Capt. Funcheon with liaison unit

CAMP LEJUNE, N.C.—Captain James J. Funcheon, USMC, Springfield, N.J., is one of the Marine Corps Reserve officers on active duty this summer with the Camp Lejeune Reserve Liaison Unit, a Marine Base unit assigned the task of coordinating the Reserve activities.

He is assigned as a training assistant and coordinates, supervises, and evaluates the two-week annual training of Marine Corps Reserve units this summer throughout the nation.

Born in Summit in 1940, he had his family soon moved to Springfield and he graduated from Jonathan Dayton Regional High School there in 1962. Funcheon graduated from Seton Hall University with a bachelor of science degree in education.

During the winter months Capt. Funcheon teaches at the Florence-Gaudinier School and attends Newark State College in Union, where he is studying for his master's degree. He resides in Springfield with his wife, Angie, and their daughter, Jennifer Anne.

School's computer proves unbeatable as gaming 'house'

The computer programming class at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, took a gamble during summer school and it paid off—for the computer.

Instructor Richard Fleischer and his students programmed their IBM 1620 computer to play some games of chance, including black jack, dice and roulette, with them.

"Programming the computer to act as the 'house' in a game of chance is more complex than programming it for straight math problems. Therefore, this method becomes a helpful tool in the course," Fleischer said.

For one thing, he said, "there are more options involved. The computer, or the house, won every time. In the ' Vegas' the player at least has a chance of winning."

In the dice game for instance, the computer was able to keep track of its windings and the player's losses. In black jack, it was able to "deal" to as many as six players at a time.

The students also programmed a "one-arm bandit" or slot machine. Instead of coming up with lemons and oranges, the computer flashed number combinations.

Several popular games were also programmed, including a numerical game called Nim and another called Instant Insanity.

Taking part in the summer course, of which gambling programming played just a part, were Benjamin Stein and Paul Laneri of Clark, Peter Newman and Paul Laneri of Springfield and Sandy Junker and Curtis Carnes of Mountainside.

He's just too heavy a sleeper — loses pants, cash to burglar

A resident of Glenview drive, Springfield, lost a pair of brown pants Friday and was lucky he didn't lose his shirt as well.

Springfield police report that someone entered the house during the night and stole the pants which were hanging on the bedroom door. Inside the pants was a wallet containing more than $200 in cash, three checks and credit cards. The wallet was recovered minus only the cash, but whoever lifted the trousers must have decided he liked them—the pair of pants is still missing.

Theodore Conklin of 29 Baltusar way reported the theft on Monday of his 1962 black Chevrolet two-door sedan. Two other thefts involving automobiles were reported on Monday. At the Quality Court Motel, Rt. 22, a car operated by William Earl Kleinsmith of Quindar Electronics was broken into. One yellow raincoat, one tan leather raincoat and one black attaché case were reported missing. Another car, parked at Runyon Sales Corp., Rt. 22 at Adam rd., was found jacked up with one tire and the battery stolen.

Quality Court Motel also reported a 21-inch General Electric portable television set missing Thursday morning; Joseph Salzano, one of the owners of Studio 11, 2411 Morris ave., reported the theft of $20 cash, six inexpensive rings and four inexpensive pins. According to police, the premises was entered, possibly by slipping the lock on the rear door.

Dr. Cohen named to head Du Pont's new products unit

Dr. Abraham B. Cohen of Springfield has been appointed manager, new products development, for the Du Pont Company's Photo Products Department, reporting to the director of research and development. He will be responsible for initiating and managing new commercial ventures arising from the department's exploratory research laboratories in the U.S. and Germany.

Since 1966 he has been manager of a new venture which introduced a new photofabrication system for electronic circuit panels, now widely used in the computer and aerospace industries. Du Pont new ventures are set up like small independent businesses with worldwide responsibility for technical, marketing and manufacturing activities vested in the venture manager.

Dr. Cohen, formerly of Philadelphia, received an A.B. degree in chemistry from Temple University in 1948, and a Ph.D. in organic chemistry from Cornell University in 1952. He then joined Du Pont's Parlin Research Laboratory as a research chemist, was promoted to research supervisor in 1955.

FAMILY LIFE TODAY

When was the last time you or your husband shotered "fun-down-the-radio" — the last time "I'll tell you!" How did your teenager react?

Did he respond first with a look of disgust, then reduce the volume just a wee bit? Chances are he thought, "What's wrong with Mom and Dad? They just don't appreciate good music!"

What is the matter? Why don't you appreciate your teenager's choice of music? Noise is a part of the problem. Your husband and you may come from your expecting some peace and quiet. Everyone needs a break, and your husband from the pressures of your job. Your teenager, who has been in school all day now has his freedom and wants to release pent up energy.

One way for your teenager to release his energy is through those "with it" tunes from a loud radio or blaring record player.

It takes a lot of understanding and remembering too. The problem is more than noise; it's the music teenage girls prefer. "Who thinks up that junk?" you ask. "Mean while, your teenager may be heard to say, "Man, isn't that cool?"

Take a minute to recall your own teenage days. The jazz band of a generation ago is that different from the combo of today?

You do, however, have a right to be heard. Listening moments in your own home, please take a few minutes to decide when your teenager can play "his type" of music and when he should try to avoid extremes.

Boy cyclist hurts ankle

A 13-year-old boy suffered a sprained ankle Saturday when his bicycle collided with an automobile in front of 585 Morris ave., Springfield. Bert R. Erickson, 33 of Union told Springfield police that he was driving eastbound on Morris avenue when the boy, Robert Kenney, ran into his right rear door with the bicycle. Kenney's father, a doctor, refused hospital treatment for the boy.

In another accident, Livid J. Smith, Jr., 21, of Plainfield was issued a summons for leaving the scene. Police report that Smith was traveling west on Rt. 22 when his car went off the highway near the Chu Dynasty and struck a pole. The driver then fled the scene, returned and then fled again. Police said. The car, a 1959 Oldsmobile, was totally wrecked.

A GREAT BANK TO GROW WITH

1st Quarter Profits Rose Sixty Percent at 1st State Bank

UNION, N.J. — First-quarter profits of The First State Bank of Union rose 60 percent from $64,000 last year to $103,000, it was announced today by Frank M. Pitt, president. The pre-tax profit was 33 cents for the period ending March 31, an increase of 21 cents over 32 cents for the corresponding quarter a year ago. The per-share earnings are based on 255,966 shares outstanding at the end of 1968.

Pitt said that prospects for the year were good, although he did not expect results for the last three quarters to sustain the pace of the first three months.

The First State Bank president said non-recurring expenses in connection with the change of name that has been approved by shareholders would depress earnings later in the year. Additionally, Pitt pointed out, The First State Bank has applied to the Commissioner of Banking and Insurance for permission to establish branch offices in other parts of New Jersey's banking district number two, which includes Union County. "If any of these should be approved this year," he said, "the expenses of launching new branches would necessarily serve to cut into our profits for 1969."

1st State Bank Moves Into Top 1000

NEW YORK — The First State Bank of Union moved into the top 1,000 banks in the nation, according to the American Banker magazine's annual roll call. The American Banker issue published February 22 indicated that the Union, New Jersey bank jumped from 1066 in 1967 to 981 in 1968.

The First State Bank, which was opened in 1953, has moved steadily upwards to its position in the top 1,000 banks. Its assets at the end of 1968 were $85,630,742.09, an increase of $7,020,215.06 over the 1967 figure of $45,600,426.97.

Stockholders Approve Split Of Bank Stock

Stockholders of the First State Bank of Union have approved a 2-for-1 split of the bank's common stock. The action was taken at a special stockholder meeting.

Stockholders also approved a board of directors recommendation to double the number of authorized shares from 125,683 to 251,366.

The stock split will be effective immediately with distribution of the new shares to take place in November.

The First State Bank paid stock dividends of 10 per cent in 1969, three per cent in 1961, 1964 and 1965, and 10 per cent in 1967, in addition to cash dividends each year since 1966.

3-Month Net Up 62 P.C. At Union's First State Bank

First quarter profits of The First State Bank of Union rose 62 per cent from $64,000 last year to $103,000, it was announced today by Frank M. Pitt, president.

The pre-tax profit was 33 cents for the period ending March 31, an increase of 21 cents from the 32 cents for the corresponding quarter a year ago. The per-share earnings are based on 255,966 shares outstanding at the end of 1968.

Pitt said prospects for the year were good, although he did not expect results for the last three quarters to sustain the pace of the first three months.

The First State Bank president said non-recurring expenses in connection with the change of name would depress earnings later in the year.

Additionally, Pitt pointed out, The First State Bank has applied to the commissioner of banking and insurance for permission to establish branch offices in other parts of New Jersey's Banking District 2, which includes Union County.

"If any of these should be approved this year," he said, "the expenses of launching new branches would necessarily serve to cut into our profits for 1969."

Union Bank Plans 3 More Branches

The First State Bank of Union plans to open temporary branch offices in Clark, New Providence and Middlesex locations, as approved last week by the N.J. Department of Banking and Insurance.

The Clark location will be on Raritan Road near Westfield Ave., the New Providence site is 1233 Springfield Ave. and the Middlesex office will be on Route 28 in the vicinity of Garden Place.

The new branches will bring to five the number of First State Bank locations.

Union Bank Considering Expansion

The First State Bank of Union is considering taking advantage of the newly liberalized New Jersey banking laws, Frank M. Pitt, president, told shareholders in his annual message.

Pitt, who described the adoption last year of the new laws as "the most significant development in New Jersey banking," said First State Bank is exploring the possibilities of expansion under the new regulations.

He also said approval of legislation permitting the creation of bank holding companies and allowing branching on a three-tier basis would prove a boon for medium-sized banks as well as for the larger financial institutions.

He said that the old regulations had stifled expansion and contributed to a climate in which meaningful growth was nearly impossible.

Pitt pointed out that the new regulations would permit banks to expand beyond their home counties, thus contributing to their growth.

At the same time, he continued, smaller banks will be able to work together through the formation of holding companies that will contribute to their overall growth.

"We at the First State Bank are confident that we will be in the forefront of this activity as New Jersey begins a new era in banking."

First State Bank Increases Dividend

The board of directors of The First State Bank of Union has voted to increase the bank's annual cash dividend from 90 cents to $1.00 per share. Frank M. Pitt, president, said the first dividend under the new rate — a 10-cent payout — would be paid on June 26, cent payout — would be paid on June 26, cent payout — would be paid on June 26, to shareholders of the 16th consecutive cash dividend paid by the bank.

Pitt said earnings for 1968 were "substantially higher" than in 1967. He estimated that year-end results would be 15 per cent higher than last year's, when the after-tax earnings were $2.20 per share.

Last year, he pointed out, "The First State Bank earnings were 'slightly depressed' because of extraordinary non-recurring costs attendant upon the opening of a new branch in Union's Five Points section. However, the new branches in less than 15 months have begun to contribute to the bank's overall profitability," Pitt added.

Record earnings are reported by First State Bank

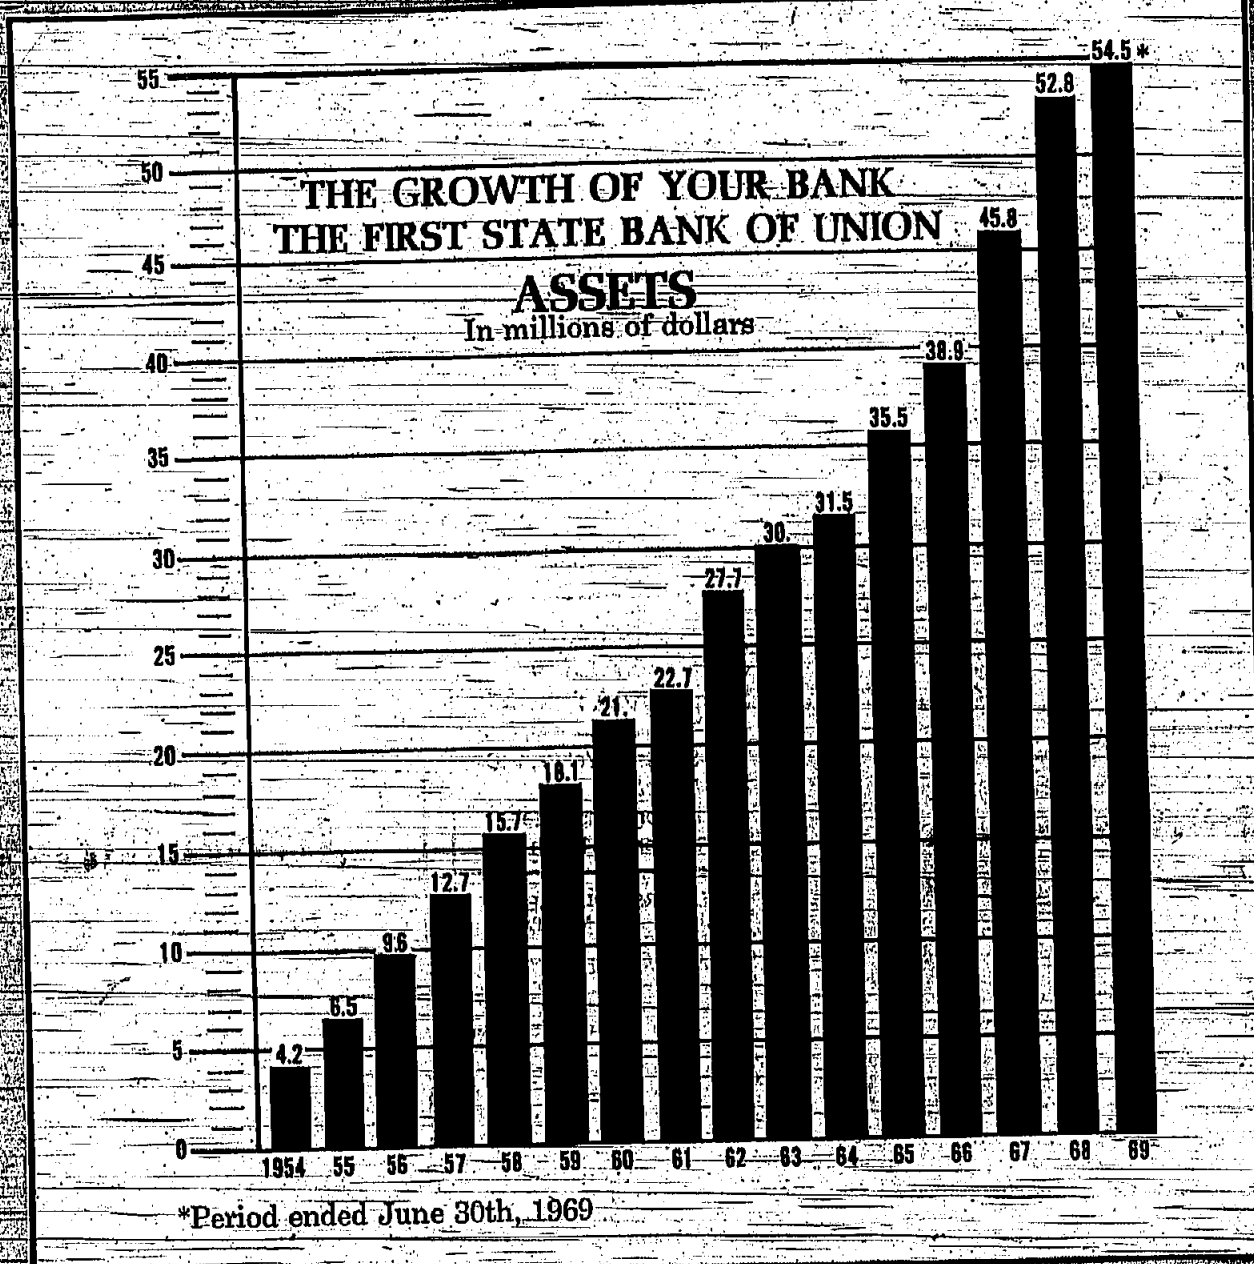

The First State Bank of Union has reported record first-half earnings of $254,000, an increase of 38 percent over the $189,000 earned in the first half of 1968.

Frank M. Pitt, president, also said that the bank's assets jumped to a new high of $85,630,742.09 in the first six months of this year.

Operating income, which rose from $1,300,000 to $1,500,000 for the first half, the per-share earnings increased from 63 cents for the first six months of 1968 to 93 cents for the comparable period this year. The figures are based on approximately 251,000 shares outstanding during the first half of 1968 and approximately 258,000 shares outstanding during the first six months of this year.

Pitt said deposits grew to $48,800,000 from $41,200,000 last year. Loans outstanding increased to $32,500,000, a jump of $5,200,000 from the $27,300,000 on the books June 30, 1968.

Pitt said the pace of the record earnings would not necessarily be sustained during the second half. "The earnings for the first six months reflect the increased profitability of our data processing services operation, as well as the continued upward thrust of business at the Five Points branch, our newest office, which opened only two years ago," he said.

The chart above shows a consistent pattern of remarkable growth in assets by The First State Bank of Union for the past 16 years. We are particularly proud that this growth has accelerated over the past five years — a period during which assets have nearly doubled.

'Minigrant' applications coming in

Teachers seeking aid for innovative projects

The Teacher Innovation Program of the State Department of Education is entering its second year. Applications already are rolling in from teachers seeking to secure a "minigrant" to help them carry out a creative project.

The State Legislature has appropriated $100,000 to extend the program into the 1969-70 school year. In the program, teachers planning an innovative project may apply to the Department of Education for a grant of up to $1,000.

Dr. Thomas H. Adams, director of the program, has announced that deadlines for applications for this year are Sept. 3 and Oct. 15. He said the deadlines were set earlier than last year so that the grants can be awarded as early as possible in the school year.

Last year, some 400 projects were submitted for approval, Adams said, and 108 of them were approved and funded by the department. For the most part, the projects submitted very nearly approached the $1,000 limit on each project. However, some projects requested as little as $300 and a few of these were funded.

Adams said that a considerable number of applications already had been received and that he expected the total to exceed that of last year.

"The department has not established program priorities with respect to the types of projects desired," Adams said. "Each project is considered on its individual merits and uniqueness. The spirit of the Teacher Innovation Program is to encourage a genuine 'grass-root' approach to innovative educational experiences."

"Because of the low level of funding, minimal technical assistance is offered by the state. It is our hope that the prime source of ideas generated through this program will be the local district using its own resources."

Adams said that many of the projects undertaken last year had made an impact on the school program and were being retained by the local district as part of the curriculum. For example, he said, a Midland Park project experiment in "mini-course" electives, featuring no grading, is being added to the curriculum for the coming year.

Prof digs 'Harper Valley PTA'

Says country ditty gets down to nitty-gritty

BY DONALD S. ROSSER,
NEW JERSEY EDUCATION ASSOCIATION

City dwellers' votes; the poor people demonstrated; students closed down their schools; but the biggest blow struck against "The Establishment" this year was a song entitled "Harper Valley P.T.A." So successful was this humorous piece of social criticism that at least one college professor is analyzing its deeper meanings.

"Doubtless, the underlying syndrome to which Americans are particularly vulnerable is operating here," says Dr. John Jarolimak, chairman of curriculum and instruction at the University of Washington. That a "little nobody" could confront "one of society's most sacred institutions, the P.T.A. — and win — disarms the listener completely."

"Harper Valley's" success wasn't the music; it was just another country ditty, it wasn't the performer; Jeanie Riley had never had a real hit before. Undoubtedly, the reason for the record's popularity was the anti-establishment story it told.

In the lyrics, a junior high school student relates how her mother, a swinging young widow named Mrs. Johnson, "socked it to the Harper Valley P.T.A." after receiving a note signed by the P.T.A. secretary admonishing her for wearing skirts "way too high," "running around with men," and generally "going wild."

Putting on the "biggest mistake," Misses Johnson rushes right down to the P.T.A. — conveniently then in session — to remind members of their own peccadilloes. One P.T.A. member had asked her for a date seven times. A P.T.A. wife used excessive amounts of ice whenever her husband was out of town. Misses Johnson even asks Mr. Baker, a pillar of society, to explain the suspicious circum-

"The discrepancy between what is preached and what is practiced comes through in a dramatic, plain-talk way," Dr. Jarolimak comments. "This is precisely what young people have been telling us all our society — an attempt on the part of adults to embrace two or more value systems at the same time."

"Harper Valley" points up the "extraordinary scrutiny" that society focuses upon the unattached female. Dr. Jarolimak notes: "It also reminds us of the low tolerance we have for the individual who just happens to conduct his life a bit differently from the conventional and generally accepted patterns."

The Old Testament advises: Let him who is without sin cast the first stone. Says Dr. Jarolimak: "Isn't it sad that 2,000 years later we find precisely the same message again in such an unlikely spot as a meeting

Dems' Jamboree to be held Sept. 10

The Democratic State Committee's Jersey Jamboree will be held Sept. 10 at the National Guard Training Center in Sea Girt. It was announced this week by Salvatore A. Bon-tempo, Democratic State Chairman.

The jamboree will be the party's principal fund-raising event and more than 3,000 supporters of former Governor Robert B. Meyner and the Democratic Assembly candidates are expected to attend. Tickets are $100 each, U.S. Senator Harrison A. Williams Jr. is general chairman of the Jamboree.

of the Harper Valley P.T.A.

"Evidently, self-righteousness is a rather persistent and long-lasting characteristic of human behavior. This, along with the absolutely irresistible urge to stick one's nose into someone else's affairs (presumably in the interest of society), combine to make one somewhat optimistic that songs like 'Harper Valley P.T.A.' will be around for a long time."

College-bound vets get check warning

Several thousand veterans in college this fall will not get the GI education check they expect in November from the Veterans Administration, Administrator, Donald E. Johnson said this week.

Johnson said many who were enrolled in college last semester failed to send in their end-of-term Certification of Attendance card, and cannot be paid in the upcoming school term until they do.

Administrator Johnson said the VA is also holding nearly a half million dollars worth of June GI Bill checks, which cannot be mailed until the attendance card reaches VA computers.

GI Bill college students who did mail in their attendance cards in June will get paid the new term allowances on time — but those who skipped mailing to VA the required card certifying that they had completed the spring term will not get paid until they straighten out their accounts with VA.

"This can be done," Johnson said, by mailing in the 3 x 7 white card with a blue stripe across the top to the VA immediately. If the veteran has lost this Certification of Attendance card, he should get in touch with the VA office which has his records, and ask for another.

Symphony strikes up busiest season

Ambitious schedule leads to Carnegie Hall debut

The New Jersey Symphony Orchestra will make its New York City debut Jan. 14 in Carnegie Hall as the highlight of what will be the busiest season of public performances in its history.

Plans for the Carnegie Hall concert were announced by Joseph Leavitt, manager of the orchestra, who also outlined the full season of public appearances, all under the baton of Henry Lewis, the symphony's music director.

Marilyn Horne, world famous soprano and wife of Lewis, will sing with the New Jersey Symphony when it performs in New York. The same program, also with Miss Horne as soloist, will be given at Symphony Hall, Newark, four days earlier, on Saturday evening, Jan. 10.

The principal elements of the remainder of the season are these:

A highly active series of suburban concerts encompassing at least 17 dates in seven communities: Millburn, Morristown, Hackensack, Morristown, Summit, Westfield and Wayne. The dates in Wayne, Morristown, Westfield and Summit will mark the first time the orchestra has played in any of those communities.

A new series of four "Dollar Concerts" at Symphony Hall, at which most of the seats in the hall — which is the orchestra's home base — will be made available at one dollar each, this series is being undertaken, Leavitt said, to fulfill the determination of the orchestra's leadership to bring the symphony's program to a broader audience, including many persons in the low income bracket who live in or near Newark.

Soloists for the coming season, besides Miss Horne, are to be Toshiya Eto, Berl Senofsky and Erick Friedman, violinists, and pianists Nerine Barrett and Anthony di Bonaventura. All are to appear at suburban concerts. One or more soloists also will probably be engaged for the Dollar Series in Newark.

Leavitt, who became manager of the Symphony only this June, noted that the 1968-70 seasons late in its presentation to the public. This was the result of the four-month period during which the orchestra's management and union were seeking to settle a difference which had cut short the previous season and caused the cancellation of the concerts set for this summer at the Garden State Arts Center. A settlement was announced jointly by union and management on July 2.

THE NEW MANAGER NOTED also that besides embarking on the busiest schedule of public concerts in its history, the New Jersey Symphony plans during the coming season to engage in the broadest program of educational concerts. Leavitt said he is currently engaged in contacting school groups around the state in an effort to complete arrangements of this phase of the orchestra's upcoming schedule. All told, he said, the orchestra will perform some 60 times, including public and student performances during the upcoming season, and summer activity following.

The program for the Carnegie Hall appearance, and the "Gala Preview" to be given in Newark four nights earlier, was the only one announced in detail. In it Miss Horne and the symphony perform excerpts from two Rossini works, the Sieges of Corinth and L'italiana in Algeri, and from the opera Orfeo by Gluck. The Gamarrata Singers, a prominent New York choral group, will participate in the performance of the pieces from Orfeo and the Sieges of Corinth. This chorus is directed by William Kaplan.

The Dollar Series concerts are to take place on four weekend dates, one each in November, December, February and March. Specific dates are to be announced later.

A benefit concert is planned for either October 18 or 19 at Symphony Hall, the date to be determined by the availability of star performers who are to participate. Proceeds from this concert are to be dedicated to the support of the dollar series.

THE 17 SUBURBAN DATES break down as follows:
Five Friday-Saturday night pairs of concerts

UAW backs vote for 18-year-olds, LUV head reports

The United Auto Workers recently endorsed the November referendum that calls for the 18-year-old vote, according to Roger Jacobs of 895 Douglas Ave., Union, chairman of "Let Us Vote" (LUV).

Joel Jacobsen, director of community affairs for the UAW, said "the community action program of region nine of the UAW has endorsed the 18-year-old vote referendum." Jacobsen said the region is "urging our 50,000 auto workers in New Jersey and all their families to support the referendum when they vote."

Members of LUV, said Jacobs, are seeking support for a "yes" vote on the referendum. Members of the group are also looking for endorsements from civic and political organizations, private citizens, public officials and the candidates of both major parties in the November election.

Rep. Henry Helstoski (D-N.J.), whose son is LUV chairman in Bergen County, has supported the effort, saying he feels 18-year-olds "are capable now of taking a responsible part in determining our national future." Salvatore Bontampone, whose son is Morris County chairman of LUV, informed Jacobs that the Democratic Party for 1969 "includes strong support for a 'yes' vote" on what he termed a "vital question."

Navy offers college and commission

The Regular Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps (NROTC) offers the college-bound student a chance to earn a degree and a commission at the same time. The Regular NROTC is a program designed to train career officers for the Navy and Marine Corps. The program includes payment by the Navy of tuition, educational fees, textbooks, uniforms and provides a $50 monthly subsistence allowance to its members for four years. Selected candidates are enlisted in the U.S. Naval Reserve and are appointed midshipmen upon enrollment in college. The college majors which a candidate may undertake are many and only a few non-technical professional majors are prohibited. During the summer between college years, midshipmen participate in a series of training periods which provide practical experience in naval operations and from which they receive many varied and rewarding experiences. Upon graduation, midshipmen may be commissioned as ensigns in the Navy or as second lieutenants in the Marine Corps. Further information on the program may be obtained from the nearest Navy Recruiting Station listed in the telephone directory or from the Chief of Naval Personnel (Pers-56411), Department of the Navy, Washington D.C. 20370.

Don't injure green thumbs Power mower hints offered

Power mower accidents this year alone will affect the future of hundreds of persons who get their feet or hands in the way of the rotating mower blades, a national safety expert warned this week. "Almost everyone has heard about a few power mower mishaps involving well-known personages, but few persons realize how many of these accidents are occurring annually throughout our country," says Don Costa, safety director for the Allstate Insurance Companies. Although most power mowers appear harmless and are designed to operate safely, they are dangerous when misused, Costa warns. Lethal injuries are comparatively infrequent; however, the so-called minor injuries can be costly and, all too often, disabling. A mower can clip fingers, including the ring finger, that get in its way. If the blade hits a stone or piece of glass, the object can be hurled with enough force to kill.

The primary danger of power mowers is direct contact with the blade. About one power mower injury in seven is an amputation. "But while nearly half of all power mower accidents were cutting the grass when they were hurt, other injuries occurred in lifeing the mower, trying to start the mower, removing foreign objects from the blades or taking off the grass catcher," Allstate's safety spokesman points out. With increased use of power mowers, it is essential that the public be aware of the dangers involved in their operation. Allstate offers the following tips for power mower users:

1. Always disconnect the spark plug whenever you want to work on the underside of the mower, as well as when you are refueling.
2. Thoroughly inspect the lawn before beginning to mow and clear it of all sticks, stones, wire and other debris.
3. Never fill the tank indoors and never fill the tank when the engine is running or still hot.
4. Mow only when the grass is dry and never use a power mower with bare feet. Wear heavy shoes, preferably safety shoes, while working. Thousands of toes are amputated or mangled every year when feet slip under the blade housing.
5. Keep children out of the area you are mowing. They are likely to run into moving parts or against the hot exhaust pipe. Never let anyone get in line with the grass discharge.
6. Stop the motor whenever you leave the mower. Children are quick to try to operate the unattended mower. Allstate points out. Never give them a chance to get seriously hurt.
7. Learn how to disengage the clutch or stop the motor quickly in case of emergency.
8. Never allow youngsters or inexperienced persons to operate a power mower.
9. Cut grass sideways on hills and banks, not up and down.
10. Stand firmly behind the machine and stay in step with it. Don't run.
11. Do not use an electric power mower when grass is wet or when it's raining. Electric mowers should have the frame grounded through the cord.
12. Have your mower serviced annually by an expert.

Whyte hired as resource investigator

Author and conservationist William H. Whyte has been hired as a consultant to the New Jersey Commission on Open Space Policy, Whyte, author of "The Last Landscapes," began his duties with the unit Aug. 1. The appointment was made by former State Senator John A. Waddington, chairman of the commission, in conjunction with Senator Wayne Dumont, Jr., (R-Harmon, Sussex, Warren), Vice-chairman. Waddington said the commission members are "delighted to have obtained Whyte's assistance, since the author's services are in high demand throughout the country. His name was mentioned by many of us as far back as last March. It's taken this long before he could clear up some of his other engagements and work with us," Waddington said. Whyte, who is also a member of the American Conservation Association, will assist the commission in its effort to review, evaluate and coordinate all available studies and information relating to land use, open spaces and land and water resources in New Jersey. Following the review, he is expected to point out areas in need of further investigation. If, however, it is determined that the information already compiled is sufficient, Whyte will advise and work with the commission in drafting recommendations for immediate action.

New Jersey farm brochure published by Public Service

A new edition of "The Riches of New Jersey," a 24-page booklet produced by Public Service Electric and Gas Company, has rolled off the presses. The booklet has been hailed by Phillip Alampi, New Jersey Secretary of Agriculture, as a "truly beautiful tribute to New Jersey agriculture and the products of its farms." Lavishly illustrated with original art and new-color photographs of Garden State farms, the publication features recipes using New Jersey asparagus, apples, eggs, cranberries, milk, potatoes, tomatoes, blueberries, and peaches. The book is now being distributed by Public Service. "This concentrated effort on the part of our largest public utility to bring the importance of New Jersey agriculture to the attention of all New Jersey citizens deserves a heartfelt vote of thanks from every farmer in the Garden State," said Alampi. "As Secretary of Agriculture, I am delighted to lead the applause. Public Service has long been a supporter of the cause of agriculture in New Jersey, recognizing that our farms and their products are a valuable asset to the Garden State," said Alampi. "Many outstanding examples of the firm's cooperation with the State Department of Agriculture and other agricultural agencies could be cited. Its home economic staff has long made prominent mention of New Jersey products and has used them in demonstrations and cooking schools before thousands of homemakers. Its Newark headquarters has frequently been the site of agricultural exhibitions jointly sponsored by the public utility firm and the State Department of Agriculture. Windows of its Newark and branch offices have been repeatedly used for agricultural displays. "The new edition of "Riches of New Jersey" is one more indication of the interest Public Service has long displayed in the cause of agriculture and agribusiness. A series of investments about the New Jersey products has been prepared by the company's advertising department.

ICBO offering courses in business operations

Malcolm L. Corbin, executive director of the Inter-County Council For Business Opportunity of New Jersey, 24 Commerce St., Newark, has announced the fall semester courses in the ICBO educational program. The courses will be given at the Rutgers Newark Law School and will start the week of Sept. 22. Record keeping, bookkeeping, basic business management and advanced business management will be given in consecutive nights. Each session is two hours and 10 sessions complete the course. Certificates are given to those students who complete the requirements. The courses are free and are given as a community service to minority groups to prepare them for a career in business. Prospective students can enroll by mail or by telephone by contacting Bernard H. Superstein, education director, at the ICBO office, 24 Commerce St., Newark, at 622-4771. Record keeping will instruct the entrepreneur, or would-be entrepreneur, in the hows and whys of records and their importance to the business man. Inventory records, pay-roll, bank checking account reconciliations, petty cash handling and budgeting will be discussed. Bookkeeping will continue into profit and loss statements, balance sheets, T accounts, and other elements of bookkeeping theory and practice. Basic business management discusses such questions as "Do I belong in business?", selecting a location, negotiating a lease, how to buy, how to sell, fraud protection, and credit selling. Advanced business management gets into the areas of borrowing money to expand your business, net worth, advertising, business law, insurance, investing, the stock market, business vocabulary, and the sophisticated aspects of entrepreneurship. The ICBO is a voluntary organization formed to help minority group members to organize and operate their own businesses. Through the use of volunteers from the business community, applicants are given from one-to-one counseling in their specific business areas.

Compare cost of credit

If you plan to buy on credit, determine how much credit-buying will cost you. You can compare the credit cost in actual money terms by comparing the dollar cost for using the same amount of credit for the same period of time at several different dealers or lenders. Or, you can compare the annual percentage rate you may be charged for the use of credit at different places.

Mr. and Mrs. Dominick J. Petrucelli of Hillside have announced the engagement of their daughter, Janet, to Sidney Albert Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney H. Smith of 214 Newark ave., Union.

The bride-elect, who was graduated from Hillside High School, is a senior at Montclair State College, where she is majoring in home economics. She is employed by McKenzie and Held, attorneys in Union. Her fiancé, who was graduated from Union High School, attended Newark State College.

Thursday August 14, 1969. He is employed by Solomon's Sporting Goods in Elizabeth. A June 1970 wedding is planned.

Fleas can infest the home during summer season

Along with mildew, rust, fungus growth, ants and wasps, another summertime problem can be an infestation of fleas, reports Carolyn F. Yukius, Senior County Home economist.

"This can happen with or without the presence of a dog or cat in the home. Although, normally, when pets are allowed outdoors more in the summertime, the chances are greater for them to pick up fleas.

Lawns can harbor fleas and can infest neighboring houses when either human or pet traffic is in and out.

Fleas are small wingless, jumping insects. The sides of their bodies are flattened which enables them to crawl between hairs.

Fleas must have a blood meal to complete their life cycle. The blood may come from cats, dogs or even man. After the meal, fleas are able to lay eggs on the body of the host. The eggs will drop to the floor or ground and hatch into small larvae that feed on any kind of organic matter.

Within two to three weeks the larvae change into blood-sucking adult fleas. With this life cycle it is quite possible for fleas to infest the home and furnishings for an indefinite time unless control measure are taken.

The first step in control is to kill the fleas on your pet. For this, you may use a commercial powder that contains pyrethrum, malathion or carbaryl for cats and for dogs you can also use rotenone.

Next, spray the sleeping box or basket and the surrounding area with a five-percent DDT solution.

For treatment of baseboards, carpets, or furniture that has become infested use DDT sprays, or dust in mild infestations. Wash or spray a band of five-percent DDT household spray on the floor along the baseboards. This treatment usually eliminates fleas in a few days.

In heavy infestations, distribute a fine layer of 10 percent DDT over the present carpet dust over rugs.

It is a good idea to apply this dust just before retiring for the night. The next morning any rug area can be cleaned with a vacuum cleaner.

Regardless of what insecticide you use, wash your hands thoroughly after using and avoid any contamination of food, dishes or cooking utensils.

3 faculty members receive promotions at Union College

The promotion of three faculty members of Union College, Cranford to the rank of associate professor was announced this week by Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, acting president.

The new associate professors are Oscar Fishel, of Jackson Township, Dr. Alice Hunt of Manaloking and George P. Zirnits of Franklin Township.

Prof. Fishel joined the Union College faculty in 1960 as an English instructor. He is a graduate of Brown University and attended Harvard Law School. He earned a master of arts degree at Rutgers University, where he is now studying for his doctorate.

For the past several years he has served as director of the Union College Creative Writing Workshop for high school students. Prof. Fishel, a native of England, is married and the father of two children.

Dr. Hunt, a member of the mathematics department, joined the Union College faculty in 1959. She earned her bachelor's, master's and doctoral degrees at New York University. Dr. Hunt previously taught at Lafayette College, Chambersburg, Pa. She has published several articles in her field.

Prof. Zirnits, an alumnus of Union College, joined the full-time faculty as an assistant professor of English in 1965. He is a graduate of Rutgers University where he was a Henry Rutgers Scholar. He earned a master of arts degree at New York University and has taken additional graduate work at Rutgers University and N.Y.U.

A former instructor at Newark College of Engineering, Prof. Zirnits is a member of the Delta Phi Alpha, honorary Gorman fraternity, an honorary faculty member of Omicron Delta Kappa, leadership fraternity, and a member of the American Association of University Professors, the College English Association and the National Council of Teachers of English.

For three years, he served as judge of the annual essay contest of the National Council of Teachers of English and served on the Student Advisory Board of the Downtown Branch of the Newark YW-YMCA.

Fresh outdoors for ghetto youngsters

Sleep-away camp set up by college students

A group of concerned Rutgers-Newark students made it possible this week for 50 children of the Newark ghetto to chuck the summer heat, noise and grime of the city slums for the fresh outdoors of a summer camp.

Tucked away among tall oaks, maples and mountain ash at a cool elevation of more than 300 feet, the camp, "Scout Acres," provided the perfect camping ground for kids. The camp is operated by Robert Treat Council No. 349, Boy Scouts of America and is located near Denville.

For the ghetto boys and girls, aged 9 through 12, many of whom had never slept away from home, it proved to be a big experience. "There have been arts and crafts, swimming at the nearby Bonton public beach on the Rockaway River, volleyball, baseball and other games and hiking along the many trails that lead from the camp site," declared Len Matarese, a 21-year-old junior at Rutgers Newark College. A student who initiated the project and has been its coordinator.

With the help of male and female students as counselors, the children have participated in numerous skits, have taken day trips to nearby farms and have been shown movies.

The project, which is being handled by the financial assistance of student groups, business organizations and individual members of the Board of Governors of Rutgers.

The political science major, who serves as managing editor of "The Rutgers Observer," Rutgers Newark's student newspaper, last year arranged a day-care program in Buffalo. At that time he was attending the University of Buffalo. This spring Matarese decided to carry out a similar program on a much broader scale—namely, a sleep-away camp for disadvantaged Newark youngsters.

At first, he discussed it with his fiancee, Marilyn Chastock-Invignton. In June she was graduated from Rutgers with a degree in sociology. They printed a circular, distributed it to the student body and advertised it in "The Observer" in an effort to solicit support.

The circular drew the interest of a group of graduate students in sociology, who had been conducting their own educational and recreational program for Newark ghetto children who live on Bedford street in the Central Ward.

Two of the students, Rose Busel and Judith Shillcock, both of Newark, chose the first batch of children for the camp program and became principal volunteers in helping to recruit other children, registering them and arranging for their pre-camp physical examinations.

Other children were enrolled through the Rutgers Student Volunteer Program, a student organization that works with various city agencies, and St. Michael's Church on Broadway in Newark.

Raising funds for renting the camp site and purchasing food, camping equipment, some clothes, insurance and other miscellaneous items proved the biggest job, according to Fen-

It was of Wycloff, who played a large part in soliciting financial contributions.

Some $2,000 was collected from a variety of sources. The Student Council of Newark College of Arts and Sciences and the College of Nursing and the Program Board each donated $200, the Student Bar Association of Rutgers Law School contributed $250, and the remaining monies came from individuals including members of the Board of Governors, students, faculty members and other concerned citizens in Newark and surrounding communities.

Two business organizations also pitched in. The H.G. McCully Chapter of the Telephone Pioneers of America, made up of retired and active employees of New Jersey Bell Telephone Co., purchased 50 bathing suits for the young campers. The Burgess Battery Co. of Freeport, Ill., on the basis simply of a random phone call, contributed 12 Safari camping lights worth $360.

In addition, a bus operated by the Community Relations Bureau of the Newark Police Department provided transportation for the children to the camp site and the Rutgers Newark Physical Education Department loaned the campers a variety of sports equipment.

"All in all," said Matarese, "this week at camp has been the product of a large cooperative effort and you can tell by the smiles on the kids' faces they're enjoying it to the hilt."

Rain hinders start of Girl Scout camp

Rain, rain and still more rain marred the start of the third day camp session last week at Washington Rock Girl Scout Council's Camp Snaawk, Greenbrook.

When the weather cleared, Girl Scouts from Piscataway, South Plainfield, Watchung, Westfield, Linden, Roselle, Roselle Park and Mountainside centered their activities upon an International Friendship theme. Foreign costumes and customs, arts and crafts and international cooking were featured in the first week's program.

Sixteen Cadette Girl Scouts from the Crossroads Girl Scout Council joined Washington Rock Cadettes in a mini-roundup at Snaawk. A flag dedication ceremony highlighted the second week of day camp activities.

Dr. Guzik is appointed to national swim board

Joseph Peingold, chairman of the athletic committee of the Eastern Union County YM-YWHA, Union, this week announced the appointment of Dr. Joseph Guzik of Roselle as a member of the swim committee of the National Jewish Welfare Board.

Dr. Guzik chairs the local "Y" swim committee. He is a member of the staff of the Union Memorial Hospital.

The "Y's" fall swim program will be released Sept. 1.

THE SEARCH FOR HEALTH

REPORT FROM THE NATIONAL INSTITUTES OF HEALTH

An estimated 110,000 new cases of skin cancer will be reported in the United States this year. Deaths from skin cancer will be about 2,000—the lowest mortality rate for any type of cancer.

Why the low rate? For one reason, skin cancer can be seen so readily even in its early stages. Today 95 percent of skin cancer patients are free of their disease following medically approved treatment, and scientists believe this rate will increase to 98 or even 100 percent when patients seek medical attention early enough.

While the skin is constantly subject to abuse by external elements, such as infections or irritations, resulting abnormalities are usually benign.

However, abnormalities are sometimes malignant. If so, they develop as two main kinds of skin cancer: squamous cell cancer and basal cell cancer. Basal cell cancer occurs more frequently and grows more slowly. It rarely leaves the skin, but if left untreated it can extend to the underlying bone. Squamous cell cancer occurs much less frequently, but is a greater hazard because of its more frequent tendency to spread to other tissues and organs. From outward appearance, it is often not possible to distinguish between the two types of skin cancer; in some cases they even resemble benign growths.

The exposed parts of the body—face, neck, forearms and backs of the hands—are the most common sites for skin cancer. In general, skin cancer is characterized by a dry, scaly patch or pimple which persists, by an inflamed area with a crusty center, or by a pigmented, pearl nodule which may eventually ulcerate.

Two main forms of skin cancer treatment are X-ray and surgery. X-ray treatment includes skin desloughing by heat and freezing. Sometimes one treatment is sufficient; other times repeated treatments are necessary. In some cases a combination of therapy may be employed.

Today, the sun is the leading cause of skin cancer. Other less common causes are coal tar, pitch, arsenic compounds, paraffin oil, radium and X-rays, none of which now constitutes a major skin cancer hazard because their potential danger is understood and their use carefully regulated.

Anyone may develop skin cancer, but its most frequent victim are people with fair, ruddy or sandy complexions who are exposed to a great amount of sun. Such people may well avoid excessive exposure to the sun's rays. Deliberate "tanning" not only increases the chances of skin cancer development, but also accelerates the aging appearance of the skin.

Most medical scientists agree that certain other factors must be present in addition to the external forces which make certain persons develop skin cancer. Much research is being carried out at the National Institutes of Health—in Bethesda, Md., by the National Cancer Institute to discover these factors. Moreover, investigators there are elsewhere are constantly seeking better methods for preventing, diagnosing and treating basal cell and squamous cell cancer.

Caldwell accuses GOP Freeholders of wasting millions

Former Democratic Freeholder Hugh Caldwell charged this week that the new Union County Garage in Elizabeth is a "white elephant."

Caldwell laid the blame for the faulty structure on Republican Freeholders. "It's really no concern of mine if the Republicans want to use a 'White Elephant' as their party's political symbol, but when their blunders and bungling has already cost $2,000,000 and they are now discussing the possibility of razing the structure and starting all over again, the association of the 'White Elephant' garage and 'White Elephant' Republican Freeholders should be too painful for any voter to sustain," he said.

Eastern Union Y adds a fifth class to Nursery School

The addition of a fifth class in the Nursery School of the Eastern Union County YM-YWHA in Union and its curriculum schedule for the resumption of classes Monday, Sept. 8, were announced this week by Mrs. Harold Brewster, chairman of youth activities.

The fifth class will accommodate 3 1/2- and 4-year olds in an afternoon session, according to Mrs. Jay Schoenfeld, nursery school chairman. Early registration of children is advocated by Mrs. Schoenfeld to avoid disappointment in starting youngsters in school.

Classes for two groups of three-year olds, which are conducted Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings, are already filled. A waiting list has been started. Two groups for 1 1/2- and 4-year olds will have classes Monday and Thursday from 9:15-11:45 a.m. and from 1:15 to 3:00 p.m. One morning class for four-year olds has a few openings.

Voice box cancer is curable if caught in time, says Knauer

"Cancer is a dangerous stubborn enemy of mankind, but it isn't always lethal, not by a wide margin. For example, if caught in time, cancer of the larynx, or voice box, is readily curable," Dr. Warren Knauer, executive committee chairman of the Union County Unit of the American Cancer Society, said this week.

There are about 6,000 new cases of cancer of the larynx reported each year and only a small percentage of these are fatal, Dr. Knauer said. Due to its relatively low mortality rate, it is estimated there are upwards of 30,000 living Americans who have been cured of this form of cancer, and most of these still manage to talk, despite the absence of vocal chords.

"Cancer of the larynx," Dr. Knauer explained, "is most often cured by surgery, an operation in which the larynx is removed. There are instances, however, where cures have been effected by radiation, especially if the disease is treated early in its course. In any event, a laryngectomy, as the operation is called, is safe and, if performed in time, usually results in a complete cure."

to abandon hope of speaking again, no matter how difficult it may appear at the beginning of the speech training sessions," Dr. Knauer said.

The American Cancer Society, recognizing the urgent need for personalized attention to the individual laryngectomee, helped establish and supports the International Association of Laryngectomees. The IAL is composed of 122 member clubs in some 40 states and in Canada, Britain, Israel, Australia, Japan and New Zealand.

The IAL programs set up seminars and institutes for prospective teachers, public and professional, in first aid and artificial respiration required for laryngectomees.

GI Bill helped officials gain college education

Among the 11.4 million veterans who have received part or all of their education under the GI Bill are prominent U.S. government administration officials, senators, congressmen, governors and noted jurists.

Paul M. Nugent, manager of the New Jersey VA Regional Office, Newark, disclosed on the 25th anniversary of the GI Bill that their beneficiaries include Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, Labor Secretary George P. Shultz, HEW Secretary Robert H. Finch, VA Administrator Donald E. Johnson and Associate Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court Byron R. White.

Also receiving education benefits were Civil Service Commission Chairman Robert E. Hampton and Office of Economic Opportunity Director Donald Rumsfeld.

Called by Rep. P. Bradford Morse of Massachusetts as "one of the greatest pieces of legislation ever enacted by Congress," the GI Bill continues to be of great assistance to returning Vietnam veterans, 60 percent of whom are attending institutions of higher learning. Morse earned his law degree, cum laude, under the GI Bill.

Senators Birch Bayh of Indiana and George McGovern of South Dakota mentioned under the GI Bill and have praised it highly. So have many others.

"No education (for me) without the GI Bill," said Rep. Brock Adams of Washington.

"I received my law degree under the GI Bill," Rep. Albert Watson of South Carolina said.

Nugent also said that the commander of Apollo 11, Astronaut Neil A. Armstrong, the first to land on the moon, studied under the GI Bill at Purdue University and also did graduate work under the same provisions at the University of Southern California.

Commenting on the silver anniversary of the bill, VA Administrator Johnson said: "Some economists have estimated that the nation's $21 billion GI Bill investment in America's veterans will have paid for itself many times over the added taxes which these veterans pay on the increased earnings made possible by the higher education and new or improved skills acquired under the GI Bill."

Thirty-four of the 50 governors are veterans, 16 of whom have taken advantage of the GI Bill. They are: Arch A. Moore of West Virginia, Paul Laxalt of Nevada, William L. Guy of North Dakota, Robert T. Taft of Nebraska, David F. EGOT of New Mexico, Stanley K. Hathaway of Wyoming, Robert Docking of Kansas, Warren E. Hearnes of Missouri and Richard B. Ogden of Illinois.

Ala. Edgar D. Whitcomb of Indiana, William G. Milliken of Michigan, Louis B. Nunn of Kentucky, Keith Miller of Alaska, Daniel J. Evans of Washington, Robert E. McNair of South Carolina and Claude Kirk, Jr., of Florida.

Nugent said veterans who have served after Jan. 31, 1955, should contact the VA Regional Office, 20 Washington pl., Newark 07102 or telephone 645-2150 for information on how to receive benefits under the present GI Bill.

World War II and Korean Conflict veterans hold most of the term policies, Nugent said. Now at an average age of 67 years, World War II veterans in New Jersey who have not converted their insurance will soon find their National Service Life Insurance premiums going up as a result of advancing age.

Permanent insurance costs more to begin with, but the premium rates for permanent insurance never go up. Permanent policies also have loan cash surrenders, paid-up and extended insurance values, whereas term policies do not.

Veterans can obtain detailed information about the various government life insurance permanent plans from the VA Regional Office, 20 Washington pl., Newark, telephone 645-2150.

Flower display planned at fair

The theme of the annual flower show at the Flemington Fair, which opens Tuesday, August 26, and runs through Labor Day, will be "Come to the Flower Fair."

There will be two shows in which entries will be judged. The first show, for amateurs only, will be judged on Tuesday, Aug. 26. Amateurs are classified as individuals who grow flowers and plants for their own pleasure and do not sell them. The second show will be judged on Friday, Aug. 29, with entries from both amateurs and professional growers who grow or sell flowers for profit.

Planning key to trip

Planning is one of the keys to a safe and pleasant trip. June Strelcecki, Director of Motor Vehicles, urges that before leaving on any trip you make sure your car is in good working order, all tires safe and that you have a full tank of gas. Advanced planning of the route and a careful review of all maps you plan to use is wise. Careful consideration should be given to where stops for food, fuel and lodging will be made. Make sure you are well rested before starting your trip.

N.J. jobless rolls up 6,900 in July to 149,400 total

Total unemployment in New Jersey rose by 6,900 to 149,400 from June to July, and the unemployment rate rose by 0.2 to 4.7 percent of the work force, according to estimates of the New Jersey Department of Labor and Industry. This increase resulted from an over-the-month expansion of 12,800 in the number of persons filing claims for unemployment insurance, which more than offset reduced joblessness among students and other non-insured workers.

The rise in claims was about 70 percent higher than the average June-July increase from 1968 to 1968. Most of it may be attributed to more unpaid vacations than usual during July as a result of plant shutdowns and production line changeovers in the manufacturing sector.

Compared with July 1968, the volume of unemployment edged upward by 5,900, and the rate by 0.1 percent. During July, 4,200 workers were involved in labor-management disputes, 2,400 of them from the chemical and electrical machinery industries.

From June to July, the rate of unemployment went up in seven labor areas, down in seven, and remained unchanged in one.

The Department reported that, in August, unemployment will begin its seasonal decline. In September, the withdrawal of summer job-seekers from the labor force and increased hiring by manufacturing firms will reduce unemployment further. Joblessness normally reaches its trough in October.

N. J. community aid programs are regional award winners

Two innovative community assistance programs of the New Jersey Department of Community Affairs have been named as regional winners in the 1969 Urban Development Inter-governmental Awards Program.

The program, sponsored by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), seeks to promote cooperation among all levels of government and to recognize outstanding achievement in the field.

It was the third consecutive year in which the Community Affairs Department had been cited by HUD for these awards. This year's recognition was given for the Debt Management Team of the Division of Local Finance and the State-Local Cooperative Housing Inspection Program of the Division of Housing and Urban Renewal.

Also named as a 1969 regional winner was the State Urban Affairs Council, an independent agency created by Governor Richard J. Hughes in March to focus the attention and resources of New Jersey government on the problems of its urban areas.

Inspection Program, launched in November, 1968, makes use of local housing inspectors to carry out the major portion of the State's registration and inspection of multiple dwellings. Under the Multiple Dwelling Health and Safety Act of 1967, the State is responsible for registering and inspecting an estimated 115,000 hotels, motels, and apartment buildings throughout New Jersey.

UNDER THE PLAN, each participating municipality receives a $10 credit from the Department for every hotel, motel and multiple dwelling which its local inspectors help to register. Later, the municipality receives an additional credit to cover the costs of each building it inspects for the State.

Money received from the credits enables the local governments to expand and upgrade their local inspection capacities. The Depart-

AS REGIONAL WINNERS, all three programs are now in competition for HUD's national inter-governmental cooperation awards, which are expected to be announced this fall.

The debt management team, formed on an experimental basis in May, 1968, works to improve the credit ratings of New Jersey municipalities - municipalities, counties and school districts - in an effort to help them market their bonds at the lowest possible interest rates. Within eight months after its creation, the three-member team had saved local jurisdictions more than $2 million in interest costs.

In addition, the team has provided training and assistance to 278 of the State's 588 municipalities and counties. As of March, 1969, it had provided assistance that affected at least 20 per cent of the dollar volume of New Jersey local bond issues.

The trend to earlier retirement and more leisure time has led to a surging "second home" market in New Jersey and neighboring states.

This is evidenced by lake and shore communities offering weekend or vacation living, or all-year living for many retired persons.

A selection of these homes and homesteads will be featured each week for the next few months in this newspaper.

Flood loans

Small Business Administration, has issued a declaration making disaster loan assistance available in Essex, Union and Warren counties as a result of flooding that commenced July 20 and reached flood proportions July 30. Loan application forms and information may be obtained from the disaster loan office, Lynch said.
Persons whose homes, businesses, personal property, or inventory were damaged or destroyed are eligible for 3 percent loans to make repairs or obtain replacements. The loans may run for as long as 30 years in some cases and are repayable in monthly installments. Loans must be repaid, however, in the shortest period possible without creating undue hardship to the borrower.
The amount of loan is limited to the actual tangible loss, less any insurance funds received.
Personal and business assets must be used by the applicant to the greatest extent feasible to restore disaster-damaged or lost property. In addition, private credit to the extent obtainable on reasonable terms and terms usually used prior to obtaining disaster loan assistance from SBA.

Utilities Service team clobbers Remlinger, 9-0

Last Friday the two division leaders of the Springfield Adult Softball League played each other in the preliminary game before the King and his Court met the Springfield All-Stars at the swim pool field.
Remlinger Real Estate, previously undefeated, was handed its first loss by the Utilities Services team, by a score of 9-1. Bill Savarin was the winning pitcher for Utilities and pitched the best game of the season by allowing the hard-hitting Remlinger club only three hits.
Werner Huehn, the Remlinger third baseman, was responsible for their only run, with a home run in the seventh inning. Huehn had two of Remlinger's three hits, and the other hit came from pitcher, Scott Donington, with two outs in the seventh inning. Donington was charged with his first loss of the season.
Utilities scored in every inning except the fourth. In the first inning, one run was scored on a lead-off double by Norby Wroblewski and a single by Steve Hirschorn to drive in the run. In the second inning, two more runs were scored on a single by John Koneczny and a double by Walt Baker, along with a fielding error which allowed both runs to score.
In the third inning, Utilities scored another run on a triple by Stu Falkin, who later scored on a sacrifice fly. In the fifth inning, Utilities continued putting the game away by scoring two more runs on hits by Norby Wroblewski and Hirschorn and a double by catcher Rich Vedulis.

Utilities finished its scoring in the sixth inning with three runs on a double by Walt Baker, a triple by Joe Pepe and a triple by Bill Savarin.
Tom Burke, the Utilities first baseman, celebrated the arrival of his new 10 pound 6 ounce baby girl that afternoon with some fine defensive plays on the field.
Utilities piled up 13 hits against Remlinger, and the leading hitters were Stu Falkin, Norby Wroblewski, Steve Hirschorn and Joe Pepe, all with two hits, and Walt Baker who had three. The Utilities team also gave a fine defensive effort to gain the victory.
IN THE SECOND GAME, the King and his Court defeated the Springfield All-Stars by a score of 10-1. Eddie (The King) Feigner gave a spectacular pitching exhibition by striking out 13 All-Stars, two in the first inning, one in the second and two in the sixth inning from second base.
The All-Stars only run came in the first inning on a home run by Stu Falkin. The only other All-Star to get a hit off the King was Rich Vedulis.
Feigner drew applause with his pitching and comedy. Catcher Jim Herrick, who has recently returned the team after a tour of military duty in Vietnam, pleased the crowd with his comedy antics.
Mark Bailey, the slugging shortstop, added even more punch to the four-man team with his return to action. Bailey hit a towering home run over the center-field fence in the fifth inning.
Al Jackson, the first baseman for the King and his Court, completed the show with his steady play both on the field and at bat. Jackson served as Eddie's "eyes" when the King pitched blindfolded in the fifth inning. Jackson stood next to Feigner on the mound and described the hitter's stance and where the previous pitch had gone. At the end of the game "the King" began to give his pitching show but had to cut it short because of a sudden rain.

Swimming team dunks West Orange before losing to Cranford, Livingston

The Springfield Community Pool Swim Team went one for three last week with a victory over the West Orange Community Pool, 134-106, on Aug. 5, a 21-147 loss to Cranford on Aug. 6, and a 98-47 defeat at the hands of Livingston, the league champions, on Friday.
In the freestyle event for girls eight and under, Helene Schiller placed second in the West Orange meet with the time of 25.9, and captured another second place in the Livingston meet. Vicky Koppel, swam to a second place finish in the Cranford meet in the same event.
Danny Pepe tallied his eighth consecutive triumph in the boys' freestyle last week by defeating the swimmers from West Orange, Cranford, and Livingston. His finishing times were 19.6, 19.0, and 19.9.
In the freestyle event for girls eight to nine, Alida Studer totaled four points for a second place against West Orange, and a third place against Cranford. At Livingston, Linda Frost took third place.
Pete Cook earned a third place with West Orange in the time of 19.5. Against Cranford, Pete placed third again, but he finished second in the preliminary game before the King and his Court.
The girls' 12 and under backstroke event against West Orange was won by Diane Sparles and second was given to teammate Cathy Alexy. At Cranford, Cathy finished second with Diane placing third. Cathy earned a third place ribbon against Livingston.

Dave Brown took first place in the West Orange meet with teammate Andy Austin placing second. At Cranford, Dave scored a point for a third-place effort and registered a good time of 41.5. In the Livingston meet, Dave finished in 42.5, good enough to capture first.
In the girls' 13-17 backstroke, Sue Grimm easily glided to a first place finish in the West Orange meet. In the Cranford meet Sue placed second, but finished in the good time of 40.0, and she also placed second again against Livingston.
BOB PLANNER'S VICTORY in the boys' 13-17 backstroke came in the Livingston meet with the finishing time of 34.9. Two seconds were awarded him in the West Orange and Cranford meets. His times were 34.3 and 34.0, respectively.
Dona Haws and Carol Bultman headed the lineup for the girls' 12 and under breaststroke event. Dona placed second in the West Orange meet and finished third at Cranford. Teammate Carol placed third in both the West Orange and Livingston meets.
In the boys' 12 and under breaststroke, Brian Hector took first place at the West Orange meet in 45.4. This broke the pool record by 5.8 seconds. Brian also placed first in both the Cranford and Livingston meets. Jerry Harvey placed third in the West Orange and Cranford meets.
The girls' 13-17 breaststroke event saw Sue Foster take a second place in the West Orange meet and a third in the Cranford meet. Michelle Widom swam for the girls against Livingston and finished in third place.
Rick Fuchs took three consecutive firsts in the boys' 13-17 breaststroke. Rick's times were 37.8, 35.7, and 35.0. His run of three places was not limited to the breaststroke but extended into the butterfly as well. Rick finished with three first places in the butterfly events, contributing another 15 points to the team effort. Teammate Marc Marshall finished in second place in the West Orange meet in the time of 46.0.
The girls' 12 and under butterfly was won by Kim Harvey in the West Orange meet in the time of 38.4, and she also captured the Livingston meet event.
Brian Hector won the boys' 12 and under butterfly in both the West Orange and Livingston meets in the times of 45.0 and 47.0. In the Cranford meet, Brian registered a 43.0, but finished third in the field.
In the girls' 13-17 butterfly event, Sue Grimm finished second and Sue Foster third in the West Orange meet. Miss Grimm finished first to a strong Cranford term in the time of 41.9. At Livingston, third was her finishing position.

The boys' 13-17 butterfly was won by Fuchs in all three meets. Rick Hector placed third in all three of the meets. His best registered time was 35.9. Ric, 13, has many more years left to swim for Springfield.
THE GIRLS' 11-12 freestyle at West Orange was won by Kim Harvey in the time of 35.4. Kim also won first at Cranford with the time of 34.9. At Livingston, Kim found herself finishing third in a field of excellent swimmers. Brian Hector and Art Cook finished first and second at the Livingston meet. This was one of very few events that Springfield swimmers won. Brian's time was 36.1, and Art's 35.0. Brian and Art again finished first and second at the West Orange meet. Brian placed third in the Cranford meet and yet finished in a good time of 34.4.
Paula Natello won first place for the team in the girls' 13-14 freestyle event. Claire Porter placed third in both the Livingston and Cranford meets. Paula was unable to swim in either of these meets.
Rick Hector was awarded three first-place ribbons in the three meets in the boys' 13-14 freestyle. Rick swam a 29.9 in the Livingston meet, a 30.0 in the Cranford meet, and a 30.4 in the West Orange meet. Ed Cook swam the Cranford meet for Springfield and placed third.
In the girls' 15-17 freestyle, Michelle Widom placed first in the West Orange meet and finished third in the Livingston meet.
Bob Planer placed first in both the Livingston and the Cranford meets with the times of 27.5 and 28.0. In the West Orange meet, Planer and Bruce Kahn of West Orange tied in a dead heat and first place was divided between the two. Both boys finished in the identical time of 27.5.
THE GIRLS' MEDLEY RELAY was won at the Cranford meet by the team of Sue Grimm, Kim Harvey, Sue Foster, and Claire Porter.
The boys' medley won at West Orange with the team of Dave Brown, Marshall, Steve Alexy, and Ed Cook.
The boys' 12 and under freestyle relay was won at West Orange by the team of Larry Day, Pete Cook, Andy Austin, and Dave Brown. They also won at Cranford with the team of Danny Pepe, Brown, Pete Cook, and Art Cook. At Livingston they won again with Chris King, Pete Cook, Art Cook, and Brown.
The boys' 13-17 freestyle relay at West Orange was won by the team of Ed Cook, Hector, Fuchs, and Planer.
The boys also won at the Cranford meet with the team of Cook, Hector, Fuchs, and Planer.

The 30-second oven cleaner 7¢

(It takes just 30 seconds of your time to whisk away the dirt. Costs less than you're now paying.)
Ladies, get your heads out of the oven. Now you can have an electric range with an oven that cleans itself automatically, for an investment of about 7¢ and 30 seconds of your time per cleaning.
With most models (check the instructions first) you can even put the surface-unit drip pans into the oven. Then, when you turn the switch to "Clean", spills and splatters disappear upon the oven racks and drip pans during the average 15-minute cleaning cycle. Only a trace of powder remains. You whisk that away in about 30 seconds.
There's no worry about scrubbing the surface units either, because spills disappear from them while you're still cooking. Only electric ranges can give you this "total cleanliness".
So throw out the expensive oven cleaners, the cans of stuff, the brushes, the steel wool, and the dirty rags. Buy a new electric range with a self-cleaning oven. You'll find a large selection at the local appliance dealer displaying the familiar Reddy Kilowatt seal. He's open right now.

member of the chapter and a professor at Newark State College, was appointed community relations chairman.
He will work with Barbara Katz, president of the student chapter at Dayton, and Iris Weisman, student liaison with the adult chapter, to introduce Sandra through visits to various religious and civic organizations.
An international supper is being planned by Mrs. Jane Van Vranken and Mrs. Marion Whitlock at which the community will have the opportunity to meet Sandra and other AFS students in surrounding communities.
One of the highlights of the meeting was a square from Betty Dewey, who recently returned from a year in Germany. She was the first student from Springfield to participate in the Americans Abroad program. Lee Sarokin, of the local chapter will be in charge of the Americans Abroad program for 1970-71, and interested junior or senior high school students may call him at 15 Cluistey lane, 376-1345.

Dr. Polglaze is named acting vice-president at NSC; 3 others get posts

Dr. Robert J. Polglaze, former assistant dean at Newark State College, Union, has been named acting vice-president of the college, according to the recently appointed acting president, Dr. Nathan Weiss. Dr. Polglaze's appointment was approved by the Newark State College Board of Trustees at its last public meeting.

Three other members of the Newark State faculty were also appointed to interim administrative posts. They are Robert J. Fridlington, assistant professor of history, appointed aide to the president; Frederick R. Marder, assistant professor of education, aide to the vice-president; and Dr. Richard J. Nichols, former assistant to the president, acting dean of education.

Dr. Weiss said that the new administrators will play active roles in a new "team approach" to administration that will involve a consistent use of a task force for planning and problem-solving. The membership of the task force will vary to include administrators and faculty directly involved with the task at hand. Although two vice-presidents, one for academic affairs and one for administrative affairs, are expected to be named when a permanent president is officially appointed, Dr. Polglaze is now working in both areas.

Dr. Polglaze's office has absorbed the obligations of former dean of the college Dr. Alton D. O'Brien, who has been named distinguished service professor. Dr. O'Brien will teach graduate courses and serve the college administration as a consultant.

Dr. Polglaze joined the Newark State faculty in 1964 as a full professor of administration and later served as a member of the department of education in 1967. He was named assistant dean and served acting dean during the sabbatical leave of Dr. O'Brien in the spring of 1968.

Before coming to Newark State, Dr. Polglaze was assistant superintendent of the Woodbridge public schools. He also served as a member of the central faculty of Rutgers University, New York and Lehigh Universities and Montclair State College.

Dr. Polglaze holds a BA in history and an MA in administration, both from Montclair State College, and an Ed D degree in guidance and personnel administration from Rutgers. His doctoral thesis concerned the guidance of insubordinately gifted secondary school students. He lives with his wife, Lydia and son, Robert, in Warren.

Dr. Nichols will head the college's newly formed Education Division, which will include departments of elementary education, secondary education, early childhood education, special education, library science, industrial education, health and physical education, student teaching and the graduate faculty of the Education Division.

Dr. Nichols has served as assistant to the president of the college since 1967. He joined the Newark State faculty as an associate professor in the college's Department of Education in 1965.

He holds BS, MA and Ed. D degrees in elementary education from Ball State University, Muncie, Indiana, where he was a doctoral teaching fellow. He has been a sixth grade public school teacher in Elkhart, Indiana, and a Fulbright exchange teacher in New Zealand.

Dr. Nichols and his wife, Lois-Catherine, live at 24A Troy dr., Springfield. Fridlington was a member of the History Department faculty since 1963 prior to his current appointment. He has taught history at Drake University, Des Moines, Iowa, and at Rutgers University. He holds BA and MA

For And About Teenagers

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I'm thirteen and have a problem. It's that I'm a boy and I can't get a girlfriend without making a fool of myself. Even when I can't get a girlfriend, I dress like everyone else and I even try to act cool. I have friends that have girlfriends but I still can't get them to like me, or even notice me—especially the ones that I like. It's even harder now that school is out. How can I get in good with the girls so I, too, can have a girlfriend?"

OUR REPLY: Our advice to you is begin by no longer trying to "act cool." Be yourself. Be natural. Don't pattern your actions after some boy you think is "cool." When you imitate someone else, you are acting, and you may not be enough of an actor to make it convincing. There is likewise little merit in working so hard to dress and to look like everyone else. The style of "hair-do" affected by some boys may not compliment your appearance at all. If most of the kids wear jeans, shoes, and no socks most of the time, follow the crowd. Don't show up in saddle oxfords or field boots. Where hair style and clothes are concerned, be an individual—a sensible individual. When a teenage boy starts learning how to get along with girls, he is bound to make mistakes. If he is sensible enough to mind his manners, however, he is smart enough to not make the same mistakes a second time.

Every teenage problem you want to discuss or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, COMMUNITY AND SUBURBAN PRESS SERVICE, FRANKFORT, KY.

Nursing program expanded by UC

An expanded nursing program will be offered in the fall semester for first-year graduate nurses from Elizabeth and Perth Ambroy General Hospitals. It was announced this week by Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, acting president of Union College, Cranford.

Courses in English composition will be added in the fall and spring semesters for the student nurses who will earn a total of 28 college credits—14 each semester.

In addition to English composition, they will take courses in anatomy and physiology, microbiology, general chemistry, general psychology, and principles of sociology.

About 100 first-year graduate nurses from the Schools of Nursing of Elizabeth and Perth Ambroy General Hospitals are expected to attend classes this fall at Union College.

Union College adds an option for those who want to teach

For students who want to prepare themselves for a teaching career and are planning to earn a baccalaureate degree in the field of education, Union College, Cranford, will offer an education option to the basic liberal arts program, beginning with the fall semester. It was announced this week by Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, acting president.

"A recent survey we made indicated that 30 percent of our liberal arts students were interested in careers in teaching," Dr. Iversen said. "We have instituted this education option to assist these students in transferring to teaching education programs in four-year colleges and universities."

For the past three years, Union College has offered education courses in educational psychology and development of educational thought.

Dr. Iversen said the two new courses are being introduced to enhance the program of the education option: child psychology and introductory philosophy. Students in the education option will take the following sequence of courses: first semester—general biology, English composition; second semester—mathematics, general psychology; third semester—general biology, English composition, Western civilization since 1600, mathematics and general psychology; fourth semester—history of fine arts or history of music; educational psychology; U.S. history to 1865.
