FUTURE TENSE

The controversy over the humanities curriculum at the Florence Gaudinier School shows every sign of continuing, with unfortunate tinges of bitterness and personal feeling on both sides.

Our major concern is not over which side wins — the educators who are convinced that modern approaches are vital to a modern education or the parents and some teacher allies who are equally convinced that the traditional skills can best be taught in the traditional manner.

The focus, however, should remain on the children of Springfield and on providing them with the best education to meet the needs of each individual boy and girl.

Certainly our children should learn how to spell properly and to write grammatically. Too many of their elders seem to have missed out on these skills in their own more traditional educations.

And equally our children are entitled to gain their full share of benefits from all the advances in education as a science and as an art which have been achieved in recent years.

The final decision, of course, must be made by the Board of Education, guided by the expertise of the highly skilled professionals on the administrative staff.

As elected officials, board members should also take into account the feelings of concerned parents and the remainder of the community — both those who have been mobilized to seek a specific goal and those whose silence may be construed as either apathy or approval.

In commenting on the issues, we have difficulty in disregarding our own feelings as a parent with two older children who learned profitably in more traditional atmosphere at Gaudinier, with one who is gaining an even more sophisticated view of the world of knowledge as a student there now and with a fourth who can look forward to expanding his horizons even wider at Gaudinier as the calendar rolls closer to 1976.

Perhaps with this broader chronological perspective we can see the middle school not as an end in itself and not simply as a place to prepare for high school.

It is a part of the long maturation process, from the cradle to the grave by way of kindergarten, the primary grades, early adolescence, the secondary schools, college and often graduate education and then the endless learning process which is adult life.

In this panorama, we are convinced that the focus of all education cannot be on yesterday, which may provide the subject matter of what mankind has learned and has achieved, but on tomorrow, the goal for which all students are being prepared.

In all education, and not just in grammatical training, emphasis must be on the future tense.

Jetliner solutions

By ROSE P. SIMON
The Springfield Public Library lists the following titles among the recently received books.

SAFETY IN THE AIR
"Safety Last," by Captain Brian Powers-Waters. For a skilled, conscientious pilot, it is often difficult to maintain a safe course between management, which is economy-minded, and the Federal Aviation Administration, which is lax in its supervision of air travel.

A jet airline captain with 20 years of professional flying experience hopes that his book will be widely read and that it will shock people into writing to congressmen, who may be influential in correcting the defects existing in American commercial aviation.

Capt. Powers-Waters reports on near-accidents and real tragedies, exposing errors that could have been avoided. His is not merely a story of criticism; he has dozens of recommendations to offer which should greatly increase the chances for survival.

The captain indicates the absolute necessity for a third pilot, the standardization of cockpit layouts, improved airport conditions, installation of more efficient instruments and simplified regulations. He believes that the highly organized, professional pilots, traffic controllers and mechanics are the key to flying safety.

DETECTION OF EPILEPSY
"Epilepsy in Childhood," by Walter C. Alvarez, M.D. After 20 years of practice, Dr. Alvarez, a senior consultant at the Mayo Clinic, recognizes that epilepsy has a great variety of forms, some of which are so misperceived that many physicians are unable to detect them.

It was the pamphlet play, often read in private or read aloud at public gatherings, which proved to be most effective. Usually distributed by the press, these plays became the most persuasive outlet for expressing the citizen's point of view.

Seven plays and dialogues (farces, tragedies, comedies) are included here, in the introduction to each, Philbrick fills in the political background and gives an extensive summary of each scene and act. All of the plays have copious notes alongside the text explaining the references.

One is impressed with the honest anger, violent defiance and intense antagonisms expressed in these propaganda pieces of 20 years ago.

15-YEAR AGO
According to figures released by the Union County Tax Board, Springfield is one of only three municipalities showing a drop in the tax rate; the township went from $16.69 in 1957 to $5.77. Members of the Springfield Police Department are in an effort to update their population records, begin a house-to-house census, seeking names of residents and the number of children in each home.

The school's first annual "Comm-Fest" is scheduled for May 12. Noted when I was under 18. Then everybody was old. Old and grouchy.

The WENTZ family, formerly of Tocker avenue, Springfield, now of Pennsylvania, is awarded $2,000 by the Supreme Court in settlement against the Rahway Valley Railroad; the family's younger son, BOBBY, who was eight at the time, had lost both his legs when struck by a freight train near his home.

The State We're In

By David F. Moore, North Jersey Conservation Foundation

I wrote recently about the energy picture in New Jersey, which State roughly accounts for about one hundredth of the total world energy demand. That's an interesting figure, but in more practical terms what this state we're in must study fast and furiously is how to reach a balance between supply and demand: enough supply to meet the demand or little enough demand to match the supply.

Part of that column was a report on a bill by Assembly Speaker Thomas H. Kean, R-Essex, which now resides in the Assembly's Committee on Air and Water Pollution and Public Health. It's number is A-1672.

The bill is an attempt to overcome a lot of the hangups which now jeopardize a continuing adequate supply of electricity for New Jersey, and has a built-in provision which may be seen as tending to dampen the uncontrolled rise in electricity demand.

The idea is to let electricity at the rate of a third of a cent per kilowatt hour (that's the damper) and put the money into a kitty which would be used by the state to buy sites for future power plants and transmission line construction. The latter is seen boosting the ability to produce more electricity.

This is because, repeatedly, when a utility company picks a spot for a generating plant, it is assailed by environmentalists. We are not against electricity, goodness knows we use it just like everybody else, but we are against site locating which is more destructive to the environment than is really necessary.

The Kean bill would charge the Department of Environmental Protection with the site selection and ownership process on the logical theory that it is best equipped to exercise the needed environmental overviews. When a company decided to build a new power plant, it would select a site held by the Department and buy it, the money going back into the kitty.

Since the last column appeared, I've picked up three arguments against this idea. One is that in Maryland, where a similar plan has been adopted, nothing has happened yet, so the power companies think it won't work. The answer to that is it takes time to get in gear, but the money and rail down the best idea. Policy may well dictate there's no rush, too.

Number two is a report that the Department of Environmental Protection does not like the idea, because it doesn't get into the site selection business and regulate the process too. The answer to that is that the Department preservation of historic properties to almost $200,000 under the U.S. Highway Trust Fund are among grants-in-aid dollars distributed to state and local governments in New Jersey during the last fiscal year (1972) under federal programs.

This is disclosed in a tabulation of $1,000,000 distributed to state and local governments in New Jersey during the last fiscal year (1972) under federal programs.

Grant payments in excess of $10 million in fiscal 1972 included: Child nutrition programs, $27.2 million; community action programs, $19.6 million; cooperative vocational education, $17.1 million; elementary and secondary school education activities, $84.0 million; school assistance in federally-affected areas, $17.2 million; public health and development programs, $11.7 million; low rent public housing, $47.7 million; and other programs, $18.8 million.

Urban renewal, $54.1 million; law enforcement assistance, $11.1 million; classroom instruction, $13.1 million; neighborhood youth corps, $16.9 million; public employment program, $28.4 million; unemployment compensation and employment services, $25.1 million.

Among more unusual programs, New Jersey received $21.0 million in federal aid from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration; $10,000 for intergovernmental personnel; $40,000 for public health reporting and $30,000 for Appalachian Regional Development.

NJTA reported earlier that the federal aid dollar distribution had cost New Jersey taxpayers $1.42 each on the basis of the estimated $1,344,000,000 they contributed in taxes toward the $3 billion national federal aid program, a national recreation organization, according to a formula prepared by the Tax Foundation, a national recreation organization.

The more than $1 billion distributed to New Jersey last year topped the $223 million received in fiscal 1971.

MATH PROGRAM
I am an eighth grade student at the Gaudinier School. I would like to express my own opinion about the IPI math program. I think it is a good program, but I think it is too hard. The reason I say that is because if you take a test you get four problems, and if you get more than one wrong you fail. The teachers don't care at all. Just as long as you get over C level, that's all that counts in the teacher's eyes.

The kids in the other math program learn more than the kids in IPI and I am really tired of being in IPI. If we do not get a C level in IPI, we will not be prepared for high school and I am not yet. I would do anything to get into a regular math class. I know many kids who are in IPI.

WATER POLLUTION
I think you should write something about the water pollution in our area. Miles from the Rahway River and many other bodies of water in our area are badly polluted. People dump garbage in the Rahway River, which is filled with shopping carts, tin cans, tires and bottles. You sure many people feel the same way I do.

School bus safety

Three years ago a chartered bus of happy children from Long Island crashed near Allentown, Pa., killing seven of them and maiming many others. The bus was from New Jersey and was found negligent for allowing a bus to operate with bad tires and defective brakes and no working headlights.

The bus was from New Jersey and was found negligent for allowing a bus to operate with bad tires and defective brakes and no working headlights.

Many of the children were rescued by the chaperones, to see their "tires" disintegrate. Incredibly, the bus was managed to limp back to Springfield. Fortunately when the incident occurred, the bus was traveling at a low speed.

Dr. Donald Marchandich, a Regional Superintendent of schools, upon being apprised of the near tragedy, has undertaken a follow-up investigation into the maintenance of the Regional school buses.

The poem written so dramatically by the "local school spokesman" confirms the attitudes of Florence M. Gaudinier administration, namely, the humanities program is the greatest, must and will succeed, no matter what the statistics show. However, the parents are not dreaming, but rather they have been rudely awakened by the glaring deficiencies in the humanities program.

The detailed statement on the humanities program by Dr. Baruchin is a real shocker. It echoes completely the Gaudinier administration in that the program as now being taught is a mere waste of time and should not be questioned or criticized.

Not once did Dr. Baruchin acknowledge that there are substantial deficiencies in the program and that maybe there is need for improvement or reinforcement in the program. I sincerely hope Dr. Baruchin will enlighten us at the next Board of Education meeting as to how he did the job. He has no complaints directed at the program.

Young 'tomcat' travelers
an enigma to their elders

By JOHN SIMON
"I think I may drop out of college for one year," said a son. "Just spend it in Europe you know — just sorta prowling around."

That is the new thing for the 19 to 20 crowd. They travel in Europe. More than a million young people tomcatting it abroad every year. I don't know how they pull it off. When I was his age, just the farthest I ever traveled was to Roosevelt. That was 14 miles away from Secaucus.

(I didn't even consider going overseas until a year later when the government offered me a free tour of Korea.)

Now EVERYBODY is going abroad. That is because practically EVERYBODY is under 30. More than half the population of America. Not when I was under 18. Then everybody was old. Old and grouchy.

What does going searching for in far off parts of a globe mean, and I put it to a youth who had just returned.

He said: "I don't know, man. I just wanted to sort of find myself, you know."

No, I don't know. Anytime I want to find myself, I just go back in a mirror. Then I say: "How do they get around over there?"

How do they get around over there? They're busy hitchhiking. In Hawaii, to discourage the hordes of hippies who were heading to the islands, they passed a law against hitchhiking. Laid a big fine on anybody caught thumbing it. "No big deal, man," said enterprising youth. "I simply sit down with their packs directly under the "No Hitchhiking" signs. People go right on."

That's the idea. "That stuff about seeing Europe for 30 days is a crock. Man, I could see it in a couple of weeks if it's for that price."

How do they live cheaply? Play a little guitar. Accept all invitations to dinner. Learn to say "Any spare change?" in French, German and Italian.

Youth is wasted on young people, as the saying goes. When I was just out of short pants, I wrote a science-fiction story about a strange planet where people grow younger.

MATHEMATICAL GREETINGS are offered by Dr. Donald Merchnik, superintendent of schools of the Union County Regional High School District to the members of the Association of Mathematics Teachers of New Jersey who attended their recent annual meeting at the David Brearley Regional High School in Kenilworth.

Floods bring Rt. 22 mishap; 7 injured in traffic accidents

Heavy rains Sunday evening which resulted in the flooding of portions of Rt. 22 were cited by Springfield police as a factor in a highway accident which injured one motorist. The driver was among seven persons hurt in township crashes during the week. Police said the weekend accident occurred at 8:30 p.m. on the westbound side of Rt. 22 when a car driven by Leonard E. Bodies of Bethlehem, Pa., stalled in a flooded area near Hillside avenue. Bodies' car was struck in the rear by another westbound vehicle, operated by Beth A. Sullabarger of Westfield, police said.

Miss Sullabarger was taken to Overlook Hospital by the Springfield First Aid Squad suffering from abrasions on her head and lower jaw. Two motorists were reported hurt in a 1:35 a.m. collision March 29 at the intersection of Morris and Maple avenues, scene of numerous crashes. Police said Florian R. Para of Roselle told them he was driving east on Morris and "could never" see the red light which he hit a car operated by Louise C. Moore of Union, which was coming out of Maple avenue. Para was given a summons for passing a red light. Para suffered head, neck and chest injuries in the collision; Mrs. Moore had neck injuries. Both were taken to Overlook by the First Aid Squad.

Steven W. Poles of Union received head injuries in an accident which occurred at 8:30 a.m. March 29 at the intersection of South Springfield and Hillside avenues, police said. According to police, Poles had stopped at a red light when his car was struck in the rear by a motor operated by Stephen G. Higgins of Montclair. A two-car collision, which resulted in injuries to three persons, was reported at 7:30 p.m. March 27 on Mountain avenue at Shungite road. Police said one driver, Marcella Kordakski of 317 Hillside ave., Springfield, told them she was attempting a left turn off

Lions Club honors Regional's athletes

The Lions Club of Springfield was host last week to athletes of Jonabon, Dayton Regional High School. This is an annual event. The speaker was Thomas F. Dalton of Warren Township. He is the U.S. Olympic judo manager. Tom competed in high school college and in the Marines in five different sports. He was New Jersey wrestling champion and also state judo champion. On April 27, the "Lions Roar Again," the annual show of Broadway acts, will appear in the Dayton auditorium.

Water, fertile lands attracted early settlers to Springfield

This is the fourth of a series of articles prepared by the Springfield Environmental Commission. Springfield, field... The words bring visions of abundant water and rolling fields. This water and the fertile lands attracted the first settlers to Springfield. They needed water nearby because it had to be carried and the cold spring was the day's refrigerator. Springfield was also a good spot to carry on business. Located at the western edge of the coastal plain, it is at a natural gap in the Watchung Mountains. Through this gap runs the main road from Elizabeth to the Delaware Water Gap. Through this gap also runs the Highway River. The western branch of the Highway River goes through Millburn, the reservoir, the Oranges, out to Verona Park and beyond. In this area the river runs in a valley, just as the east branch does along Valley street to South Orange and beyond. Confined by the hills that are now covered with houses instead of trees, its first chance to spread is in Springfield, where the difference in elevation of the river banks and Town Hall is about nine feet. We all know what results after a heavy rain. The other main drain in Springfield is Bryant Brook which starts in Summit at the Summit road. This brook serves as drain for Summit's swimming pool parking lot and much of Rt. 78. When Rt. 78 is complete, two of the ponds and half of the lake in that area (the proposed Hidden Valley Park) will be filled in. The remainder of the lake and Bryant Brook will then be subject to the litter and sludge from this highway.

New post for Philippe

Robert L. Philippe of East Brunswick has joined Keyes, Martin & Company of Springfield, New Jersey's largest advertising agency, as a vice-president and account executive. He was formerly with Leisure Technology-North-East, Inc., Lakewood, where he served as director of marketing. Before that he served in the same capacity at Metafame Corporation in Maywood. He has also held marketing positions with Meenan Company, Doyle Dane Bernbach and Wilkinson Sward, Inc. At Keyes, Martin he will be responsible for servicing such accounts as DuPont, the Building Products Division of the Plinko Company and Madison Laboratories. Philippe received his B.A. degree in economics from Drexel College in Philadelphia in 1964. He studied advanced accounting at the NYU Graduate School of Business Administration. Mayor discusses day camp, rent board, town activities

Mayor William A. Russo this week released the third in a series of monthly reports to the people of Springfield on municipal activities. The text of his statement follows: The month of March is known as a new season with the coming of spring and overall change in our surroundings. This Township Committee is giving our town something new in the establishment of a day camp at our municipal pool. Campaign pledges made by the new Republican majority in the past two campaigns are now falling into place. The response to our Recreation Department's request for interest in a day camp at the pool has been overwhelming. We have introduced an ordinance to establish a day camp and it will become a reality starting the first week in July. We are happy with this response since it will overcome the sagging pool membership. Our budget is now passed and I am happy to say that the total increase has been held to 10 cents. It is evident that our Township Committee is endeavoring to hold the tax line. A prior meeting of our Rent Advisory Board has produced still further amicable relations between landlords and tenants. We are working very hard to give tenants positive representation in their dealings with their landlords. Two further amendments were added to the rent stabilization ordinance to insure the fair implementation of this law. The first amendment requires that the landlord give at least 30 days notice of an increase in rent, and the second amendment will have the landlord include a copy of our ordinance with notice of an increase and compliance with the same. It was my pleasure to be able to present championship awards to the winners in the Warren Township, the Fry and State leagues. Tom competed in high school college and in the Marines in five different sports. He was New Jersey wrestling champion and also state judo champion. On April 27, the "Lions Roar Again," the annual show of Broadway acts, will appear in the Dayton auditorium.

3 cars in lot list damage

Springfield police reported this week that three cars parked in the outside lot at J.M. Auto Sales on Rt. 22 were damaged over the weekend by thieves attempting to steal radios from the vehicles. Police said a $75 radio was taken from a sports car when the thief smashed the windshield to gain entry. The second vehicle had "severe" damage to a window, the interior and the auto's air conditioning system from an attempt to remove a $40 radio, police said. No entry was gained to the third car, they said, but vent windows were broken. According to police, J.M.A.S. has been the scene of numerous incidents of vandalism in the past, on nights and weekends.

FRIDAY DEADLINE: All items other than spot news should be in our office by noon on Friday.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

We all have a good many hang-ups, worries and problems in our daily lives. Too many of us, however, let these things get us down and make us feel uneasy. Budgets, bills, competitive society—we always seem to have one or the other on our minds. Sure, these things are important and we must give them thought, but perhaps our lack of faith forces us to concentrate on these problems of the material world even more. Too many times we forget that God has provided well for us in the past and that He will always take care of us. If we would only go to God more often with our troubles and our problems, we would find them easier to bear. And if we let God enter our hearts and minds, He will let us know what His will is for our lives. True, by bringing our troubles to God doesn't mean that tomorrow our budgets will balance—but we will be given a new perspective on our lives. That new perspective might help us to realize that we do not really need all the materialistic things we pursue.

SEW WHAT?

UNPAINTED FURNITURE

BUYING WISELY

Dear Larrie: I'm a perfume lover and I find it impossible to believe my eyes. Every evening when my friends and I walk to the bus stop near my office, there's this man who sells small bottles or atomizers of scents marked with initials, such as "A," "W," and many others. Are these little atomizers stand for famous name brands? Do you think I've been pasting up a good thing?

Dear Larrie: You have not been passing up a good thing. The Better Business Bureau is well aware of this racket. We often found that these products are name-brand perfumes such as Arpege, White Shoulders, Tabu, etc. The initials are sold at so-called "bargain" prices, about a dollar, but instead of getting anything remotely resembling a perfume, just water or cologne, chances are you're likely getting a little scented alcohol.

Dear Larrie: My father has finally seen the light. For many months he was visiting a man whom I'm sure was a quack. This man would charge my father $50 a visit and use this machine that he said would cure his arthritis condition. Well, after all this time, my father finally agrees with me in thinking this man is definitely not on the up and up. Thank goodness. My father is now seeing a doctor for his condition. Larrie, is there any way for people to spot a quack?

Track team to open defense of conference tomorrow

The Jonathan Dayton Regional track team, coached by Martin Taglienti, will open its season, including defense of the Suburban Conference championship, tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 at Clark. The Bulldogs will return home to face Linden Tuesday and Hillside April 13. The Bulldogs expect most of their competition to come from Summit and Millburn, both improved over last year. Coach Taglienti feels that the Bulldogs are greatly improved in the weights and the high jump but will have to work overtime to match last year's hurdlers, led by the non-graduate Paul Panarelli and Len Prather, and the pole vaulters, paced last year by Tony Bergman.

Margulies finishes varsity career with 2nd athletic letter

AMHERST, MASS. — David Margulies, a senior at Amherst College and son of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Margulies of 29 S. Derby rd., Springfield, N.J., was highly regarded in his second season as a member of Amherst's varsity basketball team. At the annual winter sports banquet, he received his second varsity A in basketball along with praise from his coach, Rick Wilson. This year the Lord Jeff eagles ended a dry spell in Amherst's basketball fortunes by recording their first winning campaign since the 1967-68 season. Coach Wilson's squad, his 25th at Amherst, finished their 1972-73 schedule with a 10-9 slate. Victories over highly regarded Springfield and Little Three rival Vermont were the highlights of the season. As a center, Margulies was the squad's leading rebounder and third highest scorer. He averaged 12.2 rebounds and 12.9 points per game. Coach Wilson reported that Margulies was a fine offensive and defensive performer for us this year. He will be sorely missed. In 1968, Margulies was the squad's leading rebounder and third highest scorer. He averaged 12.2 rebounds and 12.9 points per game. Ban on lead shot may be introduced

Russell A. Cookingham, director of the New Jersey Division of Fish, Game and Shellfisheries, who is chairman of the Atlantic Waterfowl Council, reports that the U.S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife is studying a ban on lead shot in waterfowl hunting. There is a possibility that lead shot may be banned nationwide by the time of the 1975 waterfowl hunting season, he said. The state of Maryland plans to ban lead shot during the 1973 season, he noted.

YM presents 4 states sponsor sportfish forum

Biologists of the New Jersey Division of Fish, Game and Shellfisheries will participate in the Sportfishing '73, Delaware, New Jersey Forum and Expo to be held in Convention Hall, Ocean City, Md., Saturday and Sunday. Sportfishing '73 is being sponsored by Delaware Advisory Council, National Marine Fisheries Service, Delaware Department of Natural Resources, Maryland Department of Natural Resources, and the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection. The two-day forum will feature panel discussions on "Sportfishing Today and Tomorrow," "How to Catch Saltwater Game Fish," "Sport Fishing and the Economy," "Do We Need a Saltwater Fishing License?" in addition to a fishing film festival and casting and fishing clinics. State and federal biologists will join expert anglers, charter boat captains, and nationally known outdoor writers to discuss the problems of managing saltwater sportfishing and the sport fish resources along the Atlantic Coast.

Summer completion seen for Big Bass Lake homes

The mild weather of late winter and early spring is proving a boon to people who are thinking of building a leisure home this year. Construction is off to an early start in areas like the Poconos in Pennsylvania, which means that builders will be able to make delivery this summer on homes ordered within the next few weeks.

FUN STRADDLES THE SEASONS at Big Bass Lake. Ski slopes run right past the windows of the new Recreation Center of the Pocono leisure home community—but it's summer inside for bathers in the heated swimming pool. The community is located at a Goldsboro, near the highest point in the Poconos. Prices for half-acre lots begin at $4,990.

'Seventh Heaven' will be a sell-out in next few weeks, official predicts

All good things must end, and something as good as Mutual Seven, a new community of 16 homes in the Westfield area, is no exception. The community is expected to be sold out in the next few weeks, according to an official prediction.

Wood says he expects the remaining 16 homes in the section to be sold in the next few weeks. "We'll be opening the next section soon and we'll be featuring our new 173 models. Undoubtedly, prices will be higher."

Graduate English enrollment widened at Rutgers Newark

An expansion of the graduate English program at Rutgers University in Newark will allow for an increased enrollment of 20 new students for the fall 1973 semester.

Dr. John G. Demaray, professor of English and program director, reports the program is now open to qualified applicants who wish to pursue part-time or full-time studies leading to the degree of master of arts and master of arts for teachers. Places also have been reserved for applicants desiring to take one or more graduate courses without working for a degree.

"Age and professional background are no barriers to admission," the professor declared. "Our programs are available to anyone who can meet our entrance requirements: Teachers, housewives, journalists, lawyers, persons in business, and public relations are recent college graduates. But we are offering quality graduate education in language and literature and desire students seeking the highest possible level of achievement."

The studies, he added, are centered upon critical and scholarly analysis of literary works in all periods of English and American literature.

The enlargement of the programs has been made possible, Dr. Demaray said, through the addition this year of two new professors to a Newark graduate English professional staff now numbering 12. The establishment this year of a teaching assistant program also contributed to the growth of graduate English studies.

Turnpike to open charter bus stop

The New Jersey Turnpike's Charter Bus Stop at Cranbury, offering relief for travel-weary excursionists, will begin its spring summer, around-the-clock schedule of operation on Saturday at 8 a.m.

The 16-acre facility, situated between Interchanges 1 (Highway 28) and 20 (Jamesburg-Cranbury) and accessible from both northbound and southbound lanes, can handle more than 100 buses at a time.

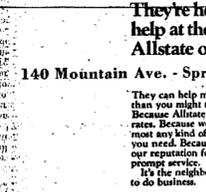

During 1972 more than 15,000 buses—better than 660,000 passengers—utilized the cafeteria, restrooms, public telephones, and other services available at the Charter Bus Stop. Buses are not permitted to use the 13 regular service areas on the Turnpike, due to limited facilities, without special permission from Robert F. Moynihan, Howard Johnson's director of Turnpike operations, Box 1284, Yardville, 08502; telephone: (609) 582-4101.

Association urges N.J. rent controls

The New Jersey Association of Office and Aging Directors and Administrators has called upon the New Jersey Legislature to take affirmative action in the creation of legislation which would establish rent controls in New Jersey which would be retroactive to those levels of Jan. 1.

Carl P. West, president of the association, stated that the resolution was prompted "by the tremendous number of letters and telephone calls received by association members from senior citizens complaining of exorbitant increases in rents since Nixon lifted the federal rent watch program."

Symposia in philosophy, modern art set at Drew

Among the one-week symposia being offered by Drew University, Madison, this summer is a colloquium devoted to modern art with an investigation of moral philosophy. Titled "Contemporary American Art: Paradox and Irony and 'Images and Concepts: Their Role in Interpretation' which determine the Quality of Human Life," they are offered in the first of two, one-week sessions of continuing adult education at the university. The series, which launches Drew's first summer effort of this kind, is under the general direction of Dr. John McCall, dean of special university programs and continuing education.

Scheduled for June 24-30, the art and philosophy symposia will be conducted by chairman and professor of art Lee Hall and professor of philosophy emeritus, Benjamin Kimpel.

A widely-known abstract painter in her own right, Professor Hall will examine the problems and delights of looking seriously at modern art. Highlighting the offering will be a tour of museums and galleries in New York, plus afternoon workshops on campus in printmaking, sculpture, figure drawing, and landscape.

Professor Hall is founder and director of the Drew University Art Semester, a program of study conducted each semester in the academic year and designed to give students from Drew and other colleges an opportunity for on-the-scene study in the museums, studios, and galleries of New York City. Also an innovator in the field of continuing adult education, she founded the Drew Artists Club. She encourages her students to learn through the first-hand experience of an "experience course" of skepticism, questioning, and scholarship.

Professor Kimpel, who retired recently after more than 20 years of teaching at Drew, is reported to have been one of the university's most charismatic teachers. He returns to lead a critical analysis in the summer program of moral and religious interpretations, focusing on the philosophies of Spinoza, Kant, Schopenhauer, and others as they are applicable to contemporary human experience. The author of five books on religion and moral philosophy, Professor Kimpel in 1972 returned full time to his classroom for a year of post-retirement teaching in response to the request of his students.

Admission to single lectures is $2. Programs are held at 7:30 p.m. in Room 121 of the Humanities Building.

Main speaker for the session will be Dr. James Scott, minister of the First Presbyterian Church in Newark. He is chairman of the Department of Education of Rutgers-Newark College of Arts and Sciences and holds a Ph.D. from Rutgers.

Bolshoi due at Center

The Garden State Arts Center this week announced that the Bolshoi Ballet will be the July 24-25-26 attraction, slated previously as the Russian Dance Guild.

Commissioner John B. Townsend said that the Bolshoi organization had confirmed that all artists in the engagement would be those that appear with the famed Bolshoi Company of Moscow.

Foundation names head

Dr. Bruce Tharp of Downers Park, formerly of Merriam, has been elected president of the Masterwork Music and Art Foundation of Merriam. Dr. Tharp, who joined the Masterwork Chorus in 1971 and was elected vice president of the Chorus in 1972.

He formerly was a member of the All-State Chorus of Pennsylvania. While a student at Penn State University, he was a member of the Pennsylvania State Glee Club and the Varsity Quartet. He has sung choral and solo work.

N.J. banks report increases in total resources last year

Total resources of New Jersey banks increased to $28.34 billion during 1972, according to statistics released by the New Jersey Department of Banking and the National Administrator of National Banks.

In commenting on these statistics, Robert C. Forrey, executive vice-president of the New Jersey Bankers Association, said, "This marks a steady rise of total resources of New Jersey banks from the $23.34 billion figure of Dec. 31, 1971, making an increase of more than 21.2 percent since that date."

The statistics also show an increase in total deposits from $20.7 billion to $22.8 billion during 1972, or 10.1 percent. In the same period the dollar value of outstanding loans held by New Jersey banks increased by $1.34 billion, over 13.5 percent.

Post offices offer parks 'passports' for senior citizens

Golden Age and Golden Eagle Passports now are obtained at post offices throughout the Newark Post Office District, postmaster-manager Joseph J. Benucci announced this week. These two passes are good for the year 1973 and entitle the bearer to entrance at designated federal parks and other areas operated by the U.S. Department of Interior's National Park Service as a special service to campers and other outdoor enthusiasts.

The Golden Age Passports are free to anyone 62 years of age or older, who appears in person with proof of age. The passport also covers entrance fees for all persons who accompany the bearer in a single non-commercial vehicle, automobile, camper, etc. The holder of a Golden Age pass also receives a 20 percent discount on all fees charged at government special recreation facilities under the Federal Bureau of Land Management, Tennessee Valley Authority, the National Park Service, and other national outdoor retreats across the country.

Benucci said his office, stations and branches also will issue Golden Eagle Passports at a cost of $10 each. These passes cover National Park System entrance fees at designated areas for the purchaser and all persons with him in a non-commercial vehicle used for private recreation purposes.

Regional school board appoints five to posts at Brearley, Gov. Livingston

The Union County Regional High School Board of Education last week announced the appointment of five teachers to fill posts in the area schools beginning in September.

Named health teacher at David Brearley Regional High School, Redbank, was Nancy L. Mumford of 878 Bardonia Ave., Mountaintide, formerly of Springfield, Miss Mumford, a 1966 graduate of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, received a B.S. degree from Springfield College in 1970. She is now completing studies for a master's degree at Ithaca College.

Town seeks drainage bids for project on Bryant Brook

The Township Committee Tuesday night authorized the acceptance of bids on May 8 for the control work along the east and west branches of Bryant Brook, to provide a major measure of relief along an often-flooded strip extending from Rt. 78 Lyons place to the vicinity of Town Hall.

With some 30 citizens in attendance at Town Hall, the governing body also voted final approval for a day camp this summer at the Municipal Swimming Pool. The camp will serve children aged 5 to 10, with parents who are members of the pool.

The Bryant Brook resolution was introduced by Chairman Edward Sileo Jr., who said that by the May 8 date for receiving bids the town should have obtained easements on all property needed for the project or will have initiated condemnation proceedings for the necessary right of way.

1. Digging along Argel avenue, running along the Highway River from Washington avenue, the parcel of private property is being acquired for the town. The work will be in conjunction with the Union County Park Commission.

2. Widening and dredging of Van Winkle's Creek, near Mountain ave., in cooperation with the Regional High School Board of Education. This should also ease flooding in the Town Hall area.

3. Construction of a storm sewer in the Brown avenue Commerce street industrial area. This was also authorized at Tuesday's meeting.

4. Improved drainage along Mountain avenue north of the Edward Walton School. The mayor stated that the township is going ahead with four other flood control projects, in addition to Bryant Brook.

5. Flooding in Springfield is a bad problem, and it is getting worse. This Township Committee will do everything we can to help.

Waterman noted that a camp director should be named at the April 24 meeting and that he will immediately start on detailed written advance notice of any proposed rent increases and to inform tenants of the rules of the local Rent Leveling Board.

Another measure was introduced to abolish the old Tenants' Landlord Committee, now made superfluous by the Rent Leveling Board. Sileo said that the committee had wanted to act until after the committee had voted to act on decision upholding the legality of the latter group.

MAYOR WILLIAM A. RUOCCO also reviewed an overall flood control program. He said that the Water Policy Commission is expected to vote April 23 on the Highway River area and the Van Winkle's Creek project.

Ruoocco added that the Army Corps of Engineers has presented a new set of Highway River plans, including flood recreation areas, to the Park Commission. He expressed the hope that the Engineers could submit their interim report to Congress before the fiscal year ends in June, and then obtain funds for the final report.

The mayor stated, "Flooding in Springfield is a bad problem, and it is getting worse. This Township Committee will do everything we can to help."

SEVERAL CAMP members of the subject of several questions from the flood by Ed Hall and Henry S. Wright. Committee member Robert Wasserman, who is recreation commissioner, explained that the camp will be limited to children of pool members, so that the town will not incur added expense at least until the pool is fully paid for. He said, "We hope that the day camp will never be a burden on the taxpayers."

Meeting postponed. The monthly meeting of the Springfield Board of Education scheduled for next Monday has been postponed to avoid conflict with the Jewish holiday of Passover. It will be held the following Monday, April 23, at 8 p.m. at the Florence Gaudinier School.

Regional teachers elect new officers. The Union County Regional High School District Education Association recently held its election of officers for the 1973 term. Dennis Fox of Jonathan Dayton High School, Springfield, being named president.

Freeholders will meet in Springfield tonight. The April meeting of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders will be held this evening at 8 in the Springfield Municipal Building.
