May 4 Regional vote a mirror for citizenship

The Regional High School District Board of Education will present its $4.7 million expansion bond proposal in a referendum to the voters of the six member towns on May 4. We intend to have more to say about that next week. In the meantime, we do have a few comments for all those who regard themselves as good citizens but who have been too busy to think about the issues involved in the referendum.

We start, in the first place, with a pupil. Under the Regional High School system of education, he is about 14 years of age when he completes the eighth grade (after kindergarten) and proceeds by the local school districts.

In the old days, eight years of schooling was enough for most youngsters. It was enough, for example, to get a job as an apprentice in the local heavy stable.

Some of our fellow citizens are filled with nostalgia for the good old days. Some of our other citizens hope their children can aspire to higher things than apprenticeships in lively stables.

A school is, among very many other things, a reflection of a community's opinion itself. Many people in Springfield believe they can bring up children to benefit by a good college education.

Many others believe that their neighbor's children deserve their help toward the best possible education. Just as they were helped by their own neighbors in the past.

The specific proposal to be presented by the Regional Board of Education on May 4 is a very complicated plan, indeed. Its complications range from media instruction centers to pupil distribution plans.

We plan to look at these complicated proposals in a somewhat complicated manner next week.

In the meantime, we can think of many reasons why people should vote to spend just a little bit more for a great deal better school facility.

After all these years of feeling that the school in Springfield was Number Two, it's time we tried a little harder.

If we cannot see any valid reasons for denying our children their educational birthright—even for a pot-of-mess—then those who are opposed to educational progress,

THE STATE WE'RE IN

By DAVID F. MOORE, Executive Director, North Jersey Conservation Foundation

This is a column about "Eco-Activism," a term we at the North Jersey Conservation Foundation have coined to illustrate the attitude in our hearts that we are doing what we can to help you to help you.

You may have already heard some of the ideas set forth in our new publication. We've spent a lot of time gathering up good ideas from all sources and we're happy to share them with you. We've put it all together in a pamphlet, "Be Your Own Eco-Activist," which we will be happy to send you.

Our PAMPHLET HAS 32 pages. Here are a few tips it contains about air and water pollution, waste disposal, energy conservation, etc. It's a great one to read and to refer to. We've also included a list of organizations and individuals who you can contact for further information and help.

We are all being bombarded with three different types of "domesticity" in one form or another. In the first place, we are being told to save our water, to conserve our energy, to conserve our money. In the second place, we are being told to conserve our time. In the third place, we are being told to conserve our health. It's a real juggling act, isn't it? We're all being told to conserve, but what's the point? It's not just the "Eco-Activist" who is being told to conserve. It's the "Eco-Activist" who is being told to conserve.

SPACE answers more questions about May 4 school referendum

The following is the second of a series of replies to questions being asked of SPACE (Springfield Action Committee for Education) about the May 4 referendum for the expansion of the Jonsson Dayton and other high schools in the Union County Regional District.

Q. HOW MANY YES VOTES WILL SPRINGFIELD HAVE TO TALLY TO ASSURE THE PASSAGE OF THE REFERENDUM?

A. At least 200. There are, perhaps, a lot of votes as compared with the other school districts in town. However, it must be understood that the passage of this referendum will depend on the total vote of the six communities within the regional district—but all of these towns are expected to vote for the expansion. Springfield's heavy yes vote can counteract that negative vote.

Q. WHICH TOWNS ARE AGAINST THE REFERENDUM AND WHY?

A. Mountaintop, Liberty, West 40 town against the 1970 referendum. In 1970, Mountaintop cast 299 for the 70 proposal and 1,230 against. Liberty, West 40, and 249 against. And Westwood 67 yes and 76 no. Springfield's vote was 727 yes and 769 no. Mountaintop, Liberty, and West 40 have influenced the defeat of that important program. They are actively campaigning for an even greater negative vote on this referendum. There are probably many reasons for this negative vote. One is the fear of the loss of their own schools. Another is the fear of the loss of their own tax base. A third is the fear of the loss of their own identity. A fourth is the fear of the loss of their own way of life. A fifth is the fear of the loss of their own future.

Zoo takes over deer herd Plans to create wildlife refuge

A mare youngster in Essex County Park Commission family has taken over responsibility for a 64-year-old feature of the system. The Turtle Back Zoo, just turned eight, now operates the Deer Paddock which was established by the Commission in 1907. Irresistibly, Park Commission crews had cared for the deer.

He has been named "Lobo" by the crew caring for the animals. According to an early Park Commission annual report, fallow deer were chosen in 1907 because they are "very prolific, gentle and the least shy of the various species." Zoo officials say they also are hardy and thrive on diets that would quickly debilitate most other deer. They also are a hard animal and are amenable to close proximity of dozens of their own kind.

Fallow deer are Mediterranean in origin and have spread over much of Europe in the wild or in semi-wild park settings. Great herds roam the ancestral estates of British and continental nobility.

This breed is shorter and more stocky than the native American white-tailed deer. The males have impressive racks like a moose, which have a large hood flattened across the top.

The eight fallow deer purchased by the Park Commission in 1907 cost $485. Today their price for eight fallow deer would be just about the same.

Commission elects Wood

The Tri-State Transportation Commission, the official interstate planning agency of the states of Connecticut, New Jersey and New York, has elected A. Earl Wood of Connecticut chairman for the coming year.

Wood, commissioner of transportation for the State of Connecticut, succeeded John C. Kohl, New Jersey's transportation commissioner.

Charles J. Litrada, head of New York State's Division of Housing and Community Renewal, and Edmund F. Hano of New Jersey's Department of Community Affairs, were elected vice-chairmen.

Donald H. Elliott, chairman of the New York City Planning Commission, was elected secretary and Dr. J. Douglas Carroll, Jr. was named executive director.

The commission's department store operations recently include 34 units which trade under the names Loro, Steinbach and Hochschild, Kohl, One new Howland unit.

According to Milton Perlmutter, president, the important factor in improved operating results was the company's Padmark superstores. Sales of this operation increased 19 percent over the prior period and the earnings contribution was almost double that of the prior year, more than offsetting lower earnings from some of the company's other activities.

Major Padmark operations at the recent fiscal year-end included 89 supermarkets, 12 free standing drug stores and 21 gas stations. Nine new supermarkets were opened and six were closed, two of which were replaced as convenience food stores. One free standing drug store was opened during the past year, replacing an older unit nearby, and the 13th free standing drug store opened in March. The company's supermarket-drug store operations account for approximately 80 percent of consolidated sales.

Friday Deadline: All items other than spot news should be in our office by noon on Friday.

Earnings per common share before extraordinary items were $1.92 compared to $1.60 in the prior year. Earnings per common share, fully diluted, before extraordinary items were $1.84 compared to $1.58 in the prior year. Extraordinary items added one cent to earnings per share figure in the prior year.

CAN YOU BE INDIFFERENT?

The baby seal in the photo was one of 50,000 killed in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, one of hundreds of thousands of seals clubbed, speared, shot, gaffed during the 1971 Canadian-Norwegian slaughter in the Atlantic.

Don't believe furriers who would persuade you that Friends of Animals has been "misleading" you, that any slaughter anywhere is done for the benefit of the seals.

I, Alice Herrington, testify that on March 13, 1971—the second day of the Canadian season on seals—I saw the same brutal massacre against which Friends of Animals, of which I am president, has been protesting for years.

As the bubble-domed helicopter flew low over the first day's kill, I saw mother seals nuzzling the skinless corpses of their babies. Standing ten feet away from the killers on the ice floes, twenty miles out in the Gulf, I saw baby seals, clubbed twice, raise their heads as they were sliced open. Other babies were battered as many as fourteen times while the mothers watched in terror and stress.

If You Are One Who Cannot Be Indifferent to the Suffering of Other Creatures

YOU CAN HELP
First—by refusing to garb yourself in the agony of another, by refusing to buy the skins of wildlife.

Second—by causing this advertisement to be inserted in your local newspaper. (A mat will be sent upon your request to Friends of Animals. See coupon.)

Third—by sending a tax-deductible contribution to Friends of Animals, Inc., a non-profit organization that intends to pound on the world's conscience until sentient men and women everywhere are made aware of the unnecessary cruelty and destruction being inflicted upon animals. Your contribution will be used to plead for those creatures who cannot speak for themselves but who dumbly implore your pity.

Protect the environment by phone

State puts in 'action line' for complaints

More than 50 New Jerseyans each week took the time to dial 609-292-7172 to report abuses of the environment. That's the phone number assigned to the state's new environmental service, begun by the state Department of Environmental Protection to handle the investigation and correction of complaints from the public.

The "Environmental Action Line" bypasses the time-consuming "through channels" processing of the public's complaints. By phoning 609-292-7172 the citizen reports directly to the commissioner's office in Trenton which promptly contacts the proper bureau for follow-up. During nonworking hours, calls are taken by an answering service which immediately notifies the appropriate department official at his home.

When the service began last October, Richard J. Ryan, state commissioner of Environmental Protection, remarked, "It will help us by providing the department with more information that could affect to help, and it will help the citizen by giving him a central place to call with any complaint about the environment." This forecast quickly became fact.

All pollution complaints trigger 60 percent of the call; water pollution, 20 percent. The remaining 20 percent concern hazardous waste, improper disposal of solid waste, disposal of...

Book traces growth of karate in U.S.

Author is graduate student at Seton Hall

A Seton Hall University graduate student has combined scholarship with his interest in karate to produce a book on the growing popularity of karate in the U.S.

Robert Reilly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reilly of 52 Andrews Ter., Union, is the author of "The History of American Karate," recently issued by Sempor F.I. Publishers of Little Ferry. While there are other books on instruction and advanced karate, Reilly's is the first to be devoted to its history and development in the U.S.

The book is an outgrowth of a graduate thesis which helped win Reilly a master's degree in Asian studies from Seton Hall in 1969. It traces the ancient development of karate from its possible inception and transmission from the Orient to the U.S. and its growth in this country. Although it is generally thought karate originated in India, Reilly supports the theory that it may have originated earlier in Greece.

The "karate" movement in the U.S. began about 1955 and now numbers about 150,000 devotees in 1200 commercial clubs, including about 150 collegiate clubs. The book points out that there is as yet no American form of karate. Many forms are being practiced here, Reilly notes, and it will be 50-60 years before a unique form evolves. The book contains photos and line drawings as well as a complete list of karate organizations in this country.

Reilly's interest in karate actually began with judo, another form of combat, as a member of a judo club at Fairleigh Dickinson University. He was stationed in Japan with the Marines where he received further exposure to karate and participated in the 1965 Marine Corps Karate Championships. His interest in karate and his stint in Japan led to a more general interest in things Oriental, and he enrolled in the Asian Studies program at Seton Hall. He is continuing further graduate course work at Seton Hall and has been a teacher of political geography and American history for three years at Marlboro High School.

A graduate of Woodbridge High School, he graduated from Seton Hall in 1967 where he started a karate club and has taught at other clubs in Millburn, Asbury Park, Manville and at Seton Hall. He holds the second degree black belt in two different systems. He is a member of the International Amateur Judo Union and the United States Judo Association.

Wine now being counted

The purpose of the survey is to determine the total count of the equine population and to develop an estimate of their direct and indirect value to the economy of the state. This information will be used in better directing the state's supportive activities in the equine field—particularly in areas of research and development.

According to Dr. Michael Rappoport, director of statistical services at Opinion Research, the accuracy of the count is dependent upon reaching the small horse owner—that is, say, people owning less than three horses per household. The program is designed to count and derive maximum benefit from this research. Owners not receiving our letter are urged to call or write Opinion Research Corp., North Harrison street, Princeton, N.J., in order that we may include their animals in the survey.

Williams assails benefits rollback for ailing elderly

U.S. Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr. (D-N.J.) said this week that New Jersey and the nation must be thinking from now on of ways to meet the needs of older Americans. He made his comments in a speech at the New Jersey Democratic Political Conference on the problems of the elderly. The remarks were delivered on the Douglas College campus, New Brunswick.

Williams declared: "We're worried—worrying for an elderly American are concerned." He continued: "Medicare benefits are deteriorating at a frightening rate. Patients at nursing homes are being told, sometimes after weeks or months, that they do not have the protection they thought they had. It's been said that the long-term care benefit under Medicare is now about half of what it was just two years ago."

"Far from countering this trend, the Administration has ordered it. Not only that, it wants to devastate Medicare. Not just that, it also wants a knowledgeable advisory board recommended, broadening of Medicare, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare is working around the clock to reduce its benefits still more and increase the individual costs to participants."

23 N. J. banks take part in job training program

Twenty-three New Jersey banks are participating in a job training program through the New Jersey Bankers Association (NJBA) under which the banks have pledged to hire and train 100 bank-ownee employees or underemployed persons in northern New Jersey.

The association has entered into negotiations with the U.S. Department of Labor to become the prime contractor of a National Alliance of Business Jobs Opportunities in the Business Training Program, the first statewide banking organization in the nation to sponsor such a program.

In the JOBS program, launched in 1968, the disadvantaged are recruited and trained in the "under-100" category. The government, which provided for "under-100s" contracts, repays the banks for the necessary training and related expenses.

Under the plan NJBA acts as prime contractor for a consortium formed by the participating banks, Economic & Manpower Corporation, New York, and an advisory board of bank specialists, has been retained as a subcontractor to provide assistance to the banks in their training program and also to provide the specialized job related education and counseling to help the disadvantaged unemployed persons to be trained more effectively.

According to NJBA Executive Vice-President Robert C. Forrey, the program is a pilot project and is expected to be in operation early next month.

"The association acting as prime contractor provides the opportunity to many of our member banks to participate in a JOBS program where they could not effectively do so individually," he said.

"The concern shown by the banks to help eradicate one of the major problems facing our state, the unemployment of older Americans, in addition, 'and with the success of this initial program, the anticipation that the program will be enlarged to include banks in other parts of the state.'"

Retired educators interested in the local organization may contact Miss Marie Demarco, 315 W. 7th St., Fairfield. Membership in NJBA is open to men and women who have at some time been employed in the U.S. school systems or private education institutions at any level.

AUTHOR—Seton Hall University graduate student Robert Reilly shows a copy of his new book, "The History of American Karate," to his wife, Irli, the only book on the history of development of karate in this country. Reilly, an Asian studies scholar at Seton Hall, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reilly, 52 Andrews Ter., Union.

Home-purchase plan started; six area real estate firms join

Clients of six area real estate brokers will be able to benefit from a home-purchase plan announced last week by Daniel C. Harrigan of Elizabeth, president of POTRE, Inc. Under the plan, an "indivisible" moving trust from this area can elect to have his former residence taken off his hands quickly at its appraised value, less the necessary costs of trading, Harrigan said.

This will give the individual cash to purchase a new home, 2000 sq. ft. or less in the area to which he is moving. This eliminates one of the major worrisome factors persons who move, he added.

Participating real estate firms in this area include: G.E. Howard, Inc., 13 Fontaine St., Cranford; The Boyle Co., 1143 E. Jersey St., Elizabeth; W.C. Kolton-Evans, Inc., 281 Main St., Madison; Raymond Connolly Co., 31 Essex St., Millburn; Holmes Agency, 291 Morris Ave., Summit; and Nancy I. Reynolds Associates, Inc., 307 E. Trent St., Woodbridge.

"BECAUSE ALL these participating brokers are members of home-city Realtors Service, Inc., the nation's leading not-for-profit real estate referral agency, clients also benefit from organized help in the search for new homes after they move from this area."

In addition to the interstate character of the POTRE program that sets it apart from previous localized home-selling plans, participating brokers pay no franchise fees, as is the case in some home-purchase arrangements.

Members of home-city Realtors Service are prompt communicators to see clients about "home-city" homes. When about-to-move home-owners list his property for sale with an home-city member, he is advised of the organization's needs, his obligation referral service.

IF HE DESIRES to take advantage of it, he provides detailed information on his home, its size and the type of community in which he'd like to live. These are referred immediately to an home-city member in the area's destination city.

The member there telephons the client while he's still in his former city to establish contact, sends him detailed information on the destination community—present and prospective real estate market, transportation, makes hotel or motel reservations, arranges the client and his family at arrival, insurance, car and other services, to eliminate as much difficulty and delay as possible from the task of home-selling in a strange city.

Many day, or weeks, of time—and the expense of several long-hauling trips to the new city—can be saved.

With more than 500 brokers members, Inter-city provides market coverage in more than 1,300 cities and towns throughout the U.S. and in several foreign nations.

Parkway will construct 2nd span over harbor

The Port Authority of New York and New Jersey has approved plans for the construction of a second span of the Parkway Bridge over the harbor. The project will be completed by 1970.

The Parkway Bridge, which carries the New York State Thruway over the harbor, is one of the most important bridges in the area. The second span will provide additional capacity and improve traffic flow.

The project is being funded by the Port Authority and the state. Construction will begin in the next few months and will be completed by 1970.

EVERYBODY'S PROBLEM — Pollution is everywhere, it seems. A Rutgers agricultural scientist is helping the government of Iran in its efforts to stem agricultural and industrial pollution of the Caspian Sea, source of the country's important caviar and sturgeon industry.

Keeping eye on caviar Rutgers prof aids Iran study

Caviar would seem to affect seriously the lives of very few people—unless they live in Iran. There, the production and processing of caviar is an important industry, and the health of the industry is directly related to the well-being of the people. With these things in mind, a Rutgers agricultural chemist spent most of a month in Iran, George Winnet, an associate research professor at the College of Agriculture and Environmental Sciences, to assist in detecting pesticide residues, find a serious pest.

"The Iranian government is aware of the worldwide pesticide residue problem, and it wants to act before the fact to maintain the high quality of its sturgeon and caviar," Prof. Winnet explained. "I'd want to Iran under the suspicion of the Smithsonian Institution, which had received funds from the Iran Foundation for projects to study and eventually eliminate pollution in the Caspian Sea. It is a very polluted area," he said. "It's a reputation for many years. It's a rural and industrial runoff, but the Iranians are dependent on it for an important part of their economy."

First National State Bank of New Jersey... continues to pay the maximum legal interest rates on all time deposits, even if other banks lower their rates.

We have made this decision consistent with the policy this bank established in 1965 when it pioneered the use of time deposits in our State with the issuance of Jersey Growth Certificates. This policy was to pay maximum allowable interest on all time deposits. We sought then, as now, not only to attract funds to this bank, but to help avert a flow of savings and investments out of our State to investments elsewhere.

We still believe this policy is best, both for our bank and for our State and for you.

Summer program Generation Gap U.S.A.

offer 75 courses
Seventy-five undergraduate courses in engineering, science and the humanities will be offered at Newark College of Engineering this year through its annual summer sessions program.

According to the NCE registrar, the summer courses should be particularly valuable to students normally enrolled at another college. To NCE students wishing to advance their standing and to transfer students who are planning to enter NCE as juniors in the fall.

This year's summer offerings at NCE represent about a 50 percent increase in the number of courses available to students as a result of the college's efforts to meet particular undergraduate needs. The summer sessions include courses in chemistry, civil engineering, computer science, economics, electrical engineering and engineering graphics. A variety of courses in the humanities, mathematics, mechanical engineering, physics and sociology will also be available.

NCE has also made several schedule arrangements which will allow students to take combinations of summer, afternoon and evening classes on the freshman and sophomore levels.

Normally, NCE attracts better than 7,000 students to its summer sessions. College officials believe the larger course offerings may substantially increase this year's enrollment.

The typical summer course at NCE is for three credits, meeting for three hours three times a week for five weeks. Some of the undergraduate courses begin on June 15 and others begin on July 20.

A limited number of graduate level courses will again be given at NCE this summer.

Stressing the dangers of indiscriminate use of aspirin, the science editor of the New Jersey Pharmaceutical Association's Journal of Pharmacy has called for removal of the analgesic from counters and its sale only on prescription.

Col. Jobb Eisen of Mountaintop cites a recent study in Great Britain with laboratory rats, most of which developed kidney damage within 20 weeks of moderate dosage.

Recalling governmental action in this country last year which eliminated phenacetin from former APC medicines (aspirin, phenacetin and caffeine anydrous), Eisen writes in reference to the British tests: "These results also apply to man, they suggest that aspirin, not the previously implicated phenacetin, may be the major factor in aspirin-nephropathy in patients taking APC mixtures."
