"NOT EVERY . . . PRACTITIONER"

Not every real estate practitioner is a Realtor. Only those accepted for membership by your local real estate board or as individuals and by the National Association of Real Estate Boards are Realtors and may use the term which is registered in the U.S. Patent Office.

PLEDGES FOR THE PUBLIC

- 1. Learn all pertinent facts about the property for which he accepts the agency. 2. Protect the public against fraud, misrepresentation, or unethical practices in the real estate field. 3. Be well informed on current market conditions and be in a position to advise his clients as to fair worth in the existing market. 4. Endeavor always to be informed regarding the laws, regulations, public orders, and essential facts and public policies which affect the interests placed in his hands by the public.

GRAVE SOCIAL OBLIGATIONS

Beyond the obligations of his everyday business, the Realtor recognizes the grave social responsibilities which are his because of his particular calling. This understanding he has set forth in the preamble to his code of ethics.

Whether You Sell or Buy . . . Use The Services of a REALTOR.

REALTOR'S PLEDGE

Perhaps the best summary of the high ideals which the Realtor embraces is contained in his Realtor's Pledge:

I AM A REALTOR

I Pledge Myself

- To protect the individual right of real estate ownership and to widen the opportunity to enjoy it; To be honorable and honest in all dealings; To seek better to represent my clients by building my knowledge and competence; To act fairly towards all in the spirit of the Golden Rule; To serve well my community, and through it my country; To observe the Realtor's Code of Ethics and conform my conduct to its lofty ideals.

Therefore it's wise to do your real estate business through a Realtor

Campanella named by Union College to board of trustees

The appointment of Anton J. Campanella of Pennington, formerly of Springfield, to the board of trustees of Union College in Vermont was announced this week by Edward Aborn, chairman.

ANTON J. CAMPANELLA

Jersey Bell Telephone Company, serving the downstate territory. He has been active in various community and civic assignments throughout New Jersey and is a former member of the Springfield Board of Education.

The appointment of Campanella brings the membership of Union College's board of trustees to 28.

"His years of experience in industry along with his unique concern for higher education make Campanella a dynamic addition to the board of trustees of Union College," the chairman stated.

Campanella joined the staff of New Jersey Bell as a traffic assistant in 1956 after graduating from Upsala College. In 1962 he accepted a brief assignment with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in New York, returning to New Jersey Bell in 1963.

Following several assignments in the company's traffic and marketing departments, Campanella became general manager of the Hartford area in 1970. He was appointed to his present position last November.

A veteran of the Army, Mr. Campanella served as a first lieutenant and company commander during the Korean conflict. He has served as fund chairman and board member of the Springfield Chapter of the American Red Cross and as a trustee and member of the executive committee of the Garden State Ballet Company.

Campanella is a member of the Two Hundred Club of Union College, the Nassau Club of Princeton and the Scarborough Golf Club of Union. He and his wife Sally are the parents of three sons, Joel, Bruce and Brian.

Miss Lombardi will preach Sunday at Emanuel Methodist

Miss Lombardi, a member of the United Methodist Church and a member of Springfield Emanuel Church, will preach Sunday at Emanuel Methodist Church at Academy Green, will speak at the 9:30 a.m. chapel service and 11 a.m. morning worship this Sunday in the absence of the Rev. James Dewart, pastor. Miss Lombardi will entice her sermon for both services "And Peter," based on Matthew 16:18. She will be assisted by Albert Heller, Jr., at the second service.

Having taught for 40 years in Newark public schools, and been active in the spiritual life programs of Methodist women's groups, Miss Lombardi has had considerable experience in preaching in the local church, as chairman of the historical records, spiritual life secretary of the Women's Mission Circle and United Methodist Women and as a member of the administrative board.

Church School will meet Sunday at 9:30 a.m. with nursery through sixth grade in Wesley House. The German language worship service will be conducted at the same hour by Theodore Reimold, speaker. Youth Fellowship will meet at 6:30 p.m.

A human relations workshop will be held from 7 to 8 p.m. Sunday evening under the sponsorship of the Council on Ministries, started by leaders of the board of social concern of the Northern New Jersey Annual Conference. Directed at the issue of prejudice, the evening will center about the film "Cody" (film: "Black History," by Lee, "Stole, Or Strayed").

Members of the Methodist church will observe in the ecumenical evening for Israel's 25th anniversary celebration to be held at Emanuel Methodist Church on Monday at 8 p.m. Dr. Eva Flischer, associate professor of religion at the Theological School, a Roman Catholic priest, will be the featured speaker. The program will be moderated by the Rev. James Dewart, Methodist pastor, at the following address by Dr. Flischer:

For the second successive year the race will include a limited class for special craft such as kayaks, and as has been customary in recent years, an additional class will be entered by neighboring districts planning to adopt the Colonial District's yearly event in their program.

More than 100 canoeists are expected to compete in the seventh annual "great canoe race" this Saturday, it was announced by the race chairman, Richard F. Ames of Scotch Plains Township. The event is open to entrants from all sections of the State, including Scotch Plains, Garwood, Mountaineer and Westfield.

Starting at the "Riegel" Village Mill at Hightstown, the race will finish 21 miles downstream at Ball's Island, River Grove. The two-man teams will push off in waves and race against time in three age groups: 12-13, 14-15 and 16-17. Each canoeist will wear a life jacket and will have met the minimum requirement for first class scout. Each entry will have a timed lunch stop at the halfway point.

St. Rose pupils rising high Kids pump up for balloon launch

Looking skyward on May 17, local residents will see unfamiliar bursts of color as thousands of helium-filled balloons are launched by the children of St. Rose of Lima School, Short Hills.

The balloons, tagged with name of donor and student representative, in addition to the name and address of the school, will rise for the landing point farthest from the school. The attached ticket will instruct the finder to return it by mail no later than June 7. The students will canvass their neighborhoods from April 30 through May 14 seeking donations for the 50-cent balloons.

The balloon soaring the greatest distance will win $15 and 100 merchandise certificates for the subscriber and student, respectively. Second place prize winners will merit certificates of $10 and $7. Third place winners will be awarded $5 and $3 certificates. Prizes will also be awarded to the individual student and the greatest number of balloon subscribers, as well as to the class having done the same.

Local children have been invited to attend during the day as each class releases its balloons. The balloons will be released at 2:30 p.m. when the sales-winning class will assemble and launch balloons in the presence of the entire school, camera-laden parents and friends.

The May 17 festivities will be held rain or shine.

McDonough calls primary challenge healthy for voters

Assemblyman Peter J. McDonough, the Republican organization's choice for State Senator in the primary election, called this week for a "healthy" primary election challenge by Sen. Jerome Epstein. McDonough had urged Epstein to end the "frustration with the Democratic Party" and make the GOP challenge.

"I believe it is healthy for Republican voters to have a choice in the primary and I welcome the challenge," McDonough said. "These are the people closest to the grass-roots Republican voters and it is flattering to have the Jersey Central and my ability to help my constituents who have special problems. My opponent has said his campaign would be to get the GOP out of the State Senate."

McDonough said he was flattered by reports he had received the support of all but one Republican primary challenger when the GOP party committee met last week. "These are the people closest to the grass-roots Republican voters and it is flattering to have the Jersey Central and my ability to help my constituents who have special problems. My opponent has said his campaign would be to get the GOP out of the State Senate."

State acts to meet water supply needs in the years ahead

The state Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) is intensifying its efforts to develop a plan to meet future water supply needs in New Jersey with particular emphasis on the densely populated northern part of the state.

A first step was taken recently with the organization of a Northeastern New Jersey Water Study Advisory Committee consisting of representatives of the major water purveyors of the area, public and private.

Both Sullivan and Pike explained the need for an expanded state role in the planning which would take into account present water supplies, the development of reservoirs and water supplies and the need for support and cooperation of the management of the major water purveyors in integrating regional transmission, interconnection and transfer of water among systems in the area.

Benefits interests in reservoir sites Pike noted that the state involvement in water supply to date has been primarily restricted to regulation and control, assuring an equitable distribution of water resources statewide.

AAAcites 'cost, chaos, confusion' in emission test

The New Jersey AAA said this week that "Chaos, confusion and costly repairs" will result if the mandatory emission control check is incorporated into the state's motor vehicle inspection on July 1.

Frank J. Quinn, state chairman of the AAA Automobile Club of New Jersey, called for at least a six-month moratorium on the proposed pollution test "until the New Jersey motorist is guaranteed that competent and equitable repair services are commercially available in the event his auto should fail the test."

He emphasized that the AAA is calling for a moratorium, not a cancellation. "We have always supported the idea that air-borne pollutants caused by motor vehicles should be monitored and subject to control in an effort to conserve and enhance our environment."

The New Jersey AAA commended State Sen. James H. Walkow for taking the lead in supporting the mandatory emission test until it can be successfully and fairly implemented. Sen. Walkow is the prime sponsor of Senate Bill 224, which was passed by the Senate on April 16 by a 24-8 margin. The bill will delay the mandatory compliance with air pollution standards for autos in New Jersey from July 1, 1973, until Feb. 1, 1974. "The New Jersey AAA urges the Assembly to take the same prompt action on this bill," said Quinn.

Dr. Grossman to speak about Tay-Sachs disease tomorrow

Dr. Philip Grossman of the New Jersey Medical School, guest speaker at Temple Sha'aray Shalom, Springfield, tomorrow evening, will present a two-part program consisting of an in-depth discussion of Tay-Sachs disease, an illness that strikes Jewish children almost exclusively, and a review of the voluntary screening and testing program that is being planned for Springfield.

As announced last week, Springfield has been designated as the New Jersey pilot project for a Tay-Sachs screening program that will take place on Oct. 28. Consisting of what is described as a relatively painless and easy-to-do procedure, the testing will be conducted in Springfield by a team of physicians from the New Jersey Medical School. The program is being run in cooperation with the local three synagogues—Sha'aray Shalom, Beth Ahm and Yung Yung.

Dr. Grossman, a New Jersey resident and graduate of Irvington High School, Brandeis University and the New Jersey Medical School, has been deeply involved in Tay-Sachs preventive activities following the chance discovery that a close relative was a carrier of the disease. Tay-Sachs, an inherited degenerative disease, is the result of an enzyme deficiency which destroys the central nervous system, causing blindness, mental retardation and death by five years of age.

According to Dr. Grossman, recent medical breakthroughs have made it possible to detect carriers of the defective gene through the use of a simple blood test. Through counseling and monitored pregnancies, it is now possible for high-risk couples to have as many healthy children as they desire without the threat of bearing a Tay-Sachs baby.

Two new public TV stations to open with talent show from Arts Center

The Garden State Arts Center's teenage 1973 Talent Expo "Showcase of Stars" will be the first statewide television program by the New Jersey Public Broadcasting Authority.

STRICTLY PERSONAL

Dear Pat and Marilyn: The problem is that I am tired of being embarrassed by some people, but I am 15 years old and live with my parents. They have always been good to me and more than fair in light, they are perhaps too lenient at times. However, we have a good relationship except for one thing: I smoke marijuana. Some of my friends also smoke and they will do this when my friends are present.

Dear Flower Child: You do have a difficult and unusual problem. Why not talk to a third party and ask their help? This could be a close relative, a clergyman, or a doctor. Perhaps this person could at least help you with the problem.

Dear Judith: If you follow a few simple rules, you'll soon be "sitting pretty." A lady never frowns, smiles, and enters into a chair. She sits tall with feet on the floor. As you approach a chair, the back of your legs should touch the chair. As you sit, your feet should be pulled back, keeping them together. You can place your feet slightly ahead of the other.

A few things to avoid: pulling skirts tightly, your derriere before sitting down, crossing legs in short skirts, sitting on end of spine with legs stretched out, tossing legs over arm of chair even though wearing a coat.

Confidential to Worried: If this young girl is a respectable person, continue to see him. Perhaps your friends are jealous. Suggest to them that each person be allowed to select his or her own friends.

Coeds plan lib festival: A "women's festival" featuring a feminist writer, gynecological self-help clinic and a film, a play and a dance program will be held Saturday at the Robeson Campus Center, 350 High St., on the Rutgers Newark Campus.

Seton symposium on discord includes Father Berrigan

A symposium with Rev. Daniel Berrigan, editor, priest, author and poet, as one of the participants will be the concluding session Monday of the Ecumenical Studies Institute now being conducted at Seton Hall University, South Orange.

The issue for the symposium, which is open to the public free of charge at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Center, is "What is required to bring reconciliation to our society?"

Miche, co-founder and first director of the Association for "International" Development, which trains Catholic young men as missionaries to foreign lands, is also president of the newly formed World Education Association.

Dr. Fyrmire said June 2 will be an "historic day for communications in New Jersey and it is appropriate that the first television program puts the talented young people of New Jersey on display for everyone to see."

With all four of our UHF TV stations in operation (Channel 52 in Trenton and Channel 23 in South Jersey are on the air now) New Jerseyans will have a place to turn for television coverage of New Jersey news, sports, entertainment and cultural events.

Hospitals in state propose five-point health care plan

A five-point health care program to serve the state's seven million residents has been presented to members of the New Jersey Legislature.

New Jersey Hospital Association (NJHA)—representing 144 health care institutions statewide—prepared the package as part of its continuing effort to assist Governor William T. Cahill in meeting his pledge to provide all citizens with "the best health care possible."

"Our proposals can be met through a cooperative relationship between the community, our elected representatives, and the state's health care industry," said Jack W. Owen, president of NJHA.

The Association recommended the following: —State subsidization of the costs of training future physicians and surgeons.

—Providing the patient with an adequate supply of safe blood.

—Protecting the moral and religious rights of the hospital employee.

—Closing the gap in emergency medical care.

—Providing hospitals with the financial security to offer the best health care now available.

"We urge our communities, legislators, and health care professionals work together towards these five goals," Owen concluded.

Astronomy course offered youngsters

A four-session astronomy course for youngsters in grades five through eight is being offered this spring by the New Jersey State Museum Planetarium.

The course, titled "The Sky for All Seasons," is a tuition-free course scheduled for 10:30 a.m. on four consecutive Saturdays, beginning May 18.

Topics to be covered include constellations visible from pole to pole during the four seasons, deep sky sights as viewed through large telescopes and an explanation of sun, moon and planetary movements.

Advance reservation is necessary, and enrollment is limited to 40 in a first come, first served basis.

Application forms may be obtained by writing to the New Jersey State Museum Planetarium, 200 W. State St., Trenton, 08633, or by telephoning (609) 392-6333.

Sacred art exhibit to be held at college

An extensive exhibit of sacred art centered around the theme of the Madonna will be open for public viewing throughout May at the College of Saint Elizabeth, Convent Station.

The collection was recently presented to the college by a Long Island couple, Mr. and Mrs. John St. George of Little Neck, who had spent over 20 years in the acquisition of the various objects from several continents.

Grow vegetables for fun

Can you really hope to save money on your food bill by growing your own vegetables? Or as Dr. William Driessner, vegetable specialist at Rutgers-Camden, says:

"If you have to go out and buy tools, fertilizer, seed, and water, you're not saving time or money. The time is worth anything from seed planting to harvest, then you may find it's cheaper to buy your vegetables."

On the other hand, you can make vegetable gardening fun and relaxing without even considering your hourly wage.

50th anniversary class to be honored by NYU

The class of 1923, New York University, will hold a special reunion in conjunction with the annual Commencement Dinner Wednesday, May 2, at the New York Hilton.

The program will also include the presentation of the 1973 Merit Awards and a report from the dean of the College of Business and Public Administration, Abraham L. Glusac.

Of the 800 graduating members of the class of '23, only 300 are still in contact with the Alumni Federation.

The remaining members can be reached through the college, the Federation and other institutions.

Starting this June, the Program for Administrators (PPA) will offer a full- and part-time curriculum in personnel administration, communications, program planning, finance and endowment management and information processing.

Beyond the formal course content, independent study, specialized research and an appropriate internship program will be an integral part of the PPA.

The overall requirement for the master of arts degree in the Program for Administrators will be the successful completion of 36 credit hours of study.

EARTHBOUND

I thought it might be timely to address attention to the topic of air pollution, which has become so prominent a part of our surroundings as a result of the technological developments of the last 50 years.

For example, carbon monoxide at levels frequently found in heavy traffic, produces headaches, loss of visual acuity and decreased muscular coordination.

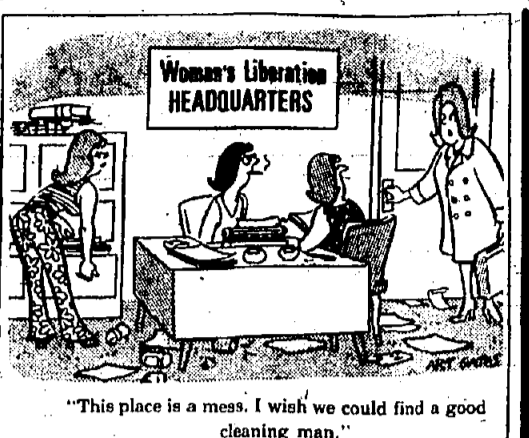

Finally, air pollutants, we must remember, are composed of some particulate matter. This particulate matter is not harmless, but has been shown to contribute to many respiratory ailments.

Minogue delegate from Union County to cardiac seminar

Dr. William Minogue, director of medical education at Overlook Hospital, Summit, will represent Union County at a national conference on cardiac care for health care workers, sponsored by the American Heart Association and the National Heart Research Council, which will be held May 16 at the National Academy of Sciences in Washington. Six hundred invited representatives of national health agencies and other organizations are expected to attend.

The program will include a review of cardiovascular resuscitation, for which the American Heart Association developed the Standards, 1968. CPR is one phase of emergency cardiac care, a total system to assist a person whose life is threatened by an emergency.

Specialists in the emergency medical field will meet prior to the main session to hear some 20 position papers that present new data on CPR and ECC. The groups will develop recommendations to be presented and discussed at the main session.

Among the participating organizations are: American Medical Association, American College of Cardiology, American Society of Anesthesiologists, American Association of Orthopedic Surgeons, American College of Emergency Physicians, American College of Chest Physicians, American College of Surgeons, Society of Thoracic Surgeons, Health Services and Mental Health Administration, National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, National American Red Cross and the American College of Physicians.

Archer S. Gordon, M.D., chairman of the American Heart Association committee on CPR and ECC, will be conference chairman.

Tutoring program a hit Praised by students, parents

Whether in kindergarten or college, Union County young people are finding valuable help in a tutoring service recently established at Union College under the direction of the Financial Aid Office.

"Almost 100 percent satisfaction" is the way Mrs. Betty Ehrigot of Mount Pleasant, director of the tutoring program, describes the operation of the tutorial service. "Youngsters receive special attention they need with their subjects are doing better in school and their parents are pleased. The program is a success," Mrs. Ehrigot said.

Persons wishing more information about the tutorial service at Union College are welcome to contact Mrs. Ehrigot any time during the day.

Originally organized informally as an in-house service for Union College students, the tutorial project was expanded after repeated requests for help from parents in the surrounding area. Mrs. Ehrigot formalized application procedures and set up high standards for the tutors in the program.

Comprising the staff of the tutorial service are faculty members at Union College and college students. The faculty members teach subjects related to their own fields and the students may teach courses they have passed and have received their instructor's recommendation in as well.

Several Union College alumni are also on the planning staff, Mrs. Ehrigot said. The alumni are planning to become teachers and their current four-year colleges have agreed to credit the experience as part of the student's practice teaching means of insuring satisfaction, the individual requesting help is recommended three different tutors from the Hill, Division of Special Services and Continuing Education. "So he works best with," Mrs. Ehrigot stated.

Richner in concert at Union College

Muscle by Bach, Mozart, Chopin and Debussy and an original composition of his own will be played by Dr. Thomas Richner at a concert on Friday, May 4, at 8:30 p.m. at Union College, Cranford. The concert is sponsored by the Friends of the College of Union College.

The concert will mark Dr. Richner's seventh annual performance for the Friends of the College, according to Mrs. Bedford H. Lyon, chairman.

Dr. Richner, an associate professor of music at Douglass College, has presented concerts throughout the U.S., Europe and Asia. He has been critically acclaimed for his taste and sensitivity and is considered to be among the world's greatest interpreters of the works of Mozart.

UC names new buildings on the Cranford campus

The new 14.5 million library-classroom complex located on Union College's Cranford campus has been designated the Library and Humanities Buildings. It was announced this week by Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, president.

The designations, Dr. Iversen explained, will be used in all future announcements, correspondence and interoffice memoranda.

The three-story, 52,000 square-foot Library is practically completed and the move from the library in the Nomanberg Building has been completed, Dr. Iversen said. The new Library contains seating for 450 students and space for 100,000 volumes.

The Library contains an art gallery, a special collections room for materials on Union County, a Board meeting room, two seminar rooms, and an audio center.

The 24,000 square-foot Humanities Buildings is expected to be ready for the opening of Union College's Summer Session in June. The building contains 17 classrooms, two lecture halls, faculty offices, seminar rooms, and other facilities.

Both the Library and Humanities Buildings are entirely air-conditioned and electrically heated.

The Library and Humanities Buildings complete phases II and III of the master plan. Planning for phase IV, expansion of the Campus Center, is now under way.

Book Fair planned May 4, 5 at NSC

The New Jersey Association for Retarded Children will sponsor a Book Fair Friday, May 4, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and Saturday, May 5, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Downs Hall, Newark State College in Union.

Books on special education will be supplied by the Book Review, Echo Shopping Plaza, Route 22, Springfield. A variety of books will be offered at a discount. Some topics covered will be learning disabilities, reading retardation, cerebral palsy, dyslexia, activity books for parents and teachers, family adjustments to handicapped and primary grade children's books.

On Friday a conference will be sponsored by the Special Education Department, Newark State College. All interested parents, professionals and friends are invited to attend. There is no admission charge.

Workshop planned on small business

How to Start and Manage a Small Business of Your Own will be the subject of a one-day workshop to be conducted at Union College, Cranford, on Friday, May 18. It was announced this week by Dr. Frank Diez, dean of educational services.

The workshop will be conducted by members of the U.S. Small Business Administration. Topics to be covered include organizing your own business, financial requirements, sources of funds, business regulations, record keeping and common pitfalls to avoid. Each session will be led by an SBA specialist or member of SCORE. (Service Corps of Retired Executives).

The workshop will run from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and is open to the public at no charge. As a condition of attendance, participants must bring coffee and lunch will be available at $2.50 per person. Lunch reservations may be made by contacting Mrs. Ruth Hill, Division of Special Services and Continuing Education, Union College, 226-2606, ext. 229.

AIRLINE TICKET COSTS - short trips, but we're talking about flights for all the 200 million passengers who'll fly U.S. scheduled airlines this year.

First thing to be said is that they stretch farther than they do for almost anything else you buy these days. Over the past 10 years cost of living index has gone up 25 percent. But the air fare index, as measured by yield to airlines, has actually gone down 3 percent. Many individual fares have risen, of course, especially those for

The largest single item of expense in employment costs, 39 percent of the price of an airline ticket covers these costs. Newer engines, depreciation and amortization of aircraft and equipment, talking 13 percent of ticket price. Fuel and oil accounts for 19 percent, taxes and other expenses take 9 1/2 percent. Materials, supplies and maintenance cost 7 1/2 percent of the ticket price. Sales commissions and advertising expenses account for 1 percent. The final 1 1/2 percent of your airline ticket cost goes for communications and utilities.

FRIEND PALS - Seventh graders at Springfield's Florence Goudinier School prepare Mother's Day cards for members of the Senior Citizens organization as part of a continuing

Friendship bridges generation gap Pupils continue projects with senior citizens

Youngsters at the Florence Goudinier School this year have been continuing their joint projects with the Springfield Senior Citizens organization, designed to span the generation gap, to brighten the lives of the elderly and to provide the boys and girls with contacts with another age group too often lost in today's mobile society.

Some highlights on the response their efforts have met are provided by a letter sent by Ellen B. Carmichael, founder of the Senior Citizens organization, to Paul Kiesel, who has served as liaison person on the project for the seventh graders:

"How nice hearing from you. The Senior Citizens have enjoyed the friendship of your youngsters very much.

"The Valentine and birthday greetings are really a very bright spot in our day. You know Paul, many of the Senior Citizens live alone. Some of our children have moved away, that seems to be the trend in the business world of today. And others are alone, for changes that come in later life have occurred. Friendship is a very wonderful and valuable thing.

"The times the Seniors have visited Goudinier School, by invitation, have been happy for us. We were escorted down the hallways and entertained and hosted by groups of students. I am sure you all enjoyed us as much as we enjoyed you."

Festive weekend to celebrate 25 years of Israeli statehood

Dr. Leonard Shulovits, general chairman of the joint Springfield weekend celebration honoring the 25th anniversary of the state of Israel, this week announced the completion of all plans for the festive which will be held tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday.

Dr. Shulovits declared that this is the first time the entire Jewish community of Springfield has joined together in a celebration. The organizations involved in sponsoring the weekend are:

Temple Beth Ahm, Temple Sha'arey Shalom, Young Israel Synagogue, Sisterhood of Beth Ahm, Sisterhood of Sha'arey Shalom, Sisterhood of Young Israel, Brotherhood of Sha'arey Shalom, Men's Club of Beth Ahm, IJSS of Beth Ahm, IJSS of Sha'arey Shalom.

The events for the weekend include the first joint Friday evening Sabbath services of all three synagogues tomorrow at Beth Ahm, 1000 N. 1st St., 8 p.m. Rabbi Israel E. Turner of Young Israel, Rabbi Howard Shapiro of Sha'arey Shalom and Rabbi Nathan S. Levin of Beth Ahm will conduct the night.

"The Great Thaw" describes the burst of physical and intellectual energy that swept Europe in the 1920s. Kenneth Clark, writer and narrator of the film, focuses on Charles Caudwell as "the epitome of the first generation of European civilization." It includes many shots of the famed Chartres stained glass windows.

"The Frozen World," first in the "Civilization" series, was shown last week at the library. It deals with the aftermath of the collapse of the Roman Empire and the beginnings of a new era of civilization in Charlemagne's small North-western installment, "Renaissance and Reality" covers the 1000 year period, the 18th and 19th centuries.

Two copies of the book, "Civilization," by the film's author are in the library. They include the script, and many of the color photographs seen in the film. "We hope to complement this fine film series by making the books available to our patrons," said Helen Fyfe, library director. The book may be borrowed for a week.

Library will show 'The Great Thaw,' part of film series

"The Great Thaw" second in the 13-part "Civilization" film series, will be shown in the Springfield Public Library meeting room today at 7 p.m. and 8 p.m.

Sponsored by the Friends of the Springfield Public Library, the series is free to the public. The two showings have been arranged to allow people who prefer daytime events to see the film, as well as those who can attend only at night.

Labor ills, faculty degrees key topics for high schools

Labor ills, faculty degrees key topics for high schools

A dispute over qualifications of new teachers and disclosure of a building trades strike which could delay the current capital expansion program shared top billing at the Regional High School District Board of Education meeting Tuesday night at A. L. Johnson High School, Clark. About 50 people attended the meeting, most of them teenagers from Clark and from Gov. Livingston High School in Berkeley Heights.

Many of the youngsters were there to appeal for extra pay for Albert Doherty, vocal music teacher at Gov. Livingston, in view of what students and parents termed outstanding contributions, and to call for organization of a girls' varsity gymnastics team at Johnson.

Manual bios, buildings and grounds chairman, broke the news of the construction union trouble when he announced that the expansion programs at four high schools "are right on schedule" up to today. He added that strikes had just been voted by the plumbers, carpenters and pipefitters.

Doherty stated, "All we can do right now is just keep working. We are not going to let anything official be questioned except our own whether the strike would be long or short."

THE CONTROVERSY over teacher qualifications arose when the board was asked to approve the hiring of two teachers for next year, both 1972 college graduates with bachelor's degrees.

Sonya Dorsey of Springfield expressed strong objections, declaring that the board should seek more candidates with master's degrees in their specialties. Citing the difference between the number of hours required in a major field for a bachelor's and a master's degree at Newark State College, she called for teachers with "more thorough grounding in the subjects they will teach."

Charles Bauman, the district's director of personnel, noted that both appointments are to fill temporary vacancies — one to replace a teacher going on maternity leave and one for a staff member on sabbatical. He added, "We may keep these two in the district if they do a good job."

BAUMAN STRESSED that the district encourages and assists teachers to seek graduate training, "and we try to hire a mixed group" with bachelor's and master's degrees. He added that the Regional staff now has 42 percent of its teachers with master's degrees or more training and that "unless board policy requires a master's degree we will continue hiring a mixed group."

Sonya Dorsey declared, "If there were really a mixed group, I would not feel this way, but there is no other way to protest hiring so many inexperienced teachers just out of college. And I am worried for the students who will be taught by teachers hired for just one year."

The 42 percent figure for master's degrees in the district would not feel this way, but there is no other way to protest hiring so many inexperienced teachers just out of college. And I am worried for the students who will be taught by teachers hired for just one year.

Alert neighbors can foil break-in

Springfield Police Chief George E. Parsell, noting that this is the time of year when break-ins and entries usually increase, urged township residents to contact police "if they see anything unusual in their neighborhoods."

Parsell asked that residents not hesitate to call police if they notice strange cars or suspicious persons in the area. "If you see anything unusual in the area, no matter how trivial it may seem."

Parsell said there is usually an increase in these crimes at this time of year because people are more apt to be away from their homes for longer periods of time, on vacations or taking long weekends. Residents who plan to leave their homes vacant are asked to notify police of this fact.

"We would like the public's cooperation wherever possible," he concluded.

79 calls answered by Aid Squad in March

The Springfield First Aid Squad answered a total of 79 calls for assistance during March. Of these, 48 were emergencies, and oxygen was used 10 times. The ambulances rolled a total of 64 miles in service and squad volunteers put in a total of 302.46 hours.

Anyone interested in becoming a member of the First Aid Squad was urged to contact Herbert Simpson, 376-2994, or Ruth Forst, 376-8171.
