Regional school board moves to open doors a little wider

By ABNER GOLD
The Regional High School District Board of Education took two informal steps toward improving communications with the public, in discussion in the closing moments of its meeting Tuesday night at David Brearley Regional High School, Kentonworth.

code for students, a change which took place last spring.
Dr. Fred Hagedorn, board member from Berkeley Heights, asked whether there could be public announcement of the adjourned meetings, at which major decisions are often made. The meetings are open to the public, but the public is not told when or where they are held.
Manuel S. Dios, board vice-president presiding in the absence of president Avery Ward, expressed agreement and said that notice would henceforth be sent to the press whenever board members are informed of a special session.

The next regular board meeting will be held Sept. 23 at A.L. Johnson Regional High School, Clark.
The dress code issue was raised by a questioner from the floor, wanting to know whether the strictness of the dress code might be relaxed. Dr. Warren Davis, superintendent of schools, said that the question should be directed to Robert La Vanture, principal at Dayton, rather than to the board.
Several board members said that they had not seen the questionnaire and asked to be given copies as soon as possible. Dr. Davis said they would receive copies for study and comment.

Dr. Benjamin Josephson, board member from Springfield, said he objected to the concept of "asking parents to tell the administration how to run the school."
He added, "The administration is responsible for policy. Don't blame the parents for what will happen if rules are tightened. And don't put all the emphasis on dress."
The discussion on adjourned meetings stemmed from an exchange earlier in the evening when Dr. Minor C. K. Jones of Mountaineer said he wanted to let the public know that the board, at a special session July 29, had authorized its architect and attorney to draw up a proposal for expanded facilities to be submitted to the voters in a referendum.

Several board members had objected to preparing specific plans without knowing the specific cost. Others said that the specific cost could not be determined until the plans were completed.
After the meeting, Dr. Jones stated that his opposition to the board's decision, made earlier this summer, to send all Mountaineer students to an expanded Dayton school was not based on any objection to the education or student body at Dayton.
He said that the Dayton site had insufficient land for an expanded school to serve the two communities. Jones added that Gov. Livingston since the last meeting of the Township Committee and was given a "flat no" from the state Department of Transportation when he suggested that the highway department divert draining waters from flowing into Bryant Brook and Van Winkle's Creek to a sewer on the night-of-way of the highway directly into the Rahway River.

However, Committeeman Henry J. Bulman Jr. reported that he had more success with a visit to the state Division of Water Policy and Supply.
Bulman said that the decision concurred with Springfield's suggestion for the diversion and proposed a plan by which the Township Committee could again bring it before the Department of Transportation, only this time with the backing of the Division of Water Policy.
The committee is also seeking funds to alleviate local flooding from the federal government, specifically through the housing and urban development department.
On this front, Committeeman Arthur M. Falkin proposed a resolution urging that the federal law which requires all such projects be first approved by HUD, before Federal grants which are so often tied up for long periods, be amended to read that once HUD approves a project a community in the financial condition of Springfield is allowed to float a bond (in this case $1.5 million) for the improvements with the assurance that the federal government would pay back that money when it becomes more readily available and possibly over a period of 25 to 40 years.
The resolution was passed and ordered by Mayor Philip Del Vecchio to be circulated to committees throughout the state.
It was also reported at the meeting that the report from consulting engineer Edward Jeske is due on Sept. 15. The report will outline steps

Rahway River plan approved by park agency

The Union County Park Commission at its meeting last week approved a preliminary plan for the further development of lands along the Rahway River in the township of Springfield. This project has been made possible through the cooperation of the Township of Springfield, the Union County Board of Freeholders and the Park Commission.
The plans include altering the alignment of the Rahway River and widening the channel from its present 20 to 30 feet to 50 and 60 feet for about 4,000 feet downstream from Morris Avenue to the Rahway Valley Railroad. Several small curves in the river channel will be eliminated.
The excavation of an offstream pond of about 1 1/2 acres is also included in the plan. The pond will be about three feet deep, 150 feet wide and 600 feet long and will be located opposite Joanne way in Springfield. This area would be used for ice skating during the winter months.
The plans also include the construction of a dike three to four feet high along Riverside Drive from Morris Avenue to Meisel Avenue in addition to further developing this park area the project will help curb the flood conditions.
The development plan was prepared by the park commission's engineering department under the direction of Robert G. Schaeffer with cooperation of Springfield. The plan will now be submitted to the New Jersey Water Policy Commission for approval.

Concern for floods continues to mount

By JACK PFANNE
Anxious residents of flood-ravaged homes here continued to beseege the Springfield Township Committee for immediate relief and protection from flooding in the east and west branches of Bryant Brook and Van Winkle's Creek at the regular meeting of the local governing body in Town Hall Tuesday night. Mounting pressure has been brought on the Township Committee recently from victims of the flooding, which has been exceptionally frequent and higher each time there is a rainfall during this extraordinarily wet summer.
In turn, local officials have charged that the construction of Rt. 78 in Springfield has disrupted the normal storm sewer drainage channels and has greatly aggravated flooding in the township.
It was reported at the meeting that Committeeman Robert G. Planer had visited Township since the last meeting of the Township Committee and was given a "flat no" from the state Department of Transportation when he suggested that the highway department divert draining waters from flowing into Bryant Brook and Van Winkle's Creek to a sewer on the night-of-way of the highway directly into the Rahway River.

However, Committeeman Henry J. Bulman Jr. reported that he had more success with a visit to the state Division of Water Policy and Supply.
Bulman said that the decision concurred with Springfield's suggestion for the diversion and proposed a plan by which the Township Committee could again bring it before the Department of Transportation, only this time with the backing of the Division of Water Policy.
The committee is also seeking funds to alleviate local flooding from the federal government, specifically through the housing and urban development department.
On this front, Committeeman Arthur M. Falkin proposed a resolution urging that the federal law which requires all such projects be first approved by HUD, before Federal grants which are so often tied up for long periods, be amended to read that once HUD approves a project a community in the financial condition of Springfield is allowed to float a bond (in this case $1.5 million) for the improvements with the assurance that the federal government would pay back that money when it becomes more readily available and possibly over a period of 25 to 40 years.

YES chief appeals for new volunteers to keep office going

The Youth Employment Service will return to its regular afternoon schedule the day after Labor Day. The office at the Sarah Ballou Civic Center will be open Monday through Friday from 7 to 4:30 p.m.
Mrs. Clifford Schwartz, chairman, has expressed concern about keeping the office on a regular schedule because of the lack of volunteer workers. YES provides jobs for Springfield youth at no cost to the boy or girl or to the employer. Some of the jobs supplied in the past have been babysitters, mother's helpers, lawn and garden work, office personnel, sales, cashiers, snow shovelers, delivery, painting, cleaning garages and basements, car washers, ironing, light housework, stock boys, tutors, and dozens of other categories.
"I have appealed many times for volunteers to give 2-1/2 hours every week or every other week with very discouraging results," (Continued on page 7)

State should end floods from the highway: Cahill

Rep. William T. Cahill, Republican candidate for governor, this week urged state action to remedy Springfield flooding problems if local officials are correct in their charge that Rt. 78 construction has greatly aggravated local difficulties.
"If the responsibility belongs to the State Department of Transportation, I feel strongly that the state should then take whatever action is necessary," Cahill declared in response to a letter from this newspaper.
"The full text of his letter follows:
"This will acknowledge your recent letter describing problems of flooding in Springfield. "While I am not familiar with the specific situation in Springfield, I have on many occasions been faced with similar problems in my own congressional district.
"As a result, I asked the Army district engineers to investigate the cause of the problem and pinpoint the responsibility. Thereafter, I made every effort to bring about a satisfactory remedy to eliminate the flooding.
"I suggest that you call upon the district engineer, who I understand is located in New York City, to investigate the flooding situation in Springfield for the purpose of determining responsibility for the flooding in your community.
"If the responsibility belongs to the State Department of Transportation, I feel strongly that the state should then take whatever action is necessary.
"Please let me know if I can be helpful in any other way."

Folder will outline cultural program for this fall and winter

Lillian Johnson, director of cultural activities for the Springfield Recreation Department, has announced the fall and winter program which will take place at the Sarah Ballou Civic Center. A printed folder will be available for distribution soon, which will include all the details of time, place and fees. The folder will be distributed through the schools and the Public Library.
The program will offer "something for everybody," from pre-school children to senior citizens, and include programs in art, crafts, sewing, dance, music, film making and photography, and drama.
The schedule for Mondays includes a morning class for rhythm and dance for pre-school children, Monday afternoon 11:30 a senior citizen activities, a dressmaking class for women, and an after-school art class for children. A guitar class will be held on Monday evening. An adult modern dance class will be held on Tuesday morning. An art appreciation program and museum trip are also scheduled for Tuesdays. The Tuesday night program lists sewing classes for children, an adult sculpture class, and a photography class.

First Aid Squad opens fund drive

The Springfield First Aid Squad will start its 20th annual house-to-house fund drive Saturday. The drive will continue each weekend in September until completed. Every home in Springfield will be visited by a member of the squad, who will pick up a contribution card. If no card is returned, a postpaid return-addressed envelope will be left so donations can be mailed to the squad. Apartments will be visited during the week. Donations to the squad have been called "insane" of free ambulance services any hour of the day. The Springfield First Aid Squad is maintained and operated by volunteers.

For nearly a decade Springfield's government has been in the hands of a tightly knit, self-perpetuating little clique, rotating the office of mayor among themselves and thinking, acting and voting as one man. They have become so secure in office that they have lost all touch with the needs of the people they supposedly serve.

The community pool's awash in a finale of special events

Several special events are scheduled for the holiday weekend at the Springfield Community Pool prepares to close on Labor Day. There will be a poolside adult dance Sunday at 9 p.m. for pool members only.
Sunday afternoon there will be a softball game pitting the pool all-stars against the staff. Any athletes interested in taking part may sign up at the pool recreation house. A bocce tournament is scheduled for Monday. Entries are still open on a form-your-own-team basis.
Last Monday, a paddleball contest was held at the pool. The winner for the 10-through-12-year-olds was Gary Presslaff, and the winner of the teenage contest was Mickey Haxman.
On Thursday, youngsters from the pool attended the Mets vs. Giants game at Shea Stadium. The chartered bus left the pool at 11 a.m. on Thursday with the 50 youngsters and arrived back at 8 p.m. The weather was perfect for the 11-inning game, with the final score Giants, 7, Mets, 6.
On Saturday, a business clinic was organized by Stan Winkler, the pool manager. Doug DeLeonard and Vin Mirabella were awarded a bat each for having asked the best questions during the clinic.

A TREASURE HUNT which was held last Tuesday included six teams of boys and girls, hunting for the "treasure chest," which was a checker set. The winning team included Steve Pope, Kathy Haganbush, Russell Albert, and Howard A. Wiseman.

Stokes opposes 'clique,' urges citizen committees

Nat Stokes, Democratic candidate for Township Committee, this week issued the following statement:
"This weekend will mark the end of the summer season. The kids will be going back to school and for me the very serious business of getting elected to township office is at hand.
"It is extremely important that I be elected in November. Roaring flames flue the coop

A row of chicken coops was "totally destroyed" Monday evening, according to Springfield fire officials.
The chicken coops were located on the property of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Barber of 643 Mountain Ave. No chickens were in the coops, however, which have been unoccupied for a number of years. The fire was reported at 10:23 p.m. Monday.
Springfield firemen responded to a house fire at 91 Washington Avenue Friday evening. An official said a hot water heater ignited gasoline in the cellar of the home of Mrs. Dorothy Libby. Moderate damage was confined to the cellar, although fire officials said smoke was present on the upper levels of the house while the fire was being fought.

Union services end this Sunday

The final Sunday of union services between the First Presbyterian Church and the Springfield Emanuel Methodist Church will be held this week.
Both congregations will return to their respective churches on Sept. 7 and resume their normal schedules, which are:
Methodist Church—9:30 a.m. divine worship, Trivette Chapel, church school, Germany worship service, 10:30 a.m., coffee and buns, and 11 a.m. divine worship.
Presbyterian Church—10 a.m. worship service.

Services for Mrs. Catherine Gordon Maas of 370 Mountain Ave., Springfield, were held Wednesday from the Hainsman Funeral Home, 1057 Sanford Ave., Irvington.
Mrs. Maas, the wife of Max W. Maas, died Sunday in Overlook Hospital Summit.
Mrs. Maas was born in Germany, came to this country in 1918 and had lived in Maplewood before moving to Springfield 44 years ago. She owned the now-defunct Hilton Dahlia Farm in Maplewood until retiring several years ago. She was a charter member of the New Jersey Dahlia Society, she also leaves two sons, Clarence E. Gordon of Asbury Park and Max E. Maas of Monticello, Calif., a daughter, Mrs. Mary C. Petzinger of Readington; two brothers, Charles J. and Gordon S. Maas of Maplewood; five grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

FAMILY POT LUCK

Add a dash of Worcester-shire sauce or dry mustard to the cheese sauce when you prepare macaroni and cheese to give extra flavor to the food.
Shrimp dipped in melted butter and then rolled in crushed potato chips comes out just dandy and much simpler to make than the famous chip and sour cream sauce at a picnic.
Ham slices are extra delicious when grilled with a mustard butter sauce. Combine 1/2 cup butter, 2 tablespoons each prepared mustard and horseradish sauce, brush ham slices lightly with mustard butter during grilling and again just before serving.
Make bread to your meat filling for summer sandwich eating. White bread goes with anything. Whole or cracked wheat or pumpernickel are particularly good with cold meats. French or Italian breads are excellent with salami, ham or bacon, lettuce and tomato.

In the district, the Board of Education has leased temporary classroom units for two of its schools. Four classrooms have been placed at the Arthur L. Johnson Regional High School and three at the Governor Livingston Regional High School.

The school board is currently planning an expansion program. Although no date for a referendum has been set, the board's architect is preparing preliminary drawings. A cost figure for the expansion has not yet been established.

In the area of curriculum, the superintendent said that new and revised materials were prepared in two in-service workshops during the summer: American studies, and Title

II, which is concerned with the slow learner. In-service sessions are being planned with classroom teachers in all the schools to implement workshop results.

Computer programming will again be offered at Jonathan Dayton. In addition, Dr. Davis said, the course will be offered for the first time at Gov. Livingston Regional High School in cooperation with a funded project at Drew University. Advanced mathematics students will be eligible for the course.

In addition to the honors courses in the regional district, advanced placement sections will be offered in calculus and senior English at Jonathan Dayton and Gov. Livingston for selected students.

Students will find microfilm readers awaiting them at Arthur L. Johnson, Gov. Livingston and David Brearley, Dr. Davis said. The microfilm packets replace the bulky newspaper and magazine files. The library at Arthur L. Johnson has also added reprints of famous art works to its collections. Carriers are also available so students may borrow the reprints and take them home for study.

The English as a Second Language program which began this past spring will continue at David Brearley. A member of the foreign language department at the school will have responsibility for instruction, according to Dr. Davis.

Students from Japan, Italy, Colombia and Poland, recent arrivals in this country with a limited knowledge of the English language, were participants in the program during the spring semester.

In addition, a new elective course in oceanography will be offered the second semester to selected students in the David Brearley school, and a proposal has been made for a trial program in the humanities which would involve all junior year students at the Gov. Livingston school.

Dr. Davis said that a group of selected classroom teachers will work on details for the non credit program. The proposal for the program was met by the humanities committee which met during the summer.

Also, Dr. Davis said that the Regional District will move from six to four marking periods this year. The new report form (report card), which will now be mailed home instead of carried home by students, will reflect a number of changes proposed by classroom teachers, supervisors and administrative personnel, students and parents. Freshman orientation will be held at the four high schools on Wednesday. Orientation sessions for new and returning teachers will be held Tuesday.

Gleitsmann serves on carrier Intrepid

Damage Controlman Seaman Russell W. Gleitsmann, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Gleitsmann of 14 Hemlock, Springfield, N.J., is serving aboard the aircraft carrier USS Intrepid.

The Intrepid is now completing a major overhaul at the Philadelphia Naval Shipyard. The ship is being converted from a "spectator" attack carrier back to its former role of anti-submarine warfare carrier. Almost 900 feet long, the Intrepid has aboard all the facilities of a modern city. It has everything it needs to make it a self-supporting community, from a hospital to a soda fountain. The ship has a crew of more than 3,000 officers and men. Its home port is in Norfolk, Va.

COMPUTERS USED AS TOOLS

AGAINST TOOTH DECAY
You don't need a computer to tell you when you've got a toothache, but scientists at the National Institute of Dental Research believe an electronic brain may tell you why. Process-control computers already are successful in industry. Because tooth decay is the "product" of a process, a similar computer approach should be a practical tool for dental science. Furthermore, if a computer can help find ways to control decay, which is considered an infectious, transmissible disease, perhaps it could help in finding ways to control some other infections as well.

There is considerable evidence that there are no less than three types of decay: one attacks the grooves and pits in the grinding surfaces of teeth, another the smooth sides of the teeth, and a third the root surfaces which are exposed after the gums become detached. The types of bacteria and many other factors seem to differ in the three locations.

The question is how to design a model of the decay process so that a computer can help find answers to such questions as: what actions occur between bacterial acids and the tooth; and how much acid do various bacteria make in a given time from various diets?

A model, in this instance an artificial mouth, must resemble life but be simpler. Each factor studied must be measurable, and variable, either alone or with some other factor.

To make a simple model, one strain of streptococci, believed to cause smooth-surface decay, can be grown on a steel wire instead of a chemically complex and hard-to-prepare natural growth medium so that nutrients can be measured and varied as desired.

A computer could record the amount of gases present, the movement of calcium, magnesium or other elements; also the temperature and acidity. Likewise, a computer could keep a record of, and control the rate with which the bacteria convert sugar to acid by adding antibiotics or various sugars when they multiply in the growth medium is depleted.

Tooth decay is perhaps easier to study in this way than some diseases because it occurs outside the body proper. Nevertheless, there are so many factors involved in tooth decay that scientists are turning to the computer to sort out the complicated interactions.

SBA offers low interest aid to flood-damaged businesses

Persons whose homes, businesses, personal property or destroyed due to flooding as a result of the rainfall on Aug. 15, are eligible for three percent loans from the Small Business Administration to make repairs or obtain replacements.

Hilary Sandoval Jr., administrator of the Small Business Administration, had issued a declaration making disaster loan assistance available in Essex, Union and adjacent counties as a result of flooding that began on July 20 and reached flood proportions July 30. SBA disaster loan assistance because of the flooding of Aug. 15 represents an extension of Sandoval's earlier declaration.

The loans may run for as long as 30 years in some cases and are repayable in monthly installments. Loans must be repaid, however, in the shortest period possible without creating undue hardship to the borrower. The amount of loan is limited to the actual tangible loss, less any insurance funds received, Sandoval said.

Personal and business assets must be used by the applicant to the greatest extent feasible to restore disaster-damaged or lost property. In addition, private credit to the extent obtainable on reasonable rate and terms must be used prior to obtaining

Trailside Center to present display of gems and minerals

An exhibit of rare minerals will be featured at the Annual Gem and Mineral Show to be held at the Union County Park Commission's Trailside Nature and Science Center, in the Watchung Reservation, Sunday, from 10:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Edwin Skidmore of Mountainside, chairman of the show, will have for public viewing minerals in both the polished and crystal forms, as well as a display of precious opals. Skidmore has a permanent display of fluorescent minerals in the main display room of the Nature and Science Center.

Other exhibitors will have minerals on display from the Allentown and Emmaus areas of Pennsylvania, and the Franklin area of New Jersey. The Trailside Mineral Club will also have a display at the show.

Also on Sunday, Donald W. Mayer, director of Trailside, and Elmer Van Gilder, educational assistant at Trailside, will conduct a program entitled "Man In Space" at 3 p.m. and again at 4 p.m. at the Trailside planetarium. The program relates the story of the race for space and the accomplishments of the United States in space exploration.

During the week, on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, at 4 p.m. each day, Mayer and Van Gilder will present one-half hour talks in the Trailside planetarium. The topic selected for the three days is "Beyond the Milky Way."

As the Trailside planetarium can seat 55 people at a performance, it is necessary to receive a ticket from the Trailside office on the day of the showing. Tickets are issued on a first-come, first-served basis. Children under eight years of age are not permitted in the planetarium chamber.

Record enrollment at Union College

A record enrollment of more than 1,800 students is anticipated at Union College, Cranford, opens its 37th academic year, it was reported this week by Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, acting president.

The academic year will see the inauguration of a new curriculum of law enforcement and a new education option to the liberal arts curriculum, Dr. Iversen said. Altogether, 18 new courses are being added, he pointed out.

Construction is under way on a $700,000 Administration Building, and planning is under way on a new library-learning center and an additional classroom building, costing about $4 million. They are the second- and third-stages in Union College's master plan, which is designed to serve 2,000 full-time and 2,000 part-time students by 1980.

Dr. Iversen said a freshman class of 600 is anticipated in the day session. They were selected from more than 2,500 applicants. The total enrollment of 1,100 in the day session will include about 100 first-year student nurses from Elizabeth and Perth Amboy General Hospitals. The evening session enrollment is expected to total about 200.

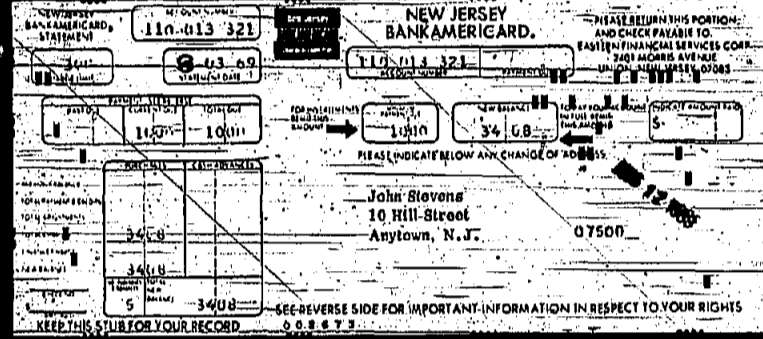

Dr. Iversen, dean, is serving as acting president until the Board of Trustees selects a new president to succeed Dr. Kenneth C. Mackay, president emeritus, who served as president for 22 years. Prof. Elmer Wolf, chairman of the Engineering Department, is serving as acting dean.

With the start of the new academic year, Union College will be affiliated with the Union County Coordinating Agency for Higher Education for the first time. Under contract with the agency, Union College will provide university-parallel programs for Union County in lieu of a county college. Under the arrangement, Union College will grant credit and confer degrees upon students in the college-level programs at the Union County Technical Institute, Scotch Plains.

About 80 high school graduates will be enrolled in the Educational Opportunity Fund Project, Dr. Iversen reported. Forty full-time students will attend classes in the day session, and 40 part-time students will attend in the evening session. Union College has received a grant of $60,000 from the state's Educational Opportunity Fund to finance the project, which provides financial assistance of up to $1,000 to each full-time participant above and beyond other financial aid available.

The new academic year will begin with registration on Sept. 8 for new day session students in the gymnasium of the Campus Center, and Tu-

You can save a life: your own! Many run risk of heart attacks

The last long holiday weekend of the summer is coming up this week and Americans will be urged to reduce their risk of becoming auto accident statistics. If the same caution were observed to reduce the risk of coronary heart disease, the Union County Heart Association asserts, the "leaving of life might be even greater."

A year-round campaign of risk reduction could cut substantially the death toll from heart attack, which now stands at more than 570,000 annually. The factors which make a person susceptible to coronary heart disease are known, says the Union County Heart Association, and many individuals can do something immediately about overcoming some of them. With a doctor's help they can correct or control the others.

Accordingly, the Union County Heart Association suggests:

1. Get a regular medical check-up.
2. Stop smoking cigarettes. Each year heart attacks prematurely kill roughly 65,000 cigarette-smoking men 35 years of age or over. When a smoker quits, his risk of death from heart disease is lessened gradually.

3. Begin a planned program of physical activity. Moderate physical exertion keeps the heart in top condition and lessens the chance of serious heart attack.

4. Cut down on foods you eat that are high in cholesterol (egg yolks, liver and other organ meats), saturated fats (soy and dairy products) and use more vegetable oils and fish and chicken. There is much scientific evidence that this will help guard against or delay the development of coronary artery disease, which underlies most heart attacks.

5. Avoid emotionally stressful situations which can become magnified in summertime heat. Keep mentally and physically cool.

6. Seek your doctor's help to control such other coronary heart disease risk factors as high blood pressure, diabetes, obesity and gout. Taking even one of these vital steps over the weekend can mean an early start on the super-highway that leads to better health.

HENRY C. McMULLEN of Springfield, left, who attended the American Bar Association annual meeting at Dallas, Tex., to accept the Award of Merit on behalf of The Bar Association of Union County, delivers it to M. Jordan Price, president of Union County.

County mosquito crews increase battle on bugs

The Union County Mosquito Control Commission announced this week that it is compelled to increase its workforce and work six days, 10 hours a day, according to John F. Allaire, Jr., vice president.

"We are known to be conquerors of the elements but all we can do is cooperate with them, the forces of mother nature are far greater than man," said Allaire.

"The heavy incidence of mosquitoes is the direct result of the heavy rainfall, floodwaters, standing pools of water, high temperature and humidity. There have been days that we received over 200 complaints. I am directing Stanley Pokrywka, assistant superintendent, to make every effort for both he and his staff to answer and investigate all complaints received and log every County park."

Mosquito traps are set through the county and checked daily and work crews dispatched as soon as possible to areas where more than 10 mosquitoes are found in the traps. "We now experience as many as 4,000 in some traps. I predict the heavy burden placed on the Union County Mosquito Control Commission in extermination will not be eased because we will experience a buildup of house mosquitoes," said Allaire.

"We have discontinued the use of DDT and other harmful chemicals. We are presently piloting the use of Flit MLO by Humble Oil and Refining Co. MLO has a very low order of acute toxicity toward animals and humans and so far found to have no adverse effects even at concentrations well above the recommended application rates of one to five gallons per acre. Flit MLO is economical and applied at rates as low as one tenth the rate normally used for other chemicals," said Allaire.

"What is needed to protect our environment is a nation-wide ban on DDT and other toxic pesticides," Allaire also asked for the cooperation of the mayors and health officers in the 21 municipalities of Union County to take every precaution to obliterate breeding areas such as pots, steel drums, piles, tires, inactive pools and all types of water holding containers.

Nursing program opening is delayed

Union County Technical Schools have deferred the starting date of the Waiver License Practical Nurse Training Program until Sept. 15, 1969, it was announced this week by Richard M. Kay, director of continuing education. This change of schedule was announced in order to allow more time for prospective applicants and increase the opportunity for testing of applicants, said Kay.

Admissions testing will be held Friday at 7 p.m. and on Saturday at 9:30 a.m. at Union County Vocational Technical Schools, 1276 Kaitlan rd., in Scotch Plains. Prospective candidates should contact the Office of Continuing Education for an application, Kay said.

(FREE Checking Acc'ts at SETCO)

• No service charge • No check charge • No minimum balance

You can save from $16 to $50 a year when you qualify for a P.A.C.E. Checking Account. Because P.A.C.E. Checking Accounts are service charge free. And there are NO MONTHLY MAINTENANCE CHARGES. You get a regular monthly statement and there is NO MINIMUM BALANCE REQUIRED.

WHAT'S P.A.C.E.?

P.A.C.E. stands for Permanently Available Credit Extension. Which means that your checking account is backed by a cash reserve of anywhere from $400 to $5,500, which you may draw on at any time to meet any emergency or extra expenses. To receive your free P.A.C.E. Checking Account all you have to do is qualify for the minimum $400 cash reserve. Whether you use the reserve or not is entirely up to you. Use it or not, your P.A.C.E. Checking Account is still service charge free.

If at any time you do find reason to use your P.A.C.E. Cash Reserve all you do is write a check for the amount you need. Your checking account balance is then covered up to the limit of your reserve in multiples of $50.

You control the cost of your P.A.C.E. Cash Reserve Loan completely. You may choose to repay 1/36 of the borrowed reserve on a monthly basis with minimum monthly payments of $20. A FINANCE CHARGE on the borrowed reserve is calculated by multiplying the average daily balance during the billing cycle by the monthly periodic rate of 1%, which is an ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE of 12 percent. The money you repay automatically rebuilds your credit reserve so that you may use it again and again.

HOW TO QUALIFY

You do not have to be a SETCO customer. Anyone 21 years or older is eligible to qualify for a service charge free P.A.C.E. Checking Account.

Over 830 students in state Ag school

More than 830 undergraduates, comprising the largest student body ever, will begin classes at the Rutgers College of Agriculture and Environmental Science Sept. 11. Richard H. Merritt, director of resident instruction at the college, said that the class of 183 freshmen will be the second to enter the state university under its new federated college plan.

Students no longer will be registered in the College of Agriculture and Environmental Science, Dr. Merritt explained. They will be members of one of the individual multi-purpose colleges—Rutgers, Douglass or Livingston—who are enrolled in a program of studies in agriculture and the environmental sciences.

Of the entering College of Agriculture freshman, 143 are members of Rutgers College, 30 are enrolled in the new Livingston College, and 10 are women students in Douglass College.

12,897 New Jersey cancer deaths reported in 1968; increase is 708

Cancer deaths in New Jersey increased by 708 in 1968 compared to the 1967 figures, reports the New Jersey Division of the American Cancer Society. The total number of cancer deaths for 1968 was 12,897 while 12,189 died in 1967. These figures were compiled from records just released by the Public Health Statistics Program of the New Jersey State Department of Health.

Seventeen of the 21 counties in the state reported an increase in deaths. With Monmouth County showing the largest increase of 122, followed by Bergen with an increase of 109. Ninety-nine more died in Middlesex, 77 in Ocean, 69 in Camden, 63 in Essex, 62 in Hudson, 59 in Mercer, 24 in Somerset, 22 in Burlington, 16 in Salem, 13 in Union, 11 in Atlantic, seven in Gloucester, five in Cape May, four in Sussex and two in Passaic.

Morris County reported a decrease of 28, Hunterdon 18, Warren 11, and Cumberland 4. There was no change in the number of deaths in state institutions, but three more died of cancer in military establishments in 1968 than in 1967. Increases and decreases within each county vary from year to year. Shifts in population, particularly among the older age groups, account for some of the changes.

Cancer is the second leading cause of death in New Jersey and throughout the United States, and was responsible for 18.8 percent of the total deaths in the state. Cancer deaths divided by age groups show that 92.4 percent of its victims were 45 years of age and over, while 5.8 were in the age range of 25 to 44 years. The remaining 1.8 percent were under 25 years of age.

The New Jersey Division of the American Cancer Society estimates that there will be 25,000 new cancer cases in New Jersey during 1969. In 1968, an estimated 320,000 Americans died of cancer, whereas in 1967 it was 314,000. About 205,000 Americans will be saved from cancer this year, yet approximately 103,000 cancer patients will probably die in 1969 who might have been saved by earlier and better treatment. One of the most effective ways of reducing the number of cancer deaths is for everyone to heed the Seven Warning Signals and to visit his physician for a yearly health examination, said a cancer society official.

In 1968, there were 1,001 estimated cancer deaths in Union County, compared to 988 the year before. Cancer deaths per 100,000 in the county for last year were 174.

accommodations are throughout the world, even in the remotest corners. The scenery may be different, the people may look different, but in far-off Zanzibar, way up the Blue Nile in Uganda, in the lonely Australian desert outback, in Afghanistan, in Malaysia, in Fiji, in Ceylon, there always seems to be Coca-Cola. There always is a hotel with all the necessary accessories including french fries, peas and steak — and there always is a car running with Esso gasoline.

The big difference, when it exists, is in quality. The quality of the service and the quality of the accommodations. In the USSR, however, there is a distinct difference. There is not one Coca Cola to be found in all that country, and the services and accommodations are undoubtedly the dingiest in all the world. The city of Moscow, for instance, the "pride of the Soviets," the epitome of culture, "points with pride to its new 6,000-room hotel and completely ignores the fact that the building does not care to perform the air-conditioning it is built when and if it works, the elevators stick, the windows are unwashed, the tableware is downright dirty and the waitresses do not care to serve you.

There are also bellboys in the hotels, and as for room service, there is none. You cannot get even a cookie brought to your room. Sometimes you may find a faintly smiling, somewhat young, green-eyed, bottled-water-but-it-is-a-sprite.

There are maids to do the beds and tidy up a bit, but you are lucky if this is accomplished every day, and by mid-afternoon. You would be even luckier if you got renewed sheets and towels.

ALL THE HOTELS seem to be the same way, too, whether older or newer. In-between, they are, of course, run by the government, and they follow a very uncomfortable checking-in procedure. You do not register at a main desk in the lobby as per usual. As a matter of fact, most of the time you can hardly even find the lobby. You check in instead on the floor to which you have been assigned by tour agent. A "gentleman," usually a female, sits behind a desk on each floor and does out the keys and gives you the card-which, she always makes sure gets that key back at check time you venture out of your room, too. If the hotel is huge such as our 1,000-room Hotel Ukraine was, there are several desks with ladies on each floor to service (hall) the various wings. The women at these desks seldom speak English. They do get you to the first place in a matter of minutes. No one ever offers to help you, either. Sometimes the room is a long, winding distance from the desk, with a scrambled numbering system, and then you are really good if you can find that room. You can be sure, though, that no matter how many twists there are to that room, it is arranged so that you must press that desk again in order to get-out.

WHILE THE HOTELS in the USSR are quite seedy, the food is really rather good. Russian cooks do marvelous soups, potatoes and shashlik (lamb on a skewer), and the food is generally good all over. For us it was best at Bratislava and at Alma Ata.

Hotels all over the world seem to feel a compulsion to serve french fries and peas and steak and chicken, and they did so in the USSR, also. Only the steak was always thin, well-done and tough. When it came to soup and shashlik, though, that was always good. We were rather surprised that we did not get fresh more often, and we never did have a plate-of-bread brought. In many places tiny skewers of the shashlik were sold, much as hot dogs are sold in the U.S.

The best of all, though, was the caviar and the ice cream. Fresh-thick, freshBelgian caviar is a treat and the Russians serve it in huge mounds on ice. There was many a meal for us that consisted solely of caviar and champagne. It was so good. Surprisingly, ice cream in Russia is absolutely heavenly, too. It is sold from little carts on the street that are pushed by women, and is sometimes in cones and other times in cups.

Oranges were rare. A single orange cost 40 cents in Irkutsk and 20 cents on the Trans-Siberian Express. A loaf of white bread is approximately 13 kopeks, and black bread, 10 kopeks. There are 90 kopeks to a dollar — at least count anyway. Sweetening our tables was coarse-beet sugar and dessert was usually ice cream or stewed fruit. Coffee was miserable — so we took to the marvelous tea.

BEVERAGES WERE BOTH GOOD AND BAD. The champagne, which was really Caucasian sparkling white wine, was surprisingly fine except if you preferred a dry wine. It was hard to find a bottle that wasn't sweet, and of course, it was even harder to find a bottle that was cold. Ice making is a lost art in the USSR, and the poor little champagne always comes warm. But yet, somehow, or other, ice always appears around the bowl of caviar.

However, we learned to adjust and developed quite a fondness for warm champagne. That cannot be said of all warm liquors in the Soviet Union. "Lemonade" for instance and kvass. High "Lemonade" doesn't so much have a lemon pit in it, let alone lemon juice, but it is certainly determined. There is a saying that Germans are "stubborn" but Russians are "determined."

In any case, "Lemonade" by any name, would smell as bad. It is sickeningly sweet, pear or apple juice, somewhat carbonated, served warm, of course. Kvass, the other favorite Russian beverage, which is equally ill-conceived, is fermented sugar, hops and bread — and tastes it. "Well," said Rala, our dyed-in-the-wool Communist tour leader, "corn rather sultry. Russians think Coke is pretty lousy, too."

Alcoholic beverages and refreshments were seldom served on planes. There was always candy though. At take-off and landing, candy wrapped in paper was always offered.

When there was food on the plane, it was mostly cold cuts and black bread and the ever-popular tomato spread whole. Tomatoes must have been in season for we always seemed to get them. We never saw a salad of any kind. Next: On Life and Love and Politics

Frenzied reaction to sex education Emotional pitch of opposition unexpected

Educational history will remember 1969 as the year the great sex-education controversy erupted. In New Jersey and throughout the land, citizen groups suddenly formed to de-sex the public schools.

Few parents argue with the premise that children should know the "facts of life," says the New Jersey Education Association. But differences arise over what agency should teach sex education — what materials should be used — and what children should participate in.

Generally, knowledgeable and enlightened families instruct their own children, but parents occasionally have sought outside help. In the past, the responsibility often went to the clergy. Churches still make useful contributions, says NJEA, but no longer can do the job alone.

Basic sex education has been taught in public high schools for decades, usually in courses called Health, Hygiene, or Family Life. Priests have long been using for the schools to expand sex education. But, because the subject is so touchy, school authorities generally resist.

Then, in 1960, the Sixty-Ninth House Conference on Children and Youth passed a school curriculum including education for family life, including sex education. Thereafter, endorsements came from UNESCO, Medical Association, National Education Association, PTA, National School Boards Association, U. S. Office of Education, many state education departments, National Council of Churches, NAACP, YWCA, Synagogue Council of America, and the U. S. Catholic Conference.

As a result, reports NJEA, school boards throughout the nation have expanded or considered new sex-education programs. Then came reaction. This year, an organized movement spread to New Jersey and — at least 94 other states — to halt all sex education.

That sex-education would be controversial, says NJEA, was not unexpected. The subject is closely tied to moral values and religious beliefs. What was unexpected, however, was the violent and emotional nature of the organized opposition.

Organizations such as the John Birch Society, Liberty Lobby, Christian Crusade, The Freedom Ring — all admitted from the start that they were not to be misled. Their goal was to halt all sex education.

trame political fight — denounced sex education as a communist conspiracy to corrupt American youth. School authorities retorted that their concern was to reduce divorce, teenage pregnancy, and venereal disease; wipe out persisting sexual myths, and prepare children for contented family life.

Many school officials began receiving middle-of-the-night telephone calls — some insulting, some threatening. Organized audiences shouted down speakers and disrupted meetings.

Printed materials used in states as far off as California appeared in New Jersey. Although they often proved effective in arousing public indignation, the specific allegations they contained did not apply to any New Jersey school.

Since school boards are responsible to the public, some rejected sex-education proposals when state citizens howled down the idea. Others, however, took the position that the decision should be governed by the will of the majority. The national surveys have consistently shown that most adults want sex education in the public schools. NJEA reports. If so, the protests — though well organized, often sincere, and usually loud — probably come from a school-district minority.

NJEA recommends that residents of a school district remain skeptical about charges of foreign subversion about "smut" supposedly being used in local schools, and about outside barnstormers trying to build parental frenzy.

Proposals for sex education should be weighed against the problems of the community, NJEA advises. "Decisions should be based on merit and need. Hysteria solves nothing."

Navy exam announced

The Navy has announced that the 24th annual national competitive examination for the Regular Naval Reserve Officer Training Corps (NROTC) will be given on Dec. 13, 1969.

The Regular NROTC Program prepares a young man for a Navy or Marine Corps commission while he is studying at one of the many civilian colleges and universities where NROTC units are established. All tuition, fees, uniforms and books are furnished by the Navy, and the student receives $50 per month subsistence pay for not more than four years.

During the summers between academic years, the student participates in at-sea training periods as a midshipman. After successfully completing a baccalaureate level college course and military requirements, he is commissioned in the Regular Navy or Marine Corps.

Eligible high school seniors and graduates should submit their applications before Nov. 14, a Navy spokesman said. Application forms are available from high school counselors, Navy Recruiting Stations or from the Chief of Naval Personnel (Pers-5 6411), Department of the Navy, Washington, D.C. 20370.

Africa today lacks books

Africa today suffers from an acute shortage of books. Some countries have no publishing industry at all. At least one has no public library. Only blue countries produce books in national languages. Only six titles are published each year for every million persons in Africa, while 448 are produced in the same period for the same number of persons in Europe. Major publishing countries consume 135 times as many books per capita as the countries of Africa.

This was the background to a meeting organized last year by Unesco in Africa on book development in Africa, as part of a long-range program to assist developing countries to take advantage of the striking advances in printing, publishing and distribution techniques that have made it possible to produce and distribute good quality, low-priced books on a vast scale.

Now Unesco has published, in its series "Reports and Papers on Mass Communication," "Book Development in Africa: Problems and Perspectives." This booklet contains the report of the Accra meeting, with a full statement of the problems of book development in Africa and the experts' conclusions and suggestions and a study on "Economic implications of Book Development in Africa" prepared by the UN Economic Commission for Africa.

FASHION WITH A MESSAGE—Terry Van Gordon, 6, of Florham Park, wears a "fall fashion frock" keyed to the opening of schools next week. Ask Amy

HER SWIMSUIT DOESN'T SUIT HIM

Dear Amy: My girlfriend and I love each other. We both are good looking but very jealous. I get jealous whenever another boy looks at her. This summer she bought a very sexy bathing suit. I don't want her to wear it because she will attract more lookers, and this will only serve to make me more jealous and probably spoil the whole summer. I also want to make her happy. What should I do? Is this jealousy of mine wrong?

Dear Ted: Jealousy, to a certain point, is a normal reaction. You can tell your girlfriend what not to wear, but if she chooses to reveal her nature, there's not much you can do about it. Your only alternative is to choose a modest, plain Jane. Then you can have her all to yourself...but I bet you won't!

Dear Amy: I read your column every Thursday night when I get home from work and I love the answers you give people. So now I am coming to you for an answer. I have been going with a man for 5 years. He likes to live the life of a married man but never gives marriage a thought. He would like very much to move in as I have my own home, but I have more respect for myself than to let him. I feel I am wasting my time on him. He has lived with two or three other women; one for seven years (she had to get a divorce from him as a common-law wife). He is a steady worker and is employed at the same place I work. I would like to live a better life, and have a husband, not a life-time boyfriend. Please tell me if it would be wrong to tell him I don't want to see him any more or that I don't care to live like this any longer.

Dear Disappointment: It is the only right thing to do and why you haven't come to this realization sooner is beyond me. Who needs a shopper who never buys!

Dear Amy: I am 22 years old and happily married. My problem is my father-in-law who is 45 years old. The more I know him, the more I feel toward him than just what our relationship calls for...and he has told me so!

I don't dare be alone with him for fear he might get fresh with me. He has made

Youngsters learn citizenship with a truly stable foundation

By RAY BARTO
Mrs. H.T. Nielsen of Skytop Farm, Mountaineer, has a lot of what one might call horse sense. In the 26 years she has been Mrs. Nielsen, she has been constantly involved with stable, horses and young people. She has been a resident of Mountaineer for about 12 years and has taught many residents how to ride as well as hundreds of pupils from neighboring towns.
She, her husband and her son (now in the army) have trained both horses and riders for shows throughout the state, in addition to maintaining a local riding stable for the youngsters of the area.
"Riding teaches them cooperation, discipline and a feeling of accomplishment. When they clean their horse's stalls they are accepting a responsibility. None of the kids mind the job, in fact, many mothers have told me they wish their children would clean their rooms as well as they muck out the stalls."
One young lady, Colby Johnstone, of New Providence road, Mountaineer, spends hours at a time at the stable. Sometimes she serves as a junior instructor, sometimes she mucks stalls. Other times she curries horses, but she never complains, and never shirks a job. She simply loves horses—not just riding, but every part of horse raising, training and care.
"A lot of the girls who ride here want to know one thing when they meet a new boy. Does he have a horse, or does he just ride. Play to the boy who doesn't even ride at a stable, he's out of the question," Mrs. Nielsen said, smiling at Colby.
"There's really nothing quite like caring for a horse. It teaches you so much and gives you so much satisfaction. If more people learned to accept responsibility and to care about others, maybe we could save this world."
"These young people are learning the best habits in our society. As someone once said, 'You've never seen a delinquent on horseback,' and it's true."
"Once a child learns to care for another living creature, he isn't interested in vandalism or mischief."

MOUNTAINEER SCHOOL
Echo Brook suddenly becomes a focal point. Over the years, drivers have not been very serious accidents to school children exposed to traffic on Rt. 22.
1. It is most unusual that the noise and vibration has suddenly become so noticeable and destructive.
2. The classroom sizes are not smaller than those in Scotch Plains.
3. The classroom sizes are not smaller than those in Scotch Plains.
4. The "Clearview" if and when it comes would violate the congestion of traffic and give better access to and from the school rather than complicate it.
5. As to Echo Brook being difficult to serve and administer, it could well be handled by a local contractor without the material expense that will be created by adding to and crowding Deerfield, which is getting to be too big now.
6. The Council has always been envious of this site, but at no time looked for, suggested or located a site for the school.
I would citizens of Mountaineer, look to and through the presentation of this matter and deeply consider the disposal of the Echo Brook site and the fine building that is constructed thereon before creating another bond issue and increasing your taxes for years to follow.

Schoel, Mrs. Andriuli named Cahill campaign county aides

Union County Republican Chairman Richard G. Schoel has named Richard C. McDonough of Scotch Plains as the county campaign manager for Congressman William T. Cahill, GOP gubernatorial candidate. Mrs. Ethel R. Andriuli, wife of Roselle Councilman Frank Andriuli, will assist McDonough.

"Mr. Cahill has asked for two opportunities to meet as many people in Union County as possible," McDonough said. "It is our intention to comply with that request. On Wednesday, Sept. 3, Cahill will visit Plainfield, Mayor Blatz and other local dignitaries will greet the congressman and accompany him on a tour of the city. Cahill will then address the Plainfield Rotarians' luncheon meeting.

"A county-wide campaign kickoff honoring Cahill and the county committee men and women has been planned at Wieland's, Mountainside, at 8 p.m. Sept. 8. It is our hope that every voter in the county will drop by that evening and meet the man who is asking to be their governor," McDonough concluded. Prior to the rally, Cahill will spend the afternoon touring the county.

Both McDonough and Mrs. Andriuli are experienced campaign managers. McDonough has managed county-wide campaigns for the last 10 years, notably those for Congresswoman Florence W. Dwyer-Fie is a former director of the Plainfield Area Chamber of Commerce and a former trustee of the Fairwood-Scotch Plains YMCA, and has taken an active part in many civic drives for the United Fund, Cancer Crusade and other organizations.

McDonough is a partner in the law firm of McDonough and Sullivan, Plainfield.

Mrs. Andriuli married her husband's successful bid for Fourth Ward Councilman in Roselle last year. She is currently an alternate delegate to the County Republican Executive Committee and has served as a committee member in Roselle since 1962. During their campaign for office, she coordinated the campaign efforts of Freeholders Tracy, Manner and Epstein, and Senators LaCorte, Rinaldo and McDermott in Roselle.

Two-day workshop for new UC faculty

A two-day workshop for new faculty and staff members at Union College will be held on Sept. 8 and 9 at the Central New Jersey Y.M.C.A. Camp, Blauvelt.

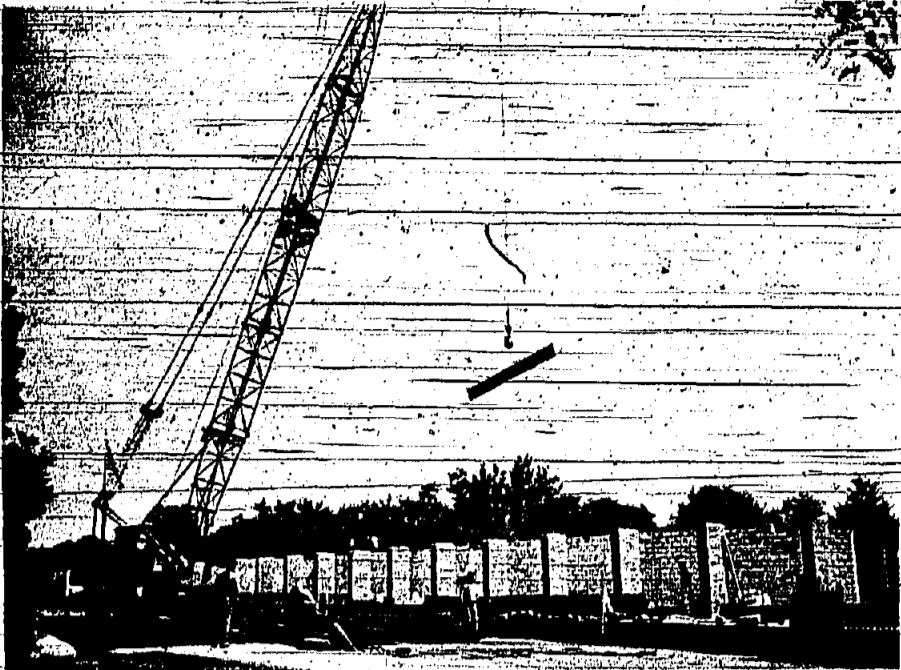

The workshop is designed to give new faculty and staff members an insight into the two-year college movement and an orientation to our college, Prof. Wolf said.

Dr. Kenneth W. Iverson of Grantford, acting president, will preside over the workshop. The speakers will include Dr. Iversen, Prof. Wolf, Dr. Kenneth C. MacKay of Madison, president emeritus; George P. Lyne, director of admissions; Antole K. Colbert, director of counseling; and other members of the Union College staff.

"Many new faculty and staff members do not understand the philosophy, role and purpose of the two-year college and its unique place in our system of higher education," Dr. Iversen said. "It is our goal to help them understand this role, so they can be more effective teachers or administrators. We are hopeful, too, that the workshop will help them to understand the specific role of Union College and how this task is being fulfilled."

STEEL ARRIVES—Workmen began installing steel for Union College's Administration Building on Thursday, August 14. The 17,000 sq. ft. building is scheduled for completion early in 1970. It will contain offices for all administrators, including the admissions, counseling and registrar's staffs, and for faculty members. The Administration Building will be the fifth on Union College's campus in Cranford.

Grant made to Union College for law enforcement studies

An initial grant of $3,300 for the 1969-70 academic year for financial aid for law enforcement officials has been awarded to Union College by the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration of the U.S. Department of Justice, it was announced this week by Prof. Elmer Wolf, acting dean.

Prof. Wolf said the funds will be made available to students in Union College's new law enforcement curriculum under the Justice Department's Law Enforcement Education Program (LEEP).

"We anticipate receiving an additional $11,700 later in the academic year from the Office of Academic Assistance for financial aid for law enforcement officials," Prof. Wolf said.

The Law Enforcement Program, introduced this year, was instituted to develop professional law enforcement officers with an emphasis on future law enforcement leaders and to upgrade present law enforcement leaders, Prof. Wolf said. The Union College law enforcement curriculum is a balanced program leading to the associate in arts degree. Graduates of the program may transfer to a four-year institution to complete the requirements for the baccalaureate degree. Course requirements in the Law Enforcement Program include English, history, mathematics or science, psychology, contemporary law enforcement, police management, patrol administration, sociology, New Jersey government, government, public administration, social psychology and electives.

In addition to the federal grants, scholarships, other grants and tuition assistance are also available. Many municipalities also offer tuition aid to policemen and other government employees who attend college.

Vocational Center starts new course

The Union County Vocational Center in Scotch Plains, a division of the Union County Technical Schools, has established a course in trial oil burner servicing for servicemen and managers employed by fuel oil heat merchants.

The 13-week course, set up in cooperation with the Oil Heat Council and Fuel Merchants Association of New Jersey, is being given on Mondays and Wednesdays from 7 to 9 p.m. under the direction of Richard Kay, director of continuing education.

Between 20 and 25 servicemen are enrolled in the course, Kay reported. Its purpose is to train and update them on the latest heater and burner equipment, he said.

Red Cross helps thousands in aftermath of Camille storm

At least 40,000 persons are being cared for in Red Cross shelters along the hurricane-ravaged Gulf Coast as the national organization pushed efforts to pour in staff and relief supplies to the storm's victims, according to the Summit Area Chapter, which includes Springfield.

Robert M. Pierpont, national director of disaster services, calls the hurricane Camille relief operation "the staggering job" one of the most difficult in Red Cross history.

Red Cross disaster teams making preliminary surveys reported a count of nearly 2,000 destroyed homes, and 4,000 homes that suffered major damage.

Supplies, blocked from reaching Gulfport and Biloxi, Miss., by washed-out and debris-littered roads, have begun to arrive. The Red Cross reported that six truckloads of food and other emergency supplies rolled into Gulfport last week along with tanker trucks carrying fresh water.

In the village of Pass Christian, Miss., arrangements were being made for "bus convoys" to clear the streets of litter so that relief and emergency workers can operate. As reports of the destruction along the coastline continued to come in, Red Cross national headquarters said the nation-wide $6 million hurricane relief fund would be the minimum amount needed to help disaster-stricken families recover. The first contribution to the hurricane relief fund was made in Gulfport by a visitor from Oak Park, Ill., whose wife was rushed to a hospital in a Red Cross disaster van. Her husband later gave $25 as a gift to the newly-launched Red Cross disaster relief fund to express his appreciation.

Chapters are reporting immediate broad public campaigns in an attempt to raise their funds. Contributions may be made out to American National Red Cross, Camille Disaster and sent to the Summit Area Chapter, 695 Springfield Ave., Summit, which will forward the money. The local Red Cross is acting as a collection agency for the National American Red Cross, and in no way will this have effect on the local needs for the coming year.

Mrs. W.W. Braunwarth, Summit Area Red Cross Chapter chairman, noted the president of the Red Cross, James F. Collins, who said, "I know the people of this country will respond warmly to the needs of the stricken, just as they have so many times in the past." Mrs. Braunwarth added, "We know the people of our community will feel the same."

SUMMER SCHOLARS—Holy Cross Lutheran Church, Springfield, had its highest enrollment ever in its two-week Vacation Bible School with 115 registrations. Six towns were represented this year, including Berkeley Heights, Mountainside, Murray Hill, Springfield, Summit, and Union, and five other Christian denominations besides Lutheran, with 25 adults and teenagers participating as teachers and assistants.

Group plans drive to raise funds for a shelter in Israel

The American Red Mogen David for Israel Unit announced plans for a fund drive in Springfield to support construction of an underground first aid shelter in Tel Aviv, Israel. The shelter is needed to allow emergency medical treatment during periods of enemy attack, the group added.

The local drive is part of a national campaign in which American communities align themselves with "partner" cities in Israel and share the cost of the first aid stations. The Israeli contribution includes the actual site and construction of the bunker, while the necessary medical equipment comes from the U.S. Norman Salsitz will serve as chairman of the local drive. He is forming a committee of Springfield residents.

He declared "Behind this drive lies the opportunity for American Jewry here in Springfield to take part in Israel's vital struggle. It is not feasible to share in the fighting for most, but to remain apathetic would be criminally blind to a pressing need."

Those interested in participating in the American Red Mogen David drive were urged to speak to Salsitz at 9 Craig rd., Springfield, telephone 376-7572.

School newsletter lists sport events

The 1969 football schedule for each of the schools in the Union County Regional High School District and a clip-out school year calendar are among the features of the district's September newsletter being mailed to all Regional District residents this week.

The special six-page back to school issue also contains articles on anticipated enrollments, curriculum, a progress report on building program plans and the adult school program, according to Dr. Warren M. Davis, superintendent of schools.

"Union County Regional News" is published once a month during the school year. The first two issues appeared in May and June.

With regret we have to announce. The premises we have to vacate. So pick up your garments on this date. That we can get out without being late.

The 30-second oven cleaner 7¢

(It takes just 30 seconds of your time to whisk away the dirt. Costs less than you're now paying.)

Ladies, get your heads out of the oven. Now you can have an electric range with an oven that cleans itself automatically, for an investment of about 7¢ and 30 seconds of your time per cleaning.

With most models (check the instructions first) you can even put the surface-unit drip pans into the oven. Then, when you turn the switch to "Clean", spills and splatters disappear from the oven racks and drip pans during the average 1½ hour cleaning cycle. Only a trace of powder remains. You whisk that away in about 30 seconds.

There's no worry about scrubbing the surface units either, because spills disappear from them while you're still cooking. Only electric ranges can give you this "total cleanability".

So throw out the expensive oven cleaners, the cans of stuff, the brushes, the steel wool, and the dirty rags. Buy a new electric range with a self-cleaning oven. You'll find a large selection at the local appliance dealer displaying the familiar Reddy Kilowatt seal. He's open right now.

Garden Club will offer fashion salute program on horticulture

The Mountain Trail Garden Club will offer a horticulture program and a tour of Rutgers Gardens Sept. 9 as its first meeting of the season.

The club is planning to make 40 flower arrangements for the first day of school at Beachwood and Our Lady of Lourdes in Mountaintide.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

HONEST WORK

The more important thing is how a man does his job, not whether he swings a hammer, drives a truck, or charts a course to the moon. A man should take as much pride in his work as he does in his life.

New members of the club are Mrs. J. Arthur Tomesen and Mrs. George Horvat.

The themes for the monthly meetings will be: September, autumn leaves; October, masquerade; November, turkey in the straw; December, a holy jolly Christmas; January, winter wonderland; February, my funny valentine; March, my wild Irish rose; April, April showers; May, apple blossom time; June, summertime.

Work is not an ugly word. Work is an outlet for man's talents and energies. Approach your work with diligence and sincerity. Be satisfied only when you know that you have done your very best.

Consumer faced with choices in judging quality of furniture

In buying new upholstered furniture, the consumer today is faced with a wide variety of prices, styles, fabrics and construction methods. It is difficult to choose correctly, says Carolyn F. Yuknus, Senior County Home Economist.

Dress tips
Avoid mixing sportswear with business clothes. Sportswear items are not constructed to be worn with a tie. Overly-busy shoes can spoil a dressy ensemble. And anklets, an outgrowth of sport shoes, are completely wrong when worn with dressy clothes. Be sure to rinse out those swim trunks in fresh water after each use. Sand and grit can wear them out. If your shoelaces are too tight, they will make indentations on the leather tongue of your shoes and cause considerable discomfort in time.

Vacuuming is helpful

A vacuum cleaner may be your best friend when it comes time to refresh floors. A clean surface is important to successful vacuuming. Use the most efficient vacuum cleaner in the home. Check for dust and dirt. Use a crevice device on your vacuum cleaner. It is especially helpful in getting into corners where loose dirt and dust linger.

Taking care of kitchen floor is concern for homemakers

Care of the kitchen floor is often a concern of many homemakers, says Carolyn F. Yukius, Senior County Home Economist.

First of all, how often should a kitchen floor be scrubbed? There is no exact schedule but when dirt sticks to the floor and cannot be picked up with a vacuum cleaner, or when the wax cannot be buffed to a sheen, then floor coverings, except wood and cork, should be scrubbed.

Undoubtedly the best way to scrub a floor is to use electric floor care equipment. A solution of detergent and ammonia can be used to remove old wax. Other methods of floor scrubbing include using a mop or the old hands, knees and scrub brush method.

In floor care it is important to rinse thoroughly. Residue from detergent wax and detergent can cause a poor wax job. If detergent remains on the floor, the following wax application may be streaked or slippery.

A water base wax may be used on kitchen floors other than wood or cork. A solvent base wax can be used on materials other than asphalt or rubber tile.

One thin coat of self-polishing wax is usually sufficient for most floors, but two thin coats of a buffable wax gives a better finish. However, each coat should be buffed before applying the next coat.

Wax should be thoroughly dry before it is polished. The length of drying time is determined by the humidity in the room.

The amount of traffic usually determines how often kitchen floors should be waxed. When floors look dingy, or when buffable wax cannot be buffed to a sheen, or when self-polishing wax loses its shine, it is time to damp-mop or scrub and re-wax.

Traffic lanes can be re-waxed if a buffable wax has been used.

It is not wise to mix types of wax. Do not apply self-polishing wax over a buffable wax for good results. Even different brands of the same type will not be as effective if used on top of each other without first removing the old wax.

Self-polishing waxes build up on the floor and should be removed for best results. Buffable waxes do not build up and additional coats may be applied.

Prices stay high

Meat prices will remain high for the summer. Main reasons are rising consumer incomes, low employment rates and lighter weight cuts.

Best meat buying guide is to choose the specials offered each week.

Fall events slated by Deborah group

At a recent board meeting of Suburban Deborah League held at the home of Mrs. Alvin Schneider of Springfield, plans for the coming year were formulated.

An art auction to be held at Temple Shurey Shalom, Springfield, will be held in the early fall.

The Suburban Deborah Cook-Book will be ready for sale in October. Also planned for early October is the annual visit to Deborah Hospital in Browns Mills.

Mrs. Bernard Eidler of Millburn is league president. Mrs. Paul Densberg of Irvington is publicity chairman.

Membership drive set by Deborah unit

The Park Union Guild of Deborah will have its annual membership drive Sept. 8, at the College Inn, Hightside. Additional information may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Mark Polesky at 687-2369.

The group is also planning an evening theater dinner party at the Latin Casino, Oct. 18 to see a show starring Steve Lawrence and Edie Gorme. Mrs. Edward Elker may be contacted at 687-9780 for further information.

Chicken loaf of buttermilk is suggested

Serve chicken buttermilk loaf for a cool and refreshing summer supper, suggests Anne L. Sheelen, County Home Economist.

By this point in the summer season, many times your warm weather meal specials have been featured quite often. Both you and your family may be looking for a menu change.

The chicken buttermilk loaf recipe given below is an opportunity for you to make such a change. Diced cooked chicken and buttermilk combined with chopped celery, grated lemon rind and chopped parsley mixed into unflavored gelatin result in an interesting flavor and texture.

If you decide to place the ingredients in an attractively shaped mold, successfully unmolding the recipe should pose no problem. Run a small sharp paring knife around the inside rim of the mold to loosen the jelled mixture, dip the mold into a bowl or pan of warm water to the depth of its contents to the count of ten, hold a serving plate on top, invert and shake gently. The contents should slip out readily. If they do not, repeat the process.

Soak the mold with crisp raw vegetables, toast or buns, and your favorite dessert.

CHICKEN BUTTERMILK LOAF

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1 cup cold chicken broth
1/2 cup buttermilk
2 to 3 teaspoons lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
3/4 teaspoon salt
Few drops Tabasco
1 cup diced cooked chicken
1/2 cup chopped celery
1 tablespoon chopped parsley

Sprinkle gelatin over broth to soften in a saucepan. Place over low heat and stir until gelatin dissolves, about three minutes. Remove from heat, stir in buttermilk, lemon juice, rind, salt and Tabasco. Chill until mixture is consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Fold in chicken, parsley and celery. Turn into a loaf pan. Chill until firm. Unmold to serve.

YIELD: Two servings.

Home study means hope to dropouts

Home study schools, long a source of adult education courses in cultural and vocational skills, are playing a new educational role at the high school level — two new roles, in fact.

They're helping high schools cope with teacher shortages. And they're helping high school dropouts continue their education.

Through a supervised correspondence study program, high schools can offer specialized subjects even where teachers are lacking. The high school provides a supervisor and a home study school provides course materials, grading and other student services.

More than 4,000 high schools are currently participating in this program, working with private home study schools accredited by the National Home Study Council, which examines and accredits its member schools on the basis of educational and business standards.

To the high school dropout, home study schools offer a second chance for a diploma. By completing the necessary courses at home, dropouts can qualify for a high school equivalency diploma.

The home student should check, however, to be sure that his state recognizes the high school equivalency procedure.

Involvement student goal

Colleges and universities have taken constructive steps toward overcoming the problems presented originally by "bigness" and which have become demands for "involvement" of students and "relevance" of courses, now that these educators, hitherto comparatively inexperienced in coping with student revolt, move toward conferences, conventions, meetings in which the students now take part.

What the students appear to want most, and are beginning to get, is more participation in decisions affecting their campus careers and in determining what they should be taught and by whom.

Knit styles updated

Sweaters and slinkies go together like fall and football. That's especially true, reports the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear. This fall will offer the most style excitement since the "College Era" of the Roaring '20s.

Many of the fashion favorites of that bygone period have returned in updated models and those reviled ideas are joined by a host of brand new 1969 sweaters. Prominent among the knits of the '20s are argyles with their diamond and square patterns. They come in sleeveless pullovers to be worn either under sportcoats and blazers or just as a top layer for shirts and slacks. Remember the buttoned coat sweaters? They are back, this time with buttons in addition to their rolled collars. Obviously there are the standard pullovers, some with V-necks, others with mock-turtle, crew, boat, or real-turtle-necks.

As usual, men will have a great variety of sweaters to choose from: popcorn stitches, fancy intarsia designs and smooth sweater shirts. The sweater shirts are collared and sometimes the collars are attached to crew-necks. In other instances, the collars top placket openings.

This fall, knitted sport shirts will get renewed fashion competition from those made of woven fabrics.

Jersey's jobless up slightly

Estimates prepared by the Division of Planning and Research of the New Jersey Department of Labor and Industry showed July's wage and salary employment (excluding farm, domestic, self-employed and unpaid family workers) at 2,578,500, a decrease of 4,700 from the June level. There is usually an employment drop in July because of seasonal vacation layoffs.

Between July 1968 and July 1969, nonagricultural employment rose 53,500, with most of the gains in wholesale and retail trade, service, and government.

Manufacturing had its usual midsummer lull, declining by 8,600 jobs from last month's average of 898,900. The durable and nondurable goods industries have been hampered by a rash of seasonal layoffs and closings because of vacations, and most of all, strikes. The transportation equipment industry temporarily laid off 3,400 employees, mainly because of medical conversions. Job-holding decreased by 2,900 in the apparel industry.

Nonmanufacturing swayed the other way, and during the month increased its job-holders by 3,900, bringing the estimate total to 1,689,600. The opening of a few new wholesale and retail food stores resulted in additional hiring of new employees. Employment in the construction and service industries is progressing at a strong pace. Government payroll dropped substantially (-8,500), as they do each July when non-faculty employees of local educational systems are laid off at the end of the school term.

The seasonal slackening of nonagricultural employment resulted in weekly pay checks averaging $131.87, a $1.53 decrease from last month's average. Because of the hiring of lower paid summer help, decreases in overtime, and vacation shutdowns, the work week was 36 minutes shorter, averaging 40.7 hours per week. Average hourly earnings, however, were $3.24, one cent higher than they were last month. The same pattern for hours and earnings appeared this July as it did in July 1968.

Connecting glaciers to faucets
 Think of all that ice water!

Frozen water and sea water come up for discussion in a recent issue of the "Unesco Courier" which is devoted mainly to glaciers and oceanography, two scientific topics of international dimensions.

Two of the world's leading glaciologists, Oleg Vorokh and Vladimir Kotlyakov of the USSR Academy of Sciences, look at the ice that covers 11 per cent of the earth's land area as a possible source of fresh water. They point out that a relatively small iceberg still contains 150 million tons of water—enough to supply a city of eight million inhabitants for a month. Towing the iceberg to the customer, they say, presents major technical problems but is theoretically feasible.

Mountain glaciers on the edge of arid plains, such as the glaciers of the Tien Shan and Pamir mountains in Central Asia, could be the source for more easily delivered fresh water. How to get it out? Simply cover the glaciers with a dust powder to speed their melting—as farmers did with dirt and ashes in the Pamirs 2,000 years ago during the days of Alexander the Great.

The writers state that there may be a new advance of glaciers during our lifetime, but they do not regard the possibility with alarm. On the contrary, they consider such glaciers as natural refrigerators that could protect the planet from overheating as man goes on burning fossil fuels. Movements of glaciers are under study as part of the Unesco-organized International Hydrological Decade. If all the world's ice were to melt, it would raise the sea level 64 meters—enough to drown 15 million square kilometers of what are now coastal regions.

In another article, "The New World of the Ocean," Daniel Behrman, a Unesco writer, introduces the reader to the current controversy that is quietly raging over the issue: Who owns the sea floor? Beyond the brink of the continental shelf, the legal situation of the ocean bottom is best described as a vacuum. Behrman warns: "There is a growing general fear that the vacuum cannot be allowed to exist much longer. If we are not to repeat in the ocean the same grievous mistakes that have left us in our present predicament on land."

Coalition fighting for rent control

The New Jersey Tenants Coalition (NJTC) has launched a statewide campaign for enactment of a sweeping package of tenant rights legislation. The chief demand for state-enforced rent control.

"The recent disorders in Passaic vividly demonstrate the need for tenant protection legislation," according to NJTC coordinator Gerry Nadel of Ford's.

"The people rook to the streets because some of them had been evicted at a landlord's whim, some were victims of landlords who could care less about maintaining their buildings, and some had been subjected to 100 percent rent increases in the space of less than a month."

Nadel, an apartment dweller, said the problem cuts across class lines.

"The middle-class tenant, and even some luxury apartment dwellers, are at as much of a disadvantage in the face of current law as is the poorest apartment dweller," he said.

"The problem is that the law has long considered investments in terms of a business, we consider them our homes!"

The NJTC, formed in April, has chapters in six New Jersey counties. Its program calls for the following legislative actions:

Rent control for apartment buildings.

Creation of ombudsmen on the state or county level to deal with tenant-landlord problems.

An updated law on tenants' security deposits, including their mandatory placement in an escrow account drawing interest, with the interest paid to the tenants, and establishment of criminal penalties for violations of the current law, which requires a landlord to dispose of the account in such a way that deposits are being held.

WILD DIET — Sumac, milkweed pods and sorrel are part of the summer fare available to those interested in using wild food products. Peter Gall, a graduate student in botany at Rutgers University, shows son Kevin the edible parts of the milkweed, while his wife Wilma and daughter Karin look on.

Kimball gets appointment

Want some sumac-ade? Wild edible plant foods studied

"Please pass the broiled puffball plices." "How about some more sumac-ade?" "Have some milkweed buds."

Such conversation can be heard at the home of Peter Gall, a graduate student at Rutgers University, one of whose hobbies is the study and use of wild edible plants.

Gall, a candidate for a doctor of philosophy degree in botany, is a strong advocate of families taking advantage of the many nutritious foods that can be found growing in the natural state. He hopes the search for such foods will be done wisely, with consideration for the deterioration of the plants being collected.

Backyards, roadsides, woods, fields and swamps in the Northeast are prolific sources of edible wild foods, Gall says. In many backyards alone, he found 15 different plants suitable for eating.

Gall became interested in wild foods as a 17-year-old when he spent a summer in the Pacific Northwest logging camp. He and his friend drew part of their stores from the land while camping out for 2-3 1/2 months.

Gall's professional research area, aquatic botany, is directly related to his hobby, and has led to his continued active interest in discovering new natural food sources.

HE HAS PURSUED his interest throughout his college career, both in California, where he received his bachelor's and masters degrees, and in New Jersey since he arrived here to do graduate work at Rutgers in 1964. A three-year term as advisor to a wilderness survival special interest Explorer Scout post after his arrival here helped immeasurably in developing his knowledge of the wild plants of the Northeast, and his studies in ecology, squirrel life history and his studies in various conditions on the occurrence, abundance and distribution of edible wild plants.

In recent years Gall has been in demand as a lecturer and addresses many groups throughout the state on his ecological approach to finding edible wild plants.

In his lecture, he points out that the Indians and early settlers were as familiar with the boundaries on their lands as we are today with the aisles in our supermarkets, and that, despite increasing urbanization, people today can enjoy many of the same natural foods their forefathers did simply by looking around their own backyards.

Gall points out that many people hesitate to eat wild foods because of a fear of eating something poisonous. He counters this by saying that the only way to use wild foods is to find out something about them first. "Don't just go out and eat blindly."

There are many books and magazines on the subject in simple terms, and the way to begin using the foods available is to learn the plants one-at-a-time.

The next step, according to Gall, involves

AEC uses two nuclear generators

The Atomic Energy Commission has implanted in the Pacific Ocean two compact 10-watt nuclear power generators whose successful operation should help fill a critical need in ocean exploration.

The nuclear radiotelescope power generators, designated SNAP-21, were implanted for long-term testing by the Navy Undersea Research Development Center, Pasadena, California, and the Naval Radiological Defense Laboratory, San Francisco, for the AEC off the coast of San Clemente Island as part of a joint AEC-Navy program. A third unit is scheduled for implantment later this summer.

These 10-watt radiotelescope-powered generators have been developed by the AEC to meet an increasing need for long-endurance and highly reliable energy sources for use in the ocean at depths down to 23,000 feet. They are designed to provide uninterrupted electrical power for periods of five years or longer and are intended for use as power sources for underwater navigational aids, sonar beacons, seismological stations

Swimmers end season with victory at Maplewood after loss to Cranford

The Springfield Swim Team, defeated by Cranford, 85-155, at the Cranford Municipal Pool finished its 1969 season two days later with a victory over Maplewood, 120-109.

The triumph over Maplewood set the team's season record at 5 victories and 7 losses. Helms Schiffer placed second at Maplewood and finished third at Cranford for the girls' 8 and under freestyle.

Danny Pepe rounded out his season with two more first places. His bestings this season record to 1 loss and 11 triumphs. Danny will be returning next year and should contribute much to the boys' 9-10 event. John Alexy placed third for Springfield in the Cranford meet. John has one more year in the 8 and under age group and should be a big asset in the 1970 season.

Sally Geiger placed first in the Cranford meet in the girls' 9-10 freestyle event and Erika Koppel finished third at Maplewood for the girls.

In the boys' 9-10 freestyle, Pete Cook finished second at Cranford and third at Maplewood. Pete's finishing times were 17.0 and 17.2.

AT MAPLEWOOD, Cathy Alexy and Carol Bultman swept the girls' 12 and under backstroke. Cathy also placed third at the Cranford meet.

Dave Brown rounded out his season with two second places. Dave swims the boys' 12 and under backstroke for Springfield. He has done an excellent job in his event. At Cranford, David finished 2 second off of first place, and again at Maplewood he was 2 second behind.

In the girls' 13-17 backstroke, Sue Grimm placed second at Cranford with teammate Claire Porter finishing third. At Maplewood, Ellen Alexy finished in first place and Linda Kozub took third.

Rick Wnek scored a third place at Cranford and finished in second at Maplewood in the boys' 12-17 backstroke.

The girls' 12 and under breaststroke was won at Maplewood by Kim Harvey. Third place was given to Erika Koppel. In the Cranford meet, Donna Haus placed third.

BRIAN HECTOR FINISHED the season with two more first place ribbons in the boys' 12 and under breaststroke. Brian's finishing times were 41.0 and 41.5.

In the girls' 13-17 breaststroke event, Sue Foster added another second and third place to her record.

Rick Fuchs finished the boys' 13-17 breaststroke event undefeated this year. Rick has set another year to swim in the league. He should add a great deal of power to the team next year.

The girls' 12 and under butterfly was won by Kim Harvey in both the Cranford and the Maplewood meets. Carol Bultman aided the team effort with a second and third place contribution.

Brian Hector finished his butterfly for the boys this year with a third and second place finish. His finishing times were 38.0 and 37.5, respectively.

AT CRANFORD, Vivian Geiger placed first in the girls' 13-17 butterfly event. Sue Grimm ended up in first place at Maplewood with the time of 36.2.

Rick Fuchs edged out Dave Owen of Cranford by .1 second to win the boys' 13-17 butterfly in the time of 27.7. Rick brought his season record to 10-2 by also defeating the swimmers from Maplewood. Rick Hector added a third at Cranford and a second at Maplewood to his butterfly record.

In the girls' 11-12 freestyle race, Kim Harvey glided to an easy victory in the Maplewood meet. But found her first finishing second at Cranford. Although Kim finished in the excellent time of 3:12 at Cranford, her time was .5 second off the pace. Teammate Cathy Alexy registered a third place at Cranford and a second at Maplewood.

The boys' 11-12 freestyle was won by Brian Hector and third was given to Art Cook at Maplewood. At Cranford, Brian finished 1.2 seconds better than at Cranford, but finished in third place.

Claire Porter finished third in both of the meets in the girls' 13-14 freestyle.

IN THE BOYS' 13-17 freestyle, Rick Hector captured first place in both the Cranford meet and the Maplewood meet. Rick's finishing times were 26.0 and 27.6. Ed Cook placed third at Cranford and Jim Kibick third at Maplewood.

Robin Geiger easily swam to a first place finish at Cranford, with Vivian Geiger following with a third. At Maplewood, Sue Grimm and Ellen Alexy swept the girls' freestyle event.

In the boys' 13-17 freestyle, Steve Alexy finished first at Maplewood and third at Cranford.

In relays to win at Cranford were the boys' 12 and under freestyle relay, with the team of Danny Pepe, Pete Cook, Art Cook and Dave Brown, and the boys' 13-17 freestyle relay with the team of Ed Cook, Rick Hector, Steve Alexy and Rick Fuchs.

The winning relays at Maplewood were the boys' 13-17 free relay with the team of Jim Nabor, Rick Hector, Steve Alexy and Rick Fuchs, and the girls' 13-17 freestyle relay with the team of Buffy Rossner, Claire Porter, Ellen Alexy, and Sue Grimm.

ATTENTION BOWLING LEAGUES

As the new season draws near, officials of America's number one participation sport, bowling, are feeling the butterflies and getting the urge to once again "go down to the lanes."

Bowlers who wish to have publicity about their league appear in this newspaper will have an easy job.

The sports department has prepared bowling publicity forms which are available at no charge. The coupon which appears below should be posted on a post card and mailed to the sports department so that arrangements can be made to accommodate your league.

This newspaper will try to offer complete coverage of area bowling. Two bowling columns are planned.

"As the Pins Drop" will contain team standings of all area leagues that desire publicity. A second column, "Bowling Highlights," will contain top individual scores of the week's action, anecdotes, bowling interest pieces and bowling news of specific interest to area bowlers.

League secretaries may submit items for "Bowling Highlights" as well as their league standings for "As the Pins Drop." Secretaries are requested to mail the coupon to the sports department as soon as possible so that forms may be returned by the beginning of the season. Only standings submitted on these forms will be accepted.

2 bowling leagues All-star players defeat Roselle

The Men's Club and youth groups of Temple Beth Ahm in Springfield have announced the opening of their "immediate money" League and a Youth Bowling League to be sponsored by the groups but not restricted to members.

Registration for both leagues will be held on Sunday, Sept. 7, at 10 a.m. at Hi-Way Bowl on Rt. 22 in Union. The new rules and regulations will be discussed at the meeting. Anyone wishing to register for either of the leagues may attend the meeting or call one of the following persons: men's league Mel Zeller, 379-4154; Syd Faber, 379-6104; Lee Lichten, 379-2030; youth league Ted Beltler, 379-6104; Bob Shindler, 379-3616 or Bill Kneller, 379-6751.

Springfield's 9-12 All-Stars, the Junior Minutemen, defeated the team from St. Joseph's Church in Roselle by a score of 8-3 on Saturday. The victory brought the team's record up to six victories and three losses.

The winning pitcher was Gary Praelatt, who allowed six hits and four walks and struck out 11 batters. The top batters for Springfield were Bob Barry, who hit two home runs and a double, Derek Nardone, who hit one home run and one double, and Doug De Leonard, who hit a home run.

Ted Johnson and Carmen Scoppetulo were the outstanding fielders of the game.

The last game of the season will be played at the Springfield Pool field next Saturday at noon.

Li. Col. Karp serving at Fort Meade school

Li. Col. Martin Karp of 10 Newbrook Lane, Springfield, is serving as a faculty member of the First Army Intelligence School at Fort George G. Meade, Md., during his annual two weeks of active duty with the Army Reserves.

Col. Karp, who is a CPA with offices in Newark, has been a member of the Army Reserve since 1942. He was on active duty for four years, three of which were in India during World War II.

They Said It Like This...

Conservation unit sets fall seasons for woodcock, rail

New Jersey fall hunting seasons for woodcock, sea ducks and rail received final approval from the State Fish and Game Council last week, according to Commissioner Robert A. Roe of the Department of Conservation and Economic Development.

These mandatory agencies are regulated by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Inasmuch as the New Jersey Council proposed slightly more restrictive regulations than the maximum federal framework, a public hearing was held on Tuesday, evening Aug. 12, at which no objections were voiced.

Rail season will open the fall hunting calendar on Labor Day, Sept. 1, running through Nov. 8. A reduced bag limit on clapper and king rail will prevail, of five daily, 10 in possession, due to continued poor breeding on New Jersey marshes. The limit on sea and Virginia rails will be increased to 25 daily, 50 in possession, and 15 gallinules daily, 30 in possession may be taken during this season under federal regulations. Shooting hours will be one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

Woodcock hunting will run from Oct. 4, through Dec. 6, with shooting hours of sunrise to sunset. Sole exceptions will be that there will be no woodcock hunting on Nov. 7, the day before small game season, and hunting on Nov. 8 may not start before 9 a.m.

The four-week course included instruction in basic aerodynamics, aviation physiology, naval air operations, air navigation and power plants and accessories.

Public Links golf at Galloping Hill

The 20th Annual Union County Public Links Best Ball Golf Tournament, sponsored and conducted by the Union County Park Commission, will play a qualifying round on Sunday, Sept. 7 at the Galloping Hill Golf Course, Kentworth and Union.

The championship flight of 16 teams will begin match play on Sunday, Sept. 14. There will also be a second and third flight of 16 teams each.

The tournament is open to all male residents of Union County, 16 years of age and over, qualifying as amateurs and who are not members of private clubs.

The 1968 championship was won by Robert Claussen of Westfield and Robert Isler of Kentworth.

Application forms are now available at both the Galloping Hill and Ash Brook golf courses. Entries close at noon this Tuesday, with Stephen T. Maglione, assistant superintendent of recreation.

WHICH PROGRAM FOR YOUR LAWN?

No two lawns are alike. Your lawn may have an entirely different problem than that of your neighbor. Each lawn is in a different condition and requires a different program. At professionals in the field of lawn care and maintenance, we diagnose the condition of your lawn and recommend the program best suited for your lawn. Regardless of whether your lawn has been neglected as the result of insect damage, fungus, weeds, or other causes, we merely require general mechanical care which includes fertilization, thatching, ailing, insect & weed control, seeding, etc., a custom program can be designed to fit your lawn. For more information, call the Tech-Turf branch in your area.

Electric heat will go anywhere to keep man cozy.

On July 20, 1969, it went to the moon. It kept the crew of Apollo 11 warm for their 240,000-mile journey into outer space. And it kept them cozy during their visit on the moon where temperatures dip to 250 degrees below zero.

It is logical that the most reliable and efficient heating system on earth was chosen for the moon. After all, only electricity can deliver heat that's flameless, odorless and practically silent.

If electric heat kept the astronauts warm during what was indeed mankind's greatest leap forward, think what it can do down here for you.

To find out more, give us a call. Or visit a Roddy-Kilowatt Electric Home Heating Dealer who displays this sign. If you want to keep you cozy, too.

Senator GASE Reports

"This summer's debate over ABM and other military questions reflects a profound and, in my judgment, irreversible change in our approach to the problem of assuring our survival as a nation. The American people, I believe, are no longer willing to accept as inevitable the upward spiral of the arms race. And the United States Senate clearly is no longer willing to accept as inflexible the Pentagon's or even the President's judgment that a particular weapons system is essential to national survival. For when the 100 members of the Senate divide 51 to 49 on a great issue, as we did on the question of deploying the Safeguard missile, they have no doubt expressed their opinion. On the contrary, such a vote signals a beginning, rather than an end."

THE HEART OF THE MATTER is put clearly and bluntly in these words by John W. Gardner, chairman of the Urban Coalition and former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. The domestic departments exercise a rigorous and healthy discipline over their expenditures, not because they are thrifty by nature, far from it, but because they are subject to tough, raking scrutiny by the Budget Bureau and the committees of Congress. If that scrutiny were eliminated, they would grow fat and fat.

"That, in a nutshell, is the condition that has prevailed in the Defense Establishment for many, many years. The time is ripe for an unsparring examination of every aspect of defense spending, an examination that will extend to procurement practices, use of manpower, administrative overhead, maintenance of overseas bases and the basic rationale underlying force level and weapons systems."

"THAT 'UNSPARRING EXAMINATION'" has just begun. Where it will lead no one can say. But it is encouraging to know that, already, the civilian leaders of our defense establishment have recognized the necessity of top-to-bottom re-examination. The Pentagon's chief scientist, Dr. John S. Foster, Jr., addressed the Armed Forces Management Association on Aug. 19 in the following terms:

"The spending cutbacks announced by Secretary of Defense Laird on Aug. 21 point in the same direction. There remain, however, some ever more basic questions to be explored in the weeks and months ahead. For example, Senator Mondale and I are urging a complete review of the need for attack aircraft carriers when no other major power has any such carriers. The Senate, in short, is preparing to meet its responsibility to exercise a far greater influence upon the course of national security policy."

Voter participation low Rutgers study cites statistics

The State of New Jersey has an "appallingly low rate of voter participation," according to a report issued by Dr. John C. Blydenburgh of the Eagleton Institute of Politics of Rutgers University. The report is designed to be helpful to both partisan and non-partisan groups who are currently engaged in campaigns to increase voter participation in New Jersey. According to Blydenburgh, there are currently more than a million and a quarter unregistered voters in the state, with an estimated 30,589 in Union County. The number of registered voters in Union County is 273,514, or 75.8 percent of those eligible to vote.

Among the municipalities included in the Eagleton report, with totals of registered voters, unregistered adults, and percentage registered among those eligible, are: Kenton—4,520; Linden—21,396; 7,153; 75 percent; Mountainside—4,466; 659; 87 percent; Roselle—11,291; 4,284; 72 percent; Roselle Park—7,478; 2,661; 74 percent; Springfield—9,229; 1,631; 85 percent; and Union—30,842; 7,697; 80 percent. The largest community in the county, Elizabeth, numbers 47,774 registered voters and 31,260 unregistered adults for a percentage of 60.

The Eagleton estimates of the number of unregistered voters are based on population data, registration data from 1968, and projections of changes in the number of eligible voters that times the memorandum, titled "Voter Registration in New Jersey Municipalities," is available on request from the Eagleton Institute. In a previous memorandum on the same subject, the Eagleton Institute noted that New Jersey's voter registration procedures are in need of reform. New Jersey's early voter registration deadline, Dr. Blydenburgh said, deserves a major share of the blame for the state's low voter registration.

He noted that this year registration for the gubernatorial election will close Sept. 25, even though voter interest in the gubernatorial election will not peak until sometime in October.

Schaeffer to head field operations for Park Commission
Robert G. Schaeffer, chief of the Union County Park Commission's engineering department, has been named the commission's superintendent of field operations. It was announced this week by John G. Walsh, the commission's president.

In his new position, Schaeffer will be responsible for the coordination of the maintenance, construction, engineering, forestry, and horticultural functions of the commission. A resident of Cranford, Schaeffer began his park career in 1946 as an engineering assistant after serving several summers as a seasonal employee of the engineering department. In 1957 he was named assistant engineer and advanced to the position of principal assistant engineer in 1962. From 1963 to present he has been chief of the engineering department. Schaeffer is a graduate of Linden High School and received a bachelor of science degree in civil engineering from Newark College of Engineering. He has also participated in various seminars and courses in engineering design and construction. He is a licensed professional engineer and a land surveyor in the State of New Jersey. He is an active member of the National Society of Professional Engineers; New Jersey Society of Professional Engineers; and the Union County chapter; the North Jersey Public Works Association; and the New Jersey Parks and Recreation Association.

He served two years with the United States Navy during the Korean conflict as a petty officer second class doing land surveying work. Active in civic affairs, he has served in various capacities with church groups and social clubs. He served as business manager for amateur baseball teams for six years and played amateur and semi-professional baseball in Union County. He is a former member of the Cranford Jaycees.

UNICEF preview to be in Westfield Senator congratulates health center workers

A preview of UNICEF information for the coming year, including Trick or Treat material, will be given Thursday, Sept. 11, at 7:30 p.m. in the lounge of the Presbyterian Parish House, 140 Mountain Ave., Westfield.

All-Union County representatives of UNICEF will be presented with the newest UNICEF information, which besides Trick or Treat material, includes films, greeting cards and promotional and publicity ideas.

The preview is open to representatives of churches, schools and organizations, as well as interested youth and adults who wish to participate in many of the many areas of the UNICEF campaign.

Senator Harrison A. Williams Jr., chairman of the Senate Committee on Aging and William Ortol, staff director of the same Senate committee, were guests of honor recently at the first year anniversary party of Cranford Health and Extended Care Center in Cranford.

A total of 170 of the staff were congratulated by Sen. Williams for their "dedication to humanity and concern for the elderly" and the praised the center as "the finest facility of its kind I've ever seen." Special recognition was given Mrs. Virginia Bain of Cranford Health and Extended Care Center, Inc., a 128-bed, non-profit, non-sectarian facility governed by the New Jersey Rehabilitation Care Foundation.
