'Farmers' get tip on saving money Commission urges rise of compost heaps

USING NATURE—Mrs. Edna Klein of 10 Tree Top dr. adds to compost heap in her backyard. Collecting leaves and other organic wastes saves money for the township (less leaf collection) and the backyard gardener, who can use the compost in place of commercially-supplied peat moss.

Dems rap GOP 'grab' for flood control credit

A campaign statement by the Republican Township Committee candidates on flood relief projects in Springfield came under fire this week from the Democratic municipal chair, Mrs. Ruth Schwartz.

What farmers have known for centuries—to nurture their crops can save money for home owners and township government, according to the Springfield Environmental Commission.

The commission said this week that homeowners can save money on gardening bills by preparing their own compost heap. Compost is used in the same fashion as commercial peat moss.

The simplest compost heap, noted the commission, is made by forming a circle approximately five feet in diameter with 12 feet of snow fencing or two-inch by four-inch welded wire fencing.

"Unroll the fencing and fasten the two ends to each other in a circle," advises the commission. "Place in a handy location and start filling with leaves and other garden wastes."

"The decomposition process can be stepped up by shredding the leaves and adding a little fertilizer, either natural or chemical. Leaves can be shredded with a rotary lawn mower. If you have the kind of machine that catches your clippings, you can shred your leaves while you cut your lawn. The grass clippings will help the leaves decompose too. Varying in your compost makes things work faster. But never add any meat or animal products. Not only does this attract the animals you want to keep away, but it kills the worms that are working so hard for you. Any type of plant residue is helpful. Add soil if all you have is leaves. If the weather is dry, water the pile occasionally, but don't keep it soaking wet."

"By next summer there should be rich, black humus that can be incorporated in flower beds, dug into vegetable gardens and used as you would commercial peat moss. This will make your soil more spongy and help to soak up the moisture it needs. Your plants will have a better root system and you'll have better plants," concluded the commission.

The Springfield Environmental Commission meets the third Wednesday of each month at 8 p.m. in the township municipal building. The next meeting is scheduled for Oct. 17. Meetings are open to the public.

Rinaldo will serve week as assistant GOP floor leader

WASHINGTON, D.C., Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo (R-N.J.) has been selected to serve next week as assistant to the Republican floor leader, it was announced today by House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan.

Ford said Rinaldo's responsibilities will involve keeping his fellow Republican members informed of House proceedings, including the status of legislation before the body, parliamentary briefing and alerting members on the floor.

Ford also noted that Rinaldo is no stranger to legislative leadership. During the five years he served in the New Jersey State Senate, Rinaldo was chairman of two major committees.

if a majority of study commissioners recommend change in the form of the county government, the proposal must be approved by the voters before change occurs. The New Jersey Taxpayers Association has long supported the "uniform rule" of county government charter study and a greater voter choice in form of county government as reflected in the new Optional County Charter Law.

KNOW YOUR GOVERNMENT

From N.J. Taxpayers Association

Specific statutory duties of the nine-member charter study commission are to study the form of government of the county, to compare it with other forms available under the laws of the state, to determine whether or not it is the most efficient form of government, and to recommend changes to the county government which are more economical or efficient under a changed form of government.

Members of the charter study commission will be held in public hearings, open to the public, to discuss the study and to receive recommendations from the citizens. These hearings may be held in public buildings, schools, libraries, and other public places. The hearings will be held on the following dates: Tuesday, Oct. 2, 7:30 p.m. at the Hamilton branch of the Maplewood Library; Wednesday, Oct. 3, 7:30 p.m. at the Hamilton branch of the Maplewood Library; Thursday, Oct. 4, 7:30 p.m. at the Hamilton branch of the Maplewood Library.

Mrs. Wilson says Assembly doesn't do enough assembling

Betty Wilson, Democratic candidate for State Assembly in District 22, called state government "the biggest consumer fraud of all" in a broadcast last night on television. Mrs. Wilson charged that New Jersey residents are not getting their money's worth from the state legislature since the Assembly has met only 20 times this year.

"It is true that our legislature is part time, but we ought to expect more than 20 sessions even from a part-time legislature," she said. Mrs. Wilson pointed out that legislators receive their entire salary of $10,000 at the beginning of the year regardless of how many days they work.

"I believe that the taxpayer has a right to expect better services for the dollar paid," said Mrs. Wilson. "As a member of the Assembly, I will act to extend legislative sessions to provide the taxpayers with their $10,000 worth from each representative," she said.

During the same broadcast, Mrs. Wilson called for the establishment of an inter-municipal flood control commission in each watershed area. "Floods do not respect municipal or county boundaries," said Mrs. Wilson. She recommended that the commission develop a comprehensive drainage plan and implement that plan with flood control easements to each area.

Such a commission would also have jurisdiction over flood plain management and the coordination of various planning agencies in the area. "I believe the state legislature should provide leadership and funds for the establishment of watershed area flood commissions," said Mrs. Wilson.

"The cost of new 19-pipe bikes, one which the Republican Freeholder candidates in-cluded are on the 'most wanted' list. It weighs about 120 lbs. Some committees, she said, have reported as many as 15 to 20 stolen in a single week. Many of these are 'temporarily borrowed,' they found, but sometimes discarded in other communities, thus hindering owners' efforts to locate their property.

The candidates noted that Westfield has scheduled an auction of more than 30 bikes found more than six months ago and still unclaimed. "It's very possible that some of these are from other communities in Union County, but without serial numbers, it is impossible to find their property," they said.

3 candidates urge uniform system for bicycle registration

A Union County-wide system of bicycle registration will be undertaken if Republican County Freeholder candidates Louis Bonnell, Robert Lee and Jack McVey are elected Nov. 6.

"Many communities already have programs of bicycle registration," the aspirants noted, "but their laws, unfortunately, are no longer consistent with municipal borders. We have 'a patchwork' of laws, and this is a problem that has plagued entirely too long, Sandman said.

The Bonnell bill, he said, is "good legislation, embodying local control at its best." The bill, Sandman pointed out, will establish a five-man authority to control the highway river and its tributaries from flooding or littering flood.

"Efforts must be made to improve water quality and prevent water pollution in the Rahway River basin," he said.

Prepare a master plan for water management of the Rahway River basin. Assist the Department of Environmental Protection to delineate and mark flood hazard areas. Preserve and enhance the scenic beauty adjacent to the River.

Overlook offers free eye exams. Anyone over the age of 55 can have a free eye examination at Overlook Hospital at 8 p.m. at the first meeting of the Union County Chapter, American Association of Retired Persons, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Out-Patient Department, which has its own entrance on Boonville avenue.

Rahway River flood bill gains Sandman support

U.S. Rep. Charles W. Sandman this week placed top priority for flood control in his administration as governor.

The local government committee will consist of members from the municipalities in the Rahway River basin in Passaic, Union and Middlesex counties and the Freeholder director of each county or his alternate.

The authority will be appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the senate. The authority will include one member each from Essex County, Middlesex County, northern Union County, central Union County and southern Union County.

The examination will include the customary procedure to detect glaucoma (which can lead to blindness if not arrested), visual screenings, plus general eye examination.

Stokes, Fay urge re-election of Long as educators meet

The Educators for Thomas W. Long National State Board of Springingfield, Lawrence Bonard chairman, indicated that the 21 municipalities in Union County were represented. Fetrick, who resides in Springfield, is a high school vice-principal.

The non-partisan organization was formed in 1970 when Tom Long, currently a Freeholder, sought election to the Board of Freeholders. Composed of teachers and administrators of various political persuasions, the group is dedicated to the reelection of Long, assistant superintendent of schools in Linden. Fetrick stated, "We are appealing to the educators of Union County for their support. We believe educators should hold public office and be involved in the political process."

The group was addressed by Nathan Stokes, former mayor and currently a candidate for the Springfield Town Committee, and John Fay, a state assemblyman and candidate for the State Board of Education. Fay is an administrative assistant in the Linden school system; Stokes is a Newark teacher.

Long stressed his belief that all educators should actively work and dedicate themselves to effective and honest government. He said, "I believe it is important to stand before a class and discuss democracy, yet not get involved in party politics. Long is a member of the Board of Freeholders who worked on during the last three years - mental hygiene, Youth Services Bureau, county taxes, residency program for the mentally retarded, assistance for senior citizens, highway, consumer affairs, and the growth of Union County."

Both stressed their support for Long.

Vultures valuable despite reputation

Two species on display at Turtle Back Zoo

"People don't like them because they're got a fearsome, malevolent look and because they're considered unclean. But they serve a healthy purpose and they're not as aggressive as a chicken."

Richard Ryan, director of the Turtle Back Zoo, West Orange, was talking about the vulture, particularly the black vulture and the turkey vulture, which can be found soaring overhead in New Jersey.

Turtle Back Zoo has on display examples of both species of these vultures.

"Sure they eat dead animals," Ryan continues. "I know that repels some people, but I'd like to know what hamburgers are if they're not dead animals."

"Besides, the consumption of dead animals is a matter of health. It helps reduce the number of eating places for flies, which, in turn, reduces the spread of disease."

While both types of vultures are found in New Jersey, black vultures are seen only in the southern section of the state. These large, cartoon-looking birds range as far south as Argentina.

Turkey vultures, more prevalent in this state, are found as far north as Southern Ontario and as far south as the islands between the southern tip of South America and Antarctica.

The turkey vultures migrate because their ranges are in the colder areas of the hemisphere. It was during one of these migrations that the largest concentration of turkey vultures was reported in New Jersey, more than a thousand congregated in Monmouth County during the 1950s as they were traveling South.

Because they are found in the more temperate regions of this country, black vultures almost never have to migrate.

For sanitary reasons, the heads of these large birds are bare of feathers, which contribute to their stooped-shouldered, hump-backed look. Ryan said their necks are not much different from the necks of other birds, but their featherless heads leave a separation at the back of their necks, adding to their malevolent look-alike.

"Vultures almost never kill," Ryan said. "And when they do kill it can be likened to a mercy killing. They'll kill something that is dying."

Vultures of the Western Hemisphere are not related to their counterparts in the Eastern Hemisphere, Ryan said.

"Vultures of the Eastern Hemisphere are of the same family as eagles and hawks," Ryan said. "But the vultures of the Western Hemisphere are of a different family. Some ornithologists here feel they're related to pelicans and cormorants, but that's not a generally accepted theory. Condors are Western Hemisphere vultures."

Turkey vultures and black vultures, good or bad, are part of the cycle of life that makes up the animal world.

They're on display at Turtle Back Zoo, on Northfield Avenue, West Orange.

Caring for the future

The world's future depends on children. Unless they receive the care and education they need, they will not be able to grow into useful, productive adults. The United Nations Children's Fund helps the world's children with aid to education: "When you help UNICEF you are buying life insurance for the world."

SCAVENGER—Despite its malevolent look and unsavory reputation, the black vulture serves a useful purpose by getting rid of carrion.

Parkway retires 4 million in bonds ahead of schedule

The New Jersey Highway Authority this year has retired ahead of schedule $4,236,000 in Garden State Parkway construction bonds under an accelerated redemption program that represents millions of dollars in savings.

Commissioner Sylvester C. Smith Jr., treasurer of the authority, announced the 1973 sum and said the amount brought to $32,538,800 the total of bonds redeemed in advance of maturity dates since the program began in 1967.

He noted that the authority paid a total of $5,583,837.75 for the bonds purchased under the program in 1973 and that it realized a saving of $640,865.25 based on the par value of the securities involved. The total of principal savings in this respect is $6,648,312.75 for the eight years since the program started, the treasurer said.

"In addition to the savings in principal," Smith stated, "the accelerated redemption to date has also generated annual interest savings which in 1973 will amount to $240,818. What's more, the acceleration means the Highway Authority will pay off the Parkway's full bond debt ahead of schedule."

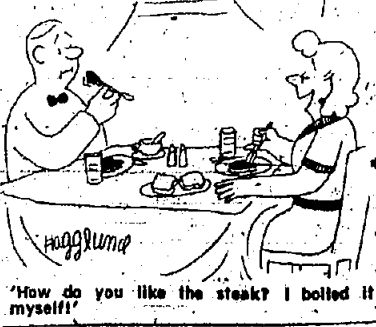

Under the acceleration, Smith explained, the authority buys back bonds through the solicitation of tenders offers to sell at a given price.

This procedure is separate from the regular bond redemption schedule, under which the authority redeemed $10,000,000 of its senior bond debt this year.

For all practical purposes, he said, the 1973 acceleration may be considered complete at this time.

To date, the authority has reduced by $18,123,000 its bonded indebtedness, leaving a total of $341,777,000 outstanding, Smith pointed out. The latter figure includes $40,900,000 financed by revenue bonds issued in 1962 to finance improvements in the Essex County area and other sections of the Parkway and a 1971 series of $80,000,000 third lien bonds issued to complete financing of the $143,000,000 Parkway expansion and improvement program presently in progress.

4 persons hurt last week in 3 traffic mishaps

Four persons, including two Springfield residents, were reported hurt in traffic accidents in the township last week, according to local police.

On Sept. 27, James B. Wright Jr. of Union received a summons for careless driving after his vehicle collided with another at the intersection of Morris and Profit avenues, injuring both motorists. Wright suffered a head injury and complained of chest pains following the 8:30 p.m. crash and was taken to Overlook Hospital by the Springfield First Aid Squad.

Police said Wright was traveling east on Morris when he crossed the center line and struck the left side of a westbound car operated by Bruce E. Finkel of 81 Beverly rd., Springfield. Finkel was reportedly driving in the mishap, but police said he would see his own doctor. Leon A. Pencer of Matawan suffered head injuries and shock after being involved in a two-car collision at 6:45 p.m. Sept. 28 on Morris Avenue near Alvin terrace.

According to police, Pencer was traveling east on Morris Avenue when a westbound car, operated by Gabriel A. Vandoli of Chatham, swerved into his lane and hit the front of his auto. Vandoli reportedly had crossed into the lane to avoid crashing into another car after his brakes had failed.

Vandoli was not hurt in the mishap, but Pencer was taken to Overlook Hospital by the Rescue Squad. No summons were filed following the accident.

At 4:45 p.m. Sept. 28, a 13-year-old township girl was slightly injured when she was hit by a Springfield police car while bicycling on Mountain Avenue near Caldwell place.

According to Ptl. Pete Hammer, who was riding in the patrol car driven by Ptl. Edward Kish, Susan Schroeder of 510 Meisel Avenue, was cycling on the avenue as night fell when she was struck by the police car.

Kish reportedly was starting to pull into traffic from a driveway when the girl crossed in front of the car. He braked the vehicle but as it stopped, Hammer said, it dipped forward, striking the girl on the leg.

She reportedly suffered only a leg bruise and was taken to her own doctor. She and the bicycle were taken to her home by the policemen.

Fire prevention

traditionally set aside each year to emphasize fire prevention, but it should be practiced every day of the year by everyone. Preventing fires is not difficult a little time and common sense is all it takes. We ask that each resident and business person stop, look around their property and ask themselves these simple questions:

1. Are all unnecessary combustibles removed from the premises and are necessary items stored in an orderly fashion?

2. Is the electric wiring in a safe condition, and are extension cords the proper size and used in the right way?

3. Are flammable liquids stored in a safe place and in the proper container?

4. Has the heating unit been serviced properly for the coming heating season?

5. Are the children aware of the dangers of playing with matches?

6. Has the oven and broiler in the kitchen been cleaned of accumulated grease?

"If you can answer these questions with a resounding 'yes,' you have reduced to a large extent the probability of a fire occurring," Day said. "We all know there are always the extraordinary circumstances over which we have no control."

He added, "We invite all residents to visit the fire booths during this week, as well as at any time. We are here to serve you. If you happen to have a particular problem, perhaps we can be of some assistance."

"Fire knows no bounds. It can strike anyone, anytime, but through a good fire prevention program in the home and place of business it can be greatly reduced."

Utility advises: ask for ID's

Jersey Central Power & Light Co. said this week it has learned that persons posing as employees of the electric utility have fraudulently obtained money under the pretext that they were going to make wiring changes inside or outside customers' homes.

JCP&L said that only meter reader collectors and meter servicemen are authorized to accept money from customers and that company employees are not authorized to make wiring changes inside a customer's premises.

All JCP&L employees carry company identification which they will gladly show upon request. All customers having any doubt about the identity of persons appearing at their home or place of business who claim to be JCP&L employees or authorized representatives should request proper identification.

The company strongly recommends that any person claiming to be a JCP&L employee who refuses to show company identification should immediately be reported to local police.

Reserves ready to help Membership drive opening

Every evening at 7, from Monday through Saturday, two special officers of the Springfield Police Reserve begin a four-hour patrol in the Police Reserve car, ready to assist Springfield's regular department in its law enforcement activities.

The Police Reserve, which is beginning its annual fall membership drive, is one of Springfield's most active and important voluntary service organizations. Officially under the command of Civil Defense, directed by Saul Freeman, the unit is composed of approximately 250 local residents who volunteer their time for patrol duty on a regular basis.

According to Harold Liebskind, commanding officer of the unit, the reserve serves as a "volunteer extension of the town's police department, supplementing regular police coverage on a daily basis and providing additional guard and crowd control manpower at special events."

Every member serves two evening tours per month in the unit's fully-equipped patrol car. The officers on duty must be prepared to respond to a wide variety of calls—from assisting motorists to coping with emergency situations.

As part of his training, each reserve officer is given extensive training in police procedures and techniques, both in the classroom and in the patrol range. Most have attended state-sponsored courses on law enforcement and all have undergone extensive training on the range under the supervision of a qualified patrol officer. In addition to their regular patrols, the Reserve also provides valuable assistance during special events and on public holidays, helping to crowd and traffic control. Members of the unit contribute three hours per month to the project.

Regional board is expected to be completed by the end of November.

Regarding the tennis courts, Day reported he has asked the architect handling the work to review the site plan to see if three courts can be placed entirely on school property, since the original project part of the playing area on park land.

He noted cooperative efforts with the Township of Springfield to repair existing courts have fallen through, since the board has been notified the Township is financially unable to put money into the project at present.

Board member John E. Conlin of Garwood, chairman of the Memorial Committee, drew lengthy applause from the audience with his announcement that the new addition of Gov. Livingston will be named the Dr. John C. Jones Music Center, in honor of the Mountaintide representative retired from the board last month after 24 years' service.

Earlier in the meeting, the board approved the appointment of Kenneth A. Matfield of North Plainfield as an English teacher at Gov. Livingston at a salary of $11,500. Matfield, who will replace Barbara Nolan for one term, holds a B.A. from Bloomsburg State College and an M.A. from Salom Hall. For the past five years, he has taught in East Orange.

Astronomy class starts 7th season at Sperry facility

"What's Out There—An Introduction to Astronomy," an eight-week course for adults, will begin its seventh year on Monday at the William Miller Sperry Observatory on Union College's Cranford campus.

"Dr. Frank P. Day, dean of educational services, announced there is still room for late registrants who wish to take part in the program."

Since this basic astronomy course was first offered in 1967, more than 1,300 persons have benefited themselves of the opportunity to learn about the universe and the vast worlds above and beyond our own. Dr. Day explained, "The 1973 edition will run for eight consecutive Mondays through Nov. 26 from 8 until 9:30 p.m. at the Sperry Observatory."

"What's Out There" was developed by Amateur Astronomers, Inc., which operates the Sperry Observatory jointly with Union College. The eight lectures are presented by AAJ members and are designed to acquaint the novice with the universe, motives and physical characteristics of planets, meteor, comets, asteroids, as well as the methods employed by professional astronomers as they go about gaining information.

In addition to the instructional portions of the program, participants will participate in "laboratory" experiences, including viewing of the heavens through the observatory's two rotating-turret telescopes and other astronomical equipment.

The opening lecture will be given by Paul H. Hodge, of Clark, whose topic will be "An Introduction to Astronomy." On Monday, Oct. 15, Cornelius S. Arnold of Cranford, will speak about the "Solar System."

The other AAJ lecturers and their subjects are: Oct. 22, John H. Baumann of Westfield, "Earth and Moon Systems"; Oct. 29, Lester F. Cycling good for heart And can benefit Heart Fund

The Union County Chapter of the American Heart Association will sponsor a "cycling" tour on Sunday, October 14, for the tour. The tour will be held at the heart of the heart. The Heart Association said it has undertaken sponsorship of the event because of the beneficial effects of cycling upon the heart.

The course will run from Nonanahgan Park in Cranford to Jense Park in Westfield via Springfield Avenue, Brookside place, Gallo's Hill road and E. Broad street.

Riders will be asked to obtain sponsor who will contribute a sum to the Heart Fund for each mile ridden. Cyclists of all ages may participate, the Heart Association reported. Children under 18 must be accompanied by an adult rider and riders under 18 years of age must have parental permission.

The course was arranged through the cooperation of the Union County Park Commission and the Cranford and Westfield Police Departments. The Elmore Avenue Merchants Association of Elizabeth will donate prizes to the riders accumulating the most mileage in each age group and to the rider who, through his sponsor, raises the largest amount of money for the Heart Fund. Avenue Merchants Association, is a member of the committee.

Registration forms are available in all Union County bike shops and high schools, as well as the Heart Association offices at 96 W. Jersey street, Elizabeth.

In addition to riders, volunteers who are willing to check lap cards, register riders and man check points are needed for the day of the ride. Further information can be obtained from the Heart Association office.

Committee appointed to plan Union College anniversary

The appointment of a 40th Anniversary Committee to plan Union College's celebration of the founding in 1933 was announced this week by Dr. Kenneth W. Iversen, president.

The committee includes 125 "Senior of Jamesburg" representing the Board of Trustees; Prof. Paul Evans of Highland Park and Prof. Halane Hobbs-Moore of Westfield, faculty representatives; Thomas Kay of student representatives; and Clarence Menzer, of Fairwood, alumni representative.

Dr. Albert E. Meder of Westfield, chairman of the Educational Policies Committee of the Board of Trustees, and Roy Smith of Elizabeth, vice-president-college relations, are serving as ex-officio members.

Union College opened its doors on October 16, 1933, as Union County Junior College. Classes were held in Abraham Clark High School, Roselle, in an evening session only.

Initially it functioned as a WPA project—the college became an independent, non-profit institution in 1935.

In 1969, while retaining its status as an independent institution, Union College entered into agreement with the Union County Community College for Higher Education to provide college level programs for Union County in lieu of a community college. Together with Union County Technical Institute, Scotch Plains, Union College today serves as Union County's comprehensive community college system.

A PROBLEM... the medical monopoly.

A local medical group recently applied for a pharmacy license.

More than 600 community pharmacists in Morris, Essex and Union counties strongly oppose physician-owned pharmacies. They are not alone. The Federal Government and the American Medical Association have both publicly recognized the possibility of patient exploitation and conflict of interest inherent in physician-owned pharmacies. Senator Hart has again introduced legislation in the Senate to ban physician-owned pharmacies. Five states have statutes prohibiting the practice. Under the New Jersey Medical program a physician can not dispense drugs and be reimbursed.

Here are a few reasons why physician-owned pharmacies are not in the public or the patient's best interest:

- WILL THE PHYSICIAN WHO IS PART OWNER OF A PHARMACY PRESCRIBE MORE DRUGS THAN ARE NEEDED?
- WILL THE PHYSICIAN WHO IS PART OWNER OF A PHARMACY PRESCRIBE DRUGS FROM HIS RESTRICTED FORMULARY OF 300 PRODUCTS, instead of the 5,000 available through the community pharmacy?
- WILL THE MEDICAL GROUP PROVIDE SERVICES THAT THE COMMUNITY PHARMACY PROVIDES, such as:
 1. Free delivery?

2. 24-hour emergency service?
 3. Evening, Sunday and holiday hours for patient convenience?
 4. Credit when needed?
 5. Filling prescriptions paid for by insurance companies and other third party plans?
 6. Provide prescription expenditure records for income tax returns and insurance claims?
- A PHYSICIAN-OWNED PHARMACY WILL SEVERELY DAMAGE THE ECONOMIC STRENGTH AND COMPETITIVE ABILITY OF SURROUNDING COMMUNITY PHARMACIES.
- THE MAJORITY OF PRACTICING PHYSICIANS WHOSE PHYSICIAN-OWNED PHARMACIES WOULD AGREE WITH THEM WHOHEARTEDLY.

The increasing problems connected with the delivery of quality medical care at a sensible price will not be solved when one segment of the health care endeavors to launch programs which endanger the professional status and economic survival of another member of the health team.

Tradition holds that the physician examines, diagnoses and prescribes... while the pharmacist independently dispenses. This is one tradition that has stood the test of time.

Let your voice be heard. Contact your local pharmacist.

Builder predicts growth market in vacation homes. An emerging trend in the vacation or "second home" market is likely to double sales activity in this industry segment in New Jersey within the next five years.

Most meaningful is the family's long-term effects of such a move. The creation of 100 new jobs in the community is significant to its economic progress. In fact, one of the most important reasons that mature couples are attracted to the semi-vacation community is the well-balanced nature of its population.

Economically the concept of buying what will ultimately be the real estate boom of the 1980's in advance, is a sound one. Not only do they provide lower cost vacations, and many extra weekends away, they afford the owner the chance to create substantial equity—often 100 percent equity—by the time he retires.

The New Jersey Easter Seal Society's Camp Merry Heart this summer served 382 crippled children and adults.

Located on a 120-acre tract in Hackensack, the camp is open to handicapped children and adults in New Jersey between the ages of five and 59.

According to Miss Mary Ellen Boss, camp director, "The summer time is special for any child. It is a time for freedom, for exploring, for growing, and it is a time for making new friends."

"At Camp Merry Heart, handicapped people can do things they free from the handicaps and hazards encountered by handicapped people in recreational areas designed for the able bodied."

"This," she added, "at Camp Merry Heart no one sits on the sidelines wistfully watching."

Applications for the 1974 camping season are already being processed.

Anyone interested in obtaining further information is asked to contact Miss Boss at the camp office located in Bloomfield.

The camping season opens in June and runs through August. Sessions are broken down into age categories and are of one or two week lengths.

No-fault exempts property damage

New Jersey's new no-fault auto insurance law has worked well since going into effect on Jan. 1, but some motorists are confused over one aspect of the law.

The problem, according to the Insurance Information Institute, stems from a misunderstanding of the part of the no-fault provisions of the law which apply to property damage. The no-fault section does not apply to property damage.

Miss Stokes plays college volleyball

LANCASTER, Pa. — Dale Stokes of Springfield, N.J. is a member of the varsity volleyball team at Franklin and Marshall College this year.

Women's volleyball has been elevated to varsity status at F&M this year after two years of being a club activity.

Stokes is a sophomore at F&M. She is being a club member of the University of Delaware. It now is one of six schools in the country to have a women's volleyball team.

The Bulldogs took the third-quarter kickoff and marched 60 yards to regain the lead. Twice the drive seemed thwarted but penalties-roughing the kicker and a late tackle-kept the seven-minute, 12-second march alive.

Pepe, who scored eight points and passed for eight more in the victory, completed six of 12 passes for 54 yards. Widon, Natisello and Nardone each had two receptions.

Second-half surge surprised Hillside

Dayton picked up 184 yards on the ground—Widon had 76, Heide 66, Pepe 19, Natisello 16 and Nardone nine. Hillside, held to 31 yards, rushing in 23 carries, held an advantage in total yards over Dayton, 246-233.

The Bulldogs, who have finally developed some football life, will open their Suburban Conference schedule against Millburn.

Dayton stayed on the ground in the 45-yard TD drive, with Widon and Bruce Heide doing most of the work. The drive had started after a 14-yard punt following a poor snap by the Hillside center.

Hillside moved ahead in the second quarter on an eight-play, 90-yard burst. Cowan passed to Jimmie Wilmore who was caught from behind by Widon after gaining 45 yards.

Widon was the star of the game, passing for 223 yards, connected with Gene Hillside on a 52-yard aerial. Cowan then passed to his brother Bob for 41 yards and a TD.

McDonough asks legislature to study unemployment laws

Assemblyman Peter J. McDonough, the Republican candidate for the State Senate in District 2, called this week for the creation of a joint legislative committee to study New Jersey's "infructuously antiquated and inefficient" unemployment compensation laws.

"There is very little right and a great deal wrong with a system that perpetuates a 7 percent unemployment rate in a state that generates 70,000 new jobs every year," McDonough said.

"The Department of Unemployment Services, with 1,400 field investigators, was able to locate jobs for only 2 percent of our 200,000 unemployed even though the World's sections of our newspapers span several pages. It is obvious the entire system is out-of-step with the times."

McDonough said he "wasn't particularly proud" of his role in extending unemployment benefits for up to 39 weeks in legislative action early this month.

"It was like putting a band-aid on a cancer," he said. "If we don't fix the system, the next step will be another 13-week extension to provide benefits for a full year."

McDonough said he has discussed the problem with officials of the state's Department of Labor and Industry and with representatives of the private job placement agencies. He is currently working with the agencies on a plan to coordinate the efforts of the public and private employment agencies.

"We have approximately 350 private employment agencies which placed more than 220,000 people into jobs last year. It is mind-boggling to learn that this private capability is not being used to help reduce the unemployment rate."

"The simple fact is that we lack any real coordination between the public and private agencies. We need a program to coordinate the efforts of the public and private employment agencies."
