Regional district faces revolt on proposal, still undisclosed

Arguments break out in Town Hall

Stokes, Planer at odds as filing deadline nears

By MARK KUPPERMAN The 1969 township political campaign had an early start at Tuesday night's Township Committee meeting, eight days before the official filing deadline, as Nat Stokes, Democratic committee candidate, had a brief shouting match with Committeeman Robert G. Planer about the establishment of a state minimum eachers' salary. ___

The two-man exchange followed the governing body's unanimous second of two resolutions from the Borough of Fanwood. That community asked support from adjacent municipalities on the proposed re-evaluation of the state sales tax and asked for opposition to the fixing of teachers' starting salary at $7,000 per year. The teachers pay is the subject of state Assembly Bill 300 and Senate

Stokes, a teacher in the Newark school system, told the committee that he was remely unhappy about the committee's rea-

"Titimately, the children of the community are the ones that will suffer if the salary legislation isn't passed," Stokes said. Moments before Stokes' remarks, the committeeman had okaved conversion-of-the pay status of John Luciano, a Town Hall -custodian. Luciano's pay of $6,344 was converted from an hourly to a salaried rate, Stokes asked, 'How can you not support a sulary of $7,000 for a teacher, a colle reduate, when you pay more than $6,000 of a custodian?

THAT COMMENT drew an emotional response from Planer, who answered, "We're speaking about a man who has given the town years of service as opposed to the starting salary of a teacher who has a scale that goes to $14,000." After a volley of retorts from Stokes and Planer, Mayor Philip Del Vecchio intervened to ask Stokes to "maintain

Board waits for delivery of its report

Mountainside parents want '1st-class status'

acquiesce to second-class status for their children." This declaration by Mayor Frederick J. Wilhelms Jr., on prospects for expansion of the Regional High School District physical plant, characterized the audience reaction at the Regional Board of Education meeting Tuesday night at the Deerfield School

The assemblage of some 250 interested citizens consisted predominantly of Mountainside residents, and they expressed dissatisfaction with the present status of their children, as several speakers said, "without ne high-school in the district." They were also critical of what they expect in the way of recommendations in the report on school expansion expected from the board con-sultant, Dr. Henry Rissetto, momentarilyand for the past nine weeks.

Avery Ward of Kenliworth, board president, noted that the board had signed a $24,000 contract with Rigsetto last May 23 to conduct an in-depth study of the district's future needs following voter rejection of an expansion bond

He added that Rissetto had been scheduled to deliver his final report by the beginning of March, but that the board was still waiting for the printed copy, so.

Dr. Warren David, sup Intendent of schools, said that he last spoke Rissetto last week, and that the report was promised for the end of this week. He excressed qualified confidence that it would be.

Meanwhile, Ward said, the next two classes of Mountainside freshmen would attend . Jon-athan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield for a year each, rejoining their older siblings for their sophomore, junior and senior Dr. Minor C.K. Jones, Regional board member from Mountainside, noted that the referendum was defeated a year ago. He urged that the board resubmit its original proposal to the voters in the six member towns, rather than wait any longer for Rissetto's report.

"The board is responsible for the future of this district, not Dr. Rissetto," he said, drawing loud applause: MAYOR WILHELMS told the board, "Continued delay in meeting the needs of Mountainside children has stretched the patience of the community. The experience of our children at Dayton is gratifying, but we expect, in the future, possible distribution of our children to even additional schools, wherever the district has room. "This is less than fair and equal treatment. Now we are at the point of desperation. Now we are walting for a report which I understand has already been discounted by some members of the board. You should study the report, but expeditiously.

"Our freshmen have second-class status. as-transients-and as expendables. Mountainside will no longer acquiesce to second-class status. The relief you have promised us is not coming."

Wilhelms went on to say, "Before there must be a confrontation in this matter, you have to show us that the board can listen and then act. We shall not put up quietly with any continued delay.

Mountainside resident told the board, "What-you didn't answer gave us a clue" as to what the report will recommend. He said he had heard rumors that the report would divide Mountainside youngsters between two high schools, and that "this is what we would dislike-most-lf-l'm wrong; correct me now, Another questioner; after disclosure that Rissetto had been paid $18,000 of his $24,000 fee, asked-If there was a penalty clause in the contract for failure to deliver the report on time. The questioner also asked if penalty clauses were usual in contracts of this sort. Irvine Johnstone, board attorney, said that he had not seen the contract but that he would look into the matter immediately.

ANOTHER MATTER was also brought up during the public discussion period, this time by a group of students from Gov. Livingston Regional High School.

The group, which included all-state football star Craig Marks, said that their athleticdirector had barred boys with long sideburns

Lunch takes up 2 hours at school board meeting

The Springfield Board of Education took the longest lunch hour in its history Monday night, as a good two thirds of its three-hour meeting at the Florence Gaudineer School was devoted to its policy dealing with lower-grade youngsters who eat lunch in school. The audience of nearly 30 residents, primarily mothers who had developed a somewhat critical interest in board proceedings during the past year of discussions involving the Raymond Chisholm School, added some sharp seasoning to the lunch policy discussions. -In-other-business, John O. Berwick, superintendent of schools, reported that a pilot program of individualized, computerized instruction in mathematics will be introduced Resignations were accepted from two teachers. The board also approved grants to aid graduate studies planned for the coming year by 17 faculty members.

THE LUNCH PROGRAM discussion was prompted by the first reading of a proposed policy change, it was offered by August Caprio, chairman of the school government committee

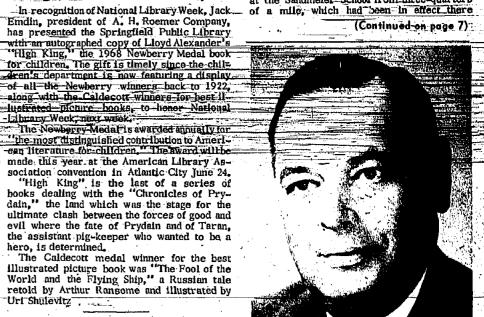

Noting that the 75-minute lunch period gives most children in grades 1 to 5 time to go for lunch, the proposal said that "special consideration" should be given to youngsters living a mile or more from school, to families where both parents work and to children who cannot walk long distances for health reasons.

Exceptions would also be made for "very inclement weather" and for unusual home

Children eating at school-would be expected to bring a prepared lunch and to remain at school throughout the lunch hour. The proposal-added that appropriate, supervised areas would be provided at all four elementary schools.

Seymour-Margulies, another board member, explained that the only actual change in the policy was to revise the school-lunch distance at the Sandmeler School from three-quarters of a mile, which had been in effect there

Appeal made for support of college choir concert

The Springfield Friends of Benedict College this week appealed for widespread community support of the concert to be given by the Benedict Choir Sunday evening, May 4, at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, The college is in Columbia, S.C.

The concert committee declared: "A college does not operate for profit like a business corporation. On the contrary, the college sells its primary service—teaching—at a loss, and thus is not immune to the continuous increase in the cost of goods and ser-

"Benedict pays the same prices for books, equipment and fuel as Harvard or any other educational institution. In addition, the cost of improving the educational program and the un-relenting pressure applied by the increasing complexities of teaching have steadily driven operating costs upward.

Bighty-nine percent of Benedict's student body need financial assistance to remain in school. They come from the lowest income group. Although the federal government helps greatly in this area through the student loan program and the work-study program, Benedict itself must provide more and larger academic scholarships to attract a greater percentage of top-ranked high school graduates, 31

'Renedict has no wealthy constituency. The college depends heavily on income received from students, yet this income pays only about 40 percent of a student's education. The applicant then undergoes a full-day battery of tests at the school-May, a member of the track team and active in student government, among other school activities: received an honorable mention in ketching in a Pratt Institute-sponsored contest, and also attended a summer program at Carnegie Mellon University.

College gets funds for Upward Bound

Seton Hall University has been awarded $107,280 to support the Upward Bound program, according to John A. Cole, director of grants and institutional research. The grant will enable 105 students to participate this summer and 75 students to continue during the 1969-70 academic year.

The program has as its purpose the making of higher education available to youths from disadvantaged areas-by reducing the academic deficiencies which prevent them from aspiring to and securing the benefits of higher education. Basic skills in reading, oral and written communications and mathematics are empha-sized th the program and positive attitudes in science and social studies are fostered.

Church discussion to cover aspects of 'living faith' theme

"Living Faith Forums," featuring an informal question and answer format on issues concerning a "vital Christian faith," will be innaugurated Wednesday-evening-at the First Presbyterian Church Parish House, 37 Church

"We are using this means to encourage our people to ask those insistent questions which are too often ignored or postponed until a more convenient time", reported James Short, chairman of the sub-committee of the church Christian education committee, who has been in charge of making the plans.
"Our pastor, Dr. Bruce W. Evans, will use the creedal statements of the church as the basis of discussion - particularly the Confession of 1967 which speaks directly to our timebut from that starting point, we will encourage the broadest possible questions. Effective ans wers with no holds barred will be sought, for only an effective faith is adequate for these days of crisis and trial".

These meetings, entitled "What and Whom to Believe," are scheduled for next Wednesday and May 7 and 14, beginning at 8 p.m. and closing at 9:45. In addition to those affiliated with the local church, the general public was also invited to attend to "help fulfill" the quest for certainty in living."

The evenings have been planned as a part of the expanded program of the Christian education committee, which is composed of Alan A. Cunningham, an elder and chairman, and the following members: Mrs. Howard Heerwagen, Linda Kuehn, Harold W. Jones, James G. Marshall Jr., Roderick G. Merrick, David B. Pierson, Alice M. Rieg and James D.

New Jersey property owners presently stagger under the third highest property tax load in the nation. In the decade between 1956 and 1965, real estate taxes on residential property rose at a significantly higher rate than the taxes on business property and at a higher rate than the total of all state and local taxes-a 140,3 percent jump in taxes on residential property, a 91.1 percent boost in business property taxes and a more than 50 percent increase in all state and local taxes.

As-a percentage of total taxes paid, the burden is growing even heavier. In 1956, owners of residential property paid 31 percent of the total state=local taxes; by 1965 the figure had jumped to approximately 35 percent. And the statistics of the past four years are even more imposing This burden is a particularly onerous one, when the imposition of new and higher takes in other areas is considered. A recent Callop Poll_indicated that 63, percent of those surveyed regarded federal taxes as too high. It is my personal opinion that respondents to the survey reflected a general unrest over the subject of taxes in general.

It is clearly in the public interest for the State Legislature to do something that will reduce the tax squeeze on the already hard pressed owner of residential property how ever, the inflationary pressures of rising local. wages and costs militates against any simple solutions. It costs more and more money to run local governments. Although I was pleased to note that President Nixon has endorsed in principle the concept of revenue sharing with states and municipalities, the need to act on a state level remains imperative.

I_BELIEVE that one answer_to our problem is embodied in S-106, a bill I have co-sponsored in the current session. Known as the Homestead Tax Exemption Bill, it would exempt of the true valuation of building and land occupied by the owner. The homestead exemption would help the small homeowner the little man -- and would not apply to business property or residential property owned by investment purposes or by speculators.

Enactment of this bill into law would reverse the alarming upward trend of taxes paid by homeowners. It would promote and en homeownership and improvement, particularly in larger and older communities, Additionally, it would make it easier for older persons to remain in the home they have bought and paid remain in the home they have bought and paid for during their working years.

This type of legislation has been strikingly—successful in Florida; where property tax—obligations are reasonable and within the ability of most people to pay. I sincerely believe—that-it would-be-equally-as-effective—in New Jersey, provided it is limited to those—who actually live in their own-homes.

Thief snubs cash, valuables-just takes door of automobile

The perpetrator of three consecutive Springfield burglaries seems to be a do-it-yourselfer who is building his own car — piece by piece.

During the night of April 16, a battery was taken, according to police reports, from the parked Chevrolet of Mrs. Camella DeVita of 114 Redwood rd. The next evening, the passenger side door of Mrs. Gride Zaunis Mustang was taken from the car body. Mrs. Zaunis, who lives at 300 Wilson rd., told police that money and other valuables in the car were untouched. Last Friday, a stereo tape player and eight tapes, valued at $156, were taken from a car parked at 8 Commerce st. The auto is owned by Robert Selitto of Clark.

And, for the possible construction of a garage for the piecemeal car, 55 plywood sheets were reported taken from a construc-tion site between Friday and Monday. William Helm of the Iris Construction Co. of Uniontold police that the four-by-sight foot sheets, valued at $7 each, were taken from the construction site at 964 S. Springfield ave. In another reported burglary, police records showed a report from the Atlanta Metals Co. on Fadam road that the lock was broken off-a rear metal shed and a snow blower,

A 'Week' at YWCAs

National YWCA Week, an ahnual observance of the YWCA, will be celebrated during the coming week, beginning with the traditional Sunday-inthe-churches, when members of the Summit Association will join with those across the country in attending the churches of their choice.

For the occasion, churches of many denominations in the area will distribute 5,000 inserts emphasizing the theme of the national observance: "Be Yourself - You Do-Count!"

"We believe that this theme stresses what is at the base of all YWCA program," says Mrs. George E. Schindler Jr., president of the board of trustees. "That is, concern for the individual girl or woman who wants to find a place where she can develop her own potential and contribute to her community, nation and

Women and girls in the area have been invited to visit the Summit Association during the week to get a first-hand look at the kind of program available to them and to learn about the national and international aspects of the YWCA. which is now at work in 75 countries of the world and, in the United States alone, involves some 2,000,000 women and girls of all economic, racial, occupational, religious and cultural groups.

for some years, to a full mile, as had been required at the other schools.

Several members commented that the distance requirement was important because otherwise" there would be too many children lunching at school to fit in the space provided. Statements and questions from Mrs. Sonya Dorsky, the only member of the board who spoke against—the proposal, and from the audience, centered on two issues — the facilities available and the time left-to eat for a child walking nearly a mile home.

MRS. DORSKY particularly criticized the system at the James Caldwell School, which has youngsters eating in the raised portion of the auditorium, placing their food on the seats next to them.

A number of the parents said that small children could take up to 30 minutes to walkjust under a mile each way, leaving only 15 minutes, or less, to eat at home.

Other speakers suggested that the distance and that the schools provide such amenities as refrigerators and hot soup.

Margulies said that the board and administration had a responsibility for full implementation of the phrase, "appropriate surroundings," for youngsters eating at school. Berwick noted that a number of special tables, with attached seats, had been ordered for lunch-inschool use, and that more were planned.

Marguiles went on to say, "Many of us don't want to encourage small children to spend the whole day in school."

The final speaker from the floor stated, "We have quality education in Springfield, but this lunch policy is taking a step in the wrong-direction. This town can afford to give our children a quality lunch area,"

The first reading of the new policy was approved, 7 to 1, with Mrs. Dorksy opposed and Robert Southward absent.

-JOHN GACOS, chairman of buildings and grounds, reported on repairs and improve-ments planned for this summer. He specified work scheduled for the Chisholm School: six unit_ventilators, at a total cost of some $3.500: new lighting in classrooms and corrdors, lowering of ceilings, roof repairs, retiling of some floor areas and stepped-up lighting in the old portion of the building, New teachers hired for next year are:

Beverly Grenker, a graduate of Paterson State College with experience in West Milford: Joanne Kaufman, a graduate of the University of Michigan; Barbara Lee Mertz, a graduate of Newark State College with student teaching experience at the Edward Walton School; Lynn Moudakas, a graduate of Chico State from competing in varsity sports. They added-that the assistant principal fied said his office could not over-rule the decision. Several students, boys and girls, complained that the dress code and other regulations at Jonathan Dayton had just been revised to grant concessions which had been denied at Jov. Livingston.

Saying they had been repeatedly told that all policies applied throughout the Regional District, they asked for help from the board. They were told to take their complaint "through channels," to their principal and the super-intendent of schools, before coming to the board as the final source of surbority.

Several Springfield residents renewed previous objections to the board's policy of school busing as improper, illegal, unwise and wasteful of some $50,000 in public funds.

The board will hold its next meeting May 27 at A.L. Johnson Regional High School-

Resignations were accepted from Patricia Friel, who is leaving the state to join her new husband at a Navy base, and Mrs. Mabel Stearns, retiring after 17 years in the local

IN DESCRIBING the pilot program to be introduced next year, Berwick declared:

"Individualized instruction, geared to the individual's interests, abilities and learning rate, is one of the cherished goals of American education. It is an aspiration teachers wholeheartedly share in Springfield.

"Since individualization of instruction has been a major concern of the teachers of Springfield for a number of years, various programs have been explored and researched the mathematics committee. During the past two years, the committee has been spe-cifically interested in the Individually Prescribed instruction (IPI) program as developed by Research for Better Schools.

"Information was gathered through attendance at professional meetings as well as by visits to schools field testing (using) the IPI math program. Two visits, one year apart, were made to the Washington School in Trenton, an IPI center. Visits were also made to IPI schools in Montclair and Teaneck, the only two other school districts in this area-who-are permitted to use the program.
"As a result of discussions and visitations, we were able to determine that this program held-promise for the pupils in Springfield. Therefore, the establishing of a pilot program in grades 3, 4, 5 at the Sandmeier School for one and possibly two years, under the auspleces-of-Research for Better Schools (an organization funded by the United States Office of Education) would allow us to pursue the benefits of the program in our own district.

"Dr. Robert Marker, vice-president in charge of management of information services for Westinghouse Learning Corporation, and representatives of Springfield have discussed the beneficial aspects of computer monitored instruction in the IPI math program. He explained that the Westinghouse Learning Corporation was looking for an innovative school district to field test the use of a computer in assisting IPI teachers with their math program.

"This Learning Corporation envisions the computer doing a considerable amount of the detailed work such as test scoring, record keeping, pupil profiles, prescription writing and the like. He also pointed out that ramifications_concerning computer use are likely to become self-evident as a program of this type progresses.

*Dr. Marker seemed impressed with the innovative spirit as manifested by the representatives of the Springfield school district. He was also most complimentary in his remarks concerning recent curricular developments in our school system.

*The Westinghouse Learning Corporation has offered Springfield the unique opportunity to tie in the proposed IPI pilot project with a computer installation and accompanying consultant service at no charge to the school district. This offer will afford the school district an opportunity to participate on the ground floor in the developmental stages_of_computer assistance which seems to be finding its way gradually into the edu-

"Irrecommend that we engage in both the pilor IPI program and the cooperative endea-vor with Westinghouse Learning Corporation for the time specified since this should provide the district with desirable educational benefits. Based on the outcome of the evaluation of the pilot program, future recommendations will be made regarding the continuation and/or the extension of this program to other schools.

I further recommend that Mrs. Rose Ann Gillis attend the leadership-training-program in Woodbury during the week of April 21 through May-2."

Hospital staff told of growing need for doctors' assistants

Pioneering ideas to solve the medical manpower shortage were presented to the medical staff of Overlook Hospital at its annual meeting last Wednesday, by Dr. Darrel J. Mase, dean of the College of Health Related Professions at the University of Florida.

Dr. Arthur S. McLellan, president of the Overlook medical staff, presided at the dinner meeting, which was held at the Short Pointing out that even doubling the number of medical school graduates would not fill the public's ever-growing need for medical services, Dr. Mase urged accelerated training of supplemental medical personnel, who would be legally registered and recognized in their new role as physicians assistants.

"The medical profession must learn to train and delegate some-30 percent to 50 percent of routine work could be delegated to trained assistants under careful supervision with experienced on-the-job training," Dr. Mase declared. He added that 60-70 percent of a pediatrician's life was taking care of well mothers, not sick babies.

The public, too, must learn to accept such trained, official assistants, just as they now accept interns and residents performing routine physicals on hospital entrance, and murses performing many other skilled procedures, he

CITING DEGREES available now in the health-related professional schools in specialties such as psychological-psychiatric assistants, speech and physical therapy assistants, Dr. Mase emphasized that these paramedical assistantships required less education and training than full training in their fields, but were available on a junior college level. Physicians' assistants, properly qualified, can serve an equally important role, relieving the doctor of many duties and freeing him for final evaluation and more important therapy.

Dr. Mase has had broad experience in diversified health fields, including particular em-phasis on mental health and retardation, speech phasis- on mental health-and-retardation. speech, and rehabilitation of the handicapped Consultant on both state and national levels, he has served on many advisory boards both for the government and for numerous healthallied and research associations

Day school movement topic at temple members' meeting

Beth Ahm. Springfield, met last week at the home of Dr. Samuel Gross to hear educators discuss the goals of the Solomon Schechter Day School movement. A special concert for the benefit of two local Jewish day schools is being planned for May 11 at Temple Beth

The speakers were Dr. Morton Seigel, head of the United Synagogue commission on Jewish education, and Dr. Nathan Winter, principal of the Oheb Sholom Religious School in South

After an introduction by Rabbi Reuben R. Levine, Dr. Siegel stated, "The Conserva-tive movement recognized that future Jewish communal and religious leadership is dependent on a well-rounded and intensive Jewish education of today's youngsters. As good as religious education in the afternoon synagogue schools may be, it still is fragmentary and does not guarantee a total involvement of the child of the kind necessary to impart the teachings and values that make for optimum Jewish training.

"The need therefore, was felt to establish schools at which both general and Jewish teaching could be offered in the same environment by the best teachers in both fields."

One such school was established some years. ago in Union, and another has been in operation in Morristown for two years.

The concert on Sunday night, May-11, will feature Cantor David Kusevitsky, widely known as an interpreter of the Jewish littingy and as a vocalist. It is being sponsored jointly by the Conservative congregations of Northern New Jersey (United Synagogue Region). Tickets will be available through Temple Beth Ahm.

Action on an ordinance to abolish a paper street was postponed until the owners of the land make improvements already asked for by the committee. Committeeman Henry Bultman. in moving for the postponement, said owners of the land, which may become Orchard street, had not made "necessary changes to their property."

The committee backed the endorsement of the Regional Solid Waste Study Committee, of which Springfield is a member, to support Gov. Richard J. Hughes' recommendation to give the Public Utilities Commission regulatory control over the garbage industry in the state. In the resolution, the committee also asked the state-to-study modern methods of waste disposal and to find available open spaces for waste disposal.

IN OTHER ACTION, Mayor Del Vecchio proclaimed the week of May 4 as Senior citizens Week. The theme of the annual statewide observance for this year is "Safety Commuteeman Arthur M. Falkin Instructed the township engineer to advertise for bids for the resurfacing of the Irwin-street tennis courts and repairs for the municipal aviamulat pool Rema which were included in the 1969 budget. According to Falkin, the resurfacing of the Irwin street courts is the beginning of a project for the entire town-ship. The new surfaces will be non-porous.

An appeal to dog owners was made by Bultman, the committee representative to the Board of Health. Bultman asked that the dog owners curb their pets, "but not in front of their neighbors."

In the second phase of a health appeal, Bultman' re-informed the public, of whom five were in attendance at the meeting, to place bundles for the garbage scavenger on curbs in four-foot bundles during the last week of each month. Falkin added a note of praise for plastic trash bags, and Mayor Del Vecchio reminded residents that twigs should be bundled for removal.

The Committee also confirmed the fiveyear reappointment of Mrs. Daisy Howarth as director of the Springfield Board of Local

Arts Center sales for summer series pass 6,500 mark

The Garden State Arts Center reported this week that more than 6,500 subscriptions have already been sold for the 1969 summer season of popular and classical music starting June 12.

The Arts Center, located at Telegraph Hill Park, Holmdel, on the Garden State Parkway, has put season subscriptions for popular or classical series on sale to the general public after first offering them to its 1968 subscribers. Good season seats for week nights are still available.

Subscription brochures for ordering can be obtained in Parkway service areas and various business outlets throughout New Jersey or by writing to the Garden State Arts Center, Box 116, Holmdel, 07733.

Six season series of seven popular events_ for each-day-of-the-week Monday through Saturday are offered on subscription, as well as three classical series with various dates covering six performances. This will be the Arts Center's second season.

- The Arts Center's popular subscription series each include the following main attrac-tions: Glen-Campbell; Rowan & Martin; Diana Ross & The Supremes-with-Stevie Wonder and Buddy Rich and his Orchestra; the musical "Fiddler On The Roof;" Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme with Woody Herman and his Orchestra; Liberace; and Henry Mancini and Johnny Mathis.

Among programs on the classical series are the Philadelphia Orchestra conducted by Eugene Ormandy: the New York Philhermonic under Aaron-Copland with Benny Goodman as soloist; the American Ballet Theatre with Erik Bruhn and Carla Fracci; and the Washington National Symphony led by Morton Gould with opera star Dorothy Kirsten.

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Stanley F. Yolles, M.D. Director National Institute of Mental Health MEDICARE BENEFITS CHANGING FOR

-What do the newer provisions of the Medicare laws mean for the mentally ill? Under the 1967 changes in the laws, patients who use up their 90 days coverage for inpatient hospital care in-asingle spell of illness may now draw on a lifetime reserve of 60 additional days. This is favorable for the psychlatric or mentally ill patient because it gives more time for recovery.

This extra time might mean the difference between victory and defeat in a siege with mental illness which, it is often forgotten, can come and go in its attacks just as do other illnesses.

Another provision of the law revisions provides reductions for psychiatric patients in Patients who are in a psychiatric hospital on the first day they become entitled to their 150 days of coverage for a spell of illness are still subject to have all days of such care Immediately preceding entitlement subtracted from their available benefits if they continue to receive psychiatric services whether given in a psychiatric or general hospital.

If they require hospitalization in-a-general-medicalinstitution for medical ser-vices unrelated to their men-Illness, however, their days of pre-entitlement-hos pitalization are not counted against them.

Another provision of the 1967 amendments calls for a dy of-drugs and costs, including covering payment for additional kinds of drugs, such as those used for psychiatric by the Rev. Bruce W. Evans. patients.

At present the cost_of prescription drug that must be taken by-mouth cannot be re-Imbursed. It is considered self_administered though prescribed by a physi-

This is a serious limitation to a person with an emotional disorder who is dependent on regular medication which has to be taken by mouth, such as tranquilizers in tablet or pill form, in order to regain or maintain his health.

SUNDAY'S-A-SERMON

There was a prophet name Zephaniah, a contemporary of Jeremiah, who warned that manifold sins were bringing Yudah to the brink of national disaster. But Zephaniah preached more than impending doom; he held forth a promise of hope. He told the people that God was everpresent and would not desert those who called out for help.

We can see that God has remained forever with the people, leading the chosen s out of exile to their homeland. Indeed, we can see God's way in the history of the world since Christ. God's presence is a real thing in this modern world of today. Those who are blessed with faith live not in fear of some impending doom; but rather in the hope that wars may cease and men can give themselves to the arts of

Initialed gift is personal decision

A gift of silverware for the new bride, or finally the purchase of your own silver, raises the question of monogramming, reports Carolyn F. Yuknus, Senior County Home economist.

To initial or not initial silver pieces is a problem that only the owner-can decide.

Beautiful silverware is always a joy to own, but per-sonalized silver is the pride of many hostesses. If one is oriented to family heirlooms and values, the handing down from generation to generation. a spect, then inonogrammed silverware may be prized.

Executives offices under construction at Cranford school

Construction-is getting under way on-Union College's Administration Building, it was announced by Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, acting president of the Cranford institution.

A contract for the $700,000 project has been awarded to Caldwell Construction Company, Caldwell, by the Board of Trustees. The completion date is early in 1970.

The administration Building will be the first stage of Union College's $7.5 million expansion plan. It will free nine classrooms now being used for administrative purposes and will enable Union College to enroll about 200 additional fulltime students over the next two years and about 300 part-time students.

The Administration Building will contain offices for all administrative officers of the college, including student personnel services, and offices for faculty members.

With the opening of the Administration Building, the administrative offices in the Nomahe gan Building will be converted to a greatly expanded Book Store. The present Book Store will be converted to a seminar room

Cancer research assisted by dinner

About $12,000 was raised this year to support the American Cancer Society's programs of research, education and patient service, according to the Union County Chapter, through the sixth annual special gifts dinner, held last Thursday evening at the Winfield Scott-Hotel

According to Carton Stallard and Robert Guempfel, co-chairmen of the dinner, the amount raised is a record high for the event. Since its inception in 1963, the annual dinner has raised more than $80,000 for the society, not including this year's receipts.

A FEMININE LOOK -

Voices from former Study Missions

LETTER FROM PAKISTAN

In the process of a study mission, there are occasions when one encounters a memorable personality. Such a one was S. A. Rasheed of Lahore, Pakistan.

It had all come about because of my desire to purchase an Oriental rug. Before departing on a round-the-world Study Mission that took my late husband, Sam, and me around the world via Tahiti, Fili, New Zealand, Australia, Ceylon, India, Pakistan, Afghanistan and Lebanon, we inquired about Oriental rugs of Sidney Neuss, one of the owners of M. Neuss-and-Sons of Union who specialize in floor coverings-but not Oriental-and he recommended S. A. Rasheed, an Oriental carpet 'tycoon'' in Pakistan.

I have no idea to this day what the S. A. stands for, but when we arrived in Lahore, an invitation to dinner was waiting for us from Mr. S. A.

We had an extremely busy schedule and so we called to decline. But Mr. Rasheed seemed so dejected by the refusal, and said that a special dinner had been prepared at his homewith all his "cousin brothers" (male relatives) in attendance, that we did not have the heart to refuse further.

Mr. Rasheed arrived in a chauffeur-driven Mercedes, dressed in a Western style suit but with a linnah cap (Cossack type hat of caracul) and smoking a cigarette in a holder so long it almost went through the windshield. Mr. Rasheed, a rather large man, sat in front with the driver-who turned out to be a cousin-brother -- and we arrived in no time.

IT WAS QUITE A DINNER. To begin with, there was whiskey. That in itself may not seem startling, but in Pakistan where most people are Moslem, it is something. Moslems are not permitted to drink. The bottles, however, were placed on the floor, even though there was a coffee table, and I wondered if that was sufficiently dishonorable a place to make it all right. Anyway, we were offered a bourbon. And water with it. Now, we had been told by our tour director, "under no circumstances drink the water in Lahore!" But here was Mr. Rasheed going out of his way to be a good host and have bourbon for his American guests. The least we could do was have bour bon too, even if it came with Lahore water.

So we took the bourbon and water and smiled doing it. It was all right though, and before the next-one was offered one of the cousin-brothers · Thad obligingly slipped out and purchased some club soda. Canada Dry at that. Then we started dinner, I say "started" because four hours later we were still at it. The meal consisted principally of rice and chicken, extremely peppery hot. "We had the cook make it un-hot since you were coming," one of the cousin-brothers said.

Mr. Rasheed's house was a medium-sized one-family house with a two-car attached garage, it was furnished in American style, but the refrigerator was in the dining room and all the dishes were plastic. All the people in the room, save myself, were men. Thev. too, were dressed in Western style. At the far end of the dining room was a sort of lattice screen wall, behind which I could see women. But they never came out.

While we were flaving Nescafe coffee, Mr.

MINING BY TRUDINA HOWARD HOMEHUMANIAN HOMEHU Rasheed proudly brought out a boy of six and said it was his son. "My wife and I had been married many years," he said, "but we had no children. Some friends of ours, on the other hand, had 10. Seeing we were heartbroken about the-lack-of-children,-my-friend,-in-extremegenerosity, said the next time his wife was pregnant, that child was to be ours as a gift > boy. What wonderful friends the Rasheeds have! AFTER DINNER we went to see the Oriental rugs. They were housed in a building in the ter of Lahore and we went downstairs to a large, all-white room. In the center were two chairs. We were ushered to them. It brought to mind movie scenes of the white m with the big light where all the big questions are drilled at the victim. But no, this was different. It was all so cordial. We were pampered here. We sat alone while two men --more cousin-brothers?--brought in piles and piles of rugs and began flipping the so we could view them. After a while I got so confused with all the beauty-I didn't know which I wanted, but finally and reluctantly of friendship." And so it was. And it was a

That was all five years ago. Since then we bought another rug-from Mr. Rasheed--by mailt Said he, "Should we put your name in the center as we make it? Or the face of President Kennedy?" He was not kidding. They can do it. But we said no, just plain, thank you. And it arrived by air and was perfect: In the years between, there also have been letters, and here is one heart-warming example received recently:

Dear Mrs. Sam Howard. 'I, have the pleasure to write you as under, do hope to hear from you per return of Air-Mail-

Summercourses at NCE

Newark College of Englneering has announced it will offer a selection of 48 undergraduate courses in engineering, the sciences and the imanities this summer and, in addition, six graduate courses. The summer offerings have proved invaluable to a broad spectrum of students who wish to remove academic deficiencies, re-align their programs or earn additional credits toward their degree. In addition to NCE students, New Jersey residents routinely attending out-of-state institutions have regularly enrolled in the sessions.

Most of the undergraduate ourses offered at NCE are basic engineering studies, including all sophomore subjects given at the institution. Those o be offered this summer include five subjects in chemical engineering and chemistry, three in civil engineering and mechanics and one in computer science. NCE will also offer two electrical engineering courses and 11 mechanical courses, two industrial and management engineering courses and 11 mechanical engineering and engineering graphics courses. Others include two in industrial relations, four in physics, ten in mathematics and eight in the numanities.

Summer courses in the graduate division are being offered for the first time this year.—Offerings include two advanced electrical engineering courses (electromagnetic field analysis and electronic circuits), three in mathematics (matrix theory, functions of a complex variable, and mathematical statistics). and one course in introduction to management science.

Graduate students currently enrolled at NCE may also register for summer work on their master's thesis, master's project or doctoral-dis-

Undergraduate Inquiries should be directed to the Registrar's Office, Newark College of Engineering, 323 High Newark, N. J., 07102. Graduate information is available through the Graduate Division at the same address. It is suggested that registration be initiated before May

Said King Hussein of Jordan, "We believe too is a charmer, and nice company."

-IN-ANWERS--to-questions-given-him-by newsmen, King Hussein-said he felt that the four Big Powers had very little-time-left toreach agreement and that both-Arabs and Israelis had a responsibility to the Security Gouncil—resolution—of—Nov.—22, 1967. He indicated that his six-point programfor peace, the so-called Jordan Peace plan which he outlined to the National Press Club in Washington the week_previous, was based on that resolution. But, said the King, Israel has done nothing about it. In answer to what he thought Israel's objective was, the king saidhe thought she was undecided. "Undecided in wanting-peace-or wanting territory. But now I think she is more interested in territory. owers in the Security Council is needed to She has strength and she can enjoy it for implement this, the Secretary-General said, several more years, possibly, but the scale

> AT HIS LUNCHEON, U Thant was questioned about the Security Council's role in the North Korean shooting of the U.S. naval reconnais-sance plane. He said he was opposed to any involvement of the Council and that the matter could not usefully be brought to the UN, mainly because North Korea was not a member of the UN. He said he was encouraged by the attitude of the U.S. as indicated by the state-ment of the Secretary of State William P. Rogers that the U.S. did not plan to retaliate in a harsh-manner.

> THE LUNCHEONS were given on the West. Terrace of the United Nations building, adjacent to the Delegate's Dining room, and since King Hussein was the first reigning monarch to be entertained by the Correspondents Association, the security precautions were unusually extensive and nervous. Guards were at all the windows and exits and, for some reason, clustered heavily around the TV. camera. It had all been quite different in Amman, Hussein's capital city in Jordan, four > years previous.

> Our Study Mission group had the good fortune to be his guests at his palace in Amman at that time, and we spent about two hours with the King, talking and walking in his gardens. Few guards were visible then, but the ones that were seemed more decorative than effective. For hundreds of years a certain Balkan country has sent a company of guards to protect the Kings of Jordan, and they are still doing it today. Their outfits are not plain clothes such as the UN guards, however, but elaborate Cossack costumes, complete with boots, sword, tunic and high fur hat. So when we met with King Hussein in Jordan we were alone-except for a Cossack or two colleagues, at the Archaeological Museum in Split and it was decided to apply for support to finance excavations in Salona and vicinity. The primary aim of the project will be to find the earliest Greek settlement in the area, thought to be about 4-B.C., according to Greek and Roman historians.

At the United Nations though, he certainly was not alone and the guards were certainly not drowsy. But there was Henry Gladstone.

THE HELLENISTIC PERIOD is the least known, Dr. Clairmont-says. Ancient-sources indicate that Salona was founded at the latestat the end of the fourth century B.C. by serriers of Greek origin who had occupied such islands as Hvar, Korcula and Vis in the Salonitan Bay. It is believed that the colonists came from cities in Sicily and Greece proper to Widen their sphere of influence and expand mercantile contacts. Excavations conducted in Salona have borne out the evidence in ancient writings that the Roman imperial headquarters and early Christian administrative, cultural and religious centers in Dalmatia may well have been located Next summer will be devoted to exploration and vertical digging. If successful, two of the tensive horizontal digging in following years. The four selected areas within the archaeological zone of Salona are presently not cultivated. "I feel that students of classical archaeology should have Mediterranean and Near East background," Dr. Clairmont says, He introduced a course in archaeology featuring Near East and Greek and Roman aspects two years ago and next year plans to add studies of Greek sculpture and vase painting to the Douglass curriculum. A native of Switzerland, Dr. Clairmont received his Ph.D. degree at the University of Zurich and also studied at Basic and Oxford Universities. He spent two years in Egypt and traveled extensively in the Near-Esst. He participated in two digs in Susa, Iran (the ancient Persia), and one in Syris. The archaeologist also taught at Yale University. He is the author of numerous monographs and publications on classical archaeology,

Scores for the Bulldogs against Cranford were Bob Hrank, 40; Don Lan, 45; Dave Epstein, 45; Gary Katz, 43, and Craig Andrews,

With four matches having been played by Dayton, Coach Adam La Sota took time out to comment on the team's play. He called Steve Getchlick and Lan the most improved players on the team. These golfers are also the point leaders on the team. La Scota feels that Katz, Epstein and Hrank have yet to reach their potential.

La Sota also points out that, with the return of Craig Andrews and the expected return of Harvey Cohan, the Bulldogs will provide strong opposition for the remaining teams on the schedule. The Bulldogs, in order to qualify for the state meet, must win two of the next three matches, Millburn and Scotch Plains, which Springfield will meet next Monday at frome at 3:30, will be two difficult matches, Millburn has two men who shoot in the 30s and Scotch Plains, although not as strong as in the past, will be a rough obstacle for Dayton.

Bulldog netters defeated twice; face_Clark next

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School tennis team got off to a poor start last week —losing to Summit, 5-0, and to Irvington, 3-1, in a rain-abbreviated contest. Dayton will play at Arthur L. Johnson of Clark tomorrow at 3:30 p.m. and at Union Catholic next Wednesday-at-3:30. Springfield played New Providence yesterday.

Although Dayton was shut out by a very strong Summit team, which was seeded very high in last year's state commanuent, Hank Dobin and Dennis Insley had very close sets. Steve Nycum, a great Summit singles player, overpowered his Dayton opponent in the emaining singles match.

The Bulldog tennis match with Irvington was played in the rain, which did not help Springfield, Dohin lost his singles match in straight sets, 6-2 and 6-4, while Ray Danziger, playing very consistent tennis, won his singles match, 6-3, 2-6, 7-5.
In another singles match, insley battled from behind but eventually lost to his livington opponent. In his first set insley, losing 5-love, tied the score at 5-5 but then lost 9-7. Insley won the second set, 6-1, but lost the third set, 6-2.

Warren Danziger and Art Starr lost the first doubles in straight sets, 6-2, 6-3. The second doubles was cancelled because it was

SPRINGFIELD (N.J.) LEADER-Thursday April 24, 1969- 19

TIMBER-TOPPER--Larry Stewart, ace hurdler for the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School

Linden, Hillside victims of undefeated track team

track team continued its unbeaten season last week with victories over Linden, 79-47, and Hillside, 83-43. Dayton, now 5-0, will meet David Brearley tomorrow at 3:30 p.m. in a road contest and Cranford on Tuesday at 3:30 at

Against Linden, Dayton once again showed awesome power in most events. The Springfield trackmen swept the mile, pole vault, shot put and discus, Gary Street, Warren Schleupner and Chris Stadler won the mile for Dayton. One week earlier, sophomore Norman Reinhardt broke the school record in the mile with a run of 430. The previous record of 4:31 was set in 1939.

Ed Harback showed his superiority in-thepole vault by capturing the top spot, while Dave Pierson and Gary Branning finished second and third, respectively. Charley Foster, Mike Burns and Gary Haydu finished 1-2-3 for the Bulldogs in the shot put, while Bruce Zabelski, Haydu and Burns swept the

In the two-mile event. Reinhardt ran the distance—in=a school record time of 9:47, which beat the old mark by 18 seconds. Mark George placed second in the two-mile. Jim Robinson and Bob Sasse were second and third in the 100-yard dash, while Dave May and Bruce Smith finished second and third in the 440. Marty Josephs was first in the 880. and Keith Theile placed third.

Springfield was also successful in the lavelin. the high and low hurdles and the high jump; Bill Keller won the javelin event and Haydu finished third. Larry Stewart was second in the high and low hurdles, and Jim Robinson won the high jump.

THE BULLDOG TRIUMPH over Hillsidewas very satisfying because last year the Comets were one of three teams to beat Day-ton. Springfield was able to sweep two events, discus (Zabelski, Haydu and Burns) and the 440 (May, Street and Lee Kronet).

Robinson and Sasse placed second and thirdin the 100-yard dash, Marty Josephs and Dale Yadlosky finished one-two-in-the-880,-Stree finished second in the mile and Reinhardt won the two-infle event.

Harback won the pole vault and Dave Pierso placed second, Foster and Burns repeated their performances against Hillside by placing and second in the shot put. Keller once again won the javelin and Gary Grant, a newcomer to the track team, continued to s great progress by finishing second in the Larry Stewart won in the high and low hurdles, while Jim Robinson, who also wonthe high jump, placed second in the low hurdles. Bruce Smith was third in the high hurdles.

With Springfield showing no apparent weakness in any event, prospects for the remainder of the season, which concludes June 7 with the state meet, are bright. Barring any injuries to key men. Dayton track victories will continue to mount.

ranging from three-quarters to one inch. Closer cutting during the spring will encourage lateral growth and turf intensity.

Frequency of mowing is ex-tremely important for the development of a thick, healthy turf area. Grass should be cut often enough to insure that not more than one-quarter ofthe leaf surface is removed at -single-mowing.-The removal of more than a quarter inch of leaf can damage the plant and cause wilting and brown-

.The homeowner should also make sure his power mower is in good working condition. Power mower blades should be kept sharp and properly adjusted. Dull mower blades should be kept sharp and properly adjusted. Dull mower blades produce shredded leaf tips which may turn-brown in a few days.

What about good watering techniques? According to a recent survey, no area-in-the-United States receives suffi- sprinkling system, grass-growing season. The number of months that fall to deliver enough water to sustain satisfactory-plant growth varies from three to four months in the northeast to over eight months in the more arid southwest.

Since supplemental watering of lawns is necessary in every party of the country, controlled watering is one of the most important considerations in the care and markigement of lawns.

Too much water applied too often can result in the development of shallow root systems and invasion by crabgrass and other nesky weeds. Since soils differ in their ability to absorb moisture, water should be applied only as fast as the earth can take and hold it.

One-way to conserve water and assure the right amount of moisture for a thick. healthy lawn, is through the installation of an automatically-controlled underground for the home Does the sun warm the air around us? Answer, no — we do? And that's one reason why, come fall and winter, people may feel chilly even when the furnace is going. The sun shines down on people and the earth without warming intervening air. Obects are warmed first, then hey warm the air.

Sun inspires new heating

Radiation is the answer. Heat flows from warm to colder surfaces — thus, loss of body heat in cold weather may be due to radiation of warmth to chillier objects.

One new idea based on solar radiation principles is overread heating. Celling-mounted electric panels radiate heat from above. Located near doors and windows where heat loss is greatest, the panels reduce body heat loss.

, Everything in the room is warmed directly by the rays — a chair, a table, the floor, the walls, an adult, a child. Then the air warms.

> Mr. Hoven, who is corporate vice president and general manager of Certain-teed Products Company, building materials division, offers some tips for homeowners who want to fix-up their dwellings.

"Look over your property carefully," he advises. "Decide what repairs are imporative, what improvements and conveniences are mostneeded or desirable for your enjoyment and better living. That's the economical way to re-

"When adding or converting rooms, make a list of the

be used flexibly.

For example, an adult bedroom ought to provide a quiet retreat for reading, sewing or relaxing. A dining room could certainly also serve as a second sitting room, a mu-sic room or library."

Building codes are established by most cities, towns and counties and vary considerably from one-community to another. However, as a general rule, abuilding permit is required whenever structural work is involved or when the basic living area of a residence is to be changed.

For instance, the owner of a house with an unfinished area who wants to partition off a segment and complete it as a activities for which a room room would need a building The Elizabeth School of

will be used. A room doubles permit in most localities. This is because the improvement changes the basic amount of living area in the house from storage space to livable space. Various financing plans are readily available in convenient monthly payments to property owners with steady incomes or established assets (for instance, a sizable equity in the property to be improved, or recognized investments), according to Mr. Ho-

JIMMY SHINE WITH DUSTIN HOFFMAN

By ROBERT LYONS

"Jimmy Shine," by Murray Schisgal, is about one of life's losers fantasizing about himself. Jimmy is a struggling young artist being let down by the world without ever losing his optimism. The play seems to have many faults. The setting is a garret and it is questionable whether a dreary scene that is always before us gives the play the chance to warm us with our own loser's fantasies. This might be fine if the language were not so pedestrian. When the play makes a stab at musical comedy it seems to sag even more. As individual pieces I did enjoy the half dozen songs.

The flashback technique is used and it is more indulgent than organic. Also the play is populated rather than peopled and the few genuine characters are not that interesting. Schisgal has done better. His play "LUV" delighted playgoers for-two years several seasons back.

While Dustin Hoffman is not helped by the writing, I was not impressed by his work. He does have facility and technique. Essentially he is a mechanical actor. He doesn't appear to relate to other actors on stage and his voice lacks variety and strength for the theatre, His timing is exceptional. I believe it is thegenius of director Mike Nichols that made him so effective in the film "The Graduate."

There was one really beautiful performance by Pamela Payton-Wright as a girl who loves

Perhaps "Jimmy Shine" should not have been brought to the stage without extensiverevisions, it is an unfinished cartoon-with a pointless caption.

Gray group: black, white together Committee eases-racial tensions at college

Gray is defined as a blend of black and white, and that's exactly what the new Gray Committee at Union College, Cranford, is, a blend of black and white students, organized to give new shading to race relations on

The Gray Committee, first proposed by Miss Sara Brockington of Elizabeth, a sophomore at Union College, includes six white and six black students and faculty advisors. The committee, according to Miss Brockington, will work to get students together socially in order to overcome the prejudice generated on both sides; to get the facts straight in articles and statements published on campus reflecting on racial issues; to initiate a black studies course, and to extend the teaching of black culture and history in courses

Brockington, "because everyone times down what they really feel, By working together and playing together we'll get to know and understand each other."

As a first start in this direction, the Gray Committee sponsored a jam session and is planting a spring talent show. It will also co-sponsor with the Union College Drama Club a performance of "Beautiful Dreamer" by the Poor People's Theatre of New York on April 30 at the college.

IN ITS WORK ROLE, the committee, with the approval of "The Paper," daily campus newspaper, will review articles submitted for publication that in the judgment of the editor are either racially slanted or intended to incite. The Gray Committee will not censor the articles, but rather will be given an opportunity to separate fact from fiction, generalizations from specifics and publish

Lions Clubs host Blind Association

The Springfield and Union Lions Clubs were co-hosts to members and friends of the Union County Blind Association recently at the Elizabethtown Gas Blue Flame auditorium on Green

While the Gray Committee has been oranized only a few weeks, it has already iffected the attitudes of black students, Miss Brookington reports. Tensions have been eased, she said.

And because of Union College's Gray Committee, tensions may be eased on other campuses as well. Miss Brockington and Gregory Norris of Cranford, president of the Day Session Student Council, recently attended a meeting of the New Jersey League of Junior-College Student Governments where they explained the new committee. The student leaders attending agreed to work toward the creation of Gray Committees in all of the state's two-year colleges.

Union College committee members include Dennis Daye of Rahway, Barbara A. Edwards of Fanwood, Linda E. Eisenberg-of-Metuchen, Lawrence Fuhro of Cranford, Marsha C. Hudson of Westfield, James Jeter of Rahway, Anthony Macaluso of Clark, Miss Beverly A. Mauldin of Plainfield, Miss Elizabeth Porter of Elizabeth, Norris, Ronald Wright of Newark, and Miss Brockington, Meetings are held weekly with members taking turns as chairman.

Education level rises

Nonwhite women have-made dramatic progress in-raising-their-level of educational attainment over the last several decades. In 1940, the median number of schools years completed by nonwhite women aged 25 to 29 was 7.5; in 1967, it was 12.1 years, according to the Labor Department's Women's

Selective Service questions and answers

(Colonel Joseph T. Avella, State Director of Selective Service, has issued the following series of questions frequently asked of the Selective Service System, along with appropriate answers).

Can the boy who doesn't go to college but is learning a trade be deferred in II-S the same as a university student? -No. However, he may be eligible for a II-A apprentice deferment if he meets the criteria prescribed by Selective Service. It is suggested he confer with his local board as to whether he meets-these qualifications.

My son will soon be discharged from the Navy. He went in at 17 and has never registered with Selective Serwhen he gets out?

Yes. He must go to a local board of the Selective Service System and register within 30 days following the date hewas separated from active duty.

Next June 6 I will finish law school and, presumably, lose my-II-S deferment. If-I am drafted before I can take my bar examination I will probably have to go back to chool for another year after I am discharged to review everything. Is there any chance of delaying induction until I take the examination? Yes. If you are ordered to report for induction after your graduation and before the date he next bar examination is to be held, and if you have notified your local board-that you will take the examination and wish to have your induction postponed, the board will postone your induction until the day following the last day of the bar examination.

Is it necessary for a registrant who has been discharged from the Armed Forces to carry a registration certifi-

Yes. Within ten days of the date of separation, the registrant must request his local board to issue to him a duplicate Registration Certificate. This request can be made by a letter to his local board or on a Request for Duplicate Registration Certificate or Notice of Classification (SSS Form 6) Which he may file with his own or any other local

Why can't a person work with the Peace Corps for two years and substitute that for his two, years in the Army?

Such substitution is not permissable under provisions of Section 23 of the Peace Corps Act which states: "Notwithstanding the provisions of any other law or regulation service in the Peace Corps as a volunteer shall not in any way exempt such volunteer from the performance of any obligations or duties under the provisions of the Universal Mili-

Articles about college student deferments-often refer to an 'academic year.' Please define that term. An "academic year," which is considered in determining a registrant's eligibility for deferment in Class H-S, is the 12-month period following the beginning of a registrant's course of study.

I am a sophomore English major and in Class II-S. There is an opportunity for me to take my junior year abroad at the University of London, May I-do so and not lose my II-S while there? What procedures do:I follow?

You-should supply your localboard with a letter which sets from your school here that academic hours of study you earn at the University of London will be creditable toward the granting of your baccalaureate degree. To re-tain your II-S deferment while abroad, it will be necessary for the university in London to certify to your local board that you are satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of study at that institution. Be sure to confer with your local board on this before you leave the United States.

They tell me I can't meet with the appeal board that will consider my case and that the board can't consider any material my local board has not seen. What can I do to emphasize my points to the people who will decide my appeal?

You may attach to your appeal a statement specifying the matters in which you believe the local board erred and may direct attention to any information in your file which you believe the local board has falled to consider or give sufficient weight.

Auto organization urges establishing national seashore

The public affairs council of the AAA Auto Clubs of New Jersey said this week that it has urged U.S. Interior Secretary Walter Hickel to support establishment of a Sandy Hook National Seashore recreational area in the state.

The council, which represents the quarter-of-a-million members of the six AAA clubs in New Jersey, in a letter to Hickel said his endorsement of the project would help spur congressional action.

Copies of the letter were sent to U.S. Senator Clifford P. Case and Reps. Frank Howard and James R. Grover, sponsors of legislation to establish the national recreational area.

William K. Duncan, chairman of the AAA public affairs-council and executive vice president of the Shore Motor Club of South Jersaid that "the residents of this highly urbanized area should not be deprived of this unique opportunity ot preserve one of the few remaining ocean recreational areas

Duncan noted that the Department of Defense, which owns 1,200 acress at Fort hancock on Sandy Hook, plans to declare the acreage surplus.

'This precious land is available without the expenditure of millions of dollars in-volved in the acquisition of privately-owned land," the AAA declared, "since the federal government already owns it."

Duncan pointed out that former Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udali endorsed the plan. "The increasing demand for recreational areas in this metropolitan area and the dwindling availability of suitable open space make it imperative that this historic area be taken into the National Park System," Duncan noted.

"We should like to point out that New Jer-sey, the most urbanized state in the nation, is without a national park facility. The Council, speaking for its quarter-of-a-million members, urges you to press for congressional action on this matter while this land remains

Disease's link to food additive reported in pharmacy journal

Col. Iscob Eisen in the April edition of the New Jersey Journal of Pharmacy, of which he is Eisen first wrote about the strange ailment last year in his column "Scientific Develop-ments in Pharmacy," which appears each month in the New Jersey Pharmaceutical Association's official publication. At that time he suggested that the chemical monosodium Lglutamate, used in Chinese restaurant foods, might be the culprit.

The hypothesis now has been confirmed by a complete pharmacological study conducted by four scientists of the Albert Einstein College of Medicine who found the large amounts of MSG used by-the-Chinese-as-a food additive apparently affects some people.

According to Elsen, the scientists found that symptoms produced by Chinese food in suscentible persons included burning sensations. facial pressure, chest pain and headaches. "These pharmacological effects obeyed a dose-effect relationship," Eisen said, adding that the investigators found there is considerable variation in oral threshold doses among

IN ANOTHER ITEM, Eisen revealed a study. of 1133 elderly men in Prague by the physiology department of the Czeck Institute of Human Nutrition which found those eating five or more small meals a day less likely to suffer coronary disease than those who eat three or fewer

Pointing out the study is the first to establish a direct correlation between heart attacks and dining frequency, Eisen said analysis of the results shows over 30 percent of the men who ate three times a day or less had angina nectoris_or_other coronary disease. less than 20 percent of the five-or-more-meals group. Those who ate four meals a day predictably had an intermediate incidence of 24 percent," he concluded.

EISEN ALSO DISCLOSES a study in England which showed that whooping cough vaccine (per-tussis antigen) caused brain damage in some children. Stating that he had heard of no such cases in the U.S., he wrote to ascertain if the British vaccine differs from the American one, and was advised by the Division of Biologic Standards in London-that U.S. specifi-cations for pertussis vaccine have been more stringent than those prescribed in England but that there also have been fatalities in America, although few.

"Pertussis vaccine, in rare instances, can cause or provoke a neurological reaction in a child with an individual peculiarity or predisposition," Eisen was advised, but the British

"Neurological complications of whooping cough have not been uncommon. Incidence in hospital cases have ranged from 1.5 to 14 percent. Moreover, one follow-up study of 200 school children with uncomplicated whooping cough showed that 27.5 percent were retarded in varying degrees.

"Thus the risk of vaccination is far outweighed by the risk of the disease which, inthe early 1940, caused a mortality rate of-84.7 per-100,000 population for children under the age of one year; additionally, a number were left with neurological damage."

In 1966, reported pertussis deaths in the U.S. ere only 55 in a population of 200 million.

Heilmann urges referendum on banning state income taxes

Talk of a state income tax is ridiculous, say Assemblymen Herbert H. Kiehn of Rahway and Herbert J. Heilmann of Union.

"Adding a new tax now would be as crippling to some citizens as losing an arm. The American public is taxed to the breaking point already." they said.

"As everyone knows taxation is a necessary evil. Without it our government could not function for the betterment of all. But a line must be drawn somewhere. That line, we believe; is contained in Assembly concurrent resolution No. 67 calling for a state constitutional amendment that would prohibit any future legislature from imposing taxes on personal incomes derived from any source whatever," said Heilmann and Kiehn.

This bill, cosponsored by Heilmann and Kiehn in the Assembly last Nov. 15, failed to reach a vote before the 1968 session ended.

Substitute clerks, mailmen sought by postal officials ounced that the Civil Service examinations for substitute post office clerk-carrier and substitute mail handler are continuously open for applications, "There is an urgent need for those who are interested in full-time employ-ment," he said. The minimum age limit for appointment is 18, except for high school graduates who may apply after graduation.

In most of the Union County post offices.

there are favorable prospects for early appointment for those who quality on these exam-inations," Runyon explained, "Federal legisinations." tration assures that all qualified applicants will be considered for employment according to the rating attained in these examinations.

The next series of examinations will be given during May. Current starting salary for clerk-carrier is $2.95 per hour. Mail Handlers start at $2.72 per hour. Additional salary increases luled-for-July although the amounts theve not been determined yet.

The U. S. Civil Services Commission has formulated new tests which will replace the current tests for both the substitute clerk carrier and substitute mail handler positions. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for appointment without regard to race, religion, color, national origin, sex, political affiliations, or any other nonmerit

Applications can be secured at any post office in Union County, or by contacting Michael Steffan, examiner-in-charge, Board of Civil-Service Examiners, Room 18, (second floor), Elizabeth Post Office, or by telephone, (352-

Rattan, wicker bring colorful comfort to indoor living, with year-round ease lots of white.

Rattan and wicker furniture is no longer relegated to outdoor patios or decks. Newly sophisticated, it finds a yearround home indoors. In spring, the lightweight and graceful effects of rattan and wicker are welcomed.

Enclosed sun porches, dining areas, family and living rooms are blossoming with well-made, comfortable planter's chairs, cane-framed sofas, dining tables and chairs, and plant stands.

Part of the reason for the popularity of these styles omes from the colorful finishes. The homemaker no longer has to choose between white and natural tones.

Rattan furniture is widely available in yellow, avocado, topaz, black and other colored surfaces. Wicker pieces are easily spray painted in many fashion colors. t's Comfortable

As well as being fashionable, this formally-informal furniture is comfortable. It is sturdily made with none of he-limitations-of-inexpensive, seasonal outdoor furniture. Latex foam rubber cushioning provides buoyant, resilseating and comfort. With this improvement in quality, rattan and wicker furniture benefits from growing interest in the indoor garden look, Lightweight colorful furniture is important to this decorating trend which has gained acceptance in dining and family rooms.

It accres, too, with young marrieds and singles furnishing their first spartments.

Snow tire time is up this month

Have you removed your winer tires from your car? In New Jersey Winter Tire Removal Day was April 1 for studded tires.

Avoid tire blow outs. If you have been tempted to drive or _winter tires all summer, don't do it! Sustained-high speed driving builds-up-heat snow tires more than in tires of normal thickness.

Other tips about storing your tires: Leave tires mounted on their rims during storage to avoid tire wear in-removing them-and to keep their shape. Reduce tire pressure during storage to 10 or 15 pounds. Lay_tires flat (for even pressure on sidewalls) in a sunlight.

Mark studded tires "right" and 'left' so that next winter they'll go in the same direction

A good time to examine your tires is when you remove

Dust off old pantry and turn it into a nice powder room

The old home is a paradox, Often, it has built-in problems-for modern-day living. At the same time, it has built-in solutions.

Take bathrooms, for example, Most old homes have only one-but plenty of "waste" space that can be converted into a bath or powder room. Typical examples are the end of a hallway, the space under a stairway, an old closet or pantry.

-Converting such spots on the first floor into powder rooms is growing in popularity with many families. Here are some pointers from the Plumbing-

Heating-Cooling Information Bureau. 1. Since the powder room is to be on the first floor where it will get hard use, it pays to buy top-quality fixtures. They work best, are the most quiet and the easiest to keep

Visitors usually see the powder room, Visitors usually see the powder room, so make it look as glamorous and modern as possible. Colored fixtures or those decorated with floral, abstract or other designs are great favorites. Striking-looking faucets add a good decorator touch. 3. If space is available, have a vanity lavatory installed. This is a bowl sunk into a countertop with a cabinet beneath for storage. The vanities come in many styles—contemporary, Oriental, Italian or French Provincial so the decor of the room can be built around them. 4. Have a medicine cabinet installed instead of a simple mirror. It will give additional storage space. If the room is a small one, get a cabinet with an extra large mirror. It will make the room look bigger. 5. Don't be afraid to use striking wall and floor coverings, but make sure they're easy Both water closets and lavatories are available for corner installation if the shape of the room so dictates. Join the growing group of powder-room con-verters for more home convenience.

FURNITURE BUYS -Most stores, following the introduction of new lines of furniture by manufacturers, make their new presentations in mid- to late January with a secondary changeover in July. This means discontinued lines are marked down in November and December and again in June. You may be lucky enough to get a serviceable floor sample at 50 percent or greater saving.

Converting porch, patio provides year-round garden

no doubt that cold dreary days become brighter when Mother Nature is at work all 11 months of the year, So say those happy houseowners who have turned their porch or patio area into a year-round garden room and now enjoy blossoming plants and flowers on winter's bleakest days.-

During warm weather shades are raised and windows opened to make the room an extension of the regular garden. Once the thermometer dips and the sun retreats, however, the garden atmosphere remains sunny and

It's quite a simple conversion, Economical in-the-long run, too, since it adds an extra room for family living to be used all the year round.

Important first step is to enclose the porch and/or patie area with windows. Double-paned insulating glass also prevents condensation and eliminates the need for storm sash. Flooring next. An attractive, easy-to-care for floor for an indoor-outdoor garden room might be created with vinyl aspestos tiles which can be installed over concrete or wood. An interesting "Garden Walk" look can be achieved by a combination of patterns. Use two patterns that simulate embossed stone and one that copies pebbles. Lay them in garden walk fashion.
