An open house for high school junior and senior students will be held at Union County Community College Saturday at 10 a.m., it was announced this week by George P. Lyles, director of admissions.

The Red Cross badge of courage

Swim patch mark of pride to crippled children

At first glance, the spokes of her wheelchair almost hide the small Red Cross patch on Kim Torak's blue swimming suit.

But the seven-year-old Paterson girl is quick to point out the significance of that patch. Though she is unable to walk, she has mastered the fundamentals of swimming.

For Kim, and scores of other children receiving therapy at Children's Specialized Hospital, Mountainside, the Red Cross patch is a badge of courage.

"Quite simply," explains Mary Boyer, M.D., of the Children's Specialized Hospital Staff, "the Red Cross patch is a badge of courage because it represents an accomplishment many of our young patients never dreamed they would attain."

HOPE BEGAN for Kim, daughter of Mrs. Patricia Torak, almost a year ago when she entered the Children's Specialized Hospital's rehabilitation program.

Information on admissions standards, student personnel services, financial aid, and social and athletic programs at Union County will be available at the Open House. Lyles urges all high school juniors and seniors to avail themselves of the higher educational opportunities available in Union County.

months ago after spending six years as a swimming instructor.

Jeffrey, son of Julie Jones of Newark, also wears the Red Cross patch's swimming badge, earned by propelling himself through the water by using only his arms.

Jeffrey left Children's Specialized Hospital this month, taking with him the swimming badge, a set of rigid steel braces, a wheel chair, and, according to Dr. Boyer, "the ability to reach a high level of independence limited only by partial residual physical restrictions and the motivation he can muster."

"In all our cases," explains the physician, "we begin with the premise that a physical disability has no direct bearing on a child's mental and emotional capacities."

"If a handicap has affected a child's attitude, we attempt to correct the mental condition through a coordinated program of physical and psychological rehabilitation."

"While strengthening muscles and developing motor skills," she observes, "swimming also instills an exciting sense of accomplishment in the minds of physically damaged youngsters."

"Although they may often be reluctant to display their pride," she adds, "both Kim and Jeffrey have earned it."

"It is Allstate's policy to support the growth and development of areas in which we do business by investing in local communities and industries," said Early.

Allstate investments have helped build additional educational facilities at

Springfield's real 'boss' is clearing out her desk as retirement draws near

By KAREN STOLL

There's a large garden in Arlington, Va., that's waiting to be cared for by a petite, energetic Springfield woman—a woman who for the past 21 years "hasn't had any time for hobbies."

The lady with the "green thumb" is Eleanor H. Worthington, better known around town for her dedication and remarkable efficiency as municipal clerk. Next Thursday, Nov. 30, she'll leave the office in town hall that has been her home since she moved to Springfield from East Orange 36 years ago.

Worthington smiled, "and have some life of my own. But there are some things I'll miss, particularly the contact with so many people. Retirement will no doubt require quite an adjustment, but I'm leaving with some very fond memories of people here, not only town officials, but people from all over town."

It is that personal contact with people that led to what Mrs. Worthington considers the proudest benefit she has received from her job, "a knowledge of human nature."

Town schools set sights on specific targets after year-long study project

Through the cooperative efforts of members of the Board of Education, professional staff, students, and citizens of the community the following tentative set of educational outcome goals has been formulated.

The goals are not listed in any order or priority. These statements are useful in defining or giving perspective to the wishes of the board of education recently. The project was coordinated by Dr. Joseph Tamburo, assistant superintendent of schools and Dr. Richard Feathers, educational consultant.

The set of goals will serve as a guide for the establishment of short and long-range educational priorities for the eight-grade school system. The project, conceived last year, began with extensive research by the school professional staff to ascertain the collective viewpoints of the school, home, and community in relation to educational goals.

GOALS FOR PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT: With respect to personal development, the Springfield public schools should help every individual:

- To develop a concern and respect for the dignity, welfare, rights, and freedom of every individual.
- To develop an understanding of his role and responsibilities as a group member.
- To develop an understanding of his responsibilities toward society.
- To develop respect for traditional values with a receptivity to new ideas.
- To develop a healthy self-concept, enabling him to become self-sufficient and responsible.
- To develop a surer knowledge of his own identity and to feel free to explore new roles and relationships.
- To develop a value system that will help him make decisions on value-based issues.
- To develop a sense of control over his life, enabling him to explore alternatives and identify choices.
- To develop the capacity to recognize and deal with situations of life in a changing world.
- To develop good health habits.
- To recognize and develop his physical potential.

'Citizen of the Year' award presented Mrs. Worthington at K of C ceremony

The Springfield Knights of Columbus presented their annual "Citizen of the Year" award to the retiring township clerk, Eleanor Worthington, in ceremonies last week at Town Hall.

The grand knight, Joseph Natiello, welcomed the overflow crowd to the ceremony and introduced past Grand Knights Thomas DiFranco, Anthony Graziano and Charles Joques.

The Knights of Columbus community affairs chairman, Township Committeeman F. Donald Clancy, stated that Mrs. Worthington was the unanimous choice of his committee. Assisting Clancy on the committee were Anthony Graziano, former Mayor William Kooz, Greg Dembrowski and Richard Frame.

Former township committeemen who spoke at the ceremony were Henry Bullman, Robert Hargrove, Robert Planer and Raymond Forbes.

Members of the present Township Committee on the date with Mrs. Worthington were Deputy Mayor Matt Stokes, Clancy and Mayor Robert Wellechek. Mayor Wellechek stated, "Mrs. Worthington has served all members of the Township Committee for more than 20 years in a very pleasant and highly efficient manner and has worked for both Democratic and Republican committees with equal dedication."

Many municipal employees were in attendance as well as department heads from the treasurer's office, building department, tax department, police and health departments.

Mary Smith, tax collector, spoke on behalf of the township employees. "We are being a very good friend and a capable administrator."

Joining Mrs. Worthington in the program was her daughter, Jane Hunter, as well as members from the Senior Citizens, American Legion, Chamber of Commerce, Veterans and Foreign Wars and the civil defense organization.

Clancy thanked the Knights of Columbus for the banquet they prepared and reminded those present that the township will host Mrs. Worthington next Wednesday at the Mountaineer Inn.

Gift offer sparks move to establish a museum

Through a donation by the Springfield Public Library museum curator, Donald B. Palmer, the township has an opportunity to obtain its entire collection of historic artifacts and memorabilia.

Palmer has offered his collection to the library provided that the library establish a museum to both display the collection and store these items of the collection not on exhibit. The library board of trustees unanimously supported this project and agreed that all those having a similar reaction contact the members of the Township Committee to support its adoption.

A library spokesman added: "Few communities can claim a history and heritage comparable to Springfield's. The history has been immortalized by Bret Harte, the originator of the local color school of American writers. In his poem 'Calderwell of Springfield,' however, it is the plan of the trustees that museum exhibits be expanded beyond Springfield's history to include displays on subjects as varied as those in any educational curriculum."

They proposed that the southern wing of the library be expanded by 20 feet, adding 1,740 square feet to the museum. Approximately two-thirds of this space will be leased for display purposes and the remainder for storing the collection. This expansion will require an additional $25,000. The museum which was abandoned when the library moved from the Sarah Baily-Heaven Church Main Street building this abandonment was the lack of space for this activity in the new library.

"The project cost for this expansion is estimated at $75,000. If the expense is bonded over 20 years, the project would cost the average homeowner $2 to $3 a year. All maintenance and operating expense for the museum will be absorbed by the library without cost to the town."

Hold-up nets $40; $2,000 is stolen from beauty shop

A hold-up at a Rt. 22 service station and a break and entry at a local beauty shop are among the cases reported to Springfield police during the last week.

Police said the manager of Green's Sunoco on Rt. 22 reported at 1:08 p.m. Saturday that he had just been hold-up and robbed of $40 in cash by a man who escaped by car west on the highway. According to police, the manager said the robber told him he had a knife and threatened his life, but no weapon was produced.

Police gave the following description of the suspect: a white male age 18 to 22, height 5'10", medium build, dark short hair, wearing dark pants and a blue speckled shirt. He was reported to be wearing a watch on his left wrist and an investigation proved the auto to be stolen.

Curt's Beauty Salon at Mountain and Morris avenues was apparently the object of a break and entry with thieves escaping with approximately $2,000 in cash and checks from a vault.

Police said the theft probably occurred sometime between Saturday and Sunday when the shop was closed. The shop's owner, John Caric, according to police, a preliminary investigation revealed marks on the molding of a rear door and an open cellar door. The investigation is continuing.

Police also report a theft on Remer avenue. They said a resident there notified them Friday that sometime during the night a rug had been taken from her unlocked garage. The rug was valued at $100.

An Irvington woman reported to police Sunday that her pocketbook had apparently been stolen while she was attending a dance Saturday night at the Evergreen Lodge on Evergreen avenue. The bag is said to have contained credentials, a driver's license and registration and a checkbook.

Editorial comment GIVING THANKS

As local residents that turkey, the traditional holiday dinner, and a dedicated minority even takes part in religious services to give thanks which comes much closer to the original spirit of the holiday, we all here in tranquil, affluent suburbia have much to be grateful for.

Perhaps more important, and perhaps as a result of that conquest of poverty, this is a community ideally harmonious with itself.

Republicans and Democrats may flail away, more or less within the rules, during the election campaign, but from the national level to the municipal building, they manage to work together toward roughly the same goals.

But still, anyone who wishes to be truly thankful must face up to the responsibility which all citizens have for all of our fellow men both in this country and overseas.

Grandmothers from the Stone Age to today have admonished youngsters to finish their dinners because other children in other places were starving.

And while the logic of this adage may be somewhat circuitous, it applies equally to the children who are starving in less visible ways from deficiencies in freedom, in education, from a deficiency of the belief that as human beings are entitled to an equal share of the world's opportunities.

The last election may well have been decided by voters who believe that those who work are entitled to more of the rewards of their work than those who do not.

But as Americans and as spiritual followers of the Pilgrims, whose heroism and dedication we celebrate on this holiday, we have a duty to enlighten self-interest in making an obligation to make sure that all who want to work have the tools of knowledge to make their contribution to society.

The term ghetto may well describe the situation and the mentality, on both sides of the wall, which has created our nation's most pressing problem.

The word itself is an old one, denoting an area where members of a specific group are penned behind walls to keep them from participating in the life of the larger community.

Today's ghetto inmates are identifiable by their black faces, rather than by yellow stars on their robes, but the effect of the walls remains the same.

And today, as always, there are those who make it over the walls, whether visible or not, and they usually are welcomed into the life of the larger society.

But as long as the walls remain, the conditions of the ghetto will continue as a blight in the fields where we all toil—and the blight will continue to spread as long as its source remains untreated.

If we truly want a nation for which we can all be thankful, and a world in which all men can live free from fear and violence, there is much we can do beyond the formal giving of thanks.

Profile---Peter M. Shields

Peter M. Shields of Winfield Park, came out of retirement to accept the job as executive director of the Office on Aging as a possible successor to the late Dr. John T. Kelly. The director of the office for Aging in the County is the way he describes other positions he has held in his lifetime: "When you enjoy doing it, it isn't work."

Shields succeeded John T. Kelly of Union as head of the office and is now completing his first year on the job. One of his first projects was publication of a directory of services for the elderly. While the directory is streamlined enough to be used by senior citizens themselves, it is complete enough to be used by social workers and others dealing with the elderly.

According to Shields, 1972 has been considered a "year of action" on senior citizens programs. His impetus was the 1971 Conference on Aging held in Washington, D.C., last December. Although much has been accomplished, much remains to be done, Shields said.

He listed at least half a dozen serious problems confronting senior citizens. These are problems which his office is " tackling all at once." A first step is the creation of advisory committees, which will review problems and set up a system to document them, he said.

He stated that about 3,300 Union County residents over 65, 35 percent of the total living in the county, are in homes below the poverty level, Shields pointed out. By "poverty level" he means about $1,600 for a single person and $2,300 per couple per year. These figures are dramatic when one considers that the Union County is the 24th richest county in the nation, with 41 percent of the population over 65 having incomes below the poverty level, he added.

Shields is also critical of nursing home facilities for the elderly in Union County. He charged that most nursing homes limit the number of patients they will accept under Medicaid or medical assistance programs, so that 40 percent of Union County residents on such programs must go out of the county to get nursing home care.

Shields suggested that nursing homes should open their doors to the public regardless of the type of financing. He is also weighing the possibility of recommending that the county provide nursing home facilities, he said.

Property at Rummels Hospital in Berkeley Heights is being viewed for a variety of senior citizens projects, according to Shields. An interim care facility in Union County is needed (there are only three such facilities in the state, all located in south Jersey), he said.

The Rummels property is also being considered by the Office on Aging as a possible site for a smaller retirement home which would make special services available through the hospital. These special services would include meals and close medical supervision for those who require it.

Union County is not keeping up with the need for housing for the elderly, according to Shields. Right now, the county needs 1,400 units of subsidized housing, and only 1,100 have been financed, he said.

Shields noted that although programs for seniors cost money, some things can be done that do not cost anything. As an example, he pointed out that pre-retirement counseling courses will be offered next year through the Springfield and Linden Adult Schools. Those courses will be coordinated through the Office on Aging and will offer speakers on financial counseling, second vocations, use of leisure time, health planning and legal services. "This proves that you can do something for nothing. These courses are going to be free," he said.

SHIELDS WAS BORN in Brooklyn, the son of an Irish immigrant. He worked in the Depression and worked when he was just a boy at peddling on the street and as a factory worker in a brick-making school in the evening from high school through grad school.

After World War II, Shields went to Fordham University in New York City, where he worked for the last 14 years with the Social Security Office, retiring as a field representative. Shields and his wife Danice moved from New York to Winfield about 20 years ago, after waiting more than four years for a government-owned apartment in the city.

He has three children—a son at home and two married daughters—and two grand-children. Shields and his wife have been "meaningful" work in the auditing office at Rahway Hospital.

Shields' hobbies are painting and writing, and more recently, he has become particularly enjoys visits to Ireland and his many relatives there. In fact, he has written a book on Ireland—on account of his travels.

Shields is active in the Knights of Columbus and recently was appointed to lead a new Knights program on aging. According to Shields, the program was first begun by a fraternal organization, and he plans to help it grow.

Decrease in farm jobs

Employment of farmers and farmworkers between 1960 and 1970 dropped by over 2 million, or 64 percent, as the long downward trend for this occupational group continued.

According to the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics, much of the decrease occurred in the smaller manufacturing jobs which were unable to keep pace with the new agricultural technology.

Thanksgiving praised

Students wouldn't change it. Today's young people may wish to change the way they observe Thanksgiving Day, if they are typical of the general student body.

Some sociology students were asked to comment on the significance of this nation's oldest holiday and to a man (or woman) they were preserving it.

"An air of honest happiness and true thanksgiving prevails at our homes," wrote one young man, who added, "I consider myself very fortunate to have a family which has instilled in me the ability not to take such simple things for granted."

"Thanksgiving is really the only occasion I can remember where there is true family togetherness. It is the only day in the year in my family when prayers are said before a meal," observed another student.

The idea of a universal Thanksgiving existed throughout the world. People have as much to be thankful for, not only Americans, but the whole world, commented another.

"A universal day may even bring people of other countries closer together. Knowing that whatever their differences all persons are sharing the same thoughts for one day," he continued.

High school lunches require teamwork throughout year

GEMINI May 21-June 20: Put your finances in order. Skip a "Big Bargain" or get rich scheme that's heading your way. One other thing, the urge to "recede."

MONSIEUR June 21-July 21: According to your chart, there's radical changes taking place in a group, society or organization with whom you are connected. Advice: Don't resign yourself.

LEO July 22-Aug. 22: There's a new device or method by someone in authority, being added to your routine job, task or project. Make no comments unless you are asked.

VIRGO Aug. 23-Sept. 22: Your chart shows fuzzy aspects. It seems as though sending or receiving word from afar would be a good new tactic. Also, a postponement is possible.

LIBRA Sept. 23-Oct. 22: You're not going to be in the mood for any changes in your plans, schemes or decisions, concerning romance. So, don't put the other sex to a test.

SCORPIO Oct. 23-Nov. 21: Opportunities to improve your finances, favor your chart. See to it, that all goes well with the opposite sex: otherwise, emotional problems will smother your chances.

SAGITTARIUS Nov. 22-Dec. 21: As your spirits soar this week, so will your urge to appear... Also, and prominently is used, probably, your first impression will be an important factor.

CAPRICORN Dec. 22-Jan. 19: It seems as though many members of your sign are inclined to be too critical with their mate or similar... Advice: Let's not overdo it.

AQUARIUS Jan. 20-Feb. 18: You, Aquarius, are in a love with persons who really care for you. So, take an objective look at your associates.

PISCES Feb. 19-Mar. 20: Boredom could foster "big trouble" this week; consider the other sex. Some astronomical boundaries, during the present cycle. Don't connect opportunity with temptation!

Dear Consumer

By Virginia Krauss, President Nixon for Consumer Affairs

How many times have you bought a carton of soured milk? A lot of state breeders wonder just how fresh those fresh eggs were! Well, there is a way to determine the freshness of the food you buy. It's usually called "open dating."

Look for open dating. Many food products on your grocery shelves have coded date information about their freshness stamped on the container, but deciphering this information can prove next to impossible. Fortunately for consumers, there are chain food stores and/or food processors who are labeling their products with clear, understandable dates. Open dating can help you to shop harder by telling you how fresh a product is. Freshness is your assurance that the product is of the same quality when you are ready to buy it as it was when it was processed or packaged.

Renters pamphlet gives rights, advice

The New Jersey Department of Community Affairs has issued a second printing of "Do You Rent?", a small, handy legal guide for apartment dwellers. About 10,000 copies of the pamphlet, which briefly outlines the legal rights and obligations of tenants, have been reprinted by the Department's Office of Aging for distribution to the general public, particularly senior citizens. A first printing was issued in August but the supply of 60,000 copies has been exhausted. The Office on Aging had received a request from the pamphlet from the New Jersey League of Women Voters, which originally printed the pamphlet in June. Copies will be distributed to New Jersey's 18 counties and three municipal offices on aging and to model cities, local legal services and community action (antipoverty) agencies. These agencies also receive copies in August. Pamphlets also will be made available by the State Office on Aging to the general public upon request. "We are gratified that this pamphlet has been so well received," Community Affairs Commissioner Lawrence F. Brennan noted. The tremendous demand it is performing a valuable function for many apartment dwellers who are unaware of their rights and obligations as tenants under New Jersey law. "We hope the pamphlet will assist them in understanding tenant-landlord laws and guide them in taking appropriate steps to resolve any problems they face." The pamphlet covers tenant rights in such areas as repairs, landlord reprisals, provision of heat and window screens, and security deposits.

Dear Friends and Patrons: Please share with me the happiest Thanksgiving of my life. After several weeks in the hospital, I am well enough now to complete my recovery at home - and, hopefully before long, to resume my duties at my usual post at the Claremont.
Your concern for my well-being, as demonstrated by the deluxe of "Get Well" wishes I received, is something I will cherish always with the deepest humility. I hope to be able to thank you, each and every one in person, in the near future.
To all of you, to my friends and patrons, to my devoted family, to my marvelous staff at the Claremont... and to the good Lord above who spared me, I offer my humble gratitude.

Group calls for enforcement of ban on steel leghold traps

The new state law prohibiting use of the steel leghold trap is not being observed by the public, according to the New Jersey Humane Society of the United States. Branch officials have concluded that the general public is not yet aware of the new law and state personnel are not adequately briefed on the law.

According to W. J. O'Hara, executive director of the society, "We have received reports from people who have found trapped animals and reported them to their local police, only to be told that the activity is legal." In addition, both pet and wild animals continue to be mutilated by these illegal traps.

Hospital auxiliary to hear discussion about acupuncture

"Acupuncture: Witchcraft or Wizardry?" will be discussed at a luncheon meeting of the Auxiliary of Newark Beth Israel Medical Center at noon Monday, Dec. 11.

Dr. Tseng was born in Taiwan and educated at the China Medical College, Taichung, Taiwan, Republic of China. While at the college, Dr. Tseng majored in western medicine and studied Chinese medicine. He served a rotating internship at Orange Memorial Hospital, Orlando, Fla., and earned his master's degree at Fairleigh Dickinson University, Teaneck. He continues research investigations in surgery, and acupuncture.

Obviously, there is a desperately urgent need for public education, and especially education of the police, who are empowered to enforce the law," said Mrs. Valerie Maxwell, Humane Society director for wildlife preservation. To help achieve this goal, the branch has printed a trapping leaflet, "The New State Trapping Laws, and How You Can Use Them to Help End Animal Suffering."

Home more dangerous in cold weather

Cold weather brings a double threat to New Jersey residents but many don't realize it, says the Insurance Information Institute. It not only exposes them to icy walks and slippery roads, but also increases exposure to household hazards by driving them indoors.

Most deaths in the home are caused by fires, falls and poisonings, says the Institute. During cold months, fire is one of the greatest hazards. As people spend more time indoors, increased use of heating units and electrical appliances places extra strain on power systems.

Family electrical equipment is the leading cause of building fire in the U. S., says the Institute. When preparing for the cold outside, check the condition of electrical heaters, chimneys, stoves, plug-in appliances, power tools and wiring.

$25,000 in grants from Arts Council to benefit projects

More than $25,000 in grants, awarded at the recent meeting of the New Jersey State Council on the Arts, will benefit a wide variety of state arts projects and organizations. "It is the intent of the State Arts Council," said Mrs. Marcia Malcom of Burlington, chairman of the grants committee, "to strengthen arts organizations throughout the state and, through such grants and by encouraging increased local support, to enable them to become self-sustaining."

Receiving Arts Council assistance are the Opera Theatre of New Jersey, the Bergen Community College Resident Artists Program, the Art Center of Northern New Jersey, the NYNYWA of Essex County, the New Jersey Orchestra Association, the Dance Notation Bureau, and the Suburban Symphony Society. A $10,000 grant to the Opera Theatre of New Jersey, Newark, will help support the Young Artists Training Program for the current season.

Candlelight Ball to open Epilepsy unit fund drive

The New Jersey Chapter of the Epilepsy Foundation of America will launch its public fund drive for a Candlelight Ball Friday in the new Lotus Garden Restaurant, Rt. 22, Mount Laurel.

State Senator Francis X. McDermott of Westfield, chairman of the event, said all proceeds will go to the Epilepsy Foundation. He explained that the owners of the Lotus Garden have agreed to donate all food and refreshments as part of a grand opening celebration. Senator McDermott noted that the New Jersey Epilepsy unit has received $16,000 in federal funds, plus a commitment for additional monies to provide services to epileptics. He said the government funding is a matching basis under which the unit on a matching basis will receive $10,000 to remain eligible for additional federal grants.

'Hansel and Gretel' is next production for Opera Theatre

In the December (July) sale, the part of Hansel will be sung by contralto Antonia Kitsoyopolis, who recently portrayed Prince Orlovsky in Opera Theatre's 'Die Fledermaus.' Last season she soloed as Madame Adelaide, singing with Beverly Sills in Opera Theatre's 'Norma.'

Franklin State reports 9th consecutive dividend

Dear Larrie: Better TV serviced our set and said the only way it could be repaired was if it was taken to their shop. We gave it to them and paid them for the service. About a week, our set had its picture. We called Better TV, and were told that it would now cost $200 to replace the picture tube. Shepherd now, we contacted the manufacturer directly. A representative checked the set and said we not only did not need a tube, but that the new problem was probably due to what had been done to the set while it was in the possession of the Better TV people.

FASHION COMES TO THE KITCHEN
If you haven't shopped for cookware lately, you're in for a big surprise. Fashion, design and color have come to the kitchen. Pots, pans, skillets, tea kettles, percolators, Dutch ovens and other utensils are sporting pretty designs on bright backgrounds.

For example, stylized flowers, prints and vegetable designs are popular. Background colors are warm tones of orange, with some greens and whites. For those who prefer an "earthly" look, there are utensils sets in rich brown, accented with black interiors on most of these colorful sets are white.

Many of the saucenec and casserole sets are stackable, to save storage space. And some have removable handles so they can be multiple duties in range and oven, on the table and in the refrigerator and freezer.

Bulldogs face W. Orange; team better than its record

BY CLIFF ROSS
The Jonathan Dayton Regional football team will close out the 1972 season on Thanksgiving at home against West Orange, the new addition to the Suburban Conference. Kickoff will be at 10:30 a.m. at Meisel Field.
Should the Bulldogs defeat West Orange, their record will be 5-4. While this is not an imposing figure, the team showed great improvement over last year and even greater potential for next year.

This season, the Bulldogs played Summit Middle and New Providence—all rated among the top 20 teams in New Jersey. They have also played Clark, rated seventh in Union County. Versus, ranked eighth in Essex County, Caldwell, Millburn and Roselle. The Bulldogs defeated Roselle, 24-14 and nipped Caldwell, 13-12. They could easily have won four games if they had been more fortunate against Clark and Millburn. Against Clark, the Bulldogs held a statistical edge but turnovers in crucial situations robbed Dayton of scoring chances and provided Clark with scoring opportunities.
The difference in the game against the Millers was a 20-yard field goal. In the first quarter of that game, the Bulldogs fumbled at their two, Millburn recovered and scored. Later in that game, Dayton's Gavil Widom intercepted a Millburn aerial but his superb effort was called back because of an infraction at the line of scrimmage called against the Bulldogs. The millers were allowed to retain possession and ended the drive with the winning field goal.
The Bulldogs depend greatly upon their running attack to score. The best individual game for a Dayton runner this season was the 104-yard effort by Vinnie Davis against Roselle in the season opener. Improving as the season has progressed, Bill Palazzi has been called upon to lead the rushing attack.
Other players who have performed admirably in the Dayton backfield are Gavil Widom, Bruce Heide, Joe Natiello and quarterback Neil Anderson.
The offensive line features Jim Ragucci, John Belliveau, Dave Pacifico, Tom Russinello and Dino DiCocco. The receivers are Joe Pepe and John Fyfe.
The defense, which has come up with many saving plays this season, features safety Gavin Widom, linebackers Joe Pope and Joe Natiello, linebackers John Zarzoff and Tom Russinello, rovers John Nee and Ken Conte; ends Mark Ronco and Mark Weber and tackles Dave Pacifico and Jim Ragucci.

Varsity Club offers materials to assist athletes at Dayton

Herbert H. Palmer, athletic director of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School this week announced that the boys' physical education department is participating in the 1972-73 National Varsity Club program, which provides materials to motivate youth, improve physical education and athletic programs and, in turn, increase participation in physical activities.
The President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports will provide training and educational materials to Dayton, free of charge, under this National Varsity Club program. This year's program of films, which will be shown on a regularly scheduled basis together with other NJVC materials, deals with: "Self-Defense," "The Cross," "Olympic Conditioning," "Track Training," "Winning," "Confidence," "Track and Field," "Leadership," "Pride," "Participation" and "Survival."

Engineers will unveil plans for flood control

One of the flood control plans to be unveiled by the Army Corps of Engineers Wednesday at the Gaudineer School

Hearing set Wednesday at Gaudineer

Town urges citizens to express their views

The Army Corps of Engineers this week announced that it will hold a public meeting Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Florence Gaudineer School to outline several proposed flood control plans for Springfield. The plans basically call for networks of dikes or levees and channel improvements for the Rahway River and Van Winkles Brook.

Municipal officials have urged the largest possible turnout at the hearing, stressing that a decision to carry out the plans depends to some extent on the "strength" of public opinion as expressed on Wednesday.

The announcement stated that the district engineer's study was launched "to determine if flood control improvements are economically and environmentally feasible for Springfield. Meetings in connection with this study were held with Springfield representatives in Springfield on June 13, 1968, and Feb. 12, 1970.

"The study has progressed to a point where it is now necessary to obtain the views of local interests relative to the several flood control plans under consideration so that the investigation may be completed.

"The office will conduct a public meeting to present a detailed presentation of the several flood control plans that were considered, the preliminary environmental impacts and the requirements of local cooperation.

"All interested parties are invited and urged to be present or represented at this meeting including representatives of federal, state, county and municipal agencies; those of commercial, industrial, agricultural, civic, highway, railroad, flood control and other interests; property owners and any other individuals concerned. All in attendance will be afforded an opportunity to express their views and to ask questions in order to promote a thorough understanding of the plans, impacts and conditions of local cooperation.

"Oral statements will be heard, but for accuracy of record, important facts and statements should be submitted in writing and in duplicate. Written statements may be handed to the presiding officer at the meeting or may be mailed beforehand to the Office of the District Engineer, U.S. Army Engineer District, New York, Corps of Engineers, 26 Federal Pl., New York, N.Y. 10007.

"All statements, both oral and written, will become part of the official record on this study and will be made available for public examination.

"The considered plans should not be taken as an indication that the federal government will undertake any improvements or program. Although the study may result in recommending a plan of improvement, implementation would depend upon subsequent

Library seeks funds for a historical museum

The Township Committee is requested to add to the Springfield Library space to re-establish a community museum.

A museum was an important part of the new Church Hall when the new building was proposed. Because of financial reasons the museum area was deferred for future consideration.

"Sometime" obstacles hindering being the future closer. The reason for time being of the case is that we have an offer of an extensive collection of items dating from colonial times to the present.

The donor, Donald Palmer, has spent over 40 years as volunteer curator of the museum. At the present time a small part of the collection is displayed in cases in the lobby of the library. The music box, a beautiful, and merrily workable, model of an early reed player is in the children's room and is especially in use.

Because there is inadequate space in the library, the bulk of the collection is in Mr. Palmer's house in the country. Several organizations have expressed interest in Mr. Palmer's things but we would prefer them to stay in the Springfield Library where they have

Taaffe is named captain of police patrol division

Springfield Chief of Police George E. Parcell this week announced the promotions of five men to fill vacancies in the mounting table caused by retirements and reorganization of the police department.

According to Chief Parcell, the department's present structure of two divisional elements, patrol and detective, has been reorganized into three operational divisions, patrol, special operations and investigative. Chief Parcell said, "The reorganization will provide the township with a more efficient police operation capable of flexible deployment to meet the increased demands for police service."

Headed the promotion list is Lt. Robert Taaffe, who has been raised to the rank of captain. Taaffe, 35, will command patrol division operations. A member of the department since May 1962, he was promoted to lieutenant on Oct. 1, 1972.

Promoted to lieutenant was Sgt. Richard E. Goetzke, 33, who will command the newly organized special operations division. Goetzke joined the department in May 1970. He was promoted to sergeant on May 15, 1970. He has served as the department's executive officer since February 1972.

Also promoted to lieutenant was Sgt. Samuel Holm Swack, 32, began service with the force in December 1961; he was promoted to sergeant May 15, 1972. He will command the investigative division.

Patrolmen William Cleri, 27, and Andrew Calabrese, 28, have received the rank of sergeant. Cleri, a member of the force since April 1967, has been assigned to the investigative division. Calabrese, brother of the new lieutenant, also came to the department in April 1967, and will remain in the patrol division.

Declining the reorganization, Chief Parcell said that it has been agreed to provide more attention in the areas of crime prevention, public enforcement, criminal investigation, planning and research, records and communications and juvenile delinquency problems on Oct. 1, 1972.

All promotions will be effective tomorrow.

Library will open one more evening

The Springfield Public Library this week announced the adult department will be open one evening more on a trial basis till the end of the year. This is in addition to the usual three nights of Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Holm Swack, director of the library, said Monday and Wednesday nights have been so active that the staff thought an extra night would be helpful to students, as well as other borrowers unable to come to the library during the day time.

The first three nights of the week are usually known as management nights and Friday nights are a popular time for many people who select books for weekend reading. Mrs. Francis added.

The new hours will be Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. On Thursday and Saturday the library opens as usual at 9 a.m. and closes at 5 p.m.

The children's department is open every day at 9 a.m. and closes at 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday, with the exception of Wednesday evening when it remains open till 8. The library will remain open a total of 64 hours a week.
