Dayton Regional athletic schedules to sport a new look

To end ties to Watchung Conference

Looking for opponents of similar enrollment

By ABNER GOLD

Fads of the varsity athletic teams at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School will have to adjust to a virtually complete new set of opponents, according to Herb Palmer, Dayton athletic director, who disclosed this week that the Springfield school's withdrawal from the Watchung Conference had been accepted by the conference.

"We are out of the Watchung Conference as of June, 1969," Palmer stated. "We will continue all our present contractual commitments until the spring of 1969." Dayton teams thus have one more full year of competition against conference foes, all of whom have grown substantially larger than Dayton in the past few years.

"Once we leave the conference," he added, "we will play an independent schedule. We have looked around for prospective opponents in a large area. Most teams have full schedules, and there are not very many which might have openings. Many of these are not suitable—either too large or too far away." The decision to withdraw from the Watchung Conference was submitted by Dayton officials and approved by the Regional High School District Board of Education early in the present school year. The belief behind the resignation was that Dayton was at an increasing disadvantage in competing against much larger schools, particularly in football, where a large squad has become a requisite.

HIGH SCHOOLS are ranked by size in Groups I, II, III or IV, by state athletic officials, according to the total number of male students in their top three classes. Group I is for schools with up to 275 boys; Group II, 276 to 375; Group III, 376 to 575; and Group IV, more than 576.

Dayton is now at the bottom of Group III in size. Palmer noted that about 20 students to spare should be available to drop to Group III school for some years, possibly dropping to Group II—but that all depends on the ultimate decision of the Regional Board of Education and the voters on future expansion plans for the district as a whole.

Of the other Watchung Conference schools, Hillside and Rahway are in Group III and should remain there. A. L. Johnson Regional in Clark is a very large Group III, and will probably soon become Group IV. The other conference schools, Gov. Livingston Regional in Berkeley Heights, Westfield, Cranford and Scotch Plains, are now Group IV and expected to remain there.

Palmer said that he wants to find Dayton a berth in another conference, but all those now operating are full. He commented that there is always a possibility that a new conference could be formed, but it would have to draw teams from existing conferences. He also noted that another team might enter the Watchung Conference in Dayton's place, which would lead to a vacancy elsewhere, and possibly to a realignment of several teams.

Newark woman goes to jail 'Art-In' expects McCarthy campaigners plan

after guilty plea in town court singing, dance units, jug band

A young woman from Newark, who entered a guilty plea Monday in Springfield Municipal Court to a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, was sentenced to jail by Judge Max Sherman, who told her she would be able to obtain treatment for her narcotics addiction during her prison sentence.

The defendant, Sandra Imperio, 23, had waived her right to an indictment and a jury trial. She was charged with having cashed a fraudulent check for $72 on April 2 at the drive-in window of the local office of the National State Bank of Elizabeth.

Judge Sherman sentenced her to six months in jail, and then suspended three months of the sentence. He placed her on probation for three years.

Frank Damiano, 25, also of Newark, who was arrested by Detective Sam Calabrese in the same incident on April 2, also faced the local court on Monday. He waived his right to a preliminary hearing and was ordered held for grand jury action on charges of attempted fraud and of assault and battery. Unable to post bond of $2,500, Damiano was remanded to the county jail.

In other cases, Judge Sherman imposed the following fines for speeding:

Steven Davis, 17, of Summit, 50 miles per hour in a 25-mile zone on S. Springfield avenue, $20, and license revoked for 30 days; Dorothy J. Zotti of Elizabeth, 44 miles in a 25-mile zone on Milltown road, $20; Robert W. Payne, 38d, Berkeley Heights, 40 miles in a 25-mile zone on Mountain avenue, $20, and Louis Kluskin of Lancaster, Pa., 44 miles in a 25-mile zone on Shunpike road, $20.

John C. Gertz of Summit, charged with failure to have his car inspected and with contempt of court for failure to appear previously, paid a total of $25. Samuel A. Cirillo of Bernardsville paid $15 for not having a safety chain on his trailer.

weekend to feature art show

The Springfield Chapter of the Volunteers for McCarthy will hold a "McCarthy weekend" from Friday, May 24, to Sunday, May 26. It was announced this week by Lawrence Lerner, chairman. The purpose of the weekend will be to raise funds for Sen. Eugene McCarthy's candidacy in the New Jersey primary election on June 4, when a slate of delegates pledged to support McCarthy at the Democratic National Convention will run against the organization slate.

Highlighting the weekend will be an art show and sale at the American Legion Hall on Sunday, May 26, from 1 to 5 p.m. The show is being assembled by Myers Rohowski of Westfield, a well-known artist and past president of the New Jersey Art Association. Members of the Art Association will offer over 300 works of sculpture and painting for exhibition and sale.

Co-chairman for the event will be Mrs. Lee Rothhouse of 70 Evergreen ave. and Mrs. Sanford Lieb of 24 Gall-ct.

The local youth organization for McCarthy will sponsor a dance on Friday evening, May 24, from 8 to 11. Several local music groups will donate their services. The dance location will be announced shortly.

Other activities scheduled for the "McCarthy weekend" will be announced in the near future, a chapter spokesman added.

The Springfield group also plans several projects designed to inform voters of the issues involved in the primary. These include the installation of booths in all the major shopping areas in and around Springfield on Saturday, May 18, and house-to-house canvassing throughout the town on the weekends of May 18-19 and June 1-2.

Delegates to vote on local proposal

A resolution proposed by the Springfield Board of Education will be introduced for delegate action at the annual meeting of the State Federation of District Boards of Education Saturday morning in the Assembly Chamber of the State House, Trenton.

The measure would seek a legal procedure for dissolution and abolition of a regional school district. It is one of 10 resolutions proposed for consideration.

Annual card party of Republican Club

The Springfield Republican Club will hold its annual card party Monday, May 20, at 8 p.m. at the American Legion Hall. Tickets are available from any Republican Club member or from the card party committee members.

Scott Donington, vice-president of the club, is the card party chairman. Other members of the committee are Mrs. James Cawley, Mrs. David Zurav, Mrs. Robert Planer, Mrs. Robert Hardgrove, Mrs. Arthur Falkin, Mrs. Henry Bultman, Mrs. Phillip Del Vecchio, Mrs. Arthur Dausser, Mrs. William Lorimer, Mrs. Joseph Seidel, Ben Yarrow and Mrs. Donington.

Refreshments will be served and prizes awarded. Individual tickets or tables of tickets may be obtained also by contacting Mrs. Hardgrove at 376-3348.

Springtime event slated Saturday

A springtime dinner dance will be held on Saturday evening at the Presbyterian Parish House beginning at 6:30. The dining room and auditorium of the Parish House will be transformed into a springtime setting for this annual affair, which this year is sponsored by the couples' club of the church.

A dinner, featuring boneless stuffed capon catered by Rau's will be served between 6:30 and 8:30 p.m. Following this, dancing will follow to the music of the Rhythmatics, an eight-piece band with girl vocalist from Frenchtown. The band, which plays in the Glen Miller style, was most favorably received last year and is returning by popular request, a spokesman said.

Featured during the evening will be Paul Beck, a member of the church and athletic coach at Millburn High School, as master of ceremonies who will preside over the distribution of door prizes.

Ronald Wendlandt, president of the Fireside Group, is serving as general chairman of the dance, assisted by his wife, Barbara, and Jean Slim in charge of decorations, Bill and Ethel Smith have arranged for the caterer and orchestra, while Frank Shimshock is in charge of tickets.

Fire chief in reminder of 'Day' this Saturday

Fire Chief Ormond W. Mesker this week reminded all Springfield residents that this Saturday will be observed throughout the nation as Fire Service Recognition Day.

C. W. Wyrick, president of the International Association of Fire Chiefs, declared that his group and the International Association of Fire Fighters are seeking recognition of the observance by a congressional resolution.

Saturday socials will end May 11

"By popular demand," it was announced this week, the theme for the Summit YWCA's Saturday night social dance will be "Coffee House Revisited" on May 11, from 9 p.m. to midnight. The YWCA ballroom will be turned into an informal coffee house for single young men and women between the ages of 19 and 40. This is the last dance of the season. The series of socials will resume in the fall.

Live music by the Mood-makers, with a new discoteque sound, refreshments, get-acquainted mixers will be part of the evening's fare. Young singles may attend with or without a date, and no previous reservations are required. YWCA social dances provide an opportunity for single young people to meet others who live or work in the area.

Jan, Lillian Bart head program for Israel anniversary

Jan and Lillian Bart will entertain at the "Israel Cabaret Night" of Springfield B'nai B'rith Lodge on Monday at Temple Beth Ahm. The affair, which will celebrate the 20th anniversary of Israel's independence, will honor Samuel Piller of 144 Belair Hills Circle and his brother, Sidney Piller of 108 Madison ter., for their work in selling and promoting Israel Bonds.

Jan Bart is a singer and humorist, and his wife Lillian a singer. Dr. Samuel Gross is chairman of the "Israel Cabaret Night." Otto Adler and Norman Salitz are the vice-chairmen. Members of their committee include Norman Alexander, Sidney Atkins, Rudolph Bamberger, Leo R. Barnes, Meyer Biddleman, David Blumenkrantz, Wallace Calen, Seymour Cohen, David Feldman, Leonard A. Golden, Lawrence R. Goodman, Dr. Samuel E. Gross, Allen Haberman, Gerald Haimowitz, Ludwig Jaffe, Arthur Kesselhaut, Nathan Krowne, Abe Levine, Norman Lowenstein, Irving Malowitsky, Philip Meisel, Irving Morfin, Arthur Miniman, Sydney Miller, Bernard Moller, Norman Paskin, Leo Rivkind, Michael Sener, Martin Shindler, Marvin Simson, Jack Sobel, Norman Spector, Milton Steinhoff, Dr. Leonard Strulowitz and Sam Weinberg.

Plaques will be presented to Sidney and Samuel Piller. Sidney Piller is a past president of the Springfield lodge and is a member of the board of governors for District 3 of B'nai B'rith. Samuel Piller is vice-president in charge of fund-raising for the lodge.

The Pillers operate Elkay Products at 35 Brown ave. and take an active interest in many community affairs. Sidney Piller helped initiate and served on the Springfield Industrial Committee and co-chaired the first Springfield Industrial Fair in 1965. For eight consecutive years, Elkay has been sponsor of a Little League team and co-sponsors of the American Legion baseball team. Their service to youth is accentuated by the Pillers' annual contribution — through Elkay — to a scholarship fund, known as the "Elkay Products Scholarship," which helps Springfield boys and girls of high school age.

Both Pillers are active in the Industrial Division of the United Fund of Springfield. Sidney Piller is vice-chairman.

Mother's Day fete scheduled Sunday at church services

The Church School of Springfield Emanuel Methodist Church, will honor the mothers of the parish Sunday, Mother's Day, by presenting each mother with a rose at the services of worship, according to Mrs. Virginia Gleitsman, chairman of the education committee. Children and youth of the Church School will make the actual presentations at 9:30 a.m. in the Chapel; 11 a.m. in the Sanctuary and at German language service, 9:30 a.m. in the sanctuary. At the German language service, Emanuel Schwing, local preacher, will entitle his sermon "Lydia." Pastor James Dewart's sermon at both services of divine worship will be "The Authority of Love," based on the commandment, "Honor your father and mother." Church School meets at 9:30 a.m. with classes for all ages.

Methodist Homes of New Jersey, which provides care for aged Methodists, will be remembered on Mother's Day with a traditional offering for their ministry. The homes which are located at Ocean Grove, Branchville and Ocean City, have approximately 500 residents and are in the process of expansion to increase their capacity. Through decentralization, the attempt has been made to have facilities for aged Methodists within 50 miles of their home church and community. Springfield Emanuel Methodist Church contributes a dollar per member, per year to the cause.

The Woman's Society of Christian Service will meet Tuesday for a business meeting at 11 a.m., followed by a sandwich lunch and program.

Bag supper slated at 1st Presbyterian

The Westminster Fellowship of the Springfield Presbyterian Church will hold a bag supper on Sunday evening at 5:45 in the Presbyterian Parish House. Following supper, the election of officers for next year will be held.

At 7:30, the group will travel to the Connecticut Farms Presbyterian Church in Union to attend a meeting of the youth groups of that church. Featured at this meeting will be a group of young people from Fort Jervis, N.Y., who have been actively writing music and lyrics for church music which will appeal to young people. Among the song books which they have had published is "Hymns Hot and Carols Cool."

Conference

Conference, Roselle and Roselle Park, are new members of the Garden State Conference, which ranges geographically from Clifford Scott High School in East Orange to several schools in Monmouth County. These schools are roughly the same size as Dayton, Palmer said, but the conference appears happy with its present eight members, and has room for no more teams.

David Brearley Regional in Kenilworth belongs to the Mountain Valley Conference, Palmer reported, but that group has limited itself to teams in Group I and Group II, and Dayton is just a little too big to qualify. Dayton will continue to play against other schools in the Regional District where practical, Palmer said, but probably not very often in football. Brearley is committed to a full conference gridiron schedule of its own, he said, and Gov. Livingston is already too big, and will probably be dropped in 1969, along with Westfield, Cranford and Scotch Plains.

He said that Dayton will continue to play Johnson Regional for several years, at least, Palmer added that he planned to continue playing against two other Watching Conference teams, Rahway and Hillside, "provided they want to play us and can fit us into their conference commitments."

OTHER SPORTS present less of a scheduling problem than football, Palmer said, for two reasons. The first is that manpower is less of a problem, and Dayton could play some larger schools. The second is that there are more games played in the other sports, and teams are not bound as tightly by conference commitments.

The athletic director noted that the Dayton soccer schedule had already been revised for next fall to drop three teams. They are Union, a very large school and a traditional soccer power; Edison Tech of Elizabeth, a very strong team with many foreign-trained players; and Columbia of South Orange and Maplewood, a large school with primary commitments to another conference.

Two new opponents for the soccer team will be Morris Hills Regional and Parsippany. Palmer noted that both are Group IV schools, but expressed the hope that Dayton will be able to match them, at least in soccer. "This is as far as we can project for now," Palmer commented. "We won't know much more until September. Then we can start making more adjustments."

"The schools we drop will begin picking up new opponents, and that will release other teams which we might like to meet. We have a lot of promises from other teams which would be good for our schedule, but no firm commitments as yet."

Audience cheers call to impeach Warren Boos speaker representing NAACP

BY ADA BRUNNER
A crowd of about 200 cheered Dominick Spina when he snapped out, "Impeach Earl Warren," and booted an NAACP official who told the primarily white audience that violence "is the only thing you will listen to" at a "Crime in the Streets" forum in Connecticut Farms School in Union Friday night.

Spina, Newark police director, and Marshall Brown, president of the Plainfield NAACP, shared the platform with State Senator Francis McDermott, former New York City Police Commissioner Vincent Broderick and Herbert Romerstein of Linden, an investigator for the House Committee on Un-American Activities, at the program presented by the Union County Open Forum.

Spina's comment on Chief Justice Earl Warren came during the question and answer period. A woman in the audience asked McDermott, State Senate majority leader, what can be done to stop "pornography" in books and movies in view of the "liberal tendencies" of the U.S. Supreme Court.

BEFORE McDERMOTT COULD answer, Spina said: "Impeach Earl Warren."
McDermott, who did not comment on the Spina statement, said that many of the Supreme Court rulings have been five-to-four decisions. He said that if one of the five men who have been concurring in the majority decisions retires or dies, he should be succeeded by someone with a "strong morality."

Spina's comment, however, was challenged by Broderick, who said that as an attorney, "I can't sit on a panel and let something like that go by."

"For a law enforcement officer to say anything like that is shocking," Broderick said to mingled boos and applause from the audience. "I disassociate myself from that position."

"The first person to rise to his feet during the question and answer period was Mayor F. Edward Bierbaum of Union. The mayor addressed a comment to Brown, who had made a fiery attack on the white-power structure and had charged whites with being indifferent to the plight of the Negro.

THE MAYOR CALLED on Brown to "temper your attitude a little." He urged the NAACP official to "try to educate the poor people to get away from self-pity."

The panelists were introduced by Perry Shoemaker, chief executive officer of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, who substituted for former Governor Robert Meyner as moderator. Meyner cancelled his appearance at the program following the death of his mother.

McDermott, opening the program, concentrated on organized crime and the dope traffic. He said that seven of the 24 Cosa Nostra "families" in the United States operate in New Jersey, with "heavy money" invested in the narcotics trade.

There are two ways to combat organized crime, McDermott said.
First, he stated, "you must go to electronic eavesdropping." He noted that this can be "dangerous" but added that such eavesdropping devices "must be regulated."

THE OTHER METHOD, he added, is giving witnesses "complete immunity." This, combined with electronic eavesdropping, would provide the "bold and drastic action" needed in New Jersey today, he said.

Broderick said he considers "crime in the streets" the topic of the forum, a "separate and distinct subject" from organized crime. Stating that crime in the streets is often "a euphemism for a prejudice against Negroes which is no longer acceptable in plain English," he called it "a made to order issue in any political campaign."

Although crime in the streets is "a euphemism for racial prejudice" in white communities, it is "a real concern" in Negro communities, Broderick said. He added: "The victims of crime in the street in our society are the people who are beset by society."

VIOLENT CRIME EXISTS on a much higher level in ghetto areas where there is inadequate schooling, inadequate employment opportunity and inadequate housing, he said. "God knows we have this in every city today," he stated.

Broderick described the report of the President's Commission on Civil Disorders as "a clear call" to what must be done. So far, "we have not dealt with the underlying causes of crime," he said.

Romerstein compared the situation in this country today with the Germany of 1928, when rival gangs of Nazis and Communists "fought each other in the streets and innocent people were killed."

Noting that the Un-American Activities Committee has investigated the Ku Klux Klan and the American Nazi Party, he said that the concepts espoused by the Klan and the Nazis are similar to those espoused by the Communists and "some people who call themselves Black Nationalists."

In speaking of riots, he said that only a small minority of the people in ghetto areas have been involved and most of those who are involved "are not politically oriented." He said: "The hoodlum element in society is prepared to lead itself to a political machine which goes out and does acts of violence for its ends."

HE DREW HEAVY applause when, in speaking of a two-month old infant killed by a home-made bomb in Chicago, he said: "That baby had a right to live and the animal that threw the Molotov cocktail should have been shot on sight."
Romerstein's statement that only one percent of the Negroes in ghetto areas were involved in rioting was challenged by Brown, who said the other 99 percent felt "great gloom" and "retardation." He said: "It goes far beyond your imaginations."

Brown was booed several times -- when he accused the Un-American Activities Committee of "doing nothing" and again when he charged that it was "Spina's voice" which was responsible for the deaths that occurred during the Newark riots, not the snipers.

Charging that "the rich control this country...white people that you bow to, work for," he said the crime the Negro is concerned with is "white collar crime -- keeping the black man out of jobs."

He told the audience that "you have profited by the evils" of these people "who have kept the black man out of competition with you." He also accused the audience of not caring about the narcotics traffic as long as only "black children were taking dope," adding "You only became concerned about dope when your own children started smoking pot."

"CRIME IN THE STREETS," he said, "is a manifestation we shall enlarge. It is the only thing you will listen to." He added: "You'd be mad enough to kill, too, if your children were hungry."

Spina listed the causes of crime in the nation as a philosophy of commercialism, a "massive breakdown of family life," and the "failure" of institutions such as churches and schools.

Speaking of the courts, he was greeted with strong applause when he said: "If the founding fathers knew how the Supreme Court is interpreting the Constitution, they would turn over in their graves." He said: "Five men in this nation (Supreme Court Justices)

Kalem agency receives honor

The Daniel D. Kalem insurance agency of Springfield has been cited as a "1968 Select Circle Agency" by the Central Mutual Insurance Co. of Van Wert, Ohio.

The citation was announced at a dinner meeting last Thursday in New York City, attended by honored agents served by Central Mutual's New York branch office. Daniel D. Kalem, owner of the local agency, attended the dinner. This is the fourth year the agency has been honored.

are playing God--this is a disgrace." On the Newark riots, he said the causes were not protests over the location of a medical college or a controversy over a School Board appointment or even the fact that "the Negro has been frustrated and bitter for years." "This was not the reason for the riot in Newark," he said. "There was a conspiracy between black racists and white subversives." He charged that "many people in the poverty program contributed to the problem." During the two days after the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King, however, many Negroes, including people in the poverty agencies, helped "stem the tide" and prevent more rioting, Spina stated.

He said that although organized crime is a major problem in this country, a more important problem now is to be able "to feel free to walk the streets of the city without being raped, robbed or murdered."

Women finding more jobs, higher pay Douglass official cites wider opportunities

The young woman who graduates from college today may choose her career from a wider variety of professions and earn a higher salary than ever before in history.

This is in sharp contrast to the limited professional opportunities which were available to the woman graduate of 50 years ago, says Miss Helen V. Knowles, director of the Douglass College Placement Bureau.

Miss Knowles noted that the first graduates of the New Jersey College for Women, as the college was then called, were quite limited in their choice of careers.

The 1922 NJC graduate generally had to enter one of the "women's professions," such as teaching, nursing, secretarial, library or social work. Marriage usually meant the end of her professional career.

"Today there is still a great demand for women in those fields, but there is also a variety of additional opportunities," Miss Knowles said.

There is great demand for mathematicians, scientists and government and social workers. Women also are finding jobs in publishing, public-relations, insurance, banking, retailing, home economics, business and the Armed Forces.

"The Douglass Placement Bureau's philosophy is that our most important function is to counsel each girl so that she can be her own employment agency," Miss Knowles said. "Of course we refer girls to many jobs."

"We interview every girl who registers, some several times, to determine her interests, to suggest possible job fields, to give her assistance in writing letters and resumes and to encourage her to use our services, particularly our extensive vocational library," the director explained.

BESIDES ASSISTING new graduates, the bureau aids alumnae. A number of alumnae have returned after 20 years to find out what jobs are open to them and to see if they require any retraining, Miss Knowles said.

About 95 percent of Douglass seniors register with the office. They receive advice and information about job resources, job-hunting techniques, job referral and recruitment by business and graduate schools.

Last year, about one-third of those employed went into teaching. An employment survey of the Class of 1967 shows that the median salary for teaching was $5,800 and for non-teaching fields, $6,100.

"Salaries go up every year," Miss Knowles said. Among the highest salaried fields at the present are mathematics and science, with the top graduate earning $8,500 to start.

Among positions which have been held by Douglass graduates are curator of the Montclair Art Museum, supervisor of consumer publicity for the National Biscuit Co., public relations coordinator for the Museum of the City of New York, junior planner for the New Jersey State Department of Conservation, technical writer for American Cyanamid, tax technician for the Internal Revenue Bureau and assistant editor for the National Council on Crime and Delinquency.

Many girls go into social work for public agencies and into government jobs on the federal, state and city level, Miss Knowles said.

A large percentage of the graduates work after marriage. Of the Class of 1967, 34 percent are married and of these 71 percent are employed. Many women now return to their careers after their children are in school.

Part of Douglass College's 50th anniversary celebration will be a major career conference on Oct. 29 and 30.

Study confirms air pollution by cars

The rapid increase in motor vehicle traffic in the urban and suburban areas and the attendant exhaust is adding to the dangerous air pollution problem, Dr. Alice Laughlin, associate professor of science at Jersey City State College, said this week.

Dr. Laughlin, citing research work done by several of her students, said automobiles produce tens of millions of tons of waste products—carbon monoxide, hydrocarbons, nitrogen oxides, etc.—which under the influence of ultraviolet rays of the sun are converted to even more dangerous and damaging substances than the original waste.

"For the past several years, JCSC science students have been measuring lead content in vegetation growing near some of the state's major highways and roads. The presence of lead in vegetation is an indication of the amount of gasoline pollutants in the area," she said. "The lead comes from tetraethyl lead, an anti-knock ingredient in most commercial gasolines.

The study at JCSC was begun in 1964 by a science student, Michael Palumbo. Using various areas in north Jersey, Palumbo took samples of grass 25 feet from the road and found the highest concentration of lead at Exit 8 of the New Jersey Turnpike.

Following Palumbo's graduation, Charles Brown of Jersey City, now a senior science major, continued the lead contamination study along the highways, particularly on Rt. 46 and on Rt. 1-9 in Jersey City, near Culver avenue.

In 1966, from a range of one to five feet, there were 140 parts per million of lead in the grass samples on Rt. 1-9, and only four parts per million 10 feet away. On Rt. 46, the intensity was greater.

Last summer, the tests were repeated at approximately the same locations and the concentrations had risen from a low of 75 percent to as high as 1,000 percent greater.

Brown, aided by another senior science major, George Pinkney, already has started tests for 1968. The pair has been joined by William Springfield, a sophomore science major who will continue the study.

'Mental Health Month' being observed in May

Governor Richard J. Hughes has signed a proclamation designating May as Mental Health Month.

"The Mental Health Fund Campaign will be conducted throughout the month of May," according to Elmer B. Hosking, Morristown, state chairman of the New Jersey Association for Mental Health, who was present at the governor's signing.

boards, appeal boards, and the President—only when there is no basis in fact for the classification—assigned to such registrant.

A recent news release stated the National Security Council had made some recommendations concerning occupational and student deferments. What part does the Council have in that regard?

Section 4 (g) of the Military Selective Service Act of 1967 states, "The National Security Council shall periodically advise the Director of the Selective Service System with respect to the identification, selection, and deferment of needed professional and scientific personnel and those engaged in, and preparing for, critical skills and other essential occupations. In the performance of its duties under this subsection the National Security Council shall consider the needs of both the Armed Forces and the civilian segment of the population."

SELECTIVE SERVICE questions and answers

Colonel Joseph T. Avella, State Director of Selective Service, has issued the following series of questions frequently asked of the Selective Service System, along with appropriate answers.

In that both I-Y and IV-F classifications are given to those who are unacceptable for entry into the service, will you explain the difference between the two?

The registrant classified I-Y is not currently qualified for service but would be in time of war or national emergency declared by the Congress. The man classified IV-F is not qualified for any service in the Armed Forces either currently or in time of war or national emergency declared by the Congress.

When is a Selective Service classification subject to court review?

Section 10 (b) (3) of the Military Selective Service Act of 1967 provides: "No judicial review shall be made of the classification or processing of any registrant by local boards, appeal boards, or the President, except as a defense to a criminal prosecution instituted under section 12 (Penalties) of this title, after the registrant has responded either affirmatively or negatively to an order to report for induction, or for civilian work in the case of a registrant determined to be opposed to participation in war in any form: Provided, that such review shall go to the question of the jurisdiction herein reserved to local

Mosquitoes prefer deer Humans only second choice

You may find this to be rather small consolation, but many New Jersey mosquitoes don't bite people unless they're really hungry. They would much rather feast on white-tailed deer, ring-necked pheasants or big fat bullfrogs. Some mosquito species, in fact, limit their diet to laughing gulls, Louisiana herons, snowy egrets and other wading birds, scooping mammals and reptiles if at all possible. Still, other species would live on frogs exclusively if they could, while those which prefer reptile blood might enjoy terrapin but would settle for blacksnake if necessary.

In the wild, humans are quite far down the list of hosts preferred by mammal-sucking species. Deer tops this category. This information—not at all trivial—is the result of background research aimed basically at "breaking" the mysteries of Eastern encephalitis, commonly known as sleeping sickness, which took the lives of 21 persons in New Jersey in 1959.

RUTGERS UNIVERSITY'S COLLEGE of Agriculture and Environmental Science is studying the feeding patterns of the state's 52 mosquito species and the New Jersey Department of Health is testing animals as possible virus carriers.

Rutgers has been working on this for more than a decade. Wayne J. Crans of Glen Gardner, a research specialist in the Department of Entomology and Economic Zoology, who has been carrying the ball in recent years, has written his Ph.D. thesis on the subject.

"If the Department of Health knows what animals carry the virus, and we find out which mosquitoes feed on those animals, we will be well on our way to controlling the disease," Dr. Crans points out.

"Eastern encephalitis, which used to be known as Eastern equine encephalitis, is essentially a disease of birds. The equine was dropped from the name some time ago. Horses and humans contact it only accidentally."

But how do horses and humans get it at all when birds carry the virus and mosquitoes which feed on them seldom annoy mammals? "The answer lies in that qualifying word 'seldom,'" Dr. Crans says. "Under unusual circumstances when no bird is available and a man is, the mosquito will feed on the man. Then, if the mosquito happens to be carrying the virus, the man is vulnerable."

"OF COURSE IT works the other way, too. A mosquito which normally feeds on mammals may bite a virus-carrying bird if that's the only way it can get a meal. Later the same mosquito may find a person to feed on, then that person may become infected. Standard blood-typing techniques are used in the College's mosquito laboratory to find what kind of animals the mosquitoes caught by researchers have fed upon. The lab's freezer contains blood samples from nearly every possible mosquito host, including Dr. Crans himself.

"We're learning other interesting things along the way," Dr. Crans says. "For instance, our work has uncovered a disease in frogs which appears related to dog heartworm and possibly even to the tropical disease of humans, elephantiasis. We have every indication that mosquitoes transmit this disease to frogs. That's where the value of our host study comes in. It serves as a road map to our goals."

YM-YWHA cites four club leaders

Bernice Falmer, Ann Frank, Abbie Raicer and Susan Siter were presented awards for five years of continuing service as club leaders at the Eastern Union County YM-YWHA at the annual youth activities award supper at the "Y", Green Lane, Union last Thursday. The awards were presented by Mrs. Harold Brewster, a vice president of the YM-YWHA. Cited and the recipients of awards as the outstanding club groups of 1968 were L.D.K. and Alpha Delta Pi. The awards were presented by Jack Snyder, chairman of the youth activities committee of the "Y". The winner of the award for the best all-around booth in the annual Purim Carnival was the Sunday Fun Time Knitting Club. Top winners in the annual skit program were the Spotlighters in the Junior Division and the L.D.K. in the intermediate division. Top prize winner in the candy sale project was David Stone, while Glen Goldstein and Riva Zweben tied for the second place award.

Springfield board to offer resolution on school districts

Two measures said to be aimed at heading off or modifying any state-mandated reorganization of local school districts are among the 10 resolutions to be introduced for delegate action at the annual meeting of the State Federation of Education Boards of Education, to be held Saturday, beginning at 10 a.m., at the State House Assembly Chamber, Trenton. A resolution sponsored by the Dunellen Board of Education would endorse redetermination of school district boundaries only by mutual agreement of local communities. A second resolution, proposed by the Springfield Board of Education, would seek a legal procedure by which regional school districts could be dissolved and abolished.

In addition to these, delegates will vote on proposals seeking changes in state aid formulas, in board member election and appointment, and in regulations affecting employee sick leave and teacher absence.

The delegates, representing New Jersey's 594 local school districts and more than 4,600 school board members, will also elect new officers.

Plan nature walks Sunday afternoon

Sunday afternoon visitors to the Union County Park Commission's Trailside Nature and Science Center, in the Watchung Reservation, will have an opportunity to participate in walks along the nature trails adjacent to the center.

Beginning at 2 p.m., Donald W. Mayer, director of Trailside, and the staff will lead groups of 10 to 15 persons along the trails and describe general identification of the plants, animals and minerals in the area. The tours will begin from the Nature and Science Center.

During the week, on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, May 16, at 4 p.m., each day, Mayer and Miss Irma H. Hoyer, educational assistant at Trailside, will conduct one-half hour nature talks for children. The topic to be discussed during the four days is "Spring Wildflowers." The lectures will be illustrated with color slides.

The Trailside Nature and Science Center is open to the public each weekday, except Friday, from 3 to 5 p.m., and on Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays, from 1 to 5 p.m. The public is invited to visit the Nature Center, tour the live-animal area, view the thousands of indoor exhibits and participate in the scheduled programs.

Mom can offer family gift of longer life

The woman in the kitchen is in the important position of being able to reduce her family's risk of heart disease, beginning on Mother's Day when gifts and messages of love are flowing her way, the Union County Heart Association suggests that she, too, can give a gift—the gift of better health and longer life to her loved ones through improved dietary habits.

This will call for some changes in daily meal planning. The aim should be to cut down on foods rich in animal (saturated) fats and cholesterol, which increase the level of cholesterol in the blood. High blood cholesterol has been linked to development of atherosclerosis, the disease which underlies most heart attacks, the association said.

To achieve this aim, the housewife can serve more meals of fish, chicken, veal and turkey and less beef, lamb, pork and ham. She can replace whole milk with skim milk, and hard cheese with cheese products made from skim milk. She also can cut down on the use of eggs, which are very high in cholesterol.

Instead of using butter for a spread, the housewife can serve the soft margarines that are rich in polyunsaturated fats, the association said.

Similarly, rather than use lard and other solid cooking fats, she can substitute the polyunsaturated vegetable oils. The latter can be used, for example, to brown lean meats, or to fry fish and poultry; in cream sauces and soups made with skim milk; for making hot breads, pie crust and cakes; for making cocktail snacks and, in cooking dehydrated potatoes and other prepared foods which call for the addition of fats.

To round out her daily selection of foods for a balanced diet, the housewife also should include vegetables, fruit, breads, and cereals. In this way she can maintain good nutrition for her family, and at the same time help them to adopt new eating habits that are designed to protect their hearts.

The earlier the homemaker puts these dietary recommendations into practice, the greater the assurance of many more happy Mother's Days for all the family, the association added.

Science classes at NSC use gamma ray machine

A gamma ray machine that brings procedures of a nuclear laboratory into the classroom is now a functional teaching device in biology and chemistry classes at Newark State College, Union. Dr. Herman L. Lepp, chairman of the Science Department, announced this week.

The $3,875 machine, known as the Gammator-50, was a gift last fall from the manufacturer, Radiation Machinery Corporation of Parsippany, but its use has been delayed as the college awaited licensing from the Atomic Energy Commission to operate it.

The long-awaited license was delivered last week by Milton Packin, president of Radiation, at a ceremony attended by John Kean, chairman of Newark State's Board of Trustees, Dr. Eugene G. Wilkins, president of the college, and members of the Science Department.

Dr. Lepp said that experiments in the irradiation of a wide variety of tissue, cultures and specimens have produced considerable enthusiasm among students and faculty. Items irradiated so far have included strawberries, black-eyed peas, tadpoles and bacon.

Gamma irradiation can be used to pasteurize food products, sterilize surgical supplies, inhibit sprout growth on produce such as potatoes and onions, accelerate vegetable growth and perform other services.

Classroom experiments can permit students to observe genetic effects of radiation on bacteria, molds, yeast, protozoa, fruit flies, chicken and frog embryos or other forms of cell tissue and to determine lethal doses on insects, bacteria, fungi and molds.

A NEW COURSE in radiation science is being developed around the use of the Gammator, Dr. Lepp said, but this will not be ready for at least a year. Meanwhile the device will not lie idle. In addition to biology and chemistry classes, genetics, anatomy and physiology classes will utilize the facility.

The Gammator has been specifically designed for use in high school and college laboratories. It is 36 inches high, weighs 1,700 pounds and contains pellets of Cesium-137 that will continue to serve as a source of radiation for 30 years.

Special protective features make it safe for classroom use, Dr. Lepp explained. Designed by Brookhaven National Laboratory (AEC) personnel, it meets all Atomic Energy Commission and state health regulations for teenagers and adults.

The radioactive material is contained within two concentric capsules which are locked within a holder. One by a shielding plug. Material to be irradiated is placed in a plastic cup on a turntable in the center of the instrument and is rotated into position within range of the radioactive particles.

Two faculty professors, Dr. Duane B. Linden, and Mrs. Amelia L. Smith of the Science Department, who have studied extensively in the area of radiation science, have been appointed to supervise the use of the Gammator.

"Soon this instrument will be in high schools throughout the United States," Dr. Lepp said. "We plan to turn out science teachers who are able to use it in their classrooms. Radiation has been termed the 'science of the 70's.' We're getting ready for it now," he said.

Officers installed by secretary unit

New officers were installed by the Union County Association of Educational Secretaries last Thursday at the Town & Campus in Union. They included Mrs. Jean Ott of Mountainside, vice-president; Mrs. Edith Schaefer of Union, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Florence Schwartz of Linden and Miss Camille Ladner of Springfield, executive board members. The officers were installed by Mrs. Maxine Buck of Mountainside.

Members of the nominating committee included Mrs. Teresa Settlinger of Union and Mrs. Buck. A retired member of the association, Mrs. Virginia Campbell of Union, attended the meeting. Among those who won prizes at the affair were Mrs. Lois McGuffin of Mountainside, Mrs. Dorothy Finizio of Roselle Park, Mrs. Marlene Hansen and Mrs. Veronica Schomer of Union.

Miss Nancy Lutter of Westfield, winner of the group's scholarship award this year, was introduced at the meeting. Entertainment was provided by the Governor Livingston Regional High School girl pipers and dancers.

'Adopt-A-Mother' at Lizmor Home planned for week

Howard Trachtenberg, administrator of the Lizmor Nursing Home, Elizabeth, recently announced that the home will hold an "Adopt-A-Mother for Mother's Day" program in connection with a statewide Nursing Home Week, Sunday through May 18. This will be in accordance with Governor Richard J. Hughes' "Adopt A Mother" concept of "a unique program to relieve patients of one of the saddest of all afflictions—loneliness." He has urged New Jersey families to participate by adopting a mother for Mother's Day.

At Lizmor, Trachtenberg has requested that families in the area "adopt" a mother from the home on the special day.

During Nursing Home Week, open house will be held at Lizmor. Visitors will be taken on a tour of the home.

Individuals and organizations, clubs and church groups are invited to "adopt" a mother for Mother's Day from Lizmor. The groups also are invited to present programs and entertainment and to visit Lizmor frequently.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Katharine Beard, social director of the home.

State GOP slates three fund raisers

The New Jersey Republican State Finance Committee has scheduled three major fund-raising events during this Presidential election year, it was announced this week by John H. Ewing, chairman of the GOP group.

The events are:
 *A May 17 dinner and rally at Symphony Hall in Newark, with Richard M. Nixon as principal speaker.

*A June 18 reception for Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller at a New York City location to be announced later.

*A rally in the fall in support of the Republican Presidential nominee, who will be chosen at the Parry's Miami Beach convention, Milford A. Visser of Short Hills will be chairman of the Nixon dinner and co-chairman of the Rockefeller reception, with former Secretary of the Treasury C. Douglas Dillon.

MAKING PLANS—Henry J. Roche, chairman of the 17th Annual Pharmaceutical Conference of Rutgers University, discusses final plans with Mrs. A.M. Reiber, left, of 352 Martin Rd., Union, secretary of the Union County Pharmaceutical Society, and Mrs. Amalia R. Ricciardi, Hillsdale, former president of the Alumni Association of the State University's College of Pharmacy here. The May 15, event will be conducted on the Douglass College Campus in New Brunswick by the pharmacy college and the University Extension Division. The planning session was held in the college.

Walking healthful --- not on Parkway

Walking or jogging is not good for anyone on the Garden State Parkway.
 The New Jersey Highway Authority, operators of the Parkway, this week took note of increasing pedestrian deaths on the 173-mile road and urged motorists to stay put in their cars—disabled or not—for safer safety.

The Parkway officials called special attention to the dangers in walking to a service area along the high-speed road for gasoline rather than waiting for a State Police patrol or staff car to arrive with help.
 Recognizing that personal injuries and at least one death have resulted from such walking expeditions on the Parkway, the Authority has asked the contract operators of its service stations not to sell gasoline to motorists away from their cars and to notify State Police instead.

Parkway regulations prohibit its entry or use by pedestrians, except on sidewalks, footpaths, or in areas specifically designated for such purpose. Violators are subject to fines up to $200 and imprisonment.

"WALKING IS DEFINITELY not recommended on the Parkway and in fact is discouraged for drivers whose cars run out of gas," said Dr. John B. Townsend, the Authority's vice chairman and a practicing physician in Ocean City. "Motors should await the arrival of a police patrol and service truck whenever they have a vehicle disablement."
 Cars parked on the roadside in such emergency must be well off the pavement, and so should their occupants.

Two of the three traffic deaths on the Parkway during the first quarter this year were pedestrians, one of whom was walking for gasoline.

In the past six years on the Parkway, a total of 20 pedestrians were killed. Three such traffic deaths occurred last year, when pedestrians were involved in 17 accidents on the Parkway.

A neighbor watching the drama inquired, "Where did he come from?" And all that I could reply was one word "Heaven."

My new Jet is a male "All-American" rooster. He may have come from "Heaven," but he has become an advanced student in raising "Hell."
 Our lawn and garden will never be the same due to the treasures that he buries and uncovers. He steals everything that he can carry and generally waits until we are dressed for church or an occasion to jump into the nearest pool of water or mud puddle.

ON THE OTHER HAND his obedience and affectionate nature overshadow any puppy mischief that he may dream up. Most of my pleasures have their little draw backs, the garden with its weeds and bugs, the car and its repairs and expense, TV with the commercials and even the "Old Homestead" with its taxes, etc. So what if I do find a bone hidden in my shoe now and then? So far none of them have been greasy.

There are 11 gasoline station areas along the Parkway with signs in advance of them to alert motorists to their vehicles' possible need of fuel.

For those motorists who run out of gas between stations or have other vehicle disablements, the Parkway is patrolled 24 hours a day by a State Police detachment whose Troopers can summon emergency services from 15 qualified, radio-equipped garages nearby the superhighway stretches.

A total of 38,750 emergency service aids were rendered motorists on the Parkway last year, with empty gasoline tanks accounting for 5,591 of the help missions.

Owners of pets are reminded of deadline in story contest

The second annual short story contest for Be Kind to Animals-Week, which is being observed this week, is being conducted by the New Jersey Branch of the Humane Society of the United States, Don R. Maxfield, executive director, has announced.

Prizes of $50, $25 and $10 are being offered for the three best entries of 500 words or less. All entries must be submitted to the society's office at 1140 E. Jersey st., Elizabeth, N.J., 07201, and must be postmarked no later than Tuesday. The winners will be announced at the branch's annual meeting on May 18 at Stouffer's Restaurant, Short Hills Mall.

Maxfield said that entries must relate a true life story about an animal that has been a family pet.

Last year's winner was Wallace B. Dixon of 1023 Thompson ave., Roselle; whose entry was entitled, "No More Pets and No More Heartaches."

DIXON'S STORY FOLLOWS:
 Most of my life I've had pets of every description, and I've loved them all. Every so often there would be an unfortunate incident, and I would go into my act, "No more pets and no more heartaches."

Late last summer despite every effort of our veterinarian, my dog Jet passed away. I was heartbroken and lonesome, as Jet had been my constant companion since I retired with a disability eight years ago.

It's funny how a person with so many swell neighbors, relatives and friends could miss a mutt so much, but he was the best dog I ever had. One thing was certain, "No more pets and no more heartaches."

While sitting on my porch and reviewing my vow, the dirtiest, most neglected creature I have ever seen struggled up the walk, licked my hand and without formal introduction, adopted me.

Mobile printers to assist rural literacy programs

A mobile printing unit, built in the Netherlands for use in the literacy projects of developing nations, was recently displayed at Unesco's headquarters in Paris. In an example of bilateral aid stimulated by Unesco's world literacy campaign, the Netherlands government will donate five of these units—the first two to Iran and Indonesia, the next three (all to be built) to Pakistan, Kenya and Colombia. The Netherlands has also offered, through Unesco, five fellowships for the training of experts who will evaluate the effectiveness of the units.

In explaining the idea behind the mobile units, Jan Meijer of the Netherlands Ministry of Foreign Affairs stressed that they were developed with the cooperation of Unesco. The intention of his Government, Meijer said, was "to fit the bus for Iran into the literacy project already under way in that country. The bus for Indonesia will be used by the Graphic Arts Centre in Djakarta and serve as a link to the outlying areas of that vast country."

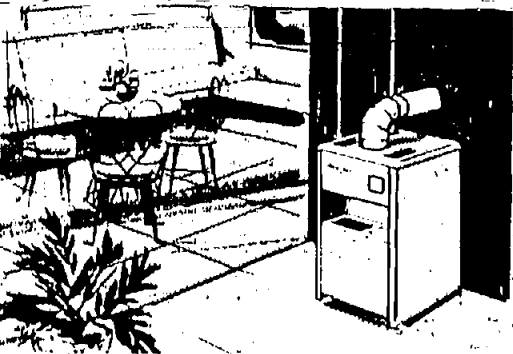

The 30-foot vehicles, in effect travelling presses, will serve to decentralize the printing for the newly literate.

Elastic Back and Straps

PLAYTEX Soft-line PADDED BRA

As Seen On TV

Now — Playtex combines all the fit and comfort features you could wish for in a padded bra. Adjustable stretch straps and sheer elastic back with all-way stretch — won't ride up. Elastic criss-cross area between the cups lifts and separates, shapes you as you've always wanted.

Cups are made with amazing new fiberfill padding — they stay soft... can't shift... can't bunch up. Machine washable, this new Playtex Soft-line Padded Bra keeps its life month after month.

White. 32A — 36B. $5.00

And, for those women who prefer cotton backs, there is a Playtex Soft-line Padded Bra with cotton back and stretch straps — $4.00; with semi-stretch straps — $3.50.

Paving work on Parkway

The Garden State Parkway this week underwent another in a series of face-lifting operations to build up its pavement worn down by millions of vehicles over the years.

Do you know the seven warning signals of cancer?

- 1. Unexplained weight change. 2. A lump or swelling. 3. A sore that does not heal. 4. Change in bowel or bladder habits. 5. Hoarseness. 6. Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing. 7. Change in voice.

IN ADDITION to the educational books, which are in great demand throughout East Africa, the vans carry a wide range of reading matter made up of some 250 different titles.

Judging by the interest they have generated so far, these bookmobiles will, the authorities hope, play an increasingly important part in the various national adult literacy campaigns organized in each country...

Tuition aid supported

A tuition aid program for New Jersey students attending colleges and universities in New Jersey has been endorsed by the Association of Independent Colleges and Universities in New Jersey at its annual meeting.

The association, comprised of 15 fully accredited independent institutions of higher learning, adopted a resolution calling upon the State Legislature to enact Senate Bill 423, which would establish a tuition aid plan for New Jersey students.

Ask Amy

By AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy: After reading your (much looked forward to) column on unsolicited mail, I have this to offer and results can be obtained as to roll-off mail, just write back that it causes you much anxiety and would they please take your name and address off their mailing list.

Recently, our mail carrier trotted the steps with the mail which only contained the ever-lasting coupons for sweepstakes, discounts, etc. and with no forwarding address, I returned it all in another envelope to the only address marked in the corner space where the stamp is: Permit No. — and the name of the city and state. As usual, I discarded the accumulated coupons hoping that the prices will come down instead.

Dear Amy: Concerning "junk" mail, one way to stop a great deal of it is to get Congress to pass a Bill raising the postal rates for bulk mail.

I'm writing in regards to the lady's complaint of "junk" mail. You asked for solutions — as to what your readers do. Well, I might have a solution, I do not receive too much "junk" mail but I know where they get the names. I have a telephone job soliciting and many people tell me to get a new "sucker" list. I think them and hang up but for their information and that of your readers, there is no "sucker" list.

Dear Amy: About "junk" mail: send the latest unwanted mail with your full name and address and ask for the desired results to: Postmaster General, Washington, D.C.

I had a similar experience with a magazine outfit as "H.L.M." When my contract with them expired, they continued to send me magazines. I wrote them that I didn't want any more magazines — sent to me, but they ignored my letters. I also sent the magazines back to them, but that didn't do any good.

Dear Amy: I have no ideas on how to stop "junk" mail from being delivered to my home. I just throw it away without opening it. But I often think that if the cost of this mode of advertising were returned to the consumer in the form of cheaper prices on the products that the companies are trying to sell, their products WOULD sell. In most instances the mail concerns itself with name brands, and the housewife when shopping would buy this self-same product if the price were less than its competitor.

Address all letters to: AMY ADAMS c/o THIS NEWSPAPER For a personal reply enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

SAND CASTLES

G 734-030 SAND CASTLE SET ..... 5.00

Making castles in the sand—long a favorite pastime at the beach—was never so much fun as it is now with this plastic mold set. Each of the four colorful molds produces a different section of wall or tower, the tallest 7½" high. Good castle builders will amaze onlookers with the results of their labors—imposing medieval structures meant to withstand the onslaughts of an army. The builder is not limited as to the size of the castle he desires to build—he can go on and on as long as the supply of sand holds out. A shaping tool and a mortarboard to even the bases complete a most unusual toy. (Import). Ship. wt. 3 lbs.

A 760-307 SAND BOX (Exclusive) ..... 39.95
 (Up to 8 yrs.)—Attractive and well constructed of wood with reinforced masonite bottom, elevated for ventilation on sturdy legs. 2 end seats, adjustable gaily striped green and white awning with scalloped edge, supported by twin posts. Holds 200 pounds of sand. 52" x 36" x 53". Ship. wt. 68 lbs. Express.

B 760-811 SAND BOX (Exclusive) ..... 55.00
 (Up to 8 yrs.)—A superior two tone green sand box that offers all the facilities necessary for endless happy sandpile fun. Unusually sturdy construction of our own design. Elevated to allow circulation of air, with durable masonite bottom, deep enough for 400 lbs. of sand and surrounded by broad wooden seats. Posts support a white milk-tan or solid green adjustable canopy. Shelf for sand toys 55" x 48" x 54". Ship. wt. 105 lbs. Express.

Addendum for masculine elegance: our crease-resistant Moygashel linen vest in rich cream. To wear with your dark suit or blazer. A new look for business. A distinctive effect for special occasions. Frankly fashion-flattering. Sizes 36-46, $18

Timid Turtles
Run Riot
in Ten Colors

Most turtles are shy. Ours stick their necks out in ten "you name them" dazzling colors that forever demolish the dullness of the reptile. Of fine cotton, lisle with truly turtle neck, open sleeves and side slits to wear in or out. Made in Italy expressly for us. Royal blue, light blue, chocolate, Pacific blue, pimento red, yellow, taupe, alga green, navy or white. S, M, L, XL, $16.50
