YES volunteers appeal for jobs so teen power can flower

An urgent appeal to local businesses and home owners to hire young people provided by the Springfield Youth Employment Service was issued this week by Mrs. Clifford Schwartz, YES chairman.

The registrar list of high school and college students who are seeking employment far exceeds the demands from employers," Mrs. Schwartz said. "The students call or visit our office regularly, eagerly anticipating the opportunity of finding employment, only to be disappointed because so few jobs are available.

"There have been a few YES organizations in nearby towns that have been forced to discontinue their programs because of the lack of cooperation from the local business people.

"We would surely be disappointed if we were faced with that decision. More important, it would be shameful, and a definite detriment to the youth of our town, to discontinue such a program, dedicated solely to the purpose of serving our own children in such a worthwhile manner."

YES is a nonprofit community service organization, operated by local women who volunteer their services to keep young people busy with meaningful employment in their spare time.

"There is no charge to the employer except wages for the young worker," Mrs. Schwartz said. "All that is involved is a telephone call to the YES office, with necessary information for each job requirement given to the volunteer who answers the phone.

"Several students can be requested for interviews, and the employer has the choice of hiring the applicant best suited to his requirements. Students are available for spot, part-time and summer jobs."

THE FOLLOWING JOBS are typical of those that have been filled by students registered at the YES office:

In factories and industrial plants -- assembling, packing, shipping, typing, filing, clerical, secretarial, moving, maintenance, painting;

In offices -- reception, typing, sten-ography, clerical, moving files, errands, odd jobs;

In stores -- maintenance, sales, cashiers, inventory assistants, stock clerks;

With food -- waiters, waitresses, bus boys, kitchen help, counter help, loading and unloading trucks;

In food stores -- sales, stock, maintenance, bicycle delivery, cashiers;

With cars and trucks -- parts assistant, in auto firm, car wash-and-wax at home or commercial car wash, taking care for inspection, driving, delivery, loading, unloading;

In camps (day camps or sleep-away camps) -- counselors, archery, arts and crafts, swimming, track, music instruction;

tion, kitchen help;

For charitable agencies, churches, synagogues -- helping at parties and other functions, picking up used clothing, maintenance, moving furniture;

Gardening -- spring and fall clean-up, spading, raking, fertilizing, seeding, trimming, watering lawn during employer's out-of-town vacation, moving, landscape construction assistant;

Odd jobs -- digging post holes, helping pour cement, repairing fences, washing, waxing, spring clean-up of garages and basements, painting, carpentry, moving, washing dogs;

Tutoring -- school subjects, foreign languages, musical instruments;

Care of Children -- baby sitting day or evening, taking youngsters to park or pool, mother's helpers at home or away.

"SURELY," Mrs. Schwartz concluded, there must be many people who can use help with some of these jobs.

"Please don't deny this chance to our young people, who are looking for earning power and searching for an opportunity to be part of business operations and opportunities with an eye to their own futures."

The Youth Employment Service is located in the Municipal Building, with volunteers in the office every weekday from 2 to 4:45 p.m. The telephone number is 379-2576.

Township approves budget calling for $1,094,285

Citizens ask about details for 2 hours

New tax rate of $7.50 up 28 points from '68

By ABNER GOLD

The Township Committee, after two hours of a highly technical debate with a banker's dozen of assessors, from an audience of 35 at Town Hall, approved a 1969 municipal budget calling for $1,094,285 to be raised by taxes for local municipal purposes. The new budget represents an increase of some $65,000 over the figure for last year.

Together with funds to be provided for local schools, the regional high schools, county purposes, veterans and senior citizens, the budget calls for a tax rate of $7.50 per $100 of assessed valuation, an increase of 28 points over the 1968 rate of $7.17.

Based on the traditional home worth $20,000 (getting harder to find each year) and valued at 50 percent, or $10,000, the new rate requires a tax of $750. A home worth $40,000, and valued at $20,000, now calls for taxes of $1,500.

The committeemen, in their remarks and in a pamphlet distributed earlier to all citizens, stressed that municipal purposes account for only 20 cents of each tax dollar. The increase in municipal costs, they said, is responsible for four cents of the total 33 cent tax increase.

Local schools, taking 39 percent of the total amount, are responsible for 17 cents of the 33 cent increase. Regional high schools, taking 25 percent of the total, include a nine cent increase.

County purposes, taking 14 percent of the total, include eight cents of the increase. The amount for veterans and senior citizens, two percent of the total, remains unchanged. This sum is the amount of reductions in local taxes authorized for property owners in those

Hats off to blood bank... for a 10-gallon session

The bloodmobile visit sponsored by the Springfield Red Cross and held at the Presbyterian Parish House last Thursday was called a success by Mrs. Daniel H. Klotz, blood program chairman. There were 38 productive donors, with only one postponement.

The total of pints collected by the different groups was as follows: Presbyterian Church, 20; Temple Synagogue, 20; First Unitarian Church, 14; St. James Church, 4; St. Luke's, 11; and one pint donated for the hemophilia pool.

School board lists revised figures on future enrollment

Newly revised figures for predicted elementary school enrollment over the next five years were announced this week by Seymour Margulies, chairman of the advisory school planning committee of the Springfield Board of Education.

The new figures for the 1973-74 school year are as follows: Thelma Sandmeier School, 163, an increase of 40 over the earlier prediction; Raymond Chisholm School, 155, an increase of 62; Edward Walton School, 284, an increase of 38, and James Caldwell School, 288, no change.

The board is scheduled to take final action at its regular meeting Monday at 8 p.m. at the Florence Gaudineer School on its proposals for dealing with the anticipated decline in school registration.

The key portion of the plan as presented earlier was the gradual phasing out of the Chisholm School. This recommendation had been strongly opposed by a number of citizens, primarily parents of children attending the Chisholm School.

Besides objecting to the plan on several grounds as educationally unsound, they had also challenged the accuracy of the enrollment predictions presented by the board at that time. The new survey was undertaken by the school administration as a result of the questions raised by the parents.

Mrs. Klotz stated that all appointments made were "exceptionally well kept, a fact which greatly aided the smooth functioning of the operation." She noted that there were "several interesting observations" on the blood donors. "Three young people (teen-agers) are to be especially commended for donating. They were Janet Evans, Sheryl Hurwitz and Gary Jaffe. It is hoped that they will serve as an example for other young people interested in serving their community and fellowman."

Mrs. Ellen Bell of 123 Kipling ave., made the special effort of coming with two very small children. She even brought along a playpen for the youngsters to use while she

It's time to mobilize for more mower power

With the first day of spring only a week away, it is time that everyone in town has completed preparations for the vernal equinox. The first thing to do is to post a large number of signs saying "Keep off the grass," particularly in the corridors of the high school. The second is to get the snow tires off the cars. There are few situations as embarrassing as being caught with your winter tires on in a spring blizzard. Then there is the question of household priorities. Someone will have to mow the lawn. The first choice is always a teenaged son. The second choice is a teenaged daughter. Since medical science warns against sudden heavy exertion for heads of families, over the age of, say, 27, the third choice becomes difficult—and don't expect us to divulge the source of such helpful medical advice. Many wives find that they really enjoy pushing a power mower, once they approach the task with a positive attitude. Besides, it gives them something to do while their husbands are out taking moderate exercise on the golf course. Then there are other spring chores to be performed, such as putting up screens and awnings. Again, teenagers are the perfect choice, even if they may need a little supervision and a few strokes with a whip.

Some of these jobs may be a little too arduous for the average housewife. In this case, perhaps she has a sister, or she can ask the lady next door to help her.

Any of these jobs, of course, can be handled commercially, by very fine landscape gardening firms or by the big brothers of the little boys who shoveled snow while we watched basketball games on television this winter.

Some homes, each year, require such additional improvements as a coat of paint or a family room to be built. Some men, we must admit, actually enjoy work of this sort. They are beyond help by those who are of average indolence.

For the rest of us, many of these projects can wait another year. Maybe we'll win a sweepstakes, or a gas station giveaway, and then we'll be able to afford having the job done properly.

There is a great deal more helpful advice we could offer the average head of the average household, but this is all we have time for right now.

We have to go out and start cleaning the garage. If it doesn't pass inspection, we won't get any supper.

Springfield Public Library reports on newest books for local readers

By EVA P. BROWN. The Springfield Public Library offers the following titles from the list of new acquisitions: EDUCATION "The Closed Corporation," by James Ridgeway, Sub-titled "American Universities in Crisis," this book professes to be an inquiry into the relationship between universities, industry and government and the way in which universities and the professor-entrepreneurs use public money for private gain. THE ARTS "Rufus Porter, Yankee Pioneer," by Jean Lipman. The story of a rediscovered American whose life and work as an itinerant painter, inventor and journalist have been uncovered by the author after many years of research. Porter emerges as one of our most original, versatile and talented pioneers whose life, richly illustrated, is the most progressive achievement of 19th century America. SPORTS "The Book of Modern Mountaineering," edited by Hiram H. Mills. The contributors to this book are persons of international repute in their special fields of mountain achievement and knowledge. They create in text and brilliant, unforgettable pictures a vivid impression of the contemporary mountain scene. TRAVEL "How Many Miles to Galena?" by Richard Blissell. In witty and astringent prose, the author describes his many travels throughout the United States, Part history, part scenery, part folklore with an awareness of mid-century culture which offers a distinct comparison to Mark Twain. BRIDGE "Big Club," by Howard Schenken. A revolutionary, highly competitive and accurate way to bid, described by the author, a championship player and bridge columnist. His highly successful system can help every bridge player and bring remarkable results. JUVENILE "Lillian," by Guilla-B. Morris. The loss of a father and the acceptance of a stepfather are the problems Lillian has to face. The story is set in Sweden but is one which is happening to many children everywhere. "Dwight David Eisenhower," by Col. "Red" Reader. The life of one of the most important men of our time is given real meaning in this biography. It clearly illustrates that from his boyhood days until his retirement, his days were filled with hard work, determination, warmth and humor. "The Biggest House in the World," Leo Lionni. A delightful, colorful picture-book in which Lionni demonstrates that a big house may be an advantage to some, but to a snail, who has a desire to move around and see the world, it may well spell disaster.

A new season
Hear the cold wind blow
And under the blanket of snow
Delicate, as a bird's wing:
Waiting there - is spring.
Under the snow's icy towers
Waiting there are flowers,
Waiting for the sunshine warm,
Waiting for the insect swarm.
Desperate is winter's grip
In the air that icy nip.
Days are but so few
And the wonder starts anew.
As the ground is breaking
With this new-awaking
And with the warm glow from above,
May it germinate new hope and love.

Letters to Editor

Letters to the editor must be submitted no later than Monday of the week they are to appear. They should not exceed 250 words in length and should be typed with double spacing (not all in capital letters, please). All letters must be signed. Writers' names will not be withheld if the letter is of a political nature. This newspaper reserves the right to edit or reject any letter.
OVERNIGHT PARKING I am pleased to see last week's letter to the editor from Mrs. Rita Swartz, 393 Hillside ave.
I agree with her wholeheartedly and will attend the township meeting on March 25. Due to the fact that Forbes is a trashman in the new needs of modern Springfield government, he may not be aware of the strong sentiment and action by taxpayers several years ago when Hardgrove tried to ram a parking ordinance down the throats of good Springfielders. The township meeting at that time was so active and spirited that all members voted it down and it died a welcome death.
Because of this recent background, I believe Mrs. Swartz is right in demanding a referendum on the matter for all the people to express their vote. Several hearings should be held to get all testimony on such an important subject which will affect all residents and their guests who come to visit in our community.
Perhaps now should be the determining factor; maybe Forbes' hours are wrong. In any case, the people should be heard and very careful wording should be forthcoming for a referendum in November.
Let's not get the bum's rush again as we did when the pool assessment was raised without adequate opportunity to discuss it.

Town meeting

two categories.
BEFORE THE PUBLIC HEARING, Committeeman Robert G. Planer, finance chairman, briefly summarized the local budget. He said that increases come in the following categories: salaries, $16,940; other expenses, such as supplies, $37,900; debt service, $20,000, and deferred charges, $56,000.
Each of his colleagues, Mayor Philip De Vacchio and Committeeman Henry J. Bultman, Arthur M. Falkin and Raymond Forbes, commented on expenses of the various departments.
The first questioner was Marjorie Moser, who asked about the percentage of wage increases.
Henry S. Wright criticized the art work in the chart provided to show the amount of money going for each purpose.
Mrs. Ruth Schwartz asked about civil defense costs.
Nathan Stokes questioned the $10 increase in municipal swim pool membership fees.
Mrs. Lewis Moore asked about an increase in rates for garbage collection.
Marvin Schatz inquired about the municipal balance sheet and interest received on securities.
Nath Deager asked about the amount of surplus township funds as well as the form set aside for retirement tax collections.
Donald Linn questioned the committee about the disbanding of the citizens' advisory committee on the budget. He also asked whether the amount of aid for hospitals was related to the fact in which Overlook Hospital dropped its claim on the old library building, now the Sarah Bailey Civic Center.
Ed Rall, who complimented the questioners for what he termed the high level of discussion, asked about the increase in insurance premiums.
Lawrence Lerner asked about the work of the industrial committee, as well as the total of fees for legal services.
Wallace Kleinman questioned the amount of surplus funds in the swim pool account.
Mrs. Harry Einstein renewed discussion on the size of the township surplus.
Bernard Kotler asked about the delay in introduction of the budget, one day beyond the state-authorized deadline.
FOLLOWING ADOPTION of the budget, which came without discussion at the close of the public hearing, Stokes issued a statement saying that he was "disturbed at the lack of information available to the taxpayers of Springfield."
He added, "I sat at the budget meeting tonight and after hours of discussion came to the realization that the Republican-controlled Township Committee are currently the only ones having enough information to know what is in the budget. This knowledge was not passed on to the citizenry, due to the complexities and legal technicalities of the budget."
"This hearing lasted until almost midnight, and many of us asked questions of clarification which were fielded by the Township Committee. I find it regrettable that our representatives did not find any issue raised by the taxpayers of Springfield important or significant enough to discuss among themselves, either publicly or privately, prior to adopting the budget."
"I therefore feel that in order to have good township government, the opposition party must

PROFILE--Manfred Orbach

By BEA SMITH
Manfred Orbach, a former professional concert singer who is now in the jewelry business, and who says that his "vocation has become an avocation" is the "man who started the new Springfield Community Players and hopes to keep it going."
Orbach, who was active in the Newark Y Center Players "for 20 years," explains that his group in Springfield "was born on March 3 at an open house party attended by over 100 people in and around the community--including the mayor of the town and the commissioner of recreation."
Orbach's enthusiasm concerning the success of the Springfield Community Players is infectious, and as overall producer, he plans to attract members "from all segments of the community...which is important to us. We want to reach everyone. One of our programs will be a teenage project, to keep the teenagers in town and give them some activity that will interest them."
"Also we would like this to be a breeding ground for future community players."
"THIS IS A NEW theatrical venture," he says, "as far as Springfield is concerned--the way we intend to do it."
Orbach says, "We're just beginning, and we hope it will be a success in the sense that people will come out and be a part of it. We have a lot of dedicated people here in Springfield, and we've received a lot of inquiries--offers to help in the production, tickets and so on. We've already had some pledges in monies. We eventually hope to make it a self-sustaining group under the auspices of the Springfield Recreation Department."
Orbach goes on to explain that the group has "immediate plans for a musical show. We proposed three different ones and we have to see what is available. Our first production will be held in the late spring at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School."
"We've already had our first audition and casting and the response was beautiful," he says. "We're lacking some manpower--we do have a lot of woman power, however," he smiles.
About 50 people came out for the first casting call, Orbach says. "We have three more casting calls before we make a decision on the show. The important factor is that the Recreation Department, in conjunction with the players' group, will help us in our intention to have our own theater. It will be for the community to enjoy. It will take a lot of effort on all of our parts to make this a reality."
Orbach says that "they have mentioned that the old library has grounds which could probably serve as a theater with 300 to 400 seats. It would be a sort of place where teenage dances could be held and also serve as a theater gym. It's in the talking stages now," he says, "but in the not too distant future, with everybody's concern and help, it will become a reality."
HOPEFULLY, Orbach explains, "When we do come out, it's not people to become sponsors, we hope to get a good reaction and have the interest of the community at heart."
"We intend to have a three-show series for a year and involve as many people as possible. All the productions will have large casts, and large casts sell large amounts of tickets."
"We have a staff that will take over the entire production--the staff is made up of professional people."
"We have Carl Hantz from Irvington, who is one of the directors and who came out of the Y Center Players in Newark."
"Our musical director is my wife, Evelyn Orbach. She is a very talented woman. She's a Juilliard graduate and is most capable with past experience around the community, and Temple Beth Am in Springfield, the former Elizabeth Y (now the Union County Y) and the Newark Y--it was at the Newark Y where I met my wife, incidentally. We also have Vincent Plaia, assistant director of the Recreation Department."
"Other people in the group, Orbach says, "are ex-members of the Y Center Players. We're finding people in the neighborhood, reestablishing friendships--which is an immediate bond. We hope that this will lead to some sort of feeling that will communicate to the group. It can only develop if people bring something with them--to give of themselves. The rest will take care of itself. Everybody has to work at it."
"I'm willing to give of my time and the talent I have. If the response is there, there is no reason why this group shouldn't have a good future."
Among the other people involved, Orbach lists "Walter Roth, who is the Regional High School conductor, and who has consented to become our conductor for the musical shows. We are very fortunate to have as a stage manager, Don Frank, an engineer by profession. He's had wide experience as stage manager in amateur productions. We also have Evelyn Hantz, as choreographer for the first show--she's quite talented, as well as overall production manager for the first show, Barbara Pollack."
THE GROUP EXPECTS to start its series of three shows in the fall, according to Orbach. "We will try to have a variety--drama, comedy, musical, one of each, with series type tickets. All this depends on the one show that we will do this spring. There is no doubt in my mind that it will come about," Orbach says.
"The Recreation Department has been very helpful, particularly two of its people, Mrs. Lillian Johnson, who is in charge of cultural activities, and Mr. Plaia, who is our main contact. And we hope things will keep going the way they are."
Orbach says that "by involving our teenagers and adults, we haven't forgotten the elderly citizens in town. We hope to make every show available to them at no cost."
"We intend to widen the program by having performances with them in mind."
Orbach, who was born in Germany, came to this country in 1941. "I was here a year when I was drafted," he says, "and I spent the next four-and-a-half years in service. I was with the military intelligence service, I returned to Europe via Africa, and went to Italy, France and Germany."
"I WAS ONE of the fortunate few who was reunited with my family," he says. "I had a brother in Buchenwald concentration camp and a mother who was saved by seven sisters--non-Jews--who were friends of hers and who had hidden her in their home. My father was killed in the concentration camp. My mother is now in this country and she's 83 years old."

"Orbach had studied music and voice in Berlin for the concert stage before he had become an American. "Shortly after my discharge from service," he recalls, "I took up the work again and made my debut in Carnegie Hall in 1947. I had appeared on various concert stages throughout the East, including the Mosque Theater in Newark."
"In 1948, Orbach says, he met his wife. "We concentrated together--she as my piano accompanist. They were married in 1950. "I had joined the sales organization of Emerson-Radio in the New Jersey area, and worked there for 10 years. My musical vocation became an avocation, happily."
"I involved myself in amateur productions throughout New Jersey and New York areas, and I worked behind the scenes as well as in front of it."
Orbach has been in "business with my brother about 12 or 13 years now. We have a company, A.A.A. Jewelry Service in New York City."
The Orbachs, who have resided in Springfield for the past two years, have two children, Ronald, 17, and Judy, 14. "They are both attending Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, and both are participating in the high school's musical 'Guys and Dolls,' and will hopefully participate in our new programs," Orbach says that he was involved with the Y.M.H.A. in Newark. "My wife, Evelyn Orbach, was musical director of the Center Players all that time."
The Y. Players, he indicates, "had a camaraderie type friendship with the Springfield group, we feel if we reach only one part of the feeling of friendship that we had developed at the Y, we can find great pleasure in what we are doing. In this way, the Springfield Community Players have to succeed."

have a place on the Township Committee," Stokes, a local resident for 11 years, noted that he has been active in recreation for young people. He has not been a part of any political organization. Most of the questioners have been active in Democratic politics.

His husband and wife teams both were donors; Dr. and Mrs. Leonard Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Falkin, Mr. and Mrs. William Guthrie and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Finkeldej. Lew and Gary Jaffe were father-son donors, while both Murray Hurwitz and his daughter Sheryl gave blood.
Mrs. Michael Herzlinger and Mrs. Paul Weissman not only were donors, but served as volunteers before donating. The George Glens and the Alan Cummings split the responsibility, with the wives working and the men giving blood.
Mrs. Kalen added:
"The success of any bloodmobile visit depends not only upon the donors but to a large extent on the efficient work of a large group of well-trained volunteer workers." Thirty volunteers worked a total of 108 hours to assure "the proper functioning of the various necessary equipment."
Mrs. Nathan Pollock was in charge of the volunteer, registered nurses who worked a total of 40 1/2 hours. They were Mrs. William Smith, Mrs. Harry Aubrey, Mrs. Elliott Kaplan, Mrs. Anthony Richel and Mrs. N. Vincent Pollock.
The trained volunteers who staffed the various stations along the "Donor Belt-line" included Mrs. Stanley Plymaki, Mrs. Jean Cain, Mrs. F.H. Sanders, Mrs. Alan Cunningham, Mrs. Nelson Boudreau, Mrs. George Glein, Mrs. Henry Walter, Mrs. Paul Welsman, Mrs. Joseph Bender, Mrs. August Caprio, Mrs. Michael Herzlinger, Mrs. Helen Johnson, Mrs. John Brown, Mrs. Raymond Schaffer, Mrs. Frank Heller, Mrs. Mildred Bates, Mrs. Thomas Doherty, Mrs. Carl Ledig, Mrs. A.E. Ferguson, Mrs. Mary V. Lyman, Mrs. Isadore Yablonsky, Alice Ries, Henry Walker and Nelson Boudreau.
All arrangements for the volunteer workers were made by Mrs. Boudreau. Boudreau stood by all day with the Red Cross wagon to aid those donors and volunteers in need of transportation. The Springfield First Aid Squad was on the scene all day.
The refreshments served to donors and workers were prepared by a group of ladies from the Presbyterian Church under the leadership of Mrs. William P. Wood. These women worked a total of 43 hours. They included Mrs. Warren Halsey, Mrs. Charles Barsdeley, Mrs. Charles Maskell, Mrs. Bruno Becker, Mrs. Frank Haydu, Mrs. Robert Hendricks, Mrs. Heface Forsythe, Mrs. Emeterio Rueda, Mrs. Arthur Schramm, Mrs. A.E. Ferguson, Gladys Davis and Alice Reig.
In concluding her report on the bloodmobile visit, Mrs. Kalen acknowledged the work of all who aided in making the visit a success. She said, "The Red Cross--and all future recipients are most grateful to the donors and volunteers who make it possible for the life-saving blood to be on hand when needed. It is a wonderful way to serve the community and your neighbors."
Springfield's next bloodmobile visit will be held in the fall, and it is hoped that those persons who were not able to donate at this time will do so at that time.

Antiques show March 25-27; 30 exhibitors

The 27th annual antiques show and sale will open on Tuesday, March 25, and continue through March 27. The show is sponsored by the Ladies Society of the Springfield Presbyterian Church. Thirty dealers will exhibit in the show which will be held in the parish house from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. except for the last day, when closing will be at 5 p.m.

Vets may be eligible for injury insurance

New Jersey veterans who suffered injury or illness in service may be entitled to as much as $10,000 in life insurance in addition to the regular SGLI policy which they may convert on becoming civilians, according to Paul M. Nugent, manager, New Jersey Veterans Administration Regional Office, Newark.

Nugent said that this coverage is under VA's National Service Life Insurance program for men with a disability rated by VA as service connected. The veteran must otherwise be in good health and must apply for the policy within one year after the rating.

Veterans who wish to continue the Servicemen's Group Life Insurance, they held while in uniform may do so by applying for a commercial policy with one of some 600 companies approved by VA to handle low-cost, converted SGLI policies.

This insurance must be converted with 120 days after separation and the policies are in force during this period at no cost to the veteran. Nugent explained that a combination of the two programs could give a disabled veteran a maximum of $20,000 in low-cost life insurance.

The Newark Veterans Administration Regional Office head urged veterans who have received service-connected disability ratings from VA within the past year but who have not applied for NSLI coverage to act immediately so that they will not lose out on his benefit.

Application forms and assistance from trained VA personnel in filling them out are available at the Veterans Administration Regional Office, 20 Washington pl., Newark.

Nugent also urged Vietnam era veterans who think that they may be entitled to service-connected disability ratings from VA which would entitle them to the NSLI coverage, to visit the Newark office. Arrangements will be made for medical examinations.

Memorial to Kennedy's slated Wednesday night

"Paths of Destiny," a memorial tribute to the Kennedys, will be presented by The Heritage Theatre at Newark State College, Union, Wednesday evening, March 26, at 8:15 p.m. in the theatre for the performing arts.

Because the event is sponsored and financed by Alpha Kappa Chapter of Alpha Sigma Lambda, the honor society of the college's evening division, admission is free. The public is invited.

The program consists of a series of vignettes highlighting episodes in the lives of the Kennedys. It was written by Thomas Luce Summa, director of the company, with special music by Robert Baska.

The performance represents a return engagement for The Heritage Theatre, which presented "The World of Carl Sandburg" at the Newark State campus last summer. The professional repertory company was launched shortly after World War II with a series of classic revivals, playing off-Broadway. Some of America's finest artists have worked with the company in theatre, Helen Craig and Blanche Yurka in dance, Alexandra Danilova and Vincente Escudero in music, George Copeland and Fernando Valenti.

In addition to touring colleges and universities, the company maintains a Subscription series at the Barabson Theatre in New York City.

The cast includes Norman Christensen, Roger Morden, Florence Wallach, William Copolando, John Dyckers and pianist William Wood.

Expenses and cost of fund-raising

How much of the funds raised for charity actually reach that charity? In some cases, very little, says the Better Business Bureau of Bergen, Passaic and Rockland Counties. The lion's share of the money could go into operation expenses.

The Amvet's New York State Service Foundation, was revealed to have used 7 percent of the total contributions (received through the collection of used clothing for fund-raising expenses.

This disclosure was made by Leo J. Powelstock, executive director of the Better Business Bureau of Bergen, Passaic and Rockland Counties, based on a survey of the latest financial report of that company.

Amvet's solicits used clothing in a door-to-door campaign. The proceeds realized from the sale of this clothing allegedly goes to assist veterans of World War II in Korea, and their dependents.

"Of the total of more than $44,000 raised through the collection of used clothing," said Powelstock, "only $11,231.03 remained after fund-raising costs were met. A total of $6,374.29 was spent providing the specific services for which the organization was formed, in addition to $935 spent for nurses' scholarships and $637.80 donated to veterans' hospitals.

"The contributing public," Powelstock emphasized, "needs to realize that there are necessary fund-raising expenses incurred by virtually all charitable organizations. There is doubt, however, if in this particular case, the contributing public is aware of the proportion that exists between the amount of money collected and the amount ultimately benefiting veterans."

Although the public should be generous in supporting charity, it is urged to check with the Better Business Bureau before contributing any money, clothing or merchandise to charities about which it has any questions. The Bureau's files contain information on countless charitable organizations soliciting funds from Metropolitan residents.

While the Better Business Bureau will not recommend that persons either contribute, or not contribute, it will provide the public with pertinent data including the amount collected by the organization during the year, the amount which went to professional fund raisers, and the amount spent in providing the specific services for which the organization was formed, Powelstock said.

A 'poison-proofing' test for parents

Pointing out that children under five are the principal victims of accidental poisoning, the New Jersey Pharmaceutical Association has subjected parents to a "poison-proofing" test in the form of an eight-point questionnaire. "Every parent should answer yes or no to each of these questions, for the safety of his household," said Leo Dubrow, association president, who added that in 1967, the last year for which figures were available, 12,000 potentially harmful substances—medicines and commonly used household products—were used in New Jersey homes.

The pharmacist is an authority on safe use and storage of drugs," he said. "He will emphasize that locked-up drugs and poisons prevent tragedy. A locked place may be a dresser drawer, a linen closet, a suitcase—any storage area that can be locked. "It is essential—that internal medicines never be stored with household products, especially cleaning agents. Not only may there be similarities in the design and composition of the containers, but the colors, consistencies and even odor may be similar. It is inadvisable ever to reach for medicine in the dark. "Medicines prescribed for one individual should not be used for others. Also medicines stored over a long period of time may undergo changes in composition resulting in toxicity. When medicines are no longer to be used, don't throw them into a waste basket where children can get at them; flush the contents down the drain, then rinse the container before throwing it away.

These are a few of the safety measures that will help prevent tragedy. The NJPhA questionnaire follows: 1. When using any medicine, do I return it promptly to its proper place when through with it, even if I will use it again shortly? 2. Are all medicines kept in a closed, preferably locked, cabinet out of reach and sight of children? 3. Do I remember not to try to induce children to take aspirin or other medicines? 4. Are all medicines and household products fully and clearly labeled? 5. Am I careful never to take or give medicine in the dark? 6. Do I discard out-of-date medicine by flushing it down the drain and rinsing out the container before discarding it? 7. Are bleach, lye, kerosene stored only in their original containers—and not in cups, glasses or pop bottles? 8. Are most deadly poisons—rat, insect and weed killers—stored in the most inaccessible place or in a locked cabinet in the house or garage? "Your child's life may depend upon your answers to these questions," Dubrow said, adding: "See your pharmacist during Poison Prevention Week; ask him how to poison-proof your home."

'Y' club will sponsor a 'spring fling mixer'
The Young Adults and Collegiates of the Y will provide the music, and refreshments will be served. The affair will be open to persons 19 to 26 years of age. Admission will be $1 for members; $1.50 for non-members.

Decline in hunting accidents reported

New Jersey hunting accident statistics for the 1968-69 seasons were released this week by Commissioner Robert A. Roe of the State Department of Conservation and Economic Development. The figures cover the period from June 30, 1968, the end of the last fiscal year, through Feb. 1, the last day of the small game season. Accidents rarely occur during the current fox or woodchuck seasons, and these will be included in the tabulation for the Annual Report of the Division of Fish and Game. Accidents included 54 with firearms, one with bow and arrow and one fall, eight legs year-over-the preceding six years. Of accidents, 37, including the fatality, occurred during the regular small game season, seven plus the fall during the firearm deer season, seven during waterfowl and rail seasons, one during bow and arrow deer season and 3 during special small game seasons. Almost half the small game accidents took place on the opening day. The one fatality resulted when a youth leaned his loaded gun against a tree, while his companion climbed up to check the condition of a tree stand. As the second youth stepped on the branch, the gun was discharged and the hunter was killed. States Fish and Game Director Lester C. MacNamara declared, "Although this year's record is the best in several years, most of the accidents could have been avoided through greater attention to basic safety practices. The fatality and about ten other accidents could have been averted by the simple precaution of unloading guns while resting or crossing precarious ground. "Failure to make sure of a clear target before firing, especially in dense cover, remains the most common cause of accidents, probably including most of those listed as unknown. Hunters should also make efforts to wear conspicuous clothing, especially when the woods and fields are crowded. These points will receive increasing emphasis in the firearm and bow safety programs, so that hunting will continue as a safe and enjoyable outdoor recreational pursuit in New Jersey." Cause of accidents are broken down as follows: Out of Sight, 10; Swinging on Game, 20; Ricochet, 5; Line of fire, 4; Accidental discharge, 7; Tripped, 2; Dropped gun, 2; Weapon fell, 2; Jump ditch, 1; Crossed fence, 1; Horseplay, 1; Defective weapon, 1; Arrow fell, 1; Fall from tree, 1 (not firearm); Unknown, 11; and Other, 1.

Vietnam vets returning with drug-defying TB

The New Jersey Journal of Pharmacy, official monthly magazine of the state pharmaceutical association, reveals in its current edition that some returning Vietnam War veterans are bringing back with them an Oriental strain of tuberculosis that defies commonly used anti-tubercular drugs. Col. Jacob Eisen, Journal of Pharmacy editor, disclosed that Vietnam veterans had been transmitting, via anopheles mosquitoes, malaria contracted in Asia. New Eisen, himself a veteran of World War II's Pacific theater, says TB has been added to the woes of the Vietnam conflict. Writing in his column "Scientific Developments in Pharmacy," Eisen said the Veterans Administration has confirmed that some soldiers are transmitting the once deadly scourge that had been brought under control in America by use of modern pharmaceuticals. "Foreign strains of the disease," he points out, "are of greater concern because they are difficult to control with

County TB conference hears of control efforts

Thursday, March 13, 1969

Dr. Ronald Altman, director, Division of Preventable Diseases, New Jersey Department of Health, told more than 100 school nurses, administrators and public health personnel who attended the Union County Tuberculosis Conference, that the ultimate goal of the tuberculosis control effort is to develop a population in which no one is infected with the disease.

The conference, the first of its kind staged in Union County, was sponsored by the TB-Respiratory Disease Association of Central New Jersey—sponsors of the local Christmas Seal Campaign—as a prelude to the county-wide school tuberculosis testing program.

Burger drawing in N. Y. exhibition

A pen and ink-drawing by W. Carl Burger, artist and associate professor of fine arts at Newark State College, Union, is included in the 144th annual exhibition of the National Academy of Design in New York City. The exhibition is open to the public through March 28 from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. at the Academy Galleries, 1083 Fifth Ave., between 89th and 90th streets.

The drawing, titled "The Mutants," is about birds who over-protected their young and have produced a breed of "neutrites."

Burger is known for the biting social satire of his drawings as well as his romantic oil paintings and water colors. His work has been exhibited at the Blowdelle Gallery, the National College, City Center Gallery, the National Academy Galleries and the National Art Club, all New York City; the Jackson Mississippi Museum, Philadelphia Museum and the St. Louis Museum, New Jersey; appearances include exhibitions at the Montclair, Trenton and Newark Museums and the Suburban Galleries of East Orange. He is a frequent award-winner at contests and exhibitions.

to be held in September. TB-RD Central, a non-profit organization, was instituted in 1967 when the TB and Health Leagues of Union, Hudson and Monmouth counties consolidated.

Also participating in the program were Dr. Albert Minzter, medical director, Union County Tuberculosis Control Services; Henry F. Gavan, Linden health officer, who served as program chairman, and Alfred A. Vondras of Kenilworth, president of TB-RD Central.

IN HIS ADDRESS Dr. Altman cited the New Jersey Department of Education regulation, which stipulates that all pupils of grade one, three, five, seven and nine be tested to determine the presence or absence of communicable tuberculosis.

In recent years, Dr. Altman noted, intradermal tuberculin testing has replaced the mass chest X-Ray method of tuberculosis screening.

"Furthermore," he explained, "current practice in tuberculosis control emphasizes the discovery of children who are infected with the tubercle bacillus in order that they may receive chemoprophylaxis—preventative drug therapy—to reduce the risk of future clinical disease. For this reason, emphasis should be placed upon the intradermal testing procedure as the basic method of screening for tuberculosis."

Dr. Minzter, who discussed the etiology, bacteriology, transmission, pathology and treatment of tuberculosis, pointed out that the discovery of antimicrobial drugs such as isoniazid, streptomycin and para-aminosalicylic acid—agents which suppress the multiplication of the growth of mycobacteria tuberculosis—have revolutionized the therapy of the disease. One of these drugs, isoniazid,

"Chemoprophylaxis," said Dr. Minzter, "presumably acts by diminishing the bacterial population in healed or invisible lesions of the person taking the drug. It is treatment of infection and also prevents clinical disease from developing or relapsing."

SCHOOL TUBERCULIN TESTING programs, according to the goals and standards for the control of TB in New Jersey, are of paramount importance. If tuberculosis is to be eradicated, new generations must grow up and remain free of TB infection. An infection rate of less than one percent among 14-year-olds is an indicator of success in controlling the spread of the disease.

A community may be said to have reached this goal when the infection rate is below one percent of 14-year-olds in all neighborhoods or population groups in which the incidence of TB has been high.

In most communities, such a rate will not be attained in all segments of the population for many years. An estimate of the present rate can usually be made on the basis of on-going tuberculin testing done for other purposes.

Dr. Elizabeth C. Stobo, professor of nursing education, Teachers College of Columbia University, was the luncheon speaker. The afternoon segment of the conference was devoted to group workshop discussions and tuberculin testing demonstrations.

and where they may be found. The talk will be illustrated with color slides, showing caves in New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, California, and New Mexico.

The speaker has a bachelor of science degree in geology from the University of Pennsylvania and is working towards a Master's degree in geology at Rutgers University. The public is invited to attend this program.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

Being Wrong
If you would learn how to live, learn how to be wrong. Make a final judgement only when you have all the facts at hand.

We are often wrong about so many things. We misjudge someone's intentions; we accept a false characterization; we accept the word of someone we consider reliable without considering they may be misinformed. Then, when a truth is brought to light, we simple statement that "such things happen."

Try sometime, just once, when you have been wrong, to stand up and admit it. You will feel no pain. You will not be giving your pride away.

Instead, you will feel an inner sense of satisfaction. Being wrong about something or someone is not an achievement; being able to admit that you were wrong is a sign of moral courage and determination.

Admit that you were wrong and you stand on the side of truth. You stand straight. And you grow.

Safety booklet provided for buyers of new cars

"Read Before Driving," advised the cover of a bright green booklet, buyers of new cars are now discovering in their glove compartments, according to R. J. Vialle, general manager of the New Jersey Auto Club, A.A.A.

The eight-page pocket-sized manual is a compilation of proven methods of safer driving, produced by the federal government in cooperation with the National Automobile Dealers Association.

Albert B. Kelley, director of the Office of Public Affairs of the Federal Highway Administration, reports the booklet can be read in two minutes. It explains the relationships of vehicles, roads and drivers to improved traffic safety.

The booklet is intended for distribution by the automobile dealers "at the point where it will do the most good—when the buyer picks up his shiny new car."

A cut-away diagram on the back page of "Read Before Driving" graphically depicts the 1968 Motor Vehicle Safety Standards Areas—those elements covered by government rulings for increased safety to passengers.

The philosophy of the manual is expressed in the line, "Just asking you to 'drive safely' is not enough; you need to know HOW." The trend away from safety sloganizing to safety education is a progressive move long urged by the AAA, Vialle said.

It is the hope of the federal government that the new operation between the federal highway safety agency and the "safety activist" private and public organizations, in an attempt to prove that "face" does not contain a large number of life-taking highway crashes in this country each year.

TINY CIRCUIT — Almost 600 electronic components in less than a square inch make up this integrated-circuit for the Bell System Picturephone set. The integrated-circuit, developed by Bell Telephone Laboratories, controls all timing actions in the camera. It controls the scanning rate—the rate at which an electron beam in the camera tube scans the image—and the number of pictures per second. In addition, it controls—interacting—a common technique of improving clarity and eliminating flicker in television. The Bell Laboratories technician uses the close-up lens and the graphic mode of the Picturephone set above to show the thin connecting prongs of the circuit on the screen.

N. J. colleges to study computer network idea

Chancellor of Higher Education, Ralph A. Dungan, announced this week the formation of the New Jersey Computer Network Study Committee. The committee is composed of representatives of both independent and public colleges and universities in the state.

The committee is charged with producing a plan for a cooperatively owned central facility that would house the computers and dispense services to member institutions by means of a network of computers and remote access devices.

Higher Education Computer Network would make available to all colleges in the state in a very short time, some of the most extensive computer power in the world at minimum cost," said Chancellor Dungan.

"Savings in the millions of dollars would result but even more important first rate computer facilities would be available almost immediately to all participating institutions. Among other advantages, we would be able to attract high quality talent, more research grants, better and more sophisticated instruction and more economical administrative services," the chancellor said.

College fund sets telethon on phone

The College Fund is planning a national telethon next week. For five nights, members of the alumni will phone their classmates throughout a wide area of the East, requesting support for the college fund.

Through arrangements with the Lamp Division of Westinghouse Electric Corporation, the corps of phone callers will set up a "telethon central" at the Bloomfield plant.

Telethon proceeds will go to the "Bloomfield" College Fund, created to help the college provide higher liberal education for over 1,400 students.

Newley musical set for St. Paul tonight

St. Paul—the Apostle Church parish hall, 285-Neshbit-ter., Irvington, will be the setting tonight at 8 for an exclusive one-night performance of the Broadway hit musical, "The Road to the Greasepaint, The Smell of the Crowd," presented by the Halfpenny Playhouse of Kearny.

Anthony Newley and Leslie Briceuse, the play's authors, fashioned a musical based on the constant battle between the "haves" and the "have-nots."

Ticket information is available by telephoning 374-4149. Mr. and Mrs. John Lambert or 373-2050. Mr. and Mrs. James Fletcher.

One point that most of our age group prefer to stress is that we're citizens of the United States, first, foremost, and beyond anything else. We want what is best for the country. After that, we can turn to the issues affecting us as a special part of the population.

So, our view of the new Nixon Administration is bound to be much like that of our juniors. Which is to say, we'll differ among ourselves as to the performance of the incoming president. In fact, many Americans of retirement age are in politics and it's only natural for them to look at the big picture from a party angle. That's the name of the game.

That much being granted, we can move on to the fact that America is a land of pluralism. Each group has a right to press for its specific needs within the over-all pattern of our national life.

And the over-65's are no exception. Hence the legitimacy of asking what President Nixon intends to do for us.

We know he intends to do something because he issued a statement to that effect shortly after the election. It's a statement all of us ought to read with an eye to the next four years. The first Nixon pledge is to convene a White House Conference on the problems of older Americans. The last Nixon pledge is to sustain our morale through appropriate measures. In between, those measures are set forth in brief but eloquent sentences:

For instance: "A widow's benefits should be increased from 82 percent to a full 100 percent of her late husband's pension. There is no reason why a widow should get a better deal from Social Security than a widow."

To call the statement a good summary of the problem. If performance in Washington matches the promise, you-and-I should see a distinct improvement in our lives.

'Ramapo' tomato goes to seed

At least 4,000 Garden State backyard tomato growers and their friends will enjoy the new "Ramapo" tomato this summer.

They got seed of the new variety from the Vegetable Growers Association of New Jersey, which made an offer of dollar packets through the newspapers of the state.

But now the last seed has been mailed out, according to a spokesman for the association.

Dr. Bernard L. Pollack, vegetable specialist at the Rutgers College of Agriculture and Environmental Science, bred and tested "Ramapo."

He describes it as an ideal, top-profit variety for home gardeners.

Dr. Pollack says he expects that commercial seedsmen will offer a plentiful supply of "Ramapo" for planting next spring.

Iowa, Oklahoma win crowns; playoffs will begin Saturday

The regular basketball season in Recreation Department State League play came to an end last Saturday at the Florence Gaudineer School. Iowa completed its season with an undefeated record to gain the Eastern Division championship, while Oklahoma, although suffering two setbacks, gained the Western Division championship. The two clubs must now last through a grueling playoff competition to be able to meet at the State League championship. The playoffs will start this Saturday in the girls' gym at Gaudineer.

Iowa finished its season with an outstanding record of nine victories and no losses, as it rolled over Kansas, Kansas was dumped by 26-10 final score. Gary Frazier, who has led the Iowa scorers all season, did it again last Saturday as his good shooting resulted in 13 points. Gary was coming off a 20-point effort against West Virginia a week ago. Timmy Pimpnell played a big role in the Iowa victory. Timmy again was strong defensively and tallied six points. Bill Dracoff hit four points for Iowa. Alan Geist and Brian Spector led Kansas with three points each. Al was particularly effective in this game.

Florida, with a seven and two record, finished second in the East. Last week Florida scored over West Virginia, 23-19. Jay Adler led a well-balanced Florida attack that saw six boys hit the cords. Jay was high with seven points. Other Florida scorers were: Paul Dubin, Bruce Blumenfeld, Gregg Prussing, Leon Rawitz and Billy Phillips. Jay was outstanding as a ball handler. Joey Knowles was again impressive for West Virginia. Joey led his team with seven points and showed well in all departments of the game. Marc Cooper and Jess Greenstein played well for West Virginia, while Mitch Buffington also had a fine game.

NORTH CAROLINA completed its season last week with a narrow 22-19 verdict over Indiana. The North Carolina team had to hold off a late charge by Indiana to gain the three-point victory. Dave Kessler of North Carolina led both teams with 13 points. Dave hit 11 points in the first half to give the Carolina team its early advantage. Wayne Rutz with eight points and some stellar play in the closing minutes also starred for the winners. Joe Baranic hit seven points for Indiana in the second half to lead their rally. Other scorers for Indiana during the closing stretch were Alan Weinman, Tom Botte, Bob Manheimer and Clayton Herzog.

Oklahoma coasted to the Western Division crown by belting Utah in the final game, 21-15. Oklahoma needed a final-period rally to score over a tough Utah quintet. Bob Fleiselman and Joe Natello led a final-period rally which saw the Okies outscore the Utes, 10-2. Rich Goldhammer led the Oklahoma scorers with seven points, while Natello and Fleiselman had six points each. Ted Goldberg of Utah shared game honors with seven points, while Mark Pezzuto and Matt Levine each hit four points for the Utah team. Pezzuto was again outstanding off the boards, while Levine sparked in the backcourt.

Wyoming took a commanding opening-period lead against Texas last week and made it stand up before a late Texas rally to gain a slim 17-15 verdict. Larry Klarfeld, with three straight buckets to open the game and a game-high of 10 points, led Wyoming and paced all scorers. Mark Seymour with some fine ball control and playmaking also helped the Wyoming cause. Mark hit four points, Jim Nabor and Paul Ackerman spearheaded a Texas rally that fell short of victory. Jim with a game-high of six points joined with Derek Nardone to hit buckets in the third period, while Ackerman drew Texas to within a single shot with two field goals in the final period.

ARIZONA TOOK its second victory of the season in the final game of Western Division play last week. Arizona downed California 20-19. Arizona, which won its initial game of the campaign a week ago, is coming on as a team with the playoffs approaching. Last week Mike Nelbart and Billy Bohrod led Arizona in a late rally that topped California. Mike and Billy both hit a pair of buckets in the fourth quarter. Bohrod was high scorer with six points. Frank Geiger did another outstanding rebounding job for Arizona. Skip Moore of California was the high point man in the game. Skip, with some fine hustle and good board work, hit 10 points. Mike Kosnett scored six points for California.

Gems lose twice, lead cut to four in Girls' bowling

The Tuesday Afternoon Girls Bowling League became a race again last week, as the league-leading Gems suffered a double loss at the hands of the Pacers. The once untouchable Gems led the league last week but have now been reduced to four games. The Stars are in second place, with the Dancers and the Pacesetters just five games away. The league is sponsored by the Recreation Department while the girls play each week at the Springfield Bowl.

Dona Haws led a vastly improved Dancer team to a two-game sweep of the Gems. Dona rolled a 221 series, as she put together games of 124 and 97. Dixie Galt and Gail Greider were high in the match with a 238 series. Cindy Zahn with a 214 two-game effort was effective for the Gems. Sue Foster, Joann Foster and Kathy Brennan all rolled very well in the Dancers' attack. Sue posted a 184 series, while Kathy and Joann rolled 180 and 177, respectively.

The Stars and Pacesetters split a two-game series last week as both squads moved a game closer to the league leaders. Carol Roessner, who continues to "outbow" everyone, paced the team with a 289 series. Carol rolled games of 154 and 135 in reaching her high mark. Karen Peters helped Carol win a game for the Stars, as she rolled a 219 series. Jo Ames was the high bowler for the Pacesetters. Jo rolled games of 105 and 135 for a 238 series. Jodi Rothenberg posted a 180 series for the Pacesetters, while Cindy Rothenberg rolled a 173 series.

The Charms took the measure of the Strikers twice last week to move into a tie with the same team at the bottom of the standings. Karen Landew, with her best effort of the season, paced the Charms. Karen's series effort of 247 with games of 115 and 132 led all bowlers in the match. Liz Simpson for the Strikers was just a few pins behind, as she rolled a 242 series with games of 114 and 128. Gail Greider was helpful in the Charms' attack, as she rolled a 181 series, while Norrell Georghian rolled a 175 series for the Striker's.

Carol Roessner built on her league lead in the high average race with her top series. Carol is now pacing all bowlers with a 126 average. Debbie Kuskin is in second place with a 117 season mark. Diane Searles holds third place at 105. Liz Simpson is fourth with a 103 average, while Jodi Rothenberg with a 102 average is tied for fifth with Jo Ames. Jo also is rolling at a 102 pace. The other girls in the top 10 are: Dona Haws, 101; Cindy Zahn, 99; Karen Peters, 97, and Cathy Alexy, 93.

The State League playoff will start at 1 in the girls' gym at the Gaudineer School this Saturday afternoon. The seedings in the tournament were conducted by chance this season rather than by team position. West Virginia and Florida gained the seedings in the East, while Texas and Utah drew byes in the West. Iowa will face North Carolina at 1 p.m., while the other Eastern games will feature Indiana against Kansas. At 3 p.m. Wyoming will face California in a Western Division contest. Arizona will meet Oklahoma and Wisconsin in a Western Division game at 4 p.m.

Rick Schwartz, who bowls regularly in the Thursday League, rolled as a substitute for the Jets last Friday and paced their sweep over the Rangers. Rick led all bowlers at the alleys with games of 163 and 159 for 322. John Wachtel also rolled well for the Jets, posting a 250 series. Mike Klarfeld and Art Freeman were the pacesetters for the Rangers. Mike rolled a 269 series, while Art had a two-game total of 250.

Fifth in 'Y' series of Festival of Arts to feature singers

The fifth in the Eastern Union County YM-YWHA's 1968-69 Festival of the Arts program, "From the Street to Broadway," will be presented at 8 p.m. Sunday, March 23, at the "Y" center, Green Lane, Union, by Baritone Norman Atkins, and Terry Saunders, singing star of the Broadway stage and motion pictures.

Atkins, leading baritone of the New York City Opera and Light Opera Company, is also cantor of the Metropolitan Synagogue of New York City in addition to his work in the concert and opera worlds.

He also has long been a developer of special programs for the American Jewish audience and a noted singer of Yiddish and Israeli folk and art songs.

Atkins has studied at the Juilliard School in New York and has starred in many TV shows. For many years he has been the star of his own radio program in New York City.

Miss Saunders has most recently been seen as leading lady opposite Robert Weede in both the Broadway and national companies of "Milk and Honey," which played most of the major cities throughout the United States.

Her previous Broadway credits include "The King and I," in which she played "Lady Thiang," the favorite wife, which success took her to Hollywood to repeat this role in the movie version with Yul Brynner and Deborah Kerr.

The crusade against cancer was enriched by $313.05, thanks to the men of Sigma Theta Chi fraternity, Newark State College-Union. The members of the fraternity conducted a "Send a Mouse to College Campaign" on campus and the $313.05 represents the total effort.

The campaign is based on the need of cancer research facilities to obtain white mice for use in cancer research. Thousands of mice are needed annually so the research projects can continue to function. "It was found that each mouse costs $1.00 to produce and $2.00 to raise, the American Cancer Society can send a mouse to college," said a Union County Cancer Society spokesman.

Wrap a roast in foil to prevent spattering in oven, particularly pork roasts which have more fat than others. Add spices and herbs to food toward the end of the cooking period so they won't lose their pungency.

Variety is the keynote to meat planning. Sausages and processed meats, for example, are available in some 200 different varieties.

When using peanuts in salads and sauces, mix them with other ingredients just before serving. Peanuts take up moisture readily and lose their crispness.

When you need a number of containers to hold different dips for snacks, shape a double square of aluminum foil over a small bowl. Trim or flute the edges, then remove the bowl.

Put the foil containers in the center of the tray, fill with the dip, and surround with crackers or chips.

East Orange facility founded to aid World War II wounded

This is the second in a series of articles prepared by Springfield Continental Post-American Legion, as part of the current observance of the Legion's 50th anniversary. This article recalls the origins of the East Orange Veterans Administration Hospital.

The first major casualties were starting to return in 1943 when the American Legion state rehabilitation chairman, William G. McKinley, sounded the alarm at the state convention that New Jersey was in desperate need of a medical facility in the heavy metropolitan area to service these cases. The 1944 department commander, R. Graham Huntington, adopted this program as a major mandate of his administration. Armed with actuarial studies, projections of demand into 1973, and other studies, Huntington, department president, Mrs. Harry Kellerman (presently serving as state secretary-treasurer of the American Legion Auxiliary) and members of the special study committee met with Rep. Gordon Canfield of Passaic County and the entire New Jersey congressional delegation to discuss the matter.

Two other meetings were held in Washington under the arrangements of Sen. Albert Hawkes. The result of these meetings was an agreement by every one of New Jersey's congressional leaders that the project was a must. Each agreed to specific tasks in approaching Congress, and success was achieved with the passage of the appropriation and allocation for the hospital.

Sen. Hawkes took the proposal to Frank Hughes, then administrator of Veterans Affairs, and shortly thereafter to Gen. Omar Bradley, who succeeded Gen. Hines. These conferences resulted in the VA's planning procedure to fix the location of the hospital, purchase the ground and institute the engineering and architectural surveys.

Late in 1945, Gen. Paul Hawley, chief medical director of the Veterans Administration, came to Newark to survey available sites and to assure the availability of medical and surgical specialists in the Newark area. These specialists were indeed available and the present site, known as the Bamberger Estate, was purchased.

The firm of Ziegler Childs and Paulsen was commissioned as architects, and from their drafting boards emerged the present 13-story, 1,000-bed hospital. Ground was broken in March, 1948, with Maj. Gen. Carl R. Gray, the administrator of veterans affairs, and Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey as the principal officials.

The dedication of the hospital was held on Oct. 12, 1952, and was attended by the entire New Jersey congressional delegation. Of coincidence was the fact that the state commander at the dedication was William C. Doyle, who presently is serving as the first national commander of the American Legion from New Jersey.

Numerous directors have continually kept the hospital abreast of the times, and its present director, Reuben Cohen, runs this VA installation at peak efficiency. The late William Grand, service officer for the state Legion during this entire period, was very active in the entire project, and as a tribute to him, the auditorium on the third floor is named after him.

The hospital stands today as a monument to the dedication of the American Legion and its members, sanctified by the service it performs, the suffering it alleviates, and the lives it saves. On any night, an observer can see volunteers from dozens of veteran, fraternal and service organizations entering the hospital to present ward parties, shows, and dances, all aimed at cheering the patients and hastening their recovery.

Hike noted in SS rate

Ralph W. Jones, district manager of the Social Security office in Elizabeth, said this week that effective Jan. 1, 1969, the social security contribution rate increased from 4.4 to 4.8 percent for both employer and employee, and the self-employment contribution increased from 6.4 to 6.9 percent. The maximum taxable earnings under the system remains at $7800 as it was in 1968.

Jones noted that the increase reflects the changes that were signed into law in 1968. The income received from these contributions is used to pay retirement, survivors, disability and hospital insurance benefits as well as expenses incurred in the administration of the program.

It was further stated by Jones that, through all current studies, it has been determined that the social security program is soundly financed. The income from contributions plus the interest earnings of the social security trust funds will be sufficient to pay all present and future benefits provided in the law and all the administrative expenses of the program.

Symphony unit continues active

The Women's Committee and the Junior Committee of the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra will continue with their scheduled activities, despite the fact that the orchestra has cancelled concerts scheduled for March. The cancellations are due to differences between the orchestra management and Local 10 of the American Federation of Musicians. Mrs. James S. McAllister Jr. of Maplewood, State Council president of the Women's Committee of the New Jersey Symphony, reported that the committee for the 1969 "Jewel Ball" is actively engaged in plans for this annual social event. The Symphony Ball will be held April 19 at the Robert Treat Hotel in Newark. The 8th Annual "Symphony Homes Tour" sponsored by the Summit Area Women's Committee will be held on Thursday, May 15. Plans are also going ahead for the spring benefit planned by the Junior Committee at the Governor Morris Hotel in Morristown on May 16. The affair is to be entitled "Spring Song." This was reported by Garrett B. Hunt of South Orange, chairman of the Junior Committee.

POISON DEATHS

The number of deaths by poisoning in New Jersey during 1967 was 159. Most of these resulted from analgesic and soporific drug, motor vehicle exhaust, barbituric acid and derivatives and other forms of carbon monoxide.

HAMLET

Shakespeare is always being reinterpreted for the times. This is especially so in the play that is eternally trying to be explained — Hamlet. At the Lyceum Ellis Rabb is presenting a drained, spare Prince of Denmark. Even the exuberant moments are modulated. The second act begins with the play "to catch the conscience of the King." Claudius, Gertrude, Polonius and Ophelia sit in the audience, Hamlet roams the aisles. There is appropriate confusion among Horatio, Rosencrantz and Guildenstern who are stage managers. Yet when Claudius rises and the house lights go on we are not caught up in it. Is Rabb saying that our reactions have been deodorized by TV?

The acting adheres to Rabb's viewpoint. His Hamlet is probing, bookish, retiring, mind-long rather than head-long.

For the others Ophelia — is a gauche tomboy striving to be twenty in a day. Polonius is a consummate civil-servant. Laertes is without a cause. Queen Gertrude is a face of sleepless worry shadowed in guilt. King Claudius is a wise of shaggy, hapless levity. Rosencrantz and Guildenstern are schoolboy profiles, non-burtons on the cap of fortune. There is an absolutely superb Ghost.

The single setting is deepened immeasurably by the exceptional lighting of James Tilton.

There is much of the library in this low key Hamlet. The whole show has the impermanence of a charcoal smudge.

IN SIBERIAN PRISON CAMP — Anthony Quinn portrays Kiril Lakota, a Russian prisoner before his release and departure for Rome and his eventual nomination to the Papal throne. The scene is from "The Shoes of the Fisherman" at the Bellevue Theater, Upper Montclair.

Wrightson, Hunt lyrical treat in 'Kismet' at Meadowbrook

By BEA SMITH

Tunes such as the unforgettable "Stranger in Paradise," "Baubles and Bangles and Beads" are beautifully revived in the Meadowbrook Dinner Theater's production of "Kismet." The musical play (with music and lyrics by Robert Wright and George Forrest, and book by Charles Lederer and Luther David), stars a couple of Meadowbrook favorites, Earl Wrightson and Lois Hunt.

The Wrightson-Hunt combination is a joy, as always, and in "Kismet," even though Miss Hunt "apologizes" to the audience for having to play Wrightson's daughter, Marsina, (she certainly doesn't look the part), she carries a lovely voice that the audience can forgive the miscasting and lose itself in the story, music and pace of "Kismet." Wrightson plays Hal, the beggar, with a forceful assurance and a marvelous voice to match.

There are other fine voices in the cast, particularly that of Nolan Van Way, as the caliph. The costumes are extremely colorful, the quick changes in the scenery on the little theater-in-the-round stage continues to cause a viewer to gasp, and the fine supporting cast has some really good voices. It's a delightful show and it'll be around until March 30. See it, music lovers. You won't be sorry.

Bulldogs wrap up Watchung play with 14-0 record

By ARNOLD GERST
The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School basketball team defeated Gov. Livingston Regional of Berkeley Heights last week, 69-61, to complete its Watchung Conference schedule with an unblemished 14-0 record. The Bulldogs now have an over-all 19-3 mark. Results of Wednesday's state tournament game against Caldwell will appear next week.

Once again, the Springfield Bulldogs showed that a tremendous challenge can be met with confidence remaining in the Bulldogs' defense. By 11 points, the Bulldogs, led by Ralph Lozano, Ed Graessle and Denny Lester, caught fire. The Highlanders could not dribble the ball up in midcourt, and when they did get this far, the ball was stolen and converted into two points for Dayton.

The last-quarter rally has characterized this year's play. When the momentum of the game is swinging in favor of the opposition, the Bulldogs rapidly explode to win by a slim margin. Against Berkeley Heights, Lozano, Graessle and Lester led Dayton to victory, but on many occasions this year Dave Marquilles, Frank Buccell, Danny D'Andrea or someone from the bench has given Springfield the impetus.

Through the guidance of Coach Ray Yanchus, the Bulldogs have been able to avert a great many losses and achieve a 19-3 record. For a team to have a winning attitude, spirit and record, the players must have the ability and skills to win, but the coach must know how to direct and inspire a team. Springfield has had this leadership all season.

In the Suburban Conference next year, Dayton will be playing against Group III and Group II schools. Because Dayton is also in a Group III school, the Bulldogs will be playing against the Bulldogs in the Suburban Conference.

The Bulldogs are currently at a disadvantage in the Watchung Conference because many opponents are larger Group IV schools. According to this season's standings, Verona, Caldwell and Cedar Grove are the strongest teams in the Suburban. These three teams battled for first place in the conference all season until Verona finished first by a one-game margin.

Springfield's finish in the Suburban cannot be predicted at this stage. Buccell, D'Andrea and Graessle—three men who saw a great deal of action this season—will return next year. Boys' from the Suburban Conference will have to replace the Bulldogs.

But it is safe to say that Springfield will have another winning season.

PRESSURE EXPERT — Woody Young is a junior defensive specialist who has seen substantial action this season for the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School basketball team.

Minutemen defeat Verona in tourney before falling to Morristown, 84-60

The Springfield Minutemen took their 13 and 5 basketball season record into the sixth annual Florham Park tournament last weekend. The Minutemen moved past the opening round as they topped Verona 59-53. They then ran into a tornado from Morristown by the name of Roland Keys, who is one of the area's finest basketball prospects, hit 37 points as he led the Morristown team past the Minutemen by an 84-60 score.

The Verona-Springfield game was an evenly matched contest as the Springfield boys held no more than an eight-point lead throughout the game. Kenny Baroff, with 26 points, led the Springfield squad. Kenny was particularly effective from the free throw line, as he hit 12 of 13 shots from the charity stripe. In the final period when Verona was trying to get the ball, Kenny held out with a display of ball control and hit on five straight one-and-one-four situations. Kenny's 10 straight free throws set a team mark.

Al Wilbourn was another tower of strength for the Minutemen. Al picked off 15 rebounds to lead all players and put 18 points through the hoop. Al was most effective as he drove through the Verona team for twisting shots. Al's defense was also outstanding throughout the contest.

Gary Weiner made his biggest contribution of the season to the Minutemen. Gary, who entered the game when Mark Weber and Vince Davis were in foul trouble, did an outstanding job off the boards. Gary grabbed nine rebounds and tallied six points. This was a particularly impressive victory for Springfield as their bench came to the rescue. Both Davis and Weber from the starting five were limited by fouls and were able to contribute just three points between them.

Bobby Meisel played a fine game in this effort. Bobby hit four points and was a tower of strength in controlling the ball near the end of the game. Jerry Jones gave another good performance for Springfield, while Jeff Sarokin filled in well for Jerry in the backcourt.

THE MINUTEMEN played a strong game against the Morristown team and the game was much closer than the final score would indicate. Roland Keys was the only real difference between the squads, but what a difference! Keys was sensational as he drilled home 15 shots from the field and hit on seven of eight foul shots. Keys controlled the ball and moved with lightning speed as he drove for buckets. Keys also showed a quick jump shot that was deadly.

Vinnie Davis played very well for Springfield in this game as he successfully battled the taller Morristown boys off the boards. Vinnie hit for 17 points, with most of them coming on hard drives. Davis' twisting shots from inside the key brought the crowd to its feet. Davis also led the squad off the boards as he pulled down 10 rebounds. Mark Weber played a fine game for the Minutemen until five personal fouls sent him to the bench early in the final period. Weber tallied nine points and grabbed seven rebounds.

Kenny Baroff had another good tournament game for Springfield as he tied Dayton for team honors with 17 points. Kenny hit on six shots from the field and added five shots from the free-throw line. In the early going, Bobby Meisel and Jeff Sarokin were well on their way to a 20-point game. Bobby Meisel hit for 13 points and grabbed seven rebounds. Jeff Sarokin hit for 10 points and grabbed seven rebounds. Bobby Meisel led Dayton in rebounding with 13 points and grabbed seven rebounds. Jeff Sarokin hit for 10 points and grabbed seven rebounds.

Playoff opener goes to Pistons, Celtics, Billikens, Bullets

The playoff competition in Caldwell Small Fry League basketball got underway last Saturday afternoon at the James Caldwell School. The winner of the playoffs will be declared the league champion. The Pistons, who finished the regular season undefeated and won the regular season championship, led four teams into a semifinal round to be played this Saturday.

The Pistons, again opening up their well-balanced offense while playing outstanding defense, eased past the Aggies in an opening round game by a 19-3 score. Billy Bjorstad led the talented Piston team as he hit for eight points. Steve Pepe played well for the Pistons off the boards. Steve also hit for four points on a pair of buckets. Jim Boze, Brian Belliveau and Carl Pinkeldey scored for the Pistons, while Bobby Erskine saw action and played well. Jerry Harvey was the only Aggie who was able to master the tough Piston defense. Jerry scored his team's total of three points.

Scott Grayson led the Celtics past the Nats in the opening game of the afternoon. The opener went to the Celtics, 12-10. Scott hit eight points to lead all scorers. In the final period, Grayson hit three for three from the foul line to keep his team in front. Steve Lushak was also outstanding for the Celtics. Steve hit an important pair of buckets in the final period. Steve was tough off the boards throughout the contest. Stu Ruff was outstanding for the Nats. Stu hit six points to pace his team. Stu brought the Nats back late in the game with two clutch buckets. Steve Dultz, Sid Kaufman and Tom Moen also hit the cords for the Nats.

The Billikens made their way into the semifinals with a 9-5 victory over the Lakers. Tony Aiello's fine playmaking set up Steve Clarke for two big buckets in the opening period to give the Bills an early lead, which they made stand up the rest of the way. Steve was the team's top scorer and played an outstanding game. Tommy Wisniewski led the Bills in rebounding and also contributed three points. Johnny Graessle played well for the Lakers as his ball handling ability was impressive. Pete Arons led the Lakers off the boards, while Tommy Ronca led the scorers.

The Bullets, with a fine offensive show, overwhelmed the Knicks by a score of 26-9. Greg Lies had a big afternoon for the Bullets. Greg hit for 18 points to lead all scorers. Greg was very effective in the fourth quarter as he drilled five straight shots through the hoop to blow the Knicks off the floor. Scott Seales had a good game for the Bullets. Scott hit six points and set up plays with his fine ball control. Tom Martino hit a bucket for the Bullets. Vin-Mirabella hit five points to lead the Knicks. Vin played a fine game in a losing cause as he excelled in all departments. Bruce Burnett hit two buckets for the Knicks in the final period.

Harvard wraps up title; playoffs start Saturday

The Recreation Department's Ivy Basketball League concluded regular season play last Saturday at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School. Harvard clinched the regular season championship, winning its final game to protect a one-game lead. Pennsylvania gained second place with an overtime victory over Dartmouth.

Play-off competition starts Saturday afternoon at the Florence Gaudiner School. The league championship is determined by the playoff competition, with all teams participating.

Harvard downed a very stubborn Brown team last week, 46-34. Brown stormed to a lead in this game from a 21-4 halftime deficit to win an exciting game. Harvard again exhibited a well-balanced scoring attack. Kenny Baroff tallied 12 points led the attack as Mike Klarfeld, 11 and played his usual strong floor game. Kaplan and Charles Adickman each had nine points for Harvard, and they made their presence felt with strong board work. Harvard won this game from the free throw line, where it outplayed Brown, 15-12.

Harvard played a fine game in the second round of the playoffs as it defeated Dartmouth, 48-38. In this game, Harvard's offense was particularly strong. Harvard's offense was particularly strong. Harvard's offense was particularly strong. Harvard's offense was particularly strong.

Cooper of Penn went to the line and calmly hit the free throw.

Jeff Sarokin's 12 points paced Penn. Jeff was instrumental in the Penn comeback, as his harassing tactics led to many Dartmouth turnovers in the closing minutes. Jeff fouled out of the game early in the overtime period. Barry Gertz had 11 points for Penn and played a very strong game. Cooper, in addition to the game winner, hit nine points for the winners. Other boys to score for Penn were Gary Shulman, Brian Mullen and Brian Leonard.

Bobby Meisel led Dartmouth in rebounding with 13 points and grabbed seven rebounds. Jeff Sarokin hit for 10 points and grabbed seven rebounds. Bobby Meisel led Dayton in rebounding with 13 points and grabbed seven rebounds. Jeff Sarokin hit for 10 points and grabbed seven rebounds.

Bowlers below potential in state, county tournies

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School bowling team completed its 1969 season by finishing 14th in the county tournament and bowling far below its potential in the state tournament.

Coach Peter Socca said that in the county tournament, no one had a lengthy string of strikes. Socca, disappointed in the team's showing, pointed out that the third team (made up of three freshmen and two sophomores) shot the high game, while Bob Goodman had a 225 game, one of the highest scores in the tournament.

Socca complimented many of this year's keepers. Mike Goodman, senior captain, has greatly improved his bowling skills. As a sophomore his average was 141, and now it is 171. Socca says Mike has developed as well as anyone he has had. Goodman is very consistent in his bowling. It is a team leader and has really come into his own this year.

Bruce Gerstein, another senior, is Dayton's anchorman. His clutch 10th-frame bowling has saved the Bulldogs from defeat in many games this year. Bruce had the most 200 games. He came to the team a 135 bowler and is now averaging 170. Bruce showed a great deal of improvement at the conclusion of last year and all this year and has made a tremendous contribution to the team.

Henry Kienzle and Mike Greenhouse are two other seniors on the team. Kienzle did a very commendable job. Greenhouse also contributed to this year's Springfield team.

Socca also lauded Bob Shindler, Ted Rosenkrantz, Todd Herman and Steve Glover. Shindler was a pleasant surprise to the bowling team. He had the third highest average and an excellent attitude. Rosenkrantz did a very good job on the varsity level as did Todd Herman.

Socca said Herman, Rosenkrantz and Shindler will be the nucleus of next year's team, but stressed that many keepers on this year's JV team have varsity potential.

Anthony Davis, Robert Kalbin, Gary Weinfield, Bob Goodman, Stewart Liebeskind, Bob Ripp and Steve Karzaman could help Springfield next season, if Socca added.

Autocracy gains in Japan Future gloomy, observes prof

A long range study by a Rutgers University psychologist suggests that Japan is making only superficial progress toward democracy and in fact shows strong signs of reversion to many of its original characteristics as an autocratic society.

This same study also suggests that the outlook for the imposition by this country of Western style democracy anywhere in Southeast Asia, and in Vietnam in particular, in the foreseeable future is quite gloomy indeed.

Dr. F. Kenneth Berrien, a professor of psychology in the University College division at Rutgers, based his conclusions in large part on findings in a project supported by the U.S. Navy Office of Naval Research.

Dr. Berrien, a long-time close student of inter-cultural relations, said these findings were reinforced by conversations with other students of Southeast Asia during extensive travels there and by studies at the University of Hawaii.

Prof. Berrien was at the University of Hawaii East-West Center as director of a Japanese-American values study in 1967 and again in 1968 as organizer and chairman of an international conference on psychological problems in changing societies.

PART OF THE STUDY Prof. Berrien has been conducting for the navy since 1956 involved a comparison between small community organizations in this country and similar ones in Japan.

The reason for this study was to determine whether the assumed changes in the Japanese political situation after the imposition of a democratic constitution there following World War II had actually taken at the "rice roots" level.

Dr. Berrien and his fellow investigators found that they had not. Chosen for the study were 50 volunteer fire departments in Japan and 57 volunteer fire departments in this country which are members of the North Jersey Firemen's Association.

Philippine group will sing at NSC

The University of the Philippines Madrigal Singers will present a concert Monday at the Newark State College Theatre for the Performing Arts. Performances are scheduled for 11 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Admission is free.

The staging group is one of 13 foreign choruses participating in the Second International University Choral Festival held by the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts this month. The choruses will visit more than 80 universities, colleges and schools in 20 states and appear in concerts at Philharmonic Hall.

Each chorus will present a wide variety of music with special emphasis upon the music of its own country. The singers will be guests of Newark State the weekend prior to the concert. They will be lodged in the college dormitories.

University choruses from Argentina, Australia, Austria, Brazil, Czechoslovakia, Finland, Germany, Ghana, Japan, Korea, Switzerland, and the United States will visit other campuses.

Also studied were a number of local Parent-Teacher Associations in both countries.

The investigators found that volunteer fire departments and PTA's, the latter organized in Japan shortly after World War II, were still being run in highly authoritarian fashion there.

Such is not the case in this country. Although there is a certain amount of central control in the PTA, here it is nothing like that in Japan.

Members of the PTA meet eight times a year. Members do a considerable amount of decision making and have an opportunity to express opinions freely, often opinions which are quite contrary to those of school authorities.

PROF. BERRIEN SAID that in Japan PTA decision making is largely controlled by the school principal and the president of the PTA. Usually a general membership meeting is held only once a year.

The difference between the organization of Japanese and American volunteer fire departments is even more marked.

In this country a volunteer fire department usually gets started when a group of interested men get together, raise money through such devices as raffles, turkey shoots and bingo, and organize one strictly on their own.

Moreover, Dr. Berrien noted, a U.S. volunteer fire department is really two organizations. One is the business side, composed of president, secretary-treasurer and the like; the other is composed of the various ranks of firefighters, from captain on down.

The point is, Dr. Berrien said, that the individual does not necessarily hold a rank in one organization equivalent to the one he holds in the other. This allows for a great deal of flexibility and almost automatically forces a great deal of the give-and-take of democratic procedure.

In Japan there is only one organization in the smaller communities and the chief is selected not because he knows anything about firefighting but because he is one of the most prominent men in the community.

Status of the chief is respected and he gives the orders at both business meetings and the scene of a fire.

EQUALLY IMPORTANT is the fact that there is a national fire law in Japan which spells out what every community must have in the way of fire fighting equipment and personnel, even to the point of telling each community how many men they must have directing traffic at a fire.

These findings, Dr. Berrien believes, illustrate that democracy is not taking roots in Japan. He also believes that they have been confirmed by many Southeast Asia political observers who have generally conceded in private conversations that experience is showing that Western style democracy can not be force-fed into the alien cultures of Southeast Asia.

Said Dr. Berrien: "It is unrealistic to expect that we can turn countries around from a autocratic to democratic forms of government merely by imposing new constitutions on them. My general hunch is that before you can get a country to accept and operate on a democratic pattern there must be a general acceptance of democratic values at the grass roots level."

COLLECTOR -- Dr. F. Kenneth Berrien, a long-time close student of intercultural relations and professor at Rutgers University College, displays fireman's jacket he was given while studying Japanese fire departments. Writing on back of jacket says "Shiogama," the name of the village where Dr. Berrien was presented with the jacket.

NIH Research For Health

A REPORT FROM THE NATIONAL INSTITUTES OF HEALTH - BETHESDA, MARYLAND

Stuttering is a speech problem. It may also be a psychological problem. It has been termed a habit, learned behavior, a symptom of personal difficulties. It occurs in the speaker, but may sometimes be provoked by the physical actions of the stuttermaker.

Stuttering obviously is not a well-understood problem. While it occurs in approximately two million Americans and has been known medically for centuries, there has been little actual research on the disorder. Many experts do not agree on the true background, cause, and treatment for stuttering. However, new methods of research now are being carried out.

Primary stuttering -- that which begins in childhood -- starts between babyhood and childhood, the period when social speech begins. Learning to talk is something like learning to walk; there are natural hesitations and mistakes that show that the trick is not yet mastered.

Trouble may begin when a parent or other adult in authority labels these natural falterings as "stuttering." The child then becomes needlessly aware of his speech, and is forced to conclude that he is not quite normal in this way. Increased attention to the child during stuttering episodes reinforces this conclusion. When he worries over the negative reaction he is getting, he tends to make hesitations, blocks, and repetitions more frequently until they become a learned reaction to social conversation.

The act of stuttering includes more than a lack of fluency in speech. Generally there are also physical symptoms of frustration. The person may clench his fists as he comes to a bothersome word, he may squint his eyes or tense up the muscles of his face. He may think that if he hits his leg and tries to say the word at the same time, it will come out better. Actually, all these actions performed in a conscious attempt to help speech patterns only make the stutterer more aware of his problem, more ill at ease, and thus more likely to stutter.

Therapists have found that stuttering is a vicious cycle of faulty speech and action. The more the child struggles, the more a parent or other adult watches and worries over him. This concern and disapproval becomes evident to the speaker who tries hard to speak correctly. He then tries too hard, his speech patterns become less normal, and his stuttering worsens. To some experts, the problem is "not in the speaker's mouth but in the listener's ear."

In some cases, the best treatment for stuttering is to concentrate on the actual physical mechanics of the disorder. However, a variety of treatment methods have been tried with patients who stutter.

Neurological Diseases and Stroke, one of the National Institutes of Health, supports research into the causes and treatment of stuttering and other speech disorders. The Institute supports a Communication Sciences Research Program which is trying to find out why children stutter and how they can best be treated and cured.

Stuttering has been called an "avoidable accident." There is increased hope that this accident rate can be reduced through research being conducted at and supported by the National Institutes of Health, the Government's main research arm.

Kittens to put on the dog To crown 'king,' 'queen' of cats

Cats or kittens of uncertain ancestry are ready to break into the highest strata of New Jersey feline royalty.

Registration opens today for proud cat owners who want to enter their household pets in an all-breed championship show to be held April 26 and 27 at Viking Hall in Upsala College in East Orange.

The show will be the first of its kind in the state. It is being sponsored by the American Cat Club of Connecticut, and sanctioned as a championship show by the American Cat Association.

A panel of judges known internationally in the cat fancy will crown a 'king' and queen of household pets at the end of the two-day show. The household pet category includes felines of all sizes, shapes, and color. Frequently this breed is referred to by the uncharitable generic term, "alley cat."

Colorful satin rosettes and silver trophies will be awarded to the top cats in all classes. Among the purebred felines to be judged are:

Siamese, Burmese, Persians, Himalayans, Russian Blues, Abyssinians and Korats. Judges will be Miss Rosemary Graham of Montreal, June Lechtanski of Hackensack, Jane Perkins of Providence, R. I., and Phillip Albert of Boston.

A portion of the proceeds of the show will be contributed to the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Registration will close March 26. Entries will be limited to 350 cats. Registration information is available from Gordon Alinsworth of 290 Ackerson ave., Wyckoff, a member of the Ramapo Club.

Entertain your family and friends with a Saint Patrick's Day Buffet.
 Corned beef is the traditional food to feature when celebrating this day when everybody claims to be a bit Irish. Add an easy to prepare dish of scalloped potatoes, crisp green salad, and warm rolls to complete the main course. The result is an attractive buffet menu which is easy to serve and adaptable to any number of guests.
 A dessert which is naturally presented in serving size portions is the wisest selection for a buffet. Gaily decorated cupcakes, individual lime meringue tarts or creme-de-menthe parfaits all fulfill this basic role while still adding to the color and traditions of the day.

Speaking of color, a green and white theme can easily be achieved by the table decorations selected. Decorated napkins are easily available as are specially dyed green flowers.
 The following directions for preparing corned beef, if used, should result in even greater enjoyment of your Saint Patrick's Day celebrations.
CORNERED BEEF BRISKET
 Good quality corned beef, containing about 17% as much fat as lean. Cover corned beef with water and simmer until tender three pounds about three hours. Do not boil. This may be served hot or cold. Serve with horseradish or mustard.
 For a special glazed corned beef brisket, remove the hot "boiled" corned beef brisket from the broth. Cut the fat covering the brisket into diagonal strips, then into diamond shapes. Spread lightly with prepared mustard. Sprinkle lightly with sifted brown sugar. Suck a whole clove into the center of each diamond. Place the brisket into a shallow pan. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 20 minutes to melt the sugar and glaze the surface of the brisket. Place on a hot platter. Slice and serve with horseradish or mustard sauce.

SHRINKING DOLLAR
 The size of the dollar bill was reduced one-third in 1928 by the Department of the Treasury.

What's the catch? There isn't any.
 $1,799 is the suggested retail price at the port of entry for the VW sedan.
 This price includes the Federal excise tax and import duty.
 It also includes the built-in heater/deluster, windshield washer, electric windshield wipers, outside rearview mirror, padded dash, front seat headrests, and seat belts front and back.
 Not to mention the new electric rear-window defogger and the new ignition/steering lock. (When the key is removed, the steering wheel is locked in place.)
 It's the price of the real thing, not a stripped-down economy model.
 What else do you have to pay?
 The charge for transporting the car from the port of entry. The dealer delivery charge. And local sales tax.
 There is one optional that makes a lot of sense. The automatic stick shift. It calms the clutch pedal!
 Well, that's it.
 Unless, of course, you count the cost of gas and oil. It takes you to get here in your present car.
