No state OK for flashing school lights

Local measure meant to bring Trenton action

By ABNER GOLD

The Township Committee on Tuesday night introduced an ordinance setting new speed limits on the three major north-south streets and authorizing construction of flashing lights in front of schools located on those streets.

The measure, scheduled for final hearing Feb. 27, represents a tactical gain in the ongoing skirmishing with the State Motor Vehicle Bureau, rather than final victory, Committee member Robert G. Planer indicated.

The ordinance calls for speed limits on Meisel, Mountain and S. Springfield avenues to be increased from the present 25 miles per hour to 35, with one exception, there will be a 40-mile limit on Meisel avenue from Laurel drive to Riverstone drive, roughly through the Union County Park Commission property. The new speed limits represent a compromise between Trenton's desires for a general 40-mile limit for these streets and the township's wishes to keep traffic moving more slowly.

Planer acknowledged that the state agency had yet to complete its part of last month's oral agreement — authorizing the flashing lights in front of the schools, in return for the increased speed limits. The committee agreed, when Planer said he was "not so sure we'll ever receive permission," and that introduction of the ordinance might "force their hand" in Trenton.

ANOTHER PORTION of the town's traffic problems came in for attention when Planer, at the suggestion of Police Chief Wilbur C. Selinger, obtained authority for preparation of an ordinance to limit parking on Linden avenue.

Planer noted that the narrow street, with parking on both sides, made passage difficult for private cars and almost impossible for fire engines. The proposed measure would prohibit any parking on the east side of Linden avenue, for its entire length.

On the motion of Committee member Philip Del Vecchio, the governing body approved purchase of the former Ruby tract, the land at the corner of Caldwell place and Brook street now used for Town Hall parking, for $35,759. A recent bond ordinance authorized purchase of this tract and also the property at N. Trivet and Mountain avenues now occupied by the Dairy Queen.

Planer, as police commissioner, authorized receipt of the Police Department's annual report for 1967. It listed 5,710 routine calls and 233 emergency calls.

There were 327 motor vehicle summonses issued. These included: moving violations, 327; non-moving violations, 223; meter parking, 233; non-meter parking, 292. There were 442 auto accidents, with three fatalities and 99 injuries in 74 accidents.

There were 308 criminal cases, in the following categories: death by auto, 1; robbery, 5; assault and battery, 21; break, entry and larceny, 103; larceny over $50, 118; larceny under $50, 79; auto theft, 34; fraud, 12; possession of dangerous weapons, 1; contempt of court, 47; use of marijuana, 3; disorderly person, 45; malicious damage, 2; fugitive from justice, 1; violation of narcotic laws, 4; possession of stolen property, 4; violation of probation, 2; dogs at large, 9; unlawful storage of vehicles, 1; drunken driving, 4; aiding police officer, 4; and soliciting without permit, 6.

There were 73 juvenile cases handled by the department. They were disposed of as follows: referred to juvenile court or probation, 45; handled within the department and referred to parents, 24; referred to other police agencies, 3; referred to adult court,

Girl Scouts outline plans for annual sale of cookies

Next week the winter's scene will be brightened by the many brilliant red and blue "Girl Scout Cookie Station" signs that will appear on front doors all over town.

They will mark the Burry Biscuit Company delivery points for the annual Washington Rock Girl Scout Council cookie sale which will begin in Springfield on Feb. 2. Girls in their green berets will appear at the cookie stations with small wagons, on foot or in the family car or station wagon to pick up their allotments. Each girl usually sells an average of three cartons, with chocolate minus the heavy favorite and peanut butter and coconut not far behind.

The Cadette troops of Springfield will be assigned to some local stores during the cookie sale. More than half the selling price of the cookies is returned to the council and individual troops. Proceeds are used for services to troops and for individual troop projects.

TENTATIVE PLANS are in the making by the director of the community encampment, Mrs. Michael Herzlinger, to go weekend camping in May.

Valentine Hearts will be made by Troop 471 under the leadership of Mrs. Henry Humeke, and Mrs. Louis Soos. These will be presented to the Senior Citizens of Springfield, for their Valentine party. Approximately 100 red hearts will be made for each member of the Senior Citizens' organization.

Mrs. Jack Esdin, Brownie leader, and Troop 739 have made cookies for the fighting men in Vietnam. They will be mailed to the USO Center there by the Springfield Chamber of

Remembers start of local scouting

Mrs. Frank C. Geiger, who helped to found the Girl Scout organization in Springfield, this week recalled that the scouting movement was sponsored in its first years here by the Home and School Association—a forerunner of the present Parent-Teacher Association.

Girl Scouting started in Springfield with three troop leaders, Mrs. Geiger added. She noted that the most common problem, then as now, has been a chronic shortage of qualified volunteers to serve as troop leaders. After the Home and School Association ceased activities, she said, the present independent adult committee for scouting was established.

Locally, he is vice-president of the Springfield Republican Club and municipal prosecutor. Donington is legal counsel to the Springfield Public Library board of trustees. He also is active in Little League baseball and youth basketball.

In accepting the Springfield chairmanship, Donington said he was "conscious of the tremendous need for funds to fight our nation's number one killer—heart disease. Can we conquer it if we can raise enough money?" He urged Springfield residents to be generous when Heart Association volunteers make their appeals for funds next month.

Regional budget now up to voters

Following an hour of questions from an audience of roughly 15 people, mostly from Springfield, Tuesday night at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, the Regional High School District Board of Education voted unanimously to adopt its 1968-69 budget of $6,628,523.

The budget must now receive approval from the voters of the six communities in the regional district at the board election on Feb. 6.

W. Robert Powers, board member from Berkeley Heights, who presented the budget, briefly reviewed the major items which had caused an increase from this year's figure of $5,768,066.

He noted that transportation costs are increased more than $250,000, a rise caused by a great extent by the state law requiring the district to pay for rides for private school students.

He added that a six percent increase in the number of students attending regional schools led to a cost increase of $342,000, with pay raises for teachers and other staff members costing another $359,000.

Powers commented that a new salary scale

Neither rain nor snow nor lack of address ...

A letter from Miami to Springfield zipped right through to the correct address despite the lack of an address, thanks to a local mail carrier. The post office here processed a letter that had no address other than "Zip Code 07081, OK Larry, go to it."

"Larry," in the person of mail carrier Larry Williams, spotted the envelope and delivered it to Debby Steinhoff of 163 Wentz ave. The Steinhoff home is on Williams' route. The letter was to Debby.

"Just another example of our efficient mail service," Debby said.

Regional district studied as center of educational TV

The possibility that the Union County Regional High School District might become a center for a portion of a state-wide educational television system was raised this week by Dr. Warren M. Davis, superintendent. At the present time a blue-ribbon commission, selected by Gov. Richard J. Hughes, has been charged with the exploration of the total ETV picture in New Jersey. This commission is a outgrowth of new federal and state legislation which has served to smoothen the way for state action in the educational television field.

In an interview with State Education Commissioner Carl Marburger and other state officials, Davis stressed the strategic location of the regional district with regard to the population centers of the state, and its natural advantages as one of a proposed group of centers.

New Jersey, '68, to be a cultural renaissance

Just received from the State of New Jersey, Department of Conservation and Economic Development, Division of Economic Development, State Promotion Section, and marked "urgent," is a memorandum concerning 1968 edition of the New Jersey events schedule book, deadline for material.

The genial bureaucrats in Trenton would like to be notified of all coming events of cultural and other sorts of interest, ranging from concerts and musicals and contests-fishing-photo-singing-to-festivals-blossom-music-hydrangea and marbles tournaments.

Well, we pledge to do our best. We don't know much about photo-singing, to say nothing of music-hydrangea, and all our marbles are long since lost, but we will do our best for the well-scheduled Garden State.

The cultural highlight in these parts during February is the annual effort to give western Union County back to the Indians. We've already succeeded in giving the 13th Congressional District to Hudson County. The problem is that the only tangible offer yet received is one of 38 beads and two bald-headed scapls for Rt. 22, to be used as a happy hunting ground.

In March, there is the annual convocation of all local Boards of Education, municipal governing bodies and the Union County Board of Freshholders. Their purpose is to blame each other for the latest increase in the tax rate. We never know in advance who will win, but there are always several hundred thousand losers.

The April feature is the biennial Winfield Park community sing. Those who can't find Winfield Park are punished by having to compile a preliminary report on how well our state legislators are delivering, in the spring, on all their autumn promises. The following month, the rites of springtime are conducted by our youth in all the county parks. Dramatic relief is provided by the park-police trying to enforce the rules that prohibit parking after dark. June, which rhymes with moon and croon, is enlivened by high school graduation ceremonies. Orators who run out of time at the end of the allotted two hours can continue their remarks on Independence Day.

July, of course, marks the height of the sun-bathing and girl-watching season. The newest feature this year will be white marks for young ladies to apply to their shoulders to prove to their mothers that they remained well-strapped all day.

In August, all playgrounds will culminate their season with a bubble gum bubble-blowing gala. All elected officials are ineligible, but appointed members of municipal and state boards and other agencies may compete.

September is the time when the younger cultural set returns to school. All county mothers gather to express their gratitude—except for those mothers who moonlight as teachers.

October is football season, as thousands of local partisans rush to the local arenas to see their young warriors engage in gentlemanly mayhem against the uncouth representatives of the next town.

In November of this year, all Union County will join in the quadrennial game of Russian roulette, also known as the presidential election. After taking a good look around the world, however, both major party nominees will withdraw, turning the reins of government over to Harold Stassen.

As the year draws majestically to a close, the creative highlight of December will be the latest Bulletin from the State of New Jersey, Department of Conservation and Economic Development, Division of Economic Development, State Promotion Section, reviewing cultural progress in the Garden State during 1968. Happy 1969, everybody.

WHICH INDUSTRIES FOR '68? Where should investors be looking for the best investment opportunities?

As a result of the relatively substantial increase in cost/push inflation—wage costs have climbed higher and higher. Thus, one criterion for security selection this year is obvious: industrial areas that are less vulnerable to accelerating wage costs. Within this context there are several possibilities.

COMPUTERS: The first—and perhaps most obvious area—is in the area of labor-saving equipment. The outstanding example: The computer industry. I believe this will be the fastest growing major industry for some years to come. However, there's one major problem with respect to stocks in this group. Both institutional and individual investors have recognized their attractiveness. Result: The favorite computer issues are selling at very high prices... and at very high multiples.

DRUG COMPANIES: A third industry which has relatively low labor costs to total costs is the drug industry. Over the past 12 months there's been a slowdown in the growth rate of both sales and earnings of many drug companies. This slowdown was not really caused by the "economic mislump"—but rather by a "health epidemic."

UTILITIES: The current appeal of utilities is based largely on their depressed price levels... where such issues offer not only the promise of eventual recovery, but very limited downside risks and attractive dividend yields as well.

OFFICE EQUIPMENT: A second industry in the broad labor-saving area is office equipment. In the context of our concerns with accelerating wage costs—these industries have demonstrated a pattern of relatively low labor costs to total costs. Hence, selected companies in the areas of utilities, oil and drugs are believed to offer attractive investment opportunities this year.

INVESTORS: There are three other industries which believe warrants investor consideration on a different basis. PROFILE-- Mrs. Mary Colandrea

By BEA SMITH

Mrs. Mary Colandrea, who has lived in Springfield for more than three-quarters of her life, and who looks at least two decades younger than her 74 years, sat in her old-fashioned kitchen in her old-fashioned house at 30 Millburn Ave., Springfield, the other day, and reminisced about the old days, about her late husband, Benjamin, who passed away three years ago, and "the 15 children who filled this house with love and joy and happiness."

The white-haired, articulate, energetic Mrs. Colandrea smiled dreamily and said, "We would have been married 59 years next month. Benjamin and I were married on St. Valentine's Day, 1909."

He came to Springfield when he was 17 or 18, she said. "I had my first love through my brother-in-law. Benjamin had been a boarder in my brother-in-law's home in Perth Amboy."

Mrs. Colandrea, who was born Mary Nitolo in Millburn ("near the Millburn Station—the house is still there"), came from a family of nine. "My father Frank Nitolo, had the first gas tanks here. He died at 51 years of age."

The Colandreas were married in Rose of Lima Church.

"MY HUSBAND was a builder. We lived in the next house on this street for about a year, then we moved into this house. When we bought the house, it had four or five rooms; we added and added to it. Now, it has 11 rooms. Empty rooms," she said a little sadly. "Only one of my sons lives here with me. That's Albert. He's in the plumbing business and he maintains his office at home."

Mrs. Colandrea's children, in addition to Albert, are Benjamin and Richard, who also live in Springfield (Richard is on the Springfield Planning Board, and Benjamin and his brother, Edward, who lives in New Providence, share their father's business, Colandrea and Son); William, Florence and Joseph, who live in Millburn; Vincent who lives in Morristown; Raymond, who lives in Hillsdale; Helen, in Union; Ernest, in Summit; Robert, in Garwood; Connie, in Madison; Carl, in Florida, and Arthur, in Chicago. Mrs. Colandrea also has 33 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

"Before," she smiled, "I used to have the family here for Christmas and the holidays. Now, since the family gets bigger and bigger, they invite me for Christmas."

The "children," as Mrs. Colandrea refers to them, "all got married, bought their own homes. We never helped them financially. We had no money, but we were happy. Better than some families today," I can tell you.

"This is an old house," she said. "It is a castle, to me. I worked night and day here; washed and ironed and cooked and shopped and gardened. I didn't know what sleep was. But my children were gems. The boys used to wash the dishes—in fact, every son had a job to do at home—so now they help their wives wash dishes," she chuckled.

"WE HAD TO DO IT that way. What else? We got along well. Although we didn't have much and they (my children) all came up the hard way, we had a wonderful life. I used to sew a lot, make their clothes—I did the best I could."

Mrs. Colandrea said, with nostalgia in her voice, and a tinge of excitement in her eyes, "I used to go to Newark once a month. I'd go to the market at 5 a.m. and buy vegetables by the bushels, everything by the case and bags and bags of potatoes. I enjoyed it," she smiled. "I was young and healthy, and I didn't mind it at all."

KNOW YOUR GOVERNMENT

From N.J. Taxpayers Association

Historically, during New Jersey's municipal government development, many municipalities were created as business and community centers of spacious townships.

With the movement of people, business and industry into suburban areas, a number of the usually small, well-served "islands" of borough government are running out of growing space and new tax potential. Meanwhile, the surrounding township finds itself with low residential and business property

IT'S 8:15 A.M. AND snowing... Mommy is sleeping. Daddy is fully dressed (complete with boots and mittens) and on the way out the door, when out of the mouth of this sweet young thing comes: "Take the garbage, Daddy!"

It's the one night a week that a male-type has to himself, before he leaves he wants to kiss his daughter goodbye: "No kiss Daddy... she go 'boiling' again."

The tor's aunt, who is a beautician, has just finished styling her hair in a nice cut. Daddy takes one look at her and is overcome by the urge to pick her up and smother her with love: "No hug! No hug! Mommy later!"

A regular morning ritual... Young daughter stands at the door as Daddy is leaving: "Daddy go office, make money, me go shopping... okay!" (The "okay" is dropped in later years.)

MRS. MARY COLANDREA

"And when we sat down to mealtime (our cooking pots were like large preserving kettles), we had benches upstairs for the little ones; some in the kitchen and some in the dining room. It was hard, but looking back, I didn't mind it. We used to have a big garden in the back—I dug every bit myself. We used to grow an awful lot of cabbage, but my children didn't like cabbage, so I used to give the cabbages to the neighbors. My father, you know, was good at gardening, and I learned from him. It was good experience."

Mrs. Colandrea explained that she had a well "out back. In the winter, we had to break the ice to fill the tubs up. Nothing automatic in those days," she laughed. "One thing I will say, however, with what we have today, I wouldn't go back to that."

HER CHILDREN, Mrs. Colandrea recalled, "always were swell to me—so good to me. I can't say one of them ever showed less than appreciation—as some of the children do their parents today."

"My big girls used to let me go out to the movies sometimes. They learned how to do the 'cooling—you know—one hand helps the other."

Mrs. Colandrea said she'd seen a lot of changes in Springfield. Almost everything's changed, she said, "except this old house that I love so much. And God was good to me. I had seven of my sons in the armed services. Three were in the Army, three in the Navy and one in the Air Corps (he just retired, by the way). The younger ones were in the National Guard."

"I'm proud of every one of my children," Mrs. Colandrea said. "Do you know that my sons, who are builders, built the Pancake House, homes in Short Hill, and how they're building a big one in New Providence?"

How does Mrs. Colandrea tempt her best in her 11-room house? "I crochet. I do my own housework. And I don't watch TV, but I used to have a pair to watch TV, but I don't use them anymore."

"Also," she grinned, "I get along swell with my daughters-in-law. I don't butt in. I mind my own business. You know a mother-in-law gets a bad name if she butts in."

Tips for Today's Homemaker

From Anne L. Sheldon, County Home-Economist

The 1968 citrus season is well under way. Although supplies will be better than average, there is an indication that the crop will be below last year's record production.

Florida and California expect to harvest about one third less citrus fruits than they did last year. The Texas crop is reported to be half the size of last year's. Unfavorable weather conditions during the blossom period has been the greatest cause of the decreased supply in Florida and California; Hurricane Beulah had its toll on the Texas crop.

Tangelos will be the only citrus product in increased supply. Actually two fruits in one, tangelos are a cross between a tangerine and a grapefruit. They are similar in size and appearance to a large orange and have a skin which is so smooth or slightly bumpy. Their skin is loose and easy to remove; they have only a few seeds, and they are extremely juicy. A bright orange color is an indication of quality.

Although the fresh citrus products are in decreased supply and prices will most likely be increased, fortunately the same condition does not exist with the processed products. Canned orange and grapefruit concentrates and canned citrus items are in excellent supply. This large carryover stock will help to moderate the effects of the reduced fresh supply.

Using citrus products daily in the diet is most important. Citrus fruits supply Vitamin C. This vitamin is not stored in the body and needs to be replenished each day. Vitamin C gives the diet an exciting, bright, and healthy flavor. Bleeding gums and bruising easily may be an indication that an individual is not receiving a sufficient quantity of this vitamin.

Geltman heads temple drive for Israeli Reform Judaism

Martin Geltman has been named chairman of the Israel affairs committee of Temple Sharey Shalom, Springfield, it was announced this week by Howard Kiesel, president of the congregation. The committee will have responsibility for coordinating all activities dealing with the state of Israel, including those planned by the national committee on Israel of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations.

The UAHC, central congregational body of Reform Judaism in the Western Hemisphere, recently announced an extensive program for advancing the cause of Reform Judaism in Israel and strengthening ties between its 680 member congregations and the people of Israel.

Commenting on Sharey Shalom's participation in the UAHC Israel program seeing Rabbi Marshall S. Hurwitz stated, "The faith of Israel faces a grave emergency in the land of Israel. Traditional rituals are widely rejected by the vibrant young people of the new nation who have adopted an all-or-nothing attitude about religious expression. Knowing no alternative to traditionalism they turn their backs on Judaism and call themselves non-religious. But the battle-scarred paratroopers who wept at the Western Wall in June were not non-religious. The fact is that they are searching for a mode of religious expression that will speak directly to their needs. Reform Judaism offers this, and the work of our committee will be of great importance in strengthening Reform congregations in Israel. It will also enrich our lives here through a wealth of programs for increased contact with the people of the Holy Land."

President Kiesel and Rabbi Hurwitz recently requested a voluntary contribution of one dollar from every man, woman and child in the congregation to finance the work of the UAHC committee on Israel. They reported that most members had already contributed.

Report from Trenton

By State Senator Matthew J. Rinaldo

Our citizens have little respite from rising prices and rising taxes. There does exist, though, one area in which relief seems desirable and possible, namely, the tolls paid by commuters on the Garden State Parkway. The New Jersey Highway Authority has been operating the Parkway successfully and profitably for 15 years. Obligations to bondholders have been met consistently. In addition to retaining at the same high levels, tolls have been imposed in Essex County, where none had been charged before. Moreover, the Highway Authority is attempting to impose tolls in Union County, a move to which I am adamantly opposed. The tolls in Essex County, incidentally, were imposed as a condition for the Highway Authority's participation in the financing of the depression of the East-West Freeway. Ultimately, the Federal Government provided most of the funds for the depressed Freeway, an action that made the imposition of tolls unnecessary. Still, they remain in effect. The New Jersey Highway Authority has done very little for the long-suffering commuter, except take his quarters and add new toll booths. I believe it is time something is done for the riders of the Garden State Parkway, which has become an essential transportation route for many New Jersey residents commuting to and from their homes and places of employment. Therefore, I plan to introduce a resolution in the State Senate Monday calling on the Highway Authority to make available reduced rate commutation tickets for Parkway users.

achieve a break, no matter how slight it might be.

The major portion of the text of the resolution to be introduced Monday is as follows: "WHEREAS, The Garden State Parkway has become an essential transportation route for many residents of the State in commuting to and from their homes and places of employment; and WHEREAS, Commuter fares, rates or tolls are accorded for such use of other transportation facilities, including interstate bridges and tunnels; now, therefore,

BE IT RESOLVED by the Senate of the State of New Jersey (the General Assembly, concurring):

1. The Chairman and members of the New Jersey Highway Authority are hereby respectfully memorialized that in fixing and revising tolls and charges to be collected for use of the Garden State Parkway, pursuant to P.L. 1952, c. 16, s. 14; they provide for the sale of ticket books or other prepared toll identification to commuters and other regular users of portions of the Parkway at a discount from the cash toll-charges fixed for other use of the Parkway.

McDERMOTT TO SPEAK — State Senator Frank X. McDermott (R-Union), majority leader in the Senate, will discuss expected highlights of the 1968 legislative session at a luncheon of the Employers' Legislative Committee of Union County at the Town and Campus Restaurant, Morris avenue, Union, tomorrow.

Etruscan harbor found in Tuscany

The remains of an Etruscan harbor have been discovered near Vada, on the Tuscan coast at the northern limit of the Maremma. The site is some 250 yards inland from the present beach. The discovery of the port, which is mentioned in the work of a minor Latin poet, is of considerable interest to archaeologists since it is the first Etruscan harbor found in such a good state of preservation though the Etruscans are known to have been skillful navigators. FAMILY POT LUCK

Eggs are versatile. They may be stuffed, pickled, or hard boiled for serving among the hors d'oeuvres as a first course.

Scrambled eggs, ham, grits, green vegetables or sliced tomatoes, along with homemade biscuits are considered by many southerners ingredients of a good supper.

You can put leftover Welsh rarebit to tasty good use by arranging whole Norway sardines on slices of buttered toast or English muffin. Cover with thinly shredded raw onion and reheat rarebit for a new taste treat.

For a delightful treat, top thin cucumber slices with the following mixture: mash 1 small clove of garlic in a mixing bowl, add 1 cup stale white bread cubes and 2 tablespoons Spanish olive oil and mash to make a paste. Work into mixture 1 tablespoon lemon juice and salt to taste. If necessary, work in teaspoon of water. Spread over the cucumber slices, keep chilled until time to serve. Makes about 20 canapés.

Ask Amy

By AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy: We had a family party Christmas day at my mother's house. My brother-in-law grabbed me and kissed me under the mistletoe. I was very embarrassed because everyone saw us. Mistletoe is for kids -- isn't it? (He's in his forties.)

What do you make of his actions?
Blushing

Dear Blushing: I don't make anything of it and neither should you. (Maybe he's just a kid at heart!)

Dear Amy: Last year when our school was having the Junior-Senior Prom, I asked my date if she wanted to go to any special place afterwards. She said she would leave it up to me as to where we would go.

Knowing this, I had planned to go to a nice place in our home town, but when I picked her up for the Prom, she asked if it would be alright to go to another town some 40 miles away with friends.

I said we could. When we got to the Prom, I called my parents (without my date knowing) just to let them know there was a change of plans. When they heard where we were going, they refused to let me go. I'm 17 and I felt that I couldn't tell my date that my parents would not let me go, so I faked it by saying that I didn't feel good, and I took her straight home right after the Prom.

What should I have done? Should I write to her and explain?
Prom-goer

Dear Prom-goer: You should have told her that since she left it up to you, that you had already made plans to go to a nice place near by... and you should have gone! No other explanation was necessary then, and I certainly wouldn't mention it to her now.

Dear Amy: My life reads like a soap opera, I guess, but my father died when I was 12 and consequently, I was very close to my mother.

She chose the food I ate, the clothes I wore and the friends I made. Now I'm 27, a college graduate and she is still 'choosing' for me.

The girls I liked, she never did. Three times I wanted to marry, but Mom said they weren't good enough for me. Now I'm successful in my chosen field and have everything I want but a wife and family of my own. I am seeing this sweet, lovely girl (school-teacher) but mother doesn't like her either.

Now that she sees it's a losing battle and that I am going to marry her, she agreed on one condition: that she live with us. My girl is precious and agreeable, but I have my doubts.
David

Dear David: Untie the knot that holds you to mama and don't leave any loose ends. Two women pulling in different directions under the same roof will pull apart what you want most in life... a wife and eventually a family of your own.

Dear Amy: I am in the 8th grade and I go to the Washburn School in Nellisville, Wisconsin. I would like your advice on a boy in the same grade as I. He thinks he's hot stuff and he shows off. Hardly any of the kids like him. He makes me so mad I could beat him up and knock all his teeth out. If he keeps on being so stuck up and acting too big for his pants, should I belt him one?

Plus all this, he picks on all us girls. Robert, one of the students in school, was going to defend us and beat him up, but I said, "No." If there's any defending to do, I'd rather do it myself.
Angered

Dear Angered: It is highly improper for a girl to strike a boy for the reasons you mentioned. Give him the cold shoulder which may make him wise up. But for goodness sake, don't belt him. He sounds like the type who might belt you one back!

Cancer group sets weekend conclave to kick off campaign

Some 250 American Cancer Society volunteers and staff will attend the New Jersey Division's 1968 Crusade Workshop to be held here at the Holiday Inn, in Atlantic City, Saturday and Sunday. It was announced by Elliott Fachtman, of Union, 1968 Crusade Chairman.

The Society's Annual Crusade will begin April 1, and ways and means of raising $1,275,000 for the New Jersey Division's programs of research, education and service to cancer patients will be discussed during the two-day conference, Fachtman said.

Theme for the workshop will be "Crusade on a High Note," which has been selected in honor of Lawrence Welk, famed band leader, who is the Society's National Crusade Chairman for 1968.

The conference will open with a luncheon on Saturday, April 27, with welcomes by Cecil A. Gordon of Paterson, president of the New Jersey Division, and by William Cowart, Jr., Atlantic City, president of the Division's Atlantic County Chapter. Guest speaker for the occasion will be James P. Cooney, M.D., senior vice president for medical affairs of the American Cancer Society. Dr. Cooney's topic will be "Have We Got the Problem Solved?"

The afternoon general session will open with a panel moderated by W. Jefferson Lyon, Glen Ridge, the Division's immediate past president.

Senator CLIFFORD P. CASE Reports

General Eisenhower's doubts about the wisdom of building an anti-ballistic missile system are well founded, I believe.

In a recent interview, our former President touched on two aspects of the question that have been much discussed: the cost of building the ABM, and its effectiveness in adding to our security.

The Administration has stated that it will cost about $5 billion to install a "thin line" ABM system designed to meet a potential threat from China. This is the Sentinel system for which planning is underway.

In General Eisenhower's view, this figure is completely unrealistic because the American public will never accept the notion that only parts of our country are to be protected and will demand—and get—"the works" or a full-scale system costing $40 billion or more.

The larger question, of course, is whether any money so spent would buy any appreciable increase in our security. General Eisenhower doubts seriously that it would, and argues instead that our best defense "remains without overwhelming offensive power."

As Secretary McNamara has stated many times, our security against nuclear attacks lies in deterring any potential aggressor from ever launching any such attack. Deterrence rests, in turn, on our ability to destroy any aggressor even after absorbing a first strike.

We have this "assured destruction capability" in ample amount, according to Secretary McNamara, and the Soviet Union knows it. And the Soviets possess comparable if not equal power, resulting in a state of mutual deterrence.

This "balance of terror" could be upset, conceivably, if one side were to develop an impregnable defense. So armed, that nation would clearly have an incentive to launch a nuclear attack.

In search of such a defense, the United States has conducted extensive research for many years on an anti-ballistic missile system. So have the Soviets. It seems, for they are in the process of installing such a system.

This does not mean, however, that the Soviets have scored a "breakthrough." On the contrary, the experts are agreed that neither the Soviet ABM system nor the U.S. Sentinel system is capable of destroying more than SOME incoming missiles.

The appropriate response to the Soviet ABM deployment, Secretary McNamara has argued, is to buttress our offensive forces to maintain our "assured destruction capability." And this we have done, by launching development of multiple warheads and improved penetration aids.

Conversely, were the United States to deploy a full-scale ABM system, the Soviets could be expected to take similar steps to retain their "assured destruction capability." The net result: a new and costly arms race with more, and perhaps less, security in prospect for both sides.

Secretary McNamara, who summarized the issue in most persuasive fashion last September, nevertheless took occasion to announce a decision to deploy the "thin line" system against China.

I am troubled by the apparent inconsistency of this decision. I am not satisfied that this step, limited though it may be, is sound, in part because of the reasons advanced by General Eisenhower, and in part because it may lead to the same reaction that Secretary McNamara foresees in the event of full-scale deployment—a Soviet decision to so increase their offensive missile forces that even more deaths would be assured in the event of a nuclear exchange.

Your Garden This Week

By Your Rutgers Garden Reporter
THINK BIGGER

Let's say the handyman in your family is tired of building squirrel-proof bird houses and cat-proof dog houses. Wouldn't he like to graduate to something more imposing? Like a frost-free home greenhouse?

Your Rutgers Garden Reporter has a plan. A plan with clear drawings and easy-to-follow instructions that could help to keep any handyman off the street corner between now and spring.

The result would be a rigid frame, plastic covered greenhouse about 10 by 10 feet. The estimated cost of materials is $35 to $40 for framing, $20 to $210 for plastic covering, $15 to $50 for the foundation, $75 to $125 for a heater, $75 to $100 for a ventilation fan, and $50 to $75 for benches where you'll grow your plants.

JUST ASK

A horticulturist and agricultural engineer at the University of Illinois wrote the circular, "A Simple Rigid Frame Greenhouse for Home Gardeners." Your College of Agriculture arranged to get a supply for New Jersey gardeners who may be interested.

It is available in another Illinois circular, with suggestions for building greenhouses, from a little one that attaches to a sunny window right on up to a barn-size one that's big enough to start a plant business in.

This second publication also has a lot of good stuff about where to locate a greenhouse. It compares the different kinds of plastics, tells about heat needs, and suggests plants suited to greenhouse growing.

Your country agent may not have these, so if you're interested, just send a card to Garden Reporter, College of Agriculture and Environmental Sciences, Rutgers University, New Brunswick 08903 with your name and address, and "Greenhouse."

The hectic life of a concert artist Ricci says hi-fi, fast travel bring hardships

Concert artists are on the spot today, and it's largely due to the hi-fidelity, long-play recordings that for the first time are making their household names in millions of American homes.

At least that is the considered opinion of one of the world's foremost concert artists of today, who also is a top-notch recording star.

He is violin virtuoso Ruggiero Ricci, who will appear with the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra Friday, Feb. 2 at Montclair High School and Saturday, Feb. 3, at Millburn High School.

The widespread exposure created by the growing popularity of hi-fidelity recordings has made things doubly difficult for the artist who appears on the concert stage, Ricci explains.

"You now not only have to please the critics," he observed, "but you must face an audience that already has heard all the competition, including yourself, on records."

Ricci also has some pretty provocative things to say about concert audiences he has encountered all around the globe during the years, and of the plight of twentieth century performers who live by their applause and approbation.

"Take performances in New York, for instance, at Carnegie Hall or Philharmonic Hall. These, Ricci says, are particularly excruciating.

"The unanimous verdict of approval from the New York critics is usually the measure of an artist's acceptance elsewhere throughout the United States," he explained.

"Thus, the New York concert, which should be the greatest of all experiences, becomes, instead, the greatest of all ordeals. In fact, I have a recurrent nightmare of showing up in Carnegie Hall without my clothes on, or with the wrong program."

The ease and rapidity with which jet-age artists fly back and forth across oceans and continents during the course of a single musical season, also imposes certain hardships on the modern performer.

In the days when Kreisler, Paderewski and Rachmaninoff were their most active, recalls Ricci — who competed with these titans during his own sensational years as a child prodigy — the top performers needed only about 10 large works to last the season.

"Nowadays," says Ricci, "We need 30 or more. We travel more, perform more, and there is more of an outcry for variety in programming."

Ricci's own schedule is so hectic these days that on a recent weekend he played the Tchaikovsky Violin Concerto on a Friday evening in Helsinki, Finland, left the concert hall at intermission, slept overnight in Stockholm, Sweden, and reported for rehearsal the next afternoon in Great Neck, Long Island — all of which would not have been possible at all if it weren't for the time differential.

Likewise, his 1962 summer tour of New Zealand and Australia was booked to within a day of the time he was required for rehearsal with the New York Philharmonic at Lincoln Center — fortunately, again on the other side of the International Dateline.

The February performances, part of the New Jersey Symphony's "Suburban Concert Series," will open with Mozart's Overture to "The Abduction from the Seraglio," and will include also a performance of Scriabin's "Sacred Rite of Spring" ("Rite of Spring").

Tickets for the Montclair and Millburn performances may be obtained from the New Jersey Symphony offices at 1020 Broad St., Newark, or by calling 624-8203. Tickets for the Montclair concert also may be obtained at the Perdue Radio Company, 8 Park St., Montclair.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

EXCUSES

Defeat is more difficult to swallow when we realize that we never really made the full effort to achieve success.

Many of us carry a bag of excuses — everywhere we go.

When something goes wrong, we have a ready answer. We tell the world that we know it would turn out exactly as it did.

We should rid ourselves of excuses. They are a crutch. We make them up in advance and use them as a reason to quit without seeing the task through.

Here are some lines that should be eliminated:

"No one told me about it."

"I didn't know it was my job."

"I thought everyone had given up but me."

"I tried to reach you, but no one answered."

"I started to call you and something came up."

"I thought George had done it."

Very few of us enjoy accepting all the responsibilities that come our way. But the good citizen, the good Christian, accepts obligations and does his utmost to live up to them. He isn't always successful, but he sleeps well at night.

Volkswagen introduces the automatic stick shift.

After 10, these many years our humble little bug has gone automatic. Gone is the clutch. Gone is the wifely whine, "It's cute, but I can't drive it."

Gone is an era of Volkswagendom. Sniff. And in its place? A Volkswagen you can drive all over town without shifting. Only on the highway do you shift. Once, (this is an economy move. Which, after all, is still the name of the game.)

But you do have a choice in the matter: you can drive it the easy way described above. Or you can start out in low and take it through the gears like a regular stick shift.

The automatic stick shift is an option: you pay a little more. But you do a little less.

TELETHON-STAR—Joseph Dantano, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo D. Dantano of 1400 Emmet Pl., Linden, is junior chairman of the 17th Annual Cerebral Palsy Telethon to be broadcast starting this Saturday at 10:30 p.m. The boy entered the Cerebral Palsy Center in Cranford a year ago at which time he walked with only maximum support. After daily work with Mrs. Joseph Carey, a therapist at the center pictured with Joseph, he is able to walk independently with canes. The youth hopes to be ready for public school education next September.

Telethon-raised monies go to local palsy center

Julius R. Pollatschek, president of United Cerebral Palsy League of Union County, this week urged all residents of the county to view the 17th annual United Cerebral Palsy Telethon, to be televised in color on WOR-TV, Channel 9, from 10:30 p.m. Saturday to 8:30 p.m. Sunday.

"Funds raised as the result of pledges from Union County residents will be used for our program of services at the Cerebral Palsy Center, 216 Holly St., Cranford," Pollatschek said.

Pollatschek indicated that entertainment will be provided by movie, television and radio stars, with Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme, as host and hostess. In addition to entertainment, boys and girls with cerebral palsy will demonstrate progress made through therapy received at United Cerebral Palsy Centers during the past year. Viewers will see a taped demonstration of speech therapy with five-year-old Diana Romantzas, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Peter Romantzas, 608 Jackson Ave., Elizabeth, with Mrs. John Hall, speech therapist at the League's Center in Cranford, who will be interviewed by Henry Fonda. Five hundred volunteers will man 125 telephones at the United Cerebral Palsy Telethon message center during the 19-hour period to receive pledges from New Jersey residents.

Communications film at Trailside

"Beyond All Barriers," a color sound movie, will be shown at the Union County Park—Commissioner's Trailside Nature and Science Center, in the Watchung Reservation, on Sunday at 2 p.m.

On Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, Feb. 1, at 4 p.m. each day, Donald W. Mayer, director of Trailside and Miss Irma H. Meyer, educational assistant at Trailside, will present one-half hour nature talks for

"We are grateful," Pollatschek said, for the fine response of volunteers who will help us in this project. "It is our hope that residents of Union County will again pledge generously during this two-day event."

Aid sought for quake victims Center launches fund campaign

The Center of Italian Culture of Seton Hall University has started a campaign to aid the thousands left homeless by recent earthquakes in Sicily.

A spokesman for the organization pointed out that the earthquakes were the worst natural disaster to strike Sicily since a quake in 1908. They left more than 300 dead, 1,000 injured and thousands upon thousands homeless, he said.

The drive, called "Operation Love," is being conducted with the cooperation of Dr. Turiddu Simon, Italian vice-consul in Newark, and Mario Farco, president of the Essex Chapter of the Center of Italian Culture.

The spokesman said organizations as well as individuals are being urged to assist the massive relief and rescue operations now under way in the more than a dozen small towns and villages hit by the disaster.

Patholes arrive ahead of time

The State Department of Transportation this week advised all New Jersey motorists that recent "spring-like" weather has caused a great number of pot-holes to form on the state highways months in advance of their normal occurrence.

A spokesman said the pot-holes formed after the heavy rainfall which occurred recently. He added that it will be impossible for the department to fill in the pot-holes at this time because the department's maintenance crews are still engaged in snow and ice operations.

Insurance will total $15 million, with payments averaging $79. The 1967 dividend also totaled $15 million but averaged $3 less.

Regional schools will meet to discuss expansion plans

Meeting set for Dec. 14 to give data

Mountainside freshmen to spend year at Dayton

The Regional High School Board of Education will hold a public meeting on Thursday, Dec. 14, at 8 p.m. at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, to announce our distribution of students and our long-range expansion plan, Avery Ward of Kenilworth, board president, disclosed at the regular board meeting Tuesday night at Dayton.

"Basically," he added, "Mountainside freshmen students will spend the year, 1968, and a portion of 1969 at Jonathan Dayton. They will spend the remainder of the year at Kenilworth. The expansion plan for the year 1969-70 will be to have all Mountainside students now attending in other words, they will be at Dayton for one year and at Gov. Livingston for their last three years."

Ward declined to give any details of just how the physical plant of the regional schools will be affected. He commented, "The whole program is being studied by the architect and engineers and will be announced on Dec. 14."

Ward's plan included an addition to the facilities at Gov. Livingston, he replied. "You can draw that inference if you like," he said. "I can't say any more." Ward did note that board members were unanimous in their support for the new expansion plan.

The board also will discuss the expansion of the Board of Education, which is now a 10-member body. The board's basic problem for the past year-and-a-half, since the opening of David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth, has been that enrollment has exceeded listed capacity at Gov. Livingston and at A. L. Johnson Regional in Clark. This there have been 100 students at Dayton for the past year.

Dayton moves to leave Watchung Conference

Rival schools have larger enrollments to compose squads

A request for Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, to withdraw its athletic teams from participation in the Watchung Conference was presented by Dr. Warren M. Davis, regional superintendent of schools, to the Regional Board of Education at its meeting Tuesday night at Dayton.

The request that the request came from Robert L. Vanover, principal at Dayton, with the support of Herbert Palmer, athletic director, Dr. Davis added, "The athletic department faces a real difficulty in scheduling games in an independent conference of similar size."

Dayton was a member of the Watchung Conference for some time. In the past year the conference has been in operation. Particularly since Kenilworth students were transferred from Dayton at the start of last year with the opening of David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth, the local school has been by far the smallest in the conference.

Dayton this year has approximately 200 students, boys and girls, in the eighth class. Appropriate figures for the number of members in each of the other member schools are Gov. Livingston Regional Berkeley Heights, 400; A. L. Johnson Regional, Clark, 370; Cranford, 400; Hillsdale, 370; Rahway, 412; Scotch Plains, 437; and Westfield, 597.

TWO OTHER SCHOOLS have previously withdrawn from the conference because they felt that they lacked an opponent in football whose size was as many as 30 players or a model for a successful team.

They are Roselle Park High School and Abraham Clark High School of Roselle, both now compete in the Garden State Conference, composed of schools of the approximate size of Dayton, ranging geographically from Cliffside Park in East Orange to several in Monmouth County.

Following approval by the regional board, Dr. Davis commented, the Dayton resignation must then be accepted by conference officials. There will be no visible effect next year, he added, since the school has schedule commitments which must be met. Dr. Davis predicted that Dayton will need at least two to four years to work out all its commitments.

Another factor in the Union County athletic alignment, now under study by a group headed by Dr. William West, county superintendent of schools, has been a desire for a county large-school conference.

Merser leads Iowa team to extend winning streak

Iowa moved out along this week as the remaining undefeated team in the State Basketball League's Eastern Division, Iowa took the measure of West Virginia last week, while Kansas tested its first loss at the hands of North Carolina, Indiana took the measure of Florida in the final Eastern Division game, Arizona in the Western Division's lone unbeaten quintet, as it bested Wyoming in last week's State League play. Texas knocked off Oklahoma, and Utah gained its first victory over the season by defeating California in other Western Division games last week. The State League meets at the Florence Gaudineer School each Saturday afternoon.

Iowa's victory over West Virginia was insured at the first half of the game, as the winners tallied 10 points, while holding West Virginia scoreless. Kenny Merser once again paced the Iowa attack as he threw nine points into the hoop in his league finale. Kenny, on the basis of his strong showing in State League games, has been elevated to Ivy League play. Art Freeman also played well for the winners, as he hit for five points. Brian Mullen, Jess Colandrea, Bill Funchion and Frank Zarullo divided the scoring for West Virginia. The final score was 16 to 9.

North Carolina handed Kansas its first loss of the season as it tripped the Kansas team by a 12 to 10 count. The game was a thriller, as it saw North Carolina rally from a first-half deficit to pull out the game with a second-half surge. Dino DiCuccio and Bob Hydock paced the winners. Dino hit for eight points, while Bobby tallied four points and controlled the ball on the floor. Sam Kaplan paced Kansas, while good game came from Mick Byrd and Doug Weg. Sam tallied five points, while Byrd hit three and Weg was good on a bucket.

The final Eastern Division game of the afternoon saw Indiana pull away from Florida early and take an easy 16 to 9 victory. Joe Silverman and Justin Schneider led the Indiana team with seven and six points, respectively. Larry Ogatz and Bruce Rosen also played strong games in the Indiana line-up. Once again, Stu Garawitz was the outstanding player for Florida. Stu hit for seven points while Paul Dublin hit a bucket for Florida.

ARIZONA remained undefeated in Western Division play as it outclassed Wyoming by a 20 to 14 score. Arizona, which went into overtime to win its first two games, made it more easily this time as it pulled away early and then added a high-scoring third period to put the game or ice. Bruce Cohen and Charles Adickman paced the Arizona quintet. Cohen scored eight points, while Adickman hit for six points. Rick Rubinfield played a strong second half for the winners, as he tallied his game total of five points in the second half.

Barry Gerst led the Wyoming team, Barry tallied eight points, as he hit three times from the field and was good twice from the free throw line. Rick Silverstein and Barry Fink also scored for Wyoming in this contest.

Utah won its first game of the season in the middle encounter, as it topped California by a 20 to 14 score. Elliot Liebman paced the winning Utah rally as he put 10 points through the hoop. Utah won the game in the second half, as the teams were all even after one half of play. Howard Forman and Mike Marder also played well for the winners. Forman tallied six points on four free throws and a bucket, while Marder hit twice from the floor for four points.

CALIFORNIA presented a balanced attack, which saw five men enter the scoring column. Bob Day paced the California scorers, as he tallied seven points. The rest of the scoring was divided among Johnny Gooce, Dave Mitchell, Tony Petruzzello and Al Spielholz.

Last Saturday's basketball session ended when Texas returned to the winning side with a 22 to 12 verdict over Oklahoma. Texas put on a five-man surge which carried them to victory.

Game at home Saturday night for Minutemen

The Springfield Minutemen dropped a pair of games last week to St. Margaret's of Morris-town and the Linden PAL. Both games were played at the Florence Gaudineer School in Springfield. Last Wednesday evening, the Springfield all-stars lost a heart breaker to St. Margaret's by a 42 to 41 score. Saturday evening, the Minutemen were completely out classed by the Linden PAL. The final score was 64 to 30.

The Minutemen will see action again this Saturday evening at the Gaudineer School, when they will play host to a team from Union. Tip-off time is set for 7:30.

The Springfield - St. Margaret's game was a thriller. Morrisstown took a 24 to 19 lead at half-time, only to see Springfield roar back to take a lead with a minute left in the game. The Springfield rally was led by captain, Jim Schoch, and Tommy Lowy, a scrappy back-court performer. With the insertion of Lowy into the game in the third period, the Minutemen began to move. Lowy's one-man press caused many turn-overs, which were converted in Springfield buckets.

After the Springfield boys missed two close-in attempts, which would have tied the game, Ed Franey of St. Margaret's hit a jumper from the free throw line with 10 seconds remaining to put the Morrisstown team into the lead to stay. The Minutemen had taken the lead on a steal by Lowy, who hit the bucket, and three shots from the free-throw line by Schoch.

Schoch paced the Minutemen in scoring with 11 points. Jim hit two from the floor and was good on seven foul shots. Bruce Jefferys scored 8 points for Springfield and grabbed 11 rebounds. George Robbins tallied seven Springfield points and led the rebounders with 15. Ed Cook also played strongly for the Minutemen with four points and 12 rebounds. Tom Lowy chipped in with six points, as well as turning in a top defensive effort.

Ed Franey of St. Margaret's showed the Springfield boys a fine outside shot, as he led all scorers with 17 points. Franey also shot the game winner to wear the hero laurels. George Messier of Morrisstown tallied 10 points for his team.

The Springfield - Linden contest never saw the Minutemen in the ball game. Linden presented a tall veteran team, which outscored the Springfield boys in every period. In addition to dropping the game, the Minutemen lost the services of their star and captain, Jim Schoch. Jim was forced out of the game by an injury and he lost to the squad for a period of time.

George Robbins, playing at a forward position for Springfield, turned in his best performance of the year. George, who is playing his first season of Minutemen basketball, was a bright spot in the line-up. Robbins led the team in scoring with 12 points and pulled down an even dozen rebounds to lead the team in this department also. George started the season slowly but has been improving with each game and will be counted on heavily as the season progresses.

Kenny Baroff played a strong final period for Springfield, as he became the entire scoring punch for the final stanza. Baroff scored seven points on three goals and a free throw. Bobby Zucker's star also shone brightly in this game for the Minutemen. Zucker, recently elevated to the squad, drew a starting assignment in this tough game and played well. Zucker's smart passes led to many Springfield buckets. With Schoch's injury taking the club's top ball-handler, Bobby will be counted on in the near future to direct the Springfield attack.

Linden presented a well-balanced scoring attack, which saw four men hit for double figures. The team was paced by Eddie Ciemiacki who hit for 19 points. Ed played a smart game and showed a great deal of savvy in the back court. Another veteran performer from the 1967 team, Bob Barient, hit 14 points in the Linden attack.

TAKING AIM - Dennis Lester, speedy junior forward for the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School basketball team.

Reinhart breaks school mile mark

Norman Reinhart, a freshman at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, set a school record for the one-mile run last Saturday, competing in the Jersey City Army Developmental meet. Reinhart, who lettered in cross-country this fall, ran the mile in 4:57, breaking the former Dayton record of 5:01.

Senior Derrol Brooks, also competing in the meet, was a finalist in the high hurdles event. Brooks will represent the Bulldogs at the state developmental meet on Feb. 24. Marty Taglienti is the coach for indoor track, as well as outdoor track and cross-country.

Unbeaten Billikens retain lead position in Caldwell action

After three weeks of basketball play in the Caldwell-Small-Fry League, the Billikens remain as the lone unbeaten quintet. The Billikens have a 3-0 record, with the Pistons, Celtics, Bullets, and Aggies a game out in second place with identical 2- and -1 records.

The Small-Fry League is the Recreation Department's initial step of development in its youth basketball program. This is where the nine and 10-year-old boys are introduced to team basketball. The boys meet in this eight-team league at the James Caldwell School every Saturday afternoon.

Last week, the Billikens remained undefeated by toppling the Nets, 11 to 2. Kevin Mercer and Mitch Buffington led the Billie's attack in this game. The winners moved to the front at the start, while holding the Nets scoreless until Lee Davidson dropped a final-period bucket. Joe Catapano and Tom Wisniewski also scored for the league leaders.

The Bullets moved into a second-place tie as they rolled over the Knicks, 21 to 5. Jess Greenstein led the Bullets barrage with 13 points. Jess hit four shots from the floor and added five from the foul line. Joey Knowles, also hitting well for the winners, scored eight points. Bill Phillips with three points and Dave Garner with a bucket were the hot hands for the Knicks.

The Pistons also moved up to share second place when they topped the Lakers, 8 to 2. Gagey Prussing with four points was the game's high man as he paced the Pistons. Tony Johnson and Joe DeBartolo were constant threats in the field for the winners. Johnny Crangover, with an opening period bucket, was the only Laker who was able to find the range in this ball game. The final game of the afternoon saw the Adam Wane took the honors, with 249-618 in Springfield Municipal at Springfield Bowl, closely followed by Bob Anderson, 218-606. Other high scorers included Don Galante, 235; Bob Jones, 230; Mike Bonocore, 226; Sol Walters, 220; Walt Schramm, 214; Marty Klesso, 212; Ted Halba, 212; Al Scott, 210; Joe Alacco, 207; Jim Funchion, 205, and Syl Boettcher, 202.

Springfield Market swooped to increase its lead in the standings, and Pollicorpio Brothers moved up with another sweep. Top teams are Springfield Market, 33.5-23.5; Pollicorpio, 31-26; Conte's Deli, 30-27; Dinnell Bros., 29.5-27.5.

Dayton team faces Cranford, Hillside; Bulldogs defeat Clark Regional, Union

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School basketball team will visit Cranford High School tonight and entertain Hillside High School at home on Wednesday afternoon. The Bulldog cagers now have an 8-5 record following two victories last week, over Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School of Clark, 65-46, and Union High School, 71-67.

Head-coach Ray Yanchus commented on the two games. "Our offense was quite successful, especially against Union where 13 out of 20 fast breaks resulted in goals. Against Clark it was not as effective percentage-wise, but we did get a lot of driving field goals, especially from Cliff York, who scored 11 field goals for 24 total points. Defensively our game against Clark was excellent, limiting them to 46 points, basically by preventing shots from being taken."

"The most important thing about the Union game is that we had balanced scoring, with five men landing in double-figures. Gary Kurtz finally found his jump shot again and was very effective. Ralph Lozano, Tony Gromek, York and Richie Campbell joined Kurtz in the two-figure category.

"Campbell is also this week's 'Defensive Player of the Week.' He was good defensively against Clark, but he did an exceptional job against Union, not only stealing the ball and intercepting passes, but also drawing the offensive foul, which he did three times. I hope we can score this same way every game."

Dayton led all the way against Clark, with Cliff York leading the offensive.

UNION PROVIDED its traditionally close game. The Farmers ripped off a fast five points in the first few minutes, but Dayton quickly closed the gap and from then on the scoring was neck-and-neck until the fourth quarter. For most of the first half, the Bulldog offense was sluggish, hitting only 33 percent from the floor, as was its defense.

Union led by two at the half, 31-29, alternately throughout the third quarter maintaining that margin and being tied by the Bulldogs.

Finally, with three seconds left in the third quarter, Camp' II drove quickly down the center to make the layup and give Dayton the lead for the first time, 49-47.

From then on the Bulldogs let loose. Campbell played fine all-around ball, and the entire team assisted him well. Up three points in the last two minutes, 67-64, Campbell led a Dayton freeze, and also sank four fouls for four to seal the victory.

"The Bulldogs will meet Cranford for the first time this season tomorrow night. The Cougars have a 9-5 record. 'They are always a tough team,' commented Yanchus. 'This year, especially, they have been winning the close games, as they did last year, one of their weakest years. I look for a difficult game.'

Hillside defeated the Bulldogs in their previous encounter this season, 66-65, in overtime. Dayton led for three quarters, but a last minute blitz by the Comets, led by Mike Drew, tied the game at the buzzer, 63-63. Drew sank a foul shot with 30 seconds left in overtime to win the game.

"We'll have to play four quarters this time the way we played for three quarters last time," commented Yanchus. "We also have to contain Mike Drew. This game will also be a tough one."

Princeton wins another as Schoch has 14 points

Princeton continues unbeaten in Ivy League play in the Recreation Department's youth basketball program. Last week Princeton had an easy time in turning back Yale, 20 to 10, in the second of three games played at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School. The other two games were thrillers going down to the final seconds. Dartmouth nipped Harvard, 13 to 12, and Cornell edged by Columbia, 18 to 17.

Jim Schoch led a strong Princeton attack, which showed its heels to a Yale team early in the first half. Schoch led all teams in scoring as he tossed in 14 points. Jim hit five times from the field and was good on four of eight shots from the free throw line. Schoch also played a strong floor game for the Princeton team. Mark Weber was a fine complement for Schoch on the Princeton squad. Weber played well on the floor and hit for four points. Arnie Blumenthal again contributed fine board work to the league-leaders' attack.

Yale once again presented a balanced attack but its scoring punch fell short before Princeton's furious offense. Howe Tenenbaum led the Yale point-makers. Others hitting for Yale included Perry Koplitz, Mike Sanders, Gary Nofield and Jeff Lester.

Dartmouth gained a portion of second place in the league ratings by sneaking by Harvard in the opening game by a 13 to 12 final count. Bobby Zucker and Al Wilbourn paced the Dartmouth victory. Zucker controlled the floor and hit for six points. Wilbourn controlled the boards and hit four points on a pair of rebound shots. Dartmouth was without the services of its high scorer, Ken Baroff.

Harvard put on a final-period rally to almost pull out its initial victory of the season. It took a late bucket by Dartmouth's Marc Jaffe and clutch free throw by Bobby Fox to insure the victory. Gary Tjess had his best afternoon of the year in leading Harvard. Tjess hit for eight points in three jumpers and a bucket, and also converted the foul line. Bobby Nardone hit a late bucket for Harvard to give him a temporary lead.

Cornell put off a furious final-period rally to top Columbia by an 18 to 17 score. Cornell, pressing in the final period, pulled out the ball game on countless steals by Jerry Jones and Bobby Meisel. Jerry's fast hands deflected the ball to Meisel on three separate occasions, which Meisel converted to shots. Bobby tallied six points for Cornell. Jones hit on early bucket for the winners. Ed Cook also played a strong game for Cornell, as he paced both teams in rebounding and led his team in scoring with seven points. Joe Pepe played his strongest game of the season for the Big Red. Joe hit an important rebound jump shot in the final period. The big bucket gave Cornell its first lead in the game.

Columbia was led in this game by George Robbins. George tallied six points and did a fine job in rebounding for Columbia. Billy Steffy also played well in the Columbia attack. Aggie's drop their first game of the season, as they were knocked off by the Celtics by an 11 to 9 score. Bruce Blumenthal led all scorers, as he paced the Celtic victory. Bruce tossed in five points. The remainder of the Celtic scoring was divided between Scott Grayson, Sal Populillo and Larry Grant, as each boy hit a bucket. Pat Prete was high for the Aggies with 4 points. Bob Fletcher and Stu Friedman each scored from the floor, while Elliot Malamed hit once from the free throw line. The result of this game put the Aggies and the Celtics into a second-place tie with the Pistons and Bullets.

Games next Saturday at the Caldwell School will see the Billikens trying to protect their undefeated record against the Celtics in the opening game. Other games will feature the Pistons vs. Nets, Knicks vs. Lakers and Aggies vs. Bullets.
