Township up against new Trenton roadblock

Pool opens with added attractions

4th of July schedule lists contests for all

The Springfield Community Pool officially opened Saturday, ushering in, for most of the pool members, a season of fun and relaxation.

In addition to last year's shuffleboard, paddle ball, bocce, volleyball, softball, horseshoes, water polo and basketball, new additions are badminton, golf practice for adults and table tennis facilities. Various toys and games for the youngsters will also be available.

The activities at the pool include gymnastics for the ladies, baton twirling, modern dance, little league softball, junior league softball, men's softball on Sunday, volleyball leagues for men and organized volleyball games for women. Teen-age volleyball is also featured as is the bocce league.

Arts and crafts will be held every weekday from 2 to 4 p.m.

At least two special events are planned every week for the children. These will include a talent show for the children, pet show, costume party, scavenger, bicycle parade, "Mr. Ugly" contest, paddleball tournament and other events.

Following tradition, the Fourth of July will include contests for all age groups. Trophies will be awarded to the top players in all events.

The 6 and 7-year-olds will have a run-in-the-pool event for the boys and girls. A dash in the pool is planned for the 8 and 9 year olds. The 10 year old boys will be able to demonstrate their skill in a softball accuracy throw event. Girls aged 10 to 12 will participate in a dash on land while the boys of 11 and 12 also will run a dash. There will be four swimming contests. One will be for boys 13 and 14, and one for girls the same age. Boys and girls 15 to 17 will also have a swimming event.

There will be the annual ladies' rolling pin throw. The new event for the men is the hole-in-one golf contest. The men can also participate in a horseshoe contest. A teen-age dance contest and an adult dance contest for couples will climax the day's events.

Candidates and returning members of the Springfield Municipal Swim Team met for the first time this season on Monday. The 13-and-over age group assembled at poolside at 10 a.m. The younger swimmers, 6 to 12 years old, reported to the first meeting at 11 a.m. Practice and time trials were held all week from 10 a.m. until noon. The swimmers will have their first meet on July 7.

Swimming tests will be given on Monday to all Springfield children 7 years and older. Children with last names beginning with the letters A to L will report for testing at 10:30. Children with last names starting from M to Z will report to the pool at 11:30.

All children must have bathing suits and be prepared to swim. They were asked to bring Red Cross swimming cards earned in the past year.

Detective cleared, motorist fined in cross-charge case

Detective Samuel A. Calabrese was found not guilty Monday night of a charge of assault and battery filed against him by a young man who had been charged by Calabrese with two motor vehicle violations.

At the same time, Judge George Lombardi fined the youth, Robert C. Caruso, 21, of New Providence, $40 on charges of failure to stop at the signal of a police officer and failure to keep to the right. Judge Lombardi, who is the magistrate in Union, heard the case after Springfield Judge Max Sherman disqualified himself from the hearing involving the local officer.

Earlier on Monday, Judge Lombardi found Caruso guilty on a charge of using loud and indecent language, filed by Det. Calabrese in Union. He fined Caruso $25 on that count.

Calabrese testified that the incident began April 9 in the parking lot of the Great Eastern Mills store on Springfield Avenue in Union. Calabrese said he had gone into the parking lot to turn his unmarked police car around after patrolling on Springfield Avenue.

He told the court that Caruso drove past and shouted the objectionable terms at him. When Calabrese identified himself as a police officer, he said, Caruso drove off along Springfield Avenue into Springfield.

Calabrese said that Caruso failed to pull over even after hearing the siren on the police car. The detective added that he finally forced Caruso to stop in the vicinity of Torchy's Diner on Springfield Avenue.

It was here, Caruso had charged, that Calabrese committed assault and battery by slamming the car door against his body. This was the charge on which Calabrese was found not guilty.

YOUNG PATRIOTS — Larry Jacobs, 3, and Laura Humer, 2, show varying degrees of enthusiasm for this preview of the township Fourth of July celebration scheduled for next Thursday evening at Miesel Field. Harry Gregory will entertain in his clown costume and distribute gifts to the children. Note: Little Larry is just as patriotic as anyone, but no one could convince him the firecracker wasn't all set to go off. (Leader photo by Bob Baxter)

All-day program July 4 will feature 'Harry Hobo,' baseball, fireworks

"A bigger and better Independence Day celebration," was promised this week by Leonard Golden, president of the Springfield Fourth of July Committee. He also said, "We will have the most spectacular display of fireworks ever shown in Springfield."

The festivities will start at 10:15 a.m. at Edward J. Ruby Park at Caldwell place near Rose Avenue. At that time, the baseball game with the Springfield Minutemen versus the Irvington All-Stars will be held. A challenge trophy will be awarded to the winning team; special trophies will be presented to the most valuable player on each team. Harry the Hobo (Springfield's own Harry Gregory) will again be ready to greet and distribute candy and small toys to the younger set. Hot and cold refreshments will be sold by the Boy Scouts.

The evening events will be at the Miesel Avenue Field, featuring a large display of fireworks. Admission-gates, located at various parts of the field, will open at 7:30 p.m. Donations are 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children under 12 will be made.

At 8 p.m. the musical entertainment will be supplied by the Paper Moon. This band will play and sing their own arrangements of current popular songs. They have appeared at many parties and events locally as well as in other parts of New Jersey and New York. Those in this musical group are: Mark Schatter, lead guitar; Mitch Weiner, electric organ; Howie Moskowitz, drums, and Janice Hardgrove, singer.

"Happy, the Clown," will be roving in the audience giving candy and trinkets to the younger children.

At 8:40 p.m., master of ceremonies Alfred E. Bowman will introduce the Rev. Warren West of Springfield's Evangelical Baptist Church, who will offer the invocation. The color guard of American Legion Continental Post will then present the colors, and the singing of the national anthem will follow.

Mayor Robert D. Hardgrove will greet the people with a holiday message. The evening will be completed by the display of fireworks.

In case of rain, the fireworks will be held on the next clear evening.

In addition to Golden and Bowman, who are president and vice-president, respectively, those serving on the committee are: Mrs. Lee Andrea, Jr., secretary, and Louis W. Pignolet, treasurer.

Signal at Henshaw turns unacceptable

By ABNER GOLD
Any report of Tuesday's Township Committee meeting at Town Hall could well be subtitled "Planner vs. the State of New Jersey," as Public Safety Commissioner Robert G. Pliner outlined municipal frustrations in dealing with state agencies, primarily in the fields of traffic and flood control.

He reported that the township had finally received the long-sought permission for a traffic light at the corner of Henshaw, Mountain and S. Springfield avenues — but in a form "totally unacceptable" to the municipality.

With statistical support from Edward Cyr, town traffic consultant, Pliner noted that the plan proposed in Trenton would round off the corners of Henshaw Avenue, widening the street from 30 feet to 70 feet at the intersection. This would, among other things, demolish part of the Springfield Pharmacy, owned by Wallace Kleinman, Democratic candidate for the Township Committee.

As mapped by the Department of Transportation, the new traffic plan would widen Mountain Avenue from 40 to 58 feet for 300 feet south and 400 feet north of the corner. It would provide for a continuous right turn from S. Springfield Avenue north into Mountain Ave., with channelization of traffic.

The plan would also increase the length of the pedestrian walkway across Mountain Avenue from the present 40 feet to 246 feet north of the corner and 410 feet to the south. It would widen Oakland Avenue and permit only right turns from Oakland into Mountain Avenue.

COST OF THE PROJECT, Pliner noted, would rise from some $7,500 to $10,000, as expected for the plan as verbally approved several months ago in Trenton, to substantially more than $50,000, including a considerable amount for land acquisition.

"This borders on the ridiculous," was the way Cyr summed up the Trenton proposal. "It is a highly academic solution to a not too difficult problem."

Both Acting Mayor Philip Del Vecchio and Committeeman Arthur M. Falkin joined in criticizing the plan. Both noted that it hardly resembled the one negotiated this spring in the presence of State Attorney General Arthur J. Sillescu, and both agreed that Sillescu had notified of the extent of the changes.

"What this means," Falkin said, "is no light there for at least four or five years, unless they change their stand."

DISCUSSING FLOOD PROBLEMS, Pliner registered previous charges that poor design of Rt. 78 had aggravated many of the local drainage problems.

Stressing that these problems "affect the health and safety of the people," Pliner moved that the township institute suit against the Department of Transportation and Water (Continued on page 2)

Board endorses bid for variance

The Board of Adjustment last week recommended approval of a variance to permit extension of a parking lot for a 733 Mountain Ave. office building 50 feet into a residential zone. Final decision on the matter is up to the Township Committee.

Residents of Lakeland Avenue and Albert Court had declared that the variance was similar to one endorsed by the Board of Adjustment but turned down by the Township Committee in 1964. They charged that Herman Perl Associates, which bought the property in 1966, had speculated in hopes of extending business usage into the residential zone.

Summer slate is sponsored by recreation unit

A varied schedule of regular and special events for the summer season was announced this week by the Springfield Recreation Department.

They include a series of concerts and other theatrical events, physical fitness training programs for adults and instruction in art, guitar playing and dance for youngsters.

The department will hold six evening band shell concerts this summer. Five of the concerts will be held on the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School lawn, and the sixth will be held at Bryant Park. Some of the attractions of this summer's band shell program are: The African Heritage Dance ensemble; SPEBSQSA, a barbershop quartet from Westfield; the Anne Stevenson Dixon Opera Theatre, which will perform a program from Rodgers and Hart; Jean Rapicomo, a master in the art of puppetry, who will perform an unusual show with puppets; and, to top off the summer program, a contest among teen-age bands with the winner of the contest being awarded prizes.

The Recreation Department will begin its physical training program tonight at the Municipal Pool and Ruby Field. The program will run from 7 to 8 p.m. Jim Horner, athletic coach from Dayton Regional High School, will give the details of the program. Directing the program at Ruby Field will be Manny Perilla and Joe Gardella, both instructors at Jonathan Dayton Regional. This program will be available. (Continued on page 2)

Held in removal of car tail light

Springfield police early Sunday arrested Harry D. Annear, 25, of Newark and charged him with loitering with intent to steal on the premises of Springfield Imported Motors, Rt. 22.

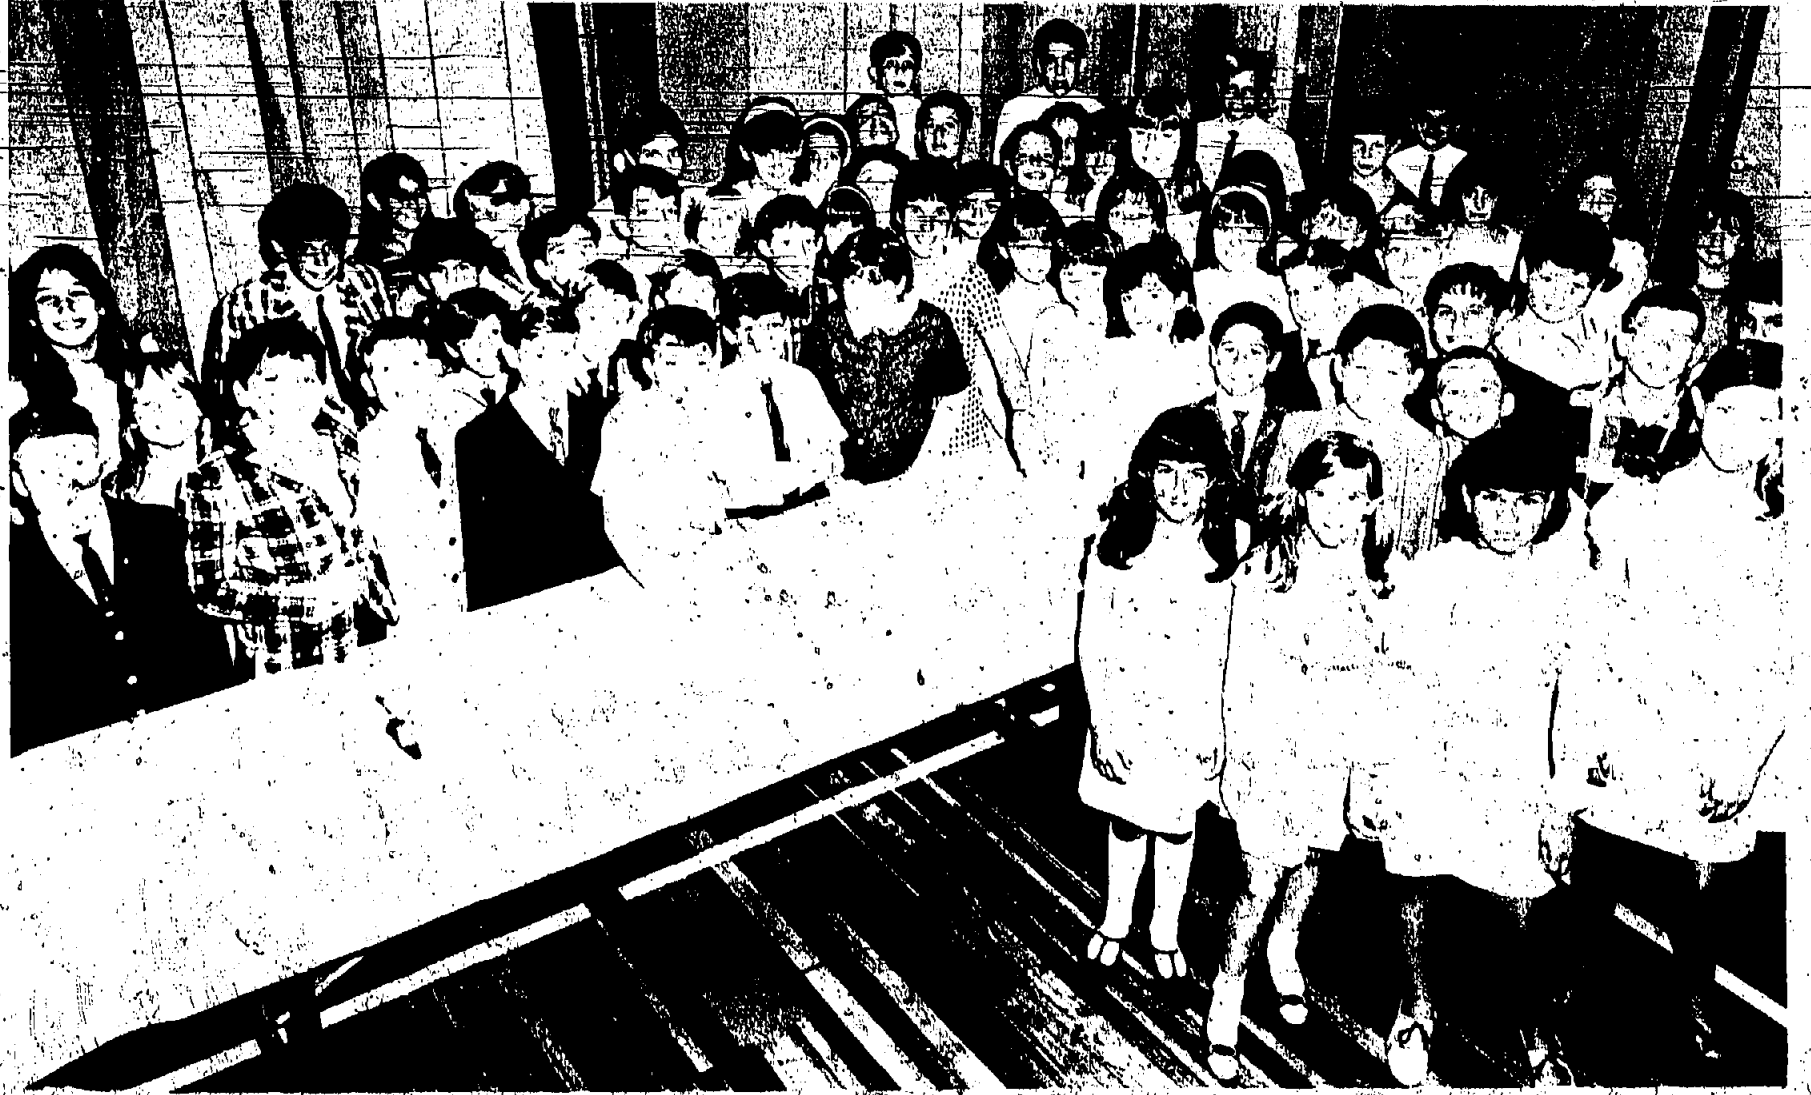

The report stated that after the auto dealer had been subjected to a number of recent thefts, Patrolman Edward Kirsch and Detective Samuel A. Calabrese set up a stakeout in the area Saturday night.

Just after midnight, the report added, they saw Annear drive into the parking lot of Swingle's Diner, next door, leave his car and walk into the rear of the Imported Motors lot. Kirsch followed.

Kirsch reported that Annear used a screwdriver to remove the left rear tail light from a 1968 Renault. The patrolman then made the arrest, he said, while Annear was holding the tail light in his hand.

The report also stated that Annear had been driving a 1968 Renault, with a broken left rear tail light. He was released in $100 bail, pending a hearing in Municipal Court on July 8. Police records this week also listed several other arrests. Following an altercation in the rain on Rt. 22, near the Lido Diner, last Thursday at 1:45 a.m., two Plainfield women filed charges of assault and battery against each other.

Ask Amy

By AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy: How do you change a man who talks too much? The man in question is my husband. Now that summer is here, he'll be sitting out on the terrace and talking up a storm to our neighbors like he does every year.

He tells them all our personal business and everything that goes on in our house. I've fought with him over his big mouth so many times, but it does no good. Any suggestions?

Embarrassed

Dear Embarrassed: If you've been fighting over this for years, and he still suffers from chronic indiscretion, there is little you can do to stop him. Perhaps, my dear, the day is bound to come when he puts his foot in his big mouth. Then your troubles will be over... and his will start.

Dear Amy: I don't know if you have ever had to answer any questions regarding cats, but I would appreciate it if you could answer mine. I have heard pros and cons on the subject, and by now, I'm thoroughly mixed up.

My problem is this: Does a cat that stays in the house 100 percent of the time leave any permanent odor?

According to the United States Humane Society, only the unneutered tom cat carries an odor. All other breeds are odor-free and can be kept indoors.

Dear Amy: I am a seventeen year old girl, a sophomore in college and I am going with a wonderful and considerate boy who is a junior at college. I have known him for two months. He likes to park and neck. Please tell me if it is all right to do this. I must know and hope you print this as I'm sure many girls would be interested.

Just Curious

Dear Curious: A girl of 17 who is a sophomore in college must be extremely intelligent, so I know that the following information will be evaluated carefully before the next time you park.

Many wonderful and considerate boys enjoy "necking". This does not mean that because they want to, you have to. Decent, respectable girls, and I hope you're one of them, must draw a line somewhere. I assure you that the boy, if he cares for you, will not like you less because you did not give in to his emotions. Rather, he will admire and respect you for your self-discipline.

Necking in itself will not ruin a girl, nor help her reputation. Its resultant complications, however, can be very damaging. Rise to every situation... but never step down!

Dear Amy: After graduating college, I was taken into a large firm at an excellent salary doing the kind of work I enjoy. The organization, from the top-mat down, is made up of young, energetic men such as myself. I'm being invited to attend

CLOTHES CARE COMMENTS

by SAM MANN (Diamond Cleaners)

Temperature going up! It's summertime, and the living's supposed to be easy.

Certainly, some of our labor-savers are making life easier for Mrs. Homemaker. Not so the "drip-dry" suits, however. According to actual findings, it takes 64 minutes to process a man's suit in an automatic washer and dryer. Plus 12½ minutes of touch-up time.

Drip-dry laundering took an average of 22 minutes for washing, 20 to 24 hours for drying and 18 minutes for touch-up.

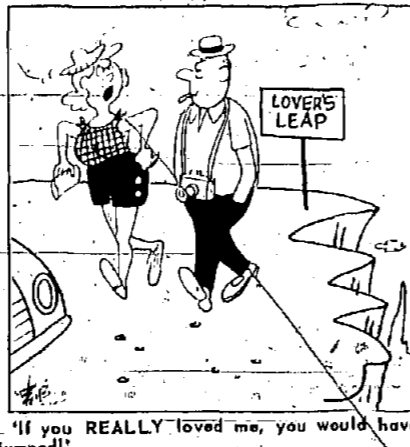

And on the basis of overall appearance, and accredited panel judges gave a suite after five washings and cleanings or washings. Results: dry cleaned garments looked very good to excellent, home-laundered poor to fair.

Why not make summer living easy on yourself? Call Diamond Cleaners for the professional care that guarantees a smart appearance regardless of fabric content.

LAFF OF THE WEEK

'If you REALLY loved me, you would have jumped!'

850 attending Legion Boys' State

The 23rd annual session of American Legion Jersey Boys' State began Sunday at Rutgers, The State University, New Brunswick. Some 850 boys, high school juniors or its equivalent, assembled for specialized training in citizenship and government at local, county and state levels during a seven-day period.

The students, selected by their various schools on the basis of character, scholarship and service, were welcomed by Dr. Mason Gross, university president, and addressed by James O. West, State Legion commander, and Harry V. Grooms, president of the New Jersey American Legion Boys' State Corp. During the week they were addressed by Robert A. Roe, commissioner, Department of Conservation and Economic Development; Col. David B. Kelly, superintendent New Jersey State Police; Raymond F. Male, commissioner, Department of Labor and Industry; Lloyd W. McCorkle, commissioner, Department of Institutions and Agencies; John J. Farrell, chief examiner and secretary of the Civil Service Commission; Commander Thos. J. Koenig, USNR (Ret.); S. David Winans, director, Office of Statistical Services, State Department of Education, and other leaders in the fields of law, education, military, business, municipal, county and state government. At American Legion Jersey Boys' State, the Boy State men are learning about the executive branch of government by serving as governor and mayors. They are learning how to legislate and how to maintain law and order by serving as senators, assemblymen, freholders, municipal councilmen, police chiefs, prosecutors and judges. The highlight of the week is the election of a Boy Governor for 1968-1969, to succeed Mark A. Boda, of Metuchen, present incumbent. The new governor will be introduced by Hon. Joseph P. Hanrahan, Hudson County Judge tomorrow night at the Rutgers Gymnasium.

OLD PUNCH Punch, the British magazine of humor and satire, published its first issue in London in 1841.

State authorizes study of air rights over highways

The use of airspace over and under present and future state highways in New Jersey urban areas is going to be the subject of an intensive one-year study. Transportation Commissioner David J. Goldberg has announced that a consulting engineering and architectural firm has been retained to make a comprehensive study of highway air rights.

Tippets-Abbett-McCarthy-Siraton of New York City, has been assigned to determine how the space over and under state highways can best be used for construction of public or private improvements needed by communities without interfering with the safe and efficient movement of vehicular traffic.

The consultant has been requested to consider programs and standards for possible air rights development. The study will include a review of economic feasibility, legal, highway engineering, architectural design and procedural aspects of air rights.

Commissioner Goldberg cited the growing urbanization of New Jersey and the increasing difficulties in carrying out major capital improvements in urban areas as compelling reasons why such an air rights study was required at this time. "New Jersey," he said, "today is the most urban state in our nation with 900 persons per square mile and much higher densities in our more developed areas. We expect this trend towards increased densities to continue for the foreseeable future since a population increase of nearly 50 percent is forecast in the next two decades."

With this ever continuing demand on our remaining land resources, we must attempt to maximize the return from the land areas occupied for major improvements such as highways. In urban areas it is conceivable that major highway projects will be acceptable in the future only if it is possible to devote some of the available air rights to other productive uses. Certainly, the feasibility of such coordinate uses must be explored in an effort to provide a maximum return to the communities.

Use of airspace for construction is hardly a new phenomenon. The practice has prevailed for hundreds of years in various parts of the world. The Ponte Vecchio Bridge, built in the Roman era over the Arno River in Florence, Italy, is one of the earliest structures built on air rights. Reconstructed in 1345, this famed tourist attraction is lined with goldsmith, jewelry and specialty shops.

In the 15th Century Leonardo da Vinci made notebook sketches of a covered roadway, a sort of forerunner of the depressing of the railroad right-of-way beneath Park Avenue, New York, at the turn of the century. Significant air-space development has since followed in New York, Boston and other large American cities.

A unique application was the four Bridge Apartment buildings, comprising 960 units and adjoining three-level Uptown Bus Terminal built over the approaches to the George Washington Bridge in New York.

Nonagricultural wage and salary employment in New Jersey declined in May, but would have risen were it not for strikes during the survey week, according to estimates prepared by the New Jersey Department of Labor and Industry. Though the state's economy was in a period of spring expansion, a major strike of public utility workers combined with smaller strikes and temporary layoffs to push the employment level down 6,200 to 2,416,000 (excluding farm, domestic, self-employed and unpaid family workers).

Employment in manufacturing industries was substantially unchanged, as seasonal hiring in apparel and food products (canning of early vegetables) offset a temporary layoff in transportation equipment. In nonmanufacturing, the effects of the public utilities strike were tempered considerably by seasonal gains in the construction and trade industries and in services, where gains reflected the opening for the season of various amusement facilities.

Weekly earnings of factory production workers in New Jersey jumped by $4.46 to $123.93 between mid-April and mid-May. The increase came primarily from a return to a more normal workweek (40.5 hours in May); average weekly hours had been shortened to 39.3 in April because of a holiday in the survey week and a loss of time due to the funeral of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Average hourly earnings rose by two cents over the month to $3.06 in May.

America needs your help.

Invest in U.S. SAVINGS BONDS, NEW FREEDOM SHARES

The research will be particularly aimed at how the Department of Transportation can use air rights to cooperate in programs to revitalize cities. The possibility of joint development projects will be explored in the hope that air rights can contribute to the social, economic and aesthetic improvement of the communities.

Cheaper protein goal for project

A pilot plant for the separation of protein from cotton seed is to be built at the Israel Institute of Technology (Technion), Haifa, as a joint enterprise of its Department of Food Technology and Unicef, the UN International Children's Emergency Fund. The project aims at producing cheap, highly concentrated protein, to be used either in the form of "milk powder" for deprived children in underdeveloped countries; short of dairy herds, or as an additive to diets facing protein deprivation. One of the problems is the extraction of a polypeptide substance called gossypol from the protein.

Unicef has contributed the equipment for the pilot plant, and the Technion will build it and run the project. (UNESCO FEATURES)

Post-Korea GI Bill has aided 19,789 N. J. vets to date

The Post-Korean, or third generation, GI Bill education and training program has begun its third year of operation.

During the past two years, more than 19,347 veterans and 442 servicemen entered training in the State of New Jersey under the Veterans' Readjustment Benefits Act of 1966. Paul M. Nugent, manager of the New Jersey Veterans Administration Regional Office, Newark, said this week.

Nationally, more than 732,000 veterans and an additional 43,000 servicemen entered education and training in the first two years of the current GI Bill, Nugent said.

The Veterans' Readjustment Benefits Act of 1966, or Post-Korean GI Bill, grants VA educational assistance of one month, up to a maximum of 36 months (four school years), for each month of service.

Eligible for assistance are veterans who served active duty at least 180 days, part of which was after Jan. 31, 1955, and servicemen with at least two consecutive years of active duty.

Of the 19,789 veterans and servicemen in New Jersey who have taken advantage of Post-Korean GI Bill education and training benefits, more than 11,744 entered institutions of higher learning, Nugent explained.

Nearly two-thirds of all Post-Korean GI Bill students have entered college-level training. By comparison, Nugent said, only about half of the veterans who went to school under the Korean Conflict GI Bill entered institutions of higher learning. Less than one-third of the World War II veterans took college level training, he noted.

Since June 1, 1966, more than 8,028 veterans and servicemen entered schools in New Jersey below the college level.

Of these, all but 357 were veterans, the New Jersey VA Regional Office manager said. A breakdown shows 7,852 veterans and 29 servicemen now entered in institutions of higher learning. Enrolled currently in New Jersey schools below the college level are 4,625 veterans and 300 servicemen, Nugent said.

A FEMININE LOOK AT SOME MID-EUROPEAN CITIES: 1968

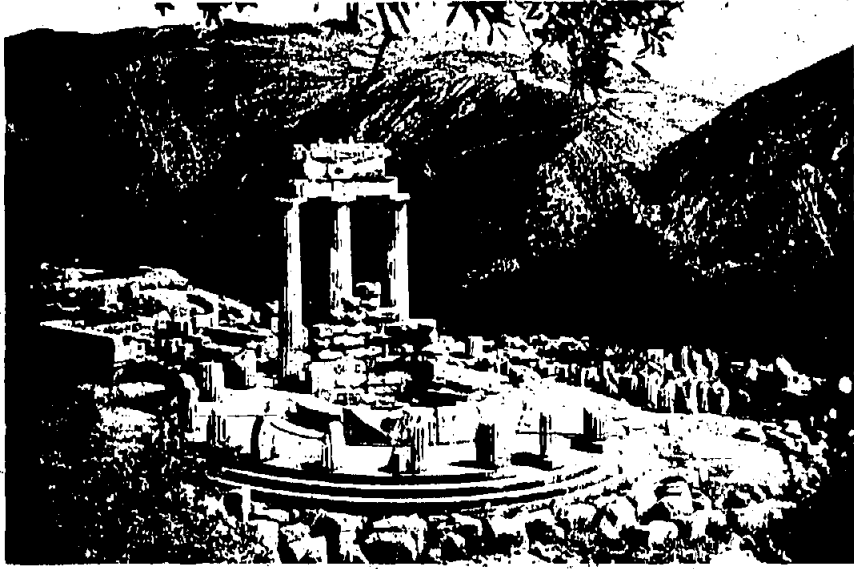

(Commentary on a Study Mission to Germany, Hungary, Yugoslavia and Greece)
By TRUDINA HOWARD

Fourth in A Series

TOURIST GREECE
There is a saying in Greece that the light in that land is so clear and penetrating that it made men think clearly and with penetration and that is why Greece has had so many wise scholars and philosophers.
Nowhere in the world, the Greeks will tell you, is the light so clear and brilliant. There is the white, discerning light of morning, the brazen, dazzling light of noon, the pink and coral light of sunset and the colorless, sudden light just before dark. And at night, you can tell if the man-in-the-moon is frowning or smiling, the moon is so clearly seen, and the man-made lights shimmer like diamonds in the pluperfect air.

That is what they say.
In 1961 when I first saw Athens all this seemed a beautiful truth, but in 1966 and now in 1968 when I visited Athens again, there was a murky difference.
There was smog.
The Greeks say with stern determination that it is "early morning haze"—but it looks just like S-M-O-G.
Into this surprising atmosphere then, our Study Mission group flew one evening in May from Belgrade. On a clear night, and if the lights are shining on it, you can see the Parthenon atop the Acropolis as you come in to land, but on this evening, it was all in darkness and nothing could be seen. Since the Light and Sound shows have been in operation, the lights are not kept lit all evening on the Acropolis as once was the case. So one can only see "the hill" and its ruins when the lights play on it during the show. Or, as I said, when it is a clear moonlight night.

FOR THOSE PEOPLE who have never been to Athens, the first thing they want to see is the Parthenon and that is beautiful whether you have "early morning haze" or smog. The light is not level and its columns are not straight, but it is generally beautiful. Actually, the "imperfections" were done quite purposefully. The architects leaned the columns inward and curved the floor convexly just exactly right to give the proper pleasing impression to the eye when viewing the building, particularly from the city level and not directly on the Acropolis (the hill on which the Par-then stands). When you consider that the columns are four-and-a-half feet around at the base, arms outstretched (we people-measured) that is some leaning, AND some figuring.

THE WILD, RUGGED TERRAIN at Delphi. This is the look of the land near and around the ruins at Delphi. To reach this area, one must travel over a rather narrow, winding, rocky road, but the countryside is beautiful.

The outer columns once were 34 feet high and eight of them stood along each end and 15 along each side, making 46 in all. The Greeks built this temple in honor of Athena Parthenos, the patron goddess of Athens, and it was begun in 447 B.C. It is considered one of the finest examples of Doric architecture extant. Athena once struggled with Poseidon for control of Athens and it is said she won because her gift to the people was the eternally productive olive tree while Poseidon's was only cold gold. I am rather glad, imagine going to Poseidons instead of Athens.
Anyway, "In Athens," a Greek taxi driver said, "more people are in love than anybody else in the world."
At first we smiled, half listening, and then we heard what he really said, and laughed heartily. That driver obviously had a word for it—in Greek but not in English.

Anyway, Greece is lovely, its rural areas are mountainous or graceful with farming crops, its sea is a sapphire jewel, its houses are clean white chalk and its Parthenon is a joy—even the Hilton Hotel is wonderful in Athens, and "the place" (old town) is full of atmosphere and Greek music.
And then there are the islands.
It is said that to see the Grecian islands properly, one must approach them slowly. Apparently the approach is the thing. And it is. Each one is a picture worthy of framing.

On this visit we went on cruise into five of these islands and everything good they say about them is true.
When I saw Crete in 1966, and no other island but Crete, I thought it was beautiful. But now there is Delos, Mykonos, Rhodes, Santorini, Ah Santorini! What a charmer that island is! But they are all beautiful, each in its own way.
We boarded our ship, The Kentavros, at Piraeus, and sailed for three days — not half enough time. We arrived first at Delos at sunset, Mykonos that night, Rhodes late the next morning, Crete the following morning and Santorini at sunset again. Since I collect sunsets, I have some fine additions now.

DELOS WAS UNINHABITED with ruins of temples and an ancient city and its glory for us was climbing to the top of a high hill on the tiny island and gazing out over all the ruins and the sea and the sunset.

MYKONOS IS THE ISLAND of windmills and we wore there—at night Mykonos is famed for its hand knitted sweaters which are bulky and beautiful and inexpensive. Six dollars—would you believe?—for a glorious one.

RHODES IS A LARGE ISLAND and its quaint town, with its castle and little side streets filled with shops of delightful goods.

is marvelous to wander in. Many of our group visited the Acropolis at Lindos, some 50 miles up the coast, but this particular day was not my day for sight seeing. I stayed and enjoyed just gazing through Rhodes and doing NOTHING. It was just thrilling seeing foot in Rhodes, without anything else.

NCS psychology program to pay first dividends this fall

A new graduate program at Newark State College designed to counter an acute shortage of certified school psychologists in New Jersey will produce its first benefits for the New Jersey community-at-large starting in September.

That is when its psychologists-in-training will become "externs" in school systems, hospitals, clinics, and in other service areas concerned with the special learning problems of children.

The course of study, initiated last September, requires a total of 450 hours of practical professional service outside college lecture halls in addition to the successful completion of 60 academic course credits.

"The externs will be met with open arms by professionals in the field, if the reactions of 25-area school psychologists who are consultants for the program in any indication. The consultants have enthusiastically plotted out with college faculty members the kinds of badly-needed support services the externs can perform," a spokesman said.

FOR INSTANCE, THE psychologists-in-training are expected to work closely with Beaulstone child study teams. They will perform such tasks as assist in psychological interviewing and conferences with parents and staff, visit community referral agencies to examine the services available to children, and perform psychological testing under supervision.

Consultants agreed that one of the most valuable services the externs can perform is the systematic rechecking of children previously diagnosed. The State Department of Education recommends that blind re-assessments be run on every diagnosed child every two years. Externs will make complete studies of children, including home interviews. Another significant service will be the development of written reports for teachers, administrators, and school boards containing practical suggestions for remediation and therapy.

According to the consultants, the externships offer significant values to host institutions. Students complete their academic work in psychology plus an internship in the college's Child Study Center.

Newark State's school psychology program was instituted in response to a report issued by the State Department of Education which estimated that New Jersey would need 140 new school psychologists a year for the foreseeable future. Present graduate programs at Rutgers, The State University, and the experienced teacher program at cooperating colleges fulfill only a fraction of this demand.

THE NEED, AN exceptionally strong psychology faculty with more than half holding the Ph.D., and the presence on campus of the Child Study Center with broad opportunities for clinical service, education, and research, convinced college officials to set up the program.

The college, as well as the community-at-large, benefits from the program. Dr. Eugene C. Wilkins, college president, said:

"Rigorous graduate programs may be an even more important factor than salary in attracting and holding outstanding faculty. We find that the best professors want the opportunity to do research and teach advanced courses. Graduate programs such as the one in school psychology make it possible for us to offer such challenges. The quality of instruction at the undergraduate level, a matter of prime concern to us, is raised as these professors expend part of their teaching load in that area."

The school psychology program is sponsored jointly by the college's Department of Education, chaired by Dr. Albert J. Mazurkewicz, and the Child Study Center, directed by Dr. Edward L. LaCrosse. The department has primary responsibility for developing courses and

DAR meets today at Trenton confab

The Isaac Watson House in Trenton, built in 1708, will be the site of the first meeting of all newly elected officers and appointed chairmen of the Daughters of the American Revolution of New Jersey, Mrs. Frederick Griswold, Jr., Trenton, will call the meeting to order, 10:30 AM today.

Prior to her election as State Regent, Mrs. Griswold was chairman of the National Defense Committee for the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The three districts of New Jersey are headed by Mrs. C. Wendell Holmes of Cape May Court House, chairman Southern District; Mrs. Lester Stene of Princeton, Central; and Mrs. Gustav E. Stenwig of Monclair, Northern. Each district will hold a meeting later in September. The Southern District will open the round of meetings on Sept. 19 at the Smithville Inn, Smithville. On Sept. 24 at the Far Hills Inn, Somerville, the Central District will convene and on Sept. 26 the Northern District will conclude the round at the Friar Tuck Inn, Cedar Grove.

providing faculty, while the center offers broad-ranging supervised experience.

Entrance requirements are high and include at least an undergraduate minor in psychology as a prerequisite.

"Although many of our students happen to be experienced educators, this is only incidental," says Dr. Adella C. Youtz, coordinator of the program. "We are primarily training psychologists and we require competency in this content field."

Serious crime up 17 pct. nationwide over last year

According to figures made available through the FBI's Uniform Crime Reports and released this week by Attorney General Ramsey Clark, serious crime in the United States continued its sharp upward trend recording a 17 percent rise nationally for the first three months of 1968 compared to the same period in 1967.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover pointed out that each crime classification used in the national Crime Index showed substantial increases. Crimes of violence as a group recorded an 18 percent increase with murder up 16 percent, forcible rape 19 percent, aggravated assault 13 percent and robbery 24 percent. Property crimes as a group climbed 16 percent with burglary up 15 percent, auto theft 17 percent and larceny $50 and over in value 19 percent.

According to the FBI director, the large cities with over 100,000 inhabitants experienced an average increase of 17 percent, suburban areas 16 percent and the rural areas 10 percent. When viewed by geographic region, the Northeastern States reported a 21 percent rise, the North Central and Southern States each registered a 15 percent increase and the Western States an overall crime increase of 16 percent.

The FBI director called particular attention to the continued sharp increases in the crimes of violence. He specifically commented on the sharp increases in robbery, considered by many to be the bellwether of crime. Nationwide, according to Hoover, armed robbery where any weapon was used rose 26 percent and aggravated assault with a firearm increased 23 percent during the first quarter of 1968 over the same period in 1967.

Parkway extends to two more sites free motel-hotel reservation system

The New Jersey Highway Authority this week reported approving the extension of a free hotel and motel reservation system on the Garden State Parkway to additional roadside service sites.

Authority Commissioner Richard R. O'Connor said the success of a trial unit installed last August at the Chesapeake Service Area, just south of the Raritan River, has prompted the system addition for the Parkway's Montvale and Forked River Service Areas (Mileposts 171 and 76 respectively).

The New Jersey Hotel and Motel Association operates the system, known as NJex, to accommodate motorists. The self-service telephone system was started at four New Jersey Turnpike sites early last year and then put into the Parkway's Chesapeake area (Milepost 124).

In asking the Highway Authority to permit the equipment setup at the two additional Parkway service areas, the association noted that some 228 reservations were processed from the Chesapeake site in six months. There are no overnight lodgings on the Parkway itself, hotels and motels being located near most exits.

The NJex equipment includes a wall-hung desk, a telephone and an accommodations book. The book lists every participating hotel and motel, its location, directions to it, its telephone number, rates, and other pertinent information about the overnight facilities.

Each listed lodging has an identifying NJex number which is on a movable tape in a direct-dial phone. The patron lines up the desired number, presses a button and immediately makes contact with the switchboard of the place of his choice for the reservation request.

Drivers told to watch for 'big picture'

If you are the average driver, it can be safely assumed that you don't look at the "big picture." Most motorists fall into the common trap of not looking far enough ahead—and, as a result, he is forced to make "panic stops" and sudden lane-changing decisions.

The Safety Department of Motor Club of America cautions drivers to watch the traffic pattern as it appears 500 feet ahead. Instead of 150 to 250 feet as most drivers do. Watch for motion on both your side of the road, as well as that of the car and the sides. You will become aware of the following potential dangers:

Stopped car signalling a left turn in front of you. Clogged road at the scene of an accident. Watch for careless pedestrians, emergency vehicles and officials on the scene.

Bike riders. Youngsters often don't follow the rules of the road—they ride in and out of traffic, swerve to avoid bumps, or emerge suddenly into the stream of traffic.

Car that has not visibly shown it could be travelling across your path at an intersection, holding a red light or stop sign or ignoring a yield sign.

The sudden flash of tail lights in front—a car may stop suddenly on a dark road; this is your signal to slow down now.

It also pays to be aware of children playing, especially during the warm weather months. Children move faster than you think, and there's always the danger of the darting in from between parked cars.

If you are aware of the "big picture," you can avoid many of the potential dangers that most drivers are not aware of. Remember, be alert for problems at least 500 feet ahead; and your odds are that you won't be part of this year's accident statistics.

Five Points nursery school to begin sixth year Sept. 16

The Five Points YMCA Jack and Jill Co-operative Nursery will reopen Sept. 16 for its 1968-69 session at 218 Salem rd., Union. It was announced this week by Mrs. Frank Gargano, director. This will be the sixth year of operation.

Mrs. Gargano of Union said the nursery, which is state certified, is a school for pre-school children of three to five years of age. To be eligible, the child must be three years old by Oct. 31, 1967.

In explaining the need for a co-operative nursery school for children below public school age, Mrs. Gargano said that the program is designed to provide these children with the opportunity to develop socially, physically and emotionally and to give them regular association with other children in an environment supervised and guided by skilled trained persons. In addition, nursery school is a prelude for further education, for foundations of learning, are laid here.

Parents, too, benefit from such a co-operative program, the Director pointed out, through observation and some participation in the educational, administrative phase of the Nursery School and occasional social activities such as the picnic at the end of the program year, Mrs. Gargano said.

The nursery cooperates with the Early Childhood Department of Newark State College in giving a few students in-field training in close association with the children, guided by a trained teacher.

The three to four-year-olds will attend Tuesday and Friday from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and the four to five year olds will attend Monday, Wednesday and Thursday from 9 to 11:30 a.m. The teacher for both these groups is Mrs. Shirley Gargano who starts her second year in September and also has been appointed director of the Nursery School.

In addition there is a session in the afternoon for four to five year olds on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday from 1 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Howard Merrick, branch executive, said that registration is limited and taken on a first come, first serve basis. Further information can be obtained from the Five Points YMCA at 687-5570.

Man to guide tour of deserted village in Watchung area

Edwin A. Baldwin of Summit, will conduct a guided tour of the historic Deserter Village in the Watchung Reservation this Sunday.

The tour is open to the public and will begin at the Union County Park Commission's Trailside Nature and Science Center at 2 p.m., and proceed to the site of the village which lies between the First and Second Watchung Mountains in the Blue Brook Valley of the Berkeley Heights section of the Watchung Reservation.

Baldwin is a longtime trustee and corresponding secretary of the Genealogical Society of New Jersey and has specialized in New Jersey history and its early families. He will discuss the 350-year history of the village from the time of the Lenape Indians and early settlers to its present status as a unit of the Union County Park System.

Baldwin has researched the Willcocks family's first mill site, quarry, and copper mine there; its operation as a book and paper factory village from 1845 to 1860 by David Felt, New York merchant, who received an appointment as postmaster of its so-called "Belville" post office; and its revival in 1882 by Warren Acherman of Scotch Plains, and its continuance thereafter until 1906 as the select "glenside Park" summer resort.

In the event of inclement weather, those attending will be given a talk instead in the Trailside auditorium on the subject of the deserted village.

Ormont screens 'Elvira Madigan'

"Elvira Madigan," which offers America a new kind of movie from a new director, Bob Widerberg, opened yesterday at the Ormont Theater, East Orange.

The picture, which was the sensation of the fifth New York Film Festival, is based on a true story, very well-known in Scandinavia. It tells of the romance of a noble officer and a circus star.

Under Widerberg's guidance, the star of big picture, Pia Degermark, won first prize as Best Actress in the 1967 Cannes Film Festival for her first performance.

Tommy Bergren plays opposite Miss Degermark.

Most of "Elvira Madigan" was filmed outdoors in natural sunlight, and the delicate background-music is taken from Mozart's Piano Concerto No. 21.

'Graduate' is held on three screens

"The Graduate," record-breaking film starring Anne Bancroft, Katharine Ross and Dustin Hoffman, continues for its 21st week at the Millburn Cinema in Millburn, and begins its second week at the Regent Theater in Elizabethtown and the Stanley-Warner RC 4 Drive-In in Paramus.

The picture, which tells an adult story of an awkward young man rebelling against the elders' way of life, was directed by Oscar-winner Mike Nichols in color.

Needy vets at 65 are eligible for VA disability pensions

Needy veterans with wartime service who are 65 years of age or older may qualify for a Veterans Administration disability pension without proving a specific disability, Paul M. Nugent, manager, New Jersey Veterans Administration, Regional Office, Newark, said this week.

For VA pension purposes, wartime veterans are considered by law to be totally and permanently disabled at age 65. This makes such veterans eligible for pensions at the rates authorized for other needy veterans who are totally and permanently disabled from causes unrelated to military service.

Under a law signed recently by President Johnson, beginning January 1, 1969, all income limits are to be increased $200 a year and most payments will be increased under a scale computed by $100 income increments.

Today, veterans without dependents receive monthly pensions ranging from $104 a month (for incomes under $600 annually) to $45 a month (for income between $1,200 and $1,800).

For veterans with one or more dependents, pensions are from $119 a month (for an annual income under $1,000) to $50 a month (for incomes between $2,000 and $3,000).

Under a law signed by President Johnson last summer, the Vietnam era (after Aug. 5, 1964) is considered wartime service for non-service-connected disability pension purposes.

Nugent said veterans should keep in mind that pension benefits are not related in any way to compensation to which a veteran may be entitled for disability relating to his military service. No income limits apply to compensation payments, he said.

Veterans interested in more information should contact the "VA" Regional Office, 20 Washington Pl., Newark, N.J. 07102, or telephone area code 201-45-2150 through 2153.

Tips for Today's Homemaker

From Anne L. Sheelan, County Home Economist

SMARTLY DRESSED SALADS HAVE APPEAL
Smartly dressed salads are a vital part of an attractive meal.

Too often salad dressings are misused and abused. When a salad is smothered by its dressing, it loses its subtle, gently-seasoned appeal. The salad and dressing should complement each other.

When choosing a salad dressing, select one which will go with your salad. A bland salad needs a spicy dressing; a tart salad needs a mild one. For attractiveness, the dressing should blend with the texture of the salad ingredients and add color contrast.

Care of salad ingredients is also important. All prepared salad dressings should be refrigerated. You may notice that certain varieties turn cloudy when they are refrigerated and those containing olive oil will congeal. These dressings, however, will return to their normal states after a time at room temperature.

The following basic french dressing and variations are easy to prepare and may help to add that subtle flavor to your salads this summer.

BASIC FRENCH DRESSING

- 1 cup oil
- 1/3 to 1/2 cup of vinegar
- 1 to 3 tablespoons sugar
- 1-1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 teaspoon paprika
- 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 clove garlic

Measure all ingredients into a bottle or jar. Cover tightly and shake well. Chill several hours, then remove garlic. Shake thoroughly before serving. Makes about 1-1/2 cups.

NOTE: Lemon juice may be substituted for all or part of the vinegar.

ZESTY DRESSING: Follow above recipe, adding two tablespoons ketchup, one tablespoon lemon juice and one teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.

LEMON HERB DRESSING: Follow above recipe, using lemon juice instead of vinegar, reducing sugar to two tablespoons and substituting 1/2 teaspoon salad herbs for dry mustard.

CREAMY DRESSING: Follow above recipe, omitting paprika, dry mustard and garlic, increasing sugar to 1/4 cup and adding 1/2 cup sour cream and 1/4 cup ketchup. Makes two cups.

DIET MANAGEMENT FACTS

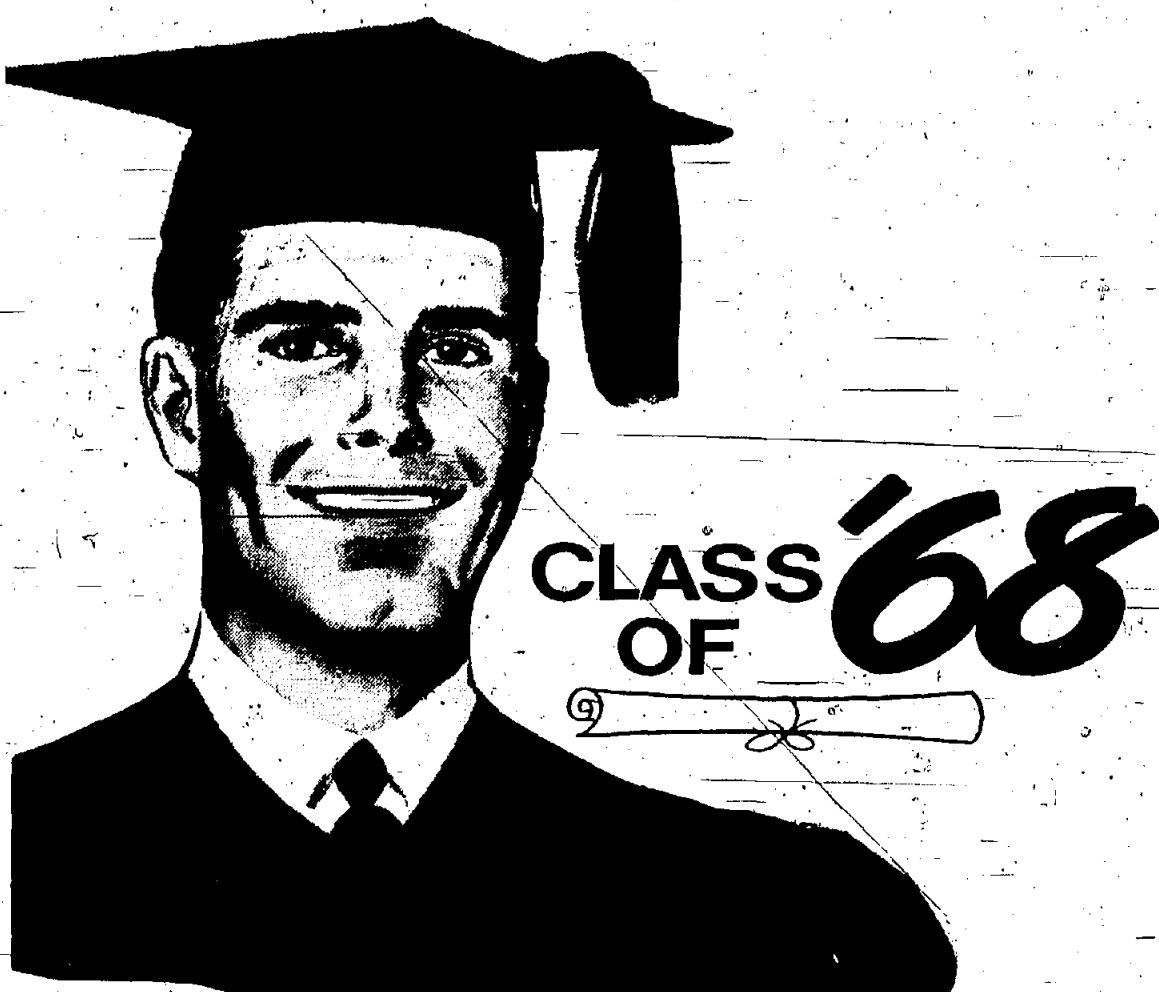

Have you or your teenage daughter recently been trying on last year's bathing suit and decided you must start dieting? Remember there's no simple, immediate cure. Living on "rainbow" pills — the kind that prescribe a different color to be taken before each meal and one before going to bed — is not the answer!

Dr. James L. Goddard, Commissioner of Food and Drugs, has testified at a recent Senate hearing on "diet" pills, that "there are no drugs that can safely control the problem of obesity." One cannot melt away body fat by taking drugs each day and then eating any food you crave. Dr. Goddard noted that drugs can give only short-term relief to aid you reduce your appetite and change eating habits. Over a long period of time there's no substitute for knowledgeable food intake and exercise management as prescribed by the doctor.

"Rainbow" diet pills is the term for a variety of drugs generally prescribed by the doctor and "others" — diuretics, laxatives, or "be taken before specified meals. Prescribed by the doctor for appropriate medical purposes and under his supervision, these drugs have been effective. However, misuse of these pills have become an identified practice in recent years.

Pills containing various combinations of amphetamines, barbiturates, thyroid and other hormones, digitals, diuretics, laxatives, anti-spasmodics, and hypotenstive agents are included in the "rainbow" pills. Unless taken under a doctor's supervision they can be harmful to health. So, if your doctor prescribes "rainbow" pills do not share them with your family or friends.

For And About Teenagers

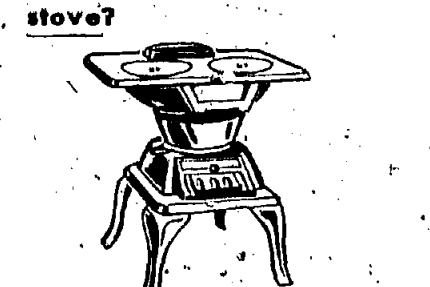

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I read your articles a lot, and I was hoping you could help me. You see, I am 16 and the boy I like is 18. My parents don't like him. What bothers me is that they don't even know him or what he looks like. All they know is what my aunt told them. And some of the things she told them are not true. How can I get them to meet him? I know they would not mind me liking him if they know him themselves. What can I do?"

OUR REPLY: The only proper solution is to work things out with your parents. You should be able to get your parents to cooperate with you if you approach them in the right manner. And, you tell them — and mean it — that you will forget about the boy if it is discovered the things your aunt told them are really true... and are serious enough to give your parents justification for not wanting you to see the boy. Your parents have your welfare to consider. It should also be assumed that your aunt has no motive other than your best interest in telling your parents the things she told them. In other words, go to your parents and say, "Let's find out the truth and do what is right."

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, COMMUNITY AND SUBURBAN PRESS SERVICE, FRANKFORT, KY.

NCE to offer new program in construction engineering

Newark College of Engineering announced this week that it will offer a new master-of-science program in construction engineering beginning in September, 1968.

Announcement of the construction engineering program was made by Dr. Eugene H. Smithberg, dean of NCE's graduate division. The new degree program will be conducted in close cooperation with the college's civil engineering department.

Principal aspects of NCE's new program will deal with advanced methods. It has been established essentially for engineers who desire to strengthen or begin careers as construction managers.

Dr. Smithberg emphasized that while some courses of a technical nature would be included, the major elements of study would be concerned with the financial, legal and administrative factors pertinent to the construction industry.

ONLY ABOUT SIX other leading engineering institutions in the nation offer similar construction engineering programs.

Preliminary responses from some of the major construction companies in the New Jersey-metropolitan area have disclosed a favorable reception to the college's new program. NCE reported, and some sources indicate studies of this nature may be an engineering school answer to the master of business administration degree offered by liberal arts schools.

At NCE requirements for admission to the program in construction engineering calls for a bachelor's degree in engineering from an accredited institution. While generally those with an industrial or civil engineering background will be most interested in these studies, admission to the program will not be limited solely to the two fields.

Requirements for the master's degree will include 30 credits of course-work and a report.

Among the required courses of study will be construction management, concrete construction, and two courses in construction engineering, the latter relating to project planning, controlling construction costs and the application of engineering fundamentals to scientific and computer evaluation of heavy and building construction.

In addition the college anticipates broad research endeavors into new construction methods. Authorities in the construction field will present seminars and short courses in supplement, helping to strengthen academic analysis with problems from today's world.

Persons interested in NCE's construction engineering program may write to the Graduate Division, Newark College of Engineering, 323 High St., Newark, N.J. 07102. Applications for the fall require that transcripts be received by Aug. 1, a spokesman said.

WAC vets chapter elects officer slate

Nancy Davis of 57-B Garden-Jiv, Roselle, has been elected president of the Garden State Chapter, Women's Army Corps Veterans final meeting of the season at the home of Ann Aemus, 32 Colfax Manor, Roselle Park.

Other officers elected include: Doris Morgant of Westfield, first vice president; Ann Aemus, second vice president; Betty Kisor of Cranford, treasurer; Ida Krug of Plainfield, corresponding secretary; Ann Perceval of Elizabeth, recording secretary; Connie Papoz of Edison, sergeant-at-arms, and Margaret Doherty of Plainfield, chaplain.

The new officers will be installed during ceremonies scheduled for Sept. 22 at the VFW Hall in Edison.

ated Braille transcription using a computer. This is regarded as a dramatic development in Braille production in Europe and will help to alleviate the shortage of skilled transcribers. An automatic transcribing machine has been developed by the institute's technical department and is to be introduced shortly into the Braille production plant.

Experimental work has demonstrated that a computer can be taught to translate from one code (e.g. English) into another (e.g. Braille) at speed. Briefly, the automatic transcription of Braille consists of the edited text being punched, letter by letter, into cards.

These are then fed into a computer which translates the punched text into Braille and produces an output set of Braille coded punched cards. The output cards are fed to the automatic transcribing machines which produce the master plates from which multiple copies of publications are printed or embossed.

This is a far cry from the early days of the institute 100 years ago when each Braille dot was individually hammered out onto a brass printing plate, the paper was dampened, the impression struck, and the sheets hung up to dry in the kitchen of the home of the founder — Dr. Thomas Rhodes Armitage.

Congratulations

The following named firms and individuals wish to extend congratulations to members of the Class of '68. To each and every one of you... best wishes for the future... we're proud of your achievements... may you attain every goal that you wish for.

Start job-housing study in suburbs

To what extent is the movement of jobs to the suburbs contributing to the high unemployment rate and poverty in the city ghettos? Are discrimination and other restrictive conditions in the suburban housing supply preventing Negroes, Puerto Ricans and other minorities from following jobs in the tradition of other American workers? What are the essential elements for a realistic program to insure the same mobility for blacks that whites exercise in their search for economic and social advancement?

The answers to these and related questions will be sought in a pilot study of the New York Metropolitan Region to be conducted over the summer months by the National Committee Against Discrimination in Housing (NCDH) and the Regional Plan Association (RPA). A planning grant of $75,000 was awarded to NCDH by the Carnegie Corporation to enable the two organizations to make a preliminary analysis of the relationship between housing and job opportunities and to develop a design for a full-scale research study. The long-range investigation will take about two years, will cost approximately $400,000, and is expected to result in a recommended plan of action for industry, government, and community leadership aimed at overcoming negative conditions uncovered by the research.

In announcing the preliminary stage of the project, Edward Rutledge and Jack E. Wood, Jr., executive co-directors of NCDH, and John P. Keith, executive vice president of RPA, called attention to a recent report issued by the National Committee on Job Opportunities. Copies of this report are available from NCDH, 323 Lexington Ave., New York, New York 10016 at $1.50 each.

"EVIDENCE, ALREADY COMPILED in the NCDH survey of data from several metropolitan areas points to the movement of jobs as a complicating factor in the unemployment problem among minorities," the three men said.

"Factory jobs increasingly are located in distant suburbs. Negroes largely are confined by the housing market to living quarters in central city areas," they continued.

The three executives called attention to RPA studies done for the New York Metropolitan Region which also have warned of the serious implications of this trend.

Rutledge, Wood and Keith said that while the study is primarily concerned with the housing/job location gap, many related problems and questions will be considered, including:

The specific job classifications that are leaving the cities and concentrating in the suburbs, including professional and manerial as well as production.

The circumstances surrounding the relocation of a plant or the creation of a wholly new establishment.

An analysis of the present work force in these new suburban establishments, including former and present places of residence and particularly where Negro and Puerto Rican employees live and how they get to work.

The skill requirements of newly-created jobs.

The skill levels of the unemployed in inner-city and old-suburban ghettos.

The actual effect of manpower training programs, including geographic and racial breakdowns.

Housing market conditions and practices in locations near available suburban jobs.

Analysis of the suburban nonwhite population beyond 1960 census data.

Transportation facilities and commuting patterns and costs.

"To do this, we need to know the answers to such questions as:

How can the skills presently available in the work force be shifted to the skills that are increasingly needed by the Region's economy?"

What types of jobs should be encouraged to locate in this Region, and where, to assure minimal unemployment?

Are job opportunities fully known to those seeking jobs in this Region and, if not, how can they be made known?

What can be done to open suburban housing opportunities to Negroes and Puerto Ricans, particularly in relation to jobs?

What are the relative costs, to business, individuals and the public, of the several solutions that might be offered to the job-housing-training gaps?"

Lake Hauto "has everything"

LAKE HAUTO HOME—Typical of the vacation and year-round homes located on the north shore of Lake Hauto, on Rt. 54 off Rt. 309 in the Broad Mountains north of Tamaqua, is this lovely ranch-style dwelling.

Looking for the lake that has everything? Then it's a MUST to visit Lake Hauto, located in the picturesque Broad Mountains at the gateway to the Western Poconos — Route 54 between historic Jim Thorpe and Hometown. Newly opened this year is lovely Birch Pools, a new section in lovely Lake Hauto West.

Lake Hauto is a big lake with over five miles of shoreline and 300 acres of deep, highly navigable water area. This makes it ideal for motorboating, waterskiing, fine bass and other game fishing, sailing, swimming and, yes — in winter — ice fishing and other year-round sports. Lake Hauto abounds in scenic mountain trails ideal for hiking and sightseeing, and boasts of its own 1500-acre hunting preserve set aside for the exclusive use of property owners. Lots, all wooded, begin at $1590. Financing is available.

A unique feature of Lake Hauto is the fact that it has its own domestic water system. Fresh mountain water is piped into each homestead from a large reservoir located deep in the Broad Mountains, which automatically eliminates the expense and inconvenience of well-drilling and maintenance.

Also, Lake Hauto has its own Club House as well as a recreational building for entertaining, cook-outs, and leisure-time activities of young people as well as Dad and Mother. Best of all, each of Lake Hauto's residential areas has its own sandy beach, complete with club house and a children's playground and picnic tables for family enjoyment.

Within easy driving distance of this secluded yet convenient year-round vacation and homestead community are doctors, dentists, hospitals, churches, stores, schools, restaurants, theaters... downtown convenience from a waterfront site. Police and fire protection are very close at hand. Taxes and maintenance costs are reasonable because Lake Hauto is a well-rounded community with surfaced streets, a fine water supply, ample parking space — all completed before you move in.

Lake Hauto has a commercial area at the east extremity of the lake, with a gift shop and sundry services that are such a convenience to lakefront living. At Lake Hauto the emphasis is on quality. Each lot is of ample size and imaginatively plotted to guarantee the ultimate in lakefront living. No lot is more than a few steps away from lakeside. A nearby reservoir provides piped-in pure mountain water that does away with the sometimes unpredictable cost of well-drilling.

Nearby is a modern 18-hole golf course, a new 16-alley bowling center, a drive-in theater, golf driving ranges, fishing on fine mountain streams, horseback riding on lovely mountain trails, state parks and game lands, and — just a half-hour away — famous Big Boulder Ski Area.

Lake Hauto is reached by traveling Rt. 22 (Int. Rt. 78) to the Lehigh Valley exit of the Pennsylvania Turnpike, then north on Rt. 309 through Tamaqua to Hometown. At Hometown, a right turn on Rt. 54 takes one directly to the lovely west end entrance to Lake Hauto.

Truly, if you have ever dreamed of enjoying the pleasures of sunbathing, swimming or boating in a fresh water lake just steps away from your "front porch", then Lake Hauto is tops. The living is easy in such a setting. Lake Hauto is a project of Northeast Land Company, Box 37, Nesquehoning, Pa.

10 Five Points YMCA families go camping at Panther Lake

A group of ten families from the Five Points YMCA family camping club spent last weekend at Panther Lake camp grounds in Andover. The program included swimming, fishing, boating and games as well as fellowship around evening campfires.

60 Y fathers, sons attend Indian Guide overnight pow-wow

The Five Points YMCA father and son Indian Guides held their annual overnight pow-wow at Camp Silver Lake last weekend.

Sixty fathers and sons spent the weekend swimming, boating, fishing, hiking and horse-back riding at the Sussex County Camp. Inter-tribal contests included tug of war, three-legged races, sack race, ball toss and softball games.

Fathers and sons took turns as waiters at meals. Richard Bacheski had his Inyoquois tribe lead the grace at meals. Frank Amabile and Ed Zaiser had their Mohawk and Apache tribes give the leadership in the games. Phil Pein had the Chippewa tribe build and light the campfire.

Highlight of the weekend was the campfire program of songs, stories, games, ceremonies and tribal skits. The traditional torchlight parade concluded the program.

"The Weekend provided a wholesome atmosphere for fathers and sons to spend time with each other," a spokesman said. "These overnight experiences and other Longhouse events are very meaningful in the life of a first or second grader and his dad and build a mutual understanding which can be very important in the growing up years."

Fathers interested in further information about the program can call Howard Merrick, branch executive at the Five Points YMCA, at 687-5570.
