's get together and refrain from causing hard feelings on both sides of the fence.

PERSONAL TO "The Other Woman" (Newark, N.J.):
A man who professes his undying love for another but continues to live with his wife is the worst kind of liar. If there was a speck of truth in what he says, he would have instituted divorce proceedings to hasten the day to culminate your relationship in marriage. Now, if you want to continue this illicit relationship, YOU are the one who needs sympathy... not he.

'Deserted Village' tour, film planned at Trilside Sunday

The Sunday afternoon visitors to the Union County Park Commission's Trilside Nature and Science Center, in the Watchung Reservation, will have a choice of two programs being offered on Sunday.

Dr. Harold N. Moldenke, director of the Nature Center, will conduct a tour of the historic "Deserted Village," located in the valley between the first and second ridge of the Watchung range.

The guided tour is open to the public and will start from the Trilside Nature and Science Center at 2 p.m. and proceed to the site of the "Village," a short distance away. Dr. Moldenke will discuss the 300-year history and tradition of the area from the time of the Indians and earliest settlers to its present state as a unit of the Union County Park System. He will point out historic features and identify native and exotic plant and animal life that exists in the area.

The second program will be presented at the auditorium of Trilside at 3 p.m. and will be a color, sound film entitled "Driver Education." The film relates true stories. The first, good driving habits are demonstrated by a family trip to the country and the second part of the film, titled "What Makes It Go," is a cartoon on the functions and principles of an automobile engine.

During the week, on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, June 29 at 4 p.m., each day, Dr. Moldenke will conduct one-half hour nature talks for children. The topic selected for the four days is "Spring Wildflowers." The programs will be illustrated with color slides and admission is free. The Trilside Nature and Science Center is open to the public each weekday, except Friday, from 3 to 5 p.m., and on Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays from 1 to 5 p.m. The public is invited to visit the Nature and Science Center, tour the live-animal area, view the thousands of indoor exhibits, and participate in the scheduled programs.

Students attend meeting of practical nurses unit

Union and Springfield girls were among practical nursing students from Union County Technical Institute who attended the annual convention of the Licensed-Practical Nursing Association of New Jersey in Atlantic City last week. They were Sandy Barron and Linda Plannagan, both of Springfield, and Sonia Zirpoll of Union. All sisters, and Barbara Reifmeyer of Springfield and Eileen Truax of Union, both Juniors.

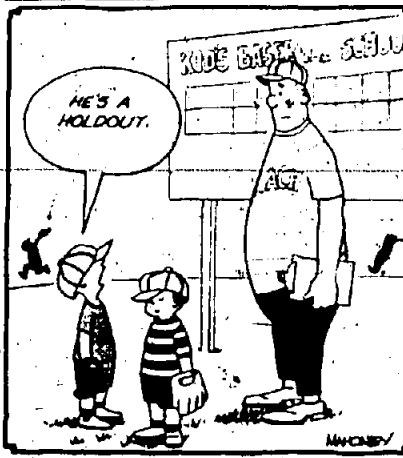

Measure protects historic state sites

State Senator Mildred Barry Hughes yesterday attended the signing of a bill which she sponsored designed to protect historic sites in New Jersey.

The bill, passed unanimously by the Legislature and signed by Governor Richard J. Hughes in Trenton, creates a 17-member Historic Sites Council composed of six state officials and 11 experts in the fields of history and architecture which is authorized to designate historic places and objects, plan their preservation and management and apply for federal funds.

It also creates a second agency, the New Jersey Historic Trust, to accept and administer public donations of money and landmark properties. Sen. Hughes said the measure was necessary because historic shrines in the state were "falling apart from disrepair or being torn apart."

Rinaldo suggests 2-year state terms

Matthew J. Rinaldo of Union, Republican candidate for State Senate, this week endorsed suggestions that the New Jersey Legislature meet for two-year terms. At present, Rinaldo pointed out, the State Senate and Assembly must re-organize each January.

"A constitutional amendment authorizing such a change should be adopted," Rinaldo declared. "In addition to the obvious benefits of carrying over business from one year to another, the taxpayers of New Jersey—who are already beset with mounting state spending—would realize great savings." Rinaldo noted that the present system of disbanding a legislature at the end of a year forces the state to re-print "at a cost of untold thousands of dollars" many bills that are re-introduced when the same legislators resume deliberations the following January.

"A two-year session would provide better continuity and a more even flow of business,"

Rinaldo continued. "It seems wasteful to start a world-wide piece of legislation through the mill, only to see it stopped at year's end, and require the entire process to be repeated again when the second half of the session opens in January."

"During my term as freeholder, I was constantly seeking ways of effecting greater economics in government," he asserted.

Kelly Post 2433, VFW of Union, who were elected delegates to attend a four-day convention in Wildwood (yesterday to Saturday) include Mrs. Thomas Kennedy, Mrs. Frank Corduan, Mrs. James Manney and Mrs. George Greener. Alternates were Mrs. Thomas Brennan, Mrs. Charles Dancko, Mrs. Frank Chopiga and Mrs. John Olson.

Mrs. Carolyn Yuknus is elected first woman chairman of Forum

Mrs. Carolyn F. Yuknus, Senior Home economist, Rutgers University Cooperative Extension Service, was recently elected chairman of the New Jersey Residence Lighting Forum. She is the first woman to head the organization. Mrs. Yuknus and her husband, John, reside at 283 Forest Dr., Union.

The Forum, affiliated with the Illuminating Engineering Society, is a professional organization dedicated to fostering the art of residential lighting design and application. The New Jersey Forum with a membership of 125 is the largest of 23 Forums in the United States and Canada. The membership includes architects, interior designers, electrical distributors, dealers, contractors and educators.

Mrs. Yuknus has previously served as treasurer, secretary, and vice-chairman, and headed committees within the organization.

As a certified residential lighting consultant, she has introduced home lighting information into her county educational program for homemakers. In addition to home lighting workshops, she has lectured on lighting for groups throughout the state. In 1963, Mrs. Yuknus received the distinguished service award from the National Association of Extension Home Economists for her work with homemakers in home lighting.

Mrs. Yuknus also is a member of the New York Chapter of the Electrical Women's Roundtable, a past-president of the New Jersey Home Agent's Association, past editor of the HDA Reporter, the official publication of the National Association of Extension Home Economists for whom she now serves as eastern regional councilor.

She also has been corresponding secretary and alternate councilor for the New Jersey Home-Economics Association.

A professional home economist with degrees from Pennsylvania State University and Michigan State University, Mrs. Yuknus joined the Rutgers University Extension Service staff in April, 1950. As an associate professor of Rutgers, she was assigned to the Union County Extension office in Elizabeth. In January, 1966, she was appointed program leader, in which capacity she is now serving.

Mrs. Yuknus writes a weekly column which is published in daily and weekly Union County newspapers.

Single Parents set meeting, Monday

Mrs. Gerry Ramer, president of International Parents Without Partners, Inc. will be guest speaker, Monday at 8:30 p.m. at the Coronet, 978 Springfield ave., Irvington for the Essex-Union County Chapter of Parents Without Partners.

The topic for the evening will be "Person to Person" followed by open discussion, refreshments and dancing. All single parents are invited to attend.

Norman Wyatt, president of the Essex-Union Chapter, and Mrs. Florence Kleinman, state director, will head a delegation to the international convention to be held in Los Angeles, Cal., starting July 1.

Volunteer Guild honors officers at fifth annual installation dinner

Mrs. Millard Anderson of 331 Walnut St., Roselle Park, was installed last week as president of the Memorial General Hospital Volunteer Guild, Dr. Herbert Goff, chief of staff at the non-profit public hospital, officiated at the organization's fifth annual installation dinner.

Other newly-installed officers include Mrs. Walter Cramie of 276 Forest Dr., Union, vice-president; Mrs. William Kroebel, recording secretary; Mrs. Lawrence Golding of Elizabeth, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Paul Roden of 260 Burroughs, Union, treasurer.

The installation was conducted as a rose ceremony with each new officer being presented a rose by Dr. Goff. Each officer then presented her rose to the new president as a symbol of their loyalty and devotion to the duties and goals of the Volunteer Guild.

Mrs. James Hazlet of 77 Earl St., Union, outgoing president, summarized the accomplishments of the Guild during her two-year tenure in office. She pointed out that the Guild has completed a $20,000 pledge made three years ago and an additional $7,000 toward the $25,000 pledge made for the Leeberg Pavilion, the hospital's new wing. The Guild, according to Mrs. Hazlet, has contributed more than 86,000 hours of service since its organization five years ago.

Mrs. Hazlet was given a wrist-watch, commemorating her presidency, by the executive board of the Volunteer Guild and a pearl bracelet from the Osteopathic Society Auxiliary Guild. Both Mrs. Hazlet and Mrs. Anderson received gavels from Dr. Rudi Wadle of Union, staff liaison.

Guest speakers for the installation included John Kelly, Memorial General Hospital Administrator; Dr. Goff, John Deitrick, president of the board of trustees; Mrs. Arthur Troun, president of the Union County Osteopathic Society Auxiliary Guild; Otto Wadle, trustee; Mrs. George Webb, administrative assistant, and Mrs. Hugh Bain, assistant director of nurses.

OUTDOOR CARPETS

Outdoor carpets are the hottest items in the floor covering field. According to a trade publication, the demand has far exceeded anything planned either for inside or outside the house.

Most cars are built to be traded. This one is built to be kept.

It's easy to tell which kind of car you now own. If it's two years old and looks four years old because the new models have come out... if it has 30,000 miles on it and you're planning to get rid of it to save repair bills... you have a car that's built to be traded. You also have yourself on a treadmill. One new car after another after another after another.

That's what we mean about Volvo being a car that's built to be kept. A Volvo won't wear out just as your payment book runs out.

Volvos are built so strong they're driven an average of eleven years in Sweden where there are no speed limits on the highways, where there are over 70,000 miles of unpaved roads.

Here in America Volvos are gaining a reputation that is best summed up by what Car & Driver magazine recently wrote, "Volvo is not the prettiest car known to man, nor is it the fastest. But it may be the strongest... possibly the toughest vehicle anywhere this side of the Aberdeen Proving Grounds (that's where the Government tests tanks) and there is a growing legion of happy owners who will be glad to verify the point."

Volvo owners will be glad to verify something else: Volvo out-accelerates every other compact in its class, delivers over 25 miles to the gallon, even with automatic transmission.

One more thing your Volvo will do. It will age gracefully.

We don't change its looks every year to remind your neighbors that you haven't bought a new car recently. Of course, they'll probably catch on anyhow. After all, you've got to do something with all the money that used to go for car payments.

And how are you going to hide a trip to Europe, or a swimming pool, or a new addition to the house?

Award presented to Casey at Open

Edward J. Casey of Union, golf course superintendent at Balmisrol Golf Club, Springfield, was presented with the GCSAA Citation of Performance Award Sunday for his conditioning and maintenance of the course for the 1967 U.S. Open Championship.

The award, made by the Golf Course Superintendents Association of America, professional organization of the men who supervise the maintenance of the nation's leading golf courses, was presented by Robert Finney, chairman of the 1967 U.S. Open. Finney is a member of the host club.

Casey is the only superintendent in golf history to condition a course for four major U.S. Golf Association championships. He was in charge of the turf at Balmisrol during the 1946 U.S. Amateur, the 1954 U.S. Open and the 1961 Women's Open, in addition to this year's U.S. Open. Balmisrol is the first club to have hosted five U.S. Opens.

Station Breaks

By MILT HAMMER

TURNABLE TREATS (good listening) THOROUGHLY MODERN by Bob Thiele and His Happy Times Orchestra. Thiele, who is ABC-Records director of A&R, conceived and recorded this lively LP, based on the sound of the twenties and thirties, incorporating the rhythmic patterns of today. An interesting feature of the album is the inclusion of two vocals by Teresa Brewer doing "Thoroughly Modern Millie" and "Jimmy" and two vocals by Steve Allen: "I'm Just a Vagabond Lover" and "Barnacle Bill The Sailor". Seven additional numbers round out this toe-tapping goodie. (ABC-605)

On the DUNHILL RECORDS label, THE DIS-ADVANTAGES OF YOU, by The Brass Ring Orchestra, under the direction of Phil Bodner, and based on the popular TV clog commercial theme. As in its previous albums, The Brass Ring includes a number of motion picture themes including: "The Sand Pebbles", "Born Free", "A Man And A Woman", as well as eight other songs. (D-50017)

INVITATION TO THE MOVIES by Matt Monro. In this LP, Matt Monro sings eleven of the best of today's movie songs, including the Oscar-winning "Born Free" which he first introduced in the film of the same name. Other Monro ear-pleasers include: "Alfie", "Georgy Girl", Theme from "The Sand Pebbles" (And We Were Lovers), "A Time For Love", "I'll Wait For You", "Moment to Moment", "In The Arms of Love", "A Man And A Woman" and "Strangers In The Night" (CAPITOL ST-2098). Also on the CAPITOL label, BEST OF THE NEW FAVORITES by Freddy Martin and His Orchestra. Freddy plays such beautiful music in this one that includes selections like: "More", "Charade", "Hello Dolly", "Think", "Forever", "Shangri-La" and five more just as good. A great LP for either dancing or listening. (ST-2098)

Merck contributes to Scout program

The Merck Company Foundation has subscribed $20,000 to the Union County Boy Scouts of America Camp Development Program, it was announced this week.

Gavin Spofford, executive vice president of the Summit and Elizabeth Trust Company and general chairman of the $500,000 Camp Development Program, said the Merck subscription was the largest the program had received from a Union County organization. The Foundation, a non-profit corporation established in 1957, provides support for charitable, educational, scientific and community organizations. It is supported by Merck & Co., Inc., Rahway, and its operating divisions.

"Merck is the epitome of the responsible corporation in supporting community and civic affairs," Spofford said. "We are fortunate in having this outstanding firm as a part of our Scout community."

Spofford said the new staff meeting and dining room at Winnebago Scout Reservation in Rockaway Township would honor the Merck gift. The reservation will be expanded and renovated through the development program.

County playgrounds to start activities

The supervised playgrounds, operated by the Union County Park Commission, will open for the 40th season on Monday at noon, it was announced this week by George T. Cron, superintendent of recreation for the Park Commission.

Directed play activities will be offered children from 10 a.m. to dark, Monday through Friday, at five playgrounds located in various sections of the park system.

The playgrounds will conduct programs that include a wide variety of activities for children, five to 15 years of age, such as: Pet and hobby shows, arts and crafts, doll parades, nature studies, sewing, dramatics, puppets, as well as tournaments in various athletic events and games.

The playgrounds under supervision are located at: Unami Park, Garwood; Kawameeh Park, Union; Matano Park, Elizabeth; and two playgrounds in Warinanco Park (Playground 1, located in the Elizabeth section of Warinanco Park; and Playground 2, located in the Roselle section.) Matano and Warinanco Park playgrounds

No. 1 and No. 2, in addition to being supervised daily, will also have a playground director present on Saturdays and Sundays.

The Park Commission's playgrounds at Squire Island and Madison ave., Rahway, they are located: Mohawk dr., Cranford; Washington ave., and Meisel ave., Springfield; Cedar Brook Park, Liberty Ave., Hillside; and Wheeler Park, Linden, will be operated under the supervision of the municipalities in which they are located.

Summer session of music school to begin this Monday

The Union County Band and Orchestra Summer School at Roselle, under the direction of Casimir V. Bork of Westfield will hold its 35th session beginning Monday through July 28. Registration will be held at the Locust School in Roselle tomorrow from 12:30 to 5:30 p.m. and Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

The aim of the Summer Music School is to promote worthy use of leisure time, to aid the students in their musical skills, to create the increased appreciation of music and to promote a continued development of the student's personality, a spokesman said.

In addition to the teaching of all band and orchestral instruments, piano, organ, and baton, the school also offers fundamentals of music, harmony, conducting, voice, and a new addition this year will be guitar.

Six levels of instruction on the instruments are given by the specialists of the instruments. New additions this year to the faculty will be Dr. Fred Zornley of Elizabeth; Jack Chevlin of Roselle Park, De Costa Dawson of Elizabeth; Frank Leahy of Westfield; Fred Zalsky of Watchung, and Miss Valerie Zawislak of Roselle.

County unit slates tennis tournament

The Eastern Union County Tennis Tournament, conducted and sponsored by The Union County Park Commission, will be played at the Warinacco Park Tennis Courts, Roselle, Saturday, June 24, at 10 a.m.

The tournament is open to residents of Roselle, Roselle Park, Rahway, Clark, Cranford, Hillside, Union, Linden and Elizabeth, and will have men's singles, men's doubles, and women's singles events.

Robert Burks of Elizabeth, won the men's singles championship in 1966; Richard Hoover of Elizabeth, and John Dolan of Hillside, won the men's doubles championship; and the women's championship was won by Candace Borges of Cranford. Entry forms are now available at the Warinacco Park Tennis Courts.

County pools set life saving course

A junior and senior life saving and safety course will be conducted by the Union County Park Commission with the cooperation of the American Red Cross at both the John Russell Wheeler Park Pool, Linden, and the Rahway River Park Pool, Rahway, beginning Monday at 6 p.m.

Boys and girls, 12 to 15 years of age, are eligible to register for the junior course, while those 16 years of age and older may enroll in the senior course.

Every registrant will be required to pass certain basic requirements in swimming skills including: diving, treading water, floating, and swimming for distance. Applications for the classes are now available at both pools.

10 nursing students attend state convention

Ten area girls were among a delegation of practical nursing students from the Union County Technical Institute attending the annual convention of the Licensed Practical Nursing Association of New Jersey recently in Atlantic City.

Seniors from the Mountainside technical institute included: Sandy Barron and Linda Flanagan of Springfield; Laura Lyle and Valerie Mend of Roselle-Park; Judith Philson and Leslie Slater of Roselle, and Sonia Zirpoli of Union. Newly capped juniors from the area who attended included: Barbara Carter of Kenilworth, Barbara Rafanoy of Springfield, and Eileen Trout of Union.

Student enrollment of 600 anticipated

Union Junior College, Cranford, will open its annual six-week Summer Session on Monday with an anticipated enrollment of 600 in the Day and Evening Sessions.

Prof. Farris S. Swackhammer, Summer Session director, said enrollment will be about as large as a year ago when 600 students from more than 100 colleges and universities throughout the United States were in attendance.

Fresh college freshmen and sophomore courses in liberal arts, engineering, science and business administration will be offered. In addition, five non-credit courses will be available in introductory chemistry, English review, introductory algebra, trigonometry and basic physics.

Among the credit courses available are: general biology, business organization and management, general chemistry, principles of economics, English composition, English literature, beginning and intermediate French, American government, Western civilization, unified calculus, psychology of personality, introductory sociology, beginning Spanish, principles of accounting, office management, problems of economics, mathematics of finance and general psychology.

Most of the courses in the Summer Session will be conducted in the new, completed air conditioned Science Building. It was reported by Prof. Swackhammer.

Auto Club criticizes cultural center as gross toll mis-use

The New Jersey Auto Club-AAA has demanded that the state legislature "immediately begin an examination of what appears to be a gross mis-use of motorists' tolls collected on the Garden State Parkway."

The statement was in reference to the recent news report that the projected cost of the cultural center along the Parkway at Holmdel had increased from $1.6 million to an estimated $6.5 million.

"The legislature should also ask Parkway officials to explain how they can spend this kind of money on a grandiose project but cannot even give the daily Parkway commuter a reduction in tolls as we have repeatedly asked," said AAA general manager F. Kenneth Schultz.

"Furthermore, why wasn't this money used to improve and expand the Parkway itself? Just last week state police had to close it to northbound traffic in Monmouth County, and this culture center is going to attract even more traffic. This whole thing has never made any sense."

"The question of whether Parkway officials published the increased estimates prior to this recent public disclosure, or whether they're getting their money's worth is academic," said Schultz. "The main point is that the cost is up 400 per cent on something they never should have built to begin with."

The Club made its demand for an examination of the entire matter in telegrams to state legislators from Essex, Union and Morris counties, its franchise area.

"No matter how you slice it, the $6.5 million — and it will probably go to nine or 10 million by the time they're through — is coming from 26 million Parkway quarters," said Schultz.

Schultz also disclosed that the AAA magazine, The New Jersey Autoist, which goes to the 40,000 members in the three counties, would make the culture center its main target in urging members to get behind an examination of the matter. He said that AAA officials would also ask other organizations to urge their representatives to look into the matter.

The Club opposed the original plans to build the culture center on the grounds that it was not a proper activity for a Parkway authority. "If we need such a culture center, the state ought to finance it some other way, not by tolls of parkway users," said Schultz.

A FEMININE LOOK

At Africa 1967

(Commentary on a National Newspaper Association Study Mission to eight African countries, south of the Sahara.)

By TRUDINA HOWARD

There were other buildings in rambling Accra that might have been modern and impressive and well-kept, but they stood gaunt and unloved instead. They had been started—and left undone for lack of funds.

IT IS ALSO TRUE that there are some completed new buildings in Accra too. Mainly, there is the great Catholic cathedral only 11 years old; there is Black Star Square which is a public reviewing stand and parking grounds—seating 100,000 spectators; there is the fairly new University of Ghana about 15 miles' outside of Accra; there are several office structures less than two years old; there is the former royal palace, and then there is the great African Conference Building—the pride, if not exactly joy-of-Ghana.

This "building" is really a complex of buildings, erected for an all-Africa meeting about two years ago, and contains not only meeting quarters but living quarters as well. It reminds me of Algeria. Not far from the city of Algiers there is a huge complex of buildings, which they call, a little UN but its real name is Club Du Pins and it too was built for an African meeting (which never was, however.) Like the African Conference Building in Accra the Pins is huge, glorious, new and expensive with all the latest equipment (even working air-conditioning), but both buildings are a big worry to their respective nations.

They stand empty.

So how, just as in Algeria, the Ghanians find themselves with a bewildering question: What to do with it? The Pins cost about ten million dollars; if I remember correctly, and the Ghana building cost eight million. So indeed, what to do with it?

I suggested they burn our hotel and move its business there.

There was another matter in which Ghana and Algeria reminded me of each other. The officials. At a meeting with a secretary of the minister of information, we were received in a rather haphazard manner in a rather haphazard office; the secretary was in shirt sleeves which is highly unusual even in hot climates. Our men wore jackets. The Ghanaian guests sat near the secretary's littered desk, some wearing sloppy sweaters or with beads or unkempt hair, with feet up on the desk! Algeria was similar. It was quite a contrast to most government official visits.

It was also in Accra where Mrs. Dale Moreau, owner of the Hunterdon County Dignorat in Flemington and a co-traveler, reports that someone hurled out "capitalist" stone of our group. She and another woman were in the market and when the other woman tried to explain she could not buy anything because she did not have any local money, the angry merchant retorted with the sneering remark: "However, as Mrs. Moreau states and I agree, this lack of courtesy was unusual."

Withal, the Ghanians are a cordial and hospitable people and there were several things we did enjoy in Accra. One of the most pleasurable was the zoo which was once the private property of Gwama Nkrumah, the country's first and so far, only president, even though he has departed the country. He left hurriedly one night about a year and a half ago and now lives in Conakry, Guinea.

The zoo has a number of fine leopards (tigers are not native to Africa contrary to public opinion) and quite a remarkable animal display. That is particularly true in the case of a young and mischievous gorilla. This young fellow likes to watch for unwary strollers and then he bounds up against his cage in violent jumps and banging from the topmost vantage point, sprays the unwary strollers, even as far as 20 feet, in what could only be termed a very ungentlemanlike manner.

Of course, it makes all the others who escape howl in glee, particularly the men, but this only adds fuel to the fire and encourages the gorilla, and he does his antics again. He must drink a lot of water.

"I think he drinks beer," said our tour director—who got caught.

THE INTERNATIONAL TRADE FAIR on the outskirts of Accra was also interesting to see, but considerably safer. It was to start the day after we left and run for 19 days, but we went to a "preview," you might say. Thirty nations were to be represented including the U.S. and several European countries. The U.S. exhibit was a half-dome affair which was "blown" to size and contained U.S. produce and merchandise, some to sell, some to see. There was a large amount of M&M candy, and that's certainly what they need in Ghana. Well, maybe. It won't melt in your hand they say and in Ghana you'd need that reassurance. The American in charge there said he lost ten pounds in a week because of the heat. Listening to him, the fair didn't sound so safe either. He said he thought Ghana was the most promiscuous country he had ever been in, (he wouldn't say just how many others he had been in) and he claimed he was asked for a date by women at least four times a day. We began to wonder which way he meant that heat.

He also had labor problems. He said labor meant to do well but there was a language barrier. English is the official language but most Africans speak a tribal tongue.

OUR GUIDING LIGHT in Accra, Ghana, Miss Mary Opoku who was our delightful guide and who is also a student at the University of Ghana. She is wearing a dress called N'nama which is usually accompanied by a turban on the head consisting of a full two yards of matching cloth. This day she displayed her very western chic hair-do.

WE HAPPENED TO BE IN ACCRA on a Sunday so four of us went to mass in a beautiful modern-type cathedral. For some reason we were half hour early so we wandered about the grounds. As we walked we met several of the Brothers and then the Priest. He was a middle-aged, nice looking Negro, wearing a long white robe and was extremely friendly. We talked for several minutes about Ghana and the church and then he politely asked where each of us was from. California, Indiana, New Mexico, New Jersey we said, and he seemed most interested and amused. But he paused and seemed to be waiting for something, which seemed strange, and then I fell right into the trap by asking, "And where are you from Father?" (Thinking he'd be from one of the neighboring countries for he didn't look Ghanaian.)

"CHICAGO!" he burst out in obvious mirth and relief. "and I thought you'd never ask!" How about that. He preached the sermon in English and his pulpit was made of bamboo slats widely placed for coolness. He had been in Accra for 11 years and loved it. He loved startling us with that "Chicago" too, I know.

FAMILY LIFE TODAY

Mabel G. Stolte, County Home Economist

"Growing up" means something different to each child and family, depending upon the age of the individual using the word.

Growing-up also will mean something different, depending upon what you, the parents, and other family members expect of the individual. You as parents, often get so anxious for your children to "grow-up" that you forget that it takes time.

Part of this process of growing-up is shown in the drive of your youngsters and teenagers to do and try new things, "all by myself."

Do you know what your children did today that showed you that they are gaining independence? What things do you trust your youngsters or teenager to do for himself now, that you didn't a year ago?

You, as the parent, must also continue to "grow-up." As your children mature, do you find it hard to realize and accept the fact? If your son or daughter is starting out on their own job or to college, can you, as the parents, leave hands off, and not help them manage their finances?

If your son or daughter wants to live away from home, spend all their savings on a trip or a motor cycle, how do you react? As a parent of a responsible, maturing teenager or, as if your child is still incapable of making these decisions? Remember, it is your job as a parent to start teaching your children responsibility early in life, and then let them use it.

For further information and guides to developing responsibility, write or phone the

Weeder's Digest

Well, here's another weirdo to hang on our backward spring. Maple leaves - practically all kinds - are showing brown edges. Horticulturists call this "scorch" and it's the result of warmth and wind. It's unusual for this time of year.

Don Lacy, home horticulture specialist at Rutgers, says the condition began to show up soon after the sudden warm, dry, windy weather on May 20.

He explains that the new tender foliage, late because of the delayed spring, couldn't stand the sudden change. The older leaves had their edges burned, while the youngest ones were shriveled entirely.

Probably the browned areas will drop off in a few weeks, and the tree will put out some new leaves. It'll look better.

BUT THINGS AREN'T all bad. Rainfall for May was above normal so the soil is right for transplanting. Balled and burlapped evergreens, for example, should take off with fewer handicaps than during the war, dry springs of recent years.

Be sure your new tree stands no deeper in its new location than it did in the nursery. Tilt it out of joint for peonies, too, this year, Lacy observes. Mostly they missed the scene on Memorial Day, their target date.

But don't be surprised if some peonies don't bloom at all, in the first place, it takes peony plants a long time to get used to a new surroundings. Sometimes they won't bloom for two or three years or they may set buds that won't mature.

REALTOR OF THE WEEK

Henry Lansu: Mariner, sales executive, now...

Henry J. Lansu, Millburn realtor, has had three careers and been successful in all three of them.

Born in Antwerp, Belgium, Lansu came to this country as a boy where his family settled on a farm near Dover, Del. When he was 15 he went to sea. "It was the typical story of the country boy leaving the farm for the lure of a more exciting life," he said. By the time he was 18, young Lansu was a third mate in the coastal trade and later received his masters and pilot's license.

After 14 years at sea, Lansu had my (H) of close calls... the depression was having its effect on the maritime industry... and I wanted to get married," he recalled. The latter reason was perhaps the most compelling for "the sea was no life for a married man." And so ended career number one.

Sending in Brooklyn, Lansu considered other fields of employment. His bride thought that he would make a good salesman but Henry's reaction was negative... "I didn't know how to take them."

He joined the Fuller Brush Company... however, began knocking on doors, and found himself enjoying the art of salesmanship. In 11 months he became sales manager and career number two was well underway.

After a most successful 18 years with Fuller Brush, Lansu joined the Allisopp Co., Realtors, of Millburn, in 1951. Three years later, he opened his own real estate office. A member of the Board of Realtors of the Oranges and Maplewood, Livingston, Millburn, Short Hills and Springfield, he was elected president of the group in 1964.

Lansu maintains an office at 311 Millburn Ave., staffed with 10 salespeople. The Lansu firm is affiliated with "AIMS" (American HENRY J. LANSU Institute of Marketing Systems, a nationwide referral system. His franchise includes Springfield, Millburn, Short Hills, Livingston, South Orange and West Orange. Lansu resides in Maplewood with his wife. The Lansus' have two married daughters and two grandchildren.

WEIGHT WATCHER — Miss Sandra Phillips of North Brunswick, a laboratory technician, holds one of the white rats used in diet and behavior studies conducted by Dr. George H. Collier of Pluckemin, right, Rutgers professor of psychology. Dr. Collier says crash diets have no lasting value for rats or humans.

Word for weight watchers Crash diets are not successful

Thinking about a crash diet? Well, it won't work, according to Dr. George H. Collier of Pluckemin, a Rutgers University professor of psychology whose research is concerned with diet and its effect on behavior. He says that a restricted caloric intake will temporarily reduce body weight. But he explains that once allowed free access to food, body weight will again climb to its original value. Dr. Collier maintains that body weight is in part genetically determined and any attempt to change this value will be met with resistance. Rats given a limited water ration deal with this restriction by losing weight, his studies have shown. This weight loss is accomplished by a very precise restriction of food intake. However, when allowed free access to water

Three GOP candidates file in Freeholder race

The three Republican candidates for Union County Freeholder yesterday filed their petitions with Union County Clerk Walter Halpin for the Sept. 12 primary election. The three, Charles Tracy of Hillside, Arthur Manner of Berkeley Heights and Jerome Epstein of Scotch Plains, announced that Union County Register Joseph Durkin has accepted the responsibility for co-ordinating the Freeholder campaign.

the rats' weight returns rapidly to its original value.

IN A PAPER RECENTLY delivered to the New York Academy of Science, Dr. Collier stated that it is precisely this tendency to recover body weight to the genetically determined value that is the basis of a large part of animal motivation. But don't give up in despair! Studies performed by Dr. Collier have shown that if rats are allowed to exercise voluntarily they not only have a lower body weight, but consume less calories than animals not allowed to exercise. Even more interesting than this is the finding that rats who exercise can overcome certain dietary inadequacies. "There appears at least two ways one can hold his weight down," concludes Dr. Collier. "One can learn to live with the feeling of constantly being hungry or engage in active exercise as a part of daily living."

Jack, Jill nursery re-opens Sept. 18 for fall program

The Jack and Jill Cooperative Nursery will reopen Sept. 18 for its 1967-1968 session at the Five Points YMCA, 212 Salem rd., Union, it was announced this week by Mrs. Richard McElroy, director. Mrs. McElroy, a Union resident, explained that the nursery, which is state certified, is a school for preschool children three to five years of age. To be eligible, the child must be three years old by Oct. 31. In explaining the need for a cooperative nursery school for children below public school age, Mrs. McElroy stated that the program has been designed to provide the children with the opportunity to develop socially, physically and emotionally and to give them regular association with other children in an environment supervised and guided by skilled trained persons. In addition, she noted, nursery school is a prelude to education. Howard Merrick, branch executive, stated that registration was limited and that first-come, first-served basis. For information can be obtained from the Five Points YMCA, 687-5570.
