Zoo can't feed them animal crackers High costs put processed food pellets on menu

While increasing food costs have sent the nation's housewives searching for nourishing substitutes for meat, animals in zoos across the country are undergoing similar changes in their diets.

At Turtle Back Zoo in West Orange, processed foods in pellet form are being substituted for natural foods, on the animals' menu, and, ironically, the dietary change has increased the nutritional value of the meals.

Increasing costs of food and a decrease in the availability of the type of food sought by the zoo were both contributing factors in the change from natural animal foods to the "pelleted" processed foods.

"Luckily, we saw it coming and we were able to increase our food budget high enough to take care of the increase we anticipated," said Richard Ryan, director of Turtle Back Zoo. "In two years our food budget increased by slightly more than 50 percent, from $25,000 to $32,000," Ryan said. "At the same time, our animal collection increased by about 10 percent. We have offset some of the price rise by serving the processed foods, which cost less, but actually are a better balanced diet."

A good example of the use of processed foods is "Purina," a specially formulated fish that is used for feeding Turtle Back's three California Sea Lions.

"Purina" is packaged in tubes that make it look like liverwurst. It is cut into chunks that feed like sponge rubber. While that may not sound too appetizing, the processing involves careful cleaning to rid the fish of internal parasites, like large worms that can be fatal to the animals.

"These are things that can't be done with the whole fish used to purchase," Ryan said. "It took a while for the sea lions to get used to the new type of food, but now they like it better than fish and we feel they're getting a better diet."

The high cost has driven some of the suppliers of specially animal food out of business. Turtle Back Zoo had to purchase a two-year supply, because the supplier closed down.

"We hope to find a new source of this type of food sometime in the next 18 months," Ryan said. "Things like this can really create a problem for us."

Rent appeal hotly argued before Committee

150 attend hearing on apartments Mayor promises an early decision

The Springfield Planning Board held a marathon four-and-a-half hour meeting Tuesday night, with most of the time being taken up by an appeal of a Rent Control Advisory Board decision.

About 150 persons jammed Committee quarters at Town Hall, most apparently tenants of Springbrook Village; the Morris Avenue complex in question in the appeal by landlords Dr. Ferdinand G. Weisbrod of East Orange.

Weisbrod and his attorney presented their side in the dispute, claiming "an impossible financing situation"; necessitates appeal for a rent increase, a request that had been turned down by the advisory board in July. Under terms of the rent control ordinance, appeal may then be made to the Township Committee. Weisbrod's was the first brought before the governing body.

REPRESENTATIVES OF THE Tenants Organization also presented their arguments in the case, claiming Weisbrod was harassing them and plans to convert the building into a parking lot for professional offices. Weisbrod, who purchased the building in June, claims he now anticipates a $60,000 annual loss on the project and said he would like to convert some apartments to office space. He also brought before the governing body.

After the Committee heard extensive testimony from both sides, they adjourned for an hour. Upon returning, Mayor William Buccico noted further discussion and study of facts and testimony already presented would be required before the governing body could render a decision. He promised a ruling "very, very shortly."

IN OTHER ACTION at the session, the committee introduced two local ordinances: one for $50,000 providing for the acquisition of a communications system and equipment to be utilized by the local police department in setting up a new communications center; and another for $15,000, to be used to furnish the South Springfield branch of the "Citizen's Scout House" on Caldwell place. Public hearings on both ordinances will be held at the committee's Oct. 8 meeting.

An ordinance that would have changed the placement of stop signs at the Millburn road intersection of Irvington road, was also before the committee. The law would have made Shunkle road the through street, instead of Irvington road, as it is now.

The committee authorized the preparation of an ordinance that would outline regulations for any company wishing to set up a cable television network in the township. Committee members explained that under federal law any town approached by such a company has only 30 days to decide on whether to award a contract.

The Springfield law is expected to facilitate matters, since it would contain details of programming and other requirements to be fulfilled by applicants.

The ordinance, to be prepared by Township Attorney Sanford Meekin, assisted by Ronald Brown's teacher at Florence M. Gaudinier School, would outline types of programming that could be expected. "We want a system that will benefit the schools, government agencies and the community," Meekin said.

Board to mull new-look business district Tuesday

Should Springfield have a completely redesigned business district along Morris Avenue? That is the question to be taken up by the Township Planning Board at its Tuesday meeting, when it studies a report by Alvin E. Gerben Associates, planning consultants; outlining procedures for conducting such a redevelopment project.

"The study, described by the consultants as a 'broad overview' of a renewal process, was drawn up after the redevelopment proposal was made by Township Committee member Edward N. Siso Jr. several months ago. If approved, the project would call for reconstruction of the central shopping area along both sides of Morris Avenue, from Church Hill to Caldwell place.

The Gerben report, along with Planning Board recommendations, will be forwarded to the Township Committee. "If the proposal is accepted by the governing body, funds would be appropriated for a feasibility study," Siso explained.

He noted any concrete action on redevelopment would be in the distant future, since the initial study would take from nine to 12 months to complete. If the decision were made to go through with redevelopment, the project itself would take another three to four years.

"The feasibility study, which is estimated to determine alternative options to the town in terms of project size, scope and cost," Siso explained, "would be designed to provide additional parking facilities, now limited to metered on-street spots or to small lots, such as this one (right) off Walnut court.

Bloodmobile visit planned Oct. 13 from 10 to 3 at St. James Church

A visit to Springfield by the Essex County Blood Bank's Bloodmobile has been scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 13, at St. James Church. Donations will be accepted from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Participating in the blood drive, in addition to the St. James Church that group will be donor groups (chairmen in parentheses): from First Presbyterian Church (Mrs. Tom Geddes), from the St. James Church (Mrs. Tom Geddes), from the St. James Church (Mrs. Tom Geddes), from the St. James Church (Mrs. Tom Geddes), from the St. James Church (Mrs. Tom Geddes).

Other groups interested in taking part should call Mrs. Daniel D. Kalem. Blood group chairmen, at 276-6222. Donations may also be made by individuals.

Whenever possible, donor appointments should be made in advance; members of groups are urged to do so through their chairmen; others should call Mrs. Kalem.

Donors must be at least 18 years of age and in good health. Families are invited to donate. Recipients of blood should be advised to refrain from alcohol and heavy exercise for 24 hours after donation. Persons taking medication on a regular basis, or those who have had surgery during the past year, should check their acceptability by calling Mrs. Kalem. Persons with a history of hepatitis or malaria cannot be accepted; weight watchers are urged to check with their physician.

The procedure for giving blood requires about one hour. Donors should eat their regular meal prior to donation but avoid rich, fatty foods. Temperature, pulse, blood pressure and hemoglobin are checked by a registered nurse; a brief medical history is taken, and the donor is seen by the physician; only then is the blood drawn by a highly skilled nurse. Following some light refreshment the donor is ready to leave.

By donating a pint of blood regularly, donors and their families assure themselves of receiving blood credits, should they require them; and of having credits available for members of their family. While fresh blood is usable as for only three weeks, the credits acquired by the groups and donors are good for one year.

Credits acquired at the Bloodmobile's visit last fall have now expired. Mrs. Kalem noted, and she also noted the program's sorrow at the death of Mrs. Kaye Spitz. "The loss of the co-chairman of the Blood Program Committee," she said, "is a loss to the whole town of Springfield. Evelyn had been chairman of the St. James group since it joined the program. Her hard work and sound judgment in running the blood program were invaluable in making it a success."

Republicans cite flood relief projects

Dr. Ray Constantian and Hal Dennis, Republican candidates for Springfield Township Committee, said this week that the top priority of government in Springfield is to give the people flood relief and control. "At least one-third of our residents are directly affected by flooding," they said, "and we are committed to implement plans which will foster flood control and help in time of emergency."

"Past administrations," said Dennis, "have laid the ground-work in flood control, but it was during the present administration that actual construction for control began. At present, the Township Committee is committed to two projects which we need the people of Springfield to help us initiate."

Dr. Constantian said that one of these projects, the Van Winkle Creek plan, is a cooperative effort between the Township and the Regional High School District. The township proposes to build a pumping station and dike for residents of Garden Oval and surrounding streets in District 2. The high school portion will involve a relocation of the brook and thereby provide an additional playing field for students. The Union County Park Commission has approved this project.

"The second plan, according to Dennis, is a cooperative project between the Union County Park Commission and the township. It will include the building of a dike from Morris Avenue along the rear of homes on Washington Avenue along Riverside drive to a few hundred yards short of Meigs Avenue in District 1. Both projects have been approved by the Army Corps of Engineers.

Dennis and Constantian added, "Until flood control plans to alleviate the water problem in Springfield are 100 percent completed, a flood condition is possible. We firmly believe that until that time a definite self-help effort must be initiated by all residents to help their neighbors who are hit by the flood and its effects."

"Dead telephone wires, children separated from parents and homes flooded and flooded, we believe, are a common occurrence in a flood. We pledge the formation of volunteer squads throughout Springfield. These groups will help the neighbors in evacuation, special skills, emergency relief centers and clean-up and will be coordinated through the Civil Defense."

"Helping your neighbor," added Constantian, "is a concept that has worked well in our country. In the emergency and havoc that a flood can create, those adjacent to floods and not directly affected can provide a needed service in helping their neighbor by caring for children, providing shelter and general good relief efforts of such emergencies."

Both men said that it was not until the present administration that they saw "a definite and firm effort by government to go outside of Springfield for flood control." They cited the recent journey by Mayor William Russo and others to Washington, D.C., to seek the aid and cooperation of legislators as a positive step forward.

"We are dedicated," Constantian and Dennis concluded, "to accelerate the Army Corps of Engineers program while getting the people of Springfield involved with the things they can do to help themselves and others in case of another disastrous flood."

Democrats urge start of bicentennial planning

Nat Stokes and Robert Welbeck, democratic candidates for Springfield Township Committee, this week urged appointment of a citizens committee for the upcoming bicentennial anniversary of the United States. In view of the colonial traditions of the town, they said, "the people of Springfield should be particularly concerned to play and hold an appropriate celebration." They proposed appointment of a "broadly representative" citizens committee to plan the celebration to be held in 1976.

Their statement follows: "The year 1976 will mark the bicentennial anniversary of the independence of the United States. While the Fourth of July is marked annually by parades and fireworks displays, the 200th Fourth of July in the history of our country warrants a special, unique commemoration. Plans are being made by people in different parts of the state and the nation for celebration of the bicentennial. Springfield should participate with a celebration of its own."

"We would like to be immediately with the formation of a citizens' committee to study and prepare a program for Springfield's celebration of the bicentennial. In celebrating the Fourth of July, there is a tendency to focus on the fact that it is a welcome holiday in the middle of the summer and that there will be a fireworks display during the evening, but to overlook the more sober historical implications of the establishment of our nation as a center of freedom and opportunity."

"Springfield's bicentennial celebration should be thought-provoking. It should be educational, patriotic and inspirational. We feel strongly that the bicentennial offers an opportunity to unite everyone in town in a common cause. For that reason we would like to see the committee include representatives from a broad cross section of the community. It should include people from the school system, the various religious groups, fraternal organizations, senior citizens groups and, of course, the Springfield Historical Society."

"This latter is particularly important in light of Springfield's historical role in the war of independence. The Battle of Springfield is now recognized as a turning point in that war. Springfield's colonial past provides a rich base upon which we can draw in planning the bicentennial."

"If elected we certainly plan to start immediately in seeing to it that the bicentennial is suitably celebrated in Springfield. After all, the opportunity only comes once every 200 years."

Dayton to stage Miller play about witch trials Nov. 9-10

Joseph F. Trinity, drama coach at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School in Springfield, has announced that "Arthur Miller's 'The Crucible'" will be staged at Holy Hall on Nov. 9-10.

"The drama about the personal tragedy of the Salem witch trials, 'The Crucible,' makes an excellent case against intolerance using a dramatized history."

Trinity pointed out that "The Crucible" seems fresher and more alive today than when it was first produced in 1953. Despite its dating, the Salem witch trials toward the end of the 17th Century—it is essentially a topical drama which, instead of becoming outmoded quickly, grows in stature with each presentation.

Rehearsals started last week. The cast that includes Stephen Lewczak as John Proctor; Lori Berstein as Elizabeth Proctor; Debbie DeMora as Abigail Williams; Debby Simon as Mary Warren; Ed Bilous as Reverend Parris; Stacy Stralovite as Betty Parris and Holly Frank as Tituba.

Others in the cast include Debbie Archidona; Sheryl Epstein, Leon Barwick, Lucy Cren, Cindy Macy, Russell Gabay, Kurt Christoffers, Jeff Marshall, Elliot Molomed, David Hoffman, Mory Epstein, Nick Zaveloff and Laurie Jacobs. Student director is Elyse Decker.

LIBRARY Cody, cooking and childhood

By ROSE P. SIMON. The Springfield Public Library lists the following titles among the recently received books.

THE FABULOUS BILL COODY "Billie Bill" by John Burke. Burke's research into the life of the famous, legendary William Frederick Cody indicates that many of the stories circulated about him have been grossly exaggerated, that he was not the young man who was depicted by the public.

COOKING FOR CHILDREN "Cooking for Children" by the Springfield Public Library. This book is a collection of recipes for children, designed to help them learn to cook and to understand the importance of healthy eating.

CHILDHOOD "Childhood" by the Springfield Public Library. This book explores the various stages of childhood and the challenges children face as they grow up.

RECIPE FOR THE ULCER PATIENT "Recipe for the Ulcer Patient" by Ben Duncan. In an era of special diets, it is not surprising to find a cookbook devoted to the needs of the ulcer patient.

The State We're In

Ever stand on a street corner and wonder, "Why all the cars?" Or worse yet, sit in a seething traffic jam watching your dashboard "hot" light glarney and wonder how your blood pressure is doing? Do you wonder if, maybe, the cars are making a city that really is a city?

Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo

On the 11th floor, facilities which will be used primarily for Board of Governors meetings feature $3,500 hand-carved wooden doors, a $2,718 chandelier, a $30,000 kitchen, a glass-and-marble-topped table, 20 conference chairs at $25 each, 52 dining chairs at $12 each, four settees at $70 each, six lounge chairs at $40 each, eight occasional chairs at $30 each, two sofas for $147, and nearly 60 worth of carpeting.

When the motorist is finished with the car, it is parked at any of the TIP locations around town. It must be left locked, lights off and windows closed. A roving maintenance crew goes up the cars on a regular basis to check for any necessary maintenance. They also take care of cars which have broken down in the park. Some cars have broken down, a garage mechanic has to be called.

Three hurt in collision on Rt. 22

Three young women were injured Monday afternoon after the car in which they were riding was struck by a dump truck on Rt. 22 in Springfield, township police reported.

Injured in the crash were Joan Truskowski, 19, of Clark, driver of the auto, and two passengers, Jean Johnson, 20, and Ellen Ball, 22, both of Linden. Police said all suffered head and neck injuries in the crash, which occurred at 1:20 p.m. near Paden road. Police said Miss Truskowski was attempting to make a left turn from the Pizza Town driveway, off the eastbound lanes of the highway, when she was struck in the rear by the dump truck, which reportedly was loaded with logs, eastbound.

The truck driver, Cleland Deinhart of Martinsville, was not injured. The truck was owned by Dominick Natalizio Sr., Auto Repairs, Brook Road.

"People expect more from the phone company. So being good isn't good enough."

Our job is to provide you with telephone service that is ever more reliable, convenient and enjoyable to use.

At New Jersey Bell we do a lot of talking about 'spirit of service'...

These examples come readily to mind. And rightly so. But what about the everyday commitment to service?

Some people feel it died back in the fifties. And not just at the phone company...

In the old days, corporate concepts about devotion to duty and spirit of service were clear-cut and accepted without question...

And this is good. Because it leads to better performance, makes for a better working atmosphere, and results in a better end product.

New Jersey Bell. Being good isn't good enough.

Hackman, Pacino share Park with George C. Scott

"Scarce" an off-beat film drama starring Gene Hackman and Al Pacino, opened yesterday at the Park Theater, Roselle Park, C. Scott.

The picture concerns a strange pair of drivers who hitchhike from California to Detroit in the hope of starting a new life at their own car wash and just walking.

During the first week of filming of "Scarce," Pacino slipped through a railroad trestle and had to be hospitalized for two days. A few weeks later in the week hours of the morning, a stuntman failed to show up, so Pacino donned an asbestos suit and jumped into a blaze to complete a scene on schedule.

Robert M. Sherman producing. The Warner Brothers film release has an original screenplay by Gary Barrios and the University of California. The film was filmed in color.

Another Warner Brothers film release, concerns a rather (Scott) who sets out to destroy a chemical warfare center in Wyoming after his son dies in a lethal mishap. The picture was photographed in color and Scott also served as its director.

Pickpockets' world depicted on Maplewood, Fox screens

James Coburn plays the chief "cheat" (pickpocket) in "Harry in Your Pocket," which begins its second week at the Maplewood Theater, Maplewood, and the Fox Theater, Union.

Coburn, who stars with Walter Pidgeon as Casey, Coburn's associate, and Michael Sarrazin and Trish Van Devere, as their two apprentices, was especially trained for his role.

Bruce Geller, producer of "Harry in Your Pocket," in order to authenticate the film, provided his actors with information and moves that they would need to pick pockets properly.

Geller hired Tony Giorgio, an actor-delegate of hand artist, who worked both as technical advisor and in a small role in the film as a detective. Giorgio had worked in the circus as a juggler and had observed pickpockets in action. The circus used to be one of their favorite stamping grounds.

'Yum, Yum Tree' will open Wednesday at Meadowbrook

Dick Shawn will star in the Broadway comedy, "Under the Yum Yum Tree," at the Meadowbrook Restaurant in Cedar Grove, starting Wednesday.

As Hogan, Shawn will portray a scheming, and stylish animal on a succession of female tenants across the hall. That is, until a new situation presents itself with some near tears (a young couple who "sable" one of the apartments on an experimental pact in companionate living.) The title of "Under the Yum Yum Tree" is taken from lines by Andrew Sterling set to music by Harry von Tilzer in 1913. Von Tilzer, it is speculated, may have been inspired by a popular song of 1902 called "Under the Bamboo Tree."

The comedy will remain at the Meadowbrook through Nov. 4.

Black, white of college

The proportion of high school graduates who went on to college in 1972 was about the same for blacks as for whites, and the Bureau of Labor Statistics reports the high school dropout rate for blacks has dropped from 23 percent in 1961 to 18 percent in 1972.

Pharmacists hail Oct. 1 start of permanent patient records

Mandatory maintenance of permanent patient record cards by pharmacies will become effective Oct. 1. The New Jersey Pharmaceutical Association this week urged pharmacists to begin the step as a significant advance in the cause of public health and safety.

Joseph G. D'Amico of Trenton, the association president, said most members of the professional organization have been keeping such records for years, but the practice has not been universal.

"Today's drugs are highly potent and, because they are, most are powerful," D'Amico emphasized. "Often serious injury and even death have resulted from lack of proper medical supervision. Patients must be guarded against such risks, and must be advised to be faithful to their drug regimen. A study has shown that more than 20 percent of all dispensed taken for heart ailments are taken improperly. Record cards enable a pharmacy to track performance."

D'Amico also noted that often a patient can be treated by two different doctors for different diseases, each unaware of the other.

"As a result," he said, "a prescription given by one doctor, unaware that the patient is being treated by another doctor for another condition, might call for drugs that would react unfavorably with the other. Through our family profile records we can pick up the situation instantly and notify the physician."

D'Amico expressed regret that implementation of the Board of Pharmacy's regulation was forestalled more than a year by litigation which, he added, the measure as a maintenance taking up the time of employees.

"The fact is that the maintenance of such records is essential to a fully professional responsibility," he declared.

"The courts gave official recognition to this fact when they threw out the challenge to the mandatory regulation."

"Perhaps the filling out of such cards does take a minute more of the pharmacist's time, but it is a time well spent. Those of us who have been keeping records voluntarily for many years can cite numerous instances when referral to the information contained on them alerted our professional training and saved us from a 'near miss' or worse."

D'Amico called for cooperation and patience on the part of patients.

New Jersey will host to the annual conference of the National Rehabilitation Association (NRA) from Oct. 28 to 31 in Atlantic City at the Chalfonte-Haddon Hall.

Precautions can save food from spoiling in power cuts

Have you ever thought about what you would do if your home freezer stopped running? If your freezer does stop running or the electricity goes off for something, you can take special precautions to keep your food from spoiling.

That's one of the rules suggested by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS), and you stand a good chance of preserving your food.

When transporting the food to the plant, wrap it in plenty of newspaper and blankets, or use insulated boxes. Then rush the food to the locker plant.

FDU lists night class in reading

The Learning Center of Fairleigh Dickinson University is offering fall evening classes in reading improvement for high school graduates, college students and adults at the Teaneck-Hackensack and Rutherford campuses. It was announced by Dr. Rita D. Foss, director of the center.

College level courses are offered to improve reading speed, comprehension and vocabulary; preliminary testing is part of the course. Classes begin Wednesday evening, Oct. 10, at Rutherford and Friday evening, Oct. 12, at the Teaneck-Hackensack campus.

The course consists of intensive work for 30 hours over 10 weeks. The student is taught how to get the meaning of a passage in the most efficient manner. He increases his vocabulary and accelerates his speed.

In addition to timed exercises, both in and outside of class, he is given practice with the tachistoscope, a projector using a flasher which throws words, phrases, sentences and numbers on a screen at times ranging from one second to 1/100th of a second.

Comprehension is never sacrificed for mechanical speed; both are built up as the course progresses.

Although there is a basic textbook for the course, the student is encouraged to apply the principles and methods to his own problems in reading materials pertaining to his work outside.

Registration may be made at the Learning Center, 171 Montross Ave., Rutherford. For applications or further information, call the Center at 655-0000, extension 281 or 282.

Turnpike toll: no change in rates charged — so far

When the New Jersey Turnpike was opened to the public on January 15, 1952, the driver of a passenger car traveling the full Turnpike length, of 118 miles from Deseronto to Ridgedale Park paid a toll of $1.75.

Today, nearly 22 years later, the toll he pays for the full 118-mile trip is still $1.75. That averages to 1.4¢ cents per mile — the lowest passenger car toll on any of the major toll roads in the nation, with the exception of the Ohio Turnpike (241 miles), with a per-mile toll of 1.4¢ cents.

The comparison of toll rates is disclosed in a survey report of 31 toll roads in the nation just released by the International Bridge, Tunnel and Turnpike Association, Washington, D.C.

While the passenger car—or Class 1—tolls have remained unchanged since the Turnpike opened in 1952, the tolls paid by commercial vehicles are among the lowest, also. However, a fair comparison of these rates with other toll roads is not possible. Toll rates on the New Jersey Turnpike are based on the number of axles on a vehicle, while some other toll highways determine the rates by truck weights.

Jack Schechter of Hillside, commander of Elin-Unger Post 273 of the Jewish War Veterans, announced this week that the post will circulate petitions in support of a proposed national Toy-Sachs disease counseling and screening program.

He said a bill now before Congress would provide intensive blood tests to identify prospective parents who carry the gene mutation that causes Toy-Sachs, a disease found most frequently among Jews of Eastern European origin.

Conference slated to discuss strategy on transit services

State Transportation Commissioner John C. Kohl said this week that efforts are under way to schedule a conference to develop strategy for improving transit in New Jersey.

Officials of Princeton University's Transportation Program and the New Jersey Press Association will co-sponsor the conference, Kohl said.

The conference will be held on the university campus and all arrangements will be made by the university.

The coordinating committee of representatives from the university, the press association and the Department are attempting to arrange for a date convenient for participants. As soon as that date is determined, it will be announced, Kohl said.

The objective, Kohl explained, is to identify resources, both available and potential.

Sandman appoints Burdi co-chairman of funds committee

U.S. Rep. Charles W. Sandman has appointed Carmine H. Burdi of Union, president of the Union Paving and Contracting Co., to serve as co-chairman of the Sandman Foundation for Government Finance committee in Union and Somerset counties.

Burdi, a Congressman, said, "I'm proud to be a first class campaign team in these counties in every phase."

Burdi has grown in his organizational talents, not only in his own business but as a member of the Union County Narcotics Commission and the Union Township Waste Disposal Committee.

Burdi's co-chairman will be Vincent Spatz, Berkeley Heights, of Spatz Contracting Co., of Berwyn.

In accepting the post, Burdi said that Sandman is "not only a great candidate for the entire state but in fact is qualified to meet the problems of urban centers as well."

Burdi is also a member of the Union Republican Club, Lions, Elks and UNICO in Union, and is a past president of the Columbian Club.

He and his wife, Mary Ann, and their four children live at 629 Douglas Ter.

The prime function of the office is to provide information and technical services to the county's estimated population of 50,000 persons aged 65 and older. However, it also is responsible for identifying and assessing the needs of the county as well as gaps in services, and for coordinating aging programs.

The Union County agency, of which Peter M. Shields is the executive director, was awarded the New Jersey State Award for Excellence in 1972 by the National Association of Counties, and also received the 1973 Public Achievement Award for Excellence from the New Jersey Association of County Executives.

County Probation gets state grant to expand

The Union County Probation Department's bail unit has received a $10,500 grant from the State Law Enforcement Planning Agency to continue and expand its operations.

A total of $1.2 million in grants was approved by SLPEA last week, covering a wide range of improved police services and drug enforcement and treatment projects and youth service programs.

James J. Penney, director of the state department's State Office for Aging, said that this will be the first Union County office's third and last year of eligibility for federal assistance. In its fourth and subsequent years, it will be eligible for state aid of 50 percent of its operating expenses. However, the state share may not exceed $20,000.

State makes $23,345 grant to Union Co. Office on Aging

State Community Affairs Commissioner Lawrence P. Kramer this week announced that a grant of $23,345 has been made to Union County for the operation of the State Office for Aging for one year.

Kramer said the grant was made by the department's State Office for Aging, which is a part of the State Law Enforcement Planning Agency to continue and expand its operations.

Theater workshop for young people scheduled at Drew

The Young People's Theatre Workshops offered the past two summers by the New Jersey Shakespeare Festival will again be conducted under the direction of Drew University.

Under the sponsorship of Drew's new division of special university programs and continuing education, the program will offer four different sessions for age groups ranging from 7 to 17 Oct. 6, except on the Thanksgiving weekend, and ending on Dec. 15.

The classes again will be taught by Mrs. Sylvia Forder, who has been associate director of Stage Six, Theatre Arts, a highly acclaimed program for young people, and who was in charge of creative-dramatics for the festival in the summers of 1970, 1972, and 1973. A diploma graduate of Columbia College, she has appeared in plays presented by Theatre Works.

The Studio Workshop sessions will teach stage technique through the preparation and presentation of a play. It is being offered to those 13 to 17 years old from 10 a.m. to noon. Mime, theater games, improvisation, and story dramatization is being presented in two separate four-hour classes. Beginning creative dramatics for those 7 to 11 years old will be held from 1 to 2 p.m., and advanced creative dramatics for those 12 to 17 years old will be held from 2:15 to 3:15 in the afternoon.

The basic acting class will provide an introduction to stage techniques and character development through improvisation and scene study. It is suggested for those 12 to 17 years old, and will be held between 3:30 and 5 p.m. All classes are scheduled in the University Commons.

Additional information about the program is available from the office of dean John McCallan, Drew University, 217-3000, ext. 353.

LAFF OF THE WEEK

All right, all right! Don't peep me, buster!

PSE&G earnings rise cent a share

Augus earnings available for common stock of Public Service Electric and Gas Co. were $6,860,000, or 15 cents per average share, compared with $6,600,000 in August of last year, or 14 cents per average share on a percent fewer average shares outstanding.

The modest improvement in earnings reflects the effect of the June 1973 interim increase in electric and gas rates and the warmer than normal weather, offset in part, by the increase in state gross receipts tax and Federal income tax.

Cahill proclaims Highway Week

Governor William T. Cahill has proclaimed this week as National Highway Week in New Jersey.

In his proclamation the Governor noted that this year's national slogan is "Better Roads, Better Living" and "better living means more than better roads. It means better highways deliver goods and services that are the necessities to live."

The Governor said the annual observance focuses attention on the fundamental importance of highway to the state and the nation, as highways are the basic framework for our ground defenses, as well as the carrier of police and emergency services.

Commenting on the importance of the observance of highway week, Transportation Commissioner John C. Kall said that highways are a vital link in balancing New Jersey's transportation system. He added that the department is working on various projects to increase the use of intermodal transportation through the use of park and ride facilities and cross-country routes.

Mountainview Chalet schedules Oktoberfest

STRICTLY PERSONAL

By Pat and Marilyn Davis

Dear Pat and Marilyn: I think my husband has a beautiful physique. I'll tell him that. Stephen, our 15-year-old, has a ball game Friday at 7 p.m. When Friday rolls around my husband has completely forgotten the game to him. The same thing applies to our Social Life.

The clincher came last week. My sister and her husband were to stay at our home for two days on their way to visit our relatives. Joe likes both of these people and had said he would take those two days off so we could go a few things. Well, you guessed it. When the date came Joe had forgotten to make any arrangements to take the time off and our plans went down the drain. What!

Dear Pat and Marilyn: I feel some advice fast. I have been dating James for six months and like him very much. When he isn't taking pills he's really a nice guy. However, when he is on drugs he has a completely different personality and gets really mean. "I'm wondering if I should drop him or try to help him. We are both 19. I'm using this technique."

Bank official to lead Goodwill fund drive

A $250,000 capital fund raising campaign to support the work of Goodwill Industries of New Jersey will take place this fall under the leadership of Thomas J. Stanton Jr., president of the First Jersey National Bank.

The announcement by John J. Ramsey, president of the board of Goodwill Industries, noted that this is the first time in the 54-year history of the organization that a formal, public appeal for assistance has been conducted.

Goodwill has as its primary aims the education, training and placement of handicapped men and women, giving them a second chance to rejoin the mainstream of society. The chief executive of Goodwill Industries is a vital link in balancing New Jersey's transportation system. He added that the department is working on various projects to increase the use of intermodal transportation through the use of park and ride facilities and cross-country routes.

Cafeteria workers at regional schools upset

BRIDGE OVER STONEHILL ROAD is among Route 78 structures now being built in Springfield. The segment of the east-west freeway which cuts through the township is about 65 percent complete, according to officials of the State Department of Transportation. When the highway is finished, it will cross the state from the Holland Tunnel to the Pennsylvania line. It is open to traffic from Berkeley Heights west, but the section east of that point has been plagued by repeated delays.

$31.8 million construction contracts awarded for Route 78 in last year

Contracts totaling more than $31.8 million were awarded in connection with Rt. 78 work last year, according to the annual report of the State Department of Transportation.

The report, issued last week, lists eight separate contracts for construction of the east-west freeway, four of them in the Union-Springfield area.

The largest was a $10,426,320 contract for grading, paving and structures (bridges) along a 2.4-mile stretch from Baltusol road to Springfield avenue in Springfield.

In second place was a contract for $10,138,770 for grading, paving and structures for 1.54 miles in Union, from just east of Burnett avenue to west of Union avenue.

Another contract for work in Union was for $9,377,584. It was for grading, paving and structures for 1.4 miles from Springfield avenue to Burnett avenue.

The DOT also awarded a $914,473 contract for drainage and structure and channeling along 29 of a mile of Bryant Brook in Springfield.

Other Rt. 78 contracts awarded during the year, according to the report, were: Grading and structures, eastbound bridge over Elizabeth avenue, Essex County, 10 miles; $99,657 building demolition, Winans avenue to Elizabeth avenue, Newark, $16,300; building demolition, Lyons avenue to Bogden avenue, Newark, $34,000; ramp connection and structures, Rt. 31 northbound to Rt. 78 eastbound, Clinton Point, 44 miles, $387,407.

The building demolition projects, in the Winans-to-Elizabeth avenue and Lyons-to-Bogden avenue areas were completed during the year, the DOT reported, as were several other Rt. 78 projects:

Grading and bridges, Elizabeth avenue to west of Freybergers avenue, Newark, 17 mile, grading and viaduct, west of Central Railroad Waverly Yard, Newark, 25 mile, and Rt. 31-to-Rt. 78 ramp connection and planning, Clinton Point.

The highway, an interstate project being financed with the percent federal and 10 percent state funds, will run generally parallel to Rt. 22 from the Holland Tunnel to the Pennsylvania line. It is open to traffic from Berkeley Heights west, but the section east of that point has been plagued by repeated delays.

While work is now under way in Springfield, Union and Newark, as well as on a Parkway-Rt. 78 interchange being built by the Parkway Interchange Authority, the stretch from Springfield through the Watchung Reservation, which runs through the Watchung Reservation, has been the federal government requirement for an environmental impact statement. This statement is now being prepared by the DOT.

IN THE REPORT, Transportation Commissioner John C. Kall called the past year "one of both progress and setbacks." He said: "The program to provide highway facilities desired by the citizens of New Jersey was carried out to the full limits of the funds available. Efforts to improve passenger railroad and bus services were carried to the fullest extent possible within the constraints imposed on the state by the bankruptcy of the principal railroads."

"Failure of the voters to approve the proposed transportation bond issues is expected to sharply curtail the department's capabilities to provide needed improvements."

Charge loss of pensions in new plan

Board attorney urges bargaining committee

Contract problems faced by cafeteria workers at the four schools in the district were presented to the Regional High School Board of Education at its meeting Tuesday night in Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield.

Nearly half the 75-member audience was composed of the women workers on hand to personally present their grievances at the session over loss of pensions and fringe benefits, such as sick pay, and allegedly poor working conditions. The group also petitioned the board to support them in their discussions with J&S Co., Inc., of New Brunswick, the firm contracted by the board this year to handle food facilities at the schools.

Board attorney Irving Johnson, who has been studying the situation since the women first presented their problems last month, advised them that they were now working for J&S Co. but that they could do nothing to keep them in the employees' pension fund.

AT THE URGING of Johnson, who noted the group does constitute a bargaining unit, the women will form a committee, empowered to speak for them, to meet with the firm representative to deal with the other questions. Board president Natalie R. Wald of Springfield, and member Manuel S. Dios of Clark, members of the cafeteria committee, will be on hand for the grievance session, which is expected to be scheduled in the near future.

Until two years ago, the board managed its own cafeteria. The cafeteria and employees were under contract to it. For the 1973-74 term, a national food service firm, J&S Co., Inc., was brought in to handle the cafeteria. The cafeteria was then operated as a separate entity, with the cafeteria workers as employees of the firm.

The construction project of Gov. Livingston B. Moore, which is expected to be completed in 1976, will include a new highway interchange at the intersection of Route 78 and the Pennsylvania line. The interchange will be a major improvement in the highway system.

WORK AT DAYTON is "substantially finished" he noted, stating as he did last month, strikes and other problems encountered over the summer is being responsible for a backlog in work in Springfield. He said the job is expected to be completed in the near future.

White named to fill vacancy on board

Theodore White was appointed Mountainide representative to the Regional High School Board of Education Tuesday night at a board meeting in Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield.

He succeeds Dr. Minor C. Jones, who retired last month after 26 years on the board. White will serve until next February, when a board member will be elected to serve the two years remaining in the unexpired term.

Early bell Monday for Dayton football

All students at Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, will be dismissed at 1:15 p.m. Monday, to allow those who wish to attend a variety of football games against Millburn to do so. In case of inclement weather, dismissal will be at 3 p.m., as usual.

Look out for kicking cow

On Oct. 8, 1871, was the day the legendary O'Leary cow kicked a lantern into a bed of straw and started the Great Chicago Fire, an inferno that left 250 persons dead and resulted in $198 million in property damage.

Now, nearly 100 years later, most kerosene lamps and backyard ovens are gone, but the hazards from fire remain, and fire departments across the nation mark the date of that tragic blaze with an annual Fire Prevention Week.

This year, the safety program will be held from Oct. 7-13, and Springfield will again be taking part in the program. Among the plans announced by Fire Chief Robert S. Day are one for an exhibit of firefighting apparatus and equipment to be held Tuesday, from 7 to 9 p.m. at Sobus Plaza shopping center. Members of the local department will be on hand with the exhibit.

In short, during Fire Prevention Week, the township department is planning, an all-out effort to make residents more aware of fire dangers. Those eating in local restaurants, for instance, will find the tables set with placemats urging them to "house hunt for fire hazards." On the mats, cartoon characters, frayed wires, overloaded electrical sockets and improper storage of flammable materials.

As Chief Day explained, "This week is a time to make residents more aware of fire dangers, and to make sure that they are aware of the simple ways most can be prevented." (Continued on page 10)
