THE NOVEMBER CANDIDATES Mary C. Kanane

It happens occasionally. Mary C. Kanane's telephone rings, either at her office in the Union County courthouse in Elizabeth or at her home in Union Township, and a caller asks: "Can I see John Doe's will?"

"No, he hasn't died yet," she replies. "When Miss Kanane, the Union County surrogate, can give the help that someone asks for."

Now running for her third five-year term, Miss Kanane, a Republican, has the answers to most other questions at her fingertips. And she gives them out not only at the courthouse during regular office hours, but at her home and at law separate offices during evening hours.

She has gotten calls from California; a man therephoned her after his mother died in Union County, telling her he was coming for the funeral but couldn't stay long; so she saw him at her home over the weekend.

She has gotten calls late at night; a worried neighbor, as one example, phoned about a husband's estate in being settled, she recommended he draw up by someone who needed either of administration; Miss Kanane took them to her home.

AND, MOSTLY, she has given lectures. "I speak in clubs and organizations two or three evenings a week," she said. In these talks, she emphasizes the importance of making a will and having it drawn up by someone who knows what he's doing.

In New York, most frequently, he is a lawyer for the young woman promptly into. "She goes to homes of people who could be helped," she said. "I've seen a woman who had just died, and whose assets and utilities were apparently trying to railroad her into an institution. Miss Kanane advised the caller to get a lawyer for the young woman promptly into."

New van eases travel for handicapped Cerebral Palsy vehicle scientifically fitted

The bright new 16-passenger van bearing the description "Cerebral Palsy Center" and seen driving up and down our neighborhood streets is the newest vehicle of the fleet belonging to the United Cerebral Palsy Center of Union County and is based at 216 1/2 Liberty rd., Cranford.

The van's unique stems from the fact that its interior seats have been scientifically fitted so as to give maximum support to cerebral palsied youngsters weighing up to 40 pounds. The selection of the car seat used in the van was made only after careful examination and testing of five models now on the market, says the Center.

Adequate protection and support for those passengers afflicted with cerebral palsy poses many special problems. To determine which seat offered the optimum support, one of the Center's drivers, Miss Nancy Baldwin of Cranford, installed the five available seats in her van and tested them accordingly.

The GM "Child Love Seat" was selected. "This seat, recommended by Ralph Nader's Center for Auto Safety and Consumer Union, conforms with federal motor vehicle safety standards. The seat, which is built into the van, has a high padded back, contoured plastic sides and a head restraint with lateral supports. Strategically placed seat belts firmly secure the youngster.

In citing a few examples of the seat's effectiveness, Miss Baldwin commented that a child such as Freddie, who lacks sufficient coordination to sit, would be unable to travel to the center in an upright position without the "Child Love Seat" while young George's spastic legs inhibited by the close fitting seat—thus facilitating travel for him.

Presently, the van makes four scheduled trips daily for the purpose of transporting CP children to the center. When children are aboard, the van always carries an attendant.

Nevertheless, transportation still poses one of the most insurmountable problems for many handicapped individuals. Ambitions are instantly stifled by the lack of adequate transportation because of wheelchair barriers, says the Center. Therefore, the van's four rear seats have been removed and replaced with wheelchair and the van is also equipped with a special ramp which can be lowered to the wheelchair minutes and facilitates the wheelchair user's boarding.

Assemblyman Alexander J. Menza launched his campaign for the State Senate last week in Trenton with an assist from the head of the Democratic ticket in New Jersey this year, Brendan Byrne.

"I'm hoping to ride to victory on the coattails of people like Alex Menza," Byrne told a group of party workers at the opening of Menza's campaign headquarters at 200 Morris ave. in Cranford.

Menza said, "If ever there was time for this slogan, it's now. 'Let's throw the rascals out of there.'" On hand for the launching of Menza's drive was Union County Democratic leader Christopher DeLoe, and Democratic leaders, including candidates from Menza's 20th District—Roselle Park, Roselle Park, Garwood, Westfield, Union, Hillside and Cranford.

Cancer Society is falling below crusade's goal

The Union County Unit of the American Cancer Society reported this week that its annual educational and fund-raising campaign for the year ending on Aug. 31, the society has reported income of $194,000 some $5,000 below its goal.

Mrs. Sophie B. Baranski of Cranford and Mrs. Rosemary Carmody of Roselle Park, co-chairmen of the Union County Cancer Crusade, voiced optimism that residents as well as business and industrial firms will respond to the society's plea for funds.

The co-chairmen noted that several religious and civic organizations have sponsored events which have helped the Cancer Crusade, and one Union County business firm has offered its support through a special event. On Tuesday, Aug. 28, three Burger King Restaurants, located in Clark, Roselle Park and Union, donated the society's proceeds to aid the society in expanding its patient service program.

The co-chairmen also expressed their appreciation to the 21 community chairman, and the 2,000 block workers who have helped make the bulk of the society's income. They noted that there are still several block workers in each community who have not responded to their community chairman or the chairman of the American Cancer Society at 612 Westminister Avenue, Elizabeth.

The money raised by the society is used to fund a national research effort and to support local programs of public and professional education as well as providing patient services and rehabilitation programs to local cancer patients. Those wishing to contribute to the 1973 Cancer Crusade, and who have not been contacted by a volunteer, may send their contributions to the society office in Elizabeth or to the Plainfield Information and Service Center of the American Cancer Society, 68 Madison ave., Plainfield.

U.S. Sen. Clifford Case

Representatives supports out bill and becomes law, it will insure a fair sharing of available supplies of fuel at equitable prices. His children, and more importantly, the maintenance of essential public services and for public transportation.

At first individually and later with a group of other senators, I urged doubling of the funds to meet all our needs. And that is the project we face if we don't adopt a rational energy policy on a national basis now and if we fail to develop new sources of energy for the future.

As a starting point toward a national energy program, I supported the successful effort to have the Federal Energy Administration investigate the whole industry structure and its effect on the current situation. It is my hope that this investigation can provide the necessary information which has been lacking up to this point to help formulate a comprehensive energy policy.

In addition, I have joined in sponsoring legislation that would authorize a broad energy authority to impose such controls. This program would be aimed at stimulating some of the most promising projects already underway in connection with potential new sources of energy.

During the first half of this year I received many letters from constituents who were annoyed over the spiraling costs of meat and poultry. I was, however, whether inflation has completely eclipsed the program, failed to meet the quality of the goods they eat on street markets, and whether the program is still a recent report by the office of the Inspector General. In his report, the Inspector General revealed an appalling lack of sanitary procedures in meat and poultry establishments, revealed that 38 needed improvement in maintaining clean operations and that all were still operating in violation of health codes. Meat and poultry products are rotten meat in crossways were contaminating processed meats, and cattle were hung by links, crusted with manure and grease.

One main reason that such conditions persist is the ineffectiveness of the Meat and Poultry Inspection Program. That program is the Department of Agriculture. Employees have been demoralized by a departmental reorganization, by news of arrests of half the inspectors in the Boston area for misconduct, and by criticism on the part of the public and the industry.

"Inspection procedures," moreover, are woefully inadequate. Inspectors rarely follow through on their assignments, and they do not even carry out their initial responsibilities in a forceful manner. The program is ineffective because the

UC mobile center will offer residents college information

Springfield residents will have a chance to talk to visiting Monday when Union College's mobile college information and counseling center visits the Municipal Pool from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m.

"Sit or swim in right" stated Douglas Sedelmeier, director of the center. "By stopping at the van and meeting our staff, a person could change his whole life."

Information about two and four-year college programs, vocational training, high school equivalency programs, continuing education and financial aid is available at the center from its staff of professional counselors. Visitors may also check a full selection of catalogs from universities and graduate schools across the country or obtain personal guidance on problems or questions relating to their future.

Assemblyman Herbert B. Kiehn, Republican candidate for election in District 22, this week pledged that if he is returned to the State Assembly at the general election in November, he will continue working for measures to aid New Jersey residents whose homes are subject to flooding.

"In my desire to assist those who suffer hardships whenever the Rahway River and its tributaries become swollen with floodwaters, I introduced a bill, No. 1359, in the Assembly," the Rahway legislator reported. "That bill, if passed by the legislature and signed by the governor, would appropriate $500,000 for special flood control work along the Rahway River Basin. The funds would be distributed to the municipalities of Union County by the Board of Chosen Men, who are presently working with plans submitted by the municipalities."

THE SEARCH FOR HEALTH

Medical laboratory tests are determining the nature of acute heart attacks) has been automated. Previously a technician had to repeat the test four times, measuring the progress of the disease. They can detect infection, trace metabolic disorders and even determine pregnancy. As more bodies know their own functions, more tests are developed to monitor these functions. For instance, at the Clinical Center, the research hospital of NIMH's National Institute of Health, more than 2,000 different laboratory tests are performed.

Each year, over 4,000 patients are admitted to the Clinical Center for study and treatment. Most have diseases that are very little about. To help Clinical Center investigators learn more about diseases and how to treat them, Clinical Center patients receive a greater number and variety of diagnostic tests than patients elsewhere. As many as 25 to 30 tests may be performed on each individual sample, and many are repeated each day. In total, over a million laboratory tests were performed in the Center last year.

To meet this demand for laboratory services, the Center's Clinical Pathology Department has pioneered in design and use of precision instruments that perform many of the tests automatically. For example, the SCOT test for enzymes in blood used to

As physicians develop more tests that increase their ability to detect and trace illness, investigators believe that the time will come when the laboratory information available will be too great for any one physician to assess. Then, computers will be pressed into yet another role: to scan the test results and alert physicians to abnormal results. Already there are computerized health screening systems undergoing trial. However, such systems are not computerized medicine, but merely aids to busy physicians who continue to play a central role in patient care.

'Snappy' story told by township boys

Springfield has apparently been a haven for turtles of the pond, trying to get some leeches off his body. Placing a croaker in the turtle's mouth (the is a "snapping" turtle), and a rope around his shell, the boys carted the creature to the Schneider home for a little first aid.

"We wanted to help him get those leeches off," Robert said, "so when we got home we covered his shell with scouring powder and used a broom to scrub them off." A final hose-down did the trick. The turtle was returned to his "home" the next day after enjoying an evening in a backyard pen and a meal of carrots, fish and hamburger.

His diet at Meisel Pond may not be as varied, but the creature is probably more content in that environment, a fact Robert was very much aware of. "We couldn't keep him as a pet," he explained, "because we don't have enough room for him, and we wanted him to live."

There are nineteen million ex-cigarette smokers in the United States; about one in five adult men in this country has dropped the habit.

Those who give up cigarettes report a great sense of satisfaction. Of tremendous pride in being able to do it. To learn a new way of living—a way without cigarette smoking, is very rewarding to the ego—and to the ego's mate.

As You Approach Q Day

Many stress withdrawal as the decisive factor in giving up cigarettes. For them the same that they can't manage their own lives if from an addiction. They enjoy challenging themselves and with an effort of will, they break the cigarette habit.

This is a mistake, since many smokers fail in their first and second, even their fifth attempts, and then finally succeed. Those who "will" fail in breaking the habit are not weak but different. Their approach may be less through determination and more through relaxing and behavior with patience and persistence.

Self-uggestion, when one is relaxed, aimed at changing one's feelings and thought about cigarettes can be useful.

One health educator remarked recently, "Smoking is a habit that will outlive you if it is not broken." To think of stopping smoking as self-denial is an error. The ex-smoker should not believe that he is giving up a source of pleasure. However dependent he may be on it, if he begins to feel sorry for himself and broods on his sufferings, they may well become more acute and indeed unmanageable. He must recognize that he is working toward a more positive, more constructive, more rewarding behavior.

Try Cutting Down...

An important part of the process of giving up cigarettes for many smokers who set the date for Q Day, when you are going to stop completely and in an approach to gradually reduce the number of cigarettes you smoke, day by day, or week by week.

Make it a rule that you quit a cigarette. Weap your package in several sheets of paper and place it in a lightly covered box. If you have your package in a box you will not be able to see it. A good system is to light only one cigarette an hour—or to stop smoking between the hours of 9 and 10 (10 and 11, 11 and 12, 12 and 1, etc.). And then to extend the non-smoking time by half an hour, an hour, two hours. You may decide to take the cigarette you smoke each week, giving yourself four weeks to Q Day.

How about smoking half of each cigarette? In the process of reducing the number of daily cigarettes, try various possibilities if you have one packet in which you always carry your pack, put it in another so that you will have to handle it. If you always use the right-hand side of your cigarette to your mouth, use the left hand. If you cannot quit to the cigarette in the right corner of the mouth? Try the left side.

Do you really want this cigarette

100,000 doctors have quit smoking cigarettes... you can quit, too!

Do You Believe In "Cold Turkey" Quitting?

Some cigarette smokers still to paper and cigars, there is of course some risk of mouth cancer from three but overall mortality of cigar and pipe smokers is only a little higher than among nonsmokers, if the smoke is not inhaled.

What about going to a cigarette withdrawal clinic?

If there is a clinic or program in your community you may find it useful. The American Cancer Society favors such efforts.

Sharing your withdrawal experiences with others and working with them on a common problem can be very helpful. The clinic may make a considerably easier in various ways to stop cigarette smoking.

However, examples of such clinics provide a sure result. In this matter you must be patient and persistent.

Shall I Make A Big Thing Of Q-Day?

Some find it most satisfactory to work on a schedule in which Q Day, quitting day, is scheduled as the important, decisive day in their personal lives. This is called "big Q Day."

Others who have known for a long time that they are going to quit, do not make a big deal of it. They just quit on the day they decide.

Keep A Track Record

Many smokers have found that a useful step in understanding their smoking is the keeping of a daily record on a scale like that below.

Table with columns for Morning Hours (AM) and Afternoon/Evening Hours (PM) and rows for days of the week.

Approaches in Giving up Cigarette Smoking

- 1. List the reasons for and against smoking. 2. Select Q Day—change to low tar and nicotine cigarette. 3. Chart your smoking habits for at least two weeks... 4. Repeat each night at least ten times... 5. Eliminate one category of cigarettes... 6. Secure a supply of substitutes... 7. Quit on Q Day... 8. If you are depressed... 9. Keep reminding yourself...

THE WEEK BEFORE Q-DAY. Think over your list of reasons why you should not smoke: the risk of disease, the blurring of the taste of food, the cost, the cough, the bad breath, the mess and smell of morning-after-sneezes. Concentrate each evening when you are relaxed, just before you fall asleep, on one dreadful result of cigarette smoking. Repeat and repeat and repeat that single fact. Drive home another fact the next night and another the next.

How About Ashtrays?

One school therapist asks: do you have a box of ashtrays near an alcohol? This is a good question. Many smokers, when they are drinking, are more likely to smoke.

Some people prefer to stop for just one day at a time. They promise themselves 24 hours of freedom from cigarettes and when the day is over they make a commitment to themselves for two more days. And so on.

Shall I Tell Others Of My Decision?

Some do, some don't. Some find that the wider the circle of those who know of their decision, the more likely it is for them to make it. Others regard not smoking as their own personal business and keep it almost entirely to themselves.

Will I Gain Weight?

Many do. Food is a substitute for cigarettes for many people. And your appetite may be better and stronger.

How About Hypnosis?

It helps in some cases. Why one direction or the other is not clear. It is a matter with a psychiatrist.

Shall I See My Physician?

However, the problem is you, not him, and he may not feel that he can help. On the other hand he may be able to give you some suggestions and may prescribe medication.

Why Do So Many People Smoke Cigarettes?

Smoking is a habit that is deeply embedded in our life. It is a habit that is deeply embedded in our life. It is a habit that is deeply embedded in our life.

Dr. Silvan Tomkins distinguishes four general types of smoking behavior. An abbreviated summary of the types follows: Four Smoking Styles: Habitual Smoking, Addictive Smoking, Positive Affect Smoking, Negative Affect Smoking.

For work or play, denim rates as best in value, durability

Denim has become the most popular fabric of our times. It is coveted internationally and practically all Americans, regardless of age or income, have been converted to denim.

One of the basic reasons for denim's popularity is that it is a fabric that is made to last. It is made from a heavy, durable fabric that is woven in a way that makes it resistant to wear and tear.

For the home sewer, denim does not create any problems in sewing. As the fabric comes from the bolt, it is on the stiff side. By washing the length of fabric at least once and adding fabric softener to the washing machine, the stiffness is removed and also the shrinkage.

If the faded work look of denim is the immediate desire, denim is easily achieved. To do so, wash several times in the washing machine using fabric softener. For the last wash, add up to one-half gallon of chlorine bleach to the time water and allow for one-half-hour. Rinse again to remove the chlorine smell and you have brand new worn and faded looking jeans.

Consumers' Corner

Suppose a storm-delled tree rips through your roof, or a neighbor takes a nose-dive parking on your wall. Do you know how far your insurance will go to cover you? In these days of skyrocketing construction costs, increasing crime and liberal awards in liability cases, you might have less homeowner's coverage than you know.

If you have not adjusted your homeowner's policy in the last few years, you may be insured for less than 50 percent of the value of your home. You'll be in for a substantial loss if your home is destroyed by fire, and you will get back less than replacement cost for damages done to any depreciable property.

One good way to make sure that your coverage never slips below the value you want is the inclusion of gap endorsements. Such endorsements automatically hike both your premium and coverage as the cost of living rises.

Settled look gives identity to Deal Oaks community

MRS. ALAN GUY GERMAIN

Deal Oaks, at Wayside in Ocean County has reached the stage where a new home buyer is actually becoming part of an established neighborhood. The area offers families the advantages of plenty of room, inside and outside. The distinctive single-family community, according to a real estate spokesman.

There are many advantages in being among the first to buy a finished home in a completed section, according to a real estate spokesman.

For one thing, the workmen have all moved on to another phase of the project. So there are no trucks or bulldozers around. The grass and shrubbery are in and growing. The home has a more finished look; streets are completed.

"With many homes already occupied, Deal Oaks has acquired the character of a settled neighborhood. It has a recognizable identity, which many people prefer when selecting a home. Price is another consideration, in the opinion of the spokesman. The pressure of inflation is still with us. So if the recent past is any indication, prices will be higher when the next section of Deal Oaks is built. Certainly they'll never be more attractive than they are for the last few months in current section," the spokesman said.

Marc Village community draws 200 in first week

Still in the first week of its grand opening, Marc Village in Howell Township has already been "visited" by 200 adult home seekers, with the response reported as excellent.

According to a Prel spokesman, public reaction to the distinctive designs and concept of the company's latest adult community has been most favorable.

"You never know until the opening," said the spokesman, "whether you've employed the right architectural approach. Even though we research our projects thoroughly before ground

How to shop for an adult community:

- Look and see if your dream community is really there or just a dream.
- Going around to the adult communities springing up all over New Jersey, you may be very impressed by the beautiful signs. Excited by the lovely models set amid lush lawns. And very taken with the pretty picture painted by the advertising.
 - But in too many cases, the tree-lined road soon turns into a row of potholes. Where the lawn ends, a sea of mud begins. And the paper palaces in the ads often end up just that flimsy.

Barbecues indoors are dangerous

The outdoor pastime of barbecuing should remain outdoors, advises Don Costa, safety director of the Allstate Insurance Companies.

EARTHBOUND

If you recall the zealous attitude developed by the general populace which included the disenfranchisement, the strike, the ship and the common regarding the civil rights of black Americans in the early 60's and the popular involvement engendered by the war in Vietnam in the waning years of the decade, you might be in a position to join with me in making an observation regarding what has been called the environmental crisis we are now in the midst of.

For only a small number of Americans did participation in either of those two movements require much more than the capacity to be righteous. Little, if any, personal commitment was required of any of us.

Food and fuel cost boosts price index 0.7 pct. for June

Follow highways by the 'numbers'

Very few motorists realize that there is a method to the "madness" by which highways are numbered for identification in this country.

"Most drivers believe that U.S. and interstate highways are numbered arbitrarily, without rhyme or reason, so selecting unfamiliar parts of the country can become a matter of guess and map work," says Don Costa, safety director of the Allstate Motor Club.

WELL, the Meadowbrook is celebrating its golden year, and its theater restaurant in Cedar Grove opened last week with "Anniversary Follies '73," starring the versatile Monique Van Vooren, Loney Lewis, old-time burlesque comedian, Tommy Finnan (who directed and choreographed the entire production), Luis Villanueva and Tommy Spencer.

THE show, itself, at the Meadowbrook, is elaborate, an obvious spare-no-expense production, with stunning costumes and a large array of scenery, unusual for a theater-in-the-round presentation.

Dalmatians headed the Elizabeth SC their first loss, 2-1, while FC Hoboken gained its second victory, 2-1, against West New York last Friday night in the Ringgold Soccer Tournament at Farber's Grove, Union.

Elizabeth SC had a 1-0 record in the league before the match but the young Elizabeth boosters could not hold a much older and stronger Dalmatian eleven. At one time Elizabeth led Dalmatians, 1-0, but two goals by the Yugoslavian boosters knocked Elizabeth out of first in their group. Dalmatians are now on top of Group A with three points followed by Elizabeth also with three, but it took Elizabeth three games and Dalmatians only two. The Newark Ukrainians are third and the Passaic Italians last.

The FC Hoboken vs. West New York tilt was a side open affair with eight goals scored. The lead changed hands three times in this season's battle but Calvin Melton's three goals for FC Hoboken put his team in the winning column. FC Hoboken is now in first place in their group with four points followed by the Elizabeth Irish with only two, Newark SC and West New York have one apiece.

In tomorrow night's opener at 7:30, Dalmatians will take on the Passaic Italians. Passaic must win this game to stay in the game the way Dalmatians likes to play. Ringgold soccer tournament will have West New York battle the Elizabeth Irish. I used one hundred youngsters representing the best township playgrounds turned out for the meet under the direction of head coach Martin Pugliese and his assistant Joe Rappano.

With four first place finishes and twenty-two placements in the twelve events, the Chisholm Playground emerged the overall champion. The youngsters compiled a total of 100 points. The runner-up challengers were the Sandwiler representatives. Even though they finished first in six of the 12 events, they placed only six over the top in the 12 events.

2 Graziano streaks end as Junior Minutemen tie

The Springfield Junior Minutemen came up with three runs in the last of the sixth to salvage a 3-2 tie with Mountaineers in a game which saw two pitching streaks of Ed Graziano come to an end. Both streaks spanned Ed's last three games. He had a hitting streak that extended for 21 innings and a scoring streak that covered 14-2-3 frames. His record for four consecutive games pitched (21 Innings) 15-17, both ties. Eddie has fanned 46, walked eight, allowed 13 hits and seven runs.

In this game, both Graziano and the Mountaineers counterpart, Adam Williams, had no-hitters through the first three innings, but no-hitters through the fourth, with one out. Greg Rubarsky bounced one up the middle which shortstop Jim Siegal snatched behind the bag but could make no throw. Graziano then retired the next two batters on a force-out and a fly to center.

In the Springfield half of the fourth, Graziano beat out a chop to third to spot Williams' effort, advanced to second on a throwing error and to third on a wild pitch, but was stranded as Williams fanned two and retired the side on a line drive to right.

Graziano retired the side in order in the fifth and Williams allowed no hits in the sixth. Jackie Rawlins in the Minutemen fifth, in the sixth, however, Mountaineers broke through when Jim Hurling led off with a walk, and after strikeouts, Jeff Brown singled to left, and both runners scored as the ball got through the leftfielder. Greg Rubarsky followed with a walk, Jack Kuhn singled to make it 3-0. Graziano then fanned the next two batters.

Graziano then came in a wild pitch, and both runners moved up a base. Dave Flood then drew a pass to fill the sack on a single. Hurling got the next bases on three pitches, which brought Mark D'Agostini to the plate.

Mark was remembering the ballgame as he worked the count to 2-2 and then slashed a hard ground ball which kicked off the second baseman's glove into right field as Clarke and Goldman crossed the plate, tying the score. Hurling then retired the next batter on a ground-out.

The game went into the books as a tie, with each team receiving one point in the standings. Major league rules do not allow extra inning play.

Undeclared Wilpat tops Somerset and Utilities

Wilpat, the only undeclared team in the Springfield Municipal softball league, won both its games last week by defeating Somerset 10-4, and holding on to beat Utilities, 8-4.

In the first game, Chick Montello went three for four including a three-run homer. Ben DiPalma was also three-for-four as Jim Marzullo pitched a five-hitter. Wilpat scored four runs in the first inning. Tom Montford had two hits for the losers.

Utilities continued its win-one-run games as Utilities staged off a first inning rally from the Elks to win, 4-1. After scoring all five of their runs in the first three innings, the Elks began to chip away at the lead. Dave Swick led the charge with a three-run homer in the seventh, but Neil Shaker, the winning pitcher, got the last two outs to preserve the victory.

Cammarota handed Luton's 10 worst defeat of the year, 10-2. Bill Elshorst had seven RBIs on three hits (including a homer) as Cammarota lapset over 18 hits. Lou Gichini, Mike Piaro and Rich Johnson all had two hits each as John Ehrhardt Sr. got the win. Cammarota also opened AMICO, 6-2, as Mike Piaro hit a grand slam home in the fifth inning. Larry Ehrhardt had two hits as Ehrhardt notched another win.

Somerset exploded for 10 runs in the third inning and went on to embarrass A-R. Mader, 2-3. Len Eisenstein had four hits. Bob Cook and Gene Cook each had three hits and Paul Kouka had a home run. Tom Pupa got the win.

AMICO also had an easy time of it as they pounded the Book Review, 14-2. Jim Maxwell had four hits and scored three runs. Chuck Wessene also had three hits including a first inning triple. Jack Viscpa was the winning pitcher.

Cross-country is revived at UC; Aslanian to coach

John Aslanian of Cranford has been appointed head coach of the first varsity cross-country team in more than 20 years at Union College. It was announced this week by William Dunscombe of Livingston, athletic director.

The recent Kim Mattek (Hematosa) harrier competition, which begins in September, brings to five the number of intercollegiate sports at Union College. The others are basketball, wrestling, tennis, and golf.

Aslanian started his track and field at both St. Peter's Preparatory School and St. Peter's College in Jersey City where he earned his bachelor of arts degree in education. He received his master's degree in Russian at the Teachers College University, New York City. A veteran of the U.S. Army, Aslanian saw considerable physical activity in Europe.

The new cross-country team will be coached by Aslanian and outdoor track teams. He is currently an English major at Union College. Aslanian is a member of the American Athletic Union and an English lecturer at Union College.

"The introduction of cross-country to the Union College roster is a wonderful opportunity for the students," Aslanian declared.

"Cross country is a sport that enables an athlete to compete on a one-on-one basis, pit himself against

If I hadn't been nagged into getting a checkup, I'd be kicking up daisies.

The toughest fight I ever had didn't happen on any big, wide screen. It happened in real life.

I told the family when I'm through here, I'm going out on my boat. Sure, they said, just as soon as you've had your medical checkup. I said nonsense; I had one eight months ago. They said it was more like eighteen.

So I said okay, okay, I went to, my doctor and the chest X-rays showed a spot on my lungs. It was cancer. If I'd waited a few more weeks, I'd be dead.

The first couple of months after surgery, it hurt like hell to get on my horse. Since then I've been good as new. If you caught "True Grit" or "Chisum" you've seen for yourself.

So, friend, I know what I'm talking about when I tell you, get a checkup. Nag someone you love into getting a checkup.

And when the lady from the American Cancer Society rings your doorbell, dig deep in your pocket. They're working to rid this world of cancer once and for all.

 Drew aide is hard—but fair

Drew University has always considered Frances Bundy Sellers, 44, as much of a teacher as anyone on campus. Drew hired her 21 years ago as a secretary and public relations writer. That was when, she says, "It wasn't as fashionable as it is now to hire blacks for other than menial jobs."

Ten years ago, when she was the campus calendar coordinator, graduating seniors dedicated the annual to her, citing her as a "woman who has always given herself to the students of Drew."

Two years ago, citing her ability to get things done, President Robert Fisher O'Connell appointed her Drew's first housing director. Since then, everything she's gotten done has added to her reputation as a rare human being who somehow manages to combine considerations with competence.

"I know there are students on this campus who call me 'hard'—and worse," says this woman-honored and Drew administrator, who holds a college degree from Hampton Institute. "But I don't care what they call me as long as they modify it with another adjective."

But to be consistently fair is to make some tough decisions. For instance, at the end of each university year, resident undergraduates at Drew pay a fee for the privilege to participate in the room selection process for the following year. "There are always students," she notes, "who don't have the money. And, for some, writing home for that amount would be like asking for $5,000."

Now, if the student is poor—whether black, white, or Hispanic—what am I to do? Hand him the money from a university fund for needy students? Or should I encourage him—circumstances at all permitting—to earn the money, sign a note saying he'll pay by some realistic date, then let him participate in room selection without prejudice?

"I prefer the latter. This, to me, is a supportive service, not a handout. It meets the student's immediate need while, more importantly, preserving his or her dignity."

"Handouts," she complains, "are only a modern form of paternalism. As far as my own people are concerned, I don't want them given or denied. I want them earning. I want them to realize that just as to have makes them no less black, to have not makes them no more black."

She argues that schools like Drew which really want to help minority students will recognize them fully to the ways of American society, particularly to its little-publicized work ethic—"because that's the context in which they are going to have to live and make it."

"If we didn't really insist on all of our students getting everything we have to offer," she declares, "then some of them would go out of here with degrees but without an education. Unable to function at the expected high level, they would then be obliged to the community to take care of them. And that would only perpetuate an invidious form of castration."

"My question is this: do we really help students by giving, giving, giving? Or do we help them more by encouraging and supporting their efforts to become 'Barneys'?"

Dear Pat and Marilyn: I've discovered that dating can indeed be expensive. I have been out college one year and made an average $100. One evening can easily put a $20 to $40 dent in the budget. I just met a girl I like very much. I think it could be serious except that she is a constant cigarette smoker. I do not smoke and consider it a dirty habit. What can I do? Help!

Dear Pat and Marilyn: I have a problem. I've gone with John for a year and my mother is extremely disturbed. She likes John and the only thing that upsets her is me. John is two years younger than I am. My mother would like to dress in the latest fashion and wears the new dressy boots. My father says I should let her take care of it. I'm afraid I'll be forced to pick up the tab. Help!

AMANA FREEZERS ARE WHAT WE CALL A BLUE CHIP INVESTMENT

WE'D EXPECT 33% APPRECIATION ON YOUR 'STOCK' WITHIN 60 DAYS.

A good investment is good food. If you've filled this Amana 560 pound capacity freezer with Sirloin steak one year ago, today your 'stock' would be worth $448 more. And have a handsome sum left to invest...in more good eating. From what economists say, the same rather dubious investment opportunity lies ahead. Meat prices could be a full third higher by mid-fall. With that thought in mind, it makes good sense to buy an Amana Freezer now...and stock it to its fullest. This may be the only chance you'll ever get to buy an appliance that's pretty sure to pay for itself.

Record contributions in year reported by leukemia group

The Northern New Jersey Chapter of the Leukemia Society of America, Inc., with headquarters in Union, announced a record in contributions during the 1972-1973 fiscal year which ended last month.

Foundation award given Seton Hall

The National Science Foundation has awarded the Seton Hall University Biology Department a $5,000 grant, under its Undergraduate Instructional Scientific Equipment Program.

The grant, under project director Dr. Rita Ann Garcia, assistant professor of biology, will be used to purchase specified equipment for the improvement of the advanced biology courses. The university will match the award.

B'nai B'rith to hold leadership training course for officers

The 20th annual leadership training institute for incoming officers and committee chairmen of 29 B'nai B'rith men's lodges will be conducted by the Northern New Jersey Council, B'nai B'rith, at the Coronet in Livingston, on Thursday Aug. 9, at 7:30 p.m.

The institute's program, announced by Seymour Wecker, council president, will include seminars for committees—community and veterans' service, program, adult Jewish education, membership retention, insurance, bulletin and publicity.

Beauty contest will highlight annual German folk festival

The 9th annual Plattensack Volksfest sponsored by the North German Peoples Festival Society will be held Aug. 12, 13 and 14 in Schutzen Park, 32nd and 4th, and Kennedy Boulevard, North Bergen.

The three-day festival, highlighted by a beauty contest, will present many forms of entertainment including folk dancing, choral singing, gymnastics, rifle shooting, folk contests for children, competition of skill for women, three restaurants, five bars, outdoor snack bars, German and American food and drink, a park concert, marching brass bands, dancing in two halls, a picnic atmosphere, parties and rides for children.

Biblical sculpture donated to college

"One World," a three-foot representation of the Judeo-Christian tradition mounted on a wall, is the first piece of sculpture donated to the College. The work combines tablets of the Ten Commandments with a pierced hand of Christ.

Dr. Feder's works are included in the permanent exhibit of Seton Hall and Fairleigh Dickinson Universities in addition to more than 50 private collections.
