Town Committee declines to take stand on Vietnam war

Dwyer comments called 'indicative of community'

An official position on U.S. involvement in Vietnam will not be taken by the Springfield Township Committee, Robert Planer, acting chairman, announced at last Wednesday night's meeting at Town Hall.
Planer's announcement came in response to a query from Mrs. Mary Stroud during the public discussion session. Mrs. Stroud pointed out that a citizens committee in the community had submitted a petition urging the Township Committee to issue a statement on the war. Committee member Arthur M. Falkin added that the Township Committee agreed that the statement of Rep. Florence Dwyer would be indicative of the views of the community.
Rep. Dwyer last month had stated, "An end to the killing and destruction in Vietnam must be our country's primary objective, just as an end to the war in Vietnam, the American people can be united, and should be united, on the basic goal of peace."
"But to immediate and unconditional total withdrawal, I must answer 'no.' Because it wouldn't work. It wouldn't accomplish anything. Phased withdrawal, yes; faster disengagement, yes; an immediate end to the killing, by all means."
"But even if it were logistically feasible, immediate abandonment of our position in Vietnam would surely remove any remaining hope of stability and peace and independence in a country which has already suffered too greatly."
Planer went on to say that the "position paper submitted by Mrs. Dwyer was read publicly by Mayor Philip Del Vecchio." He added his personal view by saying, "I personally don't feel that the Township Committee should take a position on this because I think the President is doing the right thing the best way he can."

A MAJOR PORTION of the meeting was devoted to Planer's report on the results of a meeting held in Rahway to deal with the flooding of the Rahway River, with surrounding communities participating. The outcome was the naming of a delegation of representatives from the area who will meet with federal agencies in Washington in the near future.
Planer maintained that a concerted action must again be tried to have the federal government correct the river problem in total rather than piecemeal. He urged the community to support the stand that the need for federal action in flood control is great.
Falkin provided some background information regarding the situation by pointing out that in 1965 a request was made through Rep. Dwyer to reopen the federal study of the flooding problem. A study was then made by the Army Corps of Engineers but no actual results were realized.
He continued by saying that the communities along the Rahway River are requesting that a new hearing be held and new evidence be heard, following the extensive flood damage of 1968 and 1969.
The Army Corps of Engineers now have several small study projects in operation in the general area and the Rahway River one is greatly.

School board turns attention to Chisholm

New study on student population sees less growth than was predicted earlier

A restudy of student population projections through the mid-1970s has revealed a somewhat lower figure than predicted by its planning consultant, the Union County Regional Board of Education announced this week.
The new study of student enrollment trends which was made to determine future expansion needs in the regional district forecasts a total student population of approximately 5,650 in the mid-70s. This compares to a projection of 5,968 made by Dr. Henry J. Risetto in his study of school plant needs presented to the board last spring.
A board spokesman said that although the revised figures have an influence on the scope of the proposed building program now being developed, "they do not in any way cancel the need for expansion to ease overcrowding that will exist over the next five years at all four high schools in the district."
"We're bulging at the seams now and something must be done to ease this classroom squeeze that's with us currently and which will continue into the middle of the next decade," the board spokesman said.

The new projections were based, among other things, on the present elementary and high school enrollments. Also, continued growth in each of the constituent districts was taken into account only to the extent that the average rate of change in each community's school enrollment over the last three years was assumed to continue for the next five years.
The new projections were formulated on calculations carried out by the district's director of research in consultation with the superintendent of schools and members of the school board, a board spokesman said.

The board spokesman said that the new study is expected to level off, Risetto had predicted a steadily increasing enrollment trend through the 1970s.
"In view of this updated information, we board to reevaluate their educational requirements to ease the overcrowding. The board's architect will furnish cost estimates based on the revised specifications.
The board of education has undertaken an intensive study of building needs to meet enrollment growth through 1975; when enrollment is expected to level off, Risetto had predicted a steadily increasing enrollment trend through the 1970s.
"In view of this updated information, we

Stokes statement disclaims any tie to hoax newspaper ad

Nat Stokes, Democratic candidate who was the winner in the recent Township Committee election, this week issued a statement on a hoax newspaper advertisement which appeared in a daily paper in the final days of the campaign.
Stokes declared:
"To answer angry, emotional people is a difficult task after winning an election. It would be much easier for me to ignore the charges and hysterical accusations made by the letter writers of the past few weeks.

However, I feel everyone should be made aware of certain pertinent facts.
"I have been informed that a newspaper advertisement appeared in a daily paper offering real estate and office space at ridiculously low prices. The newspaper accepted this ad without verifying who placed it. The phone numbers to call for information were those of Philip Del Vecchio (loser in the election) and the township clerk, Mrs. Eleanor Worthington. Calls were made to these people, and I am sure that this was annoying and irritating for them.
"I would like to formally state that neither I nor any of my campaign workers had anything whatsoever to do with the placing of this ad. I and all of the active people in the past campaign were extremely unhappy about this unethical and childish trick. We have done everything possible to find out who placed the ad, but to no avail.
"If in the future I learn who was behind this ad, I intend to make it public knowledge. For the present, I would like to concentrate my energies on serving the town of Springfield to the best of my ability. I intend to work toward the fulfillment of the campaign promises I made to the people of Springfield."

Players issue appeal for some hard workers

The Springfield Community Players this week put out an urgent call for a backstage crew for their forthcoming musical review, "It's a Mod World," to be presented on the stage of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School on the evenings of Dec. 12, 13 and 14.
The group's president, Gerald Cohen, explained, "there is much carpentry work, electrical work, painting and planning that must be done for this type of production, and the group is in need of capable people in these fields, as well as others. Anyone interested, either an adult or of high school age, was urged to please call Cohen at 876-8582."

Concern voiced by parents over traffic, fire perils

By ABNER GOLD
Problems related to the Raymond Chisholm School, both indoors and out, occupied the Springfield Board of Education during much of its meeting Monday night at the Florence Gaudin School.
Robert Southward, vice-president, conducted the meeting in the absence of Carlo Casala, board president, Southward, whose term expires this winter, commented that he would "probably not" run for another term in February.
The other two board members whose terms will expire, John Gacos and Seymour Margulies, both said that they had not yet decided whether to seek reelection. The deadline for filing petitions as candidates is Dec. 31.
The issue of traffic hazards on Springfield avenue between the Chisholm and Gaudin schools was raised by Zachary Schneider of 10 Avon rd., who noted that there had been several recent auto accidents in the area.
"Turning the road a 'speedway,' Schneider said that it was becoming increasingly dangerous to children of the two public schools out of St. James School.
"Margulies commented for the board that the question had been brought frequently, but informally, to the attention of the Township Committee. He pointed out that traffic safety is the responsibility of the governing body, not of the school board. He added, "Our position as a board made known to the town fathers. This is, however, within our jurisdiction."
Gacos disclosed that traffic safety in this specific area had been under discussion between the board and Town Hall since before he was first elected nine years ago, but that "they

Robber holds up motel's manager, flees with $243

The Howard Johnson Motel on Rt-22 was the scene of an armed robbery on Sunday at approximately 2 a.m. when William Stowe, night clerk at the motel, was forced at gunpoint to hand over a sum totaling $242 in cash, according to a report by Springfield police.
The robber was described to the police as a gunman working alone and was said to have fled down the highway after the theft. Springfield detectives are presently working on the case.

Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, was the scene of a break-in which took place when a Monroe, calculating machine, valued at $575, was reported stolen. According to Lewis F. Fredricks, Regional District secretary, the machine was locked in a classroom on Nov. 5 and was found to be missing when the room was later re-opened. Police reported no signs of forced entry.
A home on Hilltop court, Springfield, was burglarized last Friday, according to the police. The owner's stated that a $700 in cash was taken along with a ring and watch. Police found evidence that the front door had been forced.

Day re-elected to post with county fire chiefs

Springfield Fire Chief Robert Day was re-elected to the post of secretary of the Union County Fire Chiefs Association last Wednesday evening.
The election took place at the Roselle Park Fire Headquarters. Chief Day will serve in the office for a one-year term.

Churches, temples have joint service Thanksgiving Eve

Springfield's annual joint Thanksgiving Eve worship service will be held Wednesday at 8 p.m. at St. James Catholic Church, with participation by the clergymen of six local houses of worship. The Rev. Clarence Alston of Antioch Baptist Church will deliver the sermon.
Others taking part in the service will be Msgr. Francis X. Coyle and the Rev. Edward Oehling of St. James, Rabbi Reuben R. Levine of Temple Beth Ahm, Rabbi Israel S. Brenner of Temple Sharey Shalom, the Rev. James Dewart of Springfield Emanuel Methodist Church and the Rev. Bruce Evans of the First Presbyterian Church.
Special holiday music will be provided by the St. James choir. There will be a collection, with the proceeds going to pay for CARE packages for shipment overseas.

'Gingerbread Fairyland' fair slated by Presbyterian Church

The Community Presbyterian Church will hold its "Gingerbread Fairyland" fair on Saturday, Dec. 6, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the church, Meeting House Lane and Deer Park, Mountside.

Handmade items — representing skills and traditional handwork from past generations — will be available for sale at bargain prices, according to Alice Stiefel and Alma Jerome, chairman and co-chairman. "These exquisite and beautiful items will be heirlooms to the lucky people who pick them up," Mrs. Stiefel said.

She was talking about the tree skirts, table cloths, pine wreaths, wall hangings, Christmas decorations, dried flower pictures and many other items that the church women have been preparing over the past two years.

Kids are in for a special treat. Joe Heirle, the local tattoo man from the Mountside Community Pool, will have a winter engagement. He'll conduct a regular "Tattoo Parlor." Hot dogs and soda will be on sale from 11:30 to 1:30 for the youngsters. Adults will enjoy a tea room from 10 to 3 p.m.

A bake shop and pantry shelf, along with cake and coffee, will be available at the "Gingerbread House" and at the special counter for adult treats. Children of all ages can enjoy the special $12,000 one-of-a-kind HO train display.

Adults will be able to browse through the art exhibit (all works for sale), and the stained glass exhibit. There will be a white elephant sale, a "Kiddie Corner" for used toys and a used book stall. The stained glass hangings are one-of-a-kind.

LOCAL DESIGNER'S EXHIBIT — A hooked rug created by Ina Golub of Mountside is included in the fall exhibition of the New Jersey Designer-Craftsmen, Inc. at the Lillian Kornbluth Gallery, Fairlawn. The rug is gold, turquoise and brown wool. Mrs. Golub is a designer-craftsman of Jewish ceremonial textiles.

Ina Golub work in exhibition

Ina Golub of Mountside, weaver, textile designer and college instructor, is participating in the fall exhibition of the New Jersey Designer-Craftsmen, Inc. at the Lillian Kornbluth Gallery, Fairlawn. The exhibition organization features the work of craftsmen from throughout the state, working in various media.

Mrs. Golub has been building a reputation as a designer-craftsman of Jewish ceremonial textiles. Several examples of her work are being exhibited. She recently completed artwork at Temple Shalom, Springfield, and Beth Tikvah, Wayne. Her wedding canopy won an award in 1968, and at the spring 1969 show of the New York Artist Craftsmen, her rug also took an award.

Mrs. Golub resides on Rolling Rock road.

NJDC comprises the work of more than 80 craftsmen, each creating unique designs. Their work is in such media as textiles, pottery, gold and silver jewelry, wood, and even plastic. Among the participants are national award winners, college professors, and local craftsmen. The show provides an outlet for displaying and selling their work — and also gives the public a view of the new and different work being crafted in the state.

The Kornbluth Gallery is located at 7-21 Fairlawn ave., Fairlawn. Exhibition hours are Tuesday to Saturday, 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., and Wednesday until 9:30 p.m. Admission is free.

Day Care Center opens drive for funds, goal at $20,000

The Westfield Day Care Center is launching its annual appeal drive with a goal of $20,000. Now beginning its third year of operation, the Center offers full day care and a sound educational program under professional supervision. Pre-school children and kindergartners in the Westfield area whose mothers must work or whose home situation requires day care are eligible.

In 1965 the Church Women United began plans for a day care center. They were encouraged by former Mayor Mulraney and a special committee, headed by Councilman Carl Peterson, to investigate the need for day care facilities in Westfield.

In March 1967, a meeting at St. Paul's Episcopal Church marked the beginning of the organization. It secured the approval of the Westfield Planning Board and State authorities.

The Madison Avenue Chapel was made available through the generosity of the Presbyterian Church and became the home of the Day Care Center. With the help of volunteers and donations of material from interested people, the building was remodeled.

In April 1968, it was opened to 14 children, ages 3 to 5. By September, 1968, additional alterations had been completed to care for a total of 38 children. Since then the center has been operating at capacity, with a waiting list. The center is fully accredited and State-approved.

The center is open from 7:30 to 5:30, five days a week. The center offers full day care and lunch and snacks, provided with nap times, enrichment activities and supervised play.

This fall the center has extended its program to look after kindergarten-age children of working mothers. These children are cared for at the Presbyterian Church each day that public school is in session, from 11:30 to 5:30. Transportation is provided from the public schools to the church.

The professional staff at both centers is supplemented by some 96 volunteers who serve as teachers, aides, kitchen helpers, office assistants and drivers.

Children are admitted on the basis of need for day care. An admissions committee screens each application. Fees are based on the family's ability to pay. However, these fees average only about half the cost of the service. The rest depends on the generosity of the community.

"Westfield area residents have supported the Day Care Center generously over the past two years, and we are confident that they will continue to do so in the future," said Mrs. Gardner Cunningham, president of the Day Care Center. Contributions may be sent to the Westfield Day Care Center, Inc., 140 Madison ave., Westfield, 07090.

Survivors plan dinner-dance

The Pearl Harbor Survivors Club of New Jersey will hold its annual dinner-dance at the Rock Spring Inn, Northfield ave., West Orange on Dec. 6 to commemorate those of the armed forces killed in the Pearl Harbor attack.

Tennis title won by local resident

By Grubel of 1164 Wyoming dr., Mountside, was named the men's singles tennis champion at the Arlington Players Tennis Club, Kearny, on Saturday. He is also the joint recipient of the men's doubles tennis championship with his partner, Richard Dikovics of East Orange.

Earlier in the season, Grubel won the Union County men's singles tournament in which he defeated a former champion, Ed Faulkner of the Westfield Tennis Club, and the Union County senior men's singles tournament.

On the local scene, Grubel is a member of the Mountside Music Association, of which he is a past vice-president. He also devotes his spare time to tennis instruction in the Union County Regional Adult School Program.

Thursday, November 20, 1969

Grubel is a graduate of Rutgers, with a BS degree in accounting, and is employed as a cost analyst with the Raytheon Co., Murray Hill.

Performs solo role

Miss Alice Strohmeier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis A. Strohmeier of 390 Crook Rd., Mountside, has been selected to perform a solo role in the annual presentation of Handel's Messiah at Maryville College, Maryville, Tenn. Miss Strohmeier is a junior music major at the college.

Mrs. Varga rites held

Funeral services were held Saturday for Mrs. Joseph Varga, mother of Mrs. Michael Kima of 324 New Providence rd., Mountside, from the Gorny and Gorny Funeral Home, Elizabeth. A High Mass of Requiem followed at St. Peter and Paul's Church, Elizabeth.

Mrs. Varga died last Wednesday at Elizabeth General Hospital, following a brief illness. She was a resident of Elizabeth and a member of the Rosary Society at St. Peter and Paul's Church. Also surviving the deceased is a son, Nicholas, of Baltimore, Md.; three brothers, three sisters, and six grandchildren.

Methodists planning special Thanksgiving processional

Thanksgiving Sunday will be observed at Springfield Emanuel United Methodist Church, Church Mall at Academy Green, with special acts of worship at all services, according to Pastor James Dewart. At the 9:30 a.m. chapel service, on the second floor of the church annex, Diane Dewart will sing "We Gather Together" and a member of the Chancel Choir will sing "Bless This House." Pastor Dewart will entitle his message "Balancing Our Loyalties."

The 11 a.m. service of morning worship will include a procession led by the American and religious flags, and a banner made by Jamie Leigh Dewart. Karen Koerner, dressed as a Pilgrim girl, will carry a copy of the President's Thanksgiving proclamation which will be read by Paul Gordon, lay leader. The processional hymn, "For the Beauty of the Earth" will be accompanied by Steven Geisel on the snare drum, and Alice Holler and Robin Geisel on the flute. The Wesley and Chancel Choir will both render Thanksgiving anthems. Pastor Dewart's sermon, "Balancing Our Loyalties," will be based on Luke 20:19-26. Karen Koerner will also participate in the 9:30 service.

Church school will assemble at 9:30 a.m. with each individual class preparing a Thanksgiving fruit arrangement for its adopted grandparent, one of the shut-ins of the congregation. The church school will also have a Bible display in the Mundy Room depicting parts of its study during the fall. Members are invited to view the display during the 10:30 a.m. coffee hour.

The German language worship service at 9:30 a.m. will include a sermon, "God Our Provider."

The Woman's Society of Christian Service will sponsor a Silver Tea from 3 to 5 p.m. The proceeds will be donated to the Christmas gift for the Methodist Parsonage families in East Germany.

The board of trustees will meet at 8 p.m. Monday.

Thanksgiving eve members of the congregation will share in the German language service at 8 p.m. in the sanctuary and the community Thanksgiving service at the same hour in St. James Roman Catholic Church.

Man is bound over for grand jury on forged check count

A Plainfield man, Barry Tuck, was bound over for grand jury action by Judge Max Sherman at the regular session of the Springfield Municipal Court on Monday. Tuck was charged with obtaining money under false pretenses at the Vandergrath Speed Shop on Rt. 22 on Oct. 29. He was arrested by the Springfield Police Department following his passing of a forged check in the amount of $80, the charge stated.

The defendant waived the right to a preliminary hearing and posted $100 bail.

Leon F. Fredericks, 21, of Summit, was found guilty by Judge Sherman at the regular session on a charge of disorderly conduct and interfering with an officer in the performance of his duty.

Fredericks entered a plea of guilty and was fined $50 under the township ordinance. Seven persons were fined on motor vehicle charges by the judge. Found guilty on speeding charges were Robert S. Meyer, 25, of 113 Irwin st., Springfield, $25; Victor N. Marulli, 41, of Somerville, $30 and $10 contempt; Arnold Somers, 42, of Levittown, Pa., $45; and Arnold Stegendorf, 23, of Newark, $20. Robert B. Dunn, 32, of Glen Ridge, was fined $15 for careless driving, while Raymond J. Morgan, 27 of 238 Morris ave., Springfield, paid $15 for careless driving. Anita B. Goldstein, 46, of Berkeley Heights was fined $10 for failure to keep right.

WHAT IS DMD?

Dystonia musculorum deformans (DMD) is a rare, inherited, muscle disease which usually strikes children between the ages of 5 and 15. Its symptoms include involuntary contractions of the muscles and the first noticeable sign may be an irregular walking gait.

Within five to eight years, severe muscle spasms usually confine the patient to bed and occasionally lead to death. Although surgery is frequently beneficial, no consistently effective treatment for DMD has yet been found. Scientists do not know the mechanism which causes the muscular spasms.

Genetic diseases, among the most puzzling of man's illnesses, appear when one of the basic units of inheritance is abnormal. Each of the thousands of genetic building blocks is extremely complex and investigators are only beginning to understand the heredity process.

Each life-process is believed to be directed by minute amounts of nucleic acids which comprise genes. When something happens to change the structure of a gene (a mutation), the process that gene directs is altered. If this gene is passed on to the offspring, it can cause the same abnormal process, or disease, in the child.

This apparently happens in DMD. Previously, scientists believed that DMD was a dominant genetic defect. In that case, if just one parent had DMD, doctors believed, his children would have a fifty-fifty chance of inheriting the disorder.

Recently, a scientist at the National Institute of Neurological Diseases and Stroke (NINDS) conducted a study which indicated that parents whose children have DMD often do not have the disease themselves. NINDS is a component of the National Institutes of Health.

The NINDS scientist concluded that there is a form of DMD which is a recessive genetic trait. Children have a high probability of getting this form of the disorder only if both parents have DMD, and are carrying the recessive gene which causes it. The recessive type of DMD is usually more severe and begins earlier in life than the genetically dominant form.

This finding has significance to genetic counselors, who advise the parents of children with genetic defects about the probability of having another child with the same defect.

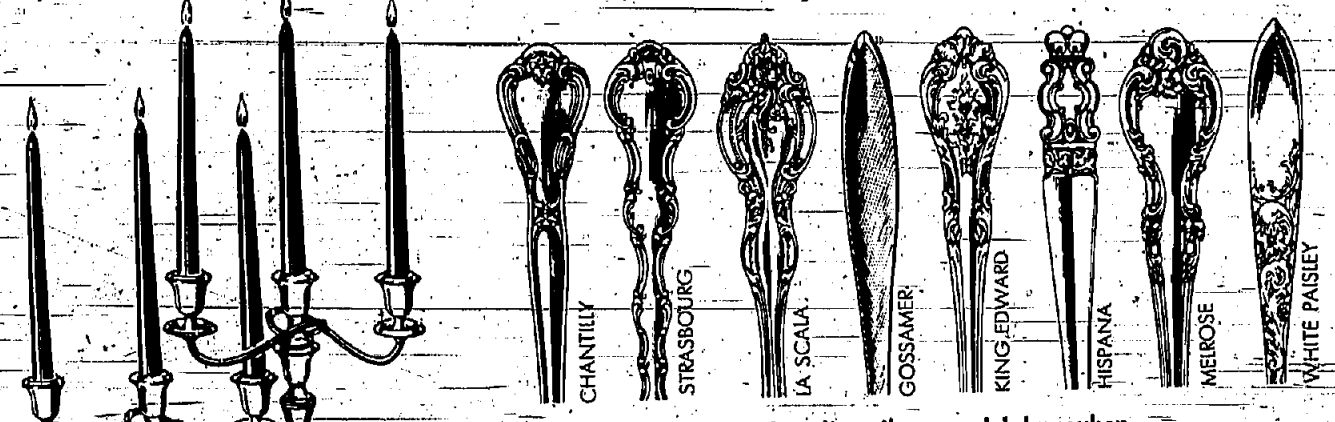

Previously, if one child had DMD, genetic counselors believed most other children in the family had a high probability of also having DMD. If a person who has the recessive form of DMD marries, counselors can now advise him that there is not a high probability of his children having the disease.

Additional study, enhanced by the knowledge of how DMD is inherited, will eventually identify the basic mechanism which produces the muscle spasms. When this is accomplished, a therapy can be developed to prevent or relieve these symptoms.

LEVY RISE DOUBLE THAT OF TAX BASE

Between 1965 and 1969, the local property tax levy in New Jersey rose at a rate twice as fast as the increase in taxable valuations. Taxable valuations of both real and business personal property throughout the State this year total $32.7 billion. This is 19-percent higher than the 1965 total of $27.4 billion. During the same period the total general property tax levy rose approximately 40 percent from $1.2 billion

Moskowitz takes part in graduate program

Paul Moskowitz of 100 Stone Hill rd., Springfield, is one of 29 students at Montclair State College participating in the college's urban-urban internship program. The program, initiated last year with 14 students, combines regular graduate studies at Montclair State with special work in urban education programs there and at other New Jersey colleges. Participants work toward a master's in the subject of their choice while receiving training designed to prepare them for teaching or counseling positions in either urban schools or institutions with urban programs.

to $1.7 billion. Several major changes were made in the state's local property tax system during this period. These included a shift in taxation of both real and business personal property of both real and business personal property of business from the local tax base to state administration; also taxation at uniform rates, inventories and non-business personal property exempted from taxation, and state reimbursement to local units for part or all of property formerly taxed locally.

The property tax levy, while collected by the municipal tax collector, is shared by schools and counties as well as the municipality. Largest share of the local levy taken for school purposes totaled $956.7 million this year, or 50 percent more than the $638 million school-purpose tax in 1965.

The 21 counties' share statewide rose over 56 percent, from $214.8 million to $335.4 million during the 1965 to 1969 period. The 567 municipalities shared $384.6 million of the local tax levy this year. This was 10 percent more than the $348.3 million they received in 1965.

Another $33.9 million of the local levy this year represents payment for exemptions granted veterans and senior citizens. This was only 4 percent higher than the $32.7 million total in 1965. Current totals are among data appearing in "Financial Statistics of New Jersey Local Government," published by the New Jersey Taxpayers Association.

Seven accidents occur in Springfield; two persons are taken to Overlook

Two persons were injured in accidents which occurred in Springfield during the past week, according to the Springfield Police Department.

On Tuesday Charles Bishop, 36, of 31 Salter st., Springfield, was injured in a three-car collision when his car was struck from behind by a vehicle operated by Helen M. Krusk, 54, of Elizabeth, police said. According to the accident report, Mrs. Krusk's car had been struck in the rear by a vehicle driven by F. S. Melnick, 23, of Chatham.

Bishop was taken by the Springfield First Aid Squad to Overlook Hospital, Summit, where he was treated for head injuries and later released, hospital officials stated.

All three cars sustained severe damage and were towed away. According to the police report, neither Mrs. Krusk nor Melnick suffered any visible injuries.

Peter Mielnikiewicz, 19, of Plainfield, was injured while riding as a passenger in the car of Michael E. Tufaro, 17, of Plainfield, which was struck from behind by a car driven by Michael Maddaluna Jr., 49, of Bernardsville, local police reported.

The accident occurred at the Lido Diner turnabout on Rt. 22 on Sunday, reports said, when Tufaro's car was stuck while attempting to turn.

Mielnikiewicz was taken by the First Aid Squad to Overlook Hospital where he was admitted for head injuries. According to hospital authorities, he was released in satisfactory condition on Monday.

A collision took place in the parking lot of the White Diamond Restaurant on Morris avenue on Tuesday when a tractor trailer driven by Stephen Murdy, 62, of Kearny, struck a car operated by Donald S. Alford, 29, of West Orange, according to the accident report.

Police said that Murdy was turning in the lot when his rear wheel bumped the front fender of Alford's car, producing a dent. Neither driver was reported to have suffered any visible injuries.

At the intersection of Morris and Mountain avenues, a car driven by Frank J. McCabe, 62, of Orange, struck a vehicle operated by Richard L. Lyons, 29, of Roselle on Wednesday, police reported.

Both cars sustained extensive damage and were towed away, police said. Neither driver suffered any visible damage.

Sunday in Springfield saw three other accidents. Morris avenue and Center street was the scene of a collision between Grady L. Roberts, 63, of Vauxhall and Samuel Leake, 39, of Union.

Police reported that Roberts swerved to avoid a stopped car and struck Leake's vehicle. Roberts' car received front-end damage and Leake's vehicle sustained damage in the left rear. Neither driver was reported to have suffered any visible injuries.

Rt. 22 east was the site of an accident involving Edward A. Kasprovicz, 26, of Moonachie and Donald F. Barth, 51 of Riverhead, N.Y., police disclosed.

According to the accident report, Barth's car struck Kasprovicz's vehicle from behind, causing damage to the right door and fender. Barth's car was reported to have sustained damage to the left front fender. Police stated that neither driver suffered any visible injuries.

Frank Guthney, 36, of Vauxhall was involved in a one-car accident when his car went out of control on Springfield avenue and hit the guard rail. His car, which was towed away, sustained damage to the left side, and a rear tire was blown out.

Local Girl Scouts attend splash party, begin badge work

The Springfield Community Girl Scouts held a splash party Saturday night at the Garden State Swim Pool in Berkeley Heights. More than 100 Browns, Juniors and Cadettes Scouts and their leaders attended. Mrs. Daniel Olan, chairman of the event, said, "The purpose of the splash party was to have fun and the Girl Scouts did just that. They had a frolicking, wet, fun evening."

As a community service, the Girl Scouts are making up nine food baskets for needy families of Springfield for Thanksgiving. The Junior and Cadette scouts will soon be busy working on the Debater Badge on Wednesday nights. The badge will be given by Barry Valenti, a college student. The purpose of this badge is to make different kinds of art with their hands.

My Community Badge will be given by Mrs. Louis Quinton, starting Dec. 4 for seven weeks. The scouts will learn about their community, its history and the ways it helps the people who live there.

Author will give talk at temple

Bruno Bettelheim, psychiatrist and author of the recently published book, "The Children of the Dream," will be the speaker at Temple Emanu-El, Westfield, on Sunday evening. He will discuss "Kibbutz and Camps Revolutionaries." His lecture is the second in a series of three Sunday night forums presented by the adult education committee of the temple.

Dr. Bettelheim has been director of the Orthogenic School for severely disturbed children at the University of Chicago for the past 22 years. He is also professor of psychology and psychiatry at the University.

Dessert and coffee will be served at 7:15 p.m. and the lecture will begin at 8 p.m. Individual tickets for the lecture may be purchased at the door. The last lecture, on Nov. 30, will be presented by Dr. Richard Rubenstein.

Walton PTA to hear about school specials

The Edward V. Walton PTA will hear August Gavnornik, the school psychologist, discuss "How the School Specials Help Our Children," at the Monday meeting to be held at 8 p.m.

Other faculty members to discuss the topic include Mrs. Blanche Blumenfeld, a specialist in learning disabilities, Mrs. Elizabeth Erb and Miss Gloria Boorly, both remedial instructors, and Mrs. Rosemary Schuch, a speech therapist.

Patton is graduated from Navy's OCS

NEWPORT, R.I.— Navy Ensign Thomas J. Patton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Abner P. Patton of 12 Christy lane, Springfield, N.J., was graduated recently from Officer Candidate School (OCS) at Newport, R.I.

He became proficient in the naval sciences in the 18 weeks of intensive training completing the difficult courses. During his four months at OCS he spent a total of 520 hours in military, tactical, organizational and technical subjects.

In addition to the classroom time, two hours a day was devoted to close order drill, swimming, lessons, physical training or similar activities. He received actual sea-going experience aboard a squadron of yard patrol craft which are attached to the school and operate daily on Narragansett Bay near Newport.

Wolfe holds jazz session

Allan Wolfe of 101 Twin Oaks, Springfield, a member of the Music Educators' Association of New Jersey, Inc., conducted a jazz piano workshop at yesterday's meeting of the group. The meeting was held at the N.J. Historical Society in Newark.

Wolfe attended Miami University and the Julliard School of Music. He has studied with well-known classical and jazz teachers, such as Mark Nevin, Herbie Brock, Jerry Coker, Archie Koty and Jack Cohen. He studied voice with Margaret Haymes, mother of Dick Haymes.

Wolfe has worked both as a single entertainer and with groups in the Florida area. He has been teaching in New Jersey for about 12 years.

SAVING LIVES AT OVERLOOK

Overlook Hospital's Campaign Goal this year is $500,000
Major capital improvements on the planning boards include:

- Doubling the size of Overlook's Coronary Care Unit, first in the state, from four to eight beds, equipped with the latest and most advanced electronic monitoring devices.
- completion of air conditioning and renovation of '53 Wings A & B to bring all of Overlook's patient areas up-to-date for comfort and recuperation.
- completion of the new 80-bed Extended Care Facility for longer-term patients, reducing their hospital costs and freeing needed beds in the main hospital for the acutely ill.
- enlargement of kitchen facilities to accommodate added Extended Care patients.
- installation of oxygen and suction systems in the recently converted sixth floor medical-surgical wing.
- installation of data communications system to streamline inter-hospital orders, keep costs down, and keep nurses at bedside.

Your help is needed to achieve these goals. Give to the Overlook Campaign

CHILDREN'S SPECIALIZED HOSPITAL, New Providence road, Mountainside, held annual high school career day last week. Arthritis clinic well received, Children's Hospital reports

Dr. E. Milton Staub, director of medical services and education at Children's Specialized Hospital, New Providence road, Mountainside, said this week that a special arthritis clinic, organized nearly a year ago, has been "enthusiastically accepted" by patients and doctors alike.

The clinic was developed by Children's Specialized Hospital in cooperation with the N. J. Arthritis Foundation, which also provided a grant for the clinic's operation. The arthritis clinic, which is held on the second and fourth Tuesdays of every month, is not limited to patients of any age group. "We have found," Dr. Staub said, "that because of the special rehabilitative facilities available here and the general atmosphere of this type of institution, the arthritic patient is not caught up in the more hectic pace of an acute general hospital and can therefore feel that the services are more specifically directed toward his individual needs."

The clinic, open to anyone who is referred by his own physician, is staffed by three arthritis specialists: Dr. Joseph M. Marchant, director of rheumatology, N. J. College of Medicine and Dentistry; Dr. James W. Robinson, Summit, and Dr. Louise B. Hanauer, Millburn.

The patient's first visit is devoted to general examination and laboratory tests after which each is assigned to one of the specialists on a one-to-one basis. After the evaluation all doctors discuss each individual case, determine the diagnosis, outline the needs and prepare a program for the management of the patient. Their findings and recommendations are combined in a report to the patient's own doctor.

Physical and occupational therapy treatment available at the hospital includes paraffin, heat, massage, exercise, stretching and pool therapy. Medication and complete general care, however, is prescribed by the patient's own physician. "The purpose of the arthritis program is not to take the place of the family and personal physician," Dr. Staub said, "but rather to assist him in carrying out needed investigations and examinations and, when requested, provide specific therapy. Thus the busy physician is helped to spread his valuable knowledge to help a maximum number of patients." The changes made to the patient are at less than cost and are modified to the patient's ability to pay. In closing Dr. Staub said, "With the continuing strides being made in the treatment of arthritis we feel that all arthritics should be re-evaluated at least annually."

Union membership shows million rise

WASHINGTON — Membership in national unions with headquarters in the United States reached 20.2 million in 1968, a gain of almost a million members since 1966, according to the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Total membership in the United States — that is, excluding Canadian membership — rose to 18,843,000 in 1968, a gain of 903,000 or five percent from 1966, preliminary results from the BLS biennial union membership survey show.

While the proportion of union members in the total labor force increased slightly between 1966-68, the proportion of unorganized employees in non-agricultural establishments declined further.

AFL-CIO affiliates reported 15.6 million members in 1968, compared with 16.2 million in 1966. Excluding the United Auto Workers, which left the Federation in 1968, AFL-CIO affiliates gained about 880,000 members. National unaffiliated unions reported 4.6 million against 3 million two years ago.

An estimated 2.2 million Federal, State and local employees are now union members, an increase of 436,000 since 1966. During the decade 1958-68 this segment of union membership has grown by about 1.1 million which accounts for more than half of the total membership gain during that period.

White-collar membership, now at 3.2 million, was up by 434,000 over 1966. The number of women in unions rose by 281,000 to 3.9 million.

Use Christmas Seals.

Christmas Seals help fight emphysema, tuberculosis, and air pollution.

Winter jobs earn more than just extra money

That Christmas part-time job may do more than help pay students tuition or pay for new clothes. For one thing, it will buy them valuable Social Security protection for themselves and later for their family.

Ralph W. Jones, Social Security manager of the Union-Somerset County area said this week:

"Social Security is a lot more than retirement and Medicare. Young people can get valuable survivors and disability protection with as little as a year and a half of work under Social Security," Jones said. "Thanks to the work they do part-time and on vacations, many high school and college students are already insured for both kinds of young people's protection even before they begin their regular working careers."

Jones gave three basic suggestions to young workers who want to get the most protection from their Social Security:

"Make sure your employer has correctly recorded your Social Security number. Without proper reporting a worker may not get credit for all his earnings."

"If part of your wages is received in tips, it is also important that you keep a record of the amounts received and report them to your employer. If you earn tips amounting to $20 or more a month, you will receive Social Security credit for them and must pay a Social Security contribution for the tips just as for other wages."

"Check with Social Security every 3 years or so to make sure your earnings have been correctly reported. This is especially important if you change jobs frequently. A pre-addressed post card form available at district offices can be used to request a statement of the earnings credited to your Social Security record."

Seton Hall alumni holding phonathon for fund campaign

Eighty Seton Hall University alumni from Union County are in the midst of a phonathon which is soliciting funds for the more than $2,500 alumni reading in the area. The drive, which will continue through Dec. 3, has the Cranford Motor Lodge in Cranford as its headquarters, where 20 telephone lines have been installed.

Serving as county chairman for the effort is George H. Selfert, Cliff of '55, a field underwriter for the HomeLife Insurance Company of Springfield and a resident of Scotch Plains.

The drive has four associate chairmen, they are Samuel Bauman, Class of '61, 816 Meeker Ave., Union; Fred J. Chemidlin, Class of '55, Fanwood; Philip A. Dannelly Jr., Class of '55, Scotch Plains; and Thomas J. McEvoy, Class of '63, 230 Milton Ave., Union.

The alumni effort is part of the University's capital campaign of $5,000,000 which has already exceeded more than half of its goal. Proceeds will aid new construction, provide for endowed faculty chairs, and increase student scholarship aid.

Freeholder Tiller is elected to seat on UC trustee board

The election of Freeholder Director Edward H. Tiller of Garwood, as a trustee of Union College, Cranford, was announced this week by Hugo B. Meyer of Summit, chairman of the board.

Tiller was elected under a revision of the by-laws of the board, which provides that the director of the Union County Board of Freeholders is invited to serve as a trustee during his term as director. Meyer said Tiller will be a full voting member of the board.

"We have greatly appreciated the cordial relations between our college and the Union County Board of Freeholders," Meyer said in a letter to Tiller. "It is with this relationship in mind and in an effort to continue our open communications that the board of trustees has voted to invite the director of your board to serve as a trustee of Union College."

Tiller's election brings the membership of the Union College board of trustees to 25. UNION COLLEGE IS being utilized by the Union County Coordinating Agency for Higher Education to provide college-parallel programs for Union County in lieu of a county college. The coordinating agency is also utilizing the Union County Technical Institute in Scotch Plains for technical and occupational-oriented programs.

"We are confident that the system of two-year college education in Union County is the highest quality and is being provided at the lowest cost of any similar system in New Jersey," Meyer said.

Tiller, who was recently elected to his fourth term on the board of freeholders, is serving his second year as director. He served four terms as mayor of Garwood and is also a former Garwood councilman.

Tiller is an ex-officio member of the board of estimates for the Union County Vocational and Technical Schools, the Union County Planning Board and the Union County Welfare Board. He was chairman of the roads and bridges committee for five years, the purchasing committee for one year and has also served on the administration, public affairs, purchasing and public property committees of the Board of Freeholders.

Tiller has also served as executive chairman of the Inter-Municipal Group for Better-Rail Service, as a member of the North Jersey Mayors' Transportation Committee and has organized and was a charter member of the Union County Mayors' Conference.

Tiller is an area supervisor with E.J. Du Pont de Nemours & Co., Inc., of Newark. He is married and resides with his wife and three children in Garwood.

Three open houses for college hopefuls scheduled by UC

Three open houses will be held at Union College, Cranford, to acquaint high school juniors and seniors and their parents with the college's educational programs and facilities, it was announced this week by Prof. Elmer Wolf, acting dean.

Programs have been scheduled for this Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 13, from 10 a.m. to noon. Students and parents may also visit the college on Monday, Dec. 8, from 7 to 9 p.m.

The open-house programs are designed to give high school students and their parents a better insight into the college programs and facilities offered at Union College as well as information on admission procedures and information on the college campus, including the science building and the William Miller Sperry Observatory, are included in the program.

Members of the admissions, financial aid and counseling staffs will be on hand to answer questions. The Inter-Fraternal Council will provide student hosts to conduct the campus tours.

"A two-year college of the academic disciplines," Union College offers majors in liberal arts, an education option to the liberal arts curriculum, engineering, life and physical sciences, and business administration in the day and evening sessions, and law enforcement in the evening session. The college is accredited by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and is authorized to award the degree of Associate in Arts by the State Board of Higher Education. About 85 percent of Union College graduates transfer with advanced standing to more than 400 colleges and universities throughout the country.

Scholarship aid is available to qualified applicants.

Howard Savings reports tax payout

Fourth quarter New Jersey real estate taxes exceeding $9.1 million were paid to 502 municipalities this week by The Howard Savings Institution of Newark. The taxes, paid on some 40,000 properties on which The Howard holds mortgages, brought the total 1969 real estate tax bill to over $54 million.

The Howard, on behalf of its mortgagees in Union County pays an annual tax bill of over $2,900,000, covering 3,742 properties in 20 communities.

Funds for such payments are escrowed by

The Howard on a monthly basis for all properties on which it holds mortgages.

"Our policy of handling our mortgagees' real estate tax obligations dates back many years," said John W. Kress, bank president, "and is greatly appreciated by municipal tax collectors." Kress said that the policy means automatic tax payment budgeting for The Howard's mortgagees.

The largest mortgage lender in the state, The Howard's entire $622,000,000 portfolio is invested in New Jersey's twenty-one counties.

Middle Atlantic gets Coast land

Atlantic & Western Properties, Inc., a recently formed subsidiary of Middle Atlantic Holdings Co., Union, this week announced completion of the first part of a $7.5 million transaction involving property at Manly Beach, Calif.

The property is being acquired by Atlantic & Western, said Middle Atlantic president Sidney L. Jaffe, for the purpose of developing a luxury seaside condominium complex.

Clinic for swim officials scheduled by YMHA

Dr. Joseph S. Guzik, subcommittee swimming chairman of the Eastern Union County YM-YWHA, Green Lane, Union, announced this week the Y will conduct an adult officials swim clinic at the pool office on Dec. 3 at 7:30 p.m.

The clinic program is open to all adults and especially for parents who have children on swim teams, as well as other interested adults.

The clinic will be conducted by Robert Anderson, swim coach, assisted by Dr. Guzik and R. E. "Happy" Pezzia, senior athletic director.

Clinic participants will be instructed on how to start a race with the use of gun, horn or whistle; how to take off from starter boxes installed in pool; how to properly use a stop watch for timing of all events; how to record and set up meets for all types of events; how to judge proper strokes—in each event scheduled, including free style, back stroke, butterfly, medley and relay; how to judge turns and first, second, third and fourth places, and proper clothing for swim events to be worn by officials.

Cards with emblems will be issued by the Y for all swim meets for the purpose of identification. A fee of $1 will be assessed to cover expenses.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting Pezzia at the Y, 289-9112.

Holdorf gets library post at Union C.

The appointment of John A. Holdorf of Elizabeth as an assistant librarian at Union College, Cranford, was announced this week by Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, acting president.

Holdorf has an extensive professional background in industry and library service. He is a graduate of Rutgers University where he earned a bachelor of science degree in business administration and a masters degree in library science. He has completed course requirements for a masters degree in education at Newark State College and is currently working on his thesis.

His business career has included work as an industrial engineer with several corporations, including Crucible Steel Corp. and Stacy-Gifford Corp. He has been a librarian with the Elizabeth Public Library, the Newark Business Library, Newark State College, and Newark school system and from 1967 he has been a part-time librarian at Union College.

Holdorf has also taken additional graduate work at Jamestown Community College, Oxford University, Lincoln, and in the U. S. Army.

He served in the Army following World War II and again during the Korean Crisis. He entered as a private first class and was discharged a Captain. He earned an instructor's Diploma while in service and a Military Intelligence Certificate.

Holdorf will assist Prof. George P. Marks, III, of Elizabeth, Union College librarian, and will concentrate his efforts in the areas of reference and circulation.

He is a widower and father of one child.

Quartets plan a sing

Westfield's Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Amateur Singing in America will present its 21st annual Harmony Holiday, "Way Back When," Dec. 5 and 6, at Westfield High School.

Heading the participants will be the Auto Towners Quartet of Detroit, International champions in 1966. This will be their first appearance in Westfield.

A "fun" quartet, the Midnight Oilers, of Chicago, will also sing.

The Westfield Chorus will offer new songs and arrangements under Bob Stalkoet, director, and Jack Robinson, assistant director. Tickets are available at MacHugh's, The Band Stand and The Music Box, or from members of the chorus.

Presbyterian Church to offer Thanksgiving service Sunday

Thanksgiving Sunday will be observed in the Springfield Presbyterian Church at both worship services Sunday morning. Members of the nursery, kindergarten and primary departments of the Church School will attend the 9:30 service, entering the Sanctuary in procession carrying offerings of fresh fruit. These will be placed on the communion table at the front of the Sanctuary which will be appropriately decorated.

Following the services, the fruit will be distributed to the ill, elderly and shut-in members of the congregation. Nell Catchell, Mrs. Salvatore Falcone and Mrs. Anton Campanella, supervisors of the departments involved, are in charge of arrangements for the distribution of the fruit.

At the 11 a.m. service, six girls will be honored with the God and Community Girl Scout Award. This is the first group from the Washington Rock Girl Scout Council to earn this award. Those receiving the award are: Sally Greiner, Holly Hüneke, Lenora Johnson, Karen Peters, Karen Pfeiffer and Gladys Roth. Also to be recognized are the two leaders who have worked with this group of girls for the past year in completing the requirements for the God and Community Award—Mrs. Robert Peters and Mrs. Henry Hüneke.

For the past year this group of girls, all members of Cadette Troop 471, have performed service projects for the church in addition to studying their religion. All were members of last year's confirmation class and completed a comprehensive study of the history of the church and the Presbyterian denomination.

Regular attendance each Sunday morning at Church School is required, as well as daily Bible devotions. The girls have met regularly with the minister of the church, Dr. Bruce Evans, in a systematic review of the needed requirements. Among the service projects completed were the making of cardboard holders for candles for the Christmas Eve Communion service, assistance in getting out mailings of the church newsletter, folding bulletins for Sunday services and moving all books when the new church library was opened recently.

The group decorated the bulletin boards in the Parish House, patterned after the artwork of Sister Corita. Unusual crosses featuring a collage of the hills of the world were also completed.

The girls are also members of the Girls' Choir of the church and sing twice a month at worship services. They further assisted along this line by placing name tags in all the choir robes. Two major projects completed last year were a trip to Washington, D.C., and a fashion show and card party which raised

Funeral rites held for Mrs. Steinhoff

Funeral services were held Sunday for Mrs. Sarah Elmer Steinhoff, 70, who died Friday in Newark Beth Israel Medical Center. She was the widow of Benjamin Steinhoff.

Special invitations have been sent to the parents of Mrs. Steinhoff's four children to attend the worship service on Sunday morning when their daughters will be honored with the presentation of this award, which was developed in 1952 through the spiritual life department of the United Church Women of Kansas City.

Born in Austria, Mrs. Steinhoff came to this country as a girl and settled in Newark. She lived there until moving to Springfield two months ago. She was a former president and member of Eretz Bolochover KUV and a member of the Hebrew Free Loan and the Home for the Chronic Sick, all of Newark.

She leaves two sons, Efreim and Milton, both of Springfield; a daughter, Mrs. Gladys Barber of Maplewood, and five grandchildren.

The funeral was held at the Suburban Chapel of Philip Apter & Son, 1600 Springfield ave., Maplewood.

Supper dance to benefit multiple sclerosis work

"Let's dance so others can walk" is the theme of the second annual MS Hope Chest Champagne Supper Dance sponsored by the Upper New Jersey Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society on Wednesday evening, Dec. 3, at the Goldman, West Orange.

The evening will commence with champagne and hors d'oeuvres at 6:30, followed by buffet supper and dancing to the music of Don Perry's orchestra. Informal modeling of precious jewelry, cocktail fashions and furs will also take place.

Chairman of the event is Mrs. Marie Juliano of West Orange. She will be assisted by co-chairman Joseph F. Hobbs of Rahway, immediate past president of the Chapter. Committee chairmen include Mrs. J. Benjamin Susman of Springfield, sponsorship.

For the second year, Plumrose of Springfield has donated several cases of traditional Danish foods. This year they have been joined by Mother's Foods of Newark with a gift of typical Jewish foods. Other prizes include a silver tea service, radios, a blender, several original works of art by local artists, a group of lighters and long-playing records and books.

Participating merchants also include Bonwit Teller, Bamberger's, King's Supermarkets, Saks Fifth Avenue, Scandia Restaurant, Seton Leather Company and Footnotes of Millburn.

The printed program will include a listing of the sponsors of the event as well as a summary of the evening's festivities and a brief explanation of the society's aims.

All funds raised through this affair will be donated to the chapter to finance its dual program of international research and service to local patients. The Chapter serves Essex, Hudson and Union counties.

Further ticket information can be obtained from Harold Grant at 763-0204, Mrs. Harry Halprin at 744-9026 or the chapter office at 642-7797.

How to diet for holidays

The holiday season is the time for tasty and rich food delicacies, says Anne L. Sheehy, County Home Economist. If you are watching your weight, it can be difficult to keep on the straight and narrow.

It is possible, however, to stay in your diet and enjoy these festive treats with a little pre-planning and will power.

Remember - the total calorie count of the day is what is important. Be wise and juggle them to suit the situation.

Care can be taken in controlling the size of the portions and the rate of eating. Small servings of everything do not leave you with the feeling of being on a "special diet." The more slowly you eat, the less you will eat.

Decide ahead of time the food you are going to limit or eliminate. If a high calorie evening snack is anticipated, say "No, Thank You" to the dessert or dinner.

Holiday candies and cakes are usually high in calories but, if eaten in limited amounts, they need not upset your weight control schedule. But if it is hard for you to resist a second piece after tasting the first, it would be wise to avoid the first one altogether.

Traditional holiday beverages are yours to enjoy also, but there are a couple of calorie-cutting techniques that can be quite helpful. Have your cup or glass only half filled - or - sip the beverage graciously and ever so gradually.

When possible, concentrate your attention on low calorie snack items. Raw fruits and vegetables with a cheese dip have a lot less calories than pretzels and potato chips with a sour cream dip.

Indians ... Pilgrims ... and modern pumpkin pie

One-of Indian Squanto's lessons in living in the New World was planting pumpkin. Naturally, the Pilgrim women turned it into pudding, England having been known for puddings of many kinds. They opened the top, scooped out the seeds, filled the shell with milk and spices, sweetened it with maple syrup or molasses, and baked it in hot ashes. They ate the "pie" with a spoon. From this pumpkin pudding gradually evolved pie in crisp, flaky crust. The latest evolution in pumpkin pies is one made with Jell-O Golden-Egg Custard Mix. Quick to stir up with canned pumpkin, this pie is chilled in the refrigerator rather than baked in-ashes.

Garnished with pure cream, parmed whipped toppings, lightly scented with nutmeg, pumpkin pie has become quite a different dessert from that served at the Pilgrims' first Thanksgiving, but its flavor is just as festive. Nor would serving coffee with pumpkin pie be a Pilgrim tradition, but it's certainly an American one. This time let it be Holiday Demitasse, a rich, strong coffee made with instant quality coffee and a touch of the spice cardamom.

Also from their Indian friend, Squanto, the Pilgrim women learned how to make bayberry candles. By boiling 20 pounds of bayberries, they got a pound of wax. From this, they could make five candles, the size of a thumb, by dipping wicks 30 times in the wax. Each candle would burn two hours. Is it any wonder that such a precious source of light was saved for company occasions? Lighted twigs were for everyday use.

EASY PUMPKIN PIE - 1 package (8 oz.) egg custard mix - 1-1/2 cups canned pumpkin - 1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar - 1-2/3 cups (13-oz. can) evaporated milk

1 egg YOLK (optional) - 1-1/2 teaspoons pumpkin pie spice - 1 baked 9-inch pie shell, cooled - Spicy Whipped Topping - Combine custard mix, pumpkin, sugar, milk, egg yolk and apple. Bring quickly to a boil, stirring constantly. Pour into pie shell. Cool or chill until set. Prepare Spicy Whipped Topping and use to garnish top of pie.

NOTE: 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, and 1/4 teaspoon ginger may be used in place of the pumpkin pie spice.

SPICY WHIPPED TOPPING - Prepare 1 envelope whipped topping mix as directed on package, adding about 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg or ginger before whipping. Makes 2 cups.

HOLIDAY DEMITASSE - 1/2 cup instant quality coffee - 2 cups boiling water - 12 to 18 cardamom seeds - Sugar - Dissolve coffee in water. Place 2 or 3 cardamom seeds in each demitasse cup, add with a wooden spoon. Fill cups with coffee. Sprinkle with sugar. Makes 2 cups or 5 servings.

CRIEPLY SCALLOPED PIE shell with custard pumpkin pie and mugs of coffee are a present-day Thanksgiving dessert in authentic Pilgrim setting; an old oak hutch table with bayberry candles and Scraffito pottery mugs. Hutch table top tilts up to protect anyone sitting in chair beneath it from drafts. (Courtesy of Jell-O Golden Egg Custard Mix.)

FAMILY POT LUCK BY HELEN HALE

A quick-and-easy snack for the teenage gang is broiled cheese and chips. Empty a 39-cent bag of potato chips on the broiler rack. (Use heavy dip-type potato chips for best results.) Sprinkle chips with 1/2 cup grated American cheese. Broil until golden brown, watching them carefully so they won't overbrown. Use two forks to lift the chips. Watch each person that the cheese is hot.

Spread slices of toast with butter. Sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese and cracked pepper. Broil until lightly browned. Serve hot. For a simple dessert, slice 3 pears, dicing among 4 fruit dishes. Pour 1/3 cup chilled orange juice over each. Dust with nutmeg. For a tasty celery stuffing, blend equal amounts of deviled ham and peanut butter; add a bit of drained pickle relish; fill celery stalks.

Luncheon Meat-Carrot Filling 1 can (12 ounces) luncheon meat 3/4 cup grated raw carrots 2 teaspoons horseradish 3/4 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing Dash pepper Mash luncheon meat with a fork. Add carrots, horseradish, mayonnaise and pepper. Mix lightly until blended. Yield: 1-1/3 cups.

Zippy Cheese Log for holiday hospitality

Chopped nuts and parsley make the bark on this Zippy Cheese Log. Chopped cooked ham fills the center, and cream cheese, cottage cheese, and Parmesan salad dressing mix are blended to roll around it. Like any good tree on which you can count a few rings for age, this cheese log is better if it's aged a little, too - at least overnight. Among the flavors in Good Seasons® Parmesan Salad Dressing Mix that make it so perfect for bland mixtures of cottage and cream cheeses are dried Romano cheese, garlic, monosodium glutamate, and spices - in addition to dried Parmesan cheese, of course. So in one fell swoop, that envelope of salad dressing mix adds all the seasonings you want for your spread, including salt. Remember to skip the salt whenever using salad dressing mix for seasoning.

CHEESE-HAM ROLL, coated with chopped nuts and parsley, is well seasoned with salad dressing mix. Serve it at candlelight time with fruits and crisp crackers. (Courtesy of Good Seasons® Parmesan Salad Dressing Mix.)

Dates for turkey dinners

There's no place like home for celebrating happy occasions; whatever they may be. From casual gatherings with friends to special anniversary parties to family holiday dinners, home is the right place for good fellowship and good food all the year 'round. From the days of the early settlers, turkey has been a favorite dish in American homes. Its tantalizing aroma, crackling golden skin, and tender meat make any occasion festive. For the crowning touch to this delicious entrée, the home economists have a suggestion for stuffing that everyone will enjoy.

DATE-NUT TURKEY STUFFING 1/2 cup (1-stick) butter 4 individual stalks of celery, diced 2 medium, or 1 large onion, sliced 20 slices white bread, cubed (including crust) 1 tablespoon seasoned salt 2 eggs, beaten 1 8-oz. package diced dates, or whole dates, cut up 1 cup chopped pecans Melt butter in deep saucepan. Sauté celery and onions in butter until transparent and lightly browned. Remove from heat. Add bread and mix until moistened. Add diced or cut up dates to beaten egg and mix. Add seasoned salt, egg and date mixture, and chopped pecans, to bread mixture. Mix thoroughly.

Cleaning jewelry at home can be easy, pleasant task

Jewelry can be an easy accessory for a "complete look" to a costume, announces Carolyn E. Yukaus, Senior County Home Economist. It can add an individual touch or indicate a personality.

Some jewelry adds special interest because it is lovely to look at, while other pieces give pleasure because they have an amusing look, or have sentimental value.

Regardless of the type or use of jewelry, it does require some care and cleaning.

Clean, oil sewing machine

A sewing machine needs periodic cleaning to be in top operating order, says Carolyn F. Yuknus, Senior County Home economist. Your sewing machine will last longer and work better with regular care which includes cleaning and oiling. To clean a sewing machine you will need the direction book, non-flammable commercial dry cleaning solution, some old cloths, a round stubby brush, sewing machine oil, and for some machines, lubricant. Remove the accumulated lint and dust around all the exposed parts, around the feed dog and bobbin case with the stubby brush. Then, with the dry cleaning solution and the brush, wash all the areas except the motor or where electrical wires are involved. This would include the tension disk, take-up lever, thread guides, presser bar, needle bar, bobbin case and machine arm and bed. Wipe dry with a clean cloth. Tilt the machine head back and brush away lint and dust in this area. Use the dry cleaning solution to clean the parts that move, including any gears and parts which move as the wheel is turned. With all the old grease, dirt and lint removed, and the parts clean and dry, check the direction book for oiling directions. Use a drop of sewing machine oil in all of the designated oil holes. Use lubricant on gears and in grease cups if the machine is one which requires it. After the machine has been thoroughly oiled, test the stitching on a double thickness of a scrap of material. It is likely that the thread tension will need adjustment now that the tension disk is cleaned. Check the direction book for directions for adjusting the thread tension. If the thread loops on the under side of the cloth, the top tension is too loose; therefore, tighten the top tension by turning the knob several turns to the right. If the thread loops on the top side of the material, the bottom tension is too loose. You can tighten the bottom tension located on the spring on the bobbin case. But it is easier to loosen the top tension by turning the knob several turns to the left. The two tensions are in balance when the stitches look the same on both sides. Periodic oiling of a machine keeps it in good working order. When not in use, keep a scrap of material under the presser foot with the needle inserted in the cloth and the presser foot down. This will collect any excess oil.

County cancer unit seeks volunteers for office work

The Union County Unit of the American Cancer Society is seeking volunteers to participate in a staff aides program at the unit office, 512 Westminister ave., Elizabeth.

Raymond J. Donahue of 508 Princeton rd., Linden, president of the organization, said, "The Union County Unit is attempting to organize a corps of volunteers to work in the unit office, a half-day per week, doing routine office work, answering the telephone and rendering general assistance in the daily functions of the organization." Additional activities may include greeting and assisting visitors, distributing dressings and sickroom items to patients and their families (at the office) and maintaining records and inventories.

Donahue asked that interested parties call the unit office at 354-7373 or 232-0641 for additional information or to register for the Staff Aides Program. He said that an organizational meeting would be held in the near future once a nucleus of the staff aides program is recruited.

The society is also seeking men and women to serve in its motor corps, transporting patients to and from hospitals and doctor's offices for treatment and therapy. Donahue pointed out that participation in this program does not require daily or weekly involvement. "Instead," he said, "we will put the volunteer's name, address and telephone number on our motor corps file and will contact him or her only when we have a request from a patient who lives in the general vicinity of the volunteer. Individuals interested in the motor corps program should contact Mrs. Salvatore Scrago at the unit office in Elizabeth."

CHECKING THE SCORE -- Herbert Golub of Mountainside, associate professor of music at Newark State College, Union, will present a piano concert Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. at the college's Theater of the Performing Arts.

Faculty musician to present piano concert at Newark State

Herbert Golub, a Mountainside resident and associate professor of music at Newark State College, Union, will give a piano recital at the college's Theater of the Performing Arts on Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. The program will feature the "Chromatic Fantasy and Fugue" of Bach, the "Les Adieux Sonata" by Beethoven and works of Schubert, Bartok and Chopin.

Pro. Golub is a native of West New York, where he began the study of piano at the age of 13. He received his bachelor's and master's degrees from New York University, where in 1955, he performed his "Suite for Piano" on the American Music Festival of Radio Station WNYC.

In 1963, Golub enrolled at Indiana University to begin his doctoral studies. He was awarded a two-year graduate assistantship and studied with the noted American pianist, Sidney Foster. He returned to New Jersey in 1965, when he joined the music faculty at Newark State College.

Golub has given many recitals in the metropolitan area, including three guest appearances on the "Keyboard Masters" series of Radio Station WNYC and a full recital on WPUV's "Piano Workshop." In April of 1966, he gave the first faculty recital in Newark State's new Theater for the Performing Arts.

Tuesday's recital is being sponsored by the music department of Newark State. There is no admission charge, and the public is invited.

EDWARD W. BUDNEY of 374 Boulevard, Kenilworth, has been appointed assistant cashier of The National State Bank, Elizabeth. The appointment was announced by W. Emile Roosevelt, president of the bank. Budney has been associated with National State since Jan. 2, 1966.

Drama group asks for backstage help

The Springfield Community Players is seeking persons from Springfield and surrounding communities for backstage help for the group's forthcoming musical revue, at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, on Dec. 12, 13 and 14.

Gerald Cohen, president, said carpenters, electricians, and stage hands are needed. Adults and senior high school boys have been asked to report to Bobbi Pollock at the high school this evening.

Cohen also said that tickets are available for the production from any cast member or by contacting the Sarah Bailey Civic Center.

20 years of star-gazing AAI to celebrate tomorrow

Twenty years ago the man in the moon was a romantic myth and Amateur Astronomers, Inc., did its star-gazing from the Watching Reservation. Today, man has set foot on the moon and AAI's telescopes focus on the stars from the William Miller Sperry Observatory at Union College, Cranford, the second largest observatory in the state.

Both accomplishments will be recognized tomorrow when AAI celebrates its 20th anniversary at a dinner in the Mountainside Inn, Route 22, Mountainside. George Lovi, assistant editor of "Sky and Telescope" will be guest speaker. It was announced by Edward Pearson of Westfield, AAI president. His topic will be "Astronomy Since 1949."

The past 20 years in space exploration is part of world history. The strides made by AAI encompass a smaller orbit, but are becoming increasingly significant as they affect a growing number of New Jersey residents.

The small band of astronomers who organized AAI in 1949 were interested in stargazing and extending their own knowledge in the field of astronomy. Since their first meetings in the Roselle Town Hall and on the grounds of the Watching Reservation, AAI's membership has increased to over 150 and the organization shares with Union College the operation of the Sperry Observatory.

THE OBSERVATORY'S two telescopes were constructed and installed by AAI members, who are now in the process of constructing two major telescopes, a 24-inch Newtonian-Cassegrainian reflector instrument, which will be one of New Jersey's largest, and a 10-inch refractor instrument.

AAI conducts public weekly viewing sessions at the observatory. Members lecture to adults, teachers and students and have served as instructors for school programs and adult courses in astronomy.

Membership in AAI is open to anyone over 14 interested in astronomy. Its members include students, accountants, lawyers, engineers, machinists, teachers and scientists. Titles of members are: John H. Balaban, director of the Hayden Planetarium, AAI members reside in Union, Essex, Hudson, Hunterdon, Middlesex, Monmouth and Somerset counties and Staten Island, New York.

AAI BECAME AFFILIATED with Union College in 1961 when Patrick White, vice-principal of Union High School, directed the staff of AAI, wrote to the college requesting permission to use its lecture hall for eight meetings a year. Mr. White also suggested future use of a portion of the grounds for observation meetings.

Plans for an observatory at Union College were first proposed in 1954. A letter entered an agreement with AAI giving the amateur astronomer a major role in the planning and operation of the facility.

Actual construction of the observatory was made possible by a gift from Mrs. Frederick W. Belnecke of New York City and her son, William S. Belnecke of Summit, as a memorial to Mrs. Belnecke's father, a founder of Sperry & Hutchinson Company.

This year's AAI officers include Pearson, president; John H. Balaban of Westfield, vice-president and dinner chairman; Thomas E. Long of Colonia, recording secretary; Samuel Licht of Edison, treasurer; and Glen Stearns of Bound Brook, corresponding secretary.

Junior Achievement launches project 'Operation Holland' rewards teen businessmen

Junior Achievement of Union County, Inc., with the cooperation of business and industrial leaders, is planning a youth incentive program called "Operation Holland." The project will send an estimated 35 young people on a week's visit to the educational, cultural and industrial sites in the Netherlands.

Piero C. Ostertman, president of Junior Achievement of Union County, Inc., in announcing the project said: "For some time now our American competitive enterprise system has been under attack from some quarters. As has been said time and again, free enterprise needs better informed and more dedicated sellers. Whether our system continues to flourish, or whether the props are pulled out from under it, depends upon how well our youth understand it, and how vigorously they defend it."

He continued, "Thus far Junior Achievement is the brightest hope of preserving our system unimpaired."

Junior Achievement's Operation Holland has the support of business and industrial leaders in New Jersey, and the backing of John Middelndorf, U.S. ambassador to The Netherlands and his staff.

Coordinator for Operation Holland in The Netherlands is Joln Barens, director of government liaison, Merck Sharp & Dohme Nederland N.V. Support and co-operation have already been assured by Dutch industrialists including J.F.A. DeSoer, deputy general manager, KLM Royal Dutch Airlines; J.W.H. Langenberg, vice president, Rhine-Schelde Engineering & Ltd.; Albert Knol, Arthur Andersen & Co.; L.V. Assiter, Austine-Nederland N.V.; Chris R. Bagchus, Esso Nederland; John V. Schen, Esso Chimici N.V.; Roel Van Der Velde, Ford of Holland; Marinus Schouren, GAF Nederland; Dr. J. Ph. Backx, Sleepwart Vereeniging Zuid (Rotterdam Port Employers' Association); and American Cyanamid Company's installation in The Netherlands.

JUNIOR ACHIEVEMENT'S NEW JERSEY SPONSORS participating in the project are: Airco Welding Products Division, Arthur Andersen & Co.; The Austin Company, Bell Telephone Laboratories, Inc., Holmdel and Murray Hill installations.

Also, Bristol-Myers Products, Barry Biscuit, Chevron Oil Company, Ciba Corporation, The Daily Journal, Enjay-Chemical Company, EMC Corporation, GAF Corporation, GM Assembly and New Departure-Hyatt

Bearings Divisions of General Motors Corporation, General Electric Company, Humble Oil & Refining Company, International Business Machines Corporation, Merck & Co., Inc.

Also, New Jersey Bell Telephone Company, Phelps Dodge Copper Products Corporation, Public Relations Society of America, New Jersey Chapter, Public Service Electric & Gas Company, Purchasing Agents Association of North Jersey, Purolator, Inc., Quinn & Boden Company, Inc., Radio Corporation of America, Schering Laboratories Division of Schering Corporation, Peter J. Schweitzer Division of Kimberly-Clark Corporation, Simmons Company, The Singer Company, Union County Chapter of Certified Public Accountants, Wayne Steel Company, Weston Instruments, Inc. and White-Pharmaco and Young Presidents Organization.

OPERATION HOLLAND -- John Alden Bovey Jr., counselor of the Embassy of the United States of America at The Hague, center, endorses Junior Achievement's youth-incentive educational education award project, Operation Holland, during a recent meeting at the embassy. Outlining the project are J. Kenneth Rodenright, executive vice-president, Junior Achievement of Union County, Inc., and Joln Barens, director of government liaison, Merck Sharp & Dohme, Haarlem, The Netherlands. Barens is coordinating the project in Holland.

Bulldogs edged by Roselle; meet Rahway Thanksgiving

BULLDOG VETERAN — Chuck Foster, senior end, is completing his third year of varsity football for Jonathan Dayton Regional High School.

BY ARNOLD GERST
The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School football team suffered a 12-6 loss to Roselle last Saturday in a hard-fought contest. Dayton (1-6-1) will meet Rahway Thanksgiving Day at 11 a.m. in a home game.

Roselle scored at the 5:23 mark in the second period when fullback Gary Backinoff plunged over from the two. The Dayton Bulldogs later tied the score at 6-6 on a seven-yard pass play from Bob Janukowicz to Carmine Bove, but Roselle after the ensuing kickoff scored at the 10:00 mark on a 25-yard pass play from quarterback John Symczak to Robert Blout.

In their first scoring drive, the Roselle Rams went 66 yards in six plays. Halfbacks Jeff Davis and Steve Fairfax gained all of this yardage rushing. On the first play from scrimmage at the 14, Fairfax ran a sweep and went to the 45-yard line. On the following play Davis gained to the Dayton nine. Here the Springfield defense toughened and the Rams needed four plays to get into the end zone.

After reaching the nine, Dayton held for one down, but on a second and goal situation Davis powered his way to the five-yard line. On third down the Rams went for it and on fourth and goal to go, Backinoff scored off right tackle.

THE BULLDOGS STOPPED another scoring march by Roselle in the second period and came within nine yards of scoring in the waning seconds of the period. In the closing minutes of the period Roselle took a Bulldogs punt at the Springfield 39. On six plays the Rams reached the Dayton 20 but on an attempted pass during the seventh play of this drive, Bove cut in front of the intended receiver and Dayton had the ball at its own 49.

After Dave Epstein reached the 23-quarterback Janukowicz was thrown for a huge loss back to his own nine. The Bulldogs were forced into a punting situation and Roselle got the ball at its own 49. On the first play by Rams, the Dayton defense put tremendous pressure on Symczak. Bob Janukowicz intercepted the pass at the 44 of Dayton and scrambled back to the Roselle 44.

From the 44, it took Springfield four plays to move to the nine. On first down Janukowicz scrambled to the 30 for a first down and on another first down play, sophomore Joe Rapiano ran to the 20. After an advance to the eight, "Miro" Wilfong hit the way to the nine but the half ended before the Bulldogs could score.

THE DAYTON TOUCHDOWN came in the opening minutes of the fourth period. The Bulldogs took a Roselle punt at the Ram 11, and went the distance. A run by Wolf and a pass to Bove brought Dayton to the 32-yard line. On first down Rapiano ran to the 25, and two plays later the Bulldogs reached the 22. Janukowicz's scrambling and Rapiano's running brought Springfield to the 9 and the Bulldogs eventually scored from the seven through a punt.

Roselle then took the Dayton kickoff and drove 60 yards in six plays. Passes to Robert Blout at the 56 yards of the drive. At the Roselle 40, Symczak hit Blout at the 15 of Dayton. After a run by Fairfax to the 11, a great play by Dayton's Bill Benkus forced the Rams back to the 44. On the 14, Dayton went to the 25, Symczak hit Blout in the end zone for the winning score.

On Thanksgiving Day the Bulldogs will meet Rahway Indians who have a 2-2 record. Rahway currently holds a 3-2-1-1 record. Conference records good for third place. Although the Indians lost Clark last week 33-7, this is still the same team that tied unbeaten Westfield, 20-20, earlier in the season.

Dayton soccer record 'disappointing,' Millman makes conference's first team

Head soccer coach Lou Piccolo called Dayton's 4-7-5 performance disappointing this week, saying that "no really weak teams" had been met. He said Dayton lost many games it should have won and tied many it should have won.

With a squad of only 14, "we held our own in the Suburban Conference," according to Piccolo. He said the league was very well balanced with no really weak teams. The strongest teams were New Providence, Verona, Summit and Caldwell with Cedar Grove, Madison, Millburn and Dayton in the second division, Springfield tied Verona once and New Providence twice.

The Bulldogs won their first three games — then won only one other the rest of the season. After a 4-2 in the seventh game of the season, so, after the first three games Dayton won one, lost seven and tied six although many of the games were very close. The Dayton defense allowed 35 goals all season but 21 of the goals came in four games. In the remaining 12 games, Springfield scored only four goals.

Piccolo also pointed out that six of the 14 on the squad received post-season honors. Piccolo said goalie Joel Millman, whom he wouldn't trade for another goalie in the country, made first team in the Suburban Conference scoring leader Keith Prussing and fullback Alan Schlanger were on the second team. Peter May, John Sarracino and Dave Miniman received honorable mention.

The 21 goals scored by Springfield is a great improvement over previous years. Piccolo attributed this added scoring to an increased awareness of how the game should be played, players working on their skills over the summer and the coaching of John Esposito, who has professional experience in the sport.

PICCOLO SAID that defensively Dayton performed exceptionally well at times. Jeff Morris, Schlanger, Miniman, Bob Lyons and Serge De Lello gave the Bulldogs a very good defensive unit. Halfbacks Larry Sternbach and Ray Danziger improved steadily as the year progressed.

Coach Piccolo emphasized that with separate varsity, junior varsity and freshman teams, better players will be developed.

Other towns in the Suburban Conference have seventh and eighth grade soccer teams. When a boy comes to Dayton, in the ninth grade, he has no soccer experience so a gap in skill develops. In some cases the opposition's freshman may be more skilled than local sophomores simply because they started playing organized soccer at a younger age.

Piccolo added that Verona has seventh and eighth grade soccer teams; thus, once a freshman enters high school he can play on a varsity team. A team which can do this has a better chance for success.

As far as next season is concerned the major problem Dayton will face is replacing Millman. May, Sarracino, Dave Dubin and Nate Kaufman will return as scoring threats, while Sternbach, Danziger, Schlanger and Miniman will be on the defense. Two other players who will be missed are Jeff Morris and Keith Prussing, who was a big scoring threat.

Regional's harriers win Monmouth, section meets

The Jonathan Dayton Regional High School cross country team won the Monmouth Invitational Meet, defeating its nearest rival St. Benedict's, 33-38 and won the state sectional meet for Group 2 schools by defeating Verona, 42-56. Saturday Dayton will run in the state finals at Garret Mountain, West Paterson. Results of the Suburban Conference meet, held yesterday, will appear next week.

In the state sectionals Norm Reinhardt turned in the fastest time of the day — 12:31.5. He defeated Todd Benson of Dover by 100 yards. Senior captain May Joseph placed third, defeating Richie Barrett of Verona in a close battle. Other harriers who did well for Springfield were Gary Street, sixth, and Keith Thelie, 12th.

The Bulldogs entered the Monmouth meet for the first time and edged St. Benedict's. Reinhardt finished second, two seconds behind St. Benedict's Pete Kelly. Norm's time was 13:49 on the 2.7 mile course. Joseph placed third, Street sixth, Thelie 10th, Mark George 12th, Marc Hollander and Bob Ripp also placed high for Dayton.

The season reaches its climax Saturday in the NJSIAA state finals. Springfield has a very powerful team and could win. In the sectionals Dayton outpointed the other Group 2 schools in the other three races.

With a team which comprises Joseph, Reinhardt, Street, Marc Hollander, George, Thelie and Ripp, the Bulldogs will be a definite threat in the meet. This meet will not be easy but Dayton has come through in the clutch all season and could do it again.

Men's basketball
The Springfield Recreation Department will make the gym at the Edward Walton School available Monday night from 7:30 to 10, starting this week, for any men interested in playing basketball on an informal basis.

MICHAEL F. BOWEN JR.

Expert on drugs to give talk, films at PTA meeting

The first general meeting of the Mountain-side PTA will be held tonight at 8:15 in the Dearfield Gym. The guest speaker will be Michael F. Bowen Jr., director of the Union County Narcotics Clinic. His topic will be "The Teenager: Narcotics Problem and its Effects on the Community." He will also show a film titled "Plt of Despair" and conduct a question and answer period.

Bowen was graduated from Seton Hall University with a bachelor-of-science degree in 1957. He also attended the graduate school there. He went to Rutgers University for a county-correctional personnel conference in 1964 and Federal Bureau of Prisons, Washington, D. C. in 1965 for a correction officers course in supervision and administration. Before becoming director of the Union County Narcotics Clinic in 1966, Bowen was a psychiatric social worker with the narcotics program of the Sheriff's Department in the Union County Courthouse. Prior to this he was a probation officer with the Probation Department from March through September 1964. Bowen holds membership in the National Council on Crime and Delinquency, the New Jersey Welfare Association and the Metropolitan Regional Council, Narcotics Committee. He is also a consultant to Morris-town and Passaic County narcotics programs.
