The presidents of the TB-Respiratory Disease Association of Central New Jersey and the TB-Respiratory Disease Association of Bergen and Passaic counties notified William Ruckelshaus, administrator of the Federal Environmental Protection Agency, this week, that their organizations will institute action in Federal District Court in 60 days if the agency fails to enforce the provisions of the 1970 Clean Air Act, with specific regard to the development of the Hackensack Meadowlands.

Alfred Porro, Jr., Lyndhurst attorney who is representing the plaintiffs, said the associations are not opposed to the development of the Hackensack Meadowlands; however, they are interested in the maintenance of the welfare of the citizens of the community as a whole and surrounding the Meadowlands and the air quality of the New Jersey-New York Metropolitan region.

According to Porro, the associations voiced their concern about the proposed development of the Meadowlands in public hearing testimony in January 1972, prior to the time New Jersey submitted its plan to achieve NAQS to the Federal Environmental Protection Agency for approval.

Porro said that the associations have monitored all state and federal activities related to the Meadowlands Development in November, 1972. He informed Ruckelshaus that an apparent violation of the 1970 Clean Air Act existed because the New Jersey Plan to achieve NAQS, approved by his agency, did not include the proposed development of the Meadowlands.

The associations cited the Federal Register of Saturday, Aug. 14, 1971, Volume 36, No. 158, which states, "In any region where existing (measured or estimated) ambient air levels of a pollutant exceed the levels specified by an applicable national standard, the Administrator shall set forth a control strategy which shall provide for the degree of emission reduction necessary for attainment and maintenance of such standard, including the degree of emission reduction necessary to offset emission increases that can reasonably be expected from projected growth of population, industrial activity, motor vehicle traffic, or other factors that may cause or contribute to increase emissions."

At the same time, the associations mentioned Section 110, (2) (3) of the 1970 Clean Air Act which provides for revision of implementation plans whenever the Administrator finds on the basis of information available to him that the plan is substantially inadequate to achieve the national ambient air quality primary and secondary standards which it implements.

The associations then directed attention to the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection Document entitled "An Environmental Assessment of the Master Plan and Proposed Zoning Ordinances for the Hackensack Meadowlands District."

This document estimated that New Jersey would be unable to meet 1975 NAQS in the Meadowlands for particulates and hydrocarbons, nor will it be able to achieve the standards by 1980.

The associations have requested the Federal Environmental Protection Agency to take the following action:

Undertake a comprehensive environmental analysis of the development of the Hackensack

Teaching methods at Gaudineer under fire

WORDS OF WARNING — Springfield Patrolmen James Sobol and Keith Strom caution youngsters at Florence Gaudineer School against strangers who might offer rides, threaten or follow them. They reported that one sixth grader had been recently "catfished" from the school with a description so accurate that they were able to seize the suspect within a few minutes after the incident.

Humanities main target of criticism

Grammar, spelling termed neglected

By AMBER GOLD

Some educational methods at the Florence Gaudineer School came under heavy fire at a Springfield Board of Education meeting Monday night at Gaudineer, from an audience of about 80 citizens, many of whom had previously been alerted to the criticism to be presented.

The criticism Monday, particularly as spelled out by Gloria Sherman of S. Derby Road, centered on charges that basic English skills, such as grammar and spelling, are being neglected in favor of other techniques.

The major target was the humanities program, which comprises formerly taught separately as English and social studies, as well as portions of the art, music and other instruction. Into one overall unit presented by a team of teachers working toward unified goals.

MRS. SHERMAN said that her son, now an eighth grader at Gaudineer, is not receiving the "outstanding" education as obtained by his older brother and sister. She declared, "There is an obvious void in teaching basic English skills. They had the advantage of excellent English teachers, with daily instruction."

She added that despite repeated requests by her and her husband, school authorities had declined to transfer the boy to a more traditional curriculum provided for some students. Mrs. Sherman said that a transfer had finally been offered, "but why were we delayed now, and not two years ago?"

She said, "This year the children get two skills classes a week, after many protests, but there has been no improvement." Mrs. Sherman said they had been offered special help before, after school or during the lunch period, but she wanted skills training during the regular day. She added that she and her husband are now planning to private tutoring for their son.

"There are some fine features in the humanities program," Mrs. Sherman stated, "but we need more emphasis on traditional classes at Gaudineer."

Bloodmobile visit is termed 'success'; donors help replenish group credits

The Essex County Blood Bank bloodmobile visited Temple Beth Ahm in Springfield last week—the first such visit to the community this year—and registered a total of 115 donors. A blood program spokesman termed the visit "very successful," and noted that of all the donors, only 10 had to be postponed for medical reasons.

Temple Beth Ahm, the host group, had a total of 10 donors at the drive, which was conducted under the auspices of the Essex County Blood Bank.

Other group totals included: St. James Church, 27 donors; Saka, seven; Temple Shalom, 21; PTAs, six; Lions Club, seven; First Presbyterian Church, 14. Two donors, not affiliated with any group, gave for the town of Springfield, and four other persons were designated donors.

"Since all blood credits in all groups had been completely exhausted, Springfield owes a large debt of thanks to all those who volunteered their blood. Without their faithful cooperation, it would be impossible to continue this program," the spokesman said.

A number of trained volunteers were on hand to aid in the drive, working under the direction of Mrs. Edward Kaye, co-chairman with Mrs. Daniel Kalom of the township blood program. Mrs. Fred Stigke arranged and coordinated.

Meskin: Goal achieved

Attorney overcame problems

By KAREN STOLL

Sanford A. Meskin "always wanted to be a lawyer," but fulfillment of his childhood ambition took a little longer than he had originally planned.

Following graduation from college, he spent two years as a second lieutenant with the U.S. Second Armored Division in Germany. Then he faced the difficulty of supporting a family and attending law school at the same time. Compromises were achieved by hiding down a fulltime job as a messenger with the N.J. Lawyers' Service, and studying at evening classes at Seton Hall Law School.

But the goal was finally achieved, and the 40-year old lawyer, who now practices with the firm of Goldner, Meskin & Gleger in Hillside, was recently appointed Springfield township attorney.

Community legal service is nothing new to Meskin, who worked as attorney for the Springfield Zoning Board of Adjustment in 1970-71. Before moving here 3 1/2 years ago, he resided in Hillside, where he served as attorney for the Hillside Planning Board from 1960-67. He resigned that post in 1968, when he was appointed to the Hillside law firm, was appointed Jan. 1 to a one-year term succeeding Joy Bloom.

Schramm requests fund-drive pledges

Harvey A. Schramm, chairman of the United Fund of Springfield, this week issued a last-minute appeal to township residents to return their pledge cards for the 1972-1973 fund drive.

Schramm stated: "We are in the final week of the current campaign and we have attained only 83 percent of our goal of $18,000. There are a good number of pledge cards still outstanding and I urge those residents who have not yet made a pledge or a contribution to do so without delay. We must terminate the current campaign by the end of March."

Schramm expressed his thanks to all those who have contributed to the United Fund this year. Their assistance will provide funds for the 74 agencies participating in the Springfield United Fund, he added.

There has been much attention and support given to a proposed museum to house a collection of historic artifacts and papers. It has caused many of us to pause and recall the historical significance of our very own town, as well as its age, dating back even to pre-revolutionary days.

There are nineteen million ex-cigarette smokers in the United States: about one in five adult men in this country has dropped the habit.

Those who give up cigarettes report a great sense of satisfaction, of tremendous pride in being able to do it. To learn a new way of living, a way without cigarette smoking, is very rewarding to the ego—and to the ego's mate.

you can kick the Habit.

As You Approach Q Day

This is a critical time: many smokers fall in their first six weeks, even their fifth attempt, and then relapse. Those who "will" fail to backbite the habit are not weak but different. Their approach must be less through determination and more through clearing new behavior with feelings and persistence.

Self-suggestion, when one is relaxed, aimed at changing one's feelings and thoughts about cigarettes can be useful.

The health educator recently, "nothing means like willpower and a little mind in the spirit."

To think of stopping smoking as self-denial is an error. For ex-smokers should not believe that is giving up an object of value, however dependent he may be on it. He begins to feel sorry for himself and broods on his sufferings; they may well become more severe and indeed unendurable. He will recognize the necessity of a new attitude.

Others, often successful in many aspects of living, find that willpower does not help them in giving up cigarettes. They try to stop, but fail, and they feel guilty over their weakness.

Keep A Track Record

Many smokers have found that a useful step in understanding their smoking is the keeping of a daily record on a scale like that below.

In your gradual withdrawal you may decide to eliminate those daily cigarettes that you find are rated 1, 2 or 3 on the scale. i.e., ones you smoke least.

As you may wish to give up first cigarettes you like most, in any case keeping a smoking log will give you information about yourself, may give you more aware of what your smoking habit is.

Some cigarettes are more important to you than others. These are the ones you should give up first. You may find that you smoke 10 cigarettes a day, but that 3 of them are really important to you.

Make it a habit to go to the bathroom after you smoke. This will help you to get rid of the nicotine in your body. It will also help you to get rid of the tar and other harmful substances.

Shift from cigarettes you like to an unpleasant brand.

Before you light up, ask yourself, "Do I really want this cigarette or am I just acting out of empty habit?"

A smoker may find an unlighted cigarette in the mouth is helpful. Others enjoy handling and playing with a cigarette.

Cigarette smoking is a habit that is usually very well learned, learning the habit of not smoking can be difficult. It can help in breaking your habit chain to make yourself aware of the nature and frequency of your smoking habit.

How about smoking half of each cigarette? In the process of reducing the number of daily cigarettes, try various possibilities: if you have one packet in which you always carry your pack, put it in another so that you will have to handle it. If you always use your right hand to bring your cigarette to your mouth, use the left hand.

Do You Believe In "Cold Turkey" Quitting?

Some gradual withdrawal is less painful and usually satisfactory.

Some cigarettes smokers shift to pipes and cigars; there is of course some risk of mouth cancer from these but over a long period of time pipe smoking is only a little higher than among nonsmokers. If the smoke is not inhaled.

Don't be discouraged: many thousands who finally stopped did so only after several attempts.

Some people prefer to stop for just one day at a time. They promise themselves 24 hours of freedom from cigarettes and when the day is over they make a conscious substitution for one more day. And another. And another. At the end of any 24-hour period they go back to cigarettes without having themselves that they usually do so.

Some find it most satisfactory to work on a schedule in which Q Day, quitting day, is tinged out on the important decision-day in their personal lives—that is, when they have known for a long time that

Training at UCTI includes salaried service in industry

Senior engineering and business students at Union County Technical Institute in Scotch Plains were absent when spring classes resumed on Monday, and their absence will extend until June.

According to Dr. George H. Bazel, president of UCTI, the last 10 weeks of a student's program are spent in their first hand experience in industry directly related to the occupations they are planning to enter.

Students at UCTI are paid at least $2.50 per hour during their field service training and participating employers agree to assign the student work in his field.

Louis Campo, coordinator of the mechanical technology program, reported that he has had three job offers for each student available. Students in the civil technology program were already placed while Jack Glynn, coordinator, was still receiving daily requests from industry.

One of the benefits of the field service program, Bazel said, is that the student has a head start in the job market. If the student proves satisfactory, many of the firms will later employ him full-time. Some jobs offer immediate increments and tuition payment plans so the student may continue on a part-time, Bazel said.

While the UCTI student is enrolled in the field service project, he participates in a weekly

Heart fund drive lagging, deadline now March 31

The Union County Chapter of the American Heart Association has appealed for support from the 21 municipalities it serves in an effort to help hold its 1973 fund drive.

Spokane with the executive director of the chapter, said preliminary reports show the drive lagging badly.

Mrs. Froelich pointed out that unless collections improve within the next few weeks, the Heart Association might be forced to cut back on efforts to expand its three-week program already in effect in Plainfield, Hillsdale and Union. The free throat cultures are tested to detect the presence of streptococcal infection, which is frequently a forerunner of rheumatic fever.

Mrs. Froelich also noted that a shortage of funds could reduce the Union County Chapter's support of research projects aimed at reducing the toll of heart and related disorders.

"With this in mind," she said, "the drive has been extended until March 31 and is being augmented in each town with a letter campaign. We hope residents will respond generously when they are made aware of the campaign's current status. Heart disease is the nation's number one killer. Only research will defeat it. And to support that research, the Heart Fund depends on the contributions of the area it serves."

Union County Bank names new officer

Mrs. Marion J. Warren of Elizabeth has been promoted to assistant secretary at Union County Savings Bank. It was announced by Donald C. Sims, president of the bank.

Mrs. Warren, who started with the bank in 1952, is now in charge of coordinating mortgage arrangements as well as the servicing of new accounts, travelers checks, account transfers and the sale of Treasury savings bonds.

Her first job with Union County Savings Bank was as a Christmas Club teller. Mrs. Warren soon became a regular teller and was named head teller in April, 1968.

A native of Plainfield, Mrs. Warren was a member of the Union County High School and attended Drake Business College. She has one daughter, Mrs. Carol Ann Trester, and two grandchildren.

Diplomas awarded to 95 in February

Ninety-five adults received high school equivalency diplomas in February from the New Jersey Department of Education through Union College's Walk-In GED Center at the Plainfield campus.

Christian A. Hanna, director of the GED Center, reports that 81 of the adults have been recommended for further education in college or technical schools. Of the 12 adults who took the GED exam during February at Union College, 20 were tested in Spanish and the remainder in English, Hanna said.

Union College's GED Center provides counseling services as well as testing with the result that 330 people sought GED information from Hanna during the month.

Senior citizens delegation to deliver petitions to legislators in Washington

A delegation from the Senior Citizens Council of Union County will go to Washington, D.C., Tuesday to deliver petitions dealing with two federal government actions affecting the elderly.

One of the petitions protests the proposal to increase the patient's share of Medicare costs and the other calls for the release of frozen funds for senior citizens housing.

Mrs. Evelyn Frank of Union County, director, said members of the group have collected several thousand signatures on the petition.

The council delegation is expected to meet with Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo, Rep. Edward J. Patten, Sen. Clifford Case and Ben Fulbright, an aide to Sen. Harrison Williams, in the capital.

Members of the delegation are Frank Snyder of Kenilworth, Mrs. Josephine Parra-Oliver of Kenilworth, John Murphy of Roselle Park, Raymond McElroy of Kenilworth and Mrs. Frank.

40 years of fund drives Mrs. Lebau helps United Way

A 40-year record of activity in United Way fund drives will be set this year by Mrs. Lebau of Elizabeth.

Mrs. Lebau has participated in every fund drive since the Elizabeth organization was founded in 1933. She presently is a vice-president of the United Way of Eastern Union County and co-chairman of the special gifts division.

Mrs. Lebau said she believes in the "personal touch" and stresses that the "word late to feel people could be helped and are neglected interest others."

Throughout her 40 years, the United Way has been called the Community Chest, War Fund, United Fund and now United Way, she noted. Besides heading the residential division, she has also headed up the small business and manufacturers divisions. She served as president of the women's division of the YMHA and was active in its fund drive. In appreciation, one of the main rooms in the new building in Union was named in her honor.

Mrs. Lebau headed major sections of Red Cross and War-Bond drives and organized and was first chairman of the women's division of the United Jewish Appeal.

Try Cutting Down...

An important first step in the process of giving up cigarettes for many smokers is to set the date for Q Day, when you are going to stop completely and, as it approaches, gradually reduce the number of cigarettes you smoke, day by day, week by week.

A good system is to decide only to smoke once an hour or to stop smoking between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock, 11 and 12, 1 and 2, 3 and 4, etc. And then to extend the non-smoking time by half an hour, an hour, two hours.

You may decide to bring the cigarettes you smoke week by week, giving yourself four weeks to Q Day.

How about smoking half of each cigarette? In the process of reducing the number of daily cigarettes, try various possibilities: if you have one packet in which you always carry your pack, put it in another so that you will have to handle it. If you always use your right hand to bring your cigarette to your mouth, use the left hand.

Shall I See My Physician? YES

However, the problem is yours, not his, and he may not feel that he should be called in. He may, however, be able to give you symptomatic advice and may prescribe medication. He can be helpful, also, in suggesting a diet which will prevent you from gaining too much weight.

Physicians have been trained in the risks of cigarette smoking. The Public Health Service estimates that 100,000 physicians feel that the physician who smokes cigarettes should have his habits. A California study shows that only 21.3 per cent of all physicians in the state are cigarette smokers now.

Why Do So Many People Smoke Cigarettes?

Simply one reason is that the cigarette industry spends about $300,000,000 a year in promoting the habit and in challenging the facts that scientists have produced that point to the danger of the habit.

Another reason is that advertising, probably nicotine, is a habit forming; smokers become dependent rather rapidly. Cigarette smoking is a habit, encouraged by war, by brilliant advertising, and by the development of remarkably efficient automatic machinery that produces those millions of round, finely cut cigarettes.

It is only within the last 15 years that we have learned through research sponsored by the American Cancer Society, that this personal and socially accepted habit is extremely dangerous. Cigarette smoking is deeply embedded in our life, agriculture, industry, government, the communication media, and a habit that is still being accepted, even though proven to be a most certain hazard to health.

Because promotion is important in maintaining the habit's popularity, the 5-day habit is cigarette advertising in all media. It should be corrected. We hope that this goal will be achieved voluntarily and that governmental action will be necessary.

Approaches in Giving up Cigarette Smoking

1. List the reasons for and against smoking;
2. Select Q Day—change to low tar and nicotine cigarette.
3. Chart your smoking habits for at least two weeks, how many cigarettes, when, the most and least important.
4. Repeat each night, at least ten times, one of your reasons for not smoking cigarettes.
5. Eliminate one category of cigarettes, the most or the least desired.

THE WEEK BEFORE Q-DAY

Think over your list of reasons why you should not smoke: the risk of disease, the blurring of the taste of food, the cost, the cough, the bad breath, the mess and smell of morning-after ashtrays.

Concentrate each evening when you are relaxed, just before you fall asleep, on one dreadful result of cigarette smoking. Repeat and repeat and repeat that single fact. Drive home another fact the next night and another the next.

Review the facts that you know about the risks of cigarette smoking. Remind yourself that there, but for the grace of God go you, that you may indeed, if you continue smoking, lose six and a half years of life, that—if you are a heavy smoker—your chances of dying between 25 and 65 years of age are twice as great as those of the nonsmoker. Are the six minutes of pleasure to a heavy smoker in a cigarette worth six fewer minutes of life? Would you fly in an airplane if the chances of crash and death were even close to the risks of cigarette smoking? Think over why it is that 100,000 physicians have quit cigarette smoking.

Dr. Sylvan Tomkins distinguishes four general types of smoking behavior. An abbreviated summary of the types follows:

Four Smoking Styles

Habitual Smoking: here the smoker may hardly be aware that he has a cigarette in his mouth. He smokes as if it made him feel good, or feel better, but in fact, it does neither. He may once have regarded smoking as an important sign of status, but now smoking is automatic. The habitual smoker who wants to give up must first become aware of what he is smoking. Knowledge of the pattern of his smoking is the first step towards change.

Positive Affect Smoking: here smoking seems to serve as a stimulant that produces exciting pleasure, or is used as a relaxation, to heighten enjoyment, or at the end of a work hour, a cigarette demonstrates his mood or his defiance of his parents. This smoker may enjoy the handling of a cigarette or the sense of relief of smoke curling out of his mouth. If these smokers can be persuaded to make an effort, they may find giving up cigarettes relatively painless.

Negative Affect Smoking: this is sedative smoking, using the habit to reduce feelings of distress, fear, shame, or disgust or any combination of these. The person may not smoke at all when things go well, or vacation, or at a party, but under tension, when things go badly, at the office or at home, he smokes for a cigarette. These smokers give up often, but when the heat and pressure of the day hit them, when there's a challenge, they find it very hard to resist a cigarette. A serious substitute, like nibbling ginger root, may be useful.

Addictive Smoking: the smoker is always aware when he is not smoking. The lack of a cigarette builds mood, desire, and discomfort at not smoking. With increasing need is the expectation that a cigarette will reduce discomfort—and the cigarette does give relief—for a moment. Pleasure or smoking is real, just as the buildup of discomfort from smoking is real, sometimes rapid and insidious. The enjoyment of the cigarette, however, is very brief, and may be disappointing—but the suffering for lack of even slight relief is considerable.

For the smoker, tearing off a cigarette and work the only additional to quit cold. Once you have been through the intense pain of breaking your psychological addiction, you are unlikely to start smoking again. The experience of giving up has been too uncomfortable—and too meaningful for you to wish to go through it again.

Some smokers have found it useful to increase during the week before Q Day the number of cigarettes smoked, to go from two packs to four packs, to force themselves to smoke that their bodies will be in actual need against the double dose of nicotine.

County unit to take part in state women's caucus

The Union County Women's Political Caucus (UCWPC) will participate in the first annual New Jersey Women's Political Caucus convention, March 31 in Hightstown, N.J.

The convention will formulate an action program for the coming year. UCWPC members will respond to the caucus and elect state officers.

Assemblywoman Ann Klein of Morristown, candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination; Somerset County Freeholder Doris W. Deelman, Republican, former Bernardville and president of the New Jersey Association of Women Freeholders; and Dr. Ethel Allen, Republican Councilwoman from Philadelphia, will be featured speakers during the morning general session.

Following that session, a series of workshops will deal with practical politics and pressing social issues. UCWPC President Sandra Markman of Newark will participate in a workshop entitled, "How to Get Your Cause on the Ground."

She was selected because Union County has the most active Caucus in New Jersey and is one of the few Caucuses to adopt a permanent structure. Other UCWPC members participating in the conference include: Roberta Nalven of Plainfield, who will preside over the conference; Elizabeth Cox of Summit, who will serve as parliamentarian and who wrote the constitution to be adopted; and Myra Strick of Cranford, and Elizabeth Pedro of Linden, planning.

Rare books in med college's library Ancient tomes could be used for study today

Hippocrates, Vesalius, Galen, Harvey... Historic names inscribed on volumes that were forerunners to modern medicine, here to be seen and studied at the library of the College of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey. The 1,000 volume collection, on deposit from the Academy of Medicine of New Jersey, represents the foundation of medical knowledge and affords a passage back into medical history. Many of the works, which illustrate the methods and tools of the earliest physicians, have been preserved in their original, artistically designed bindings.

ANCIENT ANATOMY—Precision anatomical illustrations offered for analysis and study by the father of modern medicine. At left, the human skeleton illustrated in the 1543 'De Humani Corporis Fabrica' by Andreas Vesalius in his 'De Humani Corporis Fabrica'.

Opening up one of the larger volumes, a 17th Century dissection, Dr. Saffron pointed to the clearly engraved illustrations. "These anatomical structures are so carefully delineated a student could study from them today," said Dr. Saffron, adding, "If necessary such books could provide an anatomical education by themselves."

Dr. Saffron, who is on the library committee of the college, and was curator of the collection for many years, turned to a smaller text and explained its particular contribution to history.

"This is the first American medical text to receive wide acclaim throughout Europe," said the historian. "It is called 'Experimentum et Observations on the Gastric Juice and the Physiology of Digestion,' and was written by William Beaumont, an army surgeon, as the result of a study he made on a Canadian trapper who was accidentally shot in the abdomen."

Dr. Saffron also pointed out the signature of William Pearson Jr. on the title page and drew attention to a low cost West Coast 726.

Business outlook better in January, says Labor office

New Jersey business barometers show the State recovering further in January after a record for the normal winter doldrums. The report, released this week, says that after seasonal adjustment employment climbed to a new record, an all-time high of 2,665,000, the unadjusted unemployment total remained relatively unchanged at 7.1 percent, and the factory workweek at 41.1 hours was the longest in a quarter of a century. The latest figures showed checkbook spending, business telephone installations, new business incorporations, and retail sales were at or near record levels. Construction barometers suggested a good remodeling year ahead.

The preliminary unemployment estimate for February, completed too late for inclusion in the current report, showed the favorable outlook little change from January. The February seasonally adjusted rate remained at 6.3 percent of the work force. It was fractionally below the 6.4 percent of a year ago. Total unemployment on an unadjusted basis was 228,000 compared with 220,000 in January. The unadjusted unemployment rate was 7.2 percent against 7.1 percent in January and 7.3 percent a year ago.

Residential construction contracts awarded for 1972 were 38 percent above the previous year's level, said the report. While the volume of residential contracts remained at a high level during the final months of 1972, new residential contracts were less encouraging despite a pickup in December. The nonresidential contract total for the year was fractionally above that of the previous year.

The report said that the movements of most business barometers in January were favorable in recent months. One exception was business failures which rose in January following a poor performance through most of 1972.

A FEMININE LOOK ...

...AT THE WORLD ...AND THINGS

Seventh in Series. THE LOVE OF ST. JOHN. Once upon a time there was a woman who liked an island so well that when she caught her first glimpse of it, she jumped off a ship just to get there and stay there. That's what the island of St. John in the U.S. Virgin Islands is to many. That explains it all. It is a beautiful place. Refreshingly non-commercial, laid-out and lovely, it sits mostly in its natural state, the island is a joy. The woman, who is a friend of a friend, and who shall remain nameless except perhaps for "Vera," is still very much alive, and is a "future," a "legend," a "landmark" if you will, on the island. St. John would not be St. John without Vera. To prove it, all you have to do is call the main telephone operator on any of the islands. St. Thomas, St. Cruz or St. John, and ask for "Vera." You will be told, "And, no matter whom you ask, they will tell you that the story of her jumping is true.

TO GET TO ST. JOHN the ordinary way, you have to take a ferry from St. Thomas, or some other island, and then a small plane to St. John. There is no airport on St. John so commercial airlines do not land there. Even the little local ferry is small so it can't all handle that boat, and the bay is, in fact, tucked back so far from the open sea, that no jets or large jets can come in. The island is lush and rocks to stay and drop anchor there.

St. John is somewhat left alone. But this is the island that Laurence Rockefeller found so lovely that he bought 9,200 acres of its 20 square miles for $10 million. He built the resort and it now constitutes the Virgin Islands National Park. In short, it means that the island is the most beautiful and most part thank goodness, nicely wild and undisturbed. It is a haven for campers, hikers, swimmers and lovers of nature. In its trunk Bay is a fantastic beach. Following the beach are snorkelers that is repeatedly the most spectacular in the islands. Campsites can be reserved but they are so popular they must be reserved in advance. There are also resort cottages and the fabulous Caneel Bay Plantation, owned by Rockefeller and noted for attracting celebrities and being very expensive.

There is a little road on St. John that enables you to get around by motor or cycle or on foot. The road is a good one, it is super highway by any means. Instead, it is wonderfully light and winding and disarmingly beautiful. The road is a good one, it is super highway by any means. ### Executive group views trade credit as sales aid

The use of trade credit as a device for expanding sales will grow during the coming months, William H. Jarvis, executive vice president of the New Jersey Association of Credit Executives, said this week. Jarvis said that rising interest rates and increased credit rationing by banks, are forcing companies to use trade credit to their customers who is in a stronger competitive position. He said that the government continues to exert pressure to hold down interest rates. Referring to the March issue of the Credit and Financial Newsletter of the National Association of Credit Executives, Jarvis said that the projected increase in the use of trade credit takes place, the result will be a steady rise in DSO (days sales outstanding) and perhaps in the "past due" figure as well. The DSO figure is arrived at by dividing the average daily sales volume of the past 90 days into the volume of receivables outstanding at the moment. The latest available DSO figure for manufacturers is 43.3 for the third quarter of 1972. During this period 10 percent of all trade receivables were within terms and 1.8 percent were over 90 days past due. These figures are compiled quarterly by the Credit Research Foundation, an affiliate of the National Association of Credit Executives.

School board

A CONTRASTING VIEW was expressed by Ronald Brown, a Springfield resident and a teacher at Gaudincur, who said he was "proud of our entire educational system."

He stressed that youngsters with problems in technical skills are given help or referred to sources for information. Brown commented, "There are several ways to teach grammar..."

Evolution should be in detail, on a rational basis. Brown also commented, "The statements made here tonight should be taken in context..."

There is a tremendous amount of misinformation among parents on this an educational issue. We can get valid data from the teachers, and from the kids.

Thursday afternoon, the school or any school is not just to prepare students for the next educational step. We have to open up the feeling for intellectual exploration at this age...

LUCILLE WEISS, a guidance counselor at Gaudincur, requested that the board have standardized tests be split into groups, balanced for sex and intelligence, taking either the human aptitude program or the more traditional courses.

In reading, she said, the humanities group was two percentile points better in content, skills, one or two points below, and in research ability, five points better. She added, "Most of the differences are not large enough in either direction to be significant."

Others who spoke in general support of Mrs. Sherman's criticisms included Gloria Starr, Sally Kaufman, Ellen Dyer, Jerry Rosenberg, Janice Gold, a seventh grader at Gaudincur, and Jean Cohen, a high school senior who took the more traditional courses at Gaudincur.

Speakers supporting the humanities program included Ruth Davis and Shari Dorfman. Seymour Margulies, a former board member, noted that the board has been in either continuing study. He added that the superintendent of schools, Dr. Fred Baruchin, has named last year's Pupil Achievement Report on the schools as soon as he completes a full evaluation. We need a lot of information before the board can make any changes.

BOARD MEMBER Zachary Schneider, stressed, "The board is not operating in a vacuum. We have discussed many of the points raised this evening, and the talks will continue. You have helped us consider the board with your comments tonight. My own son is an eighth grader in the humanities program - all this is not new to any of us."

Dr. Baruchin, the superintendent, stated, "I did not expect anything of this magnitude tonight, even though I did discuss the problems with the Sherman for 1 1/2 hours."

"Part of this may be an undercurrent of tensions between the middle school and the Regional High School. We are working hard for a 10-12 perspective and we have been gaining mutual respect with the high school. I hope no wedge has been driven between us tonight."

The superintendent added, "There has been some incentive here directed against the Gaudincur administration. We have some of the finest principals here. I have never known of thousands I have dealt with. They have a fantastic record of dedication and accomplishment."

Baruchin said, "Basic skill is important in vital, but this sort of issue is not, it will give us a forward-looking school district. We will always strive for excellence with every youngster, but we won't always succeed."

"We don't want 1940-type medical treatment today when we go to a doctor. We must provide the most modern education we can in 1973 - and we certainly won't overlook the basic skills."

Expanding job opportunities are seen in real estate field

The opportunity for a well-paid career in real estate is wide open, and becoming more attractive every day, according to George G. DiMartino, Springfield realtor who serves as chairman of the education committee for the Board of Realtors of the Orange and Maplewood, including Livingston, Millburn, Short Hills and Springfield.

Serving as instructors for the training program were Dr. Herbert Conroy of Livingston, Julian Brenner of South Orange, George G. DiMartino of Livingston, Harry R. Hartford of Maplewood, Norman L. Tobin of Maplewood, Peter J. Deegan of West Orange, Harold F. Hudson of Maplewood and Mrs. McMullen of Springfield.

Joseph W. Zahn Jr., Livingston realtor who serves as assistant vice-chairman of the board's educational committee, stressed that "a real estate career offers immediate substantial earnings and potentially higher earnings later."

Saw, radio stolen from two vehicles

Springfield police reported thefts from two vehicles in the township during the week. The first reportedly occurred around noon Friday, when, according to an officer manager for the Schlomo Construction Co., Bryant Avenue, a power saw and a radio were stolen from a pickup truck. The saw is valued at $60.

"Working hours are flexible," Zahn explained, "and there are rarely any layoffs in times of low business activity since the need for housing is constant."

Springfield woman is hit by own car when vehicle slips into gear and rolls

A Springfield woman who was run over by her own automobile was among three persons reported injured in car accidents in the township during the week.

Police said Edward Kramer of the Summit Hill Apartments on Stone Hill road was injured March 15 at 7:35 p.m. as he was attempting to stop out of her parked car near her home.

Three township residents were involved in a crash at 8:14 p.m. at the intersection of Rt. 82 and South Maple Avenue. Police said John Marx of 146 Tucker Avenue was attempting to pull from the left lane of Rt. 82 into the right lane, when a truck pulled out of Echo Plaza, cutting her off.

Time To Spare

The Golden Years investment plan increases in Social Security benefits - often become somewhat tarnished for senior citizens four or five years into retirement.

"The reason here is obvious. During working years, it is wise to consider the specter of inflation, plan for a level of monthly income a well-planned family financial program may be of help in assuring that those savings need not stop when you reach 65," Marinella concludes.

THE OAK III, model home of the Park-at-Berkeley. One of five models priced from $28,990 being offered by Greater American Communities on Scott Road in Berkeley Township. The homes, surrounded by woodland, combine the best of traditional styling with imaginative arrangement

Whittier Oaks home development taking root in the hills and woods of Somerset County

The U.S. Home Corporation of New Jersey has opened its second Whittier Oaks community, according to Herbert M. Hut, president. "It is the first U.S. Home community to be built in Somerset County," Hut says, "and was chosen because of its unusual location."

Situated in Hillsborough, the 80-home, single-family community will be in an area of open country with rolling hills and "wooded" interspersed with winding river and historic canal, and bordered with open farmlands.

Midway between Somerville and Princeton off Rt. 208 on Hillsborough road, home settlers at Whittier Oaks will have the advantage of being in the country, yet be within easy driving distance of metropolitan business centers, the halls of Princeton and Rutgers and their cultural offerings. The area also offers outdoor recreation, and is surrounded with historical sites and many points of interest including the Doris Duke Estate, Heckington Washington's headquarters, historic East Millstone and Flemington.

After two years in the planning, market studies, tract surveys and consultations with some design experts and buyer preferences at other U.S. Home communities were undertaken to decide on the best homes for what is considered a prestige area of Somerset County. The design reflects the quality and income category of people who will be buying in the area, and the best way to utilize the land.

The furnished and completely decorated Spring Meadow home previews a new interior concept from the indoor world of Armstrong that takes shape around new products and featuring new designs, colors and functions in home furnishings. It brings the freshness of spring inside, Hut adds.

Other model homes include: the Longfellow ranch at $23,990, with four or five bedrooms and three full bathrooms; the Sandberg colonial at $25,990, with covered porch and family room on Hillside; and the world's first Spring Meadow house would best fit into each individual site and will be built there accordingly.

Six model homes in the Whittier Oaks development priced from $28,990, are being presented to the public at Hillsborough, as well as the world's first Spring Meadow

Timber Ridge model planned as 1st home

A California ranch called the Cedar is a favorite with apartment dwellers buying their first home, according to Michael A. Kaufman, vice president of Kaufman and Broad's New Jersey division. The home is one of four models featured at the Timber Ridge single family housing community in Jackson.

"The home has all the features prospective buyers look for in a first home purchase—Attractive price, good design, prime location, a minimum down payment, and, judging from the response we've had, more value than they've been able to find elsewhere," said Kaufman.

The Cedar is priced from $32,990 with a minimum of only five percent down, thus putting it within the financial reach of most apartment dwellers seriously considering the purchase of a home, he said. In addition, Kaufman and Broad pay all closing costs. Financing is available and convenient with VA, FHA, and conventional type mortgages.

For a "starter home", the Cedar offers a spacious living room with window view, functional California patio kitchen, fully equipped kitchen, butcher's block, counter tops and decorative tiled oven and range, utility laundry room accessible from rear yard and bath, large family dining room with sliding glass patio doors, three generously proportioned bedrooms and an extra-large bath.

Floor-to-ceiling closet space and a separate storage area in the garage are additional features attractive to apartment dwellers looking for more room. The convenience features frequently needed by first-home purchasers are available—include dishwasher, washer and dryer, refrigerator, garbage disposal, central air conditioning, and walk-to-walk carpeting.

Timber Ridge's heavily wooded surroundings offer privacy and a natural landscaping job that would take years to create. Upon completion, Timber Ridge will include a total of 104 homes, all with city sewers and city water. The community is minutes away from nearby schools for children of all ages, a shopping mall, recreation areas, and a Garden State Parkway interchange which affords access into Manhattan in approximately 70 minutes.

In addition to the Cedar, other homes available at Timber Ridge include a spacious bi-level, a colonial and three other models of 12 elevations.

To reach Timber Ridge, take the New Jersey Turnpike south to Exit 11, then south on the Garden State Parkway to Exit 21, straight on Rt. 688 for 1/4 mile, then right on Rt. 628 (Country) Line road approximately 7 miles beyond Bridge Road, then left to Timber Ridge model.
