

Disabled get boost in security benefits after change in law

More than 40,000 disabled workers receiving both workers' compensation and Social Security disability insurance benefits are getting larger Social Security checks because of a recent change in law, according to Ralph W. Jones, Social Security district manager in Elizabeth.

Combined Social Security and workers' compensation monthly payments still cannot be over 90 percent of the worker's average monthly earnings before he became disabled. Jones said, but the new law adds another way to figure the average earnings.

His average monthly earnings can now be determined by his highest earnings in any one year of the five years before he became disabled," he said.

Previously, the average had to be based on earnings in five consecutive years, or, if it worked out to a higher figure, the number of years used to figure the amount of the worker's Social Security disability benefit.

To receive Social Security disability payments, a worker must be severely disabled before age 65 and unable to work for a year or more. In addition, he must have a certain amount of work credit under Social Security.

For more information about workers' compensation and Social Security payments, Jones said, call, write, or visit any Social Security office. The Elizabeth district office is at 342 Westminister Ave. The telephone number is 684-4200.

Mrs. Eleanor Casey, who for the past 17 years has served as social service director at Alexian Brothers Hospital, retired yesterday.

Mrs. Casey, who lives in Elizabeth, established the Social Service Department at the hospital in 1956. She estimates that she has been in contact and has helped more than 10,000 people during her tenure at Alexian Brothers. Mrs. Casey said she will spend much of her retirement time "in relaxation and getting re-acquainted with old friends and grandchildren. Mrs. Casey has two children, Richard, a personnel consultant who lives in Manhattan, and a daughter, Mrs. Patricia Fedem of Freehold.

Students appeal for smokefree school buses

Nonsmokers urge board to enforce ban

All 4 building projects on or close to schedule

By ABNER GOLD

Calls for action to end smoking on school buses, from both board members and nonsmoking passengers, were the highlight of the Regional High School District Board of Education meeting Tuesday. Charles Vitale of Brearley Regional High School, Kenilworth, urged the board to enforce a ban on smoking on school buses.

In other business, Manuel Dico of Clark buildings and grounds chairman, reported good progress in the construction projects now under way to expand facilities at all four of the district's high schools.

He said that work at Jonathan Dayton Regional, Springfield, which had been behind schedule, was rapidly catching up. He added that construction at Gov. Livingston Regional, Berkeley Heights, and at Brearley was slightly ahead of schedule, and that work at A. L. Johnson Regional, Clark, was right on time. The board approved payment of some $24,000 to several building contractors for work already completed.

The audience of some 35 people, including about a dozen students, heard the smoking subject first raised by Charles Vitale of Kenilworth, board safety and health chairman. He reported that he is seeking ways to end smoking on the buses, following complaints at previous meetings.

Board member Edwin Little of Berkeley Heights, who had complained about smoking last month, said that the board should simply enforce its present prohibition. He said it will bring this matter up at its next meeting until it is stopped."

Little declared that the driver can just stop the bus and refuse to continue until all smokers get out.

LATER, IN THE public discussion period, one student told the board, "You don't have to sit on the bus with all that smoke—or try to breathe in the boys' room at school."

He added that he complained to the assistant principal at Brearley and was asked, "What do you want me to do about it?" The student added that he now rides his bicycle from Garwood to Kenilworth every day to avoid the smoke-filled buses.

Another teenager commented, "The situation in the building here is even worse than on the buses. If you give the smokers a place to smoke, and to clean up after themselves, it would help. You don't have to live with the smoke and the odors every day. It would be better to channel it off."

One student urged the board to reconsider its position on the buses, following complaints at previous meetings.

Building to a new post Sarno named new inspector

Checking the charts on construction activities in Springfield is recently-appointed township building inspector Morris Sarno. Sarno, who succeeded Harry Kohn on Jan. 1, brings 37 years of construction experience to his new post, having held his first job in the trade of age 13.

By KAREN STOLL

One could say Morris Sarno, recently appointed building inspector for Springfield, has been working for his job for 37 years, for that's how long he's been associated with the construction industry.

The 37-year-old Sarno held his first job at age 13, when he went to work with his father, the late Joseph Sarno, a stonemason operating in the Maplewood area. Later, Sarno went out on his own as a carpenter, and for 25 years has been a member of the Carpenters and Joiners Union of America, Local 626, in Madison.

"One of my early jobs in the trade," Sarno said, "was helping in the construction of Newark's Villa Rex, a development of one-family homes in Westfield. Later, I worked with a family company installing commercial laboratories, as well as labs, art and home economics rooms in schools and colleges."

Before inspecting for Springfield, Sarno was associated with a Cleveland-based company working at the Hall Labs complex in Murray Hill. "We installed mobile metal partitions in the new buildings, and actually were responsible for setting up all offices and laboratories there," he noted. "It's also worked on numerous commercial assignments throughout Morris, Union and Essex counties."

With three years of experience, the inspector knows what to look for in construction, an attribute he finds essential to his new job. "The most satisfying thing about this work is seeing a job well done, and knowing the people who work on it are pleased. I like to see the best workmanship in a building; it should be done right."

Donors sought for bloodmobile

Plans are continuing for next week's bloodmobile visit to Springfield. It will take place at Temple Beth Ahim on Temple drive next Thursday, March 15 from 1:30 to 6:30 p.m. Prospective donors were again urged to make appointments through their donor group chairmen or by calling Mrs. Daniel Kalten (276-6282) or Mrs. Edward Kaye (276-2420).

Mrs. Kalten added, "There has been in recent months a great demand for blood credits by local residents who had to undergo major surgery. In order to continue to meet this demand, group blood credits must be replenished now. If you are fortunate enough to be in good health and between 18 and 68, consider how simple and easy it can be to help another person in less fortunate circumstances. An added reason for voluntary donations is that they are the only way in which the danger of hepatitis can be eliminated; where there is available, and commercially bought blood has to be used, the danger becomes great."

Consider, therefore, that your pint of blood helps in two ways, and make your appointment to donate at the hour most convenient to you.

Elton Dry chosen to head campaign of Cancer Society

N. ELTON DRY

N. Elton Dry of 191 Tucker Ave. has been appointed the 1973 American Cancer Society Crusade chairman in Springfield. The educational and fund-raising drive begins April 1.

The appointment was made by Sophie B. Baranoff, the Union County Crusade chairman, who stated that Dry had accepted the position because of his sincere desire to help cancer patients. "Dry," said Baranoff, "is the emphasis of the 1973 Crusade is on action, and we shall be rallying when the land left bare of abundant soil can no longer hold heavy or sudden amounts of rainfall."

In New Jersey, and specifically in Springfield, it has been found that the cost of correcting the damage and inconvenience caused by erosion is much greater than the cost of prevention would have been. Keeping the soil on a construction site can result in financial savings to the town, the contractor, the developer and the taxpayer. The improvement of the environment in terms of air and water pollution is an added bonus.

One killed, four injured in crash at intersection

An 81-year-old Middlesex man was killed Saturday evening when his car was struck by a passenger, reportedly ran a stop sign at the intersection of Hillside and Mountain avenues through their donor group chairmen or by calling Mrs. Daniel Kalten (276-6282) or Mrs. Edward Kaye (276-2420).

Mrs. Kalten added, "There has been in recent months a great demand for blood credits by local residents who had to undergo major surgery. Erosion gnaws away at Springfield, according to local environmentalists

This is the second of a series of articles prepared by members of the Springfield Environmental Commission.

The words "soil erosion" are a time brought to mind pictures of vast areas of farmland somewhere out west, parched, cracked and blowing away in the hot sun.

This picture needs some updating for our modern era. First of all, soil erosion problems have crept east to our densely populated areas. Second, soil erosion is now more closely associated with New Jersey's rapid reurbanization than with poor agricultural practices. Land disturbances due to construction projects, pipelines, industrial developments and housing developments have been the major contributors to our deteriorating land and waterways.

Springfield offers excellent examples in almost every category of erosion. Highway construction has resulted in clogging of our drainage system. Development has left large tracts of land bare and free to be washed or blown away. Housing developments over the past 10-15 years have left acres of land cleared and exposed to damage by rain and wind.

Erosion refers to the separation and movement of soil or rock particles by water, wind, ice, or gravity. When soil or rock settles in streams or storm drains, clogging or obstruction would have been keeping the soil from flowing. That possibility becomes reality when the land left bare of abundant soil can no longer hold heavy or sudden amounts of rainfall.

In New Jersey, and specifically in Springfield, it has been found that the cost of correcting the damage and inconvenience caused by erosion is much greater than the cost of prevention would have been. Keeping the soil on a construction site can result in financial savings to the town, the contractor, the developer and the taxpayer. The improvement of the environment in terms of air and water pollution is an added bonus.

Our budget has been prepared for a final hearing next Tuesday and a tremendous amount of consideration was given to keep a reasonable tax rate for taxpayers.

Harmony in Mexico Dayton Choral 'appreciated'

The winter recess served as a wonderful learning experience for the 40 students of the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School's Choral and Chamber Music.

The repeat continued: 'Audiences of all ages and sophistication enthusiastically received them. Though they left here at 6 a.m., our students managed to dress in their formal attire and were served native foods by the statehood of the congregation.'

Members of the vocal music group feel that their musical skills have been sharpened, that they have learned much about the flexibility needed to successfully perform under unusual circumstances and their sensitivities to other cultures have been raised through their varied experiences while in Mexico.

Editorial comment THE IDES OF MARCH

Beware the Ides of March is what the old saying warns us, and it is as true today as it was in the olden times...

The expression, "There's a sucker born every minute," is another old saying which has become a cliché...

By way of contrast, the term "Indian give" had its birth in the Far East...

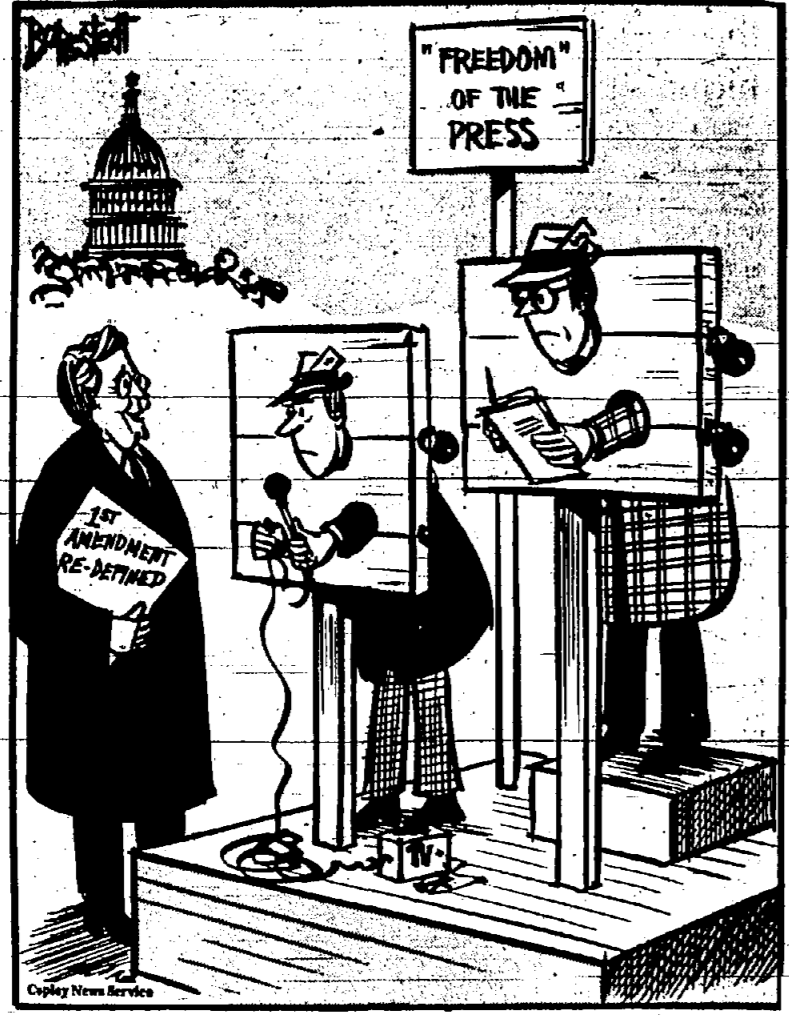

Many people today use the phrase "It's Greek to me," without knowing its origin...

Actually, it was part of the diary of an earlier Englishman, who was undecided as to a choice of careers...

More recent in its derivation, but nonetheless often misinterpreted is the expression, "Faster than a speeding bullet..."

Appalachia minister-at-large will speak at church services

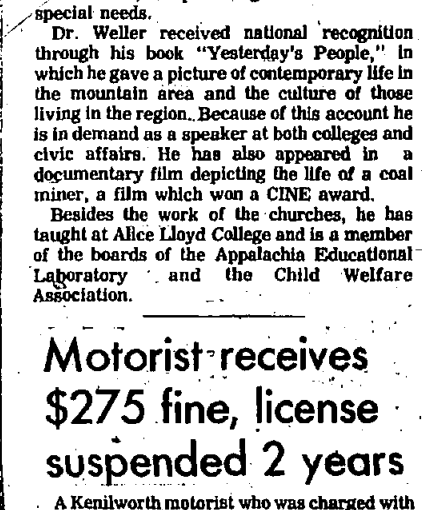

REV. JACK WELLER

The Rev. Jack Weller of Hazard, Ky., author and authority on Appalachia presently serving as minister-at-large for Presbyterians in the mountains of eastern Kentucky, will be the guest of the Springfield Presbyterian Church this weekend in an extended and intensive study of the world mission of the Church. The local congregation has long had an interest in church work in this area through its support of the Elizabeth Presbytery on Saturday evening at 7:30 in the Parish House. Earlier in the weekend he will serve as research leader for a church officers' retreat to be held at Stony Point, N.Y.

A native of the New York state and graduate of Union Seminary, Dr. Weller served pastorates in New York before going to the West Virginia Mountain Project as a national missionary. Serving in this capacity, he was honored as "Minister of the Year" by the West Virginia Council of Churches. In 1962 Dr. Weller moved to Hazard to serve in an area which is known as the hard core of Appalachia, where subsistence farming and unemployment from the loss of the coal mining industry have led to per capita incomes in some counties as low as 10 percent of the national average. His work here involves strategy and planning for the churches in the area, the recruiting and training of pastors and service as a resource person to pastors, church and communities.

First Presbyterian to discuss 'crises' at Lenten lectures

DR. HERBERT E. ANDERSON

Dr. Herbert E. Anderson, minister of the First Presbyterian Church, Springfield, will discuss the "crises" of the present time in a series of Lenten lectures which will be held at the Parish House of the First Presbyterian Church, Springfield, on Wednesday evening at 7:30 under the guidance of Dr. Anderson, assistant professor of pastoral theology at Princeton Theological Seminary. In announcing the lectures which will be built around dialogue, Dr. Bruce W. Evans, pastor noted that Dr. Anderson had previously served as acting chaplain at Overlook Hospital in Summit and so comes as no stranger to the community. "He is a very gifted and sensitive person in the field of pastoral associations," Dr. Evans said, "and as such should be a most valued discussion leader bringing the insights of his study in this area." Dr. Anderson served as pastor of the Advent Lutheran Church in Citrus Grove, Calif., with emphasis on work as contact pastor to Lutheran students at the American River Junior College in Sacramento. His graduate work was done at Drew Seminary, Madison, Wis., and at Princeton Theological Seminary. He is a member of the Society for the Scientific Study of Religion and the American Association of Pastoral Counselors. "These lectures on 'Crises and the American Church'" will be held on three successive Monday evenings and are open to the entire religious community of Springfield.

Stanley F. Volles, M.D., Director National Institute of Mental Health

BETTER THAN DRUGS: President Nixon has called narcotics and drug abuse the nation's No. 1 social problem. He has urged every American to help in the fight, an endeavor in which we all can join. Organizations and groups in perhaps unparalleled numbers and kinds are existing. Community programs are springing up in every part of the country. What more can we do, as individuals or as a community? One important thing lies in the new and almost unexplored direction—when a drug abuser is added is asked, "How could someone convince you to stop?" the answer, whether someone else or you, is something better than drugs! This is not a foolish question but a rational, even a desperate, seeking for help. Yet we have not done enough to find out what other choices might be available or offered. Thus, a unique effort has been launched to encourage and

Musical presented in 1972 expected to raise $20,000

The figures are out on the 1972 production of "Fanny," and they show that the Overlook Musical Theater "is big business" and that it is a going concern. According to Mrs. Stephen C. Whitman, general chairman of last year's show, she announced that profits from "Fanny" are expected to reach the $20,000 mark when all accounts receivable are in. Statistics on the extent of community involvement in "Fanny" are indicative of the success of the theater. Over 750 volunteers worked on the production—roughly 600 of them on the 15 business committees, such as advertising, tickets, public relations and patronage and another 200 on the production committees: auditions, costumes, props, cast and orchestra. Some 50 individual contributions of materials and technical expertise in such areas as photography and costume and set construction were made outside of committees. In addition, an estimated 3,000 gave their support as advertisers, patrons and audience. In all, over 12,000 service hours were donated by people from all of the communities served by Overlook Hospital. Proceeds are turned over to the hospital by the Overlook Women's Auxiliary, which sponsors the project.

LWV explains endorsement of proposed museum addition

The Springfield League of Women Voters last week presented the Township Committee with a statement endorsing the proposed $70,000 addition to provide a museum wing at the Springfield Public Library. The full text of the statement, as presented by Beverly Lerner, League president, follows: "THE SPRINGFIELD League of Women Voters has recently completed a study on the proposed museum addition to the Springfield Free Public Library. Having first acquainted ourselves with the contents of the Donald B. Palmer collection and having looked into numerous sites to house this collection, as well as possible future contributions, our membership now strongly endorses the library board's plan for the museum addition to the library. "With an historical heritage as rich as Springfield, we feel this museum will be extremely beneficial to the people of our town by providing a home for cultural and historical artifacts that cannot be duplicated. "The following are some of the areas mentioned in our study: "1. In the present library building, there is no space in the present library building to house a museum. "2. The present structure is inadequate for library purposes, but there is no room for storage and exhibition areas required for a museum. "3. The present library meeting room would prove inadequate for a museum since it would then no longer be available for community functions, art exhibits, book reviews and other meetings open to the community. "4. What would be the most suitable type of building for the museum addition? "5. From the viewpoint of construction? "6. From the viewpoint of cost? "7. From the viewpoint of the library staff to oversee the museum and provide facilities during regular library hours. No additional staffing would be necessary. "8. From the viewpoint of the library building, mention was made of constructing the museum addition with a door directly to the outside. This would enable the museum to be used at times when the library itself is closed with a minimum of extra staffing. "9. As a result of our study, the Springfield League of Women Voters strongly urges the Township Committee to act as soon as possible to make this museum addition to the Springfield Public Library a reality."

Library art show spotlights works of Miriam Shorr

The works of Miriam Shorr will be on display at the Springfield Public Library through the month of March. A library spokesman commented, "Her paintings are a refreshing delight to the eye and mind, as 'The World of Miriam Shorr' encompasses the themes of mythology, legend, poetry and music. Working in cases on rice paper, you can radiate from every stroke, she weaves fantasies of other lands and other worlds using figures, animals and flowers. Shorr studied painting at Hunter College, and the Brooklyn Museum Art School and privately with Elizabeth, Jean Liberti, Xavier Guzman and Julian Levy. Her paintings and drawings have been shown in Ashburn Artists Annual, National Society of Painters and Art and Drawing, Norfolk Museum of Art and Science, and the Blandford Inn, East Brunswick, N.J. "Miriam Shorr, 63, of Springfield, will be one of the Taylor girls serving as a museum and project director during the regular library hours. Tickets will also be available at the museum. "During our League discussion, mention was made of constructing the museum addition with a door directly to the outside. This would enable the museum to be used at times when the library itself is closed with a minimum of extra staffing. "9. As a result of our study, the Springfield League of Women Voters strongly urges the Township Committee to act as soon as possible to make this museum addition to the Springfield Public Library a reality."

Proceeds of show to aid hemophiliacs

The Fashion Merchandising students of Taylor Business Institute, Plainfield, are presenting a new fashion in fashion shows. The girls choreographed their fashions to the tunes of "My Fair Lady." The spring fashions will be decorated by Taylor and presented at the Ramada Inn, East Brunswick, N.J. "Miriam Shorr, 63, of Springfield, will be one of the Taylor girls serving as a museum and project director during the regular library hours. Tickets will also be available at the museum. "During our League discussion, mention was made of constructing the museum addition with a door directly to the outside. New Garden State Ballet Guild plans performances in Essex-Union areas

Norman H. Volk and Mrs. Matthew J. Marano have been named state chairman of the new Garden State Ballet Guild, established "to encourage support and extend both the youth and adult programming of Fred Danelli's 13-year-old ensemble. Volk and Mrs. Marano are working to establish guild chapters in several communities and plan a statewide representation on the new cultural auxiliary organization. It was announced that initial planning committees are underway in Essex-Union, Bergen-Passaic, Morris-Somerset and Monmouth-Ocean counties, preparing to sponsor and support spring and fall performances by the Garden State Ballet in their respective regions.

Plans for this spring include two evening performances by the Garden State Ballet for the Essex-Union area and the shore region, ending the company's May tour which will include a three-day residency in Caldwell, a week's residency in Livingston, a London performance and a tour of four New Jersey colleges.

The state chairman were appointed by Herman H. Suenholz of Glen Rock, president of the Garden State Ballet Foundation at a board of trustees meeting, which established the Guild. Formation of the Guild began with a November-December tour of the Garden State Ballet, attracting audiences of more than 25,000 in 16 performances of "Nutcracker" in nine regional auditoriums, extending from Lodi to Newark, Union, Monmouth and Mercer county showcases, south to Mount Holly. Young audiences traveled to the performances from 18 of the state's 21 counties, it was announced, in addition to two neighboring counties in Pennsylvania.

"It is the purpose of this new Guild, Volk and Mrs. Marano said, "to make such exciting, colorful dance dramas available to every citizen of New Jersey."

The network of regional guild committees is already embarking upon a plan to bring the ballet to 14 counties before the end of the year. Committee formed to protest fund cuts, in nursing schools

In which direction should the metropolitan area be headed as it considers problems of poverty, housing, education, environment and the impact of such cuts on college programs have motivated the organization of a committee at the Rutgers College of Nursing in Newark, according to committee member Mrs. Barbara Kierman, an instructor at the school. The group will inform students, faculty and the general public how general health care will decline if the President's proposed budget cuts in the Division of Health are approved, she added.

The committee, chaired by Miss Marguerite Manning, dean of students, is for "the college, first met a week ago. Mrs. Kierman said, "The committee discovered that all but a few students were unaware of the proposed cuts, and they, too, even a lesser degree, understood the new budget's implications."

Under President Nixon's proposed budget, nursing schools would suffer research, training aid, clinical education, recruitment, student grants and special project grants.

"The fact is that under the proposed budget, Mrs. Kierman said all support for nursing research and research training that has previously been funded by the Division of Nursing through the Department of Health will be abruptly cut off."

Scholarships for nursing students, she added, will be cut by the current $18 million to $11 million, with no increase in student loans. This would mean that students would have to pay out of pocket for nursing programs where scholarships have been helping to support them, and ultimately would affect the graduate program.

"Additionally," she said, "faculty who are now being supported by the Division of Health through the health care program will likely be let go, and their research abandoned."

Mrs. Kierman said all support for nursing students will be cut off. She said the committee will attempt to mobilize a letter-writing campaign directed to members of Congress.

Which way do we go? Here's chance to vote

Easy to pick dress socks

Men's patterned dress socks will be easier to choose this season. In general, the history makers have designed neater patterns and more subtle colors than in the past few years. This means that patterned socks will be more versatile, coordinating with a broader range of slacks and suits.

Retailers around the nation report that fancy socks will make up 35 percent of their men's hosiery inventory this year, compared with only 19 to 20 percent last year.

Tiny dots, mini-checks and subtle stripes will be the leaders in dress and business socks. In casual socks, big, bold patterns and bright colors will be very much in vogue.

Whether patterned or solid color, men still prefer mid-calf or over-the-calf (executive length) for business wear and ankle-length for leisure.

Beth Shalom pupils take part in recent 'Shabbaton' weekend

Thirty-eight boys and girls from Congregation Beth Shalom, Union, attended a full Shabbaton on the weekend of Feb. 16 and 17 at the school. The boys and girls were part of the fifth through eighth grades. The Shabbaton was in preparation for three months.

Adult advisors were Mordechai Shank, principal, and Alan Kalinsky, one of the Shabbaton last December to begin planning events. The council consists of Ken Kirshenbaum, president; and Bennett Berson and Ron Kirsh, vice-presidents.

Some of the important aspects learned by the students were the "feel" of the Shabbat and the observation of special customs. The Shabbaton started on the Friday evening (Feb. 16) with services. Dinner followed. The students had some free time before joining the adult services.

Habbi Elvin I. Koen presented a brief sermon, and the council's president explained the meaning of the weekend to the parents. Following services, the children sang and participated in Israeli dances until midnight.

The following morning Shabbat-services followed a breakfast. Prior to lunch, the children played chess, checkers and other games. Lunch was served and the children were "taught" in which they discussed the meaning of the Shabbat. The students participated in a Hebrew Bowl, equivalent to a quiz show (on Jewish topics).

At sundown, the children

Thought for food

Inside chuck pot roast, also called chuck eye pot roast, is the meaty inside chuck muscle (eye) of the hind portion of the chuck, which lies directly next to the rib section. A boned cut, it is made by removing the blade bones, featherbones, back bone and rib bones which surround it. Fat cover, if any, is often tied into a roll. Since the chuck is less tender than the beef loin or rib, this cut is most often prepared as a pot roast. It is braised slowly in a small amount of liquid, covered, on top of the range or in the oven until tender, 3 to 4 hours. A variety of seasonings and braising liquids can be used. If the beef is of high quality, this cut can be prepared as a roast-cooked in an open roasting pan without the addition of liquid in a slow oven (250 degrees F.).

In recent years the annual U.S. consumption of canned meat averaged about 1 1/2 pounds per person - a record. During the past 10 years canned meat consumption has increased more than 5 pounds per person.

MEAT MARKET has a roast over 2 1/2 lbs. with a meat fat cap 7 lbs.

Telephone employees aren't what they used to be.

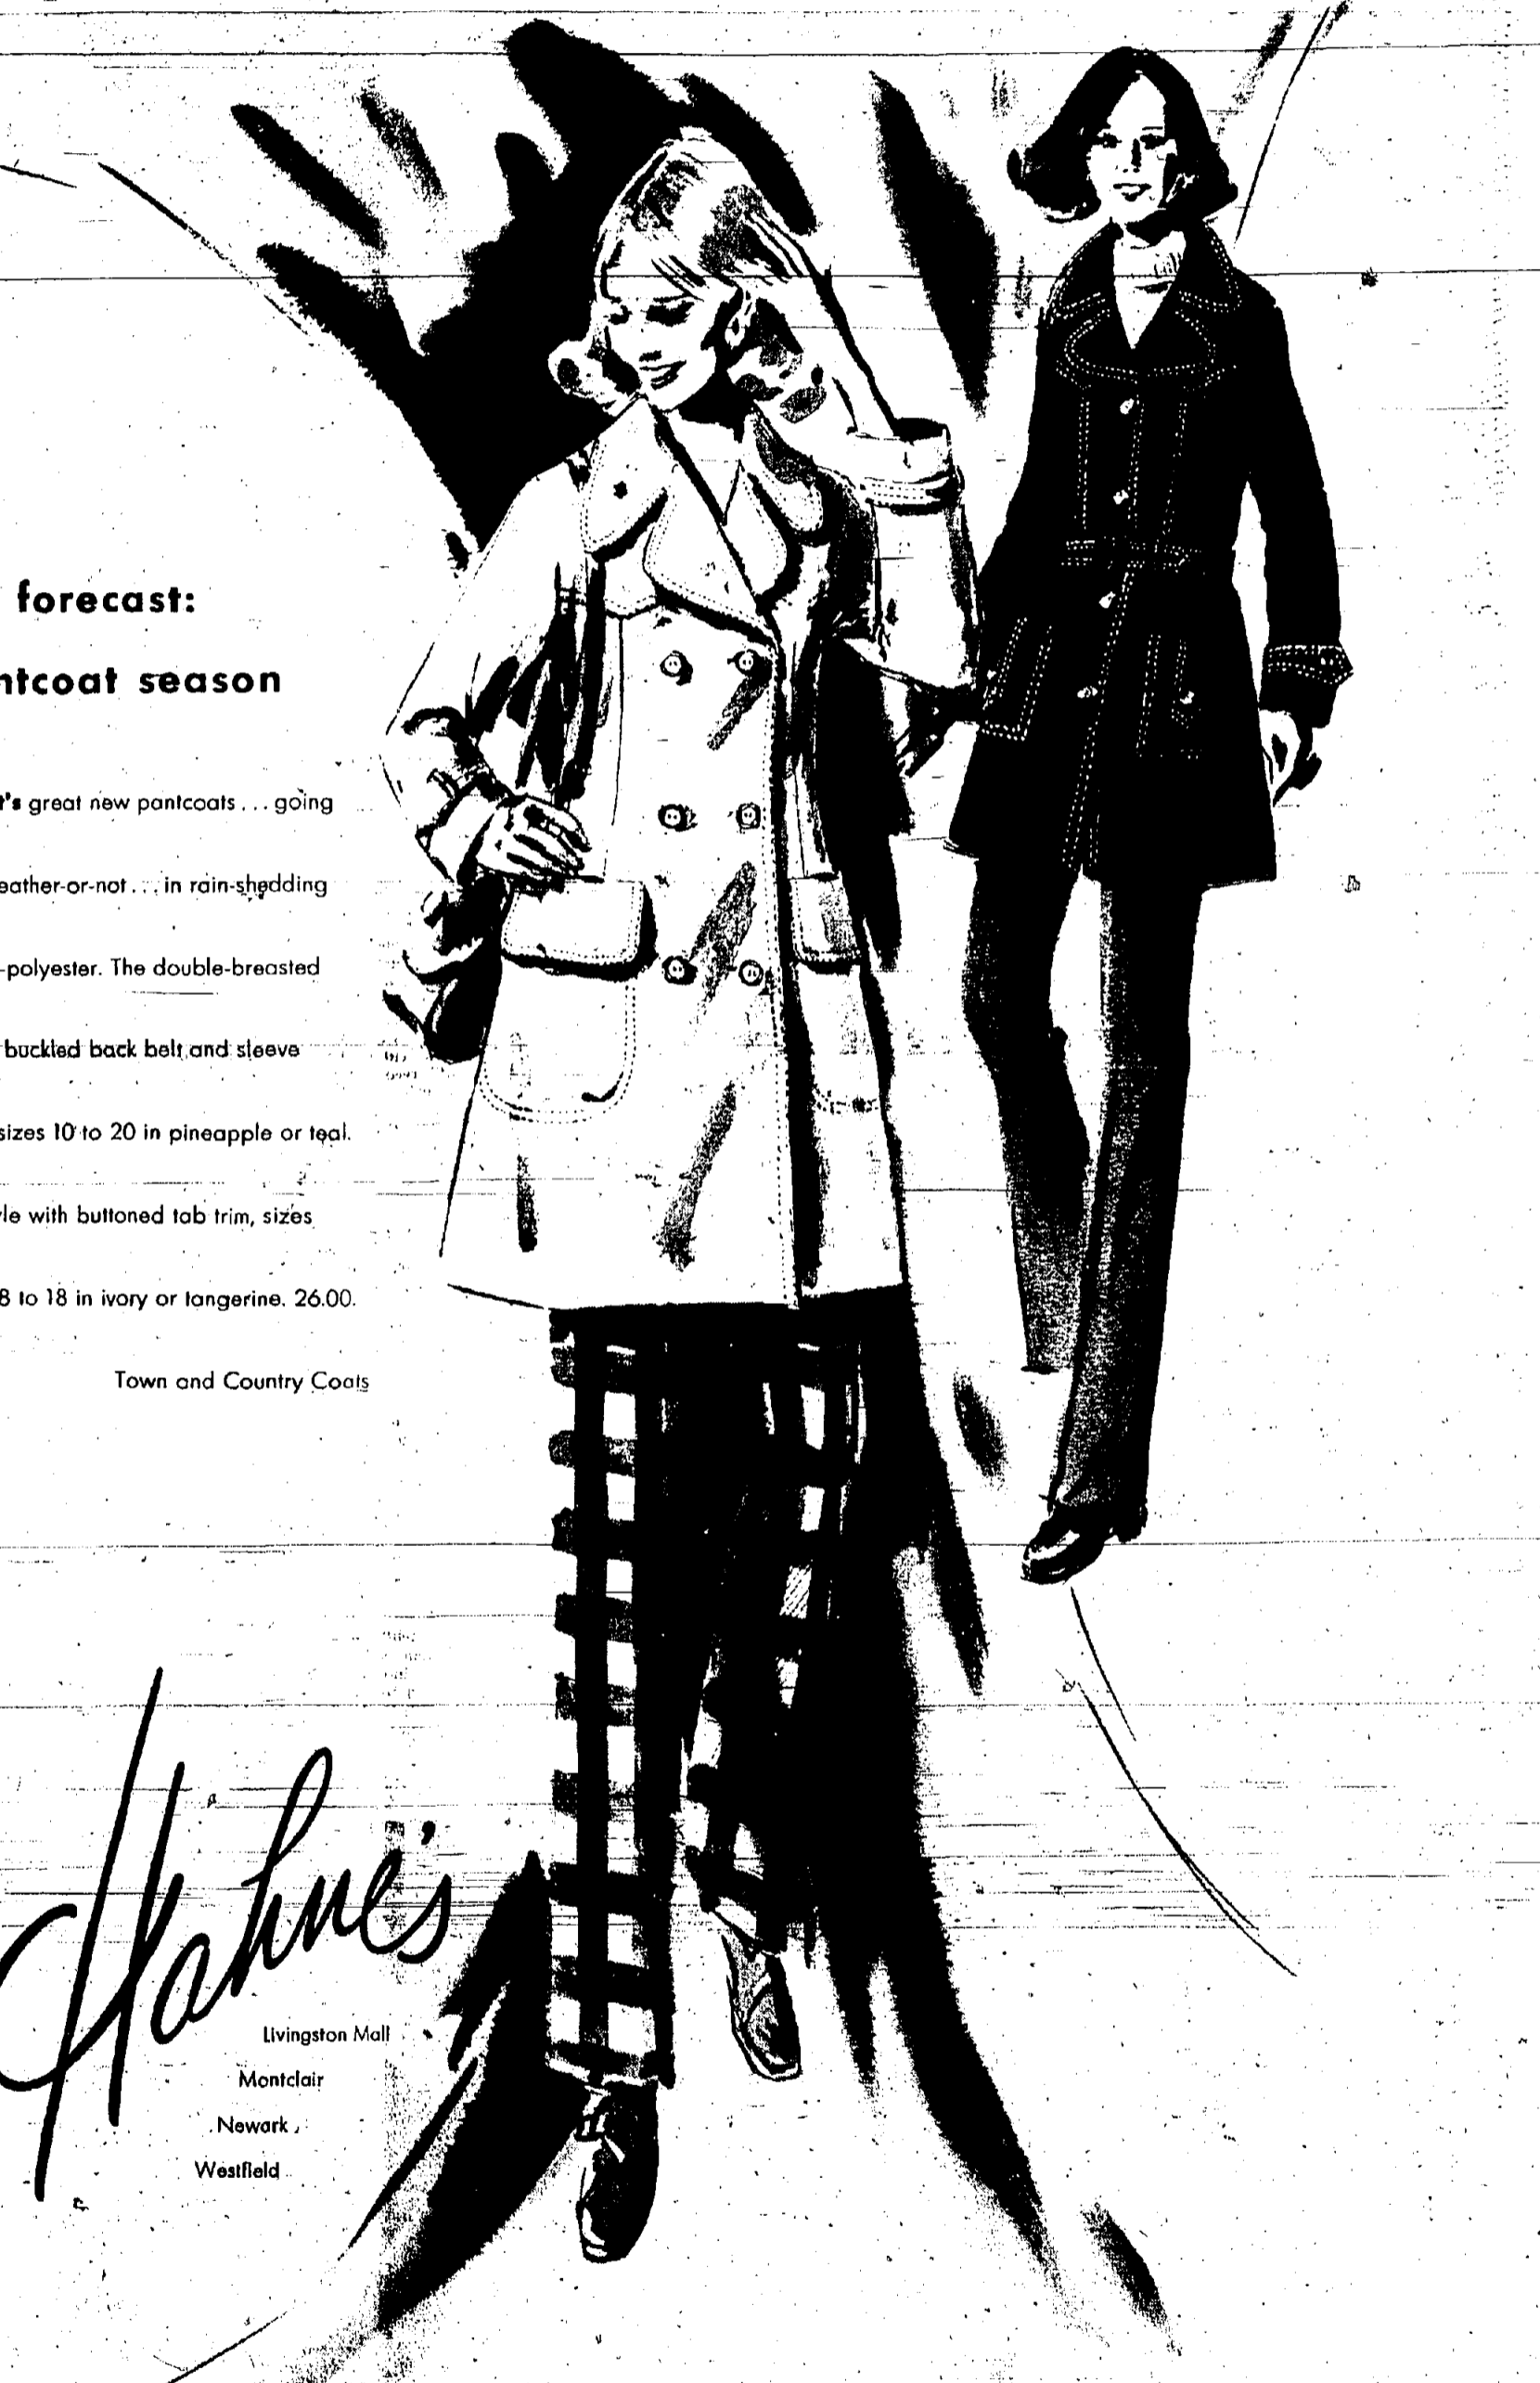

Times have changed and telephone employees have changed with them. Today's breed looks, thinks and acts differently. And they're now doing the jobs they never thought about ten years ago. That's why not all telephone operators are women, and not all installers or maintenance men are men.

In the old days, corporate concepts about devotion to duty and spirit of service were clear-cut and accepted without questions. Now our people ask questions and demand answers. They want to know why doing things one way is better than another.

They're just as committed and concerned as ever. But not out of old-fashioned corporate dedication. Rather, out of the importance of the job and the individual satisfaction that comes from helping others.

We're proud of our people. They're better educated, better trained. And they're faced with a job that is much more complex than it was years ago. We think they've done a good job of meeting that challenge. But at the phone company, being good isn't good enough. Our people know. And they're going all out to prove it.

Oakley Hill at North Branch, Bob Scarborough's new 91-home community in Jackson Township, is beginning to take the look of a classic Colonial community with six distinctive models being prepared for the community's grand opening. Scarborough envisions Oakley Hill as a continuation of the construction ideal which has made him widely known in Southern New Jersey where he has previously built. These models, including the "lake residence" and "insuring that each component adds to a classic Colonial community," are being prepared to create an entire community while adhering to "customized standards" which Scarborough has gained Scarborough many awards. Life magazine has featured Scarborough's work in the community in Cherry Hill as one of the finest new residential developments in the United States. McCalls conferred its award for original design on Scarborough's work in the American Home Magazine selected Scarborough's work as one of the best in the country. Scarborough's work in the community has also been featured in the Philadelphia area.

Ecology key factor at Holly Lake Park

Concern for the environment has extended to the construction business in Holly Lake Park, Germantown's newest condominium community located in Little Egg Creek, Pa. The creation of larva and pupa, and the ecological community, but rather to leave the natural ground cover of leaves, twigs and flowers. At one end of Holly Lake itself will be located a heron preserve, a sanctuary for the birds and the waterfowl. According to Germantown, the developers plan to avoid any intrusion on the natural life, which ecologists cite as an unfortunate result of careless land planning.

Town moves to launch day camp this year

Boys seek town street hockey area
Budget passes quietly; tax rate rising 10 points

The Springfield Township Committee Tuesday night authorized preparation of an ordinance to establish a day camp this summer at the Municipal Swim Pool. Committee member Robert Wasserman, who is recreation commissioner, said the action represented an "absolute determination" to put the day camp in operation at the start of this summer.

The more than 100 citizens in the audience included some 30 youngsters seeking a place to play street hockey. Other highlights of the meeting included passage of the municipal budget, with a minimum of discussion from the floor and none at all on the day, and introduction of town's salary ordinance for the coming year.

Wasserman said the day camp will operate Monday to Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., for children who are members of the swim pool. The fee will be $60 per child. He emphasized the timing of his announcement, since parents are nearing deadlines for registration for municipal day camps.

Pool members urged to rejoin

All those who were members of the Springfield Municipal Pool last season this week were urged to rejoin their membership soon as possible.

Party chiefs look at reapportionment: new District 22 may be up for grabs

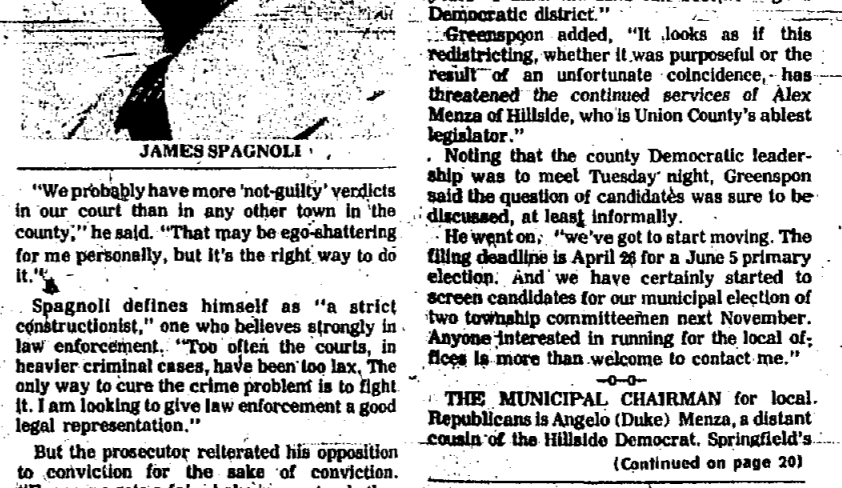

Springfield's Republican and Democratic chairmen this week agreed that the new state legislative district into which the town was placed by the State Apportionment Commission is one which is up for grabs by whichever party has the firmest grasp.

Township calls for unity to help missing Marine

The citizens of Springfield now have a "doped son," Marine Captain James Egan of Mountaineer, listed as missing in action in Southeast Asia since Jan. 1, 1966.

An A for law and order

Prosecutor praises cops, kids

JAMES SPAGNOLI

Prosecutor James Spagnoli is bullish on Springfield. According to the 28-year-old attorney, who was appointed to a two-year term Jan. 1, as township prosecutor, Springfield is "a solid suburban community, a relatively crime-free, with excellent educational and recreational programs for its youth, an honest police force, dedicated governing body and involved citizenry."

Spagnoli also commended George Parelli's insistence that his young police officers obtain a college education, citing that program as a major factor in aiding better communication between law enforcement officials and youth.

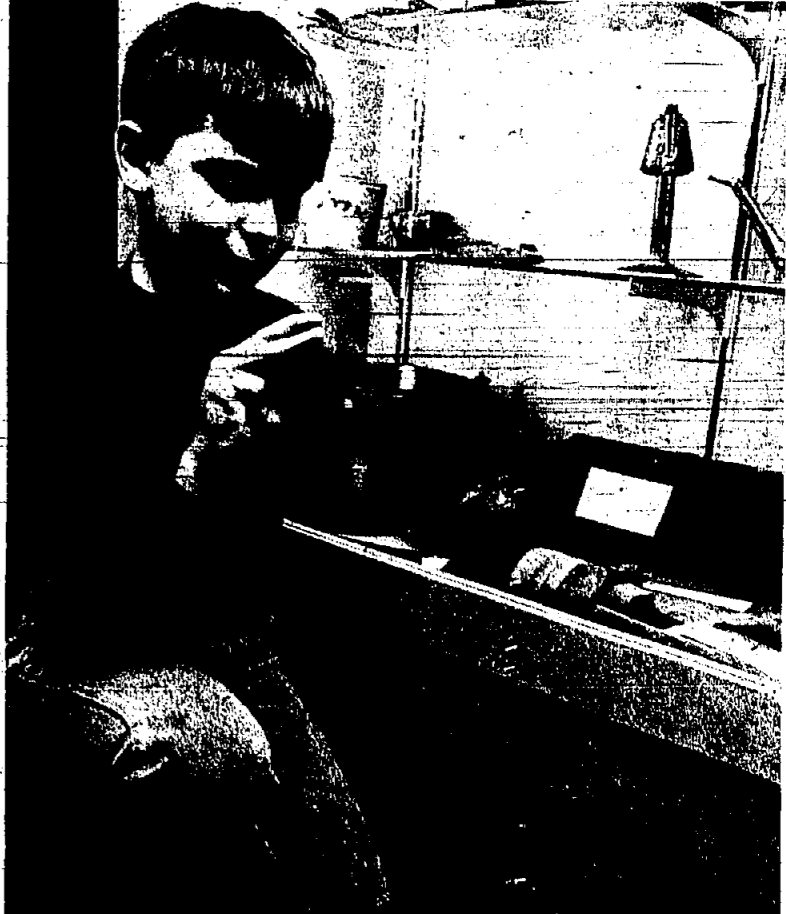

Bloodmobile coming to Springfield today

Area residents this week were reminded that the Essex County Bloodmobile will arrive in Springfield today, from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

A heartache... and Heart Fund

Although J. Scott Donagone usually receives positive responses to his messages he sends as Springfield Heart Fund chairman, last week one of his appeals was turned down.

"We are senior citizens and with all our heart would love to contribute. But we were just informed of a 22 percent hike in our rent. Social Security just about takes care of it."

ON TARGET—The Revolutionary War cannonball held by Carmine Morrales was given to the Springfield Public Library museum last week by Carmine, who used to play with it in his backyard. Years ago an old dead tree was cut down on the Morrales property on 10 Nelson Pl. When the stump was broken up to be carted away, the cannonball was found imbedded in the center. Like other cannonballs found in Springfield, notably the one buried in the foundation of the Carmine House, this one also attests to the battle fought in Springfield. But being found in a tree on Nelson Pl., not very far from Rt. 22, shows how extensive the battle area was at that time. Carmine is a student in the fourth grade in the Edward Walton School.

Glass-in Saturday

The Springfield Area Environment Committee has announced that there will be a glass-in newspaper collection at the new site, Echo Plaza Shopping Center, Mountain Avenue and Rt. 22 West, this Saturday from 8 a.m. until 1 p.m.
