Speakers clash at regional expansion forum

Voters will decide on school proposal

By ABNER GOLD
A public meeting on the proposed $4,355,000 Regional High School District expansion bond issue, held last Thursday at Jonathan Dayton

Verdict Tuesday on regional bonds

The Regional High School District Board of Education's $4,355,000 bond issue proposal for expansion and renovation of school facilities will be submitted to the voters Tuesday from 2 to 9 p.m. in Springfield, Berkeley Heights, Clark, Garwood, Kenilworth and Mountainside.

Residents of Springfield election districts One to Six will vote at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School. The Edward Walton School will be the polling place for Districts Seven to 13.

Regional High School, developed some new information on the proposed expansion and renovation plans, as well as a substantial amount of heated difference of opinion.

The scrutiny developed both on and off the podium, as proponents and opponents of the proposal mixed requests for information with calls for support of their positions. Statements on both sides of the question drew applause from the audience of some 150 people. Applause in favor of the regional board's proposal appeared slightly more frequent, but that for the opponents seemed somewhat louder.

Several complaints were heard following the meeting that Avery Ward of Kenilworth, regional board president, who conducted the meeting, had failed to recognize hands raised by Springfield citizens he knew were opposed to the bond issue, while giving preference to residents of other communities who were there to express support for the measure.

It was also reported that the president of the Berkeley Heights League of Women Voters was unable to obtain the floor to speak in favor of the bond issue.

Ward opened the meeting by outlining some of the details of the bond issue and displaying slides of planned expansion and renovation at all four regional high schools.

OF THE TOTAL of $4,355,000, some $760,000 will be spent on renovation and expansion of facilities at Dayton Regional in Springfield; $1,519,000, Arthur L. Livingston Regional, Clark; $1,924,000, Gov. Livingston Regional, Berkeley Heights, and $132,000.

Statement asks residents to vote for school bond

A statement expressing support for the regional high school expansion bond referendum scheduled for Tuesday was issued this week by Mrs. I.S. Yablonsky and Mrs. Henry Huneke.

Mrs. Yablonsky is president of the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School PTA, and Mrs. Huneke is former president of the Springfield League of Women Voters. Both stressed that they issued the statement "speaking strictly as individuals."

The complete text of their statement follows:

SINCE A DISPARATE amount of publicity has been given to a group which opposes the forthcoming referendum concerning the regional high schools, we believe the voters of Springfield should be given the opportunity to consider and understand the point of view which endorses and supports said referendum. Both as parents and as public-spirited citizens

League sums up reasons against school proposal

In a continuation of opposition to the proposed high school referendum, the Springfield League of Women Voters this week urged a "No" vote on Tuesday. Mrs. Harry Elstein, League president, released a summary of the League position as the following series of questions and answers:

WHY DOES the League oppose the coming referendum?

Ans.: We oppose it because it is unsound. It applies the idea of a home school to support the preference of one community.

How can this referendum favor one community when it proposes expansion within the entire regional system?

Ans.: In order to accommodate approximately 650 Mountaineer students, the referendum proposes a massive expansion of the Governor Livingston School at Berkeley Heights. It ignores the fact that the David Brearley School at Kenilworth was built for easy expansion.

Is it fair to send Mountaineer students to Kenilworth?

Ans.: Yes. Even now Garwood children are being shifted from Clark to Kenilworth to ease the overcrowding in that school.

Why does the League challenge this referendum after a "detailed study of educational and physical needs," was made by an educational consultant of international experience?

Ans.: The extent of expansion, placement of students, and cost allocations were decided

Clergy, educators discuss problems of teens, narcotics

"The note of tension, even of danger, seeping into residential America, directed toward a teen population at odds with the adult population," was the topic discussed by the local Committee of Clergy and some of the local school administrators, according to Dr. Thelma L. Sandmeter, chairman of the newly formed group who presided at their second meeting last week at the Florence Gaudineer School.

She added: "The incidence of narcotics addiction, believed to be greater in New York City than anywhere else in the nation, was reviewed and the effects of its backwash into

PLANS FOR HIGH SCHOOL — Changes proposed by the Regional High School Board of Education for Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, as part of its $4,355,000 expansion bond issue, to be presented Tuesday to the voters of the six communities within the regional district. ## Town Committee OKs budget for '68; little dissent heard from 17 in audience

The Township Committee Tuesday night unanimously adopted the 1968 budget of $1,806,105 to be spent for municipal purposes, with $1,031,599 to be raised through local taxes.

PTA units to hear Conference panel at meeting Monday

Springfield Juvenile Conference Committee members will present a panel-discussion on "Truth or Consequences" at a joint meeting of all Parent-Teacher Associations in the township at the Edward Walton School at 8 p.m. Monday.

Panelists will be Dr. Thelma L. Sandmeter, chairman; Rabbi Reuben Levine of Temple Beth Ahm, the Rev. Bruce W. Evans of Springfield Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Edward R. Oehling of St. James Church and Sgt. Delmo Tompkins of the Springfield Police Department.

Theme of the program will be the need for understanding between parent and child, teacher and pupil, friend and friend and neighbor and neighbor. It will include showing of a filmstrip on "The Tuned-Out Generation," followed by a tape recording of reactions of junior high school students to this film. Questions to be discussed will include: "Is there a new morality?" "What is the generation gap?" "How have values changed?" and "Are we giving our children enough responsibilities, or too many?"

Seek baseball aides

An appeal for men to serve as managers this spring in the Youth Minor Leagues was issued this week by Sal Falcone, head of the Springfield Youth Baseball Leagues. The minor leagues are for boys aged nine to 12, many of whom will be in their first year of organized competition. Details are available from Harry Vargas at 376-3020. The leagues are now planning for their annual meeting-March 27 and for the try-outs on March 30.

Committeemen stressed that the municipal portion is only one-fifth of the total tax load of $5,014,645, which will bring about an increase in the local real estate tax from $6.59 to $7.19 per $100 of assessed valuation. Since property is assessed at 50 percent of current market value, a house with a present value of $30,000 will incur taxes of $719 during 1968.

The audience, which swelled to a total of 17 persons by the end of the two-hour meeting, seemed at least resigned to the increase in the tax rate. There were only two questioners from the floor, and neither raised any serious objections to municipal expenditures, although both indicated the tax bite was starting to draw blood.

Committeeman Philip Del Vecchio presided in the absence of Mayor Robert D. Hardgrove, at home convalescing from a recent illness and expected back for the March 26 meeting.

Youth given credit for YES success

In conjunction with Springfield Youth Employment Service Commemoration Week, scheduled for April 15 through 20, the YES board of directors declared it would like the people of Springfield to "Get to Know What YES is," which is the slogan it has adopted for the coming fund drive.

Mrs. Saul Black, YES chairman, stated that much responsibility for the continued success of YES rests with the youth of Springfield and issued the following message to them: "If you would like an interesting job, after school, weekends or during vacation, are at least 14 years of age through 20, and live in Springfield, register now with YES in the Municipal Building."

"The kind of work you seek is up to you. YES will do its best to help you find it. School work comes first, so you should discuss with your parents your desire to find employment. YES must have their approval before it can help you.

There is no charge to you for job placement.

IN OTHER BUSINESS, the governing body named Vincent Plaza of 72 Tooker Ave. as assistant recreation director, at an annual salary of $7,350. Committeeman Arthur M. Falkin noted that Plaza had been a local resident for 10 years, and that he was continuing his education at Seton Hall University, aiming at a degree in the field of recreation.

Del Vecchio proclaimed April 15 to 20 as Youth Employment Service Week in Springfield, to honor the work of the local YES agency. He noted that the plaza in front of Town Hall will be designated as YES Square.

In response to a question from the floor, Falkin reported on plans to provide a skating pond next winter along Riverside Avenue, as part of a major flood retention basin draining water from the Rahway River. He noted that cooperation was expected from authorities in Union, and possibly from the Union County Park Commission to provide a warming hut and toilet facilities.

As deliberations began on the township budget, Falkin and Committeeman Robert G. Planer reported on major items in the budget, particularly new personnel in the road, police and fire departments and pay raises for all employees.

Committeeman Henry J. Bultman read a letter from Daniel M. Lucy and John J. Brennan, the two remaining members of the municipal budget review committee. Whiteprinting efforts to limit expenditures, they suggested

Blood bank appeal

The Springfield Red Cross Chapter this week issued a final call for donors to contribute at the Bloodmobile session next Thursday, March 21, from 1 to 6:30 p.m. at Temple Shalom. The statement asked donors to call the Red Cross at 376-1676, "or present yourself at the temple. A gift of blood is a gift of life."

FOCUS ON YOUTH — Problems of local youth, and particularly the threat of narcotics, provided the topic at the second meeting of local clergy and educators last week at the Florence Gaudineer School. Shown seated, left to right, are Anne Romano, assistant principal, Jonathan Dayton Regional High School; Dr. Thelma Sandmeter, principal, Gaudineer School; the Rev. Bruce W. Evans, First Presbyterian Church; Helene J. Kosloski, assistant principal at Gaudineer; the Rev. Kenneth J. Stampf, Holy Cross Lutheran Church, Standing, from left: Msgr. Francis X. Coyle and the Rev. Edward Oehling, St. James Catholic Church; the Rev. James Dewart, Springfield Emanuel Methodist Church; and Sgt. # Episcopal, Methodist clergy ecumenism forum panelists

REV. THOMAS HENRY
The Lenten Forum will continue at Springfield Emanuel Methodist Church, Main st., at Academy Green, this Sunday, at 8 p.m., with a panel discussion on "Ecumenism - 1968". Guest panelists will be the Rev. Thomas

Henry, rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Millburn, and the Rev. Ronald Miller, associate minister of Wilson Memorial Church, Watchung, a minister of the Methodist Church assigned to the United Church of Christ. Mrs. Joseph Gletschmann, William Rosinger and a member of the Senior High Youth Fellowship will act as interrogators of the guests following a filmstrip presentation on ecumenism.

Mr. Henry was recently selected by the National Council of Churches as one of 12 clergy from various sections of the country and various denominations to receive advanced sensitivity training and to be on the staff of a training event sponsored by the National Training Lab at Green Lake, Wis., next month. He has also had training in human relations and has designed and executed sensitivity training programs for parishes and special groups in this area. His diocesan activities for the Episcopal Church include membership on the Ecclesiastical Court and the committee on review of quotas and assessments of the department of finance. He is also secretary for the Clericus of the Diocese of Newark. Before entering the ministry, he was an attorney, having received his B.S. degree from New York University and the J.D. degree from New York University School of Law.

Mr. Miller, a member of the Iowa Conference of the Methodist Church, is a graduate of Drew Theological Seminary and is presently enrolled as a candidate for the Ph. D. degree at Rutgers University in the field of history. As associate minister at Wilson Memorial Church, Watchung, he has particular responsibility for youth work. During Youth Week in January, the members of this Senior High Youth Group conducted the morning worship service using a modern liturgy which they themselves developed, and provided accompaniment to the congregational singing and anthems.

Following the forum, there will be a social period in the Mundy Room. The Lenten Forum on March 24 will be at 5 p.m. instead of the usual hour, with a family night supper served by the Women's Society of Christian Service. Mrs. Yasuko Griesinger, native of Japan and a Theological School graduate, will present a slide lecture on the Christian ministry in Japan.

Preparation for citizenship: Springfield Girl Scouts learn as they move forward on the road to maturity

Springfield Girl Scout groups mark nation-wide organization anniversary

Springfield Girl Scouts are taking part this week in the nation-wide observance of the 56th anniversary of the founding of the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A.

In a proclamation designating the period from last Sunday through this Saturday as "Girl Scout Week," Mayor Robert D. Hardgrove urged all Springfield residents "to give the Girl Scouts now and in the coming year their continued interest, cooperation and support so that increasing numbers of girls, ages seven through 17, may benefit for their lifetimes from the values they define for themselves through their explorations in Girl Scouting."

The proclamation noted that the Girl Scout organization "has grown from an original troop of 18 girls, led by the founder, Juliette Gordon Low, to a national body of more than three million girls and more than 600,000 adult volunteers from every walk of life."

The mayor added: "Girl Scouting is helping girls to maintain basic social values in a world of challenge and change, while through its program, activities it is offering girls a kaleidoscope of new worlds to explore."

In observance of the week, Springfield Girl Scouts prepared a display of scout crafts and future plans, exhibited at the Newberry store. A photograph of local troops was on exhibit at the National State Bank.

Quinton of Troop 280 and Nancy Morris of Troop 169, who attended with six Juniors, and a Senior Scout, Nancy Roth.

In another project, Senior Scouts Nancy Roth and Barbara Frost are teaching songs to Troop 840.

Members of Brown's Troop 94 of Sandmeier School, led by Mrs. Leonard Brown, have made mobiles with the assistance of Roger Frank. Taking part in the project were Jackie Spector, Roger mobiles; Pamela Dennis and Susan Wallach, Valentine and sweet-heart mobile; Judy Margulies, key mobile; Holly Frank, Uncle Wiggley; Sari Ahren, animal mobile; Joanne Gold, spark mobile; Debra Arcidiacono, glow mobile; Sharon Brown, mini mobile; Nora Enis and Linda Gottlieb, color mobile; Lisa Gottlieb and June Ann Miele, can can mobile.

Springfield students chosen for summer abroad program

Arnold Bodner, son of Mrs. Sylvia Bodner of 52 Brlar Hills circle, and Diane M. Scobey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Scobey of 55 Fieldstone dr., both Springfield, are taking part in the Experiment in International Living program. Bodner will be spending the summer in Nigeria, and Miss Scobey will be staying in Switzerland.

The Experiment in International Living has been engaged in international educational exchange since its founder, Dr. Donald B. Watt, first introduced a group of American youths to their French and German-speaking counterparts in Switzerland in 1932. It is now a world-wide organization with representatives in some 60 countries, annually conducting the exchange of more than 5,000 young men and women between the United States and one hundred other nations. The Experiment introduced the homestay to international exchange, a concept widely adopted by many other agencies.

An outbound Experiment group typically comprises from 10 to 12 men and women between the ages of 16 and 30, under the guidance of a specially-trained leader, who live for one month as the "son" or "daughter" of a family abroad. This firsthand opportunity to develop friendships, to learn the customs and traditions of another country, and to participate in the daily life of an "adopted" family is the heart of every Experiment program. During the second month the American Experimenters travel in the host country, usually accompanied by members of their new families, or engage in work or study projects. During 1967, 2,315 Experimenters visited 44 different countries. They included some 500 participants in overseas study programs jointly sponsored by the Experiment and approximately two dozen U.S. colleges and universities. During 1967, 2,777 persons from 100 nations also visited the United States on Experiment programs.

To prepare both these incoming visitors and outbound Americans for a constructive international experience, the Experiment operates its School for International Training on a 125-acre campus in Brattleboro, Vt. Here it has offered intensive instruction in twenty languages to its program participants, trained more Peace Corps Volunteers than any other private, voluntary organization, and conducted orientation and language programs for students and other professionals from around the world. In addition to United States headquarters in Putney, Vt., the Experiment maintains regional offices in Boston, Chattanooga, Chicago, New York, San Francisco, Washington and a U.S. European office in Brussels, Belgium.

Mountainside PTA calls for support of high school expansion referendum

A statement calling on Springfield voters to support the Regional High School District expansion bond issue when it is presented at the polls on Tuesday was issued this week by Eleanor Hechle, president of the Mountainside PTA, in behalf of the Mountainside PTA steering committee.

The full text of the statement follows:

IT IS DISAPPOINTING and surprising that the Springfield League of Women Voters chooses to oppose the Regional High School referendum, which includes a large expenditure for the improvement of Dayton. We believe the League strongly favors quality education for all students in the region, and for this reason, we would ask the League to reconsider its position.

The League states its opposition from the viewpoint of Springfield's local interests and the broader interests of the regional system. It would appear their local concern lies in two areas, the first being the fact that the long-deferred renovations to the Jonathan Dayton plant is part of a $4,000,000 bond issue. The other is that Mountainside students by their freshman year attendance at Dayton would cause overcrowding during renovations and possible delay of renovations at Dayton.

Speaking to the first point, it is impossible to isolate the problems of Jonathan Dayton from the problems of the region as a whole. If the improvements at Dayton were not part of a $4,000,000 referendum, then they would have to constitute a separate additional referendum. Additional referendums not only cause confusion but also greatly reduce the chance of passage.

WE AGREE THAT renovations are needed at the Dayton school, but the League must also be aware of the problems of Mountainside students, who at this point have no permanent school at all.

Concerning overcrowding and possible delay of Dayton renovations, it would seem quite probable that remodeling could begin directly after the summer closing of Dayton so that the school would be ready to receive the students in the fall.

The Springfield League's opposition to the referendum in the broader interests of the regional system is more disturbing. The suggestion is made that educational opportunity is equal only if the size of the schools is equal. It even suggests that a larger school in number of students is better than a smaller one. Educators would disagree. Equal educational opportunity in high school is the goal of the regional school board now, and we believe passage of the referendum formulated by the board will achieve that goal. It is foolish, however, to duplicate exactly the curriculum in each school. This would be more costly and diminish the quality of the programs.

THE VALUE OF our system is that we can have vocational training in one school, electronics in another, beauty culture in still another. If we tried to duplicate these courses in all schools, the courses themselves would be much weaker.

Furthermore, it seems more logical to expand a school such as Livingston, which stands on 40 acres, than to expand to any great extent a school such as Brearley, which stands on the second smallest acreage in the region. Finally, we urge the League to reconsider its position on the basis that to take a stand so unpopular in other regional communities will only tend to sectionalize the region. The children of the region will not be served by attempting to set the citizens of one community in opposition to the citizens of the other communities. We need each other now as we have in the past.

We strongly urge passage of the referendum on March 19.

Urge residents to give opinions on bus changes

Several Springfield residents this week reported having received messages from western Union County's two assemblymen urging that all state legislators be informed of local opinion on proposals to repeal the law requiring school districts to provide bus transportation for private school students.

Assemblyman Peter J. McDonough wrote, "The Trenton legislative education committees are preparing to have public hearings on the school bus bill. The governor, last year, made-up-his-mind prior to the public hearing. He held public hearings that would have to be considered mock because he signed the bill within two hours of the public hearings. Our mail at this time is very mixed and, therefore, I will make no commitments until after we hold our public hearings."

Assemblyman Hugo M. Paliz reportedly telephoned local residents to say that voters must make their opinions known to the legislators if the law is to be repealed. The law is known as Chapter 74, and was passed last year as bill A-21.

State senators from Union County are Nicholas S. La Torre, 56 Hillside rd., Elizabeth 07208; Frank X. McDermott, 312 Massachu-

Honored at Montclair

Ruthann Meier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald C. Meier of 2 Lynn dr., Springfield, and a 1967 graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, has been named to the Dean's List at Montclair State College, where she is a freshman math major.

Licenses suspended of Springfield drivers

June Strelacki, director of the New Jersey Division of Motor Vehicles, announced suspension under the 60/70 Excessive Speed Program of the license of Michele Petrillo, 19, of 88 Garden oval, Springfield. The suspension became effective Feb. 14 and will run for 30 days.

Under the state's point system, the license of Peter E. Palmer, 21, of 31 Marcy ave., was suspended for one month, effective March 4, and the license of Frank L. Deo, 22, of 100 Twin Oaks oval, was suspended for 35 days, effective Feb. 1.

Films, art class being presented

A series of films and a life class in art are being presented at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School under the joint sponsorship of the Regional Adult School and the Springfield Association of Creative Arts.

The film series opened March 5 with a showing of "The Colt," a story about a colt born in the midst of Russian battle, and "Nanook of the North," a documentary about life in the Arctic. "A French Mistress," a British comedy was presented March 12.

Four other film programs are scheduled for 8:15 p.m., Tuesdays in the high school auditorium. They are:

March 26—"Alexander Nevsky," a Russian classic with music by Erckoff.

April 9—"Ditte, Child of Man," from Denmark. This film has won five grand prizes.

April 23—"Situation Hopeless, But Not Serious," a British comedy starring Alec Guinness.

May 7—"The Hill," a story of military prisoners in North Africa, with Sean Connery and Michael Redgrave.

All film showings are open to the public. Prices are $1.50 per person, $2.50 per couple and 50 cents for students.

The life class, a workshop session with models but with no instructor, is held Wednesdays from 8 to 10 p.m. in the teachers' lounge on the second floor.

Members of the group, including art teachers, students, amateurs and professionals, work in ink, charcoal, pastels and water-colors.

Mrs. Leo Johnson (376-4139) said the class is open to anyone interested in attending at a fee of $1 per evening. She asked anyone planning to attend to bring an easel or a plan to lean on. There is no work in oils, she reported.

1st Presbyterian to honor teachers

A recognition dinner, honoring the teachers and members of the church school staff, will be held in the Parish House of the Springfield First Presbyterian Church, next Sunday evening at 6.

The buffet dinner, sponsored by the session of the church, will be served by the church hospitality committee with Mrs. William P. Wood as chairman. Following the dinner, an "old-fashioned song fest" will be led by Herbert Kern.

Guest speaker will be Mrs. Julian Alexander, wife of the minister of the Willow Grove Presbyterian Church in Scotch Plains, and an active worker in the field of Christian education. Mrs. Alexander will share her experiences on "Introducing Christ to Kids."

CONTEST WINNER — Mrs. Dorothy Ziegenfuss of Springfield, platform assistant at the Springfield Office, National State Bank of Elizabeth, displays $100 worth of U. S. Government Savings Bonds she has been awarded for being one of the top winners in the bank's auto loan campaign.

Decision on Tuesday: What can we achieve?

An unfortunate development, as the Regional High School Board of Education prepares to submit its capital expansion bond issue to the voters on Tuesday, has been the injection of personalities and personal antagonisms into the discussion.

This newspaper has previously expressed its strong support of the bond issue. Conditions at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield are presently far from ideal. Should the bond issue fail, our young people will be the ones to suffer here before remedies can be provided.

Having said this, we can certainly acknowledge that there are merits to both sides of the debate. Deterioration of the physical plant at Dayton has developed gradually over many years when the regional board, perhaps of necessity, concentrated on construction of new facilities elsewhere in the rapidly growing district.

The contrast between the well-worn facilities and furnishings at Dayton and the shiny new equipment at the other schools led to a growing suspicion that Dayton was the least-favored school -- in areas more important than the physical plant.

The disclosure that the League of Women Voters had embarked on a detailed study of the operations and achievements of the regional system was welcome indeed. This is the sort of work for which the LWV was designed, and the results of the study were anticipated with serious interest, at least in this quarter.

At the same time, anticipation of this sort does not entail a commitment to agree. While appreciating the background information provided, citizens should have the freedom to draw their own conclusions, even if they do not coincide with those suggested by the League.

We must all realize that those who are not 100 percent for us are not necessarily against us. The cloud of resentment, which at times floated over the public meeting held at Dayton last week to discuss the bond proposal -- a bitterness generated by both opponents and proponents of the referendum -- at times tended to obscure the basic question.

From this point of view, the question to be answered is: What is the best educational facility we can provide for our young people? Knowing what is the perfect method advocated by all the nation's learned educators is helpful; if may not be attainable in Springfield, much less in the Regional High School District.

The choice before the voters of Springfield, and the other five communities of the district, is not between good and bad, or between virtue and sin. It is between what we have now and what we can achieve.

We feel that the best choice can be made by making the best of a fairly acceptable bargain. We hope, even more strongly, that the choice whatever it is, will be made without a bitterness which will harm our community.

In Past Tense

ONE-YEAR AGO

Following an hour of rather mild comment from the audience of some 50 citizens, the Township Committee unanimously adopted Springfield's first million-dollar budget for local governmental operations. County Prosecutor LEO KAPLOWITZ announces that he is sending his investigation into actions of Springfield which had led to a 1964 reversal of zoning special exception permit. "I see no criminal intent involved here," he says.

Clergymen

suburban communities were debated. "It was decided that as long as one known experimenter existed among the local young people, the combined efforts of school and clergy would be devoted to helping parents solve the problem. It was revealed that some of the local experimenters are known to their parents, known to the Committee of Clergy, known to the schools, known to the police and known to their peer group.

The underlying cause was generally identified as unmet, unexpressed freedom. Education was cited as the missing link. And Romano, assistant principal at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Helene Kauloski, assistant principal at the Florence Gaudineer School, Sgt. Delno Tompkins, juvenile officer of the local police department, was also present.

Members of the clergy present included: Monsignor Francis X. Coyne, St. James Church; the Rev. James Dewar, Springfield Emanuel Methodist Church; the Rev. Bruce W. Evans, First Presbyterian Church; the Rev. Edward R. Oehling, St. James Church; and the Rev. Kenneth Stumpf, Holy Cross Lutheran Church.

The next meeting is scheduled for the latter part of April.

Letters to Editor

Letters to the editor must be submitted no later than Monday of the week they are to appear. They should not exceed 250 words in length and should be typed with double spacing (not all in capital letters, please). All letters must be signed. Writer's name will not be withheld if the letter is of a political nature. This newspaper reserves the right to edit or reject any letter.

'DEDICATED SERVICE'

I have enjoyed the privilege of being an active member of the League of Women Voters of Springfield for more than 10 years.

Since the day the Springfield League was born until this day, we have actively supported every referendum for school expansion. Our support was not that of an ineffectual group of "goodies" grasping blindly at whatever was offered. Endorsement came only after each expansion program was intensively evaluated. During this period, government officials, boards of education, other organizations and individuals have publicly commended the League for its constant dedicated service to the citizens of our community.

Now, for the first time in our history, we find ourselves in disagreement with parts of a referendum. It is shocking to find many of these same groups and individuals suddenly implying that we have become, overnight, a group of crackpots, lacking integrity and with deviant motives, who spread misinformation.

As always in the past, the League still respects the honest opinions of those who differ with our position.

Personally, I find contemptible anyone who stoops to attack the integrity, honesty and intelligence of the League or any of its members.

No one is forced to heed the voice of a "vocal minority," but all of us must heed the silent, eloquent majority at the polls.

MRS. SYDNEY L. MILLER
114 Jefferson Ter.

FROM 'BAFFLED MOTHER'

Some months back I wrote a letter to "Letters to the Editor," entitled, as they put it, "Frustrated Mother." I am now baffled but not subdued.

This is, of course, dealing with the bus situation. There is a bus that comes down Shunpike at approximately 8:20 every morning, transporting the students to Gaudineer, Chisholm and St. James Schools.

I take the children to school as the bus is passing me. There is no pick-up on Shunpike. Why? Who knows? My children get the bus. Five bus home, why not going to school?

We live at the Baltusrol Garden apartments on Shunpike road, just before you go over the bridge. The way I look at it, I am spending at least $10 per month for gas, plus the bus fee, which is $13 a month for three children. Total, $23, and they only ride the bus home.

As I said before, what do we go from here?
MRS. GRACE M. TREASONE
300 Shunpike rd.

P.S.: This is also not tax deductible. Wow!

STRONG EXCEPTION

I would like to take strong exception to the editorial written in last week's Springfield Leader. As a resident of Springfield, I believe that you do not speak for me or for the people of Springfield. To use the word "we," implies that you do.

You stated in your editorial that "we certainly do not want them here," meaning the Mountaineer children at Jonathan Dayton. I, for one, would welcome the Mountaineer children at the Dayton school, if we had the room to expand here.

I feel that prejudice of any kind is only caused by ignorance. If Mountaineer children came here, they would get to know us and find we are really basically the same as they. Hence, there would no longer be any objections.

Is not one of the basic teachings of elementary social studies that knowing a country and its people creates a better understanding of them? This understanding achieved, all may live in better harmony. I think this is a lesson we should all recall and remember.
MRS. BERNARD RUFF
105 Fieldstone dr.

LETTER FROM LEAGUE

The Springfield League of Women Voters continues to oppose strongly the proposed referendum for the expansion of the Regional High School to be voted upon on March 19.

Any thinking individual should know that the League would support a school referendum if it could. The fact that the Springfield League of Women Voters opposes this particular referendum should indicate to the public that this matter should be studied very closely.

Contrary to the proponents for the referendum who accuse League of being anti-education, League stands in the forefront of support for quality public education. Anything other than equal opportunity for education in the entire regional district is inopportune.

We oppose this referendum not because we do not wish a referendum for expansion and redevelopment of the regional system, but because we believe this to be a poor referendum. We look forward to the immediate future when we can actively support a plan for the children of the entire district, whose total education is our concern.

MRS. HARRY EINSTEIN
President, Springfield League of Women Voters

'SHOCKING ATTITUDE'

Nothing can excuse the shocking attitude exhibited towards many of the Springfield residents who spoke in opposition to the $4 million building referendum at the public hearing held by the Regional Board of Education last Thursday night.

Those who spoke had every right to receive a respectful audience, regardless of their position.

The issues raised over the new building proposal are serious, and the voters of Springfield deserve answers to them before committing themselves to heavy new tax expenditures. The "this or nothing" attitude of the board jeopardizes the basis of the regional system and the inter-community unity and harmony which are fundamental to the future of the district.

I believe the building referendum should be rejected and a fresh approach made to meet the long-term needs of the district on a basis which invites the confidence and trust of all the people -- and not their suspicions. The Regional Board of Education will find broad support in the interests of education from among all the people for such a program.

JOHN P. HALL JR.

HOPE FOR FUTURE

Two weeks ago, I had the pleasure of spending an hour with eight students from the Gaudineer School at the Springfield Public Library. We met for the first time because of a mutual interest in literature. We discussed the American Negro as he is depicted in the poetry of Langston Hughes and other Negro poets.

All of the young people in the group were white. They displayed much sensitivity to the needs of the Negro. They are deeply concerned about the racial problem in this country. There is hope for improved relations between black and white Americans if the views of these young people reflect the attitudes of their generation.

POLLUTANTS MAY REALLY 'RAIN' DOWN IN CITIES

EVER NOTICE how your car sometimes looks dirtier after it rains? That's because rain carries dust and dirt particles when it falls, a University of Michigan meteorologist explains. He foresees "a real danger if we continue to pour industrial wastes into the atmosphere. Although we haven't had any rain here, such as those that fell during the Dist Bowl in the 1950's, our rainfall in industrial areas is definitely getting dirtier."

He says: "THOUSANDS of people are awakened every night by a harsh, rhythmic noise resembling the sound of walnuts being crushed. They are the parents, wives, husbands or roommates of nocturnal teeth-grinders. More than one out of 20 adults and three out of 20 children grind their teeth during sleep, say University of Chicago researchers.

LIMESTONE-LIKE deposits in water pipes that can slowly choke off a city's water supply can be prevented by treating the water with carbon dioxide, reports Cardox, Chicago. Many municipalities soften their water with lime and in the process saturate it with calcium carbonate which precipitates out and clogs pipes with layers of lime. Cardox says adding carbon dioxide to the water changes lime and some carbonates to soluble bicarbonates, preventing excessive encrustation in pipes. At the same time, the gas adjusts the alkalinity of the water downward to a slightly alkaline condition.

NOT ALL HITCHHIKERS ride in cars, some ride on beetles. A peculiar kind of "hitchhiker" is the phoretic mite. It likes to ride on carrion beetles. Some of these mites are ambulatory and can move around on the beetle's body. Others attach themselves to the beetle's body with a quick-hardening substance they secrete and still others attach themselves by suckers.

SCIENCE-FICTION WRITERS, poets and playwrights prepare society for the changes that science brings about, reports a nuclear physicist at the University of Texas. As an example, he cites H. G. Wells. In 1914 Wells predicted "with amazing accuracy" the Atomic Age, the United Nations, the nonproliferation treaty and other developments that were far in the future.

MAN does not live by bread alone -- but if he did, says a University of Wisconsin scientist, his daily water bill would be for more than 300 gallons.

PROFILE -- Co. James R. Root

By BEA SMITH
In order to get into the Defense Contract Administration District building on Route 22 in Springfield, a Federal defense supply agency, one must sign a visitor's book (name, where from, person-one-is-visiting, time of visit... and later, time of departure). Then one is issued a complicated-looking pass and must wait in a lobby area until summoned.

All this took place last week when a local newspaper reporter called on Col. James R. Root of Mountaineer, commander of the local office of the Defense Contract Administration Services, for a profile interview.

After a brief interval of waiting and watching important-looking people signing in and out, picking up and returning passes, the reporter was greeted by a handsome, friendly, smiling officer and escorted into his expansive office.

As Col. Root sat behind an enormous desk, around which were books, maps and file cabinets, he proceeded to explain that he has been commander of the Newark branch office, located in Springfield, since July of last year.

"We have all the defense contracts the counties of Sussex, Warren, Passaic, Bergen, Morris, Essex, Hunterdon, Union, Somerset, Richmond, Hudson, Middlesex and Monmouth."

"WE ARE CONSIDERED as one face to industry instead of a multiple of people from various services," said Col. Root. The organization was formed in 1965.

Col. Root, who works "about 60 hours a week," explained that he has "three other offices -- the ITT, Curtis Wright and Bendix Corp. They are subordinate to these headquarters. I have 20 of the largest contractors. And that's 20 out of 1,000," he smiled.

The products contracted for by Root include aluminum, electronic equipment, electronic supplies, research and development materials, missile guidance equipment, pharmaceuticals, electrical motors, specialized clothing and textiles, radar and associated equipment, military overcoats, electronic tubes, propellants and ammunition, rubber products and pump compressors.

"New Jersey," said Col. Root, "is 46th in size and seventh in manufacturing. Over New Jersey's highways flows the world's greatest concentration of traffic. There are more than 200,000 (000) interstate crossings each year."

Col. Root said that "here at DCAS -- we live in a world of alphabets -- we employ 1,038 people with an annual payroll in excess of nine million dollars. And the total value of contracts runs about 2.6 billion dollars."

COL. ROOT then proceeded to take the reporter (pass in hand) on a brief tour of the central building. He explained that the central headquarters had moved from Newark several years ago.

We walked up and down corridors, past private, partitioned-off offices and a large round central room with lots of typewriters, desks, men and women, past the infirmary, special switchboard room, and the snack room (operated by blind people).

"As you can see," Col. Root said, "we are quite self-sufficient." It was an impressive tour.

Col. Root, who was born in 1917 in Pittsburgh, Pa., received his commission as an ordnance officer, U.S. Army, at Aberdeen, Md., on Sept. 5, 1942.

He transferred from ordnance to the Air Corps in 1943.

During his USAF career, he served as an ordnance officer, executive officer, director of supply and services, and wing and division material officer. Col. Root is a graduate of ordnance training at Aberdeen, Md.; Air Tactical School at Tyndall, AFB, Florida; Air Command and Staff College and Air War College at Maxwell AFB, Ala.

Col. Root served overseas -- in England, France, Belgium and Germany. He was awarded the Bronze Star and the European African Middle East Medal, with six battle stars.

The colonel is married to the former Beatrice Barth of Pittsburgh, and they have three children: Barry, who is at the University of Texas in a Navy ROTC program; Cheryl, a senior at Governor Livingston High School in Berkeley Heights, and John, who is a freshman at the high school.

Col. Root explained that prior to coming on live at 1075 Charles St. in Mountaineer, he and his family lived in San Antonio, Tex.

Everyone seems to have adjusted to the change, as far as the colonel is concerned.

CHILD GUIDANCE
"Guiding Your Child from 2 to 5," by Molly Mason Jones. This authoritative book, written by an eminent educator and child psychologist, contains specific information that parents can apply to preschool behavior and attitudes. Dr. Jones' advice is comprehensive and concrete enough to put into practice and, although the book is designed primarily to deal with young children, the underlying concepts will make it useful for the years of adolescence and young adulthood.

JUVENILE
"A Long Vacation," by Jules Verne. This remarkable story by the great 19th-century writer, is now available in English for the first time. School boys, starting on a summer cruise, soon find themselves alone and adrift in stormy seas. The suspense mounts, and their adventures make thrilling reading right up to the surprising denouement.

"Millweeds" by Millicent E. Selsam. A lovely book, designed for the beginner in science. Excellent photographs, some in full color, are skillfully coordinated with this story of the milkweed plant. It is sure to be attractive to young children and to encourage them to explore the familiar world around them.

"Bad Boy, Good Boy," by Marie Hall Ede. A picture book with a heart-warming story. Little Roberto, too young to go to school, too lively to stay in the house and lonely because he could speak only Spanish. The author gives an engaging account of the solution to Roberto's problems and what they meant to his whole family.

THE ARTS
"William Morris as Designer," by Ray Watkinson. This stimulating survey will be of interest to both student and professional designers, and to anyone who wishes to improve his acquaintance with the most important single figure in the field of 20th-century design. There are 31 illustrations of Morris' work, many of them in color, and ranging from the new type faces of the famous Kelmscott Press to his designs for fabrics and stained glass.

"Berold Brecht," by Frederic Ewen. Subtitled, "His Life, His Art and His Times," this book is a definitive study of a complex personality. It is based on original research into unpublished materials in the Brecht annals, and it also won both of the big awards during its first season, the Pulitzer Prize and the N.Y. Drama Critics' Circle Award.

Ronald J. Piker, who directed the Dayton Production of "Anything Goes" last year, is working with the following cast members: John Vasselli as "Finch," Robert Halpern as "J.E. Biggley," Gail Maloratsky as "Rosemary," Karen Gutlieb as "Smitty" and Joyce Weinstein as "Miss Jones." Other cast members include Theodore O'Connell, Mike Greenhouse, Robert Gasner, Howard Moskowitz, Mark Schaffer, Stanley Katz, Harry Gwirtzman, Jane Lasky, Toni Klemm, Kathy Klobar, Paul Fisher, Mike Derashowitz, Neil Neubarth and Ralph Weinstein.

Chorus (office staff) members are: Robert Garner, Janice Hargrove, Debby Sobin, Joan Gurlan, Rand Levine, Wendy Merkin, Sue Anderson, Aimee Kaplan, Cynthia James.

COMMITTEE AND cast members are canvassing the Springfield area for advertisements to be included in the program. Piker announced that the program campaign will be concluded two weeks before the musical opens. He urged that all businessmen who desire to make this musical a financial success should get in touch with John Swedish, director of public relations, or any cast member for further information on program "ads." Tickets for the show will go on sale next week and will also be available at the door at $2.00 for adults and $1.50 for students.

Springfield Public Library reports on newest books for local readers

By EVA P. BROWN
The Springfield Public Library offers the following titles from the list of new books now ready for circulation:

MODEL CAR RACING
"Model Road Racing Handbook," by Robert Schlichter. Any model racing-car fan will want to read this book. It covers all phases of the hobby, from building, tuning and racing to landscaping a home track. Beginner or expert will appreciate the many photographs, the step-by-step instructions for routing custom tracks and the suggestions for expanding racing sets into complete circuits.

FROM BATTENBERG TO MOUNTBATTEN
"From Battenberg to Mountbatten," by F. H. Cookridge. The history of the Battenberg family must also be, in part, a history of modern Europe. The author does not eulogize them but presents them with all their flaws and vitality, showing how by good fortune, great talents and tenacious self-assertion they have achieved a privilege and control in the inner corridors of power that has no parallel in modern times.

WILLIAM MORRIS AS DESIGNER
"William Morris as Designer," by Ray Watkinson. This stimulating survey will be of interest to both student and professional designers, and to anyone who wishes to improve his acquaintance with the most important single figure in the field of 20th-century design. There are 31 illustrations of Morris' work, many of them in color, and ranging from the new type faces of the famous Kelmscott Press to his designs for fabrics and stained glass.

BEROLD BRECHT
"Berold Brecht," by Frederic Ewen. Subtitled, "His Life, His Art and His Times," this book is a definitive study of a complex personality. It is based on original research into unpublished materials in the Brecht archives in East Berlin and examines his major works in detail, works which go on baffling, amusing and entralling audiences the world over.

GUIDING YOUR CHILD FROM 2 TO 5
"Guiding Your Child from 2 to 5," by Molly Mason Jones. This authoritative book, written by an eminent educator and child psychologist, contains specific information that parents can apply to preschool behavior and attitudes. Dr. Jones' advice is comprehensive and concrete enough to put into practice and, although the book is designed primarily to deal with young children, the underlying concepts will make it useful for the years of adolescence and young adulthood.

A LONG VACATION
"A Long Vacation," by Jules Verne. This remarkable story by the great 19th-century writer, is now available in English for the first time. School boys, starting on a summer cruise, soon find themselves alone and adrift in stormy seas. The suspense mounts, and their adventures make thrilling reading right up to the surprising denouement.

MILLWEEDS
"Millweeds" by Millicent E. Selsam. A lovely book, designed for the beginner in science. Excellent photographs, some in full color, are skillfully coordinated with this story of the milkweed plant. It is sure to be attractive to young children and to encourage them to explore the familiar world around them.

BAD BOY, GOOD BOY
"Bad Boy, Good Boy," by Marie Hall Ede. A picture book with a heart-warming story. Little Roberto, too young to go to school, too lively to stay in the house and lonely because he could speak only Spanish. The author gives an engaging account of the solution to Roberto's problems and what they meant to his whole family.

Students at Dayton Regional hold rehearsals for musical

"How To Succeed In Business Without Really Trying," one of the biggest musical comedy hits of theatrical history, is undergoing intensive rehearsals at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School for presentation at 8:15 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, April 5 and 6. The comedy played for three and a half years in New York, from the fall of 1961 to the spring of 1965, to become the fifth longest-running musical in American stage history, and it also won both of the big awards during its first season, the Pulitzer Prize and the N.Y. Drama Critics' Circle Award.

Ronald J. Piker, who directed the Dayton Production of "Anything Goes" last year, is working with the following cast members: John Vasselli as "Finch," Robert Halpern as "J.E. Biggley," Gail Maloratsky as "Rosemary," Karen Gutlieb as "Smitty" and Joyce Weinstein as "Miss Jones." Other cast members include Theodore O'Connell, Mike Greenhouse, Robert Gasner, Howard Moskowitz, Mark Schaffer, Stanley Katz, Harry Gwirtzman, Jane Lasky, Toni Klemm, Kathy Klobar, Paul Fisher, Mike Derashowitz, Neil Neubarth and Ralph Weinstein.

Chorus (office staff) members are: Robert Garner, Janice Hargrove, Debby Sobin, Joan Gurlan, Rand Levine, Wendy Merkin, Sue Anderson, Aimee Kaplan, Cynthia James.

COMMITTEE AND cast members are canvassing the Springfield area for advertisements to be included in the program. Piker announced that the program campaign will be concluded two weeks before the musical opens. He urged that all businessmen who desire to make this musical a financial success should get in touch with John Swedish, director of public relations, or any cast member for further information on program "ads." Tickets for the show will go on sale next week and will also be available at the door at $2.00 for adults and $1.50 for students.

Plans will also be made at this meeting for mounting the coffee shoppe each evening at the antiques show, to be held at the church on March 20, 27 and 28.

Mrs. Bruno G. Becker, chairman, will preside at the business meeting.

Editorial Comment

Decision on Tuesday: What can we achieve?

An unfortunate development, as the Regional High School Board of Education prepares to submit its capital expansion bond issue to the voters on Tuesday, has been the injection of personalities and personal antagonisms into the discussion.

This newspaper has previously expressed its strong support of the bond issue. Conditions at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield are presently far from ideal. Should the bond issue fail, our young people will be the ones to suffer here before remedies can be provided.

Having said this, we can certainly acknowledge that there are merits to both sides of the debate. Deterioration of the physical plant at Dayton has developed gradually over many years when the regional board, perhaps of necessity, concentrated on construction of new facilities elsewhere in the rapidly-growing district.

The contrast between the well-worn facilities and furnishings at Dayton and the shiny new equipment at the other schools led to a growing suspicion that Dayton was the least-favored school -- in areas more important than the physical plant.

The disclosure that the League of Women Voters had embarked on a detailed study of the operations and achievements of the regional system was welcome indeed. This is the sort of work for which the LWV was designed, and the results of the study were anticipated with serious interest, at least in this quarter.

At the same time, anticipation of this sort does not entail a commitment to agree. While appreciating the background information provided, citizens should have the freedom to draw their own conclusions, even if they do not coincide with those suggested by the League.

We must all realize that those who are not 100 percent for us are not necessarily against us. The cloud of resentment which at times floated over the public meeting held at Dayton last week to discuss the bond proposal -- a bitterness generated by both opponents and proponents of the referendum -- at times tended to obscure the basic question.

From this point of view, the question to be answered is: What is the best educational facility we can provide for our young people?

Knowing what is the perfect method advocated by all the nation's learned educators is helpful; it may not be attainable in Springfield, much less in the Regional High School District. The choice before the voters of Springfield, and the other five communities of the district, is not between good and bad, or between virtue and sin. It is between what we have now and what we can achieve.

We feel that the best choice can be made by making the best of a fairly acceptable bargain. We hope, even more strongly, that the choice whatever it is, will be made without a bitterness which will harm our community.

Letters to Editor

Letters to the editor must be submitted no later than Monday of the week they are to appear. They should not exceed 250 words in length and should be typed with double spacing (not all in capital letters, please). All letters must be signed. Writer's name will not be withheld if the letter is of a political nature. This newspaper reserves the right to edit or reject any letter.

"DEDICATED SERVICE"
I have enjoyed the privilege of being an active member of the League of Women Voters of Springfield for more than 10 years.

Since the day the Springfield League was born until this day, we have actively supported every referendum for school expansion. Our support was not that of an ineffectual group of "goodies" grasping blindly at whatever was offered. Endorsement came only after each question program was intensively evaluated. During this period, government officials, boards of education, other organizations and individuals have publicly commended the League for its constant dedicated service to the citizens of our community.

Now, for the first time in our history, we find ourselves in disagreement with parts of a referendum. It is shocking to find many of these same groups and individuals suddenly implying that we have become, overnight, a group of crackpots, lacking integrity and with devious motives, who spread misinformation.

As always in the past, the League still respects the honest opinions of those who differ with our position. Personally, I find contemptible anyone who stoops to attack the integrity, honesty and intelligence of the League or any of its members. No one is forced to heed the voice of a "vocal minority." But all of us must heed the silent, eloquent majority at the polls.

MRS. SYDNEY L. MILLER

"FROM 'BAFFLED MOTHER'"
Some months back I wrote a letter to "Letters to the Editor," entitled, as they put it, "Baffled Mother." I am now baffled but not bothered.

This is, of course, dealing with the bus situation. There is a bus that comes down Shunpike at approximately 8:20 every morning, transporting the students to Gaudineer, Chisholm and St. James Schools.

I take the children to school as the bus is passing me. There is no pick-up or Shunpike. Why? Who knows? My children get the No. Five bus home; why not going to school?

We live at the Baltusrol Garden apartments at Shunpike road, just before you go over the bridge.

The way I look at it, I am spending at least $10 per month for gas, plus the bus fee, which is $13 a month for three children. Total: $23, but they only ride the bus home. At "I said before, where do we go from here?"

MRS. GRACE M. TREASONE
900 Shunpike rd.
P.S. This is also not tax deductible. Wow!

"STRONG EXCEPTION"
I would like to take strong exception to the editorial written in last week's Springfield Leader. As a resident of Springfield, I believe that you do not speak for me or for the people of Springfield. To use the word "we," implies that you do.

You stated in your editorial that "we certainly do not want them here," meaning the Mountaineer children at Jonathan Dayton. I, for one, would welcome the Mountaineer children at the Dayton school, if we had the room to expand here.

I feel that prejudice of any kind is only caused by ignorance. If Mountaineer children came here, they would get to know of and find we are really basically the same as they. Hence, there would no longer be any objections.

Is not one of the basic teachings of elementary social studies that knowing a country and its people creates a better understanding of them? This understanding achieved, all may live in better harmony. I think this is a lesson we should all recall and remember.

MRS. BERNARD RUFFY

LETTER FROM LEAGUE
The Springfield League of Women Voters continues to oppose strongly the proposed referendum for the expansion of the Regional High School to be voted upon on March 19. Any thinking individual should know that the League would support a school referendum if it could. The fact that the Springfield League of Women Voters opposes this particular referendum should indicate to the public that this matter should be studied very closely.

Contrary to the proponents for the referendum who accuse League of being anti-education, League stands in the forefront of support for quality public education. Anything other than equal opportunity for education in the entire regional district is inappreciable. We oppose this referendum not because we do not wish a referendum for expansion and redevelopment of the regional system, but because we believe this to be a poor referendum. We look forward to the immediate future when we can actively support a plan for the children of the entire district, whose total education is our concern.

MRS. HARRY EINSTEIN
President, Springfield League of Women Voters

"SHOCKING ATTITUDE"
Nothing can excuse the shocking attitude exhibited towards many of the Springfield residents who spoke in opposition to the $4 million building referendum at the public hearing held by the Regional Board of Education last Thursday night.

Those who spoke had every right to receive a respectful audience, regardless of their position. The issues raised over the new building proposal are serious, and the voters of Springfield deserve answers to them before committing themselves to heavy new tax expenditures. The "this or nothing" attitude of the board jeopardizes the basis of the regional system and the inter-community unity and harmony which are fundamental to the future of the district.

I believe the building referendum should be rejected and a fresh approach made to meet the long-term needs of the district on a basis which invites the confidence and trust of all the people -- and not their suspicions. The Regional Board of Education will find broad support in the interests of education from among all the people for such a program.

HOPE FOR FUTURE
Two weeks ago, I had the pleasure of spending an hour with eight students from the Gaudineer School at the Springfield Public Library. We met for the first time because of a mutual interest in literature. We discussed the American Negro as he is depicted in the poetry of Langston Hughes and other Negro poets.

All of the young people in the group were white. They displayed much sensitivity to the needs of the Negro. They are deeply concerned about the racial problem in this country. There is hope for improved relations between black and white Americans if the views of these young people reflect the attitudes of their generation.

POLLUTANTS MAY REALLY "RAIN" DOWN IN CITIES
EVER NOTICE how your car sometimes looks dirtier after it rains? That's because rain carries dust and dirt particles when it falls, a University of Michigan meteorologist explains. He foresees a real danger if we continue to pour industrial wastes into the atmosphere.

Although we haven't had any more dust rains, such as those that fell over the East Coast in the 1930's, our rainfall in industrial areas is definitely getting dirtier, he says.

THOUSANDS of people are awakened every night by a harsh, rhythmic noise resembling the sound of walnuts being crushed. They are the parents, wives, husbands or roommates of nocturnal teeth-grinders. More than one out of 10 adults and three out of 20 children grind their teeth during sleep, says University of Chicago researchers.

LIMESTONE-LIKE deposits in water pipes that can slowly choke off a city's water supply can be prevented by treating the water with carbon dioxide, reports Caradex, Chicago. Many municipalities soften their water with lime and in the process saturate it with calcium carbonate which precipitates out and coats pipes with layers of lime. Caradex says adding carbon dioxide to the water changes lime and some carbonates to soluble bicarbonates, preventing excessive encrustation in pipes. At the same time, the gas adjusts the alkalinity of the water downward to a slightly alkaline condition.

NOT ALL HITCHHIKERS ride in cars, some ride on beetles. A peculiar kind of "hitchhiker" is the phoretic mite. It likes to ride on carrion beetles. Some of these mites are ambulatory and can move around on the beetle's body with a quick-hardening substance they secrete and still others attach themselves by "suckers."

SCIENCE-FICTION WRITERS, poets and philosophers prepare society for the changes that science brings about, reports a nuclear physicist at the University of Texas. As an example, he cites H. G. Wells. In 1914 Wells predicted "with amazing accuracy" the Atomic Age, the United Nations, the nonproliferation treaty and other developments that were far in the future.

MAN does not live by bread alone -- but if he did, says a University of Wisconsin scientist, his daily water bill would be for more than 300 gallons.

PROFILE -- Co. James R. Root

By BEA SMITH
In order to get into the Defense Contract Administration District building on Route 22 in Springfield, a Federal defense supply agency, one must sign a visitor's book (name, where from, person one is visiting, time of visit -- and later, time of departure). Then one is issued a complicated-looking pass and must wait in a lobby area until summoned.

All this took place last week when a local newspaper reporter called on Col. James R. Root of Mountaineer, commander of the local office of the Defense Contract Administration Services, for a profile interview.

After a brief interval of waiting and watching important-looking people signing in and out, picking up and returning passes, the reporter was greeted by a handsome, friendly, smiling officer and escorted into his expensive office.

As Col. Root sat behind an enormous desk, around which were books, maps and file cabinets, he proceeded to explain that he has been commander of the Newark branch office, located in Springfield, since July of last year.

"We have all the defense contracts the counties of Sussex, Warren, Passaic, Bergen, Morris, Essex, Hunterdon, Union, Somerset, Richmond, Hudson, Middlesex and Monmouth."

"WE ARE CONSIDERED as one face to industry instead of a multiple of people from various services," said Col. Root. The organization was formed in 1965.

Col. Root, who works "about 60 hours a week," explained that he has "three over-views" -- the TIT, Curtis Wright and Bendix Corp. They are subordinate to these headquarters. They have 20 of the largest contractors. And that's 20 out of 1,000," he smiled.

The products contracted for by Root include aluminum, electronic equipment, electronic supplies, research and development materials, missile guidance equipment, pharmaceuticals, electrical motors, specialized clothing and textiles, radar and associated equipment, military overcoats, electronic tubes, propellants and ammunition, rubber products and pump compressors.

"New Jersey," said Col. Root, "is 46th in size and seventh in manufacturing. Over New Jersey's highways flows the world's greatest concentration of traffic. There are more than 200,000,000 (trucks) interstate crossings each year."

Col. Root said that "here at DCASD -- we live in a world of alphabets -- we employ 1,038 people with an annual payroll in excess of nine million dollars. And the total value of contracts runs about 2.6 billion dollars."

Col. Root then proceeded to take the reporter (pass in hand) on a brief tour of the central building. He explained that the central headquarters had moved from Newark several years ago.

We walked up and down corridors, past private, partitioned-off offices and a large round central room with lots of typewriters, desks, men and women, past the infirmary, special

Archives in East Berlin and examines his major works in detail; works which go on building, amusing and entralling audiences the world over.

COL. JAMES R. ROOT

Col. Root, who was born in 1917 in Pittsburgh, Pa., received his commission as an ordnance officer, U.S. Army, at Aberdeen, Md., on Sept. 5, 1942.

He transferred from ordnance to the Air Corps in 1943. During his USAF career, he served as an ordnance officer, executive officer, director of supply and services, and wing and division material officer. Col. Root is a graduate of ordnance training at Aberdeen, Md.; Air Tactical School at Tyndall AFB, Florida; Air Command and Staff College and Air War College at Maxwell AFB, Ala.

Col. Root served overseas in England, France, Belgium and Germany. He was awarded the Bronze Star and the European African Middle East Medal, with six battle stars. The colonel is married to the former Beatrice Barth of Pittsburgh, and they have three children: Barth, who is at the University of Texas in a Navy ROTC program; Charle, a senior at Governor Livingston High School in Berkeley Heights, and John, who is a freshman at the high school.

Col. Root explained that prior to coming to live at 1075 Charles st. in Mountaineer, he and his family lived in San Antonio, Tex. Everyone seems to have adjusted to the change, as far as the colonel is concerned.

In Past Tense

ONE YEAR AGO
Following an hour of rather mild comment from the audience of some 50 citizens, the Township Committee unanimously adopts Springfield's first million-dollar budget for local governmental operations. County Prosecutor LEO KAPLOWITZ announces that he is ending his investigation into actions of Springfield which had led to a 1964 reversal of zoning special exception permit. "I see no criminal intent involved here," he says.

SPRINGFIELD'S MAYOR ARTHUR A. FALKIN is among the likely choices to be named as a candidate for county-wide office, according to LOBBE COLLINS, county GOP chairman. Four Springfield students attending Franklin and Marshall College in Lancaster, Pa., are named to the dean's list.

suburban communities were debated. "It was decided that as long as one known experimenter existed among the local young people, the combined efforts of school and clergy would be devoted to helping parents solve the problem. It was revealed that some of the local experimenters are known to their parents, known to the Committee of Clergy, known to the schools, known to the police and known to their peer group.

The underlying cause was generally identified as unbridled, unregulated freedom. Educators present at the meeting were Anne Romani, assistant principal at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School; Helene Koenig, assistant principal at the Florence Gaudineer School; and Dr. Sandmeter, principal at the Gaudineer School. Sgt. Delco Tompkins, juvenile officer of the local police department, was also present.

Members of the clergy present included: Monsignor Francis X. Coyle, St. James Church; the Rev. James Dewar, Springfield Emmanuel Methodist Church; the Rev. Bruce W. Evans, First Presbyterian Church; the Rev. Edward R. Oehling, St. James Church; and the Rev. Kenneth Stumpf, Holy Cross Lutheran Church.

The next meeting is scheduled for the latter part of April.

Throng on hand to greet opening of Great Eastern

Thousands of shoppers crowded the Great Eastern Discount Center on Springfield avenue, between Morris avenue and Vauxhall road, Union, Monday morning as the store opened for business.

At grand opening ceremonies, Mayor F. Edward Biertuempfel of Union and William Jamieson, president of the Union Chamber of Commerce, welcomed the store to the township. Irving Schneider, vice president of Great Eastern Discount Centers and one of the founders, and Samuel Feldman, sales and promotion director for Diana Stores Corp., parent company of Great Eastern, also spoke briefly. The 175,000 - square foot store, the sixth Great Eastern in metropolitan New York-New Jersey, will be open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sundays.

The grand opening was preceded by a press party preview held in the store Friday night. Among guests attending were Mayor Biertuempfel, Union Township Committeeman Koloman Kiss, Assemblyman Herbert Hellmann of Union, Union Township Treasurer Robert R. Lackey, Frank M. Pitt, president of The First State Bank of Union; Mrs. Trudina Howard, publisher of this newspaper, and Milton Mintz, executive publisher and business manager.

AT THE PREVIEW, Samuel D. May, president of Diana Stores Corp., described the new Great Eastern as "the flagship of the Diana fleet of over 250 stores." He said: "Our faith in the people and business climate of the metropolitan area of New York and New Jersey had more than measured up to our expectations in recent years. This new Great Eastern unit, in the thriving Union area, is the result of overwhelming customer satisfaction and acceptance of Great Eastern's five additional centers in New Jersey and Long Island—patronized by more than one million thrifty shoppers weekly.

"Union, New Jersey, founded in 1664, is rich in natural assets and human resources—bustling with industry, education, business and family living—Union County and its neighboring New Jersey counties have an effective buying income in excess of 12 billion dollars annually—the fourth largest consumer marketing area in the entire United States."

May added: "We believe that progress is made only through cooperative effort and in setting an example of good citizenship in each community we serve—in encouraging capable and efficient government, and assisting in the economic, moral and cultural well-being of these communities and all their people. We, therefore, pledge to rededicate every effort in the fulfillment of these responsibilities in Union."

Diana Stores Corporation is comprised of 218 Women's and Children's Ready-to-Wear Specialty Shops throughout the nation, 24 Millers Discount Department Stores in the south and east, 8 Gift Mart Discount Department Stores in Texas and the midwest, and six Great Eastern Discount Centers in metropolitan New York-New Jersey.

Diana Stores is traded over the New York Stock Exchange and recorded record-breaking sales of $167,000,000 in the year just ending, February, 1968.

Survey for Labor Department cites riot causes

Blame discrimination, police, job lack, living conditions

WASHINGTON—Most of 500 Negro men arrested in last summer's Detroit riot—over 60 percent—blamed the disorder on police actions, discrimination, lack of jobs or poor living conditions.

Nearly 20 percent of those questioned said they didn't know what caused the disturbance and only 29 percent of the prisoners placed the blame on "agitators" or a "conspiracy."

These are major findings of a survey conducted in the wake of the rioting by the Behavior Research Institute of Detroit under a contract with the U.S. Department of Labor.

The study reaffirms the report of the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders that the causes of racial disorders are tied to a "massive tangle" of racial, economic, political and psychological matters.

More than three-quarters of the prisoners questioned—76 percent—expressed the feeling that similar disturbances could be averted through:

Better jobs, housing, living conditions, financial help and education (25.2 percent); more justice, equality and decent treatment (20.9 percent); ending police brutality and unempathetic police attitudes (15.8 percent), and talk, reason and cooperation (14.1 percent).

THE SURVEY SHOWS that the typical person arrested was just over age 30, a Detroit resident for 15 years or more and a blue-collar worker in manufacturing averaging about $120 a week.

While equalling the average wage in manufacturing for the nation as a whole, the $120 was well below the approximate $150 average for the Detroit area last July.

The unemployment rate among the prisoners, however, was 22 percent—about five times higher than for the Detroit metropolitan area as a whole (4.5 percent).

The rate stood at 27 percent for 20 to 24 year olds and 33 percent for teenagers, although some of the jobless teenagers were presumably still attending school.

Of 267 prisoners age 25 or over, 43 were unemployed.

Although the vast majority had jobs at the time of the riot, one out of four prisoners reporting "weeks lost by unemployment" in the past year had lost four months or more.

THE INTERVIEWS SHOWED that about one-third of the prisoners were high school graduates, but only about one in 10 had had a skilled job or one calling for advanced education.

Among those prisoners over 25, nearly 20 percent had not gone beyond the eighth grade. More than half of the men over 25 were married and another 20 percent were either separated, divorced or widowed.

Over 40 percent of the prisoners had two or more children and more than half of those with at least two children earned less than $120 a week.

Asked how Negroes could best go about getting civil rights, 75.2 percent indicated through either nonviolent political action, united action, education or raising self-esteem.

The majority of those interviewed expressed belief that conditions in the last few years had become better for themselves and for Negroes generally in the Detroit area.

The interviewing of prisoners who agreed to participate was done by Negroes at five prison sites about 10 days after the outbreak of the riot.

Bell employees to hold Communion breakfast

Bell Telephone Laboratories employees from all parts of New Jersey and the New York metropolitan area will gather in Morristown May 26 for their 24th annual Communion breakfast.

Mass will be celebrated at 9 a.m. at Our Lady of Mercy Church, 84 Whippany rd., Whippany. The breakfast, which will be served at 10:15 a.m. in the Governor Morris Hotel, 2 Whippany rd., Morristown, is scheduled to conclude at 12:15.

It's long hours, modest pay, but...

Notice to New Jersey graduating college seniors and graduate students: There's a job available which offers long hours, modest pay, and the guarantee that you'll be fired after one year.

Still interested? Then you ought to know about the third annual United States Senate Fellowship, in the office of U.S. Senator Harrison A. Williams Jr. (D-NJ).

The "help wanted" sign is out for New Jersey residents who are currently enrolled as graduating senior or graduate students in any accredited college or university. The winner of this fellowship will serve in Senator Williams' office for one year, working on legislative and administrative problems.

Interested college students will find application forms and other materials in college placement and student affairs offices throughout the State.

Cancer care workshop

A workshop on the care of cancer patients in nursing homes will be held at the Veterans Administration Hospital, East Orange, beginning at 9 a.m., Thursday, March 21.

The one-day course is open to all nursing personnel in Essex, Morris and Union counties. It is being sponsored by the New Jersey Division of the American Cancer Society.

The course is designed to sharpen the skills and increase the understanding of nurses and nursing home personnel in the care of patients with cancer. It includes an in-depth look into cancer, the philosophy of cancer nursing and the adaptation of equipment for treatment.

An opportunity for questions and answers will be provided following each topic presented. Mrs. Ann Temple, R.N., instructor, in-service nursing education, Overlook Hospital, Summit, is serving as chairman of the meeting and will introduce the speakers.

Professor looks to future, sees ESP

Cites research done in psychic phenomena

Extrasensory perception could be as common in the future as a man without a tail is today, according to a Glensboro State College professor.

Dr. Harry Gershenowitz, assistant professor of science, feels that people recognized today as having extrasensory perception could very well be viewed as "missing links" in the future by scientists studying the psychic evolution of man.

The GSC prof, in considering the research being conducted in precognition and other psychic phenomena, claims that ESP has come a long way in recent years.

In the past, Gershenowitz feels, these people were tortured and even put to death for exhibiting such traits. "Today we are examining the occurrences and the evidence indicates we may be on the threshold of a new breed of super-man," he said.

GERSHENOWITZ IS NOT so much concerned with establishing this as fact as he is to exploring the possibility.

"If we're going to talk about evolution, there is more than just physical evolution to consider," Gershenowitz said.

Gershenowitz thinks that evolution of man's psyche is just one of the aspects of evolution that has been ignored.

Cybernetics once held a quite remote relationship to evolution, but with the impending medical breakthroughs in the use of artificial parts to replace defective human organs, Gershenowitz feels another evolutionary development of man may be just around the corner.

"Replacing defective human organs is one thing, but what happens when man decides to replace a good organ with a mechanical one because it is more efficient?" Gershenowitz feels developments of this kind could lead to an entirely new breed of man.

Other questions that Gershenowitz feels should be explored include consideration of the animistic behavior of man as a product of culture or of genetics. If it is a genetic factor of evolution, the implications of continued wars must be considered, Gershenowitz said.

Gershenowitz's concern about these many aspects of evolution grew from his analysis of some 36 college text books in biology in which he noted an absence of many ideas and theories about evolution.

"IT'S ALMOST AS if we stopped considering any new aspects of evolution in 1945," he said.

To help fill the information gap Gershenowitz has arranged for a symposium to explore the "How's, Why's and Methods of Evolution" at Glensboro State College on March 23.

Gershenowitz feels students must be exposed to several points of view on the subject if they are to receive a liberal education. But students aren't the only ones apparently who are interested in the subject.

Since the symposium topic was announced in a letter, more than 200 teachers, librarians and religious leaders from Pennsylvania, Delaware and New Jersey as well as New Jersey have indicated they would attend the Saturday morning discussion.

Psyche evolution is just one of the areas to be touched upon. Dr. Thomas Rillo, professor of outdoor education, will attempt to fill in some of the gaps left by the traditional geological approach by applying the findings in environmental studies.

Dr. Aaron Bender, professor of social studies, will bring the historian's point of view to bear upon the discussion, while Roger J. Raimist, assistant professor of science, will discuss evolution from a traditional Darwinian viewpoint.

Dr. V. Eugene Vivian, GSC professor of science who was recently named national outdoor educator of the year, will give the keynote address.

Your Garden This Week

By Your Rutgers Garden Reporter

Any day now that first brave (or foolish) robin will take a couple of dizzying turns overhead, then cut his power and skid to a bumpy landing on the still-frozen patch of weeds and grass in the backyard.

Or maybe he'll land in mud or slush. Cold feet and all he'll be a reminder that the gardening season is closer than we think. But there's no need to depend on any weather-worn small poultry for tidings of spring.

A lot more reliable are two other big events on the gardening calendar. The first is the International Flower Show, going right now in the Coliseum, New York, and blowing up a big whiff of spring.

A Rutgers-Cornell team is waiting to answer your questions on gardening at the main floor information booth.

THE SECOND EVENT, a little closer to home, is the New Jersey Flower & Garden Show, March 22-28.

This is a sort of everyman's event, pitched toward the guy with lime under his fingernails and looking for ways to make his yard at least the equal of his neighbors'. Our own New Jersey show will be held in the Morristown Armory, and it's not intended to compete with the many splendored grandeur of the New York Show. Rather, it's pitched at the owner of the ranch or split-level who's looking for hunches. That's why the show theme is "Great Ideas for Outdoor Living."

Again, there'll be an information booth, this time manned by all Rutgers specialists and New Jersey county agents. They will specialize in insect and plant health information.

Consumer prices rise in January

WASHINGTON — Both consumer and wholesale prices indicated for February, the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics has reported.

The Consumer Price Index rose 0.3 percent for the fourth month in a row and stood at 118.6, or 3.4 percent higher than a year ago.

Costs of most consumer goods and services were higher in January, notably food, gasoline, medical care, services, and postage.

The Wholesale Price Index increased 0.4 percent to 107.2, or 0.9 percent above Jan. 1967. Industrial commodities advanced at an accelerated rate compared to the previous three months. Processed foods and feeds rose 0.8 percent and farm products rose 0.1 percent.

Preliminary data points to a 0.6 percent rise in the February Wholesale Price Index. More than half of the total increase was accounted for by a sharp rise in farm products (2.0 percent) and a moderate increase for processed foods and feeds (0.6 percent), resulting largely from price boosts for livestock, meats, poultry, eggs, fresh fruits, and fats and oils.

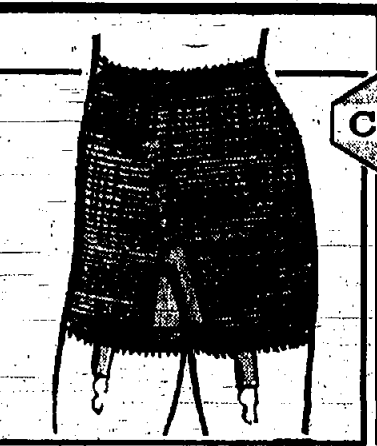

Higher prices for fresh vegetables accounted for over three-fourths of the retail increase, and were largely the result of short crops caused by unfavorable weather conditions and reduced acreage.

Both beef and pork prices continued to rise slightly. Poultry prices rose 1.0 percent and dairy products advanced 0.3 percent. Egg prices were down seasonally in January, represented the only significant decline in retail food prices.

Gasoline and motor oil prices registered a 1.1 percent increase for the month at retail as price wars subsided in several areas of the country.

New car prices rose 0.4 percent at retail seasonally adjusted and 0.5 percent at wholesale. Used car prices increased 3.7 percent seasonally adjusted, in response to strengthened demand, particularly for older models.

Both wholesale and retail prices of appliances and furniture continued to edge up.

B'way musical program at NSC

A program of music and dialogue tracing great moments in musical comedy will be presented by popular demand in the Little Theater of Newark State College, Union, at 7 p.m. Tuesday by J. Launce Lowenstein of Deal, a member of the English Department faculty. Entitled "The World of Musical Comedy," it will be similar to a program presented by Lowenstein at the college last year, which drew an overflow audience to the auditorium.

Lowenstein, who is also director of the Community Theater of Deal, will be assisted by actress and soprano Miss Toby Dale of Deal as she sings and discusses 25 shows. As a faculty director for the Newark State College Theater Guild he has directed "Billy Liar," "The Fantastiks," "Career," "The Glass Menagerie" and two original one-act musicals. Another original musical, "Draft Dodger" will be performed at Newark State in May. Lowenstein studied acting under Uta Hagen at the Herbert Berghof studio in New York City and has been employed as an actor's agent with the Kenneth Later Agency in New York City, where his clients included Alfred Drake, George Jessel and Joan Roberts. He organized the semi-professional community Theater of Deal, which recently produced "Sound of Music" and "Music Man." Formerly a faculty member at Pennsylvania State University, he organized the first dramatic club on one of its campuses. He holds a B.A. degree in English from Monmouth College and an M.A. degree in literature from New York University.

Miss Dale appeared in the Broadway musical "Fanny" and has appeared on the Arthur Godfrey talent scout program. She has been a soloist at Radio City Music Hall and last summer played the lead in "Most Happy Fella" at Trenton's Theater in the Park. The event is sponsored by the College Center Board.

Named UC instructor

The appointment of Richard Kuhn of New York City to Union College's fulltime faculty as a psychology instructor was announced by Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, acting president. Kuhn also will serve as a part-time counselor under Anatole K. Colbert, director of counseling, and as audio-visual aids coordinator.

Pistol, rifle range opening Saturday

The rifle and pistol ranges, operated by the Union County-Park Commission, will open for the season at 1 p.m. on Saturday, weather permitting. The ranges are located in Lenape Park, off Kenilworth-Boulevard, Cranford.

The rifle range was first opened on Nov. 10, 1929, and in the spring of 1930 the pistol range was opened. The rifle range, with shooting permitted only from the prone position, through ports, can accommodate 20 shooters on the 50-yard range and ten shooters on the 100-yard range. Only .22 calibre single shot rifles are permitted. The Union County Rifle League shoots at this range Monday through Thursday evenings from the beginning of May to the end of September.

The pistol range has been the center of activity for the Union County Police Pistol League and the Union County Civilian Pistol League. Ten ports can be used at any one time. A 15-yard and a 25-yard range make up this facility.

In 1959, a sound resistant shelter building was completed to minimize the noise at the pistol ranges. In 1967, over 4,600 shooters utilized this facility.

Both ranges will be open on Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays from 1 to 5 p.m., and beginning in May the ranges will be open from Monday through Friday evenings, from 5:30 p.m. to dark. The fee is 75 cents per shooter and an additional 10-cent fee for each additional target.

Scion of a musical heritage Bork to lead spring concert

When the downbeat is given for the opening number of the spring concert of the Union County Symphony Orchestra next Thursday evening at Abraham Clark High School in Roselle, the man wielding the baton will do so with more than a little measure of authority. He is Casimir V. Bork of Westfield - "Casey" to friends and associates - member of a distinguished musical family and veteran of more than 30 years as performer, conductor, teacher and arranger.

One of a family of six talented children, Bork received his first musical training at the side of his father, Virgil W. Bork, bandmaster and teacher. "Pop" Bork, though now retired, is well-known to the musical fraternity of this region as founder of the Union County Band and Orchestra Summer School, which gained national recognition among educators as the first of its kind in the country. Casimir Bork over the years has acquired an impressive set of credits. He early showed a strong leaning toward music in the modern idiom and soon gained a reputation as a highly competent jazz trumpeter, having played for a time as a sideman with the band of the jazz immortal Bunny Berigan.

During World War II Bork served in the Air Force, where as a member of the Air Force Cader Band and the 8th Corps Show Band, he participated in a series of promotional radio shows produced by the Air Force.

For a number of years after the war, he was associated with the Frankie Carle Orchestra, featured on records, network radio shows, movies and TV. Most of this period was spent in Hollywood, where he also played with the Lee Castle Orchestra and in addition did commercial recordings, transcriptions, and movie sound track work as a free-lance artist. Back east in the early 50's, Bork worked for the Richard Himber Band on the stage of the Capitol Theater in New York, with Raymond Paige at Radio City Music Hall, and with others as trumpeter, writer and arranger.

Obtaining his MA from Columbia in 1954, Bork took over directorship of the Union County Band and Orchestra Summer School, and later of the Eastern Conservatory of Music and Arts, while also serving as director of instrumental music in the Roselle Public Schools.

Eight years ago, when the Union County Symphony Orchestra was born, Bork served as co-chairman of the symphony committee within the local musician's union, and was one of its first conductors.

The coming concert of the symphony, which Bork will conduct, will mark its second appearance in Roselle. The Parents Music Organization of the High School will sponsor the event, and extends an invitation to the public to attend. No admission is charged.

'Health' talk set Tuesday

Dr. Robert Sorgle, director of Figure Tone Studios, who is known as "Mr. Miami" and "Mr. North America," will speak on "Health, Physical Fitness and Mental Attitude," at a regular meeting of the Connecticut Farms Business and Professional Women's Club of Union, Tuesday at the Town and Campus Restaurant, Union.

The March executive board meeting of the club was held in Elizabeth recently. Mrs. Ellnor Moser announced the names of the members of the auditing committee. They are Miss Grace Forke, Miss Anne Asmus and Mrs. Louise Montagna.

Plans were formulated for a delegation to attend the next state board meeting in Fair Hills in Somerset.

The Girls' Athletic awards dinner will be held in May, it was announced. Mrs. Esther Egbert, chairman, appointed her committee, which includes Mrs. Josephine Sines, Mrs. Joseph Kopecky, Mrs. Evelyn McGill, Miss Anne Asmus, Mrs. Frances Amend and Mrs. Lillian Lodge. The affair will be held in the Alban Room at the Town and Campus Restaurant in Union.

Group to sponsor April theater party

A Broadway theater party, which will include a matinee attendance for "The Happy Time," starring Robert Goulet, and a luncheon at Stampler's Restaurant, will be sponsored Wednesday, April 3 by the Ruth Estrin Goldberg Memorial for Cancer Research.

Reservations for the afternoon may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Haskell Jacobs or Mrs. Milton Katcherby of Cranford.

Transportation will be provided by the organization.

Junior Hostesses to conduct dance

The Young Women's Christian Association (YWCA) Junior Hostess Club of Elizabeth will conduct a Shamrock Fantasy, Saturday at the Association Building - 1131 East Jersey st.

Music will be provided by disc jockey Toby Clark. Reservations will be served.

Dance for singles every Wednesday

An invitation has been extended to singles, divorced, and widowed to join the festivities with the Single Adults Club at City's Cocktail Lounge every Wednesday evening at 8:30 on Route 22 - Springfield (Echo Plaza).

A live orchestra will play for dancing, and cocktails and hors d'oeuvres will be sold. Further information may be obtained by calling Bob Laskowitz at MU 8-7983 or Marlon Sievers at MU 6-8159.

Contest in India

Under the Indian Ministry of Education's scheme for the production of reading material for new literates, competitions are held every year and about 40 prizes for the best books or manuscripts are awarded. A total of 1,500 copies of the prize-winning works are purchased and distributed free to the state governments.

Mineral Club to hear speaker

The March meeting of the Trailside Mineral Club will be held in the auditorium of the Union County Park Commission's Trailside Nature and Science Center, in the Watchung Reservation, today at 8:15 p.m.

The speaker for the evening will be Mrs. Luvoe Draghevska, curator of Science for the Paterson Museum. Her topic will be "The Origin and Geological Background of the Minerals of the Paterson Area." Mrs. Draghevska, who holds a masters degree in geology from Columbia University, is in charge of the geological and mineralogical collections of the Paterson Museum. Her talk will be illustrated with color slides of geological formations and minerals and several samples of Paterson minerals will be exhibited. The public is invited to attend this meeting.

Agency conducting membership drive

The Jewish Family Service Agency of Eastern Union County, Green Lane, Union, is conducting its annual membership drive under the chairmanship of Hedy M. Fischbein.

Serving on the committee with him are Robert Berenson, Mrs. Harry K. Coplan, Mrs. Miriam Karch, George Rosenberg and Robert Yoplin.

The agency offers professional help in marital problems, parent-child relationships, care of older parents and reunion with refugee relatives from overseas. It is now seeking an additional caseworker for its staff.

Reorganized in January, 1965, it is following in the work of the United Hebrew Charities, which was founded in 1912 and changed in 1952 to the United Hebrew Service Organization.

Trapshooting tourney scheduled for Sunday

The 35th Annual Union County Open Trapshooting Championship, sponsored and conducted by the Union County Park Commission, will be held at the County Park Trap and Skeet grounds, located in Lenape Park, off Kenilworth boulevard, Cranford, on Sunday at 2 p.m.

The 1967 championship was won by Alex Freeman of Mountainside and the runner-up was Roy Brown of Hackensack. The County Park Trap and Skeet grounds are open to the public each Saturday and Sunday, from 1 to 5 p.m.

Course in boating offered youngsters

The Watchung Power Squadron will offer a course in basic boating to young people age 12 through 16 at David Greary Regional High School, beginning March 21. The course will be under the auspices of the Adult School and will meet from six to eight weeks, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The Watchung Power Squadron has been training adults in safe boating for many years and now has expanded its program to include the younger age group. The basics of safe boating for operators and passengers will be presented so that lives may be saved, as well as property and money," a spokesman said. Interested students may register at 7:15 p.m. on March 21 in room 2 at the high school. No tuition fee is required.

All this . . . plus Gaylin's policy of "Service Satisfaction is a MUST" should make it easy for you to decide where to buy your next car . . . new or used.

Referendum

David Brearley Regional, Kenilworth. Ward commented that the bond issue will cause an increase in the tax rate of nine cents per $100 of assessed valuation, throughout the district. This would mean an increase of $9 in the annual real estate tax on a house with a current market value of $20,000. The district comprises Springfield, Mountaineer, Berkeley Heights, Kenilworth, Clark and Garwood.

In response to a question, Ward presented the following breakdown of the $760,000 to be expended at Dayton: new facilities, $342,000; alterations, $100,000; new field house and other changes in the agriculture building, $148,000; equipment and furnishings, $100,000; architects' and other professional fees, $40,000, and contingencies, $45,000.

The changes will give the building a functional capacity of 1,367 students, he commented, with the number of Springfield students expected to remain around the 1,000 mark until at least 1975.

Another questioner, implying that the Dayton plant had deteriorated while emphasis had been placed on newer buildings in the district, asked for details on capital repairs at Dayton in recent annual budgets.

Ward replied that some $308,000 had been allocated in capital funds for Dayton in the past several years, including $76,000 out of the total of $90,000 in the current capital expenditure budget.

DR. WARREN DAVIS, regional superintendent of schools, spoke in answer to a comment from the floor that, even with the new construction, Dayton would not have adequate physics laboratory facilities. Dr. Davis said that there were not enough physics students to justify a laboratory, solely for the one science.

Instead, he noted, one room will have equipment—for physics and for chemistry. Mrs. Soya Dorisky, a member of the Springfield Board of Education, disputed the board's statistics on new classrooms to be provided. Ward declared that conversion of some large classrooms into smaller rooms for classes as small as four students would help bring about a net increase from 54 to 62 teaching stations.

Mrs. Dorisky listed the changes, in detail, to support her charge that facilities would be reduced.

Replying to another question, Ward stated that, if the bond issues does not pass, "all the children in the district will get less than a full education."

Mrs. Harry Einstein, president of the Springfield League of Women Voters, reviewed some of the League's previously reported reasons for opposing passage of the bond issue.

She said that the League seeks a "heterogeneous mix" with more equality in the size and curriculum in all four schools.

Mrs. Einstein added, "We look forward to the immediate future when we can support the board's plan," after it has been revised, presumably, to send Mountaineer students to Brearley rather than to Gov. Livingston. Her remarks drew substantial applause, as had those of previous speakers in favor of the bond issue.

Ward declared that the program as presented by the board "is the best we could devise" after studying all suggestions, including those offered by the Women Voters. He added that the plan presented "has the most advantages."

Another questioner asked whether the decision to send students from Mountaineer and Berkeley Heights to Gov. Livingston was based on "socio-economic factors."

Ward replied with some heat that "this was not the aim. Gov. Livingston is equally close to both communities. We divide the school population according to where the students are located."

Ward also noted that Gov. Livingston is located on a site of some 40 acres, while the Brearley site is just under 20 acres, with less room for expansion.

MRS. NATALIE WALDT, regional board member from Springfield, told the meeting that she and her fellow member from Springfield, Dr. Benjamin Josephson, urged all voters to support the bond issue.

"In the interests of all the students, the regional system deserves to be strengthened, not dismantled," she said.

Others who spoke in favor of the proposal included representatives of the Mountaineer and Berkeley Heights branches, the American Association of University Women; the Gov. Livingston PTA; Mrs. I. S. Yablonsky, president of the Dayton PTA; Councilman Louis Parent and Mayor Frederick Wilhelm of Mountaineer; and a spokesman for the Mountaineer PTA, and Dennis Fox, president of the Dayton Teachers Association.

Fox stated, "We believe that the plan is both qualitatively and quantitatively correct. If the bond issue is not passed, we would have not equal, but fewer opportunities to worry about."

A speaker from Springfield criticized Ward for "rudeness" to those opposing the bond issue. He declared, "I will vote against the plan until groups like the League of Women Voters are convinced of its correctness. This is not just a matter of Springfield opposition—but of regional problems."

Robert Southward, president of the Springfield Board of Education, then complimented Ward for his conduct of the meeting. Southward said he would vote for the bond issue. His remarks were supported by William Melick, who just retired as a regional board member from Springfield.

League stand

without the benefit of the consultant's advice. Why was the consultant hired?

Ans.: The consultant was hired to review the method and data used to determine pupil population projections.

Why does the League recommend the David Brearley School for Mountaineer?

Ans.: This school was built for a potential student body of 1,500, its cafeteria, gym and auditorium, were planned for that number. It was built to allow construction of 18 academic classrooms. All classrooms are individually heated and cooled. New construction would not even disrupt its heating system.

WOULD IT BE cheaper to expand at David Brearley in Kenilworth than at Governor Livingston in Berkeley Heights?

Ans.: Since expansion is simpler at Brearley, there is a strong possibility of economy. The Regional Board of Education has refused to consider this possibility.

Why does the League oppose a giant school in Berkeley Heights?

Ans.: A giant school poses problems of administration, traffic, guidance and communication between faculty and students. A neighboring community is planning to spend $5,000,000 to remedy these problems.

Does the League oppose all expansion at Governor Livingston School in Berkeley Heights?

Ans.: No. We favor expansion to serve the needs of Berkeley Heights students. This would require less construction.

What is the approximate population of the four regional high schools at this time?

Ans.: Jonathan Dayton (Springfield) - 1,100; Gov. Livingston (Berkeley Heights) - 1,650; David Brearley (Kenilworth) - 750; A.L. Johnson (Clark) - 1,500.

How large will the student body be by 1974 under the proposed referendum?

Ans.: Dayton - 1,000; Gov. Livingston - 2,200; Brearley - 1,050; Johnson - 1,800.

How large will the student body be by 1974 if the League's proposed transfer of Mountaineer students to Kenilworth is carried out?

Ans.: Dayton - 1,000; Gov. Livingston - 1,530; Brearley - 1,200; Johnson - 1,700.

Does rejection of the referendum mean that Jonathan Dayton's needs will not be met?

Ans.: Rejection of this referendum means only that a new one must be written to meet immediate needs. It means that the voters refuse to accept an "all or nothing" package and insist upon a referendum which applies equal standards to all communities, within the regional district. We are confident that the Springfield members of the Regional Board of Education will continue to press for Dayton's long-overdue renovation.

ATTAIN DEAN'S LIST
Miss Cheryl A. Kaplan of 2 Livingston, and Miss Karen R. Wasserman of 37 Cottage In., both of Springfield, have been named to the dean's list at Douglass College; the women's branch of the State University. They are freshmen.

MARY C. KANANE

Surrogate to speak for women's group

Mrs. Arthur M. Falkin, president of the Springfield Chapter, B'nai B'rith Women, has announced that Miss Mary C. Kanane, surrogate of Union County, will address the chapter at a meeting next Wednesday at 12:30 p.m. at Temple Sharey Shalom.

Mrs. Paul Miller is in charge of arrangements.

Miss Kanane is a lifelong resident of Union County. Her political career started with her election to the Board of Chosen Freeholders in 1959. She was re-elected in 1962, has served as special deputy surrogate and was elected surrogate in 1963.

Mrs. Falkin announced the appointment of Mrs. Merrin Karp of Springfield as donor chairman. Approximately 70 women of the Springfield Chapter were expected to attend the donor luncheon at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York City last Sunday and this Sunday.

Sharey Shalom ladies to hold Purim carnival

Mrs. Leonard Wald, president of the Sisterhood of Temple Sharey Shalom, Springfield, this week announced that the annual Purim carnival will be held at the temple on Sunday from 12:30 to 5 p.m.

A fun filled afternoon of games and many surprises is planned, a sisterhood spokesman said. Children are urged to come in costume as prizes will be awarded. Bring your family and friends for food, drink and loads of fun.

Ask support

sincerely concerned with the processes attendant to obtaining and maintaining a fine public education for all children, we wish to point out the illogical approach to this matter which only causes confusion and distortion of the issue.

Everyone seems to agree that the renovation and improvements to the Jonathan Dayton building are undeniably desirable and even overdue at this time. Where disagreement enters after this point, it would indicate a general vagueness and lack of comprehension of what a regional high school system is and how it operates. Whether we wish to or not, we must consider the needs of the system as a whole. Since all four schools and six towns comprising the district are inextricably tied together.

It is immediately apparent that there has been a tremendous growth of population, which was not fully anticipated, primarily in two of the towns - Clark and Berkeley Heights. Rather than repeat tedious statistics, we suggest that the published material listing these factors in detail be studied. Already the high schools located in those two towns are overcrowded and the trend toward greater growth is continuing, thereby making enlarged facilities absolutely essential to accommodate the students attending those schools.

If this were not done, it would be necessary to resort to the establishment of double sessions, which are universally regarded as unsatisfactory and deficient in educational content. What is not generally known is that the trend toward greater growth is slowing down considerably and is moving a bit in the other towns, particularly Springfield.

NO TAXPAYER LIKES to have his taxes increased - this is axiomatic. What is also taken for granted today is that good education costs money, and at an ever-increasing rate. It is therefore evident that by delaying or postponing the necessary expansion, which defeat of the referendum would cause, we ultimately will have to provide the same benefits at a far higher cost.

Knowledgeable people in this field expect that in order to compensate for a greater expense at a later date, some extensive cutting to the present referendum would have to be undertaken so that the total bond issue might be kept as low as possible. This leads automatically to the conclusion that since the need for expansion is not pressing at Jonathan Dayton, whatever paring down is done will almost certainly occur here, at the expense of a more modern physical plant for JDRHS.

Obviously, it becomes ironically clear that to be completely selfish about the plan now will only be self-defeating in the end. Whatever term may be applied to the situation, and we have heard some rather childish expressions used, this is the simple crux of the matter.

Therefore goes without saying that bringing in extraneous thoughts more properly associated with the areas of educational philosophy or theories of curriculum development and administrative policy merely tends to mislead and has no place in the current deliberations. We also prefer to put our faith in the needs expressed by professional educators, rather than self-styled experts.

One word that is strangely missing in this somewhat murky atmosphere, is "corporation." We elect people to the Regional (or any other) Board of Education to serve as our representatives in the entire area of education, which we all know is quite complex and exceedingly competitive these days.

When they are dedicated people utterly committed to doing an arduous and frequently thankless job, to the best of their ability, what advantage accrues if we assume attitudes of a contrary or negatively-oriented nature? Our children are everyone's concern; therefore we urge you to vote "Yes" for them.

Town meeting

that the review committee, as now constituted, should be either revised or dropped. "It was clearly evident," they wrote, "that each department had given serious thought to each item in its budget, recognizing the need for holding expenditures to a feasible optimum level while striving to provide proper and adequate municipal services."

THEY WENT ON, however, to declare: "As the budget committee proceeded with its work, it became quite obvious to them that the scope of their analysis was limited to only 20 percent of the total tax dollar, with 64 percent represented by the local and regional high schools' expenditures, and that these budgets are not controlled by the Township Committee and, therefore, are not subject to our review."

"Additionally, 14 percent represents county expenditures over which the town has no control, so that a total of approximately 78 percent of the total load on the local taxpayer is not subject to review by this committee, or any other such committee, to the best of our knowledge."

"Under these circumstances, therefore, the members of the budget review committee concluded that while the intent of the Township Committee in subjecting its share of the budget to review is commendable, the end results cannot be searching enough or of sufficient consequence to warrant continuation of its particular activity."

"It is our opinion that a more meaningful committee could result if it were set up to function on a continuous basis analyzing current expenditures as compared with budget requests, and assisting the Township Committee in its long-range planning, particularly in the area of future capital expenditures."

Discussing the budget, Falkin acknowledged the burden on the taxpayers, but stressed that the Springfield tax rate was 11th highest of the 21 municipalities in Union County.

Frederick J. Stefany, township auditor, noted that other municipalities in the county had approved tax increases much higher than the 60-cent jump voted in Springfield. Among them, he listed Westfield, 102 points; Roselle Park, 94 points; Rahway, 100 points, and Plainfield, 131 points.

State education director speaks to area teachers

"The key to all progress in education is people—the authentic teacher—who can make education a real and living experience, who has the courage of his convictions to overcome all obstacles and is able to motivate his students to their full potential." This was a part of the five-point keynote message delivered by the High School in Kenilworth recently. The teachers were participating in the third Annual Professional Day of the Union County Regional High School District No. 1.

Dr. Marburger's five-point speech, which was geared to the theme of "Progress Through Education," stressed the need for: (1) Reorganization of school districts in New Jersey so that they would be most effective in meeting their goals; (2) need for financial aid to school districts, with a more equitable distribution of state and federal funds; (3) change in certification-of-teachers procedures, and a reciprocity agreement with other states; (4) urban problems, stressing racial balance, which he termed the most explosive issue of our times, and (4) the role of the state department of education — attempting to develop "aggressive outreach," need for learning institutes and demonstration centers, and the introduction of "minigrants," which would give classroom teachers small amounts of money to explore, investigate and develop new classroom techniques, methods, and ideas.

Teachers and superintendents of the following school systems took part in the "Professional Day" activities: Berkeley Heights, Kenneth H. Bothwell; Clark, Dr. Carl H. Kumpf; Garwood, Lewis F. Laird; Kenilworth, John Kish; Mountainside, Dr. Levin B. Hanigan; Regional, Dr. Warren M. Davis; Springfield, John O. Berwick, and Union County, Dr. William H. West.

The planning committee included the co-chairmen, John J. Kish and Lewis F. Laird; and Betty Ayce, Elaine Allgoever, Russell Clark, Trudy Creede, William Fallon, Frances Fittella, Vida Harris, David Hart, Andrew Mariner, Edna Mulligan, Marjorie Nobbs, Mary Otto, Martha Podmayer and Russell Scott, members of the planning committee.

Other morning session speakers and their topics included: "Narcotics" by Police Sgt. John A. Maguire, Elizabeth, and "Sex Education," by Lester Rifkin, director of health and physical education, Wayne.

Mrs. Allen appointed to area ball committee

Mrs. Robert R. Allen III of Springfield has been named a member of the Millburn Area Committee for the New Jersey Symphony Ball, which will be held March 30 at the Robert Treat Hotel in Newark.

Music for the event, the sixth annual benefit ball for the symphony, will be provided by the dance orchestra of Peter Duchin. More than 600 persons are expected to attend.

High school group plans trip to Rome on Easter vacation

Seven students from Jonathan Dayton and David Brearley regional high schools will join 300 other Latin students from New Jersey and their teachers for a trip to Rome during the Easter vacation.

Scheduled to take the trip from Jonathan Dayton in Springfield are: Mary, Shaffrey, daughter of Mrs. Alice Shaffrey of 14 Lewis dr.; Patrice Lampert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Lampert of 53 Maple ave.; Judd Repka, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Repka of 10 Green Hill rd., and Michael DeSantis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DeSantis of 244 Short Hills ave.

Students from David Brearley in Kenilworth are: Bill Graham, son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Graham of 354 Lincoln dr.; Jim Payne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bailey of 281 Boulevard, and Michael Mrvichin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Mrvichin of 316 North 22nd st.

They will be accompanied by Mrs. Barbara Tibbets, who teaches Latin at both schools.

The trip to Rome and to the Naples and Sorrento areas is being sponsored by the New Jersey Classical League and the Foreign Language League Schools.

The students will visit the Forum, the Colosseum, Hadrian's villa at Tivoli, the excavated towns of Pompeii and Herculaneum, Mount Vesuvius, the cave of the Sibyl at Cumae, the Emerald Grotto at Amalfi, the temples of Neptune and Minerva at Paestum and the Isle of Capri.

BOYS' DAY, WITH GIRLS — As part of their project on Japan, pupils in Nancy Werber's third grade at the Thelma Sandmeier School, Springfield, have been studying about 'Boys' Day,' Tanigosekku, celebrated on May 5, when families fly a fish kite for each boy. Shown with the kites made by members of the class are, from left, David Hetzel, Sheri Lehrman, Barbara Wolfe and Michael Lemmerman.

3 teams step into tie in Thursday bowling league

The red-hot Thursday Afternoon Boys' Bowling League was thrown into a three-way tie for first place last week. The Raiders, Hurricanes and Hornets all have a piece of the league's top rung. The tightness of the competition does not end with the first-place tie, as only two games separate the league's first six teams. The Recreation Department sponsors the league, while the Springfield Bowl is the site of the action.

The Raiders moved into a first-place tie by sweeping a pair of games from the Jets. Kenny Perimeter and Marc Jaffe led the Hornets attack. Kenny rolled a 260 series, while Marc posted a two-game total of 234. Howie Levine, with a 263 series, was the top bowler for the Jets. The Jets, although dropping two games, are still only two games from the league leaders.

The Hurricanes split a two-game match with the Bullets, but the one victory was enough to push them into a first-place tie. Stuart Liebeskind, the league's top average bowler, led the Hurricanes with a 284 series. Bob Goodman and Steve Sklar were the leading bowlers in the Bullets attack. Bob was the high man with a 273 series, while Steve posted a two-game total of 264.

The Raiders, who had jumped into first place last week, stood still last Thursday as they were swept by the Atoms. The Raiders managed to keep a portion of first place, while the surging Atoms have moved to within two games of the top. George Robbins was the top man in the match, as he led the Atoms with a 279 series. Gil Glem and Larry Goldberg also rolled well for the Atoms. Gil contributed a 255 series, while Larry's two-game total was 252. Steve Silpe and Richard Lan were tops in the Raider camp. Steve was the pace-setter, with a 263 series, while Richard had another good afternoon with a 256 series.

The Bombers stepped up last week and upset the Rockets in two games. The Rockets, who were the early-season leaders, remain in fourth place, only a game away from the top spot. Leon Margules led the Bomber sweep. Leon rolled a 287 series. Ronnie Silverman also rolled very well for the Bombers, as he rolled a 270 series. Dave Schaffer posted a 252 series for the Bombers. Ed Federovitch showed the way for the Rockets with a 252 two-game total.

Stuart Liebeskind continues to be the league's top average bowler. Stu has a pace-setting average of 141. Howie Levine is second with a 137 average. Third place is held by Bob Goodman, who is rolling at a 136 pace. George Robbins is a close fourth with a 135 average, while Ronnie Silverman's 130 average rounds out the top five. The remaining boys among the top 10 are: Gil Glem, 128; Steve Silpe, 127; Howie Fleischman, 124; Leon Margules, 121, and Steve Sklar, 120.

Falcons sweep 2, regain 1st place in boys' Friday play

The see-saw Friday afternoon Boys' Bowling League saw the Falcons jump back into sole command of first place last week. The Falcons swept a two-game match, while their season-long rivals, the Tigers, were the victims of a two-game sweep. The boys roll in this Recreation Department league each week at the Springfield Bowl.

The Falcons swept passed the Chargers last week in two games. Mike Levine, rolling at the top of his game, posted a 227 series to lead the Falcons. Gary Welner contributed at 217 series to the attack. Steve Rosenberg was the top bowler for the Chargers. Steve rolled a 257 series.

The Hawks upset the Tigers in both halves of a two-game match to knock the Tigers from first place. The Hawks' Stu Garowitz, with a 229 series, had his best afternoon of the season. Justin Schneider contributed a 238 series. Steve Harris was top man in the match as he paced the Tigers with a 292 series. Barry Fink, with a two-game total of 241, also rolled well for the Tigers.

Perry Koplik of the Royals posted new season marks for high game and high series in league play as he paced the Royals to a sweep of two games over the Rangers. Perry put together games of 205 and 160 for a 365 series. The Royals' twin victories enabled them to move within three games of first place. Tommy Lowy was the top bowler for the Rangers with a 269 series.

The final match of the day saw the Chiefs take a pair of games from the Warriors. The Chiefs, who have been moving forward steadily, have now evened their season record. Gary Neifeld, the league's top average bowler, led the Chiefs with another top afternoon. Gary posted a 332 series with a second-game effort of 197. Mike Magers also had a big afternoon for the Chiefs, going well over his season pace with a 241 series. Mark Shipman was the high man for the Warriors with 236 pins in two games.

Gary Neifeld raised his league-leading average to the 140 level with his top performance last week. Gary holds a 12-pin margin over his nearest rival, Tommy Lowy, who has a 134 average. Perry Koplik has jumped into third with a 128 season mark. Roy Greenberg, with a 127 average, is fourth, while Steve Harris holds fifth place with a 125-season average. The remaining five among the top 10 are: Arnie Blumenfeld, 124; Mike Levine, 122; Barry Fink, 119; Mark Berkowitz, 117, and Jamie Farber, 116.

The 30-second oven cleaner

7¢

(It takes just 30 seconds of your time to whisk away the dirt. Costs less than you're now paying.)

Ladies, get your heads out of the oven. Now you can have an electric range with an oven that cleans itself automatically, for an investment of about 7¢ and 30 seconds of your time per cleaning.

You just put the surface-unit drip pans in the oven and turn a switch to "Clean". Spills and splatters disappear from the oven, racks and drip pans during the average 1 1/4 hour cleaning cycle, and only a trace of powder remains. You whisk that away in about 30 seconds.

There's no worry about scrubbing the surface units either, because spills disappear from them while you're still cooking. Only electric ranges can give you this "total cleanliness".

So throw out the oven cleaners, the cans of stuff, the brushes, the steel wool, and the dirty rags. Buy a new electric range with a self-cleaning oven. You'll find a large appliance dealer displaying the familiar Reddy Kilowatt seal. He's open right now.

Cleric to address McCarthy group at program Monday

Lawrence Lerner, Springfield chairman of the Volunteers for McCarthy, will present the Rev. Elmer L. Sullivan, minister of St. Augustine's Episcopal Church in Elizabeth, as the featured speaker at the group's next meeting, which will be open to the public.

The meeting will be held Monday at 8:15 p.m. in the meeting room of the National State Bank of Elizabeth, Springfield Branch, Linden avenue and Morris avenue.

Father Sullivan, a member of the Clergy and Laymen's Concerned about Vietnam, is seeking selection as a delegate to the national Democratic convention from the 12th Congressional District.

His talk will be on the question, "McCarthy—Why?" In conjunction with this, Father Sullivan has said: "Our country, suffering from doubt and division, is looking desperately for leadership areas which it can unite to pursue a course of peace and justice."

Officers of the local group, in addition to Lerner, include vice-chairman Robert Silverman, corresponding secretary, Rose Lester; recording secretary, Mara Lyn Grant; treasurer, Robert Starr.

Churches continue Lenten programs Wednesday night

The fourth in this year's Lenten series, sponsored by the Springfield First Presbyterian Church and the Wyoming Presbyterian Church of Millburn, will be held Wednesday evening at 6 in Fellowship Hall of Wyoming Church, 432 Wyoming Ave., Millburn.

The Rev. Herbert Anderson, acting chaplain at Overlook Hospital, Summit, and teaching fellow in the Dept. of Pastoral Theology at Drew University in Madison, will tell of his experiences in the ministry of healing.

A mid-Westerner, Rev. Anderson was educated at Gustavus Adolphus College, St. Peter, Minn., and the Lutheran School of Theology, Chicago, Ill.

He served for four years as minister of the Advent Lutheran Church of Sacramento, Calif., and has been active in the clinical training work of the hospitals at Emory University in Hollywood, Calif., Minneapolis General Hospital, Minneapolis, Minn., Gowanda State Hospital, Helmut, N.Y., and the New York City Correctional Institute at Rikers Island, New York City.

An informal discussion period will follow Mr. Anderson's presentation.

Men's Club to see movie about safari

The Men's Club of Temple Beth Ahm, Springfield, will meet Monday, March 25, at 8:30 p.m. at the temple. A movie, "The Safari in Africa," will be shown. Ed Kuczer, chairman, has also announced plans for a guest speaker.

The club will hold an introduction of all new members as well as nomination of new officers. Refreshments will be served following the program.

On March 31, the Mens Club is sponsoring a trip to a hockey game at the new Madison Square Garden between the Rangers and the Montreal Canadiens. Tickets are still available from Bill Prokocmer, chairman, 379-9158. Game time is 2 p.m.

2 put on probation, told by court to join AA and find jobs

Springfield Judge Max Sherman Monday night imposed similar sentences on two men, both of no known occupation, who pled guilty to charges of being drunk and disorderly. They were Junior H. Johnson, 46, with no home address, who was arrested March 6, and Henry Orris, 43, of Morristown, arrested Saturday evening.

Both received 30-day jail terms, suspended, and were placed on probation for six months on the condition that they join Alcoholics Anonymous and find gainful employment.

In another case heard before the Municipal Court, Jean Woerner of Jersey City pled guilty to several related charges. For driving while impaired, he was fined $105 and had his license revoked for six months. He also paid $200 for assault and battery, committed against a police officer, and had a 30-day sentence suspended. Judge Sherman fined Woerner $55 for disorderly conduct (loud and abusive language) and $10 for driving with no license in his possession. A $10 fine for driving with no registration in his possession was suspended.

Other motorists fined were: Glen H. Lohman of Kenilworth, noisy muffler, $10; Raymond J. Richmond of Kenilworth, improper display of license plates, $10; Ed Gray of East Orange, no registration in possession, $10 plus $5 in contempt of court penalties for failure to appear previously.

Also, Maurice Dosier of 34 Tooker ave., Springfield, no inspection and no license or registration in her possession, $40, and Yaalor Gold of Clark, careless driving, $25, plus $5 in contempt charges for failure to appear previously.

Earl Manville, 71, business professor

A. Earl Manville, 71, of 79 Colfax rd., Springfield, died in Overlook Hospital, Summit, last Friday. He was a native of Albany, N. Y., and moved to Springfield 20 years ago from Oregon.

Mr. Manville received both his bachelor's and master's degrees from New York University. He retired in 1964 as professor of business writing and speaking in the NYU School of Commerce. He was head of his department from 1932 to 1964.

He leaves his wife, Gertrude E. Manville, and a sister, Miss Helen Manville, of Albany. Services were held Monday at the Smith and Smith Suburban Funeral Home, Springfield.

Thomas Doherty gets BS engineering degree

U.S. Senator HARRISON A. WILLIAMS Reports

PRISONER REPATRIATION Response to my proposal to President Johnson to initiate action toward negotiations on the repatriation of American prisoners in North-Viet Nam has been gratifying. I wrote the President recently, after the situation of 700 American servicemen held prisoner was brought poignantly home to me by a visit from Mr. and Mrs. James T. Egan of Mountain Side, their son James Egan, a Marine Captain, has been missing and presumed captured for two years. But, for two years they have had no word... no letters, no official confirmation, nothing.

Senator Strom Thurmond: "I share your view that everything possible should be done to obtain information about these men and to arrange for transmission of mail and packages... I shall see that the problem is brought up before the Senate Armed Services Committee." Senator Harry Byrd: "I would certainly be hopeful that our government might be able to bring about an exchange of prisoners. Like you, I hope the President will begin anew efforts for a prisoner repatriation along with a correspondence and package exchange."

National ORT Day will be celebrated by Springfield unit

Women's American ORT (Organization for Rehabilitation Through Training) will participate in the nationwide observance of ORT Day on Wednesday.

Special programs are planned by 76,000 members of ORT in some 600 chapters from coast-to-coast in order to mobilize the women of the community for greater support for the program of vocational education for displaced, oppressed and deprived Jews which operates 600 schools and installations in 22 countries on five continents. In honor of the occasion, the street signs at Town Hall, Springfield, will be changed to ORT Square.

Mrs. Irving Kalet, Springfield ORT Day chairman, commented: "ORT, the vocational training agency of the Jewish people, began in 1880 and has trained more than a million people since its inception. Its current annual enrollment is 50,000 and its schools and installations offer a range of more than 70 modern skills. Women's American ORT is a nationwide membership organization affiliated with the American ORT Federation, which currently receives funds, exclusive of membership dues, by special agreement with the Joint Distribution Committee, a member agency of the United Jewish Appeal."

The chapter announced that anyone interested in joining ORT should speak to the membership vice-president, Mrs. Stanley Bell, 24 Archbridge lane (682-9577).

Highlight of the local ORT Day observances will be a general meeting of the Springfield chapter next Thursday evening at Temple Beth Ahm, conducted by Mrs. Jerry Szanger, president.

Mrs. Bernard Kotler, program chairman, announced the film "Moloch" will be shown. It tells the story of a boy who makes his way from the ghetto of Casablanca to the ORT Aln-Seba school and so to a new world and new way of life. Also, a special celebration is planned in observance of the chapter's 3rd Bar Mitzvah, and Mrs. Kalet will introduce previous presidents and officers who will relate high points of each of the past 13 years in a candlelighting birthday ceremony.

Mrs. Mandel Weiss and Mrs. Nathan Vogel, hospitality co-chairmen, said members and guests will be served refreshments at the meeting.

Mrs. Weinstein to be installed as area B'nai B'rith president

MRS. DAVID WEINSTEIN

Mrs. David Weinstein of 74 Irwin st., Springfield will be installed as president of B'nai B'rith Women, Northern New Jersey Council on Wednesday, at the Coroner, 925 Springfield ave., Irvington.

The former Alice Friedman, Mrs. Weinstein has been a resident of Springfield for 13 years. She was the organizer and first president of the Springfield Chapter of B'nai B'rith Women, which was founded in 1957. She served as president of the newly formed chapter for two years.

Before attaining the office of council president, Mrs. Weinstein held many positions on the council level. She served as veterans chairman, veterans administrative representative to East Orange Veterans Hospital for three years, Veterans Administrative representative to Lyons Hospital for three years, recording secretary for two years, program chairman, fund-raising chairman and membership chairman. She has also held the post of district representative to District 3 of B'nai B'rith Women.

Active in community affairs, Mrs. Weinstein served as moot corps chairman for the American Red-Cross, Springfield Chapter, for three years. At present, she is a member of the board of directors, American Red Cross, Springfield chapter, first vice-president, Rutgers-Union County Home Economics Council and a member of Temple Beth Ahm. She is a teacher of sewing for Union County Adult Schools at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School and David Brearley Regional High School.

The new president resides in Springfield with her husband, David Weinstein, a business broker associated with Kleinwaks & Company, Orange. Their two children are Susan, an eighth grade student in Florence Gaudinier School, and Ralph, a junior in Jonathan Dayton-Regional High School.

MISS MARTHA L. KANTENWEIN

Miss Kantenwein is engaged to wed

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Kantenwein of 27 Baldwin pl., Belleville, have announced the betrothal of their daughter, Martha Lynn, to Alan Dieterle, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dieterle of 248 Apple Tree lane, Mountaintop.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Belleville High School and is a student in radiological technology at St. Joseph's Hospital in Paterson. Her fiancé is a student in the junior class at Fairleigh Dickinson University, Madison, where he is majoring in business management.

Clubwomen to hear girl from Panama studying at NSC

Miss Parker is a junior science major at Newark State College. Mrs. William Peacock will be hostess to the group at her home on Irwin st., with Alice Rieg as co-hostess.

The club's public welfare department met this week at Mrs. Stanley Cornfield's home on N. Derby road to package kits for Greystone. Mrs. J. William Hummel was co-hostess.

The cancer dressing unit will meet March 21 at Mrs. Edward J. Schubert's home on Northview terrace.

Next week Mrs. Fred Mercuro and Mrs. Edward Rackowski will be hostesses to the garden department at Mrs. Mercuro's home on Mountain avenue. Members will decorate Easter eggs as favors for the patients at Runnels Hospital.

Club members and their friends will attend club-woman day at Hahne and Co. March 21. The feature of the day will be a fashion show. Each year Hahne and Co. contributes a portion of the income received on this day to the State Federation. The money is used for the support of the "Federation" magazine, "The New Jersey Club Woman."

Chairman for luncheon

Mrs. Joseph Horowitz of Springfield is chairman of a 20th anniversary luncheon of the Louise Waterman Wise Chapter, American Jewish Congress, to be held Monday, March 25, at noon at the Manor-in-West Orange. Past and present presidents of the chapter will be honored.

Holy Name Society to offer 2 social activities this month

Two social events which are being sponsored by the Holy Name Society of our Lady of Lourdes Church, Mountaintop, will be held during the coming month, it was announced this week.

Sunday, March 24, will be the occasion of the annual communion mass and breakfast for members of the Holy Name Society and all other men and boys of the parish. Communion will be received in a body at the 9:15 a.m. mass, and breakfast will be served in the school auditorium.

A short program will follow the breakfast with remarks from the society moderator, the Rev. Gerard Whelan. The guest speaker will be the Rev. Robert Garner, administrator of Christ-the-King Parish in Jersey City.

Talk on perfumes to highlight meeting

"Fragrant Facts," a demonstration lecture by Mrs. Elizabeth V. Johnston, a member of the Little Falls Women's Club, on rare perfumes and their ingredients will highlight the meeting next Tuesday of the Mountaintop Women's Club at 12:30 p.m. in the Mountaintop Inn. Mrs. Melvin Lemmerhirt is program chairman.

In other business, it was announced the executive board of the club met yesterday at the home of Mrs. Roland Hall of 6 Tanglewood lane. Mrs. John Suski was co-hostess for the meeting.

Concerts planned for '68-69 season

Plans for the 28 Westfield Community Concerts season, 1968-1969, have been announced by Ernie B. Mayo Jr., president of the organization. The four-concert series, held at Westfield High School, will present the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra, directed by William Steinberg; Betty Allen, mezzo-soprano; Ivan Davis, pianist, and a fourth performance to be announced at the close of the upcoming membership campaign.

The 96-member Pittsburgh Symphony was brought to world attention as a result of its 1964 U. S. State Department-sponsored tour of Europe and the Middle East.

Rosary, Altar Society plans special affair

The Rosary and Altar Society of Our Lady of Lourdes Church, Mountaintop will hold its annual Day of Recollection in the school auditorium on Wednesday, March 20, from 10 a.m. to 2:45 p.m.

The Rev. L. Robert Duffy of St. Michael's Church, Cranford, will be chaplain for the day and is expected to celebrate Mass, speak to the women attending and conduct a Bible vigil. Mrs. Ernestine Medeck, religious chairman, has arranged the program for the day.

'Graduate' remains in Millburn Cinema

It was a broken ring-finger that Katharine Ross extended for the wedding band in a climactic scene from the Joseph E. Levine presentation of "The Graduate"...

Two days earlier, the finger had been trapped in a slammed door and snapped at the top knuckle. Doctors put it together with an aluminum splint, which she was allowed to remove to get married.

Miss Ross stars with Anne Bancroft and Dustin Hoffman in the Embassy Pictures release, directed by Nichols and produced by Turman in Panavision and Technicolor.

'Camelot' musical continues its run

The collaborative work of Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe has given America first honors in the field of musical comedy.

In "Camelot," their film version of their Broadway hit musical, currently running on the wide screen at the Bellevue Theatre, Upper Montclair, they dropped King Arthur and the Round Table into a musical setting of past glories and emotions.

'On a Clear Day' is fun show; Dorothy Collins is outstanding

By BEA SMITH

The Alan Jay Lerner musical comedy about reincarnation, "On a Clear Day You Can See Forever," as presented at the Meadowbrook Dinner Theater in Cedar Grove, is clearly a delight. Singer Dorothy Collins, who stars as Daisy Gamble, the mystifying gal who goes into trances as easily as one takes a nap, proves, in this production, that she can do more than just put over a song. She's a natural comedienne, and her humorous lines (she has many) are perfectly timed and smoothly uttered to evoke hilarious response from the audience.

The Bride Murphy-type play, which holds amused audiences in the palm of its entertaining hand, displays such fine numbers as the title song, plus "He Wasn't You," "S.S. Bernard Cohn," "Melinda," "When I Come

Regional schools will judge expansion plans

Meeting set for Dec. 14 to give data Mountainside freshmen to spend year at Dayton

The Regional High School Board of Education will hold a public meeting on Thursday, Dec. 14, at 8 p.m. at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, to announce our distribution of students and our long-range expansion plan.

Ward declined to give any details of just how the physical plant of the regional schools will be changed. He commented, "The whole program is being studied by the architect and announced on Dec. 14."

Two other changes proposed at that time are now in effect. This year's freshmen from Garwood are at Brearley, rather than at Johnson. Older students from Garwood have a choice of whether to attend Brearley or remain at Johnson.

Parents expressed some concern over approval of any expansion plans by the Department of Education. Even though overruled, they said, "I might hesitate to endorse any plan while you are examining it in the schools. No information was available at yesterday's meeting on how the problem had been resolved."

For And About Teenagers

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "My problem is with my parents. They are so strict on me I am fourteen and in the ninth grade. My parents won't let me get phone calls from boys until I am fifteen. Everytime a boy asks me for my phone number, I don't know what to tell them. Boys can't come to my home until I am sixteen. They won't even let me go to a dance. I've tried to get my mother to trust me, but she won't. I don't know what to do. So, will you please give me your assistance."

OUR REPLY: All we can give you is what we consider good advice. It's very simple. Consider yourself lucky. Your parents have told you that you will be able to get phone calls from boys when you are fifteen. They have told you that boys may call on you when you are sixteen. There are many girls who are sixteen whose parents still don't allow them to have phone calls. This is not to say that this writer agreed that a girl should not at least be allowed phone calls at fifteen; the truth is that some girls have this problem. Play the game the way your parents suggest. Be patient. Simply tell the boys that your parents don't allow you to take phone calls from boys -- yet. You may not think so, but giving them this word won't hurt your popularity a single bit.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, COMMUNITY AND SUBURBAN PRESS SERVICE, FRANKFORT, KY.

Mothers study to teach Enrolled in off-campus course

Every Wednesday morning when school bells toll and youngsters depart for school, 30 mothers pick up pencils and notebooks and head for the Morris Plains Presbyterian Church, where college classes are held just for them.

They are enrolled in a teacher certification program offered by Newark State College, Union, and sponsored by the Morris Branch of the American Association of University Women. They already hold college degrees but need courses in education that will qualify them to teach.

Because their time is limited, the difficulties involved in transportation and scheduling often prevent mothers from enrolling in programs held on college campuses. For this group of mothers at least the problem has been solved: College is brought to them.

The program, now in its second semester, is being taught by Dr. Catherine Eisenhardt, coordinator of elementary curriculums at Newark State, who takes a special interest in this group because she once followed a similar route to teaching. Dr. Eisenhardt majored in liberal arts at New York University, married soon after receiving her bachelor's degree and later entered Newark State College to earn an MA degree and certification credits. Although she is the mother of three children, she continued her study and ultimately earned an Ed.D. degree in linguistics at NYU.

One mother pointed out that she is reluctant to enter evening classes since she feels that is her time to see her family. A mother of pre-school children said the program enables her to take the courses she needs for teaching now so that she will be ready to enter the classroom when her children are in school.

Archdiocese puts out 196-page directory

The 1968 edition of the annual directory and almanac of the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Newark was issued this week by The CYO Press, 101 University Ave., Newark.

The 196-page book lists all Catholic priests, churches, schools, institutions, organizations and agencies in Bergen, Essex, Hudson and Union counties. According to the Directory, there are 253 parishes serving the area, 1,333 priests, 268 brothers, 3,474 sisters, 226 elementary schools, 56 high schools, six colleges, nine hospitals and eight children's homes.

Ice show features Olympic champion

Peggy Gale Fleming, Gold Medal winner at the Grenoble Winter Olympics and the Geneva World Championships, will be in New Jersey April 20 and 21 to show her world championship skating style at the Funorama on Ice Show in the South Mountain Arena, West Orange.

She'll skate to the Chopin Nocturne, the show-tunes of Thoroughly Modern Millie, and What's New Pussycat?

This ninth annual ice extravaganza is sponsored by the Essex Skating Club of New Jersey under the chairmanship of Rosa Dimm of Short Hills. Proceeds will go to the Future Development Fund of the Hospital Center at Orange where they will be used for the renovation of the Surgical and Intensive Care Facilities.

Urban education crisis dialogue

"Crisis in Urban Education," a day long dialogue, will take place at Jersey City State College Saturday, March 29, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Dean William A. Liggett announced this week.

The conference will include panels on the following subjects: "Special Guidance Concerns for the Large Urban School System," "Social Attitudes and the Slow Learner," "The ghetto School, Administrative Problems," "Experiment in Bedford Stuyvesant, The Center Teacher," and "Federal and Private Funding Problems." Those interested in attending may contact Dr. Lemeshow or Dr. Lieb at the college.

Record dividend listed by U.S. Savings Bank

The board of managers of the United States Savings Bank of Newark, Orange and Roseland, at its regular monthly meeting declared a dividend to eligible savings depositors for the quarterly period ending March 1.

This is the 260th consecutive dividend which the bank has paid since its founding in 1871, and is the largest single dividend ever declared by the bank, it was reported by William B. Licklider, president. The dividend, in excess of $2,350,000, together with the last three quarterly dividends makes a total of more than $9 million for the year.

N.J. businesses get prime contracts

New Jersey business firms received 3,065 federal prime government contracts totaling $679,354,481 during 1967, according to a report issued by the State Department of Conservation and Economic Development.

Conservation Commissioner Robert A. Roemer termed the awards "a graphic illustration of the diversified research and manufacturing activities which continue to enhance New Jersey's favorable industrial climate."

Bergen led the 20 counties on the awards list with contracts aggregating $148,678,913 followed by Essex County.

The Certification Program

The certification program has been arranged by Newark State's Division of Field Services, which maintains evening and summer programs at the main campus in Union and at nine off-campus centers. It was spearheaded by Mrs. Robert Miller of Morristown, president of the Morris Branch of AAUW.

Mrs. Miller is one of a group of some 15 AAUW members involved in a volunteer tutoring program in the Morristown school system. Working in this capacity convinced her of the need for more qualified teachers, and since a primary AAUW program is helping college women acquire additional education, a teacher certification program for mothers seemed both logical and necessary.

Miss Mildred Townsend, Morris County curriculum consultant, encouraged her to request help from Newark State. Once the program was set up, a newspaper article brought an immediate response from housewives who wished to enroll.

Members of the class come from 15 communities in Essex, Morris and Somerset Counties. They range in age from 26 to 56 with the majority between 30 and 45. Each has from one to six children, who vary in age from two to 33. Only a few are members of the AAUW.

The number of courses each of them must take varies according to her individual background, but Charles Longacre, director of Newark State's Division of Field Services, said that education courses will continue to be provided until most of the group is certified. Those who still need credits will be able to acquire them at the college's off-campus center at Morris Knolls High School in Rockaway.

The mothers say they welcome the opportunity to attend classes during the morning when children are at school or in the care

Unlike most fruits, pears have the best flavor and texture when they are picked at the green-mature stage. This means you can take advantage of the economy of buying a basket of pears to use as desired.

At least two percent poultry meat must be in each can of ready-to-serve soup labeled "chicken" or "turkey." Two percent is less than an ounce of poultry meat in each can of soup, and could mean a tablespoon of poultry meat.

Next time you make your favorite bread pudding, add a half cup or more of coarsely cut dates.

There is a difference between enriched flour and white flour. Enriched flour has riboflavin, thiamine, and iron added in amounts to meet government requirements. Plain white flour does not have these added nutrients.

Helen's Favorite Olive-Bacon Muffins (makes 12)

- 8 slices bacon
- 1 cup ripe olives
- 2 cups biscuit mix
- 1/4 teaspoon dried dill
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 3/4 cup milk
- 2 tablespoons bacon fat

Fry bacon crisp; drain well, reserving fat and crumble. Chop ripe olives. Combine biscuit mix and dill. Stir in eggs, milk and bacon fat. Add crumbled bacon and olives and mix lightly. Turn into greased muffin pans. Bake in a hot (400 F.) oven 18-20 minutes. Serve hot.

HOT STUFF — Dr. Myron Solberg of Highland Park, a food scientist at Rutgers University, manipulates remote controls of "hot" cells which irradiate meat in his research project. He is sterilizing foods by radiation to extend their life on supermarket or refrigerator shelves.

A-power dooms freezers

Radiation preserves meat, fruit

A Rutgers food scientist predicts that supermarket meat freezers may become as obsolete as the horseless carriage. Dr. Myron Solberg of Highland Park, whose research specialty at the Rutgers College of Agriculture and Environmental Science long has been the radiation preservation of food, is working on "hot" cells, which he believes will eventually revolutionize the storage of foods in supermarkets.

The "hot" cells, which are the basis of his research, don't melt food, he points out, they irradiate it.

Sterilized-by-radiation food which doesn't require any refrigeration until opened is now being eaten by thousands of Americans. Bacon, the only product approved for radiation-sterilization by the Food and Drug Administration, is being served in this form every day by cooks in the Armed Forces.

But the average American is almost certain soon to be eating foods partially preserved by radiation. A booming business in such foods is forecast by Dr. Solberg.

ALTHOUGH THESE "PARTIALLY-PRESERVED" foods will have to be refrigerated, they'll have a longer shelf life. Fish will be fresh for 30 days, and strawberries will be kept in the refrigerator shell without molding for weeks.

"When the average citizen thinks of radiation, he thinks only of its destructive aspects," says Dr. Solberg. "But food scientists, and other scientists, know that radiation has its positive aspects too—one of which is its use to preserve food."

Food preserved by radiation becomes "sterilized." This means that bacterial growth is stopped and changes of a chemical nature are prevented.

To preserve food by radiation, it must be brought into contact with a source of radiation. The two sources which Dr. Solberg and his graduate students use are a "hot" cell with Cobalt 60 and electron generators like those in the Rutgers physics laboratories.

The facilities of the State University's Industrial Reactor Laboratories (IRL) in Plainsboro Township provide the food scientists with their source of Cobalt 60. IRL has "hot" cells among its other research apparatus. In these "hot" cells, food is placed near the Cobalt-60 source with remote control mechanical hands, and radiated there by the gamma rays, or naturally-produced X-rays emitted by the cobalt.

These "hot" cells at IRL were recently used by Dr. Solberg and graduate student William E. Riba, Jr., of Piscataway Township, in a project to determine the effect of radiation on normal casing for sausage products.

"THESE CASINGS ARE generally a source of micro-organisms that can lead to spoilage, and thus reduce the shelf life of a sausage product," explained Dr. Solberg. "If the casings are sterilized, we reasoned, the product would be better."

After packaging the casings in polyethylene bags, the researchers exposed them to Cobalt cells for eight to 12 hours. They found that there was a significant reduction in the number of bacteria. But they also found that the casings were toughened by this process.

Radiation-preserved foods have many obstacles to overcome before they are put on the market in any quantity. One problem is that radiation not only destroys micro-organisms in a food, but also causes changes in chemicals, which can result in objectionable off-flavors.

Those who prefer their steaks rare or medium won't want to eat radiation-sterilized steaks. Enzymes must be destroyed if a food is to be preserved and only a large amount of heat can do this.

"One of the major problems in putting radiation-preserved foods on the market is in their labeling," said Dr. Solberg. "The statement about radiation on the package that is required by the Food and Drug Administration will probably frighten the consumer. But the U.S. consumer can rest assured that the Food and Drug Administration will only approve these foods after they are proven to be absolutely safe."

Working students eligible for refunds

Students who worked part-time or during the summer may have a refund coming on the 1968 Federal income tax returns. Joseph M. Shotz, District Director of Internal Revenue said this week.

Students are required to file a tax return if they earned $600 or more. If they earned less than $600 and taxes were withheld from wages in order to obtain a refund of the tax withheld from their wages.

Unmarried students who earn less than $900 will not owe any Federal income tax. They are entitled to claim the usual $600 personal exemption, plus a $300 minimum standard deduction. Shotz said.

Students are entitled to claim their own personal exemption when filing a tax return, Shotz said. Parents who furnish more than one-half the cost of support for their child who is a full-time student may also claim him as an exemption on their tax return.

Peace Corps tests slated Saturday

Area residents interested in putting their skills to use in developing nations around the world are being invited to take the Peace Corps placement test at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday, at room B-89 in the Federal Building, Newark, or at main post offices in Montclair and Morristown.

The Peace Corps uses the placement test to determine how an applicant can best be utilized overseas. The test measures general aptitude and the ability to learn a language; no education or achievement. The test requires no preparation and is non-competitive; an applicant can neither pass nor fail.

Persons interested in serving with the Peace Corps must fill out an application, if they have not already done so, and present it to the tester before the test. Application forms are available from post offices or from the Peace Corps in Washington, D.C. 20525.

Puppets featured in benefit show

A benefit performance of the life-size Manteo Marionettes will be presented at the Florham-Madison Campus of Fairleigh Dickinson University, Madison, next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Recreation Building. The classic drama "Orlando Furioso" (Roland the Mad), written by Ludovico Ariosto, is sponsored by the Italian Club.

The 10 marionettes which will be featured were hand carved and handpainted by Agrippino Manteo, famed puppeteer of Little Italy in New York City. They are part of a collection of 50 now owned by the Manteo family, weighing approximately 100 pounds each, the marionettes have been presented at the recent New York World's Fair, the United Nations, and Columbia University.

The performance will benefit the Robert F. Bucher Memorial Scholarship Fund.

Ninth Purim Carnival to be held by YM-YW

The ninth annual Purim Carnival, sponsored by the YM-YWHA of Essex County, will be held on Sunday, March 17, from 1 to 4 p.m. at 255 Chancellor Ave., Newark. A wide variety of booths will be featured for all age groups from grade school children to senior citizens. Movies, a costume parade and a puppet show will be featured in the carnival.

Drop seen in workers' pay, hours

WASHINGTON — A reduction in average weekly hours, combined with the continued rise in consumer prices, caused a further decline in the purchasing power of the nation's workers between December and January, the Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics has announced.

Because of a decrease in average weekly hours from 38.2 to 37.6, gross weekly earnings dropped from $103.90 to $103.40 for a 50 cents decline. This occurred despite a three-cent increase in average hourly earnings from $2.72 to $2.75.

The 0.6-hour drop in the average workweek was attributed mainly to construction, manufacturing, and trade. In the construction industry, the workweek was dropped in January by almost two hours to 34.7 hours. In manufacturing, the January drop — from 41.1 to 40.8 hours. In trade, the drop was from 36.6 to 35.9 hours.

Net spendable earnings (after-tax pay) for a worker with a wife and two other dependents dropped 39 cents, from $92.50 to $92.11. For the single worker, net spendable earnings declined from $84.95 to $84.57.

Small increases in spendable earnings in trade, finance, insurance and real estate, were more than offset by decreases in construction and manufacturing.

Orange next for Dayton in state journey

Cornell, Dartmouth in tie for Ivy League's crown

The Ivy League basketball race ended in a tie, as Cornell was upset by Yale last Saturday while Dartmouth was dawning Princeton. Cornell and Dartmouth each completed the season with records on seven victories and three losses. It will be for the play-offs, which start this Saturday at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, to decide a clear-cut champion in the Ivy League.

A jump shot from the corner by Warren Schleppner of Yale with four seconds remaining in the game crushed Cornell's hopes for an undisputed regular season championship. Schleppner's shot gave Yale a come-from-behind 21-20 victory over the strong Cornell team.

Yale rallied to score 10 points in the final period of this game to upset the Cornell team. Schleppner and Perry Koplik led the Yale scorers with six points each. Hustling Mike Sanders tallied three points for the winner and led a final-period press which caused Cornell turn-overs and easy Yale buckets. Jeff Slater, Jeff Sarokin, and Gary Naleff each hit single buckets for the winning Yale team.

While Cornell was upset by the determined Yale team, Dartmouth held off a final-period rally by Princeton to climb into a first-place tie with Cornell in the final standings. Kenny Baroff and Alfred Wilbourn paced the Dartmouth attack, which was successful in this game. Both boys hit five points. Wilbourn was particularly effective on defense and with his board work. Paul Faneoroff, Tommy Lowy and Marc Goff each hit single buckets for Dartmouth as they topped Princeton, 17 to 13. Gary Weiner played well for Dartmouth and contributed a foul shot.

Arnie Blumenfeld again played a strong game for Princeton. Arnie rebounded well at both ends of the court for Princeton and led the squad with seven points. Mike Klarfeld hit a bucket for Princeton, while Mark Weber hit a free throw.

Bulldogs top Hanover in first round

BY MYRON MEISEL

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School basketball team will travel Saturday night to West Essex High School in Fairfield to play first-ranked Orange High School in the second round of the New Jersey State Tournament.

The Bulldogs caged defeated Hanover Park High School, 60-47, Tuesday night at David Breyer High School in Kenilworth. After a sluggish first quarter in which they scored only eight points, the entire Bulldog squad exploded in a strong, offensive effort and easily ran off with the contest.

Cliff Tuck and Dennis Lester led the Bulldog offense with 19 and 16 points respectively. Three consecutive buckets by York in the second quarter gave Dayton its lead for the first time and the Bulldogs didn't lose it.

Lester, playing his finest game of the year, was aggressive on offense and sank eight goals, pacing the team for much of the second half. Guard Gary Kurtz contributed a fine defensive performance, and both Richie Campbell and David Margulies turned in strong games under the boards.

Hanover Park, champion of the Jersey Hills Conference with a 16-4 regular season record, failed to develop an attack from the outside. Despite the fine shooting of Warren Casey, who scored 17, Hanover Park was unable to duplicate its high-scoring games of the Jersey Hill Conference.

Head Coach Ray Vanchus rotated his players frequently drawing a fine game from all participants.

Orange High School, winner of the Essex County Tournament, represents a very difficult challenge for the Bulldogs in the next leg of the Group II section II competition.

The line score:

Dayton	60
Hanover Park	47

Minuteman juniors display prowess in trouncing two teams from Chatham

The Springfield Minutemen suffered another bad week last week, as they dropped a regular-season basketball game at home to the Union PAL, 36 to 49; and a tournament game at Berkeley Heights to Our Lady of Peace Grammar School of New Providence, 49 to 42. The Union game was played at the Florence Gaudineer School last Wednesday, and the tournament game was played at the Gov. Livingston Regional High School in Berkeley Heights last Thursday evening.

Promises of better things to come became apparent last Saturday evening at the Gaudineer School when a pair of Springfield Minutemen teams made up of sixth and seventh grade boys demolished a similar pair of Chatham Township teams. The Springfield seventh graders, who have suffered through many defeats against older boys this season, showed their experience in crushing Chatham Township in two games, 52 to 1 and 58 to 27.

The Springfield vs. Union PAL game was one which should have been won by Springfield, as the home team left the court at half time with a 29 to 19 lead. Union, however, returned in the second half to blow a listless Minutemen team off the floor. The Minutemen spread their scoring over 11 players in this game with George Robbins leading the way with 12 points. George also led the Springfield boys in rebounding with 10. Bobby Meisel, with 10 points on five field goals, played another top game for the Minutemen. Bobby has filled in well since the loss of Jimmy Soboch, and he will be counted on heavily next year.

Bruce Jeffery hit five points for Springfield in this game, and did some fine board work. Barry Pomp tallied six points for the Minutemen in this game. Eddie Cook and Mark Weber each hit three points in the game, while the remainder of the Springfield boys hit single buckets. Those other scorers were Bobby Zucker, Vince Davis, Al Wilbourn, Jeff Sarokin and Howie Tenenbaum.

lead changes and six ties. The Springfield team faltered in the final two minutes to drop a 49 to 42 decision, as the New Providence team tallied the game's final nine points.

Eddie Cook played his top game of the year for the Minutemen, as he led the scorers with 11 points and grabbed 10 big rebounds. Eddie really took control of the boards in this game and played until his heart until the final buzzer sounded. George Robbins hit 10 points for Springfield. George, playing up front for Springfield, was particularly hot in the third period when he heeded four shots. George pulled down seven rebounds for Springfield in this game.

Mike Sanders, the Minutemen's late-season sensation, also played an outstanding game for Springfield. Mike, with another scrappy performance, contributed seven points to the Springfield attack. Bob Meisel hit six points for the Minutemen, as did Bruce Jeffery. Bruce, coming off the bench to relieve the front-court men, gained his points on rebound shots from underneath. Bobby Zucker hit a bucket to conclude the Springfield scoring. Vince Davis and Barry Pomp also saw action for the Minutemen in this important game but were unable to dent the cords.

Arizona ends unbeaten year in State League regular play

The regular basketball season in the Recreation Department's State League came to a conclusion last Saturday afternoon at the Florence Gaudineer School. The league was played in two divisions for the first time this year. Arizona topped a clear-cut victory over the other five teams in the Western Division. The Arizona team completed the season undefeated with a 10 and 0 record. The Eastern Division was a far different story as three teams ended the regular season in a tie for first place. Kansas, Iowa, and North Carolina finished with identical seven and three marks.

Arizona, which has been victorious in close battles all season, finished its season unbeaten as it topped Oklahoma last Saturday, 22 to 19. It took still another patented second-half rally by Arizona to pull out the game. Charles Adickman and Bruce Cohen shared the scoring honors for Arizona, as both boys netted six points. Glenn Cooper hit five points for the winners, while Mark Mathews contributed three points and a fine floor game. Mike Levine had his biggest afternoon of the season in leading the Oklahoma attack, Mike hit six times from the floor for 12 points. Bobby Lee, with a bucket and two free throws; hit one point for the Oilers. While Rich Goldammer hit a free throw, and Bruce Hoffman, a bucket.

Utah continued its high-scoring rampage, as it finished the season by drubbing Texas, 42 to 21. Mark Tasher, who went on a scoring spree five weeks ago, finished with 18 points and a share of the league scoring crown. Mike Meisler added Mark in the Utah attack, as he added eight points. Elliot Lieberman scored six points for Utah, as did Justin Schneider. Joel Goldberg completed the high-scoring Utah attack with four points. Roy Greenberg led the Texas attack, as he netted 11 points. Bob Dorsey and Bob Wallick also played well for Texas. Both boys hit the cords for four points each.

California's offense was in high gear last Saturday, as it trounced Wyoming, 11 to 24. Three boys were in double figures for California. Bob Day led the attack with 13 points, as he hit six times from the floor and once from the foul line. Johnny Gacos and Nell Anderson netted 10 points each for California. John hit five field goals, while Nell was good on three shots from the floor and four times from the line. Alan Spielholf tallied five points for the winner, while Tony Petruzzello and Dave Mitchell hit single buckets in the California attack. Barry Gerst led the Wyoming attack, as he tallied 11 points. Johnny Bahr was also effective for Wyoming in this game, as he dropped in seven points and played well at both ends of the court. Dick Fishbein hit five points for Wyoming, while Dave Mollen completed the Wyoming scoring with four points.

USETES WERE the key note of this final afternoon of play in the State League's Eastern Division. The two front-running teams, Iowa and Kansas, fell, while North Carolina was victorious to force a three-way tie for the regular season crown. It will be up the playoffs to unscramble the tight Eastern Division.

Jeff Schneider had his finest afternoon of the season, and the best single outing of the season, as he netted 20 points to lead Indiana to 30 to 27 victory over Iowa. Jeff hit 10 field goals in getting his 20 points. Jeff tallied five buckets in each half of the game. Joe Silverman added seven points to the Indiana attack to contribute to the victory. Wayne Magers with a two-pointer and Bruce Rosow with a free throw were the other Indiana scorers. Ar Freeman was high for Iowa, as he tallied 11 points. Rich Feldman scored eight points for Iowa, while John Siegel tallied four points. Jim LoFredo and Mike Harrison each tallied one from the floor for Iowa.

Kansas was also upset last week, thus being denied sole possession of the division's top position. West Virginia, the league's most improved team, made Kansas its victim last week. Billy Huntley's two free throws in the final period pushed West Virginia ahead of Kansas, and then the defense held on to give them a victory. Billy also led the team in scoring as he hit nine points. Larry Koldorf hit six points and Frank Zarrello with five points were also effective in this game for the West Virginians. Mark Dostal and Jess Colandrea scored three points each for West Virginia. Sam Kaplan led Kansas with 11 points. Big Sam hit five goals in a share of the league's scoring crown. Mickey Byrd and Louis Klein each hit six points in the Kansas attack.

North Carolina gained a share of first place with a 29 to 23 victory over Florida. Dino DiCocco, operating in the center slot for North Carolina, led his team in scoring as he netted 11 points. Dino hit five times from the floor and added a free throw. Bobby Hydock was once again outstanding for North Carolina. Bobby had nine points in the game and was the top player for the Carolinians in the back court. Keny Conte, Al Lipton, Robert Roth and Dave Mantel all hit buckets in the North Carolina victory match, while Roger Frank netted a free throw to round out the scoring for the winners. Stu Gerwitz, who has been outstanding all season in Florida's colors, once again paced the team, as he netted 15 points. Stu is up among the scoring leaders in final statistics. Single buckets in this game were added to the Florida total by Barry Rose, John Lopez, Paul Dublin and Alan Filles.

MARK TASHER of Utah and Sam Kaplan of Kansas tied for the State League scoring crown. Both boys finished the season with 95 points. Sam had led the league's scoring statistics until the final week, when Tasher tied him for the crown. Charles Adickman of Arizona finished third with 82 points. Ar Freeman of Iowa was fourth with 74 points. Stu Gerwitz of Florida was the fifth top scorer. Stu netted a season total of 73 points. Stu paced the foot shooting with a record 29 from the line.

The other boys in the top 10 were: Bobby Day (California), 72 points; Barry Gerst (Wyoming), 62 points; Dino DiCocco (North Carolina), 62 points; Bobby Hydock (North Carolina), 60 points, and Johnny Bahr (Wyoming), 58 points.

Opening round games in the State League play-offs got underway this week. Tonight, Texas will meet Oklahoma at 7, while California plays Wyoming at 8. Games will be played in the Gaudineer School. The play-offs started last night as West Virginia met Indiana, and Florida went against North Carolina.

The quarter-final round will start Saturday afternoon. The West Virginia - Indiana winner will play Iowa at 1, A 2 p.m. game will send the Florida - North Carolina winner against Kansas. At 3, Utah will face the winner of the Texas - Oklahoma game. The last quarter-final contest will pit undefeated Arizona against the Wyoming - California winner.

On Tuesday evening, the Gaudineer School will be the site of the semi-final game. The first game will start at 7, with a second contest to start at 8.

THE YOUNGER Springfield boys, both sixth and seventh graders who were on the Minutemen squad this season, responded with a 52 to 1 victory over a team of boys from Chatham Township. The Springfield boys, with their superior experience showing from the contest, completely dominated this game, as the score indicated.

Joe Pepe, a sixth grader and a product of the youth basketball program led the Springfield team, as he dropped in 16 points and grabbed 12 rebounds. Joe was simply outstanding and his performance in this contest shows a bright picture for future Springfield teams. Mark Weber, a seventh grader, also played well for the Minutemen. Mark, who can hit from both inside and outside, tallied 10 points and accounted for a similar number of rebounds.

Gary Tass played a strong game for Springfield, as he hit nine points. Gary is a seventh grader with a bright future. Gary hits consistently from outside the circle. Other seventh graders who showed well for Springfield were Jeff Sarokin, Tommy Lowy and Howie Tenenbaum. Mark Widom and John Zarlock are a couple of sixth graders who played well and promise Springfield a good future.

The second game last Saturday evening matched the more advanced seventh graders of both the Springfield Minutemen and the Chatham Township team. The Springfield players, all whom have seen extensive action against older boys this year, took the measure of Chatham by a 58 to 28 score. The Minutemen started a team, which should go on to start the 1969 season for the Minutemen. Vince Davis and Al Wilbourn started up front, and the starting back-court performers were: Bobby Meisel, Kenny Baroff and Jerry Jones. All the boys played well; as did Mark Weber, Gary Tass and Howie Tenenbaum in reserve roles.

JERRY JONES was particularly impressive for the Springfield team; Jerry, without much basketball training prior to this season, has come on like wildfire. Jerry is by far the fastest man on the team, and he uses his great speed to much advantage on defense; Jerry has been handed the job of running the Springfield offense and he is responding with increasing ability. Jerry has a pair of foul shots in this game and the remainder of his play was outstanding at both ends of the court. Jerry was credited with eight steals and six assists.

Kenny Baroff really came into his own in this ball game, as he scored 20 points. Ken, who promises to be a fine basketball player, possesses a very good shot and fine basketball instincts. Kenny worked particularly well with Al Wilbourn in this game. Ken and Howie worked the five and got on numerous occasions which led to buckets by Baroff on the return pass. Wilbourn also played a fine game with six points and eight rebounds. Al will be counted on heavily next season for his defense and rebounding. Wilbourn is improving each week as an offensive performer.

Bobby Meisel, who plays regularly with the older boys, had a top game here for the Minutemen. Bobby hit for 10 points and was a steady influence on his teammates. Bobby has probably the best moves on the team and one of the best shots. When Bob gets hot, he is able to score points in clusters. Vince Davis, who started up front for the Minutemen, is another seventh grader with a bright future. Vince possesses both the size and talent to be a star. Vince must learn only to use his good size and cut down on fouling. Vince tallied eight points in the game and pulled down six rebounds before being benched with five personal fouls.

Gary Tass returned to play a reserve role in the second game and continued his fine outside shooting. Gary tallied six points. Mark Weber also saw extensive action in this contest and responded with eight rebounds and two points. Howie Tenenbaum tallied four points for the Springfield team with some fancy outside shooting.

The Minutemen will meet a team from Paterson this Saturday evening at the Gaudineer School. Game time is set for 7:30.

Strikers keep lead behind top bowling of Barbara Owens

The Strikers continue to pace the Tuesday Afternoon Club bowling league, which is sponsored by the Recreation Department. Last Tuesday Barbara Owens returned to form, as she bowled a 322 two-game effort to pace the Strikers. The Dancers picked up some ground on the front runners last week with a sweep of two games. The girls roll each week at the Springfield Bowl.

Miss Owens, who suffered through a couple of off weeks, was her old self last week, as she hit the boards for a second game of 195. Barbara posted a first-game effort of 127. Cindy Zarrelli also rolled well for the Strikers as she posted two games that were high over her season average. The Strikers were bowling against the Stars in this match and could come away with only a split of two games. Carol Roessner, with a 201 series, was the top girl on the Star's team. Peggy Greenleis was also effective for the Stars with a 154 series.

The Dancers moved to within five games of the Strikers, as they swept two games from the Charms. Debbie Kuskin and Darlene Pancaker both rolled at the top of their games to lead the Dancer victories. Debbie was the top scorer with a 234 series. Darlene posted a 220 total for the two-game match. Holly Quinton was the best bowler last Tuesday for the Charms; Holly posted a 150 series.

Miss Owens again raised her league-leading season average. Barbara, who has far outdistanced the rest of the league, is sporting a 155 season average. Carol Roessner, who has been the runner-up all season, is averaging 109. Debbie Kuskin is in third place with a 103 season mark. Darlene Pancaker is in fourth place with a 94 average, while Ann Marie Calmus holds fifth place with an 89 season average.

The remaining girls among the league's 10 best are: Joann McGrady, 84; Sue Murphy, 82; Nina Kahn, 81; Liz Simpson, 77, and Janice LaMotta, 77.

Harvard played a listless game last Saturday afternoon as it was unable to muster a steady attack. Gary Tass, with some fancy outside shooting in the final period, kept the score fairly respectable. Gary finished with five points. Vince Davis and Bobby Nardone each hit three points for Harvard, while Art James and Dickie Colandrea hit single buckets for the Harvard team.

COLUMBIA TOPPED Harvard in the opener last Saturday at the high school by the score of 28 to 15. The Columbia victory over Harvard evened its season record at five and five. Columbia, moving the ball sharply against the Harvard defense, saw six boys enter the scoring column. George Robbins, with 12 points and many more rebounds, led the Columbia victory. Barry Pomp was also effective for the Columbia team, which scored freely in each period. Barry contributed nine points. Kenny Marner hit three points, while Jeff Davis, Gavin Widom and Steve Zullman hit two points each for the light blue Columbia team.

Gary finished with five points. Vince Davis and Bobby Nardone each hit three points for Harvard, while Art James and Dickie Colandrea hit single buckets for the Harvard team.

Eddie Cook of Cornell took the Ivy League scoring crown as he netted 27 points in 10 league games. Ed, with a fine season, gained the majority of his points on rebounds. Eddie's strong rebounding led his Cornell team to a tie for the league championship. George Robbins of Columbia finished fast to gain the runner-up spot in the scoring race. George had 75 points. Vince Davis of Harvard was third with 72 points. Dartmouth's Ken Baroff placed fourth with 69 points, while Bobby Meisel of Cornell and Barry Pomp of Columbia tied for fifth with 54 points each.

The remaining boys finishing in the top 10 were: Arnie Blumenfeld (Princeton), 53 points; Barry Zucker (Dartmouth), 50 points; Jimmy Schoch (Princeton), 49 points; and Mike Sanders (Yale), 42 points.

The Ivy League play-offs will start Saturday afternoon at the high school gym. Cornell and Dartmouth, which tied for the championship, drew byes for the play-offs and will not see first-round action. The opening first-round game will pit Princeton against Harvard at 1 p.m.; the second game will send Yale against Columbia.

The play-offs will continue at the Florence Gaudineer School on Tuesday, with semi-final action. The winners of the Princeton-Harvard battle will meet Dartmouth at 7 p.m., while Cornell will face the Yale-Columbia victor.

Rossie Millman started with 166-198-510 in Temple Beth Ahn Sisterhood at Hyattsville Bowl, closely followed by Shirley Kurtz, 183-507; Top teams are Baum-Lester-Kurtz, 40-17; Gould-Uslan-Lichter, 38-19; and Turner-Iovino-Giovanillo, 36-21.

Other leaders included Otto Burdardt, 239; Bob Jones, 230; Harold Burdett, 226; Jim Funcheon, 216; Joe Alasco, 210; Ron DeSantis, 208; Ralph Polkoff, 203, and Ted Hultus, 202.

Sweeps went to Springfield Bowl over Spring Liquor and Cardinal Golden Center over Polkcarpio Bros. Top teams are Springfield Market, 47-5-30.5; Conte's Deli and Mende Florist, both at 42-36, and Bunnell Bros., 39-5-38.5.

The Hot Peppers hold first place with a mark of 38-25 in St. James Ladies at 4 Seasons. Next in the standings are El Doge, 36-27; Gems, 35-28, and the Die Hards, 34-29.

High scorers were Roseanne Waryn, 180-166-477; Freda Kaselblin, 171-441; Marlene Koonz, 163-185-454; Fran Benks, 174-404; Cay Benaker, 160; Lola Vesey, 165-409; Elmor Ward, 159-153-446; Jean Henderson, 156-404; Kay Corcoran, 154-401; Anna Schafertown, 158; Helen Stickle, 153-400; Ida Caputo, 153; Gen English, 404, and Lucille Puche, 402.

First place in the Skittlers at Springfield Bowl belongs to the Pin Pickers, with a record of 44.5-27.5, closely followed by the High Hopes, 43-29, and the Question Marks, 40-32.

Jim Creede wins AAU diving meet

Jim Creede, of Springfield, a senior at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, won the Newark AAU Junior Men's diving championship last Sunday at the Newark Academy pool. He edged out Newark Academy's John Lolley for the title.

Lolley is a member of the Summit Area YMCA's swim team which placed first in the 15-17 age group Central Atlantic Area of YMCA's Northern Sectionals, held last Saturday at the Ridgewood YMCA. Summit boys scored 56 2/3 points.

Creede was a member of the 400 yard freestyle relay "red" team which set a new sectional record, and he placed fourth in the 100-yard freestyle.

Pingry athlete

James Sarolin of 15 Christy Lane, Springfield, has been awarded a letter for participation in junior varsity basketball at the Pingry School, Hillside. It was announced this week by Vincent L. Lesnecki, director of athletics.

Aggies to oppose Bullets Saturday for Caldwell title

It will be the Aggies against the Bullets for the championship of the Caldwell Small Fry League's title Saturday at the James Caldwell School gymnasium. Last Saturday, the upstart Aggies topped the Celtics in overtime by a 15 to 14 score. The Bullets won their semi-final contest in easier style, as they tripped the Lakers, 23 to 8. The members of the winning team will be presented awards by the Recreation Department.

The defense-minded Aggies went into overtime to defeat the high-scoring Celtics in a thrilling game last Saturday. Elliot Melamed's bucket in overtime spelled the difference for the Aggies. Elliot needed the big two-pointer, as Phil Zisman had dropped a free throw in the overtime session to give the Bullets a temporary lead.

Robert Fleischman led the Aggie scorers in this game as he tallied seven points. Bobby was particularly effective in the second period, when the Aggies surged to a three-point lead. Elliot Melamed hit five big points in the game, in addition to his winning basket. Bruce Blumenfeld rattled seven points to lead the Celts, while Phil Zisman hit three foul shots for the losing team. Scott Grayson and Marc Cooper had two points each for the Celts, while Marc Fishman hit three big points for the winning Aggie team.

The Bullets became the other finalists for play this Saturday when they mowed down the Lakers, 23 to 8. Jeff McQuaid, who has come well into his own in play-off competition, was all over the court as he paced the winners. Jeff tallied nine points and was "the floor leader" for the Bullets. Jess Greenstein also played well for the Bullets, as he hit for six points.

The Bullets were a second-half team in this game, as they went into the intermission trailing the Lakers by a point. In the second half, the Bullets outscored their opponents, 17 to 1. Joey Knowles also played a big part in the victory. Joey played well at both ends of the court and netted six points. Carl Melroy and Jerry Kaselblin got the Lakers away fast in this game, as they both hit well in the opening period. Carl finished as high man with five points, while Jerry hit for three points.

Arts Center tickets: Don't call us, we'll call you

Please, send no money, just your name and address.

That's the message this week from the Garden State Arts Center and its parent New Jersey Highway Authority after what it called a hectic week of refusing checks and orders for the opening season of the recreational-cultural complex starting this June.

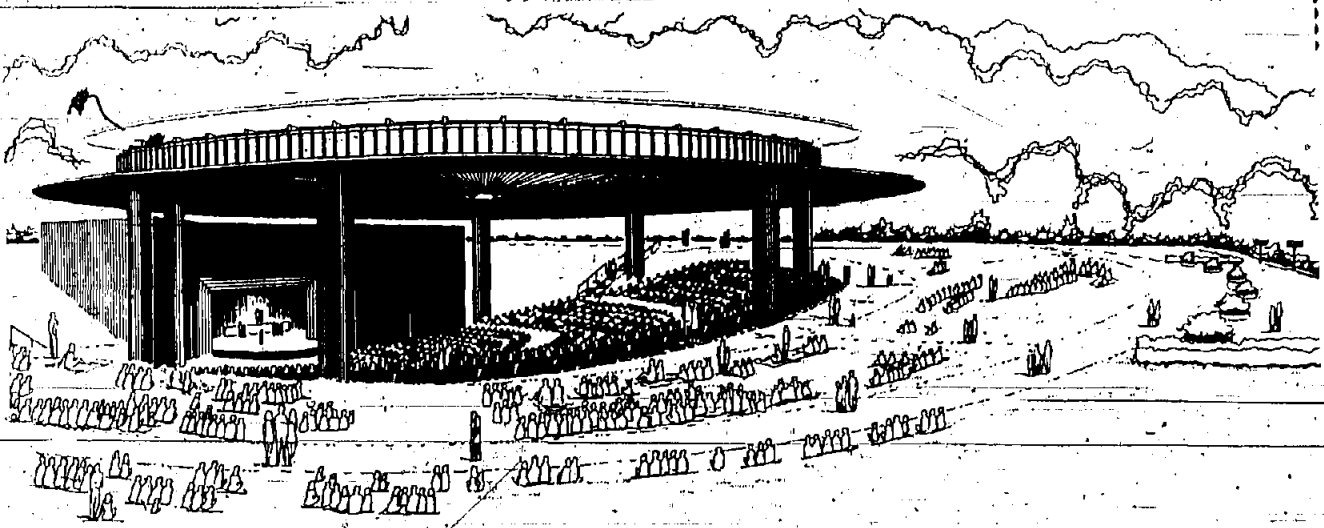

"We are delighted with the public response to the announcement last week of opening dates and programs," Executive Director D. Louis Tonti said. "But obviously so many people mistook the newspaper reports as a signal to order tickets."

The Arts Center hasn't begun to accept orders yet, he stressed, although a number of people were apparently given the impression that it is already sold out for the first season.

What it is accepting now are names and addresses (with zip code) for addition to the priority mailing list, so that detailed season information and order forms can be dispatched first to such New Jersey sources within two or three weeks. These mail-list requests should be sent to the Garden State Arts Center, P.O. Box 116, Holmdel, 07733.

The Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra conducted by Eugene Ormandy with guest pianist Van Cliburn will open the season on Saturday night, June 15 following an invitational pre-view two days before. The Arts Center is at Telegraph Hill Park, Holmdel, on the Garden State Parkway.

The Arts Center also has listed several additional programs for its inaugural season "in order to provide an indication of caliber

ARTIST'S CONCEPTION of completed Amphitheater of the Garden State Arts Center shows how more than 5,000 within structure and additional spectators on surrounding lawn will view the giant 120-foot stage. Already scheduled for first season of this new complex of talent and the range of interest that will be offered."

Included among these programs will be: The Joffrey Ballet, from New York's City Center; Harry Belafonte, The Man of La Mancha and The Supremes.

on the Garden State Parkway are such classical and popular programs as the Joffrey Ballet, Harry Belafonte, Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra and the long-run musical hit, The Man of La Mancha.

Tonti said that additional programs, to be announced shortly, would "complete a full season of events that will bring to New Jersey some of the world's greatest artists."

"However," Tonti continued, "while we will be bringing talent to New Jersey we are not forgetting about New Jersey talent itself."

In commenting on the initial announcement of events, Tonti declared:

"We are attempting to appeal to every segment of the musical spectrum, from classical symphony to 'pop'; from ballet to Broadway musicals."

TO MARCH IN PARADE — The Patriots Drum and Bugle Corps of Cranford will lead the Morley and McGovern Association of 104 East Westfield ave., Roselle Park, in the annual St. Patrick's Day parade in Newark starting at 2 p.m. Sunday. Young people from Roselle, Union, Irvington, Kenilworth and Springfield are among the members of the corps. Director Vincent P. Flanagan of 11 Besler ave., Cranford, said the group is in urgent need of more horn players between the ages of 12 and 19. The unit has 53 members—33 boys in the corps and 20 girls in the color guard.

File before April 5 for prompt refund, says tax director

In a special plea to New Jersey taxpayers this week, IRS District Director Joseph M. Shotz asked taxpayers expecting refunds on their 1967 tax returns to file their returns before April 5.

Shotz explained that processing work in the Service Center is now at the lowest ebb in the filing period.

Refunds on correctly prepared returns filed now will be issued within five weeks. Refund returns filed later may become intermingled with the traditional last minute avalanche of returns and processing might be unavoidably delayed, he said.

Shotz admitted that there was a selfish motive in his request for immediate filing of refund returns. He explained that the skills of temporary Service Center employees have peaked their seasonal peak. Unless an additional half million returns are received within the next few days, it will be necessary to release some of these employees until the deluge of returns expected during the closing days of the filing period again flows into the Service Center. It will take several days after their recall to regain their present level of efficiency, he said.

He emphasized that experience has shown that taxpayers who prepare their returns under pressure of the April 15 deadline are most prone to make omissions or errors on their returns. Errors further delay receipt of refunds.

Shotz also asked that all refund tax returns be mailed as soon as possible to the Internal Revenue Service, Philadelphia, Pa. 19155.

Wirtz asks Senate: Pass Occupational Health, Safety Act

WASHINGTON—Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz has urged Congress to enact legislation to help prevent industrial accidents that yearly kill between 14,000 and 15,000, disable two million and hurt more than seven million workers.

Testifying before the Subcommittee on Labor of the Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare, Secretary Wirtz urged passage of the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1968.

The secretary said that the bill has been developed around these convictions:

- That the waste of human life and capacity resulting from occupational accidents and disease is intolerable.
- That the safety and health programs developed by responsible private employers and the present limited pattern of Federal and State regulatory and educational programs clearly establish that affirmative action can significantly reduce occupational accidents and disease.
- This purpose can be most effectively achieved through a more comprehensive Federal-State occupational safety and health program.

SECRETARY WIRTZ used photographs of industrial accidents, statistics, newspaper headlines about job accidents, and newspaper occupational accident victims to illustrate the need for more effective legislation.

Provisions of the Occupational Safety and Health Act include these:

- State agencies are to carry out safety and health functions in the area of interstate commerce through contracts with the Secretary of Labor.
- Federal support of state programs is to be provided through planning funds and experimental and demonstration grants to establish information systems about the kinds and frequency of occupational injuries and disease, to increase the competence of occupational safety and health personnel, and to improve the administration and enforcement of state occupational safety and health laws.
- The Secretary of Labor is authorized to establish safety codes or regulations in the discharge of this function.
- The bill also establishes enforcement action for safety programs and laws. When an uncorrected violation is found, the Secretary of Labor may conduct a hearing and apply formal procedures of the Administrative Procedures Act.
- If the hearing confirms a violation, the secretary may issue a cease and desist order enforceable in the Federal District Court. Violations which threaten imminent harm to the safety and health of workers are subject to immediate cease and desist, as determined by authorized inspectors.
- The law also provides for civil penalties of up to $1,000 for each violation. Willful violation is made a misdemeanor.
- The bill also provides assistance for the education and continued training of safety personnel to assure adequate manpower in this area.

Ask Amy

By AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy: My husband is not a heavy drinker, just a sociable one, I suppose I'm lucky that the only time he does drink is when we are out together. When I tell him he has had enough, he always tells me that he only drinks mixed drinks and they aren't as bad as straight shots.

Amy, not being a drinker myself, I still question the logic of his answer. What say you?

Mixed

Dear Mixed: One ounce of liquor, whether straight, on the rocks, diluted with water, mixed with fruit juices, made to look harmless with lemon peels, orange slices or other assorted garnishes is still one ounce of liquor...and still as potent.

Dear Amy: My boyfriend and I have been going together for one year now, I love him and he knows this, Amy, he takes advantage of me, but I don't want to face the truth. He calls me any time that he feels like because he knows that I will be sitting home waiting for him to call. He even calls me eleven or twelve at night and expects me to go with him, and of course, I go with him because I am afraid of losing him.

I love him so much, Amy, but I can't go on like this any more. I don't know what I am going to do. Should I keep on sitting home or can you help me?

Night Owl

Dear Night Owl: If you don't want to face the truth, you must take the consequences. But if you wise up, you will realize that you can't land a guy whom you let take advantage of you. Now if you still want to go a glutton for punishment, go ahead, sisset, you deserve him!

Dear Amy: I will certainly appreciate it very much if you could help me by putting this in your column. We are people who mind our own business and do not permit our animals to annoy our neighbors in any way. We made a hole in our cellar door so our two cats can come into the warm collar. They sit on a warm couch and feed them at the top of the stairs landing. Our neighbors (on each side of us) have cats also. Since we are in the middle, we can't keep them out of here. They follow our cats in and eat and sleep here.

If they were fed properly, we would not be so annoyed and upset all the time. We don't want to hurt them as we are very good people and humane to animals. But we can't keep getting excited, nor can we afford the cost. We hope you can understand our problem and that you will inform these people to feed their cats...and then they will stay where they belong.

Mrs. J.B. (New Jersey)

Dear Amy: I am dating a sweet, reserved 'cat's-got-the-tongue' type of girl whose father is a psychiatrist. She's all right I guess but she doesn't do much talking.

I discussed this with my mother, and she suggested I talk with her father. One evening when I went to her house, I got her dad alone and I asked him what's wrong with his daughter. He said it was up to me to get his 'flower' to blossom forth.

I am a senior in college and if this all the advice he can offer, who needs her. There are plenty of 'flowers' in the garden. What's your opinion?

Dear Gordon: True, there are plenty of flowers in a garden, but the kind you describe sounds rare indeed. She may just be a late bloomer. In which case, you may have discovered a fine species of American Beauty. But, if she bores you, son, you are not the type to let grass grow under your feet, broaden your horizons.

PERSONAL TO Lenny: A 'carat', unlike the carrot, is a unit of measurement by which many a girl estimates a man's love.

Wirtz asks Senate: Pass Occupational Health, Safety Act

WASHINGTON—Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz has urged Congress to enact legislation to help prevent industrial accidents that yearly kill between 14,000 and 15,000, disable two million and hurt more than seven million workers.

Testifying before the Subcommittee on Labor of the Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare, Secretary Wirtz urged passage of the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1968.

The secretary said that the bill has been developed around these convictions:

- That the waste of human life and capacity resulting from occupational accidents and disease is intolerable.
- That the safety and health programs developed by responsible private employers and the present limited pattern of Federal and State regulatory and educational programs clearly establish that affirmative action can significantly reduce occupational accidents and disease.
- This purpose can be most effectively achieved through a more comprehensive Federal-State occupational safety and health program.

5 reforms asked for state colleges before tuition hikes

The New Jersey Education Assn. this week urged the state to enact five reforms before considering any increase in tuition at the six state colleges.

A tuition increase now would be "improper" and "indefensible," said Dr. Frederick L. Hipp, N.J.E.A.'s executive secretary. "A special tax on the college student...to raise funds for the New Jersey Treasury."

"Instead," Dr. Hipp urged, "the state should take responsible action to expand and improve public higher education in New Jersey from more general revenue sources."

The tuition increase was suggested last week during testimony of Higher Education Chancellor Ralph A. Dungan before the Legislature's Joint Appropriations Committee.

Before considering an increase, Dr. Hipp said, the state should enact these "reforms":

1. Larger appropriations for the six state colleges, which now lag from $500 to $700 per student, behind the state appropriation for Rutgers University.
2. Guarantees that each college may use its tuition receipts to provide better education at that school. At present, tuition receipts are mixed into the general State Treasury, with no guarantee even that they will be used for higher education.
3. Removal of red tape that now requires each state college to apply to a state bureau in Trenton to transfer budgeted funds from one time-item account to another.
4. Reduction of hidden tuition charges: the students now pay as "fees."
5. Special arrangements for students from needy families, "for whom any tuition at all causes financial hardship."

About the "discrepancy" in state appropriations for the six state colleges, Dr. Hipp said that Rutgers University is set to get $1,485 per student in fiscal 1969 and the Newark College of Engineering $1,389. Yet the highest recommendation for any of the six state colleges is $987, and four will get below $900 per student.

Masterwork concert tickets now available

Mrs. Robert C. May of Whippany, executive director of the Masterwork Music and Art Foundation, announced this week that tickets are on sale for the Masterwork performance of Beethoven's "Mass in G-Minor."

The concert will be given at Carnegie Hall on Friday, May 17, at 8 p.m. The Masterwork Chorus and Orchestra will be conducted by David Randolph.

Tickets in all price categories are available. They can be ordered by writing or calling the office of The Masterwork Foundation, 738 Speedwell Ave., Morris Plains.

Rinaldo proposes widening Parkway Union to Raritan

State Senator Matthew J. Rinaldo of Union, has asked State Transportation Commissioner David J. Goldberg to investigate the possibility of using state funds to widen the Garden State Parkway to five lanes in each direction between Union and the Raritan River.

Noting that the New Jersey Highway Authority has proposed the construction of parallel service roads after purchasing the 13-mile section of the Parkway from the State, Rinaldo reiterated his opposition to the plan. "I am unalterably opposed to such an action because it would involve the imposition of tolls," the Union County Republican told Goldberg. "However, I am not unmindful of the need for alleviating the congestion that presently prevails on that portion of the Parkway."

Elaborating on his proposal, the Union County legislator said he hoped that the money for the construction would come from the proceeds of any bond issue floated to finance more highways.

Rinaldo suggested in January that the Highway Authority consider the possibility of making available reduced rate commutation tickets, similar to those sold by the Port of New York Authority for its bridge and tunnel facilities. Although the Highway Authority has shown little enthusiasm for the idea, Rinaldo said, he intends to keep pressing for adoption of his plan. "I am convinced it is a worthwhile idea," he said, "and I intend to continue my fight for its implementation."

Assemblymen begin move to prepare mandatory auto insurance legislation

The first steps toward initiating legislation calling for a mandatory vehicle insurance program for New Jersey, were taken Monday by Assemblymen Herbert H. Klein and Herbert J. Heilmann of Union. They represent District 9-3 in Union County.

The purpose of the move, they said, is to end, once and for all, the deficit in New Jersey's State Unsatisfied Claim and Judgment Fund. They want to eliminate the fund entirely.

The Assemblymen said that on Monday they instructed a legislative research associate in Trenton to prepare a mandatory auto insurance bill for introduction to the Assembly "as quickly as possible."

"Other states have adopted similar measures—with great success," Klein observed. "And their residents have not been forced to foot millions of dollars a year in bills for motorists who are too irresponsible to obtain insurance for their own vehicles."

"We have not yet examined all the possible inclusions into a bill such as the one we now propose. We will attend to that during the coming few days."

"However, we do know that our proposed legislation will call for adequate insurance coverage for any vehicle registered for operation in the state of New Jersey."

"If approved by the state legislature, our bill would guarantee that no one would receive license plates for his vehicle until he had obtained such insurance."

But what about the thousands of uninsured motorists who, each year file falsified registration applications, claiming they do have insurance? The Union Assemblymen say the law has the answer to that, too.

"If it is feasible, we would suggest that the owner of a vehicle be required to submit proof of insurance in the form of a receipt from the insurance company or in a sworn statement at the motor vehicle agency—that he had obtained the required coverage," Heilmann said.

"We are told by Salvatore Capozzi (head of the state fund) that thousands of motorists each year falsify their registration applications, claiming they have insurance so as to avoid the added fee now charged to uninsured drivers."

"We would hope to include a provision in our bill calling for the stiffest possible penalties for these persons."

"THE TWO ASSEMBLYMEN said they decided upon their action after receiving numerous calls from residents of their district, complaining about the proposed special insurance premium of about $5 per motorist to cover deficits in the fund."

"Why should a responsible motorist who already has bought—at a high price, I might add—adequate insurance—coverage for his own auto now be required to pay additional fees for someone who lacked the same sense of responsibility?" Heilmann demanded.

"To carry that one step further," Klein added, "why should the people of this state be called upon to pay out millions of dollars each year to compensate for the irresponsibility of a car owner who refuses to protect himself and his fellow drivers by obtaining insurance?"

Their bill, the Assemblymen hope, would put an end to that.

In testimony at a recent public hearing, Capozzi said that the state fund will go bankrupt by the end of the year unless additional monies are forthcoming. This observation came on the heels of a $3 million transfer (last year) from a solvent fund to keep the motorist fund going for another year.

Capozzi said there are some $22 million in claims now pending against the fund, which already pays out some $5-6 million a year.
