Regional board plans 'early fall' referendum

Consultants will restudy future needs

To examine proposals offered during winter

BY ABNER GOLD
The Regional High School District Board of Education Tuesday night set "early fall" as a target date for submission of a new expansion bond issue to the voters, to replace the one turned down March 19.
Avery Ward of Kenilworth, board president, said the board had authorized Dr. Warren Davis, superintendent, to speak to Dr. Henry J. Rissezzo, who was the consultant in preparation of the previous proposal, or other experts for a new study of educational needs of the district.
Ward added that the expert chosen would be asked to study questions raised by the public in discussions this winter, including matters of pupil distribution, and that the board "will consider his recommendations in these matters." He said that the board planned to meet "somewhere in the process," with representatives of the Springfield League of Women Voters and other interested groups.
He also noted that the additional study will postpone completion of any new facilities until at least the fall of 1971. The board, Ward said, will give consideration to distribution of students in the 1969-70 school year, for which no plans had yet been made. He added that the vote to study the whole matter again was unanimous and that there was no strong sentiment for resubmitting the original proposal.

IN ITS REGULAR MEETING at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, the board voted to change the class schedule at all four high schools — Dayton, Gov. Livingston Regional in Berkeley Heights, A.L. Johnson Regional in Clark and David Brearley Regional in Kenilworth.
Instead of having seven 55-minute classes, with six of the seven classes meeting each day, the schools next fall will change over to a program of seven 45-minute classes, all seven meeting every day. The change was urged by teachers and principals, Dr. Davis said, to provide greater continuity and to end having "split classes," with a lunch period in the middle.

Board reports on future needs of town schools

A picture of future needs of the Springfield school system will be outlined by Dr. Henry J. Rissezzo, Columbia University expert on educational facilities, at a special public meeting to be held by the Board of Education Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the girls' gymnasium at the Florence Gaudinier School. It was announced this week.

A board spokesman issued the following statement reviewing the study process which led to the report to be presented on Wednesday:

"DURING THE SUMMER of last year, the Springfield Board of Education retained the services of Dr. Henry J. Rissezzo, consultant on educational facilities, to prepare a detailed study of our school district's needs. Dr. Rissezzo who is an associate at Columbia University has prepared consultant's reports for many of the boards of education in the various cities in New Jersey and has done extensive work in this field throughout the country.

"It was the intention of the board to retain a specialist who could present an independent appraisal of our needs, including the physical school building needs, after completing a detailed study of the school district from the standpoint of population growth, housing characteristics, trends in population growth and housing development. Dr. Rissezzo undertook with his own staff to make a survey, study and evaluation in order to prepare a report which would include reasonable projections and estimates encompassing the coming decade. To this end he caused a study to be made of the school enrollment growth and characteristics. He made a detailed physical examination of the existing physical facilities.

"The board held several committee meetings with the advisory school planning committee, at which Dr. Rissezzo kept the members informed as to his progress. Among other things, board members requested that Dr. Rissezzo evaluate the needs of new structures. There is a question as to whether a new administration building would be needed and if so, what type of building and where it could be situated so as best to serve the community's needs. There was a question as to whether a

YES funds campaign set to wind up Saturday

The Springfield Youth Employment Service has taken its annual fund-raising campaign directly to the residents during YES Week, which will end Saturday.

To raise funds and expand the awareness of the YES program, local youths registered with the organization have been stationed with canisters in various locations in Springfield.

Mrs. Saul Black, chairman of YES, said "It is hoped that local residents will give generously to the students who will be soliciting funds."

"We also hope that the townspeople will commit themselves to insuring the continuance of the YES activities. It is no longer enough to decry juvenile delinquency or to surrender in indifference to youthful idleness, which is one of the causes leading to delinquency. We must all pull together — parents, business people, youth — in a determined, united responsibility to one another.

"The parents cannot say they are too busy and that someone else should shoulder the responsibility of providing employment for their children who are of working age. It is their duty to suggest to their children that they register with the YES office, so that they may be called when jobs are available.

"It is also important for a parent to volunteer a few hours occasionally to work in the YES office, which guarantees the child that someone will always be there when employment calls come in."
"We also hope that the townspeople will call Youth Employment Service when part-time employment is available for students, or full-time jobs for our high school graduates who are not going on to college.
"And finally, there is a duty that our young people have to themselves, the importance of keeping constructively busy, alleviating idleness and boredom, and attaining the satisfaction that comes with earning a salary and being self-sufficient," Mrs. Black added.

"Do you want to volunteer a few hours a month to Youth Employment Service? Do you have a job for our teenagers? Would you like any information about YES? If the answer to any of the above questions is 'YES,' please call 379-2567, Monday through Friday, from 2-4:30 p.m.," she concluded.

Qualified residents can register at the township clerk's office in the Municipal Building weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The office will also be open for registration until 9 p.m. April 22 through 25. Additional facts on registration and voting can be obtained from Mrs. Herbert Forman, League voters' service chairman, at 379-0363.

Springfield residents were invited to join the League of Women Voters next Thursday at 8:15 p.m. in a discussion of China after the Communist takeover. The meeting will be held at the National State Bank of Elizabethtown on Morris Avenue.

Members of the foreign policy committee of the South Orange League of Women Voters, the guest speakers, will discuss events after 1948.

Residents warned on containers for flammable liquids

The Springfield Fire Department this week reminded residents that it is against the law to dispense gasoline or any other flammable liquid in a glass container. The department also warned against the use of plastic containers for such liquids.

Fire Chief Ormond Mesker said: "This is a reminder to all that it is a violation of the Fire Prevention Code, Section 8-11, of the Township of Springfield to sell or dispense gasoline or any other flammable liquid in a glass container. It has also become a practice to use plastic containers for these flammable liquids. The National Fire Protection Association has issued the following warning:

"Flammable liquids are being stored in polyethylene plastic containers which were designed for water, bleaches, fruit juices, tea, milk and such liquids. Unfortunately, many small manufacturers of such containers are advertising using them for all liquids, including gasoline and other flammable liquids. These containers vary in size from one to five-gallon capacity.
"Reputable manufacturers and the Society of the Plastic Industry have expressed their concern about the potential fire hazards of many of these plastic containers.
"We have learned that colorful replicas of the famous GI metal cans of World War II are being made from polyethylene. These blow-

Apprehend youth after auto crash that injured 3 nuns

Springfield police this week apprehended a 16-year-old boy from Westfield as the driver of a car involved in an accident Sunday afternoon in the Baltusrol Top section. Three nuns, teachers at Mother Seton High School in Clark, who were passengers in the other car involved, were taken to Overlook Hospital by the First Aid Squad for treatment of injuries suffered in the crash.

The Westfield youth, home on furlough from a state school for boys, reportedly had been drinking wine and had liquor on his breath at the time of the accident according to police. He was driving his mother's car. The boy faces action by juvenile authorities. A girl, believed to have been with him in the car, reportedly fled the scene on foot.

The accident took place on Baltusrol road at Sharon road, where the boy's car reportedly struck the rear of one driven by Dorothy M. Taylor of Mother Seton High School. The second car then spun around and struck a concrete wall, the report added. Both vehicles were towed from the scene.

The three nuns taken to Overlook, but not in serious condition, were Sister Michael Jude, Sister Benedict and Sister Marie Charles.

Dayton biology teacher wins Science Foundation award

MARILYN A. MORGAN

Marilyn Ann Morgan of East Orange, a biology teacher at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield for the past four years, has been granted a National Science Foundation award to study at Oregon State University for one year. The grant includes tuition, fees, book allotment and living expenses plus a small travel allotment expense. Miss Morgan plans to study for her master's degree in biology.

Dr. Warren Davis, superintendent of the Union County Regional District, said that the Board of Education had granted Miss Morgan a year's leave of absence, from September, 1968, until June, 1969, to take advantage of the NSF grant. The NSF Institute at Oregon State begins Sept. 16, 1968, and runs until June 13, 1969. Miss Morgan plans to spend the summer of 1969 completing requirements for her master's degree.

Miss Morgan, junior class advisor and treasurer of the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School Teacher's Association, said she chose Oregon State because it has an excellent biology department and emphasizes the ecological aspects of biology. It is located near the Pacific Coast (oceanography study), forests and other types of biological environments. Miss Morgan spent seven weeks last summer on an NSF Summer Institute at Sonoma State College, Calif., and plans to revisit San Francisco. She will be one of 35 teachers from high schools

SWAMP FOX
Francis Marion, an American Revolutionary commander, was known as the "Swamp Fox" throughout the nation who will take part in this institute.

The year's leave of absence granted by the Board of Education will enable Miss Morgan to return to her teaching at Dayton in September, 1969. She said she regrets not being able to see her present juniors' graduating ceremonies.

Five reasons why I invest in Mutual Funds...

1. Convenience. I can invest small or large amounts in Mutual Funds whenever I wish.
2. Diversification. With my kind of income, I could never afford to buy stocks in dozens of different companies... but with one Mutual Fund, that's just what I've got.
3. Professional Management. As market conditions change, management decides which stocks to keep, to buy, to sell. I have far more faith in their judgment than in my own.
4. Retirement privileges. The Mutual Fund will reinvest my varying dividends for me, without any red tape. And any capital gains are reinvested for me, too.

Know Your Government

From N.J. Taxpayers Association

TAXES TAKE MORE FROM A DAY'S PAY
With Federal income tax returns of citizens on the way in time (hopefully) to beat Uncle Sam's April deadline, the New Jersey Taxpayers Association reports another measure of the size of the annual tax bite for all levels of government.

This shows that the average American this year will spend two hours and 26 minutes of each working day earning enough to meet the tax bills for Federal, state and local government.

This is seven minutes more than he spent for all taxes in 1967. It is far greater than the time he will spend earning enough to pay for any other segment of the family budget in 1968. As calculated by The Tax Foundation, a breakdown of time spent by the average American in an eight-hour work day, earning the wherewithal for the family budget this year, follows:

Taxes	Hours	Minutes
Housing and Household	2	26
Operation	1	1
Food and Tobacco	1	59
Transportation	1	39
Clothing, etc.	1	26
Recreation	1	19
Medical	1	21

Chance for the reader to join the all-star team

The local prediction for the coming weeks could easily be summarized as Daylight Saving Time, preceded this weekend by small boys seeking contributions for the Little League...

As in communities throughout the nation, and in many other parts of the world, local boys have the opportunity to take a long step forward on the road to manhood.

For many of our nine-year-olds surrounded on all sides by females, this is a first experience with masculine leadership outside the family level.

For many of our sheltered junior suburbanites, this is an opportunity to learn the valuable lesson that the winners at almost anything are the ones who play best.

The can also learn, if they are lucky, that the best players in a team sport are not necessarily those with the best basic skills. Those who can throw the hardest, field with the most agility and hit the farthest must also learn that there are nine players on a team, and that the strongest must lend their strength to a balanced team effort.

If they are particularly lucky in their managers and coaches--and the odds in Springfield are on their side--the boys will also learn that, while winning is important, sportsmanship and learning to win or lose like a man are even more vital.

Local boys are also lucky, we feel, because the local baseball program is an interesting and exciting part of their lives.

grated unit for youngsters nine to 15, of all levels of skill. The local leagues, by choice, are not affiliated with the nation-wide programs--for two reasons.

The first is that the national Little League is aimed at developing players for regional, state and national tournaments, a form of pressure many experts feel is premature for boys of 11 or 12. The second is that the national program limits the number of teams permitted. In Springfield, every boy who registers is assigned to a team--with a uniform and a guaranteed opportunity to play.

There are major and minor leagues, so boys can compete against others of the same ability, but all receive a chance to play and to learn. Even those who learn the most slowly have the feeling of belonging and participating--and of developing the attributes of team spirit that are reflected in their later teen years, when the boys who were the substitutes in baseball quite often become the stars in other sports.

All this, of course, depends on two factors. One is the quality of leadership, the degree of baseball skill and maturity of attitude provided by the men of the community. We feel our volunteers do pretty well.

The second is the degree of community support for this weekend's fund-drive, with boys ringing doorbells all over town.

Don't look now, dear reader, but that finger on your doorbell just might belong to a small boy with a baseball hat one size too big and a grin that's even bigger.

It's up to you to play ball.

Washington--The agony of Dr. Martin Luther King's death and the futile despair of the riot-filled days and nights which followed have made their mark on the conscience of America.

By BEA SMITH. Lawrence Lerner of 58 Redwood Rd., Springfield, an attorney specializing in patent, trademark and copyright matters, who maintains an office in Newark and who is extremely active in law associations, manages to find time to be busy with a new project.

Lerner further explains that "we're not the regular Democratic Party. Our organization is sizable, however. We have about 200 people in it and about 80 kids in high school who are interested. We run it sort of with an ad hoc arrangement--with the indication that we're non-professional, not here to stay--but we're here for a particular purpose."

Lerner, who was born in Newark, was graduated from Weequahic High School, from Newark College of Engineering with a B.S.E.E. degree and from Georgetown University Law Center with an L.L.B. degree.

Report from Trenton

By State Senator Matthew J. Rinaldo. The State Senate last week approved a bill providing for the construction of a new legislative building and parking facilities at a cost of about $13 million.

What if McCarthy doesn't get the nomination? "Well," says Lerner thoughtfully, "if McCarthy can't get it, I think my next choice would be Robert Kennedy, I think McCarthy is a better man, but I'm not an anti-Kennedy man--by any means."

While I believe the Legislature needs new quarters because of the increased number of lawmakers as a result of reapportionment and the present inadequate facilities, we also face a fiscal crisis and must establish a series of priorities on capital spending.

Virginia Steinbach named high school 'librarian of week'

Virginia Steinbach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Steinbach of 2 Perry pl., Springfield, has been selected by Barbara Dimmers, Jonathan Dayton Regional High School librarian, to be "Librarian of the week" in observance of National Library Week, April 21 to 27. The Jonathan Dayton senior, with the aid of Library Council members Harlene S. Schwartzman and Janice Garner, has been aiding Miss Dimmers in promoting to students the importance of the library in learning to develop and improve through reading.

Posters and bulletin board displays stressing the theme, "Be All You Can Be," have been set up in the halls of the school. The posters dramatize in a humorous but pointed way the road open to self-improvement through reading. The posters are not intended to promote the specific careers shown, but to symbolize the idea that "you, too, can make it" and reading can help you, Miss Dimmers said.

Miss Dimmers, who has been librarian since the school opened in 1937, pointed out that the school has more than 13,000 volumes available, which provide up-to-date information in all learning areas. Library facilities are open to all students throughout the school year and liberal book borrowing terms are possible on most volumes, Miss Dimmers said.

Springfield group installs new slate

A slate of officers headed by Mary Schoeffler of Millburn, president, was installed last week by the 2004 Ladies Club of Springfield. Other new officers are: Norma Hart of Stirling, vice-president; Carol Herl of Irvington, recording secretary; Dorothy Krug of Mountainside, corresponding secretary, and Mary Dembitz of Springfield, treasurer. The group made plans for a dinner-theater party on May 18, when members will go to New York to see the show "There's a Girl in My Soup." Plans also were made for a card party to be held at the Springfield Elks Lodge at 8 p.m., May 22.

Caldwell authors record writings

Authors as well as flowers bloom in the spring at the James Caldwell School, Springfield. A group of third, fourth and fifth graders have discovered how much fun it is to write original stories. Some of the children wrote their stories by hand. Others took turns dictating to a teacher who typed as each child told his story. The subjects were varied and included such titles as "Teddy Goes to Outer Space," by Danny Halsey; "Animal Stories," by Patty Duffy; Dario DiLello's "The Secret Cave," "Judo for the Good," by Paul Ackerman, and "Hippyland," by Cal Ackerman. Patrick Prete made his story, "Your Wrecked-Up Car Dealer," into a book, complete with illustrations. Neal Lesser wrote of the adventures of a photographer in Africa, and Wade Hagerly authored a thriller, "Sky-lark Place." When the stories were finished, a story festival was held. Each child had the opportunity to tape his story in the "Sound Studio." The story tape will be available for other pupils to enjoy.

Klein calls living habits guide to buying a home

"The best way to begin shopping for a home is by examining how you live, what you like and what your living habits are," according to Robert C. Klein, president of the Board of Realtors of the Oranges and Maplewood, including Livingston, Millburn, Short Hills and Springfield. "Your living habits must be the major guide in helping you determine the right home for your family," Klein observed. "Four simple questions can get you and your realtor into the right type of home. These questions are: "What kind of family are you in reference to age? If young children are present, for example, traffic patterns which bring kitchen and recreation close together, feature separate bath for parents and youngsters are most ideal. "How large is your family? Surprisingly, this is the most difficult question of all. A family's size is not stationary, and the family constantly is changing in character. As children grow older, their living habits change, too. If your children are very young, a house should have a great deal of flexibility. Example: Converting an unused nursery into a study room for high schoolers. "What kind of hobbies does your family pursue? If they are sports enthusiasts, you'll need extra storage space for their equipment. If your family likes to read or listen to music, select a house with lots of well area to hold books and records. "How do you entertain? Sit-down dinner parties call for a large dining room and a dining table that can stretch to accommodate additional guests. If you're more informal and tend toward buffet suppers, a house with a large living room will bow that you need."

'Pandering advertisements' are target of new postal law

Springfield Postmaster A. V. Del Vecchio announced this week that a new postal law, which became effective April 14, will provide the means for postal patrons to avoid unwanted "pandering advertisements." An advertisement is considered pandering, Del Vecchio said, "if it offers to sell material which is, in the opinion of the recipient, 'arotically arousing or sexually provocative.'" He said copies of Post Office Department Publication 123, explaining the law and steps to be taken by patrons to invoke the law, are available at the Springfield post office. "A family receiving a pandering advertisement which it finds to be offensive now has the authority under the new Federal law (Section 4003, Title 39, United States Code) to ask that its members receive no more mail of any kind from the sender," Del Vecchio said. He added: "The individual mail patron is the sole judge of whether an advertisement is offensive to him. If you or your family finds the material offered is of a pandering nature a statement must be filed asking a postmaster to curb the receipt of additional mail from the sender."

THE LAW HAS BEEN enacted, he said, because "American families have been shocked by advertisements which find offensive or believe to be morally harmful to their children. While in most cases the ads are not legally obscene, they are most certainly unwelcome in many families. This law gives families the right to decide they want no more mail from a firm sending out what they consider pandering advertising, but it does not deny them the right to an unrestricted flow of material which is mallable." The postmaster said that the major share of the so-called pandering advertising comes from a small number of dealers, many of whom exchange mailing lists. This law will provide substantial relief to those patrons who do not want such material. DEL VECCHIO SAID that in order to initiate action, residents should send to him the offensive advertisement, its envelope and the following signed form of request with the words "request for prohibitory order" written on the face of the envelope: "I, _____, recipient of the enclosed mailing from _____, consider this mailing to be a pandering advertisement which offers for sale erotically arousing or sexually provocative matter. "Accordingly, under the provisions of Title 39, USC 4003, I request the above mailer, and his agents or assigns, be directed to refrain from making any further mailings to me (as well as to my below-listed minor children residing with me who have not attained their 19th birthday). (signature and date) (street) (city, state and ZIP code) List Children and birthdates: _____"

THE POSTMASTER EXPLAINED that upon receipt of the above request, the Post Office Department will send a "prohibitory order" directing the sender to refrain from any further mailing of any kind to the complaining patron, to be effective 30 days after sender's receipt of the order. If there are any violations of the order, the patron may present it to the postmaster who issued the order, enclosing all evidence, such as the second mailing and its envelope. If the mailer still fails to respect the order, the Postmaster General will apply through the Attorney General for a Federal Court order directing compliance.

The 30-second oven cleaner 7¢

(It takes just 30 seconds of your time to whisk away the dirt. Costs less than you're now paying.)

Ladies, get your heads out of the oven. Now you can have an electric range with an oven that cleans itself automatically, for an investment of about 7¢ and 30 seconds of your time per cleaning.

You just put the surface-unit drip pans in the oven and turn a switch to "Clean." Spills and splatters disappear from the oven, racks and drip pans during the average 1½ hour cleaning cycle, and only a trace of powder remains. You whisk that away in about 30 seconds.

There's no worry about scrubbing the surface units either, because spills disappear from them while you're still cooking. Only electric ranges can give you this "total cleanliness."

So throw out the oven cleaners, the cans of stuff, the brushes, the steel wool, and the dirty rags. Buy a new electric range with a self-cleaning oven. You'll find a large selection at the local appliance dealer displaying the familiar Reddy Kilowatt seal. He's open right now.

N.J. enrollment outlook depends on 4-year-olds

New Jersey's public school enrollment will continue on the upward for the next two decades, with the rate of increase depending on how widespread the trend to establish pre-kindergarten classes for four-year-olds becomes.

Right now there are only a few hundred children in such nursery classes in the public schools. But, the State Department of Education believes that 20 years from now there may be as many as 113,000.

This estimate is contained in a Department report prepared by Dr. S. David Winans, director of the office of statistical services. The report projects enrollments in New Jersey public school districts to the 1987-88 school year.

It shows that the number of pupils enrolled in the traditional school program of kindergarten through grade 12 will increase from 1,375,000 in the current year to 1,799,000 in 1987-88, a rise of 424,000.

THE ENROLLMENT, HOWEVER, would jump 537,000 to a total of 1,915,000 in 1987-88, if the boom in pre-kindergarten classes takes place as Winans believes it will.

In his report, Winans says that movement to establish classes for the four-year-olds has only recently begun to receive wide acceptance, so that adequate trend data on which to make projections have not yet evolved.

However, Winans believes that enrollments in public school pre-kindergarten classes will increase from the current figure of less than one-half of one percent of kindergarten enrollments to 75 percent of such enrollments in 1987-88. The rate of increase, he estimates, will hike the percentage figure to .5 percent in 1968-69 and then jump by one percent a year for the next five years and by five percent a year thereafter. He believes that classes for four-year-olds will emerge rapidly in the cities and slowly in the suburban and non-urban areas.

There is another factor besides the four-year-olds that makes New Jersey enrollment forecasting difficult and that is the fluctuating birth rate. The state's birth rate has unexpectedly decreased steadily the last four years. This means that future enrollments now projected by Winans are considerably lower than those he envisioned when he made his last such report three years ago.

WINANS THINKS THE decreasing birth rate period has ended and that births will be on the increase again. He makes use of population patterns and birth rates forecast by other New Jersey departments in making his enrollment projections.

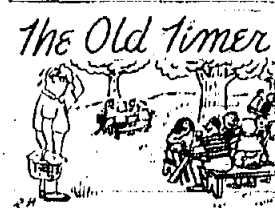

Speech convention set

The sixth annual convention of the New Jersey Speech and Hearing Association will take place on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, April 25, 26 and 27. The Claridge Hotel in Atlantic City will be the meeting place of members coming from all parts of the State of New Jersey.

As a result of the birth rate decline, he points out, a low-birth rate group will now be moving through the schools, and produce enrollment decreases at certain grade levels, but at no time will the total enrollment decrease. It is expected that elementary enrollments will decrease between 1972 and 1976 and secondary enrollments will decline between 1977 and 1981.

Winans says his projections could be affected by factors such as a change in the anticipated birth rate, a change in the migration pattern, or a change in the percentage of New Jersey children attending non-public schools. Currently, some 20 percent of the state's children attend non-public schools.

Library week set by proclamation

New Jersey's observance of National Library Week, April 21 - 27, was proclaimed last week by Gov. Richard J. Hughes.

In his proclamation, the Governor urged all citizens, libraries, schools, civic organizations, newspapers and radio and television stations in New Jersey to observe the week with appropriate means. He was making this request, he said, "so that all people may be made more fully aware of library services as well as of the needs and plans for library development in our State."

Select six schools as testing locations for future troopers

Written examinations for applicants to fill vacancies in the State Police will be conducted next Tuesday in Morristown and Hoboken, and next Wednesday in Hammonton, Trenton, Sayreville and Sea Girt, according to an announcement by Col. David B. Kelly, superintendent.

On Tuesday the examination will be held at 7 p.m. at the Assumption School at MacCulloch Avenue and Perry Street in Morristown, and at Hoboken High School at Eighth and Clinton streets in Hoboken.

On Wednesday the four sites for the examinations are: St. Joseph's Regional High School at Third and Pleasant streets in Hammonton; Central High School at Greenwood Avenue and Chambers Street in Trenton; War Memorial High School at Washington and Erwin roads in Sayreville; and the New Jersey Police Academy in Sea Girt.

Col. Kelly said the applicant must be a citizen of the United States, have a high school diploma or equivalent certificate, be between ages 21 and 34 (as of Nov. 3, 1968), weigh not less than 150 pounds, be at least five-foot, eight-inches tall, have vision not less than 20/30 in both eyes without glasses or contact lenses, have the ability to distinguish colors, normal hearing in both ears, good teeth with satisfactory restorations, be free from all physical defects, good reputation and sound moral character, and must have a valid driver's license. The colonel said both married men and single men are acceptable.

He added that all men who meet the requirements may take the written examination without prior application. Successful applicants appointed by the State Police Academy for the 14-week training period will receive a bi-weekly salary of $221 plus meals and quarters. Upon graduation the annual salary of a trooper is $6,366 plus a $1,704 maintenance allowance.

FIRE REHEARSAL

Home fire rehearsals are necessary to a polished performance, in case occupants are called upon to perform in a real-life fire drama. The Institute for Safer Living advises that knowing exactly what to do, what escapes routes to follow, is a vital safety measure for every member of the family.

Goldberg calls freeways catalysts for growth

What effect does a modern, limited access freeway have upon the communities through which it travels?

The Department of Transportation sought the answer to that question nearly six months ago when it ordered a study of the social and economic impact attributable to construction of Interstate Routes 287 and 95 in Middlesex and Somerset Counties.

After reviewing the study report, Transportation Commissioner David J. Goldberg said, "It substantiates what generally has been learned about freeways in the state and nation: They are a ready catalyst for setting in motion economic and social growth in the areas they serve."

Although the study of the I-287-95 corridor, conducted by Wilbur Smith and Associates, engineering consultants, covers segments of the freeway which have been open to traffic only four to six years, its detailed analysis of the area points to an influx of industry, business and population which can be directly related to the accessibility the highway provided.

Land values, land use and land investment near the highway have increased substantially, boosting municipal tax revenues and rates, Goldberg said.

RESIDENTIAL DEVELOPERS INVOLVED

Properties near the highway have experienced strong demands for housing due largely to migration from more densely inhabited areas. Freeway proximity and accessibility to employment, commercial, social, cultural and recreational centers throughout the region were credited with stimulating this demand, he said.

The study concentrated specifically on that portion of I-287-95 in Middlesex and Somerset Counties bounded on the east by U.S. Rt. 1 and on the west by U.S. Rt. 22 in Bridgewater Township, Somerset County.

The study highway is about 13 miles long and is served by 13 interchanges with connecting roads. The study corridor extended in each direction for three miles from the interchanges and one mile of the right-of-way.

The freeway was built originally as Interstate 287. The Department has requested the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads to redesignate the portion from South Plainfield east to Interstate 95. Over-all I-287 is to encircle northeast New Jersey for 62.9 miles to Suffern,

New York where it will link with the New York Thruway.

The following towns were included in the study corridor: Edison Township, Metuchen Borough, South Plainfield Borough, Piscataway Township, Franklin Township, Dunellen Borough, Middlesex Borough, South Bound Brook Borough, Bound Brook Borough and Bridgewater Township. Although I-287 does not pass through all of these towns, they were considered to be within its area of influence.

MANAGEMENT REPRESENTATIVES

From 59 firms were interviewed. They represented manufacturing, distribution and trade, research and development, and transportation firms. Each was asked to list the most important factors responsible for selection of their present site. Four reasons, accounting for 69 percent of the responses, were given: Proximity to I-287, availability of large land parcels, price of land, and accessibility of customers.

Thus, from the action of these firms, it was concluded that the disadvantages of limited accessibility to I-287 were considered secondary to the more important regional access provided by the expressway, Goldberg said.

More than two-thirds of the spokesmen for the firms indicated that I-287 had improved employee commuting conditions and a similar number said that the freeway had expanded or improved their potential labor market.

Each firm purchased an average of more than 28 acres at an average price of $6,400 an acre.

The estimated investment per square foot of building area varied from $12.26 for manufacturing firms to $20.86 for research and industrial organizations. It is estimated that the total building investment since 1960 has been almost $48 million. Firms indicating that I-287 was a significant site selection factor accounted for 60.5 percent of this total, or more than $28 million, Goldberg said.

One of the arguments occasionally heard against freeway construction is that it inflicts an economic hardship on a municipality by taking away tax rates. However, this rateable loss is more than made up by increase in property values which follow in the wake of freeway construction. For instance, as industry has located in the I-287 corridor, suitable sites have increased in price from about $1,300 per acre in 1961 to more than $14,000 in 1967.

During the 1960-1966 period tax revenues of municipalities in the I-287 corridor increased from $27,900,000 to $55,200,000 or 97.9 per cent, an increase of 12.2 percent annually. Revenues of the remaining Middlesex and Somerset municipalities increased from $67,200,000 to $106,200,000, or 58 per cent, a rise of 7.9 percent per year during the same period, he said.

THREE TOWNS

In particular in the corridor, Edison, South Plainfield and Piscataway, have experienced considerable growth in the equalized value of their land and improvements. From 1960 to 1967 the equalized value of land in these communities increased 207 percent and the value of improvements rose 73.8 per cent.

About 70 percent of the firms sampled are dependent solely on trucks for movement of both raw materials into their plants and finished products to customers. This is particularly true for those firms which have located in the area since 1960.

A major consideration of efficient truck utilization is the availability of high-speed, controlled-access highways with minimum grades and curves such as that provided by I-287. Transportation firms recognized the importance of utilization of the freeway as did 75 percent or more of the manufacturing and distribution and trade concerns. This was shown in routing changes which have resulted in speeding up deliveries, Goldberg said.

Oral examinations planned at hospital

Saint Barnabas Medical Center, Old Shore Hills Road, Livingston, will offer free oral examinations to the public on Sunday, April 28, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in its Out-Patient Department, it was announced by A. Chester Conroy, administrator.

The tests are being sponsored by the Essex County Dental Society under the direction of Dr. S. Stephen Rafel of East Orange. They are open to all males and females over the age of 10 and will be given by dentists who have been trained in oral cancer detection. Last year, the free program at Saint Barnabas drew more than 200 people.

Dr. Rafel pointed out that the examination takes from about five to 10 minutes and is painless. He said that 90 percent of the cases can be cured if treatment is started before the lesion is more than one-half inch in diameter. Dentists will examine patients in five particular areas: Sore spots or ulceration of lips, tongue or other areas which do not heal promptly; white scaly areas inside the mouth; swelling of the lips, gums or other areas inside the mouth, with or without pain; repeated bleeding in the mouth with no apparent cause, and numbness or loss of feeling in any part of the mouth.

Also participating in the Oral Cancer Detection Program is Dr. Leonard Swimmer of Union, area since 1960 now have 4,802 employees. More than 98 percent of these travel by auto for part or all the distance to work. The average auto occupancy for workers at all firms was 1.08 persons. The mean work-trip for all employees was 22.4 minutes. The proportion of employees per firm using I-287 on work trips ranged from 17.6 to 88.1 per cent.

IN THE HOUSING

field, permits for construction of dwelling units averaged about 2,000 a year between 1960 and 1963 in the communities through which I-287 traveled. Demand increased sharply in 1964 and 1965 when total permits in these towns increased to 3,068 and 4,469 respectively. Since zoning adjacent to the freeway corridor is primarily industrial, very little residential growth has occurred in this area. Sites adjacent or with easy access to I-287 are preferred by developers, he said.

Single-family residences located in areas adjacent to I-287 have increased about $3,000 in value since 1963. This was attributed primarily to the rapid industrial development in the corridor, which has caused demand to increase at a faster rate than supply.

A study of the Menlo Park Shopping Center in Edison Township drew statements from establishments there that I-287 had effectively expanded their retail markets westward along the route of I-287. This expansion was evident through an increase in the number of charge accounts opened by residents and by expanding advertising to the I-287 area.

Freeway users not only benefit from reduced travel time and costs, but save through reduced accident costs. Studies have shown savings between 44 and 72 cents per vehicle mile. In nationwide surveys, the accident rate has been found to be about one half that on nearby existing highways. In New Jersey the accident rate on freeways has been found to be less than one fourth that of state highways, Goldberg added.

The Volvo 145 is a logical extension of the Volvo 144.

On the outside, it's no longer, wider, or higher than the Volvo 144 Sedan. Which makes it just as easy to park and handle. But on the inside, it's roomier. Which makes it a lot easier to carry things around in. With the back seat folded out of the way, the 145's cargo compartment gives you 70 cubic feet of carrying space. Underneath that compartment is another compartment that gives you 4 cubic feet of hiding space. So when you've got a lot of things to haul around, you can turn the back seat down and use the Volvo 145 as a station wagon. And when all you're hauling around is people, you can turn the seat up again and use the 145 as a Volvo.

NEW EMERGENCY QUARTERS — Nurse Mary Lee of Elizabeth, N.J., administers oxygen to patient in newly refurbished emergency room at Memorial General.

Memorial expands emergency room

Memorial General Hospital, Union, has completed renovation and expansion of its emergency room facilities, Murray Rubin, hospital administrator, announced this week.

The expansion, Rubin said, will allow the hospital to treat more efficiently the increasing number of patients who seek care at the facility. Rubin said the pressing need for emergency room expansion—part of the hospital's over-all development program which has affected virtually every department at the institution—is reflected in these statistics:

In 1965, 4,885 cases were treated. In 1966, the case load jumped to 6,515. Last year, the figure vaulted to 10,811. "Since our policy is to treat everyone," Rubin said, "we must be prepared to meet a challenge that is increasing geometrically every year."

The emergency room area, situated at the end of the west wing corridor, now has a separate reception station in a room formerly used by the hospital for storage.

THE EMERGENCY ROOM itself has been completely redesigned with more efficient service and patient privacy as the primary objectives, Rubin pointed out.

The room contains four stretcher-type beds, each with its own oxygen and suction equipment. Floor to ceiling curtains can be pulled around each bed making it a separate compartment within the room.

Memorial General's emergency room has also been designated a poison control center and is stocked with antidotes and drugs to combat practically every known type of poisoning.

"Our emergency room," Rubin noted, "has a particularly vital role to play. The recently completed expansion will allow us to do a better job in fulfilling this role."

Surrogate reports $15,371 receipts

Union County Surrogate Mary Kanane this week announced receipts totaling $15,371.47 for March. This was $1,573.30 more than the 1967 total of $13,798.17. Following is the summary for services rendered:

Probates, $3,572.68; administrations, $5,271.50; guardianships, $396; certificates, $1,469.50; orders to limit creditors, $440; refunding bonds and releases, $606.75; petitions and orders, $338.35; accounts, $5,084.94; adoptions, $893.25; and miscellaneous, $2,342.50.

MIDWIFE KITS
Placed on top of each other, the midwife kits supplied by UNICEF would form a peak five times as high as Mount Everest.

Park Police set job physicals

Application forms for examinations for appointments to the Union County Park Police are still available at the Park Police Headquarters, located in the administration building, Warmanco Park, Elizabeth and Roselle.

The application forms are being given out daily from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., until tomorrow. The applications must be returned by 9 p.m. on Sunday, as the written and physical examinations will be conducted on Tuesday, a spokesman said.

A candidate for the Union County Park Police Department must be between 22 and 30 years of age, a citizen of the United States, a Union County resident for at least two years, and be a high school graduate, or equivalent as established by the State Board of Education. Applicants must be at least five feet, eight inches tall; weigh at least 145 pounds, and have normal vision without glasses. The candidates must also be able to swim at least 100 yards.

Appointments will be made as vacancies occur, on the basis of the candidate's performance in the written, physical, medical, and oral testing.

The Union County Park Police Department was organized in 1926. At present the department consists of a chief, a captain, a lieutenant, four sergeants, and 23 patrolmen. The men work a 40-hour week and patrol over 5,000 acres of park property throughout Union County.

PULSE AND BABIES
Every time your pulse beats, three new babies are born into the world. Only one of these is delivered by a trained attendant. UNICEF helps to train midwives.

NAACP panelist included in forum on crime in streets

Marshall Brown Sr., of Plainfield, considered one of New Jersey's leading athletic specialists, will be among the panelists on the May 3 "Crime in the Streets" program presented as a public service by Union County Open Forum in the Connecticut Farms School auditorium in Union.

Brown is president of the Plainfield Area National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. He was the first Negro male teacher ever hired in Plainfield, the first to teach in Plainfield High School, the first varsity coach of his race in New Jersey public schools, and the first Negro member of the executive committee of the New Jersey Football Officials Association.

He will be one of five panelists on the "Crime in the Streets" program, which will be moderated by former Governor Robert B. Meyner. Others who will discuss what many consider to be the nation's No. 1 domestic problem, increased violence and crime in America, include Vincent Broderick, former New York City police commissioner; Hon. Francis X. McDermott, New Jersey Senate Majority Leader; Herbert Romerstein, investigator for the House Committee on Un-American Activities; and Dominick Spina, director of the Newark Police Department.

The public is urged to attend this public service program, according to Forum spokesmen, in order to learn how private citizens can help reduce public apathy towards crime in the streets.

Admission is $2 for adults, $1 for students, and tickets may be obtained by mail from Union County Open Forum, Inc., 200 Lehigh Dr., Westfield. The program will start at 8:15 p.m. Connecticut Farms School on Stuyvesant Avenue in Union can be reached directly from Garden State Parkway North, Exit 139A, and from Morris avenue in Union.

YMHA will hold Ramunda concert

The "Y" Women's Division of the YMHA, Green Lane, Union, will present the Ramunda Chamber Orchestra in concert at the "Y" on Sunday at 2:30 p.m. The orchestra is composed of scholarship students from the Julliard School of Music under the direction of Miss Lorina Havill, of the piano faculty of the Julliard School of Music.

The first half of the concert will be devoted to soloists from the Julliard Preparatory division. In the second half, the soloists are from the regular division of the Julliard School of Music.

The program will include J.S. Bach, Mozart, Nardini, Czerny, Milhaud, Mendelssohn, Kabalevsky, Varon, and Chopin. Tickets are available from members of the "Y" Women's Division or from the office of the "Y," at 289-8112.

Barbara Bianchi's classmates will graduate, get nice jobs, move out to the suburbs and maybe someday join the country club. Barbara would rather do something important.

Barbara will take a degree in special education. And work with the mentally retarded, unlocking brains.

It'll be no bed of roses. No question about that. Her work will mean long hours, ordinary pay, enough frustration for three people—and an occasional heartbreak.

She'll be teaching kids how to play. How to swim. How to take a bus. She'll be teaching adults the skills they'll need to hold jobs.

What's in it for her? The satisfaction of doing something important—helping the retarded become productive citizens, rather than drains on the community. And these days, that sort of satisfaction is hard to find.

Animals win out over lab Chemist switches to zoology

Normally, one wouldn't expect to find much of a relationship between the professions of research chemist and zoologist.

That is, not unless one happened to be Richard Ryan, director of the Essex County Park Commission's Turtle Back Zoo in West Orange.

Ryan, who lives close by the 15-acre zoo property, gave up a promising—and lucrative—career as a research chemist in favor of one working with animals.

Currently, he is directing the early-season flow of thousands of visitors who have thronged to the zoo each day since it opened April 9.

But yesterday the 36-year-old native New Yorker took a few minutes from his chores ("I was talking to you I'd be helping unload 36 cartons of souvenirs") to explain his switch in professions.

"I GUESS YOU could say it all started because of a five-cent trolley ride," Ryan smiled.

"I made my first visit to a zoo when I was three," he recalled. "Then, as I grew older, I began going by myself—a trip made all the more simple because the trolley line ran past my home—directly to the Bronx Zoo. And it only cost five cents for the ride."

Ryan retained his fascination for animals while being graduated with a chemistry degree from Iona College, and worked eight years as a research chemist.

But his desire to work with animals finally won out and he took a job at the Bronx Zoo as zoo-keeper (at half the pay) while studying zoology at Hunter College at night.

Armed with the zoology degree, he moved up to the Bronx Zoo's animal commissary where he became what might be called an animal dietician.

In 1965, a friend from New Jersey showed Ryan a newspaper clipping saying that the Hospital chamber used as tape studio

Saint Barnabas Medical Center in Livingston scored another first last Friday with the taping of the first radio broadcast to be conducted under hyperbaric conditions. "In the Public Interest," hosted by the Rev. Dr. Frederick L. Long, and heard over radio station WVNJ, is presented on Sunday afternoons.

Discussing the conditions and procedures that are aided by hyperbaric medicine were William Bertenshaw, science editor of Radio and TV Productions; Anthony Scala, president of Saint Barnabas Medical Center; Dr. Thomas Liddy, associate pathologist and coordinator of the hyperbaric medicine research facility; Dr. Long, and Dr. Charles Abbott, chief of surgery and director of hyperbaric medicine and research.

Dr. Abbott stated that the Medical Center has one of 70 Federal Aviation Agency Approved hospital heliports, and is being used to receive emergency patients by helicopter transported from distant parts of New Jersey and from other states. Dr. Liddy indicated that patients suffering from carbon monoxide poisoning, gas gangrene, the bends, drowning, burns, strokes, tetanus and other problems are aided by the use of this new modality.

Turtle Back Zoo needed a zoo director, Ryan applied, and has been at the helm since.

THE ZOO HAS MORE than 450 animals, with 155 varieties including a rare snow leopard, Damara Zebra, recently born guinea pig and 55 kinds of turtles. Only the zoo in St. Louis has more. Under Ryan's direction, the zoo has added an exhibit a year.

Currently under construction is a Torpistry (being donated by the Carteret Savings and Loan Association), and erection of a pheasant aviary is planned for later this spring.

In the future, Ryan would like to add more heated buildings and thus be able to extend the season, which this year ends on Sept. 29. "Right now we have two heated buildings which house some of the animals in winter," Ryan said. "But we'd like to add more, plus a classroom for lectures for school children."

What does a zoo keeper do on vacation or in his spare time? "That's easy," Ryan grinned. "I go fishing or go out and watch animals and birds that don't have to be fed, watered or watched."

Discovery is their business!

Dr. Charles B. Huggins won the Nobel Prize for his discoveries in easing pain and lengthening life for patients with prostate and breast cancer—two million dollars in grants from the American Cancer Society helped make his discoveries possible.

Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond pioneered the American Cancer Society's massive studies into the cause and prevention of cancer. These studies revealed new facts relating cigarette smoking to untimely death from lung cancer, heart disease and emphysema.

Dr. George N. Papanicolaou discovered the famous Papanicolaou test for early detection of uterine cancer. The American Cancer Society invested one million dollars in his research. His discovery helps save the lives of thousands of women every year.

Dr. Charles Heidelberger developed a new class of chemicals to treat cancer—Best known, 5-FU, has given relief to thousands of cancer patients. He is also working on the mechanism by which pure chemicals cause cancer in mice. As an A.C.S. Research Professor, he is guaranteed lifetime support for his valuable work.

What's all the fuss about First Choice Meats?

You haven't heard? Then you've got a lot of great eating ahead of you, because First Choice Meats are what happens when a fussy meat department swings into action.

First off, we buy only USDA Choice meats. That assures you of quality right there. But that we insist on choosing only the best cuts from the USDA Choice—the First of the Choice, get it? After that, we trim the meat so that you never pay for extra fat, display it without overlapping so that you see more of every piece, and put it in leakproof styrofoam trays that are wrapped, ready for your freezer. We even suggest the best way to cook it, right on the label. Finally, we charge the same price per pound no matter how thick or thin it's sliced. That's what all the fuss is about when it comes to First Choice Meats. Our fussy. To prove to you that you come first. Come in and let our fussy meat department make a fuss over you. They're great at it.

Volkswagen introduces the automatic stick shift.

After 10 these many years our humble little bug has gone automatic. Gone is the clutch. Gone is the wifely whine. "It's cute, but I can't drive it." Gone is an era of Volkswagendom. Sniff. And in its place? A Volkswagen you can drive all over town without shifting. Only on the highway do you shift. Once. (This is an economy move. Which, after all, is still the name of the game.) But you do have a choice in the matter you can drive it the easy way (described above). Or you can start out in low and take it through the gears like a regular stick shift. The automatic stick shift is an option: you pay a little more. But you do a little less.

Tips for Today's Homemaker

From Anne L. Sheelon, County Home Economist

ASPARAGUS IS SPRING

Asparagus in the market is one of the first signs that spring is here to stay.

Although asparagus from New Jersey does not reach its peak for a few weeks, it is becoming more prevalent in the food stores.

When choosing fresh asparagus, look for fresh, tender, green and firm spears with close compact tips. Avoid wilted-looking spears with spreading tips and sprindly, angular spears with a high proportion of white at the base.

Washing fresh asparagus to remove the sand is an important step. One recommended method is to agitate it in hot water and brush, with a vegetable brush, against the bracts. Rinse thoroughly in cold water and let stand for ten minutes.

An easy way to cook asparagus is to tie the spears together and stand them upright in a deep container with enough boiling salted water to cover the lower two-thirds of the stalks. Cook uncovered for 10 minutes. Then cover the saucepan and let the tips cook in the steam until they are tender.

Asparagus served with Hollandaise Sauce is a gourmet delight. Try the recipe below. It uses your blender for a Hollandaise Sauce that is ready in minutes.

HOLLANDAISE SAUCE
4 egg yolks
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Dash Tabasco
1/4 lb. butter, melted
Place egg yolks in blender container with salt, lemon juice, and Tabasco. Turn blender on and off quickly. Have ready 1/4 pound of butter (or slightly more if desired) melted and heated to a bubbling stage. Turn on blender to high speed and pour butter in a steady stream until mixture is completely emulsified. YIELD: 3/4 cup
Note: This may be kept warm over hot water in a bowl. Do not let water boil.

Time To Spare

By GERALD ANDREWS - Retirement Advisor

HAVE YOU THOUGHT OF KEEPING GOLDFISH?

A retired couple in Omaha have just written me a letter discussing a good starting point for today's discussion. Subject — pets.

Here's the problem. The two Nebraskans have just lost their dog, and they doubt the wisdom of getting another. Feel it's too much of a problem at their stage of life. But they've always had a dog before, so they'd like to know if I can come up with any suggestions.

At this point, many readers will stand up and say, "How about a cat?" Well, there's something to be said for the idea because a cat requires less attention than a dog. Still, a feline around the house is liable to get underfoot just when you can least afford to take a spill. And far as I know, no one has yet discovered a way to keep cats from clawing the furniture.

Maybe a different kind of pet is the answer — a couple of canaries, for instance.

Or a bowl of goldfish. It's obvious that goldfish are popular with senior citizens because they have simple needs, stay in one place, and provide their own kind of companionship.

Let's suppose you decide these are the pets for you. If you've never kept them before, the first step is to consult someone who knows what to do. A friend may have most of the information you need. A pet shop owner

Wall Street Notebook

By ARTHUR POLLACK

Last year, this time, I stated here: "In my opinion, the computer industry will be the fastest growing major industry for some years to come, and I recommend that every investor whose objective is long-term capital appreciation consider investing in the industry." I see no reason to change that opinion.

In 1967 what went up even faster than the earnings of the computer industry? Answer: The price of computer stocks. Naturally, this is somewhat alarming to investors.

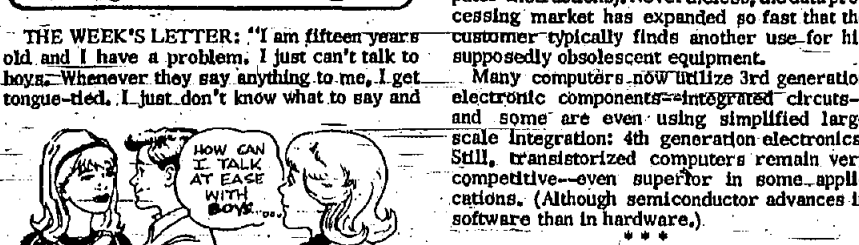

Such performance is not surprising. Computer and other glamour issues typically go up faster than other stocks in bull markets and go down faster in bear markets. I see no reason for this pattern to change—and caution investors that computer stocks generally should be regarded as long-term commitments. At present price levels, however, the stocks again are selling at historically reasonable price/earnings ratios and thus are attractive as new commitments.

There are now in use some 58,000 general purpose digital computers made by U.S. firms. Nearly a third more than 18,000 were delivered in 1967. In terms of units delivered, 1967 shipments were up more than 80 percent over 1966. However, this sort of annual percentage growth should narrow considerably in future years — to about 15 percent annually.

The most intriguing aspect of the computer business is that some 80 percent of the systems in use are leased — which means that

For And About Teenagers

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I am fifteen years old and I have a problem. I just can't talk to boys. Whenever they say anything to me, I get tongue-tied. I just don't know what to say and show my embarrassment as my face gets red. My girlfriend says that boys tell her I'm cute but too shy. How can I talk at ease with boys? How should you act around them?"

OUR REPLY: You should act relaxed. There is no reason to be shy. Don't think about being embarrassed. Think about what you are going to say, and say it. Don't be so self-conscious. Being shy is a natural thing, but it is something that the individual can — and must — overcome. Learning to get along with boys may be compared to learning to swim. The beginning swimmer is cautious about getting into water that is no more than knee deep. But, gradually, as one learns how to float, and eventually how to swim, confidence takes over. Get your feet wet; forget about being uncomfortable or shy; act naturally relaxed. You may get off to a shaky start, but confidence will come to you in due time.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, COMMUNITY AND SUBURBAN PRESS SERVICE, FRANKFORT, KY.

certainly should, in any case, it's wise to keep a guidebook on hand. Goldfish, don't just take the ones with the coloring you prefer. They should be in good condition — no torn fins, for example. Get a fishbowl with enough room to swim in, and be sure it has a wide mouth because fish need oxygen from the air.

When you have your goldfish installed in your living room, remember that the water has to be kept fresh at a temperature of around 65 degrees. In other words, the water has to be changed, and the bowl cleaned, periodically.

Feed them regularly, watch out for sickness — it's a danger sign if they stop eating or start gasping — and you should get a lot of pleasure from your new pets.

While I would not overlook the threat of technological obsolescence, we are not concerned by it. To succeed, every computer company must keep abreast of the latest technology — in hardware, software and peripherals — but we believe all the major companies are doing so.

Prospects for the computer industry are bright enough to justify several commitments — for the average investor and every speculator. This is especially true since most major computer companies are some diversified. In fact, my attitude is constructive regarding the stock of every major computer company — but for somewhat different reasons.

Holding 75 percent of the total market, IBM is the leader in virtually every facet of the business (except super computers) and it has great financial and managerial strengths.

For a list of computer stocks which I am currently recommending for purchase, send a note to Arthur S. Pollack, in care of this newspaper; Arthur S. Pollack is a stockbroker at Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis.

FAMILY LIFE TODAY

HELP YOUR CHILDREN LEARN MORE; BETTER AND FASTER

As exam time rolls around, educators remind parents not to teach their children because their methods are outmoded. However, they also realize parent help and cooperation are important. School-time education requires parent backing at home, from the preschool years through high school.

Give help, not answers. The important question is not whether you know how to solve some problem in your youngster's school work, but whether he himself knows how to do it. Hints and similar examples or associations are what is needed; not something he will write in your words.

Accentuate the positive. Go over with your child the things he's done right, as well as, the things he's done wrong. Be sure to give him a good word for being right. We all need "reinforcement" of valid learnings. Sometimes by just analyzing what he has done right you can help him understand where he went wrong.

Give him ways to use what he has learned all during the year. Writing "thank-you" letters are not just good manners; they give practice in writing. Encourage him to work out the batting averages and keep the box scores for baseball or other favorite sports.

Let your daughter work out measurements for five serving portions of main course foods. Planning auto mileage and keeping track of trip expenses are also good practice for young adults.

Last but not least, make sure your youngster does his homework. No TV program is as important as school work. If it means having a couple of good arguments with your youngsters or young adults, have them. If you wonder if the school is giving too much work, talk to the teacher. Find out how much time he is expected to spend on homework. Remind your child that maybe it seems like too much work; but many things in life are unfair; however, life has to be lived.

Many jobs for wives, all at home

"What do you apply when someone asks you your occupation?" says Mabel G. Stolte, County Home economist. Do you say, "Oh, I'm just a housewife?" Or, do you say, "I'm a home manager. What are you?"

Have you ever stopped to consider how many roles you play in your own home each day? What office job could provide you with more variety? If you keep on your toes and are a well informed home manager, you will be required to know about more jobs than most office managers.

For example: how many of the following positions have you been covering at home this past week?

Coordinator: Organizing and planning of activities in which several or all family members will take part.

Purchasing Agent: Buying groceries, clothing, furnishings and many other items for yourself and other members.

Treasurer: Keeping tract of family expenses and paying bills.

'Painting up' needs much preparation

Spring "paint up" is in the air, and many do-it-yourselfers are eager to dig in and get rid of the dreary, dusty look of winter, reports Carolyn F. Yukins, Senior County Home economist.

Unfortunately, "painting up" is not as easy as the advertisements lead you to believe, nor can a room be transformed in a matter of a few hours.

Home approaches a painting project depends basically upon the philosophy of doing something the "quick way" or the "right way." Frequently these two premises are not entirely compatible.

The "quick way" may get the job done faster but the results are not in keeping with expectations of quality or durability.

The "right way" will take longer initially but will be more satisfying and durable in the long run.

Preparation for painting is not exciting or challenging, and more people than would like to skip preparation entirely and get to the exciting part of applying the color.

However, short-cutting preparation often leads to poor work, accidents and even re-doing the job.

In preparing for painting, first remove all the small bric-a-brac to another room and group large pieces of furniture in the center of a room. Cover everything with dust sheets or plastic to protect from splattered paint and accumulated dust.

Remove all the hardware from doors and windows. It is impossible to paint around these perfectly. Even coating hardware with petroleum jelly is not completely satisfactory.

Use a vacuum cleaner to remove the surface dust from all the woodwork and walls. Washing walls and woodwork with a good cleaning solution is also necessary to remove grease, soot, and old wax. A clean surface makes painting easier.

Regional guidance meeting Monday at Union College

All guidance counselors from the four high schools of the Union County Regional High School District will visit the Union College campus on Monday to review mutual problems and concerns.

"This is another in a series of meetings with guidance counselors from communities throughout Union County," Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, acting president of Union College, said. "Our aim is to determine how our college can better meet the needs of all young people in Union County, and to answer any questions the guidance counselors may have concerning our admissions, financial aid, and educational programs."

Guidance counselors from Gov. Robert Livingston Regional High School, Berkeley Heights; Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School, Clark; David Breenley Regional High School, Kenilworth; and Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, will participate in the dialogue.

Union College will be represented by Dr. Iversen, Prof. Elmer Wolf, acting dean; George P. Lyons, director of admissions; Anetole K. Colbert, director of counseling; and Mrs. Paul W. Selby, financial aid officer.

VICTORY FOR BILL — State Sen. Matthew J. Rinaldo, Center, (R-Union) beams his approval after Senate approved a bill prohibiting the Garden State Parkway Authority from constructing any facility related to highway use without approval by the legislature. The Bill, now before the Assembly, was prompted by construction of the cultural arts center, which, Rinaldo said, was unrelated to highway needs. Rinaldo, sponsor of the bill, is shown with Sen. Joseph Marzella (D-Morris), and at right, Lawrence M. Wolf, one of his legislative aides. Rinaldo contends the arts center has cost motorists about $6.7-million in toll money.

Busy Saturday for UC sophs

Saturday will be no day of rest for sophomores at Union College. It will be a day of testing.

They will participate in the National Sophomore Testing Program from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. About 225 students will be tested in five academic areas: reading, writing, mathematics, social studies, and science.

Union College students have always scored far above the national average in mathematics, sciences and social studies, and above average in reading and writing in competition with thousands of sophomores in hundreds of colleges and universities throughout the nation.

Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, acting president, said.

Dr. Iversen said the test is used to determine the academic achievement of Union College students as compared with other college students throughout the nation and to provide an objective picture of each student's strengths and weaknesses. The results will be used in counseling students, Dr. Iversen explained.

Each student will receive an interpretation of his test scores, so he can compare his performance with that of other college sophomores throughout the country, Dr. Iversen said.

Meeting set for Dec. 14 to give data

Mountainside freshmen to spend year at Dayton

The Regional High School Board of Education will hold a public meeting on Thursday, Dec. 14, at 9 p.m. at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, to announce our distribution of students and our long-range expansion plan. Avery Ward of Kenilworth, board president, disclosed at the regular-board meeting Tuesday night at Dayton.

"Basically," he added, "Mountainside freshmen will spend the year at Dayton. They will be in the Dayton area for the next year and a half, since the opening of David Barclay Regional High School in Kenilworth has been that enrollment has exceeded listed capacity at Gov. Livingston and at Gov. Livingston Regional in Clark. This year there have been 150 students from Dayton and 150 from Mountainside to the Dayton area. A storm of protest from Mountainside parents, however, influenced the board to drop one part of the proposal. This would have sent this year's Mountainside freshmen to Dayton, rather than Gov. Livingston. The group, some 150 youngsters, would have remained at Dayton for the full four years, if that part of the plan had been put into effect.

"Two other changes proposed at that time are now in effect. This year's freshmen from Garwood are at Barclay, rather than at Johnson. Older students from Garwood have a choice of whether to attend Barclay or remain at Johnson. Garwood parents have been assured by the board that all Garwood students will enroll at Barclay for the foreseeable future.

Freshmen from the Hallowell Free section of Springfield now attend Dayton, although they would have studied at Gov. Livingston in past years. Older boys and girls from this area were given a choice of schools, whether to remain at Gov. Livingston or transfer to Dayton.

The plans were announced last spring. Parents expressed some concern over approval of any expansion program by the State Board of Education, even though overcrowded, they said, "I don't hesitate to endorse any plan while space remains in our schools. No information was available today—meeting so low, or problem had been resolved."

Dayton moves to leave Watchung Conference

Rival schools have larger enrollments to compose squads

A request for Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, to withdraw its athletic teams from participation in the Watchung Conference was presented by Dr. Warren M. Davis, regional superintendent of schools, to the Regional Board of Education at its meeting Tuesday night at Dayton.

The request came from Robert J. Caputo, principal at Dayton, with the support of Herbert Palmer, athletic director. Dr. Davis added, "The athletic department faces some difficulty in scheduling games at an independent until such time as it is able to enter into an agreement with other schools in the region."

Dayton has been a member of the Watchung Conference for some five of the 11 years the conference has been in operation. Formerly, since Kenilworth students were transferred from Dayton at the start of last year with the opening of David Barclay Regional High School in Kenilworth, the local school has been by far the smallest in the conference.

Dayton this year has approximately 270 students, boys and girls, in the senior class. Approximate figures for the number of members in each of the other member schools are: Gov. Livingston Regional Berkeley Heights, 400; A. T. Johnson Regional, Clark, 370; Cranford, 340; Hillside, 340; Rahway, 112; Scotch Plains, 417; and Westfield, 597.

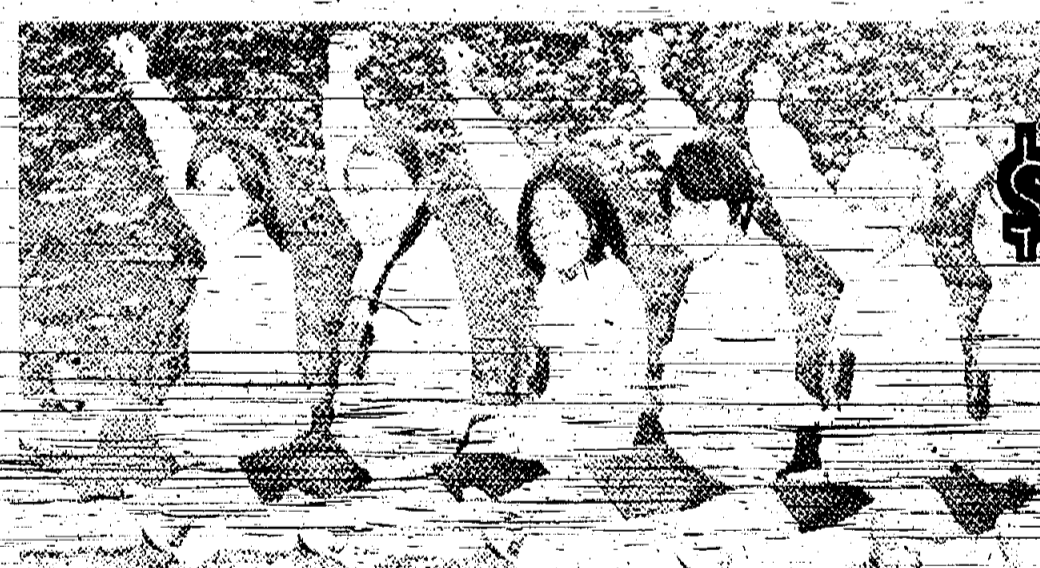

TWO OTHER SCHOOLS have previously withdrawn from the conference because they felt that they lacked manpower to compete with the larger schools, particularly in football where as many as 30 players are needed for a successful team.

They are Roselle Park High School and Abraham Clark High School of Roselle. Both now compete in the Garden State Conference, composed of schools of the approximate size of Dayton, ranging geographically from Cliffwood Beach in East Orange to several in Monmouth County.

Following approval by the regional board, Dr. Davis commented, the Dayton resignation must then be accepted by conference officials. There will be no visible effect next year, he added, since the school has schedule commitments which must be met. Dr. Davis predicted that Dayton will need at least two to four years to work out all its commitments.

Another factor in the Union County athletic alignment, under study by a group headed by Dr. William West, county superintendent of schools, has been a desire for a county inter-school conference.

The five largest schools in the county are

Mr. Selander was a member of the township board from 1925 to 1928, relief director in 1933. Mr. Selander was a member of the township committee for 12 years as its chairman in 1940.

He was the former John D. Lee contractor from Newark, and several years ago, his wife, Mrs. Ruby Green, Lawrence, N.Y., died. $1699

What's the catch? There isn't any. $1699 is the suggested retail price of the port of entry for the VW sedan. The price includes Federal excise tax and import duty. It also includes the built-in heater/defroster, windshield washer, electric windshield wipers, outside rear view mirror, and seat belts front and back. Not to mention the padded dashboard front seat headrests. It's the price of the real thing, not a stripped-down economy model. What else do you have to pay? The charge for transporting the car from the port of entry. The dealer delivery charge. And local sales tax. There is one optional that makes a lot of sense. The matching leatherette upholstery. For $30.00 extra. Nearly everybody gets it because it eliminates the need for slipcovers. Well, that's it. Unless, of course, you count the cost of gas and oil it takes you to get here in your present car.

Tuition aid plan receives UC board's endorsement

The board of trustees of Union College has endorsed in principle a tuition aid plan for New Jersey students attending New Jersey colleges and universities.

A bill (S-423) implementing the plan is now before the Education Committee of the State Senate. Dr. William H. McLean, president of the Association of Independent Colleges and Universities in New Jersey and a Union College trustee, reported. He said tuition aid grants would be based on financial need of the family and could be no more than $500 a semester. He pointed out that the student would be expected to pay the first $450 annually in tuition. Dr. McLean said the cost of the program would be modest. He pointed out that the plan is similar to those in operation in Wisconsin and Michigan, and that New York has provided aid to students for many years.

"It is important that legislators understand the needs of higher education and the importance of providing financial aid to students," Dr. McLean said as he urged the trustees to contact their legislators. "If financial aid is not available, more and more students will be unable to attend the college of their choice. The tuition costs cannot be met entirely by what a student can now earn or borrow."

MRS. PAUL SELBY of Cranford, financial aid officer, told the board that 81.2 percent of all fulltime Day Session students at Union College have some form of financial aid this semester. She added that nearly 20 percent of the Day Session students have more than one type of financial aid.

The financial aid officer said 514 students hold tuition aid grants provided by the Union County Board of Freeholders and the state. She said one-seventh of the day session is attending the college under the so-called Cold War GI Bill of Rights. Other financial aid includes state scholarships, the federal work study program, state guaranteed student loans, scholarships provided by Union College, federal National Defense Student Loans, federal Educational Opportunity Grants, and state scholarship incentive awards.

In other business, the board approved the conversion of the engineering graphics laboratory in the Nomahogan Building to a chemistry laboratory at a cost of $64,353. One-third of the cost, $21,444, will be provided by a grant under the federal Higher Education Facilities Act. Bids for the project will be received later this spring and work is scheduled to begin in June.

The board officially approved the appointment of Prof. Elmer Wolf of Cranford, chairman of the Engineering and Mathematics Department, as acting dean.

DR. ALBERT E. Meder, Jr., of Westfield, chairman of the Education Committee, reported a need for additional classrooms to provide an expected increase in enrollments. He said one way to obtain them quickly would be to remove administrative offices and other services now housed in classrooms. This would be done by providing additional administrative space, he pointed out.

Dr. Henry J. Mineur, chairman of a special planning committee, said progress is being made in planning for a new library, for additional administrative space, and for other needed facilities.

Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, acting president, reported that 29 sophomores—the largest number ever—have been elected to Phi Theta Kappa, national honorary scholastic society, which is often considered the Phi Beta Kappa of the junior college movement. He also reported a larger number of students last semester was named to both the President's List and Dean's List for academic achievement.

Other reports were presented by J. Kenneth Boyles of Westfield, chairman of the Finance Committee; Horace K. Corbin of West Orange, treasurer, and Russell V. Abbott of Alpine, development director, for the physical planning and ways and means committee. Hugo B. Meyer of Summit, chairman, presided.

SEA DARK

Almost all deep-sea life is either jet black or scarlet in color. This is because there is eternal darkness in the great depths of the oceans, so wide varieties of colors are comparatively valueless and almost non-existent.
