

4-week program at Drew will be open to the public

Drew University, Madison, announced this week that its special four-week courses of undergraduate study during January will again be open to the general public and students not regularly attending Drew. Inaugurated last January, the program limits the students to a single course, thus offering the opportunity to concentrate on just one topic for about 10 hours a week for an entire month.

Drew will grant three academic credits to everyone who successfully completes a course in the program. January tuition for students not regularly enrolled at Drew is about 20 percent below that charged for comparable courses during the regular academic year.

Among the special courses offered in January, and available in the fall or spring semesters, is a botany field trip to Puerto Rico, an examination of alternate realities through the writings of Carlos Castaneda, and a study of poverty and community action programs.

Courses will be offered in folk religion, Judaism and Protestantism, comparative religion, in political violence, and in the psychology of violence. Also available will be a seminar in hypnosis and hypno-energetic therapy and a multi-disciplinary study of scholarly material relating to the phenomenon of death, the dying process, mourning, and burial rites.

For those interested less in "how come" and more in "how to," there will be courses in filmmaking, photographic documentaries of arts, the making of a newspaper, and the development and performance of musical theater.

Other offerings will deal with applied qualitative economic research, the 20th century Southern writers of fiction, contemporary women writers and feminist criticism, James Joyce, non-fiction literature, the art of Franz Kafka, the European radical right prior to World War II, the American presidency from Washington to Watergate, calculus, statistics, political alternatives, adult psychology, socialization, physiology and career development, the evolution of Latin American culture, and the social implications of biology.

Two non-credit courses will be taught by students, one titled "Person and Persons in the Works of Herman Hesse" and the other, "Trends and Themes in Modern Science Fiction."

Fiction intended for the general public in the courses should contact the registrar.

Union woman, JWV combine to give hospital flag, flagpole

Mrs. Florence Conington of Caldwell Ave., Union, and Ellen-Linger Post of the Jewish War Veterans of America recently combined efforts and donated an American flag and a flagpole to Newark Beth Israel Medical Center.

The flag, given by Mrs. Conington, and the pole, donated by the Post, will be dedicated on Sunday.

The flag was given by Mrs. Conington, a Medical Center employee, by the U.S. Army following the death of her husband in 1965. George Conington had been a lieutenant colonel in the Army's Airborne Division during World War II and the flag was presented to his widow at the time of his funeral.

"I wanted to do something for the Medical Center and I believe that a flag is meant to wave," Mrs. Conington said. "I hope it will bring pleasure to the patients, visitors and staff."

The 30-foot flagpole, which is in front of the Medical Center's new multi-million dollar patient care Pavilion, replaces one that was torn down to make room for the Pavilion.

According to Norman Schwartz, the former county commander of the J.W.V., the flagpole signifies the veterans' continued interest in the support of the Medical Center.

Insurance limit for bank deposits goes up Nov. 27

Legislation increasing the maximum amount of federal insurance from $25,000 to $50,000 per account on savings bank deposits, effective Nov. 27, will provide added incentive for savings accounts depositors, the president of the Savings Bank Association of New Jersey declared this week.

"The measure signed into law by President Gerald Ford guarantees each depositor's savings up to $50,000," said James K. Peety. "It is still further evidence of the safety inherent in savings account investments in these times of economic uncertainty." Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation premiums are paid by the member banks.

"Under the new legislation, by setting up properly-prepared individual, joint and trust accounts, a family can have insured savings totaling well in excess of $50,000," Peety, who is also president of the Bloomfield Savings Bank, explained.

"Most other types of investments have an element of risk," he continued. "But savings accounts have a built-in safety factor that is now reinforced by the raised insurance." Savings bank depositors have an added reason for keeping their money in banks.

"The increased flow of savings deposits, expected to be triggered by the hike in insurance,

Federal jobs 'barely keep up' with the growth in population

Preferential civilian employment increased three-quarters of a million in the quarter ending in 1973, but the ratio of federal employment to population was higher in 1973 than it was 25 years earlier, according to Herbert Bienslock, the U.S. Department of Labor's assistant regional director for the Bureau of Labor Statistics, who heads the BLS office in New York.

Federal civilian employment rose by 764,000 from 1,835,000 in 1948 to 2,597,000 in 1973. Yet, Bienslock noted this week, federal employment barely kept up with the rate of population growth—in both 1948 and 1973 there were almost 13 federal civilian employees per 1,000 U.S. population.

Bienslock said the greatest expansion of federal civilian employment has typically occurred during wars, with the ratio during World War II peaking in 1944 when there were 23 federal employees per 1,000 population. During the Korean War, federal employment peaked in 1952 with 15 employees per 1,000 population and during the Vietnam War the federal government had 14 employees for every 1,000 population in 1972. Since then there have been almost 13 federal civilian employees per 1,000 U.S. population.

County aid sought for creek improvements

The Township Committee Tuesday night resolved to seek county aid for flood control work along Van Winkle's Creek which had been planned initially by the township and the Regional High School District Board of Education. Acting before more than 300 residents in the meeting room at Town Hall, the governing body noted that the bids received for the work were so above expectations as to put the job out of reach. Instead of an anticipated figure of $25,000, the low bid for the work was $23,300.

Declaring that the county has authorized the sharing of flood control costs with municipalities on a 50-50 basis, the committee said that Springfield has met requirements for the funds. It noted that it involves three governmental entities: township, the school board and the Union Park Park Commission, through whose land the creek runs. The work would extend from Wilkeson Avenue to Hersey road.

In another flood-related action, the committee authorized filing of a lawsuit against the N.J. Department of Transportation, and the Division of Water Resources of that department, to force the state to fund the cost of additional dredging of the Highway 79. The state has cleared sediment from the river within the Rt. 79 right-of-way, but has left the channel blocked below that point.

The committee also voted to oppose a number of recommendations contained in the Union County Transportation plan issued this summer by the County Planning Board.

The resolution opposed plans to make "Milltown road a county road and to build an overpass at Route Palmer resigns as director of Jonathan Dayton athletics

Herbert H. Palmer, athletic director of Jonathan Dayton Regional High School, Springfield, has resigned his post to accept a position as assistant principal and athletic director at Hanover Park High School.

Palmer, who has been associated professionally with the Springfield school for 20 years as a teacher and coach of football, wrestling, track and golf, actually began his Dayton career in 1952 as a student. He starred on the local football and wrestling teams, and went on to become a stand-out athlete in football and track at Maryville (Tenn.) College. He returned to Dayton as a teacher in 1955, after teaching and coaching baseball in Houston.

In 1961, Palmer's Dayton football squad captured the state sectional Group 3 championship with a 7-1 record. His other football teams posted records of 6-3, 5-3-1, 4-4, and 6-2-1. He relinquished his post as grid coach in 1963.

Palmer, a native of Kenilworth, now resides in Morris Plains with his wife, Mary, and their two children. He holds an M.A. degree in education from Rutgers University and has permanent certification as principal and supervisor in the State of New Jersey.

He is a member of the National Education Association; the New Jersey Education Association; the Union County Teachers Association; the Jonathan Dayton Teachers Association; the New Jersey Athletic Directors Association; AAHPERD; the National Association of Athletic Directors; and the New Jersey Wrestling Officials Association, which he served as state president from 1969 through 1971.

PALMER ALSO is president of the Union County Athletic Conference, secretary-treasurer of the Watchung Athletic Conference, president of Suburban Conference, and a member of the New Jersey Football Officials Association and the Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Officials Association.

He recently was selected as one of 700 persons to be listed in the 1974 edition of "Outstanding Educators of America." According to V. Gilbert Beers, director of the Washington, D.C.-based publication, the recognition is awarded on the basis of a teacher's civic and professional achievements.

The coach also has been honored in another manner, at a testimonial dinner sponsored by his colleagues from the Regional District schools. Postmaster was Roy Yanchus, three attending included coaches John Swedish, Michael Landin, Peter Socca, John Esposito and Ted Ams and drama coach Joseph F. Trinity.

The Jonathan Dayton Teachers Association will hold a formal dinner honoring Palmer on Dec. 19 at Wally's in Watchung. Persons wishing to attend may contact Marcia Kinder at 376-6206 for reservations.

Discussing his decision to leave Dayton, Palmer said, "The move to Hanover Park will be much more rewarding financially and it is a step upward in administration—something I've been looking forward to since I took over as athletic director in 1960. I hate to leave Dayton, but it was an offer I couldn't refuse."

His departure leaves Martin A. Taglienti (teacher), Roy Yanchus (golf and basketball) and Edward J. Jaskolski (baseball) as the senior members of the Jonathan Dayton coaching staff.

Exercise for skiers

Even before the snow flies, skiers will have a chance to shape up for their favorite sport at the Summit YWCA. Starting next Thursday, Nov. 14, the YWCA will conduct a series of six 45-minute weekly exercise sessions designed specifically for skiers. The work will concentrate on strengthening the leg muscles and developing overall endurance.

Leslie Coddington will instruct the course Thursday evenings from 6:30 to 7:15. It is open to skiers of all ages; men, women and children.

Registration is now going on at the Summit YWCA, 79 Maple Street in Summit. For more information, readers may call Sheila Drobahn, assistant director of health, physical education and recreation, at 273-4242.

Leslie's in the limelight

Leslie Ackerman's theatrical aspirations were thwarted temporarily when she tried out for several Jonathan Dayton Regional High School plays and was accepted for only one. Undaunted by less than a successful amateur career, she simply turned professional, and she has not had time to concern herself about high school theatricals.

The 16-year-old Springfield girl (living in Manhattan at present) graduated from Dayton Regional last January and is now appearing on Broadway at the Lyceum Theater in an original play by Honor Moore called "Morning Pictures." This is a story of a mother dying of cancer and the interactions of the family, waiting the night of death.

Leslie is also in a motion picture with Carroll O'Connor and Ernest Borgnine called "Law and Disorder," which is playing in New York prior to its New Jersey release. Leslie plays the part of O'Connor's daughter in the story of a taxicab driver and a waitress, Borgnine, who become auxiliary policemen to try to halt the rash of crime infesting their neighborhood.

In a recent interview, Leslie compared filming to live theater. "In filming, you can always retake a scene—things are not done in sequence. They are all out of context when you are shooting them. In the theater, the action is in sequence. As an example, the set for the play was schooled by professional actors, delaying the previews for one full week. But that's how it is."

Leslie's first professional work was as a stage actress. She played in summer stock for two seasons in Belport, N.J., and has appeared in other productions, including one in Carnegie Hall in New York. Her acquaintance with the theater was schooled by professional actors, delaying the previews for one full week. But that's how it is.

'74 Israeli Fair to feature display of arts and crafts

The 1974 Israeli Fair, to be held at Temple Shalom, Springfield, from Saturday, Nov. 20, through Wednesday, Nov. 27, will offer an exhibit and sale of the works of modern Israeli artists along with a "street" of shops, which also will feature ceramics, jewelry, clothing, toys, hand-blown rugs, and a mini "super soil" market with Israeli food products.

Among the artists whose works will be displayed during the fair are Zvi Etzion, who paints in oils, water colors and acrylics; Haim Sadeh (Haim, son of Moppe), who creates batiks; Zvi Livni, watercolorist; David Star, who creates drawings; painter Baya Adlin and Elyahu Spirand and Ella Hagan, creator of collages, and her artist husband Shmuel.

The fair will be open to visitors beginning on Saturday, Nov. 20, from 8 p.m. to midnight and from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Sunday through Wednesday. Entry is free. The fair will feature a variety of Israeli art and crafts.

Positions still available in street hockey league

There are still openings in the street hockey league of the Summit Area YMCA. The league is open to members as well as YMCA members and is open to all ages 10 and under. Junior, age 11 to 13, and Senior, age 14 to 16. Games are played in the YMCA parking lot on Monday and Wednesday evenings. Interested boys are invited to contact Liebeck at 273-3539.

Clinic offers tests of blood pressure

Out of 800 blood pressure tests given by the Health Department, 20 percent were too high, according to Dr. Henry Berez, health officer.

He added: "Come to the Board of Health clinic at 71 Summit Ave., Summit, for a free and swift blood pressure check on any Thursday from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m. and 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. High blood pressure can be responsible for heart and kidney disease and strokes. If you find out you have high blood pressure earlier, you have the time to cure it sooner."

NOW meets Wednesday

The Summit Area Chapter of the National Organization for Women will present a slide show and panel discussion on the changing role and image of women at the chapter's November meeting on Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Unitarian House in Summit.

The presentation, which was prepared by the chapter's Image of Women Task Force, will deal with the various roles of women as businesswoman, housewife and working mother. Members of the panel will be Susan Arndt, Adelle Glamm, Karen Stacey and Diane Whitaker.

"This program will give you a chance to learn more about how women's lives are changing," said Marlene Matiker, chapter president. "We will discuss new options and life styles for women and the effect of the media on society's image of women. I hope that anyone who is interested in learning more about NOW and our activities will come to this meeting."

Rep. Matthew J. Rinaldo

The election last Tuesday was the end of one campaign and the continuation of another and more difficult effort to control inflation. Two of the most conspicuous phases of the war on inflation involve food prices and fuel costs. Some positive action is in the works on both fronts.

Cancer in women to be topic of film-discussion program

The Regional Board of Health will sponsor an information program on breast and uterine cancer Wednesday from 10 a.m. to noon at the Strand Theater, Springfield Avenue, Summit. Films on the topics will be shown; a question-and-answer period will follow a discussion by a physician and others. Commenting on the factors which prompted the special project, Springfield health officer Dr. Henry Birne said, "The arithmetic for Springfield, Berkeley Heights, New Providence and Summit shows a 20 percent overall increase in cancer deaths over the period from 1972 to 1973. "Following around with relatively small numbers can be dramatic. One lonely case in a large group may offer stronger evidence than a mob in AIDS. However, general cancer statistics are registered everywhere in the nation. If the 20 percent would be tapered down to a more attractive number, it would still be too much. "The figures for the Summit health region for the year 1972 through 1973 show a higher percentage rise in cancer deaths than other areas. The years 1973 to 1967 shows that deaths

Evangel Baptist sponsors confab on Carib mission

Evangel Baptist Church, 242 Springfield Rd., Springfield, yesterday began its first fall conference in cooperation with the West Indies Mission Inc., of Coral Gables, Fla. The West Indies Mission has ministries and missionaries operating all through the countries of the Caribbean, as well as in Europe and South America. Personnel being provided by the Mission include Herb Shumaker, veteran missionary to Haiti; Ed Brainerd, missionary to the Dominican Republic; and Rollin Walton, director of development for West Indies Mission. "The purpose of the fall missionary conference is two-fold," said Pastor William Schmidt of Evangel. "First, we want to continue to bring the challenge of missions and evangelism before our congregation, and second, we want to introduce our young people to the various mission boards under which they may serve as God calls them into missionary work. "Evangel Baptist Church has a missionary program which includes active support of the lives and ministries of 38 missionaries and more than a dozen missionary organizations. The total missionary budget of the church is approximately $40,000 annually. Also scheduled are a men's breakfast on Saturday morning and a full day of exposure to missionary ministries in the Caribbean throughout the day on Sunday. The public has been invited, and more information may be obtained by calling 372-4331.

Free diabetes test set next Thursday

Springfield health officer Dr. Henry Birne this week announced that free testing for diabetes will be held next Thursday evening, Nov. 14, 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m., at the Board of Health building, 71 Summit Avenue in Summit. "Benefits from improved diagnosis is also shown in the mortality from uterine cancer, which had been falling for a number of years to about the present one-third of the number of 25 years ago. However, uterine cancer is still a serious problem. It is estimated that about 46,000 deaths of uterine cancer will occur in the United States in 1974, with approximately 11,000 deaths. Health education and the Pap test may continue to reduce the mortality from uterine cancer."

'Pot' charge for motorist

A 29-year-old Elizabeth man, stopped by Springfield police after he reportedly was observed driving on N.R. 22 in an erratic manner, has been charged with possession of less than 25 grams of marijuana and with being under the influence of the drug. Robert E. Alban was apprehended at 1:30 a.m. Sunday, in the eastbound lanes of the highway after his auto was halted by Sgt. John D'Andrea. He was released on a complaint summons, pending an appearance in Springfield Municipal Court Dec. 2.

Halloween play is work of area school children

The youngsters in Ottawana Anderson's class at the Jamaica Caldwell School, Springfield, used their Halloween night, their own imaginations and an opportunity to present in full costume a play entitled "The Broken Broomstick." "The Broken Broomstick" is the title of the Halloween play which was presented by the pupils in Ottawana Anderson's second grade class of the Jamaica Caldwell School. Pictured are Richard Spillone, left, as the green goblin, Kathleen Anderson, as the Little Witch, and Allison Schatz as the black cat. Reflections on U.S. trip Girl Scout recounts van ride

Springfield Senior Scout Lauren Eick went on a Washington Book Girl Scout Council up opportunity to California this summer. She writes of her trip as follows: "Ruth Ann Partridge and I were among 13 girls. After Sandusky, Ohio we drove to Michigan City, Ind. We were off to a beautiful start when we drove 100 miles in the wrong direction and I had to turn around. When we got on the right course, we stopped at Lake Michigan and went climbing on the sand dunes around it. "We went to the Museum of Science and Industry in Illinois, drove through Chicago and the following day went on a boat tour of the Wisconsin Delta, which are beautiful rice plantations on the Missouri River. "We traveled to Minnesota and arrived at our camp, Albert Lee State Park, before dinner. The scenic view of Lake Superior was magnificent. We saw Mitchell, South Dakota where we saw the Copan Palace. This building is completely covered with pictures made by different colored corn and its husks. "The following day we toured another part of South Dakota. We drove through the Bad Lands in 100 degree weather and then stopped at Wall Drug, which is an old-fashioned five and ten. We saw the Needles, Mt. Rushmore and Crazy Horse, which is a light house carved in the black hills. We got a four hour sleep in the van. "On July 20 we arrived at Garden Grove, California where we stayed at one of the girls' homes. We went to Disneyland, Marine Land, and swam in the Pacific Ocean. We drove up the coast passing the Hearst Mansion, Monterey Peninsula and Big Sur. "Then we left for our final destination—San Francisco. We spent five wonderful days in San Francisco and visited many places such as Fisherman's Wharf and the giant redwoods in Marin Woods. We had the experience of riding the most crooked street in the world and riding the trolley and cable cars up and down the steep streets. I loved the city best of all."

DAYTON DISPATCH By MARC BLOOM It is evidently a good time to be in the Dayton area. In the past few years, the state has provided information from students, personal files to many sources, such as prospective employers and various private agencies, while simultaneously withholding such information from the student and the student's family. The same rating also places strict limitations on the type of information which may be included by school authorities in a student's file of records. This restriction forbids the inclusion of information which may be detrimental to the future success of the student. NOTE: New Jersey high school students who are treated to an extended Christmas vacation again this year, as they were last year. It is rumored that barring unforeseen circumstances, the high cost of heating fuel may well keep New Jersey schools closed for several days after the scheduled end of the holiday break. Also, the education commissioner could rule that the last school days need not be compensated for in late June, to avoid faculty contract disputes. FRIDAY DEADLINE: All items other than spot news should be in our office by noon on Friday.

Hospital campaign aims at equipment purchases

Overlook Hospital's Campaign '74 opened this week with a $500,000 goal for capital improvements, the main focus of which will bring important advances to the treatment of patients in Overlook's cardiac medicine department.

Three major installations planned for this highly specialized field of care include a linear accelerator at $154,000, an Anger Camera at $70,000 and an ultrasound scanner at $25,000 for a total quarter of a million dollars, according to Foster B. Whitlock of Summit, Overlook's executive vice president.

The linear accelerator, already pledged by the Overlook Auxiliary, will replace the hospital's current cobalt machine. Used in cancer therapy, the linear accelerator will provide higher energy of a four million-volt electron beam which will not only enable better treatment of cancer patients but also make possible new treatments that are vital to advanced diagnostic techniques.

Minutemen beat Mountainside, 18-0; two-game skid ends, record at 3-3

The Springfield Minutemen ended a two-game losing streak and evened their 1974 season record at 3-3 with a 18-0 victory over the Mountainside Jets at Deerfield School, Mountainside.

The opening quarter was scoreless as each team punted twice. After the Jets' second punt, Springfield penetrated to the Mountainside, but gave up the ball on downs. At the start of the second quarter, another Jet punt gave the Minutemen the ball just inside midfield, but the defense scattered once again and Rich Cederquist had to punt from the 38, on fourth and 17. However, Cederquist was knocked down by the punt rush, and the Jets drew a penalty, giving Springfield the down over with fourth and two.

A quarterback sneak by Graziano was good for three yards, but the Jets' defense held the Minutemen to five, on downs, after a six-yard loss off a first, 13-yard run offensively by Dean Pasaban, and took over on their own. On the second play of the series, linebacker John

'Serve and volley' technique not for weekend warriors

Many players employ this "serve and volley" technique. They emphasize their opponents by charging the net for every opportunity possible. Tennis for six months to a year is a real weekend warrior.

Beth Israel plans cancer seminar for physicians

The Department of Medicine of Newark Beth Israel Medical Center will host a symposium on "Recent Developments in Breast Cancer" at 9:30 a.m. today, in the Medical Center Auditorium, 207 Essex Ave., Newark.

The program, for physicians, surgeons and medical students, will be the first in the George Gross Memorial Lecture Series and will feature three guests.

Marvin A. Kirschner, M.D., director of the Department of Medicine at the Medical Center and a member of the Epidemiology Section of the Breast Cancer Task Force, National Cancer Institute, Bethesda, Md., will speak on "Risk Factors in Breast Cancer."

William McGuire, M.D., professor of Medicine and chief of Experimental Oncology at the University of Texas Medical School, San Antonio and a member of the Breast Cancer Task Force, will cover "Estrogen Receptors in the Management of Breast Cancer."

George Gross, a lawyer, was president of the Prudential Building Maintenance Corporation and was active in "sewer" service organizations. He was originally from Jersey City but also lived in Maplewood, South Orange and West Orange. Upon his death from cancer in 1971, his widow, Mrs. Helen Gross of West Orange, and his brother, Stanley Gross, of Maplewood, donated funds to establish a lecture series in his memory. The series annually will present outstanding specialists in cancer research and treatment.

Canal officially historic

Now listed in National Register

Commissioner David J. Baran of the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection this week announced that the Morris Canal, which once crossed the state from Paterson to Warren County to Jersey City, Hudson County, has been named to the National Register of Historic Places.

The National Register is a list of properties throughout the nation worthy of preservation for their historic, cultural, architectural or archaeological values. Sites listed on the National Register are eligible for federal historic preservation funds. Registered sites are protected against encroachments by federal, state or local governmentally-financed projects, such as highways, construction, demolition and the like.

In its heyday, the Morris Canal flowed through the counties of Essex, Hudson, Morris, Passaic, Sussex and Warren. Digging began in 1825 and was finally completed in 1836. An unusual engineering problem confronted the builders: how to get boats across the mountains that host the canal route. It was George P. Muddoch who conceived the ingenious plan of a system of "little railroads" on inclined planes, by which loaded canal boats could be lifted up or let down from one level to another.

James Kenwick, a Columbia University professor, brought the plan into being. Many other distinguished engineers of the day also had a part in the accomplishment.

The Morris Canal made it possible to transport fairly cheaply the anthracite coal of northeastern Pennsylvania to the iron industries of New Jersey, which had almost died because sources of charcoal for fuel were depleted. The canal also carried crops of the fine-quality iron ore mined in Morris County, and the various iron products produced by the revived New Jersey iron industries.

Childhood cancer discussion topic Wednesday night

A public forum on "Living with Childhood Cancer" will be held next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Holiday Inn, 550 W. Mount Pleasant Ave., Livingston. The program, which will present a panel of medical experts and parents of children with cancer, is being sponsored by the New Jersey Division of the American Cancer Society and IMPACT (Interested, Motivated Parents Against Cancer Today).

Topics of discussion will include "Understanding the Child with Cancer," "Information, Knowledge and Communication About Childhood Cancer" and "Answering Unanswered Questions." The discussion leaders will include:

Dr. George M. Gill, Director of Oncology at Children's Hospital in Newark; Penelope H. Buschman, M.S., clinical specialist in nursing in Child Psychiatry; Geri Loggren, R.N., Morris County Visiting Nurse; and Lorraine Wolnik, R.N., supervisor of the pediatrics department at Memorial Hospital for Cancer and Allied Diseases in New York.

Registration for participation, which is free, may be made through the New Jersey Division of the American Cancer Society, 200 Rt. 22, Union 07083.

For more information, call 663-7700, ext. 101.

Blue Shield subscribers told to check coverage of policy

In order that your Blue Shield policy will be as beneficial as possible when you need it, Blue Shield of New Jersey offers this advice: Check your certificate or benefits booklet to determine your coverage and if it's not adequate, arrange to obtain a better program.

The nonprofit, prepaid medical insurance plan brings this to the attention of its subscribers because many members still carry the old Series 500 program which covers, on the average, only about 50 percent of the charges for eligible services unless your annual family income is under $7,500 in which case the bills for eligible services rendered by participating physicians are covered in full.

Blue Shield has a better program which provides higher payments for eligible physician services—called the Series 750 and the UCR (usual, customary or reasonable) Fee Program. The Series 750 covers 100 percent of the charges for eligible services rendered by participating physicians when the family income is below $12,000.

For information concerning the Series 750, Members of groups should see their employee benefits manager, said Dr. Donnelly.

He urged direct pay subscribers to write to Blue Shield of New Jersey, Marketing Department, 22 Washington St., Newark 07102, for information concerning the Series 750.

School board again opposes county road-widening plans

The Springfield Board of Education Monday night strongly repeated its opposition to county proposals for widening roadways to speed the flow of traffic in the residential areas of S. Springfield Avenue, Millstone road and Shunpike road.

Speaking at the board meeting at the Raymond Chisholm School, Michael McIntyre, board president, charged that the county planners "are not interested in the safety of the children. All they care about is speeding traffic through Springfield."

The president noted that the Township Committee last week had also voted its opposition to the plan, except a parcel of old traffic routes to be used in the Union County.

McIntyre stated that the county planners had not been asked to consider the safety of the children. He said that the county planners had not been asked to consider the safety of the children. He said that the county planners had not been asked to consider the safety of the children.

Robert Southward, board chairman, received approval to spend an additional $3,000 for expansion plans. The work is being done by the contracting firm of Max Bergoff Co., with Vegetach and Thannan as consulting engineers.

The board accepted the resignation of Robert Southward, board chairman, and named Robert Southward as board chairman.

Schneider, Southward won't run for reelection

At least two vacancies will have to be filled at the Springfield Board of Education election on Feb. 11, according to statements by board members at their meeting Monday at the Raymond Chisholm School.

Southward, who had announced earlier this year that he would not seek another term, stated that he plans to move to Treasure Island, Fla. in February following his retirement from the Prudential Insurance Co. He has also been an instructor for evening classes at Rutgers University in Newark.

A former president of the board, Southward was first elected in 1952. He has served ever since, except for 1971 and 1972. For the past year, he has been chairman of the building and grounds committee.

An attorney with offices in Newark, Schneider was elected to the Board of Education three years ago. He cited the pressure of business, as well as the great amount of time needed to function properly as a board member, in announcing his decision to retire from office.

The senior member of the board, Caprio has served since 1961 and is a former board president. He has been finance chairman for the past several years with primary responsibility for preparing the school budget. He is coordinator of foreign languages for the Regional High School District Board of Education.

Michael McIntyre, board president, issued an appeal of Monday night for equal participation by men and women to seek election to the board. His invitation specifically included both those who have been regular participants at board meetings and others in the community who are interested in furthering the cause of education.

The Regional District will also hold an election this winter, on Feb. 4, but participation by local citizens will be limited to a vote on the high school budget. Both the Springfield members on the Regional Board, Natalie Wald and Soya Dorsey, are in the middle of three-year terms.

Holiday deadline
Careful adherence to this paper's Friday news deadline is suggested for all material submitted for the Nov. 21 issue, which will be printed early because of the Thanksgiving holiday. All school, governmental and other news items for the Nov. 21 issue should be submitted by tomorrow morning, Nov. 20.

Charter members of historical unit given certificates

The Springfield Historical Society presented certificates to 16 charter members at a 21st anniversary dinner held Tuesday at the Presbyterian Parish House. The charter members were all instrumental in the acquisition of the Cannon Ball House, which figured in the Battle of Springfield in 1780, as the society's headquarters in 1854.

Principal speaker Tuesday was the Rev. Dr. Bruce Dymally, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church and one of the Historical Society's charter members. A native of Pennsylvania, Dr. Evans came to the local church in 1946 following service as a Navy chaplain.

Among the new books are "The Honorary Consul," by Graham Greene; "The Curator of the Kings," by Victoria Holt; and "The Addie Pray," by the book from which the motto "Paper Moon" was adopted. There is also a cookbook containing 300 recipes and many photographs.

Books with large print now at Public Library

A recent addition to the varied services offered by the Springfield Public Library is a collection of about 175 books in large print. These editions are designed for the reader, both young and older, who experiences difficulty in reading normal small print. They are reproduced in large clear type, 48 to 60 per line, larger than standard type and printed on paper especially selected to eliminate glare.

These titles cover a wide variety of subjects and include such classics as John Steinbeck's "Grapes of Wrath" and "Of Mice and Men," Pearl Buck's "The Good Earth," James Michener's "Hawaii," "The South Pacific" and "Hawaii," and "The Yearling" by Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings.

Other awards were presented to the Mayor of Springfield, Mayor Raymond Caprio, and the Township of Springfield was among the recipients of Burrier-Free Design Leadership plaques awarded by the Easter Seal Society of New Jersey at the group's annual dinner meeting held recently in Hightstown, N.J.

END OF THE LINE — The Rahway Valley Rail Road station off Mountain Avenue in Springfield has seen the end of its days as a passenger facility, but still remains a vital community's economic front, housing commercial offices. It may gain new form, since it has been chosen for possible inclusion in the Union County Planning Board's county-wide survey of historic sites. In the past, the quiet little red and white building, dating to 1895, was a bustling place — a major stop on the Rahway's connecting passenger line with the Jersey Central Railroad. (Photo-Graphics)
