

Cleaner Air Week begins Sunday

Next week has been proclaimed Cleaner Air Week in New Jersey by Governor William T. Cahill. Signed at the request of the Chairman of the Clean Air Act, the Governor's proclamation states that air pollution contributes to many chronic respiratory diseases such as chronic bronchitis, emphysema, lung cancer, and heart disease. It also causes asthma, makes people more susceptible to infectious respiratory diseases. These statements are based on studies which show that photochemical pollutants such as hydrocarbons and nitrogen oxides act as direct irritants upon the lungs and affect other tissues in the body. In many cases, oxidants are primary irritants which can aggravate asthma. Studies also indicate that a significant proportion of the population with coronary artery diseases, are extremely susceptible to the effects of carbon monoxide.

The primary sources of these pollutants are motor vehicles. In 1970, motor vehicles used over 5 billion gallons of petroleum products. The air pollution from this large fuel consumption results in: 66 percent of all man-made carbon monoxide emissions; 49 percent of the hydrocarbons emissions; 49 percent of nitrogen oxides emissions, and 90 percent of all aliphatic emissions of lead.

New Jersey has the highest motor vehicle density of any of the 50 states. Within its (New Jersey's) 2,521 square mile land area, there were 3,325,546 passenger vehicles in operation as of July, 1971, giving it a passenger vehicle density of 2,001 per square mile.

The Governor's Jersey has been a pioneer in taking steps to control and "combat the severe pollution problem related to its high concentration of population, traffic, and industry," and that "the ultimate success of the state's efforts depends upon cooperation from its individual citizens, and industry, and all institutions and organizations with the State."

During Cleaner Air Week, the American Lung Association of New Jersey offers this list of things the individual can do to reduce the amount of air pollutants coming from his automobile.

Become familiar with the total emission control system in his car, be sure it receives proper maintenance.

Avoid unnecessary running of the engine while the vehicle is parked. Modern automobiles do not require long warm-ups; they operate most efficiently under load.

Avoid unnecessary quick stops and starts.

Party against pollution Agency to give away balloons

The Suburban Air Pollution Commission will observe the start of Cleaner Air Week on Sunday, Oct. 14, in a festive manner. The agency will provide helium-filled balloons to participants which will be released to demonstrate the effect of weather conditions on the transport of air pollutants. The balloons, traveling the greatest distance will earn the launcher a prize. Fast winners have launched flights of more than 50 miles with the balloons finally coming to rest as far away as Maine.

The program—Project Air Lift—will be held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Eagle Creek Reservation in West Orange.

During the week the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection will test automobiles emissions. The test unit will be available at the Oct. 14 Project Air Lift event. There will also be exhibits and literature available on a wide variety of projects sponsored by both government agencies and private anti-pollution groups. Public officials are expected to attend.

The Suburban Air Pollution Commission is a regional control agency representing 14 municipalities, including Irvington, and Union. The commission has already presented various programs in schools and before civic groups in preparation for Clean Air Week. More information on the programs may be obtained by contacting Terry M. Silpe at the commission, 49 Mt. Pleasant ave., West Orange.

Four committees appointed to develop college programs

The appointment of four standing committees to develop and expedite innovative programs of the Association of Independent Colleges and Universities in New Jersey was announced this week by Dr. Earle W. Clifford, AICU's president.

Utilizing the talent bank of faculty, administrators and boards of trustees of AICU's 16 member institutions, Dr. Clifford selected personnel who will help mold policy and direction of the association during the 1973-74 academic year on the legislative relations, master plan, research and planning and public relations committees.

Dr. John Vaughan, vice president for governmental affairs at Fairleigh Dickinson University, will chair the legislative relations committee. The other chairmen are: Dr. Ernest Dalton, vice president for academic affairs, Centenary College for Women, master plan; Jeremiah A. Farrington, assistant dean, Princeton University's School of Engineering and Applied Science, research and planning; and Roy Smith, vice president, college relations of Union College, public relations.

The caliber and competence of these committees make AICU's a stronger and more viable organization within the New Jersey educational community," Dr. Clifford said. "From these diverse activities during the past year, the committees have become a proven asset."

A little preventive maintenance can take you a long way, says the Tire Industry Safety Council. Inspect for and remove foreign objects from the tread surface before they have a chance to burrow in and cause permanent damage.

Beautyification of town pledged by Republicans

Dr. Ray Constantin and Hal Dennis, Republican candidates for Springfield Township Committee, this week pledged to residents they will initiate and develop programs to beautify Springfield and preserve its suburban and historical surroundings.

"A long range plan to redevelop the central business district along Morris avenue is currently under study by the Township Committee," Dennis said. "We believe it is a worthwhile undertaking."

"Commercial interests could be relocated to new improved facilities in a mall parking; buildings can be constructed in colonial architecture in keeping with Springfield's historic past; parking facilities can be expanded and a pedestrian mall built which will increase the use and pleasure of this district. This plan also would increase the retailers in town, and there is the possibility that part of the project may be funded as a historic site."

"Preservation of historic sites and revitalization of present locales is an important part in keeping our town at its best," Constantin said. "The efforts by Florence Gaudinier School pupils to restore the Continents Ball House on Morris avenue is an educational project we must encourage to preserve our heritage."

"We also wish to initiate a community effort," Constantin added. "To revitalize a historical site which in our midst but often forgotten. Off Rt. 22 eastbound there is a historic cemetery. Although there have been efforts in the past to restore it, we feel that a community effort based on the pride of our past is the only key to effective action in this area."

"Beautification is definitely needed along Rt. 22," Dennis said. "We pledge to exert our efforts to provide landscaping along Rt. 22 by 70 by 70."

Women Voters complete fact sheet on candidates

The Voter Service Committee of the Springfield League of Women Voters, under the direction of its co-chairman Judy Markstein and Rita Bavasari, has completed one of its major election year projects—a nonpartisan election information compilation on all local, county and state candidates and public questions appearing on the November ballot.

The "Know Your Candidate" sheets will be distributed to all registered voters in town as part of the League's effort to develop voter political awareness and increasing total voter turnout, particularly this year when a governor and the entire state legislature will be elected. Accompanying these sheets will be additional information on the two ballot questions for Union County residents, supplied by the Board of Chosen Freeholders.

Board finally OKs recreation rental for school buses

The Springfield Board of Education Monday night voted final approval for the first plan in this area for use of school buses for recreation purposes, he adjourned the meeting and then immediately convened a special meeting. The measure was then brought up for another vote. This time Adams abstained and the other seven members present voted affirmatively. The measure had been approved unanimously last month at first reading. Following the second vote, McIntyre expressed thanks to Adams for his abstention.

The use of school buses for recreation trips had been proposed last spring by Donington. Such procedures were first barred by state educational officials, but the attorneys for the board and Township Committee were able to work out an acceptable plan. The buses will now be available for use by teams and other recreation sponsored trips for children at a cost approximately half that charged by commercial bus lines.

In other business, the board named former Mayor Robert W. Marshall as a part-time school bus driver at the hourly rate of $2.50. Marshall headed the municipal government in the early 1960s.

Board members accepted the resignation of Joseph Gulliope, who was hired this year to teach language arts and humanities at the Florence Gaudinier School. Gulliope, a former teacher in the local district, Mrs. Lie, who will be paid $9,175 per year, is a graduate of Fairleigh Dickinson University and also studied at the University of Rochester.

Dem charge GOP influence on sign citation

Nat Stokes and Bob Weltchek, Democratic candidates for Springfield Township Committee, this week disclosed that the local Democratic party has been active in their campaign headquarters at 294 Morris avenue in Springfield's building inspection. They stated that the complaint was "groundless."

Stokes and Weltchek cited its issuance as an instance of the "Republican administration now in power using a township official whom they appointed to harass and attempt to intimidate private citizens."

"The Democratic candidates advised the public to take note of the implications of the building inspector's action, stating that it was "no different in effect from the use of the Internal Revenue Service by the Nixon administration to get its enemies."

"We wonder why Springfield's Republican-appointed building inspector issued a notice of zoning violation against the local Democratic party headquarters. We are afraid it was because Angelo (Duke) Monza (GOP chairman) and the Republican party leaders had intimidated private citizens."

"We are afraid not because of the notice we received—it really is groundless—but because this was the reason it was issued, it would represent use of township officials and township resources for partisan political purposes. This would be most dangerous for the people of Springfield."

"On Oct. 8 Springfield's building inspector issued a notice of zoning violation against the Democratic headquarters and owner of the Van Cleve building at 294 Morris ave. for zoning violations allegedly committed by the Democratic Party. Obviously this was in error. Democratic headquarters is in the Van Cleve building but the Democratic Party is a tenant, not an owner."

"The notice cited signs hang on the outside of the Van Cleve building announcing that this was the location of the local Democratic party."

Police arrest man at Chatham home after losing chase

A 19-year-old Chatham man led Springfield detectives on a 100-mile-per-hour chase down Morris avenue in Chatham, but was arrested after allegedly refusing to stop for a routine motor vehicle check and managed to elude the pursuing officers in Chatham, but was arrested at his home two hours later.

The motorist, William D. Deans, has been charged with eluding a police officer, speeding and careless driving. He was released on $10 bail, pending an appearance in Springfield Municipal Court Oct. 22.

According to police, Deans was observed on Morris avenue at 11:28 p.m. Friday night after allegedly refusing to stop for a routine motor vehicle check and managed to elude the pursuing officers in Chatham, but was arrested at his home two hours later.

Police said the cars travelled along Morris avenue and the highway at speeds in excess of 100 mph. Deans reportedly managed to escape the detectives in Chatham, but an auto registration check with Chatham police provided his address. Olive arrested him at 1:45 a.m. Saturday at his home.

Police said they could give no reason why Deans had refused to stop for the vehicle check.

Regional Board of Education adopts new National Honor Society rules

New National Honor Society guidelines recently were adopted by the Union County Regional High School District's Board of Education for each of its four high schools. In line with National Honor Society regulations, students will be elected to the society on the basis of scholarship, character, leadership and service. Regional students in the junior and senior classes are eligible academically for membership provided they have a weighted average of 4.0 or better. The rank in class at the end of Grade 11 will be used with additional suspension of fifth semester grades in examining the academic achievements of juniors. Seniors will be academically examined by their rank in class at the end of Grade 11. According to the guidelines, character is indicative of mature, responsible behavior, demonstrated by: 1. Honesty; 2. Responsibility for completion of obligations; 3. Considerate behavior toward others; 4. Appropriate conduct without major or repeated disciplinary infractions; and 5. Regular school attendance without excessive or unwarranted absence or tardiness. Leadership is defined as the ability to influence others toward positive goals, demonstrated by: 1. Holding a school or community position of responsibility; school office, committee chairmanship; and effectively performing the duties; and 2. Influencing others by promoting constructive activities within the classroom, the school and the community. Service is demonstrated by participation in a school or community activity which entails substantial involvement outside the classroom. The first step of selecting students into each chapter of the National Honor Society will be the preparation of a list of students eligible for membership on the basis of scholarship. The guidance office in each school will prepare such a list, along with "physical" education, health and development records. The list will be distributed to each member of a building's disciplinary matters at New College here.

Antique glass topic for author's lecture

New Jersey's role in the making of handblown glass, which began in 1720 at Alloway and spanned three centuries, will be described by Adeline Pepper of Springfield to members of the Women's Club of Maplewood at their clubhouse this afternoon at 1:30. The speaker will illustrate her lecture with slides about collectible glass that was blown in New Jersey. Miss Pepper's book, "The Glass Crafters of New Jersey," recently won an award of merit from the American Association for State and Local History. Only 18 authors or editors in the U.S. received this award in the past year, and Miss Pepper's book is the only one by a New Jersey resident to be so honored. The author, also an award-winning photographer, illustrated her book with 18 full-color pictures as well as about 260 in black and white. A gaffer, Miss Pepper explains, is a master glassworker, who, assisted by bladders, servitors and "carrying-in" boys, gives form, shape and decoration to blown glass. An earlier volume by Miss Pepper, "Tours of Historic New Jersey," will be published in November, with a 20-page supplement, and 10 full-color plates. Regional Board of Education adopts new National Honor Society rules

New National Honor Society guidelines recently were adopted by the Union County Regional High School District's Board of Education for each of its four high schools. In line with National Honor Society regulations, students will be elected to the society on the basis of scholarship, character, leadership and service. Regional students in the junior and senior classes are eligible academically for membership provided they have a weighted average of 4.0 or better. The rank in class at the end of Grade 11 will be used with additional suspension of fifth semester grades in examining the academic achievements of juniors. Seniors will be academically examined by their rank in class at the end of Grade 11. According to the guidelines, character is indicative of mature, responsible behavior, demonstrated by: 1. Honesty; 2. Responsibility for completion of obligations; 3. Considerate behavior toward others; 4. Appropriate conduct without major or repeated disciplinary infractions; and 5. Regular school attendance without excessive or unwarranted absence or tardiness. Leadership is defined as the ability to influence others toward positive goals, demonstrated by: 1. Holding a school or community position of responsibility; school office, committee chairmanship; and effectively performing the duties; and 2. Influencing others by promoting constructive activities within the classroom, the school and the community. Service is demonstrated by participation in a school or community activity which entails substantial involvement outside the classroom. The first step of selecting students into each chapter of the National Honor Society will be the preparation of a list of students eligible for membership on the basis of scholarship. The guidance office in each school will prepare such a list, along with "physical" education, health and development records. The list will be distributed to each member of a building's disciplinary matters at New College here.

Tay-Sachs disease will be discussed at Sha'arey Shalom

A joint meeting of the Sisterhood and Brotherhood of Temple Sha'arey Shalom, 5 Springfield avenue and Shumpke road, Springfield, will be held Wednesday at 8 p.m. The guest speaker will be Carol Polen, chairman of the Speakers Bureau of the New Jersey Chapter of the National Tay-Sachs Allied Diseases Association. Mrs. Polen will discuss causes and prevention of Tay-Sachs. Tay-Sachs, a genetic disease, strikes mostly young Jewish children. In a metropolitan area, about 20 children die a year. Springfield has been chosen as a testing site because of the ethnic distribution and the number of child-bearing couples in the town. The toll must be carried by both parents and is common among Jews of East European origin, occurring with an incidence of one person in 36.

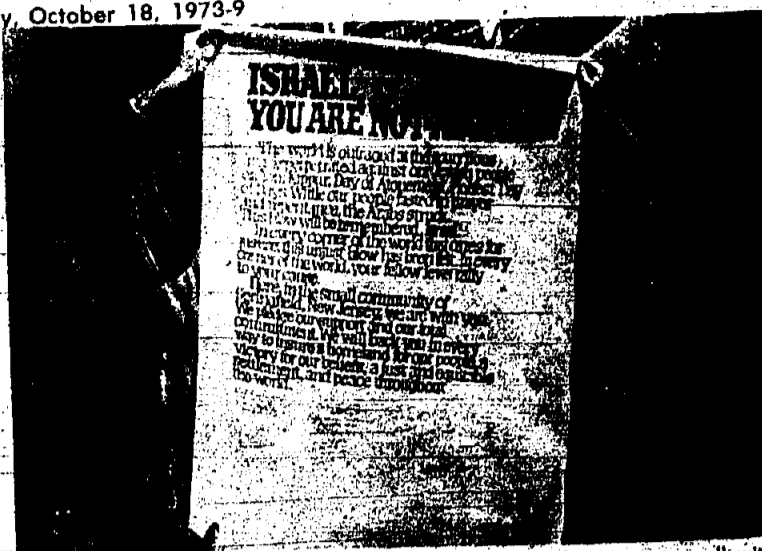

Kiehn urges panel on senior tax relief

Assemblyman Herbert H. Kiehn, Republican candidate for the Assembly in District 22, yesterday recommended establishment of a blue ribbon legislative commission to study programs and proposals to provide greater tax relief for senior citizens. Assemblyman Kiehn said New Jersey's older residents suffer a particular hardship because of the local property tax. He noted that they are attempting to keep pace with the rising cost of living while their incomes remain fixed. "Each increase in the property tax rate must be met by senior citizens out of their Social Security or pension income, forcing many to forego expenditures for recreation, vacations or even the necessities of life," the assemblyman stated.

Faith, confidence in officials called 'hardest job' by Dems

William Wright Jr., Betty Wilson and Arnold D'Amico, Democrats running for the state Senate and Assembly, respectively, in District 22, this week declared, "Our hardest and most important job is to restore faith and confidence in our elected officials in the light of recent events."

Assembly candidate, Betty Wilson added, "Restoring this confidence will be a difficult thing to do, when we, as citizens, taxpayers and consumers aren't getting our money's worth from our own government." Mrs. Wilson termed government, "the biggest consumer fraud of all. We pay our legislators $10,000 a year at the beginning of their terms whether or not they attend all sessions, or whether or not they even finish out their terms in office. Our state legislature meets too infrequently to accomplish what it should." Mrs. Wilson called for more legislative sessions and pledged to use her entire salary to fund a full-time legislative office in District 22. The office, staffed fulltime, would be open daily to the public and provide legislative information and governmental services. Mrs. Harry Fox, Mrs. Sam Piccione and Mrs. David Rubin each were cited for having served more than 100 hours as a volunteer during the past year.

Urban artist's lithographs on display

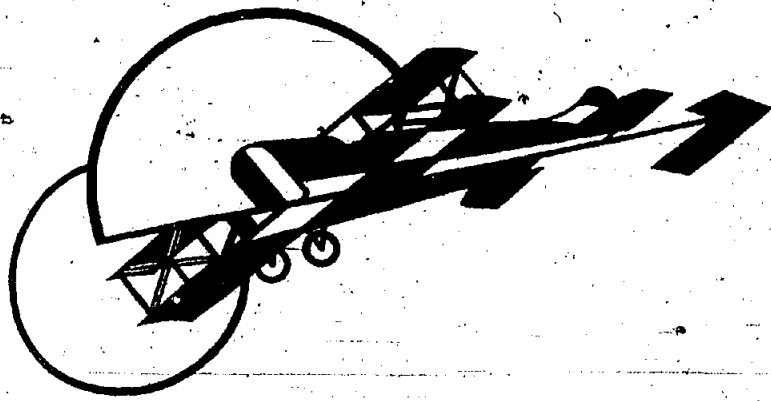

Seton showing works of late Louis Lozowick

Works from the long art career of Louis Lozowick, recognized as one of the major artists to take themes and subject matter from the American urban and industrial scene, are on exhibit at Seton Hall University, South Orange, through Nov. 11.

The Seton Hall exhibit presents 57 of Lozowick's works, including many lithographs which have received the major critical attention until now and also the last lithograph produced by the artist, who died in September. Among the drawings will be several scenes in South Orange, where the late artist resided.

The Seton Hall exhibit evolved from research on the artist's work and career done by Seton Hall students, involving taped interviews with Lozowick and photos of the artist in his studio. The student programming board of the university also assisted in the exhibit, which is sponsored by the Department of Art and Music. "Lozowick is just coming into his own in terms of wide public acceptance," notes Barbara Kaufman, director of the Student Center Art Gallery at Seton Hall. "Museum and peer acceptance has always been high, and he is well represented in the great museums, and among private collectors. But right now there is a great swing in taste toward Constructivist art, which was Lozowick's milieu. He knew the Constructivists, wrote about them, consorted with them. He 'witnesses' and 'witnesses' them. He was among them in the most precise sense of the word. The Seton Hall exhibit includes five Machine Ornaments, which Mrs. Kaufman describes as the show's 'pubic.' The show spans his entire career. In more than 50 years as an artist Lozowick consistently produced prints that reflected the social, political and artistic atmosphere of the era. The Russian-born artist studied at the National Academy of Design, was graduated from Ohio State University, and became a professional artist in 1921. One-man exhibitions of his art appeared in Berlin, Paris and the United States, including a major exhibit earlier this year at the Whitney Museum in New York City.

WORK OF ART—One of five lithographs entitled "Machine Ornaments" by lithographer Louis Lozowick is among the artist's work on display at Seton Hall University in South Orange through Nov. 11. As examples of constructivist art, of which Lozowick was one of the leading figures, the machine ornaments group one experiment in precise semi-abstract.

KitchenAid-DISH WASHERS

VERY POSSIBLY THE BEST APPLIANCES YOU WILL EVER HAVE THE OPPORTUNITY TO BUY!

Best is a big statement... but KitchenAid dishwashers live up to the meaning of the word in every respect. You see, the KitchenAid philosophy is built in better steel. Cheaper, so it lasts longer. KitchenAid is the nation's oldest dishwasher maker, and over the years, they have learned what it takes to make a dishwasher great. Things like porcelain on steel washing chamber and a rugged 1/2 h.p. motor. Pushbutton cycle selection and spray upper racks... plus KitchenAid's exclusive washing and drying systems that eliminate rinsing and hand wiping. But above all, it's the care and quality that goes into every KitchenAid that makes it best. Care and quality that pays off in your kitchen... in terms of performance that lasts.

'Born of Necessity,' UC is now 40

Opening of new art gallery marks celebration

"From the time angle alone, the creation of Union County College is perhaps the closest thing to a miracle in its history," says Dr. James M. Lynch Jr., in his book "Born of Necessity." That is how Union County College was established. The birth date was Oct. 16, 1933, and the birth place was Abraham Clark High School in Roselle.

The idea was an instant success and within months similar two-year colleges were established in Essex, Miami, Glasgow, Monmouth and Passaic counties. In addition to Union College, only the Monmouth institution remains in existence as Monmouth College in West Long Branch, a four-year institution.

After federal funds ran out, Union College became a student institution operated by a board of trustees comprised of Union County educational and civic leaders. A day program was added in 1941, and in 1942 the college moved to its first permanent home—the former Grant School in Cranford. World War II and the Korean Conflict provided a major crisis, as enrollment dropped off sharply. But in the case of all other educational institutions, these storms were major academic buildings.

In 1957, a Silver Anniversary Development fund campaign resulted in sufficient funds being raised to move to the present campus in Cranford, which had been the Nonahagan Golf Course. Science Building and the William Miller Speery Observatory followed in rapid order. Macaulay Hall, the administration building, was opened in 1970 and the Library and Humanities in 1973.

In addition to its traditional programs of liberal arts, science, engineering and business administration, Union College has added programs in environmental science and engineering, urban studies, public administration, education, and law enforcement.

"Over the past four decades Union College has established the highest educational reputation for its transfer programs," Dr. Iversen said. "This reputation is based on a record of transferring about 65 percent of a graduates with advanced standing to more than 800 colleges and universities throughout the United States. That is, 65 percent of them have done so with better academic standing than they did at Union College."

Coppa running for seat on charter study group

Frank J. Copp, assistant professor of government at Union College, Cranford, has announced his candidacy for the Union County Optional Charter Study Commission.

Professor Copp, who is also vice-president of the New Jersey Political Science Association and a local government specialist, said he considers "the process of abandoning county government to be a serious technical task."

Children's course scheduled at NSC

Children from the ages of five to 14 years of age are eligible to attend the program, which consists of gym activities and arts and crafts, supervised by professionals in the field of hearing disabilities.

Singers to present concert on Oct. 27

The Volkser-Harmonie Inc. will hold a concert Oct. 27 at 8:30 p.m. at the Evergreen Lodge, Springfield. Harvey Hicks will be the soloist.

Leo Altmy will direct the concert, which will include English songs as well as German favorites. There will be a grand ball after the concert, with Werner Heckmann and his orchestra.

Hicks has appeared at Carnegie, Philharmonic and Alice Tully halls in New York City and was the leading baritone with the Golsky Opera Theater.

Inmates 'go to school'

Earn equivalency certificate

Prisoners at Union County Jail, Elizabeth, will now have the opportunity to earn a high school equivalency certificate while still in prison under a cooperative arrangement between Union College's GED Center and James Scanlon, director of rehabilitation at the county jail.

The first test is what is expected to be a regular schedule of GED testing took place last week at the jail.

Christian Hanna, director of the GED testing and counseling program, said prisoners had been receiving GED instruction from Gregory Norris, teacher and alumna of Union College, and Lonnie Butler, director of Union College's Community Counseling Center, Plainfield, had also counseled prisoners on vocational training and higher education opportunities open to them.

Union College's GED Center operates out of the college's Plainfield campus at 317 E. Front St. Those interested in taking the series of examinations leading to a high school equivalency certificate should apply in person to the center. Tests can be scheduled within a few days of the application.

Sutton has preview of 248 units Low mortgage rate offered on 2 models at Berkeley's Park

Brick Town's status as one of the most popular residential areas of the Jersey coast got another upward boost with the preview opening of Sutton Village, of Lanes Mill road.

The 248-unit condominium community will offer one and two-story townhouse homes reflecting the latest in contemporary design. They will be available with one bedroom, one bedroom and den, and three bedrooms with family room. Introductory prices begin at $29,900.

Homes in Sutton Village qualify for seven and one-quarter per cent mortgage financing, depending on down payment.

Sutton Village offers central air conditioning in each unit, washer-dryer, dish washer, eye-level double range, and walk-in-towels has its own garage.

The condominium arrangement is designed for those who want the pleasure of private ownership without the usual maintenance difficulties. At Sutton Village, all exterior chores, such as snow removal, grass cutting and outside repairs are performed by professionals for a modest monthly fee. Residents will be able to deduct local real estate taxes and mortgage interest in preparing their annual income tax reports.

The community has its own recreation center, a large outdoor pool and tennis and shuffleboard courts.

Sutton Village is near recreational attractions of the nearby Atlantic Ocean, excellent restaurants, shopping malls and parks. Freeway Raceway and Monmouth Park are only minutes away. The Garden State Parkway is nearby and there is a four-lane bus service connecting with all major regions.

Greater American Communities announces that for a limited time it can offer mortgages at 7 1/2 percent interest with five percent down payment on two of its ranch model homes at The Park at Berkeley. The two models are located in a wooded setting of Route 9 on Scott Road in Berkeley Township in Ocean County.

The mortgages at this low rate have been made available to home buyers through a state-affiliated program. These funds from the state-operated agency are limited, so the developers advise buyers who are interested to act promptly.

The ranch models at The Park at Berkeley, available at this preferred mortgage rate, are: The Willow and The Maple, priced at $31,900.

The Willow ranch is typical of the quality that characterizes the community. The interior elevation variation and cedar-siding finish provide a natural setting and different look to its one-level design.

The entrance foyer has a gourd closet and the living room goes from the front to the rear of the house with double windows at each end. The home offers an optional kitchen-dining layout, which can be one large family living area or divided into two separate rooms. The realty firm, in exclusive sales agent for the homes, is located at 1000 Morris Ave., Suite 100, Springfield, N.J.

The Park at Berkeley is located off Route 9. It offers suburban convenience and a vacationland setting. Just minutes away from the Jersey shore with its variety of ocean and bay recreational activities: boating, fishing and swimming.

The Berg Agency, New Jersey's largest residential realty firm, is exclusive sales agent for the homes. It is located at 1000 Morris Ave., Suite 100, Springfield, N.J.

Shawn evokes distaff shivers in 'Under the Yum Yum Tree'

There's an old show business adage that comedians are the hardest working people in the business—and generally, the most. It's one thing to be good as a stand-up comedian. It's quite another to be great while playing a straight role with comic inflections in a stage vehicle. And Dick Shawn, who plays the obnoxious, mixed-up sex-obsessed, "dirty-old" landlord in "Under the Yum Yum Tree," at the Meadowbrook Theater-Restaurant, Cedar Grove, gives such a terrifically realistic performance, the female audience simultaneously shudders at the mere thought and giggle of him.

This is the basis of the entire comedy of "Under the Yum Yum Tree." It can be very funny at moments.

This reviewer, however, finds it hard to laugh at a pompous, usually, busy-and-dirty-grabbed creature, who intrudes on everbody's privacy, who never knows when to leave or when to stop gabbling and gobbling and who would be much better off if all the ladies in the audience got together to bombard the creature with eggs and saucers.

Shawn has to be lauded—really talented, to appear so distasteful.

We know how the women feel about him. But how about the men in the audience? Are they amused—or are they similarly disgusted?

New Recital Stage series inaugurated by N.J. Ballet

By WILLIAM H. BRUCKNER
Everett Meyers, a ballerina from the Venezuela State Ballet, helped the New Jersey Ballet Company give a pleasantly noteworthy beginning last Saturday night to the 1973-74 Recital Stage series at the Union High School auditorium.

Miss Meyers has the physical presence, obviously the temperament; and most obviously the full repertoire vocabulary to make for a gala performance of traditional and classical ballet. Her vis-a-vis, Detroit Burke, recruited from the New York City Ballet Company, supplied excellent levitation and guidance to her pirouettes and arabesques, and together they made the Don Quixote Pas de Deux with music by Minkus a prime spot on the program.

The New Jersey Ballet, under the noble auspices, but with a budget of ignoble dimensions, must still be rated as an emerging company, with horizons and goals a good distance away. Its very youthful members relate more to the less disciplined music and dance forms of our times rather than the rigid and formal of the classic French and Russian ballet. After all, it is easier to snap your fingers than to be an entire chair quater.

That is why "Time Warp" with music by Jackdaw and choreography by Jay Normon, as well as "The Nutcracker," which was choreographed by Jay Normon, came off as the most responsive and most rewarding of the evening. The acid rock was the very fabric for the weaving of our present day dance forms to it. It had the beat, it had the enthusiasm, it had the details. But applying one of our private standards...

Minutemen belt Bonnie Brae, 32-7; face Millburn Sunday at Meisel Field

TEAM LEADER — Alan Spinloch, captain of the Jonathan Dayton Regional High School varsity soccer team, demonstrates the intricacies of ball control. (Photo-Graphics)

The undefeated Springfield Minutemen football team traveled to Lyons Sunday to capture its third consecutive victory, defeating a strong team from the Bonnie Brae School, 32-7.

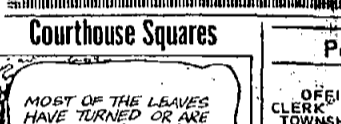

On the opening series of the game, Bonnie Brae moved across midfield before fumbling. Defensive end Pete Rosomando made the recovery on Bonnie Brae's 49. The Minutemen wasted no time putting points on the board, scoring in two plays. Tailback Frank Zahn took a handoff, ran off-tackle and vector outside for 29 yards. On the next play, Ron Scopelluto used the same play to race 29 yards for the touchdown. The PAT attempt, on a wingback reverse, was stopped.

Bonnie Brae's next series was a carbon copy of its first, driving for one first down and then fumbling with Rosomando again coming up with the ball. This time on the home team's 42. The Minutemen failed to move and were forced to punt, but a roughing-the-kicker penalty gave them a second chance from the 33. Quarterback Ed Graziano promptly cashed in on this break, sending split end Kevin Doty on a post pattern and hitting him behind the secondary on a 21-yard scoring play. A pass attempt for the extra point failed and Springfield led, 12-0 at the end of the first quarter.

Dave Flood left the Minutemen a yard short of the first down, however, and Eric Lasardi punted to the 20. Bonnie Brae was able to move to midfield, with the help of a face mask penalty, as time ran out in the half.

On the second play of the third quarter, a Graziano screen was picked off by Bonnie Brae's defensive end, Frank Zahn. After allowing one first down, the defense held and Springfield took over on the 16. Fingerhut fumbled on a third-down carry but Bonnie Brae promptly fumbled it back, with Lasardi coming up with the ball on the 35.

The Minutemen then moved into Bonnie Brae territory on Fingerhut runs of 31 and 10 yards. Faced with a third-and-10 call on the 20, Graziano passed to Doty on the eight. Bobrod carried it into the end zone on the next play for his second TD of the day, making the score 29-0 in the fourth quarter. The PAT attempt failed.

With the Minutemen second unit defense on the field, Bonnie Brae scored on a 63-yard run. The conversation was good; make the score 25-7.

Fingerhut took over as quarterback and ran a keeper to his left, cut back across the secondary, and raced 58 yards to the two. Keny then called the same play to his right and knifed across the goal line for the score. Keny repeated the play for the extra point, making the final score 32-7.

The Minutemen offense, running its three-point total to 97 points, gained more than 250 yards, paced by Fingerhut's 122 in six carries. Bobrod, Zahn, Scopelluto and Flood also gained yardage. Graziano completed five of seven passes for 60 yards. Offensive line blocking once again led the way, moving out the bigger Bonnie Brae forward wall time and time again, for substantial gains. Although Bonnie Brae, actually ran more than Springfield, the Minutemen defense, stifled them all day.

An indication of the ferocity of the defense was the five fumbles captured by Springfield. Ken Dinkin, at midfield, had five unassisted tackles and numerous assists. Rosomando, at defensive end, had five tackles and two fumble recoveries. Jack Hirschberg, the rover or "monster," was credited with seven tackles. This Sunday, the Minutemen figure to face their most severe test of the season, when strong aggression from Millburn visits Meisel Field for a 1:30 p.m. game.

For And About Teenagers. THIS WEEK'S LETTER. My friend and I have this problem and we need your help and advice. My girlfriend and I were walking when this car came up to us and the driver asked me if I was wanted to come with them. Our girlfriends were coming on these two guys in this area. They went around the block and picked up two girls who said they'd go. We haven't seen these two girls in a long time. Recently the two guys in the van drove up to us and asked us if we would go with them. We told them no, so they flipped off. If they come around again, what should we do? We really need your help.

OUR REPLY. One of the best pieces of advice you received as a child is doubly true today: NEVER get in a car, truck or van with strangers, no matter how cute or nice they seem. You said that the two girls they did pick up in the van haven't seen in a long time. It was an unusual school or your neighborhood knows where they are so think they are "runaways" and if no one has seen the girls since they got in that van, contact the police right away. If the two guys should pull up near you again, get the plate number and type and color of it and report them to the police. They will know how to handle this situation.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss with a professional, make address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, COMMUNITY AND SUBURBAN PRESS SERVICE, FRANKFORD, N.Y. 46081.

Technique helps land use balance

Development, open space focus at Rutgers

LAND PLANNERS—George Nicosia (standing), associate professor of environmental resources at Rutgers, demonstrates the intricacies of the transfer of development rights planning game to a group of Moorestown residents who are concerned with future land use in their area.

Can suburban communities achieve a better balance between urban development and the need for open space? A Rutgers land use planning technique called Transfer of Development Rights, usually abbreviated TDR, TDR combines community planning with changes in property law to bring the free market system into compatibility with the planned retention of open land for parks, recreation, agriculture and other critical uses," says B. Budd Chavoshian, land use specialist with the Cooperative Extension Service.

Together with George H. Newsward, associate professor of environmental resources, Chavoshian is demonstrating the advantages of TDR to interested officials, landowners and other interested persons throughout the state.

The basic process is initiated when a municipality designates an area of open space and prohibits development within it," Dr. Newsward says. "Then the residential development potential in that area is transferred to another district or districts where citizens agree that development is feasible.

"In this way, the landowner can be compensated with market value upon selling his rights to development, and the developer could build in an area where residential construction was acceptable to the community."

"The next step," Chavoshian says, "would be to provide a market for these rights through the designation of new and higher density development in other parts of town. The amount of an increase would be the incentive to attract buyers of development rights."

"Whether this new density might mean apartment construction or single family houses on small lots would depend on the municipality involved and the land resources available.

"The rights would be taxed as real property, as would the land in the preserved area although assessed at farmland value. Owners would have the option of selling their rights or holding them as an investment."

Although relatively simple in principle, TDR requires a fresh perspective in thinking about the economics of land development, says Dr. Newsward and Tevra Aitola, research intern in environmental planning at Rutgers, who have developed a game in which the participants can simulate actual transactions to better understand how the system operates.

"We've played the game with university people, state and local government officials, county planners, farmers and other citizens," Dr. Newsward says. "There's been a very favorable reaction so far, and we are now in the process of putting the game in final form, after

Philosophy in schools

'Why isn't philosophy a regular part of the school curriculum? This is one of the questions to be discussed in the eight-state conference on Pre-College Philosophy to be held at Montclair State College on Nov. 2.

According to Prof. Matthew Lipman, organizer of the conference, this will be the first major effort in the east to focus public attention on the fact that American education may no longer find it possible to ignore the importance of philosophical discussion for the pre-college student.

"Students want their education to be meaningful," said Dr. Lipman. "They want to know why they're doing what they're doing before they go on to college."

"Young people have a genuine hunger for meaning," the professor continued, "and if we can't instill their education with meaning, they simply get turned off at education completely, which is what's happening to many of them right now."

Acknowledging that philosophy is no cure-all, and James McCellan of the State University of New York at Albany, whose topic will be "Pre-College Philosophy: An Educational Paradigm," and man contends that philosophy, when appropriately adapted for children, can do much to take the scope of "The Social Impact of Education Without Philosophy."

2 Dems get backing of Republican

Wasserman endorses Stokes and Welchek

Township Committee member Robert B. Wasserman, elected to a one-year term last November as a Republican, this week endorsed the 1973 Democratic candidates for the governing body, former Mayors Nat Stokes and Robert Welchek. Wasserman was elected to his post this year by the GOP leadership.

"I was elected to the Township Committee on the Republican line on Nov. 7, 1972, and was drummed out of the party even before I was sworn into office on Jan. 1, 1973. My sympathy, however, is with the Democratic Party. I am now a member of the Democratic Party."

"I do not believe that one-party rule is what really threatens our community; instead we are facing the very real possibility of being subjected to one-man rule in Springfield. I have learned from experience that there is no room for differences of opinion or independence of thought within the ranks of the Springfield Republican Party."

Wasserman added, "Mr. Menza will tolerate any independent thinking that he is engaged with his own views, and I am certain that his cabinet members will be selected more carefully in order to make certain that obedience reigns supreme."

Discussing several of last year's dispute over appointment of a magistrate, he commented, "Mr. Menza would like to have people believe that I was drummed out of the party because I became greedy and wanted the judgeship. I had wanted to be judge, I certainly never would have run for the Township Committee."

"HE WENT ON TO SAY I have now sat on the Township Committee with Bob Welchek for (Continued on page 17)

Regulations call for use by schools

Proposal a precaution, no applications to date

By ARNOLD GOLD
The possibility that cable television service will find its way to Springfield was underlined Tuesday night at Town Hall when the Township Committee introduced an ordinance to govern operation of a TV network when one does appear to start here.

Mayor William A. Ruocco told the 40 members of the audience that no such application has yet been received but that the ordinance will provide for supervision and set standards of operation. However, it was become applicable.

Committee member Robert Wasserman added that under the new regulations the cable TV company, when one does apply, will have to provide channels for local school use and the Regional High School districts for such agencies as the Public Library and even for live coverage of Township Committee meetings. He also noted that the ordinance would guarantee coverage of Madison Square Garden sporting events a final vote on the ordinance is scheduled for the Nov. 13 meeting. Wasserman said that Hon. Brown, a local teacher, had helped to draft the measure.

The committee received bids from two companies for municipal garbage collection, to start in 1974. The lower of two bids was from Arace Brothers of East Orange, with the following schedule: five years, $3,200,000; four years, $2,000,000; three years, $870,000; two years, $300,000; and one year, $200,000. The other bid was from the Pelliconi Company of Jersey City. Action was deferred pending study of the low bidder's qualifications.

NO MORE EVIDENCE of politics at the final election before the Nov. 8 election, came when Councilman Robert Welchek, who was elected Democrat on the date, strongly criticized (Continued on page 17)

National religious group spotlights local church

The First Presbyterian Church of Springfield this week was designated as a historic site by officials of a national religious organization. A church spokesman added:

"This designation of the church by the American Presbyterian and Reformed Church Historical Society is a singular honor which at the same time is shared with only 10 other congregations in the denomination. It was awarded only after a thorough search of all substantiated records had been made and a recognition of the action of Parson James Caldwell in distributing the Watts hymns from coast to coast, but each one has made a singular historical contribution to society. Among these are the Presbyterian Church of Hillsfield, Mich., whose minister John Montfort was the first Protestant minister in Michigan and the first president of the University of Michigan."

"These film evenings are open to all residents of Springfield, both students and adults. The meetings from seats about 50 people.

2 Dem contenders cite achievements in past four years

Nat Stokes and Bob Welchek, Democratic candidates for Springfield Township Committee in this week's election, have cited their performance, not just promises, when they go to the polls Nov. 6.

Stokes and Welchek, both former mayors, cited local legislation that they had been responsible for over the past four years in the areas of environment and pollution, office building encouragement, senior citizens, tenant-landlord relations, shopping center resistance, recreation and housing.

"They appealed to the voters to return them to office, promising a 'good, sincere effort on behalf of all of Springfield's citizens.' Their statement follows:
