Regional plan ignites Mountainside sparks

Mountainside residents opposing a proposed Regional High School District-wide expansion plan were among more than 150 persons Monday night who heard the first of a series of four public presentations of the recommendation by its author, Dr. Henry J. Rissetto.

By 1980, Mountainside will have just more than 700 ninth through 12th grade students, according to the projection Dr. Rissetto used, after a peak of about 761 is reached in 1972. There are now about 650 students in the regional high school district from the borough.

Dr. Rissetto argued that the student bodies of each school should be "more comprehensive and less parochial" and that residents should see the regional system as one whole district instead of six different communities in one district. One point that members of the audience and Dr. Rissetto agreed on was a student, once assigned to a high school should stay in that "parent" school for his four years.

Mayor Frederick Wilhelms Jr. charged Dr. Rissetto with seeing the Mountainside students "as numbers where we see them as children."

MAYOR WILHELMS also contended that there would be a "financial disadvantage" to Mountainside homeowners if the high school student body were split.

publican gubernatorial nomination this Tuesday, was a principal member of a group which had sought a zoning variance to build an office building at Morris Avenue and Lewis Drive.

The application had been opposed by a number of neighbors who appeared before the governing body May 13. Several had questioned whether the all-Republican Township Committee would turn down a request from a party leader of McDermott's stature.

After the vote, Del Vecchio said he had opposed the variance with great reluctance. He commented that the applicant, or anyone else, could put up the same office building on the portion of the property zoned for that purpose.

The mayor termed those comments a "most deplorable act," and said that anyone making similar comments before the Township Committee in the future would be removed from the room.

"Why are you running?" This is the question that was asked of the candidates of the Union County New Democratic Coalition at a fund-raising party Sunday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Lewis of Springfield.

Also present were Ned Parsekian and Henry Helstoski, two of the gubernatorial candidates. A spokesman for the NDC said that this event was the "climax" of an intensive effort to inform the people of Springfield of the consequences of their vote in the Democratic primary on Tuesday.

A spokesman for the Players added: "Miss Bromberg portrays Mazepa, the stripper with the horn. Her belting vocal style, in addition to her proficiency on the trumpet and comedy routine, should certainly stop the show, as she did when she played the same role in Hillside's version of this show."

Students at Dayton are using computer to help pick college

The use of a computerized college selection system that allows the student to obtain the names of colleges which meet his specific needs will be expanded next year in the Union County Regional High School District. Developed by Interactive Learning Systems (ILS), the system provides almost instantaneous access to comprehensive and up-to-date information about more than 2,000 colleges, universities and junior colleges throughout the United States.

It's designed to save both the guidance counselor and the student time involved in searching through stacks of college catalogues and other reference materials.

Regional students elect new officers

The results of student elections held recently at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield were released by Principal Robert F. LaVanture.

Howard Dobin was elected president of the Student Council for 1969-70. Ray Danziger, Missy Buchrach and Allyn St. Lifer were named as vice-president, secretary and treasurer of the Student Council.

A computer at the ILS facilities in Boston, stores all the information. This "data file" contains over 2,000 characteristics about each school in such areas as cost, location, entrance requirements and available degree majors.

Dr. Adam McDaniel, candidate for freeholder of Union County, and the first black freeholder candidate in the history of the county, gave his answer to the question, "Why are you running?"

Parting--such sweet sorrow

The following letter, written to John O. Berwick, Springfield superintendent of schools, by Mrs. Simone Gordon Adrian, offers a rarely expressed insight into the local school system.

It is truly with mixed emotion that I tender my resignation as an elementary teacher in the Springfield school system as of June 30, 1969. Having taught here for eight years makes it evident that it has been a fulfilling experience for me. However, my marriage, and subsequent move to North Jersey, has necessitated a transfer for me.

I would also like to take this opportunity to mention my gratitude to the Board of Education for affording me the chance to be affiliated with one of the finest school systems in New Jersey. Having personally worked with many members of the board, as a member of the professional rights and responsibilities committee, I know the high standards they try to maintain and the goals they have been successful in achieving. I hope the future will continue to bring about excellent relations between the board and the teachers.

Finally, I'd like to express my sincere appreciation to Andrew Allan, my principal, not only to me personally, but to the faculty and children at Walton School; as well. He has helped to make school more than an institution for education; he has made it a microcosm, especially for those who need it the most.

Six residents are candidates for degrees at Union College

Six Springfield residents are among 179 students who are candidates for associate in arts degrees at Union College's 36th annual commencement on Thursday, June 5, at 6:30 p.m.

William S. Betnecke of Summit, chairman of the board of the Sperry and Hutchinson Company, New York City, will be the guest speaker at the outdoor ceremonies to be held on the East Lawn between the Nomahegan Building and the Campus Center. Degrees will be conferred by Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, acting president, and Hugo B. Meyer of Summit, chairman of the board of trustees, assisted by Prof. Elmer Wolf, acting dean and chairman of the engineering department.

In the past two decades, 85 percent of Union College's graduates have transferred with advanced standing to more than 400 colleges and universities in all 50 states. A survey indicates a similar percentage of graduates plan to go on to four-year colleges and universities this year, Dr. Iversen reported.

Springfield residents who are candidates for associate in arts degrees at Union College are: Linda M. Di Nicola of 47 Skylark rd., Ronald F. Haselmann of 26 Rose ave., Paula B. Lubarsky of 10 Twin Oaks oval, Karl Schiffbauer of 60 Warner ave., Sylvio T. Spurduto of 93 Lyons pl. and James C. Woerner of 77 Pitt rd.

Miss Di Nicola, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Di Nicola, is a graduate of Gov. Livingston Regional High School. She majored in liberal arts in the day session and plans to transfer to Jersey City State College, where she will major in education and social studies. Miss Di Nicola was secretary of the Union College Drama Club, coordinator of the Paper, daily college newspaper, and a member of the external affairs committee.

A graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, Haselmann is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Haselmann. He majored in business administration in Union College's day session.

Miss Lubarsky is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Lubarsky and is a graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School. She majored in liberal arts. In the evening session she plans to transfer to Monmouth College, where she will major in elementary education. Sandman swings through township during county tour

Saturday morning, Rep. Charles Sandman went touring through Union County. He started his tour from his Union County headquarters at Echo Plaza, Rt. 22, in Springfield, in his bid for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Frank Menza of Springfield, who is campaign chairman in the county, stated that Sandman was very pleased with the turnout that greeted him upon his arrival.

Menza said that Sandman was greeted by large Republican groups and many well-wishers throughout his entire tour, and that there is a "very strong undercurrent feeling throughout the county that is very evident, and it will continue to mount right up until the June 3 primary. All indications point toward Sandman winning the county."

The chairman said he feels that the "undercurrent of feeling is steadily mounting because of Sandman's firm stand against a state income tax, along with other important issues in our state. From his long experience in the State Senate, he is well aware of the fact that our state government has sufficient revenues already to operate efficiently and economically. "Therefore, I will work vigorously for his nomination by a large plurality, we will pay the way for the election of our entire county ticket and a Republican governor in November."

Dayton students visit observatory

Students from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, visited the Sperry Observatory at Union College, Cranford, on May 13, as part of a project, "Operational Astronomy: The Earth and Beyond."

They heard a short lecture on astronomy and space sciences, including several demonstrations, and were shown how the 12-1/2-inch reflector and six-inch refractor telescopes are used at the Sperry Observatory.

The 30 students were accompanied by Len Ferrara, a teacher at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School.

They are among 12,000 Union County school children who will visit the Sperry Observatory during the 1968-69 school year for lectures and demonstrations in astronomy and space sciences. The project is sponsored by the Cranford public school system in cooperation with Union College and Amateur Astronomers, Inc., and is financed with a grant under Title III of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

Former drug users say communications needed

One of the strongest recommendations being made by a group of rehabilitated ex-narcotics addicts who are presenting a series of programs on drug abuse in the Union County Regional High School District, is that students be given the chance to discuss mutual problems among themselves—with or without adult supervision.

The team of rehabilitated ex-addicts from the Odyssey House treatment center in New York City said they found one of the most serious problems facing youngsters is the lack of communication between themselves and their parents.

The last in the series of four Board of Education-sponsored programs on drug abuse will be held Monday at the David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth. There will be a parent-community meeting beginning at 8 p.m. in the auditorium in addition to the day-long program for the student body.

The Odyssey House team led by professional therapists, have talked to students in the other three high schools, both on a collective and an individual basis.

They said youngsters have told them they have difficulty communicating with their parents. The team said students came to them to discuss problems because of this apparent lack of family communication.

Parents who attended the previous evening meetings at Jonathan Dayton, Arthur L. Johnson and Gov. Livingston, were advised by the Odyssey House representatives to set up opportunities for youngsters to hold group discussions among themselves, and that parents could even form their own group to discuss problems as they relate to the teenagers.

Parents in Springfield met Sunday to discuss ways of fighting what they termed an "alarming increase of the use of drugs among teenagers."

"The real world," the rehabilitated ex-addicts said, "is so painful and disatisfying that one attempts to escape into a less demanding environment through the use of drugs."

Dr. Donald Merachnik, director of special services and coordinator of the programs, noted that research has shown there is a definite falling off in the learning process by students who use drugs, and that consequently grades tend to go down.

Jerome Mandel, president of the high school PTA, has urged all parents and members of the community to attend the evening meeting. It is open to any resident of the six constituent districts.

Helping to plan the program at the school are the principal, John L. Dixey, and George Cuzzolino, assistant principal. Also involved is the Board of Education president, Inverly W. Ward, a Kenilworth resident.

13 scholars get awards for college

The American Water Works Foundation each year awards scholarships to outstanding college-bound children of employees and customers served directly by American Water Works System companies.

The scholarship awards were announced by Jack H. King, vice-president of Commonwealth Water Company, one of 89 investor-owned water utilities in the American Water Works Company system. The system provides water service for over 4.6 million residents of 500 communities in 19 states.

This year, 13 scholarships were awarded in the employee category and 11 in the customer category. The winners were selected by an independent board of educators appointed by Educational Testing Service. The awards range up to $1,250 a year depending on the needs of the student. The minimum award is $250.

Since the program was started in 1961, 83 scholarships have been awarded. Commonwealth Water Company has awarded three scholarships during that period of time. In past years, awards have gone to two students who were the children of customers served by Commonwealth. This year a scholarship has been awarded to a student who is the son of an employee.

stated, "I am a black man, I am also a Democrat, I've been a working Democrat for the past 15 years. Yet the regular party did not ask me to run; the NDC did."

He added, "There is a job to be done, but the regular party would not even consider my nomination." McDaniel stressed the importance of the freeholders providing jobs for the needy in the black community, and of stepping up action against the narcotic problem.

Mrs. Lewis said she was running for the Assembly "because I believe we must return to the concept of a public official being a public servant. I love my country and I feel that government affairs can no longer be left solely to politicians. Loyalty to country demands active participation on the part of concerned citizens such as myself."

Richard Samuel, a candidate for freeholder, pointed to the "patronage system which exists now," stating that jobs are awarded to party followers. He added, "I am running in order to eliminate this kind of corruptive system. What we must have is a workable civil service system."

David McGuire, also running for freeholder, told the 70 persons present, "I am running because I believe that it is local politics which determine the direction of our entire society, and the illnesses of the party must be corrected at that level."

Lerner expressed the belief that the "voter must have a voice in the determination of the future of our community and state. The problems of our time are too crucial to allow the political machinery to act independently of the electorate. That is why we are running—to bring back the mandate to the people."

PARSEKIAN, in his remarks, stressed the "need for party reform." He added, "Party loyalty is loyalty to the basic principles and traditions of the party—not to individuals." Referring to reports of organized crime throughout the state, he said, "Corruption in New Jersey is a complete outrage, and this is the time to do something about it."

Parsekian continued, "If Democrats do not act in this primary to break the machine, then the power structure will retain its power, and the real needs of people will go down the drain. This is the time for a return of basic principles — of reform, of integrity."

Heltoski recounted his votes in Congress against appropriations for the Vietnam war and against the Anti-Ballistic Missile system (ABM). He called for "new programs which must be instituted if we are to achieve our primary goals of being first in education, health, welfare and housing."

He expressed support for construction of a "new airport, for a state income tax to replace the sales tax and for a 'revamping' of corporate tax shelter." Heltoski added that he was the Democrat who could best win the labor vote needed for victory in November.

BLOOD KEY TO SUCCESS IN TRANSPLANTING EYES

TWO MAJOR PROBLEMS must be overcome before total eye transplants will work, says Dr. Theodore Kopyant, the first scientist to study such transplantation. Both problems involve the retina and the optic nerve leading from it to the brain. He says that success of the transplant depends upon early vascularization—blood circulation—in the retina and regenerative power of the optic nerve. Unless vascularization is accomplished, the graft, deprived of an adequate blood supply, degenerates and fails to function. He adds that an early blood supply is difficult to obtain during and following surgery.

FLAME-CUTTING MACHINES can cut more steel products if two tips are put on each of the machine's torches, says National Cylinder Gas, Chicago. The company has developed an adjustable tip, adapter that attaches to a torch where a tip is normally located. The two tips that are then affixed to it permit one machine to double its production of flame-cut steel shapes used in Higlow affiliation.

After feeding what information he wants into the computer, the student, in a matter of seconds, gets a list of colleges that meet his requirements according to the specific material he has fed into the machine. He keeps this list to take home and discuss with his parents.

"The guidance counselor can then sit down with the student and talk over which school best fits his needs," Miss Charlotte Singer, director of guidance, said.

"The computer system has proven to be a tremendous time saving device because we're able to help that many more students. The work sheet the student uses to prepare his profile gets him thinking about the type of college he wants to attend," Clancy pointed out.

COLLEGE-BOUND SENIORS at Jonathan Dayton have already utilized the computer and members of the junior class who are in college-preparatory courses have also been scheduled.

Because of its success and the fact that the teletypewriter unit is portable, the system will be made available to the other three high schools in the Regional District beginning in September.

College selection isn't the only service available. Students may also explore various occupational possibilities.

By feeding the computer the characteristics which are important to him in choosing a job, he can get a list of those occupations, together with each job's physical demands, working conditions, possible earnings, required education and opportunities for advancement.

Also, the computer has the capability of printing out a "job profile" which consists of job title, brief job description and names and addresses of where to obtain further information about a particular job.

Guidance officials said this would allow the non-college-bound student to take full advantage of the computer.

courts, none was received. The committee voted to advertise for bids once again.

One bid was received for repairing the concrete apron at the town swimming pool, and the contract was awarded to the lone bidder, Ralph Barone and Sons of Kentilworth, for $5,451.

Final approval was voted for an amendment to swim pool ordinance. It raises the rates, to $75 per family. The measure also advances the opening time on weekends and holidays from 1 p.m. to 11 a.m.

A $46,500 bond ordinance was introduced for the repair and repaving of Kew drive and the installation of storm sewers designed to end flooding in the area.

Another measure was introduced to spend $2,400 for repair and repainting of the Fire House. Fire Commissioner Forbes noted that this was the first major expenditure since the facility was built in 1957.

One other resolution also concerned the township attorney. Cawley was authorized to defend the town against a suit filed by a subcontractor on the new library building. Construction management bid that $8,500 was being withheld for what were described as inadequacies in the library heating system.

12 Dayton students win math citations in district contest

Awards to 12 Jonathan Dayton Regional High School students who competed in the recent Union County Regional High School District Mathematics Day were announced this week.

Students from Jonathan Dayton, Gov. Livingston, Arthur L. Johnson and David Brearley schools competed in three different levels of competition lasting two hours. Contestants were ranked according to placement in the school they attend and were not in competition with students from the other schools.

Bruce Schwartz took first place in the Level 3 contest and will be awarded a gold medal. Other winners were: Michael McCourt, second; Robert Sternbach, third, and Lee Meisel, honorable mention.

A silver medal for first in the Level 2 contest will be awarded to Richard Steim. Sharing second were Gary Berger, Daniel Olash and Scott Prussing. William Tuley will receive a bronze medal for first place in the Level 1 contest. Other winners were: Leonard Seligman, second; Julie Neidich, third, and Gregory Parigian, honorable mention.

All the students will receive citation certificates in addition to mathematics publications. The three levels of competition were determined by the number of years of high school math a student had. Some 250 students competed.

prehensive" education goes, it would still be a single school district and perhaps even better. "If Mountaineer students went to four different high schools,"

A Mountaineer man asked why Dr. Rissetto didn't elect to build a fifth high school to handle the 1,700 additional students expected by the mid-70s.

Dr. Rissetto said that a fifth school was considered but it was decided that it "would only close the gap, and we wanted more. A fifth school would not take care of the immediate needs of the present schools," he said.

Dr. Rissetto's $7 to $8 million program would bring major additions to all four existing high schools and the construction of a central administration building for the school staff. Libraries, in Dr. Rissetto's recommendation, would be transformed into electronic "resource centers" in keeping with advances in retrieving information and self-teaching. Classroom space and physical education facilities would be enlarged and more efficiently used.

Not only would facilities be modified, Dr. Rissetto said, but so would curriculum, which would be up to the Board of Education with guidance from the report.

Another Mountaineer man said that student hours spent busing back and forth for special programs at different schools and simply just going back and forth to the "parent" school are an "unproductive" and "wasted" as time presently lost in study halls because of overcrowding.

Dr. Rissetto agreed, but said "you can't erase" the 25 square miles which the district occupies. He said that bus routes could be planned more efficiently, but conceded that busing is generally "unproductive and costly."

Dr. Rissetto took the opportunity to again point out that the geographical size of the district is another illustration that the neighborhood school concept is dead. "It is not what it was historically," Dr. Rissetto said,

"and we find no deterioration of attitude among students when they go from grammar school somewhere else to high school," perhaps even far enough away so that they have to take a bus.

A Mountaineer woman asked if the content and quality of the schools would be equal.

Dr. Rissetto said that although there would be some local-interest courses in each of the schools, the similarities would far outweigh the dissimilarities.

A Berkeley Heights resident attacked Dr. Rissetto over the philosophy of the regional high school system. He said that he thought the "primary" purpose of the regional high school system "was to separate students into schools where 'kids of college caliber all would go to one school'."

The man also accused Dr. Rissetto of failure to do his job. "That report could have been put together in a week," the man said, waving his hand in disagreement.

Avory Ward, president of the Regional Board of Education, said that putting "college caliber" youngsters all in the same school was not the policy of the district.

Holiday bid by Helstoski

On Monday at the Union County Helstoski for Governor campaign committee, Dr. Nathan Weiss, professor of political science at Newark State College, announced this week that a "massive drive" of Helstoski for Governor supporters will be conducted throughout Union County over the Memorial Day weekend.

According to Dr. Weiss, the major objective of the drive will be to reach voters at public parks, shopping centers and railroad and bus terminals.

Dr. Weiss said: "A recent private-poll-commissioned by the Helstoski campaign organization indicated that over 40 percent of registered Democrats are undecided in their gubernatorial choice for the June 3 primary. Therefore, in defiance of political tradition, and in the spirit of the new politics, we are making a maximum effort to capture 'the undecided' vote for Congressman Helstoski on a traditionally non-political holiday weekend."

Max Schloff of Cranford, a recent graduate of Rutgers University, will be in charge of the volunteer effort during the holiday weekend. Schloff said: "Congressman Helstoski's record of coming from behind in difficult elections will not be broken on June 3."

State lottery the 'ticket' to curb taxes -- O'Brien

Raymond D. O'Brien, Democratic candidate for Assemblyman-at-large from Union County, said this week that he strongly supports a lottery for New Jersey as an alternative to an income tax or an increase in the State Sales Tax.

O'Brien, who is running on the Red, White and Blue ticket, said the wage people of the area support the referendum in November and that he himself would work hard for its acceptance. "I believe that we must accept any reasonable and responsible measure which will provide the income solely needed for future programs for the people of New Jersey," said O'Brien. "I believe that the money to be realized from the lottery would certainly provide some of those urgently needed funds. I also feel strongly that the lottery can serve as an alternative to an income tax or an increased sales tax."

"There is no doubt in my mind that, if properly administered, the lottery will be a permanent source of great revenue for New Jersey, and it is also an important fact that the implementation of a lottery program may very well do away with a great deal of the illegal activities which would probably be eliminated with the institution of the lottery program."

"If anything else, the people should have a right to experiment with the lottery in an effort to determine exactly how effective it will be and how much it will really mean in the way of additional income. We must do everything we humanly can to relieve the burden on our taxpayers whose sacrifices are already so great. The lottery is one good way to relieve that burden."

Cahill, touring Union County, discusses highway problems

Congressman William T. Cahill, Republican candidate for nomination for governor, toured Union County last Friday and talked with local residents. While in Mountainside, Cahill spoke with Ronald M. Heymann, candidate for the Borough Council, who expressed concern over traffic congestion on State Highway 22 throughout Union County. Heymann indicated that there was severe unrest by borough residents over a proposed overpass crossing at New Providence road. Cahill replied that the State Highway Department has historically done a poor press and public relations job and that he would be more sensitive to the feelings of local people who would be directly affected by highway construction. Cahill, at the conclusion of his tour through-

Hitchins selected for honor society

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass. — John G. Hitchins Jr., son of Mrs. Rosemary R. Hitchins of 539 Morris ave., Springfield, N.J., has been selected as a member of Gargoyles, the senior honor society at Williams College.

Established in 1895, Gargoyles annually elects about 20-25 juniors in the spring to serve in the society as seniors the following year. This group serves as a forum for suggestions on improving campus life, and makes recommendations to the administration and other student organizations.

Selection to Gargoyles is made on the basis of past contributions in student affairs and potential for future service to the college community. Hitchins is co-captain of next year's football team.

Tips for Today's Homemaker

From Anne L. Sheelan, County Home Economist

LET'S CELEBRATE MEMORIAL DAY WITH A BARBECUE

Memorial Day Weekend officially starts the season of outdoor, leisurely living! Begin the season with a festive backyard barbecue to celebrate the holiday.

One of the secrets of a successful barbecue is to have a simple menu with plenty of food for hungry outdoor appetites. Feature two or three foods cooked on the grill and supplement them with a casserole or dessert kept at the proper degree of temperature in the oven or refrigerator.

An appetizer course is an ideal way to occupy guests while they are waiting for the main course to cook on the grill. Such foods as chilled soup, cold fruit juice or raw vegetables with a tasty cheese dip would be sure to please everyone.

Pre-planning and pre-preparation are two other secrets to a successful barbecue. Do as much in advance as possible; shop for all necessary items at one time; prepare and freeze any foods that can be stored this way; make a list and assemble all necessary equipment in order to prevent constant back-tracking to the house, and check all equipment to make sure it is in good working order after the winter season. If the pre-planning is thorough enough, the hostess should have a relaxed day, since the man of the house usually enjoys being the chef outdoors.

For serving the food, a buffet table set up a reasonable distance from the cooking area is the easiest way to feed a large number of people in an informal atmosphere. In this way, everyone serves himself and feels freer to go back for seconds and thirds.

MEMORIAL DAY BARBECUE MENU

Crisp Vegetable Cheese Dip
*Lamb Shish-Kabobs
*Foil Roasted Potatoes
Green Salad Rolls and Butter
Iced Tea Chocolate Fudge Cake Coffee

LAMB SHISH-KABOBS

1 lb. boned lamb shoulder, 1 1/2" or 2" cubes
2 small onion, thinly sliced
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 tsp coarsely ground pepper
2 to 1 tsp oregano
2 medium green peppers cut in pieces
1 fresh pineapple, cubed
1 lb. fresh mushrooms, large caps
Place lamb cubes in a bowl. Tuck in onion slices and add seasonings. Refrigerate 1 to 2 hours.
To grill, thread cubes of lamb on skewers. Cook 3 to 4 inches from hot coals for 15 to 20 minutes. Remove meat with tongs and alternate on skewer with chunks of green pepper, pineapple cubes and mushroom caps. (Brush fruits with butter or oil, if desired.) Finish cooking about 15 minutes or until meat is done and vegetables and fruits are tender. 4-6 servings.

FOIL ROASTED POTATOES

Rub skins of medium-baking potatoes with oil or butter. Wrap each potato securely in heavy duty aluminum foil. Roast directly on coals for 35-45 minutes, or grill on coals about 1 hour, or until potatoes are soft when gently pressed with asbestos-gloved thumb. Make cross-wise slits through foil and potato. Fold foil back and squeeze until potato pops up through opening. Dor with butter, salt and pepper.

Watch, money lost by women in store

Two women reported property losses to police since Saturday after shopping in an Echo Plaza store on Rt. 22 Springfield. Mrs. A. Silverberg of Elizabeth told police she discovered her watch missing after shopping in the store, a dress shop. Mrs. Sheer of Newark reported $50 missing from her pocketbook, which was apparently taken from a dressing room in the store while she was unattended.

Carbon monoxide

Never run power lawn mowers, chain saws or snow blowers in an enclosed area such as a garage, says Liberty Mutual Insurance Company. Like automobiles, they too can cause carbon monoxide poisoning.

PROJECTING KNOWLEDGE—Herbert Meisel of the Springfield Lodge of B'nai B'rith presents a Xerox University microfilm reader to Mrs. Helen Francis, director of the Springfield Public Library. Many periodicals are available on microfilm at the library, including 35 years of back issues of the New York Times. The lodge's library committee includes Meisel, Gerald Hatmowitz and Sydney Miller.

Driver fined $105 for tossing soda bottle onto Rt. 22 ramp

A Cranford driver was given a $105 mandatory fine in Springfield Municipal Court Monday evening for throwing a ginger ale bottle in the roadway. A complaint was filed by another motorist.

The fine was levied against Russell Boyle of Cranford for putting the soda bottle on the ramp from S. Springfield ave. to Rt. 22.

In the only nontraffic case in Municipal Court, George R. Kopelson of Roselle Park was fined $50 for fishing without a license in closed waters off Morris avenue.

Judge Max Sherman also fined Ira R. Lieberman of Elizabeth a total of $65 on three traffic counts: speeding, no inspection sticker and counterfeit license plates.

Sammie L. Evans of Newark paid a $55 fine for allowing an unlicensed driver to operate his motor vehicle. Willie J. Grumby, also of Newark, was fined $20 for operating Evans' car without a license.

Leonard Kavensky of 117 Laurel dr., Springfield, was fined $60 on three traffic violations: no driver's license in possession, passing on the right and careless driving.

VINCENT H. SPIEGEL of Elizabeth was fined $25 for careless driving; Sol Shlofmitz of Irvington, $10, going through a red light; Harvey T. Lippe of West Orange, $15, improper passing; Irene H. Schechter of 370 Milltown rd., Springfield, $10, going through a red light.

Jonah Marrero of Newark was fined a total of $30 on three traffic violations: defective muffler, unregistered vehicle and failure to obtain a New Jersey driver's license. John J. Bunch of Florham Park paid a $10 fine for going through a red light.

Merritt P. Snyder of New Providence was fined $20 for careless driving. James A. Binger of Plainfield was fined $10 for having no rear lights and $15 for contempt of court. Court officials said he had failed to appear earlier.

The driver of a beer truck, Julius H. Landherr of Glendale, N.Y., was fined $10 for driving the vehicle on Milltown road, a light traffic street.

Lars Ragnvaldjord of East Orange was fined $10 for failure to stop for a policeman's whistle. Terence Baverstock of Stockholm was fined $15 for passing a school bus while it was stopped.

Missionary guest preacher at Methodist Church Sunday

A Methodist missionary serving in Argentina will be guest at the Springfield Emanuel Methodist Church, Church Mall at Academy Green, on Sunday at the 9:30 a.m. Chapel Service, and also at the service of divine worship at 11 a.m.

The Rev. Raymond K. DeHainaut, who went to Argentina as a representative of northern New Jersey Methodists, has been serving students at the University in Cordoba. A graduate of Drew Theological Seminary, he is spending a year in study at Drew University, Madison, in the Graduate School.

Chapel worship will be at 9:30 a.m., followed by a program in the Fellowship Hall at 9:50 a.m., to which the Church School classes and members who attend the 11 a.m. service are invited. Mr. De Hainaut will present a slide-lecture on his ministry in Argentina.

The 11 a.m. service of divine worship will be conducted by Pastor James Dewar, with the sermon presented by Mr. De Hainaut. Church School meets at 9:30 a.m. with classes for all ages. The nursery through sixth grades meet in the Wesley House. The German language service at the same hour will be conducted by Theodore Reimlinger, lay speaker.

Members are invited to the Fellowship Hall for coffee and conversation at 10:30 a.m. served by the Senior High Youth. There is a church nursery at 11 a.m. in the Wesley House for children whose parents are attending the service. Senior High Youth will meet at 7 a.m. for a discussion on "Church Attendance." Walter Mersfelder and Ione Lombardi, adult members of the congregation, have been invited to share in the session. The administrative board of the congregation will hold its first regular meeting on Tuesday evening at 8 under the chairmanship of Paul Condon, lay leader. The board replaces the former official board and is responsible, like its predecessor, for making plans concerning the spiritual and financial ministry of the congregation.

Of particular significance will be the report of the Council on Ministries, which has been preparing plans for the fall during its meetings from March through May. This council, under the leadership of Albert Holler Jr., develops the plans of the congregation in areas such as social concerns, evangelism, ecumenism, education, missions, youth and worship. A calendar for September through January will be presented for approval of the administrative board.

For And About Teenagers

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I am thirteen and have a problem. I would like for you to give me some advice. I have a best friend that starts liking every boy that I like. I have liked a boy in my room for some time now, and I think that he likes me, but I am not sure. When I told her that I liked him she said that she likes him, too. And it has been going on like that for about two years. Could you please help me with my problem?"

OUR REPLY: You don't really have a problem. It is not at all surprising that your best friend likes the same people you do. She likes you and you like her. You probably have much in common. You have no reason to be unhappy because she likes a boy whom you believe likes you. You cannot expect to have the exclusive right to like someone. You cannot say to your friend, "you can't like him if I like him first." What you should do is always be graceful. If your best friend likes someone that you like, compliment her on her good taste. If you remain "best friends" long enough, the time will come when you like someone that she does not like, or vice versa. It may be that at this point your friendship will have to stand up under the strain.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, COMMUNITY AND SUBURBAN PRESS SERVICE, FRANKFORD, KY.

THE ONE REPUBLICAN WHO CAN WIN IN NOVEMBER: FRANK X. McDERMOTT

Why?

One of the candidates represents an ultra-conservative philosophy and has little chance of defeating a Democrat in the general election. Another is known as a Democrat's Republican, a liberal whose political views are clearly inconsistent with the basic principles of the Republican party.

Frank X. McDermott represents the mainstream of active and responsible Republicans and has been a consistent winner. He has carried the Republican banner to the discerning voters who have given him his broad base of support.

Frank X. McDermott is the only Republican who can beat Robert B. Meyner in November.

Here's where he stands

FREEDOM FROM FEAR OF CRIME IS YOUR RIGHT

Today, we all fear the results of crime - whether it be the riots, campus disturbances, the infiltration of organized crime or the violence on our streets and public places. We must eliminate crime and restore respect for law and constituted authority. I believe that by and large there are enough laws on the books to do this. What we need is a Governor who will enforce our laws with vigor - and equally important, we need judges who will make the punishment fit the crime. I pledge to you that I will enforce our laws as they should be and I will appoint judges who will take a hard line on crime - judges who will protect your rights and not legislate to alter our laws.

WE CAN'T LET OUR UNIVERSITIES BECOME TRAINING GROUNDS FOR REVOLUTIONARIES

The rules which cover the conduct of students in our universities should be clearly known and strictly enforced. If there aren't sufficient rules - they should be established.

I have always believed that our universities are centers of learning for the doctor, the lawyer, the businessman and the teacher. They have now become the training ground for dissidents, anarchists and revolutionaries. We cannot tolerate this. Nor should we allow the academic level of our universities to be lowered by removing admission requirements for the disadvantaged students in order to try to solve a social problem which must be corrected in other ways.

NEW TAXES ARE NOT NEEDED

New Jersey does not need an income tax or an increase in the sales tax. It does need a Governor who has the courage to control the budget and who believes in the prudent use of bond financing for capital needs.

It needs a Governor who will work with the Legislature to create a budget within existing tax dollars. We need a man who will return to the taxpayer $1.00 in services for $1.00 in revenue. We must also demand our fair share from the federal government, New Jersey stands last in the nation in the ratio of dollars contributed and dollars returned. We've got to put New Jersey on the move toward first place.

JOBS ARE THE ANSWER - HANDOUTS HAVEN'T WORKED

Government handouts and giveaway programs are only concessions to poverty. Handouts have made a mess of our welfare programs, have created a "professional poor" and have taken away a sense of accomplishment, self respect and initiative.

Only a job can impart dignity and pride in oneself. People have to get off the welfare rolls and onto the payrolls. After cleaning up our whole welfare system, with the money we save by reducing our welfare expenditures we should provide incentives for industry, implemented by sound legislation to make them work.

COMMUTERS AND MOTORISTS ARE THE FORGOTTEN MAJORITY

New Jersey has over 1,000,000 commuters and many millions more motorists who use our railroads and highways. They are the forgotten majority. Our railroad commuters are subject to inadequate equipment, substandard service and a disjointed network of rail lines which are totally unacceptable in this day and age. The motorist pays gasoline taxes, tolls, and motor vehicle taxes only to see the money vanish - leaving an unattended, congested and dangerous road system. This is rapidly getting our economy and wasting untold hours of our valuable time.

As Governor, I will make New Jersey motorists and commuters first class citizens by giving these problems the highest priority. As a first step, I will establish separate departments of Rail Transportation and Highway Transportation so that the commuter and motorist will be properly represented.

SHIPPING CHILDREN OUT OF OUR CITIES IS WRONG

School busing is wrong. During my entire political career, I have been a strong advocate of home rule and I believe wholeheartedly in the neighborhood school system.

We hear much about the urban crisis, but in my mind it is also a suburban crisis. Taking children out of our cities and shipping them to our suburbs is not the answer. The answer lies in sending master teachers, administrators and fine equipment into our cities to insure disadvantaged youngsters of the same opportunity our children in the suburbs enjoy.

ABOUT FRANK McDERMOTT.

Frank McDermott was born in New York in 1924. The son of a policeman, he grew up in the warmth of a home that placed high emphasis on community service and hard work. After working his way through Columbia College, he went on to earn his degree from Columbia Law School, and then two more advanced degrees from New York University, during World War II, he served in the Army Air Corps for three years.

Frank McDermott's public record is solid and inspiring. His steady rise in just 5 years from a freshman State Assemblyman from Union County in 1963 to the 1969 Presidency of the State Senate, the highest position in the New Jersey legislature, is a testament to that record.

Wallpaper can create now effect

When doing spring redecorating, consider wallpaper to bring a change in the total appearance of your home.

Some wallpaper are pre-trimmed and pre-pasted. Some are coated or impregnated with plastic that increases their resistance to wall and scratches.

With such variety of patterns and longer lasting wallpapers available the job of selecting becomes a major one for many homemakers.

Wallpapers may be slightly more expensive but they are well worth it when you realize that many papers are now cleanable and fade resistant; they do not have to be changed as frequently as older types of wallpaper.

When choosing a wallpaper pattern, you may want to remember a few basic suggestions.

It is difficult to visualize the impact of the pattern or the color from the average size sample in a wall pattern book. Some dealers provide panels of many of the patterns or will have on hand single rolls of a pattern that will

There was no "Pacemaker" a decade ago. But there is now. And this small electrical device keeps this man's heart beating regularly.

Bell Telephone Laboratories' invention of the transistor helped make the Pacemaker possible. In fact, the transistor opened up the entire field of microelectronics, space exploration equipment, miniature TVs, small computers and, of course, the ever-present transistor radio.

Scientists write about violence

Anthropologist Loren Eiseley says that we do not really need more brains; the need now is for a gentler, a more tolerant—people than those who won for us against the ice, the tiger, and the bear.

Writing in "Science" on this theme and about violence as a form of aggressive behavior, psychiatrists Marshall F. Gubala and David N. Daniels of Stanford University School of Medicine say that violence may have lost whatever adaptive value it may once have had. Violence is not unique to a particular region, nation, or time, and although man required violent aggression to maintain his territory when food was scarce even after he became agricultural and sedentary, he now can adapt his environment to his needs instead of the other way around. But man has retained the adaptive mechanisms — including violence and aggression — derived from a long history of mammalian and primate evolution. Violence and aggression show up as inclinations to fight in a time of emergency. Unfortunately, today this fighting response is not always the best response to social, cultural, and psychological stresses. Human beings are uniquely endowed, both biologically and culturally, to adapt to their environment, and although we are capable of consciously determining the nature of our environment, our outmoded adaptive behavior — our violent aggression — according to Drs. Gubala and Daniels, prevents us from doing so. Current examples of violence and the factors fostering it include assassination, the mass media, mental illness, homicide, firearms, resistance to restrictive gun legislation, and collected and sanctioned violence.

The major obstacle to removing violence from our society is our slowness to recognize that our anachronistic violent style of coping with problems will destroy us in this technological age.

SAFETY 'POINTERS' — Model has made some fashion choices which could impair her ability to drive safely. Arrows point to potential dangers — gloves, hair, cape and bracelet.

High hemline a safety aid

'Mod' look can curb mishaps

If you still need an excuse for wearing a mini-skirt, here's a beauty:

It could lower your chances of having a traffic accident.

What you wear can make a difference in how well you drive, according to Actua Life & Casualty, whose Drivertrainer system is used to teach driving at 650 high schools and colleges. And there's nothing like the leg freedom of a short skirt for easy braking and accelerating.

Actua notes that the number of traffic accidents involving women motorists has climbed faster than helmets during the past decade and that one of every seven distasteful drivers is likely to be in an accident this year.

While safe-driving habits are your best bet to remain in the accident-free majority, sensible clothing can help, the insurance company suggests. The mod look is a step in the right direction. For example, high skirts demand low heels, which are ideal for driving. Unlike the stiletto heels of old, today's square heels are less likely to catch in your car's floor covering or on the accelerator—a pair of situations likely to produce accidents. If you do occasionally wear high or narrow heels, keep a pair of flats in the car to slip on for driving. If you wear gloves while driving, they should be of a material such as leather that gives you a firm grip on the steering wheel. A slippery fabric such as nylon or cotton could cause you to lose control in an emergency.

Don't let coats and jackets limit your freedom of arm movement. If they're too-tight or bulky they could leave you in a driving bind. Unbutton your coat or re-arrange it so you can move freely. Watch dangling bracelets and wide sleeves. They can catch on the shift lever, window and door handles or turn signal. Imagine the consequences if your bracelet were caught and you had to move quickly to avoid an accident.

Much of the beauty of long hair is the way it floats when you swing your head. But if it happens to swirl in front of your eyes in a car, you may be in trouble. Tying your hair back with a scarf or ribbon solves the problem quickly and fashionably.

Formal evening clothes are more restricting than daytime wear. Chances are you'll be escorted on your "night-out," but if you do drive be sure you can move freely. Fold your long skirt up away from your feet, be sure you have plenty of arm room, and keep dangling jewelry in your purse until you arrive at your destination. You'll always be in vogue if you remember—the most important accessory to any driving outfit—your seatbelt. Worn securely fastened at all times, it will help keep the risk of death and injury to a "mini-mum."

Ask Amy

By AMY ADAMS

Dear Amy: I'm 18 years old and have been married for two years. I have a daughter eight months old. I live in a nice house and have all the things a young married woman would want. But I don't love my husband and I don't think I ever did. I married him because I had to get away from my family (I ran away from home once and I didn't want to do it again) and since my family liked my husband, I saw marriage to him as an escape from them. My husband is a good provider. I don't want to live with him, but I think my daughter is more important than myself. When I was a child, my parents split up and I had to live with one then the other so I know what my daughter would have to face. I know I would have no trouble getting a divorce. My husband doesn't beat me but he is very inconsiderate and he tried to shoot me once. I've decided to get a divorce because I would have no place to go and I don't want to deprive my daughter of the things I didn't have. Should I stick it out?

Nervous

Dear Nervous: Your marriage is more than slightly sick. Any girl who uses marriage as an escape can expect to be disappointed. It's no use crying over split milk. Get the help of a marriage counselor and take your husband with you... with-

A Time to Remember

Once again, on Memorial Day, we pause to recall, with respect and much pride, the selfless sacrifices of our brave and valiant departed heroes. Gallantly, they marched forth, united as one in defense of freedom. And with unflinching courage and unyielding devotion to cause, they gave their lives so that our precious heritage of liberty might endure. Lest their deeds be forgotten or ignoble, and their sacrifices be in vain, let us all now resolve to be equally steadfast and courageous in preserving that which has been so heroically achieved. Let us dedicate ourselves to ever cherish and uphold that priceless freedom, which is the legacy of those whose memory we honor today.

'Other-than-honorable'

For the 1.5 million men and women holding general or "other-than-honorable" discharges from the Armed Forces, the Department of Labor offers a special service which might make them more acceptable to employers. The Department will help them get an Exemplary Rehabilitation Certificate, documenting their good behavior over a three-year period.

Dem state group sets up minority affairs division

A new Division of Minority Affairs, headed by C. B. Cargile Jr., has been established in Democratic State Committee headquarters as the result of consultations with Black political leaders throughout the state.

Robert J. Burkhardt, Chairman of the State Committee, said the Division "will back up statements about the need for an open and reformed party with some real action aimed at involving more Blacks and Puerto Ricans in party affairs."

He said that no other Democratic State Committee in the nation has such a division at the present time, and expressed hope "that our initiative in New Jersey will be followed by New York, Penn-

Ozzard hits Gross on admissions plan

Public Utilities Commissioner William E. Ozzard, Republican candidate for governor, went on record this week in opposition to the open admissions policy at Rutgers-Newark, advocated by President Mason Gross.

"To admit the disadvantaged without requiring them to qualify is a mistake and a disservice, not only to the disadvantaged, but also to the other students of the university," Ozzard said.

He explained that his objection rests on firm belief: "It is one thing to expose a young person to education and another thing to actually educate him."

Ozzard said, "I find that all Dr. Gross is recommending is exposure. I will strongly recommend that those who would have been included in the open admissions program be given a free year of intensive education to be brought up to admissions level. They could then enter the university and get more than exposure. They would then get an education. And education is something they have to have if we are going to advance the position of the disadvantaged of this state."

sylvania and other states, with large minority group populations."

Cargile has resigned his position as field supervisor for relocation programs in the New Jersey Department of Community Affairs to accept the directorship of the new division. Cargile previously served as supervisor of Employment and Public Accommodation Compliance in the Division on Civil Rights, Department of Law and Public Safety.

Cargile said the priorities of the new division will include greatly expanded programs for voter education, registration, and for stimulating individual participation — especially by young adults — in party activities. In addition the division will gather and present minority group opinions and problem areas to county and state party leaders. It will also act in conjunction with minority leaders in New York and Pennsylvania on problems of a regional nature.

"I want to make it clear," Cargile said, "that this new activity is a part of the Democratic State Committee and is aimed at bringing about desired social and economic changes in the minority community through an orderly political process. We are going to work within the party, and support, all of its candidates in the general elections."

"It is my firm opinion, and the opinion of Black leaders in this state, that the prompt improvement of the status of Blacks, Puerto Ricans and Spanish-speaking citizens can best be achieved through the strength of the Democratic Party, the party most sensitive to human rights and human dignity."

'Irma La Douce' is risqué musical at Meadowbrook

By BEA SMITH
"Irma La Douce," an entertaining stage musical, which does justice to the theater-in-the-round at the Meadowbrook Dinner Theater, Cedar Grove, has much to offer. In talent, color, pleasant toe-tapping songs and risqué comedic moments.
Montque Van Vooren has a lot to do as "Irma," the French street-walker with the kind heart, and she has a lot to do with "She has a fabulous figure for 'walking' or dancing or prancing...or just standing still. And the voice goes well with the figure. Her colorful costumes were made to order for the performer—and her supporting cast supports her well.

TURNABLE TREATS (good listening) JANKOWSKI PLAYS JANKOWSKI, Horst Jankowski's composing talents have always been recognized in the shadow of his ability as a piano virtuoso. "Little Old Town," "Pink Balloon," "Like a Ruby in the Sunset," "Blow Up the Piano," "Dreamflight," "I Feel Like a Child," "A Butler's Ballet." This is the Morning (To End Such a Night), and "The Blues, The Beat and All That" (MERCURY SR-61210).
On the PHILIPS label, RIGHTTODUS by Hagoy Manda (PHS 600-300). Four of the numbers of this LP are Hagoy's own compositions: "Righteous," "Love of Life," "Just a Hair Move" and "Campus Blues." SANDMAN FOR GOVERNOR

THE ONLY CANDIDATE WHO REALLY GUARANTEES NO STATE INCOME TAX

PRESIDENT NIXON WITH CONGRESSMAN SANDMAN

Congressman SANDMAN ON TAXES

Republican Congressman Sandman is the only gubernatorial candidate consistently opposed to a State Income Tax. Sandman favors a tax on public authorities to reduce the homeowners' real estate tax burden.

Congressman SANDMAN ON STREET CRIME

Republican Congressman Sandman believes the alarming increase in rapes, house burglaries, muggings and auto thefts, requires emergency attention. Greater State aid should be made available to provide more policemen at higher wage levels to patrol neighborhood streets.

Congressman SANDMAN ON COLLEGE RIOTS

Sandman favors college students having the right to dissent and demonstrate but opposes student squads who take the law into their own hands. Sandman agrees with President Nixon that college administrators should display backbone in dealing with college uprisings and rebellion.

Congressman SANDMAN ON SOCIAL SECURITY PENSIONS

Social Security benefits are below federally established poverty levels. "This is a national disgrace." "Restore human dignity to our elders," says Republican Congressman Sandman. He favors a minimum 15% increase in social security pensions

VOTE SANDMAN YES INCOME TAX NO

VOTE REPUBLICAN TUESDAY, JUNE 3

Paid for by Senator James Walkwork, Sandman Campaign Committee, suburban hotel, East Orange, N.J.

Pollution effects cause 'deep concern'
Poll shows 3 out of 4 favor action using tax money

Approximately three out of four Americans would be willing to pay more taxes if the money were used for programs to improve the natural environment, according to results of a recent Gallup Poll. The survey, commissioned by the National Wildlife Federation, also shows that the same ratio favor setting aside additional public lands for national parks, bird sanctuaries and wildlife refuges.

The effects of air and water pollution, soil erosion, and destruction of wildlife were of "deep concern" to half of those interviewed, while one-third were "somewhat concerned," and 12 percent were "not very concerned." Thirty-six percent rated air pollution as the most pressing problem, and 32 percent named water pollution. When asked how they would correct the problem of air pollution, the most frequent answers given were the control of auto exhaust and of chemical and industrial wastes. The prevention of industrial pollution, enforcing present laws and passing new ones, rated highest for the correction of water pollution.

The results of the poll also indicated that out of every 100 persons now living in the nation's largest cities, only 13 would remain if they had a choice. Of the total number interviewed, six percent chose to live in a large city, 30 percent in a rural area, 25 percent in a small city, and 18 percent in the suburbs.

nutrient waste into the water resulting in an excess of algae and aquatic plants. The resulting organic matter consumes the oxygen essential to the aquatic life of the water body. Eventually it is literally choked to death.

The results of man-induced eutrophication are "catastrophic," says Arthur D. Hasler writing in the current issue of "BioScience," and it is proceeding at such a "galloping pace that there is insufficient time to raise an enlightened younger generation which would cope with the causes of eutrophication."

Dr. Hasler, a zoologist at the University of Wisconsin, believes that the present rate of deterioration can be reversed if we have the will and determination to come to grips with the task. "Our knowledge of what causes eutrophication is sufficiently good," he says, "that firm and effective precautions can be recommended. They may be expensive to achieve, but the predicted facts are at hand."

MANY LAKES, streams, and estuaries are threatened with destruction because of excessive nutrient enrichment. This process, known as cultural eutrophication, is the result of a variety of human activities which deposit will this deferment last? You will be deferred until the end of your academic year or until you cease to satisfactorily pursue such full-time course of instruction, whichever comes first.

My neighbor's son fled to Canada upon receiving his induction notice. I understand it is his intention to return to the United States when he attains age 26. Will he thus escape requirement to serve in the Armed Forces? No. He will continue to have a duty to report for induction. Your neighbor's son can be prosecuted and sent to prison for violation of the Selective Service Order to Report for Induction upon his return to the United States, regardless of his age.

Arts Center lists schedule for season

The Garden State Arts Center, New Jersey's new performing showcase at Holmdel, N.J., has announced the calendar of events for its 1969 summer season starting Thursday, June 12.

The June 12 through Aug. 30 schedule reflects performances every night except Sundays after the first week when the Philadelphia Orchestra conducted by Eugene Ormandy with the Spanish guitar virtuoso The Romero as soloists will perform at the gala opening and again Saturday, June 14.

All of the principal performances on the calendar were included in the announcement of the season's popular and classical subscription series three months ago, but two one-night attractions have been added and three August dates (11, 12 and 15) have had program changes.

The latter three, resulting from the cancellation by the New Jersey Symphony of original engagements following a dispute with its union, will present the Symphony of The New World with violinist Berl Senofsky in a Beethoven-Brahms program each night.

The two added one-nighters feature the Iron Butterfly and Chicago rock groups Friday, June 20, and singer Enzo Stuart with comedian Corbett Monica on Saturday, Aug. 16.

The Arts Center box office at its site in Telegraph Hill Park on the Garden State Parkway (Exit 116) will open after the Memorial Day weekend, but mail orders for both remaining season subscription and single-event tickets are being received there through Post Office Box 116, Holmdel, N.J. 07733.

The New York Philharmonic conducted by Aaron Copland with clarinetist Benny Goodman as guest soloist will perform June 19 and 21; the Washington National Symphony under Morton Gould with opera star Dorothy Kirsten will appear June 23, 24 and 25; and the N.Y.

Philharmonic returns June 26, 27 and 28 with Stanislaw Skrowaczewski as conductor and pianist Van Cliburn.

Starting Monday, June 30 (there are no Sunday performances), Glen Campbell will be the main attraction for the week and appearing with him each night will be the Four Freshmen, Rowan & Martin of Laugh-In TV fame bring their show to the Arts Center amphitheater stage for the week of July 7, and during the following week Diana Ross and The Supremes will be on stage with Stevie Wonder and Buddy Rich & Orchestra.

The internationally-acclaimed and still-running-on-Broadway musical, "Fiddler on the Roof," will take over for the week of July 21, with the American Ballet Theatre to follow from July 28 through Aug. 2.

Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme backed by Woody Herman & Orchestra appear the week of Aug. 4; Liberace headlines his own new 1969 show the week of Aug. 18; and Henry Mancini and Johnny Mathis hold forth the week of Aug. 25.

The New York Philharmonic, this time conducted by Karel Ancerl, will be back on stage Aug. 13 and 14 with pianist Byron Janis as guest soloist.

In addition to the June-through-August programs, the Arts Center is also scheduling its second annual Jazz Festival for the three days of Sept. 4, 5 and 6 (Thursday to Saturday) and a Country Western music festival Sept. 12, and 13 among other events during the post-Labor Day period.

The June-through-August performances start at 8:30 p.m. Mondays - Thursdays, and 9 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays and July 3. Ticket prices range from $2 for surrounding lawn seating ($2.50 on Friday and Saturday) to $7 inside the 5,000-seat amphitheater.

Iris show at Rutgers

More than 300 varieties of iris will be on exhibit Sunday afternoon on the Rutgers campus in New Brunswick.

The show, sponsored by the Garden State Iris Society, will be held from 1 to 6 p.m. in the Blake Hall of the College of Agriculture and Environmental Science.

The exhibit will have an educational emphasis, according to Miss Mary Wais of Lebanon, chairman of the show committee.

"I expect that we'll see many of the new tall, bearded variety of irises," she says. "They have a much larger bloom than many currently popular varieties and are easy to grow." A "Queen of the Show" award will be given for the best individual entry, and the Silver Medal Certificate of the American Iris Society will be given for the most first place awards.

Miss Wais estimates that about 500 new varieties of iris are registered each year, with the majority bred by amateur growers.

Financial terminology explained for veteran

"Compensation" and "pension" are two important words for veterans and their dependents. They are often used interchangeably by the public but, according to Paul M. Nugent, manager, New Jersey Veterans Administration Regional Office, Newark, their meanings are vastly different.

Nugent explained that "compensation" is payment that VA makes because of a disability suffered in military service. The payment may go to a veteran who has been disabled by an injury or a disease that originated or was aggravated while he was in active service.

In case of death for such service-connected disability, compensation payments go to the veteran's survivors.

The financial condition of the recipient is not taken into consideration in cases of compensation payment.

"Pension, on the other hand," Nugent said, "is paid to wartime veterans or their dependents on a basis of need for disabilities or death to cases not connected with military service. The income of the recipient has a direct bearing on the amount of the pension."

Nugent said that information on these and other benefits is available by mail, phone or personal inquiry at the VA Regional Office, 20 Washington pl., Newark, 07102, telephone 645-2150.

New Plan on interest

John W. Kress, president of the Howard Savings Institution, this week announced that, starting with the June 1 dividend period, the bank will pay interest from day-of-deposit to day-of-withdrawal on all regular savings accounts, provided that a minimum balance of $10 is maintained to the end of the quarter when dividends are payable. The bank's current rate on regular savings accounts is 4 1/2 percent a year, compounded and payable quarterly. — March, June, September and Dec. 1.

No charges were made in the regulations covering the Howard's investments savings account, which currently earns interest at 5 percent a year, compounded quarterly when left on deposit for four full quarterly dividend periods.

The Howard, with branches in Newark, South Orange, Irvington and North Caldwell, is New Jersey's largest mutual savings bank with assets currently in excess of $900 million.

"Injun get revenge on white man... I put-em tiny hole in bottom of every pot!"

Industrial employment in Jersey up 22,000

Nonfarm wage and salary employment in New Jersey climbed by 22,000 between March and April to an estimated 2,524,200. According to the planning and research division of the New Jersey Department of Labor and Industry, the April employment gain was the result of seasonal expansion in construction, trade, and services.

Total nonagricultural employment continued to run well above the same time last year, with this April's estimate exceeding April-1968 employment by 86,200. The division's estimates are based on a sample survey of employers in the State, and exclude farm, domestic, self-employed, and unpaid family workers.

Factory employment in New Jersey was estimated at 886,000 in April, or about 6,100 less than in March. A 4,200 decline in the apparel industry — due to seasonal layoffs — was the key contributor. Employment in non-manufacturing was estimated at 1,638,200. Seasonal advances in construction, services, and trade; the opening of a new facility in transportation; and increased hiring in finance, insurance, and real estate accounted for most of a 28,100 increase in nonmanufacturing employment between March and April.

A slight reduction in overtime-caused average weekly earnings of factory workers to drop by about a half-dollar between March and April. Factory workers were earning an estimated $130 in mid-April and were working an average of 40.5 hours per week. Despite reduced overtime at premium rates, average hourly earnings increased one cent to an estimated $3.21. Compared with April 1968, weekly earnings were up about $10.50. The April 1969 workweek was longer by more than an hour and average hourly earnings were 17 cents higher.

Private charity sets record with $15.8 billion during '68

More than $15.8 billion was given to colleges, universities, hospitals and other causes in the United States last year. The amount is eight percent above the total given in 1967, and represents an all-time high in contributions.

In 1968, individuals gave $12.1 billion, more than three-fourths of the total, while $1.3 billion came from bequests, by individuals. Grants by philanthropic foundations totaled $1.5 billion, and corporations gave $925 million.

Reported in "Giving, USA" the annual yearbook of philanthropy of the American Association of Fund-Raising Counsel, the estimated figures are based on research by the association's staff and reports from national philanthropic organizations, government of-agencies and other information-gathering agencies.

Religious causes were the chief recipients of this largesse, the association says, receiving $7.4 billion, nearly 47 percent of the total. Hospitals and health causes received $2.74 billion; educational institutions $2.65 billion; welfare and other agencies for improvement of human resources $1.1 billion; civic and cultural causes $710 million. About $1.225-billion was given to other causes, including aid to citizens of foreign countries and contributions to foundations.

The American Association of Fund-Raising Counsel is a professional organization of major fund-raising counseling firms. It was organized 35 years ago to encourage high standards of ethics and practices in philanthropic fund raising.

614,000 opportunities

The Labor Department reports that the Job Opportunities in the Business Sector (JOBS) program expects to place 614,000 hard-core unemployed individuals in 125 cities by June, 1971.

Announce dividend at Howard Savings

John W. Kress, president of the Howard Savings Institution, announced this week that the bank will pay a dividend in excess of $9.5 million on June 1. This will be the 312th consecutive dividend, and the largest ever paid by the institution.

The dividend will be $511,000 more than that paid for the same period last year, and will increase to $37,300,000 the total dividends for the last four quarterly dividend periods. Kress noted, too, that after this dividend is credited, the Howard Savings Institution will have paid more than $376,000,000 in total dividends since the institution's beginning in 1857.

Bugs at last being eliminated from insect control projects

The bugs are finally being worked out of agricultural insect control programs, reported "Chemical and Engineering News," the weekly publication of the American Chemical Society.

Opponents of the widespread use of insecticides are getting their way. Traditional chemical pesticides, such as the famous DDT, one of the first highly successful and now most criticized insecticides, are gradually being replaced by highly specific biological chemicals, agents and techniques.

Synthetic forms of numerous insects' own body chemicals, hormones and sex attractants are being developed to aid the cause, along with ways to grow and spread bacteria, viruses and other kinds of natural enemies of the damaging insects.

These new biochemical approaches to the control of insects are expected to make it possible to check their rampant growth without endangering other forms of life such as birds, fish and other animals that actually help man by devouring the pesky bugs. The new techniques will also keep the poisonous pesticides out of the bodies of animals that we use for food.

Insecticide manufacturers, increasingly "bugged" by government regulations and an aroused public, have virtually stopped research and development on broad spectrum pesticides that can not easily decompose into non-poisonous substances. The trend today is toward biological control, aimed at specific insects.

Exceptionally devastating to various crops and known to virtually all agriculturalists, even amateur gardeners, is a high destructive moth known technically as "Heliothis zea." This moth has an enormous appetite in the larva stage of life and generally assumes many names according to what it is eating — cotton bollworm, corn earworm, tomato fruitworm, and soybean podworm.

Its voracious larva form is responsible for the annual loss of crops worth about $300 million, making it the most damaging of all insect pests. About the only consistently effective chemical agent against H. zea now in parathion; used in combination with DDT and toxaphene. But the amount of these insecticides needed to kill H. zea increases every year.

As a new approach toward controlling H. zea and other insects, scientists at U.S. Department of Agriculture's Tifton, Ga., laboratories are looking for certain chemicals in plants that are responsible for their susceptibility or resistance to the pest.

Why does H. zea eat some plants and not others? Entomologist Dr. William McMillan has extracted a chemical substance called a "feeding stimulant" from corn kernels that seems to attract H. zea to the corn plants. If a new variety of corn could be developed that does not have within it this particular pest-attracting chemical, perhaps the new resistant strain could escape the ravaging H. zea. Even so, efforts in still another means of control are being sought. Another somewhat unusual plan for controlling

H. zea involves the use of one of H. zea's own natural enemies, the green lacewing. The lacewing simply eats the H. zea larvae whole. Dr. Richard L. Ridgway of USDA's College Station, Texas laboratory thinks the opportunity for the chemical industry in this field is to develop artificial eggs or chemical nutrients so that large populations of lacewings could be raised and released against H. zea.

His idea would be to promote a lacewing population explosion in special lacewing "factories" by supplying lacewing larvae with all the nutrients they would need to stay alive and grow to adulthood. The problem, however, is in manufacturing the eggs that lacewing larvae find so delicious.

Treatment would involve releasing 100,000 lacewing eggs per acre four times each growing season.

In any event the chemical industry is not leaving any leaves unturned in its search for more effective and safer ways to control insects.

CYO asks members to join in urban programs for poor

Local members of Catholic Youth Organizations are being called upon to participate in urban programs for the poor this summer. The programs are being prepared by the Newark Archdiocesan CYO Teenage Council.

The Council's chairman, Barney Schneider, in a letter to CYO moderators and officers states: "Many of us in CYO feel a sense of Christian responsibility toward those who are suffering want and deprivation, and we are seriously looking for an opportunity to be of active assistance to them. There are enough projects so that each CYO unit and individual will be able to find one which is best suited to his time and talents. For instance, there are openings for tutors, playground instructors or any number of other positions. Transportation can usually be arranged for many priests, sisters, seminarians and lay people travel to the cities from the suburban areas each day."

A four-phase program, outlined by Schneider, includes sponsoring a music festival for the benefit of an urban recreation center; participation by volunteers in a summer-in-the-city program covering areas of sports, tutoring, art, etc.; fund-raising; and collecting toys, art material and sports equipment.

The Council chairman said parish CYO units can help in many ways and it will be the function of the Council to tell "how" and "where," in any case," he concluded, "there is much to be done and you are needed."

New Jersey pays $1.79 for each $1 received from U.S.

New Jersey residents paid $1.79 in taxes for each $1 in federal grants-in-aid received by their state and local governments last year. This continued New Jersey at the top of a list of 17 states which paid more in taxes than they received in grants.

The annual tabulation of cost vs. benefits of federal aid was reported this week by the New Jersey Taxpayers Association. It is based upon a formula devised by The Tax Foundation showing the state-by-state distribution of $18 billion in billion in total federal grants-in-aid nationally in fiscal year 1968.

The tax cost of the federal aid program allocated to New Jersey approximated $762.5 million as against actual grants received in the fiscal year 1968 totaling $426.7 million. Thus, in terms of the cost vs. benefits ratio, New Jersey contributed $1.79 for each dollar of aid received.

Last year Alaska, paying 25 cents, was lowest among 32 states that paid less than one dollar for each grant-in-aid dollar. New Hampshire "broke even". Among New Jersey's neighbors, a federal aid dollar cost $1.30 in Delaware, $1.24 in Pennsylvania and $1.16 in New York State.

The Tax Foundation formula reflects the actual tax burden on taxpayers rather than federal taxes collected in New Jersey. For example, federal cigarette taxes, collected mostly in a few tobacco-producing states, are, by the formula, allocated among all the states on the basis of cigarette consumption by state.

"The continuation of New Jersey's unique position as the state which makes more federal tax payments and receives less in aid grants illustrates," according to Clarence Ziegler, executive director of NJTA, "that any basic shift in New Jersey's status will depend on changes in aid formulae that take into account population density and other indices of urbanization and not solely on participation in every available aid program."

Vision consultant in schools proposed by N. J. legislator

TAMMINGTON, Pa., — Legislation to require every school district in New Jersey to maintain a professional vision consultant on its staff and to make a complete eye examination an entrance requirement for all new pupils has been introduced in the New Jersey legislature.

The bill — one of two offered by Assembly speaker Peter Morates (R., Bergen) — was disclosed by the Alpine, N.J., legislator in an address Saturday at the 66th annual convention of the New Jersey Optometric Association at the Tamiment Hotel and Country Club.

A second bill introduced in the past week, Morates said, would tighten New Jersey's automobile driver licensing procedures to meet federal standards by requiring all license holders to pass a vision examination at least once every four years in order to keep their licenses valid.

Assemblyman Morates declared that he would press for enactment of both bills during the present session of the legislature.

He deplored the "unnecessary" handicaps which he said many children face in their schooling because of correctable but undetected faults in their vision.

All New Jersey school districts, he pointed out, now have school physicians and psychologists and many have school dentists "yet there is no adequate check on the children's visual performance even though 80 percent of everything they learn is through their eyes."

The vision test now given, which measures acuity at 20 feet by the child's ability to read letters of various sizes at that distance, is inadequate for modern needs, Assemblyman Morates declared. These tests, administered by teachers and school nurses, do not even measure visual acuity at normal reading distances of 16 inches and ignore many other possible conditions, he said.

Although educators cannot tell precisely why some children fail in their school work and must repeat a year, he said that it is widely believed that visual defects are a major contributing cause.

60 from YMCA at camp program held over weekend

Fathers and sons of the Five Points YMCA Indian Guides have returned to their teepees after participating in the annual weekend Powwow at Camp Silver Lake in Sussex County.

Over 60 fathers and sons took part in the camp weekend of horseback riding, canoeing, hiking, fishing, games and archery at Camp Silver Lake near Stockholm. There also was free time for fathers and sons to spend time with each other, one of the purposes of the Y-Indian Guide program.

Highlight of the weekend was the campfire program, Richard Bashefski, Kawameeh Longhouse chief, led the activities of the evening.

The Lenape tribe maintained the traditions where each tribe had to recite one of the aims of Y-Indian Guides. The Mohican Tribe started the campfire. All tribes presented skits and songs and Chief Bashefski led in games. Charles Bauman was presented as the new Longhouse chief and then the new tribal chiefs for next year were picked. The campfire closed with the traditional torch light parade.

After Sunday chapel service led by Clifford Kolb, fathers and sons had free time to hike the hills of Camp Silver Lake and take advantage of other camp activities.

The Union Y-Indian Guides will be participating in the Memorial Day parade.

Those families wishing information about this program for boys in first and second grades should call the Five Points YMCA, 687-5770.

Adoption society reports placements

Five adoption placements have been made with childless Union County couples during the first three months of 1969 by the Children's Aid and Adoption Society of New Jersey.

According to the society's 1969 first-quarter service report, released for publication today the society's adoption placement figure on a statewide basis for 1969 was 63, measured against a comparable figure of 56 for 1968.

The Children's Aid and Adoption Society of New Jersey was founded in 1899. It is a privately financed, statewide, non-racial, non-sectarian adoption agency serving unmarried mothers and other parents seeking to place their offspring for adoption, and childless couples looking to adoption as a means to end their childless state.

Hectic housewife happy Earns degree in landscaping

When Carol Kalish, mother of two and fledgling businesswoman, receives her bachelor's degree from Rutgers University, New Brunswick, Wednesday, she's hoping her life becomes a little less hectic.

But she's not taking any bets on it.

Parsekian reports crime unit findings

The complete text of the Democratic candidate for governor, Ned Parsekian's Task Force on Organized Crime and Official Corruption was released at a press conference last week at the Military Park Hotel.

Parsekian said, "The Task Force has made 30 recommendations that should be given serious consideration by all gubernatorial aspirants to whom I mailed a copy of the report.

"However," stated Parsekian, "I believe two recommendations should be implemented immediately.

"One, prosecutors who are now appointed by the governor after only a screening of political bosses should not be approved by the governor unless they pass a screening committee of the Bar Association, the Supreme Court and distinguished citizens. This would help eliminate political prosecutors who involve themselves in political campaigns for their personal security.

"Two, New Jersey should adopt a system similar to England's subsidy of local police forces. The subsidy would aid local police forces that would adopt standards of salaries, qualifications, training of law enforcement officers. It would also enable us to regionalize and modernize crime laboratories and communication systems for the apprehension of criminals in our more than 500 separate police forces."

VOTER DRIVE—Mrs. Ellen Samuel, left, and Mrs. Meredith McGuire, right, wives of NDC freeholder candidates Richard I. Samuel and Dr. David K. McGuire, painstakingly compile lists of registered Democratic voters at Board of Elections in Elizabeth for use in campaign for June 3 primary. Meanwhile, the NDC sued the Union County Democratic Committee for access to its lists and obtained a permanent injunction which prohibits municipal chairmen from using the lists if they do not make them available to insurgent states.

McDaniel:NDC's campaign continues 'task of Kennedys'

"The qualities of youth, intelligence and trust, that so marked the political careers of John and Robert Kennedy, are the guiding stars of the New Democratic Coalition primary campaign," Dr. Adam McDaniel, three-term Rahway councilman and NDC freeholder candidate, said this week.

"The task of the Kennedys in forging a unified and just America remains undone," Dr. McDaniel said, "and the NDC, with the only bi-racial state in the county, works toward those ends."

"The Union County Democratic organization acts as if the pre-1960s 'politics and government as usual' is still acceptable to the voters," he Rahway dentist continued, "but we know that it will no longer be tolerated, and the June 3 primary will prove it."

"To be sure, government as usual won't do for the rehabilitation of narcotics addicts," Dr. McDaniel said. "What kinds of priorities quite to control than we do on addict rehabilitation, when about one-third of the inmates at the county jail are addicts who just lie around."

Richard I. Samuel of Westfield and Dr. David K. McGuire of Union, also NDC freeholder candidates, urge that a fresh look be taken at county government.

"The recent report of the Musto Commission on County and Municipal Government has accurately portrayed county government as a mess," Samuel said. "Invisible county government now takes our real estate taxes and spends $26 million in a disorganized and often unwise manner."

"I have suggested," Samuel continued, "that an elected county executive, supported by professional administration, would provide government visible, responsible and accountable to the people, and the Musto Commission agrees."

Another county function, support of higher education, must be expanded, according to Dr. McGuire, an Upsala College professor. "The tragic situation at Newark Rutgers, which get black against white for the precious few low-tuition student places available in this state, can be greatly improved if county government increases its support of the community college system," he said.
