LIBRARY

A liberated woman

By ROSE P. SIMAN

The Springfield Public Library lists the following titles among the recently received books:

THE LIFE OF JANE ADDAMS by Hill F. Davis. This book explores the life and times of Jane Addams (founder of Hull House in Chicago), her motivation, the development of her personality and her relationship with others. We also learn something about American attitudes toward poverty, reform, women and social order from 1850 to the New Deal.

The generalization of Jane Addams (born 1860) was the first in which women went to college, developed professional careers in government, research and social work, and won the vote.

The young Jane was the product of her background and education—a Victorian young lady, the epitome of feminine innocence, her gentleness and her need to do something of value led her to the Chicago slums where she founded Hull House—a model for similar settlements all over the country.

She became an expert executive, an able organizer, a tireless writer, a persuasive speaker and public speaker. She spoke in defense of labor, social legislation, the Progressive Party, and women's suffrage.

But her anti-war efforts during World War I destroyed her good reputation, and she was dubbed a dangerous radical. Only before her death in 1935 was she again showered with honors.

SAINT AMONG LEOPARDS

"Holy Man," by Gavin Davis. Joseph Desnoyer was born in Belgium in 1880 into a large, devoutly religious family. When he was 18 he chose a religious vocation following the example of his brother, and he became Brother Damien.

Fate brought him to one of Hawaii's remote islands for leprosy victims.

Impelled by his asceticism and his belief for northern, Damien decided to spend his life ministering to the bodies and souls of the sufferers.

Although he was rewarded for his service with the highest honors, Damien's life was a struggle. He was a man of great hostility, political and religious—from others who worked in the colony.

After devoting 12 years to the leprosy, Damien himself fell victim to the dread disease, but he persisted in his self-sacrificing work until his death in 1889. Although rival Protestants attacked his morality, Damien's conviction and selfless devotion were his strength.

Once such a rider hits a rock or has a tricky wheel turn sideways while him, sending him heaped into a pile of pain, he usually moved into the next age bracket—usually middle-aged.

These people are usually middle-aged and are compressing. They come up behind you if you're willing and you like the north wind. The men are all lamed and heavily muscled from riding after the girls who just landed and that's one.

And when the young adults catch up with each other and become young marrieds, the peddling goes on but with time out to buy a kiddie car for the handbars or rear fender.

THE EAGLETON POLL

N.J.: Kennedy leads Ford

If an election for president between Gerald Ford and Edward Kennedy were held today, New Jersey would go for Kennedy. The latest New Jersey Poll, conducted by the Eagleton Institute of Rutgers University, finds Kennedy leading Ford by 48 percent to 33 percent, with the rest undecided. When those "undecideds" who lean to one or the other of the candidates are included, Kennedy leads by 53 percent to 36 percent.

Although the events at Chappaquiddick are a factor in the minds of many New Jersey voters, its impact is not decisive. Respondents 157 percent to 33 percent agree that Kennedy is a better qualified "major" candidate of becoming president, but only 31 percent say that they are likely to vote for Kennedy should it make no difference.

Voters' choices between the two men are also heavily influenced by whether they think Ford is qualified to be president. Those who consider Ford "very well qualified" or "adequately qualified" favor him over Kennedy, 50 percent to 33 percent; those who feel he is "poorly" or "not at all" qualified favor Kennedy, 64 percent to 18 percent.

"However, this view of Ford could change," noted Dr. Stephen Salmore, director of the New Jersey Poll. "If a Kennedy-Ford race were held over the next two years, the impeachment proceedings will also draw more attention to the winged leader."

A Kennedy-Ford race produces strong polarization among New Jersey political jurists. Kennedy's lead 75 percent to 17 percent among Democrats is matched by Ford's lead (79 percent to 15 percent) among Republicans with independents splitting almost evenly—40 percent for Ford and 36 percent favoring Kennedy. Salmore explained that "Kennedy's stronger showing overall in a head-to-head race is due to the fact that Democrats outnumber Republicans in New Jersey by more than two to one."

Kennedy is successful in putting together the elements of the traditional Democratic coalition. He is heavily favored by Catholics and Jews, blue collar workers, younger people and non-whites, and he does somewhat better among men than women.

"Suppose the election for President were being held today and you had to choose Ford or Kennedy," he asked. "Would you vote for Kennedy or Ford or the Republican?"

Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo

A message filtering through the halls of Congress will undoubtedly emphasize the necessity of clamping a tight lid on government spending in the coming year.

An annual unbroken string of federal budget deficits over the past two decades and widespread "spending" in the private sector have become the primary causes of inflation and our severe fiscal problems. Federal programs designed to assist the needy would be ineffective if not more so if these programs are not funded and if the government is not able to pay its bills.

When government spends more than it takes in, it must print money. This is the difference. This borrowed capital helps to fuel the fire of inflation by forcing up the costs of goods and services. It also forces up the big spenders in government if we are to have any hope of bringing inflation under control.

The National Taxpayers Conference in Washington made the point succinctly when it said, "The inflationary results from the inability of the federal government to adequately fund programs because it cannot raise sufficient funds to pay for them are staggering. The program is not only ineffective, but it is also a drain on the national treasury."

It is not only the "reasons why" I recently voted against increasing the national debt, but also the "reasons why" I voted against the bill that Congress will take them off the book should they spend too much, the agencies do a new job, and the bill is not passed. The members in Congress can usually find the means to bring home money and create new programs.

It is imperative that Congress begin reevaluating the more than $50 federal grant program to the states for the tax year of 1974. The $200 million in federal grants for the fiscal year of 1974 is a record. The federal government's domestic spending when the states are included is $100 billion. It is imperative that the rejection of the Budget Control Act of 1974 be reversed.

BUYING WISELY

From Better Business Bureau of New York

Dear Larrie:

We found a freezer and a food-freezer plan and are unhappy with the results. When we received our first supply of food, we were astonished to find that we were told that boxes and fat were weighed along with the rest of the food. We were also told that the food was not to be trimmed off later, thus reducing the actual poundage of meat. I guess we should have asked about the cuts of meat before we got to get when we first discussed the food-freezer plan.

UNHAPPY

The quantity of meat received is a source of complaint of food-freezer plan owners. It is important when you are buying a food-freezer plan that you ask about the cuts of meat, you are going to get. Will you get the undesirable cuts of meat as well?

You probably were told that the freezer meat will cost 4 cents a pound. But this price is far the actual price per pound of only those portions that you can eat, bones and all. If you consider the price per pound of only those portions that you can eat, you will find that the meat is probably costing you 20 cents a pound or more.

And inflation and scarcity are adding to the price of meat.

The state of New Jersey has advised the Washington Rock Girl Scout Council of its intention to take over the property of our Girl Scout Camp Summer County. The waterfront property, located on Swartswood Lake adjacent to our Camp Leo Henry, is an essential part of our year-round camp program. In Newark we had more accurate to say that without the waterfront, we have no camp. We think the citizens of Springfield would be interested to know that the state is acquiring this land under the Green Acres Bond Act of 1971 which permits the acquisition of property for the use of the Girl Scout Council already paid for last year. We are not sure if the property of New Jersey. On the contrary, we pay taxes on this land.

Certainly there is no just reason for this land and its historical appliances used for sale transportation before they are loaded and at the customer's expense. Such appliances as refrigerators, coolers, air conditioners, freezers, washing machines, television, and radio sets, should be sold at a discount to the customer. It is not only inconvenient to the customer but a loss as well. The carrier is not responsible for damage caused by an appliance of the customer in his responsibility.

Charter study unit lists options; decision likely Tuesday

As its August deadline nears, the Union County Charter Study Commission is completing a report on the desirability of amending the present form of government. The report will be presented to the Board of Freeholders on Tuesday night.

That's when the panel—elected by referendum last November to study possible alternatives to the present form of government—has its regular meeting. The commission, by law, must submit its report to the county clerk on or before the ninth month following its election, meaning Aug. 6.

One of the factors that influenced the drive for a charter review—eight such study panels were elected in counties in New Jersey last November—was the Muto Commission Report, issued in 1967. It concluded, "If county government is to be improved and strengthened to meet today's economic and social demands, it is to become an effective partner in a strong, responsive and representative local government system, it is essential that financial, policy and administrative control be brought directly into the hands of the elected body—the board of chosen freeholders."

The Charter Study Commission has prepared a report on its alternatives and what they mean to Union County residents. The four possible choices for the organization of county government are:

—COUNTY EXECUTIVE: Under this plan a county executive is elected as well as a board of chosen freeholders. The executive is appointed by the board of chosen freeholders and serves for a term of two years. He has the right to veto or suspend officials in the unclassified service subject to disapproval by a two-thirds vote of the board. The board of chosen freeholders acts as the legislative body, appoints members of boards and commissions and approves the annual budget.

—ELECTED SUPERVISOR: The supervisor is elected at large for a three-year term. He would preside over the board of freeholders.

—COUNTY MANAGER: This plan provides for an appointed manager who serves as the chief administrative officer, directing and supervising the work of all departments. He would be appointed by the board of chosen freeholders and serves for a term of two years. He has the right to veto or suspend officials in the unclassified service subject to disapproval by a two-thirds vote of the board. The board of chosen freeholders acts as the legislative body, appoints members of boards and commissions and approves the annual budget.

—BOARD PRESIDENT: This plan provides for the election of a board president, a member of the board of chosen freeholders, by its members for a period of two years. He has the right to veto or suspend officials in the unclassified service subject to disapproval by a two-thirds vote of the board. The board of chosen freeholders acts as the legislative body, appoints members of boards and commissions and approves the annual budget.

—ELECTED SUPERVISOR: The supervisor is elected at large for a three-year term. He would preside over the board of freeholders.

Levin pledges priorities plan, if he's elected

Adam Levin, Democratic candidate for Congressman in the 12th District, said this week his first order of business, if elected, will be to sponsor a Legislative Priority program that provides for a coordinated and comprehensive attack on the most critical problems confronting the nation.

"Since 1946 Congress has demonstrated a dismal lack of initiative and imagination in dealing with the major issues affecting the American life," Levin said. "As a result, key problems have been carried from session to session without any real progress being made. It is time for Congress to take a hard look at the issues and to take the necessary steps to solve them."

Levin said he would like to see a reorganization of the legislative process to make it more efficient and to make it more responsive to the needs of the people. # Low-interest credits granted to Soviet assailed by Rinaldo

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo (R-12th Dist.-N.J.) discusses details of testimony presented to Subcommittee on International Trade by Avraham Shifrin during recent hearings on legislation affecting Export-Import Bank. Shifrin, a Russian native now living in Israel, told House panel how the Soviet Union was employing western technology to produce weapons systems.

Rep. Rinaldo said that the Export-Import Bank was charged last week by Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo (R-12th Dist.-N.J.) with granting low interest credits to build eight chemical fertilizer plants in the Soviet Union.

He said the seven percent interest on the credit would help the Soviet Union to compete with the American fertilizer industry. It also will assist the Soviet Union in maintaining weapons production by enabling them to readily convert these new chemical plants to munitions factories.

"At a time when American business and labor are starved for investment funds and jobs, the Export-Import Bank would be lending the Soviet Union $100 million at interest rates of seven percent, considerably below the recent prime lending rate for American companies," Rep. Rinaldo said.

He charged the bank with ignoring a recent resolution that Congressman Rinaldo and 224 other members of the House approved. It instructed the Export-Import Bank to make no further loans to the Soviet Union.

Previous credit deals with the Soviet Union, Rinaldo pointed out, have done little to help that U.S. airlines that are seeking to expand their overseas business have been forced to reduce their loan requests by as much as 20 percent.

"This isn't just a matter of American dollars, technology, jobs and eventually our markets in chemical fertilizers to the Soviet Union," Rinaldo said. "The Soviet's plan to buy 20 more fertilizer plants abroad at an estimated cost of more than $1 billion as part of their five-year plan, according to Congressman Rinaldo."

"I don't believe that you can buy peace by offering foreign prices to the other guy," Rinaldo added.

He called testimony before the House Banking and Currency Committee by the Soviet Union member, that since the time of Peter the Great the Russians were able, within a short space of time, to acquire the technology, visibility and levels in the West by importing advanced technology.

Some 7.41 pct. mortgages at Manalapan community

In these days of rising prices and scarce mortgages, there are special values at Covered Bridge, the adult community on Rt. 9 in Manalapan Township, being developed by Hawaiian Enterprises Inc. of Englewood.

"Prices for our condominium homes begin at $25,990," says Kevoit S. Hovnanian, president of Hawaiian Enterprises, Inc. "That in itself is startling when you consider the total package that we've provided in Covered Bridge."

"That continues Hovnanian's 'now we have something else to help the discriminating home buyer' — a limited number of 7.41 percent, 30-year mortgages to make ownership even easier."

The mortgages, which are available for up to 90 percent of the purchase price, are made possible through a state-sponsored program. And as long as the funds remain available, these mortgages offer a significant saving over more expensive conventional financing.

With work progressing on Section Four of the growing community, there are a select number of homes in earlier sections which also qualify for the special financing.

While all the homes in the previous sections were single-story bungalows, the new units are a mix of one and two-bedroom homes in single-story and two-story variations in Section Four.

The new section offers a variety of styles, recently held its preview opening. Approximately 50 single-family dwellings are expected to be included initially in this development with the possibility of adding others in a second section at a later date.

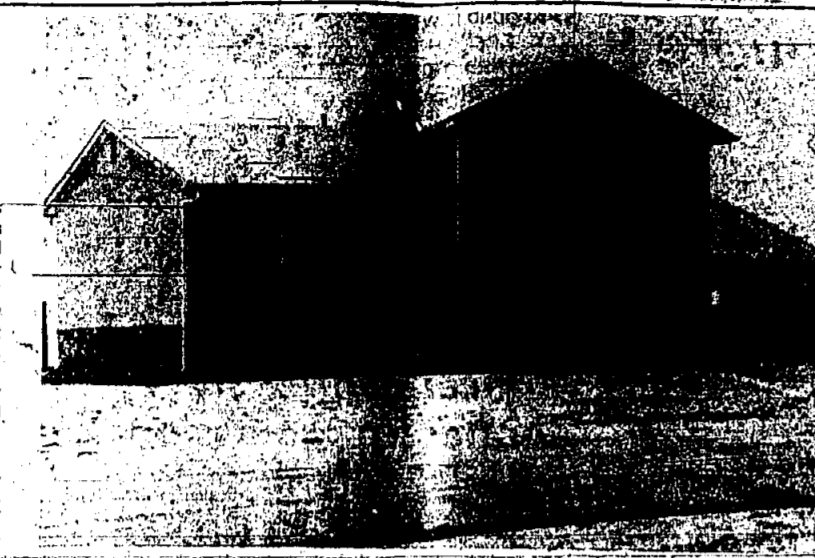

The tract of land on which these homes are being constructed was one time a farm estate. Keeping that in mind, the builders have carefully planned this development to insure that the natural atmosphere and nostalgia of the area was preserved.

Some of the convenience features are oak flooring, wall-to-wall carpeting, Westinghouse color coordinated kitchen appliance package, black insulation, all copper plumbing, electric hot air heat or baseboard heat and underground utilities.

The Sherwood, a three-bedroom, two-story, colonial with a covered entrance, offers the kitchen, family room, powder room and utility room on the first level. An alternate plan for the Sherwood features a two-car garage on the first level.

The Plymouth, a Cape Cod, features a front-facing living room, formal separate dining room, combined kitchen-dinette, laundry/utility room, attached garage and four bedrooms.

A covered entrance leads directly to the living room and dining room or balconies in Berkshire. The placement of the utility room provides access to the garage from the kitchen. The hall leading to

THE LINWOOD, a three-bedroom split level with oversized recreation room (15' x 24') is one of six models offered by Myrtle Islands-Puckett. The fully-installed, all-electric home is priced at $29,900 on an eight wooded lot, $75,000 on the Ocean view golf course section. Myrtle Islands open every day from 9 to 6, is reached from the Garden State Parkway and Rt. 9, via Exit 50 northbound, or Exit 58 southbound.

Fountains in Sea Bright report half of condos sold

Man Enterprises, developers of the Fountain, a 65-unit luxury condominium community in Sea Bright, reports that over half of the units are sold, although final construction has not yet been completed.

According to Ben Mann, "We receive rapid sales of the remaining units, taking from the interest of prospective buyers, and the response we've already received."

The Fountain is located on Ocean Avenue, overlooking the ocean to the east and the Shrewsbury river to the west. The river accommodates marina facilities available to the condominium's residents. In addition to a private beach, an onsite Olympic-size swimming pool is within walking distance of all apartments.

"Magnificent, that the area provides many surprising enjoyment possibilities, such as the Garden State Arts Center, and various cultural events, scheduled nearby. Shopping centers and major highways are also easily reached from the Fountain."

Every unit includes wall-to-wall carpeting, individually controlled air conditioning, and security intercom system.

One-family home preview held by Old Farm Village

Old Farm Village in Neptune, with seven model homes in a variety of styles, recently held its preview opening. Approximately 50 single-family dwellings are expected to be included initially in this development with the possibility of adding others in a second section at a later date.

The tract of land on which these homes are being constructed was one time a farm estate. Keeping that in mind, the builders have carefully planned this development to insure that the natural atmosphere and nostalgia of the area was preserved.

Some of the convenience features are oak flooring, wall-to-wall carpeting, Westinghouse color coordinated kitchen appliance package, black insulation, all copper plumbing, electric hot air heat or baseboard heat and underground utilities.

The Sherwood, a three-bedroom, two-story, colonial with a covered entrance, offers the kitchen, family room, powder room and utility room on the first level. An alternate plan for the Sherwood features a two-car garage on the first level.

The Plymouth, a Cape Cod, features a front-facing living room, formal separate dining room, combined kitchen-dinette, laundry/utility room, attached garage and four bedrooms.

A covered entrance leads directly to the living room and dining room or balconies in Berkshire. The placement of the utility room provides access to the garage from the kitchen. The hall leading to the second level and its suite, with seven model homes incorporated in the design of the Berkley. The farrowton, split-level, features a second-level entertainment center with large living room, adjoining dining room and color coordinated kitchen. A recreation room and den or fourth bedroom on the first level plus three bedrooms on the third level complete this home.

While the emphasis is on functional design in the commanding feature is the balconied living room on the upper level. The sense of space is further captured by the large eat-in kitchen and bedroom wing containing two bedrooms and the master bedroom with private entry to the full bath.

90 homes left at Coventry Square

The opening of the final sections at Coventry Square, Kaufman and Broad's Tudor-style clubhouse in Lakewood, has been announced by Ernest A. Serena, president. Serena points out the opening of these final sections makes available for purchase the last 90 townhouses in the condominium complex.

Coventry Square's country club setting has attracted a blend of residents that includes young couples—many with children—adult couples and singles, who are taking advantage of the wide range of recreational activities available.

The community's Tudor-style clubhouse and adjoining recreational complex includes such facilities as gymnasium, saunas, locker rooms, arts and crafts studio, billiard room, library, auditorium, Olympic-size swimming pool, tennis courts, playground and ballfield.

Townhouses are of Tudor or Colonial design, and are available with two or three bedrooms, plus den. All units feature plenty of storage space and backyard patio area.

The Ballfou, typical of a two bedroom townhouse, is open for viewing by prospective buyers. Its lower level has a living room, kitchen, dining area, storage closet and powder room. Adjoining the kitchen is a utility-laundry room.

The second floor includes a master bedroom with a connecting bath, second bedroom and sitting room. The ballfou is priced from $29,990, with a minimum of $1,500 as five percent down. Mortgage financing is available to qualified buyers. Serena points out Coventry Square's location in Lakewood places it within convenient distance of schools, churches, a hospital, stores and shopping malls, golf and country clubs, seashore recreational facilities and public transportation. Express commuter buses are available, directly from the community into Manhattan.

To reach Coventry Square take the Garden State Parkway south to Exit 91, proceed straight approximately 1/2 mile to Rt. 526, then right to Rt. 9, proceed right (north) one block to Kennedy boulevard, and turn right to Coventry Square. # Alfalfa whipped topping!

Edible protein now processed

Imagine an edible protein from alfalfa in the form of a whipped topping for your chocolate sundae, pumpkin pie or Irish coffee. The possibility of such a topping and other applications of soluble protein from alfalfa was contained in a report from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Western Regional Research Laboratory, presented by Benny K. Knuckies at the recent national meeting of the American Chemical Society in Los Angeles.

Scientists of the Western Regional Research Laboratory had previously reported the processing of a bland-tasting, white, insoluble protein, suitable for use in breads, pastas, stews, gravies, ground meats, milk substitutes and other preprocessed foods.

Now, they have modified their process to yield a soluble, rather than an insoluble protein. In other words, they now know how to form an edible white protein from green alfalfa juice can be produced. Production of the insoluble form is in the pilot-plant stage, while the modified process is laboratory-bench scale.

The major component of the soluble protein concentrate from green alfalfa juice is a foam-stabilizing protein of alfalfa, called "Fraction I Protein." The foam stabilizing property, along with the protein's ability to gel, suggest its possible use in soups, sausages, meat extenders, and whipped toppings, said Knuckies. Most of the world's protein exists in green leaves. However, this protein is not consumed directly by humans because of its high fiber content and bitter taste.

Protein research on alfalfa, previously resulted in a process yielding a green protein concentrate suitable for poultry feed supplement, and a heat-precipitated insoluble white protein. The new process reported in Los Angeles, called PFD-XAN II, utilizes controlled heating and centrifugation to separate the green protein from the unchanged white protein and bitter taste.

Knuckies has taken this solution of white protein and used ultrafiltration to remove salts, color, and taste to produce a soluble cream-colored protein. Ultrafiltration concentrates the protein by removing up to 50 percent of the water and 80 percent of the nonprotein solids. Adding water and continuing ultrafiltration removes still more nonprotein solids, yielding a product of about 95 percent protein (dry basis). This protein, after adjustment to pH 7 and freeze-drying, will redissolve in water at room temperature.

SOCCER SCENE

BY BILL WILD
The Greek Americans of the GASI, downed the results of Chicago, 2-0, to take the National Open Challenge Cup, the Dewar's Cup, for the fourth time in nine years. This is the same team which the Elizabethan Lacrosse defeated twice in a row the last two weeks only to have the games awarded to the Greek because of mix-ups in re-signing their players who had left the team to play in other leagues. It makes the goal good to know that a regular team here in Union can knock off the national champions twice.

The N.J. Brewers got off to a hot start in their home opener down in Tom's River last Saturday night when they came in on the short end of a 5-1 score against Providence. The Brewers missed two penalty shots, which could have turned the game their way. The next home game for the Brewers will be the Cincinnati Comets. The ASL game will be played at St. Joseph High School in Tom's River on Saturday, June 22, at 8 p.m., under the lights.

As I said last week, the New York Cosmos will put it all together, and on Sunday they did just that. They knocked off the Philadelphia Minutemen, who are in second place in their division of the NASL, 2-1. The Cosmos were sparked by newcomer Geoff Young from the English League. Former Philadelphia SC forward Carlos Menditero put Boston ahead in the first half on a shot that looked a strange long one. It was the Cosmos who put on the show in the second half. Cosmos goalie Shep Messing, in the second half from Harold Jordan to give the Cosmos their first victory of the season.

The Cosmos now trail third place the Rochester eleven owned the league championship Philadelphia Minutemen, 1-0. It was the first win for the Atlanta, Toronto leads the Northern Division with 25 points in three games, followed by Houston with 21 points with five games played. Rochester has 17 points, Philadelphia, St. Louis and Los Angeles lead the other divisions.

The Cosmos will go against the Philadelphia Minutemen on Sunday at 3 p.m. on Humana.

DeliaPello and singles by Joanne Vassili. Maureen Monetti, Lauren Miller, Valerie Liccusi and Ellen Halper, Pittenger, Miller and DeliaPello each had three hits for the Red Sox, leading the 20-hit attack.

A single-elimination playoff for the American League championship will begin Monday at Washington Field, with the Yankees meeting the Angels and the Tigers playing the Twins. Bases were drawn by the Red Sox, who will face the Yankees-Angels winner, and the Orioles, who will play the Tigers-Twins winner.

Semifinal action is scheduled for Wednesday, June 12, and the final game Friday, June 14.

In the National League, for sixth, seventh and eighth graders, the Braves remained unbeaten, defeating the Expos, 4-2, behind Ellen Steve's pitching and hitting. Ellen gave up 12 hits, but was able to get the big outs in the clutch. In addition, she drove in all four runs—with a three-run homer in the first and a solo run in the sixth.

The Red Sox scored once in the first on hits by Leslie Grant homered and a double by Melissa Zandell and Jackie Pecoraro were wasted in the second, as was a RBI-inning hit by Arlene Isaac.

In a make-up of an earlier rain-out game, Sandman upset first place Park Department, 2-1, in a real pitcher's duel. The winning pitcher for Sandman was Agee Krystis while Robert Meskin took the tough loss for Fire Department.

Time To Spare

A private bedroom can mean the difference between an idle old age and an active one. That's the observation of Bettyann Haschko, an authority on architectural design for the elderly, who has compared the activities of elderly persons living in studio apartments with those living in non-bedroom units.

Mrs. Haschko finds that senior citizens living in studio apartments will face a worthwhile project of a new hobby because it "meets a need" of their own. "On the other hand, those elderly persons who live in separate bedroom units have a place to store their projects and therefore look forward to pursuing new interests."

"Man adapts too readily to conditions that might injure his health," she explains. "The elderly will let nothing jeopardize a quality of order in their units. Full of pride of maintenance, personal self-respect, or what order is so important to the elderly that they will limit or forego activities that curtail their lives by new pursuits."

For that reason, this designer urges planners of facilities for the elderly to include private spaces or areas that a person can manage according to his wishes. "Possession of a tangible piece of space seems almost essential for one's identity. Private space is a stimulus in maintaining an area. Much like owning a small garden, it offers the opportunity for planning, arranging and rearranging."

The School of Law, which conducts classes in Newark will present the President's Medal to former N. J. Governor Richard J. Hughes who will deliver the commencement address. U. S. District Court Judge Frederick B. Lacey will receive an honorary degree.

In other areas—computation, with whole number, fractions, decimals and percents, number concepts, and problem solving. Regional 12th graders had scored commensurate with the state level data. However, the test results of the former section who had taken only basic general or business-math courses in high school showed much variability, according to the report. "The students had difficulty with aspects of division, addition, multiplication of whole numbers and decimals. Perhaps the greatest weakness was found in dealing with fractions. Addition, subtraction, multiplication and division of fractions regarding addition and division of whole numbers in basic algebra and geometry and measurement concepts." The report states: "Students who had taken college preparatory math courses, such as algebra and geometry, for two years or less produced 'very good results' on the tests." "Success in the classes dealing with problem solving, basic algebra, geometry and measurement of the 'weakness' showed among those who were in classes with percentages where equivalence to fractions and decimals and problems dealing with percents and circle graphs showed a need for improvement."

The ability of students who had more than two years of college preparatory math with "very good" results, particularly in basic algebra, geometry and measurement problems. The results indicated an overall need for improvement in computation of whole numbers, decimals and fractions for students who have had only basic math courses, and upgrading in the areas of equivalence to fractions, decimals and graph problems for all students. In reading a need was cited for improvement in teaching for understanding and use of the language.

The recommendations offered were as follows:
1. Curricular examination, led by subject coordinators, to review all test items to ascertain needed curricular revisions.
2. New ninth grade testing program, to diagnose achievement needs of incoming high school students.
3. Remedial work with individual students to be considered after ascertaining their level of remediation.
4. Workshops for teachers to reexamine teaching skills in mathematics in the K-12 levels.
5. A review of the basic skill units within the ninth and tenth grade basic mathematics courses.
Inspection of all district test scores may be made at the office of the Superintendent of Schools, 441 Mountain Ave., Springfield. Inspection of individual school test scores may be made by contacting the principal at each of the facilities: Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield; Gov. Livingston, Berkeley Heights; Clark Freeport, Kenilworth; Arthur L. Johnson, Dover.

late arrival freedom. If the school were in a more central location, he said, he could support the suggestion. While expressing some doubts about a smoking area, he said, "If we could insure that the lavatories and school buses would remain smoke-free, I might go for it." Young Becker referred to open lunch and late arrival programs recently approved at Dayton and Brentley, adding, "The other schools all get something." Phil Zelman and Andy Muehlebach, Dayton Student Council and senior class president, respectively, expressed support for the GT proposal. They went on to press for board action on their demand for revision of the attendance rules, which for several months they have assailed as unduly punitive. Charles Vitale of Kenilworth, board president, commented, "Our actions on this have not been a failure. The board has been working on a revised policy, and it is now in the hands of our attorney for final review." It will be presented at the July 2 board meeting at Breasley-Regional. Replying to charges that the "system does not work," he added, "It will work if you give it a chance. If your ideas are not all carried out because board members do not agree with you, it doesn't mean that nobody is listening." In other business, the board approved a fund drive this month at Dayton to be sponsored by the American Field Services. Proposals will help an AFS foreign exchange student to spend the next year at Dayton. The board accepted the resignations of two Dayton faculty members: social studies teacher Iris Cooley and mathematics teacher Carolyn O'Brien. Jane Westerheld, a Dayton mathematics teacher on temporary status, was hired for next year to fill an additional vacancy. Pay raises for having received master's degrees were approved for Manuel Pereira at Dayton and Carmine Vitale at A.L. Johnson Regional in Clark. Dr. Martin Stigel, director of cognition, explained that youngsters who are moved into second-year foreign language or mathematics courses as a result of work done in the seventh and eighth grades cannot receive additional course credit toward graduation for this work because such action is prohibited by state regulations. He added that credit toward college admission is up to the individual colleges.

Scappy's and PBA capture crowns in divisions of Youth Major Leagues

The Springfield Youth Major Leagues completed their regular season this past week. Scappy's finished in first place in the American Division, while the PBA took the National Division. Each member of the teams will receive divisional patches. Scappy's assured themselves first place by winning their final two regular season games, beating Halper Bros. 12-3, and the other over National Division championship PBA, 3-0. In the Scappy victory over Halper Bros., Puliam made his pitching debut, allowing only three hits while striking out eight batters in the four innings he pitched. Todd McLennan contributed three hits for Scappy's, while Puliam helped his own cause with two hits. Sid Schein and Scott Miller also had two hits for Scappy's. Dean Pashian and Mark Ackerman had the key hits for Halper. Kevin Karp showed fine form in pitching the final two innings. Scappy's defeated the PBA on the two-hit pitching of Todd McLennan. Todd's key hits along with the timely hitting of John Alvey, while Puliam was too much for the PBA to handle. Puliam's five stolen bases were a key factor in Scappy's victory. inning were delivered by Mitch Gimelstob, David Moss, John Siegel and Ray Zeffner. In the third inning, John Gamberino and Kevin Russo both singled and scored on Pat Pappalardo's three-run homer. Jayne's final run scored in the fifth as a result of Dave Kirchenbaum's double. Pat Pappalardo and Barry Sherman shared the pitching chores for Jayne's. Fine fielding plays were turned in by Lions Club's Jimmy Crater and Lonnie Dworkin. The PBA defeated Creamtown, 3-0. Todd McLennan pitched for Creamtown, but he was picked off by the rubber at second and the Lions Club's Craig Clackinger, Rickie Poppe, and Peter Preker all contributed key hits for Jayne's. Jayne's defeated Lions Club, 9-4. Lions scored three runs in the first inning after two walks. Peter Preker's single and all three runs on Steven Keasler's double. Lions scored one in the third and three more in the fourth on hits by Peter Preker, Mike Silver, Jeff Kneert, Steven Keasler and Jeff Snyder. The final Lions' run scored in the sixth after Mike

Silver's single, Jeff Kneert's double brought in home runs. Jayne's scored their first two runs in the first on singles by Dave Kirchenbaum and Scott Worwick. Three more runs scored in the second for Jayne's, all driven in on John Levine's homerun. In the third inning, John Gamberino and Kevin Russo both singled and scored on Pat Pappalardo's three-run homer. Jayne's final run scored in the fifth as a result of Dave Kirchenbaum's double. Nationals topple Americans, 9-6, in all-star game

The combined pitching of Scott Munley, Drew Johns and Vincent Cervone led Springfield's National League Youth Minor League to a 9-6 victory over the American League in an all-star game. Pitching for American League were Val Della Pella, Alan Berliner and Brian Silber. For the National League, Joe DeMark had a perfect day, hitting three for three—two singles and a double driving in three runs. Scott Munley's triple brought in two runs. Chris Conatas had two singles and Vincent Cervone a double. Andrew Peckham's single and Lenzy Glasman's double drove in runs. Tom Danielt and Glen Phillips made great catches in the outfield. Chris Conatas made a fine play at second base which helped stop an American League rally. For the American League, Val Della Pella, Alan Berliner, Steve Warner and Agee Krystyik had singles. Agee Krystyik drove in two runs, while Steve Warner drove in one run. Although losing, the American League pitchers combined to strike out 15 men.

Local school test

phetic analysis, as well as the district, individual performance, relative maturity, individual learning style or aptitude and interests. THE RESULTS are interpreted in terms of the number of correct responses on test items that the majority of Springfield students were reasonably expected to attain. The items cover skill objectives and are arranged in clusters in both reading and mathematics. For instance, subtraction of three-digit numbers with regrouping is one of the skill objectives in the addition and subtraction cluster in mathematics. There are seven major skill clusters in the mathematics test and five skill clusters in the reading test. The percent observed correct on each test item were reported for the state, regions, counties, and community types. All school districts were given the option to select their own reference group for comparative analysis, and results should be viewed in that light. It should be noted that the Springfield scores were higher than county, regional and state. Similar suburban communities were therefore used as a comparative reference point for this report. The reading test clusters comprised: (1) phonic analysis, (2) word structure, (3) word knowledge, (4) reading comprehension and (5) study skills. The math test items tested in the five clusters, only three items were found to need remedial work. It was felt that more stress is needed in distinguishing between fact and fiction in the comprehension cluster, as well as long vowels and digraphs two letters representing a single speech sound, as in "rain" in the phonic analysis cluster. The mathematics test clusters included: (1) addition and subtraction, (2) multiplication and division, (3) measurement and geometry, (4) problem solving, (5) number concepts, (6) number sentences and (7) conversion. Of the 12 items in the seven clusters, only four items need remediation. These include: "equation" mutation in the number cluster; use of the symbols for "greater than" and "less than" in the number sentence cluster; "three times" by one digit multiplication problems involving 26 in the multiplication and division cluster; and the "relative position" two-digit comparison in the measurement and geometry cluster. In relation to other suburban communities, 113 out of 140 test items were successfully completed by a district-wide basis. Although we take pride in these achievements, the happy result of successful student, parent and teacher cooperation would also like to take commendation of accomplishments as measured by these tests. "Unprecedented accomplishments in such areas as art, physical education, music, home economics, industrial arts, outdoor, special services, adaptive sports and speech, also led to the growth of our children."

Best season ever in jayvee baseball

The Jonathan Dayton Regional Junior varsity baseball team finished the 1974 season with its best record ever (12-7) and their highest finish in the Suburban Conference—second place. Coach Manuel Pereira's squad was led by pitchers Greg Allen, a lefty, and Bob McGurdy, a right-hander. Both will undoubtedly make the varsity next year and strengthen what appears to be a very strong pitching staff. Star Ruff, played centerfield for the junior varsity and, in addition to showing a fine throwing arm, wound up as the team's leading hitter, joining him in the outfield were Art Leaks in right and Vinnie Mirabella. Infielders hoping to jump up to next year's varsity include shortstop Mike Thomas, Bill Murtagh, Ron Nash and McGurdy who doubled as a first baseman.

'Zeke' on nationwide TV Discus hurler in NCAA meet

Springfield will be represented on nationwide television this weekend when ABC's Wide World of Sports program telecasts the NCAA track and field championships from Austin, Tex. Competing in the meet is Jonathan Dayton Regional High School graduate Bruce Zabelski, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Zabelski of 59 Battleground, Springfield. Zabelski ("Zeke" to his friends) who also has qualified for the AAU track meet to be held at UCLA in California June 21 and 22, is a top class thrower, who managed to get into the NCAA meet with a throw of 128-0. Now a junior at the University of Texas at El Paso, the young athlete has been described by at least one Texas sportswriter as being "on the verge of national prominence." The first step in gaining that fame may come with this week's televised meet, if Bruce can maintain his past records in the sport—his best being 196-8. His past throwings have led his coach to state the lad has all the potential of being "the best in the country" among collegians. Zabelski's other track specialties include 100-10, Dallas International champion; 100-3, Puerto Rican Relay; 122, Second Team All-American; 100-10, Third All-Comers Meet in El Paso. Ironically, Zabelski's first love was not track and field, but rather, baseball. He was a pitcher for Dayton, and also a letterman in football, but a couple of broken arms and injuries sustained in the latter sport sidelined him. It was then in his sophomore year, that he turned to track. As a junior he was already throwing the discus 10 feet, the second best in the state. As a senior, he won the state title, throwing 171. In addition to hurling the discus and javelin, Zabelski also competes with the hammer and shot put. And his collegiate achievements do not take place all outside the classroom—he's been named to the dean's list for academic excellence in the fall semester.

Stahl's surprises Book Reviewers

V. J. Stahl's hand-drawn Book Review is the first of his three singles, and scored Larry Ehrhart who had walked. Drexel scored two unearned runs in the second as Frank Phillips doubled and scored an infield error. Bill Seawall singled home the other run. But Ehrhart collected three solid hits and four runs in the third, as John Johnson provided a two-run double. Harry Welnerman brought Drexel some hope in the fourth with a two-run homer but Jim Ehrhart answered with a two-run homer in the bottom of the fourth. Stahl collected three winning pitches and Lee Kneert was the loser.

Stahl's jumped an instant pitcher Nat Stokes early as they tallied nine runs in the first two innings. Ed Stahl and Dale Lies each doubled in two runs in the first inning, while Jack Stahl hit a three-run homer in the second. Nat Stokes doubled in two runs for Book Review and Rich Poppe singled him home to make the score 9-3. Stahl's tallied four more runs in the third on singles from Steve Baltesera, Jack Stahl, Phil Gerhart, Ed Cook and Jack Brennan. The Book Review tried to rally back when Gil Battig hit a two-run homer into the pool area behind the right field fence, but it was not enough. George Aspinall got the victory. Wilpat came from behind to upset Meeker, 4-2, to remain undefeated in league play. Norm Mulrow put Meeker in front in the second inning with a solo home run. They added another run in the same inning on successive singles from Tom Burke, Ed Cook and Jack Brennan. The scoreboard no longer showed Tom Burke who had doubled. The winners then collected the winning runs in the fifth on a walk to Ben DiPalma, a single from Jim Maki, and two run scoring singles from Frank Monticello and Bob Wisbart. Tom Burke got the win as Curney Dingle took the loss. Ehrhart's TV scores all their runs in the first four innings and went on to defeat Drexel 10-4. Bill Ehrhart and Mike Pagan got 23 outs on the scoreboard with back-to-back homers in the first inning. Glen Schneider then

Program opens medical mainstream

Fifth Channel gives experience to doctors

Dr. Richard Feinold looks like any other young medical graduate at Overlook Hospital, Summit, although at 6' 2" and 200 pounds, he is taller than most.

But there are more important and perhaps less obvious differences. Dr. Feinold is a bit older than his colleagues, and his education is different. A native of Irvington, he is a graduate of the medical school of the University of Bologna, Italy, one of an estimated 6,000 Americans who annually go abroad for their medical training.

Until recently, many of these foreign-trained M.D.'s had very little chance of coming home directly into hospital residencies and internships. Instead, they were trained because they lacked the clinical training that is required in New Jersey and other states. But that situation is changing.

In September 1972, Dr. Feinold and 18 other holders of foreign medical degrees entered the new Fifth Channel program at the Rutgers Medical School and the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey. Nine months and countless hours of intensive clinical training later, all obtained their coveted internships or residencies, led them in New Jersey hospitals.

It is the clinical training that most graduates of foreign medical schools lack, a deficiency, according to Dr. W. Edward McGoough, director of the CMJND-Hulgers Medical School Fifth Channel program, that keeps them from competing on an equal basis with their U.S.-trained fellow interns and residents.

Dr. Feinold had "A" grades in his science courses, an undergraduate degree at Uppsala College, in East Orange, and an impressive record at Bologna. However, he had received Citizens might be more aware of the enormity of the solid waste problem in this country if they had a clearer idea of the accompanying costs. Federal officials estimate that disposal of municipal wastes alone in this country costs about $3.5 billion a year. As an expenditure, this ranks third behind school and highway construction in New York City. For example, has approximately $100 million a year. The per capita breakdown of this total is that one-third of a household responsibility to residents between $30-50 per annum.

Finance reports of candidates due

David F. Norcross, executive director of the New Jersey Election Law Enforcement Commission, this week reminded candidates for public office that the Campaign Finance Disclosure Law is applicable to all candidates, except county committeemen and county committeewomen, who ran in the June 4 primary election.

"Reports from each candidate were due on May 10, May 28 and will be due on June 18. We are particularly concerned about getting the work out because in the general election, the breakdown of budgets is lowest at the municipal level."

"Candidates who have not yet filed in either of the pre-election periods of oversight should correct this deficiency as soon as possible," the director said. "Because of printing problems, the distribution of forms was delayed and the commission will, of course, take this into account when reviewing compliance with the first reporting deadline by candidates."

One leg to NW, one to SW may close the gap on Rt. 78

Springfield, together with ramps onto Springfield Avenue, and for Rt. 84 from Springfield to Chatham, the section of Rt. 24 from Chatham to Morristown is scheduled to open in about a year. Other estimates place it somewhat later.

The Rt. 24-287 detour would cover about 28 miles, about eight miles more than the direct line along Rt. 78. With freeway driving for the entire distance, it would almost certainly be quicker than the use of local streets.

But it is an alternative that will be available only to those who know about it—or if the DOT puts up appropriate signs directing drivers along the alternate roads.

Local residents using the roadabout will be able to get off and on Rt. 78 at an interchange that will have ramps spread out between Burdett Avenue and Springfield Avenue. Entrances to eastbound Rt. 78 and westbound Rt. 287, which in turn connects with section of Rt. 78 that is already open to traffic.

For motorists planning to use Rt. 78 some time this year, the shortest distance between two points could well be around two sides of a triangle.

That, at least, could be the route to follow, for the quickest traveling time, if not the shortest mileage.

If road construction now under way moves ahead on schedule, it will offer an alternative to the existing line of Rt. 78 through the Watchung Reservation.

In the event of the reservation, in Springfield, Union and in Newark Airport, construction of 78 in various stages of completion; west of the reservation, from Berkeley Heights to Pennsylvania line, the road is already open to traffic. But the State Department of Transportation is only now starting to restudy the environmental impact of the path chosen through the reservation, pushing actual construction of that segment off into the undetermined future.
