Turnpike expansion at halfway point; traffic, tolls go up; injury rate down

The New Jersey Turnpike in 1968 approached the half-way mark in its expansion program, while its traffic volumes for the year were rising by 6.4 percent to an all-time high of 78,205,075 revenue vehicles. At the same time, toll revenues totaled $55,339,724 and total revenues $61,316,657, for an 8 percent increase over 1967.

The program of widening the Turnpike from scheduled for completion on Jan. 1, 1970, proceeded, and at year's end some 48 percent of construction work was completed, the Turnpike Authority stated in its annual report to Governor Richard J. Hughes and members of the New Jersey Legislature.

The report, reviewing the progress made in the 17th full year of operations, was submitted by Authority Chairman Joseph More-and Angus M. Harris, treasurer. Eighty-three widening contracts totalling more than $275 million were awarded by 1968, with 18 completed or near completion. "From this accumulation of work," the Authority reported, "10 new roadway miles out of 60 projected for the widening were opened to traffic in the Edison, Linden, Newark Airport and Woodbridge areas."

off into the new New Jersey Turnpike and four lanes, the new high-level Laderman Bridge over the Passaic River began to take shape. Twelve of the bridge's 60 piers were completed and work on the contract for the structural-steel superstructure passed the halfway stage. The contract for the concrete deck of the 7,000 foot span, named after the toll collector, Harry Laderman, who was killed by a truck while on duty in 1967, will be awarded this Spring.

To the north, six miles above the present Hackensack River Bridge, construction progressed satisfactorily on the second Hackensack River crossing. The superstructure of this new span, 4,000 feet long, was 95 percent completed by the end of 1968 and the steelwork 65 percent finished. The contract for the concrete deck for this new structure was awarded last December.

The Authority stressed the safety considerations in the expansion. The new roadways are laid out independent of each other, precluding the hazardous maneuvers of crossing over from one roadway to the other. They will be divided by guard rails. Commercial vehicles will be restricted to the outer lanes and the new bridges will have shoulders as another safety feature.

The Authority has estimated that when the dual/dual Turnpike becomes a reality, it will have required 72,000 tons of concrete, one million pounds of asphalt, 22 million pounds of steel and 196 miles of piling for 150 structures.

To finance the program, the Authority has sold three revenue bond issues—$179 million in October 1966, $75 million in June 1966 and

THE LITTLE SATELLITE, top right, that made "Live Via Early Bird"—a household phrase on television sets in millions of North American and European homes for the last three and one-half years, retired last month, 22,300 miles above the Atlantic. Its communications circuits were transferred to a new and larger satellite, top left, called INTESAT-III. Early Bird's communications performance record leads like a who's who, including TV broadcasts of Pope Paul's historic visit to the U. S. in October, 1965; the Gemini splashdowns in 1965-66 and former President Eisenhower, above, discussing World War II strategies with British Field Marshal Sir Bernard Montgomery in a "Town Meeting of the World" telecast.

"Traffic and accident statistics continue to reflect, even with substantial increases in traffic volumes, that the New Jersey Turnpike is one of the safest toll facilities in the nation, when based on comparisons of total mileage accumulated on all toll roadways. The more than 78 million revenue vehicles using the Turnpike in 1968 travelled 2.14 billion miles. Despite this overflow of traffic, the Turnpike experienced an accident rate comparable to the previous year." (It was 94.8 in 1968 and 93.0 in 1967).

State troopers issued a total of 45,552 summonses, as against 43,762 the previous year, and made 1,189 criminal arrests, compared with 208 in 1967. "Noteworthy," the Authority reported, "was the vigilance of troopers in intercepting the flow of narcotics, dangerous weapons and untaxed cigarettes along the Turnpike."

But the injury rate was down almost 10 points from 1967, while the rate of fatalities was down to 1.72 from 2.16. There were 37 fatalities in 1968 and 44 in 1967.

FOCUS ON THE ARTS is the theme of billboards which have appeared in more than 100 locations in every county of New Jersey. Billboard draws attention to Classroom Renaissance, a unique statewide project in the arts sponsored by the New Jersey State Department of Education and the New Jersey Art Education Association. Dr. Thelma Newman, executive director of the program is pictured in foreground.

State art project advertised by billboards in 100 places

A stark, white on black billboard urging New Jerseyans to "Focus on the Arts" has sprung up in 100 locations throughout the state. The billboard draws attention to Classroom Renaissance, a unique, statewide project in the arts sponsored by the New Jersey State Department of Education and the New Jersey Art Education Association. The project is funded under Title III through the Dover Board of Education.

According to Dr. Thelma Newman, executive director of Classroom Renaissance, space for the billboards, designed by M. S. Mickey Gardens, was donated by eight outdoor advertising firms. G. Becker Jamieson, vice president of United Advertising Corporation, coordinated the effort.

Firms which donated space for the billboard include: American Advertising Company, Long Branch; Lehigh Advertising Company, Allentown, Pa.; Media Outdoor Advertising Corp., Jersey City; South Jersey Advertising Company, Glassboro; J.K. Frank's Outdoor Advertising Corp., Dover; Rolling Advertising Co., Camden; R.C. Maxwell Co., Trenton; and United Advertising Corp., Newark.

"Classroom Renaissance and the thousands of children affected by its programs," Dr. Newman said, "are grateful to these public-spirited firms for bringing Focus on the Arts to the attention of millions of people. Classroom Renaissance, as its name implies, is bringing a fresh new educational approach to school children throughout New Jersey."

Number of billboard locations by county are: Essex, 7; Union, 7; Middlesex, 8; Hunterdon, 4; Somerset, 5; Hudson, 5; Passaic, 5; Bergen, 4; Morris, 4; Warren, 4; Sussex, 4; Mercer, 4; Burlington, 5; Atlantic, 4; Cape May, 4; Salem, 4; Cumberland, 4; Camden, 4; Ocean, 5; Monmouth, 5 and Gloucester, 4.

Ask Amy

By AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy: I need help and have no one else to turn to concerning this matter. I don't know if you have received a letter of this kind...

Dear Amy: I am writing in reply to "Clair's" letter in which her niece received three books of trading stamps as a wedding gift...

few minutes; I paste them in the books, I make no fetish about saving them and I regard them simply as something that I got for nothing.

on when I get home. How can I tell her that a boy doesn't like to kiss me goodnight with the light on?

Dear Amy: The patio light should be lit when you arrive home from a date. And if the light bothers the boys, just tell them to shut their eyes. Better they should be in the dark than you!

Dear Amy: In regard to the lady who received all the extra toilet water, dusting powder, etc., while hospitalized, why not let a moderator pick out some of the other charitable organizations.

This way she would be sharing her good fortune with someone who, perhaps, would never otherwise know the pleasure of a nice cosmetic.

It would be a form of "Thanks to God" for the return of her good health.

I am at the legal age of 21 and not living at home. I work and support myself. I won't turn to my girlfriends and I have none closer than that. My problem is that I am having an affair with a man of 23 whom I love very much. We cannot marry yet for certain reasons. We are both healthy and mature-minded people. I cannot afford to become pregnant now so can you please suggest where I can get birth control pills. Is there a doctor I can go to and get them without being married? I have heard and read that having them prescribed by a doctor and following his instructions will keep me safe. D.E.

Dear D. E.: There are ways to obtain the pill, however, I choose not to supply you with the information because I will not become a party to your immorality. The pill has its place in our society, but it was not created for the single girl.

Many young couples, especially those with families, cannot afford very many "extras" in their budgets. It takes a few weeks of saving. When a wife or a mother does save trading stamps, it is usually with a definite purpose in mind. I would feel honored that someone had thought enough of me to save for a special gift. This would mean more to me than a gift from someone who called a department store and had something sent, sight unseen, or slipping cash in an envelope as many of the affluent society consider the "proper" thing to do.

I, for one, take these trading stamps and throw them in a drawer and when I have a

U.S. reports earnings up in December

WASHINGTON — The purchasing power of the nation's rank and file workers rose in December, the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics has reported. The gain in real earnings resulted mostly from an increase in average weekly reached $110.75 in December, a $1.25-advance over November, as the work week lengthened from 37.5 to 37.8 hours. All industries showed advances in weekly earnings, with the largest gain in contract construction. After adjustment for price increases, gross average weekly earnings registered a December-to-December gain of 2.0 percent.

Spensible earnings averaged $97.50 in December for the worker with three dependents, a gain of $3.95 over the month. Take-home pay increased in all industrial sectors.

curved in contract construction. Over the year, take-home pay rose $5.12, or 5.5 percent. Real spendable earnings — take-home pay expressed in 1957-59 dollars to eliminate the effect of price changes — came to $78.61 in December for the worker with three dependents, 0.7 percent higher than in the preceding month. Real spendable earnings in December 1968 were 0.8 percent higher than in the same month a year ago.

The 1968 annual average weekly take-home pay for workers with three dependents was $95.28, 4.9 percent higher than in 1967. Increases in consumer prices eroded most of this gain, holding the rise for real net spendable earnings to a mere 0.6 percent.

Increase in price index moderate in December

WASHINGTON — Prices rose moderately in December, the United States Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics has announced. Preliminary data show wholesale prices rising at a sharper rate in January.

The Consumer Price Index in December, at 123.7 (1957-59=100), registered the smallest monthly increase since September — 0.2 percent. Since December 1967 the index has risen 4.7 percent. The 1968 average for the Consumer Price Index came to 121.2, a 4.2 percent above the 1967 level, the sharpest annual increase since 1951.

Most of the December increase was due to higher food and housing costs, and higher charges for public transportation and medical care services. There were significant price cuts for new and used cars.

The Wholesale Price Index also rose 0.2 percent in December, to 109.8 (1957-59=100), 2.8 percent above a year ago. The Wholesale Price Index averaged 103.7 for 1967.

Consumer services averaged 0.5 percent higher in December, 6.1 percent above the same month in 1967.

Retail prices of food and beverages at home rose 0.5 percent in December, seasonally adjusted, while wholesale prices rose 0.2 percent.

The persistent rise in apartment prices, moderated slightly in December, partly due to reductions on women's winter items.

New cars posted a greater-than-seasonal decline at retail, reflecting manufacturers' sales incentive programs for certain models.

There were fewer price increases for industrial commodities in December than in any of the previous four months. Out of 225 product classes, 86 averaged higher, 32 declined, and 97 showed no change. After a 0.4-percent rise, the industrial index reached 110.3 (1957-59=100), 2.7 percent above a year ago.

Higher prices for unprocessed foods caused consumer finished goods to rise by 0.2 percent. Producer finished goods also advanced as a result of the increase for machinery.

Approximately 88,000 workers will receive cost-of-living increases based on the December Consumer Price Index.

State druggists petition FDA for better labeling

Increased numbers of drugs now being prescribed by their non-proprietary or "generic" names, the New Jersey Pharmaceutical Association has petitioned the Food and Drug Administration to establish, as a safety measure, a program for determining the quality and therapeutic effectiveness of all drugs.

Members of the association reviewed the situation and agreed that the trend toward generic prescribing by physicians puts squarely up to the pharmacist a choice of various, sometimes many products that are identical generically.

Andrew J. Preston of Boonton, a trustee chairman, explained after the meeting that the practicing pharmacist has "a legal, moral and ethical responsibility for the drugs he dispenses."

He is called upon to make a scientific determination of the generic and therapeutic equivalency of drugs having the same non-proprietary name but supplied by different drug houses," he explained.

Preston pointed out that the pharmacist ultimately must rely on his own judgment concerning the quality of the drugs he dispenses.

But because of the complexity of such determinations, he said, "the pharmacist needs all the assistance the government can provide.

"A better way than the best present assurance of quality and therapeutic effectiveness would be for FDA to establish a program for providing more information for making such

County college aid to build new skills sought by Williams

Citing the "legacy of traditionalism and the security of the status quo," U.S. Sen. Harrison A. Williams, Jr. (D-NJ) says that a new level of educational experiences must be provided for all who might benefit.

The New Jersey lawmaker said that he will introduce a comprehensive community college bill to isolate the needs and responsibilities of post-secondary education. He said that high school education has been trapped in the dead-end syndrome of the "three R's," and that society wants more skills and different

IN NEW HOME — Bell Appliance staff in showroom of new building that rose from the ashes of disastrous fire which leveled old building last year. The firm, which operated out of trailers since the fire, is having grand opening this week.

Bell Appliance's new 'home' offers shopping ease, comfort

Like the fabled phoenix, Bell Appliance has emerged from the ashes of its disastrous fire of Jan. 8, 1968, and now offers its customers modern, air-conditioned showrooms. The 23-year-old firm, which had been at its Rt. 22 location for 16 years, has erected a new building with 9,000 square feet of floor space on the island location at Route 22, Union.

After the fire, Bell Appliance converted trailers for use as makeshift showrooms — but that is now a memory. The firm's new ultra-modern structure incorporates the latest architectural designs. A multi-colored brick facade and vast expanses of windows for display purposes extend the length of the building, facing east-bound and west-bound lanes on Route 22.

The air-conditioned building has been acoustically engineered to provide ideal sound reception for hi-fi and stereo listening. The showrooms have more than 100 color TV and stereo units in operation at all times for shoppers. The full home appliance departments include a color and black-and-white TV salon, a white goods section and a small appliance department.

Bell Appliance is a member of the Marza Co-Op, Inc., the world's largest purchasing group with more than 100 member-stores in the east and mid-west. Benjamin Kirsh of 958 Townley ave., Union, is sales manager; Oscar Bellinsky of 1407 Kent pl., Linden, is general manager; Louis Bellinsky of 1404 DeWitt ter., Linden, is merchandising manager; Hyman Bellinsky of 235 Harvard rd., Linden, is promotion and advertising manager.

For And About Teenagers

THE WEBB'S LETTER:

"I have been reading your articles and I've been wondering if you could help me with my problem. My fourteen-year-old son is my boyfriend. He has a 'best' friend to whom he pays twice as much attention as he does to me. I've been going with him two months and still he won't do anything unless his friend does. Should I give him up? I hope you won't tell me to, because I like him a lot."

OUR REPLY: It may be that you are a bit more "serious" about things than your boyfriend. At fourteen, you should not expect a boy to give up his best friend, or any of his friends, for that matter. You have no right to expect to occupy all of his time and attention. You should get things in proper perspective. If you do not, it is possible your jealousy will cause you to do or say something that will leave you without any boyfriend at all.

Rutgers' prof goes to jail -- to teach Prison inmates study labor union movement

For the second straight year someone from Rutgers University has gone to the State Prison here -- to teach, that is.

This time it was James Amos, a staff coadjutant at the Rutgers Labor Education Center, whose teaching experience had bypassed a classroom in a penal institution.

"It was the first time I was to teach in that situation," Amos said, "and I didn't know what to expect. Amos soon discovered, however, that despite their present status in society, the inmates were eager to learn.

"Except for the fact that you have to go through gates to get into the prison, the teaching atmosphere was that of a normal adult classroom," Amos said. "The men acted like gentlemen and treated me with respect."

"There were no guards in the classroom," Amos noted, and the teacher was given complete academic freedom.

The course, which was completed last week, was geared to providing the men with background on the operation of unions in plants and to helping them prepare to adjust to job problems.

The inmates learned about the labor movement, how it started, where it is headed, and its functions and techniques, including such things as grievance procedures, arbitration and the role of the shop steward.

THE COURSE was sponsored by the Labor Education Center in cooperation with the Rahway State Prison's regular educational program. The prison's regular program includes such classes as English for the non-English speaking, person-an elementary and a high school equivalency program, remedial reading, and even computer programming.

Like the others in the program, the labor course took a realistic approach.

"Amos told them about today's labor market and about unions," said Richard Seigel, a prison counselor in the program. "This is what the men were looking for -- a job oriented type of course."

It would be a dream, he said, to expect the 1,000 inmates at the prison to attend classes to a man. Twenty men registered for the labor course, but attendance dwindled to eight to twelve "regulars," who could be expected to show up despite the intramural basketball game, or the color TV show, or the movie which were going on at the same time.

At a typical session, discussion ranged from arbitration through community disputes, touching on, for example, the Ocean Hill-Brownsville crisis in New York City, of which the inmates exhibited more than a passing interest.

According to Amos, many of the inmates showed concern about the role of the black in the labor movement. Amos stressed a comparison of the early struggles of the labor movement to the current struggles by blacks in the civil rights movement.

The inmates liked to relate class discussion to their personal experiences, he said, and sought out practical information, sometimes hoping to learn a few tricks to "beat the system."

"I tried to emphasize," Amos said, "the importance of participation, of becoming involved, Union people should know their by-laws and their contract from one end to another."

THE PROGRAM was initiated a year ago by the Rutgers Labor Center and it was rerun this year at the request of the inmates. They attended eight two-hour sessions on Tuesdays through the winter.

Amos brought almost 15 years of union experience to his classroom, having been an international representative of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union for that time.

CLASSROOM IN PRISON -- James Amos, a staff coadjutant at the Rutgers University Labor Education Center, emphasizes a point during a class at Rahway State Prison. The educational program was aimed at providing inmates with background on the role of labor unions and at preparing the way for adjustment to job problems.

U.S.-Soviet fish negotiations topic at Fishermen's Forum

New Jersey fishery resources of concern to recreational anglers, commercial fishermen and the general public will be featured at the forthcoming Fishermen's Forum, according to Commissioner Robert A. Rep of the State Department of Conservation and Economic Development.

The Forum will be held on Saturday, Feb. 15, starting at 9 a.m. in the Golden Gate Motel, Absecon. Admission will be free.

The highlight of last year's Forum was a discussion of international fishery negotiations. New developments, notably the recently-negotiated U.S.-Soviet agreement regarding mid-Atlantic fisheries, will be reviewed by Ambassador Donald L. McKernan, Special Assistant for Fisheries and Wildlife to the U.S. Secretary of State. The results of cooperative research by scientists of the two nations will be reported by Dr. Robert Edwards of the U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, dealing particularly with species in the Mid-Atlantic bight.

A rare joint appearance will be made by the directors of both the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife and the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries of the U.S. Department of the Interior. Director H.E. Crowther will present "A Master Plan for Commercial Fisheries."

A lively response is expected to the discussion by Director John S. Gottschalk of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife. His topic will be "The Pros and Cons of a Federal Fishing License."

Consumers of fish products may be interested in two other topics: a discussion of marketing programs by John T. Charrett, regional director of the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, and a presentation on artificial shellfish culture and predator control by Dr. James E. Hanks, director of the Bureau's Biological Shellfish Laboratory in Milford, Conn.

A new film on New Jersey's menhaden fishery will be presented by Captain David H. Hart, former chairman of the State Fish and Game Council. This is the State's largest commercial fishery and one which has often evoked comment from recreational anglers.

Modern gear development, of prime interest to commercial fishermen, was covered by a number of speakers last year. This year the only presentation in this area will deal with offshore lobster fishing techniques, by director Keith Smith of the Exploratory Fishing and Gear Research Station in Gloucester, Mass.

New owners take wheel of Union Chevy agency

The Chevrolet Division of General Motors, this week officially announced the appointment of John F. Mulligan and James V. Tino as new owners of L&S Chevrolet, on Morris Avenue, Union.

Mulligan is president while Tino is vice president. Mulligan previously served as general sales manager of the agency under its previous name. He had been with the firm 19 years. Tino, with 15 years of prior service, had been parts and service director.

Raised in Union, Mulligan now lives in Mountaintop with his wife and two children. He is a member of the Rotary Club in Union.

TINO, A MEMBER OF the Optimist Club and Knights of Columbus in Union, is a longtime township resident. He is married and has two children.

"This is both a very joyful as well as sorrowful moment," Mulligan said. "Jim Tino and I worked for a total of 34 years for the former president and founder, E. Arthur Lynch Sr., until his passing on July 28. We all loved 'Boss' Lynch and wish to continue to serve Union in the same spirit that prevailed during Mr. Lynch's 37 years behind the wheel."

"We plan to modernize the entire facility," Tino said. "Present plans call for doubling our service capabilities and substantially increasing our 100-unit monthly sales average."

Retarded Children's group sponsoring art competition

"Budding Rembrandts, Picassos and splotch-and-daub artists from Union County are being sought as part of a nationwide contest to select the three outstanding Christmas card illustrations designed by retarded children and adults," Bertram Schwartz, president of the N.J. Association for Retarded Children, Union County Unit, announced this week. The three national winning designs will be used on Christmas cards sold throughout the country this year in fund raising campaigns conducted by the 1,300 affiliated units of The National Association for Retarded Children.

The artists who create the winning designs will be awarded United States savings bonds of $100, $50 and $25 by The Metropolitan Fine Arts Corporation, the Everett, Mass., firm that will print the cards. A panel of nationally known artists and illustrators will assist The National Association for Retarded Children in choosing the designs.

ENGRAVED TROPHIES WILL be awarded to the regional winners by The National Association for Retarded Children along with kits of artists supplies donated by the Joseph Grumbacher Artist Supply Company, New York. The 100 state winners, two from each state, will receive embossed parchment certificates of recognition. All retarded children and adults in Union County who are not professional artists are eligible to enter the contest.

The total snowfall for the month was two inches, which fell on Jan. 6 and 7. Normal snowfall for January is 10.6 inches.

Volunteer hours listed by Mount Carmel Guild

In a report compiled this week for the period of July through December, 1968, it was revealed that volunteers of the Mount Carmel Guild's Social Welfare Office, in Union County contributed a total of 2,762 hours.

The Mount Carmel Guild, which operates in all four counties of the Archdiocese (Bergen, Essex, Hudson and Union), estimates it saves tens of thousands of dollars every year through the use of volunteers in this phase of its program instead of paid employees. The number of volunteers who reported all four counties during this period exceeds 33,000. If these volunteers were paid even the minimum wage in New Jersey ($1.50 per hour), these hours would represent an additional financial burden to the organization of almost $100,000 per year in this department alone.

Work in physical relief, institutional visitation, cataloging and distributing clothing, sewing, preparing toys for children, and serving in times of emergency and disaster.

The Union County office is located at 715 Elizabeth Ave., Elizabeth. It operates under the direction of the agency's Union County President, Mrs. Harry A. Hannon of 912 Birch Ave., Union.

The Mount Carmel Guild operates many special services for the blind, the deaf, those with emotional handicaps and mentally retarded children, for which it depends on volunteer assistance. It has a paid staff of 200 professionals and semi-professionals and a budget of $1-1/2 million a year.

Registration open at 'Y' for next period activities

Howard Merrick, branch executive of the Five Points YMCA, Union announced this week that the early winter term for most of the programs is concluding this week and registration is open for the activities offered for the next nine-week period.

Swimming instruction for boys and girls is offered and the YMCA bus picks up at designated points and returns after the class at the Elizabeth Branch. This takes place on Tuesdays or Thursdays.

The trampoline classes continue on Fridays for boys and girls. Several students are approach of instruction. There are three levels of instruction. Junior and Senior high school students are encouraged to enroll for the intermediate or advanced classes.

In addition, the gymnastics course continues on Mondays, 6:30-8 p.m. for Junior and Senior high school students. Parallel bars, rings, balance beam, uneven bars are used and several in the class are becoming quite skilled.

Men have an opportunity for a conditioning and volleyball class on Thursday evenings and those interested in a noontime session on Thursday can call the YMCA, Merrick said. Baton and twirling skills will continue to be offered on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons; Alice Kennedy, instructor and titleholder, will be the instructor.

Pioneers for third and fourth grade boys and Pathfinders for fifth and sixth grade boys welcome newcomers to their group for active games and seasonal sports, trips for families and other activities.

Meets on Saturday mornings, and are led by Frank Judge, Livingston School teacher. Wranglers for K-2 grade boys and girls is also being offered and features active games for their age level.

Judo continues and will be led by Bill Eisenmunger. This program is for senior high school students and adults and has been well-attended.

St. Elizabeth gets $150,000 grant

Saint Elizabeth Hospital, Elizabeth, has received a $150,000 grant from the Fannie E. Rippl Foundation, it was announced by Sister Ellen Patricia, administrator of the 350-bed voluntary hospital.

The grant was made with the understanding that the hospital would complete the entire final $550,000 phase of the $2-million expansion program initiated in 1960 with the construction of the new Saint Elizabeth Hospital.

Pick the right day to test drive a Volkswagen and you'll have the road to yourself.

Back when the weather was better, everybody was inviting you to come in and test drive their new what-ers.

But now that the weather isn't so hot, and a test drive is really a test, the invitations have dropped off sharply. Now maybe you can spare a little time to try out the new Volkswagen.

Not right this minute. Wait for a nice lousy day. The next time it's snowing or slushing or something like that, drive down to your Volkswagen dealer. If you can make it in your car.

He'll be happy to take you out and show you how a Volkswagen works when hardly anything else does.

How the weight of the motor on the rear wheels makes the VW dig in and go, in the snow or the mud, or even on ice.

As you pass all the stranded cars that passed their test drives in balmy days, he'll tell you about the VW's other cold-weather comforts.

The air-cooled motor—it doesn't freeze over, so it doesn't need anti-freeze or a winter thermostat.

And if you have to leave the car out on a cold wet night, it's got four coats of paint and a sealed bottom to keep it cozy.

You've even got an edge with a VW if the worst happens and you get stuck.

What could be easier to push?

CLOTHES CARE COMMENTS

by SAM MANN
(Diamond Cleaners)

MEN'S SUIT COAT SHAPING
Did you know that in pagan times, sweethearts were paired by lot in mid-February and birds were thought to mate then?

Later, February 14th became St. Valentine's Day, the occasion for exchanging "Valentines" with those you love. And isn't it delightful to be remembered? Sometimes a single rose can say "I care" far better than a more expensive gift.

There are little ways, too, that can show your husband you care about his appearance all year long. For example, here's a check list you can use to make certain his suit coat has been finished properly by your cleaner!

- Lapels should be flat at the top and roll to or just above the top button hole.
- The collar should be cleaned firm and shrunk to fit snugly.
- The coat should be free of shine and seam impressions, and buttons should not be buried in the fabric.
- It's the little things like this that make such a big difference between good, professional cleaning such as you get at Diamond Cleaners...and careless, mediocre service. Watch for them! For pickup & delivery call 687-3585.

Says many missing out on benefits

Ralph W. Jones, manager of the Elizabeth Social Security Office, said this week that many persons eligible for disability benefits apply too late to receive checks as early as they should.

According to Jones, anyone whose work activity was covered by social security for five of the past 10 years and is expected to be out of work for at least 12 months because of sickness or injury should apply for disability payments immediately. In addition, anyone who becomes disabled between ages 24 and 31 needs work covered by social security for only half the time between age 21 and the time he becomes unable to work. Those disabled before age 24 will need only 1 1/2 years of work credit out of the three-year period ending when the disability began.

Jones explained that although benefits can't be paid for the first six months of disability, medical records and other data needed from the applicant can be collected, evaluated, and a decision reached before the six-month waiting period is up—enabling payments to begin on time.

Anyone in the area who wishes to apply for disability benefits may visit the social security office at 268 North Broad St., Elizabeth. The office is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., weekdays and 8 p.m. on Thursdays. A person unable to come to the office may telephone 351-3200 and arrange for a visit by an office representative, Jones said.

Peace Corps will give placement test Saturday

Area residents interested in putting their skills to use in developing nations around the world are being invited to take the Peace Corps Placement Test at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday in Newark (Room B-89, Federal Building) or at main post offices in Montclair, Morristown and Plainfield.

The Peace Corps uses the test to determine if an applicant can best be utilized overseas. The test measures general aptitude and the ability to learn a language, not education or achievement. The test requires no preparation and is non-competitive; an applicant can neither pass nor fail.

Persons interested in serving with the Peace Corps must fill out an application, if they have not already done so, and present it to the tester before the test. Application forms are available from post offices or from the Peace Corps in Washington, D. C., 20525. Fifteen thousand Volunteers are currently serving in Asia, Africa, Latin America and the Pacific Islands, working with the people of those nations in self-help projects ranging from food production to health to education. More Volunteers are needed for programs which will begin this spring and summer.

Campus gets more like home Telephones for dorm rooms

A new center telephone system providing the administration and students of Upsala College with private telephones was put into service this week. It is the first such service for students in the state.

The equipment, installed by New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, provides individual telephone numbers for direct inward and outward dialing from 342 student rooms at the college and the administrative offices. Center systems, for administrative use only, have been in service at other New Jersey colleges for some time.

"Private phones should create a home-like atmosphere for the students, in addition to aiding in their studies by eliminating the distraction of paging in the halls," said Dr. Carl Fjellman, president of the college.

The center system speeds telephone service by eliminating the need for routing calls through a switchboard. Both students and administrators will be able to dial outside calls directly. Inside calls will be made by dialing the extension number.

An additional feature of the system is its conference call capability, which permits connection of up to five parties. These calls, however, must be handled by an attendant.

The individual telephone extensions can be reached by direct dialing from outside, if an outside caller does not know the extension number, he can reach his party by dialing the listed number of the college. Operators at the school, using compact desk-top consoles equipped with push buttons and other time-saving features, will handle the calls.

In addition to the convenience of a phone-in-system, the students will have unlimited calling, at no charge, to all points on campus and to many other local areas. They will be billed directly for all toll calls.

Trio to play at museum

A clarinet, violin and piano trio, comprised of Stanley Drucker, Kenneth Gordon and Isadore Freeman, will perform at the Montclair Art Museum on Sunday at 4 p.m. in the third of the museum's winter series of free Sunday afternoon concerts.

The program will include Sonata in G major for violin and piano by Beethoven, Sonata in F minor for clarinet and piano by Brahms, Hausmusik No. 1 for clarinet and violin by Adolph Busch, and Suite for trio by Darius Milhaud.

Drucker is solo clarinetist with the New York Philharmonic. Gordon has played with the New York Philharmonic Symphony Society, the NBC Symphony Orchestra and with many other symphony orchestras. Freeman has played with many chamber music groups and is a piano teacher and lecturer.

Lutheran church will hold meeting

The Christ Lutheran Church, Parker Avenue and Burr Road, Maplewood, will hold its annual congregational meeting and dinner Sunday in the church auditorium following the morning worship services.

A film, "The World of Martin Luther," color slides taken at the 35th anniversary celebration, community singing and other musical entertainment will follow the business meeting.

A baked ham dinner will be served by members of the Womens Guild. Rev. Block's sermon topic at the 10:45 a.m. service will be "Purity of Heart."

Classes planned by Poodle Club

The Watching Mountain Poodle Club will start its next obedience and show training classes on Tuesday at the Recreation Center, Taylor Park, Millburn. Classes are open to all breeds.

Obedience will start at 2:30 with Mrs. Madeline Bunocore instructing and show training classes will start at 9 p.m. with Marco Leynor as instructor. Classes will be limited in size. # Harvard ties for Ivy lead as Cornell upsets Penn opener of the four games played last Saturday, Princeton, which dominated the boards, made this pay off the stretch when it limited Dartmouth to the shot on each rush. Rebound shots by Mark Weber and Gary Weiner in the final period put Princeton into the victory column. Weber and Weiner led the squad in scoring with eight each. Most of these two-pointers came on successful rebound shots. Tommy Lowy gave Princeton a top game in the back court.

Pennsylvania dropped its first game in Ivy League play last Saturday, losing to Cornell, 37-32. Penn had been the last undefeated squad. Harvard, by winning its ball game against Yale, moved into a tie for first with Pennsylvania. Each Saturday afternoon, four Ivy League games are played at the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School gym.

Green White Steve Blumenthal found the cords once. Dartmouth's inability to hit consistently from the foul line told the story. Dartmouth was able to hit on only four shots from the free throw line in 19 attempts.

Pirates, Rockets, Tigers tie for 1st in Sandmeier loop

The Pirates, Rockets and Tigers are tied for first place after six weeks of basketball in the Recreation Department's Sandmeier Smitty League. The three top teams, which haven't lost except to each other, continue to overtake their opponents. The boys in the Sandmeier League meet at this school each Saturday afternoon where they play four games.

The Pirates got away winging last Saturday and turned back the Chiefs, 15-3; Andy Brenner led the Tigers' attack with five points and played a top game. Eric Geist and Warren Bromberg each scored three points for the Tigers, while Mike Davis and Steve Lalor also contributed to the attack. Mitch Cooper and Ken Fingerhut both gave a good account of themselves for the Chiefs. Teddy Parker and Dave Falcone also played well in the Chiefs' game.

The Rockets kept pace with their co-leaders as they swamped the Chargers, 15-7; Marc Roslin and Brian Deutsch, the two boys who engineered the upset of the Pirates, did it to the Chargers last Saturday. Marc tallied seven points, and Brian hit five points. Both boys played equally well in all aspects of the game.

The Comets, with some great foul shooting, took the measure of the Jets, 10-8. The Jets staged a rally in this game that was won when Kevin Mitchell and Lee Davidson hit final-period free throws. Davidson converted five free throws in all to lead all scorers. Eric Davis also added a foul shot for the Comets, while Steve Scholtz hit a bucket and a free throw. Steve's two-pointers to open the game was the Comets' only field goal. Dave Shulman's four points paced the jets in scoring. Buckets by Shulman and Keith Widom, sandwiched around a free throw by Stu Brummer, led a final period jet rally that fell short of victory.

Indoor track, weightlifting benefit boys

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School's indoor track and weightlifting program benefits many boys, according to Marty Taglienti, track coach.

With the consent of Herbert Palmer, athletic director, and Principal Robert LaVare, Dayton has established a weightlifting program and can use the school's gymnasium for training. The team cannot use the halls as practice areas because they are too dangerous for athletic use.

Dayton stretches streak to 7 games, Rahway, 74-72 tops Hillside, 55-54;

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School basketball team stretched its winning streak to seven games and tightened its grip on the Watching Conference lead by defeating Hillside, 55-46, and Rahway, 74-72. Dayton's record is now 15-2. Tomorrow night Dayton will be at Cranford, starting at 8 p.m.

AIRBORNE — Rahway's Mike Stargill is up in the air — but about to score two points — in losing game against Springfield last week. Watching is Springfield's Charlie Foster.

By scoring 30 points in the third period, the most in any period this year, Dayton led, 61-51, at the end of the quarter. By outscoring Dayton, 16-4, midway in the fourth quarter Rahway led in the game, 67-65, with three minutes remaining.

Minutemen beaten by Scotch Plains in exciting, nip and tuck test, 68-65

The Springfield Minutemen split a pair of games at the Florence Gaudinier School last week to bring the Minutemen's 1969 record to 9 and 3. Last Wednesday evening the Springfield team topped a Florham Park Recreation Department five, 70-44. Saturday evening the Minutemen dropped a 68 to 65 decision to a Junior high school squad from Scotch Plains.

AL WILBOURN, Mark Weber and Jerry Jones played big parts in this ball game for Springfield. Al was again magnificent on defense and contributed 10 points in addition to setting up teammates for easy buckets. Mark played another tough game for Springfield under the boards. Weber grabbed 10 rebounds and tallied seven points. Jerry gave a stellar performance in the back court and added three points. Bob Meisel and Gary Tias, coming off the bench, also looked good for the Minutemen in this tough game.

Chargers, Lions, Falcons tie for 1st in Friday bowling

The competitor in the Friday Afternoon Boys' Bowling League is so close that only two games separate the league's first-five teams. Three teams are tied for the top spot, with the Lions, Chargers, and Falcons sporting 13-9 records. The Jets and the Raiders are tied for fourth place with 11-11 records.

Hurricanes retain lead but Rockets gain tie for second

The Hurricanes slipped another game last week, as they divided two games with the Bullets. The Hurricanes salvaged the day with a one-pin victory in the nightcap, Rick Schwert and Don Hezel paced the league leaders. Rick rolled a top series effort of 238, while Don had 220 for the two games. Skip Moore of the Bullets topped all bowlers in the match with a 275 series. Skip's second-game effort of 161 was the best of the afternoon.

Bowlers take 2 for 5th in last 7

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School bowling team beat Rahway, 3-1, and Cranford, 4-3, last week. Dayton has won two of its last seven matches and has a 9-1 record. Monday the Bulldogs will oppose Scotch Plains at the Echo Lanes.

Coach Peter Socca said that against Rahway his Springfield team bowled very well. The keggers rolled consistently strong matches as Springfield dominated the game.

Anticrime law frees money; states to direct federal funds

New Jersey's anticrime program will receive more than $571,000 from the U.S. Department of Justice under Congressman William T. Cahill's amendments to the 1968 Omnibus Safe Streets Act. Cahill (R-NJ) this week announced receipt of a special report by the U.S. Attorney General showing that every state in the nation has received a share of the current $19 million federal crime control appropriation. The Report, prepared at Cahill's request...

Taxpayers warned to keep records on dependents who live elsewhere

If you claim a dependent on your federal income tax return who doesn't live with you, you must keep records of the support you provide, advises Roland H. Nash, Jr., district director of Internal Revenue for New Jersey. Failure to keep adequate records caused some taxpayers to lose a dependency exemption they otherwise would have been entitled to last year. Others had to assemble the needed records months after expenses were paid.

Research institute in political science being established

Establishment of a new, privately-supported and operated institute for education and research in political science, public administration, and economics was announced jointly this week by Walter W. Hisslop, president of the New Jersey Taxpayers Association, and Henry C. Lang, Past President of NJTA and newly-elected president of the Institute.

The Public Affairs Institute, incorporated in New Jersey, has been organized as an independent affiliate of NJTA, according to Hisslop and Lang, in order to provide a vehicle may be requested by state or local public officials, as suggested by private foundations, or as determined by the trustees.

The Institute will operate as a non-profit educational, research and scientific organization.

Additional program areas contemplated by the Institute's trustees include graduate fellowships for students majoring in various public affairs curricula with a view toward employment in the private, as well as the public sector, seminars in public administration and finance subjects for private employer and employee groups, in-service training programs for civic agency careers, and contract service for governmental agencies in those areas where an independent, non-governmental appraisal of an administrative or financial proposal or problem seems appropriate.

According to Clarence J. Ziegler, secretary-treasurer, the Institute was created to work on substantive projects which by their scope and the time required to complete them, would be inappropriate for NJTA to undertake. He said the Institute would also be a means for undertaking on a cost basis requests received for impartial, non-partisan study and analysis of operating programs and procedures by state, county and local agencies.

He indicated the trustees were particularly interested in providing a means for better equipping employees of firms based or located in New Jersey to meet the broadening involvement of business with government in the solution of public affairs problems through training seminars, internships and graduate fellowships.

Funds for Institute operations, scholarships and research projects, are expected to be secured from private foundation grants, bequests, corporate and individual contributions and payments for performance of contractual services. Gifts by and to the Institute are tax deductible.

The Institute will be located at 104 North Broad st., Trenton, 08608.

25th anniversary for Candy Strippers

A search is under way for 10 women in this area who were in the fall semester world history class of Miss Ruth Lindsay at Vernon L. Davey Junior High School, East Orange, in 1943.

The hunt is being conducted, according to Forrest A. Brower, director of East Orange General Hospital, in connection with the 25th anniversary of the Candy Strippers, a hospital team-age service organization.

Brower asked that any of the following women who were in that Vernon L. Davey class telephone him at 672-8400:

Beth Adler, Ruth Aiston, Jean Gross, Rita-mae Cox, Elaine Heath, Nancy Kenney, Betty O'Rourke, Asemna Padakis, Betty Shureman and Dorothy Williams.

Care of credit cards save cash

Credit cards will never replace cold, cold cash, but they come close.

And just like the green stuff, credit cards can be misplaced or stolen. The credit card, key to travel, entertainment, lodging shops and specialized services, needs protection just as your money does. A valuable item, the loss or theft of a credit card can cause considerable worry and discomfort to the card owner. Many of the thefts are the work of professional rings. To avoid loss, proper credit card protection is a must.

A.S. Johnson Jr., regional manager of the Allstate Insurance Companies, offers these tips to help credit card holders avoid card losses.

Don't lend your card to anyone. Lending your card may be a costly mistake if loss occurs. A record should be kept of each credit card owned. This record should include the company name and address, the card number and expiration date. This information will facilitate a fast report of any credit card loss. The wallet is the best and safest place to keep credit cards. Chances of forgetting or misplacing a credit card is almost eliminated if it is returned directly to the wallet after every use.

Women with credit cards in their purse should be careful about putting their purses down for even a short time.

Don't leave credit cards in automobiles. Sun visors, glove compartments and dashboards are not safe places to keep credit cards.

Don't carry too many credit cards at one time. Carry only those cards that are needed or used most frequently. This way, in case of wallet loss, the misfortune will not be so complete and severe.

If a loss occurs, notify the issuer immediately after the loss, both by phone and in writing. This will excuse the holder from liability if the card is abused.

Thursday February 13, 1969-

More positive protection would be to have the card insured. Some insurance companies, including Allstate, offer low cost protection against credit card loss in their homeowner policies.

Finally, Johnson advises, treat a credit card like money... it is just as valuable.

A REPORT FROM THE NATIONAL INSTITUTES OF HEALTH
BETHESDA, MARYLAND

PLAQUE AND DENTAL DISEASE

Records dating back before the time of Christ report concern over foreign deposits on teeth. The need for cleaning teeth and "keeping them free of such material was recog-ized. The accumulation of calculus (tartar) was believed to contribute to early tooth destruction. Today, a soft, microbial mass called plaque is considered the real culprit in decay, whereas bacteria has been recognized as an important factor in periodontal (gum) disease.

Plaque develops constantly in the mouth. First, secretions of the mucous membranes and substances from saliva form a transparent film on the teeth. Then bacteria become embedded in this film. Later, other microorganisms, together with their waste products, food debris, and cells escaped from the lining of the mouth accumulate. At this stage plaque is easily seen on the surfaces of the teeth above the gumline. It may be white, yellow, or even brownish. If the teeth are not properly cleaned, it can grow surprisingly thick and later may calcify.

There are several types of plaque, and their composition varies. In tooth decay, this culprit forms on the smooth surfaces of teeth above the gumline. Scientists at the National Institute of Dental Research, one of the National Institutes of Health, found that certain bacteria embedded in this plaque secrete a gummy substance which enables them to stick to the teeth. This glue is also what makes plaque adherent.

Acid-producing bacteria trapped in plaque bathe the teeth in lactic and other acids which dissolve enamel. The greatest acid build-up occurs within 5 to 15 minutes after foods containing sugar or other fermentable carbohydrates are eaten. However, certain bacteria also have the ability to store sugar and ferment it later when sugar is mouth. This, the production of acid is prolonged. Once the enamel is dissolved by acid, bacteria in the plaque invade and damage all underlying tooth tissues.

Diet is also important in the soft, sticky foods cling to teeth, while hard or coarse foods help to dislodge plaque. In animal experiments a number of anti-bacterial agents have been effective in controlling plaque. Recently, an enzyme, dextranase, was found to be successful in reducing plaque formation and tooth decay on smooth tooth surfaces in animals. Clinical trials are planned.

Tooth decay may also develop in the absence of plaque. This occurs on grinding surfaces where food collects in the pits and fissures. Although the bacteria in these cavities do not form plaque, they produce acids from sugar-rich foods.

Another type of plaque is associated with periodontal (gum) disease. This film creeps downward from the gumline and grows abundantly on the root surfaces of teeth. It irritates the gums and destroys the bony tooth-sockets, causing teeth to loosen and fall out. While a different group of bacteria live in this plaque, a high carbohydrate diet is also necessary for their activity.

A daily program of dental hygiene coupled with periodic visits for professional care, is necessary to keep teeth free from plaque and to assure good oral health.
