

Planning Board chairman responds to charges by Democratic candidates

Azeglio T. Pancani, chairman of the municipal Planning Board, this week issued a statement replying to criticism of the board and the proposed new zoning ordinance made last week by the Democratic candidates for Township Committee.

Pancani declared:

"I have attempted to refrain from becoming involved in the political campaign now in progress, and did not want to be drawn into a position of offering any defense for the actions and decisions of the Planning Board. However, after reading the latest statement by the Democratic candidates which attacks the integrity of the entire board, of which I am chairman, I feel I no longer should remain silent. In spite of their statements, I have been unable to find reference in any of their releases as to their understanding of the need for revisions to the zoning ordinance and zoning map, although they should be aware of the fact that a master plan was adopted in the summer of 1965, after a series of public meetings. They should also be well aware of the fact that this document, which had its inception when one of the candidates was in office, only represented a tool which could be followed for future planning, but had no legal status and was useless without its implementation with a revision of the existing zoning ordinance and zoning map.

"What they are not aware of is the vast amount of time which was spent since a firm of planning consultants was retained in April of 1966, under the Continued Planning Assistance program of the State of New Jersey, to aid the Planning Board in implementing the Master Plan. Starting in May, 1966, we have held over 30 meetings, seven of which were all day sessions, until we reached the point where we were in a position to offer a rough draft of our deliberations to the public on June 7, 1967.

"WE CERTAINLY WOULD have been very naive had we expected this rough draft to be accepted in its entirety without any comments or objections. However, the Democratic candidates have grasped this rough draft and are attempting to use it to their political advantage by claiming we are proposing radical changes, we are permitting industry to invade the residential areas, we are offering a program of planned deterioration of the town, we have down-graded questionable areas and, based on their accusations, that we have been motivated by political factors in holding back our recommendation to the Township Committee until our October meeting.

"A careful review of the draft we have recommended to the Township Committee would immediately disprove all of their statements. Furthermore, prior to its adoption, the Township Committee is legally bound to publish the ordinance and hold public meetings, at which time all the citizens of Springfield would have the opportunity to voice their opinion.

"For the information of all the citizens of Springfield and the Democratic candidates, I wish to state that the Planning Board held eight special and two regular meetings since our public meeting on June 7, 1967. We have worked diligently to complete our work as rapidly as possible, while giving serious consideration to all the statements, comments and objections voiced during the public meeting.

"The Democrats have attempted to make an issue of the Houdalla property, but naturally would not admit that what the Planning Board was attempting to achieve was a limiting of the quarry operations together with the proper use of the land left vacant after said operations ceased.

"With their allegations, they are accusing a group of nine men who have given freely of their time, talents and their technical and professional knowledge of being politically motivated and manipulated by the party in power. I realize they must find an issue on which to run for election other than a plea for a two-party system, but deeply resent it when they make the Planning Board that issue, and impugn the integrity of its members."

Springfield GI finishes vehicle repair course

FT. KNOX, Ky. — Private Robert A. Tutala, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Tutala of 18 Twin Oaks oval, Springfield, N.J., completed a general vehicle-repairman course last week at the Army Armor School, Ft. Knox, Ky.

During the eight-week course, he was trained in the necessary and maintenance of wheeled and track vehicles issued to armor units.

SUMMONS FOR SAFETY — State Trooper William Kehrlé last week addressed driver education students at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield. Shown with him are Mrs. Dolores Howard and John Swedish, driver education teachers at the high school. Others who also teach driver education are Robert Hooper and James Horner.

State will test 285 students in driver course on Monday

The nine-week classroom phase of the high school driver education course will conclude Monday when the State Motor Vehicle Department gives a written test on traffic laws and regulations to the 285 boys and girls of the junior class of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School.

Last week State Trooper William Kehrlé of the Safety Education Department, made his annual visit to the driver education classes. Kehrlé opened his address to all classes by taking out his New Jersey State Uniform Traffic Ticket and Summons Book and asking the students this question: "Would you rather have a summons for safety or a ticket to tragedy?" issued to you?" He then proceeded to answer his own question.

"Young drivers have all the qualities necessary to be the best drivers on our highways instead of being responsible for 32 per cent of the fatal accidents," he said. "Most of these drivers regard the car as a toy and the highway as a playground. They lack the responsibility to realize that they are handling a two-ton weapon of destruction. This is the type of thinking and attitude that will result in tickets to tragedy."

"SIGNAL 30," an on-the-spot film made by the Ohio State Police, was used to illustrate the "tickets to tragedy" that happened more than 53,000 times last year. The use of alcohol and driving accounted for 57 per cent of these fatalities while speeding was the second biggest factor. Careless driving, reckless driving, disregard of stop and other traffic signs, speeding on curves, driving on the wrong side of road, loss of car control, fatigue, distractions and inattention were other factors that resulted in these tickets to tragedy.

"Smooth, efficient and safe flow of traffic results in traffic 'summons-to-safety' attitude if voluntary compliance to traffic laws is practiced by every driver on the road," the trooper said. Education, engineering and enforcement also contribute to the total safety picture according to the trooper's remarks.

We're throwing in the sheets and pillowcases

You buy a new flameless electric dryer and we'll throw in Lady Pepperell permanently pressed sheets and pillowcases as a Special Bonus.

And when you throw these permanently pressed sheets and pillowcases into your new flameless electric dryer, they'll come out looking as soft and fresh and crisp as the day they were made. In fact, the makers of permanent-press fabrics recommend "tumble drying" as the best way to keep materials wrinkle-free and textures soft. This is just one of the many reasons why women prefer flameless electric dryers by a wide margin. Other reasons are: They're clean, safe and cost less to buy. And they don't require a special flue, so you can install them wherever you please.

Your Special Bonus, double bed set of Lady Pepperell Miralux sheets and pillowcases comes in the beautiful Rose Tulle print pictured above. The set consists of one full flat 81" x 104" top sheet, one double fitted all-over bottom sheet, and two 42" x 36" pillowcases. It will make an elegant addition to your bedroom.

Court action slated to block new motel

More than 40 longtime residents of the southern end of Springfield met at the home of Dr. Leon Katz, 15 S. Derby rd., on Sunday evening to authorize their lawyer to institute a law suit opposing the granting of a special exception use for a Holiday Inn Motel on Rt. 22 near the Springfield overpass directly across from the existing Quality Court and Howard Johnson motels.

On Sept. 26 the Town Council passed a resolution approving the recommendation of the Board of Adjustment to grant the special exception for the erection of a four-story motel with parking space and pool on a tract of land on the northern side of Rt. 22 immediately adjacent to vacant land now zoned for one-family houses.

"The people who live in the area object to the building of another motel which would downgrade the residential character of the neighborhood," a spokesman said. "They know that the amount of activity at a four-story motel would drastically add to the traffic problems on Rt. 22 and turn it into a Coney Island type of community."

"Plans for the structure include outdoor lighting for the large parking facilities, and outdoor swimming pool and a highway sign. The neighbors object to the building of a 'Motel Strip' in the residential community which now houses many families who moved to Springfield because it was a 'balanced community.'"

The builders of the motel have argued that it belongs in the town because Springfield has become one of the motel centers of the state.

"Since Springfield has recently experienced the effect of being bisected and dissected by highway construction," the spokesman said, "the inhabitants fear that continued downgrading of remaining undeveloped tracts would change the residential character of the town. Several acres remain on the northern side of Rt. 22 adjacent to one-family houses. The addition of a four-story motel on the highway tract would make it improbable that the vacant land would be used for one family houses for which it is presently zoned.

"The residents are certain that another motel would be harmful to Springfield and they object to transit-traffic and occupants, and to having their real estate values depreciated. They have authorized their lawyer to take all possible steps to prevent the erection of the motel and feel certain that other Springfield property owners will join in their efforts to stop the further downgrading of the community."

School board has talk with consultant about future needs

The Springfield Board of Education and Dr. Henry J. Risotto, a consultant from the Institute of Field Studies, Teachers College, Columbia University, met last week to discuss the findings made to date on Dr. Risotto's survey of school facility needs in Springfield. The survey, recently authorized by the Board of Education, is aimed at determining the adequacy of the local educational facilities to deal with the curriculum offered, and to be offered, in the local schools.

The conference session centered around five areas under study:

School enrollment, with regard to current and future numbers of students; Existing facilities, with regard to their capacity, utilization and adequacy for a given curriculum.

"The curriculum, with respect to its depth and scope; The financial posture of the community, with respect to its ability and willingness to support schools. The survey is expected to continue over a period of three to five months. Future conference sessions between the board and Dr. Risotto are expected to explore these same topics in detail as data are determined. Ultimately, the consultant's findings will be presented publicly, a board spokesman stated.

Corporate-employee division luncheon kicks off Fund campaign for $37,500

The 1967-68 United Fund drive to raise $37,500 to support 14 charitable welfare and character-building agencies serving the people of Springfield kicked off this year's fund raising effort with a luncheon meeting for the corporate-employee division at the Mountaineer Inn last Wednesday.

Max Weiss, president of Lu-Max Manufacturing Company, 44 Brown ave., is the chairman of this division, and Sidney Piller, president of Elkey Products, 35 Bryon ave., is vice-chairman. Other members of the team are Joseph Dickler, personnel manager of General Electric, Rt. 22, J. Robert Doser, treasurer of H. J. Ruesch Machine Company, 35 Fadem rd.; Samuel H. Friedman of Colvin-Friedman Co., 397 Morris Pike; Joseph Levine, president of A. R. Meecker Company, 12 Edson pl.; Harvey H. Schramm, sales manager, Jersey Central Power and Light Co.; Robert Skallenger, general manager, E. H. Sargent and Company, 25 Stern ave.; and Jack H. Siffelman, general campaign chairman of the 1967 Springfield United Fund.

This division has as its responsibility the corporate and employee solicitation of 108 Springfield enterprises with over 5,000 employees. Weiss stated that his team "looks forward to every Springfield company doing its fair share to assure a successful campaign as important to all the residents of Springfield."

"Fair share" is the term utilized to convey the responsibility of every firm doing business in Springfield, he said. "Fair share" is computed according to the type of business in which the firm is engaged and takes into consideration the number of employees. It also refers to the responsibility of every employee to the town in which he earns his livelihood, irrespective of his place of residence, Weiss said. He added:

"The standard of 'fair share' giving in the employee sector is set at one day's pay per month per year. Springfield residents working in other communities, especially in local communities in the New Jersey metropolitan area, are asked to participate in their companies in United Fund solicitation for gifts. These will be credited in proportion to the Springfield United Fund effort."

"Employees working in Springfield but residing elsewhere should make their pledges at their places of employment, with a proper of Mayor Robert Planer, so be responsible for a complete program directed solely for our teen-agers.

"The Teen Council consists of high school students who represent the many diversified segments of our community, and act as an advisory board to the Recreation Department in programming for youth. The Council sponsored several indoor and outdoor concerts, as well as semi-monthly dances during the summer. This is typical of the type of planning which has helped to cool our long hot summers, and in which our administration has taken infinite pride.

"Not only have programs been developed for young people, but we are delighted with the progress of our Senior Citizens Club, which now numbers almost 100 people," Falkin declared.

"Building for Springfield's future has been more than just a slogan. It has been more than the new municipal swim pool and the recreation programs. It has been more than the construction of Mount View road. It has been more than the improvement of Morris avenue, Mountain avenue, Shunpike road, Hillside avenue or Milltown road.

"Building for Springfield's future has been all of these, but more important, it has been building a sound financial base from which could spring such positive programs. Needless to say, without the wherewithal none of these programs could be implemented," Falkin continued.

Falkin and Bultman stated, "We would like to consider that what has been accomplished in Springfield to date is only the first phase of a pattern for the growth of our community. We are making a total commitment to continue to build for Springfield's future."

proportion of each pledge designated for the United Fund in their home community."

Weiss stated that he expects his team to have completed its responsibility by the end of three weeks. A report meeting will be held at a luncheon at the Mountaineer Inn on Wednesday.

supporting our own public schools. I respect the difficulties of private and parochial schools in keeping themselves up to par. I am very sorry the busing bill went through. This was a diversion of needed revenues. I don't want to see any more of that."

Charles J. Irwin of Mountaineer, Republican candidate for assemblyman at large, told last week's meeting, "If I were in the Assembly now and the textbook bill were introduced, I would vote against it. That's not to say I am against all state aid to private schools, but it seems to me that bill is not well-founded. In his statement printed by the LWV, Irwin said, "If state aid is required to maintain the private system and if such aid results in tax savings due to decreased expenditures for buildings, supplies and teachers' salaries to the public school system, then aid should be given."

HIS DEMOCRATIC OPPONENT, Everett Lattimore of Plainfield, had to leave last week's meeting before the question arose. In his printed statement, he said, "Health services which are available to public school children should be made available to those in private schools. The right to further aid should be constitutionally clarified by the judiciary."

Several candidates for the State Senate also issued statements to this newspaper on the subject.

Republican Frank X. McDermott of Westfield said, "I came out against the textbook bill. The reason that we're against the bill is that it places too much authority, power and discretion in the state school superintendent, who would administer the program. I think the bill is dead in the current session of the legislature."

McDermott added, "The private school bus bill is going to need amendments. It is not working out the way it was intended. The 20-mile radius is causing ridiculous complications. Legislators are talking about limiting the program within municipal boundaries, or within regional school districts."

Democrat James J. Kinneally Sr., of Rahway commented, "I do not favor direct aid to any private school. I could not favor a bill like the textbook aid bill."

Republican Matthew J. Rinaldo of Union said the textbook aid bill "places an excessive amount of control and power over the school system in the state school superintendent."

The other two Democratic Senate candidates touched on the subject in their statements printed by the League.

Lester Weiner of Linden said, "I must be opposed to any aid that violates the principle of the separation of church and state."

Mildred Barry Hughes of Union commented,

ESSAY AWARD - Mrs. Everett B. Craig, president of the Past County Presidents' Club of Union County, American Legion Auxiliary, presents trophy to Janice B. Hardgrove of Springfield, winner of an essay contest on the Auxiliary's Girls' State program. Miss Hardgrove was a delegate to Girls' State last June.

Miss Hardgrove wins prize in Girls' State essay contest

Janice B. Hardgrove of Springfield won the first place award in a county-wide essay contest on the Girls' State program of the New Jersey American Legion Auxiliary. She represented Springfield's Continental Unit No. 228 of the American Legion Auxiliary as a delegate at the week-long Girls' State sessions at Douglass College in New Brunswick last June. Miss Hardgrove was presented with a special trophy by Mrs. Everett B. Craig of Elizabeth, chairman of the Past County Presidents' Club of Union County. This was the first time that this group had sponsored such a contest. The trophy was in memory of the late Mrs. Maurice Evans of Roselle, who was a past Union county president, past department president and an active trustee of New Jersey Girls' State. The judges were members of the Elizabeth school system. Other contestants received meritorious certificates.

and was drifting rapidly toward No. 2 drydock, the report added. Walter and the other men, disregarding personal danger, by sheer determination physically moved the lighter about 20 feet. Their action was recognized as possibly saving the drydock, the two destroyers in the drydock and the personnel on the destroyers.

Walter's parents gave credit for a large part of his physical recovery after the polo attack to the therapy and training he received at Miss Bunny's School of Dance in Springfield.

After winning a gold cup and a dance scholarship for his achievements at the local studio, he went on to appear in summer stock and to perform throughout the area.

"Any private school accredited by the state deserves full partnership but not financial support. State aid is owed under court-established rules for ancillary services only, even though non-public schools relieve the tax burden by millions of dollars every year and fill a valuable role in our educational program."

Debate

done an outstanding job. It was with a fifth working member."

Bonadies asked "what is the price" of the View road, when it could lead to zoning favor. He also declared that Gov. Ronald Reagan had reduced taxes in California and "we must halt the tax spiral in Springfield."

IN RESPONSE to a question from the floor, Falkin said that delays in construction of the library had been caused by failure to perform on the part of the contractor, who had been the low bidder on the job and whose acceptance had been required. He said that the library should be open in late February or March.

Replying to the question on tennis courts, Falkin said that he had "put a major effort into play facilities," and that he would investigate court conditions immediately.

Bonadies replied to a request for his plans for cultural activities. He reviewed his past efforts for "historical understanding" and for cultural projects. He said, "Cultural activities should be expanded. We should spend more money in that direction."

All the candidates were asked to comment on the recent permit voted by the Township Committee for a motel on Rt. 22, and for plans in the new zoning ordinance to change the land between S. Derby road and the motel from a category for one-family homes to one for garden apartments.

Falkin commented that a "motel is no better or worse than a store or any other use in the business zone along the highway. This is a permitted use at present, requiring only a special exception."

Leonard said that the administration was "downgrading the area" in its new zoning plan.

Bultman stated, "We certainly need a buffer strip between the motel and the homes in the area. Beyond that, the motel will be a good rat-hole for the township."

Bonadies declared, "You don't want to zone neighborhoods downhill; you should go uphill. I can't believe in the concept of zoning at any cost."

Weiner calls for establishing Elizabeth inspection station

Gov. George A. Wallace, Democratic candidate for State Senate, this week called for establishment of a motor vehicle inspection station in Elizabeth to bring our inspection facilities up to the level of other counties.

According to Weiner, the four Union County inspection stations—Plainfield, Rahway, Westfield and Union—inspect 694,343 cars a year and that the county car owners wait an average of an hour to have his car inspected.

"This situation must be corrected immediately to give Union County drivers a fair break. The possibility of another lane in Union is not a satisfactory solution to this problem because the Union inspection station is shut down in inclement weather.

"A recent check of waiting times in Union County showed one hour for Rahway, 45 minutes at Plainfield, one hour at Westfield and an hour and a half at Union. The addition of a station in Elizabeth would result in a significant drop in waiting times. It makes no sense that the largest city in the county has no inspection station of its own.

Weiner also urged establishment of a "point of purchase inspection system for new cars" which, he said, "would also result in reduced waiting times."

In other statements this week the Democratic state senatorial candidate urged a state-wide study of street lighting systems, adoption of legislation to protect household pets from "dognapers" and establishment of a mandatory trust fund in which apartment house owners would have to keep security deposits made by their tenants.

Sen. Hughes denies charges she's a Dem 'rubber stamp'

State Senator Mildred Barry Hughes, noting but dismissing reported polls that she is ahead of her opposition in her bid for reelection, this week denied Republican charges that she is a "rubber stamp" for the Democratic Party and presented her platform objectives.

"They don't count the ballots until November 7," Sen. Hughes said. "I hope what I hear about them now is true, but I am taking no chances."

Mrs. Hughes, the only incumbent in Union County's senate race and the only woman senator in the state, countered charges that she was a "rubber stamp" for the administration by pointing to her opposition to the state sales tax and the proposal to levy tolls on the free sections of the Garden State Parkway as proof that she is not a "rubber stamp."

Sen. Hughes also noted that she has been involved in clashes with members of the governor's cabinet.

Among her objectives for the future are "clear air and water, better and cleaner rail service; more effective crime controls, a comprehensive intermunicipal flood control program, an adequate supply of potable water for the entire state and broader college opportunities for worthy high school graduates."

Mrs. Hughes took time out from her campaign last week to attend an industrial air pollution control conference at Rutgers University, New Brunswick. She said: "New Jersey seems to be on the right track; even if further federal participation is needed to assure clean air."

Three experts from Rutgers explained the state's policies to industrialists and outlined its program of guidance established to produce strict compliance with New Jersey's stringent laws against air pollution.

Political influence cited by Tracy as Runnells' 'only ill'

Charles S. Tracy, Republican candidate for Freeholder, said this week that "there's nothing wrong with Runnells Hospital that the complete absence of politics can't cure." Tracy said he advocates getting the Freeholders out of Runnells completely. "I advocate returning the hospital operation to its Board of Managers and giving that Board the full responsibility of running the hospital within its approved budget," he said.

The present Board of Managers is composed of outstanding individuals, both Democratic and Republican appointees, and the county is most fortunate that these members have continued to serve in spite of the interference and adverse publicity heaped upon the hospital during the past two or three years.

Runnells has a history of great service to the county and it continues to have tremendous potential for future service. Neither my running mates, Art Manner and Jerry Epstein, nor I agree with the recommendation of the consulting firm to phase out the hospital by 1975.

"The main attraction we have is to remove Runnells entirely from the politically polluted atmosphere that now engulfs it. Whether or not true, many people believe that one must know a Freeholder to be admitted to Runnells. During the last two or three years the public has been constantly bombarded by sensational newspaper headlines concerning hospital operations. However most of the tornadoes and personal publicity thus generated eventually turned into nothing more than a gentle breeze.

"This sensationalism has unfortunately resulted in ruining the morale of the fine, conscientious employees of the hospital. Politics and a political atmosphere must be eliminated from this operation."

Red Cross plans baby care class

Prospective parents may enroll in a mother and baby care class sponsored by Eastern Union County Chapter, American Red Cross. It was announced this week. The class will meet from 1 to 3 p.m. Mondays in the day care center, Mrs. Alice Welch, a specially trained Red Cross nurse, is the instructor.

A life-size doll will be used for practice in handling, bathing and dressing a baby, and attention will be paid to the health and nutrition of mother and child.

Eastern Union County Chapter serves Elizabeth, Hillside, Linden, Roselle, Roselle Park, Union and Winfield, but attendance is not restricted to residents of these communities. Interested persons may enroll in advance or at the opening of the class. Offices are at 203 W. Jersey St., Elizabeth.

FOR THE BIRDS

By FARRIS S. SWACKHAMER, professor, Union Junior College

The thread that binds bird watching with the why of today's violence and crime may seem a tenuous one, but it is none the less real. The story begins with Elliot Howard. Like so many people who had a profound effect on ornithology, he was an amateur naturalist. By profession he was a steelmaker—for many years director of the firm of Stewart and Lloyds.

During all four seasons, year-after-year, Howard made detailed observations in the field and kept meticulous records of everything he saw. The results of his studies were the subject of six books, only one of which has been enshrined as a paperback. This is "Territory in Bird Life" originally appearing in 1920 and then again in 1964 (Athens, New York $1.75). With the treatment by his original publisher, Howard became one of the first—if not the first—ethologists. "When studying the Warblers some twenty years ago, I became aware of the fact that each male isolates itself at the commencement of the breeding season and exercises dominance over a restricted area of ground."

Ethologists are those of the biology discipline who believe that the most reliable facts about animal behavior are secured by watching animals in their natural habitat. One of them, Dr. William H. Thorpe of Cambridge University, is quoted by Sally Carrighar in "War Is Not in Our Genes" (The New York Times Magazine, Sept. 10, 1967, page 74), as striding boldly onto the battlefield with: "There is hardly any aspect of the behavior of animals which may not have some reference to problems in human behavior."

Mrs. Carrighar's article is well worth reading too. It is a refutation of the precepts of two books, which hold that war is in our genes and cannot be avoided. The two books are "On Aggression" by Konrad Lorenz and "The Territorial Imperative" by Robert Ardrey. The third member of my trio of readings is "The Hidden Dimension" by Chicago anthropologist Edward T. Hall (Doubleday and Co., Inc., New York, 1966, $4.95) recently reviewed under the title "How Much Space Does a Man Need" by John Kord Lagemann in the August 1967 "Readers' Digest."

The fact that today more than half our population is concentrated on one percent of our land makes Dr. Hall's findings of immediate importance. Based on animal studies, they are summarized in his final chapter: "When crowding becomes too great after population build-ups, interactions intensify, leading to greater and greater stress. As psychological and emotional stress builds up and tempers wear thin, subtle but powerful changes occur in the chemistry of the body."

The reviewer completes the picture: "Overcrowding contributes to delinquency, sexual deviations, violence and crime, and it is literally making us sick. The symptoms are drug addiction, mental illness and a host of diseases associated with nervous tension."

So, even bird-watchers, can make some contribution to the understanding of today's problems. Perhaps someday out of it all will come an answer that will banish war from the world forever.

Rinaldo urges speed-up in highway construction

Matthew J. Rinaldo of Union, a Republican state senatorial candidate from Union County, this week proposed an eight-point program aimed at solving New Jersey's highway ailments.

Rinaldo said the "time has come for positive action in aiding the long-suffering motorists—the forgotten men in present-day New Jersey. He's the fall guy who pays a stiff price for the privilege of riding on a road—a road that in many cases is inadequate to meet the needs of modern driving.

The Union Township Republican said prime attention should be paid to modernizing the highway systems. This means completion by 1973 of New Jersey's portion of the interstate system, construction of necessary freeways, improvement of deficient local roads and correcting hazardous conditions that cause accidents.

Rinaldo called for "an all-out drive to spur New Jersey's lagging interstate highway construction program." He noted that as of June 30, New Jersey was sixth from the bottom in a report of states' progress on construction of roads in the interstate network.

"New Jersey, once king of the hill among her sister states in the quantity and quality of its highways, now seems to have fallen into a ditch," Rinaldo declared. "Of our allotment of 327 miles in the 41,000-mile federal system, there were only 118.8 miles open to traffic as of June 30. This sorry showing left us ahead of only Delaware, Hawaii, Minnesota, Utah and West Virginia on the basis of percentage of allotted mileage completed."

"By the same token, only New Jersey's percentage of designated mileage not yet under way, 58.3 miles or 17.33 percent of the total mileage, was exceeded only by Utah's 25.22 percent and Hawaii's 22.14 percent.

"NEW JERSEY HAD better wake up soon because the present interstate highway construction program is scheduled to end in 1972. Since the state has provided the funds needed to get the federal contributions for these projects, we are forced to blame our sorry showing on poor administration.

"When we see the mass State Transportation Department has gotten itself into on the R.T. 278 matter, it is not hard to understand why we tag so far behind."

Rinaldo said he would call for a legislative investigation to "determine the causes for New Jersey's miserable performance in the construction of interstate highways. When we have pinpointed the reasons, we will demand and get—action on improving the situation."

He said the second pillar of his program called for protecting the individual's right to choose his own mode of transportation. "Inherent in this concept is the freedom to use other means of transportation without punitive restrictions or unreasonable tolls."

Rinaldo also reiterated his "unalterable opposition" to the imposition of tolls on the Garden State Parkway to finance a Central Jersey Expressway. "This should be paid for out of gasoline and motor vehicle taxes, which have long been diverted to other uses."

Rinaldo said he also was "strongly opposed" to using toll revenues for any purposes other than improvement of road facilities or retirement of bonds.

Town-county gap scored by Manner

Republican Freeholder candidate Arthur A. Manner, this week called for cooperation between the Board of Freeholders and the people of Union County. "There was a time," Manner said, "when members of the Board of Freeholders would sit down with elected representatives of a municipality to discuss problems of concern to the people."

"Since the Board has been controlled by the Democrats the policy seems to have changed," he said. "Often the elected official is not consulted, such as with the painting of traffic lines on county roads, routing four lanes of traffic without knowledge or consent of our safety department. When we are informed it is through an employee or by better expressing a 'take it or leave it' attitude."

"As a Mayor of Berkeley Heights, I was never asked to attend a meeting with a Democratic member of the board. It is time for a change in policy and to give the people an opportunity to be heard as well as their elected representatives on any matter affecting their community life."

NSC to host parley on urban problems

A statewide conference on urban affairs, entitled "Crisis in the Cities," will be held at Newark State College, Union, April 19 and 20. The program will include appearances by speakers experienced in urban affairs and urban studies. The event is being sponsored by the Department of History and Social Science.

Dr. Howard Furer of Teaneck, conference chairman, stated, "We trust that those who attend this conference will leave with a new appreciation of the dynamics of urban development and with new ideas for projected solutions to some of our urgent problems."

Assisting Dr. Furer on the general committee for the conference will be Dr. Howard Diddens, 1038 Greengrove, Union; Dr. Arnold Rice, Berkeley Heights; and Dr. Nathan Weiss, Cranford, chairman of the Department of History and Social Science.

GOP asks victory to check spending

The Republican State Senatorial candidates from Union County this week criticized members of a Republican legislature on Tuesday was "imperative if the residents of this county and this state are to have any hopes of checking the ambitious spending projects of the Democratic administration in the State House."

Assemblyman Frank X. McDermott of Westfield, former Freeholder Matthew J. Rinaldo of Union and former Elizabeth Mayor Nicholas S. Liccardo said the past two years of solid Democratic control of both the executive and legislative branches of state government "provided no effective rein on the runaway financial demands the administration has placed on New Jerseyans."

Art is a rug of springs, rubber balls Acorns also carpet Douglass prof's hall

The narrow white hallway leading to Reginald Neal's office at Douglass College, New Brunswick, has been carpeted in recent days with a batch of oddity-textured, yard-square constructions.

"Students visiting Prof. Neal have stared at gingerly touched and finally stepped upon the odd floor designs, constructed by other students out of such everyday objects as halved rubber balls, coiled springs and acorns. Art now encompasses the entire visual world," Prof. Neal explains. "In this decade artists have broken away from using only the few forms that the general public concedes are artistic, and have taken many new materials as suitable tools."

The layman doesn't concede, for example, that neon tubes can be as much an art form as paint on canvas, but they are. Neal, professor of art at the women's college of the State University, is himself a professional artist whose work has been widely shown in New York galleries and art museums. Of the 10 full-time members of the department faculty, seven are studio teachers who are also working professional artists.

"We believe that the best art education is given by professional artists who are themselves actively creating and showing," Neal says. "For a small department we have had a good record of success by both our faculty and student."

At one-time Rutgers College students who wish to study studio art are also enrolled. The third major part of the department's work is with graduate students. It offers both a one-year Masters degree program for teachers and a two-year Master of Fine Arts degree program in studio art, designed to train professional artists. There are about 50 graduate students currently enrolled. "We've had many outstanding artists in our graduate program," Neal says. "George Segal, whose white plaster sculptures have been widely exhibited, took an M.F.A. degree with us, and Gary Kuehn, whose primary structures and geometric forms have been shown in New York, holds our degree. Kiki Krus, Don Zurio, Robert Whitman and Lucas Samaris are other successful young artists who studied here."

"I would say we've been unusually successful in attracting creative artists to our faculty, and they in turn have attracted good students, particularly on the graduate level." Last year the department accepted only about one in 10 of the young men and women who applied to its M.F.A. program.

Among the Douglass art faculty are Neal, whose geometric paintings and constructions in plastic, involving optical illusions, are presently in three traveling exhibitions of the Smithsonian Institution, and Robert Watts, whose experimental art forms using films, sound, light and other mixed media have been widely shown in this country and abroad.

Ulfert Wilke, who concentrates on abstract calligraphy and who was one of five artists chosen to represent the United States in the recent Tokyo Biennale, also teaches at Douglass, as do Geoffrey Hendricks, who creates "happenings," and who has shown paintings dealing with natural forms at the Blanchart Gallery, and John L. Goodyear, whose kinetic paintings were among the 100 of "optical" art.

Scoreboard presented to college by fraternity

Ten years after coming to its present Union campus, Newark State College finally has a scoreboard for its athletic field. The scoreboard, which will accommodate soccer, baseball, and football, is a gift from Sigma Theta Chi Fraternity, a social organization.

The president of Sigma Theta Chi, Barry Jackson, and the executive board presented the scoreboard to Dr. Eugene Wilkins, president of Newark State College. The scoreboard was designed and constructed by Sigma Theta Chi members James Scala, Ray Topoleski, Al Raneri, Lou Evangelista and Mike Coppola and built by the fraternity at a cost of approximately $400.

Lattimore asks aid for cities and towns

Everett C. Lattimore, Democratic candidate for Assemblyman-at-large, called this week for federal and state assistance in financing the needs of small towns and cities.

He pointed out that the federal government now guarantees mortgages on homes and apartments through FHA and by assuring lower rates of interest, that the federal government guarantees American business men against losses in overseas investments for private profit, and that it acts as "cosigner" in many other areas.

Lattimore asked, "Why can't there be a similar arrangement for municipal finances so that communities can obtain financing at substantially lower interest rates than they now are paying?"

Methodist women to hold benefit tea Sunday afternoon

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of Springfield-Emanuel Methodist Church will hold a silver tea Sunday, from 4 to 5 p.m. in the Mundy Room for the benefit of the Christmas gifts to Methodist pastors and their families in East Germany.

Each year the local Methodist congregation sends $500 before Christmas to Dr. Ernst Scholz, recently retired as district superintendent of Methodist churches in Berlin, and Dr. Scholz distributes the money among the paragon families who by virtue of their devotion to the church live sacrificially in comparison to other professional people.

Mrs. Doris Holler, president of the W.S.C.S., said the group planned to contribute $100 toward the gift as in the past, and will welcome the participation of members and friends of the church in this benefit affair.

Members of the Woman's Society, the Wesleyan Service Guild and all women's circles will participate in the annual service of prayer and self-denial tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the sanctuary. The offering received on that evening will be used in leadership training around the world and for social welfare programs in the United States.

Apple Crisp is a special dessert treat during the fall season when apples are plentiful. For an Apple Crisp that has a different flavor twist, however, use butterscotch morsels as one of the ingredients in the topping. The morsels contribute an appealing creamy richness and old-fashioned flavor to the tart, fresh apples.

Topped with ice cream or served as is, this is a dessert suggestion that will add an autumn atmosphere to your meal plans. You may even want to feature this recipe when you invite your friends in for evening hospitality.

SURPRISE APPLE CRISP

2 pounds apples, pared, cored, and sliced (about 5 cups)

1 6 ounce package (1-cup) butterscotch flavored morsels

3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca

1 tablespoon lemon juice

1/2 cup unsifted, all-purpose flour

1/2 cup sugar

1 teaspoon cinnamon

1/2 cup firm, cold butter

Combine apples, all but one tablespoon butterscotch flavored morsels and tapioca in 1-1/2 quart casserole; mix well. Sprinkle with lemon juice. Mix flour, sugar and cinnamon in bowl; cut in butter until mixture is in coarse crumbs. Sprinkle evenly over apple mixture. Bake in 375 degrees F. oven forty minutes. Sprinkle with remaining butterscotch morsels and bake five minutes longer. Serve warm with cream or ice cream, if desired. YIELD: Six servings.

SPRINGFIELD "The best sale ever held in this town!"

"Magnificent Stupendous buys!" These accolades ring through town this week in describing the sensational clearance sale at Geljack Jewelers, 241 Morris ave., Springfield.

Fossil records 'show' clearly that the group of trees represented today by the maiden-hair tree or ginkgo date back over 200 million years.

Chemistry professor Randolph T. Macon of the University of Virginia, writing in "Science," believes that the ginkgo's high resistance to pests accounts for its longevity.

Physicist William Markowitz of Marquette University reports in "Science" that the control of UFO's by extraterrestrial beings is contrary to the laws of physics.

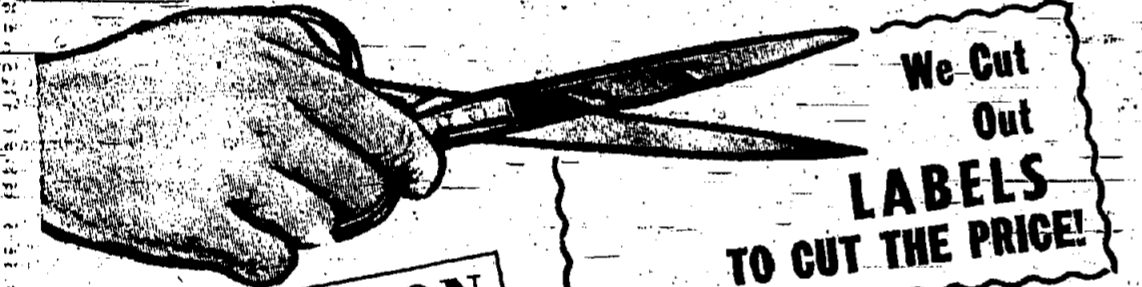

With regard to the charge that the U.S. Air Force is withholding information that the UFO's are extraterrestrial, Markowitz says this is absurd.

Springfield Cub Scout Pack 172, sponsored by the local Lions Club, received its official charter for the 20th consecutive year at its monthly meeting last Friday evening at the James Caldwell School. Official commissions were awarded to all den mothers, participating parents and pack leaders. Richard Marshall, pack chairman, announced that he expected the year's program to be expanded as a result of the candy sale now in progress. The pack should realize more than $2,000 from the sale, Marshall said. He commended the cubs and expressed appreciation to township residents for supporting the drive. Successful Cub Scouts will be invited to the annual "Bible and Gold Dinner," at which they will also receive awards. There will be a special Christmas-Hanukkah party for the Cub Scouts and their families. Each cub will receive a free subscription to Boys' Life magazine. Duplicate of famous bust of Lincoln donated by Burica to Public Library. The Springfield Public Library has recently received a portrait bust of Abraham Lincoln as a gift for the new library. It was presented to the Board of Trustees by Bernard J. Burica, a long-time resident of Springfield. Burica's note accompanying the bust said in part: "It is gratifying to learn that Springfield will soon have a new, much-deserved major library. I have been a booster of our historic town since moving here in 1947... and I could not help showing an interest in the town's library. I wish to present the accompanying bronze, plaster bust of the unbarbed Abraham Lincoln... for the new library building." The original of this bust of Lincoln was made by Leonard Wells Volk when Lincoln was a young lawyer. As that time Lincoln did not have a beard, Volk was noted for his faithful portraiture had ample time to study both Lincoln and Steven A. Douglas during the Lincoln-Douglas debates in 1858. The bust was carved in marble in 1860 and exhibited in Paris in 1867. Later it was placed in the building of the Chicago Historical Society, where it was destroyed in the great fire of 1871. However, the original model was preserved. Volk was probably the only sculptor to study Lincoln closely from life, and his life-mask and casts of Lincoln's hands have become famous. As soon as a proper base can be made for the bust of Lincoln, it will be exhibited in the present library until the new library is ready for occupancy probably sometime in the spring of 1968.

Says Republicans 'best hope' to avoid new or bigger tax

Fred H. Beneker, local coordinator of the McDermott, Rinaldo and LaCorte for State Senate campaign, said yesterday the five Republican candidates offered Springfield residents "the best hope of avoiding a broadened and increased sales tax or a state income tax." Beneker said that Assemblyman Frank X. McDermott of Westfield, former Freeholder Matthew J. Rinaldo of Union and former Elizabeth Mayor Nicholas S. LaCorte "are pledged to battle for economy and a sound fiscal program. We have witnessed the sad consequences of having rubber-stamp legislators who comply with the excessive financial demands of the administration," Beneker declared. "If time we had some representatives in Trenton who are willing to fight for the taxpayers for a change." Beneker predicted that the election of a Democratic legislative delegation from Union County "could lead to a broadening of the sales tax base to include items like food and and prescription drugs, which are not taxed at present. Springfield residents have been paying a stiff three per cent levy for nearly a year and a half, and we have seen nothing to indicate that the promised reductions in our local taxes are about to take place." "It is entirely likely that the tax-hungry administration will request an increase in the sales tax to four or even five per cent. McDermott, Rinaldo and LaCorte have pledged to fight any such attempt. We have heard no similar assurances from their Democratic opponents."

CONSULTANT CONSULTS -- Dr. Eleanor Johnson, reading and English consultant for the State Department of Education, consults with pupil Kathy Quinn during a visit this week to the Springfield elementary schools.

Elementary schools visited by state reading consultants

Dr. Eleanor Johnson, reading and English consultant for the State Department of Education, came to the Springfield elementary schools this week to discuss with teachers and administrators various aspects of the reading program and to speak to teachers on the subject: "Uses of the Basic Reading Texts." In a meeting with administrators early in the afternoon, she expressed "admiration for the ingenuity and dedication of the teachers who try to meet the needs of each individual child." She expressed the opinion that the reading program and the philosophy behind this program as expressed in the recently compiled Springfield Public Schools Reading Handbook, "are an indication of the type of teaching which you can read about in current educational publications but seldom see in operation in the schools."

Classroom visits set by H.S. PTA

The annual "Back-to-School Night" of the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Parent Teacher Association will be held today in the school auditorium at 7:45 p.m. The program affords parents the opportunity of visiting every class and teacher their children meet each day.

The meeting preceding the classroom visitation is of great importance and will be of unusual interest this year. Mrs. L. S. Yablonsky will preside at the meeting before the visitation and will call on Robert LaVaurie, principal, to explain the manner in which the program operates. Since it is necessary to follow a strict time schedule, parents are asked to be exactly on time. At the close of the visitation period, the parents are invited to go to the cafeteria where refreshments will be served, and where there will be the chance for having private conversations with the teachers. Mrs. Henry Husenke, membership chairman, said that the current campaign has been quite successful, but for those who missed joining to date, she and her committee will be on hand to accept dues.

Temple teens plan 'College Bowl' night. On Thursday, Nov. 2, at 7:30, the United Synagogue Youth of Springfield will hold a College Bowl at Temple Beth Ahm. Steve Doray is in charge of this activity. All dues for the year must be paid at this meeting, according to USY spokesmen. An executive board meeting will be held on Nov. 8 at the home of Carol Hoden. The meeting is open to all members of the group. Three of the members attended an area meeting in Goldwell on Oct. 15. Those attending were Janice Lilien, Robyn Goldman and Joan Schatzinger. USY members met Oct. 15 at Bath Aium to decorate the sukkah. Shari Spiegel was chairman for the day's activities, which included lunch.

Ask Amy

By ADAMS

Dear Amy: My husband doesn't give me a "clothing allowance" nor can he afford to buy me clothes from what he earns (he says). Consequently, I shop in low priced stores to clothe myself. Now you know you can't get good quality for low prices. Many times what I buy doesn't "hold up" in wearing or washing. Then he complains why I don't buy myself decent things instead of cheap ones.

When I tell him why, we usually end up in one big argument.

What's the solution?

Sandy

Dear Sandy: Take his advice. Why argue? Buy less, but buy good and charge it to him!

Dear Amy: I am 11 years old and have a 13 year old sister. She happens to be very bossy and comments on everything I do. Whenever I bring a girlfriend over to my house, we go to my room where we talk about personal things. My sister happened to eavesdrop one time, and when my girlfriend went home, my sister told me how stupid and silly our conversation was.

Then one day my sister brought her girlfriend over and they went to her room. I eavesdropped on them and oh, oh, the things she said. When sister's girlfriend left, I told my sister I heard what she said. Her face turned purple with embarrassment.

She then told my mother and mother spanked me for eavesdropping. (She told on me, but I didn't tell on her).

Amy, who is right: Mother, sister or me? I think I am. I just wanted to get even with her but it backfired!

Soft Hearted

Dear Soft Hearted: Your sister, being older, shouldn't have tattled to your mother. Actually, you sound more sensible and mature than she. But don't blame your mother for the spanking. She had no choice since she only heard a one-sided story.

If you and sister can't settle your differences in the future, take your grievances to mother together. Tattling is for toddlers!

Dear Amy: I am a young woman with 4 children. About 5 years ago I threw my husband out as things weren't going too good, mostly not enough money to pay bills, etc. My husband had quit his job and was getting a VA pension plus retirement money, but it wasn't enough to support the family.

After five years, I know I still love him. I never date any men. I only think of him. My children are very unhappy, too, and they miss their father. I have too much pride to tell my husband I still love him and that the children and I need him. What do you think I should do? Try and forget him or try and get him back? We were never divorced.

Shelia

Dear Shelia: I have seen that five letter word "pride" wreck too many marriages. Swallow it and get your husband back. If two people love each other, financial problems can be worked out. Good luck!

New interstate telephone rates Effective November 1

In general, the new telephone rate changes will affect both station-to-station calls and person-to-person calls that are placed to points outside New Jersey. The time periods in which lower calling rates apply will be enlarged for more weekday hours and extended to cover all Saturdays and five holidays. There will be increases on some calls of less than 25 miles. All of these changes will apply only on out-of-state calls.

Interstate Station-to-Station Calls

New lower extended after 7 and weekend rate
From 7 in the evening to 7 o'clock the next morning, the highest rate for an interstate station-to-station call will be $1.00*. This rate, besides applying daily and all day Sunday as it now does, will be extended to cover all day Saturday, as well as Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Year's Day, July 4th and Labor Day.

New lower weekday rate
Weekday station-to-station calls will cost no more than $1.75* - a drop of 25¢. The new rate applies between 7 in the morning and 5 in the afternoon.

New lower after 5 rate

New lower midnight to 7 special dial rate
A special dial rate, featuring a 75¢ maximum for an interstate station-to-station call across the country will be in effect every day from midnight to 7 o'clock in the morning. This special rate applies only to station-to-station calls dialed directly from non-coin telephones.

Interstate Person-to-Person Calls

New lower day person-to-person rate
The new daytime rate for these interstate calls will be no more than $3.30* - a 20¢ decrease. The rate applies from 7 in the morning to 5 in the afternoon, Monday through Friday.

New lower night person-to-person rate
After 5 in the afternoon to 7 o'clock the next morning on weekdays, and all day Saturday and Sunday, and on the five holidays listed above, the most you'll pay for an interstate person-to-person call will be $2.85* - down 15¢.

Harriers remain on correct path toward victory

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School cross-country team scored three big victories last week, bringing its record to 9-1-1. Coach Marty Taglienti's harriers pronounced Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School of Clark and the Pingry School of Elizabeth in a triple meet, 20-41 and 20-40, respectively, and also defeated Abraham Clark High School of Roselle, 25-32.

This Saturday the Bulldogs will run in the annual Turkey Trot at Roselle-Catholic High School where top teams throughout the state are invited to compete. This coming Wednesday is the crucial Watchung Conference meet, where Dayton will be a leading contender for the championship. In addition, the conference race will be a triangular meet among Cranford and Hillsdale High Schools, concluding the regularly-scheduled cross-country season.

Despite the absence of their lead runner, Ken Shatten, throughout the week, the Bulldogs easily beat their competition. Freshman Norm Reinhardt raced to a second place in the triangular meet, with sophomore Mark George close behind at third; Gary Vosburgh, fourth, and Alan Todres, fifth. Sophomore Marty Josephs placed seventh; Freshman Ken Hall, ninth; and Cliff York, tenth.

Vosburgh ran his best race of the season to take a second against Roselle, with Reinhardt, fourth; George, fifth; Josephs, sixth; Todres, eighth, and Hall, ninth.

DAYTON MAINTAINED bell-control for most of the third quarter, but failed to do anything with it. Then, at the end of the third quarter, Bulldog play broke down completely and Cranford amassed three touchdowns in seven plays.

Dayton gridiron varsity to meet Westfield eleven

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School football team will play one-beaten Westfield High School this Saturday at 2 p.m. at home. The Bulldogs gridiron now have records of 0-6, following a 39-7 loss to Cranford High School here last Saturday. Westfield is undefeated in Watchung Conference Play.

Dayton opened with a strong drive, led by the running of halfback Jim Robinson, from the Springfield 33 to the Cougar 28. Cranford took the ball there and, sparked by two passes for 22 and 16 yards, brought it to the Dayton four. Cougar fullback Glen Liming, who had also set up the previous pass play with a key block, dashed around left tackle for the touchdown.

Dayton ran one very successful play on its next set of downs, a reverse and pass which quarterback Jon Schoch completed to Woody Young for a 19-yard gain. The Bulldogs regained possession on the Dayton 49, driving for a set of short gains that brought Liming across the goal again, this time from the Bulldog one.

Cranford was hit hard the next time as Tom Pozzanski rushed in to throw the Cougars for a 10-yard loss, but Cranford rebounded with a 20-yard end run. The Cougar drive continued strongly to the Bulldog 58, first down and goal-to-go. The Dayton center of the line held for the first down. On the second, Ron Wilson intercepted in the end zone and ran out to the seven.

Dayton failed to run out of trouble and punted on fourth down, but Cranford fumbled the punt return and Richie Bromberg recovered for Dayton on its own 40. Then Cranford intercepted the first-down Bulldog pass on three consecutive completions scored its third touchdown to lead at the half, 19-0.

Regional soccer team nears last game of 1967 schedule

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School soccer team lost one and tied one last week, bringing its record to 1-6-2. The team will complete its 1967 season in the coming week with a home game, a return match with David Brearley Regional High School of Kenilworth tomorrow, and an away contest at Hillsdale High School next Tuesday.

The team lost to Columbia High School of Maplewood, 1-0, its fourth loss this season by that score. "The game was fairly even throughout," commented head coach Lou Piccolo. "We looked pretty good, but we failed to score. We missed a penalty kick, they fast broke, and scored. Except for that, it was an even ball game all the way."

The squad battled Cranford High School to scoreless tie. "Again we failed to convert our shots," stated Piccolo. "The defense, however, played well, especially goalie Joel Millman, who was outstanding. Our entire team formation this year has been geared to defense. Because of this, we take fewer shots. For example, Cranford took almost twice as many shots at the goal than we did."

The outlook for the rematch with Kenilworth is good. The Brearley Bears beat Dayton the last time out, 1-0, but they have yet to win another contest.

ANGLER'S CORNER

New Jersey's duck hunting season will open this Saturday, November 4, according to Commissioner Robert A. Roe of the State Department of Conservation and Economic Development.

The season will run through December 23, with hunting hours of 1/2 hour before sunrise to sunset. Seasons on Wilson snipe and gallinules will run concurrently with the regular duck season, and extra bags are allowed of coot, mergansers and sea ducks.

The basic bag limit is 8 ducks daily, 6 in possession; the same as last year. Special restrictions apply to black ducks, wood ducks and canvasbacks; the daily bag may not include more than 2 blacks, 2 woods and 1 canvasback, with possession limited to 4 blacks, 4 woods and 1 canvasback.

In addition to the regular duck bag, hunters may take 10 coots, 5 mergansers (only 1 hooded) and 7 sea ducks (scoter, elder, old squaw) daily, with possession limited to two daily bags. Sea duck hunting in the Atlantic Ocean is already open, with the same limits, and will continue in that area until January 10. Limits on snipe are 8 daily, 10 in possession, and on gallinules, 15 daily, 30 in possession.

A special season will follow the regular duck season, from Dec. 25 through Jan. 6, with limits of 5 daily, 10 in possession. This season, the first in the State's history, was chosen by the State Fish and Game Council in preference to a bonus bag of snipe in order to provide more days of waterfowl hunting. All waterfowl seasons are selected within a framework established by the Atlantic Flyway by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Coastal duck populations are already starting to build up in New Jersey, with the fall migration underway. An aerial survey of the Bureau of Wildlife Management on Oct. 22 found an increase of some 90,000 waterfowl over a preliminary count on Oct. 11. The estimated coastal population of 215,332 waterfowl was about 25,000 higher than that of Oct. 17, 1966. This indicates a slight upward trend over last year's banner season when New Jersey's waterfowl population went over the half million mark in December.

Most notable increases among duck species were shown by scaup, up 19,000; baldpate, up 3,000; mallards, up 3,000, and mallards, up 2,000. Black ducks, the favorite of many Gardner State hunters, were almost even with last October with 44,952. The only notable drop was in pintails, down 13,000.

BARBARA CANNON

Student at Trenton finalist in pageant

Miss Barbara Ruth Cannon of 69 Wentz Ave., Springfield, is a finalist in the Miss Trenton State Pageant, sponsored by the Fall Weekend Committee at Trenton State College. The winner will be crowned at ceremonies in the college auditorium on Sunday evening.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Cannon, Miss Cannon is a senior who plans to become an elementary education teacher. She is a graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, where she was a member of the National Honor Society and a twirler.

Trenton's Fall Weekend will include an all-college drama production, a concert by the New Christy Minstrels, a float parade, a semi-formal dance and the annual Montclair-Trenton football game.

During the program on Sunday evening, the girls will compete in talent, evening gown and beauty pageant competition. They also will be judged on personality. The contestants will have personal interviews with the five judges on Sunday afternoon.

Three finalists will be chosen before the new queen is crowned by Kathie Barrett, the reigning queen.

3 delegates attend Knights' seminar on public decency

Joseph Fitzsimmons, grand knight; Anthony Graziano, general program chairman and Frank Rizzo, Catholic activity chairman, all of Springfield Council, Knights of Columbus, were among the 400 Knights and their guests who attended a seminar on public decency held at Georgian Court College in Lakewood last week.

The public decency committee of the State Council of Knights of Columbus has recommended the encouragement of properly oriented sex education programs in schools as a prime objective for local councils in 1968.

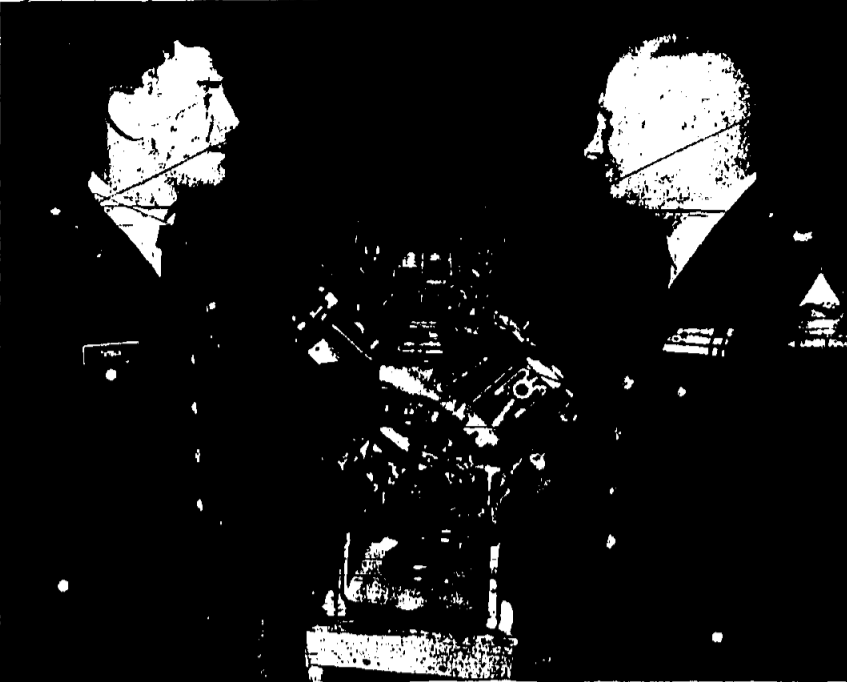

George Emery, chairman of the committee, said that the "flood of irresponsible sex and violence" presented to children through books, movies and television can be partially countered by proper educational programs in homes, schools and churches.

A brochure distributed to the delegates indicated that the program would not mean an end to the Knights' campaigns against "dirty books, bad pictures and immoral actions," but would supplement them as a "positive program" calling for "whole sexual education, the establishment of great libraries and the development of good literary habits and the proper use of mass communication media."

"We have the theology and we have the program ready," Emery said, urging the Knights to set up public decency committees at their home councils this month.

Next month, Emery said, the committees should meet with the directors of diocesan family life bureaus to obtain materials on sex education distributed by the bureaus.

The Knights would then arrange for parent and teacher training in the approved programs and hope to have them adopted by the public and parochial schools by February of next year, he said.

HIGHER PRICES...ACROSS THE BOARD. During the early months of the year businessmen were reluctant to risk raising prices. They were afraid of losing sales. But cost increases have been building up all year... and the urge to raise prices has become increasingly difficult to resist.

In recent months, demand has increased (reflecting higher total employment along with increased personal income). Thus the risk has diminished and—now—the lid is off. Price increases are the rule, not the exception. Steel prices were increased in August. National was first with a boost on tinplate. A fortnight later Bethlehem raised the price on steel plates... which was followed the day after by U. S. Steel, Kaiser and Alan Wood. Then Inland, J. I. and Lukens joined the parade. On the same day, Alcoa raised prices on the aluminum used in making cans.

Du Pont raised prices on certain films and photographic papers... as well as on its nylon-bulked continuous-filament carpet yarns. And three producers of asphalt tile and vinyl asbestos tile announced price increases of about three percent.

Westinghouse raised prices on turbine generators... and said further price increases on similar equipment "are probable."

COLOR TV PRICES were raised about three percent by RCA (Motorola and Zenith are believed to be "studying" the possibility of higher prices).

Chrysler tentatively raised wholesale prices on its 1968 models by $100 a car (retail price increases probably will be even higher). And—significantly—this announcement was made before any settlement has been reached in the auto industry's labor negotiations.

Dow Chemical raised prices on six organic specialty chemicals—and said it was studying the need for several other "price adjustments". In addition, prices already have been raised in such varied areas as auto tires, rubber products, shoe materials, construction materials, trucks, textiles, etc.

Food prices—and the cost of services—have been increasing all year long, as opposed to the relative stability (until recently) of industrial prices. The Wholesale Industrial Price Index is an important economic indicator. And economic "doctors" view it as a kind of thermometer by which to measure the heat (or inflationary pressures) in the economy. In August—after a record-breaking five months of stability—wholesale industrial prices rose, significantly.

Know Your Government

From N.J. Taxpayers Association

As voters in more than a dozen New Jersey municipalities considered questions on their November General Election ballots leading to possible changes in their local forms of government, publication of a third reprint of a handbook on the State's Optional Municipal Charter Law was announced.

The booklet was prepared originally in 1964 by the New Jersey Taxpayers Association in cooperation with the National Municipal League. It provides a detailed guide to provisions of and action under the 1957 legislative act which opened the way to adoption of modern municipal government structures by voters of New Jersey municipalities. As of July 1, this year, 40 municipalities were operating under one of the "mayor-council" "council-manager" or "small municipalities" plans provided by the Optional Municipal Charter Act.

A wealth of detail, background and experience is provided in the publication titled, "New Jersey's Optional Municipal Charter Law." The handbook serves as a guide to citizens and officials considering changes under the act which, through voter action, offers both a variety of organizational forms and better tools for the operation of local government. It includes an annual supplement listing through January, 1967, all municipal activity under the Optional Municipal Charter Law of 1957. Also reported are municipalities which have earlier forms of municipal manager government and those with an administrator position created by ordinance.

The 96-page booklet with supplement is available without cost to members of NJTA and at a charge of $2, plus tax, to the general public. The New Jersey Taxpayers Association (with offices at 104-N, Broad St., Trenton) is a non-partisan, independently supported citizens' organization which studies governmental operations and finances at all levels on behalf of New Jersey's taxpayers.

Postmaster asks: Start now to prepare holiday mailings

Postmaster A. V. Del Vecchio this week urged all Springfield residents to begin making the necessary preparations for the mailing of Christmas greeting cards and gifts.

He stated: "The saddest place in the post office is our Nixie desk where all cards, letters and gifts which could not be delivered are finally handled. This is our 'Heartbreak Hotel' and it becomes the residence of all mail having illegible addresses, no addresses at all and poorly packed parcels from which the address labels, or outer wrappings were separated."

The postmaster noted that during the Christmas period thousands of such items unnecessarily wind up in the "Heartbreak Hotel" of the "Nixie" section. To avoid this, Del Vecchio offered the following advice:

"Always write or type addresses carefully and use ZIP Codes. If you have trouble reading the address, just imagine the trouble the post office employees will have."

"Use first class postage on greeting cards to make sure your mail is forwarded if the recipient has moved. Mail will be returned to you if it is poorly addressed or there is no forwarding address. This is one reason for using the special five-cent Christmas stamp. Cards sent by the third class rate of postage—four cents—and which cannot be delivered will wind up in the 'Heartbreak Hotel.'"

"Wrap your packages neatly and well. Pad your gifts securely so there is no rattling and there is sufficient support for other parcels.

The sack carrying your glass cup may also have two or three bowling balls riding on top of it.

"A card or piece of paper inside the package carrying your name and address and that of the person to whom the parcel is addressed will insure delivery in case the wrapping comes loose. A list of the contents will help postal 're-wrap' clerks in the event your package is poorly wrapped and burst.

"Place the address and return address on only one side of the parcel. Some people will repeat the address on more than one side and clerks handling the parcel to meet transportation deadlines do not have time to check all sides for postage, causing many parcels to be rated postage due.

"Mail early! This gives the post office plenty of time to deliver your mail before the holiday."

During the program on Sunday evening, the girls will compete in talent, evening gown and beauty pageant competition. They also will be judged on personality. The contestants will have personal interviews with the five judges on Sunday afternoon.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

NEVER TOO LATE
It is never too late to get right with God. If you doubt this statement, remember the words of Christ dying upon the cross, "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do."

Mankind's sins may not always be committed in ignorance. They may be willful and pre-determined. A man may live in sin for forty years or more, yet he cannot say, "I believe it, that 'tis too late for me." God does not desert us, even when we desert him. God remains, always there. Just as we are free to sin, without fear of some thunderbolt from the heavens, so we are free to turn to God, to acknowledge our sins and ask forgiveness, and for a guiding hand to salvation. It is never too late, God waits, patiently, for every man. There is no sin, no crime unknown to God. There is no truth in the writing that "God works for good with those who love him."

Homes need escape plan

Does your family have an escape plan, in the event your home catches fire? It should: their lives could depend on it.

Before fire strikes and it strikes frequently—the American Insurance Association urges that you sit down with your family and decide on the safest and quickest way to leave your house, should a fire break out.

In preparing an escape plan, the Association advises:

1. Draw up a floor plan, indicating all doors, windows, stairways and porches.
2. Determine alternate ways to reach the ground from each room, especially upstairs bedrooms, in the event any one escape route is blocked.
3. Hold fire drills at night as well as the day; so that each member of the family learns how to leave the premises in a hurry. Have the children lie down on their beds, then have someone yell "Fire!" The children should be able to get out of the house in less than a minute.
4. If there are elderly persons or young ones who need special care, someone should be assigned to aid them.
5. Agree on a place outside the house where everyone must assemble after leaving the premises.

Just how serious fires have become in our country is illustrated by these facts:

- Every day, more than 1,000 homes are hit by fires; every 44 minutes fire claims a life.

Straight shooting safety tips

As the vanguard of the millions of U.S. hunters who took to the hunting fields with their rifles and shotguns, the American Red Cross this week urged them to come home intact, and listed basic rules for safe handling of firearms.

"More than 20 million Americans participated in hunting—a pleasant and healthful sport when it is pursued safely," said Howard E. Camp, Jr., area director of Eastern Area Red Cross Safety Services. "But tragically, last year 2,600 people in the United States were killed by guns—several hundred of them in hunting accidents."
"This number was an increase of 255 over accidental deaths from firearms in 1965. "Every hunter, and in fact, everyone who owns a gun," Camp said, "should know and abide by these safety rules which have been developed over the years by the Red Cross and other authorities in the field."

Treat every gun as if it were loaded. Do not indulge in horseplay with guns. Don't point one at anything you don't intend to shoot.

AT HOME
Keep guns unloaded. After making certain they are unloaded, store them in a locked case or cabinet, out of reach of children. Store ammunition in a separate locked place.

Teach your children the principles of firearm safety.

BEFORE A HUNTING TRIP
Be sure you are in good health. Dress appropriately for the terrain you are going to hunt over. Wear something of distinctive coloring so other hunters will see you.

Know the area in which you are going to hunt. Consult topographical maps showing details of ridges, valleys, trails, and streams.
Take along a small first aid kit, a compass, knife or hatchet, and matches.
Practice your marksmanship to be reasonably certain you can hit what you aim at.
Choose your hunting companions wisely—avoid those who are overzealous, careless, or excitable.
Take along some extra high energy food, like a few chocolate bars.

IN ROUTE TO HUNTING FIELD
In cars, boats, or planes, make sure your guns are unloaded. Keep them cased, wrapped, or dismantled.

IN THE FIELD
These are the important and basic rules for safe gun handling, Camp said:
"Treat every gun as if it were loaded. Never take anyone else's word that a gun is 'empty.' Always point the gun muzzle in a safe direction."

Be sure of your target. Never shoot at an unidentified noise—wait until the whole animal or bird is visible.

Know the correct way to carry your gun—underarm, shouldered, cradled, or with both hands. Make sure safety is on, finger outside trigger guard, muzzle in safe direction and under control.

Keep the safety on or the chamber unloaded until ready to fire. . . and keep your finger out of the trigger guard.

Check bore through the breech end before loading to be sure it is clear of foreign objects. Repeat this check frequently while hunting. Agree beforehand on the area each hunter will cover.

Be sure the action is open when handling the gun to another person, or when stopping to eat, chat, or rest.

Transport unloaded guns in cases for their protection.
When duck hunting from a boat, two hunters should sit back to back. Never lay a loaded gun on bottom of boat.

When hunting in a group, no hunter should carry a gun so that it ever points at another person.

Unload a gun before crossing a fence and pass gun under foot.

If, despite all precautions, someone is wounded, these are first aid measures, Camp advised:

Control bleeding, protect wound from contamination, and give the victim care against shock. Even if the surface wound is small, there still may be extensive internal injuries. Get victim to a physician as soon as possible, and do so with as little movement of the victim as possible.

"All hunters should know first aid," Camp added. "Their Red Cross chapters offer courses in it regularly."

Ask her if addicts have the "right" to guns.

Despite thousands of deaths and injuries caused annually by the unrestricted possession of guns, Gun Control Laws have been defeated all over America because of powerful Lobbies. But not in New Jersey. The Democratic Legislature passed the most far-reaching gun control act in the U.S. denying convicted criminals, the insane, drug addicts, etc., the right to own guns. Sure the Gun Lobby threatened to defeat the Democrats. But they stood firm and passed the law nevertheless. Your safety came before political expediency.
