Introduce bill to permit swimming pool guests

Anticipation that a path for Rt. 278 through the center of Springfield will be announced tonight moved all Township Committee members Tuesday to call on the entire community to join in a "fight every step of the way" against any further highway incursions into the township.

The exact path of Rt. 278 from the Goethals Bridge to Rt. 78 is expected to be announced at a meeting of local officials and Highway Department spokesmen tonight in Trenton. A recent map distributed by the Highway Department tended to indicate that Rt. 278 would connect with the interchange between Rt. 78 and Rt. 24 in the vicinity of Morris avenue and Balunrol way.

In other business, the governing body introduced two amendments to the ordinance on operation of the municipal swimming pool. One measure was introduced with considerable doubts by the committee.

It would permit pool members to bring out-of-town guests to the pool, at a charge of $3 per guest per day, on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday only. Member families would be limited to 10 guests per season. Guest under 15 would be charged $2. The other amendment raises the number of members permitted from 5,500 to 5,800, to accommodate residents now unable to join.

Introduction of the amendment on guests came with the support of Mayor Arthur M. Falkin and Committee members Philip Del Vecchio and Robert G. Flamer. Committee members Robert D. Hardgrove and Jay Bloom were opposed.

These in favor acknowledged some doubts on the merits and drawbacks of the proposal. They said, however, that a full-scale public hearing on the measure, scheduled for the July 11 meeting, would be the best way to determine public opinion.

BASE RULING --- Harry Gregory, as Harry the Hobo, will entertain youngsters at the Springfield Minutemen's baseball game Tuesday morning at Ruby Field, to open the town's Independence Day celebration. As Happy the Clown, Gregory will be featured before the fireworks program in the evening at Meisel Field. Above, he hands a sample of the candy he will distribute Tuesday to Ricky Williams, sliding into the base. Randy Stec is making the tag. (Leader photo by Bob Baxter)

3-way program for 4th Baseball, big band, bigger bang

"Come one, come all, to a happy and safe Independence Day celebration right in town," Frank E. Harlow, Jr., president of the Springfield Fourth of July Committee, urged this week. He predicted, "We will have the finest display of fireworks ever shown in Springfield."

The festivities will start at 10 a.m., with a baseball game at Edward J. Ruby Field (Caldwell Place near Rose Avenue). The Springfield Minutemen, who were last year's trophy winners, will be challenged by the Irvington All-Stars. Special trophies will also be awarded to the most valuable player on each team.

During the game, Springfield's own version of Emmett Kelly will arrive in the person of Harry Gregory, attired as "Harry, the Hobo." He will greet the fans and distribute candy and small toys to the younger set.

The evening events will be at Meisel ave. Field, featuring a large display of fireworks. The admission gates, located at various parts of the field, will open at 7:15 p.m. Donations of 50 cents per adult and 25 cents per child under 12 years may be made.

At 7:45, live musical entertainment will be supplied by the Lost Chords band. This nine-member group will play and sing their own arrangements of current popular songs. They have appeared at numerous functions in Springfield and other communities and are all local residents.

THE MUSICIANS are Michael Klein, electric guitar; Raymond Danziger, trumpet; Larry Friedman, saxophone; Robert Quinn, clarinet; Gary Berger, electric organ; Norman Reinhardt, trombone; Joel Horowitz, trombone; Robert Kurtzer, drums and Robert Zuckenberg, trumpet.

A questionnaire on the proposal to permit guests will also be distributed to members at the pool, as a help in discovering how members feel about the proposal.

He went on to say, "If we are to be the victims of the Highway Department again, with Rt. 278 after Rt. 78 and Rt. 24, we should take our fight to the N.J. Supreme Court, at least. If we need to go to Trenton personally every single day to fight this, we have five members who can do it."

Del Vecchio cited as typical of the department's disregard of local values its refusal to permit emergency access to Rt. 78 for local fire, police and ambulance units. He noted that if there should be an accident here on Rt. 78, emergency units would have to go virtually to Union or Summit to get on the highway.

YES group seeks summer teen jobs, asks contributions

The Springfield Youth Employment Service this week issued a three-part appeal addressed to local businesses seeking summer help, to teenagers who are registered but have not used the service in the past year and to all residents who might be able to help the agency with contributions of trading stamps.

Mrs. Saul Black, YES chairman, asked all employers in the Springfield area to call the agency office at 379-2567, for summer help and vacation substitutes in offices, factories or stores. "We have many eager, anxious and competent applicants," she said.

All young people registered with YES who have not applied for jobs in the past 12 months must register again, Mrs. Black disclosed. She explained that a new filing system is being introduced "which necessitates our removing all applicants' cards that have been inactive over a year."

YES office in Town Hall is now operating on its summer schedule, from 10 a.m. to noon on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays.

The agency chairman also commented that the revision of the bookkeeping system has created an urgent need for a new typewriter and other office supplies. She urged all residents to contribute trading stamp books, full or incomplete, to be used toward the acquisition of the needed equipment.

The stamp books can be taken to the YES office in Town Hall or given to Mrs. Wallace Callen, 11 Mohawk dr., 682-9833, or to Mrs. Walter Luyck, 175 Tucker ave., 379-3264.

Drivers needed

An appeal for drivers to take Junior Red Cross volunteers to East Orange Veterans Hospital this summer was issued by Mrs. Robert E. Walters, motor corps captain for the Springfield Red Cross Chapter. Drivers are needed for Mondays, Tuesdays, and Wednesdays throughout the summer.

Gangsters, criminals and thugs know, as the American people do not, that the city and community police forces constitute the most formidable bulwarks against their lawless appetites, and you can be sure the Communists realize that local police departments are one of the most important remaining obstacles to the gradual inroads and at first invisible, establishment of their Communist State.

Federal Tax Facts

Refunds on 1966 Federal income tax returns totalling $244 million have been issued to more than 1 1/2 million New Jersey taxpayers. More than 90 percent of all returns requesting refunds by New Jersey residents have already been processed and refunds mailed.

However, some New Jersey taxpayers awaiting refunds have been notified that their returns would be audited before refunds were issued. Tax returns are usually selected for pre-refund audit because the refund claim is large or because, an exceptional amount is listed as a deduction.

The first notice that a taxpayer receives is a letter which states, "Your income tax return on which you requested a refund has been selected for an examination." It tells the taxpayer that additional or substantiating information on one or more items reported on his returns will be requested at a later date. It asks that no further action be taken until the taxpayer receives a second letter.

This second letter specifies that the additional information needed to complete the audit through correspondence. Ordinarily it requests that the taxpayer send cancelled checks, receipts, bills or other evidence to support a particular deduction or it includes a questionnaire to be completed and returned.

Internal Revenue has found this correspondence technique to be the most efficient method of auditing individual income tax returns. However, if any taxpayer feels that his case can be better handled by a face to face interview and discussion, he can make arrangements for it.

Taxpayers with further questions on examination of their returns will find most of their answers in Document 5202, "If Your Return is Examined". It is free at any IRS office.

Case cautions U.S. on Vietnam build-up

Senator Clifford P. Case has warned the Administration to weigh carefully the pros and cons of sending more American troops to Viet Nam.

Senator Case told members of the New Jersey Press Association Sunday that he had serious doubts that the answer to Hanoi and the Viet Cong is more American military manpower.

"Our goal should be to insist upon, and assist in getting, maximum effectiveness from the very large numbers of men in the South Vietnamese forces," said Case, who recently returned from a study mission to Southeast Asia. Otherwise, he said, "we risk losing the very objective we seek—an independent and viable nation in South Viet Nam."

daughter to the Springfield couple is Janet Bonilla, a brown-haired, brown-eyed youngster who lives with her family in the slums of Guayaquil.

Janet is in the first grade at school. One brother, Jorge, 11, also attends school, while Marciza, 7; Susana, 5; Javier, 3, and Johnny, 1, remain at home.

The father earns $32.50 a month as a butcher and the mother earns $2.50 as a laundress. Each month the family pays $1.50 for school tuition, $1.35 for oil and the balance for food and an occasional piece of clothing.

Under the plan adoption, which costs the foster parents $15 a month for a minimum of one year, the family will receive a monthly cash grant of $8 as well as clothing, household equipment, medical care and other assistance, including guidance and counselling from social workers.

Although the "adoption" is for a period of one year, foster parents often continue supporting the same child until he graduates from school or reaches the age of 16. If at any time the foster parent cannot continue, the child is assigned to another foster parent. Once enrolled, a child is assured of continuous care until he is capable of caring for himself.

Foster Parents Plan is 30 years old. Beginning with a Spanish boy orphaned by the Civil War, the organization now cares for 45,000 children around the world. Originally the program stressed rescue and relief, but the emphasis today is on rehabilitation, not only for the foster child but for his entire family.

The medical program also covers the entire family.

Foster Parents Plan is a non-sectarian, non-profit, government-approved organization. Its offices are at 352 Park ave., South, New York.

SPRINGFIELD LEADER PAGE OF COMMENTARY AND FEATURES

The road to the summit could defour over here

Last week's suddenly-announced summit meeting of the American and Russian leaders placed the world spotlight briefly on the quiet little town of Glassboro in South Jersey. The moral of all this is not what the meeting meant in terms of global diplomacy; let us all reflect for a moment that it could happen here.

If it did, what would it all mean to our own quiet little community. First to benefit would be our barber shops. All elected officials would rush out to get new haircuts suitable for appearances on national television.

Second, all local motels, restaurants, gas stations and (why not?) ladies' lingerie shops would hasten to raise their prices to a level befitting international recognition. We have a free enterprise system, of course, but nothing else in town would be free.

Third, at least one local personage would organize a protest demonstration against the appearance here of so many Communists. He would undoubtedly be joined by the local resident agent of the Viet Cong, who would not be opposed to any Communists, just to some.

The local proto-protector would drop his plans abruptly after a visit from a well-dressed gentleman with a soft voice and a large badge. With luck, the local personage would even lose his powers of speech for several months.

Great numbers of small children would hastily prepare spontaneous demonstrations of welcome and mass prayers for world peace, under the tutelage of small numbers of large ladies. The little girl chosen to present a bouquet to the honored dignitaries would turn out to suffer acutely from rose fever.

All police vacations and days off would immediately be cancelled, so that local officers, familiar with local problems, could help supervise the traffic jams. All local police officers would show strong support for international brotherhood, but not here in town.

In addition to all sorts of governmental officials and subordinate staff members, the town would overflow with private citizens from all over, coming here to press their claims for an infinite variety of proposals to improve world welfare.

There would be at least one engagement at fisticuffs between the adherents and the opponents of world-wide daylight saving time.

The local newspaper would rush into print with an extra welcoming the world's great political leaders and their supporting cast from the world of press and television and expressing the modest hope that all visitors take advantage of the bargains in our local stores.

The special edition would prominently display a picture of assorted great personages, with the local mayor and the Russian premier incorrectly identified as each other in the caption underneath the picture.

U.S. Senator HARRISON A. WILLIAMS Reports

FLOOD INSURANCE BILL GETS HEARINGS

I take a great deal of satisfaction, this week, in chairing three days of hearings on legislation to establish a national flood insurance program.

The history of the legislation dates back to March, 1962, when a spring storm ravaged the New Jersey Coast, destroying homes, businesses and other properties valued at many millions of dollars.

The portion of the loss which was attributed to wind damage was, in most cases, covered by insurance and the owners were able to rebuild.

But the portion of the loss attributed to flooding—and it was substantial—was not covered by insurance for the very good reason that it is impossible to obtain such insurance.

We toured the shore area, talking with the storm-stricken residents, shortly after the disaster. And I was impressed upon me that many people had not only lost their homes or their businesses but were burdened with mortgages or other obligations on these properties which they were legally bound to pay off.

To many people it meant ruin; the loss of their life savings.

In 1963, I introduced a resolution calling for a federal study aimed at devising a workable flood insurance program.

The resolution was incorporated into the Southeast Hurricane Disaster Relief Act of 1965. The Department of Housing and Urban Development was authorized to conduct the study, it did so and submitted its report last August.

The report stated that a flood insurance program is feasible and could and should be established. It recommended a joint federal-private program, in cooperation with the insurance industry.

And the Department of Housing and Urban Development promised to consult with the insurance industry and develop legislation to put its recommendation into effect.

Unfortunately, the bureaucratic mills ground exceedingly slow. And when March of this year rolled around and we still didn't have a bill, we put together our own legislation.

There were two tactical reasons for this. Most important, we wanted to schedule hearings on this program and in order to do so, we had to have a bill before the committee. Also, we felt that introduction of a bill, even though it was admittedly something less than completely satisfactory, would put pressure on HUD and the administration.

Our tactics worked. HUD drafted the legislation and got it approved by the Administration and we received it last Thursday, only four days before the hearings began.

The Senate has acted to censure Senator Dodd. Much of the discussion in his defense concerned the justice of censure for acts which are not specifically prohibited by a Senate rule or Federal statute.

This argument, I believe, begged the question before the Senate. Public office is a public trust. Just as much as a private trustee, the public officer has an affirmative obligation to observe a high standard of conduct, over and beyond what may be specifically enjoined by law.

The American people clearly hold to this view. A recent poll reported that, by more than 3 to 1, Americans favor requiring members of Congress to disclose their personal income and its sources and all their financial interests.

The public is right in considering this the best approach to a chronic problem that Congress has repeatedly shown itself unable to deal with effectively.

The legislation provides, initially, for coverage of one to four family dwellings only. If experience with the program indicates it is practical, the Secretary of HUD would be authorized to extend the insurance program to other risks, including businesses and farms.

There are several provisions in the legislation to end future construction in high risk flood areas and to, eventually, eliminate existing development in these areas.

Ultimately, it is anticipated, this will place the flood insurance program on a self-sustaining basis and end the need for federal financial participation.

In the event that agreement cannot be reached with the insurance industry on a cooperative arrangement, the legislation provides for establishment of what would be, essentially, a federally financed and operated flood insurance program, with insurance companies' agents and brokers as fiscal agents to sell and service the policies.

This legislation has had an exhaustive study by the Department of Housing and Urban Development and by other agencies of the Administration.

The insurance industry has been consulted at length in drafting the bill. I believe that the record of the hearings will reflect agreement among the administration, the insurance industry, and those who will benefit from the program.

I look forward to an early and favorable report from the Securities Sub-committee and the Banking and Currency Committee and passage by the Senate.

This insurance program will protect the homes and savings of home owners who, heretofore, have been unable to obtain such protection.

Disclosure has several advantages. First, it is preventive. The knowledge that one's financial activities and interests will become known as the best possible "stop and think" signal.

Second, it is automatic in operation. When the facts are on the table, the press and the public can make their own judgment.

Third, disclosure will strengthen the people's right to elect whom they wish by giving them full knowledge of the personal financial interests of those who present themselves as candidates for election or reelection.

PROFILE—Sigrid Patterson

Sigrid Patterson, an attractive, intelligent college student, who has started her third year as a playground director at Woodside Playground in Springfield, has a special philosophy on how to succeed with children without really trying.

SIGRID PATTERSON

"Right from the beginning—when I started my first year at the playground three years ago (I was a freshman at Newark State College), I found that a director has to go into the playground, not with the idea of showing full authority, but with the idea in mind that this is the children's playground. The fewer rules you have, the better off you are," Miss Patterson says.

"And I've discovered through experience, a director must have a good reason for making a rule."

"I found that most often if you explain the reason for a certain rule, the children will listen to you, understand and obey you."

"FOR EXAMPLE," Miss Patterson points out, "last year some of the children wanted to bring firecrackers into the playground, and I had to explain why I refused to permit it. I explained the dangers of firecrackers, especially with real young children around. They understood, and they obeyed."

Miss Patterson says that the children in her playground range in age from seven to 16. The majority, she says, runs from the 12 to 16 age groups.

"No matter what kind of plans you make or what kind of programs you set up, you always must keep in mind that the playground is theirs—for their enjoyment—and nothing else."

Each of the ten playgrounds in the Springfield area has two directors. And the program, Miss Patterson says, "consists of tennis lessons once a week by qualified teachers and arts and crafts programs (two teachers come around once a week)."

"OUR FUNCTIONS are to set up a daily program. But first we have to have some sort of program planned. Last year," she recalls, "we found it was a lot easier to have a more flexible program—it was planned as we went, actually. And I'm hoping that it will be the same this year."

"If the kids feel as if they'd like to play quietly, we plan quiet games. The youngsters are very creative. They love to be geared into making things on their own. And they come up with some really imaginative projects by way of paper mache and plaster sculpture. We have a sand box, and some of the children like to make their own molds out of wet sand, bake them and then paint them."

"Children," Miss Patterson says, "are grouped according to their ages and games. We have boys' and girls' games when the games are not too rough. Children are sometimes grouped from about seven to nine years old; 10 to 12 and 13 to 16. And we plan the games accordingly. We've found that most often the boys and girls like to play together, rather than separately."

Miss Patterson said that last year "on my own, I took the children out into the woods near the playground. We played games of identification, and the children did a very good job identifying the different trees and plants. Ed Kirby, recreation director, has said that during the fall, he will have paths made for our various tours."

"WE PLAY LOTS OF GAMES in the woods. One of our special games there is a peanut hunt. The children can get five to 50 points according to our point system."

"Our point system incidentally," she says, "includes winners of checkers and chess tournaments."

could perform approximately 2,500 multiplications per second; the 360 model 75 was designed to perform 375,000 per second. The cost of carrying out 100,000 computations on the first generation model was $1.38; the 360 reduces the cost of 3-1/2 cents.

CURRENT PRODUCTION AT IBM is concentrated on the System/360 series of computers, first delivered in April 1965. This series of computers includes a wide range of machines, varying in rental price from $2,000 to $140,000 per month. Purchase prices average about 50 times one month's rental. Most of the models are compatible with each other, making it easy for a user to switch from one model to another without radically changing software programs.

The fourth generation machines may make use of the latest advance in components—LSI (large scale integration). Although LSI is in an embryonic stage, researchers are having techniques which they say will put 50, 100, 10,000 and more circuits on a thin silicon wafer two or three inches in diameter. Use of LSI in fourth generation equipment probably would provide another large increase in computer capability in terms of space saving, speed, cost and reliability. I would expect these improvements to lead to greater use of computers in existing markets and new applications in untapped markets.

As to speed, the old vacuum-tube computer

LOCAL TAXES MAINSTAY OF COUNTY GOVERNMENT. Revenues of New Jersey's 21 county governments reached an all-time high of $329,475,074, last year, reflecting an increase of more than $30 million over the previous year.

While this represented a 10 percent increase, statewide, in revenues, the proportions of income received in aggregate by the 21 counties from three major sources remained relatively unchanged from last year. Local property taxes continued to be the main support of the county units, providing more than $244 million of 72.9 percent of total 1966 income. Over $72 million, or 5.3 percent, represented appropriations from surplus from previous year operations.

A county-by-county breakdown compiled by the New Jersey Taxpayers Association showed that in Union County, revenues in 1966 totaled $21,185,405. Of this $15,767,823, or 74.4 percent, came from property taxes; $4,117,582, or 19.5 percent, from "other revenues," and $1,300,000, or 6.1 percent, from surplus. The revenue totals do not include income from borrowing.

In Essex County, revenues in 1966 totaled $62,802,356. Of this, $49,221,129, or 78.4 percent, came from property taxes; $11,881,227, or 18.9 percent, from "other revenues," and $1,700,000, or 2.7 percent, from surplus.

The figures were compiled from official sources by the Taxpayers Association for inclusion in the 1967 edition of its annual publication, "Financial Statistics of New Jersey Local Government," to be published in the fall.

Senator CLIFFORD P. CASE Reports

The Senate has acted to censure Senator Dodd. Much of the discussion in his defense concerned the justice of censure for acts which are not specifically prohibited by a Senate rule or Federal statute.

This argument, I believe, begged the question before the Senate. Public office is a public trust. Just as much as a private trustee, the public officer has an affirmative obligation to observe a high standard of conduct, over and beyond what may be specifically enjoined by law.

The American people clearly hold to this view. A recent poll reported that, by more than 3 to 1, Americans favor requiring members of Congress to disclose their personal income and its sources and all their financial interests.

The public is right in considering this the best approach to a chronic problem that Congress has repeatedly shown itself unable to deal with effectively.

There are a variety of reasons for this. Congress is one of three coordinate branches of government. As the Supreme Court recently held, the constitutional provisions designed to protect the independence of Congress from an unfriendly President or hostile judiciary generally rule out outside inquiry into the motives of a member of Congress.

Further, since each member of Congress is primarily accountable to his constituency, colleagues are reluctant to sit in judgment on him.

Nonetheless, recognition is growing of the need for forthright action to assure the integrity of the Congress.

Disclosure has several advantages. First, it is preventive. The knowledge that one's financial activities and interests will become known as the best possible "stop and think" signal.

Second, it is automatic in operation. When the facts are on the table, the press and the public can make their own judgment.

Third, disclosure will strengthen the people's right to elect whom they wish by giving them full knowledge of the personal financial interests of those who present themselves as candidates for election or reelection.

I have nothing against codes of ethics. Indeed, we already have one, adopted in 1958. Unfortunately it carries with it no means of enforcement.

For years Congress has required top Executive officials to disclose specific financial interests. It is high time that Congress applies the same principle to itself and does away with the double standard so long followed.

Disclosure does involve intrusion into privacy but, as one who has done it regularly, I believe it is a small price to pay for the privilege of public service. And the cost becomes insignificant, compared to the great public good which would be served.

I am confident that institution of a disclosure requirement will bring reassuring evidence that most members of Congress are honest men who regard public service as a public trust.

GLASSBORO AND SPRINGFIELD

Two events took place which prompt me to write the following.

All of a sudden a small American town without any particular fame finds itself the site of the summit meeting between Prime Minister Kosygin and our President L.B. Johnson. I am sure that the citizens of Glassboro will never forget this occasion, and we all hope that the future events connected with this meeting will always evoke pride in the hearts of the people of Glassboro.

Of no less importance, what took place in our own town of Springfield barely a week ago was a memorable occasion. Of course, I refer to the U.S. open golf tournament. Now, I am not a golfer; so I cannot appreciate the full joy one has hitting a ball with a stick (and then you can't find it at all), I did not make a cent letting anyone park on my lawn. My business did not benefit in any way from this event. However, something happened deep within me that meant so much that I spoke to a number of persons about it and found that they also felt the same way.

Briefly, we were proud of our town because it, also, was talked about all over the world. In Japan the radio would broadcast Springfield, N.J., in England also, and in most other countries.

I dare say that all of us felt very patriotic without being chauvinistic. We did not feel the urge to fly any flag; rather we were for a moment guest members of the Rotary Club, whose parking facilities benefited the guests and the cause which the organization pursues.

What I learned many years ago in school in Switzerland again made plenty of sense to me - "My country, right or wrong," but love my country and respect the other man's.

Two events in two different towns in the same state.

Glassboro, site of hope;
Springfield, site of pride;

Colonial life shown in film at Tralside

"The Colonial Naturalist," a color, sound film will be shown at The Union County Park Commission's Tralside Nature and Science Center, in the Watching Reservation, on Sunday at 3 p.m.

The film turns back the calendar for a look at 18th century life in Williamsburg, Va. The flora and fauna of the period have been photographed in color in this film. Buildings and roads shown in the film were actually in use during the 18th century. The original musical score has been written in the style of the times a spokesman said.

The Tralside Nature and Science Center will begin its summer schedule of operations on Saturday. During the months of July and August the Nature Center is open to the public every day, including Saturdays, Sundays and holidays from 1 to 5 p.m.

The public is invited to visit the Nature Center, tour the live-animal area, view the thousands of indoor exhibits, and participate in the scheduled programs.

Union County third on contract list of U.S. government

Prime government contracts totaling $74,299,869 went to 171 firms throughout the State during May, Robert A. Roe, Commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development announced this week. Commissioner Roe said an additional 17 contracts with the dollar amounts "indefinite" were awarded to 14 New Jersey firms.

Mercer led the 19 counties represented on the awards list with contracts aggregating $40,276,682. These included seven contracts ($33,000,175) to RCA's Division of Princeton for specialized research services; six contracts ($5,170,636) to Trenton Textile Engineering and Mfg. Inc. of Trenton for wet weather parkas; two contracts ($703,058) to Switlik Parachute Inc. of Trenton for men's coveralls; and a $26,000 contract to Educational Testing Service of Princeton for studies on development of mental test theory and methods.

Bergen was next on the awards list with contracts amounting to $8,913,007 followed by Essex County, $7,023,993; Union County, $3,463,221; Hudson County, $3,131,386; Camden County, $2,564,690; Passaic County, $1,965,628; Burlington County, $1,536,851; Morris County, $1,349,093; and Monmouth County, $1,341,744.

Sen. Hughes set to push new cemetery measure

State Senator Mildred Barry Hughes (D-Union), said this week she is already looking ahead to the Senate's return in the fall to push the completion of some unfinished business. High on the list is her bill on cemetery regulation, she said.

She introduced the measure near the close of the last session. It was "just about buried" under the heavy volume of work and the haste to adjourn, Senator Hughes said, but she does not intend to let it die over the summer.

"This is too important a bill to let it wither and fade away," Senator Hughes said. "It is designed to protect the public, which for years has been seeking some sort of cemetery regulation. There has not been an amendment to cemetery legislation in this century."

The measure, which was drawn after public hearings were held on the two proposals submitted to the Legislature last year, would create a New Jersey Cemetery Board within the Department of Law and Public Safety. The board would be composed of the Attorney General, the Commissioner of Banking and Insurance, the Commissioner of Health and two citizens of the State, at least one of whom has had five years of experience in the cemetery business.

The board would have supervision over all cemeteries in New Jersey and would have the power to review their rules and regulations, their trust funds and charges other than the sales prices of graves. It would be the arbiter of disputes between cemeteries and the public or vendors. Appropriate hearing procedures are spelled out in the bill.

Under the measure, cemeteries would be prohibited from selling or manufacturing artificial flowers such as monuments, markers, bronze urns or vaults.

Salesmen would be permitted to represent cemeteries. There would be provisions for their examination and licensing. There also would be license fees for salesmen and charges for cemeteries.

Hyman, chief of clinical services of the Training School Unit of the American Institute for Mental Studies, Vineland, has been appointed chief psychologist for the Evaluation and Consultation Clinic for Mental Retardation at the Child Study Center, Newark State College, Union. Business Patterns data made public

About 194,800 workers in Union County's nonfarm businesses earned taxable wages under the old-age, survivors, and disability insurance program, according to the latest edition of County Business Patterns, Ralph W. Jones, Social Security District Manager in Elizabeth said this week.

The 10,797 reporting units of employers of nonfarm employees covered under the program paid out some $283,039,000 in taxable wages in the county during the first quarter of 1965. The report shows 300 of the employing units reported 100 or more workers each at this time. The largest proportion of employment, 97,948 workers, was in manufacturing, with 12,122 employed in electrical machinery firms.

The current edition of County Business Patterns is the 12th in a series showing county and industry statistics based on wage reports filed under the Federal social security program. This edition is divided into 53 parts contained in 53 separate books, one for each of the 50 States, Washington, D.C., and Puerto Rico, (which includes statistics for the Virgin Islands, American Samoa, and Guam).

The data are uniform and comparable from State to State and county to county and are shown for many kinds of business under the following broad industry groups: agricultural services, forestry, and fisheries; mining; contract construction; manufacturing; transportation and other public utilities; wholesale trade; retail trade; finance, insurance and real estate; and services. The publication shows the number and location of workers in the industries in which they are employed, and how much they are paid in taxable earnings. In addition to its use in administering the social security program, the publication furnished businessmen with data to evaluate private demand for both industrial and consumer products, is valuable in analyzing market potentials and establishing advertising and sales programs. In making the industrial structure of regional areas and in making basic economic studies of small areas.

Reference copies of "County Business Patterns" may be examined at field offices of the U.S. Department of Commerce, at district and branch offices of the Social Security Administration, and at many public libraries. The complete set of 53 books of County Business Patterns, 1965, may be purchased at a cost of $36.30. Individual books can be obtained at a price ranging from $4.40 to $4.75 each. Orders may be sent to the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D.C., or to any U.S. Department of Commerce field office.

Public viewing sessions will be conducted every Friday evening through Oct. 27, except on July 21.

Visitors to the Sperry Observatory will be permitted to use the 12 1/2-inch refractor and six-inch refractor telescopes as well as other telescopes set up in the viewing area by members of Amateur Astronomers, Inc.

Members of AAI will be on hand at the Sperry Observatory and at Surprise Lake to point out the heavens and to explain their significance. Paone invited the public, including children, to participate in these public viewing sessions at no charge.

CYO will sponsor 2 camps in county

The Catholic Youth Organizations of the Archdiocese of Newark will sponsor summer day camps at St. Michael's Church, Elizabeth, and at St. James Church, Springfield, it was announced this week by the Rev. Roland W. Muzgon, Union County-CYO coordinator.

Staffing the two camps will be 22 adult counselors and 27 junior counselors, Father Muehlen said. John Shannon, a teacher in the Elizabeth school system, will direct the Springfield camp for the 14th year, and Norbert G. Van Bergen, assistant CYO program director, will direct the Elizabeth camp.

Seven appointed to guidance group

Frank Moretti, guidance counselor at Union High School, and Miss Charlotte Singer, director of guidance at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, were among seven recent appointees to the Union County Personnel and Guidance Association, according to Monroe B. Nestler, president and director of guidance at David Brainerly Regional High School, Kentworth.

Nestler said members of the group will decide the topics to be discussed in the coming school year. He said possible topics would be the role of the guidance counselor in curriculum development, audio-visual aids, the financing of post-high school education, and state legislation affecting counseling and counselors. Nestler reported that county community colleges, salary differentials, and federal aid programs will be studied and acted upon by the association.

College study plan at UJC for students of technical school

A cooperative program between Union Junior College, Cranford, and the Union County Technical Institute has been approved by the Board of Trustees of Union Junior College, it was announced this week by Dr. Kenneth C. MacKay, UJC president.

Under the program, students at the Union County Technical Institute, a post-high school program operated by the Union County vocational school system, will be provided an opportunity to take college credit courses at Union Junior College on a selective basis. The program also provides an opportunity for UJC students to transfer to the Union County Technical Institute with advanced standing.

The cooperative program was approved several months ago by the Board of Education of the Union County Vocational and Technical School, which conducts the Union County Technical Institute.

As the result of the cooperative program, a Union County student could pursue both academic and technical programs at the existing post-high school institutions in Union County, Dr. MacKay said.

"In a sense, this arrangement serves some of the same purposes as a comprehensive County College with the advantage of pooling programs — pre-professional, academic and

Gifts to NSC to provide representation in capital

Newark State College, Union, has received two donations of $1,000 each that will provide representation in a newly-established Office of Federal Programs in Washington, D.C., Dr. Eugene G. Wilkins, president of the college, announced this week.

A donation of $1,000 from The First State Bank of Union was presented recently by Frank M. Pitt, president of the bank. It was matched by a $1,000 donation from the Newark State College Alumni Association, presented by Mrs. Anne Walko, its president, assistant director of student placement and teaching at the college.

The new Washington office, which is expected to open Saturday will serve 20 colleges and universities throughout the country by facilitating their participation in federal programs. It will act as a clearing house for information concerning eligibility for federal funds as well as foundation money.

The institutions served are members of the Association of State Colleges and Universities, an organization with a total membership of 209 institutions.

Newark State and Montclair State College are the only two of the six New Jersey state colleges to acquire representation in the Office of Federal Programs, which will be housed in the National Education-Association building at 1785 Massachusetts ave., Dr. Wilkins said.

He explained that legislation involving federal programs for education has become so complex that many colleges and universities are finding it necessary to establish offices in Washington, where first-hand information can be obtained.

The office will benefit member institutions in securing federal financial support and other services for developing new programs and strengthening existing ones. It will also provide state colleges and universities with information on proposed federal programs, if an institution is alerted to pending programs, it can be ready for them as soon as they become available, he said.

Roger Semrad, formerly of Falls Church, Va., has been appointed director of the Office of Federal Programs. He will represent all 20 of the participating state colleges and universities.

He has also toured the Pacific for six months with the USO visiting minor posts staffed by only a handful of men.

"I'd like to go to Vietnam" he said, "because the American GI is a wonderful audience and because he is really no different from his father who served with me twenty-two years ago".

DeCicco and his trio have not confined their entertainment to the military, however. The trio appeared for five years at the Alibi in Union before coming to the Four Seasons. DeCicco's pianist, Pat Lido, played with the Merry Columna Show in Las Vegas.

DeCicco spent four years in the Pacific during World War II as part of Admiral "Bull" Halsey's fleet, supplying U.S. troops on Okinawa, Iwo Jima, New Guinea, Christmas Island and hundreds of other small islands.

A few years ago he took a musical combo to Korea for what the USO termed a "Hardship Tour" of one-night stands throughout that country, visiting tiny outposts along the 38th parallel.

FRIDAY DEADLINE
All items other than spot news should be in our office by noon on Friday.

OUTLOOK — Donors of a $2,000 fee that will provide representation for Newark State College, Union, in a newly-created Office of Federal Programs in Washington, D.C., John Dr. Eugene G. Wilkins, president of the college, in an inspection of facilities previously acquired through federal programs. Viewing a classroom building now under construction are Mrs. Anne Walko, president of the Alumni Association; Dr. Wilkins, and Frank J. Pitt, president of the First State Bank of Union.

Accept UJC graduates

Union Junior College's 113 graduates will be heading to 34 different colleges and universities in the fall, it was reported this week by Anatole K. Colbert, counseling officer. Colbert said graduates of the Cranford college have already been accepted by 15 New Jersey colleges and 19 other colleges and universities throughout the nation. All but nine of the 113 graduates plan to continue their collegiate careers in the fall at four-year colleges and universities, Mr. Colbert said.

A FEMININE LOOK ...AT AFRICA 1967

(Commentary on a National Newspaper Association Study Mission to eight African countries south of the Sahara.)

By TRUDINA HOWARD

Twelfth in A Series
TALES OF NKURUMAH
"The economic situation is a little thorny... any explanation will be a little murky..."
These were the words used in Accra, Ghana, when we asked how Ghana's economy was doing after the reign of high-spending Nkrumah.

When Kwame Nkrumah first came into office as president in 1946, the country did not have a national debt, but six years later it was in debt for approximately 778 million dollars, and Nkrumah (pronounced Enkumrah in Ghana) has the reputation for being the reason for most of it.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

Most of us are occupied with the pursuit of a happy and successful life. We are free, within certain limitations, to pursue happiness in any way we choose, so long as we do not violate the laws of the land or the rights of our fellow man.

What is regrettable is that too many of us reach the legal age of adulthood without the proper training and experience we need to attain the happiness and success we so desire.

How often, upon realization that one's life is perhaps half over, does an individual say, "Oh, to be able, knowing what I know now, to start all over again!"

How nice, if the wisdom of age were given to all in the days of youth. But, it is not.

Yet, no matter how old one may be, this individual is better prepared to find some happiness and some success if this person has learned the lessons of living, has profited from experience.

What did you learn today that will help you to better meet the challenges of tomorrow?

He is also credited for investing the country's money poorly, establishing state-owned industries ranging from laundries to nuclear reactors which are worth only a fraction of what he paid for them and some are considered total losses now; for operating some good investments badly as well as everything else; for incurring foreign loans and not repaying them; for eliminating the country's personal freedoms; for being friendly with Red China, and for being so unfriendly to his next-door African neighbors that the borders were closed.

All of which finally caught up with him bringing things down around his head, and in February, 1966, while he was on a trip to China, a military coup stepped in, taking matters into its hands to try to save the country, and Nkrumah went to live in Conakry, Guinea, in exile.

As he went, however, he reportedly took some six million dollars with him.

But believe it or not, there is now a commission extant which is charged with determining Nkrumah's ASSETS! They are to see what residue he will be able to keep from his "legitimately acquired assets." "LEGITIMATELY acquired," we asked wide-eyed, "is there such a thing?"

"Yes," was the surprising answer, "the 20 percent he would take from his salary!" However it was added, "we may not be able to discover all his foreign assets." Meaning, of course, how much is in a Swiss bank or elsewhere. With all the ramifications, I would say the Ghanians are being outstandingly generous.

NKRUMAH APPARENTLY was a very bad boy. His people do not even want him back. They also do not fear his return even though he has 80 to 100 followers with him and there have been reports of plans for the assassination of some National Liberation Council (the new government) members. There is rather a feeling of security and satisfaction with the NLC and the army is 100 percent behind it. There is also a belief that a counter-coup cannot be organized successfully.

The National Liberation Council has inherited quite a mess of problems, but it has accomplished much since 1966 when it took over. It hopes to pull the nation out of its troubles and be organized enough to hold a presidential election in two or three years, at which time the army leadership will go.

Lt.-Gen. Joseph Arthur Ankrah, 51 and Cambridge educated, is now head of government but not "president," which makes Nkrumah the country's one and only president so far.

Ghana received its independence from Britain in 1960, the same year as Nigeria, making the two nations the first colonized African nations south of the Sahara to become independent, Ghana's independence day is March 6 and Nigeria's October 1.

When Nkrumah came in as president in 1960 the country was in good order. Ghana has good resources—including hard timber, cocoa, manganese, diamonds, gold, and now a huge new river Volta dam and a man-made harbor at Tema. While there is a lack of trained African personnel and labor, there is a larger group of educated Ghanians to choose from than is the case in many countries.

But by 1966 the country was on the brink of bankruptcy and when the NLC took over among its first tasks was to re-establish credit and to get the country in working order again. It was obtained from several international trading firms, even if perhaps hesitatingly, an agreement for 180-day, non-interest credit on absolute essentials for operating the country, and it has gained extensions on its foreign loans, which are mostly British, to 1969. It has opened its borders to its neighbors and has been a real leader in African unity movements. A meeting of the OAU also was held in Accra in October 1965 for which Nkrumah hostfully built an eight million dollar African Conference building called the State House which now, however, stands empty. It has re-established foreign relations with western countries, and it has recalled its students from communist countries or transferred them to western institutions (some 300 Ghanians are studying in the U.S.). It has sent all the Red Chinese technicians home and closed the training camps and improved the personal lives of its people.

It is said that Nkrumah was rather cloistered and surrounded himself with people, and any woman who took his fancy, of course, who told him what he wanted to hear. Chinese ambassadors had direct access to him but U.S. and British officials were seen but not in the same manner.

At the last stages of his reign, from January, 1965 to July 1966, a matter of six months, there was a rise of 168 percent in the cost of living for 25 percent of the people (city dwellers mainly). In a country where the average income is $170 annually that is drastic.

During Nkrumah's years the press was not free to publish anything but favorable reports and it is said that every Monday morning Nkrumah met with his staff to decide what to do all week: how to attack, who to attack, etc. Now, however, the press is beginning to regain its freedom. It still may not print matters that are not in good taste, meaning "Playboy" or "confidential" type matters, but otherwise there is considerable liberty. There are some state-owned papers, but there are also some privately-owned ones.

The American speakers in Accra spoke optimistically of Ghana and seemed to expect the country to again be prosperous six years from now; to again be prosperous and stable as it was six years ago.

Serious crimes up over 1965's total FBI report shows

According to figures made available this week through the FBI's Uniform Crime Reports and released by Attorney General Ramsey Clark, serious crime in the United States jumped 20 percent in the first three months of 1967 when compared with the same period in 1966.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said this "substantial upsurge" in the nation's crime was reflected in all Crime Index offenses. Crimes of violence, as a group, recorded a 21 percent increase with murder up 23 percent, forcible rape eight percent, robbery 32 percent, and aggravated assault 15 percent. The group of crimes against property rose 20 percent, with burglary up 21 percent, larceny $50 and over in value 18 percent, and auto theft 20 percent.

According to the FBI Director, the group of cities with 100,000 or more inhabitants had an overall 20 percent increase. Crime in suburban communities rose 22 percent on the average, and the rural areas were up 16 percent. The effect of the nation's crime increase was felt in all geographic regions.

Hoover noted that the regional trends were consistent with the western states up 21 percent, followed by the north central and southern States up 20 percent each, and the northeastern states up 18 percent. All crime classifications recorded increases in the four geographical regions.

IN MAKING THESE figures available, the FBI Director called attention to the "unusually sharp percentage increase in the crime of robbery. He said every city population group contributed to this trend with the increases ranging from 20 percent in cities with 250,000 to 500,000 population; robbery in the suburbs was up 37 percent and increased 22 percent in the rural areas. Robbery recorded substantial increases in all geographic regions as well.

Hoover cautioned that the 20 percent rise in serious crime in the United States for this three-month period was the sharpest recorded since the publication of quarterly reports began in 1958. The FBI Director stated that a full explanation of the reasons for such sharp increases is difficult because the upward trend

Chart safety course before weighing anchor

Safety measures to prevent boating accidents this summer were urged this week on the boat users of this area by Howard E. Camp, Jr., area director of Safety Services for the American Red Cross, eastern area.

The Red Cross is one of 17 organizations sponsoring "National Safe Boating Week," which begins Sunday.

"Only about half the nation's 40 million boat users can swim well enough to save their lives if they fall into deep water," said Camp in his Alexandria, Virginia office. "That is why it is vital that small craft safety rules be carefully observed."

In order to reach more people with boating instruction and safety information, the Red Cross is seeking to expand its small craft training programs in camps, schools, and colleges, and has revised its methods of instruction so that the theory content of its courses in sailing and outboard boating can be taught in classrooms in the winter months, followed by practice sessions on the water in spring and summer.

"The Red Cross recommends that everyone who uses the water learn to swim," Camp said. "But beyond this, there are safeguards against trouble that every boat operator and passenger should observe."

THESE WERE HIS RULES for safe boating:

1. Carry a Coast Guard approved life jacket

2. Don't overboard. Keep passengers down to a safe number.
3. Don't overpower your boat. Your dealer can tell you what horsepower motor it can take.
4. Don't smoke while refueling.
5. Don't let passengers of a small boat

6. Equip your boat with essential gear—anchor, oars, boathook, extra lines, fire extinguisher, tool kit, and first aid kit. Running lights are a must for nighttime operation.
7. Check Weather Bureau forecasts before taking boat out on open water. Take a transistor radio along to keep posted on changing weather conditions.
8. Most boats, if swamped or capsized, will stay on the surface, so stay with it till help arrives—don't swim away unless you are in dangerous or extremely cold water.

CAMP LISTED THESE basic rules of the waterways:

1. When boats are meeting in, or nearly in, a head-on position, each should keep to the right.
2. When boats are in a crossing situation, the one on the right has the right of way.
3. When one boat is overtaking another, the boat being overtaken has the right of way.
4. Powerboats should give way to manually propelled or sailboats unless the sailboat is overtaking a powerboat. Small sailboats, when sailing in a channel, should give way to powerboats which cannot operate outside the channel.
5. Sailboats on the starboard tack have the right of way of sailboats on the port tack.
6. Sailboats to windward must keep out of the way of sailboats to leeward.

"All safety conscious skippers make a point of knowing the swimming capabilities of those on board," Mr. Camp said. "If a person goes accidentally overboard, rescue procedure is based on the ability of inability of the person in the water to help himself.

"If the man overboard can swim, a life-saving device can be tossed to him. The boat should be stopped, and the victim can swim to it.

"When a weak or non swimmer falls overboard, first swing the stern away from the side from which he fell. Then toss him a life-saving device and promptly maneuver the boat back to him. Keep a close watch on him at all times and make the approach as you would mooring at a reduced speed and slightly to windward if possible. Shut off the motor within a few feet of the victim and bring him into the boat."

Camp said all boatmen should know first aid, including how to give artificial respiration, because boats often operate far from medical attention.

Air Force officer is member of wing presented award as outstanding unit

TACOMA, Wash.—Major Robert W. MacDuff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter MacDuff of 982 Porter ave., Union, N.J., is a member of the 62nd Military Airlift Wing at McChord AFB, Wash. The wing has been awarded the coveted U. S. Air Force Outstanding Unit Award.

Maj. MacDuff, a C-141 Starlifter aircraft commander, will wear a distinctive blue ribbon decoration to identify his affiliation with the Military Airlift Command organization. The wing was cited for its support of operations in Southeast Asia and the remote sites of the Alaskan Command. Its airlift services included an operation in Alaska, transit of Army infantry advance unit to Southeast Asia and the achievement of the greatest number of flying hours ever recorded in a one-year period during the wing's 26-year history.

The major, who was commissioned in 1945 through the aviation cadet program, served during World War II and the Korean War.

The Union High School graduate attended Buffalo University, the University of California at Los Angeles, McMurry College, Abilene, Tex., Clisco (Tex.) Junior College, and the Municipal University of Omaha (Nebr.).

Morris, Unico win St. James titles

In the St. James Little League, Morris Motors won its last game of the season over Gaylin Buc, 17 to 0. This victory completed an undefeated season for the Motormen and gained undisputed possession of the major league championship for the team, manager was distributed quite evenly in all geographic regions, large and small cities, suburban and rural areas.

"The fact remains that these crime increases are real and the law enforcement machinery needs the full support of government and citizens alike," Hoover said.

Neven Stiegerwald and coach Joe Mahiruy. Unico in the minor league won after a closing rush in which the winners overtook the Knights of Columbus and defeated them in the final championship game, 13 to 7. Joe Natello was the winning pitcher as he struck out the side in the last inning. Otto Cippolla supplied the fielding gem of the game in the third inning as he jumped high in the air to catch a line drive, with the bases loaded and two outs, off the bat of Brian Mullen for the third out to stop a rally for the turning point of the game. Cippolla and Ricky Hector combined to bat in eight runs for the winners.

Action leading up to the championship game saw Spring Enterprises upset Unico 6 to 5, forcing a critical game with Unico and K of C, which Unico won 8 to 4 on June 20, and emerged champions as they again took K of C out June 21.

With the season's end, league officials expressed a "word of thanks to the league umpires, John Ehrhardt, Bob Hannon, Fran Kaelbin and Tom Quinn. These men do an outstanding job and call them as they see them. The boys, league officials and men are very appreciative of their untiring efforts in a tough, unrewarding job."

Fined, finds no hubcaps

Christine M. Rzeszka, 21, of 884 Lorraine ave., Union, has been fined $25 for speeding 46 miles per hour in a 25-mile zone on Milltown road.

When she returned to her car parked on N. Trivett avenue outside of Town Hall, Miss Rzeszka discovered that someone had stolen all four hubcaps. The Springfield police report placed the value of the stolen hubcaps at $30.

PUSHY SALES CALLS and how to cope with them

Nothing's more annoying than a pushy sales call. Especially when it uses a bogus contest, a phony offer, or when it comes at an awkward time.

Fortunately, such calls are easy to deal with. If you're not interested, SAY SO, SAY GOOD-BYE, AND HANG UP. Usually, that settles that! After all, you are in control of your telephone.

IF THE CALLER'S RUDE OR PERSISTENT, LET US KNOW. Call your Telephone Business Office. But first, be sure to find out the name and location of the firm calling. Then we'll do what we can.

TIP-OFFS ON QUESTIONABLE SALES CALLS

THE CALLER MAY:

- Give no identification.
- Claim to be conducting a survey... which turns into a sales pitch.
- Rattle off prices, offers, and questions in machine-gun style, so that you are confused.
- Make "special" offers simply because you are a "good" customer.
- Tell you that you have won a "free" gift.

DRIVE CAREFULLY!

SCHOOLS OUT

This message presented in the public interest by the following civic-minded firms:

You literally "bet your life" every time you drive too fast, try to beat a light, cut in and out of traffic, pass another car on a hill or curve! With the stakes so high and the odds so steep, does this kind of gamble make sense to you? Isn't it a lot better to drive with care... take a little longer to get where you're going... and ARRIVE ALIVE?
Ironically, on summer's happiest occasions (week-ends and holidays), the tragic toll of highway accidents zooms to the highest totals! Traffic is congested. Driving strain increases. Millions of good, bad and indifferent drivers are on the road, speeding, cutting in, weaving, challenging traffic controls. These are the times, above all to drive with EXTRA care... keep your temper... watch the other driver and bring your family home ALIVE!

FAMILY POT LUCK

June is Dairy Month—a good time to plan meals around plentiful dairy products. Chocolate milk is a glamour refresher when served in frosted glasses with a whipped cream puff garnish. To frost glasses dip rims of chilled glasses into unbeaten egg whites, then into powdered sugar.

Milk-made custards and puddings go hand in hand with flavorful fruits. Top fresh fruit compotes with cinnamon or nutmeg flavored custards. Buy an extra quick custard—spoon honey and toasted almonds over vanilla ice cream.

A roll of hard-boiled eggs has been developed by Clemson University. Although not yet on the market, the product should prove to be a convenient food to have on hand, ideal for garnishing salads and casseroles.

Take time in selecting shoe types

Shoes of some type are worn two-thirds of every day. Activities of walking, sitting or standing require comfortable shoes that fit correctly, says Carolyn F. Yuknus, Senior County Home economist.

When your feet hurt, your whole attitude can be one that is not indicative of yourself. For all-day foot comfort, shoes must be carefully fitted. The first step toward good fit in shoes is to have your feet measured each time you buy a pair of shoes.

Stand up while the measurement is taken because your feet are naturally longer and wider while standing. Have each foot measured. Usually, both feet are not the same size, so it becomes necessary to fit the largest foot.

Always try on both shoes and walk around the area to check the fit. Correctly fitted shoes are comfortable from the beginning and do not have to be broken in.

Allow plenty of time to shop for shoes. If possible, select shoes in the afternoon, since feet tend to swell slightly after you have been on them awhile.

Different brands of shoes will fit your feet differently because all manufacturers do not use the same shaped last for any given size.

It may be possible that you would wear one size shoe in one brand and require another size for a different brand.

Shoe styles may influence the fit and comfort, too. Certain designs will fit better than others.

Shoes should fit snugly at the heel to hold the foot firmly in place. In a properly fitted shoe, the arch of the foot rests comfortably on the full length of the shoe's shank.

When you stand, the shoe should extend one-half to three-fourths inch longer than the big toe. Remember that more length is needed for the current, rounded toe version.

Inspect both shoes carefully for good workmanship. Make certain there are no wrinkles or rough spots inside the shoe to rub or irritate the foot or wear out hose.

If one shoe is too tight at any spot, it may be wiser to get another size or different brand. It is easier to fit a loose shoe than expand a tight one.

Think small.

Our little car isn't so much of a novelty any more. A couple of dozen college kids don't try to squeeze inside it.

The guy at the gas station doesn't ask where the gas goes.

Nobody even stores at our shape. In fact, some people who drive our little livver don't even think that about 27 miles to the gallon is going any great guns.

Or using 5 pints of oil instead of 5 quarts. Or never needing anti-freeze.

Or racking up about 40,000 miles on a set of tires.

That's because once you get used to some of our economies, you don't even think about them any more. Except when you squeeze into a small parking spot.

Or renew your small insurance. Or pay a small repair bill. Or trade in your old VW for a new one.

Think it over.

Asks accounting of sales tax 'excess'

Matthew J. Rinaldo, Republican candidate for Union County state senator, this week called on Governor Hughes to "account for the discrepancy between the sales tax collections and the amounts promised in the form of state aid."

"Several weeks ago I wrote Gov. Hughes asking for an accounting of sales tax revenue," Rinaldo explained. "Although I was not surprised at his failure to answer my letter personally, I was rather dismayed by the replies I did receive."
Rinaldo said he received a booklet indicating that $128,497,160 would be spent from sales tax revenue this fiscal year for local education and roads. "However, another letter from Trenton informed me that $153,701,311 was realized in sales tax revenue during the first nine months of its imposition. At this rate, New Jersey tax collectors will extract more than $200 million in the first year of the sales tax operation. Where will the excess of approximately $75 million go?"

The Union County candidate maintained that Gov. Hughes has "still failed to give me the courtesy of an adequate accounting for this tremendous amount of money. How many unnecessary jobs will be created to fuel this political machine the Democrats are constructing in Trenton? How many unnecessary projects will be instituted with this money?"

feel I deserve an answer to this question, and so do the people of New Jersey, who are footing the bill."

Union Junior College gets grant of $5,000

Union Junior College, Cranford, has been awarded a federal grant of $5,000 for the purchase of library materials. It was announced this week by Dr. Kenneth C. Mackay, UJC president. The grant was made under Title II-A of the Higher Education Act of 1965.
Prof. George P. Marks, III, of Roselle Park, college librarian, said the grant will be used to purchase about 800 additional books for the Dr. Arthur L. Johnson Memorial Library. A similar grant last year added about 900 books to the UJC library, Prof. Marks, said.

UJC elects McGowan

The election of former Assemblyman James M. McGowan of Elizabeth to the Board of Trustees of Union Junior College, Cranford, was announced this week by Hugo B. Meyer of Summit, chairman. McGowan, an alumnus of Union Junior College, served in the New Jersey Assembly for three terms from 1958 to 1963.

1,000 infants born alive.

"The infant death rate in New Jersey is 23.2. At least 595 babies died from birth defects and 457 from prematurity," he said.

"According to the same March of Dimes analysis the infant mortality rate here in Union County is 23.9," he said. He pointed out that based on information provided by the United Nations, "This nation's excessive infant mortality rate places us behind 16 other advanced nations."

"One of the things we can do about this is to expand research into birth defects and prematurity."

Dimes funds up $4,730

At the annual meeting of The National Foundation-March of Dimes, Union County, held recently, Edward L. Whelan, chairman, announced an increase of $4,730.40 in receipts over last year. The gross receipts totaled $52,154.77. A total of 25 percent of these receipts will support medical-scientific research into the cause and prevention of birth defects.

In his report to the Board, Whelan said that according to a March of Dimes statistical analysis, in 1965 a total of 9,092 babies were born in Union County. Of those 734 were premature and an estimated 640 were birth defects victims. He expressed alarm that the United States now suffers a death rate of 24.7 on every

Yule trees trim time

No, the cold spring didn't mix people up. The trees are not for sale! They're still growing on about 350 New Jersey farms.

Tree farmers prune their trees to make them grow bushy and develop more places to put bright ornaments or small gifts or popcorn strings.

You'll have as many as four times the number of branches to hang decorations on as the result of the current, pine tree shearing operations.

Austin N. Lentz, extension forester at Rutgers University, says spruce and fir trees are usually sheared in winter to make them bushier and more beautiful. Pines are sheared at this season.

If this thought puts you in a Christmas-like July mood, you can get a free leaflet, "The Story of Your New Jersey Christmas Tree," and a list of New Jersey farms where you can cut down your own tree next December.

Just write to Lentz, College of Agriculture and Environmental Science, New Brunswick, 08903.

'Sound of Music' is delightful at newly-renovated Sanford

By BEA SMITH

A double celebration took place last Wednesday in Irvington, and local dignitaries, led by Mayor Harry Stevenson, joined Stanley Warner dignitaries, led by Henry Burger, New Jersey zone manager, and Harold Wiedenborn, district manager, to mark the opening of the newly-renovated Sanford Theater on Springfield Ave. and the road-show opening of "The Sound of Music."

Prior to the initial screening of one of the most beautiful motion pictures ever produced by a Hollywood film company, 20th Century-Fox, speeches were made by the mayor and by Wiedenborn, who announced that "The Sound of Music" is the type of picture audiences throng to over and over again.

The Rodgers and Hammerstein film musical, derived from the famous team's New York stage production, delighted audiences as Julie Andrews, Christopher Plummer, Eleanor Parker, Richard Haydn and Peggy Wood, offered their best, to the story of the Von Trapp family in Salzburg, Austria during the last days preceding World War II.

Such marvelous tunes as "The Sound of Music," "Do a Deed," "Sixteen Going on Seventeen" among many others, fill the Sanford's auditorium, sharply and distinctly through all four speakers on its walls. The color and photographic views are enhanced by the theater's new wide screen.

The new plush seats are most comfortable in which to enjoy the lengthy picture. An intermission gives movie-goers an opportunity to view the luxurious Sanford lobby, rest rooms, ticket counter and the ultra-modern double-faced attraction panel.

This viewer, who has already seen "The Sound of Music" twice, plans to return in the near future for a third experience with the picture which has won five Academy Awards and which has broken all box office records throughout this country and Europe.

ASK AMY

BY AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy:

Last Christmas Eve after I left work, I went Christmas shopping to get presents for my wife and baby son. (We have only been married 3 years but already it seems like 33). After I finished my shopping I came home to find her brother and girl friend and his buddy sitting around getting drunk. My wife greeted my arrival with the announcement that I was to watch the baby while they went shopping. They did not arrive home until 4:30 the next morning, and then my wife was carried into the house. I trusted her even though she didn't bring home any presents. Of course the next morning she was too tired to get up and open the presents, so my son and I had to open them alone. To top it all off, she made me take back the coat I bought her because "it wasn't chick enough."

Last week she came home and told me she was pregnant. Yesterday she told me she wanted an immediate divorce so she could marry her brother's buddy. She told me the baby wasn't mine and if I didn't give her the divorce, she was going to take him and leave.

Please, Amy, tell me what to do? I really love my wife and will do anything to preserve our marriage. Thank you, and . . . Please Help

ASK AMY

BY AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy:

I'm writing this regarding your advice to people about telling their wives or girlfriends who offend with bad breath or body odor. If they and their clothes are clean, and they are not aware of the problem, it is a good deed to tell them . . . privately, of course, and gently. But, suggest to your readers to go a step further and mention to the offending party when the problem has been overcome, that it has been overcome.

I had this problem and someone told me about it. I was deeply embarrassed as I do bathe every night and my clothes are kept neat and clean. I did, however, put this person at ease, telling her that I appreciated her telling me. I went to my doctor who only advised that I use a deodorant. This I have done ever since. But to this day I am plagued by the thought that perhaps the deodorant didn't answer the problem . . . and you don't go around asking your friends if you still have an odor!

TOWN'S BEST SPORTS -- Winners of the annual sportsmanship awards presented by Baltusrol Golf Club pose with their trophies at the annual picnic held last week at Meisel Field by the Springfield Junior Baseball League. Top squads get trophies at annual baseball picnic

More than 300 boys aged nine to 15 took part in the annual picnic of the Springfield Junior Baseball League last week at Meisel Field. Trophies were presented to members of the Elks, champions in the Babe Ruth League, and the Rotary Club, winners in the Youth Major League.

Winners in the Pony League will receive their awards once a champion is determined by completion of games played earlier in the season. Trophies will also go to boys on the National State Bank and Concrete Block teams, still to meet in a play-off for the over-all crown in the Youth Minor Leagues.

Sportsmanship awards, donated by Baltusrol Golf Club, were presented to one boy in each league by Robert Fielding, director of business administration, the leagues' top executive officer, and Jack Williams, former director.

Minor League title to Concrete Block as Rosow fans 15

Excellent play by both teams highlighted the "World Series" game for the championship of the Springfield Youth Minor Leagues, won by Concrete Block of Irvington, 2-1, over National State Bank. The victory represented a triumph for the National League champions over the American League pennant winners. Bruce Rosow excelled on the mound for the winning Concrete Block nine. He fired a two-hitter, striking out 15 men in six innings and walking seven. Stuart Sherman led the winners' attack with two hits. He scored the first run after a double in the opening frame. Jim Andrew singled in the fifth and scored the winning run on a triple by Danny Halsey.

Bruce Hoffman also pitched strongly for National State Bank, giving up only four hits. Billy Bohrod and Rich Ross starred on defense, and Bob Roth had both hits for the Bankers.

Is driver or wedge best for stealing golf hoses?

Someone apparently mistook the recent U.S. open golf tournament at Baltusrol Golf Club as an open invitation to help himself to club property, according to Springfield police.

Joseph Flaherty, grounds manager at Baltusrol, reported to police on Monday the theft of six lengths of hose and three traveling sprinklers, with a total value of $291.

SPEEDER FINED
Springfield Magistrate Max Sherman Monday night imposed a $25 fine upon Anthony G. Bilbo of Millburn, who was charged with driving 45 miles per hour in a 25-mile zone on Milltown road.

Spring captures only softball contest in week's action for men's league

The elements were the big winners last week in the Springfield Adult Softball League, as rain and wet grounds took the decision in four of the five games on the slate. In the only contest played to a conclusion last week Spring Liquors moved closer to first place.

Swim team to start league competition; 12 meets in season

With the township swim team scheduled to open its 12-meet season on Wednesday, head coach Bill Reichle this week reported that he expects to complete tryouts by today. He added, however, that any additional boys or girls, aged seven to 17, may still speak to him at the town pool in the coming week about joining the team.

The opening meet will be Wednesday at 10 a.m. at Bound Brook. All other dual meets will be at 6 p.m. The schedule for the remainder of July lists: Tuesday, July 11, Springfield at Maplewood; Friday, 14, Cranford at Springfield; Tuesday, 18, Florham Park at Springfield; Tuesday, 25, Livingston at Springfield.

Meets for August include: Tuesday, Aug. 1, Springfield at Cedar Grove; Tuesday, 8, Springfield at New Providence; Friday, 11, Springfield at Florham Park; Tuesday, 15, Bound Brook at Springfield; Friday, 18, Maplewood at Springfield; Tuesday, 22, Springfield at Cranford. The league championship meet is scheduled for Saturday morning, Aug. 26.

as it turned back Anderson Plumbing and Heating by a score of 23 to 13. This game was played last Wednesday at the swim pool field.

Spring, which has dropped only one game this season and that to first-place A. Best Pharmacy, jumped away for six runs in the first inning against Anderson. The first hitting outburst for Spring came after the first two batters were easy outs. A dropped fly ball off the bat of George Keller led the way for successive doubles by Mike Pisano and Jimmy Lies. Bill Ehrhardt and Bob Wishart capped the big first frame, as they drove over the distant left field fence.

Spring kept up its relentless 29-hit attack throughout the game, as the sluggers drove 23 players across the plate. Frank Monticello was the batting star. The big infielder-outrfielder enjoyed his best day at the plate, as he belted out three tremendous home runs and a pair of ringing doubles. Monticello contributed five hits in six times at the plate and drove home a total of nine runs.

Mike Pisano had another good day for the Legion team will meet Westfield this evening

The Springfield American Legion baseball team will play tonight at 6 at Westfield, Rahway will play here, at Ruby Field, on Monday evening and the Springfield team will play at Rahway on Wednesday.

The schedule was rained out last week, leading to an increase in activity for the remainder of the season. The team is sponsored by Springfield Continental Post of the Legion, with John Siman as head coach.

winners. Mike had three hits, including a home run and two doubles. George Keller had four hits for Spring and also contributed a home run. In all, the heavy-hitting Spring team belted seven home runs in this seven-inning slug-fest.

Anderson, which was held to one run on five hits over the first six innings in this game by the Spring pitcher, John Ehrhardt, exploded in the final inning for 12 runs on 14 hits. This was the biggest single inning of the season in league play. Seventeen men came to bat for Anderson in this inning.

Dave Ronco, Reg Ronco and Ben Di Palma each belted a double during the big inning, while the remainder of the hits were singles. Bill Ward and Reggie Ronco took batting honors for Anderson, as each man collected three hits in four times at bat. Harry Anderson suffered his fourth loss of the season on the mound for the losers, while John Ehrhardt picked up his fourth victory for Spring Liquors.

A twin bill is scheduled for the swim pool tonight. The first game will send March Advertising against Remlinger Real Estate, while the second contest will feature the PBA against league-leading A. Best Pharmacy. Action will get under way at 6:30. The PBA is scheduled to meet the Somerset Bus Co. in a single game starting at 8:15 on Friday evening.

Highways in sky connect country's vacation spots

Highways to the Great Outdoors aren't all on the ground. Thousands of highways in the sky connect the country's weekend or vacation playgrounds.

These highways are being traveled more and more by thousands of people who have discovered the fun and convenience of do-it-yourself flying.

How does it work? First, using your home town as the focal point on a map, draw a circle with a radius of 300 miles. Then imagine yourself making a fun-filled trip in a private airplane to any point within this 1500-mile-diameter circle.

If you live in St. Louis, for example, the circle extends south to New Orleans, east to Washington, D.C., north to Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and west to Denver.

In a 150-mile-per-hour single-engine airplane it will take you five hours or less to reach any point within the circle. You may choose deep sea fishing in the Gulf of Mexico, quail hunting in Wyoming, or any of hundreds of other pastimes for a "long" weekend.

For a week or two-week vacation, you may expand the circle to include virtually any place in North America, regardless of where you live.

ALL THIS, OF course, depends on your having access to an airplane — a private airplane. If you haven't been exposed already to private flying, the whole idea probably sounds beyond your wildest dreams.

But consider for a moment the following: —There are some 90,000 airplanes in the U.S., classified as "general aviation," that is, civilian airplanes, flown for business or pleasure. According to the Federal Aviation Agency, more than half of these are listed as "personal" aircraft, as distinguished from those flown for business or commercial purposes.

Approximately 450,000 persons in the U.S. hold current civilian pilot's licenses. Some of them probably live in your neighborhood. —Learning to fly is fast becoming a "thing" to do among people of all ages and in all walks of life. During 1966, more than 120,000 persons in the U.S. received student pilot's licenses and started learning to fly.

LAST YEAR, these airplanes and pilots flew an estimated 500,000,000 miles strictly in the pursuit of pleasure. They operated from more than 9,000 airports and countless private airstrips throughout the country.

Through use of private airplanes, pilots and their families spent much less time "on the road" than they would have in automobiles, arrived at their playgrounds relaxed and refreshed, and enjoyed the convenience of go-when-you-want-to travel.

No, they didn't all own their own airplanes. Although many thousands do own a "family" airplane, many more take advantage of rental or club plans.

Airplanes may be rented at virtually any airport. The cost, of course, will vary according to the size and speed of the airplane. A typical four-place airplane with speeds of 125-160 mph will rent for $16-24 per hour. Although convenience is the main selling point for a private airplane, the cost will usually compare favorably with the total cost per mile traveled in a rental car. When costs are divided among two or more people making the trip, they are surprisingly reasonable.

Many pilots belong to thousands of flying clubs which operate on a non-profit basis.

From Anne L. Sheelan, County Home Economist

SAUSAGE KABOBS
FOR THE 4TH OF JULY
For an Independence Day Barbecue with a new flavor twist, serve Sausage Kabobs. The art of kabob cookery is simple yet delightful. It includes the procedure of alternating on skewers meats and vegetables which have been marinated or brushed with barbecue sauce, and then cooking them over smoldering coals.

Meat cuts suitable for kabobs offer great variety. Cubes of lamb, beef sirloin tip or top round, and frankfurter pieces are just a few suggestions. Use of sweet Italian link sausages, featured in the recipe below, result in even another possibility.

The vegetables to be used with the kabobs should be "other" whose flavors blend well with the meat chosen. With vegetables that soften slowly during cooking, as onion, it is wise to use either canned varieties or to parboil them ahead of time.

Fruits also combine nicely with some meat flavors. For instance, pineapple spears would be a delightful flavor addition with lamb kabobs. Here's the recipe for the featured Sausage Kabobs.

SAUSAGE KABOBS

1/4 cup vinegar
1/3 cup catchup
2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon Tabasco
1/2 cup salad oil
8 sweet Italian link sausages
1/2 pound mushrooms
1/2 pound tiny white onions, parboiled
2 firm tomatoes, quartered
1 green pepper, sliced

In small saucepan, combine vinegar, catchup, salt, Tabasco and salad oil; bring to a boil. Slice each sausage in half. Alternate mushrooms, sausages, onions, tomato wedges, and pepper slices on skewers. Grill Kabobs, turning and brushing with barbecue sauce. Allow about five minutes on each side. With fork, slide food off skewer. Heat remaining barbecue sauce and serve with kabobs, if desired. YIELD: Eight kabobs.

A LOOK AT THE UN with Trudina Howard

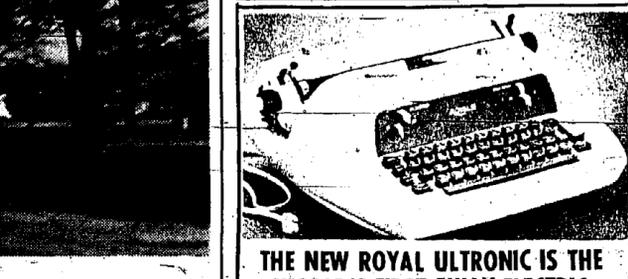

Sharing the limelight

In the five languages of the United Nations the big word this week was dosvadnyaya—au revoir—so long—adieu and whatever a farewell may be in Chinese.

THE YEARS PASS BY... AND RESPONSIBILITIES SHOW—Pictured on the left is Secretary-General of the United Nations U Thant as he sat on the General Assembly podium in 1962. With him is Muhammad Zafrullah Khan, UN ambassador from Pakistan and then president of the 17th Regular General Assembly. On the right, U Thant is pictured at the UN four years later — a few months ago. Trudina Howard is standing nearby.

News conferences at the UN differ somewhat from American ones in that they are a bit more formal. A spokesman for the newsmen, usually the president of the United Nations Correspondents Association, who this year is an Indian, Mr. C. Raghavan, generally makes a welcome speech (as he did Sunday) and the questioners are selected by the speaker as they raise their hands for attention.

Variety marks summer 'happenings'

Variety spices the entertainment bill of fare awaiting visitors and vacationers throughout New Jersey during the coming months, the State Department of Conservation and Economic Development announced this week. Conservation Commissioner Robert A. Roe said a comprehensive listing of the numerous special events, titled "What's Happening in New Jersey," has been published by his department's State Promotion Section and is available upon request.

New Jersey's annual presentations of beauty pageants continue with "Miss Magic Long Beach Island" to Aug. 26; "Miss Sea Isle

City" in July; "Miss Independence" in North Plainfield July 2; "Miss South Ocean City" July 4; "Miss Ideal Beach" in Middletown July 22; "Miss Avalon" Aug. 5; the "Sea Queen Contest" in Asbury Park Aug. 17, and the nationally televised "Miss America Pageant" in Atlantic City Sept. 4-9.

Washington Crossing State Park's open air theatre opened Friday with the opera "Die Fledermaus" and will continue with performances of musicals, dramas and comedies through Sept. 2. The summer program of Visual and Performing Arts at Ringwood State Park in Passaic County features an exhibit of paintings by Herbert MacDonald through July 5, and presentations by the Lakeland Community Chorus Sunday. "Carusel" will be presented tomorrow through July 2 at the Gristmill Musical Playhouse in Andover.

Week" in New Jersey by Governor Richard J. Hughes. Special programs marking Lakewood's Diamond Jubilee will begin June 29 and continue through July 8.

In this conjunction, morning and afternoon skiing contests and exhibitions will be featured at Lake Carasello on July 1, with the evening devoted to ceremonies culminating in the crowning of the "Diamond Jubilee Queen." There will be a band concert at the All Wars

Memorial, to be followed with a fireworks display on the evening of July 4. A combined air show and parachute jump exhibition will be presented at Lakewood Airport on July 5. Lakewood's anniversary celebration will be climaxed with an antique car parade on July 8; During the parade, hundreds of balloons will be released from a plane flying over the resort center. Many will contain free gift certificates contributed by the municipality's merchants—who are also offering a "pot of gold" prize in promoting Lakewood's 75th Anniversary.

Copies of the "What's Happening in New Jersey" booklet may be obtained without charge from the State Promotion Section, New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development, Box 1689, Labor and Industry Building, Trenton, 08625.

Opportunity for scouts to win awards

Summertime brings a new opportunity for Boy Scouts and Explorers to earn special recognition for improving their skills—and serving others, and 1967 is expected to result in a new high for the number of awards to be presented.

The recognition includes the 50-Miler Award, Historic Trails Award, Mile Swim BSA, and Scout Lifeguard, according to Stanley P. Mikus, camp director of the Union Council, Boy Scouts of America.

The 50-Miler Award is given to members of a Boy Scout troop or Explorer post that covers a wilderness foot trail or canoe or boat route of not less than 50 consecutive miles in a minimum of five days, includes opportunities for advancement in the plans for the trip, and completes a minimum of 10 hours of group work on projects to improve the trail, springs, campsites, portage, or wilderness area.

The Historic Trails Award requires that a Scout unit plan and participate in a historic activity by locating a historic trail or site and studying information relating to it, hike or camp two days and nights along the trail or in the vicinity of the site, and cooperate with an adult group such as a historical society to restore and mark all or part of the trail or site.

The Mile Swim BSA emblem is earned by a Boy Scout or Explorer who swims a continuous mile under safe conditions and in the presence of a special counselor.
